

A.I.2

Digitized by the Internet Archive in 2010 with funding from Lyrasis Members and Sloan Foundation

BUCKNELL ALUMNUS

VOL. 43 - 47

September 1958 -

May 1962

THE Bucknell ALUMNUS

SEPTEMBER 1958

BUCKNELL LOOKS AT ITSELF
STORY ON PAGES 6 AND 7

281956

THE Bucknell ALUMNUS

OFFICERS OF THE ASSOCIATION

President

Charles F. Fox, Jr., M.D. '31

First Vice President

Robert W. Dill '27

Second Vice President

Mrs. Clyde P. Bailey (Dorothy Lemon '29)

Treasurer

Donald B. Young '33

Secretary and Editor

John H. Shott '22

Assistant Secretary and Assistant Editor

C. Bruce Rossiter '56

BOARD OF DIRECTORS

CHARLES T. FARROW '26, P. O. Box 29, Westfield, N. J. (1959)

ALLEN F. JONES '25, 2 Linn St., Progress, Harrisburg, Pa. (1959)

WILLIAM M. WILKINSON '46, 436 Oak Lane, Houston 24, Tex. (1959)

MRS. CHARLES E. COPELAND (Amorita Sesinger '22), 285 Madison Ave., Madison, N. J. (1960)

DONALD W. GLOVER '41, Mullica Hill, N. J. (1960)

THOMAS W. SPECK '37, 708 Russell Pl., Plainfield, N. J. (1960)

ROBERT W. DILL '27, 5136 Butler Pike, Plymouth Meeting, Pa. (1961)

WILLIAM D. GOLIGHTLY '25, 309 W. Webster Ave., Scranton, Pa. (1961)

MRS. PAUL M. SHOWALTER (S. Katharine Graham '33), 855 St. Louis St., Lewisburg, Pa. (1961)

MRS. CLYDE P. BAILEY (Dorothy Lemon '29), 16 Churchill Road, Pittsburgh 35, Pa. (1962)

CHARLES F. FOX, JR., M.D. '31, 180 Washington Ave., Vandergrift, Pa. (1962)

WILMER D. GREULICH '34, 715 Greythorne Rd., Wynnewood, Pa. (1962)

EUGENE P. BERTIN '17, 210 S. Main St., Muncy, Pa. (1963)

ELINOR CHILDS '52, 74 Mt. Kemble Ave., Morristown, N. J. (1963)

ROBERT H. TAYLOR '48, 71 E. County Line Rd., Hatboro, Pa. (1963)

() Year Term Expires.

Alumni Headquarters—GROUND FLOOR, EAST COLLEGE

Member—AMERICAN ALUMNI COUNCIL

ON THE COVER—Freshman girls find delight in the student handbook as they begin to learn the Bucknell "way of life." The cover photo was taken by Herbert C. Bohler '58.

The back cover lists highlights of the Homecoming program.

VOLUME XLIII

SEPTEMBER 1958

No. 1

IN THIS ISSUE

Alumni	Page
Judson W. Bunnell '52	25
Charles F. Fox, Jr. '31	3
J. Villard Frampton '03	21
Wilmer D. Greulich '34	9
Emily Devine Kelly '21	8
Mabel Grier Leshner '01	9
Edward C. Myers '34	23
Barbara Runk '61	18
Harry R. Warfel '20	9
T. Cortlandt Williams, Sr. '20	3, 19
James L. Yarnall '57	25
Alumni Awards	8, 9
Alumni Fund, 1957-1958	27
Alumni Trustee Timetable	26
Bucknell Looks at Itself	6-8
Christy Mathewson Award	5
Class Reports	20-27
Class Reunion Reports and Pictures	12-17
Football Schedule	9
Homecoming	Back Cover
Homecoming Reservation Form	9
Impressions and Inspirations	10
In Appreciation	19
In Memoriam	27
Name Your Candidates	18
New Coach, New System	11, 19
Pictures From the Parties	5
Reunion Roundup	3
Review of the Clubs	4
Schardt Joins Staff	19
Sports	4, 9, 10, 11, 19
Student View	18
Season Ticket Reservation	11
Were We Wrong	24

THE BUCKNELL ALUMNUS is published in January, March, May, September, and November by BUCKNELL UNIVERSITY. Entered as second-class matter December 30, 1930, at the post office at Lewisburg, Pa., under the Act, of August 24, 1912.

SEPTEMBER 1958

CHARLES F. FOX, JR. '31
President, General Alumni Association

T. CORTLANDT WILLIAMS, SR. '20
Alumni Trustee

As Expected, of Course,
A Record Attendance Helped To Make Alumni Day,
June 7, the Best Ever

REUNION ROUNDUP

WITH over a thousand alumni and friends at the All-Alumni Luncheon, new attendance records were set for the reunion weekend. The colorful program included twelve Class Reunions, the traditional Alumni Parade and All-Alumni Luncheon, and the Alumni Jamboree.

Laying of the cornerstone for Coleman Hall, the University's largest classroom building now under construction, was a feature of the weekend. President Merle M. Odgers, who presided at the cornerstone ceremony, pointed out that as the building nears completion, it becomes more and more evident that we must press on to the next step in the creation of the new quadrangle by the construction of the additional wing needed to complete the Vaughan Literature Building.

ALUMNI BUSINESS

T. Cortlandt Williams, Sr. '20, Greenwich, Conn., was nominated for election as an Alumni Trustee on the Board of Trustees of Bucknell University for a term of five years.

Officers of the General Alumni Association were elected for the ensuing year. Charles F. Fox, Jr., M.D. '31, of Vandergrift was named president to succeed Wilmer D. Greulich '34, of Wynnwood who has served with distinction for the past two years. Other officers elected included: first vice president, Robert W. Dill '27, Plymouth Meeting; and second vice president, Mrs. Clyde P. Bailey (Dorothy Lemon '29,) Pittsburgh.

Five new members of the Board of Directors of the General Alumni Association were elected by the 96 delegates from 31 clubs. Chosen for five-year terms were Miss Elinor Childs '52, Morristown, N. J.; Robert H. Taylor '48, Bala-Cynwyd; and Dr. Eugene P. Bertin '17, Muncy. Chosen for one-year terms were Charles T. Farrow '26, Westfield, N. J., and Allen F. Jones '25, Harrisburg.

ALUMNI HONORED

Mrs. Joseph D. Kelly (Emily Devine '21,) of New York was the recipient of the Alumni Award of the Bucknell Chair and Citation for Outstanding Service, Unselfish Interest, and Demonstrated Loyalty to the University and to the General Alumni Association. The Alumni Medallion and Certificate for Meritorious Achievement in One's Chosen Profession was awarded to Dr. Harry R. Warfel '20, Professor of English at the University of Florida, while the Alumni Medallion and Certificate for Contributions and Service to Fellowmen went to Dr. Mabel Grier Leshner '01, Lewisburg, a retired medical missionary.

Committee appointments included announcement of the membership of the Committee for Selection of Alumni Trustee Candidates, as follows: Dr. Lester E. Lighton '20, chairman; William P. Boger, M.D. '34; Mrs. Paul M. Showalter '33; Mrs. Charles E. Copeland '22; J. Norman Davies, Esq. '26; Robert W. Dill '27; Dr. Emma Dillon '15; Clyde P. Bailey, Esq. '29; and Thomas W. Speck '37.

Members of the Alumni Awards Committee are Harry O. Dayhoff '23, chairman; E. W. Pangburn, M.D. '15; Arthur R. Yon '17; Mrs. Erle M. Topham '17; T. Cortlandt Williams, Sr. '20; the Rev. Anthony F. Vasquez '37; and the three new alumni award winners announced at the luncheon. Robert W. Dill was appointed for a one-year term to represent the General Alumni Association on the Athletic Advisory Committee.

A BUSY DAY

Alumni Day observance began with breakfast Saturday morning when more than 120 members and guests of the Bison Club, an organization of alumni interested in the athletic program of the University, enjoyed a breakfast at the Lewisburg Club under the direction of President Jay P. Mathias '35. Speakers included Dr. Karl D. Hartzell, Dean of the University; Andrew R. Mathieson '20, Pittsburgh, Chairman of the Trustee Committee on Athletics; Robert H. Odell, new varsity football coach, and other members of the coaching staff. The club re-elected three members to the Athletic Advisory Committee: Anthony Wilsbach '26, Harrisburg; Thomas J. Mangan '21, Milton; and Arthur R. Yon '17, Atlantic City, N. J.

The full day of activities wound up with an alumni jamboree, dance and student entertainment program in Davis Gymnasium and also included a performance of the Cap and Dagger production, "Thieves' Carnival."

REVIEW of the Clubs . . .

The following is a list of club meetings since January 1, 1958, that have not appeared in the columns of THE BUCKNELL ALUMNUS:

DATE	CLUB	SPEAKER
Jan. 2	Harrisburg
Jan. 3	Lancaster	none
Feb. 1	York	Dr. Mark C. Ebersole
Feb. 4	Altoona	Robert A. Newcombe
Feb. 5	Greater Boston	Dr. Horace A. Hildreth
Feb. 5	Ocean-Monmouth	Dr. Frank W. Merritt
Feb. 5	Greater New York-Westchester	Dr. Wesley N. Haines
Feb. 6	Harrisburg	Dr. Merle M. Odgers
Feb. 6	Chambersburg	Dr. James A. Gathings
Feb. 7	Capitol District	Dr. Raymond H. Young '43
Feb. 8	Lock Haven	Dr. Manning A. Smith
Feb. 9	Washington, D. C.	Dr. Karl D. Hartzell
Feb. 13	Rochester	none
Feb. 14	Long Island	Dance
Feb. 14	Sharon	John H. Shott '22
Feb. 15	Northern New Jersey	Dance
Feb. 15	South Jersey	John F. Zeller '41
Feb. 15	St. Petersburg	none
Feb. 19	Bellefonte	Albert E. Humphreys John H. Shott '22 C. Bruce Rossiter '56
Feb. 20	Triple Cities	Dr. Manning A. Smith
Feb. 21	Buffalo	Dr. Manning A. Smith
Feb. 22	Rocky Mountains	none
Feb. 24	Sunbury	Dr. Wesley N. Haines
Feb. 27	Johnstown	Dr. Eugene P. Bertin '17
Feb. 27	Scranton	Dr. Wesley N. Haines
Mar. 6	Harrisburg	Edwin R. Mighell '52
Mar. 7	Atlantic City	Dr. Merle M. Odgers
Mar. 14	Wilmington	Dr. Manning A. Smith
Mar. 15	Southern Delaware	Dr. Manning A. Smith
Mar. 20	Elmira	Dean Charles A. Meyn
Mar. 21	Rochester	Dean Charles A. Meyn

DATE	CLUB	SPEAKER
Mar. 22	Syracuse	Dean Charles A. Meyn
Mar. 28	Trenton	Dr. Karl D. Hartzell
Mar. 29	St. Louis	Dean Mary Jane Stevenson
Apr. 10	Harrisburg	Hon. Nolan F. Ziegler '32
Apr. 22	Williamsport	Dean Mary Jane Stevenson
Apr. 25	Cincinnati	George R. Faint '25
Apr. 25	Northern New Jersey	Dr. Wesley N. Haines
Apr. 25	Bradford	Dr. Meldrum B. Winstead, Jr.
Apr. 26	Erie	Dr. Meldrum B. Winstead, Jr.
May 1	Harrisburg	Miss Janet M. Book
May 13	Hazleton	Dr. Wesley N. Haines
May 16	Lehigh Valley	Dr. Wesley N. Haines
May 17	Philadelphia	Dance
May 20	Washington, D. C.	Dr. Ernest Blanche '38
May 26	Danville	John F. Zeller '41
June 2	Harrisburg	Theatre Party
June 16	Cincinnati	none
June 28	Triple Cities	Picnic
June 30	Chicago	Dr. Merle M. Odgers
July 2	Michigan-Toledo	Dr. Merle M. Odgers
July 19	York	none*
Aug. 25	Philadelphia	John H. Shott*
Sept. 4	Harrisburg	Dr. Roy C. Tasker*

* Freshman Reception

Clubs planning to hold freshman receptions prior to the opening of school include:

DATE	CLUB
Sept. 7	Pittsburgh
Sept. 7	Northern New Jersey
Sept. 7	Trenton
Sept. 7	Rocky Mountains
Sept. 8	Long Island
Sept. 10	Reading

FOLLOW THE BISONS TO RUTGERS

The Bucknell Alumni Club of Northern New Jersey has planned a gala affair for Saturday, October 18. Here are the details:

WHAT:	Bison Roundup and buffet dinner.
PLACE:	Sally's Restaurant 247 Raritan Ave. Highland Park, N. J.
WHEN:	Immediately following the game.
COST:	$6.00 per person $4.50 for children under 14 years of age. (These prices include tickets to the game on the fifty-yard line and the dinner).

Clip this coupon and send your reservation before October 7 to JEFF THOMPSON, 50 MARTIN ROAD, LIVINGSTON, N. J. Make checks payable to Jeff Thompson.

You bet we want to attend the game and victory celebration on October 18. Please reserve places for us at $6.00 each and places at $4.50 each.

(check enclosed) $

NAME CLASS

ADDRESS

FOLLOW THE BISONS TO TEMPLE

The Bucknell Alumni Club of Philadelphia invites you to a pre-game roundup on Saturday, November 8. Here are the details:

WHAT:	Bison Roundup and luncheon.
PLACE:	Sunken Gardens Cheltenham Avenue and Ogontz Philadelphia, Pennsylvania (free parking two blocks from stadium)
TIME:	11:30 A. M. to 1:00 P. M.
COST:	$4.50 per person (This price includes tickets to the game on the fifty-yard line and the luncheon)

Clip this coupon and send your reservation before October 28 to ROBERT W. DILL, 5136 BUTLER PIKE, PLYMOUTH MEETING, PENNSYLVANIA. Make checks payable to Robert W. Dill.

You bet we want to attend the luncheon and game on November 8. Please reserve places for us at $4.50 each.

(check enclosed) $

NAME CLASS

ADDRESS

ATLANTIC CITY—Members of the Bucknell Alumni Club of Atlantic City, the board directors of The General Alumni Association and University officials met in Atlantic City as guests of Ysabelle and Art Yon '17 to celebrate Bucknell's birthday and meet a new football coach, Bob Odell.

Christy Mathewson Award

of the

Bucknell Club of Long Island

Presented to

Robert A. Gunn Massapequa High School for Outstanding Achievement in Scholarship, Athletics, and Leadership.

June 6, 1958

LONG ISLAND—Established by the Bucknell Alumni Club of Long Island, the new Christy Mathewson Award was presented on June 6, 1958, to Robert A. Gunn at the annual sports night at Massapequa High School by D. Eugene Long '28, president of the Long Island Club.

PICTURES FROM THE PARTIES

LYCOMING COUNTY—The Bucknell Alumni Club of Lycoming County met on April 22 for its Bucknell Birthday party.

CHAMBERSBURG—Alumni from the Bucknell Alumni Club of Chambersburg gathered to celebrate Bucknell's birthday.

LOCK HAVEN—Alumni from the Bucknell Alumni Club of Lock Haven turned out to celebrate Bucknell's 112th birthday.

MONMOUTH-OCEAN—A happy group of Bucknellians met in Freehold, N. J., to celebrate the University's birthday.

WESLEY N. HAINES

Bucknell believes with Socrates, "The only life is the examined life."

By DR. WESLEY N. HAINES
Director of Development

TO say that American higher education is in an era of transition is to repeat something which has been said many times since the nation began. In a country of growth, of widely varying climate and topography, of varying racial and cultural strains, it is inevitable that change should be nearly continuous.

Transitions have varied in kind, however, and it is fair to believe that the present educational crisis has characteristics not encountered before. One is that alterations must be made with great speed; our need for scientists, mathematicians, and engineers, for example, was revealed full grown almost over night. As far as our independent colleges and universities are concerned, the burden placed on them has been equally sudden. On the horizon looms the real wave of the future—the huge numbers of boys and girls approaching college age, and the necessary upgrading of quality in education. No college or university can wait until its share of the horde is on its doorsteps, or until obsolescence sets in. It must look ahead and develop some sort of plan. This fact highlights the work of the Development Office as nothing else has done.

In moments of doubt American educators may wish that there were an all-powerful Ministry of Education which would tell each educational institution what its niche is to be, and then allocate funds from an inexhaustible cash box which would finance the details of that particular niche. Nothing like this will happen as long as our country retains its basic character. Each college and university must calculate what its natural place will be in this enlarged future and go about assembling the facilities, the men, and the funds needed to service its particular plans.

Bucknell is fortunate in that recent large gifts have provided basic facilities which undergird the future program. The Ellen Clarke Bertrand Library, Swartz Dormitory and Houghton Dining Hall facility for freshman men, the F. W. Olin Science Building and Coleman Hall for the liberal arts, the last two gifts from Olin Foundation, Inc., all reined up important lacks and are of such a character as to serve adequately for decades to come. Recent additions to endowment, spurred by the Kress Foundation matching pledge, also afford a beginning of basic support for the Bucknell of the Future.

But it is not to be expected that all of the needs of an American college or university will be met by a few large gifts made over a short period of time. Bucknell must energetically seek further gifts, large and small. In this connection a statement by the Chairman of one of Bucknell's larger departments of instruction is pertinent. In relation to hiring young teachers, he said, "I find myself bidding in a market which is increasingly competitive."

Similarly, the Development Office of a college or university shops for gifts, and like the department chairman, finds the market increasingly competitive. The development offices everywhere must prepare their campaigns, whether short-term or long-term with increasing care and prosecute them with renewed energy.

It is in this competitive market that Bucknell seeks gifts. In so doing it realizes that prospective donors ask questions and that these questions must be answered, even though the person putting the query is a member of the University family, such as an alumnus or a close neighbor.

The questions fall under two general heads:

1. Why does Bucknell need funds? For what specific purposes are they sought?
2. Why does Bucknell deserve to get the funds it asks for?

Under the first head, the more explicit the University can be, the better. The beggar who asks for a dime for a cup of coffee (it used to be a nickel) has better luck than the beggar who asks just for the dime. Most givers who make large donations operate on business principles; they seek facts and figures, exact estimates of costs, and the probable benefits to be derived from money expended. Even the most devoted alumnus likes to visualize the use to which his contribution is being put. "Two Decades of Decision," published in 1956, laid out a ten-year pattern of general development. Bucknell is now further clarifying its needs and a more detailed statement of them will shortly be forthcoming.

With respect to the second question as to why Bucknell deserves support, the necessity for clear answers is just as compelling. In a sense, the pleader for Bucknell must make a "case" just as the lawyer pleading for a client must make a "case." Into the making of the Bucknell case go a variety of elements: standing in the academic

(Continued on Page 8)

Coleman Hall in August as it nears December 13, 1958 dedication date

LOOKS AT ITSELF!

*and with Alfred North Whitehead,
"Under modern conditions, the race which does not value trained intelligence is doomed."*

By DR. KARL D. HARTZELL
Dean of the University

IN the spring of 1956, Bucknell University decided to examine the three main facets of its educational program,—its curriculum, its faculty, and its student body. This summer, after almost two years of work on the part of faculty, students and administration, a group of eight coordinators are pulling together the conclusions of twenty committee reports into what it is hoped will be a blueprint for the University future as an educational institution of the first rank.

Although it is too early to anticipate the findings of the final report which will be submitted first to the Executive Committee of the Bucknell Study and then to the faculty as a whole, a number of what are expected to be its major emphases are set forth here for the benefit of interested alumni.

The number of degree offerings will be reduced in an effort to emphasize common elements in the curriculum and differentiate by degree labels only where major distinctions are to be drawn. A four-divisional structure seems likely with the present departments allocated under each division according to the traditional subdivisions of knowledge—humanities, social sciences, sciences and engineering. The A.B. degree, although not the only one to be offered, will remain the fundamental liberal degree with major programs offered in all departments but engineering.

The study has focused heavily upon the best means of opening the mind of the student to the full range of human thought and endeavor, so that he may become aware of the possibilities of his own participation in the ongoing of the human race. Students are being thought of broadly as "potential unlimited" rather than narrowly as "performers of a specific social function." Their education is regarded as a matter of orientation and self-development, both of which are primarily functions of the intelligence. The choice of a career and the way in which the individual student will adjust to, and change, his environment depend upon the breadth and depth of his orientation and the completeness of his development.

Instead of thinking solely in quantitatively hourly terms within the framework of the divisional structure, the coordinators are working on the fundamental aims of a liberal education which they hope to translate into the curriculum. The distribution and concentration requirements, as well as the free electives of this curriculum, would place the emphasis upon our cultural heritage, the contemporary world in which we live, ourselves as representatives of that strange race of creatures called humans, a scale or standard of ethical, religious and aesthetic values, and finally those many personal abilities without which we cannot speak, write, or think effectively.

Naturally the quality of any product depends upon the character of the raw material. The Bucknell Study is giving considerable attention to the University's admissions program. Measures will be suggested for accelerating the upward trend in the quality of the entering classes. Special attention is planned for superior students beginning with the freshman year and eventuating in an honors program in the junior and senior years.

One type of course by which students can be helped to integrate the knowledge they acquire in the classroom and to exercise their powers of constructive thought is the "problems" or "issues" course. Attention is being given to a variety of such courses in the senior year which will emphasize some of the major problems facing the human race today. The total result of a four year education at Bucknell will be checked in the senior year through the administration of the Graduate Record Examinations.

The coordinators of the Bucknell Study are also giving thought this summer to recommendations that greater responsibility for learning be placed upon the individual student. Independent study, group discussion, and research will be encouraged, and greater freedom may be allowed the abler students in the use of their time. Increased efficiency in the use of faculty time and other teaching resources is likewise of major concern. It is hoped that further study of this problem will yield better teaching, and at the same time an appreciable reduction in the number of hours the teacher spends in the classroom.

Committees of the study have developed plans for closer coordination of student social activities with the principal educational goals of the institution. The coordinators are giving these careful consideration. It is recognized that students receive many of their attitudes and beliefs from each other, and that care must be exercised in screening candidates for admission to avoid admitting those whose values are fundamentally antagonistic to those of the University.

The interests and needs of the faculty are of paramount importance. In this area the University's policies on retirement annuities, health insurance, sabbatical leaves, and leaves of absence for doctoral study with one-half pay are already of a distinctly liberal character. Continuing em-

KARL D. HARTZELL

(Continued on Page 8)

ALUMNI AWARDS

Emily Devine Kelly '21

MRS. EMILY DEVINE KELLY

Three Alumni are presented with the General Alumni Association's highest honors on Alumni Day, June 7, by retiring President of the Association, Wilmer D. Greulich '34

Alumni Awards are presented annually by The General Alumni Association during the Alumni Weekend. This year's recipients were selected by a committee of former award winners, consisting of Chairman Arthur R. Yon '17, Harry O. Dayhoff '23, Dr. Edward W. Pangburn '15, Mrs. Erle M. Topham (C. Ray Speare '17) and Dr. George A. Irland '15.

Alumni Award nominees for 1959 will be selected by the award committee on October 25, 1958. Suggestions of persons to be considered for nomination must be submitted by October 15, 1958 to the Alumni Office. A suggestion blank appears on Page 18.

"The Bucknell University Alumni Award for Distinguished Service to Bucknell University and The General Alumni Association for 1958 is awarded to an alumna who has served her Alma Mater, the Alumni Association and her sorority in nearly every office it is possible for an alumna to serve. Her teaching career, which began with an assistantship at Bucknell immediately after graduation, has led her in progressive steps to become guidance counselor of a large New York high school where she planned and introduced accelerated courses to enable veterans to complete their high school work in a minimum of time.

"Considering her long list of undergraduate activities, it was only natural that she would become an active and loyal worker in The General Alumni Association and she has filled at one time or another every office in both local club and national organizations, serving as president of The General Alumni Association in 1953-54. On behalf of Phi Mu sorority she has traveled from coast to coast as national scholarship director.

"It is a real honor to now award this certificate and the Bucknell Alumni Chair to Mrs. Emily Devine Kelly of the Class of 1921 for her pre-eminent service to the University and The General Alumni Association."

Bucknell Looks At Itself

Dr. Wesley N. Haines—(Continued From Page 6)

world, history, distinguished alumni, faculty, concern for the individual, religious emphasis, physical facilities, social life, athletics, etc. The "statement of the case" whether written or verbal must cover all important points. The Bucknell Study now being carried on is an important feature because it shows that the University is examining with great thoroughness its educational program and is alert to possible revisions best suited to the changed world in which we now live.

One of the keys to successful fund raising is, therefore, clarification. Bucknell is preparing to say why it needs funds and why it deserves to receive them. Friends, actual and potential, will know what the University has done, what it plans to do, and what it must have to serve excellently its people, our country and the world.

To assist in this process of clarification the Trustees of the University have retained the John Price Jones Company, consultants in institutional public relations and development, to make a survey of opinion among the various Bucknell "publics." Some alumni have already received a questionnaire sent out by the Jones Company to a random sampling of 1,000 alumni. Although anonymous, the survey asks for factual information about the person receiving it, and solicits his opinion on matters bearing upon University planning. Certainly, there is no group better entitled than the alumni to furnish help and counsel as the University travels through this present "era of transition" into a future which in spite of all world alarms is bright with hope.

Dr. Karl D. Hartzell—(Continued From Page 7)

phasis will be placed on the raising of salaries in order to attract and hold an outstanding faculty.

Upon completion of their work, the coordinators will present a final report for consideration of the faculty in the fall. The report will plow new ground in some areas; in others it will retain and emphasize what is already good. It should be neither radical, nor reactionary, but fresh enough to be interesting and fundamentally sound.

Wilmer Greulich '34 and Dr. Mabel Grier Lesher '01

Retiring President Greulich and Dr. Harry R. Warfel '20

DR. MABEL GRIER LESHER

"The Bucknell University Alumni Award for Recognized Contributions and Service to Fellowmen for 1958 is awarded to an alumna who has served a lifetime in medical missionary activities, educational pursuits and social hygiene education. The daughter of a distinguished professor of Latin at Bucknell University, she was graduated in 1901 summa cum laude. After graduation from Johns Hopkins Medical School and several years of private practice, she sailed with her husband, also a Bucknell doctor, for South China in 1910. After 17 years of medical missionary work under the American Baptist Foreign Missionary Society, they returned to America and settled in Camden, N. J., where our recipient became a leader in social hygiene education and served with distinction as a teacher and lecturer in a number of American universities and communities. Upon the death of her husband in 1951, Lewisburg became the home of our award winner.

"It is with a great deal of pleasure that we award this medallion and certificate to Dr. Mabel Grier Lesher of the Class of 1901 for her outstanding and recognized contributions and service to fellowmen through medicine and public welfare."

DR. HARRY R. WARFEL

"The Bucknell University Alumni Award in Recognition of Meritorious Achievement in One's Chosen Field of Endeavor for 1958 is awarded to an alumnus who has built a distinguished career as teacher, lecturer, author, editor and publisher. Graduating cum laude in 1920 and earning a master's degree at Columbia University and a doctorate at Yale, he has served his Alma Mater as a faculty member for 14 years and has served his General Alumni Association as Alumni Secretary and Editor of The Bucknell Monthly. His service as a teacher of English has led him to the highest posts in the associations concerned with the teaching of English. His interest in literature, particularly in the biographical field, naturally led him into the writing of a number of outstanding books and to lecturing throughout the United States and in Europe. Although still teaching at the University of Florida, he eagerly pursues his hobby of editing and publishing, providing leadership to the organization of scholars' facsimiles and reprints which issues limited editions of rare books of interest to scholars.

"In the name of The General Alumni Association of Bucknell University I now award this medallion and certificate to Dr. Harry Redcay Warfel of the Class of 1920 in recognition of his meritorious achievement in his chosen field of endeavor."

1958 Football Schedule

- *Sept. 27—Gettysburg
(Ratary Bowl) Hershey
- Oct. 4—Carnegie Tech .. Home
- Oct. 11—Colgate
(Dad's Day) .. Home
- Oct. 18—Rutgers
New Brunswick, N. J.
- Oct. 25—Lafayette, Homecoming
- Nov. 1—Lehigh
(Scout Day) .. Home
- Nov. 8—Temple .. Philadelphia
- Nov. 15—Delaware, Newark, Del.
- Nov. 22—Buffalo .. Buffalo, N. Y.

*Night Games start at 8:30 P. M.

All Afternoon Home Games Start at
1:30 P. M.

Even though your plans may be tentative, please mail this reservation TODAY and guarantee yourself a share in the program and also assist us in planning your accommodations. Although we will do our best—WE CANNOT GUARANTEE RESERVATIONS RECEIVED AFTER OCTOBER 18.

HOMECOMING RESERVATION

October 25, 1958

Please reserve tickets for the HOMECOMING LUNCHEON,
Saturday, October 25, 1958, at Davis Gym.

Please reserve tickets for the BISON CLUB BREAKFAST,
Saturday, October 25, 1958, at Lewisburg Club.

NAME (Print) CLASS

ADDRESS

(This slip may be attached to a postal card or slipped into an envelope. Mail to Alumni Office, Bucknell University, Lewisburg, Pa., NOW. Send your room reservation to Forrest D. Brown, Secretary, Christian Association).

To Add Spice to the Coming Autumn Weekends the Bisons From Bucknell Hope
To Card a Few Upsets

ROBERT H. ODELL

IMPRESSIONS & INSPIRATIONS

By BOB ODELL, Head Football Coach

AFTER five months on the Bucknell campus, my earliest impressions of the college, its students, faculty and administrative staff have more than been confirmed.

The friendliness and the wonderful spirit of cooperation which seem to prevail here are sure to make my job as pleasant as that of any head football coach can be.

Naturally, we want to win some football games just as badly as you want us to, and I want to go on record as pledging myself to make every effort to develop a system of well-organized football under a program that will be in line with the policies and philosophy of this University. Our coaching staff will do its utmost to field a team which will be well drilled, conditioned and a credit in every respect to Bucknell.

I had my first look at the 1958 prospects this spring and found the morale and attitude of the squad very gratifying. Granted, morale and attitude do not alone win football games, nevertheless they can carry any team a long way toward success on the gridiron. I realize that it is normal for a football squad to respond enthusiastically to a new system and a new coach, and it will be our job to maintain this spirit and mold a team that will believe in itself and its ability to get the job done.

There is no question that we will be outmanned in many, if not most, of our games this season, but we will not be outfought or out-hustled. A thorough and rigid physical conditioning program should enable us to compete with the best of our opponents. We will have our boys in fine physical shape, so they will be able to finish each contest with the same maximum effort as at the moment of the opening kickoff.

Optimism must be tempered by the fact that we have a very small and limited number of sophomores from last year's freshman team, and we will be employing new offensive and defensive systems. We have 14 returning lettermen, five of whom are seniors, so it becomes apparent that the junior class holds the key to our success.

We will operate from the "T" formation with the emphasis on the "belly" series of offensive patterns. Our attack will be a composite of several types that have been used successfully by various college teams throughout the nation. Our assignments and techniques are not complicated. We have a limited number of plays, but we feel that we have a series of plays that will take care of any defense our opponents will use. Basically, it is a ball-control offense, but we will go for the long gainer in certain situations. We will use simple variations to create defensive problems for our opponents from game to game, such as an unbalanced line, split ends, flankers, and possibly a shift. Our most important objective will be to keep our offense simple, so the players will have a thorough understanding of what they are trying to do. We shall strive to play interesting football with a good mixture of runs and passes.

We have been fortunate in purchasing new uniforms for the coming season. We have ordered the best in protective equipment, and the game uniform itself will have a definite "new look." We will wear navy blue helmets, blue jerseys, white pants and blue socks. We may not be the best team in the nation, but we will be among the best dressed.

I should like to turn for a moment to our freshman class, for here lies the key to our future. On paper, our frosh look pretty good, though only time will reveal their true football ability. They are all good students and should do a top flight job in the classroom. We will have representatives from many good football areas in Pennsylvania. From WPIAL in western Pennsylvania, we will have boys from such places as Aliquippa, Monaca, North Braddock, Shaler and Wilkensburg. We have several boys from the Philadelphia area and representatives from Johnstown, Lancaster, Williamsport, West Pittston and Saxton. From out of state, we have boys from Buffalo, N. Y.; Baltimore, Md.; Akron, O.; and Long Island. I hope that in the future we can have more boys from the local area, for I think we are in the center of an excellent football area, and we intend to get our share of the area talent. I am certain that we will attract the type of student athlete who will be a credit to Bucknell in the classroom as well as on the football field. We have an outstanding school in which to interest our prospects, and it is just a question of getting the job done.

Last, but far from least, is our coaching staff. I feel extremely fortunate to have such an outstanding group with which to work. They are energetic and have ability, youth, confidence and enthusiasm. We hope to add another man to the staff in the future, thereby enabling us to do a better job of coaching, scouting and recruiting. But until that time, we are going into this season with an air of cautious optimism, but win, lose or draw, I am sure that the faculty, students and alumni will be proud of the performance of the 1958 Bucknell football team.

New Coach, New System, New Look To Feature 1958 Edition of the Herd

By BILL DAVIS

A NEW coach, a new system and new uniforms are not necessarily all that it takes to turn a team which was fraught with mediocrity in 1957 into an aggressive hard-hitting unbeaten eleven.

Subtract 12 seniors who graduated last June and add a handful of up and coming sophomores to the 14 lettermen who remain and this still does not automatically spell a successful season.

If you talk with the local pigskin prognosticators (and they are numerous here in the valley of the Buffalo) you will find almost as many opinions regarding the future of the Bisons as you will "opinionators."

But among those in the know (whoever they are!) there is considerable interest in the 1958 edition of the Bucknell Bisons. The team will employ a new offensive pattern of plays based primarily on the "belly" or "drive" series so successfully operated by Wisconsin and Miami in recent years. Gone will be the Split-T attack which characterized Bucknell teams since 1948.

Head Coach Bob Odell had his first look at the Bisons during spring vacation and came away with mixed emotions. He realizes that the old bugaboo of Bucknell football—lack of depth—still prevails, but he is impressed with the interest, the spirit and the determination to succeed which marked the efforts of his squad members.

THE BACKFIELD

Taking a closer look at the 1958 Bisons, four veteran backs will be returning, headed by Junior Dennis Cox of Baltimore, who served as first string quarterback during the last half of the 1957 season. He is a fine defensive back and a natural athlete who throws well. Competition will come from Sophomore Rick Elliott of Lower Merion who handled the signal-calling chores for the Bucknell frosh last season and from Paul Terhes, a Ridley Park, sophomore who is a 190-pound speedster with great potential.

Heading the list of halfbacks will be Senior Charlie Apgar of Madison, N. J., who though only 163 pounds, has good speed and unusual power. Junior Ray Hettche of Baltimore is big and fast and showed to good advantage in spring drills as did Sophomore Marty Pope of Sunbury, a 5' 6" pony back. Senior letterman Andy Errickson of Seaside, N. J., has had plenty of experience and can prove to be an important factor in the team's success along with Junior Clint Gilkey of Allison Park, who is one of the most improved members on the squad.

The inside track on the fullback slot must go to Cliff Melberger, a sophomore from West Pittston, as a result of his showing in spring training. He is strong, rugged and has excellent defensive potential. Tony Rinaldo of Elizabeth, N. J., a junior, is also battling for the fullback post. An unknown quantity is George Moncilovich, an engineering transfer from Pitt Center at Johnstown, who comes to Bucknell with a reputation as a better than average high school performer.

THE FORWARD WALL

Turning now to the Bucknell line, End Jim Brady, a junior from Ambler, who goes 6' 2" and weighs 205 pounds, should stand out up front. He lettered as a sophomore and has proved himself an excellent offensive end as well as a capable defender. Junior Doug Forsyth of North Tonawanda, N. Y., who was a second string end last year, is expected to move into a starting assignment, unless Jack Eachus of Phoenixville, also a junior, beats him out for the job in pre-season drills.

The Herd should be fairly well set at the tackles with Seniors Lew Hart of Morrisville, and Dick Hunn of Roselle, N. J., ready to go. Hart tips the toledos at 202 and Hunn weighs in at 220. Pressing for tackle berths are Junior Bob Patzwall of Baltimore and John Bergfeld of Havertown.

Junior Guard Charlie Negron of New York City, described as "a rock on defense" will anchor the Bison forward wall. Pairing with him will probably be George Salinger of Harrisburg, who is also a letterman.

Battling for the center slot are Junior Larry Mathias of Reading, who excelled this spring, and last season's regular, Mike Hixson of Washington, D. C.

PREVIEWING THE SCHEDULE

The Herd opens the season in the annual Rotary Bowl game with Gettysburg at Hershey. Even without the services of Little All-American Frank Capitani, the Bullets will be tough, for they always look upon the Bisons as their chief Pennsylvania adversary.

(Continued on Page 19)

TICKETS

Make your move early, if you want to ride the Bison Bandwagon this fall. To procure choice seats for Dad's Day and Homecoming, it is advisable to get your ticket order in as soon as possible.

Students and faculty again have sections D, E, and F with Alumni in sections B and C, all on the west side of the field. All these seats are between the 10 and 45-yard lines. Alumni also have a choice of 50-yard line seats on the east (Press Box) side of the stadium. Please indicate your preference on the application below.

To receive the above priorities for Homecoming, applications accompanied by checks or money orders, must be in the Athletic Office by October 16.

ORDER YOUR FOOTBALL TICKETS EARLY 1958 FOOTBALL TICKET ORDER BLANK

BUCKNELL UNIVERSITY

Last Name	First	Middle	Class
Street	City	State
Seat Preference: (Circle Choice)	West Side	East Side	Best Available Seat Irrespective of Side

AFTERNOON GAMES AT 1:30 P. M.

Date	Game	No. Tickets	Reserve Price	Amount
*Sept. 27	Gettysburg—at Hershey		$3.00
Oct. 4	Carnegie Tech		$2.50
Oct. 11	Colgate (Dad's Day)		$2.50
Oct. 25	Lafayette (Homecoming)		$3.00
Nov. 1	Lehigh (Scout Day)		$2.50
*Night	TOTAL

Make checks payable to BUCKNELL UNIVERSITY—INTERCOLLEGIATE ATHLETICS. Return order blanks to Albert E. Humphreys, Director of Athletics. Tickets will be sent by insured mail.

EMERITUS CLUB

The annual meeting of the Bucknell Emeritus Club was held in the Periodical Room of the Ellen Clarke Bertrand Library on June 7, 1958, at ten o'clock a. m., with the president, Rev. Charles M. Teufel, presiding. After an opening prayer by Dr. Howard Murphy, the minutes of the meeting of June 8, 1957, were read by the secretary and approved. Prof. Walter H. Sauvain was our faculty host.

After some timely remarks by President Teufel, during which he discussed some pertinent issues, he read his president's report. The Class of 1903 held its fifty-fifth reunion at the same time as the Emeritus Club meeting, but some of the members met with us.

Dr. Romeyn H. Rivenburg eloquently addressed the club, after which the picture was taken. The present officers were re-elected for another year. They are: Rev. Charles M. Teufel, president; Prof. Frank Burpee, vice president; William G. Murdock, secretary-treasurer; Col. A. F. Dershimmer, fund manager; Mary Cotton, club reporter; Dr. Mabel Grier Leshner and Mrs. Sarah Judd Shields, directors.

Timely remarks were made by Dr. Lamar Williams, Prof. Boyer, Rev. Flora Clymer, Dr. Mabel Grier Leshner, Alan Cunningham, Colonel Dershimmer, John C. Johnson and the secretary. There were thirty-one present at the meeting, which adjourned to meet at the Walker House at three o'clock, where a pleasant social was held.

—WILLIAM G. MURDOCK,
Secretary

CLASS OF 1903

The Class of 1903, at our 55th reunion on June 7, had 19 persons present.

Our faculty host, Dr. W. Preston Warren, gave us a warm welcome. Dr. Lester Kieft of the faculty, and a friend of your reporter's family, was also introduced and gave us a greeting.

Messages from absent members were read. These will be published in a later issue of THE BUCKNELL ALUMNUS.

We were delighted to have Jane Fowler Bullis and husband, Ray, come the long distance from Whittier, Calif., to reunite with us.

CLASS REUNION

We were also happy to have Col. A. Dershimmer, who recently lost his wife, meet with his old friends. Our sympathy is tendered to him.

John Snow and wife of Franklin, G. Stewart and wife, Emily Ebling of Philadelphia, Ida Luchsinger and friend from W. Pittston, Lawrence Kalp from Long Branch, N. J., Charlotte Shields Murphy and husband, Helen Houghton Zeller and husband, Eva Ginter Gilmore—all of Lewisburg, Elvie Coleman Herpel of McKeesport—her son and grandson were present.

At the 10:30 a. m. meeting the following officers were re-elected: Elvie Coleman Herpel

CLASS OF 1908

Always a record class, 1908 scored a record in its Golden Reunion at old Bucknell.

A memorable opening to the reunion made at a delightful buffet supper given by Margaret Pangburn Mathias in the spare home of her son, J. P. Mathias, in Lewisburg on Friday evening. The atmosphere of gracious hospitality, informality and fellowship at this gathering struck a new cheer that lasted throughout the reunion. Fifty-three were present at this event.

Approximately the same group attended the formal reunion meeting held in the Vaughan Literature Building the next morning. After the invocation by the Rev. Charles Bromley, Prof. Frank W. Meade, our faculty host, was introduced.

The following officers for the class were then duly elected: Charles A. Nicely, president and class reporter; Ida E. singer, vice president; Charlotte Shields ohy, secretary-treasurer, and Col. A. F. himer, class fund manager.

SEPTEMBER 1958

UNIONS

the afternoon we were graciously en-ined at the home of Helen Houghton
r '03, assisted by Eva Ginter Gilmore e ended our reunion with the regret that ould not have more time together, but l our hearts we could feel the warmth riendships, old and new, and love for our a Mater.

—ELVIE COLEMAN HERPEL,
Reporter

ut; Robert Bruce Morris, vice president; ze Richards Landers, secretary; Edward Innes, treasurer; W. Carl Sprout, class d manager; Margaret Pangburn Mathias, s reporter; and W. Carl Sprout and egaret Pangburn Mathias, reunion chairn.

ob Steele made a motion, duly seconded, t awards of appreciation be made to those st responsible for the success of this re-on, whereupon a rising vote of thanks s given to Peg Mathias, Carl Sprout and Charles Nicely.

The names of those deceased since grad-ion were read aloud by presiding officer nry C. (Coxey) Thompson, followed by moment of silent prayer and a blessing ered by classmate, the Reverend Carroll ndict. A resolution of respect and affecmate appreciation was made to the memory of Paul Stolz, an active leader for all our reunions.

Following our business meeting we donned reunion hats and joined the alumni parade down the hill to the Annual Alumni Luncheon at Davis Gymnasium.

A final teatime get-together was held later in the afternoon in Larison Hall lounge, after which the feted 1908-ers dispersed with parting expressions of hope for a 55th reunion as successful as the 50th.

—OLIVE RICHARDS LANDERS,
Secretary

CLASS OF 1913

EDITOR'S NOTE: A group photograph of the Class of 1913 was not taken Saturday morning, June 7, since the class toured the Northeastern Federal Penitentiary during the scheduled time for the taking of the class pictures.

A gala occasion was our 45th, abounding in handshakes and happy smiles, rich in memories and crowned with reminiscences.
For the twenty-four returnees joys reigned, more abiding than pleasures. To those absent this report wishes to tell that your personalities were alive in hearts and minds of all classmates sojourning those too brief days on the campus in June. What a grand prelude to a truly great 50th in 1963!

At the Friday evening banquet Dr. Willard Smith, professor of English Literature and chairman of the Department of English, delighted all with an inspirational, informational message which strengthened bonds of affection for our college in the days when we toiled and played together, and for Bucknell as it is today.

The business meeting included reading of minutes of our 40th reunion, the treasurer's report, election of officers: Howard V. Fisher, president; Charles L. Sanders, secretary;
Harold A. Shaffer, treasurer; Bright W.
Beck, fund manager and Charles L. Sanders, reporter, and a memorial to deceased classmates—a reverent moment of silence followed by a prayer by Rev. John D. W. Fetter dedicating the lives of our 45 departed members to blessed memory and consecrat-ing the purposes of living classmates to continued spiritual aspirations. Invocation and benediction were offered by Rev. Fetter.

An adjunct of our business meeting was brief comment on the subject of our voluntary dues in vogue since our 40th. Hope was expressed that at our 50th we might be able to show some appreciation of our gratitude to our Alma Mater by a money gift.

The tour of the Northeastern Federal Penitentiary, the parade to the gymnasium, the corner-stone laying, the all-alumni luncheon and the afternoon social in Hunt Hall recreation room, were all features of the weekend.

Marwood's indefatigable efforts throughout the preceding months made our reunion a grand success. Even on Sunday several classmates and their wives sat together in worship at the Baptist Church. Also a few classmates attended the baccalaureate service and commencement exercises.

So farewell to a glorious 45th, a time for lasting recollections!

—CHARLES L. SANDERS,
Reporter

CLASS OF 1918

Twenty-two members of the Class of 1918 joined together to celebrate their 40th anniversary. While the number was small, I am sure that everyone attending the business meeting, the luncheon and the social gathering during the afternoon will say that it was a most delightful day. Gathering at 10:30 a. m. in the F. W. Olin Science Building we had an interesting meeting—learned what those in attendance were doing and where they were living, met the wives or husbands, had our picture taken, and elected new officers. The class officers elected were: William T. Johnson, president; Mrs. Layton E. King, vice president and class reporter; Mrs. Arch Kline, secretary and reunion chairman for 1963; Herbert C. Grice, treasurer; and Bruce O. Ranck, class fund manager.

The new president and the reunion chairman started at once planning for the next reunion, heeding Buck Shott's words that it takes five years to plan a good reunion.

Most of those in attendance came a comparatively short distance to attend—Ethel Heiter Riley, who lives in Clarksburg, W. Va., came the greatest distance. Numerous wives and husbands were in attendance. Dr. George Hobart Miles claimed the record of the youngest child, the Miles being accompanied by their twelve-year-old daughter.

We all had a delightful time and enjoyed reminiscing about friendships. One of our members who hoped to attend was Ora B. Smith. On May 26 she fell and fractured her hip bone and is now confined to the Fairmont Hospital, Baldwin Ave., Jersey City, N. J. Why not send her a card?

—ELIZABETH CHAMPION KING,
Reporter

CLASS OF 1923

Our 35th was really great! Fifty-eight members met at the Milton Country Club on a perfect June evening for an excellent dinner. After dinner, "Dal" Griffith, our efficient and tireless class president and reunion chairman introduced the class officers and then asked each class member present to rise, give his or her own name and introduce husband or wife, if present. Your reporter then read letters of greetings from those unable to attend.

After a round of lusty singing led by Larry Kimball, the eagerly awaited reunion books were distributed. They were truly an achievement this year, and a large share of the credit goes to Larry whose foreword alone is worth the price of the book. Read it, if you can, without a lump in the throat. Thanks to Lester Horam for an outstanding cover job, and to those who prepared the biographies, or helped in any other way.

Saturday morning, pictures were taken and a short business meeting was held, at 14 which time all the old officers were re-elected with the exception of Arda Bowser who asked to be relieved of the fund manager's job. The officers are as follows: Dalzell M. Griffith, president; Harry W. Jones, vice president; Foster C. Wilson, secretary; Frank R. McGregor, treasurer and fund manager; Olive Billhime Frontz, reporter.

The Class of '23 marched proudly down the hill to the Alumni Luncheon in Davis Gymnasium. Following luncheon, a get-together at Sixth Street House gave time for more reminiscing—Bowser recalling the build-up both figuratively and literally, of the big bonfire in the square and "Nig" Martin telling about—but you really should have been there. Blame Buck and Bruce if my enthusiasm is, at this point, heartlessly crushed by a 300-word limit, which I just happen to remember! See you at our 40th in 1963.

—OLIVE BILLHIME FRONTZ,
Reporter

CLASS

The 1928 reunion class meeting was held in the Vaughan Literature Building, Saturday, June 2, at 10:30 a. m. Twenty-four were present—seven husbands and wives. Brown Focht, reunion chairman, presided. A brief biographical sketch was presented by each member.

Officers re-elected were: H. Montgomery March, Jr., president; Loyd M. Trimmer, president; S. C. Braucher, Esq., fund manager; and Mrs. H. M. Marsh, Jr., reporter.

Upon motion, duly seconded, it was agreed to turn over the funds remaining in our reunion treasury to the University Endowment Fund.

Thanks were extended to Brown Focht, reunion chairman, and Eleanor Dill, reunion editor, and her staff.

In discussing THE BUCKNELL ALUMNUS, the class notes section was preferred over other material, but by motion of the Reverend Dr. Wilbur Sheriff, seconded by Evelyn Fanning Hublitz, the Alumni Office was commended on participating with 155 other colleges and universities in publishing the special insert.

Our 25th reunion, June 6, 7 and 8 was a big success due to the well-organized planning of our president, Clayton Brouse, reunion chairman, Lou Russo, and committee.

About sixty class members, counting bands and wives, and fifteen class children met in the Ellen Clarke Bertrand Library on Saturday morning with Clayton and Brouse presiding. The same officers were re-elected: Clayton Brouse, president; Warren Appleton, vice president; Marie Groff Heister, secretary; Ralph Reish, treasurer; Campbell Rutledge, class fund manager; and John Engelhardt, class reporter. Class members her Education—1958!"

UNIONS

8

ie need for a chapel building on the Buckcampus was discussed. To carry out the mission of class members as reported in the ion book, a motion, duly seconded, was presented and passed asking the Reverend Wilbur iff and the Reverend Paul Humphreys to 7 up a resolution for presentation to the man of the board of trustees recommending that the building of a chapel be the next addition to our campus. It was understood that commitments now made placed the completion of the Vaughan Literature Building a first priority.

Following luncheon at Davis Gym, where six additional members joined us, we gathered at the Lor Street House for our social. We chatted, exchanged news and took snap shots. It was an interesting and happy weekend. A few reunion books remain on hand. Send $1.50 to Alumni Headquarters if you want a copy. Best luck to all.

ELEANOR MILLER DILL,
Secretary, Proteum

13

ed happy and successful, wearing big w sombreros tagged with "1933", leaning on blue canes decorated with orange ribbons, and the girls exclaiming ecstatically about exotic orchids flown from Hawaii through the courtesy of Tom Wilkenson.

After the class picture was taken the class followed the 50th reunion class in procession to Davis Gymnasium for the All-alumni luncheon. During the rest of the afternoon, the children of class members swam at the Freas-Rooke Swimming Pool while their fathers and mothers socialized at the Barton Country Club.

SEPTEMBER 1958

At six o'clock we all enjoyed a delicious dinner, while exchanging pictures of our children, reminiscing, and examining our 25th reunion brochures (may be ordered from Alumni Office for $2.50). Later on Saturday evening, class members attended the Cap and Dagger production and the Alumni Jamboree. Sunday, the old gang broke up and returned to their respective homes.

I wish to apologize for asking for news for a big write-up in the May issue of THE BUCKNELL ALUMNUS for our 25th reunion. I sent in an ENORMOUS article, but it was not printed due to restricted space.

Ann Graybill and Franklin Cook were married on Saturday, April 5, 1958, at Clover Nook, Refton, and are residing at 325 West Park Ave., State College. Mabel Lesher married William C. Archbold on July 5, 1958. Franklin Bower, due to a death in his parish, missed our 25th reunion that he dearly would have loved to attend, but hopes to be back for Homecoming on October 25. Frank is pastor of the First Congregational Church of Madison, Conn., which recently celebrated its 250th anniversary.

—JANET WORTHINGTON ENGELHARDT,
Reporter

CLASS OF 1938

In looking back upon our 20th reunion I am sure that anyone attending could hardly arrive at any conclusion other than a wonderful time was had by all. Thirty-seven members, along with husbands, wives and children came back.

Your reporter was on the job most of the time, starting with registration Friday night, but a lot occurred that wasn't included on the agenda and all of the extra-curricular events are not covered here. As to what actually occurred we'll leave that to your imagination. The reunion got off to a whizbang start without any ceremony, and you might have guessed that we had seen each other just yesterday.

Swartz Hall, a new dormitory for freshman men, provided wonderful accommodations for about half of the class, families taking over an entire wing. It was difficult, at times, to tell where headquarters were—Bob Reitz's home or the dorm. Much of the class business was taken care of in the dorm Friday evening, but everyone was up early Saturday morning and on hand for the class meeting in the library. As you might suspect, short work was made of the meeting, with some fast legislation pushed through by Steve Stephanou and Jim Nicholson. Before your president knew what happened, all of the officers were re-elected. They are: Ira G. Fox, president and reporter; William D. Foltz, vice president; Alice Anderson Clemens, secretary; Constance Krautter Edwards, treasurer, and Robert E. Street-er, fund manager.

The class can never say enough in giving credit to those who contributed to making the reunion a real success. Joe Quick and Marion Ranck Rose as co-chairmen, along with Buck Shott and Bruce Rossiter, had things all lined up. Also, the class book represents a great deal of effort and planning on the part of Isabelle Clouser. Incidentally, if you haven't sent for the class book do so right away before they're all gone. Marion and her husband, Harry Rose, had us all over for the Saturday afternoon social and this grand couple deserve our thanks. The gratitude of everyone is extended to Bob Reitz and his good wife for their hospitality.

—IRA G. FOX,
Reporter

CLASS OF 1943

It is hoped that you were among the members of our class who were able to be present for at least some, if not all, of the events of the Class of 1943 reunion on Alumni Day.

Beginning the day, George Haines, our faithful and busy class president, took charge of the short business meeting held in the Vaughan Literature Building at 10:30 a. m. Dr. and Mrs. James Gathings were also present as faculty host and hostess and gave us a most friendly welcome. Class officers were elected for a five year term. They are: Jay Wagner, president; George Jenkins, vice president; Marlin Sheridan, secretary-treasurer; William G. Thomas, class fund manager, and Carolyn Donehower, class reporter.

Following the election, everyone thanked retiring officers George Haines, Mary Orso Johannesen, and Norene Bond Benton for jobs well done on behalf of the class and Bucknell. The special Reunion Booklet was distributed by Mary Orso Johannesen who, with her committee, did a wonderful job in gathering together all the reams of information appearing on our questionnaires.

After donning large country straw hats for the class photo, the class members paraded to Davis Gymnasium for the Alumni Luncheon, and heard Dr. Odgers' enlightening "State of the University" address.

At four o'clock the class gathered at the Otzinachson Country Club in Milton for dinner. Jay Wagner and George Haines presided. Many acquaintances were renewed during the hours that followed. A vote of thanks to George Haines, Jay Wagner, Mary Johannesen and the many committees that made possible such an enjoyable day concluded the after-dinner festivities.

Later in the evening many class members attended the Cap and Dagger play, while others gathered at Davis Gymnasium for the Alumni Jamboree.

Looking at the smiling faces and hearing the laughter of the group made it apparent that the Class of '43 really enjoyed this much-too-short Alumni Day. Do make plans to join your classmates again at Homecoming on October 25.

—CAROLYN DONEHOWER,
Reporter

CLASS R

CLASS OF 1944

I don't know when I've had a better time. All the preparation for, and the cleaning after were well worth it. Ray Tyler and his committee are certainly to be commended.

Jim and I hadn't been back on campus since Homecoming of 1953. I could hardly believe the change. New buildings include the Freas-Rooke Swimming Pool, the W. Olin Science Building and Swartz Hall. Coleman Hall is approaching completion. Most of you would hardly recognize Taft Hall—the framework may be the same, inside—such room!

At 10:30 a. m. President Ray Tyler opened our class business meeting in the Library of the Vaughan Literature Building. Presiding officers were re-elected: Raymond L. Taylor, president; Herbert I. Barnes, vice president; Dorothy Gotterer Horwitz, secretary; Barbara Wilken Carey, treasurer; Robert H. Taylor, fund manager and Joann lightly Brown, reporter, and plans were made to start now for our reunion in 1958 (15 years!). On the committee are: Charles Fritz, Bob List, William H. McChesney, Bob Shimer, Marshall Zigler and Joann lightly Brown.

CLASS OF 1945

"Old Sol" was out in all his glory on Saturday, June 7, for our 5th reunion. Actually many of us spent two beautiful days on campus but activities really began Saturday morning when we assembled in the Vaughan Literature Auditorium for our class business meeting. Presiding at the meeting was N. Freytag who introduced Dr. Harold Heine, our faculty host. Dr. Heine brought greetings to the class from the University.

Following introductions, officers were elected for the next five years. They were as follows: Melvin Woodward, president; Ben McKeel, vice president. Joanneferandre Diamandis was re-elected secretary with Maurice Mufson, treasurer; Joan e had our class picture taken by . . . none other than the same Don Ross! surely brought back memories.

NIIONS

ound noon we gathered to parade down hill to the Alumni Luncheon in Davis. There was an excellent meal, as usual, and lots of news from the campus. President Odgers and others.

ur last get-to-gether was a social gathering at Seventh Street House—the punch was delicious.

early, but happy, Jim and I took in the Alumni Jamboree at the Gym on Saturday evening. Everyone we met all week ended up to come back for our next reunion. It was so wonderful seeing and talking to our friends. There were over seventy '48ers in attendance. I hope I saw each of you.

please, everyone—"Come see—in '63" or, better yet, return for Homecoming on October 25.

—JOANN GOLIGHTLY BROWN,
Reporter

Stettler and Frank Boguszewski, fund managers, and Barbara Roemer Chambers, reporter.

during the meeting, Abe Powelson distributed bright green Alpine hats to all in attendance while Maurice Mufson distributed the reunion books published especially for the occasion. A unanimous vote of thanks was given to Maurice and his committee for the exceptionally fine job done on the book. At the close of the meeting, everyone assembled on the lawn outside the building for the class picture.

Following a short cornerstone laying ceremony at Coleman Hall, the class paraded to the Davis Gymnasium for the All-alumni Luncheon.

con. After the luncheon, President Odgers gave the "State of the University" message and three distinguished alumni were presented with alumni awards. In the afternoon, class members met at the "Burger" to reminisce about bygone days, while later in the evening, many attended the Cap and Dagger play as well as the Alumni Jamboree at Davis Gymnasium.

Besides seeing friends, everyone had a most enjoyable day looking at the new buildings and the same old hills. If you weren't able to come to the reunion and see the changes, be sure to make it a date to return on October 25 for Homecoming. I'll see you there!

—JANICE ELDER HANSMAN,
Acting Secretary

CLASS OF 1957

The Class of 1957 didn't come out to our 1st reunion in great numbers, but we were in great spirits! It felt like home to walk into the F. W. Olin Science Building for our class business meeting, but the old familiar faces were missing.

Vice president Sam Adams called the meeting to order. The first and only order of business was the election of officers for the next five years. Since there were no nominations from the floor, the present slate of officers were re-elected. They are as follows: James T. Stewart, president; Samuel W. Adams, vice president; Sarah L. Botsai, secretary; Stewart L. Rankin, Jr., treasurer; Catherine I. Evans, reporter; William S. Moyer, fund manager; Hugh C. Brownning, area reunion chairman and Benjamin J. Hollander, reunion chairman. Dr. Mark C. Ebersole, who acted as faculty host, brought us up to date on the latest campus news, after which we retired to the lawn outside the building to have our class photograph taken. As you can see, there were only four of us—some played hookie from the meeting.

Before parading to the Davis Gymnasium for the All-alumni Luncheon, the class members received copies of the very fine reunion book prepared by Larry Steele and his committee. If you have not received a copy of this reunion book as yet, please do not hesitate to order one from the Alumni Office. It is truly an informative and interesting collection of news about all your classmates. Larry certainly deserves a vote of thanks for a job well done.

The day's festivities were concluded with the Cap and Dagger play and the Alumni Jamboree in Davis Gymnasium.

It was gratifying to be a part of the class reunion. Unfortunately a lot of manpower is in uniform and unable to gad about as before. Others, I suppose, don't really feel like alumni yet—it's a feeling that grows with age. So older and wiser, let's all plan to be together at our next reunion. Or better yet, plan to return for Homecoming on October 25. It is truly a refreshing experience to return to the ever-changing Bucknell campus.

—SARAH L. BOTSAL,
Reporter

NAME YOUR CANDIDATES

This is your invitation to suggest the names of Bucknellians to be considered as candidates for a number of University and Alumni posts.

The form (provided below) will make it easy to exercise one of your privileges and responsibilities as a member of the Bucknell Alumni family.

ALUMNI TRUSTEE CANDIDATE

Each year one alumni trustee is nominated for consideration for membership on the Board of Trustees by vote of Alumni from a slate of three candidates selected by the Alumni Committee on Nomination of Trustee. In our large alumni body, many likely possibilities might be over-looked unless we have your suggestion at hand. Your suggested candidate need not be a member of your class nor must he reside in your community, but he must have attended Bucknell University and should be able to give consideration of the broad problems of University policy and should be willing and able to attend two board meetings plus several committee meetings each year.

ALUMNI AWARDS CANDIDATES

The committee on Alumni Awards will meet on Saturday, October 25, to select recipients for alumni awards in three categories: (a) for meritorious achievement in the field or profession in which the candidate is engaged, (b) for recognized contributions and service to fellowmen through such media as religion, charity, art, science or public welfare, and (c) for outstanding service, unselfish interest, and demonstrated loyalty to the University and to the Association. The committee will appreciate your suggestions of candidates in these three categories.

ALUMNI BOARD OF DIRECTORS

The by-laws of The General Alumni Association provide for an election of three members to the governing Board of Directors each year, and you are invited to suggest the names of Alumni to be considered as alumni board of director nominees.

Candidates for all these posts must be considered by committees meeting on Homecoming Week-end, October 25. A great deal of clerical work and time is required in preparing biographical resumes for committee action. Consequently, your suggestions on the form below are needed now.

A WORD OF CAUTION

In the past, a few Alumni have misinterpreted this call for candidates and have felt that multi-recommendations are necessary for favorable committee action. Such is not the case; a candidate with one recommendation receives the same committee consideration as a candidate with a hundred recommendations. It would be well to keep in mind that under our by-laws, nominating committees are required to select the candidate it considers "best suited and qualified," rather than on the basis of the number of recommendations. Selection of candidates should never be made as a result of a popularity contest.

Remember—committees meet October 25, and in the case of alumni trustee candidates, cannot consider persons who have not previously accepted the invitation to be placed in nomination. As this clearance requires time, your suggestions should be made now.

The Student View

By
BOBBIE RUNK '61

WHAT'S THE MATTER WITH US?

At what age, or at what level of education, can a student be regarded as mature enough to accept adult responsibility? The question may then be asked, from who's viewpoint is one regarding the matter—the student's or the adult's.

The Student Government Association began two years ago to draw up blueprints for an Academic Honor System which would be satisfactory not only to the faculty and administration, but to the students as well. Under this system examinations are not proctored; the student signs a statement, upon completing the examination, that he has neither given nor received aid during the time of the test. If he sees another student cheating he taps his pencil on his desk in warning. If the cheating persists he will turn the student's name in at the close of the examination. All offenders would be brought before a selected student board to be questioned. In the case of a first offense the student, if found guilty, would receive a failure for the course; any subsequent offenses would result in suspension or expulsion from the University.

This type of system, if established successfully, would prove an excellent character-builder, would save professors a great deal of time, and would raise the standards of Bucknell University. Why, then, the violent opposition raised in several directions toward its initiation? The primary concern of those on the faculty who oppose the system seems to be that it is unfair for those students who misuse their freedom by cheating to receive as high or higher grades than those who are conscientious in their efforts. Here it is up to the conscientious student to protect himself by reporting the offender if he refuses to heed a warning. This is a difficult thing for any student to do but it is part of the responsibility each one must assume. In general, however, the faculty and administration favor the Honor System.

Now let us examine the attitudes of the students, and the reasons behind them. It is disturbing to find that the students—the very people who insist

Suggestions of Persons to Be Considered for Nomination

(Must be Submitted by October 15, 1958, or Before)

I suggest for committee consideration the following Bucknellians:

I. AS CANDIDATE FOR ALUMNI TRUSTEE:

NAME CLASS
(Enclose sheet listing achievements of your candidate as you know them)

II. AS NOMINEE FOR THE BOARD OF DIRECTORS OF THE GENERAL ALUMNI ASSOCIATION:

NAME CLASS

III. AS RECIPIENT OF THE 1959 ALUMNI AWARDS:

A. For Meritorious Achievement in the Field or Profession in Which the Candidate is Engaged.

NAME CLASS
(Enclose sheet listing achievements of your candidate as you know them)

B. For Recognized Contributions and Service to Fellow Men Through Such Media as Religion, Charity, Art, Science or Public Welfare.

NAME CLASS
(Enclose sheet listing achievements of your candidate as you know them)

C. For Outstanding Service, Unselfish Interest, and Demonstrated Loyalty to the University and to the Association.

NAME CLASS
(Enclose sheet listing achievements of your candidate as you know them)

YOUR NAME CLASS

ADDRESS

upon being recognized as adults, and the very ones who would benefit most from the system—are the ones who have shown the greatest skepticism toward its establishment and eventual success. They may feel that they are being realistically adult by recognizing the impracticability of such a system and their own inability to abide by the rules. But it appears that they are actually rationalizing their efforts to escape the task of upholding their honor by adult standards. It is this very reaction which illustrates the need for an Honor System under which the students can develop a personal sense of honor.

Without a doubt there will be mistakes made; there is also a possibility that the venture would end in failure. But to achieve success one must usually risk failure. However, it is clear that the attitudes of the students must be changed favorably in order that this system be established with every possible chance for success. The Academic Honor System offers a challenge and it will be extremely interesting to discover whether Bucknell men and women are mature enough to accept.

IN APPRECIATION

The following is a letter received from T. Cortlandt Williams '20, newly elected Alumni Trustee.

"I am wondering if I might not presume upon you to ask use of the pages of THE BUCKNELL ALUMNUS to express my appreciation to the Alumni of Bucknell for their recent action in electing me as one of their representatives on the Board of Trustees of the University?

"As years pass and opportunities present themselves many find it most rewarding to render such services to the University as individual situations may permit. In so doing, it is realized very quickly that the place Bucknell has made for itself in terms of contributions to a constantly shrinking world and its social and economic structure is indeed tremendous. It is realized as quickly how well and faithfully our predecessors have built and served to have established so impressive a result and the sobering fact comes to mind immediately that the Bucknell accomplishments of which we are all now privileged to be so justifiably proud can only be projected into the future by the same spirit of dedication and enthusiasm of its Alumni and their friends as has made them possible in the past.

"I feel greatly privileged to serve the Alumni body as its representative in these endeavors and shall count fully upon a continuance of the support it has historically given so freely."

NEW COACH

(Continued From Page 11)

The following week, Carnegie Tech invades Memorial Stadium. Pre-season reports indicate that the Tartans will be stronger than last season when they dropped a 13-7 decision to the Herd.

The Red Raiders of the Chenango Valley will provide perhaps the most formidable opposition of the season when they come to Lewisburg on October 11 for the Dad's Day game. Last year Colgate dumped the Bisons, 32-0, and this year the Raiders are expected to be improved.

One of the most underrated teams in the East, Rutgers, will entertain Bucknell on October 18, at New Brunswick. Bill Austin and the single-wing attack will be tough to contain.

Lafayette will provide the opposition for the annual Homecoming encounter at Lewisburg on October 25. The Leopards will also have a new head coach this season, with Jim McConlogue at the helm. Last season Lafayette boasted its finest freshman team in years.

The Bisons will meet Lehigh, one of the strongest small college teams in the nation last year, on November 1 at Lewisburg. The Engineers are always tough for the Herd.

The "Old Shoe Trophy" game with traditional foe, Temple, will feature the Bisons seventh appearance of the season. The Owls will be striving to return the shoe to Philadelphia after four year residence at Bucknell. Temple will be improved.

On November 15, the Herd journeys to Wilmington to meet Delaware, unquestionably the cream of the middle-sized colleges of the nation over the past five or six years. The Blue Hens will be as strong as ever and that puts them in a class with the Yankees.

A greatly improved University of Buffalo eleven will bring down the curtain on the 1958 season on November 22 in Buffalo. The Bulls are definitely building and who can forget the upset they administered to the Herd two years ago.

SUMMARY

The opposition will generally be as strong or stronger than last year. The Bisons should be somewhat improved, but a new system of attack will take time to learn and the lack of a "super star" or two will not help the cause. You can look for a hustling, spirited eleven that should play a brand of football that will be pleasing to the spectator and be a credit to the college, her alumni and friends.

SCHARDT JOINS STAFF

Arlie W. Schardt, a University of Wisconsin graduate, has joined the public relations staff at Bucknell as director of sports information. In that position he succeeds Harry L. Hulmes who left the campus last spring to take a similar post with the Baltimore Colts.

As an undergraduate at Wisconsin, where he won varsity letters in swimming and tennis, Schardt was employed for three years by the University's News Service and was sports correspondent for various Milwaukee papers.

Following his graduation in 1954, he spent one year in a special public relations training program at General Electric in New York before entering the Army. Upon his discharge last fall, he became a sports publicist for the Los Angeles Rams, professional football team.

BISON HEADQUARTERS FOR FOOTBALL GAMES AWAY

Don't forget that football games away from the campus give you an opportunity to see the Thundering Herd in action in your home area. Here's how you can meet the gang as you follow the Bisons on the road:

HERSHEY—September 27—Bison dinner before the Gettysburg game at the Hershey Golf Club, across from the stadium. A buffet dinner will be served at 6:00 P. M. Bucknellians and friends living in Pennsylvania should order football tickets through their local club presidents thus giving the club a refund for the local club treasury.

NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J.—October 18—Bison dinner after the Rutgers game at Sally's Restaurant, 247 Raritan Avenue, Highland Park, N. J. A reservation order blank for this gala affair and tickets on the 50-yard line for the game appear on Page 4.

PHILADELPHIA—November 8—Bison luncheon before the Temple game at Sunken Gardens, Cheltenham Avenue and Ogontz, Philadelphia. A reservation blank for this luncheon and tickets on the 50-yard line for the game appear on Page 4.

NEWARK, DEL.—November 15—Information concerning the roundup before or after the Delaware game is not available at this time. Watch the November issue of THE BUCKNELL ALUMNUS for news of such an event.

BUFFALO, N. Y.—November 22—Watch the columns of the November issue of THE BUCKNELL ALUMNUS for news of a roundup before or after the Buffalo game.

CLASS REPORTS

Other class news of the Emeritus Club and the Reunion Classes of 1903, 1908, 1913, 1918, 1923, 1928, 1933, 1938, 1943, 1948, 1953, 1957, with pictures, will be found on pages 12 to 17 inclusive.

EMERITUS CLUB

MISS MARY COTTON
Eldred, Pa.

Dr. Ezra Allen 1895, who observed his 88th birthday on May 7, has closed a 17-year period of service at Stetson University with his resignation and retirement as visiting professor in biology. He will make his home in Fair Lawn, N. J., with relatives.

It's not often that a Bucknell co-ed graces the cover of the Penn State Alumni News. But Mrs. Byrde Taggart Dieke of the Music Class of 1897 made it in the July issue of the magazine. The occasion was a dinner in Pittsburgh honoring Mr. George H. Dieke, president emeritus of the Penn State Board of Trustees.

One of the highlights of the centennial celebration of Susquehanna University was the publication of a book of poems and addresses of Dr. John I. Woodruff '90, a graduate of their Class of 1888 and their oldest living alumnus.

Word has been received that David W. Thomas '04, Minden, La., attorney-at-law and an effective religious leader, was appointed an honorary member of the Louisiana State Senate on November 20, 1957, by Lieutenant-Governor Lether Frazier. He now calls himself "a strictly Confederate Rebel."

01

MRS. CREIGHTON M. KONKLE
(Laura L. Allen)
4435 Albemarle Street
Washington 16, D. C.

In the Emeritus Club's report you have read news of some of our classmates. The rest of us seem to be ticking along, as Walter Ruch says; perhaps some are slowing down a little but all are keeping up with events around us, and maintaining our interest in Alma Mater.

All of us share in pride and congratulation to Mabel Grier Leshner for the honor conferred upon her by the University.

We enjoyed the report of the activities of the "Alumni Reunion Weekend," wishing we could have shared in it. We wish again to congratulate our alumni secretary and editors for their good work.

02

MR. ALAN C. CUNNINGHAM
Charles C. Knox Home
Wynnewood, Pa.

In July your reporter, with 92 other Golden Agers, spent a week at a YMCA Camp at Hilltop on a 1300 foot elevation near Downingtown. Twenty-seven young men and women looked after the group and every day offered a different program. Your reporter spent most of his time making ceramics and painting in oils—painting three landscapes of the hills around the camp. I recommend such a week to any of my classmates.

05

DR. LEWIS C. HYLBERT
435 Drake Avenue
Upland, Calif.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Hummel have sold their home in Benlah, Colo., and have moved to Pueblo, Colo., where they are near their daughter and three grandchildren. Mr. Hummel reports that Mrs. Laura Hummel Ginter was guest speaker, November 24, 1957, at the 25th anniversary celebration of the Women's Society of World Service in Trinity Evangelical United Brethren Church, Northumberland, where her late husband had served as pastor for 25 years.

John B. "Hen" Smiley, president of the Washington, D. C., Alumni Association of Phi Kappa Psi, took a prominent part in the Founder's Day celebration of the fraternity on February 19, 1958. He also assisted in the wreath-laying at the Brigadier General William Mitchell Statue at the Smithsonian Institution on the same day. "Hen" also reports having heard a sermon by Dr. Norman Thomas '05 on the title "Private Morality and Public Conduct" at the All Souls Church (Unitarian) early in February.

L. C. Hylbert had a delightful trip from California to New Jersey by invitation of the First Baptist Church of Metuchen, N. J., to assist in the 50th anniversary celebration of the church on April 27. While attending Crozer Theological Seminary, 1906-1908, Dr. Hylbert spent each week-end in Metuchen, got the Baptist people together in a Sunday School, later started church services and was the founding pastor when the church was organized in 1908.

Taking advantage of this trip east he and Mrs. Hylbert spent several weeks visiting relatives and friends in New Jersey, New York, Florida, West Virginia, Indiana and Illinois.

07

DR. LEO L. ROCKWELL
Florida Southern College
Lakeland, Fla.

Gordon Evans has been appointed by Mayor James T. Hanlon to a full five-year term as a member of the Scranton Redevelopment Authority. Mr. Evans is head of Lewis & Reilly, Scranton's oldest retail shoe store.

All Bucknellians owe thanks to the Alumni Office for that fine issue (May, 1957) dealing with higher education. I hope all '07ites read it thoughtfully. This child has been doing his duty writing articles and "Letters to the Editor" pointing out the need for much greater emphasis on foreign language study in this shrinking world. Some of our educational "experts" have actually been hostile to this basic element in general education; the most recent issue of Time points out convincingly the reasons for our surprise at Sputnik. We didn't have people who could read the hundreds of Russian scientific periodicals which would have warned us of their advances. For Pete's sake, gals and boys, have your grandchildren begin the study of languages early!

We trust many of you are planning to make substantial contributions to the 1907 scholarship fund Mary Stanton Speicher and her husband have so generously started.

A new edition of Charles Francis Potter's The Story of Religion must be out by now. Those of you who didn't read it before should catch up with this edition.

The roving Rockwells are going to give the Alumni Office another change of address. After a short sojourn in our igloo in the Arctic (Hamilton, where they had 12 feet of snow last winter), we trek to Lakeland, Florida, where your scribe has accepted a visiting professorship at Florida Southern College. We are especially pleased, because our daughter Margie-Peg (Mrs. John Weihing) and her husband live in Lakeland and because we hear such fine things of Florida Southern.

We have had a most pleasant year in Charlotte. Queens College has a charming and intelligent group of students and a stimulating faculty. We have been delighted too with our work in teaching English as a foreign language to two Hungarian refugees, a medical doctor and his doctor wife, and to a young Italian medical man in this country on a grant . . . The tremendous general interest in education in this section promises a brilliant future for North Carolina.

Chauncy E. Brockway, Esq., has for many years been a close student of the American economy, searching for a workable plan to put America and the world on a free enterprise economic system. He has presented his program to many groups of economists and has testified before congressional committees and has now written a book Golden Geese, Golden Eggs in which he presents his program to drive Communism out of the economic and political world arena. It is published by Comet Press, 200 Varick St., New York 14, at $4.50 per copy.

09

MRS. HOWARD HEADLAND
(Sarah E. Walters)
3911 First Ave. N.
St. Petersburg 13, Fla.

As the dinner including wax beans and red raspberries fresh from the garden is ready to be cooked, I'll take time out to write this Bucknell story. To begin, Howard and I are in this beautiful town of Slippery Rock which holds for us so many memories. Here live many of our long time friends and here is, on the edge of the college campus, the only home we ever built. A second owner since we sold it now lives in it. There it stands, the gray brick, so stately with its trees, evergreens and shrubbery now full grown; all of which speak of our labors and foresight so many years ago. Happy memories linger there!

Hurrah for our "Class Round Robin!" It was started alphabetically, we understand, and is well on its way down the line. When it comes to you and you and you, add your feather and promptly send it on its further flight.

To receive from a classmate a letter full of news not only about himself but also about his family, which, we feel sure, would be of much interest to all of us is wonderful; but then to read in the same letter this sentence: "Please do not consider any of this letter as personal items for the magazine," is disconcerting. That little word any stopped this reporter short. So won't at least some of you, if you are able send me notes about yourselves and—without limitations—as we naturally must depend on you individually for something to write about.

Can you believe that 50 years ago we were looking forward to our senior year at Bucknell? To me it seems so short a time ago. Then we were young and chipper, but now—alas and alack—we are old, at least in years; but many of us are not so old in spirit. Certainly we can begin to plan now to auswer present at our 50th, come June. Already many plans are forming toward the happiness of that day.

Have you heard this one?

"When I was young my slippers were red
And I could kick as high as my head.
When I grew older my slippers were blue,

And I could dance the whole night through.

Now I am old and my slippers are black,
I walk to the corner and trudge my way back.

But now I am wiser, my slippers are white,

And I walk with Joy the Highway of Light."

10 MISS MILDRED B. CATHERS
100 W. 33rd St., Apt. 6
Bayonne, N. J.

From September through March, Rev. Georgé C. Fetter served the First Baptist Church of Ames, Iowa, (his home church), as interim pastor. In April he flew East where he visited his brother John '13, and his two daughters, Mrs. Frances E. Martin of Bethesda, Md., and Mrs. Judy M. Kendall of Detroit, Mich., and his seven grandchildren.

A card from Winnie Dickson Hardgrove says she has been touring Alaska this past summer, going by plane from Fairbanks as far north as the Village of Barrow on Point Barrow, an all-Eskimo settlement. A plane trip over the Arctic and an ocean boat trip to see the Will Rogers-Wiley Post Memorial proved thrilling as also did a trip by dog sled.

Five class members enjoyed an off-year reunion at the Alumni Luncheon in June when Sara Way, Jack Bank, Paul Abraham, Phares Hertzog and your reporter were all in Lewisburg for Alumni Day.

11 REV. F. B. McALLISTER
2330 Muriel St.
Cincinnati 19, Ohio

John H. Arnold has retired from the National Board of Fire Underwriters where he has been assistant chief engineer in charge of the Chicago office. Following service in World War I, he joined the National Board of Fire Underwriters in 1920 where he was engaged in municipal fire protection, first in New York City, then in Chicago. He proposes to settle in Connecticut in the near future.

Quotes from a letter from Rev. Nelson K. Crossman to Earl E. Hinman of Glen-side, "Even though I have retired I am kept pretty busy. I am serving the Gloversville Council of Churches as Director of Week Day Church Schools and am enjoying it. Also I am interim pastor of the First Baptist Church, Waterford, N. Y." "Gloversville is a city of over 26,000 people with beautiful churches and nice people." "Seeing you and other class members at our 45th reunion was one of the most enjoyable events in my life for a long time. I felt it would be impossible to be in a group of finer men than we had there." After spending a winter in warm and sunny Houston, Texas, the Crossmans last winter faced the record-breaking snow and cold of the East. Their address is 123 Sixth Avenue, Gloversville, N. Y.

Dr. Charles H. Heacock reached the age of compulsory retirement on the faculty of the School of Medicine of the University of Tennessee on October 1, 1957. He had been Professor of Radiology and head of the Department of Radiology for 20 years. He will continue in private practice of radiology as the senior member of a seven-man partnership known as the Heacock-King Radiological Group. His address is 955 Madison Ave., Memphis 4, Tenn.

12 MRS. H.W. HOUSEKNECHT
(Maze Callahan)
103 W. Penn St.
Muncy, Pa.

It was a real Alumni weekend. The weather was a bit chilly but pleasant. Some of the older folks had on their red "woollies," but the younger ones strutted in their sleeveless chemise gowns.

On Friday evening, Pop and I were on hand for the buffet supper in Swartz Hall Cafeteria. The tables were filled with the Emeritus group, class presidents and reporters, fund managers and friends. The food was delicious, the best I ever ate at Bucknell. The same thought from a member of the Class of 1902. The people were unusually warm and friendly. Had the pleasure of meeting Ruth Thomas Sleighter '31, Ruth Rohr Liming '34, and Elvie Coleman Herpel '03—all class reporters.

We almost had a 1912 table at the Alumni Reunion Luncheon. Alberta and Patty Conner, Paul and Evelyn Riehl, Pearl Ream Williams and Frank '17, Fred Igler and Katie, and Pop and I. Paul was back to celebrate his 50th reunion from the Academy. Arthur Gerhart, too, was listed on the bulletin board but none of us saw him. I did see a few people whom I knew: Bill Parson and Lillian, Jim Lose and Esther, Fuller Hayes and Helen of the Class of 1908; Mildred Cathers, Sara Ray Way, "Hermie" Banks of the Class of 1910; Margaret Gretzinger English of the Class of 1915; Blanche Stoner Wood of the Class of 1905; Fannie Wood Brown and Janet Worthington Engelhardt of the Class of 1933; and Hannah Madison Townsend of the Class of 1921. The Class of 1913 invited all returnees of '10, '11, '12, '14 and '15 to come to Hunt Hall Recreational Center to reminisce and enjoy a snack. It was a lovely affair. Although we could only stay a short time, we enjoyed every minute of their gracious hospitality. We mustn't forget to put on some extra plates of cookies and nuts when we celebrate our 50th.

Alberta and Patty did a little globe trotting this spring. They were in Japan and Hawaii for two months. Hope to give more details later.

Frank Hean journeyed to Altoona to speak for his class and I spoke for my class at Montoursville. I've been on a sit-down strike this summer but have spent about five hours a day tutoring. When the boy came to my door to ask if I would help him he said, "Are you the lady that gets kids through school?" I have been called a lady, at least, once in my life!

J. Villard Frampton '03, was installed as president of the Pennsylvania Bar Association in January, 1958, at the 62nd annual meeting of that association. Mr. Frampton is a direct descendent of William Frampton (a member of the Provincial Council of William Penn) and is a member of the law firm of Frampton and Courtney in Oil City. Mr. and Mrs. Frampton (Lavinia Magee A'01) reside at 506 West Third St., Oil City.

Pop, with his assessor's books, walks many blocks, visits many homes, listens to all the gripes, comes home completely bushed. No time for an argument.

What every young boy, his father and grandfather should know

*A lady's birthday? Then heed the sages
To keep the occasion pleasant
Be sure to forget the birthday past,
And remember the birthday present.*

GEORGIA STARBUCK GALBRAITH

14 MRS. H. B. WEAVER
(Dora Hamler)
348 Ridge Ave.
New Kensington, Pa.

Dr. and Mrs. John W. Rice (Ruth Hoffa) held a reunion at the Rice residence in Lewisburg over Memorial Day week-end. A formal dinner was held at the home Friday night and an informal dinner at the Forest House Hotel on Saturday followed by an afternoon of games and a picnic at the Rice cabin at Sand Bridge. This was the first reunion of the family since 1952. Since that time, Professor and Mrs. Rice have become grandparents nine times.

15 MR. THOMAS B. WILLIAMS
200 Coventry Rd.
Fairless Hills, Pa.

Pearl I. Kawel has retired after 40 years of service in the public schools of Sunbury.

BUCKNELL HOMECOMING

We sit beneath a giant oak
And give the College Yell!
Today we're living as of yore
The old days, at Bucknell.
Our homecoming and reunion
We meet classmates, but too few.
For we were searching everywhere,
Just trying to find you.
Those of you who don't return
Have disappointed some friend dear.
So put the gladness in each heart,
Come be with us this year.
The grandeur of the Campus,
Enhanced by your presence there,
Joy of being with old friends
Who down through the years, still care.

Put away your cares and woes.
Come back to this world apart
To your dear old Alma Mater
That gave to you, your start.

JOSEPH A. LOGAN

J. B. Bates has been elected vice president of the Bucknell Alumni Club of Union County.

After a long career as teacher and dean of girls at the Williamsport High School, you would think that Isabelle F. Bond would have turned far away from schools when she retired in 1956. But when Covenant-Central Presbyterian Church of Williamsport announced the need for an assistant in the church kindergarten, Isabelle was promptly on hand and now spends her mornings helping youngsters learn general facts about the world and the universe, stimulating natural curiosity and increasing their learning in many fields. "They are very eager to learn and their enthusiasm is wonderful," is the way Isabelle commented in a recent newspaper interview on her newest occupation.

Mrs. Warren H. Miller (Margaret E. Ziegler) has been elected secretary-treasurer of the Bucknell Alumni Club of Lock Haven.

17 MRS. ERLE M. TOPHAM
(C. Ray Speare)
425 W. Sedgwick St.
Philadelphia 19, Pa.

The following notes were written in January, 1958, for the March issue but due to lack of space could not be published. The May issue contained no class notes, so while these are sort of old they contain some interesting events which I feel you'll enjoy reading. Remember they are answers to letters written by Frances Hilgert Higgs to all Home Economics Alumnae of 1917, about returning for our reunion.

Florence Dershimer Schultz: "Would be fine to see all the girls. Haven't been back to Bucknell since graduation. Our oldest daughter, Betty, is teaching in Glenside and Lois is married and living in Lequicalpa, Honduras. C. A. Husband Paul is still with Hershey Chocolate. We are still living in Hershey. I'm so sorry but I'll not be able to be with you as this will be a very busy time for me."

Betty Kates: "Sorry I can't prevent you talking about me this time through my presence. I finally wound up this Spring with a heart attack and have been no good whatever. Today I start on a two hour a day office schedule instead of one and so it goes. I was in Lewisburg in February to attend Dr. Harris' funeral. Remember me to all and giggle for me this time. I had planned to come but will now have to wait till next time."

Mabelle Eede: "Frances, I can hear your chatter right now at the reunion. I'm so sorry I won't be able to join you but do let me hear about it. I wrote 'Bridge.' Haven't had her decision yet. Her daughter was married in April and will live home for the time. Bridge has not been well this past year. Says she hears from Fay Schoch '18 and Ray Speare. Of course four of her close friends have passed on—Elvira Lewis, Hilda Dinterman and the Cooper twins. My cousin Sue Weddell will be back for her 50th, I think. We have not had an alumni meeting since December and our group changes so rapidly due to G. E. transfers. Read that Dot Bunnell Schnure's husband has retired. Their one son was in our group. Church activities keep one busy due to the fact we have been without a regular pastor since January. We have a fine interim one but of course he does not know the members of the church so we take over the calling duties, etc. My hobbies are sewing for the church and missions, listening to television quiz shows, playing scramble and samba and knitting for the Seaman's Institute of New York City. Have a grand reunion."

Mary Grove of West Milton: "I seldom get any week-ends off due to scarcity of nurses but if I can I will try to come down Saturday evening. I'm working at a church home for the aged in Allenwood. Can you meet me anywhere?" (I didn't see Mary but I hope she made it. Ray).

Martha Achenbach Heller writes: "I'll really try to get to the 1917 reunion. I envy you your pleasant task of writing to all of our group and especially getting all the interesting answers." (Marty, if you want the addresses of these girls so you can write to them I'll send them to you. Know they'd love to hear from you. Ray).

24 MRS. PAUL J. CUPP
(Louise M. Benshoff)
933 Muirfield Road,
Bryn Mawr, Pa.

I reported in a past issue of the ALUMNUS that Dr. Marjorie J. Rivenburg, M.A., planned to take a sabbatical leave from her teaching duties at Westhampton College, University of Richmond, and would travel in Italy and cruise the Mediterranean. Knowing that news of her trip would interest us, I begged for a report! Marjorie's letter arrived too late for the last issue of the ALUMNUS; however it is so interesting it will surely receive first place in our report this month. (Forgive me, Marjorie, if I quote from your letter).

"... My sabbatical leave of last year seems such stale news by now. I went on a Mediterranean cruise of two months beginning at the Azores and Casablanca, then over along the coast of Italy to Beirut where we visited Ballbek and the Biblical cities of Tyre and Sidon in Lebanon... Also to Byblos up the coast from Beirut, then to Egypt where we managed to get over to the Pyramids and Cairo just before all the trouble in Egypt. From there, we went to Istanbul and finally to Sicily for a week, Naples for five weeks, Rome, Pisa, Genoa, and stopped at Sardinia and Spain on the return voyage... I was gone about four months and had a wonderful time visiting thirty-two different places... We went on a very luxurious Norwegian cargo liner carrying twelve passengers. It is the best way to go to the Mediterranean and the food was wonderful!"

25 MRS. DANIEL HOPPER, JR.
(Mildred C. Francisco)
36 Van Doren Ave.
Chatham, N. J.

A cordial welcome once again to the academic year. I would like to receive word of your many travels and interests during the past months. You have no idea how some folks look forward to news of their old friends. Let's give. Fulfill the promises of 1955—I mean you!!

Way back in March, I had an invitation from Mary Bray Young in Norristown for a luncheon of Bucknellians to be held on the 28th. To my surprise, there were twenty-one former Bucknell women, among them Mary's sisters. It was a wonderful get-together, meeting again at least twelve from the Class of '25. Pictures of sons, daughters and grandchildren made the rounds. It was a great pleasure to be with them all. Thank you, Mary.

Beatrice Mettler once again was cooking up another wonderful trip for the summer months, driving to the coast by the southern route and returning by the northwest passage.

Miss Lillian M. Wilson retired from public school teaching in 1949. For the past six years, she has graded examination papers for the American School of Home Study in Chicago, Ill., working during the winter months from November to April. She finds it very interesting work.

26 MISS ANNA L. BROWN
45 Wildwood Ave.
Pitman, N. J.

Dr. Eugene D. Carstater of Falls Church, Va., taught in the summer school at Indiana University this past summer.

Dr. and Mrs. W. Linwood Crowding (Catherine S. Frederick) have returned from their year of sabbatical leave during which time Dr. Crowding served a charge in Stockport, England, with the idea of promoting good will between the churches and peoples of the two countries. The Crowdings are living in Shippensburg where Dr. Crowding is serving a Methodist pastorate.

Chester A. Rishell has been elected president of the Bucknell Alumni Club of Johnstown.

Robert D. Smink has been elected president of the Bucknell Alumni Club of Lycoming County.

Dr. Ruth M. Steese has been appointed a director of Regional District No. 6 of the Pennsylvania State School Directors Association. Prior to this appointment, she has received recognition in 15 issues of the Congressional Record; has been listed in American Women 1935-1938; Who's Who in Transportation and Commerce and Who's Who in the East.

Mrs. Franz J. Postpichal (Ruth M. Probert) is the proud grandmother of two fine grandchildren. Her son and daughter each has one child. I'll bet she carries some interesting pictures in her wallet!

29 MISS THELMA SHOWALTER
425 Market St.
Mifflinburg, Pa.

You, the members of the Class of 1929, are invited! Where? Bucknell University, Lewisburg. When? June 6, 1959—Alumni Week-end. What? The 30th reunion of our class.

President Paul E. Fink and I are looking forward to seeing each and everyone of you at that time. A note from you now, saying, "I'll be there," would mean a great deal to those who are serving on the reunion committee. Eleanor Winslow Garnow has already written us from Florida that she hopes to be able to join with us in the celebration of the great occasion.

Congratulations are in order for Kenneth P. Rounsley for having won the $1,000 special award for development of a new policy and procedure in supply management and logistics. Ken is assistant for services, U. S. Army Engineer Maintenance Center in Columbus, Ohio.

Anne Griffiths Shindel is now employed by the Internal Revenue Service in Scranton, and is living in Dunmore.

Dr. John R. Fox is a practicing dentist in Catawissa. John has two lovely daughters and a son, Jacquelyn, the older of the girls, is a sales representative for the Bell Telephone Company. Judith and James are both high school students.

In July, 1957, Jason W. White became assistant professor of mathematics at Kutztown State Teachers College. He was a member of the Muhlenberg Township High School faculty for 29 years prior to his new appointment. He is married, has one daughter, Ruth Elizabeth, and lives at 1001 Elizabeth Ave., Laureldale.

Thelma J. Showalter was re-elected secretary of the Bucknell Alumni Club of Union County.

31 MRS. W. ZELMAN SLEIGHTER
(Ruth J. Thomas)
833 Chestnut St.
Mifflinburg, Pa.

Arthur E. Minnier has been re-elected to serve his second term as superintendent of schools in Lackawanna County. He was recently elected vice president of the Bucknell Alumni Club of Scranton.

Mrs. George C. Hosler (Daris C. Bra-cey) has returned to the teaching field. She has been doing substitute teaching in the Frackville High School and enjoying it very much.

Dr. D. Innes Dann has been elected president of the Medical Staff at the Polyclinic Hospital, Harrisburg. The Danns' (L. Louise Ziegler '32) home is at 483 Country Club Lane, Camp Hill.

Robert J. Keenan was elected director of the Federal Home Loan Bank of New York. He will serve as a director-at-large for a term of two years. The New York Bank is part of the Federal Home Loan Bank system and covers the second district consisting of New York, New Jersey and Puerto Rico. It is a central reserve bank owned by its members consisting of savings and loan associations and other thrift institutions. Bob is executive vice president of the Equity Association, Kearny, N. J., past president of the Hudson County Savings and Loan League and member of the New Jersey State League Council.

34 MRS. WILLIAM S. LIMING
(Ruth E. Rohr)
396 Andrews Rd.
East Williston, N. Y.

Vincent A. Halbert has been elected president of the Bucknell Alumni Club of Trenton, N. J.

Joe Linetty, on a recent visit to the campus, reported that he is now teaching in the Pennsylvania State University Undergraduate Center at Pottsville. In addition, Joe is doing some officiating of high school athletic contests.

James Favino was elected vice president of the Bucknell Alumni Club of York.

Frank E. Gerlitz, Jr., has been elected vice president of the Bucknell Alumni Club of Lancaster.

Congratulations to Dr. Woodrow M. Strickler recently named executive vice president of the University of Louisville. Dr. Philip Davison, U. of L. president, in announcing Strickler's promotion pointed out that his new title "is in effect an expression of the broad service he renders to the University." In his new appointment, Strickler will be authorized to act for the president and in the president's absence to serve for him. Last year he was director of a study on education for the professions at Columbia University and also served as an instructor in educational administration there. He is currently writing a book on professional education.

Robert B. Cutler has been promoted to associate professor and is head of the Department of Music at Lehigh University.

Saw so many people in June I can't list them all but plans were started for our 25th. Send me any ideas you have for this great reunion in June, 1959.

35 MRS. PAUL J. DESCHANEL
(Ann W. Orr)
Chapel Wood
Gambrills, Md.

Lively winter communications which did not get in our previous newsletter came from Harry Wynn, Rom Rivenburg Balsbaugh, Jean Hagenbuch More, Marion Root Frank, and Peg Weddell Peters.

Our class members are active in alumni associations: George W. Berry is vice president of the Bucknell Alumni Club of Elmira; Mary E. Hilliard is treasurer of the club in Wilmington, and Harry Jenkins is vice president of the Philadelphia club.

Dr. John R. Thompson was elected president of the Medical Bureau of Harrisburg and Mrs. Ronald V. Wells (H. Pat Woodburne) served on a team of leaders for Religious Focus Week at William Jewell College, Liberty, Mo., in March.

New honors have come to Dr. Walton B. Geiger, Jr. who has been awarded a Guggenheim Fellowship for research in muscle biochemistry at the University of Amsterdam. He is on leave from Trinity University, San Antonio, Texas.

Dr. Robert Lindner's true psychoanalytic tale, "The Fifty-Minute Hour" will be the basis for a musical to open on Broadway this fall. It is a most fascinating story and the talents of Hal Prince and Bobby Griffith (most recently co-producers of "West Side Story") should create a new hit.

We were delighted to see Dotty Kester '34 in Cleveland this summer. She participated in a meeting on speech at the National Education Association Convention.

I have had several telephone conversations with Edie McCormick Smith. She and Stu and their two teen-agers are now living in Baltimore and we are looking forward to having a reunion before the end of the summer.

We are in the process of packing our gear to go to Rehoboth Beach, Del. Considering the kind of summer we have had, it should consist of swim suits, raincoats and hip boots. What's new with you?

36 MRS. CLYDE E. BURGEE
(Lois Montgomery)
124 S. Fifth St.
Lewisburg, Pa.

I hope each and every one of you have had a pleasant summer.

Since we had no class reports in the last two issues of the ALUMNUS, there are several items of news to report.

Early this year our industrious class president, Charles Kottcamp spent a month in Venezuela on a business trip. I hope his prediction that 50% of our class would contribute to this year's fund drive proved correct.

Dr. J. Fred Weaver, director of undergraduate studies in the Boston University School of Education for the past 2½ years, has been appointed to the newly created position of director of graduate studies and associate dean in the same school. Our congratulations to Fred on his new appointment. Fred, his wife, and their four children make their home at 10 Emerson Place, Needham, Mass. This fall their daughter Barbara will be a freshman in Bucknell's Class of 1962.

Edward C. Myers '34 was recently appointed vice president in the personnel services department of the United States Steel Corp. Ed is president of the Class of 1934 and is looking forward to the 25th anniversary next June. Mr. and Mrs. Myers (Edna Cleckner '33) daughters Wendy Ann and Sandra Sue reside at 1236 Murrayhill Ave., Pittsburgh 17.

Thomas W. Rauffenbart has been elected vice president of the Bucknell Alumni Club of Atlantic City.

37 MRS. PAUL W. ZIEGLER
(Mabel Nylund)
12 W. Garrison Rd.
Chester, Pa.

I have been collecting tid-bits of information since long ago last spring, so this ought to be a nice fat column.

Last April 1 heard from Carolyn Shaw Freeman, who reported the arrival of Gwen Elizabeth on March 3. Carolyn and her husband Carl are living in Boston, 299 Beacon St., to be exact. Their menage also consists of Carol Anne (almost two), and a rat-catching dog named Jupiter. Carolyn claims to be busier now than when she was a bacteriologist.

I was surprised to see Charlie Vogel at the last Philadelphia Alumni Club dinner. I thought Philadelphia was pretty far afield from Michigan, but I discovered he and Giny were moving to these parts, and Charlie was also taking over a new job. Their new address: 1318 Pine Wood Rd., Villanova. The new job: regional sales manager, Aluminum Division of Olin Mathieson Chemical Corp.

May brought a welcome letter from Martha Knights Barraclough. One of the highlights of our reunion for me was seeing Martha again. As if being neck-deep in church work, and keeping up with the activities of Marcie, Ronny Joe and Franny were not enough, Martha says she is going to start a 4-H Club. Such energetic undertakings make me feel like a loafer.

Unfortunately, we had to cancel our reservations for Commencement week-end, but Herb Watson was there, and also at the Philadelphia Alumni Club dance this spring.

I suppose you all know that Herb was elected president of the Philadelphia group. Congratulations, Herb, and many thanks for passing along these items: Edie Griesinger Rohde is busy with Girl Scouting, being a county (or is it district?) official. Edie, Lee and their three daughters were planning to see the U.S.A. this summer. Among the '37-ers at the dance were Mr. and Mrs. Warren E.

WERE WE WRONG!

Our faces are as red as the cover on the May issue of THE BUCKNELL ALUMNUS, but our pride knows no bounds. Although we stated that alumni may look in vain for direct mention of Bucknell, lo and behold a picture of an alumnus appeared in the special supplement. He is Ambrose Saricks '37, associate professor of History at the University of Kansas. Dr. Saricks received a Master of Arts degree from Bucknell University in 1941 and a Ph.D. degree from the University of Wisconsin in 1950. Dr. and Mrs. Saricks, son Christopher and daughter Alison live at 2560 Montana St., Lawrence, Kans.

Hitchner (Ann Weatherby), Mr. and Mrs. John O. Taxis (Ellen Gronemeyer) and Earle Deacon. No news from the girls, but Herb says Earle is still working for the insurance company of Alex R. Howden Co., Ltd., of London, which means he gets to see quite a bit of this country with a trip to England every so often.

Last year news of '37 appeared in every issue of the ALUMNUS that had space for class reports. I hope we do it again this year. But that means I have to hear from you, and you, and YOU.

39 MR. DAVID R. BAGENSTOSE
12 Kinterra Rd.
Wayne, Pa.

Herbert C. Hinebaugh was elected president of the Bucknell Alumni Club of Lock Haven.

Major and Mrs. Frank H. Noll announce the birth of a son, Peter Alan, on March 13. They now have three boys and two girls. Frank is Chaplain with the 29th Air Defense Division at Malmstrom A. F. B., Mont.

William H. Roberts has taken over a Sherman Williams Company Retail and Wholesale Outlet in Middlesex Boro, N. J. He had his formal opening on February 20 and says he has been going in circles ever since. He is having the able assistance of his wife (Martha J. Patton '41) and two sons, Bill, Jr. and Wayne. Their home is at 1340 Putman Ave., Plainfield, N. J.

40 MRS. JAMES A. MILLER
(Mary McCrina)
1492 Colfax Avenue
Benton Harbor, Mich.

Dr. Richard F. Brown delivered the annual Phi Beta Kappa lecture in the F. W. Olin Science Building on May 8. His subject was "Science and the Arts. A Modern Hercules at the Crossroads." Dr. Brown is chief curator of art, Los Angeles County (Calif.) Museum. His skill as a collector and connoisseur of arts was described in the April 14 issue of Time.

Robert D. McLain of the sales department of the United States Air Conditioning Corporation plans to move soon to Delaware, Ohio, where he will be acting sales manager in the newly-constructed plant in that city. He is married and has two daughters and one son.

Not many Bucknellians can tell you how Jericho looked 10,000 years ago, but Mrs. T. Garner James (Frances W. Theiss) could tell us plenty for she again spent last winter on an expedition organized by the British School of Archeology in Jerusalem. The findings of the expedition have been reported by Frances in a series of articles appearing in The Evening News of London under such intriguing headlines as "Adventure in the Dust," "We Try to Solve the Ten Skull Mystery," and "Cocktails in Tomb P-5." When not on expedition, Mrs. James resides in London.

About the most unexpected local introduction of Bucknell into the conversation was with the Dick Spaid of St. Joseph, our twin city. Dick was a student in the West Orange (N. J.) High School when Harry Wenner was head coach there in 1945.

"Correction, please:" Dr. John C. Winter will be specializing in allergies when he returns to his practice in Williamsport. "Meanwhile, back at the ranch..." I think I left the impression that my husband proceeded with studies as cited. This was his second summer of graduate work at Michigan State University.

42 MRS. THOMAS R. DIETZ
(Germaine B. Pepperman)
83 Nutt Rd.
Phoenixville, Pa.

A dream of fifteen years has finally come true for our family—we now own a cabin in a woods along a fine swimming and fishing creek and only about an hour's drive from our home. This spring and summer has been a mad rush of painting and building a screened porch and generally acting like a hauling van company, toting all the furnishings over in our station wagon. It's been a lot of fun and the summer has been too full for me to even answer the few notes I received. I'll do better this winter, though, so keep them coming.

Births: George Franklin, born January 31, 1958, to Mr. and Mrs. George M. Grow (Peggy Faust). This is their first child and by all the pictures he's some boy. Congratulations.

Judy, born February 17, to Phil and Billie Poling Roy. In Billie's own words: "Just to insure our lead—here is the 7th!" And I think our household gets like bedlam with four! More power to you two!

Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Cochran (Jean Koebley) have always managed to combine business with pleasure as far as their love for boats is concerned. "Bud" is still running a boat yard and selling real estate from 1450 Shore Rd., Baltimore, 20, Md. "Koeb" writes that their oldest daughter, Nancy, is 14 and is in 9th grade, and that they have been busy teaching their two daughters to sail in dinghies. Sounds like the whole family is nautical-minded!

No mention was made in their note of moving, but a new address was on the envelope for Bob and Marilyn (Eppley '43) Shaffer: 20332 Harding St., Olympia Fields, Ill. They have two daughters, Debby, in second grade, and Allyson, kindergarten age.

Helen E. Barrow, has been re-elected secretary of the Bucknell Alumni Club of Sunbury.

Mrs. Robert A. Kulp (Mary Anne Heacock) is living at R. F. D. 1, Lexington, Va. Her husband is comptroller of the Lee's Carpet Plant at Glasgow, Va. They are the parents of three children.

C. Martin Neff was re-elected treasurer of the Bucknell Alumni Club of York.

44 MRS. ROBERT F. BAKER
(Honey Rhinesmith)
Lindys Lake, R. D.
Butler, N. J.

No doubt this will sound mighty premature, but as the new school year starts on campus, it will end with our 15th reunion. So please give June, 1959, a special place in your thoughts—it's not too early to make plans.

We're ever so proud to announce the arrival on June 1 of our own newest member, Timothy Hearn. He joins Bob, Kit, and Tom.

Martha and Jim Shipe, plus Jo Ellen, James 3rd and Jonathan, have moved to 19 Prince Ave., Stanwyck, New Castle, Del. Jim is in the Planning Section of the Pigment Dept. with DuPont in Wilmington.

Dorothy L. Heller has been elected secretary of the Bucknell Alumni Club of Philadelphia.

Janet B. Leach is attending graduate school at the University of California. With the help of Mrs. Paul Magilligan (Nina Osovick '43) of Berkeley, Calif., she has found an apartment at 2206 Haste St., Apt. 23, Berkeley, Calif.

Mrs. Merle W. Smith '49 (Rosemary W. Palmer) has recently been appointed to the Board of Supervisors of Elections in the city of Rockville, Md.

J. Edward Brandt has been named treasurer and general manager of the Anthracite Bridge Co. with home offices in Scranton.

46 MRS. LELAND C. EWING
(Elizabeth J. Wells)
31260 Westfield Ave.
Livonia, Mich.

Dr. Harry H. Haddon, Jr. has been elected an associate in the American College of Physicians. He is a diplomate of the American Board of Internal Medicine and was certified as a specialist in internal medicine by that specialty board. He has been practicing internal medicine at Chambersburg since 1954. He is married to the former Mary E. Duck and has two children.

Dr. Paul W. Layden has been elected president of the Bucknell Alumni Club of Erie.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred W. Richardson (Ginger De Groat) announce the birth of Fred William Richardson, II, on April 4, 1958. The young man joins sister Virginia Beth, age 8, at 109 Forist Rd., Fairfield, Conn.

Mr. and Mrs. D. U. Whitesides (Eloise Headland) report the birth of Dietrich Howard Whitesides on June 2, 1958, and the move into their new home (which they built themselves on 5½ acres about 17 miles from Louisville) on June 14! Their new address is Rt. 2, Box 176A, Georgetowne, Ind.

47 ROGER S. HADDON, ESQ.
243 Water St.
Northumberland, Pa.

Clair A. Thomas, Jr., special representative for Equitable Life Assurance Society of the United States, opened a new office at West Palm Beach, Fla., on November 1. Mr. and Mrs. Thomas (Virginia K. Wier '49), and son, Clair A. Thomas, III, will make their residence in North Palm Beach. He will continue to maintain the office in York with his father.

The Francis M. Zacharas (Janet I. Mallett) have three sons; James, 2, and twins Peter and John 7. Their home is at 289 Midvale Rd., Ridgewood, N. J.

Claude J. Bubbs, Jr. has been elected president of the Bucknell Alumni Club of Lancaster.

We have just learned that a baby daughter, Anne Struthers, joined the Robert L. Yocum (Josephine M. Ghormley) family on August 3, 1957. They have a son, Mark Joseph, who was born September 17, 1954. They recently moved to Olive Lane, Route 18, South Norwalk, Conn.

In addition to the activities of a household with four children, Bob and Barb Grosvenor (Barbara Jane Brown '48) find time to participate in community affairs. Barb is serving her second year as P. T. A. secretary and Bob is a director of the A. F. of L. of state, county and municipal employees. Their home is at 4110 Richmond St., Lansing, Mich.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank L. Redfield, Jr. (Sylvia R. Slife) announce the birth of their sixth child, Myron, on November 5, 1957. He is the third son in the family. Home address: Opheim, Mont.

G. Alain Vitray has been elected treasurer of the Bucknell Alumni Club of Washington, D. C.

Dr. Floyd L. Harris wrote: "Beginning July 1, I expect to start residency training in anesthesiology at the Veterans Administration Hospital in Richmond, Va. I have been doing general practice here in Shepherdstown, W. Va., for the past five and one-half years. My wife, Barbara J. Morrow '44, and three children will continue to be an ever-important influence on my course of studies these next few years." Our good wishes go with Floyd in his new endeavor. The family resides at 4320 Forest Hill Avenue, Richmond, Va.

49 MRS. THOMAS A. FRAZIER
(Marilyn L. Harer)
1344 Mansel Avenue
Williamsport, Pa.

Victor H. Denenberg has been promoted to associate professor in the Department of Psychology at Purdue University. During the summers he has been doing research at the R. B. Jackson Memorial Laboratory at Bar Harbor, Me., and he and Ruth (Ruth Orner) find it a delightful place to take their daughters for the hot summer months!

Jack M. Garrison has been with General Electric Air Conditioning Division for 6 years as sales administrator and in the credit department. He is married and has two daughters, Justine and Margaret.

Robert A. Goldston was re-elected vice president of the Bucknell Alumni Club of Greater New York.

Mr. and Mrs. C. William McChesney (Doris M. Baker) have two children: Becky Sue, born April 2, 1953, and James Patrick, born February 15, 1955. They live at 2406 Willowbrook Road, Bridgeville.

Rev. Mark M. McCullough, Jr., rector of the Christ Episcopal Church in Biddeford, Maine, was elected president of the Arundel Ministers Association. Other Bucknellians attending the meeting were Dr. E. Carroll Condict '08, and son, T. Chubb Condict '39, both of Ocean Park, Maine.

A VACATION MESSAGE FROM MOHONK

If you are looking for a different type of resort, where it is a tradition to provide a relaxed atmosphere and comfortable living, you owe it to yourself to visit the Lake Mohonk Mountain House—a famous name in resorts for over 85 years.

Although you are not "pressured" into a continuous round of entertainment, you have a wide choice of activities which include a golf course; tennis courts; "cook-outs"; outdoor movies; a mountain lake for swimming, boating and fishing, which is surrounded by 7,500 acres of private land; miles of roads and paths for horse-

A son, George Benedict Lawson, III, was born on October 28, 1957, to Dr. and Mrs. George B. Lawson, Jr., (Georgia A. Hutchinson '48) of Philadelphia.

Richard D. Atherley is looking after the industrial relations activities at the Trenton, N. J., plant of the Westinghouse Lamp Division. He is living at Wrightstown (Pa.) where his address is Wrenwood Way, Box 126.

G. Ralph Noble really likes winter weather. He has just moved to Michigan's "copper country" where the annual fall of snow measures 240 inches. He has accepted a position as assistant director, Institute of Extension Services with the academic rank of assistant professor at Michigan College of Mining and Technology in Houghton, Mich.

50 MRS. DAVID MILLER
(Martha J. Kreider)
614 Penn St.
New Bethlehem, Pa.

Mr. and Mrs. William O. P. Carey (Barbara A. Wilken '48) announce the birth of a son, Patrick Walter, on March 2. The cradle is in the tree tops at 609 Covington Terrace, Moorestown, N. J.

Mr. and Mrs. John L. Sloan became the parents of a baby born February 24. John is teaching at the Camp Curtin Junior High School, Harrisburg.

R. Emory Smith, Jr., was married on April 19 to Barbara A. Sayer. He is now the pastor at the Woodlawn Methodist Church in Syracuse, N. Y., and has studied at the Boston University School of Theology and the New College, University of Edinburgh (Scotland).

Peter Weidenbacher has been elected president of the Bucknell Alumni Club of Northern New Jersey.

Jean M. White has received a citation from the Washington Newspaper Guild for her series of articles on Historic Jackson Place.

Herbert S. Wilcox has been re-elected treasurer of the Bucknell Alumni Club of Elmira.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas P. Goodman (Sara Kriner) announce the birth of their first child, Ann, on August 16, 1957. Ann will be a fourth generation Bucknellian: great-grandmother—Mrs. H. T. Heinsling (Sallie Loudon N'84), grandparents—Mr. and Mrs. Clarence M. Kriner '17 (Henrietta Heinsling '17). Ann has aunts, uncles, and cousins too numerous to mention who were also Bucknellians. This is an enviable record! The Goodmans have returned to the U. S. after a year in Germany under the auspices of a Senior Fulbright Research Grant and a Guggenheim Fellowship. Their address is 48 Massachusetts Ave., Cambridge 39, Mass.

back and carriage riding; daily prayer and Sunday services are conducted.

There are 300 comfortable rooms. Most rooms have porches and many have fireplaces. American Plan, with generous and tasty meals.

Summer season from May 28 to October 20. For full details, write to Judson W. Bunnell '52, Manager, and request rates and booklet 10-1. Mohonk is located about seven miles from New York State Thru-way Interchange No. 18 near New Paltz.

SMILEY BROTHERS, Proprietors
Mohonk Lake, Ulster Co., N. Y.

According to a news release dated May 31, 1958, Lt. James L. Yarnall '57, USMC, recently flew his first solo flight in a T-34 Mentor at Pensacola, Fla. By the time you read this, he will have advanced to the formation stage of aviation training at another field in the Pensacola area.

George and Jeanne Akerhielm (Jeanne Spong) rolled the welcome mat out for their second daughter's arrival on April 20, 1958. Nancy Beth is the recent addition's name.

George and Irene Sprague (Irene "Mike" Melhuish) report that the walls at 1413 S. Paxton St., Philadelphia 43, are showing signs of bulges since their fourth off-spring arrived December 7, 1957. Linda Susan weighed in at 7 lbs., 14 oz.—not an ounce too large for matching her three brothers, James Michael, born January 20, 1956, and the four year old twins, Bruce and Barley.

Mr. and Mrs. John Romano (Betty Vernon) are residing at 1322 Prospect Drive, Kynlyn, Wilmington 3, Del. Betty and John were married February 2, 1958, at the First Unitarian Church in Wilmington. John is a graduate of City College of New York and holds a Ph.D. from the University of Illinois.

51 MRS. HAROLD P. NORRIS
(Rebecca J. Rogers)
6 Griffith St.
Montrose, Pa.

Once again apologies to those of you who have waited so long to see your news items in print. The reason for the long delay is lack of space, not lack of interest in you and yours. Please keep your cards and letters coming.

Births

A daughter, Betsy, was born to Mr. and Mrs. Guy T. Jones (Alice A. Kerchner) on October 18, 1957. The family lives at 78 Crocker Ave., Johnson City, N. Y.

Paul and Mary Jane Riley Lacke welcomed a daughter, Nancy, on November 30, 1957. They also have a son, Paul Riley Lacke, who is four years old. The Lackes live at 258 Victoria Drive, Allison Park.

Ray and Barbie (Lewis) Shaw report the birth of a daughter, Cynthia Anne, on January 2. The Shaws live at 3 Man of War Drive, Media 20.

Mr. and Mrs. Manuel E. Astor now have three girls—Annie Evelyn, born on January 11, Mari, and Tvonne. The family's address is 880 Munoz Rivera Ave., Rio Piedras, Puerto Rico.

Howard B. Hile has just told us of the son in their family who was born December 15, 1956, and is named Howard Douglas.

MRS. JOHN S. BOULDEN, JR.
(Barbara Bleecker)
1605 Twin Maple Ave.
Towson 4, Md.

Congratulations to Eli Childs! At the Annual Assembly in June she was elected to the Board of Directors of The General Alumni Association for a five year term. We're proud to have '52 so ably represented!

Eugene R. DeBarr was appointed county director of the Council for the Retarded Child in July, 1956. Eugene's address is 2592 Mayfield Rd., Cleveland Heights 6, Ohio.

Jane Lee Craig has been a stewardess with Northwest Orient Airlines for the past 2 years. Her address is 47 Inner Dr., Apt. F 1, St. Paul, Minn.

Betty Jean Foust has received her M.D. degree and is interning at the Indiana University Medical Center.

Warren H. Gardner is married and has a daughter, Hilary Lynn. He is district manager, Electronics and Nucleons Magazines—McGraw Hill Publishing Co., Inc. His home is at 4065 Park Fulton Oval, Cleveland 9, Ohio.

Mr. and Mrs. Jerry P. Olds (Mary J. Mower '51) and son, David Scott, live at 1556 Burmont Rd., Havertown. Jerry is advertising specialist with General Electric in Philadelphia.

Mr. and Mrs. John Wisotzkey, Jr. (Charlotte Ann Sutcliffe) now have three children, John, III; James and Lynn. Their home is at 729 Elm Terrace, York.

Fred C. Thomas, Jr., is stationed in Seoul, Korea, as a political officer in the United States Embassy.

Jack E. Tress has returned from Okinawa and is located with the U. S. Air Force at Fort Meade, Md.

Martin and Nancy Holter Kwasnoi announce the birth of Jeffrey Martin on October 27. Martin, while working for Standard Oil of New Jersey, attended Newark School of Engineering and has received his M.S. in mechanical engineering.

On November 23, 1957, Elizabeth J. Wafer was married to the Reverend Thomas L. McCray of Milton.

WILL YOU HELP US PLANT A SEED?

A booklet Financing the Future at Bucknell University has been prepared over the signatures of Dr. Odgers, Dr. Hartzell, and Mr. White, chairman of the Board of Trustees.

Besides telling you about the forward look in University development, it is designed to be given to corporations, foundations and individuals whom you believe might be interested in considering Bucknell's needs. Use the coupon below to order your copy.

To: DR. WESLEY N. HAINES,
DIRECTOR OF DEVELOPMENT
BUCKNELL UNIVERSITY
LEWISBURG, PA.

Please send me _____ copies of Financing the Future of Bucknell University. I will read the booklet and then pass it on to a prospective donor, corporation, foundation or individual.

Name

Address

City

Gary Donnell finished his internship at Hamot Hospital in Erie a year ago and is now on active duty with the Navy as a lieutenant (j.g.).

54

MRS. PAUL C. TARR, III
(Anne E. Tuckerman)
20-A East Front St.
Media, Pa.

Many thanks to all of you who have been so faithful in sending us news. Please be patient—your news will eventually be printed.

Glen H. Miller has joined the Building Products Division, Sales Training Program of Armstrong Cork Co., Lancaster.

Richard B. Reed received his M.A. from Indiana University in June, 1957. Dick has a graduate assistantship from William and Mary College where he is doing graduate work in American History.

Joan A. Schmidt is recreation director of the Patch Warracks Service Club in Vaihinger, Germany. She received a B.S. degree in Nursing from Cornell University and has been employed as assistant head nurse for the Peter Dent Brigham Hospital in Boston, Mass.

A daughter, Laurene Susan, was born to Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Reimensnyder (Margaret Hines '54) on April 29, 1957, in Lewisburg.

Ann Appleton and James E. Schierloh were married June 1, 1957. The Schierlohs are living at 337 Country Club Drive, Oradell, N. J.

Erik J. Blomqvist, Esq., has become a partner in the law firm of Wicker and Smith of Miami, Fla., doing primarily insurance and casualty work. He is married to the former Betty Antilla and has two children Erik, 5, and Susan, two years.

Hayes McKinney writes, "After receiving my discharge from the Army in July (stationed at the U. S. Army Hospital, Paris, France), I traveled in Europe and the Near East until September. Altogether my travels took me to 22 countries including two trips behind the Iron Curtain during the three-year span. On September 23, I entered the graduate school at the University of Pennsylvania in Philadelphia working toward my master's degree in Psychology. I am living at home (1505 Union St., Reading).

55

MRS. JOHN C. VANCE, JR.
(Jane Jones)
1013 Clinton St.
Philadelphia, Pa.

Weddings: Elizabeth A. Lerch to Sebastian J. Vesta, 7/20/57; Basil W. Kokos to Jeannette Applegate, 12/57; Sandra M. Sowers to George W. Dunn, Jr., 1/58; Carolyn C. Davison to Edwin M. Tucker, 6/28.

Robert J. Donahoe has accepted a position in the merchandising department of Young & Rubicam, Inc., New York City. After graduation, Bob spent six months in military service and the remainder of the time has been associated with his father in the furniture business in Lewisburg.

Miss Ann B. Connelly was elected secretary of the Bucknell Alumni Club of York.

After spending 15 months of his two years of military service in Europe, John Hammalian has been separated from the Army and is an underwriter with the Royal-Globe Insurance Group.

A tip of the hat to Lionel Kranitz for he and Edward H. Davis '53 have written a comedy-drama "Far Away the Train-Birds Cry" which is scheduled for Broadway production this fall.

Alumni Trustee Timetable

June Commencement—Appointment of Committee on Nominations for Alumni Trustee.

August 15—Letter to Alumni Club Presidents.

September 1—Follow-up to Alumni Club Presidents.

September 15—Letter to representative Alumni, Alumni Class Presidents, Alumni Fund Representatives, Past Presidents of the Alumni Association, and former Alumni Trustees.

October 15—Deadline for receiving suggestions to be considered by Committee on Nominations.

October 25—Meeting of Committee on Nominations.

November 15—Committee on Nominations submits three candidates to the President of the Association.

December 5—Deadline for Board approval.

January ALUMNUS—Announcement of names of three candidates in THE BUCKNELL ALUMNUS.

February 16—Petition deadline.

March 2—Election announcement in THE BUCKNELL ALUMNUS.

April 1—Ballots in mail.

May 15—Deadline for receiving ballots in Alumni Office.

June Commencement—Certification to Board of Trustees.

John R. McKee, V. and Rita Ammon were married March 15. After a honeymoon to California and many points of interest in the southwest, they have gone to housekeeping at 1558 Elm St., Utica, N. Y., where John is serving as a technical writer with General Electric.

Lt. and Mrs. Charles G. McLean (Claire D. Marshall) announce the birth of a son, Cevon Marshall on March 25.

J. Torr Potterton is now out of the Army and is working in the Richmond District Office of the United States Gypsum Company in the sales division.

Rev. Jerold J. Savory has received his bachelor of divinity degree and has been ordained into the ministry of the Baptist Church. He and his wife (Ardis Hinkle) are living in Schenectady, N. Y., where Jerold is associate minister of the Emmanuel Baptist Church.

56

MRS. WILLIAM O'NEIL
(Jean Wirths)
1009 Ocean Drive
Manhattan Beach, Calif.

Received word from Alan York who is now a Second Lieutenant stationed in Orleans, France—about an hour's drive by car from Paris. Al's battalion Commander is Lt. Col. Arthur Delaney (Bucknell ROTC '52-'53).

Robert Schaefer, also stationed in France, is near Bordeaux.

Richard W. Chisholm was commissioned an Ensign in the U. S. Navy Reserve and is located with the Bureau of Ordnance, Navy Department, Washington, D. C.

John M. Hoffman has been commissioned an Ensign after completion of 16 weeks pre-flight training at the Naval Air Station, Pensacola, Fla.

Neil F. Karkus, on active duty with the U. S. Navy, is stationed at Norfolk, Va., aboard the USS Sierra, a destroyer tender.

Sandra Miller received a B.S. degree in nursing from Cornell University-New York Hospital School of Nursing and is now employed at the White Plains Hospital in White Plains, N. Y.

The Reverend Michael Zaparyniuk, Jr., was ordained into the priesthood as a Reverend Deacon and is now studying at St. Vladimir's Orthodox Theological Seminary in New York City. He is married to Annette Zelngrowicz and they live at 167 Samdin Blvd., Trenton 10, N. J.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Richard Taylor (Nancy J. Conway) and year old son, John Richard, Jr., are living on Margarette Dr., Pine Brook, N. J., in a new home which they built themselves and extend an invitation to Bucknellians to drop in to see them.

Thomas J. Goblick, Jr. has been selected by the Fulbright Committee to receive a graduate study grant to participate in the International Educational Exchange Program of the U. S. Government. He will spend one academic year at the University of London, Imperial College, beginning September, 1958. After a year's work in England he plans to return to M. I. T. to complete the requirements for a doctor's degree in electrical engineering.

Weddings: Polly Ann R. Keller to Henry E. S. Owen, April 12, 1958; Barbara E. Caffrey to Mark E. Faulhaber. Betty Ann Fogg to William Hayward, August 9, 1958; Jean Wirths to William O'Neil, August 23, 1958.

58 MISS FAITH P. BONSALL
Woodward Road
Wallingford, Pa.

The Class of '58 has been gone from the campus but a short time. In a few months since graduation, however, many events have taken place. There have, of course, been weddings galore since June. Among those who have married since graduation are:

Joyce Francisco to Richard Tichenor; Gail Kelly to Chester P. Smith '57; Elaine Longenecker to John Wilson; Nancy Bellmeyer to Don Nogan '57; Ann Benjamin to Myron Baker; Gay Outerson to Robert B. Roach; Carole Faust to Wilson Scott '57; Cynthia Farnsworth to Robert Hostetter; Tordis Sopp-Shrade to Bill Hollenbach; Margie Anderson to Donald Koppes '57; Pat Head to Steve Jennings; Cynthia Kessler to Pierrepont E. Sperry, Jr. '54; Patricia A. McKee to Murray G. Swindler; Oliver I. Maypole to Lois J. Crabtree '59; Roger D. Beck and Carol Keister; Reese A. Davis to Nancy A. Christian; Norma R. Fry to Robert R. Larsen '56. Roberta F. Boyer to Eric C. Hallberg, Jr.; George N. Brown to Barbara Miller; Arthur S. Boorstein to Carol Ruffner; Ralph E. Eckert to Lois A. Starr; Judith K. Hanson to David O. Shade '60; Janet B. Bull to Robert E. Haslam.

Of great interest are the new occupations of members of the class. Bob Fitzsimmons and John Kelly are working for Tel-Ra Productions in Philadelphia. Fred MacDonald is a management trainee at Stouffers' Restaurants. Employed as an executive trainee by the Abraham and Straus Department Store is Roger Deutsch. Susan Melcher was graduated by the School of Oral Hygiene, University of Pennsylvania on June 5. United Air Lines claims as stewardesses Peggy Smith, Nancy Jane Brown, Claire Halline, Nan VonGlahn.

As you can see, the members of our class have really been busy getting settled in their new lives as Bucknell Alumni. A post card to your class reporter will help your friends to keep up with you. Meantime, good luck in any and all of these new pursuits.

IN MEMORIAM

The following deaths have been reported to the Alumni Office since March 1, 1958. The University extends sympathy to the surviving relatives.

1888—Dr. William V. Hayes, June 28, 1958
1891—Dr. George E. Fisher, June 11, 1958
1896—Mr. C. Keen Robb, 1957
1898—Mrs. Alice Dunham Linneman (Inst.), 1957
1899—Mrs. Miriam Hanna Perkins (Inst.), June 20, 1958
1902—Miss Anna E. Hoaker, May 23, 1958
Miss Jeanette B. Shepard, February 23, 1958
1903—Mr. Ernest L. Taylor, June 15, 1957
1904—Mr. Thomas V. Kester, October 19, 1956
Mrs. Maude Schubert Walters (Inst.), January 8, 1958
Miss Edith S. McNinch (Inst.), March 30, 1958
1905—Rev. Francis L. McCauley, April 8, 1958
1906—Mr. Dean E. Phelps, July 3, 1957
Mr. Edwin G. Jack, February, 1958
1907—Dr. William C. Kelly, April 29, 1958
Mr. Frederick R. Bower, June, 1958
1908—Mr. Harvey R. Martz, July 7, 1958
1909—Mr. Evan D. Roser
Mr. Luther M. Barnes, March 21, 1958
Mr. Charles J. Lepperd, May 29, 1958
Mr. Louis E. Jones (Art), July 20, 1958
1911—Dr. John H. Waite, February 23, 1957
Mr. Harry S. Bourne, March 20, 1958
1912—Mr. Bertram E. Daniels, June 6, 1958
1913—Mr. Walter Frick, June 26, 1958
1918—Mr. Grover C. Foresman, March, 1958
Mr. Charles J. Dalton, March 4, 1958
1919—Mr. James C. Pierce, June 14, 1957
1922—Mrs. Louise Llewellyn Rank, October 20, 1957
Mr. Robert A. Williams, May 9, 1958
1924—Miss Helen A. Fowler, February, 1958
Mr. Arthur G. Zimmerman, March 27, 1958
1925—Dr. Joseph T. Washleski, June 27, 1957
Dr. William O. Duck, June 25, 1958
1927—Mr. Joseph J. Catterall, January 19, 1958
Mrs. Emma Kahler Davies, February 14, 1958
1929—Dr. A. James Roth, November 23, 1957
Mr. Richard W. Wagner, May 10, 1958
1932—Miss Katherine Walsh, September, 1957
Dr. George F. Browne, September 3, 1957
1933—Mrs. Gretchen Fisher Pierce, June 17, 1957
1934—Mr. Mark K. Miller, July, 1958
1940—Mr. A. Glenn Mower, February 10, 1958
1941—Mr. Albin D. Baker, May 26, 1958
1942—Mr. Guy W. Atkins
1943—Mr. Charles E. Price, August 15, 1957
1946—Mr. Robert W. Everall, Jr., July 21, 1957
Mrs. Sara Smull Free, March 20, 1958
Mrs. Estella Coggins Ormsby, July 10, 1958
1948—Mr. Edward J. Bringenberg, August, 1957
1954—Mr. Peter B. Forman, July 26, 1951
1956—N/C John I. Peters, June 3, 1957
Lt. Roderick A. Ryer, November 23, 1957
Mr. Donald A. Conklin, March 17, 1957

THANK YOU!

The 1957-58 Bucknell Alumni Annual-Giving Fund established new records. HERE ARE THE RESULTS, with the previous year's figures shown for comparison:

	1956-57	1957-58	Increase
Percent of Participation	22.7%	25.9%	3.2 points—14%
Number of Gifts	3933	4574	641 gifts—16%
Total Dollar Gifts	$43,794.70	$53,433.91	$9,639.21—22%
Average Contribution	$11.14	$11.68	$.54—4.8%

Most classes showed a healthy growth. How did your class stand? Which classes will share the honor of having their Class Numeral Banners flying over the stadium on Homecoming Day? The answers to these and other questions will be published in the Tenth Annual Report of the Bucknell Alumni Fund, which will reach you by mail. Be on the lookout for these interesting figures.

And in addition, 373 gifts from alumni, totaling $44,925.38 were contributed toward Cowan Project, Doctors for Bucknell Project, Engineering Project, and to provide capital investments in buildings, endowments, and scholarships.

THANK YOU FOR HELPING KEEP BUCKNELL STRONG

And away we go to - - -

HOMECOMING

Meet the Football Squad of '34

Football Game—Bucknell vs. Lafayette

Bison Club Breakfast

All Alumni Luncheon

Bison Roundup and Reception

All Campus Dance

We'll see you October 25

SEND YOUR RESERVATION NOW -- SEE PAGE 9

Miss Clara E. Stoner
113 South 5th St.
Lewisburg, Pa.

THE
Bucknell
ALUMNUS

NOVEMBER 1958

SPECIAL ANNOUNCEMENT

SEE PAGE 24

THE Bucknell ALUMNUS

OFFICERS OF THE ASSOCIATION

President

Charles F. Fox, Jr., M.D. '31

First Vice President

Robert W. Dill '27

Second Vice President

Mrs. Clyde P. Bailey (Dorothy Lemon '29)

Treasurer

Donald B. Young '33

Secretary and Editor

John H. Shott '22

Assistant Secretary and Assistant Editor

C. Bruce Rossiter '56

BOARD OF DIRECTORS

CHARLES T. FARROW '26, P. O. Box 29, Westfield, N. J. (1959)

ALLEN F. JONES '25, 2 Linn St., Progress, Harrisburg, Pa. (1959)

WILLIAM M. WILKINSON '46, 436 Oak Lane, Houston 24, Tex. (1959)

MRS. CHARLES E. COPELAND (Amorita Sesinger '22), 285 Madison Ave., Madison, N. J. (1960)

DONALD W. GLOVER '41, Mullica Hill, N. J. (1960)

THOMAS W. SPECK '37, 708 Russell Pl., Plainfield, N. J. (1960)

ROBERT W. DILL '27, 5136 Butler Pike, Plymouth Meeting, Pa. (1961)

WILLIAM D. GOLIGHTLY '25, 309 W. Webster Ave., Scranton, Pa. (1961)

MRS. PAUL M. SHOWALTER (S. Katharine Graham '33), 855 St. Louis St., Lewisburg, Pa. (1961)

MRS. CLYDE P. BAILEY (Dorothy Lemon '29), 16 Churchill Road, Pittsburgh 35, Pa. (1962)

CHARLES F. FOX, JR., M.D. '31, 180 Washington Ave., Vandergrift, Pa. (1962)

WILMER D. GREULICH '34, 715 Greythorne Rd., Wynnewood, Pa. (1962)

EUGENE P. BERTIN '17, 210 S. Main St., Muncy, Pa. (1963)

ELINOR CHILDS '52, 74 Mt. Kemble Ave., Morristown, N. J. (1963)

ROBERT H. TAYLOR '48, 71 E. County Line Rd., Hatboro, Pa. (1963)

() Year Term Expires.

Alumni Headquarters—GROUND FLOOR, EAST COLLEGE

Member—AMERICAN ALUMNI COUNCIL

ON THE COVER—Autumn has once again placed her hand on the beautiful Bucknell campus and surrounding central Pennsylvania countryside. We are indebted to Mr. Barnard Taylor of Crit Publishing Company of Williamsport for the timely picture on our cover.

The back cover is a prayer entitled "Prayer for the Times" written especially for publication in The Bucknell Alumnus by Dr. Charles M. Bond of the Department of Religion.

VOLUME XLIII NOVEMBER 1958 No. 2

IN THIS ISSUE

Alumni	Page
Theodore S. Capik '46	27
Margie de Groot '60	3
Bobbie Runk '61	5
Fitz R. Walling '46	4
Rhoda Wolf '56	31
Alumni Fund Contributors	10-21
Alumni Trustee Timetable	31
Basketball Schedule	30
Class Reports	26-31
Clubs	8, 30
Dr. Odgers Honored	25
Gifts to the University	9
Homecoming on the 300 Acres	3
In Memoriam	31
Luncheon Meetings	8
New Administrators	7
New Faculty	7, 25
Personal Solicitation 1957-58	22, 23
Prayer for the Times	Back Cover
Second Annual Alumni Workshop	8
Sports	6, 30
Student View	5
What Chance, Admission?	4

THE BUCKNELL ALUMNUS is published in January, March, May, September, and November by BUCKNELL UNIVERSITY. Entered as second-class matter December 30, 1930, at the post office at Lewisburg, Pa., under the Act of August 24, 1912.

NOVEMBER 1958

ALUMNI CELEBRATED THE 1958 HOMECOMING with its pep rally and dance—its luncheon and roundup its football game and reception

Margie de Groot '60, pretty head majorette, from Roselle Park, New Jersey, leads the Bison Band from Bucknell. Margie is a French major.

AS THIS IS BEING WRITTEN, grads from around the globe are preparing to make the trek to the 300 acres for the gala Homecoming celebration on October 25. Of course, by the time you read this, the cheering, the reunions and the frivolity will be but faint memories to the hundreds of alumni who enjoyed the many events scheduled by the Homecoming Committee.

The committee, consisting of alumni, students, faculty, and members of the administrative staff scheduled once again, many of the events that have been so popular in the past as well as two brand new features.

The addition of a Friday night dance sponsored jointly by the Interfraternity and Panhellenic Councils brought to the campus Ted Heath's internationally famous English orchestra, now on its first tour of the United States.

This year, for the first, the Bison Club sponsored a special Silver Anniversary Weekend to which thirty-four living members of the Bucknell football team of 1933 were invited. The team members returning were special guests at the Bison Club breakfast held Saturday morning at which time Bob Odell, new Bison football coach, was the main speaker. The silver anniversary squad was also presented at the buffet luncheon in Davis Gymnasium prior to the game with Lafayette, and later sat together as honored guests at the game. Members of the football team of 1908 and before were also guests of the Bison Club for weekend festivities.

Students entered into the spirit of the day when the fraternities, sororities, and freshmen participated in the traditional Homecoming parade prior to the pep rally and buffet lunch at noon in Davis Gymnasium. The Homecoming Queen, crowned at the IFC-Panhellenic Dance on Friday night rode in the parade with her court, cheerleaders, alumni and city officials. At the football game, Dr. Charles F. Fox, Jr. '31, president of The General Alumni Association, presented her with a dozen red roses.

Following the game, the Bucknell Alumni Club of Union County held a Bison Roundup reception for returning alumni, faculty, and guests. The evening entertainment included student entertainment and dancing to the music of Johnny Nicolosi's orchestra.

During the weekend the Board of Directors of The General Alumni Association met and meetings of the Committee on Nomination of Alumni Trustee and Alumni Awards Committee were held. The class presidents and reunion chairmen of classes whose numerals end in "4" and "9" held a brief session on Saturday morning to discuss plans and preparations for June 1959 reunions. Saturday evening the fourth annual Engineering Alumni dinner was held at the Lewisburg Club.

Of significant importance in the planning of this year's program was the part played by students and the organizations which they represent. No less than six students representing four student organizations and the Reserve Officers Training Corps were responsible for many of the featured events on the program. Students on the Homecoming Committee included: Donald J. Avery '59, Wellsville, N. Y.; Miss Ruth Gortner '59, Lansdowne; Ellis Harley '59, Clearfield; Robert Howell '60, Weston, Mass.; and Richard Humm '59, Cranford, N. J. And, of course, we must not forget the Bison Band, cheerleaders, and last but not least, the football team. The University owes a debt of gratitude to the students who gave unselfishly of their time and effort in making Homecoming 1958, the best ever.

Fitz R. Walling, Director of Admissions, and Robert A. Newcombe, Assistant Director of Admissions ponder over the ever-increasing stacks of applications for admission to Bucknell University.

Constantly Striving to Improve Methods of Selection, the University Has the Responsibility of Seeking Applicants of Qualified Preparation and Character

WHAT CHANCE, ADMISSION?

By FITZ R. WALLING
and ROBERT A. NEWCOMBE

THE TITLE OF THIS ARTICLE poses a question more and more frequently asked by many Bucknell Alumni. They are concerned about the chances of their sons and daughters being admitted to their Alma Mater. In the paragraphs that follow, we hope to give some of the answers to this question. To do so we must keep in mind the responsibility of the University to seek applicants of qualified preparation and character while constantly striving to improve the methods of our selection.

Sons and daughters of Alumni will be given preference for admission if their records show the same evidences of probable success in college as non-alumni children. Also, when it is requested, children of alumni will be given early consideration of their applications, provided complete credentials* have been received before January of the year in which they expect to enter college. This will give alumni children the opportunity to learn at an early date whether or not they can be offered admission.

This "Alumni preference" will be considered an integral part of our admission process which provides for the admission of the most capable young men and women from among the hundreds, currently becoming the thousands of applicants. In this process successful applicants are selected on the basis of academic records in secondary school, verbal and mathematical scores on the aptitude test given by the College Entrance Examination Board, and personal recommendations of their high school counselors.

Bucknell has always given preference to applicants whose parents are Bucknellians. There is no thought of changing this practice but only of being fair to their sons and daughters. The University believes that it is unfair to admit any student whose records indicate that he or she would have little chance for successful completion of his college work. Furthermore, such a practice would be unfair not only to the prospective student, but also to parents and other applicants.

The Admissions Committee feels since it is in keeping with present procedure, that Alumni sons and daughters should be placed in three classification groups: (1) those who are without question, excellently prepared candidates, whose applications can be immediately approved for admission; (2) those who, just as clearly, are poorly prepared candidates, whose applications must be disapproved; and finally, (3) those who belong to the middle group. It is within this group the largest of these classifications, that preference will be given to sons and daughters of alumni.

Although the Admissions Committee carefully avoids a rigid policy on admissions in the face of changing demands on educational institutions such as ours, it assures you that your son and daughters will be given very careful consideration for admission to your Alma Mater.

* A formal application; secondary school record; scholastic aptitude test scores—C. E. E. B. (Junior year score will be accepted.)

The Student View

By BOBBIE RUNK '61

WAKE UP, OR FALL BEHIND

Occasionally an Odysseus Rises From Among the Ranks of Lotus Eaters, but Today the Average Seems to Be Dropping

WHAT IS A UNIVERSITY? Just what are we doing here at Bucknell? These and many other vital questions composed the backbone of discussion at the recent Leaders' Conference at Cowan Recreation Center, sponsored by the Student-Faculty Congress. Many extremely interesting thoughts and viewpoints were expressed.

It was felt that there is a very definite and disturbing lethargy prevalent on campus—a lack of concern for the outside world, and a lack of adult attitude. We seem content to direct our conversations toward members of the opposite sex, a subject which very conveniently dismisses the need for stimulating our poor brains which are indeed overworked with digesting our academic material. But then come the more-than-welcome weekends with their cultural and stimulating fraternity parties, designed, no doubt, to develop the individual in the field of human relations.

May I take this opportunity to clarify my position—I would be one of the last to suggest doing away with fraternity parties. But it seems appalling that they are the center of the social life of, I would venture to say, 90% of the students on campus, because "there is nothing else to do." How many have fallen thankfully and ignorantly upon that rationalization! If only we would all realize it, there are a great many other things to do. There are fascinating diversions available if only we will take the time to discover them.

Last year on campus there was a guest lecturer who spoke on astronomy, and who drew a fantastic attendance of 12. Yet those 12 will vouch for the interest and worth of that evening. At the beginning of this year a gentleman spoke on the subject, "How to Edit Private Papers," and received an equally sparse audience. A terribly dry topic, you may say. Perhaps, but those who attended returned with nothing but the highest commendation for the lecturer. He had a keen sense of humor and explained some fascinating aspects of his field. Also on campus recently have been famous pianists, an excellent string octet composed of Italian masters, and many other accomplished performers, presented through the Artist Series. The bulk of their audiences are the local people, and those few students who show enough initiative to learn about, and make the effort to attend, these affairs.

Why should these people be in the minority? Free admission eliminates financial problems; the incessant bridge games and gab-fests indicate that lack of free time may be disregarded as a possible excuse. It indeed boils down to an intellectual indolence and a constant striving only after a "good time."

Those who realized this condition on Bucknell's campus and spoke most heatedly and indignantly about it among themselves were the leaders on campus, those responsible for the organization and welfare of the student life. It is comforting to know, isn't it, that the leaders of the campus are becoming aware of this lethargy and are speaking out against it? The gravity of the situation is that upon speaking to junior and senior members of the group, who have been attending the meetings for several years, we find that the same questions are raised, the same indignations are expressed for the same reasons, the same resolutions made in answer to the same problems, year after year, and yet no one has done anything about it.

We are representative of college students across the country, and it is almost frightening to realize that upon our shoulders the affairs of the nation will be falling. Of the vast majority of the student body, only those enrolled in the political science courses take time to read a newspaper. Even those people are content to memorize facts from the first and second pages, and these facts are often forgotten after the test at the end of the week. This languor brings to mind Homer's Lotus Eaters. Those men who succumbed to the magic spell were lost. But Odysseus was able to fight against it. It was this strength of character which made him a leader of men. Are there no Odysseuses any more, or are we all Lotus Eaters?

A great hue and cry has been raised the past few years about conformity on the campus, that each Bucknellian is just like any other Bucknellian. Some have laid the blame for this on the Admissions Office. After all, they are the ones who admit the students and why not select a more varied group? But if the student would only stop and look around him, he would realize the countless sources of this mass conformity right under his nose. A freshman soon after arriving on campus who behaves "differently" and perhaps not to the liking of an "established" upperclassman is immediately reported to Tribunal, that omniscient, omnipotent board of sophomore judges.

I do not feel that I have been pessimistic, only realistic. I also feel that there are solutions to these problems, however hopeless I may have made them appear. It is good to know that the men and women are indeed aware of this passiveness. Something must be done to stimulate serious thought on the part of all of us, and to stir up enough courage and stamina to do something about it. This also is a challenge which, I'm sure, everyone of us is able to accept. The question now is, will we?

EDITORS NOTE: If this statement seems to be another indictment against the "beat" generation, we feel we can be grateful that on the Bucknell campus there is at least a hard core of serious minded students who recognize the maladies and are at work pointing the way to a fuller participation by students in the practice of learning to become adults.

Charlie Apgar, senior halfback (number 24) from Madison, N. J., finds a gapping hole in the Carnegie Tech line.

Gridders Providing Plenty of Excitement Despite Early Reversals

By ARLIE SCHARDT
Sports Information Director

THE GRIDIRON SCENE

THERE ARE HUNDREDS OF WAYS of analyzing football games, and an equal number of ways to explain why a team loses them. Only one thing is sure; once the game is over, nothing can change the result, no matter how obvious it is (to you!) that it would never happen again.

After Bucknell dropped a frustrating 6-0 contest to Gettysburg in the mud of Hershey Stadium, Bucknell's Bob Odell must have felt the fates were not smiling upon him, for he had seen his plans to beat the Bullets with a passing barrage disappear 90 minutes before the game began. The field was a quagmire, the game a near stalemate but for the tireless efforts of Gettysburg's light footed George Greiner, who seemed magically endowed with the ability to dance above the slog and thus score the game's only touchdown.

As Bucknell basketball coach Ben Kribbs told Odell the next afternoon, an ironically sunny and dry one, "Don't take it too hard, Bob. Remember, half the coaches in the country feel as bad as you do today!"

With that healthy philosophy to carry him through the following week, Odell prepared his team to meet Carnegie Tech in Memorial Stadium on October 4. The team was convinced, and rightfully so, that it still hadn't had a true evaluation of its abilities, and hoped that a dry field would let it find out.

The field was dry on October 4, and for three quarters it appeared that Bucknell could do plenty. With only one period left, the Bisons held a 13-0 lead and looked ready to increase it. They were beginning to "jell" under the direction of rookie quarterback Paul Terhes, who was still carrying the signal calling load in the absence of injured junior Dennis Cox.

It was then that the visiting Tartans unloaded all manner of misfortunes upon the Bisons. Almost inconspicuously they slithered 46 yards to the Herd goal line, where Carnegie quarterback Jim Muth, a talented passer, jumped over a snarl of linemen and made the score 13-6. The conversion set the score at 13-7, Muth left the game, and was replaced by freshman Alex Bowxsein.

For eight minutes the action see-sawed. Then Bowxsein began flinging passes as fast as he could line up his team, and almost before anyone realized it, the plaid-clad visitors were camped on the Bison eight yard line.

With 2:40 left in the game, Bowxsein took dead aim on a freshman classmate, Martin Poad. So eager was he to connect that he tried to throw the ball right through a pair of Bucknell defenders who stood between him and his target. And he did it.

Call it a miracle, call it a terrible mistake, call it an impossible tragedy—the ball skidded off the hands of a Bison back, Poad stepped forward, hugged it into his belly, fell back and curled up in the end zone. Tie score.

The blue and white of Bucknell did not lose their composure at this alarming turn of events. Instead, end Jack Eachus hurled himself smack into the path of the try for the extra point and held the score at 13-13.

Then the Bison offense, which moved for a commendable 284 yards all day, immediately set out to regain the lead. Slashing runs by piston-legged fullback George Moncilovich, and a fine pass from Terhes to Marty Pope started the drive, a penalty and a run by Charlie Apgar kept it going, and in no time at all Bucknell was on the 12 yard line of Carnegie Tech, ready to win one for Bob Odell. Overanxious, they fumbled, and a Tech lineman smothered the ball.

Tech appeared willing to settle for a 13-13 tie, trying two line plunges. Suddenly Coach Baker changed his mind, shouted "Try anything." Halfback Walt Majeski promptly popped out of a pocket and sprinted 52 yards, then lateralled to center Jim Temmel, who reached the Bucknell 26.

Freshman end Jim Arendas ran into the Tech huddle with 12 seconds to go and told Bowxsein to throw one to him. Bowxsein floated a high lob in the general direction of the newcomer.

Arendas saw that he overran the pass and was too deep in the end zone. He dug in his heels, lunged back toward the corner where the goal line meets the side line, and dove for the ball. Paul Terhes nearly cracked him in half with a tackle that should have jolted any receiver, but Arendas held the ball in the crook of his elbow as the entangled pair crashed down, then rolled over on his back with the ball and a 19-13 lead, in his grasp.

There were still seconds left after Tech kicked off, and again the Bison offense showed it could move. Co-captain Apgar burst for the sidelines and almost got loose, but was stopped on the Tech 35 and the game was over.

The Bisons have an exciting offense under Coach Odell, and are learning a lot of valuable football lessons. The team has sweated its way into excellent physical condition, and at this writing is confident that it will pull a few surprises before the season ends. With the exception of Cox, whose knee is mending nicely, the host of players who were injured early have recovered, and the rugged conditioning program is paying dividends in that no one was hurt in the first two games. It is a team with high spirits, one that can and will stir up a lot of excitement in the ensuing weeks.

FRESHMAN FOOTBALL

Coach Bob Latour and his aides Franny Hatton and Chuck Wagner, are working with the largest freshman squad in many years. There is a great deal of promise in the 39 candidates who will open their schedule on

(Continued on Page 30)

FACULTY

New Members of Bucknell Family

BUCKNELL'S faculty—now numbering one hundred and fifty persons—included twenty-six new members as the University began its one hundred thirteenth year. Of these twenty-six, there are ten instructors, eleven assistant professors, two associate professors, two professors and one lecturer.

Mr. R. Anderson has joined the art department for this academic year as instructor while Professor Blanchard Gummo is on sabbatical leave. A graduate of St. Olaf College, Mr. Anderson received his master's degree in fine arts from the State University of Iowa in 1957 and during the past year was a graduate assistant here.

The biology department claims Dr. Rudolph Haffner and Dr. James R. Allen as new members. Born in Poland, Dr. Haffner is a graduate of the University of Maine and holds a doctorate degree from Yale. Prior to coming to Bucknell he was on the faculty of Hartford College. He joins the campus family with the rank of associate professor. A graduate of Wisconsin State College, Dr. Allen received his doctor's degree at the University of Wisconsin this year. Appointed assistant professor, Dr. Allen will spend most of his time during the first semester teaching courses in bacteriology and chemistry to students in the School of Nursing at the Geisinger Hospital—Foss Clinic, under a cooperative arrangement adopted by hospital and University officials.

Dr. Samuel W. Ing, Jr., a native of China who recently received his first citizenship papers in this country was appointed assistant professor in the department of chemical engineering. Dr. Ing is a graduate of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology where he received the degree of Doctor of Science this past September.

Mr. Hans Veening, a native of The Netherlands, joined the chemistry department as an instructor. He is a graduate of Hope College and holds a Master of Science degree from Purdue University, where he had been a teaching and research assistant while engaged in study for his doctor's degree.

Additions to the English department as instructors included Dr. Elizabeth T. McLaughlin, a graduate of Wellesley College, Miss Nancy L. Schutz, a Bucknell honor graduate of the Class of 1956, and Mr. Joseph W. DeMent, a graduate of the University of Redlands. Miss McLaughlin, who received her doctor's degree from Radcliffe, has had six years of college teaching experience. Miss Schutz taught last year at the Hannah More Academy. Mr. DeMent had been a teaching associate for the past four years at Indiana University, where he had been studying for his doctorate.

Mr. Harvey Freeman, a graduate of Haverford College is a new faculty member in the geography and geology department. He received his Master of Science degree in geology from the University of Rochester, where he had been a graduate teaching assistant for the past two years. Mr. Freeman has been appointed an instructor.

Two new assistant professors in the history department include Dr. Samuel C. Chu and Dr. Robert B. Hilliard. Dr. Chu's appointment has been announced previously in the April edition of "About Bucknell." Dr. Hilliard is a graduate of the State University of Iowa, where he also received his doctor's degree. He also studied at the University of Vienna as a Fulbright Scholar.

Dr. William K. Smith, who taught at Bucknell from 1951 until 1957, returned to the mathematics department as an associate professor. During the past year he was a member of the faculty of Antioch College.

Mr. John B. Austin, Jr., for the past seven years a teacher at Case Institute of Technology, joined the mechanical engineering department as assistant professor. Mr. Austin is a graduate of Case and also holds a Master of Science degree from that institution.

Dr. Robert E. Butts, new assistant professor in the philosophy department came to Bucknell from St. Lawrence University, where he taught for the past four years. He was graduated from Syracuse University and received his doctorate from the University of Pennsylvania, where he formerly taught.

Robert H. Odell, newest addition to the men's physical education department joined the campus family as an assistant professor and head football coach last March.

(Continued on Page 25)

ADMINISTRATIVE CHANGES

One newly-created administrative post and five appointments to fill staff vacancies have been approved for the present academic year.

Dr. Frank C. Abbott, formerly with the American Council on Education in Washington, D. C., has been appointed assistant dean of the University and assistant professor of government. For the past seven years Dr. Abbott has served as secretary of the council's committees and educational studies. Earlier, he had been administrative assistant to the president of Cornell University. A graduate of Cornell, he also received his master's degree in public administration from that institution. In 1956 he received from Harvard University his doctor's degree in political economy and government.

Mr. Jerrold A. Griffis, a graduate of West Chester State Teachers College, has been appointed assistant dean of men. Mr. Griffis received his master's degree in guidance counseling from Ohio University in June. He is head resident in Swartz Hall, freshman dormitory, and serves as advisor and counselor for the 415 men in the freshman class.

Miss Sylvia Ohanesian, Miss Elizabeth Baird, and Miss Marjorie Hensley have been appointed assistant deans of women.

Miss Ohanesian, a graduate of Simmons College, received her master's degree in student personnel and counselling from Indiana University in June. She serves as advisor to freshman women and is head resident of Larison Hall-Bucknell Cottage.

Miss Baird, sophomore advisor for women and head resident of Harris Hall, was graduated from Brenau College in Georgia. She had been serving as publications secretary at Smith College and was recently awarded her master's degree in student personnel work by Syracuse University.

Miss Hensley, who received both her bachelor's and master's degrees in psychology from George Washington University, advises junior women and is head resident of Hunt Hall. Since 1951 she has been program coordinator at the Presbyterian Center for students.

The appointment of Mr. Arlie W. Schardt as director of sports information appeared in the September issue of THE BUCKNELL ALUMNUS.

CLUBS

Freshman Receptions Popular

HARRISBURG—After two months of summer vacation, the Bucknell Alumni Club of Harrisburg held a get-together meeting at the Reservoir Park on Thursday, September 4th. We had 89 attending our party including our own members, guests, freshmen, and their parents.

Following a tasty buffet, our president, Norma Gotwalt '52, welcomed the freshmen. Bruce Butt '16, introduced the 15 freshmen and their parents.

Mr. William Schaffner '51, chairman for the reception, introduced the student panel who gave helpful suggestions and guidance to the new students. The panel was represented by: Mary L. Grossman '61; Herbert Hoffmeier '61, and Charles Miller '59. Each in turn gave his own account of the campus life from the social and educational viewpoint. Interesting details from a freshman's first glimpse of college days to the graduate "feeling" was described by Nancy Boyer '58, who is a member of the faculty of West Shore Grade School.

Dr. Roy C. Tasker, professor of biology and guest speaker, discussed problems and practical solutions that may approach a new student. He commented on the sound advice the student panel projected toward becoming a happy well-orientated member of Bucknell's Freshman Class.

In closing his informative conversation, Dr. Tasker invited the parents of the new students to visit the campus to convince themselves that Bucknell is a great institution of higher education and to confirm the facts that the student panel so confidently described.

—JEAN SLACK '39,
Secretary

LONG ISLAND—The Bucknell Alumni Club of Long Island entertained over three hundred guests at the annual freshman reception on September 8 at the Community Church in East Williston.

A short business meeting was held to elect a new slate of officers for 1958-1959 and directors for a four year term. The new officers are: William S. Liming '33, president; Leonard S. Von-Heill '52, vice-president; Michael Harris '50, treasurer; and Barbara A. Josenhans '56, secretary. The new directors include: William A. Daly, Jr. '49, Mrs. Walter Davis '48, Joseph C. Laucks '27, Arthur D. Harrison, Jr. '54, Richard H. Klemm '53, and John F. Nothel, Jr. '49.

Of the seventy-five men and women from Long Island in the Class of 1962, Alice D. Budde of Amityville was chosen winner of the Long Island Alumni Club's Scholarship for this year. This award is open to all freshmen from Nassau, Suffolk, and Queens counties and is based upon scholarship, need, and activities.

Dean Karl D. Hartzell was present to welcome the freshmen and their parents to Bucknell. Twelve underclassmen served on the men's and women's panels to discuss the Bucknell way of life. On the women's panel were: Ann Blake '59, Lyn Geller '59, Marjory Kuhn '60, Janet Macnair '59, Judy McAllister '60, Carol Patterson '61 and Joy Stichweh '59. The men's panel included: John R. Brown, Jr. '59, Alvin Jackson '59, John McDonald '60, Lawrence Shapiro '59, and Robert A. Wright '59.

The Long Island Club is planning to sponsor the Bucknell Band when it comes to Garden City next spring. The band will perform in the auditorium of the Stewart Avenue School on April 22 and it is hoped many Bucknellians will come to hear one of Bucknell's finest musical organizations.

—BARBARA A. JOSENHANS '56,
Secretary

NORTH JERSEY—The Bucknell Alumni Club of Northern New Jersey held its annual Freshman Reception at

SECOND ANNUAL ALUMNI WORKSHOP

The weekend of October 4 was a busy time for Alumni Fund workers.

Invited to the campus as the guests of The General Alumni Association were class fund managers, assistant class fund managers, personal solicitation chairmen and members of the Board of Directors and the Alumni Fund Committee.

At the first Workshop, held in November 1957, to which alumni club presidents and class fund managers were invited, the suggestion was made that the 1958 Workshop be confined to a discussion of ways of improving alumni communications concerning the Alumni Fund and the University's over-all development program. At the Saturday work session, Dr. Wesley N. Haines, Director of Development, outlined future plans for co-ordinating all University fund raising activities over the next few years. A more complete statement of these plans will be found in this issue of THE BUCKNELL ALUMNUS on the last page of the special colored insert.

Alumni attending the Workshop discovered that the emphasis is on "Work." Over nine hours of discussion were held in the four sessions conducted under the titles of "What We Did and How We Did It", "1958-59 Objectives and a Look at 1959-1960", "Questions and Answers", and a final "Summary" session. If that seems like a formidable amount of time spent in business discussions, let us say that the attendants at the Workshop expressed enthusiasm also for the opportunities of meeting other alumni workers, and renewing associations with classmates from other areas of alumni activity. The Workshop group attended the Bucknell-Carnegie Tech football game on Saturday afternoon as the guests of the University.

Those in attendance included: Charles F. Fox Jr., M.D., '31, President, The General Alumni Association; and Directors, Mrs. Paul Showalter '31, Dr. E. P. Bertin '17, Mr. and Mrs. Robert W. Dill '27, Allen F. Jones '25, Robert Taylor '48.

Class fund managers who attended were: John C. Johnson '04, Jere Bates '15, Eugene D. Carstater '26, and Ray Tallan '51.

Representing the personal solicitation group were: Clifford C. Deck '18, Quentin R. Walters '48, and P. Herbert Watson '37.

Assistant class fund managers were represented by Ellen V. Campbell '58.

LUNCHEON MEETINGS

WASHINGTON, D. C. is the latest club to add a monthly luncheon to its schedule of meetings. Beginning October 7, Washington area alumni and guests were cordially urged to attend the luncheons to be held the first Tuesday of each month at 12:15 P. M. at the Occidental Restaurant, 14th and Pennsylvania Avenue, Washington, D. C. Local area alumni, visiting Bucknellians and their friends, are cordially urged to attend any of the following weekly or monthly club luncheons:

NEW YORK—First Wednesday of each month at 12:30 P. M.—Midston House, Madison Avenue at 38th Street. (Reservations required, phone Mrs. Roessner, ON7-6300, Extension 273).

PHILADELPHIA—Every Monday at noon, St. James Grill, 13th and Walnut Streets.

PITTSBURGH—Every Friday at noon, Kaufmann's Department Store, 11th Floor Dining Room, Fifth Avenue.

SCRANTON—Last Friday of each month at noon, Chamber of Commerce Building.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—First Tuesday at 12:15 P. M., Occidental Restaurant, 14th and Pennsylvania Avenue.

SUMMARY OF GIFTS TO THE UNIVERSITY FOR THE YEAR ENDING JUNE 30, 1958

	ALUMNI FUND		CAPITAL AND OTHER GIFTS		TOTAL GIFTS
	Number Giving	Amount Given	Number Giving	Amount Given	Number Giving	Amount Given
Alumni	4,758	$51,502.91	*	$ 44,925.38	4,758	$ 96,428.29
Bison Club			297	3,644.75	297	3,644.75
TOTAL ALUMNI GIVING	4,758	$51,502.91	297	$ 48,570.13	5,055	$100,073.04
Parents			531	$ 10,011.00	531	10,011.00
Friends	11	1,851.00	58	107,255.40	69	109,106.40
Faculty	48	516.30	25	286.00	73	802.30
Foundations			19	77,098.08	19	77,098.08
Corporations			45	41,556.05	45	41,556.05
	4,817	$53,870.21	975	$284,776.66	5,792	$338,646.87
Less duplication of credits due to contributions of Bucknellians of Faculty being listed under "Alumni" and "Faculty."	45	436.30	9	156.00	54	592.30
TOTAL GIFTS	4,772	$53,433.91	966	$284,620.66	5,738	$338,054.57

*These donors are included in Column 1 "Alumni Fund — Number Giving."

GIFTS — ACCORDING TO PURPOSE:

Bucknell Engineers	$ 3,365.00
Christian Association (Cowan Lodge)	1,669.50
Doctors for Bucknell	2,446.50
Endowment Funds	143,193.90
Fathers' Association	10,011.00
Coleman Hall	45,703.18
Scholarship Gifts	14,968.57
Gifts for Current Use	107,542.17
Bison Club	3,644.75
Other Restricted Gifts	5,510.00
Total Gifts	$338,054.57

"It is, of course, largely by the extent of the support accorded to a college by its own graduates that the world judges of the right of that college to seek cooperation of others in planning for the future. An institution that cannot rally to its financial assistance the men who have taken its degrees and whose diploma is their passport into the world is in a poor position to ask assistance from others. It is not merely what the alumni give; it is the fact that they do give that is of supreme importance."

Charles W. Eliot

CONTRIBUTORS 1957-1958

Gifts Received from July 1, 1957, to June 30, 1958

The following is a list of the names of ALUMNI, FACULTY, FRIENDS, CORPORATIONS, FOUNDATIONS, and contributors to the FOUNDATION FOR INDEPENDENT COLLEGES INC. of PENNSYLVANIA, who made contributions to the University during the TENTH FUND YEAR, 1957-1958.

As a result of this generosity of the Bucknell Family, the Alumni Annual Giving Fund has reached a total of $53,433.91—the largest amount yet received in any year since the Fund was instituted in 1948—and a 22% increase over the previous year.

Such splendid results can only be secured with a high degree of team-work. The University thanks the 4,574 loyal sons and daughters that made this record possible. Success derives from a happy combination of many factors. At the top ranks leadership. Bucknell is endowed with a large share of this precious gift and it was generously given by Edward W. Pangburn '15 and Charles F. Fox, Jr. '31, co-chairmen of the Bucknell Alumni Fund Committee. They were ably assisted by more than 170 class fund managers, 52 chairmen of personal solicitation area programs and 525 personal solicitation agents.

Extreme care has been taken in the preparation of the lists of names, but some errors and omissions are almost inevitable. We will appreciate if you will call such errors to the attention of the ALUMNI OFFICE. No doubt some gifts intended for the Fund year were received after July 1, 1958. These gifts will be credited to the present Eleventh Alumni Annual-Giving Fund and the donors' names will appear on the Eleventh Fund list. In past years each name listed was followed by a figure indicating the number of years of giving since the Fund was established in 1948. In a number of cases the figure was inaccurate because proper credit for heating plant gifts of 1948 was not given. This year no figures are listed but during the year the contributors list of the heating plant campaign will be fully audited to bring annual-giving records up-to-date.

It is hoped that each alumnus will make an annual gift during the current fund year which began on July 1, 1958, and extends to June 30, 1959, because Alumni Fund Giving, under the "Living Endowment" principle calls for a gift EVERY year.

Emeritus Club		1893		Gundy, John M. Johnson, Ruth Davis Rivenburg, Romeyn		Ruch, Walter E. Sandel, Ada Kline Trax, Harland A.		Ebling, Emily R. Eisenmenger, Charles F. Herpel, Elvie Coleman Kalp, W. Lawrence Lang, Clara Slifer Luchsinger, Ida Mausser, Harry S. Murphy, Charlotte Shields Sheldon, Morton R. Snow, John M. Stewart, George H. Williams, Howard K. Zeller, Helen Houghton
Fund Manager A. F. Dershimmer		Fund Manager Flora M. Clymer		1898		1902		1904
1870		Class Members 9		Fund Manager		Fund Manager		Fund Manager
In Memoriam Middleton, Charles K.		Contributors 4		Class Members 22		Lewis E. Theiss		John C. Johnson
1887		% Contributing 44%		Contributors 5		Class Members 35		Class Members 38
Harley, Walter S.		Alumni Fund $41.00		% Contributing 23%		Contributors 12		% Contributing 47%
1888		Other Gifts		Alumni Fund $195.00		% Contributing 34%		Alumni Fund $282.64
In Memoriam Hoyes, William Van V.		Total Gifts $41.00		Other Gifts		Alumni Fund $255.00		Other Gifts
1889		Butler, Mary E. Gardner, Arthur F. Thornton, Mory A. White, Orianna Williams		Total Gifts $195.00		Other Gifts		Total Gifts $282.64
1890		1894		Pohlmann, Flora Sigel Tilley, Frank W. VanGundy, Morris C. Walls, John A. Whitney, Emma Bolenius		Anthony, Mark L. Bacon, Edna L. Boyer, Charles I. Comstock, Rachel Kunkle Cunningham, Alan C. Edgett, George E. McCrocker, Mary Unger Miller, Grace Brubaker Shields, Sarah Judd Theiss, Lewis E. Williams, T. Lamar In Memoriam Naaker, Anna E.		Beagle, Mae Morgan
Fund Manager Meixell, Edith Slifer		Fund Manager		1899		1903		Crist, H. M.
1890		Class Members 10		Fund Manager		Fund Manager		Custer, Lewis B.
John I. Woodruff		Contributors 8		Emanuel W. Cober		Class Members 42		Groff, Margart B.
Class Members 4		% Contributing 80%		Class Members 20		Contributors 17		Halfpenny, Estella Albright
Contributors 2		Alumni Fund $265.00		% Contributing 50%		% Contributing 40%		Hursh, Clarence M.
% Contributing 50%		Other Gifts		Alumni Fund $2,095.00		Alumni Fund $389.00		Johnson, John C.
Alumni Fund $5.00		Total Gifts $265.00		Other Gifts 100.00		Other Gifts		Kiefer, William M.
Other Gifts		Callender, Mabel C. Hoffman, Elizabeth Bates Lawrence, Blanche Swengel Mulford, Alice Probasco Smith, Harvey F. Smith, H. Burns Tapping, Mabel Thomas Wattson, Ida Greene		Total Gifts $2,195.00		Total Gifts $389.00		Kuder, Blanche Bane
Total Gifts $5.00		1895		Ballentine, Floyd G. Bartleson, Carrie Devitt Bostwick, Marie Leiser Cober, E. W. Downs, Gertrude Stephens Engle, William H. Hazen, Joseph C. Ivins, Robert M. Krise, Daniel H. Schuyler, M. Eloise		1903		McCormick, Harry E.
Dancy, Elizabeth Lloyd Woodruff, John I.		Fund Manager		1900		Brasnahan, Remembrance F.		Merrill, Elizabeth Williams
1891		B. Meade Wagenseller		Fund Manager		Bulls, Jane Fowler		Murdoch, William G.
George E. Fisher		Class Members 12		Anna C. Judd		Carringer, Royce E.		Reed, Elizabeth E.
Class Members 3		Contributors 6		Class Members 31		Dershimmer, Alexander F.		Robey, Louis W.
Contributors 1		% Contributing 50%		% Contributing 39%				Schillinger, Olive
% Contributing 33%		Alumni Fund $182.00		Alumni Fund $191.00				Shawalter, Minnie Fessenden
Alumni Fund $25.00		Other Gifts		Other Gifts				Stahl, John H.
Other Gifts		Total Gifts $382.00		Total Gifts $191.00				Teufel, Charles M.
Total Gifts $25.00		Allen, Ezra Baldrige, Thomas J. Nisbet, Beulah Hayes Shorkley, Sara Merriman Wagenseller, B. Meade In Memoriam Simpson, Frank		1901
Glover, Maze Pellman		1896		Fund Manager
1892		Fund Manager		Charles F. Bidelspacher
A. R. E. Wyant		Class Members 15		Class Members 26
Class Members 7		Contributors 4		% Contributing 38%
Contributors 3		% Contributing 20%		Alumni Fund $ 23.00
% Contributing 43%		Alumni Fund $ 20.00		Other Gifts 2,232.38
Alumni Fund $215.00		Other Gifts 500.00		Total Gifts $2,255.38
Other Gifts		Total Gifts $520.00
Total Gifts $315.00
Pope, Sara Johnson Solier, Frances Montgomery Wyant, A. R. E.		1897
		Fund Manager
		Romeyn H. Rivenburg
		Class Members 12
		Contributors 4
		% Contributing 33%
		Alumni Fund $125.00
		Other Gifts
		Total Gifts $125.00
		1897
		Fund Manager
		Romeyn H. Rivenburg
		Class Members 12
		Contributors 4
		% Contributing 33%
		Alumni Fund $125.00
		Other Gifts
		Total Gifts $125.00
		1897
		Fund Manager
		Romeyn H. Rivenburg
		Class Members 12
		Contributors 4
		% Contributing 33%
		Alumni Fund $125.00
		Other Gifts
		Total Gifts $125.00
		1897
		Fund Manager
		Romeyn H. Rivenburg
		Class Members 12
		Contributors 4
		% Contributing 33%
		Alumni Fund $125.00
		Other Gifts
		Total Gifts $125.00
		1897
		Fund Manager
		Romeyn H. Rivenburg
		Class Members 12
		Contributors 4
		% Contributing 33%
		Alumni Fund $125.00
		Other Gifts
		Total Gifts $125.00
		1897
		Fund Manager
		Romeyn H. Rivenburg
		Class Members 12
		Contributors 4
		% Contributing 33%
		Alumni Fund $125.00
		Other Gifts
		Total Gifts $125.00
		1897
		Fund Manager
		Romeyn H. Rivenburg
		Class Members 12
		Contributors 4
		% Contributing 33%
		Alumni Fund $125.00
		Other Gifts
		Total Gifts $125.00
		1897
		Fund Manager
		Romeyn H. Rivenburg
		Class Members 12
		Contributors 4
		% Contributing 33%
		Alumni Fund $125.00
		Other Gifts
		Total Gifts $125.00
		1897
		Fund Manager
		Romeyn H. Rivenburg
		Class Members 12
		Contributors 4
		% Contributing 33%
		Alumni Fund $125.00
		Other Gifts
		Total Gifts $125.00
		1897
		Fund Manager
		Romeyn H. Rivenburg
		Class Members 12
		Contributors 4
		% Contributing 33%
		Alumni Fund $125.00
		Other Gifts
		Total Gifts $125.00
		1897
		Fund Manager
		Romeyn H. Rivenburg
		Class Members 12
		Contributors 4
		% Contributing 33%
		Alumni Fund $125.00
		Other Gifts
		Total Gifts $125.00
		1897
		Fund Manager
		Romeyn H. Rivenburg
		Class Members 12
		Contributors 4
		% Contributing 33%
		Alumni Fund $125.00
		Other Gifts
		Total Gifts $125.00
		1897
		Fund Manager
		Romeyn H. Rivenburg
		Class Members 12
		Contributors 4
		% Contributing 33%
		Alumni Fund $125.00
		Other Gifts
		Total Gifts $125.00
		1897
		Fund Manager
		Romeyn H. Rivenburg
		Class Members 12
		Contributors 4
		% Contributing 33%
		Alumni Fund $125.00
		Other Gifts
		Total Gifts $125.00
		1897
		Fund Manager
		Romeyn H. Rivenburg
		Class Members 12
		Contributors 4
		% Contributing 33%
		Alumni Fund $125.00
		Other Gifts
		Total Gifts $125.00
		1897
		Fund Manager
		Romeyn H. Rivenburg
		Class Members 12
		Contributors 4
		% Contributing 33%
		Alumni Fund $125.00
		Other Gifts
		Total Gifts $125.00
		1897
		Fund Manager
		Romeyn H. Rivenburg
		Class Members 12
		Contributors 4
		% Contributing 33%
		Alumni Fund $125.00
		Other Gifts
		Total Gifts $125.00
		1897
		Fund Manager
		Romeyn H. Rivenburg
		Class Members 12
		Contributors 4
		% Contributing 33%
		Alumni Fund $125.00
		Other Gifts
		Total Gifts $125.00

1905

Fund Manager
Claire Conway
Class Members	60
Contributors	26
% Contributing	43%
Alumni Fund	$465.00
Other Gifts
Total Gifts	$465.00

Andrews, Mary Halfpenny
Bittenbender, Joseph S.
Bliss, Ruth Shorkley
Bower, Mary I.
Conway, Claire M.
Cook, Mabel Maurer
Cooper, Charles D.
Cooper, Cottie Albright
Elliott, Ralph
Fetherston, Edith Kelly
Forgeus, Margaret
Gardner, E. Roy
Gunter, Laura Hummel
Hornish, Mary Brown
Hylbert, Lewis C.
Johnson, Nellie E.
Leshar, Harold
McCain, Donald R.
Millward, Mary Kriesher
Royer, Roberts D.
Sanders, John C.
Smith, Paul G.
Steinhilper, Nellie Goddard
Thomas, Jessie McFarland
Wood, Blanche Stoner
In Memoriam
McCauley, Francis L.

1906

Fund Manager
Frank L. Yost
Class Members	67
Contributors	24
% Contributing	36%
Alumni Fund	$239.00
Other Gifts
Total Gifts	$239.00

Cole, Harold N.
Cole, Hazel Knapp
Dann, Edna Innes
Donehower, W. L.
Follmer, Frederick V.
Frost, Sarah Furman
Glick, Katherine Sonner
Galdsmith, Maurice F.
Gundy, Edwin W.
Kech, Augustus S.
Long, Grace Meek
MacLaggan, Catherine F.
Millward, Carl L.
Morrison, Charles C.
Parmley, Harry M.
Parsons, Daisy Parsons
Rumsey, Edwin W.
Shelley, Penrose H., Sr.
Sheppard, Horace J., Sr.
Waltz, A. Pierce
Wilkinson, Katherine MacCart
Wright, Florence Cobb
Yingling, Carl S.
Yost, Frank L.

1907

Fund Manager
Mary Stanton Speicher
Class Members	57
Contributors	28
% Contributing	49%
Alumni Fund	$290.00
Other Gifts
Total Gifts	$290.00

Andrews, Percy C.
August, Wendall M.
Blakney, Lulu Kline
Brockway, Chauncey E.
Catherman, John I.
Comstock, Rachel Kunkle
Frymire, Boyd M.
Grier, Nina Hackenburg
Hilton, Walter B.
Hinman, William
Hochst, Coit R.
Hubbard, Mabel Sill
Jones, Ruth C.
King, Kathryn M.
Lyon, Mary Weddle
Mattis, George
Olds, Helena M.
Perez, Gilbert
Riggs, George A.
Rockwell, Leo L.
Shove, F. Rebecca
Speicher, Mary Stanton
Ulmer, Margaret Myers
Weddle, Joseph N.
Wolfe, Jonathan
Younan, Emma P.
Zug, Fred R.
In Memoriam
Lummis, John

1908

Fund Manager
W. Carl Sprout

Class Members	75
Contributors	34
% Contributing	45%
Alumni Fund	$682.50
Other Gifts	105.00
Total Gifts	$787.50

Bolton, Elmer K.
Bromley, Charles L.
Condit, E. Carroll
Duncon, Stephen G.
Ferguson, Charles D.
Foster, Carol Spratt
Gibney, John J.
Haller, Ralph W.
Harris, Benjamin
Hartzell, Harry F.
Hayes, James F.
Highy, Chester P.
Hostetter, John C.
Hummer, John F.
Innes, Edward R.
Kerschner, George W.
Landers, Olive Richards
Long, C. Edward Long, Elsie Owens
Luchsinger, Victor B.
Mathias, Margaret Pangburn
Marris, Robert B.
Nately, Charles A.
Naftsker, Paul B.
Shultz, Joseph R.
Snyder, Mary Ann Kline
Sprout, W. Carl
Steele, Robert M.
Thomas, Ralph L.
Thompson, Henry C.
Webster, George E.
In Memoriam
Henderson, Joseph W.
McGuire, Mae Jones
Noll, Walter L.

1909

Fund Manager
Newton C. Fetter
Class Members	87
Contributors	40
% Contributing	46%
Alumni Fund	$ 746.50
Other Gifts	4,610.00
Total Gifts	$5,356.50

Abbott, Mary Meyer
Africa, Henry S.
Bailets, George F.
Barnes, Eleanor Nixon
Blair, Harry J.
Claypoole, Ansley B.
Colvin, Katherine Heinen
Eakeley, Harry M.
Fetter, Newton C.
Haggerty, Matthew E.
Headland, Sarah Walters
Humm, Doncaster G.
Jackson, Hazel Craig
Johnson, Wilmer C.
Kauffman, R. H.
Landsrath, John A.
Lyte, Gilbert H.
Parkhill, Hallie Sembower
Payne, W. Guy
Poffenberger, Albert T.
Posten, W. H.
Quandt, Iola B.
Quick, Horace F.
Ritter, Allan G.
Roush, Charles S.
Ryan, Bessie Condit
Shirley, John T.
Shultz, Hannah Mervine
Shupe, Myrtle Volkinshaw
Slack, Fred W.
Smith, Stanton R.
Stone, Helen Cliber
Weeter, Mabel Slout
Wilkinson, G. Norman
Winegardner, Ralph G.
Wolfe, Josephine Harkins
Youngken, Heber W.
In Memoriam
Darlington, Richard
Jones, Louis E.
Lepperd, Charles J.

1910

Fund Manager
Homer D. Kresge
Class Members	78
Contributors	30
% Contributing	38%
Alumni Fund	$329.00
Other Gifts	54.00
Total Gifts	$383.00

Abraham, Paul J.
Balliet, Georgia Weddle
Bank, John
Bell, John R.
Brown, Josephine
Butt, Cameron A.
Case, George F.
Cathers, Mildred
Dixon, Viola Wilhelm
Edwards, J. Earle
Fagley, Gilbert H.
Fetter, George C.
Follmer, William J.
Fulton, Elizabeth Stage

PROGRESS OF THE FUND — 1948-1958

		Total Contribution	Number of Contributions	Average Contribution
1948-1949 (6 months) ..	$	5,736.08	584	$ 9.82
1949-1950		15,699.57	1,723	9.11
1950-1951		15,114.31	1,471	10.27
1951-1952		20,530.39	2,056	9.99
1952-1953		21,782.43	2,192	9.94
1953-1954		28,888.95	2,644	10.92
1954-1955		33,819.96	3,205	10.55
1955-1956		39,210.27	3,368	11.64
1955-1956 Matching Gift ..		19,368.85	1
1956-1957		43,794.70	3,933	11.14
1957-1958		53,433.91	4,574	11.66
Total Gifts (9 1/2 years)	$297,379.42		25,751

Gorton, MacArthur
Hardgrove, Winnie Dickson
Hartshorn, E. S.
Henderson, Anne Dresbach
Hertzog, Phares H.
Kresge, Homer D.
Kresge, Mary Stevenson
McDonough, Michael J.
Mikle, Roy
Pangburn, Weaver W.
Sherwood, Alexander M.
Sholl, John G.
Sholl, Ruby Pierson
Street, George T., Jr.
Thompson, Priscilla Hardesty
Yoder, Emily Lane

Naumann, Violet Wetterau
Ogden, Merton M.
Reiter, George F.
Riehl, Paul L.
Robinson, Lewis P.
Ruth, D. Clifford
Ruth, Helen L.
Waltz, Arthur D.
Weddell, Sue E.
Williams, Pearl Ream
Wolfe, A. Oscar
In Memoriam
Brewer, Clarence B.

Golightly, Joshua R.
Hawkins, Marian Harman
Irwin, J. Ralph
Kunkel, Mary A.
Kunkle, Ralph W.
Kuyil, Henry G.
Laning, Leland P.
Lowther, Wallace
Markowitz, Samuel H.
Moore, Ralph H.
Nately, Woods M.
Reitz, W. S.
Rice, John W.
Rice, Ruth Hoffs
Riley, Jesse
Schenck, Clifford R.
Schnure, Fred O.
Shivers, Marian E.
Slack, Lois Brown
Snyder, Clinton F.
Stahler, Harry S.
Stapleton, R. B.
Weaver, Harry B.
Weaver, Eudora Hamler
Winkelblech, John F.

1913

Fund Manager
Bright Beck
Class Members	66
Contributors	33
% Contributing	50%
Alumni Fund	$ 1,150.50
Other Gifts	20,935.50
Total Gifts	$22,086.00

AuWerter, Lena Forgy
Beck, Bright W.
Bogert, John R.
Brown, Mary M.
Caris, Perry A.
Edwards, Walter H.
Fetter, John D. W.
Fischer, Marion E.
Fisher, Howard V.
Gibbons, Rebekah M.
Glover, Marwood B.
Goehring, Howard M.
Hastings, Berkeley V.
Hawkins, O. V. W.
Hemphill, Hazel Galloway
Jackson, L. Earl
Kelly, Harry X.
McClure, James F.
McKeague, J. Leslie
Naylor, Winifred A.
Paulhamus, J. L.
Potter, Delinda
Redelin, Albert N.
Richards, Earl M.
Richards, Frank R. H., Sr.
Rooke, Robert L.
Sanders, Charles L.
Sanders, Clay S.
Shaffer, Harold A.
Shoemaker, Eva Brown
Stetler, Aaron Miles
Still, Ralph A.
Stout, Leslie W.

1915

Fund Manager
J. B. Bates
Class Members	92
Contributors	36
% Contributing	39%
Alumni Fund	$554.50
Other Gifts	$128.00
Total Gifts	$682.50

Allen, Joseph W.
Aller, Mabel Brown
Bancroft, Marion R.
Bates, Jeremiah B.
Beardsley, Melville
Bond, Isabelle F.
Brown, F. Theodore
Burchfield, Mary Decker
Clopp, Edgar T.
Clark, Albert J.
Clark, Edward O.
Crouse, Walter S.
Davies, Ramona Lenington
Dillon, Emma E.
Edwards, Harold C.
English, Margaret Gretzinger
Geiger, Carl E.
Hamlin, Albert J.
Hines, Myrno Strickler
Irland, George A.
Laidlow, Benjamin W.
McQuay, Helen Eede
Michael, Carlton A.
Muffy, G. Walter
Panaburn, Edward W.
Ronsburg, Frank T.
Reitz, Ethel Galloway
Schuyler, William H.
Smith, Omar H.
Stevenson, George S.
Topham, Erle M.
Windsor, William T.
Wingert, John M.
Winkelblech, Miriam Strickler
Wolfe, H. Michael
Zeller, Eleanor Trescott

1914

Fund Manager
Jesse E. Riley
Class Members	92
Contributors	32
% Contributing	35%
Alumni Fund	$688.00
Other Gifts	47.00
Total Gifts	$735.00

Aggar, Raymond L.
Armstrong, Earle B.
Campbell, Harry Earle
Coleman, Charles E.
Criswell, John R.
Etzweiler, Minnie I.
Fero, Beulah Hummel

1916

Fund Manager
Bruce E. Butt
Class Members	100
Contributors	40
% Contributing	40%
Alumni Fund	$625.00
Other Gifts	30.00
Total Gifts	$655.00

Alter, Samuel G.
Barnitz, Sora G.
Bartholomew, Derben W.
Bortlett, Lester J.
Bigler, R. P.
Brandon, Margaret Weddell
Brown, Helen Horton
Butt, Bruce E.
Cadden, Theresa McCollum
Conway, John J.
Davenport, Samuel M.

PERCENTAGES OF PARTICIPATION—BY DECADE GROUPS

1908-1919
1913	50%
1909	46%
1908	45%
1912	42%
1917	41%

Davis, Roscoe G.
 Everett, Russell W.
 Giffin, Harold W.
 Gubin, Charles
 Hamlin, Ruth Williams
 Hartman, Clarence O.
 Henszey, William H.
 Jeffery, John F.
 Jones, Carrie Foresman
 Lees, Mary Belle
 McCollum, Cecile
 Mensch, Sterling R.
 Noll, Verna G.
 Oesterle, Eric A.
 Park, William L.
 Ranck, Dayton L.
 Rehman, Norman J.
 Rice, Charlotte Loring
 Ritchie, Kenneth C.
 Ryan, Margaret Wallace
 Sanders, Homer M.
 Schnure, Dorothy Bunnell
 Shouers, William L.
 Smith, Harold E.
 Stevenson, Amy Patterson
 Sutton, Grace I.
 Switzer, Lester A.
 Ventres, Shailer W.
 Whitman, Martha Park

1917

Fund Manager

Clinton I. Sprout
 Class Members 114
 Contributors 47
 % Contributing 41%
 Alumni Fund $ 964.00
 Other Gifts 3,735.00
 Total Gifts $4,699.00

Armstrong, Jeannette Cooke
 Belcher, Louise Bassell
 Benedict, Fred E.
 Bertin, Eugene P.
 Boggess, Paul W.
 Calkin, LeRoy P.
 Case, James A.
 Chalfant, Yeurith Westboy
 Cryder, Maurice H.
 Davis, Kathryn Redelin
 Derr, Ralph B.
 DeWold, A. G.
 Faust, Viola Eckert
 Felton, Raleigh M.
 Flynn, Alice Haslam
 Gray, Amanda Whitaker
 Hannold, L. Helena
 Hay, Charles J.
 Hayes, Donald D.
 Heberling, John A.
 Heberling, Hazel Williamson
 Hill, Norman R.
 Kearney, Daniel W.
 Knouse, Holman G.
 Kriner, Clarence M.
 Kriner, Henrietta Heinsling
 Lofft, Henry T.
 McCarthy, Elizabeth Lehr
 Miller, Edna Overfield
 Munro, Margaret Sible
 Moore, Olive E.
 Potter, Charles W.
 Reich, Herman
 Russell, Katherine Clayton
 Schug, Alice Johnson
 Seemann, S. Leroy
 Smith, Calvin J.
 Sowers, Irvin P.
 Sprengle, Raymond E.
 Sprout, Clinton I.
 Stetler, Frank E.
 Thomas, Richard E.
 Topham, Ray Speare
 Volkmar, Marie
 Ward, Ethel V.
 Williams, Frank E.
 Yan, Arthur

1918

Fund Manager

Bruce O. Ranck
 Class Members 135
 Contributors 39
 % Contributing 29%
 Alumni Fund $398.50
 Other Gifts 35.00
 Total Gifts $433.50

Adams, Alvin J.
 Barringer, Arthur P.
 Bauman, F. B.
 Beard, Ralph B.
 Boswell, David N.
 Boswell, Mary Dunn
 Bower, Helen Diffendafer
 Cawen, Hazel Hagerman
 Crossland, Ethel Renaly
 Deck, Clifford C.
 Derr, Mary Beatty
 Dickerman, Eleanor Robertson
 Edwards, Kathryn Eilenberger
 Fritz, Mabel H.
 Gold, John S.
 Grice, Herbert C.
 Hall, Miriam Minch
 Hansen, Margaret Coates
 Hulley, Karl K.
 Iredell, Helen Shaffer
 Kaefar, Chester S.
 Kline, Jessie Potts
 Leaber, Evelyn McGann

WHAT IS THE ALUMNI FUND?

The plan for the Bucknell Alumni Annual-Giving Fund is simple. Alumni dues and magazine subscriptions have been discontinued. Every alumnus, former student and friend of Bucknell is invited to make an unrestricted gift to the University each year. These gifts are directed to current operations and are used where the Board of Trustees find the greatest need. Some part of each dollar inevitably goes for faculty salaries, supplies, heat and other building maintenance costs and the thousand and one items needed by a University. Each person contributing, no matter what the amount, will be listed as a donor in THE BUCKNELL ALUMNUS.

Mackey, Barton H.
 Matlack, Margaret Phillips
 Miles, George H.
 Musser, Malcolm E.
 Owen, Ella Jones
 Ranck, Bruce O.
 Ritchie, Ethel Farley
 Rouser, Elizabeth Stephens
 Siple, Louis W.
 Smith, Ora B.
 Speece, Mary
 Sprout, Louise Hahn
 Trimble, William E.
 Wade, H. F.

In Memoriam
 Foresman, Grover
 Spotts, S. Dale

1919

Fund Manager

Franklin D. Jones
 Class Members 122
 Contributors 43
 % Contributing 35%
 Alumni Fund $545.00
 Other Gifts 111.00
 Total Gifts $656.00

Anchor, Charles J.
 Andrews, Harry F.
 Angel, Harry H.
 Bitner, Edith Larson
 Chalfant, Alexander
 Chandler, Susannah Grove
 Clare, Elsie Buckley
 Cruse, Ernest J.
 Davis, Irene Yarnall
 Eiserman, Naomi Lane
 Garner, Lloyd L.
 Gerhort, Weber L., Jr.
 Gilbert, Harold N.
 Grave, Mary E.
 Harer, Howard L.
 Hartman, Paul E.
 Hedge, Thomas R.
 Heiter, Oliver
 Hendren, John C.
 Higgs, Frances Hilgirt
 Hoffa, Helen R.
 Jones, Franklin D.
 Kates, Elizabeth M.
 Kelchner, Alice M.
 Kline, Raymond D.
 Kunkel, George M.
 Lanning, Golda Clark
 Lawrence, Frank A.
 Leaber, Chester R.
 McKinley, Arthur D.
 Neal, Annetta Stahl
 Owen, Elizabeth Spyker
 Potts, Harry E.
 Schoen, Marion Hyatt
 Shoemaker, John D.
 Skavish, Jean O'Flanagan
 Small, Helen Swartz
 Stein, Ruth
 Tice, Raymond D.
 Wartel, Ruth Farquhar
 White, Walter S.
 Williams, Ellen Peterson
 Withington, Clyde W.

1920

Fund Manager

T. J. Heim
 Class Members 183
 Contributors 54
 % Contributing 30%
 Alumni Fund $1,389.07
 Other Gifts 783.00
 Total Gifts $2,172.07

Bair, Kathryn Keylor
 Bell, Robert K.
 Brown, Merrill W.
 Copeland, Daymond W.
 DeLong, Elthera Mohler
 Dyer, Ralph M.
 Eaton, Lewis A.
 Everett, Mark R.
 Fawle, Lester P.
 Fries, Harry C.
 Hartman, Marion Ellenbogen
 Hatch, Helen Nutt
 Heckendorn, W. R.
 Heim, Thomas J. S.
 Heller, Martha Achenbach
 Hooven, Morris D.
 Ingram, Evan W.

Ingram, Frank W.
 Iredell, Charles V.
 Lees, Walter L.
 Lewis, Frederick H.
 Lighton, Lester E.
 Lockeman, Charlotte Volkmar
 Mason, John A.
 Mathieson, A. R.
 Miller, Charles W.
 Miller, Helen Bodiae
 Moyer, William P.
 Nancarrow, H. L.
 Neal, Robert M.
 Person, Hayes L.
 Person, Luetta Wagner
 Piekarski, Felix
 Quigley, Marguerite I.
 Reed, Warren S.
 Reynolds, Margaret Brown
 Richards, Margaret Trump
 Rickart, George E.
 Schwenker, Anthony A.
 Seebach, Julius F., Jr.
 Shea, LaVerne H.
 Shellenhamer, Carrie Wetzel
 Sher, A. Lincoln
 Sher, Mary Schenck
 Shoemaker, Kathryn Glover
 Slocum, Warren H.
 Speare, William E. C.
 Stewart, Harold A.
 Stolz, Paul
 Sweitzer, Burton H.
 Waddell, Robert N.
 Ward, Harry R.
 Weible, Helen Matthews
 Williams, T. C., Sr.
 Wyant, Corbin W.

1921

Fund Manager

Nelson S. Rounsley
 Class Members 147
 Contributors 53
 % Contributing 36%
 Alumni Fund $438.50
 Other Gifts 420.00
 Total Gifts $858.50

Angstadt, Robert W.
 Baker, Edna M.
 Barbour, Elizabeth Davis
 Bateman, Lydia Coene
 Bitner, Charles H.
 Carpenter, Clara Casner
 Clare, Victor G.
 Clark, Eva Thayer
 Coe, Nancy Marguerite
 Cole, Edna Martin
 Davis, Clarence A.
 Derr, Sarah Bernhardt
 Derr, Herbert N.
 DeWire, M. B.
 Dietz, Charlotte N.
 Douglass, Holmes T.
 Edgett, Catherine DeElle
 Edwards, Walter P.
 Epler, S. A.
 Fallmer, Grace R.
 Gaha, Albert
 Grice, Fannie Fisher
 Heim, Edward F.
 Heim, Ella Osborum
 Herb, Grant O.
 Hess, J. Leo
 Hilday, Raymond G.
 Hooper, Dorothy Lent
 Hulsizer, Robert L.
 Kelly, Emily Devine
 King, Alden P.
 Kahler, E. Larue
 Laher, Donald S.
 Lutz, Helen Follmer
 Mangser, Thomas J.
 Manser, Esther Dodson
 Miller, Katherine
 Moore, Clarence B.
 Morgan, Thomas F.
 Nichols, William E.
 Reamer, Francis F.
 Reamer, E. LaRue Unger
 Rickenberg, Charles H.
 Rounsley, Nelson S.
 Sauers, Roy W.
 Sauers, Ruth Klechner
 Seemann, B. R.
 Shimer, Harold L.
 Shimer, Helen Beck
 Smith, Ellis S., Sr.
 Sprout, Marjorie E.
 Sutton, S. W.
 Townsend, Hannah Madison

1922

Fund Manager

Florence D. Cornwell
 Class Members 180
 Contributors 54
 % Contributing 30%
 Alumni Fund $ 832.50
 Other Gifts 330.00
 Total Gifts $1,162.50

Alexander, John D.
 Allen, Alexander A.
 Appleton, Norman R.
 Balliet, William E.
 Beers, J. R.
 Butt, Edna Follmer
 Carlson, C. I.
 Cole, Grace Swan
 Copeland, Amorito Sesinger
 Copeland, Mary Williamson
 Cornwell, Florence D.
 Davis, Lois Wentling
 Derck, Chester H.
 Dickroger, Leona
 Doty, Angeline Kissinger
 Ebert, Hulda Heim
 Foxall, Frederick A.
 Galbraith, Walter D.
 Gass, Mark K.
 Greiner, Bright E.
 Hammitt, Helen Johnston
 Hartz, Ralph F.
 Hill, Eloise E.
 Humphrey, Isaac
 Irvin, William J.
 Johnson, Eve Bunnell
 Keech, Finley
 Klein, Adam A.
 Landis, Roy H.
 Lawson, L. W.
 Levine, Isaac
 Lowry, W. Norwood
 Mathieson, George W.
 Mathieson, Effie Muir
 Miller, Emerson R.
 Masch, Morgery Forley
 Myerly, James G.
 O'Neil, Susanna Plummer
 Patton, Stewart U.
 Rinebold, William J.
 Schaffer, Harry E.
 Sheridan, Robert H.
 Sherman, Mary Sholl
 Shott, John H.
 Skeath, Emily Tregellas
 Stahl, Catharine Y.
 Stahl, John C.
 Stine, Roy B.
 Weaver, Paul A.
 Wentz, Elizabeth Laedlein
 Wiant, Herman E.
 Wolfe, Ruth Brown
 Worthington, Eimer LaRue

1923

Fund Manager

Arda C. Bowser
 Class Members 214
 Contributors 66
 % Contributing 31%
 Alumni Fund $ 896.00
 Other Gifts 261.00
 Total Gifts $1,157.00

Altamus, Susanne Statler
 Bennett, Constance H.
 Bowser, Arda C.
 Brooks, Martha Shaffer
 Bunnell, Marjorie Nichols
 Bunting, Charles T.

PERCENTAGES OF PARTICIPATION—BY DECADE GROUPS

1920-1929
1921	36%
1926	32%
1923	31%
1925	31%
1920	30%
1922	30%

Collender, Willard D.
 Carr, Lyell
 Chapman, Marcus M.
 Crank, Bertha Smith
 Crist, Anna Speers
 Daniels, Frank B.
 Dawson, Robert M.
 Dayhoff, Harry O.
 Deturk, Eli R.
 Erdley, Jennie Stackhouse
 Erdman, Gladys Emerick
 Farquhar, Hazel M.
 Fetherolf, Miriam Markham
 Frontz, Olive Billhime
 Gehret, Andrew M.
 Gehring, W. George
 Griffith, Dalzell M.
 Hahn, Byron W.
 Hanna, Elinor S.
 Hayden, Katherine Owens
 Heebner, Natalie Musser
 Hutchinson, Lewis L.
 Ingram, Helen Ferguson
 Jacobs, Alfred V.
 Jones, Harry W.
 Kimball, Lawrence M.
 Kutz, Jacob H.
 Lewis, Arlington R.
 Lofberg, Dora Keough
 Lundy, Elva Flanagan
 McGregor, Frank R.
 Mallay, Paul C.
 Martin, M. V.
 Mickley, Earl B.
 Miller, Luther F., Sr.
 Moore, B. Stanley
 Morgan, Norman W.
 Murden, Alma Royer
 Musser, Thomas M.
 Pangburn, Jessie W.
 Purnell, John S.
 Rentz, G. Reading
 Rentz, Marion Jack
 Schaffer, Madge Heimbach
 Sholl, Dorothy B.
 Smith, Donald R.
 Smith, Nina G.
 Stabler, Harry E.
 Stager, Luke L.
 Summerfield, Frank W.
 Swetland, Rupert M.
 Swetland, Elizabeth Speakman
 Sykes, Dorothy Auer
 Thomas, Dorothy Wilhelm
 Thompson, Phyllis Ottmyer
 Thurston, Helen Powell
 Weinrich, Edna Tompkins
 Wentz, Clifford E.
 Wilson, Foster C.
 Woodring, W. Guy

1924

Fund Manager

Merl G. Colvin
 Class Members 212
 Contributors 56
 % Contributing 26%
 Alumni Fund $840.50
 Other Gifts 120.00
 Total Gifts $960.50

Armstrong, Ruth Weidenhauer
 Arnold, F. Davis
 Ashman, Edward T.
 Bressler, H. W.
 Budd, C. Kenneth
 Christian, Willard, Jr.
 Cober, Kenneth I.
 Colvin, Merl G.
 Cupp, Louise Benshoff
 Daubert, Prudence Walters
 DeLaCour, Alice Ruhl
 Dunlap, Earl S.
 Frazer, Hilda DeWitts
 Glover, Henry A., Jr.
 Hall, Iva DeWitt
 Hartman, Levi F.
 Heim, Robert C.
 Heller, Ida R.
 Hudson, Roland O.
 Humphreys, Margaret Stealy
 Ingalls, Elizabeth Walker
 Jemison, Foster D.
 Jones, Harold
 Jones, Elizabeth Moore
 Jones, Thomas W.
 Kelly, Geraldine Lagerman
 Lamborne, George W.
 Lathrop, Margaret Everitt
 Lenox, G. Merrill
 Lenox, John E.
 Lewis, Myrtle Sharp
 Lindig, Charles F.
 McMurtrie, Arthur J.
 Megahan, Mildred
 Miller, Grayce Peterson
 Moore, Geneva Gerlach
 Morgan, David W.
 Mussino, Malcolm V.
 Overdorff, H. Virgil
 Patterson, James N.
 Ribenburg, Marjorie J.
 Robb, Edwin D.
 Roberts, L. Alice
 Sangston, Jefferson V.
 Saxon, Kermit L.
 Schweiker, Anna Heysham
 Shaffer, C. M.
 Shaffer, Elma Streeter
 Smith, Meribel Ritter
 Smith, Samuel E.
 Steckel, Rachel M.
 Wendell, Roland M.

ndell, Lois Hamblin tal, Rose Curtis
Memoriam
Nolf, Sara Monahan
Zimmerman, Arthur G.

Woodings, Robert T.
Young, Mary Bray
In Memoriam
Duck, William O.
England, Donald C.

Thorn, Norman H.
Wagner, William F.
Wandover, Clare C.
Wore, Emerson E.
White, William R.
Wilsbach, Anthony K.

Wagner, Donald E.
Webber, Harold
Williams, Harry H.
Wilson, Lytle M.
Wilson, Doris Worell
Zortman, Robert K.

Wakefield, Nancy Kennedy
Weber, Virginia Wallis
Wendin, Barbara Reifsnnyder
Whitaker, Edna L.
Whitehead, Genevieve Panches
Williams, Wyatt E.
Winemiller, Ivanhoe W.
Winter, Bruce H.
Wisehaupt, Darwin M.
Wolfgang, John L.
Youtz, Patrick

In Memoriam
Smith, Marjorie Bell

1925
Fund Manager
Myron F. Decker
Class Members	243
Contributors	76
% Contributing	31%
Alumni Fund	$1,261.00
Other Gifts	463.00
Total Gifts	$1,724.00

kerman, Margaret D.
kman, Howard E. iderson, Ruth Grove
ker, Frank E.
ker, Leslie E.
xter, Catherine S. xter, M. Louisa rg, Mary Schilling idson, Mildred P.
tner, Lynn N.
andt, Robert G.
eisch, Warren F.
essler, John P. ognard, Myron A. tarrington, Lawrence R. ingerman, Robert J. ber, Clara Price
ok, Wilbur W.
vies, Edwin J.
avis, Alice V.
ecker, Myron F.
iert, Carrie Smithgall lis, Chorlotte Bosler nmanuel, Stephen C., Jr.
chbach, Donald O.
ans, William C. aint, George R., Sr.
ster, J. Wallace lightly, William D. lightly, Hanno Davis ummo, Blanchard ammond, Thomas M.
arvey, Wildon T. endrickson, Andrew
enry, Donald E. eysham, Theodore, Jr. ill, H. Leonard opper, Mildred Francisco ouston, Reuben B. unt, Frank R. inkins, E. E.
ohnson, Albert W. ones, Allen F. ones, Frank L.
app, Carl G.
auder, John H. illier, Florence Pratt amisniak, John E. eisser, Wilson R.
icodemus, Roy E. ainter, William atton, Chester W.
eifer, Helen G. eed, Marion McInay eplogie, M. Dorothy oles, Harold F.
ossiter, Alice E.
icchitano, R. R. haffer, Dorothy Simons pangler, Clair G. ewart, Estello tine, Ralph M. omas, Elizabeth Hartranft omas, William G., Jr.
ompson, William E. ompson, Mary Seidel
onado, Esther E.
vagner, Howard W.
vest, Robert A., Jr.
Williams, Harry
Vilsbach, Johannaetta Snyder
Wilson, Lillian M.

1926
Fund Manager
E. D. Carstater
Class Members	244
Contributors	79
% Contributing	32%
Alumni Fund	$1,604.00
Other Gifts	205.00
Total Gifts	$1,809.00

Adams, Muriel E.
Amsler, Fred R.
Amsler, Mary Stahl
Angell, Helen Everitt
Austin, Paul R.
Bach, F. Earl
Badman, Vera Spencer
Battin, W. L., Jr.
Bird, Harry F.
Blackburn, Isabelle Smith
Bower, Lelia E.
Brewen, Stewart F.
Brown, Anna L.
Carstater, Eugene D.
Coleman, Carlton G.
Colvin, Margaret Price
Conklin, Albert E.
Councilman, Elberta Stone
Davies, J. Norman
Davies, Morgan S.
Eaton, Asa T.
Evans, Fred W.
Farrow, Charles T., Jr.
Focht, Florence Uff
Gardner, Carlton L.
Gorrett, Robert Y., Jr.
Hagerman, W. Ross
Homblin, Clarissa
Hand, Orval J.
Hann, Thomas D., Jr.
Harkness, Gladys Roberts
Harris, Maria Salisbury
Hermann, Virginia Zortman
Humphreys, Edward J.
Jensen, Maud Keister
Jones, Eurfryn
Jones, Malcolm G.
Jones, Hannah Metcalf
Kostos, Anthony J.
Kushell, Isabelle Morrison
McCaskey, Irene Bell
McCormick, Joseph W., Jr.
McCue, Louise Curtis
McHail, Bruce A.
McLane, Royce M.
Mortz, James V.
Miers, T. Jefferson
Miers, Louise Matthews
Miller, David L.
Miller, John B.
Miller, William I.
Morrow, Martha M.
Mosser, A. P.
Nicely, Ethel Fowler
Postpichal, Ruth Propert
Potter, Paul G.
Ramsey, John D.
Replogle, James S.
Rigg, Donald L.
Rishell, Chester A.
Rood, Corrie Smith
Sample, Eleanor Dokin
Songston, Russel E.
Shaffer, J. Paul
Sheddard, Boyd R.
Slifer, Kenneth W.
Sloan, W. Harold
Smink, Robert D.
Smith, Robert H.
Snyder, Charles R.
Steely, John E.
Stine, Geroldine Shelow
Thompson, Myrtle K.

1927
Fund Manager
Harry S. Ruhl
Class Members	287
Contributors	78
% Contributing	27%
Alumni Fund	$1,443.00
Other Gifts	256.00
Total Gifts	$1,699.00

Allsworth, J. B.
Anderson, Douglas W.
Bailey, George W.
Bean, Stuart H.
Bennett, Gilbert L.
Beshel, Anthony A.
Bihl, Albert W.
Bradley, Harry F.
Brandon, Arthur L.
Bull, Howard A.
Carpenter, Charles I.
Chesney, J. Graham
Convery, Samuel V.
Cowell, David E.
Darkes, William F.
Day, Anna Outwater
Deebel, Kathryn Houtz
Deen, Evelyn H.
Derr, LeRoy F.
Dietz, Elmer W.
Dill, Robert W.
Dorman, Ralph E.
Dunbar, Agnes
Endres, Milton C.
Farnsworth, J. Fred
Fogelsanger, D. Aldus
Gardner, H. W.
Garrett, Paul L.
Geiser, Carl J.
Gehret, Ruth Matz
Gill, Earl A.
Giordano, James V.
Glenn, Catherine Mench
Goodyear, Gordon
Gretzinger, William C.
Harris, Jane Rees
Harris, Frances M.
Hart, George W.
Kephart, Mildred Fox
Kimball, C. Arlene
Koopman, Mary Konkle
Kunkel, Helen Egge
Kushell, Charles J., Jr.
Laucks, Joseph C.
Lawson, Elizabeth K.
McCaskey, S. A., Jr.
McFarland, James T.
McGee, Helen Thomson
McNutt, William P.
Malone, J. Gilbert
Mare, Dom B.
More, Mary Foust
Merrick, Grace Milhous
Miller, Bruce J.
Miller, Florence Beckworth
Moyle, Kenneth
Mutchler, Clarence R.
Pullen, Clifford W.
Ronck, Walter L.
Replogle, Veto Davis
Riesmeyer, A. Henry
Robinson, Daniel W.
Roller, George A.
Roop, Amy Haldeman
Ruhl, Harry S.
Schonelly, Howard B.
Sheckells, Albert W.
Shrum, Jane
Slifer, Coryl Dutton
Smith, R. Barlow
Stevens, Fred
Swimley, Walter W.

1928
Fund Manager
S. C. Braucher
Class Members	298
Contributors	84
% Contributing	28%
Alumni Fund	$1,014.00
Other Gifts	5,026.00
Total Gifts	$6,040.00

Avery, Anna Everitt
Bradley, Klea Montague
Bull, Kathryn Bossler
Carstater, Marie Helwig
Couch, Ruth Bray
Crissman, Alice Lambert
Dill, Eleanor Miller
Down, Jane Beakley
Earhart, Inez Robison
Eaton, Donald E.
Engelhardt, Ernest
Evans, Elvo Horner
Evans, Pauline Biery
Field, Margaret M.
Fink, Pauline Belles
Focht, Brown
Fox, Frederick, Jr.
Gerhart, Sara Reed
Goldenberg, B. D.
Grimm, Dorothy Griffith
Gunn, Amanda Brown
Harpster, William F.
Heller, Jeanette M.
Henderson, Rena Anderson
Hillyer, Moree G.
Hublitz, Evelyn Pauling
Huffman, C. Elwood
Hughes, Elizabeth Royer
Humphreys, Paul M.
Humphreys, Catherine Marshall
Hunter, Harry C.
Johnson, Caroline Stafford
Keiser, Edwin L., Jr.
Kemery, Fred B.
Knapp, Dorothy J.
Kost, Sara Heysham
Lewis, Thomas
Little, Jean E.
Losch, Lenore M.
McNutt, Helen Durkin
Modden, Helen McFarland
Morley, William A.
Marsh, Hugh M., Jr.
Marsh, Lorinne Martin
Mayer, Earle L.
Mayer, Christine Sterner
Noble, Eugene E.
Olson, Emil W.
Phillips, John C.
Porter, Leah Decker
Potter, Margaret Riley
Priemer, B. August
Pursley, Louis A.
Ross, Donald
Roush, Guy F.
Russin, Jacob S.
Shannon, Ridge R.
Sheriff, Wilber S.
Shuttlesworth, Melvin C.
Siegl, George H.
Snyder, Josephine Kunkel
Strawbridge, Geraldine Mix
Streeter, Donald D.
Suckling, Howard K.
Swartz, Wendel A.
Thomarus, Warren E.
Tilton, Margaret Renn
Timm, George B.
Ulmer, Alfred R.
VanGraafeiland, Williard W.
Vostine, John R.
Wagner, Alvin S.

1929
Fund Manager
Charles W. Kalp
Class Members	258
Contributors	60
% Contributing	23%
Alumni Fund	$1,016.00
Other Gifts	633.00
Total Gifts	$1,649.00

Abbott, Albert J.
Anselm, Frances Saul
Armogast, Josephine Schilline
Bach, Elizabeth Evans
Bailey, Clyde P.
Bailey, Dorothy Lemon
Barlow, Rodney K.
Bidlock, Kenneth A.
Bosche, William J.
Brickley, Myrtle DeCoursey
Brubaker, Donald
Cawley, Alice Spokes
Christian, Frank T.
Coleman, Rowland H.
Cox, Elizabeth Sole
Cox, Harry S., Jr.
Cranford, Clarence W.
Earnest, Franklin M., Jr.
Eyster, Jessie Fielding
Fink, Paul E.
Ford, Jane Foust
Frederick, A. Elizabeth
Garnow, Eleanor Winslow
Grove, Dorothy Wagner
Harris, H. B.
Harrison, John M.
Heilgman, N. H.
Hogan, Howard T.
Horter, John M.
Hoy, W. Duffield
Hughes, James P.
Jones, Charles S.
Kalp, Charles W.
Klosterman, B. F.
Lindner, John A.
Lindner, Oella Kiser
Long, D. Eugene
Mahood, William T.
Minick, John C.
Moyer, Gilbert B.
Murray, Philip G.
D'Neil, William V.
Phillips, Dorothy Cowan
Rarig, Allen A.
Reed, Clifford H.
Reinheimer, Kenneth G.
Rieder, Mary Taubel
Riegel, Josephine Roberts
Riemer, Hugo
Ries, H. William, Jr.
Robb, Elizabeth McHose
Shawalter, Thelma J.
Simpson, Geddes W.
Smith, Herbert R.
Starke, Helen Leininger
Strahan, George W.
Vensel, Sarah Collier
Weber, Marie Fetherolf
White, Maris G.
Wrightnour, Dorothy

1930
Fund Manager
Arthur M. Shorts

ABOVE AVERAGE CLASSES

These 50 classes bettered our over-all participation of 26.9%

Class	Fund Manager	Percentage	Class	Fund Manager	Percentage	Class	Fund Manager	Percentage
1889	A. F. Dershimer	100%	1916	Bruce E. Butt	40%	1923	Arda C. Bowser	31%
1894	A. F. Dershimer	80%	1900	Anno C. Judd	39%	1925	Myron F. Decker	31%
1887	A. F. Dershimer	50%	1915	J. B. Bates	39%	1920	T. J. Heim	30%
1890	John I. Woodruff	50%	1901	Charles F. Bidelspacher	38%	1922	Florence D. Cornwell	30%
1895	B. Meade Wagenseller	50%	1910	Homor D. Kresge	38%	1948	Robert H. Taylor	30%
1899	Emanuel W. Cober	50%	1906	Frank L. Yost	36%	1918	Bruce O. Ranck	29%
1913	Bright W. Beck	50%	1921	Nelson S. Rounsley	36%	1931	Horace W. Mason	29%
1907	Mary Stanton Speicher	49%	1914	Jesse E. Riley	35%	1933	Campbell Rutledge, Jr.	29%
1904	John C. Johnson	47%	1919	Franklin D. Jones	35%	1943	William G. Thomas	29%
1909	Newton C. Fetter	46%	1902	Lewis E. Theiss	34%	1949	Richard D. Atherley	29%
1908	W. Carl Sprout	45%	1941	Eloise Garber Graybill	34%	1928	S. C. Braucher	28%
1893	Flora M. Clymer	44%	1888	A. F. Dershimer	33%	1936	Charles F. Kottcamp	28%
1892	A. R. E. Wyont	43%	1891	George E. Fisher	33%	1947	June Stott Matthews	28%
1905	Cloire Conway	43%	1897	Romeyn H. Rivenburg	33%	1927	Harry S. Ruhl	27%
1912	A. Oskar Wolfe	42%	1926	E. D. Carstater	32%	1940	Wayne Knouse	27%
1917	Clinton I. Sprout	41%	1942	Arthur J. Denney	32%	1950	Jean McDonald Conklin	27%
1903	A. F. Dershimer	40%	1911	Earl E. Hinman	31%

Class Members	258
Contributors	61
% Contributing	24%
Alumni Fund	$690.00
Other Gifts	9.00
Total Gifts	$699.00

Anderson, Sarah Hawes
Baker, Abraham J.
Benson, Ottwill I.
Burlaw, John S.
Burlaw, Grace Schoum
Cody, Eric Bates
Coleman, Esther Keim
Craga, Paul H.
Davies, Dorothy M.
Dudley, Helen Quinby
Ellery, James A.
Emmitt, William C.
Emmitt, Gertrude Brooks
Everitt, Mary Loring
Fenichel, Benjamin
Figner, Elizabeth
Garmon, Harold
Gilmour, Joseph E.
Girtan, Helen Welliver
Glaver, Edwin A.
Henderson, Marion R.
Henry, Goldie Heyman
Hill, Spencer W.
Hoffman, Edward S.
Hurlburt, James S.
Johnson, Davis, Jr.
Kennedy, Helen Reeves
Kille, Bertha Thomas
Klasterman, Emmolyn Fuller
Kostas, Frank C.
Loyman, Kathryn Gamble
Lingle, Ralph G.
Long, Elizabeth
Maxwell, Emilie L.
Miller, Marie Walbert
Moore, Walter R.
Ownes, Jennie
Payne, Robert L.
Phipps, Juliet Robertson
Potter, Milton J.
Riesmeyer, J. Paul
Roach, Alice Walker
Roupp, Leonard M.
Schulz, Marion Isazard
Sharts, Arthur M.
Simpson, Blanche Thomas
Scars, Jessie L.
Stambough, Charles J., Jr.
Stephens, Marlin B.
Thomas, Henry E.
Turner, Ruth Evans
Ulmer, David C.
Wadsworth, Welland B.
Wagner, George O.
Walker, Marjorie Gamble
Ward, Eldred O.
Watkins, Miriam J.
Wendle, Herbert M.
Winter, Helen Ryder
Waerner, Erwin
Wright, Janice Booker

1931

Fund Manager

Horace W. Mason
Class Members	342
Contributors	100
% Contributing	29%
Alumni Fund	$1,325.00
Other Gifts	325.00
Total Gifts	$1,650.00

Albertson, Robert W.
Atwood, Theodore C.
Baker, Helen Hobbs
Barlow, Marie Trunk
Bernstein, Evelyn Staler
Bogor, Robert H.
Baister, Ann Sprout
Baop, Orin V.
Brandiff, Helen Mowry
Brooks, Harry R.
Brown, Ruth Merrifield
Buchholz, Eleanor L.
Carlisle, Luther O.
Cox, James R., Jr.
Dietrich, Stanley B.

Dundore, Grace Grimshaw
Egel, Norman
Eisley, Trennie
Emery, Paul W.
Fearn, Lily Tompkins
Fitch, Margaret Erb
Fleming, Alexander S.
Force, Elwood B.
Fox, Charles F., Jr.
Fox, Marion Stinson
Genne, William H.
Giles, Marie Condict
Githens, Sherwood, Jr.
Grove, Robert D.
Hardgrove, Eleanor Farquhar
Heine, Dorothy Grimshaw
Herr, Edward B.
Hibler, Marjorie Budd
Higgins, Delazon P., II
Hillis, Edna Cease
Hopkins, Samuel A.
Hopper, Jeanne Brown
Hasler, Doris Brocay
Ingalls, Robert S.
Jablonski, Clement
Johnson, George W.
Keagy, R. Marvel
Keenan, Robert J.
Keiser, Robert H.
Kunkle, James H., Jr.
Lawson, Esther Minich
Leezer, Samuel J.
Levy, Elizabeth Watson
Lord, C. Donald
McCasin, Harriet Wilson
MacDonald, Lois Baker
Macquand, Naomi Clark
Martin, Lawrence P.
Mason, Horace W.
Mergal, Margaret Zimmermann
Merrill, William C.
Minnier, Arthur E.
Marris, Charles M.
Murray, Gladys S.
Mutzel, Louis K.
Nisslev, Joseph
O'Brien, Martha Warner
Palmer, Helen Lyman
Pierson, Raymond G.
Faynter, Donald A.
Purdy, Ames S.
Reece, Helen
Ricker, Virginia Babcock
Rider, Bernice Bachman
Rollins, Miriam Stafford
Rothman, Mary Grass
Ruhl, George A.
Schiro, S. Robert
Shields, John J.
Shaurs, Merrill E.
Shawalter, Paul M.
Shuttlesworth, Joseph G.
Simanette, Ralph
Simpson, James R.
Sleighter, Ruth Thomas
Smalstig, Edward J.
Smalstig, Alice Drennen
Smith, A. Crossley, Jr.
Snyder, Charles P.
Snyder, Ruth Weidemann
Staible, John A.
Sterling, Oscar R.
Straub, Dorothy Shawalter
Streitz, George A.
Thomas, Russell F.
Varner, Glenn H.
Wagner, Cyrus L.
Wagner, Mason S.
Wahl, Virginia Cowell
Walker, Winona Ballinger
Walker, Herbert L.
Wertheim, Madeline Waldherr
Wilson, Catherine Shortlidge
Wingate, Thomas H.
Winter, Charles R.
Wright, George A.

1932

Fund Manager

Henry G. P. Coates

Class Members	306
Contributors	58
% Contributing	19%
Alumni Fund	$ 794.00

Other Gifts	258.00
Total Gifts	$1,052.00

Abernethy, George L.
Barbarin, Marco P.
Bickel, M. Martha
Bing, Russell E.
Brastow, William C.
Carleton, P. W., Jr.
Coates, Henry G. P.
Cooper, Janet E.
Crathamel, Robert J.
Davis, David J.
Derrick, J. Raymond
Dice, Charles S.
Ellery, Hilda Garman
Engelhardt, August H.
Fetter, John S.
Fry, Harry G.
Fuller, Charlotte Lebo
Glazier, Nathaniel
Goad, Josephine Eisenhauer
Goughnour, Herbert L.
Gramley, G. Heil
Gring, David E., Jr.
Hall, Walter E.
Harris, Helen Kellag
Hengeveld, Irma Hargreaves
Hoffman, Lloyd S.
Hopper, Walter F., Jr.
Huyck, Esther Fry
Knights, Frances E.
Kohl, Virginia Kandle
Krug, David F.
Lantz, Ruth Taylor
Laudenslager, Barbara Smith
Leavitt, Shirley M.
Leibensperger, Bruce T.
Leiby, Mary Beck
Lagan, James P.
Mandel, Martin E.
March, Louis A.
Miller, J. Emery
Morgenstern, Eva Falsam
Mussina, Anna Weigold
Neisser, Philip B.
Roberts, Stephen W.
Rollins, Glen W.
Ruggles, Evadne M.
Sacks, Harry E.
Shipp, Marvin G.
Shorts, Mary Reese
Sleighter, W. Zelman
Spadafara, Emil V.
Stevenson, James B.
Twaddle, Ruth Christian
Walton, Mildred F.
Wood, William H.
Woolley, Samuel H.
Young, John L.
Zimmerman, Russel C.

1933

Fund Manager

Campbell Rutledge
Class Members	318
Contributors	92
% Contributing	29%
Alumni Fund	$1,249.00
Other Gifts	81.00
Total Gifts	$1,330.00

Adams, Charles B.
Baldwin, Mary E.
Ballard, Dorothy A.
Bellmeyer, Joseph S., III
Bellmeyer, Mary Grove
Bernstein, Samuel W.
Bly, Loren P.
Bogar, Janet Blair
Boscarella, Phillip
Bower, Franklin A.
Bowers, Paul A.
Brown, Fannie Woods
Brause, D. Clayton
Carlisle, Catherine Reese
Clark, Ellen Evans
Calavita, James J.
Cook, Franklin H.
Davis, James H.
Davis, Edith Poncaast
DeHaton, Mary Reeder
Demler, M. W.
Diehl, Lucile Meyer
DiPace, Joseph
Dougherty, Margaret B.
Dunmire, Gladys Steele
Engelhardt, Janet Worthington
Englerth, Fred L.
Fahringer, George F.
Fairchild, Francis F.
Fenstermacher, Albert H.
Fisher, C. Donald
Ficherty, Frederick D.
Frederick, Philip K.
Graybill, Ann M.
Granquist, Marjorie Hahn
Haas, Alfred B.
Hanson, Helen L.
Hartman, Henry K.
Jeffery, Margaret VanTuyt
Johnson, Leiser E.
Kaste, Viola M.
King, E. Ross
Koster, Rhoda Lee
Leach, Charles P.
Leshner, Mabel
Lewis, F. Kennard
Liming, William S.
Lobel, Ethel Hutchins
Loth, Bernard M.
Lutz, C. Martin
McGaldrick, John L.
Mechesney, Ethelyn Streamer

Miller, Muriel Marshall
Moser, Howard F. D.
Myers, Edna Cleckner
Offenkrantz, Frederick M.
Olson, Constance Barber
Palgrave, Doris G.
Pratt, Burt C.
Proctor, Donald B.
Rakestraw, Louise
Reh, Franklin
Richardson, John H., Jr.
Rider, Stanley O.
Rohland, Anna M.
Ruch, Judson E.
Russo, Louis J.
Rutledge, Campbell, Jr.
Sheasley, Carl W.
Shaurs, Margaret Ryder
Shawalter, Katherine Graham
Siede, Charles, Jr.
Spe, Amos C.
Smith, Virginia Humphreys
Smith, Edmund A.
Smith, William N.
Snyder, M. Wilson
Stapleton, Warren B.
Stiern, Samuel S.
Taylor, Gordon B.
Thomas, Thelma Swanson
Vanderhoof, Larna
Vandermark, Leland C.
Van Deventer, Louise Christian
Vinyard, Caroline C.
Wasserman, A. W.
Wells, C. Edmund
Wilkinson, Thomas H.
Williams, Robert F.
Yahn, William H.
Young, Donald B.
Zanello, D. Andrew

1934

Fund Manager

Frank E. Gerlitz, Jr.
Class Members	312
Contributors	81
% Contributing	26%
Alumni Fund	$ 960.00
Other Gifts	151.00
Total Gifts	$1,111.00

Barcus, Sanford L.
Bausch, Louise Baker
Benson, Mary Nell
Bernstein, Laura Goldstein
Blakeslee, Irvin, Jr.
Bager, William P.
Band, Lawrence R.
Breen, Harriet Kramer
Brickley, Kenneth S.
Brough, Harold
Burger, Charles A.
Bush, Jean Hill
Converse, James M.
Cranin, Virginia Dunkle
Danda, William A.
Dempsey, John B.
Ditchey, Ruth Leymeister
Dorman, Jack V.
Dunkle, Neil F.
Evans, Helen Showalter
Everitt, Joseph A.
Farina, Nicholas A.
Favino, James F.
Fendrich, Edgar L.
Fithian, Harry C.
Faust, Tilmor H.
Gangewere, Woodrow W.
Garver, Charles K.
Gelger, Walter C.
Gerlitz, F. E., Jr.
Graham, Paul
Greulich, Wilmer D.
Hallbauer, William
Harpster, Dorothy
Helsby, G. Phillip
Huus, Kathryn Fluck
Iredell, Arthur E.
Johnson, Edith Hasselberger
Johnson, Ellen Kaser
Kehrer, George T.
Kester, Dorothy G.
Koster, Wesley R.
Kathe, Charles A.
Liming, Ruth Rahr
Linetty, Joseph
Love, John O.
Miller, Elizabeth Beers
Mayer, Francis H.
Mussina, George A.
Myers, Edward C.
Newcomb, Mary VanKirk
Nikodem, Walter J.
Nikodem, Marie Peters
Oaks, E. Grace
Peters, J. Gordon
Peters, Ruth Rippel
Pinatti, Fred D.
Plankenhorn, William F.
Ragusan, Frank J.
Richards, Helen Green
Rausch, Charles S.
Roush, Emma Moore
Schrader, W. A. Benton
Schultz, Dorothy A.
Shepans, Elbert L.
Shields, Kelvin L.
Simpson, Helen Hoffner
Smith, Jane Foster
Smith, Charles D. J.
Saber, Margaret G.
Stricker, Robert S.
Strickler, Woodrow M.
Sweet, Robert H.

Vaughn, Delbert Corroll
Walker, Sherburne B.
Wayland, Vincent B.
Wenat, Nelson
Wittmer, Lois Kurtz
Yaughusband, John A.
Ziotkin, Isadore I.

1935

Fund Manager

Edwin H. Hartman
Class Members	280
Contributors	76
% Contributing	25%
Alumni Fund	$ 849.50
Other Gifts	153.00
Total Gifts	$1,002.50

Abbott, Jane Millikin
Appleton, Janet Workman
Beierschmitt, Gerald A.
Benson, Kathryn Stannert
Bergen, John L., Jr.
Berlin, William H.
Berlin, Elizabeth Smith
Bindrim, Doris E.
Boiston, George T.
Braucher, Samuel L.
Brown, Albert L., Jr.
Bruce, Robert W., Jr.
Cooley, Mary Sackwell
Delaney, Timothy J.
Demes, John C.
Dersham, Theron S.
Donovan, Gerard T.
Druckemiller, William H.
Everitt, J. Donald
Favino, Gladys Zarfos
Fenstermacher, Lorraine Fowell
Fittan, Alice Suttman
Francis, Forrest W.
Furiel, Ralph E.
Gallagher, John W.
Gardner, Robert A.
Garris, Theodore
Grove, Owen S.
Hargreaves, Mary Massey
Horman, Catherine Strine
Hartman, Edwin H.
Hughes, Gailard S.
Hunt, Raymond
Hunt, Margaret Nell
Jackson, Charles S.
Jenkins, Harry L., Jr.
Jenkins, Luella Pierce
Knights, Edward B.
Knights, L. Winnifred
Larson, Elaine Ifill
Lehman, Thomas E., III
Linton, Virginia Bennett
Loughery, Gardner L.
Loughery, Mary Hill
McGaughey, George L.
Maillardet, Laura Fuller
Maish, Marjorie Miller
Manchester, Elizabeth M.
Mathias, Jay
Miller, J. Melvin
Mills, George A.
Moody, Dorothy M.
More, Jean Hagenbuch
Mundy, Ella L.
Myers, Donald W.
Orlaski, James
Patterson, J. Claire
Perry, Charles F.
Peters, Elizabeth J.
Poorbaugh, Anna Fishel
Frimant, Daniel A.
Radgers, Esther Powell
Runkel, Mary Walker
Spencer, Harvey W.
Stokley, Wilmer C.
Strite, Janet Keefer
Titus, Helen Payran
Walesky, John W.
Wampler, Myrtle E.
Wells, Patricia Woodburne
Wightman, Harry F.
Wittmer, Edward F.
Wynn, Harry L.
Yaughusband, Margaret Helm
Yaungken, Heber W., Jr.
Zanarini, Gene

1936

Fund Manager

Class Members	301
Contributors	84
% Contributing	28%
Alumni Fund	$786.00
Other Gifts	92.00
Total Gifts	$878.00

Anderson, Walter F.
Anderson, Eleanor Lambardo
Bate, Marie Rockwell
Bowler, William R.
Bay, Russell R.
Brandon, Virginia R.
Brown, Charlotte Shupe
Bufania, Fred A.
Bull, Starling O.
Burgee, Lois Montgomery
Carr, Lila Welch
Carson, Albert C.
Clark, M. Howard
Clavell, Betty Sindle
Collins, Sara Andrews
Condict, Edward C.
Cooley, R. L.
Davis, John P., Jr.

DISTRIBUTION OF ALUMNI FUND GIFTS

	1957-1958	1956-1957
Over —$1,000.00	2	2
$750.00—$ 999.99	2
500.00— 749.99	1
200.00— 499.99	7	5
100.00— 199.99	49	48
75.00— 99.99	9	4
50.00— 74.99	87	70
30.00— 49.99	53	42
20.00— 29.99	434	394
15.00— 19.99	173	160
10.00— 14.99	1112	916
5.00— 9.99	1703	1389
0.00— 4.99	1252	1072

Davis, Gladys Geary
 Decker, John C., III
 Desmond, Genevieve Lawrence
 Dickerman, Fred A.
 Duck, Charles W.
 Dunn, James J.
 Engdahl, Richard B.
 Evans, Harold H.
 Furey, Jane A.
 Gilbert, Richard W.
 Griffith, Daniel F.
 Harriman, Dessa Holman
 Hartman, Robert
 Herrold, Kenneth F.
 Hausel, Robert V.
 Huus, Carl M., Jr.
 Johnson, George C.
 Jones, Robert T.
 Jury, Webster W.
 Katz, Joseph M.
 Keiser, Meredith S.
 Kottcamp, Charles F.
 Lewis, Dean E.
 Llewellyn, Harold J.
 Lord, Dorothy Reeves
 Lutz, Margaret Garrett
 McGee, Henry M.
 McKee, Edward E.
 Maynard, Marian
 Meikle, Robert L.
 Miller, Josephine Williams
 Miller, Philip C.
 Mair, William E.
 Moore, Frederick M.
 More, Raulston H., Jr.
 Newcomb, William
 Platt, Janet Soars
 Pluto, Irene Lewski
 Potter, Clyde W.
 Punshon, Thomas, Jr.
 Rauffenbart, Thomas W.
 Roymaley, Edwin R.
 Reisman, Edward A.
 Rich, Edna D.
 Rodgers, John S.
 Rohde, LeRoy
 Rokosz, Sophie T.
 Ruoff, Hubbard S.
 Rutkin, Myron D.
 Soupp, Chauncey P.
 Sedgwick, Cornelius E.
 Shackatana, Marc
 Shaub, Virginia Nylund
 Smeal, Dean E.
 Stannert, Roy H.
 Stanwood, Lillie Brown
 Thompson, Louise Windsor
 Thompson, Edwin A.
 Tursky, Rosemarie J.
 Verga, Armand F.
 Weaver, J. Fred
 Wells, Jean Earnest
 Wendt, June LeQuatte
 Winkler, Louis H., Jr.
 Winkler, Jane Brewer
 Zanarini, Mary Hanning

1937

Fund Manager

Charles O. Morris
 Class Members 300
 Contributors 74
 % Contributing 25%
 Alumni Fund $1,111.50
 Other Gifts 117.00
 Total Gifts $1,228.50

Amish, Marie Schaff
 Anthony, George W.
 Ballard, George T.
 Ballard, Jeannette Evans
 Barraclough, Martha Knights
 Beiswinger, William G.
 Bond, Joyce MacLeod
 Boyer, Elizabeth Reiff
 Brause, Mary Crobb
 Burns, Charles N.
 Butcask, Arthur F.
 Butcask, Richard A.
 Campbell, Ruth
 Clemons, William B.
 Condict, Clinton A.
 D'Adderio, Elia J.
 Deacon, Earle W.
 DeMuro, Samuel A.
 Eck, Helena
 Eck, Mable E.
 Elcome, William E.
 Elcome, Ruth Van Leuven
 Falcone, Elizabeth MacNamara
 Fazio, Salvatore J.
 Hebbard, Harry A., Jr.

PERCENTAGES OF PARTICIPATION—BY DECADE GROUPS

1930-1939

1931	29%
1933	29%
1936	28%
1934	26%
1935	25%
1937	25%
1938	25%
1939	25%

Henderson, Beverly Jones
 Herrold, Betty McMahon
 Herman, Leigh E.
 Ingalls, Frank G., Jr.
 Kanangiser, Sidney
 Karschner, Elizabeth Shimer
 Kerstetter, Elwood
 Lanni, Virgil
 Leavitt, Willard H.
 Logue, James Gibson, Jr.
 Love, May Jo Williams
 Marshall, George L.
 Marshall, Eloise Kinetob
 Mayack, Thomas J.
 Merridew, Reginald P.
 Mervine, Frances Miles
 Mielke, Hazel Jackson
 Miller, Robert G.
 Moll, George A.
 Manahan, Ray
 Morreall, Herbert W.
 Morris, Charles O.
 Morrow, Hugh
 Moss, Thayer D.
 Nesbit, Samuel M.
 Noll, Clyde M.
 Palmisano, Vincent S.
 Pedlow, Marian Pursley
 Reynolds, Allen N., Jr.
 Richards, Thomas B.
 Robertson, John H.
 Rohde, Edith Griesinger
 Rohlf, Albert F.
 Saricks, Ambrose, Jr.
 Schmuck, Marguerite Engelhart
 Sear, Rita Holbrook
 Semmer, Freas E.
 Sillman, Emmanuel I.
 Slick, Ruth Mae Ortt
 Taxis, Ellen Granemeyer
 Thompson, Catherine E.
 Troutman, Harvey D.
 Vasquez, Anthony F.
 Watson, P. Herbert
 Weightman, Joseph
 Wray, Elizabeth A.
 Young, Jack C.
 Zeliff, Alice O'Mara
 Ziegler, Mabel Nylund

In Memoriam

Worth, John F.

1938

Fund Manager

Robert E. Streeter
 Class Members 293
 Contributors 72
 % Contributing 25%
 Alumni Fund $675.00
 Other Gifts 45.00
 Total Gifts $720.00

Anderson, Jean Kirby
 Arney, Dorothy Holata
 Atkins, Sue R.
 Bathie, Alex G.
 Blakeslee, Ethelene Hellewell
 Blanche, Ernest Evred
 Bone, John H.
 Bowman, Herbert F.
 Bronner, Nellis B., Jr.
 Candy, Jack H.
 Caples, Julia Swan
 Clouser, Isabelle L.
 Dauberman, William H.
 Delafrange, Kenneth M.
 Delcamp, Ruth Noll
 Dempsey, Anne Culbertson
 Dennis, Chester A., Jr.
 DeWaele, Harriet Kaufman
 Druckmiller, Donald E.
 Duck, Thelma Slack
 Duerger, Virginia Russell
 Eisenbeis, Margaret Allen
 Falcone, Frank F.
 Farquhar, Mary I.
 Fox, Ira G.
 Graover, Robert W.
 Hart, Carol Davis
 Hillstrom, Jane Raymond
 Hinkle, Thomas L.
 James, Louise Mack
 Kamienski, Edward P.
 Kob, Leo B.
 Laubacher, C. C.
 Ledden, Lewis J.
 Ledden, Jennie Gray
 Leinroth, Alma Bloeker
 Lowery, Jay E.
 McKechnie, Elmer J.
 Martens, Edith Lipphardt
 Matson, Janet McKenna
 Mayack, Robert Lee
 Meminger, Howard T.
 Meminger, Dorothy Blix
 Metzger, Forrest E.
 Newman, Robert G.
 O'Brien, Lois Marie
 Olson, Clementine Hires
 Peebles, William R.
 Peel, Frances Wolfe
 Porter, George R.
 Quick, Joseph T.
 Quick, Mary Bachman
 Reider, Janet McMahon
 Robertson, William E., Jr.
 Rothermel, Daniel A.
 Sbedico, Joseph
 Shaver, Hilda Frying
 Streeter, Ruth Parker
 Streeter, Robert E.
 Summers, Robert L.
 Swick, J. Howard, II

Thomas, Stanley C.
 Tibonsky, Theodore B.
 Tomberg, Sidney
 Tuhy, Anna Hirka
 Whitten, Solly Reifsnnyder
 Wing, Kathryn Shultz
 Work, William S.
 Wyckoff, Richard H.
 Zlotkin, Louis C.
 Zold, Mary McKeage
 Zott, Frederick D.

1939

Fund Manager

William H. Roberts
 Class Members 394
 Contributors 100
 % Contributing 25%
 Alumni Fund $1,274.00
 Other Gifts 143.00
 Total Gifts $1,417.00

Bagenstose, David R.
 Barns, Jeanne D.
 Bechtel, Robert J.
 Bernstein, Abraham
 Blond, Jonathan F.
 Briggs, Virginia Corneliier
 Bruce, Everett A.
 Carson, Harry L.
 Caruthers, Margaret Reiff
 Cheponis, Albert J.
 Claus, Karl M.
 Cook, Glover H.
 Coren, Lewis
 Currier, Lawrence M.
 Davies, Ralph W.
 Dennis, Gertrude Skublicki
 Dunham, Charles V.
 Fairgraves, Robert J.
 Fithian, John W.
 Friedman, Leonard O.
 Frisoli, Harold
 Frith, James R.
 Fuglestad, Arne
 Gollnick, Mildred Stahler
 Gulden, Henrietta Hostetter
 Gundrum, John H.
 Guyer, J. Walter
 Guyer, Irene Harnish
 Hamburg, Allen E.
 Hechler, Robert F.
 Henderson, Charles N.
 Hess, Ruth Llewellyn
 Hinebaugh, Herbert C.
 James, William L.
 Janson, Grace Collett
 Kerner, Ray Meltzer
 Kohberger, Joseph W.
 Kurtz, Ruth Higgins
 Leighton, Lillie Deimler
 Leinbach, Thomas C.
 Leiser, John Y.
 Leshner, Herbert A.
 Lewis, Robert B.
 Linnin, Frederick J.
 McConnell, John D.
 McGown, Elizabeth Davies
 McGraw, Bruce
 McHugh, Donald P.
 McKay, Inez Crossett
 Maier, Florence Hahnbaum
 Maloney, Martin J.
 Monrodt, Kurt, Jr.
 Martelli, M. Joseph
 Mathias, Earl P.
 Mathics, Roy P.
 Midgley, Leana Fultz
 Miles, Hannah Mervine
 Miller, Marjorie Basted
 Mueller, Ernest C.
 Mutchler, Charles E.
 Nesbit, Carroll C.
 Noll, Frank H.
 Pearlman, Emanuel E.
 Peters, Henry N.
 Rabe, Edward F.
 Reese, Fred W.
 Reider, Richard K.
 Robbins, Donald H.
 Roberts, William H.
 Rohrs, Walter F.
 Sandler, Irving
 Scott, Howard I.
 Shaw, Larnie B.
 Shipman, Robert H.
 Shontz, Mildred Clouser
 Shupe, D. R. W.
 Sieber, Frederick C.
 Simmons, Lillian Maurer
 Smith, Robert E.
 Stevenson, Robert E.
 Stockett, Mildred Sharis
 Stolz, Louise Dickey
 Stroh, Felix F.
 Tomlinson, Edgar A., Jr.
 Warner, Kathryn Christopher
 Weaver, Clarence R.
 Weidemann, Walter, Jr.
 Weidner, Harold E.
 Weightman, Dorothy Millward
 Wein, Melvin A.
 Westby-Gibson, Herbert
 Widman, Eleanor Edwards
 Williams, Carolyn
 Williams, David Morgan
 Wood, Harry P.
 Worthington, Graver C.
 Wynn, D. Richard
 Wynn, Helen Specht
 Youngman, Florence A.

In Memoriam

Greene, John N.

1940

Fund Manager

Wayne Knouse
 Class Members 391
 Contributors 106
 % Contributing 27%
 Alumni Fund $1,003.00
 Other Gifts 191.00
 Total Gifts $1,194.00

Arbogast, F. Leon, Jr.
 Armstrong, Eliza Russell
 Auten, Clarence L., Jr.
 Bennett, Carl A.
 Borteo, Glenn K.
 Bower, A. Kermit
 Boyer, Charles D.
 Brumberger, Richard A.
 Bush, Ralph A.
 Christian, Helen Sanders
 Clarke, Janet Johnstone
 Conlon, Joseph P.
 Cubberley, Edna
 Decker, Marlin K.
 Drumm, Donald L.
 Duchine, James H.
 Dunham, Carol Martin
 Dunn, Jack L.
 Eister, Warren K.
 English, Lewis K.
 Eshelman, H. Glenn
 Eyer, Charles R.
 Farnsworth, Evelyn Brooks
 Finlay, Vera Milanick
 Fish, Douglas L.
 Fish, Mary Mayhew
 Fisher, Samuel S.
 Fleming, John
 Frame, Geraldine Murphy
 Fuglestad, Alma Dannmann
 Gearhart, Robert M.
 Gemberling, Ruth A.
 Gibson, William F., Jr.
 Green, Frederick S.
 Hamburg, Dorothy Gottschall
 Herzfelder, Robert K.
 Higgins, Warren
 Hubbard, Helen Balbirnie
 Ihmels, Richard H.
 Jaffe, Melvin
 Kandle, E. A.
 Kauffman, Carson W.
 Kinetob, Richard H.
 Knouse, Wayne
 Kach, Alfred P.
 Kohberger, Ruth Cox
 Kahl, Edith Baquist
 Kavski, John J.
 Laird, Martha A.
 Lemler, Stanley R.
 Link, Joseph A.
 Lombard, Calvin C.
 Lowe, Horace A.
 McAllister, Anne Burrows
 McLain, Robert D.
 McRae, Dorothy Oaks
 McDowell, Ruth Lepperd
 Mack, Elma Griscam
 Maguire, Robert F.
 Mailalier, Eleanor
 Manker, Raymond O.
 Marks, Franklin J.
 Miller, Mary McCrina
 Minium, Robert D.
 Monroe, Mary Wilkalis
 Moore, Alice C.
 Nixon, John C.
 Noll, Betty Boyd
 Nork, Vincent H.
 Paul, Jean Fisk
 Peters, Walter G.
 Price, Frederick S.
 Quinn, Edward J. Jr.
 Rader, Reuben W.
 Randolph, Jeannette Armstrong
 Readings, William D.
 Reid, Joseph A.
 Rhodes, Harwood J.
 Rice, John M.
 Rohrs, Helen Peachey
 Romweber, Margaret T.
 Rathrock, David R.
 Roush, Richard J.
 Schnure, Robert B.
 Schnure, Annabel Kreider
 Selinger, Doris Laas
 Shaner, Robert J.
 Slade, Arthur R., Jr.
 Snyder, Kenneth G.
 Stanton, Robert L.
 Sterner, George N.
 Stroh, Theresa Boguszewski
 Talbot, Betty L.
 Thomas, Kay Geissel
 Wagner, Gerald F.
 Walcott, Perilla Miller
 Waldner, Craig M.
 Walker, W. D.
 Ward, Donald C.
 Weemhoff, Ruth Trinkaus
 Wenner, Harry W.
 Wenner, Jeanne Ralfe
 Westby-Gibson, Dorothy Fenton
 Whitney, Joan Davidson
 Williams, Donald S.
 Wilt, Robert D.
 Worden, Doris O'Leary

1941

Fund Manager

Eloise Garber Graybill
 Class Members 350

Contributors 118
 % Contributing 34%
 Alumni Fund $809.00
 Other Gifts 36.50
 Total Gifts $845.50

Armor, Raymond H.
 Askey, William H.
 Auman, George E.
 Baker, Janet Cristadoro
 Baker, Warren J.
 Banting, John B.
 Bendell, Eleanor H.
 Bessel, Morris
 Biddle, Walter C.
 Blair, Walter A.
 Blaete, Wilbur R.
 Blum, Jean Sheinhouse
 Brown, Evelyn Day
 Burt, Alma Jacobs
 Buzas, Joseph J.
 Campbell, Ray M., Jr.
 Casey, James F.
 Clark, Paul W.
 Clark, Marie Hiras
 Colwell, Helen Meek
 Craig, James D.
 Cressman, Carolyn Minner
 Crouse, John P.
 Culp, David A.
 Cummings, Martin M.
 Dannenhauer, Kenneth S.
 Davis, Genevieve Brennon
 Dietz, Anthony G.
 Dietz, Grace Stone
 Diffenderfer, Lillian Bullock
 Dawdell, William F.
 Eisenberg, Myron D.
 Eisenberg, Elizabeth Lowther
 Francis, Sarah
 Frantz, Marian Martin
 Garman, Esther Selsom
 Geiss, Jack C.
 George, Lois Kiggins
 Glover, Donald W.
 Golden, Frederick
 Graham, Robert S.
 Graybill, Eloise Garber
 Green, Marion Reynolds
 Hanson, Joseph J.
 Hartzell, Emma Crossgrove
 Hartzell, Howard G.
 Hasselberger, Jean Steele
 Hauth, Rachel Carringer
 Hayes, Eugene D.
 Hind, James R.
 Haller, Clyde C.
 Huiley, William C., III
 Hunter, Miriam Leshner
 Hustler, John M.
 Jackson, H. Ross
 Johnson, William S.
 Kauffman, W. Richard
 Kerr, Robert M.
 Kershner, William R.
 Kersletter, Harold A.
 Koplik, Michael R.
 Koski, Joseph
 Kresge, William T.
 Lambert, Robert C.
 Langworthy, Betty Stover
 Laudenslager, John M.
 Lepke, John R.
 McQuillen, John I.
 Madison, Sarah Slaughenhoup
 Mansuy, Matthew M.
 Mathieson, Richard A.
 Meyer, Thomas O.
 Miller, Victor
 Minck, Peter, Jr.
 Minck, Lois Haywood
 Minnich, Betty Fleckenstine
 Mitchell, Leshner A.
 Mueller, Dorothy Minium
 Murdock, Dorothy Autman
 Nolan, Robert J.
 Nonemaker, Frank, Jr.
 Nutt, Richard W.
 Nutt, Dorothy Smailer
 Oliver, Martha
 Plewak, John J.
 Ranek, Lee S.
 Reading, Mary Hitchcock
 Reckord, Lyle Long
 Reed, Charles P.
 Reed, Martha Rice
 Roberts, Martha Patton
 Rogers, Virginia Engle
 Rosenberg, Allan J.
 Rothermel, Glen U.
 Royer, Robert D.
 Royer, Dorothy Hughes
 Scherer, Harvey
 Serrao, Frank R.
 Shelhamer, Carmel P.
 Shipman, John A.
 Simpson, Norman T., Jr.
 Steeth, Eleanor Lindell
 Smith, Margaret Farrell
 Smith, William K.
 Snyder, Dorothy Derr
 Solomon, Michael G.
 Stamer, Joseph M.
 Stebbins, Robert A.
 Stolz, Donald P.
 Stump, Florence Mcnbeck
 Teter, Robert H.
 Thomas, Robert E.
 Tuhy, Darina
 Watson, Alice Colbert
 Weyl, Helen Roberts
 Winters, Elizabeth Dyer
 Yocum, Lois Farley
 Zeller, John F., III

1942

Fund Manager

Arthur J. Denney

Class Members	369
Contributors	117
% Contributing	32%
Alumni Fund	$1,195.50
Other Gifts	107.00
Total Gifts	$1,302.50

Bacon, Albert N.
Bacon, Elva Ahrensfield
Bayless, Kenneth
Bishop, Dorothy Benham
Bond, Charles F.
Boswell, Doris Lutz
Britton, John E.
Brown, J. Kenneth
Brown, Joseph S.
Burt, Douglas W.
Bush, Marjorie Brumbaugh
Byrnes, William C.
Carson, F. William
Carson, Betty Thomas
Casden, Daniel D.
Clark, James O.
Cloke, Harvey W.
Cloke, Janet House
Craig, Eleanor Tully
Cummings, Arlene Avrutine
Davies, Gertrude Johns
Davis, Jane Calterjohn
Dietz, Germaine Pepperman
Denney, Arthur J.
Donehower, Robert W.
Drout, William M., Jr.
Durante, Lois Johnson
Ehringer, J. Leslie
Eisaman, H. Keith
Eister, Donald H.
Ernest, Russell G.
Felter, Clarence E.
Felter, Catherine Batten
Freyburger, Walter A.
Garro, Frank T.
Gilbert, Harry L.
Glass, C. Edwin, Jr.
Good, Robert
Granberry, Margaret Linberry
Gray, Richard M.
Griggs, David G.
Griggs, Nancy McCullough
Haefele, Earl C.
Handforth, Carl H.
Harris, Norma Schotland
Hasselberger, William F.
Haw, Mary Oesterle
Heaney, Herbert
Held, Eleanor Parry
Hieber, Maurine Hobbs
Hillenbrand, Mary Francis
Holler, Madeline Morgan
Holt, Gilbert P.
Hopkins, Don L.
Hough, Anne D.
Ingraham, James E.
Jones, J. Charles
Jones, Robert M.
Kehler, Ronald E.
Keiser, Elmer A.
Kerstein, Donald R.
Kingsbury, John M.
Knapp, Melvin
Koplik, Benjamin R.
Kordish, Emil
Kulp, Mary Heacock
Leeds, J. Stanley
Lewis, Warren R.
Longaker, Robert P.
McConnel, Clarence H.
McGuire, William
McNamee, Ruth Braden
McPherson, Murray B.
McPherson, Jeanne Meyer
Maguire, Ruth M.
Maneval, Leon H.
Marshall, Alice Zindel
Mazzarelli, Daniel A.
Milleman, Dwight S.
Miller, Audrey Leipsig
Mutchler, Helen Coughough
Neff, C. Martin
Noonan, Jeonne Rockwell
Notestine, Linabelle Nicely
Olley, James F.
Owen, J. Russell
Pettit, Harvey P.
Pisano, John M.
Puff, Robert C.
Pyle, Virginia Stroud
Raab, Martha Miller
Richardson, Danforth K.
Ronk, Willard L.
Roy, Phillip H.
Runkel, Howard W.
Schnure, F. O., Jr.
Seltzer, Charles J.
Seltzer, Ethel Jaegle
Shafer, Albert W.
Shaffer, Robert O.
Shall, Donald H.
Sleeth, Clovis S., Jr.
Smith, Bertha Gannon
Smith, Annabelle Shepler
Snyder, Robert A.
Strittmatter, Kenneth R.
Teter, Doris Green
Tracy, Richard H.
Vanderbilt, Walter S.
Waldner, Ann Randle
Wallace, Beryl A., Sr.
Weinberger, Marion B.
Whitehead, Robert C., Jr.
Whitney, Leslie W.

Whitten, Mary H.
Yost, John H.

1943

Fund Manager

William G. Thomas

Class Members	392
Contributors	115
% Contributing	29%
Alumni Fund	$1,180.50
Other Gifts	205.00
Total Gifts	$1,385.50

Acker, Isabelle Harris
Alexander, Alex L.
Anderson, William J.
Anthony, John A.
Armstrong, Theodore R.
Baserman, Kenneth J.
Bauers, Dorothy Wolfe
Bear, Stanley H.
Bergman, Charles S.
Bower, Millicent Wood
Brenner, Frances Reeder
Brink, J. Frank
Brownell, Gordon L.
Bunnell, Catherine M.
Byrnes, Eleanor Greene
Charney, Stephen M.
Cheney, Arlene Braun
Clemmer, Clara Walton
Conger, William B.
Connolly, Esther Simpson
Cook, M. Eugene
Damon, Paul
Diffenderfer, James W., Jr.
Dowdell, Paul J.
Faber, Richard F.
Fairclough, William A.
Fish, Donald E.
Fisher, Martha A.
Frankel, Volney B.
Gibson, George C.
Glover, June Jaggard
Godley, Paul F., Jr.
Griffin, Frederick J., Jr.
Griffith, Jane W.
Griffiths, William M.
Hain, George R.
Haines, George F., Jr.
Ham, Janice Powers
Hegeman, Clinton, Jr.
Hegeman, Marcia Herregesell
Held, Walter G.
Helt, James D.
Henderer, Nancy Burnham
Henneberger, Lois M.
Hillstrom, Claire A.
Hoffman, Jean Richards
Hoopes, Albert W., Jr.
Husted, Harold H.
Hustler, Jean Weber
Jarrett, Ivan R.
Jenkins, George N.
Johannesen, John D.
Johannesen, Mary Orso
Kayser, Marion Bonn
Kerstetter, Jean Memmert
Ketner, Betty Keim
Koenig, Mary Waltersdorf
Krout, Robert R.
Lonerger, Laura McDowell
Looper, Robert R.
Luce, Arlene Downs
McCabe, Virginia
Maneval, Corman Kyle
Manrad, Virginia Mitchell
Marshall, Stanley C.
Mathieson, Patricia Salmon
Matthews, Dorothy Grounds
Mavrogordato, Ralph S.
Meek, Robert E.
Meyer, Marion Phillips
Moore, Carl L.
Moore, James R.
Morris, Kathleen Marshall
Nicely, Eleanor E.
Passage, Douglas W.
Peck, Maribeth Bond
Pettit, Mary Beidler
Podd, Chester V.
Puff, Isabel Clark
Pugliese, William M.
Rehkamp, George J., Jr.
Reiss, Ruth Chamberlin
Reyer, John F.
Richardson, Marjorie Hopwood
Robinson, William L.
Robins, Alexander
Rodgers, Charles J.
Rogers, William J., III
Rollins, William S.
Rowland, Alice Leutner
Roy, Treva Poling
Saylor, Beatrice Lepley
Anonymous
Sheridan, M. L.
Shaffer, Marilyn Eppley
Shipman, Eleanor Goodrich
Shall, Janet Bold
Sieber, Louise Pawling
Simmonds, Harriet Lynn
Slep, Ruth Stone
Stevens, Rosalind M.
Strunk, William M.
Thomas, Jeanne Haynes
Ullman, Eunice Eaton
Vanderbilt, Dorian Smith
Wagner, Jay W.
Warren, Isabelle Kent
Wean, Jeanne Lever
Weaver, John M.
Wickham, Earl P., Jr.
Wilkinson, Marion Weist

PERCENTAGES OF PARTICIPATION—BY DECADE GROUPS

1940-1949

1941	34%
1942	32%
1948	30%
1949	29%
1943	29%

Williams, Stanley G.
Wolfe, Findley P.
Young, Raymond H.
Zoerb, Sallie

1944

Fund Manager

Raymond K. Irwin

Class Members	333
Contributors	83
% Contributing	25%
Alumni Fund	$755.00
Other Gifts	32.00
Total Gifts	$787.00

Adamson, N. Arthur
Adamson, Irene Bardwell
Ascough, Harriet Ballentine
Baker, Robert F.
Baker, Helen Rhinesmith
Bernstein, Seymour
Bond, Amy Stevenson
Breg, Margaret Meston
Brownell, Catherine Wittenberg
Burns, Frank D.
Caverly, Myron R.
Clark, George F.
Ferriss, John A., Jr.
Fink, Wilburda Murphy
Franklin, Mary Evans
Freund, Katherine P.
Gatski, Robert L.
Grabowski, Elsa Larsen
Harris, Barbara Morrow
Harris, Sybil Kealey
Heaney, Helen Ahrensfield
Hewson, Jeanne Watts
Hieber, Robert D.
Hoffman, Edward K.
Huse, Jack T.
Husted, Barbara Russell
Irwin, Raymond K.
Jacobs, Robert M.
Jones, Marquerite Strouse
Joralemon, Mary Foley
Kantarian, Haig
Keegan, Robert C.
Kistler, Warren A.
Kuhl, Florence Fitzcharles
Kuster, Catherine
Lacko, Nonette Geschwindt
Lambert, Grace Horowitz
Leach, Janet B.
Lemmerman, Charles
Levitt, Eugene
Light, Richard M.
McCrow, Elizabeth Boush
McGowan, Edward J., Jr.
McQuillen, Leo V.
McVeigh, Phyllis Adams
MacPherson, Ronald H.
MacPherson, Ruth Cooper
Mausteller, J. Wilson
Mendes, Frank E., III
Mendes, Ruth Smith
Mensky, Peter M.
Moore, Ruth Nulton
Muncaster, Frances Olsen
Murphy, Otilie Fredericks
Owens, June M.
Pascale, Elmo
Pierce, Patricia Reynolds
Posner, Robert P.
Prindle, Judson
Psoty, Leon A.
Puff, Henry B.
Ranck, Ralph O.
Reed, Henry M.
Revis, Kathleen
Royer, Helen E.
Salzer, Helen Ludwig
Schnure, William H.
Schultz, Mary R.
Smith, Frances Rice
Snyder, Fay Adams
Sprague, Leono Ervine
Stein, Minor J.
Straub, Arthur L., Jr.
Strittmatter, Mary Lewis
Swank, Warren A.
Szot, Walter S.
Tusty, Doris Bullwinkel
Verbeyst, Dora Seyforth
Waide, Phyllis T.
Ward, Robert B.
Whitehead, Carol Sproul
Winters, Chester T.
Wood, June Chapman

% Contributing

Alumni Fund	$529.00
Other Gifts	32.00
Total Gifts	$561.00

Alweis, Barbara Markoe
Ashman, Doris Sievering
Bacon, Phoebe Follmer
Bartow, Lewis B.
Bassett, Lauretta Hulsizer
Bond, William E. G.
Boston, Lois Depuy
Boughter, C. Walton
Braun, Mildred V.
Bregman, Irvin
Brown, Ivon F.
Brumbach, Harry F.
Buntington, Catherine M.
Caverly, Janet Southgate
Check, Kenneth G.
Darlington, Mildred G.
Davison, Thomas, III
Denny, Ruth Hansen
Dent, Constance P.
Derr, Emily
deToledo, Marjory Chapin
Diehl, Jerome F.
Doll, Sheilavay Spangler
Drexler, Martha Nickerson
Drout, F. G.
Eichberg, Bettie L.
Eliason, Lorna Jones
Everett, Ruth
Fish, Elizabeth Baldwin
Goodenow, Willis G.
Hammer, Marcia Beatty
Jones, William B.
Keyser, Gertrude Jackson
Lawrie, Marian Murachanian
Malcom, Arthur H.
Maneval, James C.
Mellen, Clara Oatley
Meyn, Betty Whipple
Moore, Nancy Woehling
Pemberton, Ruth Burnett
Podd, Louise Stead
Quillen, H. Hayward
Reckmeyer, William J.
Rehkamp, Charles J.
Richards, June Bunnell
Reichard, John H.
Rodriguez, Katherine Biermeier
Rohrbach, Hazel Weber
Roop, Daniel M.
Ross, Phoebe Goldsmith
Scanlan, Elizabeth Doughty
Schnure, Elise Miller
Schnure, Anne Kloss
Schwalm, Carolyn Dunkelberger
Score, Ruthanne Studebaker
Shapiro, Vera Messing
Shall, Nancy Ireland
Sirianhi, Mary Lou Jenkins
Smith, Bernice Waage
Smith, Eva Muller
Snyder, Robert L.
Sober, Martha E.
Sprague, Robert
Stambaugh, Fred G.
Stein, Martha Shipman
Tain, Margery Tyson
Vitroy, G. Alain
Vitray, Jane Gallien
Wagner, Charles L.
Wagner, Rachel Arbogast
Webster, William B.
Wesley, Joan Dunham
Wilson, M. Louise
Young, Elsie Wilson

1946

Fund Manager

Fitz R. Walling

Class Members	379
Contributors	90
% Contributing	24%
Alumni Fund	$797.50
Other Gifts	8.00
Total Gifts	$805.50

Allen, Nancy Kline
Anderson, Fred H.
Ashman, Alfred O.
Baer, Margaret Gurnee
Baird, Norma White
Baker, Marguerite Boker
Bastress, Robert M.
Belliveau, Raymond E.
Bennett, Edward D.
Bennett, Lewellyn Crothers
Berger, Seymour P.
Bjornbar, Helen Knapp
Bond, Marjorie Hudson
Brady, Rosemary Bennett
Caldwell, Doris Lyngas
Carrough, Emily Kelly
Cieslicki, Dorothy Huffman
Clark, Merle A.
Dainoff, Olymp
Davidson, Ellen L.
Davis, Dorothy Hutton
Donahoe, Helenclaire Barnett
Edwards, Dorothy A.
Eisenhouer, Robert D.
Ewing, Elizabeth Wells
Finkelstein, Sanford
Fischer, Janice Ubil
Fortmann, Ruth Merriam
Franks, June Evans
Friedman, Jacklyn Novikoff
Glaser, Philip L.
Gold, William D.
Goslow, Joan Ruhlley

Grosvenor, Theodore E.
Haddon, Harry H.
Haidor, Chicralla
Horshborger, Jeanne Phillips
Hazzeltine, Louise S.
Hidlay, Harold H.
Jackson, Alta Schroder
Jeramaj, Peggy Thompson
Kennedy, James W., Jr.
Kerchner, William J., Jr.
Kidder, Dorothy King
Knudson, Anne Howland
Kresge, Donald M.
Kresge, Marion Greenawalt
Krzyszwick, Faith VanSise
Lawida, Josephine Avia
Leggett, Charlotte Crothers
Lenchuk, Helen Meseroll
Levy, Joyce P.
McChesney, Eleanor Golightly
Machamer, Andrew W.
Mayer, Mariel Day
Moore, Sally McFall
Moore, Dorothy Dillenback
Morton, Ruth Irland
Myers, Beverly Graham
Palmetier, Jane Rockwell
Pangburn, Edward W., Jr.
Rave, William R.
Rehkamp, Lillian Stover
Reifsnnyder, Betty Wynn
Roop, Dorothy Danenhower
Roselle, J. T.
Roselle, Edwina Halligan
Rosser, Sora Berkeiser
Schellhardt, Leroy F.
Scheutz, Jean Crisman
Score, Robert E.
Scripturas, Catherine McGeever
Shall, Calvin K.
Smith, Wendell I.
Smith, Doris Miller
Staley, Rita Clemens
Thompson, Edward E., Jr.
Trautman, Jeanne Boden
Voelker, Ruth Fischler
Waldner, J. Dudley
Waldner, Jean Newson
Walling, Fitz R.
Weiman, Ruth Kram
West, Mary Marley
Whitfield, Gordon E.
Whittaker, Glen H.
Whehe, Virginia A.
Wilkinson, William M.
Woomer, John C.
Zimmerman, Elwood C.

1947

Fund Manager

June Scott Matthews

Class Members	531
Contributors	151
% Contributing	28%
Alumni Fund	$1,172.50
Other Gifts	56.00
Total Gifts	$1,228.50

Adomson, Carolyn Hand
Aulbach, John M.
Austin, Robert D., Jr.
Ayres, Wilma Stohberg
Bodger, Ellen R.
Balling, Robert C.
Bancel, Marjorie Geils
Barber, Joseph W.
Barnett, Shelton W.
Bee, Marion L.
Billings, Elizabeth Quinn
Black, Leonard
Bloom, Herman
Bohs, Helen Klauder
Bolger, Clara Corell
Brady, James E.
Brogan, Charles C., Jr.
Brown, James L.
Bullock, Ruth Richardson
Campbell, Alice Schoonmaker
Craumer, William E.
Custer, Charlotte Schultz
D'Amore, V. L.
D'Amore, Jean Crofoot
Davis, William C.
DeBar, John R.
Denholtz, Jack W.
Dill, Mary Hess
Dueger, L. Edward
Eckert, John E.
Edmunds, Robert E.
Edmunds, Margaret Matthews
Ellis, Arthur R., Jr.
Erieg, Mathias F.
Fischer, Shiela Obstfeld
Fortwald, Raymond E.
Fortmann, William B.
Frake, Marie Johnson
France, Elizabeth Cargill
Friedman, Jack
Friedman, Matthew E.
Fullerton, Bushnell
Fullerton, Lois Miller
Gadins, Michael C.
Garde, Marjorie Hall
Garten, Thomas L.
Gawain, Gary C. V.
Gifford, Dorothy Kohl
Goldman, Tamara Gurtvich
Graham, Lloyd R.
Gronau, Grace Deissler
Haas, Francis B., Jr.
Hale, Barbara Messer
Ham, James G., Jr.
Harris, Clifford C.
Harris, Floyd L.

1945

Fund Manager

William E. G. Bond

Class Members	301
Contributors	74

leold, Jean Truslow terpst, Rolland C. terrmann, Jean Runkle torn, Louise C. tosterman, Worren W.
 unt, Dorothy M. ba, Jean Steele
 rving, Sally Ann lackson, Howard W. affe, Renee Kraus ohnson, Carl E. ones, Mary Pangburn azary, Albert
 azary, Anna Gold
 eech, Catherine Lepsch inkade, T. H., Jr. knudson, Harry kullman, Harold M. landew, Melvin lanfear, Alfred J. lenchuk, Paul
 laneragon, Howard J.
 Long, Esther Baumgartner
 Magagno, Albert M.
 Martin, Anthony J.
 Matthews, Eugene J.
 Matthews, June Stott
 Megargel, Robert W.
 Meltzer, Jerome B.
 Meyn, F. W.
 Mischinski, Matthew M.
 Mologne, Stuart J.
 Moore, Richard L.
 Morton, Philip K.
 Morton, Robert W.
 Murdock, Porter
 Murphy, Gratia Henry
 Murphy, Robert S.
 Northrup, Robert M.
 Oberdorf, Jay A.
 Ohlitz, Clarence S.
 Ohl, Donald G.
 Painter, Mildred Valentine
 Perkins, Mory Park
 Powell, Harry H., Jr.
 Pursley, Homer O.
 Pursley, Donna McNeal
 Rathe, Faith Lief
 Redfield, Sylvio Slife
 Reynolds, Ford A.
 Roberts, W. Nelson
 Roberts, Jeane Margenthal
 Rodgers, Nancy Anchor
 Rombo, Marvin
 Rosenberry, W. Ward
 Rosenthal, Meryl Eisenberg
 Rowland, N. Dean, Jr.
 Roy, Claire Lusignan
 Rudolph, Girard W.
 Sanford, Ann Alston
 Sanger, Sanford H.
 Saterlee, Britton W.
 Scholin, Dorothy Watkinson
 Scheible, Audrey Bruce
 Schlichter, Walter B.
 Scott, Mory Gregg
 Sharp, Elvin B.
 Show, Maurice R., Jr.
 Show, Anne Glomb
 Smith, Edgar K.
 Smith, Elizabeth Erb
 Smith, Julia Yarnall
 Spence, Jean McKernan
 Stadden, Richard C.
 Starr, Sidney
 Starzyk, Jocelyn LeMassena
 Steamer, Robert J.
 Sykes, Robert F.
 Syme, Jesse W.
 Tait, William E.
 Tyler, June Frantz
 Updegrove, Ruby Hunsberger
 Veit, Rita Ingulli
 VonHeill, A. William
 Wargo, Michael M.
 Wargo, Clarissa Bush
 Warren, Kenneth
 Wentz, William L.
 Wilson, Dorothy G.
 Woehling, Mory Wolfinger
 Woods, Elmer B., Jr.
 Yornelle, Arthur
 Yornelle, Dolores Yacos
 Yocum, Josephine Ghormley
 Zochara, Francis M.

1948

Fund Manager
 Robert H. Taylor
Class Members 668
Contributors 203
% Contributing 30%
Alumni Fund $1,352.30
Other Gifts 83.00
Total Gifts $1,435.30

Alessio, Louis F.
 Allard, E. Jaon
 Anderson, Glodys Kurtz
 Andrews, Ernest F.
 Antunes, Phyllis Bartlett
 Ash, Richard H.
 Austin, Robert K.
 Ayer, Dorothy Barber
 Baker, David M.
 Balakian, Arox Aroosian
 Barnes, Herbert
 Baum, John E.
 Baumbach, Mory Grove
 Beale, Helen Beringer
 Bell, Edwin Lewis, II
 Bell, Frances Reichard
 Benfer, Neil A.
 Bennett, Clyde E., Jr.

Berg, Helen M.
 Berkowitz, Harold J.
 Bernhart, Kitty Woyas
 Blue, John W.
 Bobb, William T.
 Bagen, John, Jr.
 Bonney, Thomas
 Bower, Walter J., Jr.
 Bowler, David L.
 Bowman, Roger H.
 Braaks, Edwin A.
 Brown, Jo Ann Golightly
 Brown, Leslie M.
 Brown, Richard S.
 Brown, Virginia Simmons
 Bruen, Margaret Zieschang
 Bryner, Lois C.
 Bullock, George C.
 Byrad, Phyllis Bub
 Carey, Barbara Wilken
 Carlson, Robert D.
 Carroll, Francis R.
 Cindrich, Anthony
 Cindrich, Virginia Malhiot
 Clifford, Charles F.
 Collins, Virginia Lewis
 Conover, William
 Cox, Gloria Binkley
 Cowdrick, Gloria Burkhardt
 Coyne, Stuart L.
 Craumer, Robert C.
 Dale, John L.
 Davis, Florence Kreitter
 Davison, William R.
 Day, Charles S., III
 Derr, Jane Willer
 Dill, E. Lamont, Jr.
 Dodd, Samuel M., Jr.
 Dudaick, Frances Wentzel
 Earnest, Thomas R.
 Eckhart, Patricia Priest
 Eisenhower, Eleanor Moore
 Elze, Warren E.
 Elze, Nora Giavelli
 Exstein, Louis H.
 Farley, Elizabeth Billhime
 Fennell, Edward G.
 Freas, Arthur K.
 Freemann, John E., Jr.
 Fritz, Charles
 Furman, Louise Korrokar
 Galbreath, John W.
 Garvey, Virginia Epizio
 Gold, Virginia Lehr
 Golub, Maurice P.
 Graham, Gertrude Vogel
 Gross, Eleanor Sipler
 Guempel, Robert G.
 Haigh, Robert W.
 Haigh, Jane Sheble
 Hansen, William H., Jr.
 Hensen, Dorothy Clark
 Hardie, Josephine LaBarr
 Harrison, Dorothy
 Harrison, Margaret Rowe
 Hayden, William F.
 Henderson, Peter J.
 Herrmann, Paul E.
 Hillhouse, Barbara
 Holladay, Ann Minnich
 Holman, Robert C.
 Holter, Joello Mothiasen
 Horwitz, Dorothy Gotterer
 Houghton, James A.
 Huber, Helen Gilmour
 Kaltreider, Walter H.
 Kaltriter, Oren S.
 Kommer, Edwin P.
 Kelly, Helen Painter
 Kenney, John T.
 Kerrigan, Edward L.
 King, Norman R.
 Kramer, Daniel D.
 Krzywicki, Anthony A.
 Lank, Edward K.
 Lazell, Adair Appleton
 Liebergall, Millicent Gruner
 List, Robert
 List, Bette Hoile
 Loeper, Barbara Sibley
 Lofft, Charles W.
 Long, Lewis
 Lowrie, Richard W.
 Lumley, Peggy Snyder
 Lumley, Walter S., Jr.
 McChesney, William H.
 McDonnell, Robert W.
 McFeely, Franklin S.
 McKernan, Robert S.
 McKernan, Betty Moore
 Mackey, Betty Waddington
 Mahler, Ellen Zahn
 Mahloch, Dorothy Merritt
 Martin, Mildred Horrimon
 Marx, Frank G.
 Mayfield, Jane Farr
 Mensch, Milton
 Messenger, Arthur
 Metzler, Mory Fenimore
 Miller, George J.
 Miller, Gordon H.
 Miller, James J.
 Minnicks, Mory Speirs
 Mizuki, Sachie
 Moran, Virginia
 Morrow, Kathleen McCouley
 Muller, Glodys Sauer
 Norwood, Gilbert F.
 Painter, Robert S.
 Peters, Beatrice Smith
 Platt, Rolande Morris
 Rove, Miriam Evans
 Reed, Robert V.
 Reichley, Jeanne Grice
 Reitz, Mark H.
 Reynolds, Robert B.

Rice, Andrew C.
 Rigg, Thomas, Jr.
 Robinson, William C.
 Sauer, William J.
 Schaffer, Anita Coleman
 Scheible, William J.
 Schmidt, Albert E.
 Schmidt, Edith Plumb
 Seager, Elizabeth
 Seesholtz, Dorothy J.
 Sentz, Robert C.
 Sharkley, Frank H.
 Sieger, Jane Koch
 Simon, Ernest G.
 Simon, Gloria H.
 Sinclair, Marjorie Walter
 Skjelbreia, Lora
 Skove, Helen Busing
 Smythe, Kenneth K.
 Sonnichsen, Thomas H., Jr.
 Spielman, J. Edgar, Jr.
 Sprague, Walter A.
 Sprout, John W.
 Stickney, Charles F.
 Sundry, Robert M.
 Swartz, Jean V.
 Sword, Brian M.
 Tabery, Dorothy Dakasegawa
 Taylor, Robert H.
 Thomas, Jean Frey
 Thomas, Patricia Cooke
 Thomason, William B.
 Tiffany, Elizabeth Diegel
 Turner, Clair W.
 Tyler, Raymond L.
 Unger, William H.
 Unger, Virginia Stauffer
 Uskuroit, Robert H.
 Von Nort, Theodore C.
 Veit, Wilbert G.
 Wagner, Roy H.
 Wagner, Mildred Sheesley
 Walters, Quentin R.
 Warden, John B., Jr.
 Watts, Harold S.
 Watts, Lucille Leonard
 Way, Guy J.
 Wentz, Robert E.
 Wesneski, Kenneth V.
 Williams, Albert
 Williams, Frances Brown
 Winogradski, Joseph
 Wohlhieter, Marion
 Wong, Chien-Chai Loo
 Zochara, Janet Mollett
 Zerbe, Stanley A.
 Zigler, Albert M.
 Zigler, Audrey Husk
 Zingg, James D.

1949

Fund Manager
 Richard D. Atherley
Class Members 853
Contributors 244
% Contributing 29%
Alumni Fund $1,604.13
Other Gifts 137.00
Total Gifts $1,741.13

Abbott, Robinson S.
 Abbott, Virginia Corkran
 Abraham, Judson A.
 Acker, Stanley R.
 Acker, Barbara Bechtel
 Adamson, Richard W.
 Arter, Malcolm E.
 Atherley, Richard D.
 Ax, Darothea Kayhart
 Ayer, Harry E.
 Ayres, Egbert L.
 Bachmon, William H.
 Bouz, Victor F.
 Barratt, Alfred
 Bartelt, Curtis F.
 Bartelt, Genevieve Fowle
 Beals, William C.
 Bebb, William H.
 Becher, Lester C.
 Becher, Jean Zeising
 Beiseigel, Howard A.
 Beiseigel, Shirley Shumberger
 Bernhart, John H.
 Berninger, Bowdoin H.
 Birchord, Harry
 Bishop, William K.
 Boden, Evan H.
 Bohs, Louis, Jr.
 Bortner, James A.
 Boswell, Wallace D.
 Bradshaw, William A., Jr.
 Brenner, Samuel S., Jr.
 Broome, Melvin P.
 Brown, Albert Robert
 Brown, Denton T.
 Bundens, Elizabeth Smith

Byrad, Richard B.
 Campbell, Frank H.
 Carlson, Claire Wynkoop
 Carmichael, Cedric
 Carodiskey, Thomas G.
 Carr, Thomas J.
 Carr, Marie Goldsborough
 Chronister, William M.
 Clark, Lynn M.
 Clement, Madeleine Wolferz
 Clugh, Raymond W.
 Cohen, Sidney A.
 Colvin, Marie McNinch
 Comer, Robert M.
 Conley, Max B.
 Connelly, Dorothy Yawner
 Connor, June Stewart
 Cowdrick, Robert M.
 Craumer, Natalie Donn
 Crow, Clarence N.
 Davenport, William S., Jr.
 Daviduk, Nicholas
 Davies, M. Lloyd
 Davis, William B.
 Day, Elizabeth Smith
 Denenberg, Victor H.
 Derr, Carolyn Melick
 Dershem, Donald E.
 Drexler, Joseph S.
 Dudeck, Carl R.
 Eckhart, Walter E.
 Edwards, Frederic H.
 English, Richard
 Ernst, William O.
 Ernst, Janice Heiderich
 Fagon, Horry M.
 Fagan, Shirley Schweiker
 Fischer, Alvin M.
 Fichett, Hannelore Petschow
 Franks, Norman A.
 Frazier, Marilyn Harer
 Fregly, Melvin J.
 Fried, Gabriel
 Furman, Lloyd W., Jr.
 Fusio, Tom L.
 Garrison, Jack M.
 Gasser, Rolland K., II
 Gerber, George V.
 Gerlach, Richard F., Jr.
 Gindele, Herbert H.
 Gobrecht, Monroe S.
 Goldreich, Vivian Jaffee
 Goodgold, Sally Gottfried
 Graybill, Irvin, Jr.
 Grass, Clifford A.
 Hall, Barbara
 Hambleton, J. Robert
 Hanna, Nancy Rose
 Hordie, George W., Jr.
 Hartung, Mary Christian
 Haug, Richard A.
 Hoy, W. Dole
 Hays, Richard M.
 Heckman, Raymond S.
 Heinoman, Marilyn West
 Henderson, Ruth Strauss
 Henderson, Deborah Partridge
 Henneberger, Amy L.
 Herb, Melvin R.
 Hermon, Sherman A.
 Herpst, Elma Zeigler
 Hiznoy, Joseph M.
 Hoffnogle, George M.
 Hogentogler, Richard G.
 Holland, Catherine
 Hollander, Emily Staren
 Hollydoy, Robert D.
 Holman, Harvey I.
 Holmes, William S.
 Hood, Margaret E.
 Hughes, Robert A.
 Hummel, Dorothy Krouse
 Hunter, Robert D.
 Iba, Mark L.
 Jaffe, Lawrence
 Jenkins, Weston H.
 Johnson, Guy, Jr.
 Johnson, Donna Spencer
 Jones, John Wesley
 Jones, Lloyd
 Jones, Leah Riggs
 Kates, Howard, Jr.
 Keech, Finley M.
 Kennedy, Charles H.
 Kessler, Kenneth C.
 Ketner, Warren L.
 Klinek, Walter G.
 Kline, Leonard
 Knouse, Jack B.
 Krock, Arthur
 Kronisch, Myron W.
 Kuzmak, George J.
 Lancaster, Ann Wilson
 Leiby, George S.
 Lind, Ada Acker
 Lipman, Robert G.
 Locher, Odette Hutchison
 Long, Morris A.
 Lowry, Robert S.
 Lubinski, Joseph H.
 McDonald, Robert W.
 McDonald, Evelyn Durfee
 McKeeby, Donald H.
 McKim, Robert V.
 Moloney, Kenneth F.
 Martin, Roger E.
 Megargel, Nancy King
 Miller, Robert L.
 Miller, Alice Bogdanoff
 Moore, Thomas G.
 Moorhead, Judith Agnew
 Morone, Philip
 Morris, Helen Spences
 Muller, Max H.
 Neale, Jack
 Neuville, Jane Foster

Nilson, W. G.
 Noble, G. Ralph
 Nothel, John F., Jr.
 Orndorf, James F.
 Overbogh, William W.
 Oxenrider, Kenneth I.
 Pavelka, Dolores Vineksy
 Perry, Betsy Albert
 Peters, Harold
 Pflum, Mary Ross
 Phelleps, Ralph J.
 Phelleps, Rosemary Zimmerman
 Powell, Frank, J.
 Pratt, Robert T.
 Purnell, Barbara Jones
 Reitz, Carl O.
 Reynolds, James F.
 Riggins, Loren S.
 Ripley, Mary Harrison
 Roberts, Ralph C.
 Robertson, Alan J.
 Rovinski, Robert S.
 Rummel, William H., Jr.
 Sokeniller, Isabelle Horn
 Salmon, Vernon H.
 Schey, Robert B.
 Schimmel, Robert F.
 Schuppe, Curtis
 Seeley, Leah Fletcher
 Semlear, Thelmo Monaco
 Shannon, William J.
 Sharrett, Emily Hill
 Shaw, Nancy Barker
 Sherk, Mary Ann
 Shoenfeld, Richard D.
 Shoenfeld, Francine Ringler
 Shorin, Edward E.
 Shunk, Clayton H., Jr.
 Sinclair, George H., Jr.
 Skove, Thomas M.
 Slack, Frederick W., Jr.
 Smith, Albert G.
 Smith, Christine F.
 Smull, Christine E.
 Snyder, Lehman J.
 Speck, Ralph W.
 Springer, Richard
 Sprout, Robert C.
 Stahl, Charles I.
 Stec, Arlene Nemeth
 Steiner, Elaine Bennett
 Stickney, Dorothy Turnbach
 Stumpf, Richard S.
 Sukloff, Donald M.
 Swartz, John H.
 Thomas, Doris Wilde
 Thompson, Joan Groulx
 Thompson, Mary Ettenger
 Treblcox, George J., Jr.
 Van den Broek, Jane Corcoran
 Vaso, Frank A.
 Vollenweider, John A.
 Vollenweider, Grace Livengood
 Wagner, Henry C.
 Walgron, Robert E.
 Walgron, Martha Chance
 Ward, Donald L., Jr.
 Watkinson, William T., Jr.
 Watts, Thomas B.
 Weaver, William A.
 Webb, William H.
 Weidenhomer, John M.
 Weidenbochter, Alice Richter
 Wheeler, Juliet Mason
 Whitlock, Harriet Arnold
 Wington, Barbara Horner
 Wildfoerster, Ernest
 Wildfoerster, Alma Fagot
 Wolf, Franklin E., Jr.
 Worley, Jane L.
 Yarnall, Dorothy Judd
 Yarosh, Frank
 Zeiders, Charles V.
 Zenel, Joseph A.

1950

Fund Manager
 V. J. McDonald Concklin
Class Members 771
Contributors 206
% Contributing 27%
Alumni Fund $1,373.82
Other Gifts 99.00
Total Gifts $1,472.82

Adams, Williams J.
 Akerhielm, George J.
 Akerhielm, Jeanne Spong
 Anderson, Eugene R.
 Barrett, Drew A.
 Belt, Howard J.
 Berla, Arthur W.
 Bolig, J. William
 Borden, Arthur R.
 Bowen, Frederick
 Brewer, Dean M.
 Brown, Forrest D., Jr.
 Bucher, Robert G.
 Bucher, William M.
 Buchman, Charlotte Jones
 Burmeister, Roy
 Campbell, Jacqueline Cruse
 Campbell, Verdine E.
 Caracciolo, Vincent P.
 Carey, W. O.
 Cavanaugh, H. Spencer
 Cavanaugh, Gerald J.
 Christie, Robert H.
 Churchill, Leslie O.
 Clark, Clifford W.
 Clark, Robert R.
 Clement, Walton, Jr.
 Clugston, John R.

PERCENTAGES OF PARTICIPATION—BY DECADE GROUPS

1950-1957
1950	27%
1954	25%
1952	24%
1953	24%
1957	24%

WE'VE REACHED THE $1,300,000 PLATEAU— LET'S TRY FOR $5,000,000

Your gifts to the Bucknell Alumni Annual-Giving Fund alone this past year equal the return on more than a $1,300,000 of invested endowment (figured at 4% return). If every alumnus and former student makes just the average gift, the 1958-59 Fund will equal the return on more than $5,000,000 of invested endowment. And if every present giver contributed a dollar per year for each year since college days—Oh, Boy—we'd startle the college world. By such increasing support of the Bucknell Alumni Annual-Giving Fund, alumni and former students can make our Eleventh Fund Year (1958-59), a most substantial "living endowment."

Coleman, Richard F.
Collins, John S.
Collins, Robert C.
Collins, William T.
Concklin, Charles
Concklin, V. Jean McDonald
Connelly, William H.
Conrad, Robert E.
Culp, William H.
Culver, Harry E.
Danforth, Richard W.
Davenport, James E.
Davidson, Donald L.
Dehls, Allan W.
Derr, Dale A.
Derr, Ralph B.
Dahmann, John J.
Dohrmann, Bernard
Drake, Milan
Draut, Audrey Coryell
Edelman, George E.
Edwards, Donald W.
Edwards, J. Kenneth Fairclough, James T.
Fawcett, David B., Jr.
Faulds, Daris Roberts
Freed, Richard L.
Freund, Clare
Fratero, Peter A.
Frutiger, Theodore K.
Frye, Henry
Fryling, Edgar C.
Galbraith, Matthew W., Jr.
Galloway, Bettyanne
Gack, Wilhelm Karl Geise, George, Jr.
Geisler, George C.
Geisler, Patricia Hiatt
Gelli, Dennis J.
Gloisten, Helen E.
Godley, William P.
Goodman, Sara Kriner
Grimm, David A.
Haag, Naomi Hons
Hagenbuch, Julia C.
Hammesfahr, Ernest J.
Harris, Michael
Henderson, W. Floyd
Hepler, Ellen Caber
Herman, Charles B.
Hertz, Robert G.
Heyman, Robert M.
Hinkle, Charles, Jr.
Halter, Donald C.
Hulst, Douglas H.
Ireland, John W.
Kierce, Robert R.
Kierce, Joan Anderson
Killian, William J.
Klenck, Wayne
Koch, John C., Jr.
Kahler, Mildred M.
Krapp, Guy L.
Kray, Gustave
Kuhns, Harvey H., Jr.
Lacy, F. Prentice
Lagergren, Alan E.
Lecce, Robert A.
Levy, Herbert Norman
Linaberry, Jack R.
Lindauer, Samuel L.
Linetty, John M.
Little, George R.
Lotto, Paul A.
Lotto, Elizabeth Bryant
Lowe, Ralph E.
McCarthy, Patricia Ann
McCloskey, Lee E.
McFeely, Lois Harvey
McIver, Walter G.
McQuilken, Joseph, Jr.
Mannheim, Frances K.
Mark, Seymour
Markey, Joseph F.
Martin, Raymond S., Jr.
Marx, Jean Soars
Mathieson, Drew
Meckley, Alfred L.
Meyer, Victor F.
Middleton, James H.
Miller, G. A.
Morgan, Elliot R., Jr.
Morrow, Christopher M.
Mosher, Lester W.
Moyer, Hobart H.
Naugle, Vernon I.
Newcomb, Boyd L., Jr.
Nicholas, James J.
Nickel, Sara Angle
Nalle, Glenna Godley
Nartan, George F., Jr.
Oberdorf, Ralph W.
Oliphant, Susan Davis

Pangburn, James P.
Peoples, John W.
Pfeifer, Walter C.
Pflum, William F., Jr.
Pollack, Ben R.
Purnell, John S., Jr.
Rahner, Charles W., Jr.
Reigle, Peggy Anderson
Rickard, John G.
Ripa, Frank
Roberts, J. Donald
Roberts, Catherine Richardson
Robinson, John L.
Roll, Nicholas
Romano, Elizabeth Vernson
Romesberg, Floyd E.
Rosenberg, Norman J.
Rosenberry, Bernice Vittum
Roser, James L. D.
Ruhl, William R.
Russo, Anthony J.
Rutter, Donald W.
Sandin, John E.
Seaman, George
Shaver, Eugene L.
Sheffer, Wayne H.
Shatt, John H., III
Sieber, John R.
Sieger, Earl W.
Slifer, Anna R.
Smith, Howard J., Jr.
Smith, J. Randle
Smith, Richard E.
Smith, R. Emory, Jr.
Smith, William M.
Sonnichsen, Gertrude Hagg
Souders, D. Paul
Sprout, Carol Van Alen
Stahl, Merle C.
Stahl, Roland E.
Stanton, George W.
Startzell, Harry I.
Stauffer, Nancy Bartholomew
Stec, Edward J.
Stiger, Roy W.
Stumbough, James E.
Summer, Elizabeth Koch
Swengel, John C.
Swing, Suzanne Smith
Thomas, Donald E.
Tastanowski, Bernard M.
Totten, Harold J.
Traut, David M., Jr.
Traut, Leanne Freos
van Raden, Cynthia Robb
Villfarth, Richard
Waddell, James P.
Waddell, Robert N., Jr.
Wagner, William C.
Walsh, Charles E., III
Watters, Helen C.
Webber, William R.
Weidenbacher, Peter
Wendle, J. Gale, Jr.
Werner, Albert A.
White, Jean M.
White, William R.
Wian, Donald H.
Williams, Charles W.
Walensky, William
Walf, Eileen Erman
Wurtzel, Roger
Yarnall, Edwin F., Jr.
In Memoriam
Williams, James S.

1951

Fund Manager
Raymond W. Tallau

Class Members	754
Contributors	168
% Contributing	22%
Alumni Fund	$1,222.00
Other Gifts	38.00
Total Gifts	$1,260.00

Altseimer, Joanne Farnsworth
Bacon, Lawrence J.
Bauman, Walter W.
Benjamin, Robert D.
Bergman, Dorothy Winterstella
Betty, Donald H.
Blick, Edwin J.
Boyd, Sylvia Harbaugh
Brewer, Donald A.
Briggs, Diane Stott
Brawn, Donald S.
Brown, Elizabeth Hatch
Brown, Edward H.
Buchner, Claire Harth

Burnham, Jean Bentz
Butler, Allen G.
Clark, Anne Schweiker
Clarke, George W., Jr.
Close, Helen Beelin
Conner, Franklin L.
Cragle, Deibert J.
Cushing, John D.
Dannels, James W.
Dannels, Shirley Lindauer
Davenport, William C.
Dawson, Robert R.
Denenberg, Ruth Orner
DeWire, Donald E.
DiGuseppi, James L.
Daughlass, John A.
Dreizen, Paul
Dunlap, James H.
Egee, Leonard P.
Farina, Alfred J.
Fehr, James R.
Fish, Barbara Bower
Fleischer, Margery Davidson
Ford, Henry E., Jr.
Frederick, Franklin S.
Fryer, Robert S.
Gerber, Mary Banta
Gile, Patricia McElvany
Giles, George E.
Gingerich, W. W.
Goding, Arthur T., Jr.
Hall, Craig M.
Hall, Walter J., Jr.
Hanna, Lee E.
Harris, Ruth Block
Harrison, Wayne S.
Hay, Norma Hunsinger
Heinaman, Howard B.
Henderson, John A.
Henderson, Barbara Kaiser
Hile, Howard B.
Hoffman, Margery Hood
Holmes, James F.
Houser, Betty Roe
Houskeeper, Robert M.
Hungerford, Virginia Rude
Hunter, Maurette Boynton
Hyatt, Clinton B., Jr.
Imparo, Janice Lissenden
Johnson, Richard D.
Kates, Betty Busch
Kissman, Elise Cohn
Anonymous
Kreischer, Jerald B.
Krivak, Michael T.
Lacke, Mary Riley
Lady, Nancy Haney
Lange, Gloria Jayne
Larue, Richard W.
Larue, Barbara Planz
Lavin, George J.
LeCates, Robert M.
LeCates, Rachel Reinoehl
Lewis, Thomas R.
Linn, Robert A.
Lyon, Earl C., Jr.
Lyon, Emilie Riley
McAvoy, Clyde R.
McBride, Lorraine Yaufman
McCloskey, Lena Garro
Maebay, John
Manning, Alan S.
Martin, William M.
Marvin, Richard W.
Masters, Gordon E.
Melville, Marian Headley
Merritt, Mary Campbell
Metzger, John J.
Middleton, Dorothy Taylor
Miller, Charles E.
Miller, Dorothy Grumbling
Miller, Harold W.
Miller, Luther F., Jr.
Miller, Susan Reinoehl
Miller, Stephen M.
Miller, Thomas
Miller, William D., Jr.
Morrison, Richard M., Jr.
Mueller, David A.
Narel, Margaret Gerber
Nissen, Harry C.
Nixon, Ann Cooper
Norris, Rebecca Rogers
Orben, Charles M., Jr.
Packs, Nicholas J.
Parsons, Donald S.
Parsons, Patricia Wiley
Pechulis, Arnold
Polak, Emil J.
Prigge, John S., Jr.
Ranck, Dale E., Jr.
Raup, Ann E.
Reigle, Richard S.
Reitz, William S., Jr.

Rickard, Marjorie Lowler
Riddell, Thomas F.
Robinson, June Simon
Rockwell, Robert J.
Radan, M. June
Ragers, C. Graydon
Rogers, Mary Edwards
Rose, Robert R.
Ryan, Richard A.
Sophier, Jay
Schaffner, William C.
Schaumburg, John A.
Scott, Bruce M.
Shaw, Raymond E.
Shaw, Barbara Lewis
Sheridan, Melvin J.
Shirk, Andrew J.
Shultz, James R.
Simon, Herman
Sloat, Arthur E.
Smith, Willard W.
Snyder, Joseph H., Jr.
Snyder, Marion Bucher
Soellner, Richard W.
Stabler, Andrew W.
Stevenson, Janet Miller
Stevenson, William C.
Stack, Dorr W., Jr.
Strang, Rosalie Liria
Swanger, Bruce L.
Swanson, John P.
Swift, Robert F.
Swing, Richard E.
Tallau, Raymond W.
Tatnall, Nancy E.
Torsch, Robert E.
Troast, Arthur
Uhl, Herbert J.
Unger, Ronald L.
Valk, Barbara Welch
Vislacky, John
Waibel, William J.
Watkins, Robert Allen
Wexler, Evelyn Grossman
Williams, John L.
Williams, Milton F.
Woods, Janet
York, Donald T.
Young, John D.
Zearfoss, Herbert
Zwieselle, Fred, Jr.

1952

Fund Manager
Mary Tompkins Manning

Class Members	740
Contributors	178
% Contributing	24%
Alumni Fund	$1,129.00
Other Gifts	276.00
Total Gifts	$1,405.00

Abrams, Jean Rodinis
Akerhielm, David A.
Akerhielm, Betsy Conklin
Aspinwall, Glen S.
Barker, George M.
Barton, William Howard
Beardsley, Joan McNutt
Bell, Patricia Thompson
Bennett, Robert R.
Birnbom, Robert J.
Bloom, Lawrence S.
Boland, Robert J.
Bosted, Elizabeth Richter
Bradley, Alfred V.
Bretz, Barbara Tredennick
Buck, Ann Steele
Burkholder, Marilyn Naugle
Butcofsky, Donald L.
Butler, Linwood C.
Cappel, Dahn E.
Carman, Robert H.
Carman, Lucille Swetland
Chambers, James A., Jr.
Childrey, J. J.
Childs, Elinor L.
Cloud, Fred E.
Coleman, Spencer L.
Coleman, Jane Kahler
Cooper, Paul P.
Cravotto, Janet Herrald
Daily, William O.
Davenport, Barbara Wall
Deakyn, Donald C.
Deakyn, Beverly Newcum
Deardorff, Peggy L. deGroot, Robert
DeWitt, Marjory R.
Dulmage, Donald B.
Erdle, Carolyn Knies
Eshelman, Richard G.
Eveland, Baisel L.
Fort, Harriet M.
Friday, Gilbert A., Jr.
Frye, Donald S.
Garrett, Margaret
Gideon, John E.
Gingerich, Edythe Ferns
Gaulding, Marshall S.
Grosswirth, Herbert A.
Haberstroh, Richard C.
Hartline, Florence S.
Hastings, James P., Jr.
Heininger, Karl A., Jr.
Hendrixson, William C.
Hoffman, Benjamin
Hoffman, Philip G.
Hole, James E.
Hubley, Reginald A.
Hubley, Nancy Schreiner
Huis, Louis, Jr.
Hurt, James H., IV
Irwin, Robert D.

Ivey, Curtis
Jepsen, Robert O., Jr.
Johnson, Grant E.
Johnson, John Van Wirt
Jones, Robert G.
Jones, Margaret Aulenbach
Kazarian, Kirk K.
Keen, George M., III
Keiser, Harold D., Jr.
Keller, Nancy Louise
Kistler, Marcia Griest
Kittredge, Jean Hedin
Klose, George L.
Kober, Virginia Clements
Kwasnoi, Martin W.
Kwasnoi, Elizabeth Holter
Law, Keith D.
Law, Mary Mayhew
LePard, James S.
Linaberry, Beverly Weiter
McComsey, G. Edward
McMahon, Richard D.
MacKinnon, Carolyn Hansen
Manning, Donald W.
Manning, Mary Tompkins
Mason, Joseph S.
Mead, Earle M.
Meckler, Nina Tanenbaum
Mellinger, James E.
Mellinger, Sydney Sherwin
Meyer, Joan Morris
Miller, Harry S., Jr.
Milligan, John D.
Minchin, Gerald R.
Minchin, Patricia Reimensnyder
Minnigan, Richard Donald
Mirza, Josephine Hildreth
Morgan, Jacqueline Thompson
Morrison, John G.
Murphy, Bertram S.
Mungrave, William, Jr.
Nelson, Jacqueline Wightman
Ogan, Mylon J.
Orben, Jean Montgomery
Ortlieb, Joseph W.
Palmore, Mary Hine
Parkinson, Marianne Colville
Parent, Joan Merrill
Pearce, Ernest O.
Pederson, Phyllis Bell
Peters, Jack L.
Pinner, Elizabeth L.
Polnick, George, Jr.
Porter, Marilyn Fetterolf
Price, Eugene B.
Pugh, Charlotte Reed
Pulford, Samuel R.
Putman, Mary Adams
Remson, Eldred W.
Renkin, Barbara Zaun
Rickart, John C.
Rickenberg, Carl
Riffel, Margaret Berninger
Riley, James E.
Rishe, Donald N.
Robeson, John, Jr.
Robeson, Patricia McAllister
Rogers, Charles S.
Roith, Roger W.
Rothermel, Jean M.
Rott, Jack R.
Ryan, Gary E.
St. John, August G.
Sophier, Barbara Bernstein
Scarr, Jean Lowry
Schaumburg, Anne Buswell
Scheer, Donald F.
Schloo, Herbert A., Jr.
Schrist, Claude J.
Seibert, Drew F.
Sincclair, R. Malcolm
Skavish, Martin G., Jr.
Sloat, Barbara Parcell
Slonaker, Robert E., Jr.
Smith, Jeanne M.
Smith, Roxane Roll
Snyder, Harry C.
Stahl, Jane S.
Stanton, Sally Baumgardner
Stevenson, Wayne M.
Strouse, Joseph E.
Swanson, Mary Brokaw
Tallin, Patricia Dudley
Test, Clayton R.
Thomas, Rosina Davis
Tilton, Paul S.
Torsch, Carol Smith
Totten, Alice Windeknecht
Towner, Kenneth W.
Tress, Jack E.
Trautman, Edward C.
Trautman, Elizabeth Auten
Tschop, Samuel
Tschop, Elizabeth Denning
Walsh, Arlene Blank
Webber, John S.
Weiser, Carl S.
Welsh, Eleanor J.
Williams, James R.
Williams, Marilyn Hanna
Wilson, Foster, Jr.
Wilson, Henry S., Jr.
Walf, J. Fred, Jr.
Wood, Patricia Hine
Woodside, Daniel
Yockanicz, Nicholas J.
Young, Donald K.

1953

Fund Managers
Frank S. Boguszewski, Jr.
Joan MacBain Stettler

Class Members	694
Contributors	165

% Contributing	24%
Alumni Fund	$793.32
Other Gifts	48.00
Total Gifts	$841.32

Abbe, Colman
Ackman, Charles W.
Ahlfeld, Leonard H.
Appleton, George E.
Axelrod, Edward H.
Bailey, John L.
Bayless, Theodore
Beardsley, Joan
Becker, Bette MacDonald
Bell, Barbara B.
Bell, Katherine A.
Bernstein, Howard
Boguszewski, Frank S.
Bosted, N. Paul
Boston, Robert
Boughter, James R.
Bowen, Gregory L.
Bowen, Jane Banker
Bowers, Martin L.
Bretz, Earle
Brown, Willene Edwards
Brown, H. Zone
Byerly, Carol L.
Caldwell, William A.
Caldwell, Helen Harrison
Candelari, Albert
Carpenter, Claire Slafer
Corse, Alice Fetzter
Cotlin, William
Chambers, Barbara Roemer
Christion, Robert W.
Churchill, Alciane Haas
Clark, Helen E.
Cloud, Jeanne White
Cole, Donald
Cook, Ellwood A.
Cook, Robert
Cooper, Charles E.
Dovis, Edward H.
Dean, Dorothy Courson
Deor, Paul D.
Dederer, Robert R.
Dederer, Nancy Field
Detwiler, Abram C.
Diomandis, Peter G.
Diomandis, Joan Lafferandre
Dilworth, Mary Ann Fairchild
Diller, Wayne W.
Durner, Harry C.
Englehart, Beatrice M.
Faucett, John
Fawcett, Janet McKain
Fox, Frederick, III
Frazier, Barbara George
Freytag, Norman
Geck, Virginia Werlein
Gregg, James R.
Greiner, Richard W.
Grosse, Nancy Clayton
Haberstroh, Lois Gleason
Holline, E. G.
Honsman, Sarah Elder
Hennel, Nancy Boyer
Hendrixson, Suzanne Joas
Hepner, George D.
Herman, Richard M.
Herwig, Shirley Kistler
Hill, Donald W.
Hill, Elizabeth Quick
Houser, Sara Groybill
Howell, James F.
Hunneke, Anneliese Traummuller
Hunt, Fred R.
Husted, Robert R.
Husted, Patricia Foulkes
Jackson, John P.
Johnson, Berda Stout
Johnson, William K.
Kontro, Albert S.
Kashotus, William C.
Kearney, Arthur G.
Kennedy, Jay Peterson
Killough, Christine Hill
Klemm, Richard
Knieriemi, Betsy Brown
Knouse, Donald R.
Kutz, Frank H.
Landis, Richard W.
Landis, Betty Paul
Larrobe, Ramona Rogers
Laskowski, Theodore
LePard, Vivian Abronski
Leopold, A. Reid
Lippincott, Stanley L.
Lower, George H.
Lucas, David M.
McConnell, Walter L.
McConnell, Isobel Beers
McDonald, Ann Urban
McFadden, John V.
McMahon, Nancy Schmehl
Mankin, Walter
Markson, Richard
Middleton, Homer T., Jr.
Miller, Earl O.
Miller, Ned A.
Miller, Susan R.
Mitchell, Joanne
Mufson, Maurice A.
Narris, Russell E.
Ostendarp, Shirley Reidinger
Parent, Joan Catherine
Pease, Claire Vogelsson
Phillips, Charles E.
Potts, Doris
Powelson, Abram, Jr.
Powelson, Gertrude Knutzen
Primus, Constance Merrill
Ramage, Thomas H.
Reed, Thomas R.
Reitz, Barbara Maurer

Remmey, Poul B.
Ridgway, Joanne Smedley
Riegel, Donald R.
Ritter, Margaret O'Brien
Robbins, Patricia Forlifer
Rohrbach, Karl G.
Roth, Mollie Brown
Scheffe, Louis K.
Sharadin, James
Shaw, Richard K.
Seibert, Edward J.
Seibert, Audrey Howard
Shelley, Penn
Simpson, Barbara
Simpson, Susan
Soule, Doris McCraddan
Spencer, Sally
Stark, Theodore E.
Steiner, Harriet Hertz
Stettler, Joan MacBain
Storch, John L.
Storch, Joanne Cottle
Story, David O.
Story, Margaret Coin
Suber, Michael J.
Swanger, Jean
Swope, Charles E.
Thorn, James E.
Tamin, Nancy Hamlin
Towner, Nancy Deibert
Troast, John G.
VanBuskirk, Max
VanBuskirk, Mary Webber
Van Every, Nancy
Van Osten, Stephen J.
Waldron, John B.
Walker, John R.
Whitney, James D.
Whitney, Nancy Carter
Why, Herbert
Wilson, Anne Wieboldt
Woodward, Melvin L.
Yelenonk, Michael Zmiewski, Henry J.

1954

Fund Manager	Joan Herrmann Richmond
Class Members	676
Contributors	168
% Contributing	25%
Alumni Fund	$790.50
Other Gifts	51.00
Total Gifts	$841.50

Ahlfeld, Mary Esmy
Amesbury, Norine N.
Asher, Sara Anderson
Aspinwall, Gladys Mackie
Bailey, Sally Dietrich
Barnwell, Elaine Seltmann
Barton, Dorothy Waigh
Baxley, Mary Lou Herrmann
Bayless, Janet Nides
Bean, Mory M.
Bell, Eugene
Bell, Robert A.
Bennett, Margaret Klugh
Bolter, Eugene P.
Broley, Barbara Lamb
Brown, Barbara Boyle
Bruno, Spencer
Burnham, Douglass L.
Burns, Donald W.
Cadwellader, Tom
Cadwallader, Eva Huel
Caimi, Nina Remmy
Calbeck, Dorothy Newton
Cardillo, Charles R.
Carhart, E. Marter
Carhart, Dorothy Mesemer
Carson, Benjamin R.
Carson, Morcia Ball
Castelbaum, Martin
Childrey, Frances Derby
Christopher, Drusilla
Ciolina, Peter
Coleman, Audrey Knoephe
Comstock, Joan
Contostavlos, Alex R.
Cook, Nancy Green
Cartese, Anthony
Caulomb, Charles A.
Caulomb, Barbara Smith
Cox, William E.
Crossley, Ray D.
Davis, William L.
Debbi, Harold
DiOrio, Dorothy M.
Donall, Robert L.
Donall, Eleanor Gilliams
Dyer, John E.
Elsmán, Thomas R.
Evans, Jill Kriebel
Ferguson, James R.
Fetterman, Aero M.
Fuhrman, John F.
Galloway, G. G.
Gardner, Marilyn
Gehring, Douglas G.
Geiger, Louann Cupp
Gilmore, Nellie Manning
Glass, Dorothy Ryan
Goodman, Ronald B.
Graf, Franklyn R.
Grambow, Walter F.
Gurevich, Carl
Hall, Carole Itjen
Hamilton, Joan E.
Harrison, Arthur D.
Hegelein, Alan R.
Heininger, Janyce Cole
Hemecker, Ralph C.
Henry, George J.

Hershberger, Harold D.
Hole, Martho Bailey
Holton, George A.
Hoorbeck, Frank D.
Jensen, Michael R.
Johnson, S. W.
Johnson, Barbara Mercelis
Kalaydjian, Edward
Kemper, Frances C.
King, William C.
King, Virginia Harrison
Kinzie, Elizabeth
Kinzie, Louise
Klemm, June Christ
Knodel, Patricia Pratt
Koenig, Lora Doody
Kurtz, John A.
LaBar, Bruce A.
Ladenheim, Rebecca E.
Lapof, Roy C.
Lashbrook, John M.
Lashbrook, Connie Corey
Leinbach, Paul W.
Levy, Eugene L.
Linck, John L.
Lock, Joseph H.
McNamee, Francis R.
MacCubbin, Malcolm D.
Martin, Nancie Keenan
Mathios, C. Frederick
Miller, Clarence E.
Molloy, Eleanor Bonam
Monaco, Dean D.
Munter, Theodore
Muto, Beverly Geake
Myers, Shirley A.
Mynett, Geoffrey P.
Neville, Barbara Davenport
Newman, Paul R.
Olesky, Leonard D.
Olson, Joan Rafaj
Ortlieb, Maralyn Murphy
Owen, Arch A., III
Paes, Charles M.
Pangburn, James
Pangburn, Janet Geller
Parent, Chester
Pearce, Marjorie Manzert
Peck, Pearl Hamilton
Pegno, Angelo J.
Pegno, Audrey Davis
Peyser, Robert F.
Pfischner, Henry E.
Pfischner, Carol Mason
Pincus, Robert
Pond, Fred H.
Post, Robert M.
Preuss, Marjorie Rees
Reimensnyder, Margaret Hines
Remmey, Louise Austin
Richmond, Joan Herrmann
Robbins, C. M.
Roberts, Robert L.
Schierloh, Ann Appleton
Schmidt, Roy A.
Schofield, Josephine Anthony
Schrimmer, Robert S.
Scott, Victor F.
Scott, Diane Slifer
Seibert, Eleanor Mendelson
Short, Margaret Irland
Shuster, James D.
Simon, Patti Ponon
Simon, Arthur L.
Small, Arlene
Smith, Harold E., II
Smith, Janet Sandford
Smith, Russel T., Jr.
Stark, Patricia McColl
Stauffer, Kenneth H.
Stott, Kenneth A.
Swortz, William E.
Tarr, Anne Tuckerman
Thorn, Ellen Lieberherr
Tool, William R.
Tuttle, Austin
Vallrath, Mary
Walker, Margie Loveland
Wendler, Ann Sheffer
Whittaker, Constance Miller
Williams, Edward H.
Wilson, Richard L.
Wilson, Mary Rhodes
Wire, Kenneth E.
Woodward, Theodore R.
Zales, Jerome J.
Zavitz, Nancy Read
Zearfoss, Thelma McCarthy

In Memoriam
Mawhinney, Harvey N., Jr.

1955

Fund Manager	Richard M. Richter
Class Members	624
Contributors	135
% Contributing	22%
Alumni Fund	$654.50
Other Gifts	21.00
Total Gifts	$675.50

Amsler, Fred R.
Austern, Ruth Greenberg
Bandler, Lionel C.
Bannister, Judith H.
Bartholomew, Derben W.
Boardslee, Keith
Bergen, Catherine Peter
Bertolet, Joan Christman
Bowman, Parke P.
Brouse, Kenneth S.
Bruno, Elise Mueller
Butler, Betty Elliott

Catlin, Marjorie Lewis
Christian, Eileen Smith
Connelly, Ann B.
Couragen, William P.
Daddow, Nancy
Davidson, Otto C.
Davis, Laura R.
DePaul, Frank P., Jr.
Dillon, Harold P., II
Dixon, M. Barbara
Dulmage, Fae Neovling
Eastty, John R.
Elsmán, Joanne Steinbright
English, Joseph G.
Evans, Barbara Bauer
Faber, Sandra Ness
Falck, Norman O.
Farrell, Henry C.
Ferris, Richard G.
Fischer, Nancy E.
Fisher, Patricia Tinney
Fleming, Janet L.
Fleming, Susan C.
Faurgis, George C.
Frankhouse, Marlin B.
Frederick, John H., Jr.
Galloway, Carol Mitchell
Gates, Nancy Jane Green
Geiling, James W.
Gernon, Kingsley S.
Goldsmith, Stephen A.
Golightly, William D.
Golightly, Jean Carnegie
Gredel, William H.
Grein, Mary
Hoell, John R.
Hall, Carolyn L.
Hall, Susanne L.
Hammalian, John B.
Harrison, Suzanne Hopson
Hartman, Marjorie E.
Hertzler, James L.
Higley, Beverly Gray
Hobart, Janice M.
Hume, Bobbie Burns
Hutchinson, Barbara Moore
Jensen, Gairda Messersmith
Jepsen, Linnea Lindbergh
Kaiser, Emily S.
Kennedy, Walter K.
King, Calvin T., Jr.
Kitchen, Winifred Miller
Klahre, Franklyn H.
Klahre, Nancy Barnes
Klauder, George
Knox, Betsy Bice
Koelsch, William A.
Kraber, Betty J.
Kramer, Marlene Carnow
Kranitz, Lionel
LeCates, Byron H.
LeCates, Margaret Wallace
Leinbach, Alice Grove
Leister, Nancy Nichols
Linkins, Richard L.
McKee, J. V.
McLean, Claire Marshall
Mangione, Susan Cadly
Marcuccio, Phyllis
Minker, Marion J., Jr.
Mizma, Edward J.
Murnane, Margaret A.
Nelson, Beverly J.
Olsen, Joan Boeckl
Ostermayer, Chester V.
Porter, Cynthia Doremus
Price, Charles B.
Purdum, John J.
Pursley, C. Albert
Reed, Shirley Simington
Reynolds, G. Proctor
Richter, Richard
Rosenbloom, Arthur H.
Rensenthal, Robert
Ruggieri, Eloine
Sanborn, Emilie Sherman
Savidge, Benjamin
Savidge, Carolyn Dietrich
Scheinwald, Robert
Schrimmer, Jean Weaver
Shank, Gail Rothenberger
Shott, Barbara Renninger
Shuster, Elizabeth Hermann
Sigler, Diana Johnson
Smink, Blanche Swope
Smith, Donald R.
Smith, Lucille I.
Spencer, W. Ernst
Steinmetz, C. Dale, Jr.
Steinmetz, Sally Marsh
Stille, Martha Jones
Sullivan, Julio
Swartz, Virginia Nill
Sylvanus, Evelyn Tozier
Teabo, George W.
Thomas, Melvin K.
Titus, Harry E.
Titus, Marian Kennedy
Tucker, Keith E.
Unangst, John J.
VanDuzer, Margery Cuff
Vesta, Elizabeth Lerch
Walbridge, Mary W.
Waldron, Anne Kite
Walshart, Richard L.
Williams, John W.
Williams, Jacqueline Ledden
Williams, Mary R.
Wills, Barbara J.
Wilson, Ruth Morris
Winston, Marvin I.
Wright, June N.
Wuerthner, George

1956

Fund Manager	Edward A. Burg, Jr.
Class Members	700
Contributors	157
% Contributing	22%
Alumni Fund	$648.50
Other Gifts	27.00
Total Gifts	$675.50

Adams, Mary Louise
Amsler, Nancy Newcum
Bailey, Alan S.
Bartholomew, Shirley Laffin
Baughman, Annette Littlefield
Beetle, Eleanor
Belber, Henry L.
Berringer, Robert T.
Bimmerman, Nancy L.
Binns, Martha Buck
Bishop, H. Leslie
Bowers, Nancy B.
Bowen, Dale T.
Bowen, Barbara Naxon
Briddell, Ann V.
Bryfogle, Carolyn G.
Burg, Edward A., Jr.
Burns, Ann Waldron
Cargille, Charles M.
Cassel, Grace Earnest
Chapel, Carolyn Brown
Chiriac, Americo C.
Clark, Dixon V.
Cohen, Jay H.
Damman, George H.
Damman, Kathleen DeRosa
Danowsky, Harold M.
Davies, Robert M.
Davison, Lois Anne
Denenberg, Byron
Dill, Joanne Foster
Diller, Sheila Miller
Dittmor, Bruce I.
Doane, Evelyn Steelman
Driver, Robert W.
Driver, Marjorie Steinkamp
Eberhart, Joseph C.
Eberhart, Claire Hammond
Eckert, Donald A.
Eisenhart, Carolyn
Ellis, Ira T., Jr.
Faulhaber, Barbara Caffrey
Fisher, Richard
Fogg, Elizabeth A.
Faurgis, Lois Mann
Frankhouse, Ann Kildare
Gallant, Gary G.
Gallo, Louis F.
Gardner, James C.
Gershman, Janet
Ginsburg, Irving R.
Gold, David
Graf, Barbara Shaffer
Grant, John B., Jr.
Grilli, Olga Caroline
Grubb, Mory E.
Hadley, Susan
Haell, William H., Jr.
Hagee, Charles C.
Harrigan, Elizabeth Wiggington
Harris, M. Anne
Harrison, John D.
Heald, Margaret R.
Heberger, Austin N.
Heberger, Peggy Smith
Hershock, Patricia Groff
Hoffmann, Ilse Louis
Howell, Barbara Vaux
Hubbard, Stanley B.
Jacoby, John Z.
Jennings Donald B.
Jennings, Alice Moncrief
Jenshans, Barbara A.
Keller, Polly Ann R.
Kenzie, Bette Skow
Kim, Young Kun
King, Russell
Kinney, Arthur D.
Kloer, Virginia Wallis
Klauder, Joann Pietrich
Kling, Roger
Kalar, Robert J.
Kapp, Herbert W.
Kapp, Margaret Maddock
Kozlowski, James D.
Kreider, Winifred
Kroek, Elizabeth
LaBar, Marion Moll
LaBar, Frank M.
Larsen, Robert R.
Larson, Kenneth
Lenker, William F.
Letchworth, George E.
Levenson, David J.
Levin, Alan G.
Lewis, Stuart A.
Linkins, Margaret Ferguson
Lippincott, Barbara
Little, Joan E.
Loomis, Rebecca J.
Lower, E. Jeanne
McConnell, John F.
McFarland, G. Richmond, Jr.
Mankin, Diane Trumbower
Martens, William
Martens, Mary Bryfogle
Maxwell, Emily S.
Mayer, A. David
Meek, Caroline
Miller, John R.
Miller, Sandra
Mix, Richard
Mynatt, Barbara Falk
Pearah, Mary Lee

Pflum, Henry C.
 Pitman, Kenneth M.
 Posner, Samuel
 Post, Anne Prosser
 Pozzy, William S.
 Randolph, Joanna
 Rappel, F. Raymond
 Rasmussen, John R.
 Rigg, Barbara
 Roberts, Mary Replogle
 Rossiter, C. Bruce
 Rotelle, Dolores Penza
 Salzman, Richard H.
 Sanders, Ruth E.
 Scheirer, LaRue Snyder
 Schiffenhaus, Robert
 Schubauer, James W.
 Schutz, Nancy Louise
 Seiler, C. Howard
 Shand, J. Richard
 Shultz, Dorothy
 Sibbern, William N.
 Slonaker, Gloria Rath
 Smith, J. Barry
 Smith, Alice Hunsicker
 Smith, Roland E.
 Stager, John W.
 Sugerman, Nathan M.
 Tanner, Barbara Bauer
 Taylor, Nancy Conway
 Thurnall, Audrey A.
 Ulp, Richard B.
 Urken, Ronald
 Wang, Michael C.
 Weaver, Edward P.
 Wische, Marvin
 Wolf, George W., Jr.
 Wolf, Carla Pieper
 Wolf, Rhoda B.
 Woodhull, Jeanne
 Anonymous
 Zaparyniuk, Michael
 Zartman, Eugene

1957

Fund Manager
 William S. Moyer
Class Members
Contributors
% Contributing
Alumni Fund
Other Gifts
Total Gifts

603
 142
 24%
 $515.63
 54.00
 $569.63

Allardice, Judith
 Altman, Toby R.
 Anderson, Gerald H.
 Andrews, Nancy Johnson
 Armstrong, Patricia
 Barbour, Eleanor G.
 Barton, Lynn Davies
 Beach, Alice
 Beckley, Tozia
 Beecher, Elaine Stitzel
 Bergmann, Barbara A.
 Bambo, Robert
 Bostack, Mary
 Batsai, Sarah
 Botsford, Frank
 Bayer, Billie Jane
 Brenner, Alysanne Butt
 Chaapel, Donald W.
 Christman, Bruce S.
 Clements, Barbara H.
 Davis, Kenneth G., Sr.
 Deardorff, Charles L.
 DeLeone, Patricia Schaupt
 Denenberg, Judy Plattman
 Dill, Robert W.
 Dilworth, Robert E., Jr.
 Doane, David
 Dow, Helen Oman
 Elliott, Claire W.
 Farrell, Patricia Ward
 Fincke, Jonathan W.
 Fisher, Victor B.
 Frame, Catherine
 Franzius, Frederic
 Frederick, Jean Zimmerman
 Gallant, Barbara Burdick
 Garland, Nest Ruth
 Garrett, Ethel C.
 Gilbreath, Evelyn Hickox
 Gold, Barbara Gritner
 Grant, Marilyn Edgumbe
 Gray, Harry G.
 Greene, Gordon A.
 Grimm, Evelyn
 Graff, Harold A.
 Grosman, Marc B.
 Hage, Myrna
 Hagee, Susan Wien
 Haller, Suzanne
 Harris, Constance Williamson
 Harris, Helen Ann
 Hawley, Barbara Stutzman
 Heineman, Janet E.
 Henry, Joan L.
 Hershberger, Sally L.
 Herschok, Robert J.
 Hierwarter, Nancy
 Hipp, George B.
 Hoffman, Susan O.
 Hofstadter, Donald C.
 Hoover, Suzanne
 Hunter, John A.
 Huss, Carol Ann
 Jacoby, George W., Jr.
 Jones, Sally G.
 Kenzie, Allan G.
 Kerr, Joseph
 Kinney, Dorothy Hund
 Klett, Edwin L.
 Krawitz, Eugene L.

Krafft, Margaret Kelly
 Krause, Adelaide Sims
 Krulisch, Robert R.
 Lacy, John A.
 Ladd, John W.
 Landzettel, Robert W.
 Lawrence, David E.
 Leigh, Patricia Caven
 Letchworth, Anne Ruhl
 Light, Lawrence E.
 Masters, Jane K.
 Mead, George H.
 Mead, Martha Green
 Meyer, Carolyn
 Miller, Nancy C.
 Minnich, Jan S.
 Morris, George E., Jr.
 Marse, Ira S.
 Mayer, William S.
 Myers, Charles S.
 Myers, Sydney
 Nichols, Donna Couch
 Oberfrank, Eugene
 Oert, Joan L.
 Olson, S. M.
 Olson, Elizabeth Hull
 Palin, Carol Schantz
 Peck, Thomas
 Pitman, Marilyn Holland
 Plump, Donald R.
 Plump, Alice Frost
 Panzer, Constance F.
 Rankin, James B.
 Reamer, James F. F.
 Riskis, John S.
 Rolls, James A.
 Roop, Sara M.
 Rotelle, John
 Scarlett, Nancy B.
 Schanley, Darvin L.
 Schmidt, William H.
 Schmidt, Mary Riddle
 Schneider, Paul A.
 Schaefer, Daniel K.
 Schuerholz, John P.
 Scribner, Carol
 Seiler, Cecily Kline
 Sibbern, Arthur L.
 Smith, Richard R.
 Snell, Christine
 Saule, Donald R.
 Steele, Laurence
 Steele, Carol Christ
 Steinbach, Marianne L.
 Stewart, James T.
 Tanner, Martin
 Thompson, Barbara A.
 Tool, Lalita Bunnell
 Taft, Doris J.
 Vanarsdale, Leonard
 Vought, Carole P.
 Vuilleumot, Floyd L.
 Wanamaker, Carol
 Weaver, Richard J.
 West, Jean Sutherland
 Whitman, Richard A.
 Wilcox, Nathaniel D.
 Wilkes, Barbara J.
 Wische, Susan Blum
 Woodcock, Carolyn U.
 Yardy, Edward
 Zonruiter, Wiesje E.

1958

Fund Manager
 Jeff Jefferson

Class Members
Contributors
% Contributing
Alumni Fund
Other Gifts
Total Gifts

544
 33
 6%
 $112.00
 $112.00

Alderman, Frederick R.
 Black, David M.
 Bayer, Nancy
 Brandes, Elizabeth
 Briggs, Barbara M.
 Bunker, Mary Anne
 Byrns, Janice M.
 Canner, Irwin
 Davis, Reese A.
 Deutsch, Roger DeWaters, Robert S., Jr.
 Frantz, Millicent
 Halline, Claire
 Head, Patricia
 Hoffman, Catherine L.
 Horan, Barbara R.
 Hunter, Mary Thurn
 Kakitas, Paul B.
 Ladd, Suzanne Miller
 Long, Barbara M.
 Melcher, Susan R.
 Miller, George
 Myers, Jane Hildebrand
 Somek, Edward L.
 Sands, Stephanie Lou
 Seiler, Katherine Anne
 Smith, Allan H.
 Swanson, Geraldine Cascarella
 Thomas, Edward V.
 Taepfer, Howard L.
 Van Glahn, Nancy A.
 Willson, Lynette F.
 Ziegler, Elizabeth R.

1959

Bemdas, Michael A.
 Baughman, Richard L.
 Behr, Ann Carson
 Frankel, Jacqueline Bodner
 Gay, Donna J.
 Pratt, Carolyn

Steinle, Bonnie G.
 Zeigler, Gerald L.

1961

Myers, Donald W., Jr.
 Shipps, Mary

Friends and Non-Bucknellian Honoraries

Alpha Chi Sigma Prize
 Baptist Church of the Redeemer, Yankers, N. Y.
 Bartholomew, Warren
 Benedum, Michael L.
 Bertrand, Ellen Clarke
 Bickmore, Ashley L.
 Board of Education, American Baptist Church
 Bucknell Alumni Club of Central N. Y.
 Bucknell Alumni Club of Chicago
 Burpee, David
 Cap and Dagger
 Carlson, John I.
 Carter, Paul G.
 Clement, Martin W.
 Coleman, Frank
 Conklin Ave. Baptist Church
 Delta Mu Delta
 Drexel Hill Baptist Church
 Dunlop, R. G.
 Emanuel Baptist Church,
 Scranton
 Estate of Martha Hammer
 First Baptist Church, Lewisburg
 First Baptist Church, Pittsburgh
 Fester, J. Douglass
 French, William C.
 Hildreth, Horace
 Hildreth, Katherine G.
 Howe, Harold F.
 Howell, Alfred C.
 Hunt, Helen
 Inter-Fraternity Council
 Izatt, Thomas

Kontra, Andrew
 Kappa Phi Kappa
 Kennedy, Ridgway, Jr.
 Killian, Paul L.
 Langsner, Adolph
 Estate of Christian F. Lindback
 Lafgren, Arthur
 London, Jean
 Lundy, G. E.
 McClain, Austin V.
 McCreary, Ralph W.
 McKinney, Walter B.
 Marts, A. C.
 Northumberland High School
 Page, Arthur W.
 Pennsylvania Bankers Assn.
 Poling, Daniel A.
 Price, J. P.
 Price, Emma Strode
 Richman, H. C.
 Rigg, William K.
 Robeson, Frank H.
 Saint Baptist Church,
 Canshahacken
 Skilling, Bayard T.
 Smiley Brothers (Lake Mahank Mountain House)
 Smith, William B.
 Sordani, Andrew J.
 Wehle, Mrs. Paul
 Wood, L. Foster
 World United Student Fund
 Worstell, E. Lawrence Younger, Paul H.
 Anonymous
 Anonymous

Faculty and Administration

Ballentine, Floyd G.
 Bond, Charles M.
 Bowman, Roger H.
 Brown, Forrest D.
 Burpee, Frank E.
 Claus, R. J.
 Coder, Charles H.
 Cooper, Esther T.
 Eckberg, H. F.
 Easley, Trennie
 Elze, Warren E.
 Elze, Nara Giovanni
 Faint, George R., Sr.
 Farrell, Henry C.
 Fowle, Lester P.
 Gardner, Robert
 Geiger, Walter C.
 Geiser, Carl J.
 Gold, John S.
 Griffith, Dalzell M.
 Gumma, Blanchard
 Hale, John S.
 Heine, Harold
 Irland, George A.
 Irwin, Raymond K.
 Jensen, Vera E.
 Jones, J. Charles
 Karraker, C. H.
 Kendter, Chester
 Kindig, Carl
 Krzywicki, Anthony A.
 Kunkel, George M.

Kunkel, Mary A.
 Long, Esther Baumgartner
 Lawry, W. Narwood
 Miller, John B.
 Miller, William I.
 Musser, Malcolm E.
 Odgers, Merle M.
 Ohi, Donald G.
 Peters, Henry N.
 Polak, Emil J.
 Proctor, J. Warthen
 Ranck, Dayton L.
 Rice, John W.
 Rassiter, C. Bruce
 Schuyler, William H.
 Shaffer, Harold
 Shott, John H.
 Sims, Hugh D.
 Slack, Frederick W., Jr.
 Slonaker, Robert E., Jr.
 Smink, Robert D.
 Smith, Wendell I.
 Stickney, Charles F.
 Stickney, Dorothy Turnbach
 Theiss, Lewis E.
 Tuhy, Darina
 Wagner, Donald E.
 Walker, R. C.
 Walling, Fitz R.
 Young, Donald B.
 Young, Raymond H.
 Zeller, John F., III

Foundations

Alcoa Foundation
 (Aluminum Co. of America)
 Asia Foundation
 Claude Warthington Benedum
 Foundation
 Danforth Foundation
 Esso Gas Company
 Freas Foundation
 Henry Kalman Foundation
 Foundation for Independent
 Colleges, Inc., of Pennsylvania
 Kift-Mullen Foundation
 Merrill Lynch, Pierce, Fenner
 & Smith
 National Merit Scholarship
 Pittcain-Crabbe Foundation
 Presser Foundation
 Shell Company Foundation
 Smith Kline & French
 Sordani Foundation
 Union Carbide Educational Foundation
 U. S. Steel Foundation
 Westinghouse Foundation

Corporations

American Cyanamid Company
 American Dredging Company
 Armstrong Cork Company
 Asa Society Inc.
 Brown Brothers, Contractors,
 Inc.
 Budd Company
 Citizens' Electric Company
 B. O. Daubert Corporation
 Daw Chemical Company
 E. I. DuPont de Nemours
 Company
 Eastman Kodak Company
 Equitable Life Assurance
 Company
 Faylar Lime and Stone
 Company
 Faylar Paving Materials
 Company
 First National City Bank of
 N. Y.
 General Electric Educ. &
 Charitable Fund
 General Motors Corporation
 Glen Gery Shale Brick Company
 Grit Publishing Company
 Highway Asphalt Company
 Household Finance Company
 Interstate Amisite Corporation
 Lake Asphalt Petroleum
 Company
 Lehigh Portland Cement
 Lewisburg National Bank
 Lewisburg Trust & Safe
 Deposit Co.
 Lions Club of Fairfield, Conn.
 Lyscoming Silica Sand Company
 McCarter Iron Works, Inc.
 McNeil Laboratories
 Mansdale Quarry
 Master Chemical Products
 Merck & Company
 National Limestone Quarry
 Newark Tidewater Tenn. Inc.
 Pennsylvania Power and Light
 Company
 Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company
 Quaker Sales Corporation
 Ray Roofing Company
 Sprout Waldron
 Strahmann Brothers Company
 Texas Company
 Tri State Asphalt Corporation
 Union National Bank,
 Lewisburg
 Western Electric Company

The Foundation for Independent Colleges, Inc. of Pennsylvania

In-State Contributors

Acheson Manufacturing Co.
 Aero Service Corp.
 The Aetna-Standard Engineering Co.
 Alcoa Foundation
 Allegheny Ludlum Steel Co.
 Allentown Portland Cement Co.
 Allis-Chalmers Foundation, Inc.
 Allstate Foundation
 William Amer Co.
 American Chemical Paint Co.
 American Encaustic Tiling
 Co., Inc.
 American Hollow Baring Co.
 American Pulley Co.
 American Sterilizer Co.
 American Viscose Corp.
 AMP, Inc.
 Anchor Packing Co.
 M. L. Annenberg Foundation
 Armstrong Cork Co.
 Atlantic Refining Co.
 Atlantic Steel Castings Co.

The J. E. Baker Co.
 Beistle Co.
 Bell Telephone Co. of Pa.
 Belmont Iron Works
 Beloit Eastern Corp.
 Benedum-Trees Oil & Gas Co.
 Berks County Trust Co.
 Berwind, Chas. G., Esq.
 Beryllium Corp.
 Bethlehem Fabricators, Inc.

Birdwell, Inc.
 J. Bishop & Co., Platinum Works
 Blair Strip Steel Co.
 George W. Ballman Memorial
 Fund
 Bavaard & Seyfang Mfg. Co.
 Bradford Matar Works, Inc.
 Bradford Supply Co.
 Brackway Glass Co., Inc.
 Michael A. Bruder Foundation
 Bunting Co., Inc.
 Louis Burk Co.
 W. Atlee Burpee Co.
 Business Press, Inc.
 Call-Chronicle Foundation
 Campbell Choin Foundation
 Canasburg Pottery Co.
 Copper-Harman-Slacum, Inc.
 (Pennsylvania Farmer)
 Carlisle Corp.
 John F. Casey Co.
 Cersolun Foundation
 (Myers Laboratories, Inc.,
 Band Electric Co., Sunray
 Products Corp., Certified
 Electric Corp., Warren Television Corp., Inter-lectric Corp.)
 Chambers Brothers Co.
 Chilton Co.
 Citizens National Bank of Greencastle
 Cannery Construction Co.
 Contributors' Charitable Foundation

Cordamatic Division, Vacuum
 Cleaner Corp. of America
 G. & W. H. Carson, Inc.
 Cross Bras. Meat Packers, Inc.
 Crown-Salwen Foundation
 (Crown Paper Board Co., Inc.)
 Crucible Steel Casting Co.
 Curtis 1000, Inc.
 Curtis Publishing Co.
 Ethel and Harry Daroff
 Foundation
 Dauphin Deposit Trust Co.
 A. P. deSanna & Son, Inc.
 Dixon Valve & Caulping Co.
 Dodge Cork Co., Inc.
 Dravo Corp.
 (Drava Corp., Drava-Dayle
 Co., Union Barge Line
 Corp.)
 Dresser Manufacturing Division
 East End Federal Savings and Loan Association
 Eastern Specialty Co.
 Eaton-Dikeman Co.
 Eby Shoe Corp.
 Edgcomb Steel Co., Foundatio
 Educators Mutual Life Insurance Co.
 Edgewater Steel Charitable Trust
 Eichleay Corp.
 Electric Materials Co.
 Electric Storage Battery Co.
 Eljer Co.

Elmwood Federal Savings and Loan Association
Empire Steel Castings Co., Inc.
Equitable Gas Co.
Erie Bolt & Nut Co.
Erie Brewing Co.
Erie Ceramic Arts Co.
Erie Foundry Co. Foundation
Erie Malleable Iron Co.
Erie Meter Systems, Inc.
Eureka Specialty Printing Co.

Faith Shoe Co., Inc.
Fanning-Schuett Engineering Co.
Federal-Mogul-Bower Bearings, Inc.
Charitable Trust Fund (Bearings Co. of America, Lancaster);
(Federal-Mogul Service Division, Philadelphia and Pittsburgh)
Fidelity-Philadelphia Trust Co.
Fidelity Trust Co.
Firestone Tire & Rubber Co.
First Federal Savings and Loan Association
First National Bank of Wellsboro
First Pennsylvania Banking and Trust Co.
Fisher Foundation (Fisher Scientific Co.)
Frank H. Fleer Corp.
Food Fair Stores Foundation
Ford & Kendig Co.
Franklin Research Co.
H. Freeman & Son, Inc.
Fuller Co.
Furnival Machinery Co.

General Acceptance Corp.
General Machine Co., Inc.
General Refractories Co.
Gilbert Associates, Inc.
Girard Manufacturing Co.
Girard Trust Corn Exchange Bank
Gorton Manufacturing Co.
P. H. Glatfelter Co.
Globe Rubber Products Corp.
Griffin Manufacturing Co.
Gunnison Brothers, Inc.

Hajoca Corp.
Hamilton Paper Co.
Hammond Iron Works
Hanley Co.
Horbison-Walker Charitable Fund, Inc.
Hoys Manufacturing Co.
Henkels and McCoy
Herbick & Held Printing Co.
Hershey Creamery Co.
Hetherington, Inc.
(Hetherington Research Foundation, Inc.)
Hiawatha Oil & Gas Co.
Charles E. Hires Co.
Hol-Gor Manufacturing Co.
Home Furniture Co.
Homestead Valve Manufacturing Co.
Horn & Hardart Baking Co.
Joseph V. Horn Foundation
Houdry Process Corp.
Houghton-Carpenter Foundation
(E. F. Houghton & Co.)
Hughes-Foulkrod Co.
I-T-E Foundation
(I. T. E. Circuit Breaker Co.)
Imperial Lighting Products Co.
Industrial Life Insurance Co.
International Textbook Co.
Isaly Dairy Co., Charitable Trust
Jackson Manufacturing Co.
Jonney, Dulles & Battles, Inc.
William G. Johnston Co.

Kay, Richards & Co.
Kennetel Foundation
Keweenaw Oil Co.

Keystone Carbon Co., Inc.
Keystone National Bank of Manheim
Keystone Portland Cement Co.
Robert L. Kiff—Thomas R. Mullen, Jr.
Memorial Foundation, Inc. (Lehigh Structural Steel Co.)
Knights Life Insurance Co. of America
Koch, Catharine M. (Miss)
Kroger Co. Charitable Trust

L'Aiglon Apparel, Inc.
Lancaster Press, Inc.
Lonsdowne Steel & Iron Co.
Latrobe Foundry Machine & Supply Co.
Latrobe Steel Co., Charitable Trust
Lavo Crucible-Refractories Co.
E. J. Lavino & Company
Lebanon Steel Foundry Foundation
Leeds & Northrup Foundation
The Leeland Foundation
Liberty Federal Savings and Loan Association
Limbach Foundation
Littlestown Hardware & Foundry Co., Inc.
Peter F. Loftus Corp.
Lovell Manufacturing Co.
Lukens Steel Co.
Lynch, Thomas, Esq.

E. J. McAleer & Company, Inc. (Mrs. Paul's Kitchens)
McCloskey & Co.
McConway & Torley Corp.
J. Horace McFarland Co.
McFeely-Rogers Foundation
McKelvy & Co.
McNeil Laboratories, Inc.
John McShain Charities
A. Mameaux & Son
The Maneely Fund (Wheatland Tube Co.)
Manufacturers Light & Heat Co.
Masland Duralco Leather Co.
C. H. Masland & Sons, Inc.
James H. Matthews & Co., Inc.
Melroth Supply & Gasket Co., Inc.
Mercersburg Tannery Division, Lowengort & Co.
Merck Sharp & Dohme Co., Inc.
Messinger, John Aaron, Esq.
Mesta Machine Co.
Metropolitan Edison Co.
Milco Undergarment Co., Inc.
H. E. Millard Lime & Stone Co.
Miller Printing Machinery Co.
Milson Mills, Inc.
Mine Safety Appliances Co. Charitable Trust
Moore, Leonard & Lynch
Moore & White Co.

Nonnette Manufacturing Co.
H. N. Nosh & Co.
Nasco Corp.
National Annealing Box Co.
National Bank of Chambersburg
National Decalcomania Corp.
National Forge & Ordnance Co.
National Publishing Co.
National Refractories Division, Mexico Refractories Co.
National Supply Charitable Foundation
National Union Insurance Companies
National Valve & Manufacturing Co.
Naugle, Carl A., Esq.
Nazareth Cement Co.
Hugh Nelson-Columbia Carpet Mills, Inc.
John J. Nesbitt, Inc.
Neville Chemical Co.

Newark Tidewater Terminal, Inc.
Newburger & Co. Charities
New Holland Machine Co.
Nasco Plastics, Inc.
Francis A. O'Neill Foundation (Paper Manufacturers Co.)

H. T. Osburn & Co., Inc.
Overly Manufacturing Co.
Patterson, Graham, Esq.
W. I. Patterson Charitable Fund
Penn Ohio Gas Co.
Pennsalt Chemicals Foundation
Pennsylvania Electric Co.
Pennsylvania Malleable Iron Corp.
Pennsylvania Refining Co.
Peoples First National Bank & Trust Co.
Peoples Natural Gas Co.
Philadelphia Dressed Beef Co.
Philadelphia Gear Works, Inc.
Philco Corp.
Phoenix Clothes, Inc.
Phoenix Iron & Steel Co.
Pincus, Nathan, Esq.
Pittsburgh Bridge & Iron Works
Pittsburgh-Des Moines Steel Co.
Charitable Trust
Pittsburgh Forgings Co.
Foundation
Pittsburgh Gear Co.
Pittsburgh Home Savings & Loan Association
Pittsburgh Plate Glass Foundation
The Pittsburgh Press
Pittsburgh Provision & Packing Co.
Pittsburgh Screw & Bolt Corp.
Pittsburgh Testing Laboratory
Pittsburgh Tube Co.
Planters Nut & Chocolate Co.
H. Platt Co.
Plymouth Oil Co.
Port Erie Plastics, Inc.
Posey Iron Works, Inc.
Precision Grinding Wheel Co.
Precision Plastics Co.
Morris & Mary Press Foundation
Publisher Industries, Inc.
Pure Carbon Co., Inc.

Quaker City Iron Works, Inc.
Quaker City Life Insurance Co.
Quaker State Oil Refining Corp.
Quinn-Berry Corp.
(Cubee Foundation)

Reese Padlock Co.
Reliance Insurance Co.
Renuzit Home Products Co.
Republic Oil Refining Co.
Reznor Manufacturing Co.
Robertshaw-Fulton Charitable & Educational Trust
H. H. Robertson Co.
Rockwell Manufacturing Co.
Rockwell Standard Corp.
Rolle Manufacturing Co., Inc.
Royal Manufacturing Co., Inc.
Royal Pants Manufacturing Co.
Rudisill Co., Inc.

S. K. F. Industries, Inc.
Safe Padlock & Hardware Co.
St. Marys National Bank
St. Marys Sewer Pipe Company
W. B. Saunders Co.
Schmidt & Ault Paper Co.
Christian Schmidt Foundation (C. Schmidt & Sons, Inc.)
Edwin J. Schoettle Co., Inc.
Security-Peoples Trust Co.
Sessinghaus & Ostergaard, Inc.
Shallcross Manufacturing Co.
Shenango Furnace Co.
The Sherman-Standard Register Foundation

Singer, Deane & Scribner
Skinner Engine Co.
Julian B. Slevin Co., Inc.
S. Morgan Smith Co. Foundation
Smith, Kline & French Foundation
Sonsitely Bank & Trust Co.
Andrew J. Sordani Foundation, Inc.
South Chester Tube Co.
Sowers Printing Co.
Speer Carbon Co.
Stackpole-Hall Foundation
Standard Pressed Steel Co.
Standard Steel Specialty Co.
Steel City Electric Co.
Steel Heddle Manufacturing Co.
John B. Stetson Co.
F. J. Stokes Corp.
Stroehmann Brothers Co.
Charles G. Summers, Jr., Inc.
Supplee-Biddle-Steltz Co. (W. G. S. Foundation)
Swindell-Dressler Foundation
Synthane Corp.
Syntron Foundation
Tasty Baking Co.
Teller Co.
Terminal Warehouse Co.
Arthur H. Thomas Co.
L. G. L. and Florence S. Thomas Foundation
(C. H. Wheeler Mfg. Co.)
Morgan H. and Aimee K. Thomas Foundation
(Garrett-Buchanan Company)
Thrifty Investment Corp.
Titan Foundation
Towers, Perrin, Forster & Crosby, Inc.
F. W. Tunnell & Co., Inc.
E. W. Twitchell, Inc.
Typographic Service, Inc.

Union Bank of Erie
Union Iron Works
United Gas Improvement Co.
U. S. Expansion Bolt Co.
U. S. Gauge Division, American Machine & Metals, Inc.
United Telephone Co. of Pa.
Universal-Cyclops Foundation
Universal Dental Co.
Upper Dorby National Bank
Vonnadium-Alloys Steel Co.
Vulcan Mold & Iron Co.

Warner Co.
Warren Bank & Trust Co.
Washington Steel Co.
Waterman Products Co., Inc.
Well-McLain Co.
Welsbach Corp.
Wertz Engineering Co.
Western Pennsylvania Brewers' Association
West Penn Power Co.
Westinghouse Air Brake Foundation
Whiting-Patterson Co., Inc.
Wilkening Manufacturing Co.
A. H. Wirz, Inc.
Wise Potato Chip Co.
Wolf Fund
T. B. Wood's Sons Co.
E. A. Wright Co.
Wykoff Steel Co.

Yarnall-Waring Co.
York Division, Borg-Warner Corp.
York National Bank & Trust Co.
York Narrow Fabrics Co.
Yorktowne Paper Mills, Inc.
Zippo Manufacturing Co.

Out-of-State Contributors
Addressograph-Multigraph Corp., Cleveland
Allied Stores Foundation, Inc., New York

American Oil Co., New York
American Tobacco Co., Inc., New York
Babcock & Wilcox Co., New York
Bailey Meter Co., Cleveland
A. S. Beck Shee Co., New York
Best Foods, Inc., New York
E. W. Bliss Co., Canton
Concora Foundation, Chicago (Container Corporation of America)
Continental Can Co., Inc., New York
DeLuxe Check Printers Foundation, Saint Paul
Erie Railroad Co., Cleveland
Franklin Electric Co., Inc., Bluffton
General American Transportation Corp., Chicago
General Foods Corp., New York
General Motors Corp., Detroit
General Tire & Rubber Co., Akron
Graybar Electric Co., New York
Inland Steel-Ryerson Foundation, Chicago
International Harvester Foundation, Chicago
S. S. Kresge Co., Detroit
Thomas J. Lipton Foundation, Inc., Hoboken
Massachusetts Mutual Life Insurance Co., Springfield
Oscar Mayer Foundation, Inc., Chicago
Philip Morris, Inc., New York
William T. Morris Foundation, Inc., New York
National Biscuit Co. Foundation, New York
National Dairy Products Corp., New York
(Breyer Ice Cream Div., Phila.)
(Sealtel Supplie Div., Phila.)
(Rieck Dairy Div., Pittsburgh)
Owens-Corning Fiberglas Corp., Toledo
Owens-Illinois Glass Co., Toledo
(National Container Corp., Bristol; National Container Mill Div., Reading; Northeastern Container Corp., Bradford; Owens-Illinois Glass Co., Clorion)
Parke, Davis & Co., Detroit
Proctor & Gamble Fund, Cincinnati
Charles S. Raizen Foundation, Inc., New York
(Transogram Co., Inc.)
Ray-O-Vac Foundation, Madison
(Williamsport Battery Co., Williamsport);
(Willson Products Co., Reading)
Sheraton Corp. of America, Boston
Socony Mobil Oil Co., Inc., New York
Sterling Drug, Inc., New York
Stouffer Foundation, Cleveland
Sylvania Foundation, New York
Union Tank Car Co., Chicago
United States Rubber Co. Foundation, New York
United States Steel Foundation, Inc., New York
Warner-Lambert Pharmaceutical Co., Morris Plains
Western Tablet & Stationery Corp., Dayton
(J. C. Blair Co., Division, Huntingdon)

Remember:

1. Your Fund gift is deductible on your income tax.
2. If you have your own business, a corporate contribution is worth considering.
3. IN MEMORIAM gifts are made by many Bucknellians, honoring Bucknell friends and relatives.
4. Family gifts will be credited to husbands and wives (50-50) if you list names and classes of each in your remittance envelope.
5. Fund ideas or personal news items, enclosed with your check, will make it doubly welcome.

BUCKNELL ALUMNI FUND

PERSONAL SOLICITATION

1957-58

Marking the fourth year of personal solicitation, more than 570 alumni visited 5 Bucknellians each in 45 alumni regions. This growing habit of Bucknellian visiting Bucknellian to become better acquainted, discuss local club activities and in a friendly but persistent way remind supporters of the need for contributions will ultimately put Bucknell and its Alumni Fund at the top.

The value of personal visits on behalf of the Fund was again clearly demonstrated by the fact that over 40% of the contributors were Bucknellians who had never before made a gift in the Bucknell Alumni Annual-Giving Program.

When it is remembered that there are still over 10,000 Bucknellians from coast to coast who have never yet been visited, it is evident that face-to-face visits by Bucknellians will be the challenging invitation of the coming year. Will you pick up a piece of this assignment—to visit five of your Bucknell neighbors next spring?

Areas and Chairmen	Number of Calls Assigned	Number of Gifts	Percent of Participation	Amount of Gifts
WASHINGTON, D. C.
W. Dale Hay '49	157	40	25%	$486.00
ROCKY MOUNTAINS
Laura R. Davis '55	27	1	4%	5.00
WILMINGTON, DEL.
Robert W. Megargel '49	108	44	41%	362.00
CHICAGO, ILL.
Henry B. Puff '44	68	15	19%	90.00
BOSTON, MASS.
James P. Hastings '52	121	31	26%	292.00
DETROIT, MICH.
Charles V. Dunham '39	95	22	23%	187.00
NORTHERN NEW JERSEY
Herman R. Simon '51	26	9	35%	44.00
Bergen County
J. Dudley Waldner '46	127	24	19%	157.00
Essex County
George L. Marshall '37	68	19	28%	131.00
Passaic County
Fred O. Schnure '14	15	3	20%	17.00
Sussex County
A. W. Mathieson '50	47	23	49%	163.00
Union County
SOUTH JERSEY
Donald H. Sholl '42
Donald W. Glover '41	170	25	15%	190.00
TRENTON, N. J.
Lester J. Bartlett '16
Clifford C. Deck '18	143	35	24%	247.00
ITHACA, N. Y.
James R. Simpson '31	35	1	3%	5.00
GREATER NEW YORK CITY
Henry C. Wagner '49	114	18	16%	94.00

Areas and Chairmen	Number of Calls Assigned	Number of Gifts	Percent of Parti- cipation	Amount of Gifts
LONG ISLAND
William S. Liming '33
Leonard Von Heill '52	94	22	23%	165.00
QUEENS COUNTY
Walter F. Rohrs '39	53	16	30%	133.00
ROCHESTER, N. Y.
Warren R. Lewis '42	83	25	30%	129.00
TRIPLE CITIES
Harry E. Stabler	46	26	56%	213.00
CINCINNATI, OHIO
Jack Webber '52	32	8	25%	46.00
DAYTON, OHIO
Richard M. Light '44	18	4	22%	38.00
TOLEDO, OHIO
George W. Mathieson '22	15	2	13%	16.00
BLOOMSBURG
J. VanWirt Johnson '52	145	31	21%	130.00
CHAMBERSBURG
Robert A. Watkins '51	32	5	16%	63.00
EMPORIUM
Evan H. Boden '49	20	2	10%	15.00
HAZLETON
Kenneth R. Bayless '42	13	4	31%	33.00
JOHNSTOWN
Allen N. Reynolds '37	55	10	18%	143.00
LEHIGH VALLEY
H. Spencer Carlough '50	101	18	18%	157.00
LYCOMING COUNTY
John C. Decker '36	148	52	35%	314.00
PHILADELPHIA
Robert H. Taylor '49	358	46	13%	440.00
PITTSBURGH
James E. Lomeo '50
Robert N. Waddell, Jr. '50	101	24	23%	340.00
READING
J. Ripley Fehr '51	102	19	18%	183.00
SHARON
M. Wilson Snyder '33
Charles F. Clifford '48
Richard A. Mathieson '43	41	7	23%	90.00
TOWANDA
John H. Hustler '41	62	7	11%	24.00
UNION COUNTY
Mrs. Paul Showalter '33
Mrs. W. Z. Sleighter '31	272	68	28%	366.80
UNIONTOWN
William P. McNutt '27	39	11	28%	113.00
WELLSBORO
William H. Bachman '49	50	11	22%	66.00
WILKES-BARRE
Jacob S. Russin '28	129	27	21%	296.00
YORK
Lloyd S. Hoffman '32
Harry F. Andrews '19	74	44	59%	286.50
PROVIDENCE, R. I.
Milton J. Potter '30	17	2	12%	15.00

AS PRESIDENT ODGERS ANNOUNCED IT AT HOMECOMING

"— a $1,850,000 capital-funds campaign to put Bucknell into a higher orbit in American education . . . the next major step in our ten-year ten-million-dollar development plan.

Ladies and gentlemen, this is the seventy-fifth anniversary of Bucknell's first official intercollegiate football game. It was played with Lafayette, the same opponent we face this afternoon.

I welcome you on your return to the campus and thank you for this opportunity, the only one that presents itself during the weekend, to make an announcement not directly related to the Homecoming game.

As loyal alumni you are officially hearing this news first: By authority of our Board of Trustees, and after careful study made under the direction of professional counselors, the University is launching a $1,850,000 capital-funds campaign to put Bucknell into a higher orbit in American education. This becomes the next major step in our ten-year ten-million-dollar development plan, announced in 1956 and already well begun.

This news is coming to you first, not only because Alumni is alphabetically the first category among our supporting groups (Alumni, Businesses and Corporations, Campus, Community, Foundations, Friends, Parents, Trustees), but more importantly because alumni interest is at the heart of any University effort.

We are calling this campaign the "Double Development Fund," because it will help Bucknell to match the gifts of others for both "brains" and "bricks." The $1,850,000 campaign will enable your University to add almost half of this amount to Bucknell's endowment, principally to maintain a superior faculty; to convert to dormitory use the offices in "Old Main" and to remodel East and West Colleges, in order to provide a completely modern men's dormitory quadrangle; and to complete Vaughan Literature Building with a centralized administration center.

We plan to waste no time in getting this important campaign under way and have worked out the following schedule:

1. From now until February, we shall be making preparations and soliciting initial gifts.
2. From February until June, we shall be soliciting corporations and foundations, and seeking special gifts.
3. From early next September until the end of 1959, the intensive general solicitation will be carried out on the campus, in the community, and among the general alumni.

Note that Alumni are in the important "final count-down" position. You will be able to provide the ultimate "thrust" to put Bucknell successfully into a higher orbit.

This time schedule makes the current Annual Alumni Fund effort, ending in June, 1959, the most important yet undertaken. You reached an all-time high of over $53,000 last year. The higher it goes in 1958-59, the stronger your Alma Mater will be in its capital-funds effort, and the weightier will be its appeal to other groups as it points to ever-increasing annual support by those who know the University best, its alumni.

In 1959-60, the Annual Fund, having reached its highest point yet, will be merged with the capital funds campaign. From September to December, 1959, alumni will be asked to give or pledge over a three year tax period one substantial amount, a part of which will be credited to the Annual Fund for each of the three pledge years. The total goal of the campaign includes estimated amounts from the Annual Fund for the three-year period. Thus the integrity and continuity of the Fund will be preserved. This has the support of the Board of Directors of the General Alumni Association.

This year you will be kept informed through a media about the University's needs, the quotas suggested for each category of support, and the progress of the campaign with other groups, so that during September to December, 1959, you will be able intelligently and enthusiastically to bring the campaign to a successful conclusion.

This is necessarily an abbreviated, and not a full announcement, for none of us wants to miss the kick off on this Homecoming 75th football anniversary. But let me remind you that ten years ago, with the Alumni at the heart of it, a "full steam ahead" campaign provided an initial "thrust", since magnified by the "solid fuel" of massive gifts from individuals and from foundations to whom Bucknell will ever be grateful. As a result there have been brought into Bucknell's present orbit a heating plant, a library, science building, a freshman dormitory, a swimming pool, a gym front and annex, our largest classroom building with its university theatre, several significant renovation and physical plant improvements, and two and one-half million dollars in additional endowment. There is every reason to think that this momentum will bring us additional contributions for endowment and that it eventually will attract extraordinarily large gifts to provide our Chapel-Auditorium and a new women's dormitory, although neither of these needs can be included in the present campaign. These accomplishments in the recent past have made possible steady advance in educational achievements at Bucknell.

Bucknell now has a "launching pad" from which can, with three times the thrust of ten years ago, enter a higher orbit in both the outer space of educational excellence and the inner space of better equipped student minds.

The "count-down" has begun, and your Alma Mater is counting heavily on you, its alumni!

NEW MEMBERS OF BUCKNELL FAMILY

(Continued from Page 7)

His appointment also appeared in the April issue of "About Bucknell."

Mrs. Carol Ronson is a new instructor in physical education for women. A graduate of Bennington College, Mrs. Ronson has studied in the Martha Graham School of Contemporary Dance, the Metropolitan Opera Ballet School and has taught in both public and private schools, including Cazeney College for Women.

Dr. Robert A. Artman, for the past six years a research scientist in the laboratories of the Ford Motor Company, has joined the physics department as a full professor. A graduate of Illinois College, he received his doctorate from the University of Iowa. Dr. Artman has had eleven years of teaching experience and for three years was head of the physics department at the AAF Pre-Flight School at Maxwell Field in Alabama.

Dr. Nancy E. Edwards, formerly in the faculty of Fairleigh-Dickenson University, has been appointed assistant professor in the political science department. She is a graduate of Vassar College, and has earned her doctorate at Columbia University.

Mrs. Virginia Smith, newly appointed professor in the psychology department, is a graduate of Bucknell with the Class of 1946. She also earned her Master of Science degree from Bucknell in 1952, and for the past four years had been on the faculty of Lycoming College, where she taught psychology and participated in counseling services.

To head the sociology department Dr. Ralph Spielman has been appointed professor and chairman of the department. For the past six years Dr. Spielman taught at Eastern Michigan State College. Previously he taught at the University of Cincinnati, Wellesley College, and the University of Kentucky. A native of Germany, Dr. Spielman was graduated from the Academie de Paris and was awarded his doctor's degree by the University of Michigan.

William F. Byron, nationally-known teacher, lecturer, and writer, has accepted a one-year appointment as lecturer in sociology. Mr. Byron taught formerly at the University of Chicago and Northwestern University and has recently been engaged in study of juvenile delinquency.

The Army has assigned five new members to the staff of the ROTC unit. Captain Turner P. Hall, Jr., and Captain Carleton J. Robinson hold the academic rank of assistant professors. Captain Hall is a graduate of Oklahoma A. and M., while Captain Robinson is a graduate of Michigan College of Mining and Technology. Captain Robinson holds a master's degree in civil engineering from the University of Illinois. Master Sergeants Paul A. Burt, Norman E. Fine, and Lewis E. Jenkins have been named instructors.

A total of seventeen different departments will benefit from the wealth of experience brought to Bucknell campus by the newest additions to the Bucknell family.

DR. ODGERS EMBRACES —

Not addicted to embracing "isms", President Odgers happily embraced "Grandpop-ism" upon the birth of his first grandchild, a daughter, Mary Frances, born to Mr. and Mrs. Joseph P. Laver at Louisville, Kentucky, on August 29, 1958.

Dr. Odgers Honored at Lafayette Commencement

The honorary degree of Doctor of Laws was presented to President Merle M. Odgers by interim president of Lafayette College, Dr. Guy E. Snavelly at the commencement exercises for the Class of 1958 at Lafayette.

In honoring Dr. Odgers, Dr. Snavelly said, "Dr. Odgers, it is a pleasure and a privilege to welcome on this platform the president of a neighboring institution with which Lafayette College has had such a long history of close relations. We wish to recognize you this morning, however, not merely for your service at Bucknell but also for your activities as president of one of the most unique educational institutions in this country—Girard College. We wish also to recognize you as a scholar in the classics and thereby to emphasize again the indispensable value of scholarship and teaching experience as background for effective education administration."

BISON HEADQUARTERS FOR FOOTBALL GAMES AWAY

NEWARK, DEL.—November 15—There will be a Bison Roundup luncheon before the game at the Newark Country Club. Alumni in the Bucknell Alumni Club of Wilmington will receive additional information concerning the luncheon at a later date.

BUFFALO, N. Y.—November 22—Bison Roundup luncheon before the game at Syracuse Restaurant, 4346 Bailey Ave., Eggertsville, N. Y. The cost of the luncheon is $2.50 per person. Reservations and money in advance should be sent to Mrs. Herbert W. Kopp, 250 Campus Drive, Snyder, N. Y. Please make checks payable to Mrs. Herbert W. Kopp. Additional information and directions to the restaurant will be sent to alumni in the Bucknell Alumni Clubs of Buffalo, Rochester, and Syracuse at a later date.

Dr. Detlev W. Bronk H '57, president of the Rockefeller Institute and commencement speaker was awarded the honorary degree of Doctor of Laws. Dr. Bronk, a member of Bucknell's Board of Trustees, received the degree of Doctor of Humane Letters at Bucknell's September convocation in 1957.

Dr. Detlev W. Bronk H '57, Rev. Dr. Edward L. R. Elson, the baccalaureate speaker at the Lafayette commencement exercises, and Dr. Merle M. Odgers.

CLASS REPORTS

EMERITUS CLUB

MISS MARY COTTON
Eldred, Pa.

Levi T. Fetzter '98 died at New Bloomfield on August 30, 1958, at the age of 85. He had been in poor health since undergoing surgery in December, 1957. He served in the Spanish-American War as First Sergeant in Company A, 12th Regiment, Pennsylvania Volunteer Infantry. He was a member of the New York Bar Association and practiced law in New York until his retirement five years ago. Our sympathy is extended to the relatives who are left, especially a wife and brother.

Jessie Lovell '02 (Mrs. Thomas H. Sprague) writes that her summer address is 69 Main Street, Essex, Conn.

03 MRS. HARRY C. HERPEL
(Elvie Coleman)
1250 Park St.
McKeesport, Pa.

Howard K. Williams, D.D., leads his congregation at Alpha Baptist Church in Philadelphia. With his writings and his musical talent, he has compiled a book of hymns. Also he has organized several choirs and orchestras in his church. He welcomes all to visit his church when in his city.

Miss Emily R. Ebling spent the summer in Maine. She travels quite a lot, following the season that is mild, but still finds some time to be at her home in Philadelphia.

G. Herbert Stewart and wife (Bryn Mawr) have had several trips to Europe and the Middle East. They have many interesting things to tell. We hope to include highlights from these travels in our Anniversary Booklet to be published in the next year.

07 DR. LEO L. ROCKWELL
1534 Caldwell
Lakeland, Fla.

William Dudley Bill Hinman of Floral City, Fla., is one of the many Bucknellians who has taken out citizenship in the Sunshine State. He has also been active in politics; he recently declined the nomination for governor on the Republican ticket. So far as we know, he is the first Bucknellian since the late Lincoln Hullely '88, former president of Stetson, to be considered for that post. We wish Bill would run; we'd like to hear one of his campaign speeches. When we saw him this summer in our native village—Old Monroe, Pa.,—he hadn't acquired a Florida accent.

08 MRS. JOHN H. MATHIAS
(Margaret W. Pangburn)
202 St. Louis St.
Lewisburg, Pa.

Our Fiftieth Rennon was more in every way than we anticipated. It was very heart-warming to realize how much it meant to our class members to get together. They came from Texas, Florida and California. Ed Innes and his wife, both recently sick in a hospital, came even though it meant bringing an attendant to assist Mrs. Innes. Some of us had to inroduce ourselves (we have changed a little). Olive Richards Landers told Ben Harris that if he just had some hair on his head, she could recognize him. Others looked just (?) as they did 50 years ago. Charles Bromley and Posy Hayes are good examples of that.

A warm greeting from our President, Charles Nicely, for each '08 alumnus as he registered for the week-end started us on a rare two days.

09 MRS. HOWARD HEADLAND
(Sarah E. Walters)
3911 First Ave., N.
St. Petersburg 13, Fla.

Dr. Heber W. Youngken attended The Pan-American Congress of Pharmacy and Biochemistry held at Washington, D. C., recently and presented a paper entitled "Observations on Morinda citrifolia." He retired from teaching last June after 34 years of service as professor in the Massachusetts College of Pharmacy; whereupon he was elected Emeritus Professor of Pharmacognosy and Botany. He is continuing his research and writing.

In August Heber attended the plant science seminar at Ferris Institute, Big Rapids, Mich., and presented two E. L. Newcomb Memorial Awards on behalf of the American Foundation for Pharmaceutical Education for the best essays on subjects in Pharmacognosy.

Heber further writes: "After living in our Arlington (Mass.) home for more than 34 years, we sold it and purchased a ranch-type home at 17 Cox Road, Winchester, Mass. The old home had become too large for Clara to take care of and the many steps of three stairways tiring and not too good for the hearts of elderly people. Our new home is quite modern and will be considerably easier to keep up than the one we sold."

10 MISS MILDRED B. CATHERS
100 West 33rd St., Apt. 6
Bayonne, N. J.

The George Streets moved into their new home May 18 and may now be addressed at 206 Wayne Ave., Lansdowne. Alterations, additions, redecorating kept them busy well into the summer. They are enthusiastic about it all and will be glad to welcome any friends passing that way.

Dr. J. Earle Edwards, pastor emeritus of Queen's Baptist Church, New York, where he served for 27 years, is now living in St. Petersburg, Fla. This past summer Dr. Edwards was guest minister for three Sundays at Trinity Methodist Church in that city. During the year he has a large Sunday School class in Pasadena Community Church of St. Petersburg. Seven miles outside the city, still this church attracts many thousands every Sunday during the tourist season.

Do you like to read about what your former classmates are doing? They'd be just as glad to hear about you! Won't you send your class reporter some news about what you're doing so she can pass it on?

11 LYMAN C. SHREVE, ESQ.
512 Masonic Temple
Erie, Pa.

Having just been appointed reporter for the Class of 1911, I would like to furnish as much news as possible for THE BUCKNELL ALUMNUS. I know you have been disappointed in the past because there hasn't been more news from our classmates; therefore, answer the questionnaire that has been mailed to you and return it to me as quickly as possible. I must have news in the Alumni Office for the January issue by November 27.

12 MRS. H. W. HOUSEKNECHT
(Maze Callahan)
103 W. Penn St.
Muncy, Pa.

*"All around me every bush and tree Says Autumn's here and Winter soon will be,
Who snows his soft white sleep and silence over all."*

LOWELL

Yes, it's here. Autumn with the falling leaves, flying footballs, luscious apples, doughnuts and cider, hot cakes and sausage, was ushered in today.

Same old story from Buck and Bruce. "Sorry but due to lack of space we were unable to print all of your news." So I am sending the leftovers in this issue.

Had a card from Eva Himmelreich Appgar and Ray while they were basking in the sun at Clearwater, Fla.

Late in the winter, a delicious and luscious box of fruit arrived from Olive Long Haggerty and Matt who were vacationing in Florida. Was it appreciated and enjoyed? Just one guess.

Helen Levegood Clark and Ray, Pop and I had lunch in Williamsport several weeks ago. We hope to have another "news addition" meeting before the snow falls.

Grace and Leon Crandall visited their daughter, Leone at the Tide Water Triangle, Yorktown, Jamestown, and Colonial Williamsburg. They were there, too, last October when Queen Elizabeth visited that section.

14 MRS. H. B. WEAVER
(Dora Hamler)
348 Ridge Ave.
New Kensington, Pa.

I found the reminder that news is due September 25 upon our return home from vacation. Sorry to report that I have no news of fourteeners.

In our mail was a letter from Edna Whittam Glover with suggested plans for the reunion next year. She has been working while we have been enjoying ourselves. Her plans will make an interesting reunion for all of us. I will begin now to urge you all to mark your calendars for next June 6 and our forty-fifth.

As a word of warning, I am asking for news or you will hear again about the Weavers' European tour. Our excuse (as if we need one) to return this summer, was to keep our daughter Jean company. We have now added Norway, Sweden, Denmark, Austria and Belgium our list. We had many interesting periences. The climax may have been ached when, after what seemed to be a peless situation, we were able to secure kets through the hotel theatre agency r "My Fair Lady," for last Saturday atinee.

At nine o'clock, London time, last Sat- day evening we boarded our BOAC ane. At 3:45 P. M., Sunday, we were locking the door of our western Penn- sylvania home.

6 THE REV. ERIC A. OESTERLE, D.D.
114 E. 188th St.
New York, N. Y.

Kimber M. Persing's 50-year teaching reer, which started in a little red school ouse in rural Pennsylvania, has kept him ert to the best current methods of teach- g. A recent invention he uses in his gh school science classes at Glenville igh is a contrivance which presents the iodic group of elements showing nor- al outer valence electrons. The Pers- gs who live in Cleveland Heights have ree children and seven grandchildren, e of them a third-year student at the . S. Naval Academy.

Lester A. Switzer retired in December, 57, after 41 years of service with the ell Telephone Company. His home is 208 North 30th St., Harrisburg.

We were at Ocean Park again for our ication for six weeks the last two of hich were devoted to directing a boys' mp.

7 MRS. ERLE M. TOPHAM
(C. Ray Speare)
425 W. Sedgwick St.
Philadelphia 19, Pa.

Don Shipman writes that he served two ears in our B. U. Ambulance Unit in orld War I and after that engaged in vil engineering work for several private ompanies, and the Federal Government. The past twenty-three years he has rved under Civil Service with the U. S. rmy Corps of Engineers in the planning, esign and construction of flood control ojects and navigation locks and dams; e latter on the lower 500 miles of the hio River for our very important inland ateway. Don says, "In May, 1957, I igerly looked forward to attending our th class reunion. However an eye iny involved a three-week hospital onement during the period of the reunion. y operation results were successful and ratifying. I am now awaiting 1962 and 967 reunions with real interest and full ntention of attending." Don and his fe live at 42244 River Park Drive, Louis- ille, Ky.

8 MRS. LAYTON E. KING
(Elizabeth Champion)
10 N. Loyalsock Ave.
Montoursville, Pa.

This is one time when I do not have single solitary note to report—not a ord from any of you class members and was sure that I would have some word om some of you who missed our eunion. So I will talk about myself. In ay I was installed as president of our illiamsport Branch of American Asso- iation of University Women and as uch presided at our first Fall meeting late 1 September. Among the guests, and rmerly a member of our branch was elyn McGann Leaber. Being in Wil- iamspport for a few days Evelyn stayed ng enough to attend the dinner and reet many old friends. Since she is now ettled in New York she will take her embership to the group there. It was ood to see her again and chat briefly.

20 MR. HAYES L. PERSON
60 S. Third St.
Lewisburg, Pa.

General Carroll H. Deitrick retired May 1 after 37 years of military service during which time he served in several theaters of war operations in administrative positions with the ordnance department. He is the holder of many military decorations including the Legion of Merit. An outstanding administrator and leader, he is respected by all who served under him for the humbleness and human understanding he exercised with his rank and command. He and Mrs. Deitrick are touring the country visiting friends and relatives and have not yet decided where they will reside.

Paul Stolz has been chosen "Teacher of the Month" for January at Hargrave Military Academy, Chatham, Va., where he is an instructor in physics, algebra and mechanical drawing. Paul was with the A. T. & T. for 13 years after leaving college, and because of his love for boys and interest in working with them, he turned to Boy Scouting and served as a Scout Executive for 11 years. He later taught in several prep schools. Among his other activities are the Academy Glee Club which he directs, and the writing of a book on rare experiences in education and in residence with a variety of "teens."

21 MRS. ELLWOOD S. DERR
(Sara Bernhart)
1360 Jefferson Ave.
Lewisburg, Pa.

Dr. Lester K. Ade is talking enthusiastically about another trip—this time to Africa or South America. Dr. Ade recently completed a five-month, 36,000 mile world girdling tour. These travels are part of his long-range plan to eventually visit all 70 countries in the world.

22 MRS. GEORGE C. WOLFE
(Ruth H. Brown)
60 S. 2nd St.
Lewisburg, Pa.

Major General Harry W. Johnson has been appointed deputy chief of staff for combat developments, Headquarters, U. S. Continental Army Command at Fort Monroe, Va. He formerly was chief of the Alabama Military District, Birmingham, Ala.

Mary Park Mertz writes that Dr. Darle Davis, who is a practicing osteopath in Cheltenham, England, has sold her house and is moving into an apartment at 39 Montpelier Terrace, Cheltenham, Gloucestershire, England. Darle came all the way from England to be at our thirty-fifth reunion in June, 1957.

Mrs. Amorita Sesinger Copeland began a new assignment on October 1 as assistant to the dean, for development, New York University College of Dentistry. In her new appointment she will again be working in the field of fund raising and public relations.

23 MRS. LEROY FRONTZ
(Olive W. Billhime)
Evergreen Farm
Allenwood, Pa.

Mrs. Walter L. Miller (Frances S. Post) has been elected president of the Bucknell Alumni Club of Indianapolis.

Following the death of Rev. Donald B. Cloward, the Council of Christian Social Progress, in response to the request of many of Dr. Cloward's friends set up a fund to be known as the Donald B. Cloward Memorial Fund, the income from which is to be used to carry on the work of the organization. For the year of 1958 the income was used to inaugurate a special lectureship at the Council's Green Theodore S. Capik '46 was elected American Legion Commander of the Department of Mexico at the annual convention in Guadalajara on July 26, 1958.

Ted came to Bucknell with the Class of 1934 but interrupted his college career to work in Lima, Peru. After serving with the U. S. Navy, Ted returned to Bucknell and received a Bachelor of Science degree in 1946.

In 1947 he went to Mexico where he held responsible positions in well-known companies in Puebla and Monterrey. At present Ted is staff assistant at Square D de Mexico, S. A., electrical equipment manufacturers in Mexico City.

Lake Conference in July. The lecturer will be Rev. Alexander Miller of Stanford University who is internationally known as a preacher and an author.

24 MRS. PAUL CUPP
(Louise Benshoff)
933 Muirfield Rd.
Bryn Mawr, Pa.

Rev. and Mrs. Roland M. Wendell (Lois H. Hamblin) have moved from Cromwell, Iowa, to Stuart, Iowa, where they will co-pastor the First Congregational Church and the Fairview Congregational Christian Church.

L. F. Hartman was elected president of the Bucknell Alumni Club of Bellefonte.

Al Stoughton is associated with the Public Health Service of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare in Washington which conducts researches on air and water pollution along with traditional services to the states in milk, food and restaurant sanitation.

26 MISS ANNA L. BROWN
45 Wildwood Ave.
Pitman, N. J.

Dr. John C. Hoshauer and Margo E. Riegner were married in Reading on August 23. The couple will reside in Edinboro where John is a member of the faculty of the State Teachers College.

27 MRS. L. H. COLLISON
(Grace M. Pfeifer)
Marydel, Md.

Chaplain (Major General) Charles I. Carpenter, chief of U. S. Air Force Chaplains, was selected to read the Scripture Lesson at the funeral service for "The Unknowns" of World War II and Korea which was held at Arlington National Cemetery on May 30. Funeral tributes at Arlington's Memorial Amphitheater included presentation of the Medal of Honor to each of "The Unknowns" by President Eisenhower. Following the funeral services, "The Unknowns" were interred in newly constructed crypts directly adjacent to the "Tomb of the Unknown Soldier" of World War I. Major General Carpenter has been named Protestant Cadet Chaplain of the new U. S. Air Force Academy at Colorado Springs, Colo.

Mrs. Louis H. Collison (Grace M. Pfeiffer) has been elected secretary-treasurer of the Bucknell Alumni Club of Southern Delaware.

28 MRS. H. M. MARSH, JR.
(Lorinne Martin)
60 Prospect Hill Ave.
Summit, N. J.

Harry H. Pierson left for a two-year study in Thailand in April to fill an assignment for the Asia Foundation. Harry represented the Asia Foundation at the Burma-Bucknell Weekend on the campus in March.

Bernhard A. Priemer was honored recently as one of the 20 year "veterans" with the Metropolitan Life Insurance Co. He is supervisor of the Standardization Bureau in the New York office. Before going with Metropolitan, he was engaged in the electrification of the Pennsylvania Railroad from Harrisburg to Philadelphia. The Priemers have lived at 9 Hudson Ave., Englewood, N. J., for 25 years and have a 15 year old daughter, Gretchen.

29 MISS THELMA SHOWALTER
425 Market St.
Mifflinburg, Pa.

President Paul E. Fink has announced the appointment of John Minnick and William "Turk" Jones as co-chairmen for our 30th reunion, June 6, 1959. Mrs. Clyde Bailey (Dorothy Lemon) will serve as Editor of the Reunion Booklet. Future issues of the ALUMNUS will carry the names of other members of the class who will serve in various capacities to make the reunion a real success.

Present plans call for a class meeting in the morning, attendance at the annual All-class luncheon in Davis Gymnasium, and as in the past, a get-together late in the afternoon at the Milton Country Club. Plans for dinner at the Club are also being made by the committee.

Word has come to your reporter that Esther Girton Harris of Phoenixville, is After fifteen years, the 1942 class reporter received news, plus a photograph, of the family of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Cromwell (Jean Pearce '42). The picture shows their four girls and one boy (boy being the dog). The girls are (l. to r.) Patti, Janice, Sandra, and Lynn. The Cromwells live at 117 Hillcrest Ave., Brockton, Mass.

secretary of the Martha Washington Guild of the famous Washington Memorial Chapel at Valley Forge, and secretary of the Museum Auxiliary of Valley Forge Historical Society.

30 MRS. BERNARD F. KLOSTERMAN
(Emmalyn Y. Fuller)
23 Leathers Rd.
South Fort Mitchell, Ky.

Dr. Byron S. Hollingshead has returned to the United States after spending five years as deputy director of the technical assistance division of UNESCO in Paris. He is currently director of the Commission on the Survey of Dentistry in the United States for the American Council on Education, with offices at 700 N. Michigan Ave., Chicago. At one time he served as an instructor of English at Bucknell and the Junior College at Wilkes-Barre before going to Keystone-Scranton as president. Later he was president of Coe College.

Mrs. William G. Jones (Sara Bailey) was elected secretary-treasurer of the Bucknell Alumni Club of Bellefonte.

Robert L. Payne has been elected treasurer of the Bucknell Alumni Club of Scranton.

The Bernard Klostermans are to gain a daughter on the 29th of November, Judith Ann Lang, an Alpha Delta Pi from the University of Kentucky.

33 MRS. ERNEST H. ENGELHARDT
(Janet Worthington)
Irondale Place, Millville Rd.
Bloomsburg, Pa.

Albert H. Fenstermacher has been elected treasurer of the Bucknell Alumni Club of Philadelphia.

Another leaf has been added to Bill Liming's crown of laurels. He has been elected president of the Professional Industrial Communications Association. Congratulations, Bill!

Dr. Burt C. Pratt has been elected vice president of the Bucknell Alumni Club of Wilmington.

George Renninger is now staff chemist-special projects at the film division, American Viscose Corp., Fredericksburg, Va., whose products are cellophane and allied products. He is chairman, Virginia-Carolina Section of the Technical Association of the Pulp and Paper Industry. His son, George, is studying physics at the University of Rochester, and daughter Anna is a 10th grader. He and Florence would like you to stop when driving through Fredericksburg.

34 MRS. WILLIAM S. LIMING
(Ruth E. Rohr)
396 Andrews Rd.
East Williston, N. Y.

Joe Kielb and his wife Pauline live at 23455 33 Mile Rd., Armada, Mich., and I'm sure they'd welcome all Bucknellians in that part of the country.

Your reporter heard from another "career" gal member of our class, Dot Kester.

This one puts your reporter to shame when I realize how much she's done since June, 1934. She is Ruth Leymeister Ditchey, M.D., of 617 E. Broad St., Tamaqua. Ruth, remember, was a small bundle of energy — well she graduated from Temple Medical School in 1938 and was licensed to practice in Pennsylvania in 1939. She married Francis J. Ditchey (Villanova '34 and Temple Medical School '38). They have five children—Frank, 18, first year student at Notre Dame University; Robert, 17, a high school senior; Ruth, 16, a high school junior; Charles, 11; and Edith, 6. Ruth has been in active practice with her husband in Tamaqua since 1941. Needless to say, she's been very busy with her two jobs and hasn't been back to the campus as often as she might like.

Mr. and Mrs. William Reiss (Ruth Chamberlin '43) are the parents of these charming children. Pictured left to right are: Kathy, 5; Doug, 11 and Nancy, 10. The Reiss address is 9 Fenton Drive, Short Hills, N. J.

Ruth sees Ellen Evans '33 and her husband Howard Clark '36 as Ellen's mother lives on the same street as the Ditchneys and, since the Clarks are active in alumni work, keeps abreast of Bucknell via them and the ALUMNUS.

35 MRS. PAUL J. DESCHANEL
(Ann W. Orr)
Chapel Wood
Gambrills, Md.

We were sorry to hear that Jane Orwig LeMon has been hospitalized and is home for a long convalescence following an operation. We always look forward to at least an annual visit with the LeMons and hope that we can soon report both good health for Jane and a get-together for two giddy, chatty couples.

September brought another chat with a Bucknellian—this time with Marian Matter Davis '36, whose family was attending the Flight Refueling Inc. picnic on the Chesapeake Bay. She has a handsome pre-school boy, a little girl and a grown-up high school junior—Diane. Speaking of grown-up children, did you know that Betty Benedict James and Jeff '34, have a daughter at the University of Maryland?

Your reporter is becoming engrossed in work at school, A. A. U. W., public relations for our county teachers' association, and so on. Please help by sending news items—even if it's just a card.

36 MRS. CLYDE E. BURGEE
(Lois Montgomery)
124 S. Fifth St.
Lewistown, Pa.

James D. Stroup has been transferred to Pittsburgh and the Penn-Sheraton Hotel as Convention Manager.

37 MRS. PAUL W. ZIEGLER
(Mabel Nylund)
12 W. Garrison Rd.
Chester, Pa.

You know they say, "In Philadelphia, nearly everybody reads..." And that's how I discovered Tom Speck has been named convention manager for the Shelburne Hotel in Atlantic City. The paper I read even mentioned Tom's Bucknell connections. Nice publicity!

Congratulations to Dr. John W. Raker who has been promoted to assistant clinical professor of surgery on the faculty of medicine, Harvard University. He joined the staff of the Medical College in 1949 as a Teaching Fellow in Surgery. He is assistant surgeon and associate chairman of the Tumor Clinic at the Massachusetts eneral Hospital in Boston, Mass. The family residence is at 16 Chauncy St., Cambridge, Mass.

Happy holiday greetings to you all! I hope that Christmas will fill you all with the spirit of giving, and you will give me some news to pass along.

0 MRS. JAMES A. MILLER
(Mary McCrina)
1492 Colfax Ave.
Benton Harbor, Mich.

A good excuse for an evening in the big city was the joint meeting of the Bucknell Alumni Club of Chicago and Bucknell Chemistry Alumni (attending the American Chemical Society Meeting) on September 10. Inza McNabb Dippert '11, who now lives in Glenview, Ill., was among those present. Don Fish '43, brother of Doug Fish, was one of those from the chemistry convention.

How about more communications like the one from Betty McCormick Ackley? She writes: "Wish I had something startling to tell you about myself but every day is so wonderfully normal that it couldn't make news. I am looking forward to having Carolyn Wallen Allen spend next weekend with us. Haven't seen her for three years. She works in Philadelphia at very responsible position." Dick is the mother of one son and three daughters, and observes: "I never have to do dishes . . . because I have a dishwasher! (joke!)"

1 MRS. WILLIAM F. HASSELBERGER
(Jean P. Steele)
605 Scott Ave.
Syracuse 3, N. Y.

Ray M. Campbell, Jr. has been elected president of the Bucknell Alumni Club of Wilmington. He has been named assistant marketing manager for "Teflon" in the Poly Chemicals Department of DuPont. He joined DuPont in 1941 at the Experimental Station near Wilmington, Del. During World War II he was assigned to the atomic energy project DuPont carried out for the government. From 1946 to 1950 he worked in research, then worked as a market analyst and a product supervisor until 1956 when he was promoted to assistant manager of technical services. He has three daughters, Bonnie Lee, 14; Cathy Jean, 9; and Barbara Ann, 2. His wife is the former Leona Nauman and the family lives at 521 Blackwood Rd., Foulk Woods, Wilmington 3, Del.

Alberta Novick '47 Killian (Mrs. Theodore J.) is seen above with her handsome family prior to arrival of daughter Coleen Mary on February 27 last. The "big brothers" are Teddy and Ricky (left and right if you are holding the magazine in customary manner). The Killians live at 203 Orchard St., Plymouth. Ted (not Teddy) had planned to be at Bucknell during the recent summer for work on his master's degree.

John F. Zeller III has been promoted to vice president—business and finance for Bucknell University on October 1. Martha and John are happy to announce that pre-enrollment at Bucknell was made on September 3, 1958, for John F. Zeller IV as a member of the Bucknell Class of 1980. That's the day John IV arrived by Stork-line.

42 MRS. THOMAS R. DIETZ
(Germaine B. Pepperman)
83 Nutt Rd.
Phoenixville, Pa.

This will be received, of course, after Homecoming and while our plans are still not materialized, I'm still hoping that a baby-sitter will pop out of the wallpaper someplace and that we can make it back for Homecoming. The news letter gave us all the details about sitting together again, a precedent started last year by our class and quite a successful venture, so let's hope we hit that 100 mark this year in seats sold in our section.

Somehow, I missed the boat in not seeing Midge Mellor Tice (Mrs. Walter) this summer. Walt and Midge live in Quakertown and Walt is part of the medical staff of the Tice Clinic, a wonderful place where his father and uncle are also in the group of doctors. I intended to see Midge all summer and finally had to make a visit to the Clinic with one of the children and the Walter Tice's were on vacation. Made arrangements to see them the next week and somehow, we missed each other, and I was terribly disappointed. By the time this goes to press, I certainly hope that we have been able to get together and I'll have some news next issue of more of the Class of '42.

43 MISS CAROLYN F. DONEHOWER
3722 Chestnut St.
Philadelphia 4, Pa.

Walter G. Held has been re-elected president of the Bucknell Alumni Club of Washington, D. C.

Donald E. Fish has been elected vice president of the Bucknell Alumni Club of Trenton.

Mrs. Hallock Luce, III (Arlene E. Downs) has three children, Linda, 10; Karen, 7; and Hallock IV, 2.

Rev. and Mrs. Douglas W. Passage announce the birth of their third child and second son, Mark Douglas, on March 7. Doug is minister of the Federated Church at West Winfield, N. Y.

Last October the Charles Danto (Elizabeth Jackson) family welcomed their third daughter, Ellen Marie. They recently moved to 9059 Piedmont, Detroit 26, Mich.

Marion Weist Wilkinson and husband Bill ('46) made the longest trip of any of the Class of 1943 reunion group when they flew from Houston, Texas, to Bucknell on June 6, 1958, for Alumni Day.

44 MRS. ROBERT F. BAKER
(Honey Rhinesmith)
Lindys Lake, R. D.
Butler, N. J.

Mr. and Mrs. George J. Grabowski (Elsa Larsen) and children Gwen and George, Jr., welcomed a new baby, John Larsen, into the family on August 6. Address: 125 Hillcrest Road, Needham, Mass.

Had notes from Janet Leach and the Art Adamsons (Irene Bardwell), a phone

In March, 1958, Frank A. C. Davis '51 began his duties on the public relations staff at the University of Pennsylvania. Previously, he had been in charge of public relations for the Michigan Medical Center, Ann Arbor, Mich. Frank and Jean (R. Jean Heinn) and four sons, Christy, 5; Jerry, 3½; Peter, 2; and Tod, 6 months; are living at 300 Pinecrest Road, Springfield. Although Frank's field of endeavor has changed (notice sweaters) his loyalty to Bucknell remains. (Recognize the DU house and the BU heating plant smokestack in this early spring snapshot on the campus?)

call from Ginny Thompson Cannon, and a card from the Gordon Brownells '43 (Cathy Wittenberg) from England en route to Brussels, but actual news is scarce this time. I'm sure you enjoy hearing from other classmates, but they want to know about YOU!

45 MRS. BURR WILLIAMSON
(Sylvia E. Cliffe)
37 Rankin Ave.
Basking Ridge, N. J.

With apologies to those who faithfully pass along their news to Lewisburg or to me, I report the following items discovered during fall clean-up of my letter-box:

Mr. and Mrs. Henry J. Chiumento (Rose A. Cianci), after 21 months of work on a "do-it-yourself" home, moved into it on June 9, 1957, and were interrupted by the unexpectedly early arrival of a son, Robert Joseph. Their address is 629 Mansion Avenue, Audubon, N. J.

June 9th is an important date at our home too, for on that date this year our Daniel Burr arrived. His welcoming committee included three wildly excited and greatly delighted little sisters, Deirdre, Donna, and Debra, who found him just what they had "ordered."

This, I think, clears my desk. Won't some of the rest of you risk sending a line or two of news?

46 MRS. LELAND C. EWING
(Elizabeth J. Wells)
51 Clunie Ave.
Hastings-on-Hudson, N. Y.

We Ewings have moved to the New York area, where Lee is associated with CBS, and are looking forward to renewing B. U. friendships.

The Charlie Fitz Baird (Norma White) family are back from England and getting settled once again in Chappaqua, N. Y.

Leonard C. Kimball has been named resident manager of the Joy Manufacturing Co. in Carlsbad, N. Mex. He is married to the former Rita Foley and has one son, Charles. Their address is 1122 Thomas St., Carlsbad, N. Mex.

47 ROGER S. HADDON, ESQ.
243 Water St.
Northumberland, Pa.

Mr. and Mrs. F. Leo Rodgers, Jr., (Nancy R. Anchor) welcomed the birth of their fifth child, Theresa, on May 7, 1957. Their other children are Francis Leo, III, Mary Roseann, Paul and George. They live at 430 Voorhees, Buffalo 16, N. Y.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Goldman (Tamar Gurvitch) will observe the second birthday of their third son, Eliot, on March 22. Their two other boys are Glenn and Barry.

Thomas H. Kinkade, Jr., tells us he has two future Bucknell co-eds, Sherry, 5, and Bonnie, 3. Their home is in Williamsport.

Mrs. Begliomini (Susan A. Maffei) has three children: Beverly, 7; David, 5, and Barbara, 2½.

Dr. Eugene L. Gaier, assistant professor of psychology at Louisiana State University, received a Fulbright grant to lecture in Finland at the University of Helsinki in the past academic year.

49 MRS. THOMAS A. FRAZIER
(Marilyn L. Harer)
1344 Mansel Ave.
Williamsport, Pa.

Don't forget to mark the week end of June 5, 1959, on your social calendar! Yes, it's time for another reunion. Co-chairmen, Dale Hay and Barbara Jones Purnell, are busy forming committees and plans for a bang-up week end. Plan on coming now.

William H. Bebb received the M.S. degree in optics from the University of Rochester in June. He is an engineering group leader with Eastman Kodak Company. With his wife, the former Emma Rabb, and children, Mark and Marilyn, he lives at 56 Cornwall Lane, Rochester, N. Y.

Frederick L. Burkhart has been named vice president of the El Paso National Bank in El Paso, Texas. He served as assistant vice president for 18 months prior to his new appointment which became effective July 1. With his wife and three daughters he lives at 6252 Arapaho Drive, El Paso, Texas.

50 MRS. DAVID MILLER
(Martha J. Kreider)
614 Penn St.
New Bethlehem, Pa.

Doris Wellenkamp is planning to be married in the coming year. Her future husband is a neuro-surgeon and they will reside in San Francisco. Doris has a very fine nursing position in San Francisco and her address is 122-11th Ave., San Francisco 18, Calif.

Robert D. Bean, his wife and Lanamarie (5½) are now living at 2425 Calamonga Lane, Sarasota, Fla. Bob is claims supervisor of the Social Security Office in Sarasota and they are enjoying the sunny south very much.

A son, Randy Todd, was born to Mr. and Mrs. Robert G. Haag (Naomi M. Hons) on April 12, 1958. Naomi is teaching school at Mt. Penn High School in Reading and her husband is a teacher in the Fleetwood High School. Their home is at 205 West 46th St., Greentree Acres, Reading.

51 MRS. HAROLD NORRIS
(Rebecca J. Rogers)
6 Griffis St.
Montrose, Pa.

Betty R. Houser and George E. Appleton '53 were married June 14. They are living in Wilmington, Del.

June Simon Robinson has been teaching trainable mentally retarded teen-agers in the Morristown Public School System. She and husband Tom and David, age 4, have moved into their new home at 80 Ridgedale Ave., Madison, N. J.

THE GRIDIRON SCENE

(Continued from Page 6)

October 18 against Gettysburg and play each week thereafter for four weeks.

Based on their high school records, which admittedly can be deceiving, the Baby Bisons should handle themselves capably against all comers. They are a bit bigger and a bit tougher than usual, and might represent the beginning of better fortunes for Bucknell football. The building job, though, is a long one, and it's only beginning.

SOCCER FIRSTS

Hank Peters feels he has the best soccer team since he took over as coach in 1952. The booters met two of their three strongest opponents in the first two games, losing 7-1 to the nation's number two team, Penn State, and to Temple, 2-1, before the biggest home crowd to watch a soccer match (over 600) since anyone can recall. With eight other teams to play, Bucknell can finish with a winner for the first time since 1949.

BASKETBALL BEGINS

Ben Kribbs spent six years building the team that will take the court this winter, and along the way they have posted 16-8 marks during the past two seasons. Led by All-East center Hal Danzig, who is a menace to every school record in sight, and amply abetted by all of last year's starters, Bucknell's biggest enemy could be overconfidence, although of a wary sort. Kribbs is still pinching himself to be sure that forwards Ellis Harley and Bob Ericson, and guards Jack Flanagan and Tommy Thompson are really back, giving him five men who average 6-3 inches.

Lack of depth may prove a handicap, but those "Big Five" will still mean that if you want to watch them, you'd better buy your tickets early.

Bucknell 1958 Basketball Schedule

Date	Opponent	Place
Dec.	4—Gettysburg	Home
Dec.	6—Rutgers	New Brunswick, N. J.
Dec.	10—Lehigh	Home
Dec.	13—Cornell	Ithaca, N. Y.
Dec.	19—Colgate	Home
Dec. 29, 30, 31	—Carrousel Tournament, Charlotte, N.C.
Jan.	3—Delaware	Home
Jan.	7—LaSalle	Philadelphia
Jan.	10—Westminster	Home
Jan.	13—Penn State U.	State College
Jan.	17—Pittsburgh	Pittsburgh
Jan.	31—Gettysburg	Gettysburg
Feb.	5—Temple	Home
Feb.	7—Albright	Reading
Feb.	14—Franklin and Marshall	Lancaster
Feb.	18—St. Joseph's	Home
Feb.	21—Delaware	Newark, Del.
Feb.	25—Lafayette	Home
Feb.	28—Carnegie Tech	Home
March	4—Muhlenberg	Allentown
March	7—Penn State U.	Home

CLUBS

(Continued from Page 8)

the Watchung Church in Bloomfield on September 7. The success of last year's program was renewed and improved. Attendance bettered last year with 207 parents, entering freshmen and alumni present for the festivities. By specific count, there were 70 entering freshmen and 112 parents with 25 alumni showing up to assist with refreshments and to add their knowledge of Bucknell to the excellent forums that took place.

Moderator Dan Rothermel '38, led a particularly lively discussion for freshman men with a comprehensive report on "What to bring, what to do and how to get there." The upper classmen from Bucknell taking part in the discussion were very well received. Jane Neu '61, led the women in a separate discussion of what a co-ed's life at the University is like.

After the forums, refreshments were served. It was pretty well agreed by the alumni present that Bucknell is attracting 70 very fine looking and seriously interested students this fall. Of the alumni present, it was very satisfying to note a good representation of the younger graduates as well as the staunch senior members of the Northern New Jersey Club. Several parents were quick to commend the program and assured us that we should continue the policy next year. It certainly is a wonderful opportunity for the incoming freshmen to meet a few others in the same boat, get some idea of the spirit of Bucknell, and see a fine group of alumni behind them and wishing them well.

—JOHN H. EVANS '50.

WASHINGTON — The Bucknell Alumni Club of Washington, D. C. held a reception on Sunday, September 7, in Burroughs Hall on the second floor of the Calvary Baptist Church. Dr. Clarence W. Cranford '29, pastor of the church and member of the board of trustees of Bucknell, gave a very interesting talk to the seventy-five alumni, freshmen, and parents in attendance. A feature of the program was the discussion of campus life and activities by a panel of upper-class students. The students participating in the panel were: Lynne Coffin '61, Dick Cranford '61, Dianne Smith '59, and Dan Conklyn '61.

—WALTER G. HELD '43,
President

DODIE MARSHALL '56

No, the caption is correct, but Bucknellians will remember Dodie better as Rhoda Wolf. In a nation-wide contest among DuPont's anti-freeze dealers, she was selected "Miss Anti-Freeze of 1958." In addition to appearing as Miss Anti-Freeze, she has just completed a screen test in Hollywood with Warner Brothers and has appeared in a half-hour filmed TV sports film.

Herbert K. Zearfoss is serving his clerkship in the law office of W. Roger Fetter 7 in Lewisburg. Herb served 4 years the Navy, attended night classes at Washington College of Law, and received his LL.B. degree in June. He and Char- y (Thelma McCarthy '54) are living at South 4th St., Lewisburg.

2 MRS. JOHN S. BOULDEN, JR.
(Barbara Bleecker)
1605 Twin Maple Ave.
Towson 4, Md.

I'm writing this from the hospital where a new daughter, Elizabeth Hyde (born September 9), and I are resting for a few days before heading for home to join Jack and the two boys.

Corinne White and Maurice Warner were married in Philadelphia on November 2. Maurice is a chemical and ceramic engineer. Their address is 1130 Green Bay Road, Lake Bluff, Ill.

William and Barbara Cunningham Smith are living in Philadelphia at 4002 S. Warner Road, Lafayette Hill.

Family additions: Bud '53 and Barbara Tredennick Bretz, a son, Charles Earle, July 9, 1957; Jim '53 and Carol Brown Gaidula, a second daughter, Debra Ann, May 14, 1958 (Jim is interning at Highland Hospital and their address is 1 Bastian Road, Rochester 23, N. Y.); Dick and Lois Gleason '53 Haberstroh, daughter, Christine Elise, October 21, 1957 (She joins brother David 4, at 7166 Mayfield Ave., Cincinnati 43, Ohio).

53 MRS. JAMES A. CHAMBERS, JR.
(Barbara Roemer)
58 Linden Ave.
Verona, N. J.

Please note our new address listed above. We moved into our home July 1 and, since the whole month of June was a big turmoil, we missed seeing you all at Reunion. There's another Bucknell couple on our street—the Dawson's, Thet and Julia (Shank) '48.

Mr. and Mrs. Ellwood A. Cook, Jr. Nancy J. Green '54) announce the birth of a daughter, Linda Joan, on April 10. They also have one son, David Paul, now 1½ years old. The family home is at 32 Rosetree Lane, Seaford, Del.

Mr. and Mrs. Herman Knieriem, Jr. (Betsy Brown) have moved to 1200 E. Ashman, Midland, Mich., as Herman has been transferred to the Midland Division of Dow Chemical Co.

Congratulations to Ed Davis—he with Lionel Kranitz '55—are about to see their comedy-drama play "Far Away the Train-Birds Cry" on Broadway.

54 MRS. PAUL C. TARR, III
(Anne E. Tuckerman)
20-A East Front St.
Media, Pa.

Westminster Recording Company has announced the release of an LP disc No. XWN 18596 recorded by The Masterwork Chorus of Morristown. Of special interest to Bucknellians is that one of the chorus members is our own Robert M. Post who was active in musical circles on campus. Bob and his wife (Anne Prosser '56) live at 38 Hamilton St., Madison, N. J.

Since July, 1957, Franklyn Graf and his wife (Barbara A. Shaffer '56) have been enjoying the pleasures and perils of landowners in the San Gabriel Valley where they purchased a new home at 1347 Greenberry Dr., La Puente, Calif. Their first child, Franklyn Rovert, II, was born on Thanksgiving, 1957.

Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Miller (Lois A. Cullen) announce the birth of their first child, Michelle Marie, on April 12, 1958.

55 MRS. JOHN C. VANCE, JR.
(Jane Jones)
1013 Clifton St.
Philadelphia, Pa.

For the past year, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Fisher (Patricia A. Tinney) have lived in their new home at 816 Park Ave., Bound Brook, N. J. On November 24, 1957, their family was increased by the birth of a daughter, Ardis Lee.

On April 5, June N. Wright became Mrs. Igor Hudadoff and is living at 121 Dehnhoff Ave., Freeport, N. Y.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Jepson, Jr. (Lindy Lindberg) of 208 Elmwood Avenue, Lincoln Park, Reading, announced the birth of twin daughters, Carol Linnea and Christina Joanne, on September 23, 1957. Their big brother Jesse was 2 years old on April 1.

Richie and Judy Beattie Klaber write proudly of the arrival of Bethany Schade on May 9, 1958.

From Daytona Beach, Fla., comes word that the Barry Savedow's have welcomed a second son, Michael Robert, on November 30, 1957.

56 MRS. WILLIAM O'NEIL
(Jean Wirths)
1706 Esplanade
Hollywood Riviera
Redondo Beach, Calif.

Ensign and Mrs. W. Christian Gretzinger III (Jane Fogarty '55) have a son, Mark Christian, born May 8. Chris is serving aboard a minesweeper in the Mediterranean.

Robert L. Sierer is head football coach and social studies teacher in Wilmington, Del. He is married to the former Leda M. Erdman and lives at Thomas Dr., Apt. 214-D, Kennett Pike, Wilmington, Del.

The engineering firm of Ann and Richard Ulp announce the addition to their staff of Steven Richard, who will handle computation of diapers and bottles and analysis of everything in sight. Affiliation became effective July 23, 1958. Address: 195 Augustine St., Rochester 13, N. Y.

58 MISS FAITH BONSALE
Woodward Road
Wallingford, Pa.

I came home from the hospital—my second stint with plastic surgery—to find lots of news to relate to all of you. Many thanks to those who have kept me informed on post-June activities.

Talked to Nancy Umholtz and she's a freshman again—this time at Cornell Nursing School.

Barb Pausser is working for Mutual Insurance Co. of New York, and she lives at 1451 Lexington Ave., New York, N. Y.

A note came from the University of Maryland that Mel Bernstein has been added to the faculty there.

Janice Byrns has been awarded a Fulbright Scholarship for studies in France.

IN MEMORIAM

The following deaths have been reported to the Alumni Office since September, 1958. The University extends sympathy to the surviving relatives.

- 1887—Miss Elizabeth A. Shipman (Inst.), August 21, 1958
- 1893—Miss M. Florence Pannebaker, February 1, 1958
- 1896—Mr. William A. Wilkinson, November 7, 1957
- 1897—Mr. John M. Gundy, September 1, 1958
- 1898—Levi T. Feltzer, Esq., August 30, 1958
- 1898—Mr. Clarence G. Dill
- 1900—Mr. C. A. Weymouth, Sr., January 29, 1958
- 1901—Mr. William L. Klose, May 8, 1958
- 1903—Dr. Charles A. Lehman, October 18, 1956
- 1905—Dr. Robert B. Mackey, August 25, 1958
- 1906—Mr. Norman E. Bliss
- 1908—Mrs. Isabelle D. Stahl Fassett
- Mrs. Mary Jones McGuire
- 1909—Mr. Carlos A. Alvarez, October 29, 1956
- 1913—Mr. William R. Frick, June 26, 1958*
- 1914—Dr. Frank W. J. Stafford, June, 1958
- 1918—Mr. Samuel J. Smith, January 31, 1958
- Mr. Harvey D. Crawford, September, 1957
- Mrs. Margaret Dolphin Dalton, March 4, 1958
- 1920—Mr. Wilbur B. Ream, November 23, 1957
- 1921—Mr. Hilding A. Larson, September 9, 1958
- Mr. B. R. Seemann, September 10, 1958
- Mr. Selin D. Ulrich, November 10, 1957
- 1923—Mr. Reeves W. Hendershot
- 1924—Mr. John F. Mitchell
- 1925—Mr. Alexander M. Palmer, November 11, 1957
- Mr. Russell C. E. Schue
- 1928—Mr. Earle L. Moyer, August 29, 1958
- Mr. George D. Hedenberg, Jr., September 12, 1956
- 1931—Mr. Allan M. Ransom, September 13, 1957
- 1937—Mr. Wladimir Lotowycz
- Mr. Edward L. Daley (MA), July 29, 1956
- Mr. Rock L. Butler (MS), August 11, 1958
- 1938—Mr. Cecil L. Ranck, September 13, 1958
- 1939—Mr. Joseph P. Bankovich, January 18, 1958
- Miss Aletha A. Wallis
- Mr. Andrew Blyszak (MS)
- 1941—Dr. Frederick W. Hankins (Honorary), August 3, 1958
- 1945—Mr. Lester E. Lieneck, July 11, 1957
- 1950—Mr. Frederic C. Hoffer, November 13, 1956
- Mr. James S. Williams
- 1951—Mr. Leonard R. Walsh (MA), January, 1958

*Erroneously reported as Walter Frick in September issue of THE BUCKNELL ALUMNUS.

Erroneously reported as Mr. Charles J. Dalton in September issue of THE BUCKNELL ALUMNUS.

Alumni Trustee Timetable

November 15—Committee on Nominations submits three candidates to the President of the Association.

December 5 — Deadline for Board approval.

January ALUMNUS — Announcement of names of three candidates in THE BUCKNELL ALUMNUS.

February 16—Petition deadline.

March 2 — Election announcement in THE BUCKNELL ALUMNUS.

April 1—Ballots in mail.

May 15—Deadline for receiving ballots in Alumni Office.

June Commencement—Certification to Board of Trustees.

PRAYER FOR THE TIMES

We praise Thee, O Thou God of nations, for thy great goodness and for Thy manifold blessings upon the sons of men. Thou art indeed Creator and Lord of all the earth and Thy glory fills the heavens.

We thank Thee for this good land and for our national inheritance; for the vision of those who conceived the ideal for our national life; for those who struggled to bring the ideal into material being; and for those who through the years have dedicated themselves and their means to the preservation and growth of the nation. Thou hast given to us the high privilege of leadership. Wealth, largeness and vast resources have been entrusted to us. Power to build or destroy, to control or to lead has been placed in our hands. Grant that we may be endowed with wisdom to match our opportunities, with humility to match our responsibilities and with consecrated devotion to match the divine call to human service and leadership. May we never fail as individuals or as a nation to meet the challenges to greatness which fill the days. In humility we acknowledge that it is not by our might or power that we can fulfill our divine destiny, but by Thy spirit and by Thy grace.

God grant us to live in peace in the affairs of nations; not a stagnation that kills or corrodes, but a peace which invokes and enriches the whole of world fellowship. Guard us from bigotry or blatant worship of material power. Grant that the spirit of charity and understanding, the attitude of good-will, and the purpose of helpfulness may dominate our affairs and guide our progress. Join in us we pray Thee, both the spirit of Thanksgiving and the joyousness of Christmas. With thankful hearts and dedicated lives may we accept the Incarnation, that Thy holy purposes may be manifest in us as individuals, as a University and as a Nation.

In the spirit of Jesus of Nazareth, we pray.

Amen

JANUARY 1959

THE Bucknell ALUMNUS

"OUR HAND ON YOUR PULSE—"

Report of Alumni Questionnaire — See Page 18

THE Bucknell ALUMNUS

OFFICERS OF THE ASSOCIATION

President

Charles F. Fox, Jr., M.D. '31

First Vice President

Robert W. Dill '27

Second Vice President

Mrs. Clyde P. Bailey (Dorothy Lemon '29)

Treasurer

Donald B. Young '33

Secretary and Editor

John H. Shott '22

Assistant Secretary and Assistant Editor

C. Bruce Rossiter '56

BOARD OF DIRECTORS

CHARLES T. FARROW '26, P. O. Box 29, Westfield, N. J. (1959)

ALLEN F. JONES '25, 2 Linn St., Progress, Harrisburg, Pa. (1959)

WILLIAM M. WILKINSON '46, 436 Oak Lane, Houston 24, Tex. (1959)

MRS. CHARLES E. COPELAND (Amorita Sesinger '22), 285 Madison Ave., Madison, N. J. (1960)

DONALD W. GLOVER '41, Mullica Hill, N. J. (1960)

THOMAS W. SPECK '37, 708 Russell Pl., Plainfield, N. J. (1960)

ROBERT W. DILL '27, 5136 Butler Pike, Plymouth Meeting, Pa. (1961)

WILLIAM D. GOLIGHTLY, '25, 309 W. Webster Ave., Scranton, Pa. (1961)

MRS. PAUL M. SHOWALTER (S. Katharine Graham '33), 855 St. Louis St., Lewisburg, Pa. (1961)

MRS. CLYDE P. BAILEY (Dorothy Lemon '29), 16 Churchill Road, Pittsburgh 35, Pa. (1962)

CHARLES F. FOX, JR., M.D. '31, 180 Washington Ave., Vandergrift, Pa. (1962)

WILMER D. GREULICH '34, 715 Greythorne Rd., Wynnewood, Pa. (1962)

EUGENE P. BERTIN '17, 210 S. Main St., Muncy, Pa. (1963)

ELINOR CHILDS '32, 74 Mt. Kemble Ave., Morristown, N. J. (1963)

ROBERT H. TAYLOR '48, 211 Ford Rd., Bala-Cynwyd, Pa. (1963)

() Year Term Expires.

Alumni Headquarters—GROUND FLOOR, EAST COLLEGE

Member—AMERICAN ALUMNI COUNCIL

ON THE COVER—in winter sports the basketball Bisons should have a very interesting winter on the hardwoods and could conceivably gain national reputation this year. Spot-lighted on the cover is co-captain Ellis Harley, 6' 3" senior forward from Clearfield.

The back cover is an invitation for you to attend your local club parties in celebration of Bucknell's 113th birthday. Be sure to circle the date of your club party today.

VOLUME XLIII

JANUARY 1959

No. 3

IN THIS ISSUE

Alumni	Page
Ellen Clarke Bertrand H'54	15
Jack D. Bozarth '50	17
Frank E. Burpee '01	9
John B. Clark '48	29
R. Henry Coleman '29	16
A. Guy Freas H'57	16
John S. Gold '18	17
Berkeley V. Hastings '13	17
Horace A. Hildreth H'56	16
Rush H. Kress '00	14
Andrew R. Mathieson '20	17
Edward C. Myers '34	25
Robert L. Rooke '13, H'51	15
Daniel E. Roop '45	27
Harry G. Schad H'58	13, 15
Donald H. Sholl '42	17
Kenneth W. Slifer '26	13, 15
Robert E. Smith '39	26
Andrew J. Sordoni H'50	15
Paul L. Troast H'52	16
Haydn J. White '23	23
William R. White '26	16
Alumni Fund and the Capital Campaign	20
Bucknell Dual Development Fund	13-20
Class Reports	21-31
Clubs	12
Coleman Hall	10
Encouraging Science Education	4-5
Faculty	9
For the Record	9-10
Frosh — Class of 1962	3
In Memoriam	31
Minutes of the Meetings	11
Our Hand On Your Pulse	18-19
Out of the Rockwell Mailbag	31
Sports	6-7, 10, 12
Student View	8

THE BUCKNELL ALUMNUS is published in January, March, May, September, and November by BUCKNELL UNIVERSITY. Entered as second-class matter December 30, 1930 at the post office at Lewisburg, Pa., under the Act of August 24, 1912.

JANUARY 1959

CLASS OF '62. Left to right, front row: Nancy King, Joan Fetter, Constance Tressler, Linda Figner, Nancy Hetler, Jane Rodgers. Middle row: Marcia Christian, Jill Barlow, Christine Rishell, Brenda Abbott, Gail McClain, Linda Pullen, Kathryn Patterson, Barbara Weaver, Helen Ranck, Edith Lord. Back row: David Windes, James Shields, Paul Jones, Howard Levine, William Seidel, James Loughery, David Cowell, John VanTuyt, Richard Humphreys, Robert Smink, John Horter, Philip Hublitz, Ronald Duck, Thomas Griffith. Not pictured: Martin Andrews, Joseph Berger, Donald Brubaker, Edgar Condict, Jeffrey Letts, Kelvin Shields, James Stevenson, Judith Thompson, and Elizabeth Wood.

THE 39 MEMBERS of the freshman class of 1962 who have either a Bucknell dad or a Bucknell mother or both provide an interesting study. Geographically they come from the states of Pennsylvania (20), New York (6), New Jersey (8), with a few from Connecticut, Massachusetts, and Ohio.

Other relatives of freshman members more distantly removed than mother or father are made up of 11 grandfathers, 7 grandmothers, 29 uncles, 17 aunts, 21 brothers, 13 sisters, 6 sisters-in-law and 20 other relationships still more distant. All in all, it would seem that the Bucknell tradition as a "family" college is well maintained in the present freshman Class of 1962.

This year's entering students who are children of Bucknellians are listed below with their Bucknellian parents' names.

Names of Students

Brenda Joan Abbott, Nanticoke
 Martin Pierce Andrews, Fayetteville, N. Y.
 Jill Allison Barlow, Wyomissing
 Joseph Emerson Berger, Freeland
 Donald George Brubaker, Watkins Glen, N. Y.
 Marcia Elizabeth Christian, Elmira, N. Y.
 Edgar Rhodes Condict, Lakewood, Ohio
 David Espenett Cowell, Lansdale
 Ronald William Duck, Bogota, N. J.
 Joan Marlene Fetter, Jenkintown
 Linda Lough Figner, Harrisburg
 Thomas Morgan Griffith, Alden
 Nancy Elise Hetler, Oakmont
 John Robert Horter, Beaver
 Philip Norman Hublitz, Allentown
 Richard Llewellyn Humphreys, Waterbury, Conn.
 Paul Morgan Jones, N. Tonawanda, N. Y.
 Nancy Ruth King, Dover, N. J.
 Jeffrey Starlin Letts, Staten Island, N. Y.
 Howard Seth Levine, Fair Lawn, N. J.
 Edith Kathleen Lord, Mt. Holly, N. J.
 James Gardner Loughery, Ridgewood, N. J.
 Gail Ash McClain, Woodbury, N. J.
 Kathryn Diann Patterson, Wellsboro
 Linda Gail Pullen, Belle Mead, N. J.
 Helen Antoinette Ranck, Hummels Wharf
 Christine Ann Rishell, Johnstown
 Jane Powell Rodgers, Emmaus
 William Lynde Seidel, Milton
 Kelvin Leigh Shields, Pittsburgh
 James Leigh Shields, Jenkintown
 Robert Daniel Smink, Jr., Williamsport
 James Haskell Stevenson, Titusville
 Judith Lynn Thompson, Ridgewood, N. J.
 Constance Louise Tressler, Herndon
 John Steelman VanTuyt, Garden City, N. Y.
 Barbara Jean Weaver, Needham, Mass.
 David Lockhart Windes, Silver Spring, Md.
 Elizabeth Anne Wood, Camp Hill

Names of Parents

Albert D. Abbott '29
 Martin P. Andrews '35
 Rodney K. Barlow '29
 Marie Trunk Barlow '31
 Ethelyn Saricks Berger '32
 Donald L. Brubaker '29
 Frank T. Christian '29
 Clinton A. Condict '37
 David E. Cowell '27
 Charles W. Duck '36
 Thelma Slack Duck '37
 John S. Fetter '32
 Franklin W. Figner, Jr. '33
 Daniel F. Griffith '36
 Helen Morgan Griffith '37
 Willard R. Hetler '27
 John Maples Horter '29
 Evelyn Pauling Hublitz '28
 Paul M. Humphreys '28
 Catherine Marshall Humphreys '28
 Dorothy Jones Jones '32
 Alden P. King '21
 Frank W. Letts '34
 Isaac Levine '22
 Dorothy Reeves Lord '36
 Gardner M. Loughery '35
 Mary Hill Loughery '35
 Warren J. McClain '31
 Marion Ash McClain '32
 Laura Grove Patterson '28
 Clifford W. Pullen '27
 Sidney G. Ranck '32
 Chester A. Rishell '36
 John S. Rodgers '36
 Esther Powell Rodgers '35
 Richard F. Seidel '32
 Joan Hill Seidel '37
 Kelvin L. Shields '34
 John J. Shields '31
 Robert D. Smink '26
 Blanche Swope Smink '55
 James B. Stevenson '32
 Robert J. Thompson '31
 Isaac J. Tressler '40
 George H. VanTuyt '31
 Katherine Leach VanTuyt '30
 J. Fred Weaver '36
 Beatrice Keller Weaver '37
 S. L. Windes '33
 William H. Wood '32

FROSH- CLASS OF 1962

follow in their Bucknell parents footsteps as Bucknell continues in the family college tradition.

Bucknell receives $64,900 grant from the National Science Foundation for third Summer Institute.

ENCOURAGING SCIENCE EDUCATION

by DR. LESTER KIEFT, Chairman, Department of Chemistry and DR. MELDRUM B. WINSTEAD, JR.

IT WAS THIRTY-EIGHT YEARS AGO that H. G. Wells wrote "Human history becomes more and more a race between education and catastrophe." He might well have been writing about today's world. During the past year, many anxious Americans have concerned themselves with our American education in general and science education in particular. The United States has increasing needs for people well-trained in mathematics, science, and engineering. In order to obtain them, do we need a "crash" program in science? We feel that a "crash" program would add many young people to fields where they have little aptitude and would probably cut down on the quality of our scientific training. Our leading educators and scientists agree that this is not the answer. Not every young person can adapt his talents to the physical sciences, and no one should be forced into any field of science if he lacks the necessary aptitude and personality. We will be doing many of our most talented young people a great injustice if in our eagerness to obtain tomorrow's scientist, we overlook tomorrow's scholars and artists. We must not concentrate too much of our attention on this one area of education, or we will be in danger of neglecting other important areas.

While we prize what scientists and engineers have given us, we know that they have their limits. They have provided us with the atom bomb and intercontinental ballistic missiles, but the final decision as to whether to use them, and how, and when must rest with others. To some extent this decision rests with all of us, and what we decide to do will depend on many factors—military, political, economic, religious.

A sane approach to this serious shortage of scientists is to make certain that science is taught in our high schools and that it is taught by teachers adequately trained in science. Many of our high school science teachers are inadequately trained in science. For example, last year in the New York City school system alone more than 10,000 students were in science classes taught by teachers who were not trained in science. This is a situation that threatens to become worse. Between 1950 and 1955, the number of graduating teachers qualified to teach high school mathematics dropped 53 percent and those qualified to teach science dropped 59 percent. Furthermore only about 60 percent of the graduates certified to teach mathematics or science in 1955 entered teaching as a career.

On the students' side—partly because of inadequate guidance programs—there has been a drift away from science and mathematics courses. The result of low student interest, and poor high school programs in science and mathematics is virtually to foreclose careers in science and engineering to many bright young people. They miss the necessary basic training. Many who do attempt college training in these fields are ill-equipped. Engineering school deans report that fully half of their students enter with deficiencies in mathematics.

It was in 1953 that the National Science Foundation started a program to encourage our high school teachers to improve subject-matter mastery of science and mathematics. They started the Institute program at two colleges and it has continued to grow each year. Last year 125 Institutes were conducted. Government support for this program has increased each year since its inception. Over six thousand high school teachers went back to school last summer—many for the first time in fifteen or twenty years.

The National Science Foundation has sponsored an Institute at Bucknell during the past two summers for sixty high school teachers. Recently the National Science Foundation announced a grant of $64,900 to Bucknell University to conduct a third Institute at the University in the summer of 1959 to accommodate 75 teachers.

Dr. Lester Kieft

Dr. Meldrum B. Winstead, Jr.

Over half of the 120 teachers who attended our previous Institutes came from Pennsylvania and the remainder from twelve other states. There were more than three hundred applications received for the 1957 Institute. Last summer approximately six hundred and fifty application forms were received. The selection of participants was determined by the following aims and objectives:

1. To improve the subject-matter competence of the participating teachers.
2. To strengthen the capacity of these teachers for motivating able students to consider careers in science.
3. To provide definitely designed courses in the field of science.
4. To provide an opportunity to discuss science teaching with other science teachers.
5. To stimulate the use of demonstrations and other good teaching techniques.
6. To bring these teachers into personal contact with prominent scientists who participate in the Institute.
7. To provide teachers an opportunity to visit industrial research laboratories in the area.
8. To increase the prestige of teachers.

The majority of the Institute teachers had had from three to twenty years experience in high school teaching. Many of those with only a few years experience were not only able to profit from their associations with more experienced teachers in the Institute, but were also able to apply their courses as credit towards completing the requirements for the Master's degree in Education. The renewed enthusiasm and stimulation which the teachers received from the course work offered in the Institute and by their associations with other teachers, professors, and visiting lecturers provided them an opportunity to look forward to many more fruitful years in their profession. They left the Institute with a new purpose in teaching, and many felt what one expressed when he said: "I thoroughly enjoyed every aspect of the Institute and hope that I may be able to repeat the experience soon. I realize now how badly I needed it."

The formal Institute program consisted of several types of activities: (1) courses in subject matter, (2) lecturers by visiting scientists and other individuals, (3) discussion groups, and (4) field trips to nearby research laboratories. Last year the full-time teaching staff consisted of seven Bucknell faculty members. Each of the courses taught at the Institute carried three semester hours of graduate credit towards the Master of Science in Education degree. They were designed specifically for teachers and were conducted much like graduate courses with lectures, reading assignments, library research, and examinations.

The afternoon lecture program, which is an integral part of the Institute, brought the high school teachers into contact with a number of prominent scientists. Each lecturer remained on the campus for at least two days, and in addition to his general lecture, he also presented two special lectures in his particular field.

In addition to the discussion period which followed the afternoon lectures, there were four groups (biology, general science, mathematics, and physical science) which met twice a week. These meetings helped the Institute faculty better understand some of the many problems which face the high school teacher today.

Several field trips were taken during the summer, and these involved the entire Institute. There were additional trips for the biology and mathematics teachers. On every trip there were lectures, and, sometimes, demonstrations by key research personnel in addition to the visit of the research laboratories. The research directors and their staffs were very generous in giving their time since they realized the value of the entire program to the high school teacher.

Most of the participants in the Institute indicated that they would like to return to Bucknell for another Institute. They felt that the Institute had met their expectations and that the work would have a direct bearing on their teaching. As one member of the Institute put it: "The Institute program was excellent, well planned and coordinated. The faculty represented a high type of personnel. They upheld high standards, but showed a great deal of understanding of our problems. I feel that this type of Institute must be just what the Federal Government had in mind."

We would appreciate it if Bucknell Alumni would contact their high school science teachers and bring this opportunity to their attention. The high school teachers should apply to Dr. Lester Kieft, Director, Institute for High School Science Teachers, Bucknell University, Lewisburg, Pennsylvania.

THE SCIENCE FAIR CHALLENGE

In addition to our Institute program, Bucknell has been cooperating with the West Branch Manufacturers' Association in sponsoring the Susquehanna Valley Science Fair at Bucknell University. The West Branch Manufacturers' Association is the first manufacturing association in the country actively engaged in sponsoring a science fair. The Science Fair is a tried and tested teaching device that reaches out into the classroom. The fair is designed to encourage interest in the study of science among high school students and to help the teachers discover and encourage the exceptionally able and gifted science student.

It gives the student increased interest and enthusiasm for the wonders of science that have been opened to him. It allows the students to discover for themselves the challenge that science has in store for them. It may even be the gateway to their future profession. The fair is held in Davis Gymnasium and last year over 600 high school students prepared projects for exhibition.

In recent months many individuals have attributed the decline in science studies in the Nation's schools to "kids just don't like tough science subjects." We believe that the falsity of this premise is amply illustrated by the truly remarkable examples of youthful application and industry displayed in our Fair.

No other age level can show any more tireless enthusiasm for hard work than our youngsters, if it is properly channeled and encouraged. What the Fair proves, beyond any reasonable doubt, is that American youth can and will meet any challenge with which it is confronted, if only the adults—their fathers, mothers, and teachers—will back them up with constructive help and advice. Low standards—in scholarship and most other categories—are not usually set by youngsters but by the adults they imitate. Public interest in the fair was extremely high and it is estimated that more than 10,000 people visited the exhibits during the two days the fair was open to the public.

SCIENCE EDUCATION CONSULTANT

In September Bucknell began a pilot program in science education sponsored jointly by Doctors for Bucknell and the University. The program is designed to strengthen Bucknell in the basic science field by helping to attract superior high school students for our science departments.

Dr. Rudolph E. Haffner has been selected to act as a liaison person between the University and the high school science teachers in the Susquehanna Valley. Dr. Haffner is teaching part time on the campus and the remainder of his time is devoted to work with the area science teachers and their students. Dr. Haffner received his Ph.D. degree in biology from Yale University and before coming to Bucknell taught at Colby, Yale, and Wesleyan.

A break between classes in front of the F. W. Olin Science Building.

WINTER SHOULD BE A BRIGHT ONE FOR ALL THREE VARSITIES

BY ARLIE SCHARDT
Sports Information Director

TWO YEARS AGO Coach Ben Kribbs' Bucknell basketball team turned in the first winning record by a Bucknell quintet in over a decade, and while they were at it, his marksmen broke the all-time school record for victories in one season by coming home first 16 times in 24 starts.

Last year, virtually the same group tied that record by finishing again with 16 wins and eight losses.

Now, as the 1958-59 season gets into full swing, the same five men who tied the victory record last year are hard at work trying to break it. As of this writing, they have gotten off to a flawless start by downing Gettysburg in the opener at snow-bound Davis Gym, 77-62, and tripping Rutgers on the Scarlet's own court, 95-69.

The men elected by their teammates to lead the way through the campaign are senior center Hal Danzig, Rochester, N. Y., and senior forward Ellis Harley, Clearfield, Pa., who will serve as co-captains.

They are joined in the starting unit by veterans Bob Ericsson, senior forward, Jack Flanagan, senior guard, and Tommy Thompson, junior guard. Ericsson stands Hal Danzig, 6' 6" senior center and co-captain of the Bisons, prepares to sink one. Hal is a native of Rochester, N. Y.

6-6, Flanagan 6-1, and Thompson 6-0, giving the team an average height of better than 6-3 when combined with Danzig's 6-6 and Harley's 6-3.

The attack is built around the talents of the powerful Danzig, who set school marks in scoring (426) and rebounding (387) last season, and who has piled up 769 points in two years to place him only 414 from the career record completed in 1951-1952 by Joe Gallagher.

Bucknell has everything a potentially fine basketball team needs—speed, agility, experience, height, and desire—each of these vital elements is present, and is embellished by the strenuous conditioning program set down by Kribbs early in the fall, beginning with several weeks of pounding over the cross country course.

To balance off these assets, though, are two potentially fatal liabilities; first, the schedule, which is the toughest in Bucknell history and includes practically every outstanding powerhouse in the east; second, the reserves consist mainly of untested, though promising, sophomores.

The Carrousel Tournament, rapidly becoming one of the nation's leading basketball classics, attracted such giants as Bucknell's first-round opponent, St. Francis of Loretto, with its half-dozen regulars standing over 6-5. Others in the tourney, which was concluded on New Year's Eve, included Clemson, Davidson, Fordham, George Washington, Pitt, and South Carolina, making up quite an imposing list of "name" basketball powers.

Penn State, Temple, St. Joseph's, La Salle and Pitt, all perennial court pace setters, also appear on the Bison schedule, meaning there is little room for relaxing and a lot of room for thrills throughout the winter grind.

Reserve-wise, the problem which Kribbs considered his number one obstacle at season's start, lack of depth, could become critical if the Bisons hit a serious jam in which a scoring punch is called for.

Two upperclassmen, both good drivers and good shooters, can help a lot, including senior Bill Wooster, Rochester, and junior Pete Matz, Fanwood, N. J. Wooster whipped in nine points in three minutes against Rutgers.

Leading sophs are Bruce Babich and Lou Slife, from East Rockaway, N. Y., and Dayton, Ohio, along with the man who must replace Danzig when the need arises, 6-4 Dave Evans, Lakewood, Ohio. Doug Horstman, Mike Kasnick, and Larry Stoops round out the squad.

SWIMMING

"The old order changeth in a hurry" is the way Coach Bob Latour has paraphrased an old truism in the Bucknell swimming pool. After losing all eight in the first year of Bison swim history, his team finished with 6-2 last year.

This season will be conspicuous not so much for the varsity's exploits because that group is a bit thinner than last year, but rather for the thrill of anticipation that will be provided by the freshmen, who opened their season last week with a stunning upset—they tied one of America's prep swimming giants, the Hill School, by a 43-43 score, and did it in Hill's own tank.

WRESTLING

Coach Bill Wrabley doesn't want to change anything. His team won all seven matches last year, and he won't mind a bit if they do it again.

Graduated are Larry Dempster (7-0) and Edge Feuel (3-3-1), but back are the following: Dave Murdock at 167 pounds, whose 1957-58 record was 7-0 and was capped by a first in the Middle Atlantic Championship; John Ayre (7-0) at 130 pounds; Pete Fritts (7-0) at 147; Roland Bell (5-1-1) at 137; Grant Watkins of the soccer team is back at 177, while Kenny Wightman and Bob Glickman return at 123.

GRIDDERS, BOOTERS, LOOK HOPEFULLY TO FUTURE

TO LOOK AT THE RECORD of the fall varsities now that smoke has cleared away is like coming home from a casual vacation to find that your house burned down.

Things just didn't seem that bad at the time. But the old facts are that Bucknell's house really did take a beating—the Bisons wound up with four wins in 19 varsity contests, including a 1-8 record in football and a 3-7 mark in soccer.

Both teams are going to improve next year, although that statement probably appears ridiculously superfluous in the face of the black and white reality in the preceding paragraph (you might easily say "They can't help but improve"). But the truth is that Bucknell can look forward to a marked upswing in both sports in 1959.

Team captains have been chosen in both sports. Leading Bob Odell's gridders will be an aggressive and versatile lineman from Reading, Pa., Larry Mathias. Hank Peters announced that his soccer team chose co-captains, including junior Steve Flamhaft, Brooklyn, N. Y., and sophomore Bob Schad, Jenkintown, Pa.

Mathias started at center throughout the first half of the season, then switched to guard when a rash of injuries depleted that position. Throughout the year Odell repeated that "Pound for pound, there isn't a better football player anywhere than Larry Mathias," adding that "If Larry had a little more size (he's 5-10, 180 pounds) he could start on any team in the country."

Flamhaft was the driving force of the soccer team all season. Like the gridders, the soccermen suffered most from lack of reserves, as witness their 0-0 halftime duel with Navy which wound up as a 4-0 loss when the Fiddies bowed down with two alternate units in the second session.

Flamhaft was chosen second team on the all conference squad along with fullback Roger Mackey and was also chosen to try out for the eastern college all star team in a series of matches sponsored by the U. S. Olympic Committee in New York during December. He spent the Christmas vacation in Florida as a member of the North All stars for the annual North-South game in St. Petersburg.

Schad was chosen on several all-opponent teams for his fine play throughout the year, and will be a key factor in boosting Bucknell scoring from his inside right spot next fall.

SEASON SUMMARY

COLGATE 7, BUCKNELL 0—The biggest crowd of the year, nearly 8,000, appeared for Dad's Day game despite the previous week's disturbing 19-13 loss to underdog Carnegie Tech. Colgate's big line was outthit all afternoon by the Bisons, but Fred Rice's Red Raiders scored with only moments left in the first half on the only drive that carried them past the 50 in the first 30 minutes of action.

Bucknell established what was to become an unhappy habit for the rest of the season by making several serious threats, only to bog down in close.

Bright spot for the Bisons was George Salinger's interception of three passes, for which the Harrisburg junior received All East recognition.

RUTGERS 57, BUCKNELL 12—This game was unique in that the Bisons made 20 first downs and gained 348 yards while absorbing one of the worst losses in recent Bucknell history.

All-America Billy Austin was the whole story before 20,000 Homecoming fans at New Brunswick as he smashed the school rushing record by carrying for 189 yards as well as scoring two touchdowns and passing for two more.

Rutgers was simply too big, fast, and deep for Bucknell.

During the Homecoming Weekend, the members of the 1933 Bucknell football team held a reunion at the Lewisburg Club. Pictured from left to right are: "Doc" Pangburn '15; Joe Rhubright '35; George "Butch" Boiston '35; Nick "Beppo" Farina '34; Jack "Mush" Dorman '34; Max Reed (their line coach); Dr. Edwin "Whitey" Raymaley '36; Jack Dempsey '34; and Bob Pethick '36.

LAFAYETTE 34, BUCKNELL 6—Bucknell excited a damp Homecoming crowd of 5,800 by jumping to a 6-0 lead where Paul Terhes picked his way through five yards of tacklers to score.

The Leopard ground attack soon took charge, though, paced by three TD's by Don Nikles, and the visitors scored in every quarter to take their fourth straight win of the season.

LEHIGH 35, BUCKNELL 14—This is the most deceptive final score of the season. Lehigh held a shaky 14-6 lead with 6 seconds remaining in the third quarter, then drove 53 yards in 8 plays for a 22-6 advantage that broke the Bisons' back and added two quick ones in the fourth quarter.

The longest scoring play in the Middle Atlantic Conference was executed when Terhes passed to Jack Eachus, Phoenixville, Pa., for an 84 yard touchdown on which Eachus ran the last 40 yards.

BUCKNELL 44, TEMPLE 6—A great day in Philadelphia, and a wonderful week end for the team. The teams spent Friday night at the famed Cherry Hill Inn, Haddonfield, N. J., then spent most of Saturday afternoon scoring touchdowns in Philadelphia, paced by Paul Terhes, who scored three touchdowns, passed to Jim Brady, Philadelphia, Pa., for a fourth, passed for two conversions and ran for another.

Another fine sophomore quarterback, Fred Elliott, Philadelphia, Pa., replaced Terhes in the final canto and promptly flipped a 37 yard touchdown pass to soph end Mike Goldstein, giving the Brooklyn, N. Y., wingman a touchdown on his first varsity reception.

This win broke the longest losing streak in Bucknell history, 11 games counting five from 1957.

Most important, it was the first win by a Bucknell team for Bob Odell, something the players had hungered for almost to the point of developing a guilt complex about it during the middle part of the season.

DELAWARE 28, BUCKNELL 8—This was without doubt the best game Bucknell played all year. The outmanned Bisons stood up against a two platoon pounding for three quarters before a penalty against Bucknell for pass interference gave Delaware 42 yards and first down on the Bison three.

(Continued on Page 10)

OF WHAT VALUE ARE VALUES?

If we are to change our values we must look for a potent force to stir us out of our self-interest.

DR. PHILIP E. JACOB has recently published the results of an extensive survey of American colleges in a book entitled Changing Values in College which analyzes the trends of student values. This book was the theme of the 1958-1959 Religion-in-Life Program at Bucknell, and we were fortunate to have Dr. Jacob on campus to speak at Convocation. Some of the statistics tabulated in this study raised considerable comment and afforded us an opportunity to examine ourselves in relationship to the entire country.

Dr. Jacob reports that "the values of American college students are remarkably homogeneous, considering the variety of their social, economic, ethnic, racial, and religious backgrounds, and the relatively unrestricted opportunities they have had for freedom of thought and personal development." However, several colleges, very definitely the small minority, indicate a significant change in student values from the freshman through senior years. There is also a rather wide range of difference in values among several schools. A giant spectrum of values held by students at all of the colleges ranges from orthodoxy and conservatism to liberalism and tolerance of individualism. Into what particular part of this spectrum does Bucknell fit? In which direction do the values of Bucknell students change, if they change at all? What is the University doing to develop a potency and a special atmosphere that can exert a more profound influence upon the attitudes of her students?

Bucknell seems to find its place close to the center of the spectrum, but, because of its character as a small liberal arts school located in the North, it leans slightly toward liberalism. It does not seem to have any characteristic effect upon its students as far as their own values are concerned. The third question above is the important issue: what are we doing at Bucknell to develop a more liberal and open-minded attitude—the apparent aim of a liberal arts college?

Noted recently, through editorials and letters to the editor in THE BUCKNELLIAN, in classroom discussions, and in informal dorm, fraternity, and sorority discussions, are increasing differences of opinion that cause discord and a general rising discontent with the present state of affairs on campus and in the world. There are those who are concerned over this discord and wish to resolve it quickly and quietly. But it seems to me that this is the beginning of a rebellion against apathy and a realization of the need for improvement. It is this discord that increases interests beyond ourselves.

Dr. Jacob says the lives of students are ruled by self-interest. We can find a striking parallel between this type of interest and the chemical phases of the natural elements. When atoms are left undisturbed they are satisfied within themselves, and float unconcerned as a formless gas. But when they are disturbed by some outside force, they begin to move and discover that, indeed, other atoms do exist, and they become attracted to these other atoms.

Society holds together, too, when interests extend beyond the self. It is held together by the attraction for and interest in others. We see it when we begin to question the selfish motives behind our activities. A society based on self-interest loses its cohesiveness and eventually disintegrates. Individuals become self-contained, and as such, lose the power to further their own interests.

Bucknell students are not politically-minded; there is a definite general lack of concern for student government and the election of student leaders, and there is poor attendance at class meetings. As far as I can learn, this has been the situation for several years. Recently an anonymous article appeared in THE BUCKNELLIAN suggesting that because of the lack of interest along this line we discontinue the Student-Faculty Congress as a campus organization. What an agitator this type of statement is! It is this type of force that causes some of the self-centered atoms to sit up and notice the other atoms, S. F. C. is a campus tradition that has always been and always must be although most students do not realize its function. Perhaps a threat to do away with part of the campus tradition will stir up a little interest.

Bucknell seems to conform to the findings of Dr. Jacob that students do well in the classrooms of liberal arts schools, but do not make the connection between liberation of mind and control of values. Instead of holding a college education in high regard, cheating is freely acknowledged at a majority of the colleges. However, for the past several years there has been a core of students on campus who have been vitally interested in the establishment of an academic honor system. It's a difficult job and has taken a great deal of time and patience on the part of a few people. The project has reached a temporary standstill, but has by no means been abandoned. This is further evidence of the attempt of the University to redirect the values of the students, to develop a concern for the values held important in the University, and to strengthen the regard for a liberal arts education.

Bucknell stands at approximately the center of the spectrum of values, but has a strong potentiality for strengthening and redirecting the values of its students. We hear every day the cry against conformity, for it has been pointed out that the conformists, who are in the majority, almost always seem to elect a non-conformist for a leader—someone who is different and who is not afraid to stand by his or her convictions. But college should be a humanizing experience where people learn mutual respect. This is not conformity; it is developing an interest in others for themselves, for this is the basis of a strong society. The redirection of our values in this manner, which generally begins in college, must stay with us for life.

FOR THE RECORD

A review of selected items of interest concerning people, events and important developments at Bucknell University.

Faculty

FEW MEN have left so many building memorials to their service for Bucknell University as Frank E. Burpee, professor of mechanical engineering, meritorius, who passed away in Lewisburg on Saturday, November 29, 1958.

Professor Burpee was Bucknell's first superintendent of buildings and grounds and directed the construction of many important units of the University's physical plant, including Hunt Hall.

Professor Burpee was born on May 6, 1872, at Beloit, Kansas, and graduated from Bucknell University in 1901. He took his Master of Arts degree at Bucknell, and later did graduate work at the University of Michigan and the University of Chicago. Prior to his appointment in 1912 as professor of mechanical engineering, he had taught Latin and Greek in the old Bucknell Academy and mathematics at the College. He retired from teaching in 1937 after a career of twenty-five years as professor and supervisor of the University's buildings and grounds. He continued to serve as superintendent of buildings and grounds until his retirement in 1944.

He was responsible for the development of the University golf course and was a member of the council which directed Bucknell's athletic program. Actively interested in the Bison Club from its earliest beginnings, Dr. Burpee was the recipient of the first membership award in the organization. He was for many years a member of the Lewisburg Borough Council, served as its president, and also as Burgess of Lewisburg. He was also founder and president of the Lewisburg Motor Club, president of the Lewisburg Rotary Club, and an active member of the William Cameron Fire Company.

In 1905 he married the former Pearl L. Smith of Youngsville, Pennsylvania, whose death occurred in 1949. He is survived by three sisters, one of whom, Mrs. Cora Braymer, made her home with her brother in Lewisburg; by a daughter, Mrs. John H. Kinsloe (Evelyn Mae Burpee '31) of Mount Union; a son, Stanley Burpee '35 of Greene, New York; and four grandchildren.

DR. ROBERT E. BUTTS, assistant professor of philosophy is the author of an abstract, "Does 'Intentionality' Imply 'Being'? A Paralogism in Sartre's Ontology," which appeared in the October 9 issue of The Journal of Philosophy.

The full paper, of which this abstract is a summary, was read by Dr. Butts at the fifty-fifth annual meeting of the American Philosophical Association, Eastern Division, at the University of Vermont, December 27-29, 1958. The paper attempts to show that the philosophical system of the French existentialist, Jean-Paul Sartre, involves serious logical difficulties which make its acceptance on rational grounds impossible.

THE CURRENT ISSUE of The College English Association Critic contains an essay, "Poems Pickled in Anthological Brine," by Professor Harry R. Garvin of the Department of English.

Dr. Garvin points out that famous poems have a ready-made audience with appreciations and that readers, especially professors, often lose their first vibrant impressions of widely anthologized poems. After explaining the reasons for the failure in sensitiveness toward such poems, the author points out a variety of ways by which professors and critics may overcome the dangers of this insentiveness. The author illustrates his points by referring to his own experiences with specific poems.

FIVE MEMBERS of the Bucknell University faculty attended the annual fall conference of the Pennsylvania Department of Higher Education. Members attending included Dr. Frank C. Abbott, assistant dean of the University, and Professors Harry R. Garvin, James A. Gathings, Walter H. Sauvain and Manning A. Smith. Dr. Abbott served as analyst to the group of teachers in the social science department who discussed means of developing greater quality in their teaching field. Dr. Sauvain is currently serving as vice president of the Department of Higher Education and is also president of its college and university sections. Dr. Sauvain summarized the conference at its group session.

FOUR MEMBERS OF THE FACULTY in the Department of Music at Bucknell played prominent roles in the performance of "The Messiah" when the Bucknell Mixed Chorus and Symphony Orchestra presented Handel's famous oratorio in the Forum in Harrisburg. The Bucknell group appeared in concert at the invitation of the Pennsylvania Music Educators Association which held its annual convention in the state capitol. Performance of the oratorio was a highlight of the convention and attracted more than 1000 music educators. Professor Darina J. Tuhy was the piano accompanist, while Professor Allen W. Flock conducted the oratorio. Professor Jack S. Crim was the tenor soloist, and Professor E. Lindsey Merrill was the director of the 40-piece orchestra.

ESTABLISHMENT OF A MEMORIAL AWARD in tribute to the late Melicent Melrose, instructor in voice, emerita, at Bucknell University, was recently announced by Psi Chapter of Mu Phi Epsilon, national professional music sorority, of which the beloved Bucknell teacher had long been a member.

Designed to recognize scholastic achievement, the award will be made annually to the member of Psi Chapter who has achieved the highest grade average for the year. It will consist of a plaque bearing the recipient's name and a pendant with a sorority seal.

University

A CAPACITY CROWD of more than 2500 jammed Davis Gymnasium on November 10, to give an attentive and enthusiastic reception to a concert by the Pittsburgh Symphony Orchestra conducted by William Steinberg.

Sponsored by the Bucknell Artist Series, this appearance of the Pittsburgh Symphony Orchestra was the first of four programs to be presented during the 1958-59 season. The next presentation will be the Curtis String Quartet with Rey de la Torre, classic guitarist, on January 15, 1959. Emlyn Williams, dramatist, will present an evening of Dylan Thomas on February 9, and Soulima Stravinsky, pianist, will appear on March 10.

THE UNIVERSITY was host recently to nearly 100 area businessmen who attended the Small Business Conference sponsored by the Bucknell Business Forum and ten other groups.

Designed to assist the small businessman with his special problems, the

(Continued on Page 10)

FOR THE RECORD

(Continued from Page 9)

Conference featured both afternoon and evening sessions. Five guest speakers interested in the development and success of small business fields took part in the program. They included representatives of Dun and Bradstreet, the Federal Reserve Bank, the Small Business Administration, and the Pennsylvania Department of Commerce.

Professor Neil F. Shiffler arranged the program of the conference.

THE ENROLLMENT AT BUCKNELL UNIVERSITY for the fall term reached a total of 2,198 students, approximately 100 more than the number enrolled last fall. Undergraduates number 2,081 and 117 are special and graduate students. Included in the student body are 132 veterans. Men continue to outnumber women by nearly two to one. The undergraduate body includes 1,306 men and 775 women.

BUCKNELL UNIVERSITY's current freshman class includes 17 students who were valedictorians of their high school classes.

AN EXHIBITION OF NINETEENTH CENTURY American painting, one of the most important of its kind ever held at Bucknell University, was shown in the galleries of the Ellen Clarke Bertrand Library during November.

The exhibit consisted of paintings by Pennsylvania-born John F. Francis (1808-1886), who has been termed the most able of the mid-century still-life artists, and represents the first modern exhibit of his work ever held.

At the opening of the exhibit, Dr. Harold E. Dickson, professor of fine arts at the Pennsylvania State University, lectured on Francis and his place in American painting. Dr. Dickson, a noted authority on American art, is the author of A Hundred Pennsylvania Buildings and other books and articles in his special field.

The Francis exhibit, sponsored by the Friends of the Library and the Department of Art, was assembled and directed by Mrs. Blanche K. Baughman, librarian in charge of exhibits and archives at Bucknell. According to Mrs. Baughman, the search for the 32 paintings that made up the exhibit had been under way for the past three years.

THE ARCHIVES OF BUCKNELL UNIVERSITY have recently received some books, papers and memorabilia that once belonged to Dr. George Groff, a former distinguished member of the Bucknell faculty.

Dr. Groff was professor of natural sciences at Bucknell from 1879 to 1910 and was acting president of the University in 1888-1889. It was through Dr. Groff's efforts that the University opened its doors to women in 1883. President David Jayne Hill said publicly of Dr. Groff that he was the father of coeducation at Bucknell.

An item of interest concerning Dr. Groff's life is the fact that he was chief sanitation officer for the Pennsylvania State Board of Health during the Johnstown flood of 1889. Interesting records of the flood and his part in this disaster are included in the material given to the library.

Alumni are reminded to send material relative to Bucknell history to Dr.

J. Orin Oliphant, University Archivist.

DR. RICHARD L. GREEN, professor of English at Wesleyan University and former president of Wells College, presented the Harry Walcott Robbins Memorial Lecture to a group of nearly 200 students and teachers in the Olin Science Auditorium on November 21.

DEDICATION OF COLEMAN HALL, the University's largest classroom building now nearing completion, has been set for Saturday, January 17. At a special convocation that morning, the building will be formally presented to the University by Dr. Charles L. Horn, president of the F. W. Olin Foundation, which made a grant of $1,475,000 for its construction.

William R. White '26, chairman of the Board of Trustees, will accept the building for the University and President Merle M. Odgers will make the principal address.

An added highlight of the convocation will be the awarding of honorary degrees to Louis W. Robey '04, former University trustee; Rabbi Samuel H. Markowitz '14 of the Beth David Reform congregation of Philadelphia; and Jens Frederick Larson, University architect.

Coleman Hall is named in tribute to Dr. William H. Coleman, vice president and dean of the University, emeritus, who served Bucknell for thirty-four years as a teacher and administrator prior to his retirement last June.

A report of the dedication will be carried in the March issue of THE BUCKNELL ALUMNUS.

LOOK TO FUTURE

(Continued from Page 7)

The call was enough to pull the rug out from under any team, since it denied Bucknell of a pass interception which would have given them the ball at a time when their own passing attack had begun to click consistently. The real indignity, though, was that no contact was made between the Bucknell defender and his man, as movies later verified.

Delaware scored twice in a minute to secure the victory, then Bucknell drove 74 yards in 13 plays to score, with Apgar slashing through for his first, and well deserved, six pointer of the year. Delaware's superior depth and ground attack finally turned the trick, but the score should have been much closer.

BUFFALO 38, BUCKNELL 0—The biggest and best team Bucknell met. The Bulls just trampled the Bisons, and there's really no more to say!

HONORS: Terhes finished first in the Middle Atlantic Conference in passing and total offense, and Jack Eachus was the number one pass receiver. Brady was third and Apgar fourth in receptions, and Apgar fifth in punting.

In the E. C. A. C., Terhes was second in passing and total offense in the small college bracket, Eachus and Brady third and fourth in receptions, and Bucknell third in passing offense.

Mike Hixson, Paul Terhes, and George Salinger all received honorable mention on the All East team, small college division.

SOCCER

Hank Peters' booters were hampered by inexperienced forwards but the defense was excellent, enabling Bucknell to scare many more experienced elevens and beat some, too, including Lycoming, 3-1, Gettysburg, 4-1, and Muhlenberg, 4-1.

They lost 2-1 to Wilkes in a double overtime, held Navy to 0-0 at half before bowing to depth, 4-0, and did not disgrace themselves in losing to Elizabethtown, 5-2, and Drexel, 6-2.

Bill Sharp was brilliant at goalie all year. Other standouts besides the trio mentioned earlier included Jim Balta and Tom Clarke, the co-captains, who paced the fine Bison defense.

The Bison scoring punch should be much stronger in 1959, and Peters is optimistic about making another bid for a winning soccer season at Bucknell.

minutes of the meetings . . .

Present at the semi-annual meeting of the Board of Directors of the General Alumni Association on October 24, 1958, were: President Charles F. Fox, Jr.; First Vice President Robert W. Dill; Second Vice President Mrs. Dorothy Lemon Bailey; Directors: Charles T. Farrow, Allen F. Jones, Mrs. Amorita Sesinger Copeland, Donald W. Glover, Thomas W. Speck, William D. Golightly, Mrs. Katharine Graham Showalter, Wilmer D. Greulich, Eugene P. Bertin, Minor Childs and Robert H. Taylor; Alumni Secretary John H. Shott and Assistant Alumni Secretary C. Bruce Bossiter. These points were discussed . . .

ATHLETIC Bob Dill, Board representative on the Athletic Advisory Committee presented football schedules for 1959, 1960, and 1961 . . . Cam Rutledge suggested the Alumni Association provide a trophy for football to be known as the "Middle Atlantic Conference Trophy, University Division." Bob Dill raised the question of whether or not this association had actually been formally set up.

ALUMNI AWARDS Board members studied a list of 53 names of alumni suggested for consideration as Alumni Award winners and removed names of 16 persons who have already been honored in other ways.

DIRECTORS From a list of 44 suggested candidates, 6 prospective and 5 alternate candidates were selected to be voted on at the Annual Assembly next June.

ALUMNI TRUSTEE Three alumni suggested changes in the method of electing the Alumni Trustees annually to avoid the embarrassment of having excellent prospective trustees defeated in an election . . . suggestions: (a) have the alumni president automatically elevated to the alumni trusteeship; (b) discontinue the alumni-wide balloting and have the Board of Directors select the Alumni Trustee . . . objections: (a) Alumni Trustee must be selected annually whereas alumni presidents generally serve two or more years; (b) alumni-wide balloting is more democratic—adoption of this plan would place the selection in the hands of a very few people. Secretary Shott suggested that alumni be asked to express their pro and con opinion on the subject. (Editor's Note: Send your opinion to the editor.)

ALUMNI FUND Fund Director Shott made a detailed report of personal solicitation showing that where personal solicitation was held, the percentage of solicitation was greatly increased. He pointed out the need for expansion of the program in all alumni areas in the Spring of 1959 in order that the fund record this year may reach a new high figure.

CAPITAL CAMPAIGN Discussed were co-ordination and merging of the Alumni Fund with the Dual Development Capital Campaign in the fund year 1959-60 (after the current fund year ends) . . . unanimously passed a resolution co-ordinating the two efforts (copy of complete resolution appears on Page 20 of this issue of THE BUCKNELL ALUMNUS.)

ELECTION TELLERS President Fox appointed George A. Irland '15, Charles W. Kalp '29, and John H. Shott '22 as a committee of tellers for the Alumni Trustee election.

BUCKNELL DOCTORS At the 1958 Doctors for Bucknell Dinner on October 24, Dr. Rudolph E. Haffner, new appointee in the Biology Department, spoke of the plans to work with area high school teachers, students and administrators in the interest of cooperative science education . . . reported $7,910 in cash and pledges toward the three-year goal of $15,000 . . . elected Dr. Merl G. Colvin '24, president; Dr. Willis G. Goodenow '45, vice president; Prof. Roger H. Bowman '48, secretary-treasurer; Dr. Albert J. Abbott '29, Dr. William F. Darkes '27, and Dr. Edward W. Pangburn '15, executive committee.

ENGINEERS Eighty members met for dinner at the Lewisburg Club October 25, and heard Captain H. F. Eckberg on the progress in the University's four engineering departments, changes in the curriculum and facilities . . . elected Campbell Rutledge '33, president; Eugene Cook '34 and William Laning '27, vice presidents; Prof. John B. Miller '26, secretary-treasurer and these directors: Harry A. Angel '19, Eugene R. Levitt '44, John B. Miller '26, A. N. Reynolds '37, Earl M. Richards '13, Arnold Seasholtz '28, and R. B. Smith '20.

CLUBS

HARRISBURG—On Thursday, October 2, the Bucknell Alumni Club of Harrisburg met for their regular dinner meeting in the Y. M. C. A. in Harrisburg. The guest speaker for the evening was Miss Nance Pugh, Executive Director of the Tri-County Blind Association, who spoke on the rehabilitation of the blind.

On November 6, the club met for their regular dinner meeting and were very fortunate to have as their guest, Dr. Rosemarie Tursky, pediatrician on the staff of the Harrisburg Hospital, who spoke about her trip to French Equatorial Africa and the Belgian Congo and showed her own slides of the trip.

—JEAN E. SLACK '39,
Secretary

MICHIGAN-TOLEDO—On Saturday afternoon, October 11, thirty-eight Bucknellians along with 92,000 other football fans, attended a great football game at Michigan Stadium in Ann Arbor between the University of Michigan and Navy. As always, our Bucknell friends at the University of Michigan furnished us with excellent 50 yard line seats for this colorful game. It was a very good game with Navy edging out Michigan 20-14 with a last period touchdown pass.

Unfortunately, our "after the game party" that we've held the past several years could not be arranged. However, most of the Bucknellians made a full day of it by having several smaller informal dinner get-togethers in and around Ann Arbor.

The following officers will continue serving their present positions for the coming year—Bruce M. Scott '51, president; Evan R. Thomas '31, vice president, and John Kingsbury '42, secretary-treasurer.

—BRUCE M. SCOTT '51,
President

NORTHERN NEW JERSEY—The Bucknell Alumni Club of Northern New Jersey held a Bison roundup and buffet dinner following the Bucknell-Rutgers football game on October 18. Although the Scarlet Knights of Rutgers were victorious on the gridiron, 150 loyal Bison rooters crowded into Sally's Restaurant following the game for the buffet. Several alumni were introduced, one of whom was Andy Mathieson '20, University Trustee, who spoke briefly. "Buck" Shott, Alumni Secretary, brought campus greetings. To sum up the meeting, I can only say that the buffet was excellent, the talk abundant, and those in attendance agreed that we should do it again.

—JOANN G. BROWN '48,
Secretary

PENNSYLVANIA BAPTISTS—Bucknellians gathered for a luncheon at the Pennsylvania Baptist Convention in Wilkesburg on October 16. Dr. Robert M. Murphy, assistant professor of religion, addressed the 33 Bucknell Baptist ministers and laymen in attendance on the topic, "A Contemporary Look at Religion on the Bucknell Campus," and outlined the program for religion-in-life weekend. The meeting was attended by Dr. Charles F. Fox, Jr. '31, president of the General Alumni Association, who also spoke briefly on alumni matters, and Directors Mrs. Clyde P. Bailey and Dr. William D. Golightly. John H. Shott, Alumni Secretary, conducted the luncheon program and introduced the speakers.

ST. PETERSBURG—The St. Petersburg Bucknell Club met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Headland '09, 3911 1st Ave., North, on Saturday, December 6th, at 2 o'clock. There were 16 present. Mrs. Emily Lane Yoder '10 drove over from Sarasota to join us.

The secretary announced that Edward Colestock '29, son of Mrs. Henry Colestock, who is away for the winter, has been made an admiral in the U. S. Navy. After graduating from Bucknell he went to Annapolis; then went into training in aviation. In World War II, he was a commander of one of the large carriers.

Plans were made for our annual dinner to be held at the Shawn House, 5301 Central Avenue on February 7th at 12:30.

If any Bucknellians should be in the city, please contact the secretary. Her telephone is 572344. Her address is 2710 Dartmouth Ave., North, or call any member of our group.

George Bailets '09, after his visit to the campus last commencement gave us a fine description of the advancement of Bucknell; the many buildings which have been added and the recent dedication of Coleman Hall which will have a theater.

—RUTH S. PORTER '05,
Secretary

Andy R. Mathieson '20, chairman of the Trustee Committee on Alumni Relations, flanked by Dr. and Mrs. Arthur L. Brandon AM '27 (Margaret C. Weddell '16), receives greetings after Andy's talk to the Bucknell Bisons assembled for a buffet dinner in Highland Park following the Rutgers game.

Basketball Roundups Scheduled

Continuing alumni support of Bucknell's athletic program carried out during the football season, Bucknellians parents and friends are cordially invited to attend Bucknell basketball games being played off-campus. A some of these it is hoped to hold pre game buffet suppers. Under consideration as we go to press are supper affairs in Philadelphia on January 7 for the LaSalle game, in Pittsburgh on January 17 for the University of Pittsburgh game, in Reading on February 7 for the Albright game, and in Lancaster on February 14 for the Franklin and Marshall game. Alumni in each of these areas will receive notices by mail of roundups and others can obtain the details of time and place of meeting by writing Alumni Headquarters on the campus.

During the football season, Bison Roundups were held at the Gettysburg, Rutgers, Temple, Delaware and Buffalo games. Bucknell sports followers attended the games in large numbers and attendance at the Bison Roundup ranged from 20 at the Delaware game to over 200 at the Gettysburg and Rutgers affairs.

MOVING?

IF YOU ARE MOVING
LET US KNOW,
SO WE CAN FOLLOW
WHEREVER YOU GO!

WINTER SPORTS 1959

BASKETBALL

Date	Opponent	Place
Dec. 4	Gettysburg	Philadelphia
Dec. 6	Rutgers	New Brunswick, N. J.
Dec. 10	Lehigh	Hasbrouck, Pa.
Dec. 13	Cornell	Ithaca, N. Y.
Dec. 19	Colgate	Haverford, Pa.
Dec. 29, 30, 31	Carousel Tournament	Charlotte, N. C.
Jan. 3	Delaware	Wilmington, Del.
Jan. 7	LaSalle	Philadelphia
Jan. 10	Westminster	Westminster, Pa.
Jan. 13	Penn State U.	State College, Pa.
Jan. 17	Pittsburgh	Pittsburgh, Pa.
Jan. 31	Gettysburg	Gettysburg, Pa.
Feb. 5	Temple	Philadelphia
Feb. 7	Albright	Reading, Pa.
Feb. 14	Franklin and Marshall	Lancaster, Pa.
Feb. 18	St. Joseph's	Philadelphia
Feb. 21	Delaware	Newark, Del.
Feb. 23	Lafayette	Philadelphia
Feb. 28	Carnegie Tech	Pittsburgh, Pa.
Mar. 4	Muhlenberg	Allentown, Pa.
Mar. 7	Penn State U.	University Park, Pa.

SWIMMING

Jan. 7	Pennsylvania	Philadelphia
Jan. 10	Lycoming	Williamsport, Pa.
Jan. 14	Franklin and Marshall	Lancaster, Pa.
Jan. 17	Gettysburg	Gettysburg, Pa.
Feb. 7	Swarthmore	Philadelphia
Feb. 11	Wilkes	Wilkes-Barre, Pa.
Feb. 21	Drexel	Philadelphia
Feb. 24	Delaware	Wilmington, Del.
Feb. 27-28	Middle Atlantic	Atlantic City, N. J.

WRESTLING

Jan. 10	Lafayette	Philadelphia
Jan. 14	Muhlenberg	Allentown, Pa.
Jan. 16	Lycoming	Williamsport, Pa.
Feb. 7	Temple	Philadelphia
Feb. 10	Gettysburg	Gettysburg, Pa.
Feb. 14	Haverford	Haverford, Pa.
Feb. 21	Delaware	Wilmington, Del.
Feb. 27-28	Middle Atlantic	Atlantic City, N. J.

BUCKNELL DUAL DEVELOPMENT FUND

DEVELOPMENT COMMITTEE OF THE BOARD OF TRUSTEES

Henry Coleman '29, Chairman

etlev W. Bronk H'57

Guy Freas H'57

V. W. Hawkins '13, H'57

orace A. Hildreth H'56

idgway Kennedy, Jr.

Robert L. Rooke '13, H'51

arry G. Schad H'58

enneth W. Slifer '26

ul L. Troast H'52

Cortlandt Williams, Sr. '20, M.E. '53

William R. White '26, ex officio,
Chairman of the Board of Trustees

Top, Left to Right—Kenneth W. Slifer and Harry G. Schad, Co-chairmen of the Dual Development Fund, planning the Fund program in Philadelphia.

Bottom, Left to Right—Director of Development Wesley N. Haines, President Merle M. Odgers and Campaign Director John Schoolcraft discuss the campaign on the Bucknell campus.

STRONG LEADERSHIP ENROLLED FOR CAMPAIGN

THE DUAL DEVELOPMENT FUND, so named because it is for both endowment and building, is now going through steps preliminary to a general campaign, including enlistment of top leadership.

A "Who's Who" of those accepting chairmanships follows, although further appointments are to be made, and a National Advisory Committee is in process of formation. Co-chairmen Harry G. Schad and Kenneth W. Slifer '26 declare themselves well satisfied with progress to date. "The leadership being enrolled," they say, "is strong and capable. We are laying exactly the kind of foundation we need for a successful campaign. We are counting on alumni and friends to supply the same kind of leadership at all levels of the organization which we must create to ensure the outcome we all want—unconditional victory."

The campaign schedule calls for solicitation of Advance Gifts from the present to June 30, 1959. Beginning in the fall of 1959, the general effort will be carried on among alumni, parents, friends, on the campus, and in the area close to the University.

In the statement "The Bucknell of Tomorrow", mailed to all alumni, President Odgers outlines the future of the University, and shows the place which the DUAL DEVELOPMENT FUND has in "placing Bucknell in a higher orbit" in American education.

RUSH H. KRESS

Honorary Chairman

Crusader for scholarship, patron of the arts, benefactor of Bucknell—these are the terms by which Rush H. Kress, honorary chairman of the Board of Trustees, is known to thousands of Bucknellians. During his long career, culminating in his present posts of honorary chairman of the Board of the Samuel H. Kress Company and president of the Samuel H. Kress Foundation, he has been ever faithful and generous in his support of the college from which he was graduated with honors in 1900. A trustee of long-standing, he was made honorary chairman in 1946 in recognition of the unique place which he holds in the history and heart of Bucknell.

MRS. ELLEN CLARKE BERTRAND

Honorary Chairman

Principal donor of the University's beautiful library which bears her name, Mrs. Ellen Clarke Bertrand of New York City has won deserved acclaim as "a true friend of youth and of higher education." In 1950 she was elected to the Board of Trustees of which her late husband had also been a member. Her understanding of Bucknell's purposes and needs has been quietly but effectively expressed in her generous gifts for library endowment. In appreciation of her abiding interest in the University's welfare, Bucknell conferred upon her the honorary degree of Doctor of Humanities in 1954.

ROBERT L. ROOKE

Honorary Chairman

For nearly 30 years Robert L. Rooke '13, of Westfield, N. J., has helped guide the destiny of his alma mater, giving generously of both his talents and his resources. Member of the Board of Trustees since 1930, he now fills the important posts of chairman of the executive and investment committees and secretary of the Board. Co-donor of the Freas-Rooke Swimming Pool, he has made numerous other substantial gifts to the University. A grateful alma mater bestowed upon him the honorary degree of Doctor of Laws in 1951. Mr. Rooke is a partner of the firm of Merrill Lynch, Pierce, Fenner, and Smith.

ANDREW J. SORDONI

Honorary Chairman

Builder, industrialist, and public servant, Andrew J. Sordoni of Wilkes-Barre, head of the impressive Sordoni Enterprises, has been donating both professional advice and financial support to Bucknell for over 30 years. A trustee of the University since 1928, he has long served on the committee on buildings and grounds and in a period marked by great expansion of our physical plant has been an important contributor to his adopted alma mater. Bucknell paid tribute to him in 1950 as "an organizing genius and gentleman" by awarding him the honorary degree of Doctor of Laws.

HARRY G. SCHAD

General Co-Chairman

An outstanding leader in maritime and civic circles in Philadelphia and a nationally-known expert in transportation, Harry G. Schad, vice-president of the Atlantic Refining Company, added still another major interest in his busy life with his election as a Bucknell trustee in 1952. For his notable accomplishments and his numerous contributions to the economic growth of the Delaware Valley, he has received many awards and citations, including the Award of Merit from his alma mater, Girard College. His talent for "quiet-clear-headed administration and far-sighted, constructive organization" was recognized by Bucknell last June, when the University awarded him the honorary degree of Doctor of Laws.

KENNETH W. SLIFER

General Co-Chairman

As a trustee of the University, Kenneth W. Slifer '26, of Woodbury, N. J., is following the family pattern of service to Bucknell established by his great-grandfather, who was a member of the college's first Board of Trustees. Throughout the years Mr. Slifer has served in many important alumni posts, including that of chairman of the Alumni Fund, and in 1951 was the recipient of the University's first Alumni Service Award. Now chairman of the trustee committee on public relations, he is making still another valuable contribution, despite his busy schedule as vice president of N. W. Ayer & Son, Inc., in Philadelphia.

HORACE A. HILDRETH

Chairman, Initial Gifts Committee

After serving two terms as governor of Maine, Horace A. Hildreth became Bucknell's ninth president in 1949, bringing to the post his wide experience in public affairs, a rare understanding of young people and their needs, and the devotion to integrity which has marked his career since its start. In 1953 he became the United States Ambassador to Pakistan and filled that difficult diplomatic assignment until 1957. He has expressed his continuing interest in Bucknell through his generous gifts and his valuable services as a trustee of the University which conferred the honorary degree of Doctor of Civil Law upon him in 1956.

R. HENRY COLEMAN

Chairman, Special Gifts Committee

Shortly after becoming a trustee of his alma mater three years ago, R. Henry Coleman '29, of Fairfield, Conn., was made chairman of the newly-created committee on development, but his efforts on behalf of the University were already well begun. Through him, officials of the Olin Foundation were initially acquainted with the University's needs by his father, Dean William H. Coleman, and their gifts of two major buildings followed. Employed shortly after graduation by E. I. DuPont de Nemours and Company, he was later transferred to Remington Arms Company, Inc., of which he is now vice president and assistant general manager.

WILLIAM R. WHITE

Chairman of the Board of Trustees Steering Committee

Vice president of the Guaranty Trust Company of New York, William R. White '26, has been a member of the Board of Trustees for two decades and its chairman since 1957. Several years after his graduation from Columbia's Law School, he was named superintendent of banks for the State of New York, the youngest official ever appointed to that important post in which he served for seven years. In 1942 he joined the banking firm with which he is now associated. His services on numerous trustee committees, including those on investment and finances, have been of inestimable value to this institution.

A. GUY FREAS

Fund Treasurer

When his son and daughter were enrolled at Bucknell, A. Guy Freas, president of the Federal Paper Board Company at Bogota, N. J., became deeply interested in the University's problems. This interest led to his becoming a trustee in 1949 and co-donor of the Freas-Rooke Swimming Pool several years later. Now retired from the presidency of his firm, Mr. Freas is continuing his generous interest in Bucknell as chairman of the trustee committee on buildings and grounds. In 1957 he was awarded the honorary degree of Doctor of Laws by an appreciative University.

PAUL L. TROAST

Chairman, Corporate Gifts Committee

Two years after he became a trustee of Bucknell, Paul L. Troast, of Clifton, N. J., was chosen New Jersey's outstanding citizen of 1951 and was also named New Jersey's engineer of the year, in recognition of his outstanding performance as chairman of the New Jersey Turnpike Authority. The well-known president of the Mahony-Troast Construction Company, father of two Bucknell graduates, received the honorary degree of Doctor of Laws from Bucknell University in 1952. His many services to the college have included chairmanship of the finance committee for the building of Swartz Hall.

ANDREW R. MATHIESON

Chairman, General Alumni

The business acumen and sound judgment displayed by Andrew R. Mathieson '20, of Pittsburgh, president of the U. S. Steel and Carnegie Pension Fund, have been matched by his warm loyalty and devoted service to Bucknell over the past 38 years. During this time he has filled many important alumni posts, including those of chairman of the Alumni Fund and alumni trustee. Re-elected to the Board of Trustees in 1951, he is currently serving as chairman of both the committee on athletics and the committee on alumni relations, and is a member of several other trustee committees as well.

BERKELEY V. HASTINGS

Chairman, Evaluation Committee

The proximity of his home in Milton, Pa., to the campus enables Berkeley V. Hastings, class of 1913, to follow closely the progress of his alma mater of which he has been a trustee since 1935. President of the insurance and real estate firm of Hastings and Hastings, he serves his community in a wide variety of interests and affairs, but retains his deepest concern for the college and its program. A member of several trustee committees, he devotes much of his time to consideration of the University's problems and its plans for the future.

DONALD H. SHOLL

Chairman, Public Relations Committee

In his services for the Dual Development Fund, Donald H. Sholl '42, of Haddonfield, N. J., is continuing the tradition of service to Bucknell established by his family many years ago. As a worker for his class fund and for other alumni projects, he has displayed boundless energy and contagious enthusiasm, qualities which he evidences also in his duties as a supervisor in the copy department of the advertising firm of N. W. Ayer & Son, Inc., with which he became associated shortly after graduation from college.

JACK D. BOZARTH

Vice-Chairman, Public Relations Committee

During his college days Jack D. Bozarth '50, of Haddonfield, N. J., was known to his fellow students for his friendly personality and his extensive journalistic endeavors, including his able editorship of The Bucknellian. These special qualifications, plus his undergraduate education in commerce and finance, led almost inevitably to his entry into advertising and eventually to the firm which has attracted so many Bucknellians, N. W. Ayer & Son, Inc., where he is now an account executive.

JOHN S. GOLD

Faculty Representative in Steering Committee

In his 38 years as a member of the Bucknell faculty, John S. Gold '18, professor of mathematics, has worked consistently for the best interests of both his students and his colleagues. As president of the campus chapter of Sigma Xi, honorary science organization, and as a national officer of Pi Mu Epsilon, honorary mathematics fraternity, he contributed much to the advancement of his profession. Active in alumni affairs, he has also taken a leading role in religious and civic work in his community. Currently he is serving as the faculty's representative at the meetings of the Board of Trustees.

OUR HAND ON YOUR PULSE

IN SEPTEMBER, 1958, a questionnaire was sent to 1,000 Bucknell alumni soliciting their opinions on various points. The information was sought as a guide to University planning. The sampling of opinion was related to the broad study of the Development Program and of University needs made by the John Price Jones Company, Inc. of New York City, consultants to philanthropic institutions in public relations and fund-raising.

Names were chosen at random from the alumni file of about 17,000 names. Approximately every sixteenth card was turned up for inclusion in the list of those who were to receive the questionnaire.

Thirty-two per cent of those who did receive it filled out the form and returned it. In the experience of the Jones Company, this is above average for colleges. The percentage return is also considered as being valid for an accurate sampling of opinion.

The returns have been tabulated. The results are presented here for the enlightenment of those who have an interest, general or special, in how alumni think and feel about their alma mater.

1—Sex of the person returning the questionnaire:

71%—Male
29%—Female

2—Class years represented:

5%—Pre-1920's
11%—1920's
13%—1930's
28%—1940's
43%—1950's

3—Degrees

99%—Bucknell degrees
1%—No Bucknell degree
29%—Degrees from other institutions
71%—No degree taken elsewhere

4—If you had it to do over again would you attend Bucknell?

83%—Yes
11%—No
6%—No answer

5—If you have children, have they attended college?

17%—Yes
39%—No
44%—No answer

(The high percentage of "No" and "No answer" is probably due to the large percentage of young people in the alumni body caused by the large classes of the post-war years. Their children, if they have them, are too young to be of college-going or college-choosing age. The same observation applies to the next question.)

Have they attended Bucknell?

11%—Yes
34%—No
55%—Not specified

Has Bucknell been or will it be their first choice?

20%—Yes
18%—No
62%—Not specified

6—Did you receive scholarship aid?

25%—Yes
75%—No

7—What is your idea as to the future growth of Bucknell?

56%—Favor controlled growth as funds and facilities permit
30%—Should stay as it is
8%—As in days following World War II the University must admit students as national needs indicate.
4%—Should be smaller
2%—No answer

8—Do you feel confidence in:

A. The University Administration?

71%—Yes
13%—No
16%—No answer

B. The Faculty?

75%—Yes
9%—No
16%—No answer

C. The Instructional Program?

71%—Yes
10%—No
19%—No answer

D. The Development Program?

74%—Yes
9%—No
18%—No answer

E. The Board of Trustees?

70%—Yes
8%—No
22%—No answer

F. The Alumni Program?

72%—Yes
8%—No
20%—No answer

9—Do you think Bucknell is adequately publicized?

46%—Yes
44%—No
10%—No answer

If your answer is "No" in what kind of news is it failing? Most negative answers pointed to lack of publicity in given areas, mostly outside Pennsylvania. Many alumni are apparently disappointed at not finding scores of the Saturday night basketball game in Sunday morning's papers.

10—Are you an Alumni Fund Contributor?

38.5%—Regular Contributor
38 %—Occasional Contributor
23.5%—Never Contribute

11—If you do not contribute to the Alumni Fund it is because:

4.1%—Feel no obligation
4 %—Give to other Bucknell projects
16 %—Can't afford to give anything
17 %—Other philanthropic obligations come first
3.5%—Not convinced by the appeal you receive
1.4%—Not interested
54 %—No response

12—The present ratio in the student body is 64% men and 36% women. You think that

17.5%—Proportion of women should be increased
6 %—Proportion of women should be decreased
70.5%—The present ratio is about right
6 %—No answer

Very few responded to the request for information as to exact percentages by which the ratios should be changed. Among those recommending an increase in the number of women, percentages ranged from 10% to 45% with the largest group desiring a 50-50 representation on the campus.

Among those desiring a decrease percentages ranged from 6% to 25% with no two persons in agreement on a figure.

13—The number of applications for admission has increased markedly and will continue to increase. Number in order of importance the factors which should govern admissions.

Scholastic competence as shown in secondary school record and entrance tests—

135—First Choices
95—Second Choices
11—Third Choices

All around qualities of character, ability and personality—

135—First Choices
82—Second Choices
39—Third Choices

Leadership qualities as shown in secondary school record—

9—First Choices
50—Second Choices
134—Third Choices

Ability to pay full costs—

4—First Choices
5—Second Choices
15—Third Choices

Geographical distribution of student body—

1—First Choice
7—Second Choices
25—Third Choices

- Athletic ability—*
 0—First Choice
 4—Second Choices
 18—Third Choices
- 1—In admission should children of alumni receive preferential treatment?
 57%—Yes
 (Qualified frequently by some such phrase as "other things being equal.")
 41%—No
 2%—No answer
- Number in order of importance purposes to which you would like to have gifts to Bucknell applied.*
- Faculty Salaries*
 92—First Choices
 52—Second Choices
 29—Third Choices
- Leave it to the Administration to decide*
 64—First Choices
 3—Second Choices
 6—Third Choices
- Teaching Facilities*
 58—First Choices
 56—Second Choices
 31—Third Choices
- Scholarships—General*
 22—First Choices
 40—Second Choices
 47—Third Choices
- Scholarships—Athletic*
 14—First Choices
 6—Second Choices
 6—Third Choices
- Unrestricted Endowment*
 5—First Choices
 7—Second Choices
 14—Third Choices
- Student Housing*
 4—First Choices
 14—Second Choices
 20—Third Choices
- Athletic Facilities*
 2—First Choices
 8—Second Choices
 27—Third Choices
- Operating Expenses*
 1—First Choice
 8—Second Choices
 27—Third Choices
- Religious Program*
 1—First Choice
- 3—Second Choices
 0—Third Choice
- Work with Foreign Students*
 0—First Choice
 3—Second Choices
 5—Third Choices
- 16—Among individuals and groups you know, how is Bucknell thought of?
 50%—First Rate
 25%—Second Rate
 0%—Poor
 25%—No answer
- Do you think that most people do not know enough about Bucknell to have an opinion?*
 52.5%—Yes
 47.5%—No answer
- For what is Bucknell best known?*
 This question brought forth a variety of answers so great as to defy statistical analysis. The query overlaps, also, Question 20 in which the alumnus is asked to sum up the principal characteristics of the University.
- Engineering was mentioned most frequently, with high scholastic record following. It is evident that Christy Mathewson and the great athletic teams of former days linger in the minds of alumni. Among educational programs, those receiving mention (in addition to Engineering) were the pre-medical course, science teaching, and the Department of Education.
- Beyond the items listed above, there was a large volume of individual comment falling into no readily defined categories.
- 17—In the event of a general capital gifts campaign, would you volunteer to join a Committee to seek gifts from alumni and others?
 65%—No
 22%—Yes
 13%—No answer
- In the experience of the Jones Company, this is a little better than average response. Assuming that it holds, a Development Campaign would be well staffed.
- 18—Has Bucknell failed or is she failing in any significant way?
 72%—No
- 13%—Yes
 15%—No answer
- The criticism of the 13% who felt that Bucknell was failing was directed mainly against campus life, choice of students, curriculum, faculty, religious life and student housing.
- 19—Do you think that Bucknell students should be:
Required to work harder?
 80%—Yes
 20%—No
Allowed to work less hard?
 100%—No
Required to maintain present standards?
 90%—Yes
 10%—No
- 20—Sum up in fewest possible words: the one, two or three chief characteristics of Bucknell.
- Comment arising from this request was again very scattered, with many individual expressions of opinion which defy statistical tabulation.
- But it is clear that the friendly atmosphere of Bucknell has made a deep impression on alumni, since this characteristic was mentioned more frequently than any other. "Beautiful campus" was the comment of many, as well as "small size", this last phrase being used in a favorable sense. The words "well-rounded" also appear frequently.
- Where faculty and instructional programs are mentioned, favorable comment is on a far larger scale than unfavorable.
- However, there are some who feel that the pressure to conform is too strong, and the phrase "country club" crops up now and then.
- All in all, it is clear that those answering the questionnaire constitute a vigorous group of people who are expressing honest opinion. In total, favorable comment outweighs that which is not complimentary. A detailed study by administrators and faculty will undoubtedly reveal that some opinions have a realistic bearing upon University operations.

Some Pointed Comments From the Questionnaire

(The above report gives a balanced appraisal of Bucknell by its Alumni)

"A small town university which to all outward appearances prefers to remain anonymous." (Alumnus 1948)

"A small, well-organized university which has managed to teach a course not listed in the catalog: 'How to get along with people'." (Alumnus 1951)

"A good small school where students can be individuals and not numbers." (Alumna 1952)

"University too small—campus life too dull—should grow with nation to reach an enrollment of 7,000-8,000." (Alumnus 1944)

"... Large enough to be worthwhile in general areas, and small enough to be cordial." (Alumnus 1955)

"Minor league Princeton, aspiring to be major league." (Alumnus 1950)

"I'd like to see a greater teacher-pupil ratio. I'd like people to regard Bucknell as they do Swarthmore and Haverford." (Alumna 1943)

"... More people with academic prowess will improve Bucknell's reputation long after the football game is finished." (Alumnus 1956)

"Too much emphasis is placed on secondary school records." (Alumnus 1915)

"Emphasis on religion is good and unique." (Alumnus 1949)

"Clean, quiet—'set apart'." (Alumnus 1945)

"Rich in tradition and spirit." (Alumnus 1954)

THE ALUMNI FUND AND THE CAPITAL CAMPAIGN

Program will preserve continuity of the Alumni Annual-Giving Fund

"What happens to the Bucknell Alumni Annual-Giving Fund during the Dual Development Capital Campaign?" is a question that will arise in the minds of many alumni, especially those who have established a program of annual-giving. The quick answer is that the Annual Alumni Fund will be merged with the Capital Campaign during the active personal solicitation phase of the Campaign. You will be interested in the background of study by the Board of Directors of the General Alumni Association and by other alumni leaders that resulted in this decision.

PRELIMINARY SURVEY

At the Board of Directors meeting last June announcement was made that a fund raising counsel had been approached to investigate the advisability, feasibility, and cost of a professionally directed survey to determine objectively the goals, timing and direction of a possible capital funds campaign toward the achievement of our Capital Development Programings. The professionally-conducted survey included a questionnaire inquiry to about 1000 Bucknell Alumni and the results (see page 18) indicated alumni agreement and support of a Capital Gifts Program. The results of the survey were reported at the Second Annual Workshop held early in October which was attended by six members of the Board of Directors. At this preliminary meeting several hours were devoted to a discussion of ways of co-ordinating the Alumni Fund with a Capital Gifts Campaign. Although there were some questions on implementation and details, the project was endorsed by those in attendance. It became clear that an active solicitation for the Alumni Fund on a normal basis during a capital campaign would be unwise, resulting in considerable conflict and confusion.

Following the discussion at the Workshop, other members of the Board of Directors by personal visit were made aware of the projected plans.

At the semi-annual business meeting of the Board of Directors of Alumni Association held on the campus Homecoming Weekend, the Board fully endorsed the capital gifts campaign and unanimously adopted a resolution detailing the major components of the merged effort.

TIME SCHEDULE

From the resolution it will be noted that solicitation of most of the Gen-

RESOLUTION

WHEREAS, Bucknell University is about to begin a capital gifts endowment and building campaign to be known as the "BUCKNELL DUAL DEVELOPMENT FUND," and

WHEREAS, active Alumni Fund solicitation during the conduct of a capital gifts campaign would result in dual solicitation and confusion,

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED, that during the period of active solicitation of the General Alumni Body on behalf of the capital gifts campaign, the Bucknell Alumni Fund and the capital gifts campaign be co-ordinated under a plan with the following major components:

- 1. According to the capital gifts campaign timetable, most alumni will be approached for capital campaign gifts during the period from September 8, 1959, until December 31, 1959.*
- 2. Since intensive solicitation of the General Alumni Body will not be conducted in the capital gifts campaign until September 1959, the regular Alumni Fund program of appeals by letter and personal solicitation will be conducted until June 30, 1959.*
- 3. Contributions of cash or pledge to the capital gifts campaign, whenever made, will count also as Alumni Fund contributions for "Roll of Contributor" and "Continuity or Regularity" purposes in the 1959-60, 1960-61, and 1961-62 fund years and for any subsequent year in which payments on capital gifts campaign pledges are being made. However, alumni not contributing to the capital gifts campaign shall be solicited for the Alumni Fund beginning in the Fund year 1960-61.*
- 4. It is not expected that there will be a formal alumni annual-giving fund program during the Fund year 1959-60, as this is the period during which most alumni will be actively at work participating in the capital gifts campaign.*
- 5. Same receipts from the capital gifts campaign will be used to provide Bucknell with current operating funds during the three-year pledge period of the capital gifts campaign.*

Passed this 24th day of October, 1958,

Signed: CHARLES F. FOX, JR., M.D. '31, President

Signed: JOHN H. SHOTT '22, Secretary

The General Alumni Association, Bucknell University

eral Alumni body for Capital purposes will not begin until after the current fund year ends. Consequently, the goal for our current 1958-59 Alumni Fund year (ending June 30, 1959) is to provide, once again, those funds so essential for the daily maintenance and strengthening of all of Bucknell's programs. Our Annual Alumni Fund gifts constitute that precious "living endowment" which helps meet the urgent needs for faculty salaries, scholarship aid, plant maintenance, instructional aids, and also provides those day-to-day items and intangible services which help make Bucknell a better University for its students, its faculty and its alumni.

The people who will assure the achievement of this goal are you, the members of Bucknell's family. Participation in the 1958-59 Alumni Fund by each of you will be the determining factor of our 1958-59 Alumni Fund effort. The Alumni Fund Committee is confident that each Bucknellian will do his or her part for the capital gifts campaign when called upon, but for this fund year, the job for most of us is to provide the annual strength needed by Bucknell through our Alumni Fund gift. To ease up on fund giving this year in anticipation of the capital campaign to be conducted next year is simply short-changing the current budget operations of the University. In fact it is the hope of the fund workers that during the current year Alumni Fund gifts will be made by at least 50% of the Bucknell family.

LOOKING TO 1959-1960

During the fiscal year 1959-1960 (which begins on July 1, 1959) the majority of Bucknellians will be personally visited by a Bucknellian capital gifts solicitor for a substantial pledge to be paid over a three-year period. Such contribution, cash or pledge, to the capital gifts campaign whenever made, will count also as a alumni fund contribution for "Roll of Contributor" and "Continuity or Regularity" purposes in the 1959-60, 1960-61, and 1961-62 fund years. Thus the integrity of the Alumni Annual-Giving Fund will be maintained and some receipts from the capital gifts campaign will be used to provide Bucknell with current operating funds during the three-year pledge period of the capital gifts campaign.

CLASS REPORTS

EMERITUS CLUB

MISS MARY COTTON
Eldred, Pa.

Dr. John I. Woodruff '90, of Selinsgrove, has been insured by the New York Life Insurance Company for 65 of his 94 years and is the oldest policy holder in the section of the state. For this distinction, an honor plaque was presented to him at a civic luncheon in Harrisburg by the general manager of the Harrisburg office.

All members of the Emeritus Club please send all news items to the reporter named above? We want to hear from you.

MR. ALAN C. CUNNINGHAM
Charles C. Knox Home
Wynnewood, Pa.

Dr. Lewis E. Theiss, who recently celebrated his 80th birthday, is the author of an article published in the October issue of Ford Times, published by the Ford Motor Company, of the history, tragedy, romance and scenic beauty combined in Ole Mill State Forest Park, Potter County.

In a letter received recently from Mary Unger McCracken, she tells me that "life goes on serenely." She is busy attending meetings of the S. A. R., D. A. C., Faculty Mothers' Club, Garden Club, Riley County Historical Society and the Botany Club. An item of interest in the letter is the fact that her grandfather, George Unger, helped put on the roof of Main Hall (Bucknell).

MRS. HARRY C. HERPEL
(Elvie Coleman)
1250 Park St.
McKeesport, Pa.

In the 1903 Directory, 49 persons were listed, as of May '58, 2 Masters, 2 Music Academy, 3 Institute and 36 College and Ex-College members. Not having a complete roster, your reporter regrets that these 49 were not contacted for the 53 fifty-fifth reunion. Please remember you are welcome any year at Emeritus Club.

Eleven '03's met at the 55th in June and messages were received from 15 not able to attend. We would appreciate receiving some news from those who did not send us a message. Your classmates would like to hear of you and yours.

Since all of you read THE BUCKNELL ALUMNUS, please accept this as a personal message to you.

Royce Carringer continues to be a most happy person, growing young gracefully. Jane Fowler Bullis and husband, Roy, Whittier, Calif., again traveled the longest distance to come to our Reunion. They like to get back to the Pennsylvania scenery and will probably come every year if old friends and classmates will be there to meet them.

A letter from Nox McCain Kehew, oldest son of Millo McCain Kehew, says his mother is an invalid. We regret to hear this. He gave some interesting family news, which will be included in a later booklet.

Carl W. Tiffany went to California to visit his family. He regretted missing the Reunion, sent some personal messages, and says he has no thought of retiring.

We were pleased to see the picture of J. Villard Frampton and read of the honor that he had received.

Esther Lydic Mahaffey sends her greetings to all. She regrets not being able to attend the Reunion.

05 DR. LEWIS C. HYLBERT
435 Drake Ave.
Upland, Calif.

It is with sorrow that we have to report the death of Charles S. Marsh of our 1905 class. He died in October of cancer. He was a good man and is well remembered for his fine Christian character. He was an outstanding track man and won many honors for his class and for Bucknell University. He was known as "Speedy Marsh." Through the years he led an active life as a citizen in the church and in society. For the past few years he was much confined to his home in Tionesta.

We are saddened by the death of our good friend and classmate, Rev. Francis L. McCauley, on April 8, 1958. While at Bucknell, Francis took an active part in the University Y. M. C. A. He was a member of the Mirror staff, the L'AGENDA board and the Debating Team and was president of the Athletic Association. After graduating from Bucknell cum laude he completed his education at Auburn and Union Theological Seminaries. As a Presbyterian minister he served in four pastorates in New York State and was moderator of the New York Synod.

07 DR. LEO L. ROCKWELL
1534 Caldwell St.
Lakeland, Fla.

Joe Weddle is home after a time in the hospital recovering from a heart attack. Take it easy, Joe, and get well fast.

John I. Catherman visited Lewisburg this summer and was delighted at the development at the college. Although blind, John is still very much interested in Alma Mater.

Correction, please. Charley Potter's new book did not appear in October, as I reported. Instead, its publication date was November 19. It has a new title, too, The Great Religious Leaders. Beautifully printed by Simon and Schuster, it has already had a good advance sale. It is up-dated; Charley has kept in touch with archeological and historical advance of the recent past. Might be a good gift-book for that belated Christmas present you just remembered you must send.

Your Florida correspondent has been delighted at the favorable response to his letter in Time for October 20. Some folks have even taken time to write him letters about it. Two of them were young Bucknellians. Louise Graeff VanArsdale '29, who was a student of his a little while ago, and Leland Laning '14, who says I taught him German way back when, specifically 47 years ago. What a memory he must have! I wonder how much of the German he remembers!

Bucknellians do get around. We enjoyed a pleasant call from J. Theodore Park '06 and his daughter Mary Cathryne, who is a colleague of mine as a member of the English department at Florida Southern, and a credit to the Park family. That's the Montaudon Parks, as many of you Bucknellians will know.

08 MRS. JOHN H. MATHIAS
(Margaret W. Pangburn)
202 St. Louis St.
Lewisburg, Pa.

For the Class of 1908 this has been an eventful year. From January to June we thought of little but plans for our 50th reunion at Bucknell.

Finally it was June and just as fifty years ago—the Class of 1908 was in the limelight on the Bucknell campus. The excitement started with a successful supper party and came to a climax when fifty-six of us took our places at the Alumni Luncheon.

From June to the present time, the enthusiastic letters of the class have been a great pleasure to the committee. I wish you all could read them.

Olive Richards Landers is now in New York City and presently will be in Ocean Grove, N. J., for a few months—and then off to Dallas, Texas, to take charge of the sale of her property there.

Beatrice Richards spent her customary two months in Maine this summer. In September she made a visit to Nellie Hayes Greenwood.

The Charlie Bromleys vacationed in Canada this summer after our reunion.

Victor B. Luchsinger, retired publicist, whom we were all glad to see at our 50th reunion, spent the summer months in a "shack," as he calls it, along the Susquehanna near Tunkhannock.

Clyde Hostetter writes from Winter Park, Fla., asking for the source of the quotations from Dr. Harris's Baccalaureate Sermon to our class which appeared in our Fiftieth Reunion book. They were taken from the volume of Dr. Harris's addresses and biographical data, compiled and edited by his daughter, Dr. Mary B. Harris '94, and published in 1926. This book is a wonderful volume and a valuable addition to the library of any who attended Bucknell during the thirty years of the presidency of Dr. John Howard Harris '69.

Although Harry Moriss (Shorts) Walter '10 was graduated with another class, his ties to 1908, the class which introduced him to Bucknell, are still close. Now retired after a successful career as civil engineer, and living in New Jersey, "Shorts" eagerly read the Reunion Book of 1908 recently and had something to say about all of us. He regrets that he was not at the Reunion, and vows he'll be there for the 55th.

Harry F. Hartell probably would have won the prize for coming the longest distance, had one such prize been offered at our 50th reunion. His home is in California. The Hartzells are used to traveling, however, and had just returned from a 76-day cruise of the South Seas and the Orient before crossing the continent for the reunion.

REUNE IN JUNE

During the past spring Dr. and Mrs. Charles C. Fries (Agnes Carswell '19) made their third trip to Japan where Dr. Fries, originator of the "oral approach" in foreign language training, was at work to complete the second volume of his text book on how to teach English to Japanese-speaking people. While there they joined with Mr. and Mrs. A. Cleveland Conner '12 (Alberta Bronson '12) in conducting a Bucknell Alumni meeting at International House on April 22. Then on October 2, Dr. and Mrs. Fries sailed on the S. S. United States for several weeks in England where Dr. Fries will give a short series of lectures on linguistics at the University of London. When finished in England they will fly to Pakistan for two months where he will assist the University of Punjab and the University at Dacca with their linguistic problems and will consult with them on the teaching of foreign languages.

(Ed. Note: Fine going, Charles, but in all your going don't forget to land in Lewisburg to see your classmates and well wishers on June 5-6-7 and 8, 1959.)

Mr. and Mrs. Helge Florin live at 7809 S. Causeway Blvd. in St. Petersburg, Fla. For a month this past summer they had the pleasure of entertaining their daughter and son and their families. They are: Lt. Col. and Mrs. E. H. Albers (Jean Florin) and son, Trey, who live at the Warner Robins Air Force Base, Ga., and from the Quonset Point Naval Base, R. I., Lt. and Mrs. Donald E. Florin and daughter, Lorri. Neither Trey nor Lorri, the Florins only grandchildren, is yet one year old. You can imagine the extra gaiety those two babies brought to that household.

Hail to the glad New Year, 1959! This is the year in which the Class of 1909 of Bucknell University hopes to have the most significant celebration of its 54 years of existence—our Golden Anniversary. Significant because 87 of us are still alive to anticipate the pleasures and wakened memories that will be ours come June 5, 6, 7 and 8. Such a day comes to most of us only once in a lifetime and suggests an exciting adventure in living. So, dear Classmate, where better can you spend some of your time and a bit of your money? Pause and reflect. Come!

11

LYMAN C. SHREVE, ESQ.
512 Masonic Temple
Erie, Pa.

Thanks for the splendid response to the questionnaires. Please keep the answers coming. As far as the space will allow, and alphabetically, the report to date is as follows:

John H. Arnold married Esther O'Malley when he got back from the First World War as a Lieutenant of Engineers and they have two children. Last year he retired as assistant chief engineer in charge of the Chicago office of the National Board of Fire Underwriters. John's address is 29 Notch Rd., R. R. 2, Simsbury, Conn.

Mabel Rosensteel arrived in Washington during the First World War and married James L. Ballard. Since his death in 1949, she has been doing volunteer work at the George Washington University Hospital and has spent considerable time traveling in the United States and Abroad. Mabel's address is 1727 Massachusetts Ave., N. E., Washington, D. C.

22

After periods of time spent at Drexel Institute, Pennsylvania Military College and University of Pennsylvania, Dr. Horace R. Barnes organized the Department of Economics and Business Administration at Franklin and Marshall College, where he retired as professor emeritus in 1952. Dr. Barnes is presently co-ordinator of Lancaster Chapter of Americans for the Competitive Enterprise System and resides at 1518 Clearview Ave., Lancaster.

Katharine Bronson married Arthur B. Fowler in 1913 and has two daughters, and eight grandchildren. Since her marriage she has spent seven years in the mission field in Syria. Her husband is now dean emeritus of Buffalo Bible Institute and they reside at 527 Main St., Ebenezur, Buffalo 14, N. Y.

Araminta Galley taught first grade in Mt. Pleasant for thirty-eight years, and held private kindergarten for three years. She would like to hear from classmates. Write to her at Mt. Pleasant.

Lester A. Harris forgets the date he married Sarah Goodwin from the University of Michigan, but does remember that their son Richard was born in 1918. After serving as an Army officer and in the Philippine Constabulary, he settled down to the practice of law and has been specializing in writing on legal subjects. Lester's address is 2312 Edgewater, Orlando, Fla.

Earl E. Hinman our class president, married Grace Detwiler in 1916 and they have a son and daughter. Since graduation he has worked in the Broad Street Trust Company of Philadelphia. He is anxious for the classmates to get back to see the changes which have been made and especially to attend the 50th Anniversary. The Hinman address is 234 Paxson Ave., Glenside.

Elizabeth S. Kates taught school in Vineland until 1918 and was then a teacher and guidance counselor in Millville until 1946. That year she received the Outstanding Citizen Award for her work with youth. She is now doing some private tutoring and lives at 708 N. Third St., Millville, N. J.

Jennie Fox married James D. Lea in 1912 and has three sons who are all graduates of the University of Tennessee, and six grandchildren. Jennie's address is 2903 Fifth Ave., N. E., Knoxville, Tenn.

Herbert S. Lloyd married Loraine Boyd and they have one son, Roger. Herbert received his M.A. degree in history at Bucknell University in 1922, taught school in Kingston and Wilkes-Barre and retired in 1954. His address is 115 White Horse Pike, Egg Harbor, N. J.

12

MRS. H. W. HOUSEKNECHT
(Maze Callahan)
103 W. Penn St.
Muncy, Pa.

The "bosses in the Alumni Office" instruct us to edit the carry-over news as out of season or out-dated. This is both.

One does not attend the 50th class reunion from high school without a tinge of nostalgia. Pearl Ream Williams, Grace Wolfe Crandall, and Earl R. Bartholomew enjoyed a reunion dinner at the Lewisburg Inn. Earl, who was president of his class at Lewisburg High, acted as toastmaster for the occasion.

Frank Hean journeyed to Altoona to speak for his class at their 50th and I spoke for my class at Montoursville.

Had a card from Paul and Evelyn Riehl in November. They were enjoying the summer weather and the outdoor dining at the "Original" Farmers Market in Los Angeles.

Pop and I made our third trip to Elmira to see Alice and Muff Scott and little Florence. Would you believe that Florence was 100 years old last February! We couldn't see that she had changed her face since our trip two years ago, but did notice that she was not so witty and moved somewhat slower. However, she is the most remarkable person I have ever seen. She still cooks wonderful meals, launders the linen cloths and napkins, and sometimes climbs on chairs to wash windows when the girls aren't around. Before it is time to go to bed she hurries upstairs to turn back the silk coverlet. Just before we left she went out in the garden in the rain and came back with three Christmas roses for me.

It was a wonderful trip and we enjoyed every minute but didn't want Pop to stay too long because he would have been spoiled among so many women. When they even served us coffee in bed.

Tilman H. Paul, 69, formerly of Milton, died at the Masonic Home, Elizabethtown, November 8, 1958, where he had been a guest for the past three years.

A graduate of the Milton schools, he spent one year at Bucknell. He was a member of the Milton Lodge F. and M., the Williamsport Consistory and the Milton Elks. He was a member of the First Reformed Church. Surviving are his wife, Madge, a guest at the home, one daughter and a granddaughter.

Services and burial were held at Milton. I sent a note to Mrs. Paul from all of us.

It is Thanksgiving evening. The babies, little kids, a Siamese cat, alley cat and a puppy are here for a few days. We can still count my blessings.

Hope you had a happy Christmas and a quiet New Year.

14

MRS. H. B. WEAVER
(Dora Hamler)
348 Ridge Ave.
New Kensington, Pa.

REUNE IN JUNE

Edna Whittam Glover, chairman of the Reunion Committee, has arranged for our class to have dinner at the Hotel Lewisburg Friday evening, June 5. At that time we will visit, talk of future plans and have a speaker from the University. Accommodations at the University will be arranged for all who wish to room in a dormitory. On Saturday morning, we will have breakfast together at the cafeteria, and later we can visit either the penitentiary or the new buildings on the campus.

We will have luncheon at the gym. Further plans for the afternoon will be announced later.

The next issue will contain further information regarding reunion plans.

16

THE REV. ERIC A. OESTERLE, D.D.
114 E. 188th St.
New York, N. Y.

Writes Lester Bartlett: "Since I retired after 41 years of high school teaching at 29 years of Accredited Evening High School I've been busier than ever. You see, in addition to having four married daughters who have presented me with eleven grandchildren I have been, since May of this year, a great grandfather. My two youngest children, Robert, is junior at Bucknell and Janice is a freshman at Temple University School of Nursing. Electrical work, fishing and doing odd jobs at the Grace Baptist Church here fill the rest of my time. Lester lives at 32 N. Eastfield Ave., Truett, N. J.

Carrie Foresman Jones now lives at 1361 Curtin St., Overlook Heights, Truett.

ge. Her "Phil" has retired and built a new house. She appreciates living on the floor, being lame as she is. Carries us to drop in.

ayton Ranck has been retired for a while now. He reports the University is impaired by his slipping out. His "paper" could do better he states but is tired of that he fares well.

avenport is telling sundry folks that longevity is rising each day. Send in the pills around to the class, Davy.

elen (Ott '14) and I were happy to see Winifred (Miller '15) and Wade Earle at Ocean Park, Maine, in July. They went on an extended trip which took them, they left us, into Nova Scotia and the Dominion points. We had three of the finest days possible with them. They retired, live in Sarasota and are avid fishermen. Their mutual hobby is the collecting of shells about which they converse skillfully. Wade is a wood-collector. The Craft for August, 1958, carries a fine story by him, with accompanying photo, titled "Collecting Rare Woods for Small Craft." His collection to date numbers 400 or more kinds of wood. Salt and pepper shakers are his bon mot. These are not "functional and at the same time with the natural beauty of the wood," he writes. At a convention of wood-collectors in Summit, N. J., on the way up to Maine, he picked up a piece of ivory wood the core of which is a deep pink. From now on he will soon be making more of these ivory shakers.

MRS. ERLE M. TOPHAM
(C. Ray Speare)
425 W. Sedgwick St.
Philadelphia 19, Pa.

r. Eugene P. Bertin has been re-elected chairman of the board of directors of the Pennsylvania Heart Association.

Warner S. Squibb lives in Apt. A-12, Wood Gardens, Coatesville. He has lived in this town for 40 years. He is married to the former Ruth M. Wertman Erie, and employed by the Jewel Cartridge Corp. Prior to this he was with Westinghouse Atomic Division as senior quality control engineer and supervised the procurement of steel for the atomic submarine Nautilus. He is chairman of the board of trustees of the First Baptist Church of Coatesville and active in the social life of the Shrine. Warner and I come to some of our football games to some of our Philadelphia alumni affairs. It's always so nice to see them.

alvin J. Smith, 305 Oil Capital Bldg., Tulsa 3, Okla. There's a fine account of Cal in our reunion book. He married Emogene O'Neill in Casper, Wyo. They have two children, Jack and June, graduates of Oklahoma State. They are both married and each has three children. After working for Standard Oil, White Eagle Oil, and Gilmore Gasoline Manufacturing Co., Cal finally went into business for himself. He is now the boss and loves it. He is a member of the Tulsa Chamber of Commerce and The Sertoma Club. Fishing is his hobby. They planned to attend our reunion but Mrs. Smith fell and fractured her pelvis and was hospitalized for quite some time. In reply to an inquiry about her, Cal says she has now fully recovered and that they were to visit this summer to visit his old home in Leone for a few days and that he has enjoyed the mountains after all these years in the plains. However now after having been out there so long, he misses he's a real "Westerner."

Ervin P. Sowers lives at 511 Conant Street, Hillside, N. J. There's a big account of Dutch's life in our reunion book. I'll just supplement it a bit. He married Helen Wagner of Lewisburg in 1923.

Helen died in 1948. In 1950 he married Marion L. Stein of Summerfield, N. J. After teaching science and math in several places, he came to Hillside in 1921 to teach chemistry and physics. He has remained there ever since and retired in 1953 "by edict of the Board of Age." His wife teaches chemistry and biology in Newark, N. J., and so he has now taken on the task of washing, ironing, and cleaning, as well as the man's work around the house, inside and out. Right now he is organizing a 50th reunion of his high school class. He has also signed up to teach an extension course in education at Seton Hall this year. Dutch says "This summer I spent about four weeks in Eagles Mere at the Hotel Allegheny. Sidney Peale '20 and his wife still do most of the management of the hotel which is operated by their married daughter. Don Haman and wife were spending the summer in Eagles Mere. They spend their winters in Florida, and we had several 'Gab fests' with them. Saw Jere Bates '15 in Mifflinburg where he was busy with his retirement hobby, greenhouse work. I had a nice trip to Florida in March. Saw many interesting things and places. Church life and entertaining of guests in our home helps make life interesting. We had guests this summer from Brazil, Georgia and Virginia."

Ray Sprenkle tells me that Kriner, Swope and he (classmates in Waynesboro High School—1912) attended their 45th reunion this past year and that 17 out of their class of 27 were present, including 2 of their former teachers. They all had a grand time and are looking forward to their 50th. "Some of us may be on crutches or in a wheel chair and with ear trumpets, but we'll be there." That's the old spirit, Ray.

Ray's younger son presented them with a new grandson last spring. "Presently he is in the Yale cheering section, whereas our two granddaughters (children of Roger '47) are trying to convince us Los Angeles is the place to call home."

Ray planned a trip in October for 2 days of hiking into the Grand Canyon and probably later will write and tell us about it.

19 DR. FRANKLIN D. JONES
2617 St. David's Lane
Ardmore, Pa.

REUNE IN JUNE

Elinor Hyatt Schoen and her husband are wintering at 2 Sunset Lane, Pompano Beach, Fla., and staying far away from those cold Maine winters.

Dr. Raymond D. Tice of Quakertown writes that he and Hazel are well, happy and busy. Ray is head of the Tice Clinic there.

Ed Keough is retired and living at 40 16th Ave., N., Lake Worth, Fla. Ed plays a lot of golf so if you're in Lake Worth and want a game, look him up.

Gladys Hackenberg is the wife of Rev. Charles F. Catherman, who is now retired. They live in Hazleton. They have two sons—Charles with the Hazleton Plain Speaker, and Harold with Westinghouse in Wilmington, Del. They have four grandchildren, too.

Chester R. Leaber has been re-elected as treasurer of the Bucknell Alumni Club of Greater New York. Mrs. Leaber (Evelyn McGann) has been elected a director of the same club.

21 MRS. ELLWOOD S. DERR
(Sara Bernhart)
1360 Jefferson Ave.
Lewisburg, Pa.

The retirement of Edna M. Baker has been announced recently. She has been Haydn J. White '23 has been advanced to Division Manager—Supply and Operations of Gulf Oil Corporation's New York Sales Division. Following engineering assignments in the United States and South America, he joined the Gulf organization in 1933 and previously served as District Manager in Philadelphia. During the war he served in the Corps of Engineers as Lieutenant-Colonel and after the war served in the Reserve as Port Engineer of the Philadelphia Port.

Haydn and Merceda (Beaver College, Philadelphia Academy of Fine Arts) are parents of daughter Pat who is married to George Edward Fusia, both of the Bucknell Class of 1952, and there are four little Fusias: George, Haydn, James and Kristen. Haydn's brother Charles, graduated from Bucknell in 1925.

a teacher in the Woodbury, N. J., High School since 1922 and was active in the educational circles of the area and state. Among the many honors bestowed upon Edna has been the listing of her name in Leaders in Education, and Who's Who in American Education. She has traveled widely in Europe, Canada and Hawaii. At present she is serving with the Teacher's Educational Policy Committee.

Thomas Mangan is chairman of the Industrial Division of the United Community Chest Fund Drive in Milton.

Your reporter chatted with Helen Beck Shimer and learned that she and Harold are proud grandparents of three girls and a boy.

22 MRS. GEORGE C. WOLFE
(Ruth H. Brown)
60 S. Second St.
Lewisburg, Pa.

Eloise Hill, who teaches French and Spanish in the Clayton, N. J., High School, has been appointed district director for the Atlantic Province of Mu Phi Epsilon, national women's honorary music fraternity. Eloise was one of Miss Armstrong's star pupils in violin.

23 MRS. LEROY FRONTZ
(Olive W. Billhime)
Evergreen Farm
Allenwood, Pa.

Rupert M. Swetland has retired after more than 35 years of service with the General Electric Company. He was senior illuminating engineer at the time of his retirement and plans to continue his work in street and highway lighting as an independent consultant. He and Mrs. Swetland (Elizabeth A. Speakman) have three daughters and are continuing to make their home in Hendersonville, N. C., at 1604 Dixie Lane.

REUNE IN JUNE

"We may build more splendid habitations,
Fill our rooms with paintings,
But we cannot Buy with gold the old associations."

Longfellow

According to our class president, Eddie Robb, plans are already underway for our 35th class reunion on June, 5-6. With our 30th reunion record established in June, 1954, the only thing to do this June is to better it! It may be well to review a bit: 49 members returned for Alumni Day and 74 husbands, wives and children enjoyed the family party which followed the Alumni Luncheon. Let us make the JUNE - RETURN - TO - BUCKNELL - DATE a must!

September and October were truly world friendship months for Ida Heller, 1009 Vine Ave., Williamsport. A friendship which spans two continents and which began in 1955 when Ida attended the Baptist World Alliance in London, England, resulted in a visit to the Heller home by the Misses Barbara A. Watson and Hilda Coulthard of London. Later, Ida entertained a girl from Merida, Yucatan, Mexico—Miss Casianita Garcia. To quote Ida, "Years ago her brothers came to Williamsport to attend our Dickinson Seminary—now Lycoming College. It was fun 'digging up' our Spanish and finding that we could understand each other!" Congratulations, Ida, how we wish that we might have met your friends!

27

MRS. L. H. COLLISON
(Grace M. Pfeiffer)
Marydel, Md.

Harry S. Ruhl, who has been area supervising principal of the Danville Joint School for the past several years, has been elected county superintendent of schools in Montour County. He has been in the teaching and administration fields of education since leaving Bucknell and has served in Lebanon, New Freedom and Hanover prior to coming to Danville. Harry serves our class as fund manager. He is married, has two sons, and lives at 639 Bloom Rd., Danville.

29

MISS THELMA SHOWALTER
425 Market St.
Mifflinburg, Pa.

REUNE IN JUNE

Dr. Clarence W. Cranford, member of the Board of Trustees of Bucknell, was the speaker at the second chapel program of the academic year at Lycoming College.

Allen Rarig, district manager of the Bell Telephone Company in Lewistown, has sent an interesting item regarding our classmate, H. Victor Meyer, who is a businessman in Lewistown, also. "Vic" was characterized as one who could not say "no" in matters of community service and work in his church. He was presented a plaque by the Mifflin County Round Table of Christians and Jews, in recognition of "his exemplary character and his many deeds in the furtherance of the ideals of Brotherhood among his fellow men." We are very proud of our "Vic" and congratulate him and his community on his outstanding service.

A small but enthusiastic group of '29-ers assembled on the morning of Homecoming, and started the ball rolling for their 30th reunion. Among others present were the class president, Paul E. Fink, the reunion co-chairmen, John Minick and William Jones; the editor of the reunion book, Mrs. Clyde Bailey and the class reporter. The session went on throughout the day, during the Alumni luncheon and at the Bison Roundup.

24

Please answer the questionnaire, which Dottie Lemon Bailey has sent you as promptly as possible. Have you circled the week-end of June 6, 1959, with a heavy red crayon? If not, do not delay any longer.

31

MRS. W. ZELMAN SLEIGHTER
(Ruth J. Thomas)
833 Chestnut St.
Mifflinburg, Pa.

The sympathy of this class is extended to Ann Sprout Bolster in the sudden death of her husband, Bill. Ann has returned to her former home in Bristol, Tenn.

Rachel Walker

Nona Ballinger Walker (Mrs. C. W.), 500 Chancery Pl., Greensboro, N. C., sent us this picture of her daughter, Rachel, who is now a senior at Queens College, Charlotte, N. C. Nona is working on another juvenile and historical novel—and manages to do some painting now and then. The painting over the mantel is one of Nona's latest.

33

MRS. ERNEST H. ENGELHARDT
(Janet Worthington)
Irontdale Place, Millville Rd.
Bloomsburg, Pa.

Virginia Humphreys Smith, married to A. Crossley Smith, Jr. '31, has two sons—Arthur, at Princeton; and Gordon, at Germantown Academy. Both boys are active in competitive swimming.

Alice Leslie Brenaman's daughter Ann in high school at Bridgeton, N. J., is quite a swimmer. Her son Ted is married and went into the Air Force in April. Both Alice and her husband, Stuart, are teachers.

Janet Blair Bogar's daughters are 15 and 16, and son Allan is at Bucknell. Janet enjoys two groups in AAUW, Recent Literature and International Cuisine, and is active in church work. She is president of the Women's Association of the Paxton Presbyterian Church and represented them at the national council meeting this June at Purdue University.

Julia Hoffman Beighley's older daughter graduated from Bucknell this year and was married the 14th of June. Her younger daughter is a senior in the Williamsport High School.

Joe Bellmeyer is vice president for International Latex Corporation. At present he is working in Scotland where he is opening a new plant at Port Glasgow. His daughter Nancy graduated this year and married another Bucknellian of the Class of '57 on June 21.

Dave Sarnier is residing in Oreland at Red Oak Road with his wife Irma a girls Patty Jean, 8½ years; and Debor Lynn, 6½ years. He is an assistant professor at the Teachers College of Temple University, having completed his four year.

Harold J. Rose, of 2243 Keystone Blv North Miami, Fla., has four children—Jo (now attending University of Miami), Bary, Frances, and Randy.

Cam Rutledge travels a fair amount time in his work. He and Eleanor have vacationed abroad for the past three years.

Paul Bowers writes from Philadelphia that he sees Wils Snyder and Freddy Enlerth once in a while. Paul is assistant professor at Jefferson, on the staff at General and consultant at several other hospitals.

Luther Bingaman passed away January 18, 1957. His son is now 20 and just finished his active duty with the Army. His wife, Evelyn Weidensaul '24, has gone back to teaching in the Springfield High School. A science scholarship award has been set up by the Teachers' Association of Luther's school district in his honor, and his work with the Science Fairs was featured this March in his honor as a new Montgomery County Science Fair is organized.

Dorothy Lark Burt's husband is owner and manager of the Raup Lumber and Construction Company in Shamokin. Their eldest son, married and father of two daughters, after graduating from Annapolis in 1953, is attending Naval Postgraduate School in Monterey, Calif. Their second son, who graduated from Annapolis in 1956, is now with the 7th Fleet on maneuvers in the Pacific. Their third son is attending Pennsylvania State University.

Ray Brown, after attending Bucknell one year, transferred to Penn State to take B. S. in chemistry. He took his B.S., M.S. a Ph.D. at Penn State and then started work in the Research Labs at Parke-Davis in Detroit. At present he is director of the Bio-Assay Division. They have five children, four in college.

Franklin says that Al Haas is also a pastor. A teacher by profession, Al is also ordained clergyman, teaching at Drew Theological Seminary in New Brunswick, N. J. Franklin has read a number of fine articles authored by Al in the field of pastoral psychology. One of Franklin's classmates Andover, also on the faculty at Drew, reports that Al is a fine scholar, an exceptionally able teacher, and still definitely a "wonderful guy." Al had a busy year in 1957 celebrating Charles Wesley's 250th anniversary. He led in many hymn festivals honoring Wesley at Clearfield, Williamsport, Harrisburg, Patterson (N. J.), Plainfield (N. J.), and New York City. He is privileged to work with Professor Walter McIver '50 of Lycoming College, Dr. Charlotte Garden, of Crescent Avenue Presbyterian Church in Plainfield, N. J., and Dr. Clarence Dickinson in Brick Church, New York City. Al wrote a paper on Charles Wesley for the Hymn Society of America and continues to keep busy preaching in Seminary of Drew University at Madison, N. J., where many Bucknellians are living.

Dorothy Jenks Fox married Keith F. Dartmouth '31, now a savings bank officer. Their two children are Jonathan, 14, and Christopher, 9. They live on 2 acres outside Clinton, N. Y. Hobbies: Little Theatre, enameling, good conversation, and gardening.

James J. Colavita is practicing medicine at 433 Princeton Ave., Trenton, N. J., where he has served for 20 years. He is attending physician in medicine at McKelley Hospital, Trenton. In addition to serving as secretary and treasurer of their hospital staff, he is a lecturer in medicine.

Edward C. Myers — Silver Goal Post Winner

Edward C. Myers, popular president of Bucknell's Class of 1934, has been elected to Sports Illustrated's 1958 Silver Anniversary All-America Roster, it is announced in the December 22nd issue of the magazine. A senior football letterman of the Class of 1934, Eddie is now a vice president of the United States Steel Corporation in Pennsylvania.

Annually 25 men are elected to the Sports Illustrated All-America Roster on the basis of their career success and community service in the intervening 25 years since their senior football season at college. Nomination for the honor is made by the candidate's alma mater. Election to the roster is by a panel of 25 judges of national eminence. The Awards were conceived by the late Herman Hickman in his position as football editor of the magazine.

Eddie started out as a trainee in Carnegie Steel's Homestead plant, rose to director of personnel there, and became one of the industry's leading experts in personnel and industrial relations. In addition he is a member of the National Safety Council and President's Committee on Employment of the Handicapped.

and has been elected P. T. A. president of W. S. L. He has been made senior power supervisor for Niagara Mohawk in Albany. Brian, his oldest son, operates station KLSJM—he has a general license. Terry and Cheryl are fine.

35

MRS. PAUL J. DESCHANEL
(Ann W. Orr)
Chapel Wood
Gambrills, Md.

Reporting the news is always enlivened by personal encounters with Bucknellians. During the latter part of the summer, Eleanor Wermouth Henry and her two sons, Craig and Bruce spent a week with us, enjoying swimming, sailing, and sunbathing. Edith McCormick Smith joined us for a day and we had a long gabfest, peppered by, "Do you remember?" and "I wonder whatever happened to?" Later, before the school season started, Edie and Stu Smith and their two teen-age children, Craig (playing football at Loyola High in Baltimore and thus following his dad's footsteps) and Judy, (a real glamor girl who attends Bryn Mawr school) entertained us at a picnic and whirlwind boat ride at the Baltimore Yacht Club where they are members. It was a delightful day.

I received a superb letter from Janet Workman Appleton who is anxious for everyone to know that she is back east and enjoying community life at 143 Junewood Dr., Levittown. She sees Joe '38 and Mary Bachman ('38) Quick at their farm near Newtown and also saw Vince Halbert '34 and Lou Russo '33 there this summer. She reports that Jack '34 and Anne Culbertson ('38) Dempsey have a baby son, which is wonderful news. Marion Root Frank and Howard '36 are busy with their apartment house in Trenton (N. J.), painting, planting bulbs and shrubs.

I am busy addressing Christmas cards and my message to you all is—a most wonderful Noel and une bonne annee . . . both Diane and Joe are studying French, and may I report—neither one inherited their father's French accent!

37

MRS. PAUL W. ZIEGLER
(Mabel Nylund)
12 W. Garrison Rd.
Chester, Pa.

Emil A. Mesics is an associate professor at Cornell University, School of Industrial and Labor Relations. Prior to accepting this appointment, he was personnel director, International Division of RCA.

We were glad to learn that Marie Schaff Amish has been elected president of the Syracuse club, and Sig Stoler is the treasurer of the Sunbury Alumni Club. When last heard from, Sig's TV writing was to be somewhat curtailed because a number of the programs were moving to the west coast. What is the story now, Sig?

I was going to tell you I had a happy letter from Rita Holbrook Sear, but that would be the understatement of the year. Ecstatic would be more accurate. The reason for this bliss was the arrival on July 11 of Amy Jane. Rita says she is the delight of her father and four brothers nursing school and has written several articles pertaining to Diabetes Mellitus. Though very busy, he always finds time for vacation in Florida for one month. An avid football fan, he follows the Philadelphia Eagles.

Stan Rider's daughter Sally Jo is now a sophomore at Bucknell. His wife, (Bernie) Rider '31 and son Bob, in junior high, expect to see a lot of Lewisburg in the next few years. For several years Stan has been "Director of Industrial Engineering" for Allegheny Ludlum Steel Corporation with offices in the Oliver Building, Pittsburgh. Louise Rakestraw took a leave of absence (1956-57) to complete her course for a doctor of Philosophy in English Literature but is back to work this year. She is an associate professor of English at California State Teachers College.

John Niemtzow graduated from Georgetown Law School, Washington, D. C., and has been practicing law at Freehold, N. J., since October, 1935. His wife, Marion, and children Pola, Ellen, and Miles live in Freehold, N. J.

Hugh Marshall and wife Emily have three children—Susan, 16; Barbara, 13 and John, 8. Now a training consultant for Prudential Insurance Company out of Newark, N. J., Hugh is living in Quakertown and is assigned to the 14th district of the Pennsylvania region with headquarters in Harrisburg.

Henry W. Hallett is chairman of the mathematics department at P. S. duPont High School in Wilmington, Del. His hobbies are: professional organist, classical and popular collector of L. P. records, interested in "Hi-Fi", reading, swimming, oil painting. His latest purchases are a Hammond organ and a Binaural speaker phonograph system.

Steve Griffiths has been in radio and television business ever since his graduation in 1933. He inaugurated the first sports show in this area around WSCR in Scranton. He does a nightly broadcast at 6:15, still sponsored after more than 24 years and still rated number one. He has interviewed many Bucknellians during his sports tenure, including Bucknell's Harry Lawrence and many of the others. Dave is program director of radio station WSCR, beginning his career with WJBU. In those days he was known as Bucknell crooner singing with Zig Miller and his Bucknell Nitehawks, Bob Wright's Band and many others. Married to the former Mildred Rogers, he has two boys—David, Jr. a graduate from Summit Abington High School last year, and Wayne is a junior there. Griffiths live in Chinchilla, outside Scranton.

Don Fisher was married on October 2, 1956, to a lovely girl, one of my former students at Muncy High School. Don's first son is in the United States Marines' Infantry Service. His oldest daughter is a housewife at Sprout Waldron Manufacturing Company, Muncy. His three youngest are going to public schools in Muncy. Don is always modest and never mentions his own achievements. He has several patents on machinery. His inventive and creative mind helps Sprout Waldron Manufacturing Company keep on its toes in competing in the field of milling machinery. Don still plays a top game in pool.

John Mohr and his family are enjoying their year, based in Bergen, Norway, on a Fulbright Fellowship on parasitic protozoans of a variety of shrimplike or crab-like creatures. Chris and Jeremy are attending Norwegian schools.

Lawrence W. Turner says his wife is a chemist secretary for B. T. Babbitt (Tommy, 14; Peter, 10; Kevin, 5; Brian, 3). I am sure Rita was on Cloud No. 9 when she wrote, but she is probably back at 25 Edgemoor Rd., Rochester 18, N. Y., now.

39 MR. DAVID R. BAGENSTOSE
12 Kinterra Rd.
Wayne, Pa.

REUNE IN JUNE

Frank W. Magill, Jr. is assistant director of Internal Revenue Service located in Philadelphia. Previously he served as special agent and as assistant chief in the Pittsburgh offices of the Internal Revenue Service. He was selected as one of 13 men in the U. S. Internal Revenue Service to attend Executive Development School in Washington, D. C., where professors from various colleges in the United States participated. This training was completed just prior to his transfer to the Philadelphia offices. He is married to the former Bette B. Towner '40, and they have 3 children, Frank W., 11; Karen Ann and Charles Towner. Their new address is Golf Club Rd., Newtown Square.

Donald O. Roselle is a development engineer with DuPont in their Mechanical Development Laboratory. He is a Registered Professional Engineer, a member of the National Society of Professional Engineers and the American Society of Mechanical Engineers. He is a licensed lay reader in the Protestant Episcopal Church and regularly employed by Philadelphia Episcopal City Mission. He is married to a non-Bucknellian, and he and Trudi are the parents of three prospective Bucknellians, Constance, 5; Claire, 4; and Christopher, 2. Their home is at 660 Buttonwood Drive, Springfield.

40 MRS. JAMES A. MILLER
(Mary McCrina)
1492 Colfax Ave.
Benton Harbor, Mich.

We have received a beautiful picture of the improvements added to the new edifice of the Bethesda First Baptist Church, Bethesda, Md., of which the Rev. John P. Gates is the minister. The furnishings of the nave are carried out with native Bethesda stone in a beautiful arrangement. Mrs. Maurice B. Hodges, president of the American Baptist Convention, and Dr. Clarence Cranford '29, past president of the American Baptist Convention, assisted with the dedication held last October.

Dr. John C. Winter has been a resident physician at the Oakland Veterans Hospital for the past three years. This is one of the hospitals on the University of Pittsburgh campus where he was a student in their graduate School of Medicine. He is now an allergist with offices in the Medical Arts Building, Pine St., Williamsport. He is married to the former Margaret Stiber and they are the parents of three children.

41 MRS. WILLIAM F. HASSELBERGER
(Jean P. Steele)
605 Scott Ave.
Syracuse 3, N. Y.

Rev. Kenneth S. Dannenhauer has moved to Princeton, N. J., where he is pastor of the Calvary Baptist Church. At this charge, he follows another Bucknellian, Rev. James H. Middleton '50, who has gone to Wayland Academy, Beaver Dam, Wis., as chaplain.

Mrs. Miles Colwell (Helen R. Meek) was pictured in the Tarentum newspaper with a 60-pound white marlin she caught off the coast of Pompano Beach, Fla., where she and her husband were vacationing early last spring.

Frederick Golden is general manager of the Warren Featherbone Company, makers of Warrens and Alexis Infants Wear. His home is at 426 Golf View Rd., N. W., Atlanta 9, Ga.

Col. Robert J. Nolan, veteran bomber pilot, is Commander of the 306th Bombardment Wing Medium. He previously served as director of operations for the unit. During World War II, he flew 39 B-17 combat missions over Europe and had 24 B-29 combat missions in the Korean War. Among the decorations he has received are the Distinguished Flying Cross with 2 oak leaf clusters, Bronze Star with 1 oak leaf cluster, Air Medal with 7 oak leaf clusters, Presidential Unit Citation and others, not only from the United States, but also from the French and British governments. He is married to the former Clare Richter and they have three children, Kathleen, 8; Robert T., 4; and Matthew, 1½. The 306th is located in Florida and Bob's address is 34 Garden Dr., MacDill A. F. B., Tampa, Fla.

42 MRS. THOMAS R. DIETZ
(Germaine B. Pepperman)
83 Nutt Rd.
Phoenixville, Pa.

Mrs. Ethel Roessner (Ethel B. Hawksworth) has been elected secretary of the Bucknell Alumni Club of Greater New York.

Herb and Helen Ahrensfield Heany

Some time ago, I received the above picture with a nice note from Ken Bayless, who submits the picture "as positive proof that Bucknellians do not really change much with the passing years." Judging from the appearance of Herb and Helen Ahrensfield Heany, seated in their home in Basking Ridge, N. J., he is so right! Herb is a practicing attorney in Bernardsville, N. J., and is also town magistrate there. While Ken was visiting with them, they also had a small Bucknell Reunion with Jerry and Elva Ahrensfield Bacon. According to Ken, Basking Ridge is getting to be a regular Bucknell stronghold. Sorry this picture and article are so late in appearing, but a couple of other pictures had priority.

Hope that Christmas will bring me lots and lots of news from the Class of 1942. We weren't able to make Homecoming after all, so I really feel lost as far as present news is concerned. Keep the notes, pictures and letters coming, for this is proof that they eventually get into the ALUMNUS.

Happy New Year to you all from the Dietz family.

43 MISS CAROLYN F. DONEHOWER
372 Chestnut St.
Philadelphia 4, Pa.

Bill Bowen and Donna Jeane Ray Bowen '46, continue a busy work schedule,

Announcement has been made of the promotion of Robert E. Smith, president of the Class of 1939, to executive director, Acrilan of the Chemstrand Corporation. Joining Chemstrand in 1951 after service with the American Viscose Corporation, Bob formerly served as sales manager for Acrilan. His new duties and responsibilities as a special representative of the President include co-ordination of the Acrilan product group activities through research, development, engineering, production and marketing.

Bob is married to the former Margaret A. Farrell '41. They and their two children live at 447 Fairway Road, Ridgewood, N. J.

Bill as accounting manager for the Hadon Craftsman Inc., Scranton, and Donna with the four little Bowens. Last summer Bill wrote an article for the National Association of Accountants which was judged one of the 25 best of 725 submitted and thereby won himself a certificate of merit plus a trip to the National Convention in Chicago to receive his award.

44 MRS. ROBERT F. BAKER
(Honey Rhinesmith)
Lindys Lake, R. D.
Butler, N. J.

REUNE IN JUNE

Dorothy L. Heller returned October from a vacation spent in the Hawaiian Islands. She reports that all the complimentary remarks one hears about that part of the world are not exaggerated.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond K. Irwin announce the birth of a son, David Kiel, September 5.

Dean A. Kearsh is president of the Floral Park American League Little League. He has been active in sports on Long Island, having officiated at high school football and basketball games and keeping an eye out for future Bucknell "All-Americans."

Helen E. Royer has been appointed assistant professor of social science at Montclair (N. J.) State Teachers College.

Our fondest Holiday wishes go to all of you, and when you're making New Year's resolutions, please give priority returning to our Reunion in June.

45 MRS. BURR WILLIAMSON
(Sylvia E. Cliffe)
37 Rankin Ave.
Basking Ridge, N. J.

Ye Editor was pressed for space in the last issue so here are a few more "clean up" notes together with my apologies for their late publication.

1959 was a banner year for the Douglas Hardsons (Elizabeth "Betsey" Richards) and their son Douglas Duncan, affectionately known as "Doc", will celebrate his birthday on the 21st of this month.

A nice note from Ruth Burnett Pemberton reports their return to Michigan after a year spent in Manchester, Conn., where Jim was "on loan" to Pratt and Whitney. Their new address is: 28075
Boulevard, Lathrup Village,

Having heard nothing to the contrary, he it is safe to report that the John Hardsons (Phoebe Follmer) and their little girls, Kim, Debbie, and Susan, travelled to Baghdad, Iraq, for service with I. C. A. Their old address was Washington, D. C., but "Furb" writes that it may be addressed in care of The American Embassy USOM, Baghdad.
Warm good wishes go with you all, and I surely hope I'm not missing the entire Bacon family and their Philip F. Dietz has been appointed assistant to the manager of the Westinghouse photo-miniature lamp department.

He joined Westinghouse in 1946 after a year in the U. S. Navy. He recently completed the Harvard University course in business administration under the company's executive training program. He lives at 24 Brunswick Rd., Montclair,
N. J., with his wife Charlotte and four

After reading about the Williamson family in the last issue, Anne Kloss was hastened to report that the situation is reversed at their house. With it's boys, three to one. Ann, Bill,
Arthur (10), John (8), and Billy.
They were overjoyed when their Mother's gift last May 11 turned out to be yarn. The Schnure's are looking forward to Bill's 15th class reunion in June and are hoping to see many of their classmates then.

We hope that the Holiday Season just was a joyful one for each of you and 1959 will be a good year for you all.
Finally, I have resolved to report all much sooner and more accurately.
Ask a line now and then, won't you,
e?

MRS. LELAND C. EWING
(Elizabeth J. Wells)
51 Clunie Ave.
Hastings-on-Hudson, N. Y.

Philip Glaser has been elected president of the Bucknell Alumni Club of Greater
New York.

ROGER S. HADDON, ESQ.
213 Water St.
Northumberland, Pa.

As noted recently, Dr. Eugene L. Gaier of the 1957-58 school year as a Fulbright Professor at the University of Helsinki in Finland. In addition, in the years since graduation, Gene has successfully managed to write 65 articles and two books on psychology besides taking time to earn his master's degree at State University of Iowa and his doctorate at University of Chicago. Congratulations,
Gene, on your achievements.

James E. Brady and wife Fawn are new owners once again since purchasing a new home at 508 Forrest Ave., Arlington Heights, Ill. They have two sons who help mow grass and rake leaves . . .
David, 6, and Jimmy, 4.

Philip K. Morton is assistant treasurer of the Curtis Paper Company in Newark,

Earle S. Pedigo, Jr., has accepted the position of supervisor, viscose section, at the Marcus Hook plant, Film Division, of the American Viscose Corporation. The family moved to the Marcus Hook area in July from Nitro, W. Va., where they had been located since 1948.

Dr. William J. Williams is one of the 25 doctors appointed by the John and Mary
R. Markle Foundation as a Scholar in Medical Science. All are members of medical schools in U. S. and Canada. Bill is teaching, doing clinical work in internal medicine, engaged in research, and is the co-author of nine scientific publications.
Except for six months at Western Reserve University and two years in the U.
S. Navy, Bill's entire professional career has been associated with the U. of P., where he is serving as assistant professor of medicine. His wife, the former Margaret Lyman, a physician and chief of the Department of Pediatrics at the Episcopal Hospital in Philadelphia, is also engaged in research. The Williams' have 2 children: Susan, 5, and William 2. Their home is at 709 Dover Road, Philadelphia.

Mr. and Mrs. Roger Haddon were named in the July, 1957, issue of Better Homes and Gardens among winners in that magazine's 1956 Home Improvement Contest. Their winning entry was a major remodeling of kitchen-utility area in a home approximately 125 years old. The contest drew 135,700 entries. Their recipe: "Remove old kitchen with one bulldozer, turned to high speed; stir rubble to a dusty pulp, while fleeing to secluded part of house with sundry edibles; board up the excavation for four months at temperature of 92 degrees F.; return to former excavation at end of four months, and rehearse casual line about how easy it was."
Roger is now president of the Sunbury Area Alumni Club.

Robert M. Northrup is a senior engineer with Sylvania Electric Products Inc., Product Development Section, Radio Tube Division, at Emporium. He is married to the former Mary Marie Seeds and has one son, Peter Mitchell, who was born
April 8, 1957. They live at Sylvan Heights, Emporium.

Claire Lusignan Roy (wife of Dr.
Charles A. Roy, pediatrician) is living at 134 Everett St., Southbridge, Mass. They have three sons (ages eight and younger):
Charles, Jr., Richard, and John. On a tour to the South in 1956, the Roys revisited
"dear old Lewisburg," and found that "Bucknell is more beautiful than ever before."

Catherine "Lee" Eshleman Moshinski writes that she and Ed acquired a new home in June. It's at 228 Bridge St., Drexel Hill. Judging from Lee's comments, it sounds like a right happy place—aided and abetted no doubt by the antics of Eddie, Jr., who had his second birthday on July 21.

Bushnell Fullerton, attorney for American Hospital Supply Corporation, has been named assistant secretary of the firm. He received his law degree from Duke University in 1950, worked for Libby, McNeal and Libby for 2½ years in the law department and since 1952 has been in the law department of the American Hospital Supply Corp. He and his wife (Lois Miller), have three children, Kathy, David and Sally. Their home is at 820 Courtland Ave., Park Ridge, Ill.

Your reporter's yearnings for a full-color postcard from far-off places were quenched under postmark of August 29 with receipt of awesome view of Mt.
Fuji, as seen from the Ashinoko Lake (Japan). Complete with four cents postage prepaid, the card bore the following welcome dispatch from Mrs. Samuel A.

"Hospital Management" has announced the acquisition of one of the leading authorities in hospital engineering to serve as its engineering editor. He is Daniel E. Roop '45 who is a registered professional engineer at Baptist Memorial Hospital in Memphis, Tenn.

After leaving college Dan served as an engineer in the U. S. Navy until 1946 when he entered consulting work in engineering, later becoming interested in institutional engineering. He served in the New England Medical Center in Boston and the George F.
Geisinger Memorial Hospital in Danville prior to his present position. Dan is president of the Tennessee Hospital
Engineers Association and a member of numerous associations, societies and committees of engineers. He is married to the former Dorothy Danenhower '46 and they are the parents of three girls and one boy. The Roop home is at 1445 East Crestwood Dr.,
Memphis 17, Tenn.

Custer (Charlotte Schultz): "Well, here we are—three-year residents of Yokota
Air Force Base, Japan. We're 25 miles northwest of Tokyo, a very fascinating city . . ." Char's husband is a lieutenant colonel in the Army Air Force.
(Our erratic files indicate the Custers have two sons and a daughter, but who knows? Char, how about another card, if you have the yen? Bear in mind I have the view of Mt. Fuji.)

Major John R. DeBarr, who is making a career with the Marine Corps as a legal officer, began a new assignment in November in Manhattan, with the Third Naval District Legal Office (90 Church St.). For about four years John had been stationed at Camp Lejeune, N. C.
He is married to the former Mary Louise
Burg, of Northumberland.

Mr. and Mrs. F. Porter Wagner (Janet Greenfield '46) have proudly announced their joint beating of the odds as of November 3, 1958—on that date they welcomed little Laura Ray (girl) into the Wagner fold: Frank, Harry, William and Michael (boys). Porter (alias "Spike") is serving as District Attorney of Montour County, and as vice president of the Pennsylvania District Attorneys' Association. They live in Danville.

48 MRS. JAMES A. BROWN
(Joann G. Gollightly)
954 Caldwell Ave.
Union, N. J.

Please remember the Alumni Fund—our chairman, Bob Taylor, is doing an excellent job—do your part.

Dr. Gilbert F. Norwood has opened practice as an orthopedic surgeon at 90

Hawthorne St., New Bedford, Mass. He has received an interim appointment to the courtesy medical staff of St. Luke's Hospital in that city.

Benjamin F. Bastian has been elected secretary of the Bucknell Alumni Club of Lancaster.

Dr. Richard S. Brown has been named to the associate staff of the Lewistown Hospital in general surgery. He and his wife Betty (Elizabeth Simmons) are the parents of two sons and one daughter and reside in Lewistown.

Dr. and Mrs. Richard Baumbach (Mary Ellen Grove) and son Peter have been in Detroit since December, 1957, as Dick is serving a residency in oral surgery at the Henry Ford Hospital there. They will be glad to hear from any Bucknellians in the area. Their address: 7449 Churchill Road.

Edwin L. Bell has been approved as president of the Mengel Natural History Society under terms of a new constitution adopted by members during a meeting at the Reading Public Museum and Art Gallery in February, 1958. Ned's full time occupation is assistant professor of biology at Albright College. He and his wife (Frances L. Reichard) have three young sons: Ernest, 6; Stephen, 4; and Eric, 2½. The family home is at 1454 Oak Lane, Reading.

Robert E. List has been elected a vice president of the Bucknell Alumni Club of Northern New Jersey.

Mrs. Earl W. Sieger '50 (Jane E. Koch) has been elected secretary of the Bucknell Alumni Club of Trenton.

Stan and Dot (Deibert) Shockey tell us they are "supporting" the first year of a new business in El Paso, Texas—that of appliance repair. Stan does the repair work and Dot is "office manager."

Clint Marantz has successfully directed the Huntington Township (L. I.) Theater Group in "Detective Story."

George J. Herman has been appointed assistant dean of engineering at Montana State College.

In September, Harold F. Steff will begin his new duties as teacher-coach at the Muhlenberg Township High School at Laureldale. He has previously served in the same capacity at the Chester High School and the Minersville High School. He is married to the former Lois E. May and they have three children, John, 10; Jody, 6; and Judy, 5.

Robert M. Sundy has been named Southeastern Field Executive for the Associated Press. He previously served as a staff writer and editor at AP bureaus in New York, Philadelphia, Harrisburg and Pittsburgh. His new address is 1691 Woodmere Dr., Jacksonville 10, Fla.

Dr. Ernest F. Andrews received the degree of Doctor of Sacred Theology from Temple University in June. Since 1955 he has been the pastor of the Zion's Reformed Church (United Church of Christ) at Allentown. He is married to the former Virginia C. Schroeter and has two children—Priscilla and Earl.

Dr. Martin F. Mines has opened an office for the practice of internal medicine in Hempstead, N. Y. He is married to the former Joan Weiss and has one son, David. His address is 47 Villa Court, Hempstead, N. Y.

Mr. and Mrs. James R. Skove announce the arrival of James R. Skove, Jr., on November 11, 1958. Mrs. Skove is the former Florence Fellows. Flo and Jim have a boy David, age 6, and a daughter Cindy, age 3. We were sure glad to see you at our reunion in June, Flo.

49

MRS. THOMAS A. FRAZIER
(Marilyn L. Harer)
1344 Mansel Ave.
Williamsport, Pa.

REUNE IN JUNE

Put a big red "X" on your June calendar—June 5, 1959! Our 10th reunion year! And don't forget to send any information of you to me. Bobbie Jones Purnell will be in touch with you periodically throughout the year with information on our plans. You will also be getting letters from Rae Schultz Glover, who is now busy on the Reunion Book. Give her your prompt attention so the book will be complete with news of every one of us.

Robert C. Camac is with the Terry-Phone Company of Harrisburg and is living at 194 Dogwood Dr., Levittown. The Camacs (June A. Ruhl) became the parents of a daughter on August 5.

Robert A. Goldston has been re-elected a vice president of the Bucknell Alumni Club of Greater New York.

Grier Y. Boedker was elected president of the Bucknell Alumni Club of Danville.

Dr. Lois M. Eberhardt has completed her internship in Hanover, N. H., and has opened an office for the general practice of medicine at 28 Briggs St., Honeoye, N. Y.

Births: A son, William Eric Maudlin, born April 23, 1958, to Mr. and Mrs. Robert Maudlin (Carole Jackson). (He joins Linda, 5½ and David, 2½.) A son, Courtney Wheeler, born to Mr. and Mrs. Dane Wheeler (Julie Mason) on June 1, 1958. (He joins a sister, Heather, 6 and a brother, Berkeley, 4.) A son, Charles Harer, to Mr. and Mrs. Thomas A. Frazier (Lynn Harer) on June 14, 1958. ("Chip" joins his brother, Marc, 2.)

A son, Todd Jeffrey, to Dick '50 and Rusty (Jean Ritchings) Wagner on June 27, 1958.

Change of address: Donald L. Ward, Jr., 531 S. George St., York. Guy Johnson, 1350 Russ Building, San Francisco, Calif. (Guy is currently setting up a claims department in the Factory Mutual Liability Co. in San Francisco, Calif.) Fred N. Brown, 1114 Concord Dr., Haddonfield, N. J. (Fred is now supervising engineer of the technical department of the Insurance Company of North America Philadelphia Metropolitan Office. After seven years in Chicago and Wisconsin, he, his wife, Mary Lee and children Debbie, 6 and Ricky, 4, are glad to be back east.) Ralph Noble, 209 Center St., Hancock, Mich. (He is assistant director, Institute of Extension Services with the academic rank of assistant professor at Michigan College of Mining and Technology.)

Wesley G. Nilson has had a busy career since leaving Bucknell. He first was engaged as a corrosion engineer for a few years prior to joining the research staff of the International Nickel Co., Inc. He has been involved in metal physics research at the Atomic Energy of Canada, Ltd. in Ontario, Canada. Part time graduate work over the years has earned him the degree, Master of Metallurgical Engineering, from the Polytechnic Institute of Brooklyn this past June. He is currently a student at the St. Institute of Technology.

Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd W. Furman, Jr. (Louise Karraker '48) and 8-year old daughter, Susan Louise, welcomed another member into the family upon the birth of David, on June 1. Their address is 21 Pleasant Court, Sunrise Terrace, Binghamton, N. Y.

Mrs. Paul A. Perry (Betsy Abert) writes, "Life has been fine for us these past 12 months in Manila. Nancy is 10 months old and just about ready to walk. David is 3½ and perpetually on go or asking questions. We go swimming, play golf or tennis just about days of the year—really hard to take a life overseas! Our Holiday Season was just wonderful last year as my Dad managed to combine his 1957 and 1958 vacations, so he and my Mother were with us in Manila for Christmas and New Year's. We flew to Hong Kong for two weeks local leave the early part last month (January). As things are now, there's a very good chance of being able to make our 10th reunion in 1959. We're due to go on our home leave in March, but I think we'll delay it a couple of months to avoid the cold weather for our trip through Europe—so, I thought to land us in New Jersey about first of June. Sure would love to see old Bucknell again and especially at union time when some of my former classmates would be there too."

50

MRS. DAVID MILLER
(Martha J. Kreider)
614 Penn St.
New Bethlehem, Pa.

Tom and Trudy (Hogg) Sonnichsen write that they are living in Delaware again (6 Malvina Lane, Newark, Del.) and would like to hear from classmates.

William R. Byer has been elected secretary of the Bucknell Alumni Club of Scranton.

Mr. and Mrs. Dale A. Derr (Carol E. Melick '49) moved from Philadelphia to Bloomsburg in 1955 when Dale opened his own law office there. They reside 20 Nottingham Rd., and have one daughter, Kathryn, who was born March 1957.

Clifford W. Clark is a salesman with the American Olean Tile Co. in the Philadelphia and South Jersey territory. He and Anne (Anne H. Schweiker '51) have a trio of girls, Patricia, Pamela and Peggy.

Walter K. Rhoads is director of radio and television for the Henry Quednau Inc. Advertising Agency and also teaches television techniques at the Clayton Academy of Modeling in St. Petersburg, Fla. He resides at 11875 Gulf Boulevard, Treasure Island, Fla.

The year of 1957 was a full and important one to William R. White. He was licensed as a professional engineer in June; first child, William Richard, was born on November 19 and the family moved into their new home at 311 Walnut St., Moosic, on December 14.

Henry G. Witman is director of guidance in the Montrose Consolidated High School. He and Louise have two children, Susan, 5; and Henry, Jr., 2½. His family hobby is developing the acreage ground on which they built their barbed house. Incidentally, the address is Box 11, Montrose.

Mary Ellen Meyers received the degree of master of science in nursing, with major in nursing school administration from the University of California in February, 1958. She is a member of the faculty of U. C. L. A.

51

MRS. HAROLD NORRIS
(Rebecca J. Rogers)
6 Griffin St.
Montrose, Pa.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard B. Hile have added a daughter to their family with the birth of Laura Lee on July 13. Howard is a project engineer with Clark Brothers Co., makers of compressors for the oil and gas industry, in Olean, N. Y.

Cl C. Lyon, Jr. has been appointed banding specialist in ice cream sales in the Sealtest Supply Division of the National Dairy Products Corporation. He and his wife (Emilie C. Riley) and son live at their home at 10 Kenwood Dr., Unionfield, N. J.

Following two years of service with the U. S. Army at Ft. Leonard Wood, Mo., William T. Musser has entered the field of medicine in Mifflinburg. He is married to the former Ethel Fisher and has two sons, William Scott and John Lynn. Their home is located at 10 South 4th St., Mifflinburg.

Met Ozkan, who earned his master of science degree in mechanical engineering in 1951, has returned to Turkey where he made splendid progress in the Turkish railways, holding the position of operational engineer in car repair at Adapzari, Turkey.

William R. Raup has been appointed assistant scout executive of the Easton Scouts Council, Boy Scouts of America, Wilkensburg. Prior to this assignment, he had served as an executive in councils at Easton and Butler.

Webster Smith is an instructor in the department of the fine arts at Cornell University. He expects to receive a Ph.D. degree in history of arts from that University in February, 1959. He and his wife, the former Molly Teasdale, are living at 10 E. Buffalo St., Ithaca, N. Y.

MRS. JOHN S. BOULDEN, JR.
(Barbara Bleecker)
1605 Twin Maple Ave.
Towson 4, Md.

Family additions: Herb and Babs born 11 '53 Stiefel, a son, Robert Small, born 3, 1957 (Karen and Kathy are expected with their baby brother!); Mike Janice Bergman Pedalino, a daughter, born November, 1957; Dr. and Mrs. Ed Tomsey, a son, Scott Campbell, March. For anyone who develops a sudden headache while at the Jersey Shore, Ed's address is 512 Maine St., Toms River, N. J.

Ernest Coleman writes that he and Rey now have two children, Louise, and Steve, born on February 4. Ernest is doing radar development work at Westinghouse Air Arm in Baltimore. His address: 203 Holland Road, Seale Park, Md.

Newly elected alumni club officers: Presidents—Bill Henkelman, Scranton; Clayton Mason, Atlantic City; and Charlie Hart, Southern Delaware; Treasurer—Clayton Lawson, Syracuse; Vice President—Ernest Von Heill, Long Island.

Clayton Robeson has recently been transferred by ALCOA from Worcester, Mass., to Cincinnati, Ohio. He and his wife (Pat McAllister) and daughter Susan are living at 8980 Eldora Dr., Cincinnati, Ohio.

Clayton Bradley is labor relations manager, General Drive Plant of the Chrysler Corporation in Detroit, Mich. He is also a registered scout (part time) with the Cincinnati National League Baseball Club. He is married to the former Catherine Stettner and has two children, Carol, 7 and Bruce, 8. The family home is at 140 Kelly Rd., East Detroit, Mich.

The Van Johnsons (Berda Stout '53) are living in Berwick where Van is associated with the Bill Johnson ('41) Chevrolet and Cadillac Motor Company. They have two children, John Wirt, Jr., 3½; and Elizabeth Mosher born May 5.

Dr. Hann Gerrity is now chief physical therapist at the Princeton Hospital, Princeton, N. J.

In February, Cornell University announced the addition of James Ostendarp, former New York Giants' football defense specialist to their coaching staff. Jim, who played college football at Bucknell, will assist head coach George K. (Lefty) James '30 with the Big Red backfield. A member of the Giants' defensive unit for two seasons, Ostendarp also played for the Montreal Alouettes of the Canadian Football League. After serving as an assistant coach at Bucknell, he joined the staff at Williams College in 1955 and remained there until the present time.

In July, 1957, Dr. Ann Steele was married to Dr. Rudolph L. Buck, a general practitioner in McKeesport. Ann served her internship and spent 1 year as general resident at the McKeesport Hospital. July of this year, she started a three-year residency in radiology at the Mercy Hospital in Pittsburgh. Home address: 1025 McCleary St., McKeesport.

Ralph L. Gemberling is assistant to the president of Norm Advertising, Inc., New York City. He had previously served as minister of the Methodist Church in Newfoundland, N. J., and as radio and TV station relations manager with the advertising department of Slenderella, Inc. He is residing at 440 Riverside Drive with offices at 79 Madison Ave., New York, N. Y.

The David LaVance family welcomed their third son, Mark, on July 2. His older brothers are Teddy and Davy. Their home is at 110 Dilly Hill, La Grange, Ga. David is a quality control specialist with the International Latex Corporation.

53 MRS. JAMES A. CHAMBERS, JR.
(Barbara Roemer)
58 Linden Ave.
Verona, N. J.

Married: Frank S. Boguszewski to Joan Senderovitz on February 1, 1958. Address 143 S. Market St., Nanticoke.

Mr. and Mrs. Alan F. Judkins (Madelaine M. Heidrick) announce the birth of their second child, a son, Jonathan, on March 9. They have a 4 year old daughter, Alice Linnea. The Judkins have recently moved to 147 Iroquois, Park Forest, Ill. Alan is a salesman in the Chicago District for Coal Chemical Sales Division of U. S. Steel Corp.

John A. Diffendafer has been appointed Buffalo Sales Agent for the M. A. Hanna Co., Susquehanna Collieries Division, effective March 1. Jack and his wife (Patricia A. Nelson '55) and their 3 year old son Charles Alton, reside at 303 Cazenovia St., East Aurora, N. Y. A daughter Karen Aileen was born November 25, 1957, but passed away while undergoing complicated heart surgery on January 10, 1958. Burial took place in Nanticoke. John is president of the Bucknell Alumni Club of Buffalo.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard W. Landis (Betty Paul) announce the birth of their second child, Karen Elizabeth, on January 28. Son Billy is now 3 years old. Dick is employed as job analyst with Insurance Company of North America and has traveled to the west coast and Canada. Home base is 14 Longwood Dr., Laurel Mill Farms, Stratford, N. J.

Morris A. Malmstrom, Jr., is employment manager for Ortho Pharmaceutical Co., Raritan, N. J. Last July he was married to the former Ruth F. Strohm and is living at 16 Lincoln Court, Greenwood Village, Trenton 9, N. J.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Stuart Hill, Jr. (Elizabeth L. Quick) announce the birth of their second child, Mary Susan, on August 15, 1957.

John B. Clark '48 has been appointed manager in the Erie offices of the Land Advertising Agency, Inc. John has had many articles published in national trade magazines and has won several awards for his advertising and merchandising work, including the 1957 Direct Mail Letters Award from the Direct Mail Advertisers Association. He is married, has three daughters and his new address is 3902 Elliott St., Erie.

Robert J. Wollet, Esq., has been named chairman of the blood program of the Lycoming County Chapter, American Red Cross.

Mr. and Mrs. James R. Ritter (Margaret O'Brien) recently moved to 17 Moreau Dr., R. D. 3, Glens Falls, N. Y. After 4½ years at the Pittsfield, Mass., General Electric plant, Jim has been transferred to the capacity division at Hudson Falls, N. Y. They have two children, Kathy, 3; and John, 1.

Jeffrey K. Thompson has been elected treasurer of the Bucknell Alumni Club of Northern New Jersey.

Dr. Alan E. Bernstein is serving his internship at the San Francisco General Hospital in that city.

Dr. Harold Z. Brown and Katharine A. "Kitsy" Bell were married August 7 and are located in Pensacola, Fla.

The Roths, Mollie and Roger '52, announce the birth of their third son, Neil, born August 22. His brothers are Brad, 3, and Mark, 4. Roger is now a project manager at the Pioneering Research Lab of Owens-Corning Fiberglas and on the board of the Methodist Church in Newark, Ohio. Mollie just completed terms as a circle leader and as president of the Newcomers Club of Newark.

Lynn (Howell) and Carl Cording and family have bought a new home outside Buffalo—their address is 407 Sunrise Blvd., Williamsville, N. Y. Carl is a group engineer for Bell Aircraft Corp. working on the new Bell vertical landing and take-off plane.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Kutz announce the birth of their second daughter, Janice Lynn, on August 23. Big sister Nancy Diane is 3½ now.

Louis M. Groenheim has been elected a vice president of the Bucknell Alumni Club of Greater New York.

54 MRS. PAUL C. TARR, III
(Anne E. Tuckerman)
20-A East Front St.
Media, Pa.

REUNE IN JUNE

A daughter, Lora Davis, born April 8, has joined the Allen Koenigs (Lora Doody) at their home at 20 Brookside Dr., Apt. 1-B, Greenwich, Conn.

CLASS OF 1956

That the selection of our "Class of 1956 Lectureship" as our class gift was again demonstrated on Monday, November 3, when Dr. Harold W. Miller, professor of Greek and Latin, and this year's choice as the recipient of the Class Lectureship, presented his address on "Oedipus and the Dignity of Man" to an overflow audience in Olin Science Auditorium. We can well be proud that our lectureship is a continuing recognition of outstanding teaching at Bucknell.

M. William LeMon, Jr. has been elected secretary of the Bucknell Alumni Club of Syracuse.

James E. Logue and Shirley A. Co-hick '51 were married April 25 in Williamsport. Jim is a member of the faculty at the Roosevelt Junior High School in Williamsport. They will reside at 1601 Almond Street in that city.

To W. George Gehring '23, we are indebted for a little news about our classmate, Douglas G. Gehring. He writes, "Doug is a chemist with DuPont in their Process Laboratory at Gibbstown, N. J. He is happily married to a beautiful Taiwanese girl, Susan Wong, whom he met in Formosa while serving in the Intelligence Department of the Army." They are living at 11 S. Clinton Ave., West-nah, N. J. (Note—Thanks Dad!)

We are happy to announce the marriage of Mr. Louis F. Santangelo to Miss Agnes Eleanor Laviere on June 14, 1958.

Dr. Martin Castelbaum received the degree of doctor of medicine from the Bowman Gray School of Medicine in June and is now serving his internship at the Beth Israel Hospital in New York City.

Dr. Theron A. Winter, Jr. received the degree of doctor of dental surgery at the University of Pennsylvania in June and has gone into private practice. He is married to the former Charlotte A. Rummage and has a year old daughter Jennifer Kay. Their address is 1717 W. Market St., Lewisburg.

Marion Myers and Robert Deprez were married in York, in April, 1958.

Fran Harvey writes of her marriage to Thomas Ross, Jr., in August, 1957. They reside at 1602 Fairview, Royal Oak, Mich., and Fran is teaching school. Alice Rhoads Orme has moved to 6536 Lucas St., Oakland 11, Calif.

Jo Walling Gorby, husband Don, and their two boys have recently moved into a new home at 15 Lexington Road, Bordentown, N. J.

Dr. James W. Justice received an M.D. degree from New York Medical College this past summer and is interning at the San Francisco General Hospital, San Francisco, Calif.

Rev. Robert P. Keller, Jr. and Rose-mary Skinner were married August 15 at Oklahoma City, Okla. The couple is making their home in Pittsford, Vt., where Bob is serving as co-pastor of the three Methodist churches at Pittsford, Chittenden and Brandon, Vt.

A son, Steven Kent, was born to Mr. and Mrs. Paul W. Netzel in August. Their home is at 510 Elmhurst Ave., Bethlehem.

Dr. Donald J. Wexlin received his M.D. degree from the University of Rochester this past summer and is interning at the Lankenau Hospital in Philadelphia.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul C. Tarr III (Anne Tuckerman), are happy to announce the arrival of their daughter, Elizabeth Ann, on September 13, 1958.

Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Goldfinger (Gabrielle Kramer) announced the adoption of Leslie Alfred born August 29, 1958.

N. Edwin Asher and Nancy Wilson were married September 13. Edwin served two years in the U. S. Army and is now employed in the laboratory of the American Home Foods, Inc., Milton. The couple will live in Lewisburg.

MRS. JOHN C. VANCE, JR.
(Jane Jones)
1013 Clinton St.
Philadelphia, Pa.

Fae Neavling Dulmage and Don are living in New York with their new daughter, Diane Cole, who was born November 26, 1957.

Roy Gavert and Rita Jay returned from Germany last September and are now living in Garden City, Mich. with their little girl Kathy.

Dick and Gail Rothenberger Shand are now living in Bethlehem.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Garrard (Patty Mansfield) of 426 New Castle Street, Butler, became the parents of a little girl, Elizabeth Harper, on September 5, 1957. Bob is a purchasing agent for the Wise Machine Co.

On July 20, 1957, William B. Brown III married Catherine Logan. He is employed as a geologist for the Amerada Oil Co.

Lt. William M. Wandall is now located with the 7th Infantry Division in Korea. He is Communications Officer in the Transportation Battalion. His wife Frankie and young son Bill are living in Richmond, Va.

Jack and Jane Jones Vance have also joined the ranks as parents with the arrival of a daughter, Keven Clair, on January 23, 1958.

Robert I. Rednick received his LL.B. degree from New York University in June and is now a law clerk in the office of Monroe Mann, Port Chester, N. Y. He took his state bar examinations in July.

Bruce M. Cloud has returned to the employ of Bethlehem Steel Corporation following his tour of military service with the Army which was spent in Washington, D. C., doing liaison work for the Office of Defense Mobilization. In July he married the former Susan Pippin and is living at 5808 Edgepark Rd., Baltimore 14, Md.

Laura R. Davis resigned her teaching post in Denver, Colo., to enroll at the University of California where she is doing graduate work toward a master's degree. Her address is 2730 Garber St., Berkeley 5, Calif.

Rose A. Scicchitano and Edward J. McGinnis, Jr. '51, were married August 16, and are living at 106 S. Harrison St., East Orange, N. J.

Mary Strickland Johnson writes that after eight moves in four years, Western Electric has finally settled Larry and her at 2633-A Zollinger St., Columbus 21, Ohio.

Margie Goodwin and Dave Lawrence '57 and two-year-old Mark moved into their new home at 3666 Mt. Acadia Blvd., San Diego 11, Calif., on August 1. Dave is with Convair Astronautics.

After spending a year and a half with the Army in France, George Teabo has become associated with the New York Life Insurance Co. in the Poughkeepsie, N. Y., branch.

Jim and Helen Glisson Maddox became the parents of a daughter, Carol, in September.

56 MRS. WILLIAM O'NEIL
(Jean Wirths)
1706 Esplanade
Hollywood Riviera
Redondo Beach, Calif.

Robert T. Berringer received his master's degree in mechanical engineering from the University of Pittsburgh in 1957 and is continuing work there doing graduate work under Westinghouse Advanced Mechanics Program. He is an associate engineer in nuclear engineering and working in the Reactor Engineering Department of Westinghouse's Commercial Atomic Power Activities.

Carolyn L. H. Eisenhart and Robert Figiali were married June 16. Bob, with RCA at Cape Canaveral, Fla., has the new address for the couple is Inver River City, Fla.

Case A. Foster, III, is an application engineer with the Marlin Rockwell Corporation at Jamestown, N. Y. He is married to the former Mary E. Ruhlman, and they have one son. Their home is at Meadow Lane, Jamestown, N. Y.

Emily A. Highfield and Charles Bibbins were married September 28, and will make their home in Orange, N. Y.

Mary C. Tonkin was married to Thomas on August 16.

Barbara A. Josenhans was elected secretary of the Bucknell Alumni Club of Long Island.

Neil F. Karkus completed a 2-year tour of duty with the U. S. Navy in June, and on August 17, was married to Dorothy Stein. Neil is employed by the Georgia State Better Homes of Keyport, N. J. He and Dorothy are living at 320 Clmont Ave., Montclair, N. J.

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Davis, III (Helen L. Miller) welcomed a son into their family on July 5. His name is Cecil Scott. The Davises are living at Woodcliffe Dr., New Goss Manor, Dallas.

Mr. and Mrs. George Wolfe, Jr. (Cathy Pieper) have a son, Gregory Bryan, in September 26.

A son, Philip Schuyler, was born on October 22 to Bruce '54 and Mary (Moll) LaBar. The LaBars are living at 291 Hackensack St., Wood-Ridge, N. J.

Ryer and Ellen (Smith) Schermerhorn announce the arrival of John Ryer, born September 27. The Schermerhorns have recently bought a home in Savannah, Ga., where Ryer is stationed with the Force flying jets.

58 MISS FAITH BONSALL
Woodward Rd.
Wallingford, Pa.

REUNE IN JUNE

If any of you were disappointed that your news wasn't printed in the last issue, please be patient. There's so much news in the Class of '58 that if they would let us, we'd take up the whole magazine. It goes—

Oliver Maypole is a junior engineer with the Boeing Airplane Corporation.

Sandra Renninger Fisher is a new teacher in the Boyertown Area School. Sandy was married to Carl W. Fisher on November 27. Their address is 860 Lancaster Ave., Bryn Mawr.

Weddings: Frances Beighley to John McDonald, June 14; Robert Bancroft to Eileen Yarger, June 21; Robert Sankiewicz to Dollis Tomaszewski, June 21; Sally Gilfillan to David McKay, June 21.

y Darrach to William Sutherland, August 23.

w Jay Citron before he left for the Army. He's in Georgia. Uncle Sam George Lyon to Oklahoma.

arian N. Brice is a science teacher in American College for Girls, 198 ia Rameses, Cairo, Egypt. She will in the Middle East for 3 years and ts to travel extensively throughout pt, Europe and Asia.

t. Paul L. Crawley is serving with the y in Korea.

osella Danilo has accepted a teaching tion in the Dependent's School in ara, Turkey.

arol Davies is a student at the New k School of Social Work of Columbia iversity. She is on a school tuition larship on a two-year program. Her essage is 411 W. 116th St., Box 501, erson Hall, New York, N. Y.

eeese A. Davis is a student at Dickin- College Law School and his wife, cy A. Christian is secretary of the of admissions at Dickinson College.

new flagpole, a gift of the Class of , has been erected in front of the isty Mathewson Memorial Gates. The l pole, weighing 1300 pounds, rises 50 above the ground and rests in a two base of Vermont granite. The ball on of the pole has a covering of 23 karat l leaf and a new nylon flag flies from pole. The flag and pole fill a long ue need on the campus.

uck Brothers is hard at work in the istical Research Department of Sun Company in Philadelphia. He has a elor apartment in the city.

letter from Gina Benton Fisher came other day from Berkeley, Calif. Gina husband, Ron, are spending the year e at the University of California re Ron was awarded the Arthur hiera Fellowship for study leading to master's degree.

hirley Cook is also in California—San go.

Weddings: Ann R. Pfeiffer to John C. ber, Jr.; Dorothy A. Bartleson to old G. Erikson, September; Catherine Hoffman to John M. Doremus, August Ruth E. Warren to Ronald D. Cipolla, gust 27; Gerald B. Bardo to Lucy A. merman, October 5; Susan B. Wylie Frederick Brucker, Jr. and Mary Lou Connell '59 to Morris Pickell.

leep up with the cards—there's never ough news!

OUT OF THE ROCKWELL MAILBAG

BY

VERA COBER ROCKWELL, 1911

It's easy to overlook—or fail to realize—some of the many gifts we receive from our alma mater. At the 45th reunion of 1911, we read a letter from the absent Margaret Curtis in which she made this quotable statement: "College is the only place where we get our friends handed to us. We don't have to work to get them." We liked the way she put it and thought gratefully of the many friendships Bucknell has given us. But there are other unrecognized legacies and we are sometimes brought up short with sudden realization of them.

I want to tell the story of one such gift that has affected Leo's and my life in recent years. And the person responsible for it will probably be very much surprised at this public acknowledgement of his contribution.

It was December, just ten years ago. We were opening our Christmas messages, noting with pleasure the friends who had taken time to remember us, even greater pleasure those who had added a few of their own to the printed words, and reading avidly the personal items added to still others.

Then we came upon an envelope with two mimeographed sheets. The signature was that of one of Leo's former students, then an instructor at a California university. We scanned the pages curiously, for this was not the usual letter form. The opening paragraph began with "JANUARY." Following that, our friend had given highlights of his family life for that month. In the same way he had treated February, March, and so on clear through to December.

We read, fascinated, to the end. Not that there were any sensational news flashes. Nor was everything understandable to us. His field was biology, ours was language. He had married someone we didn't know, had children we had never seen. At that time we had never been on the West Coast, so did not recognize place names. He told of field trips, of animal life found in forest, field and on the beach, using terms unfamiliar to us. Nevertheless we were held by this picture of family and professional life, unfolding month by month, with a consequent build-up of interest.

And who was the Bucknellian who gave us this word picture? Many of you knew him, for he was a well-known figure on the campus in the early thirties, John Mohr '33. He was the younger brother of my student, Charles Mohr '30, another well-known Bucknellian and one who has more than fulfilled the promise he showed as he worked closely with that Master Teacher, Norman Stewart. For Charles has become an eminent bat chaser, in and out of caves all over the country.

EDITOR'S NOTE: This column, the first of a series, will be continued in future issues of The Bucknell Alumnus.

CORRECTION

In the November, 1958, issue of THE BUCKNELL ALUMNUS we listed Wladimir Z. Lotowycz '37 as deceased. Recently we were very much surprised and embarrassed when we received a letter from Mr. Lotowycz with the comment "I admit to many deficiencies in life but not life itself."

We offer our profound apologies to Mr. Lotowycz for this unfortunate error. Thus we record a happy ending by reporting that Wladimir Z. Lotowycz is "living" at Oyster Bay Rd., Locust Valley, N. Y.

IN MEMORIAM

The following deaths have been reported to the Alumni Office since October, 1958. The University extends sympathy to the surviving relatives.

- Mr. William A. Wilkinson, December, 1957
- Dr. E. W. Cober, October 16, 1958
- Mrs. Walter Blair (Margaret Stein) (Inst.), November 28, 1958
- Dr. Frank E. Burpee, November 29, 1958
- Rev. Walter E. Ruch, October 8, 1958
- Dr. Charles M. Teufel, October 14, 1958
- Mr. Charles S. Marsh, October, 1958
- Mr. Norman E. Bliss, 1956
- Mr. Edwin I. Lawshe, October 7, 1958
- Mr. Marc L. Baldwin, October 8, 1958
- Mr. Ralph E. Cloyd, August, 1958
- Mr. Tilman H. Paul, November 8, 1958
- Mr. Homer M. Sanders, November 15, 1958
- Mr. James W. Lowrey, November 8, 1958
- Dr. Henry Kittlowsky, September 10, 1958
- Mr. J. Britton Lippincott, October 31, 1958
- Mr. A. P. Mosser, April 16, 1958
- Mr. Charles W. Pearson, Jr., October 6, 1958
- Mr. Harold L. Noy, October 13, 1958
- Mr. Michael J. Shore, September 27, 1958
- Mr. Frederic C. Hoffer, November 13, 1956

ATTENTION ALL ALUMNI!

The University is producing a movie of Bucknell to be ready in the spring. It will tell our University story in general, and it will be helpful in our Dual Development Campaign.

We need a good, short title. Ten years ago, the University made a movie entitled, "The Bucknell Story." Can you think of a good title for the new movie?

If your title is used for the film, you will win a set of one dozen 12 oz. ice tea glasses with the Bucknell seal etched on them.

Send in your entry:

DR. WESLEY N. HAINES
DIRECTOR OF DEVELOPMENT
BUCKNELL UNIVERSITY
LEWISBURG, PA.

I suggest the following title for the Bucknell movie:

(Name)

(Address)

We're all going how about you?

BUCKNELL BIRTHDAY PARTIES

Get up a party and let's all meet at the Bucknell Birthday Party to be held in your Bucknell Alumni Club Area in early 1959. Here's a chance to meet old friends, renew acquaintances and have a great time! The parties are loads of fun so sit right down and make it a date to attend your club party.

Here are some of the clubs that have planned parties to date:

Alumni Club	Date	Alumni Club	Date
Baltimore	January 31	Philadelphia	February 7
York	January 31	St. Petersburg	February 7
Johnstown	February 5	Chambersburg	February 12
Lehigh Valley	February 6	Northern New Jersey	February 14
Long Island	February 6	Lancaster
Monmouth-Ocean

Additional detailed information will be mailed to you regarding all party plans.

THE Bucknell
ALUMNUS

MARCH 11, 1959

COLEMAN HALL DEDICATED

See page 10

THE Bucknell ALUMNUS

OFFICERS OF THE ASSOCIATION

President

Charles F. Fox, Jr., M.D. '31

First Vice President

Robert W. Dill '27

Second Vice President

Mrs. Clyde P. Bailey (Dorothy Lemon '29)

Treasurer

Donald B. Young '33

Secretary and Editor

John H. Shott '22

Assistant Secretary and Assistant Editor

C. Bruce Rossiter '56

BOARD OF DIRECTORS

CHARLES T. FARROW '26, P. O. Box 29, Westfield, N. J. (1959)

ALLEN F. JONES '25, 2 Linn St., Progress, Harrisburg, Pa. (1959)

WILLIAM M. WILKINSON '46, 436 Oak Lane, Houston 24, Tex. (1959)

MRS. CHARLES E. COPELAND (Amorita Sesinger '22), 10 Ridgedale Ave., Madison, N. J. (1960)

DONALD W. GLOVER '41, Mullica Hill, N. J. (1960)

THOMAS W. SPECK '37, 708 Russell Pl., Plainfield, N. J. (1960)

ROBERT W. DILL '27, 5136 Butler Pike, Plymouth Meeting, Pa. (1961)

WILLIAM D. GOLIGHTLY, '25, 309 W. Webster Ave., Scranton, Pa. (1961)

MRS. PAUL M. SHOWALTER (S. Katharine Graham '33), 855 St. Louis St., Lewisburg, Pa. (1961)

MRS. CLYDE P. BAILEY (Dorothy Lemon '29), 16 Churchill Road, Pittsburgh 35, Pa. (1962)

CHARLES F. FOX, JR., M.D. '31, 180 Washington Ave., Vandergrift, Pa. (1962)

WILMER D. GREULICH '34, 715 Greythorne Rd., Wynnewood, Pa. (1962)

EUGENE P. BERTIN '17, 210 S. Main St., Muncy, Pa. (1963)

ELINOR CHILDS '52, 74 Mt. Kemble Ave., Morristown, N. J. (1963)

ROBERT H. TAYLOR '48, 214 Avon Rd., Narberth, Pa. (1963)

() Year Term Expires.

Alumni Headquarters—GROUND FLOOR, EAST COLLEGE

Member—AMERICAN ALUMNI COUNCIL

ON THE COVER—The memorial plaque and oil portrait of Dr. William H. Coleman, which hang in the main lobby of Coleman Hall, are constant reminders to all Bucknellians of a faculty member and dean of the College who, for many years, dedicated his life to the best interests of education and Bucknell.

The back cover is a reminder for you to return to the campus for Alumni Weekend, June 5, 6, and 7. Circle these dates on your calendar TODAY.

VOLUME XLIII

MARCH 1959

No. 4

IN THIS ISSUE

Alumni	Page
Norman Appleton '22	3
Detlev W. Bronk, Hon. '57	14
R. Henry Coleman '29	4
William H. Coleman, Hon. '56	6
J. Leslie Crowell '11	21
A. Guy Freas, Hon. '57	13
Wilmer D. Greulich '34	7
Horace A. Hildreth, Hon. '56	13, 15
Charles L. Horn, Hon. '55	4
J. Frederick Larson, Hon. '59	4
Chester R. Leaber '19	7, 19
Samuel H. Markowitz '14, Hon. '59	4
Louis W. Robey '04, Hon. '59	4
Campbell Rutledge, Jr. '33	7, 19
Thelma J. Showalter '29	14
Edgar A. Snyder '11	21
Herbert L. Spencer, Hon. '53	15
Charles M. Teufel '04	20
William M. Wilkinson '46	25
A Report of Finances	9, 19
A Teacher, Scholar, and Gentleman	6
Alumni Trustee Timetable	26
Bucknell Dual Development Fund	13-16
Class Reports	20-27
Clubs	12
Coleman Hall Dedicated	3-5
Double Duty Dollars for Alma Mater	18
In Memoriam	27
Is the Fund in Higher Orbit?	8, 19
News Along the Campaign Fronts	15
Out of the Rockwell Mailbag	27
Sports	10, 11, 19
Strong Leadership Added	14
Student View	17
Summer School	19
Trustee Candidates for 1959	7, 19

THE BUCKNELL ALUMNUS is published in January, March, May, September, and November by BUCKNELL UNIVERSITY. Entered as second-class matter December 30, 1930 at the post office at Lewisburg, Pa., under the Act of August 24, 1912.

MARCH 1959

In honor of Dr. William H. Coleman this memorial plaque has been placed in the main lobby of Coleman Hall.

Fregly

leman Hall, named in honor of William H. Coleman, meets challenge of present and future

COLEMAN HALL DEDICATED

Appleton

The handsome oil portrait of Dr. Coleman, which hangs in the foyer of the University Theatre, is the work of an Appleton '22. Mr. Appleton is pictured with the portrait.

ON JUNE 8, 1957, over one thousand alumni, faculty, trustees, and guests listened intently to an announcement made by Dr. Charles L. Horn H'55, President of the Olin Foundation, Inc. It was at the All-Alumni Luncheon in Davis Gymnasium that Dr. Horn made public a grant of $1,475,000 to be given by the Olin Foundation for the construction of the University's largest classroom building, Coleman Hall. One year later, again on Alumni Day, the cornerstone was placed, and on January 17, 1959, a dream became a reality as Coleman Hall was officially dedicated.

The largest single gift ever received by the University, Coleman Hall was named in honor of Dr. William H. Coleman, Vice President and Dean of the College, Emeritus. The tireless efforts of Dr. Coleman were of the greatest influence in obtaining this, as well as the first grant from the Olin Foundation. The first grant was a gift of $900,000 for the constructing and equipping of the F. W. Olin Science Building dedicated in 1955, for the use of the Departments of Chemistry, Mathematics, and Physics.

HISTORIC WEEKEND

On Friday evening, January 16, the program for the weekend began when a reception was held in Hunt Hall in honor of the directors of the Olin Foundation and candidates for honorary degrees.

Saturday morning the directors of the Olin Foundation and Bucknell trustees attended the unveiling of the memorial plaque in the main lobby of Coleman Hall and inspected the building prior to joining the

Fregly

The University Theatre, the central unit of Coleman Hall, is a welcome addition to the Bucknell campus.

Ross

Dr. Charles L. Horn '55, President of the Olin Foundation, Inc., unveils the memorial plaque at Coleman Hall while Dr. James O. Wynn, Vice President and General Counsel of the Olin Foundation, and President Odgers (left) look on.

Union County Standard Journal

"This Is Your Life, Mr. Rat" may be the appropriate theme in this picture as the television camera is demonstrated at open house in Coleman Hall.

Left to right: Dr. Louis W. Robey '04, Dr. Samuel H. Markowitz '14, and Dr. J. Frederick Larson chat with President Odgers before receiving their honorary degrees at the special convocation during the dedication of Coleman Hall.

Ross

Fregly

R. Henry Coleman '29, Chairman of the Development Committee of the Board of Trustees, admires the portrait of his father.

academic procession for the special convocation exercises held in Davis Gymnasium. A surprise gift from the University of a portrait in oil of Dr. Coleman was also unveiled at the ceremonies by R. Henry Coleman '29, son of Dr. Coleman and Bucknell trustee. The work of Norman Appleton '22 of Santa Fe, New Mexico, the portrait is hung in the lobby of the University Theatre.

At the convocation exercises Dr. Horn formally presented the building to the University. William R. White '26, chairman of the Board of Trustees accepted the gift on behalf of the University.

In addressing the 1500 students, faculty, and honored guests, President Odgers undoubtedly reflected the views of all Bucknellians when he said, "The Olin Foundation will occupy a unique place in the history of Bucknell." Later, in paying tribute to Dr. Coleman, Dr. Odgers said in part, "Dr. William H. Coleman is one of Bucknell's truly great teachers. Among his achievements as vice president and dean, he developed the interest of the directors of the Olin Foundation in Bucknell University as an institution with a future. To no small degree he has created that future."

THE HONORARIES

Following his address, Dr. Odgers conferred the honorary degree of Doctor of Laws upon Dr. Louis W. Robey '04, honorary vice chairman of the board of directors of Marts and Lundy, Inc., "in recognition of his substantial contributions to the financing of education and philanthropy of his services to the Baptist denomination and of his loyalty to his alma mater."

The honorary degree of Doctor of Literature was conferred upon Dr. Samuel H. Markowitz '14, Rabbi of the Beth David Congregation of Philadelphia, "for devotion and distinguished service to his people, for loyalty to his alma mater and to our common national heritage."

Dr. Jens Frederick Larson, University architect since 1932 and senior member of the firm of Larson and Larson, received the honorary degree of Doctor of Laws "in gratitude for his services and with pride in their results as they have risen to view around us."

OPEN HOUSE

Following a luncheon for the special guests in the Women's Dining Hall, faculty and students were invited to attend an open house at Coleman Hall. Twelve student guides conducted guided tours throughout the building. More than 500 persons from the local area visited the new classroom building Sunday afternoon during a special open house for the general public. Student guides conducted tours while student assistants in some of the departments were on hand to answer questions.

Fregly

Coleman Hall, the largest classroom building on the campus, faces the Vaughan Literature Building and forms a new quadrangle now under development as the new academic center of the University. Coleman Hall conforms in style and design to the Vaughan Literature Building.

ON WITH THE SHOW

The initial performance in the University Theatre on Saturday evening climaxed the day-long program. An invited audience of 500 guests enjoyed the performance designed to show the various uses to which the theatre will be put. Student musical groups and vocal soloists, readings by Dr. C. Willard Smith, chairman of the Department of English, two outstanding dramatic scenes, a dance by Carol B. Ronson, instructor of physical education for women and a pantomime folk dance by four foreign students were features of the program. Lionel Kranitz '55, who has appeared on Broadway and on television, and Robert Blake '54, who is currently a graduate student at Bucknell, played leading roles in the dramatic scenes.

Harvey M. Powers, director of the University theatre and assistant professor of English, directed the program and served as master of ceremonies.

THE BUILDING

Coleman Hall houses the Departments of Economics, History, Political Science, Sociology, Education, Psychology, Philosophy, and Religion. The building, the second largest building on the Bucknell campus (Davis Gymnasium is larger in cubic feet) is 365 feet long, covering 77,000 square feet of space.

It is completely air-conditioned and contains 33 classroom units including: two amphitheatre type lecture halls; a television studio for classroom use of closed-circuit television; a room specially equipped for instruction of elementary teachers; two accounting laboratories; a psychology laboratory; typing and business machines rooms; eight seminar rooms; a small animal room, separately heated, ventilated and air-conditioned for psychology research; a darkroom; three departmental storerooms; and forty-nine faculty and departmental offices, including a suite for use by Dr. Coleman.

THE UNIVERSITY THEATRE

The University Theatre, which is the central unit of Coleman Hall, seats 514 persons.

The central stage house rises approximately 45 feet above the stage floor to accommodate the flying of scenery, a fixed movie screen, and a double asbestos fire curtain. On either side of the main stage are wagon stages to permit easy scenery changes. A part of the large forestage is removable. The removable section provides a cover for the orchestra pit, which will be uncovered only for musical productions.

Backstage is a seminar "Green Room," a star's dressing room, and two offices. On the ground floor under the stage house and wagon stages are men's and women's dressing rooms, lavatory and shower rooms, a scenery construction workshop, storage space for scenery and props, and rooms which house the electrical and mechanical equipment for the building.

MODERN EQUIPMENT

Of the total $1,475,000 gift that made possible this beautiful building $210,000 was earmarked for equipment and furnishings. The equipment of the building includes: a steam reduction air-conditioning system which utilizes steam from the central steam plant; the most modern electronic theatre lighting control equipment; complete stage rigging and public address equipment; five 16 mm motion picture projectors; a closed circuit, one camera television system for experimental work in visual aids; slide projectors; tape recorders; and built-in classroom screens and loudspeakers.

The first floor corridor is designed and lighted to hang art exhibits so that art may be brought to the students in their daily lives.

IN APPRECIATION

In conclusion it may be said without hesitation the happy theme of the dedication ceremonies was appreciation on the part of the Bucknell family—alumni, students, faculty, and staff alike. In the words of President Odgers, "We are today the legatees of men who were willing to pledge to the nation 'their lives, their fortunes, and their sacred honor.' We shall match their devotion with our energies, our intelligence, and our resources to educate at Bucknell men and women wise enough and good enough to make a success of their own lives, and through and beyond that, to make a strong contribution to our nation and our world."

DR. WILLIAM H. COLEMAN

A TEACHER, SCHOLAR, AND GENTLEMAN

COLEMAN HALL, named in honor of Dr. William H. Coleman, Vice President and Dean of the College, Emeritus, is a fitting tribute to a man whose long career at Bucknell University has been marked by his devotion to scholarship and to educational standards of the highest order.

A native of Albert, New Brunswick, Canada, Dr. Coleman was born in 1885 and received his early education in that country. He earned his Bachelor of Arts degree from Acadia University, Nova Scotia, in 1906 and three years later was awarded the Master of Arts degree by the same institution. At various periods during his career, Dr. Coleman engaged in graduate studies at the University of Virginia, Harvard, the University of Wisconsin, and Cambridge University. In 1930 Acadia University awarded him the degree of Doctor of Literature and in 1956 Bucknell conferred upon him the honorary degree of Doctor of Humane Letters, citing him as "an eloquent spokesman in the cause of liberal education."

Married to the former Edna M. Wilcox in 1908, Dr. Coleman suffered a great personal loss in her death on March 30, 1958.

His only son, R. Henry Coleman '29, Chairman of the Development Committee of the Board of Trustees and Vice President of the Remington Arms Co., Inc., along with his wife, Esther Keim Coleman '30, and sons, Rowland H., Jr. and William H., II, attended the dedication with Dr. Coleman.

Dr. Coleman is known to thousands of alumni who studied in his English classes during his 21 years as a teacher. Appointed dean of the College in 1945, he was given the title of vice president in 1953 in recognition of his services as head of the academic life of the University. Upon his retirement from the position of dean in 1956 he became secretary of the Bucknell Study and served in that capacity until July, 1958, when he was made vice president and dean of the College emeritus.

All alumni, students, faculty, and staff join in thanking him for his unselfish devotion to a grateful University.

TRUSTEE CANDIDATES FOR 1959

THE COMMITTEE for the Selection of Alumni Trustee Candidates presents for your action the names of three Alumni to be balloted upon in April 1959. We present the names, pictures and biographies of the proposed candidates. Early in April ballots will be mailed to all Alumni whose addresses are known to be correct. The return envelope will be a combination mailer, providing for the return of the ballot and a contribution to the Alumni Annual Giving Program—BUT YOU DO NOT NEED TO CONTRIBUTE TO BE ELIGIBLE TO VOTE. The voter will open the envelope at an indicated place, mark the ballot by voting for ONE candidate, enclose a contribution to the Alumni Annual Giving Fund—if you have not made a gift since July 1, 1958, and feel inclined to do so—seal and mail it. No postage required. On receipt at the Alumni Office, the secrecy of the ballot will be maintained by separating the name and address of the voter from the ballot after which the ballot will be placed in a locked ballot box. Balloting will end on Thursday, May 15, 1959. During the following week, a committee of Alumni will open the locked ballot box, tally the votes and certify the results to the Board of Trustees.

WILMER D. GREULICH
Wynnewood, Pa.

CHESTER R. LEABER
New York, N. Y.

CAMPBELL RUTLEDGE, JR.
Corning, N. Y.

College Record: A.B. Bucknell University, 1934; M.A. University of Pennsylvania, 1939; Phi Kappa Psi; Kappa Phi Kappa.

Professional Experience: Taught Social Studies, Canton High School, Canton, 1934-35; Dean of Faculty, Taylor Business School, Philadelphia, 1935-38; Director of Admissions, Beaver College, Jenkintown, 1938-42; U. S. N. R., Lt. Commander, 1942-45; Bryant Teachers Bureau, Philadelphia, Partnership and Co-Owner, 1945 to date.

Organizations: Member, Ardmore Presbyterian Church; Masons.

Military Record: U. S. Navy, Lt. Commander, 1942-45.

Bucknell Interests: Active in all Alumni programs—local club, General Alumni Association and fund raising; Member, Bison Club, Board of Directors, General Alumni Association, 1954 to present; President, General Alumni Association, 1956-58.

Personal Record: Born March 24, 1906, East Greenville; Married Betty DeLong (Swarthmore College '31); Children, a son, Joseph, born November 2, 1944.

Chester R. Leaber '19, is a Senior Vice President of The First National City Bank of New York. During thirty-two years of foreign service he was manager of the bank's branches in Manila, Bombay, Calcutta, Panama and Mexico City. Earlier in his foreign service career he was assigned to bank branches in China, Burma, Japan and London. He was married in 1927 to Evelyn McGann '18. The wedding took place at Rangoon, Burma. Since 1952 Evelyn and Chet have been residing in New York City.

Mr. Leaber is a trustee of the First Presbyterian Church of New York City, treasurer of the American-Korean Foundation, and takes an active interest in the affairs of the Japan Society and the Far East Council of

(Continued on Page 19)

Please read the biographies and kindly retain this copy of
THE BUCKNELL ALUMNUS
for ready reference when you receive your ballot in April.

College Record: B.S. Bucknell University, 1933; M.S. Bucknell University, 1934; President, Alpha Chi Mu; Treasurer, Alpha Chi Sigma; Sigma Beta Chi Chemical Award '30; Phi Mu Epsilon; President, Sophomore Class; Y. M. C. A.; Big Four Engineering Society; Chemical Engineering Group; Band; Concert Orchestra; L'AGENDA; Interclass Football, '29, '30; Advanced Management Program; Harvard University School of Business Administration, 1953.

Professional Experience: General Chemical Co., Wilmington, Del., 1934; General Chemical Co., New York, N. Y., 1935; Industrial Sales Staff, Corning Glass Works, 1938; Assistant Sales Manager of Laboratory and Pharmaceutical Department, Corning Glass Works, 1944; Manager of Standard Products Sales, Corning Glass Works, 1948; Assistant General Manager of Technical Products Div., Corning Glass Works, 1951; Assistant General Manager of Electrical Products Division, Corning Glass Works, 1953; General Sales Manager of New Products Division, Corning Glass

(Continued on Page 19)

Eleventh Annual Alumni Fund is ahead of last year's Fund at the same date, but . . .

IS THE FUND IN HIGHER ORBIT?

by JOHN H. SHOTT, Fund Director

AT THIS TIME OF THE YEAR the daily inquiry at Alumni Headquarters is: "How does the Fund stand?" So we are happy to report that the results thus far this year indicate the fund will continue its trend of the last few years and reach a higher level of giving from a larger number of donors when the final results are reported on June 30, 1959, the end of the current fund year.

The chart of figures on this page, showing the month-by-month cumulative totals for the fund last year and for this year thus far indicate the tendency of donors to wait until the last minute before making their annual contribution. This being the case, it is always a question at this stage in the program whether or not the usual whirlwind finish will appear to carry the fund to new heights. Even though we seem to have experienced a weaker thrust in the last three months, we are happy to report that by the end of January we had received $23,473.18 from 1367 donors compared to $23,326.82 from 1324 donors at the same date last year.

Actually, as we go to press (February 19) 1,808 Bucknellians had made annual contributions of $28,171.19. This is a splendid record and causes us to hope that our good fortune will continue until June 30. If it does hold up, as every closing period in the past few years has, we stand a good chance of reaching the $60,000 plateau this year, for the first time.

An achievement of that magnitude is not beyond reach, as matters now stand. Its accomplishment, however, will depend largely on three factors that at the moment cannot be predicted safely. In the first ten years of annual giving contributions have risen from $5,000 to $53,000 and the number of contributors has grown from 584 to over 4,500. If this annual growth continues, we should expect for this year a total of $60,000 from over 5,000 contributors.

To reach this higher level by the end of our 11th year on June 30, we will need:

1. To HOLD the gains already made.

Last year 974 contributors of former years failed to make an annual contribution to the fund. It seems strange that many folks who would not think of skipping the annual support to their church do not see that support of their university each year is vital to the growth of higher education. The "living endowment" principle upon which annual giving funds operate require that the gift be repeated year after year. This is true because the annual "living endowment" gift is made in lieu of a much larger "invested endowment" gift that most of us cannot afford. Thus a $20 annual gift takes the place of a one-shot $500 "invested endowment" gift (at 4% interest.)

2. To BROADEN the participation among alumni.

Last year 826 Bucknellians contributed to the fund for the first time. But we merely "scratched the surface" insofar as growth of the fund is concerned when we realize that there are still 10,061 graduates, non-graduates, and master's degrees holders who have never yet contributed. Enthusiasm and vigorous interest of those who do participate are contagious and the tried-and-found-good procedures of class letters and visits by area fund agents will help explain the need for Alumni Annual-giving to this large group of prospects. The potential for broader giving is tremendous.

3. To UPGRADE the gift size.

How much to give is a personal matter to be decided by each individual donor. However it is evident after a study of the distribution pattern of alumni gifts last year that many donors have formed the habit of making a "token" contribution whereas a consideration of their "proportionate ability" would lead them to increase their gifts. "Wishful figuring" to see what would happen if donors considered increasing their gift this year just to the lowest level of the step above last year's giving brings the startling realization that this year's goal would be far exceeded. Already, many donors in the upper brackets of last year have stepped up their contributions.

(Continued on Page 19)

PROGRESS OF THE ALUMNI FUND

Monthly Cumulative Contributions

July 1, 1958 to Jan. 31, 1959 — Compared to 1957-58

1957-58

1958-59

Month	Number of Contributors	Amount	Number of Contributors	Amount
July	27	$ 544.00	29	$ 558.00
August	49	732.00	45	1,538.30
September	79	2,134.50	364	8,730.30
October	471	10,626.00	581	13,741.49
November	553	12,256.57	665	15,307.49
December	907	18,308.82	1127	19,802.07
January	1324	23,326.82	1367	23,473.18
February	1898	28,406.82
March	2356	33,061.71
April	2896	38,188.48
May	3678	46,066.11
June	4574	53,433.91

A REPORT OF FINANCES

by JOHN F. ZELLER, III, Vice President — Business and Finance

BUCKNELL ENDED THE ACADEMIC YEAR 1957-58 with a surplus of $9,606.25 as shown on the operating statement. This happy circumstance resulted directly from the fact that the Alumni Fund reached its highest total in history this year with a net of $53,433.

Educational and general expenses of $2,464,107.83, exceeded income for educational purposes of $2,249,183.38, including the Alumni Fund, by $214,924.45. This deficit was made up by income from auxiliary activities ($1,405,815.89) which exceeded auxiliary activities expenses ($1,181,285.19) by $223,530.70.

A detailed financial statement is published each year by the Treasurer, Donald B. Young '33, from which the figures in the box on this page were taken. These figures do not, of course, reflect the tuition increase which was effective in September 1958. Nor do they reflect the substantial salary increases effective at the same time. Nevertheless, income for the year showed a gain over the preceding year of $193,753.77. On the other hand, total expenditures for the year showed an increase of $199,511.00 over the 1956-57 figures.

During the year 925 students received financial aid by way of scholarships, grants, discounts, employment and tuition remission to a total of $233,487.84. Of this amount, $83,700.77 was spent for work aid.

Capitalized additions to the plant totalled $95,377.26, bringing the total amount invested in physical plant to $8,628,206.50. This does not include the gift from the Olin Foundation for the erection of Coleman Hall.

During the year $338,054.57 was received in gifts from 5,738 donors. Of this amount, including the Alumni Fund, alumni contributed $96,428.29. Parents contributed $10,011.00, foundations contributed $77,098.08, and corporations contributed $41,556.05.

At year end the endowment fund showed a book value of $4,832,048.04 on which the market value was $6,-

378,061.71. The major sources of the year's increase were gifts to the general endowment and restricted funds from Mrs. Ellen Clarke Bertrand, M. L. Benedum, Robert L. Rooke, the Freas Foundation, the Father's Loyalty Fund, I. R. Smith, and Paul S. Killian. The net gain on the sale of securities was $3,145.23.

Despite the substantial increase in Bucknell's endowment over the past years, endowment income represents only 11% of income for educational purposes. Student fees still produce 80% of this total. Since income for

(Continued on Page 19)

Bucknell University Operating Statement

For Fiscal Year 1957-1958

WHERE THE OPERATING MONEY CAME FROM:

80%	From Student Fees—tuition and fees	$ 1,789,926.36
11%	From Income on Endowment— Earnings from Endowed funds invested in bonds, stocks, mortgages, etc.	255,066.77
5%	From Gifts—Largest item was $53,433 from the Alumni Fund	105,370.32
4%	From Miscellaneous Sources— Registration fees, conventions, testing, discounts and other sources:	98,819.93
100%	Total Income for Educational Purposes	$ 2,249,183.38
	In addition Bucknell operated certain "self- supporting" auxiliary enterprises, residences, dining halls, bookstore, intercollegiate athletics, etc. Their gross income totaled	$ 1,405,815.89
	This made a total income of	$ 3,654,999.27

HOW THE OPERATING MONEY WAS SPENT:

58%	For Educational Expenses, Salaries, Books, Equipment and Supplies, Clerical Assistance, and Travel	1,440,092.35
13%	For Operation and Maintenance of Physical Plant:	316,200.06
6%	For Employee Benefits—Annuities, Social Security, and Group Insurance	124,654.58
6%	For Scholarships and Grants in Aid:	149,287.07
7%	For Improvement to Buildings and Equipment:	179,568.20
10%	For Miscellaneous Expenses—Catalogues and bulletins, communications, mimeographing, public relations, insurance, alumni service, etc.	254,305.57
100%	This makes a total educational and general expenditures of	$ 2,464,107.83
	In addition the expenditures for auxiliary enterprises amounted to	1,181,285.19
	Making total Operating Expenditures of	$3,645,393.02
	Transferred to Current Fund Surplus	9,606.25
	This makes a total Education and General Expenditures of	$ 3,654,999.27

CAGERS SPEARHEAD WINNINGEST WINTER

by ARLIE SCHARDT
Sports Information Director

THE BEST BASKETBALL team in Bucknell history is spearheading the best winter sports season the school has ever had; the cagers have won 13 of 16 games, the swimmers four of five meets, and the wrestlers three of four matches.

Coach Ben Kribbs and his come-from-behind Bison basketballers have become a real strain to follow consistently as they bear down in the drive for championship honors in the scorching Middle Atlantic Conference race because of their habit of leaving the outcome in doubt until the last one or two minutes of action.

Then they show their class by coolly stuffing in the points necessary for victory while the opposition stumbles under this unbearable pressure just long enough to find that time, and the chance for a reciprocal rally, have run out on them.

Although 6-6 center Hal Danzig, who was chosen on the weekly All East team for his brilliant play at Gettysburg, has attracted considerable attention because of his assault on almost every school scoring and rebounding record, Bucknell's performance must be termed a team effort in the strictest sense of the term.

The starting five, in addition to co-captain Danzig, includes forwards Bob Ericsson and co-captain Ellis Harley, and guards Jack Flanagan and Tommy Thompson. Each man has made his unique contribution to the team, coming through in the special situations where pre-season analyses said he would be most needed.

Harley, who started slowly in the first three games due to an ankle injury, came on to shoot brilliantly for the next eight games, in which time he made over 50% of his shots and was the team's high scorer seven times. Ericsson, who anchors his 6-6 frame with a springy pair of legs, is second only to Danzig in rebounds, averaging better than 10 a game, and has also been scoring better than 10 points per outing.

The guards have been the stars in the waning moments of more than a few of the close ones. Flanagan, blessed with uncanny co-ordination and balance, drilled in a series of spectacular one-hand jump shots against Temple and Albright to pace Bucknell scoring as well as open up the opposing defense with his unpredictable maneuvers.

And Thompson, the only junior on the "Big Five", took over where he left off last season as the driver of the team and the man who makes the plays work. He is credited with nearly half the team's assists, and his speed and hustle have been well applied in his standard assignment of guarding the opponent's top scorer.

The Pittsburgh Press

Bison's Danzig (45), Harley (21), Thompson (43) and Ericsson (partially hidden from view) surround a panther, Pittsburgh's All-American Don Hennon, during a charity game in Pitt's Field House. The Bisons won the contest, 72 to 58.

On February 5, 1959, a new scoreboard was used for the first time in Davis Gymnasium. A gift of the Men's Student Assembly, it replaces a scoreboard given to the University in 1940 by the Class of 1938. The original 1938 clock, which was part of the old scoreboard installation, has been retained as a memorial to the Class of 1938.

The Kribbsmen have been scoring a fruitful 44% of their shots and 75% of their free throws. Since the Westminster victory, they won every game by staging a furious rally, but each time it was accomplished with almost disdainful ease.

Some of the recent close calls came against teams which some felt should have been beaten by a wider margin. However, Bucknell has entered every game since the 70-68 overtime loss at La Salle with suffocating pressure hanging overhead.

For the team knew: (1) That it could not lose another M. A. C. game without losing its chance for the title and a bid to the NCAA Championships, and (2) That further losses to non-conference opposition would all but eliminate Bucknell's chances of receiving notice in the weekly basketball ratings of AP and UPI.

On the other hand, opponents with records of, say 7-6, had none of this pressure and had the added incentive of a chance to knock off a highly rated team.

So the Kribbsmen, like anyone else, are glad to win by any score, regardless of the point spread. It is still the final score that counts, and the Bisons, although often getting there the hard way, have finished on top often enough to practically assure them of becoming the winningest team in Bucknell history. The 16-8 records of the past two years are the present highs, but this winter's quintet hopes to exceed that total by several games.

Danzig, with a career total of 1,055 points, is closing fast on the school record of 1,183 set by Joe Gallagher from 1949-52. The team is threatening school records in total scoring, points per game, rebounds, and total victories.

In short, this quintet, which is putting the name of Bucknell in the headlines all over the East, is the best in Bucknell history and one of the best in the East this year. The 1958-59 season could well mark the first appearance ever by a Bucknell team in a national championship basketball tournament.

Tommy Thompson, junior guard from Kane, drives for two points in the Bison's home opener against Gettysburg. Bucknell won the game, 77 to 62.

Hammer

RECORDS FALL IN BEST SWIM SEASON TO DATE

THE SWIMMING BOOM at Bucknell is in full swing, and growing at a breath-taking pace under the steady hand of Coach Bob Latour. The mermen have posted four straight wins after an opening loss to Penn, and may well finish with a 7-1 mark, meaning that Bucknell will be set to take on a stepped-up schedule next winter when the Bisons will meet foes like Rutgers and Lehigh for the first time.

Bill Barrett has gone unbeaten in his first 12 starts of the year in the 50 and 100 yard free style, and has anchored six victorious medley relays for a 1,000 average. Best times: 24.5 in the 50, 54.9 in the 100.

BILL BARRETT '59

Capt. Bob Buys has five of six wins in the 200 back stroke and has also helped to win six straight medley relays. Skip Cannon has three wins in the 200 breast stroke, Kent Smith has four triumphs in the 220 yard free style, and Bob Erdahl a pair of wins in the gruelling 200 butterfly.

Doug Forsyth has four diving victories, Jim Brubaker has one, and Bill Sharky and Dick Kershner each posted a first in the 440 yard free style.

The Bison freshmen have smashed eight of 10 school records, narrowly missed the M. A. C. mark in the medley relay. Meaning: future is bright.

WRESTLING STREAK ENDS; ANOTHER BEING BUILT

COACH BILL WRABLEY's wrestlers have started a new victory streak. The old one was ended when Bucknell's nearest neighbor to the north, Lycoming College, scored a 16-12 victory on Jan. 16 to end Bucknell's longest skein at nine.

The Bisons rebounded to smash Temple, 29-2, as they began building another castle with hopes of making it taller than the one Lycoming crumbled. And well they might, for only Capt. Rowland Bell, who is 5-1 at 137 pounds, will graduate.

Bucknell's 5-1 record is paced by 167 pounder Dave Murdock, who has never lost a college match. He has 15 straight victories and an M. A. C. crown. John Ayre has also won all six of his matches to date at 130, while Don Warfel (157 and 177), and Kenny Wightman (123), have won four of five matches. Al Duff (147) is 3-1.

DAVE MURDOCK '60

John McKenna (157) has a 1-1-1 record. Grant Watkins (Hwt.) is 1-2, Rock Hudson (Hwt. and 177) is 3-1-1, and Bob Brown (123) is 0-1. Pete Fritts, who goes anywhere from 147 to 177, and was undefeated in seven starts last year, has a calcium deposit in his shoulder which has limited him to a 2-1-1 total so far. His complete recovery can help the squad in its bid for a win over Delaware before the Mid-Atlantics at Hofstra on Feb. 27-28.

CLUBS

ALUMNI IN 37 CITIES CELEBRATE BIRTHDAY

In celebration of Bucknell's 113th birthday (Bucknell was chartered by an act of the Pennsylvania legislature signed by the governor on February 5, 1846) a number of Bucknell Alumni Clubs in the Eastern United States held or will hold birthday dinners during February and March.

Almost half of the meetings were held in Pennsylvania in Philadelphia, Pittsburgh, Scranton, Reading, Harrisburg, Johnstown, Altoona, York, Lehigh Valley, Sunbury, Chambersburg, Centre County, Lewisburg, Milton, Lock Haven and Lancaster.

Seven meetings were held in New York at alumni centers in Manhattan, Long Island, Buffalo, Syracuse, Rochester, Ithaca, Elmira, Endicott and Schenectady.

In New Jersey birthday dinners were held at Trenton, Pitman, Shrewsbury, and Cedar Grove.

New England was represented by gatherings at Boston, Pittsfield and at Newtown, Conn.

Other celebration parties were held at Baltimore, Md.; St. Petersburg, Fla.; Houston, Texas; and Chicago, Ill.

Alumni and parents of present undergraduates who attended most of these meetings had an opportunity to hear campus speakers. Members of the faculty and administrative staff who visited alumni club meetings included Dr. Merle M. Odgers, Dr. Karl D. Hartzell, Coach Bob Odell, Professors Harold W. Miller,

C. Willard Smith, Manning A. Smith, Mark C. Ebersole, J. Orin Oliphant, J. Charles Jones, Roy C. Tasker, Walter H. Sauvain, and Captain Herbert F. Eckberg, Director of Engineering. Other speakers from the campus included John F. Zeller III, Forrest D. Brown, Fitz R. Walling, John H. Shott, Dr. Frank C. Abbott and Dr. Wesley N. Haines. Dr. Herbert L. Spencer, former president of Bucknell and now a member of the Board of Trustees, was the speaker at the Philadelphia gathering of alumni and parents.

Bucknell's birthday will be celebrated in Mid-Western and far Western Clubs on occasions when members of the faculty or administration are traveling in those cities.

BUCKNELL TEACHERS—Dr. Eugene P. Bertin '17, member of the Board of Directors of the General Alumni Association and Assistant Executive Secretary of the Pennsylvania State Education Association, chose as his subject "By the Light of the Satellite" when he spoke to the Pennsylvania public school teachers gathering at the Bucknell luncheon in Harrisburg on December 29.

Buck Shott, Alumni Secretary, conducted the meeting which was attended by about 30 public school officials and teachers ranging in classes from 1910 to 1957. Other campus representatives included Dr. Walter H. Sauvain, professor of education; C. Bruce Rossiter, assistant alumni secretary; and Dr. J. Charles Jones '42, chairman of the Department of Education, who spoke briefly on the current teacher training program at the University.

CHARLOTTE, N.C.—Bucknellians in North Carolina and South Carolina helped support the Bucknell Bison basketball squad at the Fourth Annual Carrousel Tournament in Charlotte, N. C., with a dinner on Monday, December 29. Howard P. Steiger, M.D. '37, served as chairman of the dinner meeting and was joined by Mrs. Frank Wean (Jeanne Lever '43), Dr. George L. Abernethy '32, J. Fred Wolf '52, and Mr. and Mrs. William Scheible '48 (Audrey Bruce '47), the latter couple from Camden, S. C., to greet Dr. Bennett R. Willeford, professor of chemistry, who brought a message to the group from the campus.

PARIS—Bucknellians in Paris, France, had their first alumni meeting in that country when Dottie Di-Orio '54 recently held a small Bucknell Alumni meeting in her Paris apartment, entertaining Dave Slifer '60 who is taking his junior year abroad at the Sorbonne, and Barbara Simpson '53, who is doing graduate work in economics at Oxford. Dottie teaches at the American High School in Paris.

HARRISBURG—The Bucknell Alumni Club of Harrisburg met at the Y. M. C. A. on December 4, for the Christmas Dinner with thirty-three members and guests present.

Mr. Bruce Butt gave his usual excellent report of campus and local news.

Mrs. Betty Barnes presented the slate for the nominating committee which was accepted and the secretary cast the ballot as follows: President—Mr. Edwin Mighell '52; Vice President—Mr. Marshall Goulding '52; Secretary—Miss Jean E. Slack '39; Treasurer — Mrs. Winifred Kitchen '55.

Our January program was a trip to Japan, no less, on slides, of course, taken by Mrs. Kitchen and narrated as only she could have expressed it. We really had a wonderful free trip to the West Coast, Hawaii and on to Japan. With the Christian Educational Conference being held in Japan, Mrs. Kitchen had an opportunity to attend and wanted to share her priceless slides with us. She also brought various gifts that were given to her and lovely paintings, figurines, china, painted wooden bowls and various other objects of interest. It was an evening we shall all remember.

JEAN E. SLACK '39
Secretary

PRESIDENT'S REPORT AVAILABLE

The Report of the President for the Academic Year 1957-58 has just come off the press and a limited number of copies of the 38-page brochure are available on a first come—first served basis.

Many alumni will want to read this authentic report of current University operations and aspirations. While the supply lasts you may have a copy by writing to: Miss Trennie E. Fisley, Director of Public Relations, Bucknell University, Lewisburg, Pa.

In the Next Issue

With more students than ever planning to go to college, and with competition for trained men and women becoming more and more intense—what is likely to happen to the quality of college teaching in the decade ahead? Can America's institutions of higher education hope to keep pace with the growing demand? Will there be enough good teachers—or are we entering an era in which teaching standards will have to be compromised? In the May issue THE BUCKNELL ALUMNUS joins 250 other college and university magazines in presenting a special report on the state of college teaching in America today—and the outlook for the years immediately ahead. Be sure to read it—in the May issue of this magazine.

BUCKNELL DUAL DEVELOPMENT FUND

The Board of Trustees at its semi-annual meeting, December 12, 1958, at the Bellevue-Stratford Hotel, Philadelphia.

A GAIN A DEVOTED MEMBER of the Board of Trustees has set the pace for giving in a major campaign for Bucknell University. At the meeting of the trustees held in Philadelphia on December 12, 1958, A. Guy Freas announced his gift of $100,000 to the Dual Development Fund.

The ultimate responsibility for the well-being of the University is lodged in the Board of Trustees. Financial matters are their particular responsibility. Since its early days, Bucknell has had the kind of strength in its Board which could undergird progress on all fronts. This has been particularly true in recent years, when Bucknell has received the endowment gifts of the Samuel H. Kress Foundation, the gift of the Library from Ellen Clarke Bertrand, the Freas-Rooke Swimming Pool, and the generous support of Andrew J. Sordoni, Michael L. Benedum and others.

Trustee participation in the Dual Development campaign organization is on a broad scale. The Trustees have assumed responsibility for the Initial Gifts quota of $600,000, to be given by them or obtained through their efforts. It was in response to a campaign statement at the Board meeting of December 12, that Mr. Freas handed his generous pledge of $100,000 to the Chairman for Initial Gifts, Horace A. Hildreth.

Trustee A. Guy Freas (right) hands his pledge of $100,000 to the Dual Development Fund to Horace A. Hildreth, (center), Chairman for Initial Gifts. President Odgers at left registers his approval.

STRONG LEADERSHIP ADDED

THE JANUARY ISSUE of BUCKNELL ALUMNUS carried a heartening story of the strong leadership being recruited for the Dual Development Fund. In this issue, further appointments are reported by General Co-Chairmen Harry G. Schad and Kenneth W. Slifer '26. The additions are pictured below. Not pictured are twenty-six members of the Advisory Committee, of which Charles E. Wilson is Chairman, and Dr. Detlev W. Bronk, Vice-Chairman.

Members of the Advisory group include: Clifford J. Backstrand, President of the Armstrong Cork Company; Judge Thomas J. Baldrige '95; U. S. Senator Joseph S. Clark; William H. Coleman, Vice-President Emeritus of the University; John A. Diemand, President of the Insurance Company of North America; Congressman Ivor D. Fenton '08; Judge Frederick V. Follmer '06; Walter D. Fuller, former President of the Curtis Publishing Company; Robert E. Harvey, President of Merritt-Chapman and Scott Corporation; M. D. Hooven '20, Chief Electrical Engineer of the Public Service Electric and Gas Company of New Jersey; Emily Devine Kelly '21, prominent in the administration of New York City schools; Dr. Thomas J. Killian, Science Director, Office of Naval Research; C. J. Kushell, Jr. '27, Vice-President, Montgomery Ward and Co.; George R. Lamade, President, Grit Publishing Company; Dr. Robert J. McCracken, Pastor of the Riverside Church, New York City; Mrs. Christy Mathewson; Vice-Admiral Earle W. Mills, USN (Ret.), President of the Foster Wheeler Corporation; H. W. Prentis, Jr., Chairman of the Board, Armstrong Cork Company; Homer P. Rainey, Professor of Higher Education, University of Colorado and former President of Bucknell; Dayton L. Ranck '16, Vice-President Emeritus of Bucknell; U. S. Senator Hugh D. Scott; Congressman Richard M. Simpson; Rexford G. Tugwell, former Government Administrator, and Professor of Political Science at the University of Chicago; J. Regis Walthour, President, Pennsylvania State Bankers Association; M. R. Warden, President, Remington Arms Co., and General Thomas D. White, USAF.

CHARLES E. WILSON

Chairman, Advisory Committee

Charles E. Wilson, Chairman of the Advisory Committee, is a former President and Chairman of the Board of the General Electric Company. He has not only a record of great distinction in business, but also in governmental service in connection with war production. A trustee of Bucknell, he is active in broad-scale civic and religious affairs.

DETLEV W. BRONK

Vice-Chairman, Advisory Committee

Dr. Detlev W. Bronk, Vice-Chairman of the Advisory Committee, is one of the nation's most distinguished scientists. A former head of Johns Hopkins University, he is now President of the Rockefeller Institute for Medical Research and adviser to the Government in problems of the atomic and missile age. A recent addition to the Board, he is taking a strong interest in the affairs of the University.

PAUL S. KILLIAN

Co-Chairman, Parents' Committee

Paul S. Killian, Co-Chairman of the Parents' Committee, is Vice-President in charge of purchasing of the Bethlehem Steel Company. He is father of a Bucknell alumnus, and represents a substantial group made up of parents who have maintained a continuing interest in the University after the graduation of their children.

Pach Bros., N. Y.

PAUL G. WEHLE

Co-Chairman, Parents' Committee

Paul G. Wehle, Co-Chairman of the Parents' Committee, is President of the Freehold National Bank, Freehold, New Jersey. Formerly associated with the Jamaica National Bank, he maintains his residence at Manhasset on populous Long Island, from which Bucknell draws so many students. He is representative of those parents whose children are currently enrolled.

THELMA J. SHOWALTER

Alumnae Chairman

Thelma J. Showalter '29, Alumnae Chairman, is among the best known of Bucknell's 6,500 women graduates. She has been an executive of the Bureau of Municipal Affairs of the Pennsylvania Department of Internal Affairs. She is also a Commissioner of Union County and has been a member of the Board of Trustees since 1957.

Dual Development Fund expands as initial gifts phase becomes active and Special Gifts phase is planned

NEWS ALONG THE CAMPAIGN FRONTS

INITIAL GIFTS. Activity in this key phase of the campaign began at the meeting of the Trustees on December 12, 1958, and continues under the energetic chairmanship of Dr. Horace A. Hildreth, Trustee and former President of Bucknell. Dr. Hildreth and Wesley N. Haines, Director of Development for the University, spent the first two weeks of February in New York City, making contacts with individuals, corporations, and foundations.

"We found," said Dr. Hildreth, "that the name Bucknell has a real power in opening doors. There is a growing knowledge of the University and of the substantial place which it holds in the country. It was encouraging to find a realization that we must have strong undergraduate colleges of liberal arts and sciences, as well as high-level graduate and technological schools."

An important event in the Initial Gifts program is the dinner planned by Dr. Detlev W. Bronk, Trustee of Bucknell and President of the Rockefeller Institute for Medical Research. The dinner, to be held in Dr. Bronk's home at the Institute, will bring together twenty-five business leaders and educators, whose interest is valuable to Bucknell.

SPECIAL GIFTS. On Saturday, January 17, the Steering Committee met on the campus and approved the plan for the Special Gifts campaign prepared by the Dual Development Fund office.

The quota for Special Gifts is $400,000; the Chairman is R. H. Coleman '29; and the time span set for the effort is February through June, 1959.

The Special Gifts program expands the circle of effort begun by the Initial Gifts phase. The lists assembled contain names of selected alumni, parents, friends, corporations, and foundations. Only those alumni are included who, it is felt, will make a gift to the capital gifts effort while at the same time continuing the support of the Alumni Fund during the year ending June 30, 1959.

The principal regions chosen for Special Gifts work are New York City, Westchester County, Long Island, New Jersey, Wilmington, Philadelphia, Central Pennsylvania, and Pittsburgh.

As one segment of the effort, President Odgers visited Pittsburgh on February 16 in company with Co-Chairman Harry G. Schad, and William R. White '26, Chairman of the Board of Trustees. The purpose was to confer with trustees resident in Pittsburgh on possibilities of gifts from the large foundations and corporations centered in the Steel City. Several encouraging contacts were made, but President Odgers notes the stiff competition which outside colleges face because of intense interest in local institutions.

"PRESENTING BUCKNELL." The competition for the title for the Bucknell film now in process brought forth over one hundred replies, the winner being "Presenting Bucknell."

Maker of the film is Henry V. Hoagland of Washington, D. C., who produced the current University of Pennsylvania film. President Odgers travelled to Washington on February 6 to record his remarks.

Several sections, including fall scenes and a part of the Bucknell-Lehigh football game are "in the can." Recent shots include the Chapel session of February 4, at which Trustee Daniel A. Poling was speaker.

In a preliminary form, the film will be ready for showing within a few weeks, but the completed version must await shots of the full spring season, when the campus is at its beautiful best.

NOTES ON GIFTS. Second in size only to the $100,000 contributed by A. Guy Freas is the $25,000 contribution pledged by Dr. and Mrs. Horace A. Hildreth.

DID YOU KNOW—that Bucknell is among the top 17% of American colleges and universities in respect to size? Eighty-three per cent of our approximately 2,000 colleges and universities are smaller. One-third of the total have enrollments of 500 or under. Bucknell is no small college. In the words of an alumnus, it "is large enough to be strong in general areas; small enough to be cordial."

Dr. Herbert L. Spencer (left), Executive Vice-President of the Samuel H. Kress Foundation, and Dr. Horace A. Hildreth, (right), Initial Gifts Chairman of the Dual Development Fund, confer in New York City on the matching provision set up by the Foundation for endowment gifts. Both are Trustees, and both are former Presidents of Bucknell.

DUAL DEVELOPMENT FUND 1959

BUCKNELL UNIVERSITY LEWISBURG, PENNSYLVANIA

Open Letter to Alumni and Friends of Bucknell

Bucknell has been fortunate in the loyalty and support of its alumni. In this crucial year I am heartened by reports that the 1958-59 Alumni Fund may reach the highest total yet achieved.

Every time I see the new buildings which grace our campus, and when I note how new endowment strengthens both teaching and student life, I appreciate also how strong Bucknell is through the non-alumni group we call "friends": parents, neighbors, businesses, corporations, and foundations. When we celebrated the completion of Coleman Hall, Dr. James O. Wynn, Vice President of the Olin Foundation, remarked, "In a real sense, the Olin Foundation has given Bucknell nothing. The Olin Foundation has simply transferred responsibility for a specified amount of wealth."

On the same occasion, Dr. Charles L. Horn, President of the Olin Foundation, said, "From now on, the responsibility for the advancement of Bucknell is the responsibility of the people here and the alumni."

These words of Dr. Horn are a challenge. I have no doubts and no fears as to how it will be met by alumni and friends through the Dual Development Fund.

Faithfully yours,

Merle M. Odgers,
President

March 2, 1959

* For faculty endowment
* For buildings

Honorary Chairmen
Ellen Clarke Bertrand
Rush H. Kress '00
Robert L. Roate '13
Andrew J. Sordani

Advisory Committee
Charles E. Wilson, Chairman
Dellev W. Brone, Vice-Chairman

General Co-Chairmen
Harry G. Schae
Kenneth W. Slifer '26

Initial Gifts
Horace A. Hildreth, Chairman

Special Gifts
H. Coleman '29, Chairman

Corporate Gifts
Paul L. Troast, Chairman

Alumni
Andrew R. Mathieson '20, Chairman

Alumnae
Thelma J. Showalter '29, Chairman

Parents Committee
Paul S. Killian, Co-Chairman
Paul G. Wehle, Co-Chairman

Evaluation
Berkeley V. Hastings '13, Chairman

Public Relations
Donald W. Shall '42, Chairman
Jack Bozarth '50, Vice-Chairman

Treasurer
A. G. Freas

Chairman, Board of Trustees
William F. White '26

Faculty Representative
Professor John S. Gola '18

A message from President Odgers to alumni and friends of Bucknell quotes the friendly challenge coming from one of Bucknell's great benefactors, the F. W. Olin Foundation.

The Student View

by BOBBIE RUNK '61

HONOR IS OUR BUSINESS

The women's social honor system can be a powerful influence in the lives of all Bucknell women

WHAT INSTITUTION ON CAMPUS is more widely discussed and more relevant to student interests, both male and female, than the women's social honor system! This honor system, which is in its eleventh year at Bucknell, is the very foundation of the Women's Student Government Association. Bucknell women conduct themselves according to the rules of the system, and in case of violation of any rule they are bound by their honor to report themselves to Honor Council, an elected body of women students, who considers the infraction and administers appropriate punishments.

In order for such a system to be successful in the college community the students must first of all be thoroughly educated and oriented in the principles upon which the system is based. They must also possess a certain degree of integrity. It is one of the purposes of the Honor System to strengthen this integrity, and to develop a sense of personal responsibility. Before entering Bucknell, all women students are required to sign the W. S. G. A. oath to "act at all times in accordance with the high standards of personal honor and responsibility which are the basis of this Honor System . . ."

Most women students find this to be an ideal system under which to live. It assumes maturity in the women, and places a great deal more responsibility on the shoulders of each girl than systems used in other schools where the women are directly responsible to their head residents or to the deans. Despite the continual mocking from the quad and the fraternities, most of the men seem to respect the system.

Each year several rules are abolished which the women feel are adhered to so unconsciously that they are no longer needed. The final goal toward which we are striving is a community in which there will be no rules. What a wonderful society this would be—if it could be realized. The system is highly idealistic and is considered by some of its critics to be an extreme expression of pride. In striving for this state in which all rules will be abolished we assume that it can be reached; that is, that we will all some day be able to conduct ourselves by the highest standards of honor. Nations have attempted this many times, but have always found that due to the nature of people governments and laws are necessary.

Because this system has worked so well up to this point, it does not follow that the honor of the students has been responsible. A definite factor to consider is social pressure. There can be no one so idealistic as to believe that all offenders report themselves; it is a known fact that many times those guilty of some minor violation who believe themselves to be unobserved will not bother to turn themselves in. But in very few cases does a woman fail to report herself when other people are aware of her offense. The universal need for social approval is a strong factor to consider in determining the success of the Honor System on its own merit.

Most women will agree that this is the best system under which to live, but many feel this way for covert reasons very different from those noble ones already mentioned. Few women are serious enough offenders to call themselves to the attention of school officials, and yet if a slip is made once in awhile no one is the worse for it. Under the Honor System no one reports anyone else for minor slips; indeed, often no one even knows the difference, and therefore a great deal of fuss and to-do over an unimportant matter is eliminated. The entire affair was a mistake and wouldn't happen again. The women who have difficulty conforming to rules would violate them under any system, and there are those in every school who are asked to leave because of this.

I am here neither extolling the virtues nor condemning the vices of those people who are able or not able to live honorably under a social honor system. I agree with those who feel that the honor system is the best type of government under which to live. A definite sense of responsibility and a certain respect for honor itself seem to be the results. However, I feel, realistically, that there is little apparent virtue or even practicability in striving for a community in which there are no rules and regulations. All of society is based on rules and laws which must be followed in order for people to live together peaceably. People have never been able to live together without rule and most probably never will. Therefore, it seems that a respect for and responsibility toward existing laws, and a deeper sense of personal honor are the happiest objectives towards which we may work through the Honor System.

DOUBLE DUTY DOLLARS FOR ALMA MATER

HUNDREDS OF BUCKNELLIANs today enjoy a surefire method of doubling their gifts to the University. Who are these fortunate people?

They are the employees of some fifty American companies that have a standing offer to match their employees' gifts to their colleges and universities. This program of matching employee gifts to institutions of higher education is known as the "corporate alumnus" plan—a name originated by the General Electric Company whose plan is the prototype of most of the others.

The premise of the "corporate alumnus" program is a sound one. It holds that a company is the sum total of its employees, hence an "alumnus" of all their alma maters.

Matching its collegiate loyalty to that of flesh-and-blood alumni in its employ, a corporate alumnus, gives a dollar for every dollar given by an employee, usually within a prescribed limit.

How does the corporate alumnus program work? Let's take the GE program as an example. Any GE employee of a year's standing who attended Bucknell mails a gift to the University along with a printed form available from the company. The University completes the form, returns it to GE, and the company then sends the University a gift of the same amount. With variations, this is the general procedure of most cooperating companies.

How successful are these matching gifts programs? Again let us use GE as an example. The GE program began in 1955. In 1957—its third year—the GE program matched a total of $220,301.83 in contributions made by 5,557 contributors from 393 different colleges and universities. In 1958 GE had 140 Bucknellians in its employ and eligible to have their gifts to the Alumni Fund matched. Of these, 18 contributed to the Fund a total $470.50 which was matched by GE. The growth of the GE program is shown on the accompanying chart which lists the gifts of Bucknellians employed by GE in 1954—a year before the program was instituted—and then shows the year-by-year results.

How does the Bucknell Alumni Fund use the program to solicit more and larger gifts from GE employees? To avoid high pressure, the Fund has confined its efforts to a single reminder letter to Bucknellians in GE employ usually sent just before the close of the GE fiscal year. On other campuses, especially in larger universities where the number of employees runs to a large figure, personal solicitation teams in each plant location have been organized. This arrangement might be possible for Bucknell in some of the larger company installations. What we would like to do is institute the one-shot reminder letter among the other gift-matching companies, many of which are not in a position to supply the University with the names of Bucknellians in their employ.

To alumni employed by companies with a corporate giving program, the Alumni Fund office adds this note of warning. You may forfeit your matching gift if you fail to send along with your gift the certification form required by your company, or fail to take whatever other action your employer may require to qualify the University for the company's contribution.

Other companies besides GE, which will match the gifts of their employees to the Bucknell Alumni Fund are:

Allegheny Ludlum Steel Corp., American Home Products Corp., Bank of New York, Bonwit Teller, Inc., Burling Industries Foundation, Godfrey L. Cabot, Inc., Campbell Soup (Fund), Inc., Canadian General Electric Co. Ltd., The Chase Manhattan Bank, The Cleveland Electric Illuminating Co., Columbian Carbon Co.

Connecticut Light & Power Co., Continental Oil Co., Corning Glass Works, Dow Chemical Co., The Draper Corp., Fafnir Bearing Co., General Electric Co., General Foods (Fund) Co., General Public Utilities, Gibbs & Hill, Glidden Co., B. F. Goodrich Co.

W. T. Grant Co., Gulf Oil Corp., Harris-Intertype Foundation, Hewlett-Packard Co., Hill Acme Co., J. M. Huber Corp., Jefferson Mills, S. C. Johnson & Sons, Inc., Jones & Laughlin Steel Corp., Kaiser Steel Corp.

Walter Kidde & Co., Walter Kidde Constructors, Koiled Kords, Inc., Klopman Mills, Lehigh Portland Cement Co., McGraw-Hill Publishing Co., Manufacturers Trust Co., National Distillers Products Corp., National Lead Foundation, The National Supply Co., Northrop Aviation Co.

Owens-Corning Fiberglas Corp., Pensalt Chemicals Corp., Phelps Dodge Foundation, Reliable Electric Co., Scott Paper Co., Smith, Kline & French Laboratories, Tektronix, Inc., Towers, Perrin, Forster & Crosby, Inc., Wallingford Steel Co., Warner Bros. Co., Whitney Blake Co., John Wiley & Sons, Inc., Williams & Co., Young & Rubicam, Inc.

GENERAL ELECTRIC CORPORATE ALUMNUS PROGRAM

	1954	1955	1956	1957	1958
Number of Bucknellians
who are G.E. employees	113	118	130	131	140
Number who contributed	23	33	32	35	18
Amount of contributions	$286.00	$1,701.00	$1,539.50	$792.75	$470.50
Percent of contributions	20%	28%	25%	27%	13%
Average gift	$12.43	$51.54	$48.11	$22.65	$26.14

DISTRIBUTION OF GIFTS 1958

Number of Gifts	Amount of Gift
1	$100.00
1	77.50
1	75.00
3	25.00
4	20.00
5	10.00
2	5.00
1	3.00
17	$470.50

ALUMNI TRUSTEE CANDIDATES

(Continued from Page 7)

CHESTER R. LEABER

Commerce and Industry. He has been treasurer of the Bucknell Alumni Club of Greater New York for the past six years.

During his undergraduate days Mr. Leaber was Vice President of his class in his senior year, a member of Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity, and took a prominent part in Cap and Dagger productions.

CAMPBELL RUTLEDGE, JR.

Works, 1954; General Sales Manager of Technical Products Division, Corning Glass Works, 1956.

Organizations: Member, Presbyterian Church, American Institute of Chemical Engineers, Corning Kiwanis Club, Corning Philharmonic Society, and University Club, New York City.

Bucknell Interests: Class Fund Manager; Member, Bison Club; President, Board of Directors of Bucknell Engineering Alumni Association.

Personal Record: Born September 18, 1912; Married Eleanor May Cauffiel (Hood College '33) August 7, 1940.

FINANCES

(Continued from Page 2)

auxiliary activities comes primarily from student dormitory and dining hall fees, it is readily apparent that Bucknell students and their parents are paying even more than 80% of the cost of a Bucknell education. Nonetheless, although scholarship funds are less than might seem desirable, it is also apparent that every Bucknell student is receiving a partial scholarship in that fees do not pay the full cost of Bucknell's educational program.

FUND

(Continued from Page 8)

Distribution of Alumni Fund Gifts 1957-58

	Gifts
Over $100	61
$50-$100	96
$30-$50	53
$20-$30	434
$15-$20	173
$10-$15	1112
$5-$10	1703
Under $5	1252

Alumni annual giving at Bucknell is in its infancy—Yale began in 1890—but in ten years the relatively new fund program has attained significance that has reached far beyond the token stage—and has been morale-lifting for faculty, administration and the entire University family. The Bucknell version of alumni giving has become a success story but the ever-increasing costs of a college education make it essential for those of us who benefited from the gifts of past Bucknellians when we were in college to now consider "proportionate" giving to assist the present and future generations of Bucknell students.

SUMMER SCHOOL

In recent years state departments of education have shown a growing concern for the graduate programs of teachers by requiring more study of subject matter, more general education, and, consequently, less study of educational theory and methods. The Bucknell University Summer School program for teachers has been organized so as to meet this new emphasis.

This summer Bucknell will offer, for the first time, a new degree, Master of Arts in Liberal Studies, which will help teachers obtain more general education. Candidates for this degree will elect at least eighteen hours of thirty required hours in two or more departments rather than the usual eighteen hours in one department. The remaining hours will be fulfilled by an integrating course required of all candidates and by free electives. Candidates may begin the study of new subjects by electing beginning courses open only to graduate students.

Other special programs will meet specific needs. For instance, the third Summer Institute in Science and Mathematics, sponsored by Bucknell and the National Science Foundation, will help high school teachers of biology, chemistry, physics and mathematics to strengthen their teaching. The second Summer Institute for Asian Studies will aim to broaden the teaching of social studies and geography. Scholarships, furnished by the Asia Society, the Japan Society and the Asia Foundation, are available for this latter program.

Bucknell's Practicum in the Language Arts will enable elementary school teachers to study the most recent materials and techniques applicable to the teaching of literature, reading, spelling, writing, speech, dramatization, and foreign language. They and other students in Education will be able to observe a Summer Children's Demonstration school where the most recent methods will be demonstrated.

As usual there will be a full program for the certification of all types of school executives: elementary and secondary school principals and supervisors.

A special workshop for the training of guidance counsellors will be directed by Dr. J. Charles Jones, chairman of the Department of Education. The workshop will feature seminars and laboratory periods, and will be addressed by a number of special consultants, nationally known in the field.

A lively cultural program will strengthen the curricula work. Among the distinguished visitors who will be heard in seminar and public lecture are: Cleanth Brooks, noted scholar and critic; Dr. Max Black, author of Critical Thinking, and Sage Professor of Philosophy at Cornell; and Dr. Robert Bernreuter, creator of the Bernreuter Personality Inventory.

Alumni who have friends who plan to study this summer would do well to call their attention to Bucknell's Summer School for 1959.

SPRING SPORTS 1958-59

BASEBALL

April 4—Dickinson	Home
April 7—Navy	Annapolis, Md.
April 9—Susquehanna	Home
April 11—Lehigh	Home
April 14—Penn State	University Park
April 17—Lafayette	Easton
April 18—Lycoming	Home
April 22—Penn State	Home
April 25—Albright	Reading
April 28—F. and M.	Home
May 1—Juniata	Huntingdon
May 2—Pitt	Pittsburgh
May 5—Scranton	Home
May 8—Syracuse	Syracuse, N. Y.
May 9—Colgate	Hamilton, N. Y.
May 13—Gettysburg	Home
May 16—Delaware	Newark, Del.
May 20—Muhlenberg	Allentown
May 23—Temple	Home

GOLF

April 4—Navy	Annapolis, Md.
April 10—Delaware	Newark, Del.
April 14—Gettysburg	Home
April 17—F. and M.	Lancaster
April 21—Lafayette	Home
April 25—Cornell	Ithaca, N. Y.
April 29—Juniata	Home
May 1—Scranton	Scranton
May 5—Penn State	Home
May 8—Albright	Home
May 15-16—Middle Atlantic	Newark, Del.
May 19—Colgate	Home
May 22—Lehigh	Bethlehem

TENNIS

April 4—Navy	Annapolis, Md.
April 7—Dickinson	Home
April 11—Lafayette	Home
April 15—Albright	Reading
April 18—St. Joseph's	Philadelphia
April 22—Gettysburg	Gettysburg
April 24—Georgetown	Home
April 29—Penn State	University Park
May 1—Lehigh	Home
May 6—F. and M.	Home
May 8—Syracuse	Home
May 9—Delaware	Home
May 12—Cornell	Ithaca, N. Y.
May 15-16—Middle Atlantic	Reading
May 20—Muhlenberg	Allentown
May 23—Colgate	Home

TRACK

April 24-25—Penn Relays	Philadelphia
April 29—F. and M.	Home
May 2—Albright and Ursinus	Reading
May 6—Dickinson	Carlisle
May 9—Delaware and Muhlenberg	Allentown
May 12—Gettysburg	Gettysburg
May 15-16—Middle Atlantic	Swarthmore
May 19—Juniata	Home

CLASS REPORTS

EMERITUS CLUB

MISS MARY COTTON
Eldred, Pa.

REUNE IN JUNE

Dr. A. R. E. Wyant '92 continues a full round of activities at 91 years of age. He recently preached the sermon at his home congregation where he has been a member for more than 50 years. At the recent Roger Williams Fellowship Dinner at the University of Chicago, he was given a standing ovation when he was introduced as the oldest living graduate, the 207th student to matriculate at the University. Always a generous benefactor to Bucknell, it was recently reported that he has contributed $3,000 in the past three years toward the payment of the mortgage on the Phi Gamma Delta fraternity house on the Bucknell campus.

We offer belated but sincere sympathy to the widow and children of Dr. Charles M. Teufel '04, who died instantly when stricken with coronary occlusion on October 14, 1958.

"Ginger," who had served as president of the Emeritus Club since June, 1955, had just that day conferred with the Alumni Office concerning Emeritus Club affairs. His energetic leadership had provided the members of the Emeritus Club with outstanding reunion programs during the past three years. He will be sadly missed by the members of his Class of 1904, the entire Emeritus Club membership and Bucknell alumni generally.

Born in Muncy in 1877, Dr. Tenfel earned the bachelor's degree in 1904 and the master's degree in 1908 from Bucknell University. As a student he excelled academically and became a member of Phi Gamma Delta fraternity. In athletics, "Ginger" was particularly known as a baseball catcher. But he quarterbacked the Bucknell football team which had the late Christy Mathewson '02 as its standout fullback. He gave up a promising athletic career in professional baseball to enter the ministry, but maintained throughout his life a keen interest in college athletics, attending all Bucknell athletic events on campus until the time of his death. Just a few years ago he presented to the University the baseball glove he used here as a student. From 1907, when he was ordained into the Lutheran ministry, he served churches in Pittsburgh; Middletown, Md.; Aliquippa; Newport News, Va.; Roanoke, Va.; and Staunton, Va. He retired from the ministry at the Homestead Park Messiah Lutheran Church in 1947 but continued to serve as interim pastor in a number of Lutheran churches in many areas. In fact, Rev. Teufel had preached two services on the Sunday before his death.

He is survived by his wife, the former Minnie Emma Falls, whom he married in 1950, a son, two daughters, twelve grandchildren, and six great-grandchildren. Funeral services were held in the Trinity Lutheran Church, Milton, with interment at Harmony Cemetery. Heartfelt sympathy of the University is extended to Mrs. Teufel and the surviving relatives.

We are happy to announce that Dr.

Carl L. Millward '06, AM '08, Honorary '31 of Milton has accepted the presidency of the Emeritus Club. Dr. Millward called together the other officers of the club: William G. Murdock '04, Milton, secretary-treasurer; Col. A. F. Dersheimer '03, Tunkhannock, fund manager; Mary Cotton '96, Eldred, club reporter; Dr. Mabel Grier Leshner '01 and Mrs. Sara Judd Shields '02, Lewisburg, directors, to plan for the Emeritus Club gathering on Alumni Reunion Week-end, June 5, 6, 7, 1959.

02 MR. ALAN C. CUNNINGHAM
Charles C. Knox Home
Wynnewood, Pa.

Dr. Lewis E. Theiss, who recently celebrated his 80th birthday, is the author of an article published in the October, 1958, issue of Ford Times, published by the Ford Motor Company. The article concerns the "history, tragedy, romance and scenic beauty" combined in Ole Bull State Forest Park, Potter County.

04 MR. HARRY E. McCORMICK
26 South Third St.
Lewisburg, Pa.

REUNE IN JUNE

This is a reminder of our reunion year. June is not far away. Please make plans to meet your classmates and friends on the campus. If you cannot be present, please send some news of yourself and family. Your classmates all wish to hear about your children, grandchildren and yourself.

05 DR. LEWIS C. HYLBERT
435 Drake Ave.
Upland, Calif.

"LET ME BE THANKFUL"

"Let me be thankful for lovely things;
The dawn of day; a robin that sings;
For mornings filled with happy hours;
For winter's snow or April showers;
For home and loved ones' constant care;
A hearth that warms the house I share;
For sound of children at their play
Which crowns my happiness each day;
At evening time for family prayer,
Thanking God for watchful care.
These things in my heart I keep Before I rest in peaceful sleep."

—Ruth Stephens Porter
In Daily Meditation

07 DR. LEO L. ROCKWELL
1543 Caldwell St.,
Lakeland, Fla.

Bucknell and the Class of 1907 owe a debt of gratitude to Mary Stanton Speicher for her long service as class fund manager. Under Mary's inspiring leadership, 1907 has remained in the top bracket of Alumni Fund contributors. Now Mary feels that the burden has grown too great for her to continue, and has asked to be relieved. Let's all join in "Hulla baloo baleven, Bucknell alumni nineteen seven" for her. It is such unselfish service which marks deep and genuine loyalty to Alma Mater.

George Riggs has consented to take over Mary's responsibility. You will be hearing from him; please give him the loyal support you have given Mary and Bucknell!

Two of our classmates have returned to Lewisburg for their last long rest. Dr. William Kelly died April 28, 1958, after having been in ill health a number of years. Although not an invalid in the narrower sense of the word, he had retired from active work; some time ago he and Mrs. Kelly (Sara Meyer '11) had gone back to Lewisburg, which had been his boyhood home. His death came suddenly, before a doctor could be summoned. Bill had always been a loyal member of the class; we shall miss him. Mrs. Kelly is now living with the family of her nephew, Dr. George Weber '25 at R. D. 1, Waldorf, Md.

09 MRS. HOWARD L. HEADLAND
(Sarah E. Walters)
3911 First Avenue North
St. Petersburg 13, Fla.

REUNE IN JUNE

So far, planning to answer present, according to latest reports to me, at our 50th next June 5, 6, 7 and 8 at Bucknell are: George Baileys, Amy Bollinger, Helge Florin, Gilbert Lyte, Ida Sames Yeager, John Shirley, Myrtle Walkinshaw Shupe and your Scribe. I hope this list increases rapidly.

Under a heading "A Glance Backward" we quote the following: Walkie boasts of a second great grandchild, born last October. She adds, "I have never retired, I work harder and longer than ever."

Dr. Newton Fetter writes, "I was asked to take a temporary position with the Baptist Board of Education in New York City. I planned to be in New York for a few months at most, but I remained from 1941 to 1952 when a bit over age, I retired." Dr. and Mrs. Fetter spend the summer months at their farm near Blooming Grove and the winters in Rhode Island and Massachusetts visiting their son and daughter.

Good for you, Helge. I hold in my hand a clipping from the Saint Petersburg Times, December 11, which states that Helge Florin has been elected the first president of the newly formed Causeway Isle Civic Association.

Thank you, John Shirley, for sending me this: Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm Hallman have sailed for Port Said and a long trip up the Nile. Then they expect to spend some weeks in India and two months in Ceylon before going to Bali and Bangkok and Hong Kong. After April in Japan they will head for home via Vancouver. Well, Malcolm, after Vancouver don't linger in Spearfish too long because we certainly shall look for you in Lewisburg on June 5.

Ugh, what a day! Callers at 9:30 and two cousins, after several days' visit, left at 10:00 o'clock. A hectic trip to my ear doctor at 10:30, to my dentist at 11:30—home, cooked dinner—dishes and then calm myself sufficiently to write this letter for my "gentle readers" if perchance I have any such. To top all this, being "a passing dish" to a supper of the A. A. U. W. at 5:45 P. M. Anyway, let us all aim to be present at our one and only 50th in June. We are eagerly awaiting the arrival of our class robin.

10 MISS MILDRED B. CATHERS
100 W. 33rd St., Apt. 6
Bayonne, N. J.

Prof. Phares H. Hertzog, besides serving as a member of the faculty at Elizabethtown College, has as a hobby lecturing on knot tying before civic groups in his area. He is scheduled to give a demonstration at the Pennsylvania Dutch Festival in Hershey next summer.

Sara Ray Way spent three weeks at holiday time with her son-in-law, daughter and their children in Chicago, Ill. On her return she stopped in Pittsburgh to visit her sister, Miss Charlotte Ray, former dean of girls at State College.

Winnie Dickson Hardgrove is planning a six weeks trip to South America and Central America for the coming summer. Meantime, this winter she has been giving talks and showing pictures of her last summer's trip to Alaska to the many clubs in which she is active in Akron, Ohio.

Emily Lane Yoder is at her Sarasota, Fla., home again for the winter.

11 LYMAN C. SHREVE, ESQ.
512 Masonic Temple
Erie, Pa.

The entire University family was saddened by news of the death, on January 18, 1959, of Edgar A. Snyder, a life-time friend and supporter of Bucknell and 1939-41 president of The General Alumni Association.

Ed was born in Weaverville on December 6, 1886, and attended Millersville State Normal School before entering Bucknell in 1907. His college career displayed brilliance in both athletic and academic affairs. While at Bucknell he was a member of the varsity football team and in 1907 was named by Bill Roper, the then Princeton coach, as all-American center. He was elected captain of the varsity in his last year. He was elected to membership in Sigma Chi fraternity, an organization he continued to serve throughout his lifetime. He was graduated magna cum laude with a B.S. in chemistry in 1911.

After graduation he entered the chemical field and after a short period of service with Youngstown Steel Co. in Youngstown, Ohio, joined the Pennsylvania Railroad Laboratories in Altoona serving until 1916. He went then to the General Electric Company at Pittsfield, Mass., serving there for ten years. In 1925 he was American representative on the International Electrotechnical Commission at The Hague, Holland. He joined Sacony-Vacuum Oil Company in New York City in 1927 and carried ever increasing responsibilities in that rapidly growing organization until his retirement December 31, 1951.

Since graduation Mr. Snyder has maintained an active and continuous interest in the affairs of his Alma Mater. He was president of the Metropolitan Alumni Club of New York and Northern New Jersey, a director of The General Alumni Association and served as president in 1939-41. He was one of the active organizers of the Bison Club and has served Bucknell as an active worker in a number of fund raising campaigns. He is a member of the Athletic Advisory Committee and has served as president of his Class of 1911.

In Sigma Chi fraternity affairs he has long been active, serving as building committee chairman and officiating at the ground-breaking, cornerstone laying and dedication of the new fraternity house completed in 1950.

He has been closely associated with the Bucknell Alumni Fund program since its inception in 1948, not only in an advisory capacity but as a continuous giver to the fund and a worker in the program, having served in the personal solicitation phase of the work as recently as the spring of 1958.

In recognition of his splendid service to Bucknell he was elected an alumni member of the Board of Trustees of the University for a five-year term in 1947.

He is survived by his wife, the former Mary C. Craine of Altoona, and two sons, Dr. Richard C. Snyder '40, of the faculty of the University of Washington in Seattle, and Robert A. Snyder '42, married to the former Dorothy W. Derr '41, and an engineer with Grumman Aircraft Corporation on Long Island, and six grandchildren.

The heartfelt condolences of the entire University family are extended to the surviving relatives.

Ed's entire life of service to his Alma Mater is perhaps best personified by an open letter he wrote for publication in THE BUCKNELL ALUMNUS in June, 1943, when he was serving as national alumni chairman of the One Hundredth Birthday Capital Gift project, in which he said, "Let us alumni change the first line of Alma Mater and sing, 'Dear Bucknell, now to thee we're giving.'"

In lieu of flowers, the family has asked that contributions be sent to Kappa Chapter of Sigma Chi Fraternity at Bucknell.

It is with a deep sense of sorrow that we report the death of J. Leslie Crowell. Leslie died on December 29, 1958, as a result of complications following injuries sustained in a fall while he was working in his bookshop. Leslie was a member of Sigma Chi fraternity, held an A.M. from New York University, had taught 36 years in Malvern High School and Perth Amboy High School in New Jersey and after retiring, owned and operated the Crowell Bookshop at Asbury Park, N. J. We send our sincere sympathy to his widow, Linnie E. Crowell, who is continuing the business. Her address is 1305 Railroad Ave., Asbury Park, N. J.

12 MRS. H. W. HOUSEKNECHT
(Maze Callahan)
108 W. Penn St.
Muncy, Pa.

I wish that Christmas came more often than just once a year. I like the contact with the different friends at this time—especially the Bucknell family. I find out sometimes how they are enjoying life, how many wrinkles they have, how many aches and pains and what have you! !

Received greetings from Petrona and Frank Hean, Renee and Roy Mikle, Eva and Ray Apgar, Pearl and Frank Williams '17, Helen and Roy Clark, Helen and Vic Schmid, Louise Pawling ('43) Sieber and Fred '39, Evelyn and Paul Riehl, Margaret Harter Rathmell, Olive and Matt '09 Haggerty, Alberta McNeal, Fannie Wood ('33) Brown and Rodney, Kate and Fred Iglar, Grace ('09) and Leon Crandall, Irene and Tom Wood '37, Alberta and Patty Conner, Clarabel Warg ('36) Smith and Glenwood, Blanche Stoner ('05) Wood, Carrie Smithgall ('25) Ebert, and Helen Ruth.

Then Ruby Stuck O'Leary writes—"It seems entirely too long to wait three years to see you.

"I am of the prejudiced opinion that we had the very best reunion of any class.

"I know I looked older and acted older but I didn't feel a bit older than the day we were graduated." (I guess all of us will agree that Ruby is one who looks just the same as when she was in school—of course a few extra pounds added.)

From "Rip" Ruth and Ruth—"Greetings from California where we are enjoying the desert and mountains after a summer on the Pacific Coast."

From Bob Meyer and Mrs. Bob—"We hope you and Pop are in good health and enjoying old age infirmities immensely, or not have any, if any at all. I am as usual—nothing added or subtracted from me. I was in Lewisburg this year but not at the University. Hope to get there next autumn when our new football team shows its colors."

Mary Weiser Jenkins writes—"No trips and no news. We are grandparents!"

"Sorry we couldn't make Homecoming this year but expect to be there for our 45th next June. Why don't you and your 'Pop' drive up this way? How many grandchildren by now? We have two." Lib and Red ('14) Lowther.

"Another year—another Christmas! The years are passing like weeks. The trouble is they always add a year. Almost I'm beginning to feel old when I add the years. Always look for your column first—keep up the good work." Violet Wetterau Naumann.

Another grandmother—Helen Dffen-dafer ('18) Bower. "This year I baby-sat with my new granddaughter instead of going to Homecoming and had a lot of fun."

14 MRS. H. B. WEAVER
(Dora Hamler)
348 Ridge Ave.
New Kensington, Pa.

REUNE IN JUNE

Don't forget that our 45th reunion draws near. The dates are June 5, 6, and 7 for a gala week end. Put them down in your date book today and plan to meet old friends. See you in June.

The Alumni Office recently received word from Mrs. James A. Brown (Joann Golightly '48) that her father, Joshua R. Golightly, suffered a stroke on December 21, 1958. I am sure that I speak for all the class in wishing Jo a speedy recovery. I am sure he would enjoy receiving notes from his friends and classmates. Jo's address is 3 Linden Place, Summit, N. J.

15 MR. THOMAS B. WILLIAMS
200 Coventry Road
Fairless Hills, Pa.

Dr. E. W. Pangburn was elected president of the 1958 Bucknell Quarterback Club at the first meeting of the season in September.

We are happy to announce that Miss

CLASSES REUNING

June 5-8, 1959

EMERITUS CLUB

(1884-1908)

1904	1934
1909	1939
1914	1944
1919	1949
1924	1954
1929	1958

Marion R. Bancroft, 1308 9th St., Altoona, has become our class reporter. Now be sure to send a news note about yourself and your activities to Marion so we will have a regular class report in every issue of THE BUCKNELL ALUMNUS.

(ED. NOTE) Tom Williams entered the hospital for surgery in January. Why not send him a card to the address above.

16

THE REV. ERIC A. OESTERLE, D.D.
114 E. 188th Street
New York, N. Y.

The old miler, Bruce Butt, will save this column for this issue. His letter is the lone contribution I have to submit unless some prodigal comes home before the deadline of January 22. "Mrs. Butt and I are brand new grandparents. Our daughter, Alysanne Butt Brenner '57 and her husband William L. Brenner, Princeton '57, have an all-wool and yard-wide son, William Henry Brenner, Bucknell '76, who looks like Churchill and smokes big black cigars. They live at 44 Garfield St., Cambridge, Mass., where Bill (the Princeton one) is in his second of three years at Harvard.

Your reporter was back for the second time in a row to speak at the Chester Old Timer's Banquet in January. Each time I have gone down there I have thought of the late "Skin" Worrilow '14, the old Bucknell baseball player, Edna Whittman '14 Glover and her late brother Frank '15 who were Chesterites in their school days. Edna is promoting the reunion of her Class of '14. That means I will have to tote Helen ("Ottie") '14 as Parks referred to her in the only Christmas greeting I got from the class outside of Tilton and inclusively from Cecelia Kitlowski Starzynski in a card to Helen) up to Lewisburg for her 45th. As someone said, "It isn't too wearing to be a grandfather but it is a dreadful thing to think you are old enough to be married to a grandmother." By the by, Cecelia has a son Ted. He is a doctor. Last July he was called into active service in Lebanon for three months where he was the overall commanding surgeon of the American Task Force. "This took him away from his work, from taking the final exams in November to become a certified plastic and reconstructive surgeon. Now he will have to wait until the spring. Exams are given twice a year." We sympathize with Cecelia in the loss of her brother, Dr. Henry Kitlowski '20.

17

MRS. ERLE M. TOPHAM
(C. Ray Speare)
425 W. Sedgwick St.
Philadelphia 19, Pa.

Eber Swope lives at 1100 Merrick Ave., Collingswood, N. J. He is presently an engineering inspector of Municipal Works Construction, after twenty years in Life Insurance and several years in building construction.

He is married and has one son who is a teacher at Penn State, and one grandson, age 14.

Eber and Mrs. Swope are both active in the Lutheran Church. His hobbies are reading and singing and he also enjoys resting and sleeping. He says, "I do not know just now when I'll retire. I may keep on a while longer if the Lord continues to bless me with good health. I see very few '17ers. I do keep up a very scant correspondence with Sprenkle and Lofft."

He also says, "when I receive my ALUMNUS the first thing I look at is the '17 class news—and I surely enjoy every word of it."

Frank Stettler is still living at 1616 N.

22

49th St., Milwaukee 8, Wis. He has been working in the electrical engineering field for the Wisconsin Telephone Co. for the last 38 years. Frank and his wife, Hilda, have a daughter Helen Ruth and a granddaughter, Lynn Ellen Bassert. His hobbies are church choir, figure skating club, and tennis club. Fishing, swimming, photography and home workshoping get attention, too. Frank seems to be having a very nice busy life out there in Wisconsin. He is a member of several engineering societies.

Dr. Eugene Bertin has a splendid page in the PENNSYLVANIA SCHOOL JOURNAL—"Ravelin's", which he edits every month. The current (January) issue is particularly fine. Read it if you can find a copy. Wish I had room to repeat some of it here.

Don't forget to send your check for the Alumni Fund. Let's try to increase our number of "givers" this year.

Finally, won't some of you, who have not answered my letters for news, break down and send us a few words about yourselves? We'd love to hear from you and about you. By our next issue I should have written to, or contacted, every person on our class rolls. Where do I go from there, if you don't help? Well—we'll wait and see!

18

MRS. LAYTON E. KING
(Elizabeth Champion)
10 N. Loyalsock Ave.
Montoursville, Pa.

I hope that you missed me last issue! It is rather difficult to make up news of any or all of you, and I rather hoped that an absence might spur some of you on to writing of your own activities. But no such luck.

The Christmas mail did bring news of a few friends and classmates. Dagmar James MacFarlane has changed her address—she is now back in South San Francisco at 112 Knoll Circle. The move brings her nearer her daughter and grandchildren. She spent Christmas with her son and family in Klamath Falls, Oregon.

The sympathy of all of us goes to Chet '19 and Evelyn McGann Leaber on the death of Chet's father shortly after the New Year. Mr. Leaber, Sr., was in his 92nd year. Chet and Evelyn had been here for Christmas.

Had a nice note from Helen Diffendaffer Bower. She has been most helpful since I took over the job from her.

My news that I have to offer seems to concern members of classes other than 1918, but I shall offer it. Brother George Champion '17 and wife are again spending the winter in New York. They are on Staten Island. I am very sure that George spent several days at the Boat Show before settling down for the next few months.

Dorothy Villinger ('20) Dimlich wrote that she and Stephen '20 were planning on spending the holidays in Florida to get away from the cold. From the reports from Ohio, as I am writing this letter, they got back in plenty of time to suffer through the worst of it. They live in Shaker Heights.

Sally Park ('17) Titterington writes that her brother passed away this past fall and that her mother, who lives with Sally, has not been too well.

Haven't much to say for myself—am struggling to be a semi-good president of the local Branch of American University Women. Guess we all have our trials and tribulations.

Won't someone please write to me?

19

DR. FRANKLIN D. JONES
2617 St. David's Lane
Ardmore, Pa.

REUNE IN JUNE

... the Big 40th Reunion!

Reverend Franklin L. Artley lives at 924 Edgewood Road in Elizabeth, N. J., and sends his best wishes to all his classmates. We hope to see him in June, too.

Mrs. Miriam Bridge Rudin is serving on the Essex County Grand Jury for a three month term. Her address is 250 New St., Belleville, N. J.

Mary E. Grove is a member of the nursing staff at the St. Francis Hospital in Santa Barbara, Calif. Her sister, Susanah (Mrs. Walter Chandler), lives at Carpenteria not far away, so they get together every week. She writes that she enjoys the climate and the beautiful city of Santa Barbara. We must agree that it is a wonderful place.

Howard L. Harer has moved to Sal-ladsburg.

Karl D. Smith has taken the family business, the Catawissa Monument Works, into an expansion program and now has branches in eight other Pennsylvania cities. Regardless of business, he has to be at Bucknell for our 40th Reunion.

Did you know that the father of Elizabeth McLean Paterson, now Mrs. C. A. Cerad, is the oldest living alumnus of the University? Her father, the Rev. James McLean Paterson of the Class of 1892, was born on February 16, 1863, in Scotland. He resides in Wilmington, Del., with son Donald Clark Paterson '31 and continues to take a great interest in life's activities.

21

MRS. ELLWOOD S. DERR
(Sara Bernhart)
1360 Jefferson Ave.
Lewisburg, Pa.

Rev. Carl A. Metz has accepted a call to the First Baptist Church in Roseville, Ill. All three of the Metz children are now located in the Greater New York area.

24

MRS. PAUL J. CUPP
(Louise Benshoff)
933 Muirfield Road
Bryn Mawr, Pa.

REUNE IN JUNE

Congratulations and many thanks are due "Chick" Dinger (Reynoldsville) for taking time out of a busy day to write an unsolicited letter to your reporter! An important part of it follows: "Upon reading that this year of '59 will be our thirty-fifth reunion, I am going to plan right now to be there and pray that I will live to see as many of that wonderful group of folks as feel the urge to return for the 5th and 6th of June. I know that back in '54 I was thrilled beyond description when I saw so many of the ones we used to live with and know so well. Please keep me informed about the big June party for the Class of '24!" Chick and Martha have two sons, one a junior at Penn State in the industrial engineering class and another son who is planning on going to school next semester.

Our deepest sympathy is extended to the family of Harry F. Royce, of Ventura, Calif. Harry was an active layman of the First Baptist Church in Ventura and was serving as interim pastor of the Vineyard Estates Baptist Church in El Rio. He served as acting president of Westmont College, Santa Barbara, in 1947-48. Survivors include his wife, Dorothy, and three daughters.

Mrs. Douglas Lathrop (Peggy Everitt, Springville) reports 12 below zero! Peggy and Doug have two daughters, one teaching in an Army Dependent's school in West Berlin, Germany, the other living in Pennsylvania, where her husband is assistant professor at Lock Haven State Teachers College.

Robert '25 and Mildred Houseman Shaffer (Ridley Park) have a daughter at Bucknell—Nancy.

Bob and Ruth Weidenhamer Armstrong (Augusta, N. J.) had an enjoyable visit in Boston attending the National Farm Bureau Convention. While there, they visited Bob and Helen Fisher Machamer.

Rev. Malcolm V. Mussina, D.D., hospitalized at Clearfield since a heart attack October 24, has returned to his home in Williamsport. Congratulations, Happy! He is a past president of the Williamsport School Board and vice president of the area high schools' jointure. He is also executive secretary of the Board of Education of the Central Pennsylvania Methodist Conference.

26 MISS ANNA L. BROWN
45 Wildwood Ave.
Pitman, N. J.

Virginia Zortman Hermann was married to G. Russell Morrison of Franklin, N. J., on November 21. Her daughter Suzanne, a freshman at Gettysburg College, was her attendant. Virginia's new address is 3 Rowe Place, Franklin, N. J.

29 MISS THELMA J. SHOWALTER
425 Market St.
Mifflinburg, Pa.

REUNE IN JUNE

Classmates, are you up to date on our 30th reunion? If so, you have circled the week-end of June 6th, you have completed the questionnaire which Dottie Lemon Bailey sent you, and you are planning to be with us on the campus for the big occasion. Our reunion chairman, John Minick, writes that plans are progressing, but what are plans without each of you here to enjoy them? May your reporter ask that each of you write her and warm the cockles of her heart by saying that you will be there.

Ruth McFarland Glesk, who lives in Port Alleghany, is kept very busy with her lovely family and the many community activities in which she is interested. Her main interests are the local hospital and the Red Cross.

William J. Hartman, Stroudsburg, has been in the purchasing department of the Bethlehem Steel Company for over 20 years.

Kathryn Klingman writes us that like the teacher in the old poem, "I just teach school". Kathryn is a very successful teacher in the Warrior Run High School at Watsontown. She really enjoys it.

If any of the Class of '29 are in the vicinity of Bernardsville, N. J., we would suggest that you stop by to see the beautiful new home, which Mildred Gentsler has built there. She is guidance coordinator for the local school.

The principal of the Hatboro High School in Montgomery County is none other than our own Charles Jones. He is an active participant in all community and church activities.

Sarah Beck Ricker of Lock Haven reports that all five of her children are grown and married. The three boys are tool and die engineers and both of the girls are nurses. Sarah is guidance counselor at the Bald Eagle-Nittany High School. She has obtained another master's degree, this time in education. She is working for her doctorate.

31 MRS. W. ZELMAN SLEIGHTER
(Ruth J. Thomas)
833 Chestnut St.
Mifflinburg, Pa.

The sympathy of the class is extended to Evelyn Burpee Kinsloe of Mount Union, in the death of her father Dr. Frank Burpee '01. Prof. Burpee will long be remembered by all Bucknellians for his untiring devotion to our Alma Mater.

The Rev. William H. Genne substituted for Dr. John Sutherland Bonnell on the ABC radio network program "Pilgrimage in Family Life" every Sunday evening through February 15.

Ed and Alice Drennan Smalstig are living busy lives at 1645 Second St., Beaver. Their son Barry will be in college next fall—(we hope Bucknell, of course!) and their daughter, Sandra, is slated for Girl Scout Round-Up at Colorado Springs this summer. Alice is active in Girl Scout work and Ed has recently been elected councilman for the borough of Beaver.

Virginia Lambert Mattern lives at 223 Frederick St., Johnstown. She has a son at Pennsylvania State University.

Dr. Miriam G. Groner is teaching at Penn State's Ogontz Center. Her address is Box 132, New Britain. Her mother is living with her there.

Dorothy Showalter Straub (Mrs. Charles) is teaching at the Selinsgrove State School. The Straubs are parents of two sons and a daughter.

Eleanor Farquhar Hardgrove lives at 4821 Highland Drive, Willoughby, Ohio. She has three fine sons.

The father of Donald Clark Paterson enjoys the distinction of being the oldest living alumnus of the University. The Rev. James McLean Paterson was born in Scotland on February 16, 1863, and graduated in the Bucknell Class of 1892. He has had a distinguished career as a minister and counts among his blessings the fact that at 96 years of age he can (with the help of a cane) get downstairs for his breakfast. Rev. Paterson resides with son, Donald, in Wilmington, Del.

33 MRS. ERNEST H. ENGELHARDT
(Janet Worthington)
Irondale Place, Millville Rd.
Bloomsburg, Pa.

Robert H. Smith, vice president of Aero Service Corporation, the largest and oldest mapping and exploration company in the world, tells us that over half of his time for the past three years has been spent travelling outside the United States visiting the company's overseas operations. Bob is married to the former Isabel Klapp '32. The Smiths live at 810 W. Church Rd., Elkins Park, Philadelphia 17.

Mavette Carliss Rose sends the following statistics about herself and family: Howard C.—secretary-treasurer of the United States Gas Co.; Mavette—housewife; Howard T.—20, a sophomore at Penn State in Business Administration; William C.—18, a freshman at Penn State in Business Administration; Cathy—12, in 7th grade; Mike—8, in 3rd grade.

Ethel Hutchins Lobel is kept busy with civic affairs and her three children, Larry, 18; Marian, 16 and Susan, 11. Girl Scouting is her major hobby in which she has served as an adult leader for ten years. She is presently public relations chairman.

Fannie Wood Brown has three children, Garrett, 16; Sheldon, 6 and Margaret, 12. Gary is 6 ft. 3 inches, a ham operator, athletic manager, bass viol player and a beginning driver. Margie is a cellist, Girl Scout, and social minded. Sheldon is in first grade. Her husband, Rodney, is a chemical engineer with Dupont. They reside in Havertown.

Charles P. Leach reports his daughter is at Wilson College. Charles, Jr., is playing high school varsity baseball at New Bethlehem. Hamilton is 3rd man on the high school golf team. His wife, Clare, is a Girl Scout leader. He himself admits he spends too much time in community industrial development, politics, Boy Scout work, etc.

34 MRS. WILLIAM S. LIMING
(Ruth E. Rohr)
396 Andrews Rd.
East Williston, N. Y.

REUNE IN JUNE

Things seem to be shaping up for our silver anniversary under the able leadership of Eddie Myers, our class prexy. He is being assisted by Sanford Barcus, A. Fay Beighley, William P. Boger, Jr., Mrs. Leland Fox (Marie Steinbach), Mr. and Mrs. Walter Geiger, Frank Gerlitz, Jr., Walter Ruch, Sherburne Walker and yours truly. There are others in our class as well and you will hear from them. Please do not hesitate to offer your services as I can assure you that our reunion will be much more rewarding if YOU have had a part in it.

Thanks to the cards I have some real news for you. Here goes: W. H. Gilleland of 1055 Hawthorne Ave., Lorain, Ohio, is looking forward to this reunion and says he'll be there with his family if humanly possible. Doris Rolfe Jackson (Mrs. Allan H.) has returned to teaching 2nd grade in Wind Gap. She has three children, Susan, 17; Bill, 15; and Jean Ann, 13. Susan will be ready for Bucknell in September '60. Doris is active in church and community affairs and is the Republican committeewoman in her district. Her address is 19 Jackson Ave., Pen Argyl. Helen Showalter Evans of Mifflinburg will not be with us in June as "We are spending 8 weeks in Europe and we sail on June 3rd." She sends regards to all and says to have a wonderful time. Roland F. Harbeson of 421 N. Front St., Milton, is so close to Lewisburg that he is willing to assist in whatever manner he can on the local scene to insure a successful reunion. Now I hope that inspires more of you to help. Rev. William Hallbauer is a busy man. He observed his 5th anniversary as minister in the Sewell Community Baptist Church, Sewell, N. J., in October. He is moderator of Mantua Township Interdenominational Church Council; re-elected for third year. He will complete work on a Master of Sacred Theology degree at Temple University School of Sacred Theology in June, 1959. Bill lives at 800 Mantua Blvd., Sewell, N. J.

Betty Mayhew Sherman (Mrs. Louis Sherman) sends greetings from the mid-west; to be specific Betty lives with her family at 1303 Willow Lane, Wichita, Kans. She says they moved out there two years ago when her husband became assistant to the president of Frontier Chemical Company. They find the living there very pleasant. Betty has two children: Sandy, 16, is a junior at Southeast High School and a prospective Bucknellian and Lee, 11, is a sixth grader. Betty says they spend the summers at 732 Wesley Ave., Ocean City, N. J., and would welcome a visit from any Bucknell friends. The Shermans are looking forward to seeing you in June. Your reporter saw the Arthur Iredells of 68 Willow St., Garden City, N. Y., during the Christmas holiday and Art and his charming wife, Fran, hope to be in Lewisburg if he can get away from business. Art has three children, Sue who attends Penn Hall, Scott in junior high and Peggy a grade school charmer. I plan to attend the reunion with Bill and our son who is 12 and in Wheatley School (Robert). If the headmistress at Cathedral School of St. Mary will excuse Ruth Gail, she will celebrate her 16th birthday at our reunion.

If you have not marked your calendar for June 5, 6, and 7, 1959, please do so at once and plan to return. You only have a 25th reunion once so why not plan to make the most of it and renew old ties and then plan for the reunions to come. The Bucknell spirit is still the same wonderful one and the campus is more beautiful than ever. There are still familiar faculty and administration faces on campus and in Lewisburg so why miss the chance of a lifetime?

35 MRS. PAUL L. DESCHANEL
(Ann W. Orr)
Chapel Wood
Gambills, Md.

Second-generation Bucknellians—daughter of Johnny and Essie (Powell) Rodgers; James Loughery, son of Sue (Hill) and Gardner Loughery—both freshmen.

New Year's visits with two ex '35ers—Eleanor Wermouth Henry and Bobbie Duane Matthews, the latter in Long Beach, L. I., where Bobbie is as petite and lovely as ever—as our son, Joe said, "she doesn't look a day over thirty!" We met her sons, one of whom is at St. Lawrence University majoring in business and economics, the other one in junior high school. Her daughter, Lynn, attends the University of Kansas.

We received another delightful letter from Janet Workman Appleton showing what a small world it is—our husbands worked together in the same company long before we were married and have had business contacts recently without knowing that they had wives who knew each other.

We are glad to report that Jane Orwig LeMon is well again and busy teaching senior high school English. She and Mel spent a very inspiring week at Boston and Cambridge recently when Mel attended a music convention and Jane browsed around historical and literary spots.

Peg Weddell Peters writes that she is "holding her thumbs", as the expression goes, in her part of the world and that she hopes to make a trip from Johannesburg, Africa, for our twenty-fifth.

37 MRS. PAUL W. ZIEGLER
(Mabel Nylund)
12 W. Garrison Rd.
Chester, Pa.

I wish I knew who should receive credit for this definition of luck, "when opportunity meets preparation." I am prepared and, given the opportunity, we may be lucky enough to have a longer column next time.

From the Lone Star State comes this item. Mr. and Mrs. Warren L. Dentler (Frances E. Rockwell) have moved to 2818 West Lowden St., Fort Worth 9, Tex. Warren has enrolled in Texas Christian University as a ministerial student and Frances is working as editorial assistant at All-Church Press, publishers of church newspapers.

BUCKNELL UNIVERSITY CHAMBER MUSIC SCHOOL

July 13-August 2

Open to students fourteen years of age and older for the study and performance of chamber works.

Rev. Thomas B. Richards has realized a dream of long standing by the establishment of a "laboratory home" for alcoholics to be operated by the Men's Service Center of which Tom has been director for some years. The "lab" will seek to remold the wasted lives of chronic public alcoholics, who are trapped in a revolving-door process of being hurtled back and forth from "Skid Row" to jail.

P. S. to Bill Lotowycz.

We're glad your present worldly ties belie the news of your demise. If they must, let them call you "late" 'Cause you made that Stygian boatman wait.

39 MR. DAVID R. BAGENSTOSE
12 Kinterra Rd.
Wayne, Pa.

REUNE IN JUNE

We are hard at work shaping up plans for the reunion. Don't forget! June 5-7 should be reserved for the trip to Lewisburg. Please mail your questionnaires for the reunion book today, if you have not already done so.

You will be hearing more about the plans for our 20th reunion within the next few months from the reunion committee headed by Prexy Bob Smith.

40 MRS. JAMES A. MILLER
(Mary McCrina)
1492 Colfax Ave.
Benton Harbor, Mich.

Now I know what is meant by "drawing a blank." That's what the sheet from the Alumni Office containing "news (if any)" was this time. So the day of the dark revenge I've been plotting is at hand: I'll talk about news chez Miller.

Starting second semester the battle of the eighth grade (Fairplain Division) resumes, and I will be in charge of the charges in certain literature and spelling units, with one skirmish a day in arithmetic.

No longer will I be able to hedge: "I'm not a teacher—I'm a substitute." It occurred to me I might as well be having a substitute at my convenience, when indisposed, instead of substituting at my inconvenience.

Your correspondent roved to MacMurray College, Jacksonville, Ill., the weekend of December 12-13. Occasion: a symposium at which Jim was a member of a panel discussion on the teaching of philosophy in high school.

41 MRS. WILLIAM F. HASSELBERGER
(Jean P. Steele)
605 Scott Ave.
Syracuse 3, N. Y.

Mr. and Mrs. William Dippert (Inza McNabb) moved to 2135 Henley St., Glenview, Ill. Inza's husband is district sales manager for Brown and Bigelow.

Sorry to be so late putting this in, Inza, but Bill and I have been down in Nassau sunning ourselves—and I can't get organized since we've been back in "freezing" Syracuse, N. Y.

Also, had a nice note from Peggy Raine Preston. She and her family can be reached at 237 N. Court St., Lewisburg, W. Va.

Mrs. Joseph E. Colahan (Gladys Chudomelka) wrote to announce the birth of a son, Michael Joseph—weighing in at 12 lb. 5 oz.—he should be a good prospect for the football team at B. U. in '77. Gladys and Joe have two daughters, Laurie, 3; and Christie, 2. They all reside at 25 Meadow Lark Rd., Stratford, N. J. Congratulations!!!

42 MRS. THOMAS R. DIETZ
(Germaine B. Pepperman)
83 Nutt Rd.
Phoenixville, Pa.

Christmas comes but once a year but when it comes, it does bring some news, thank heavens! Margie Osborne Henry (Mrs. Chris J.) writes in her every six-months' letter from Royal Oak, Mich., that she had heard that Ruthie Braden McNamee had moved to 694 Chesterfield Rd., Birmingham, Mich., just about three miles from Oz. Oz and Chris have four youngsters and she is now a Girl Scout leader. Welcome to the club. Their life sounds as hectic as the life of everyone else I know.

Incidentally, your reporter hasn't gotten around to writing that book, yet (started, but dropped by the wayside) but I do have a new career—giving book reviews and readings to various organizations over the county. The family thinks it's a riot—"imagine anyone paying to listen to Mother talk when we have to listen all the time for nothing!" It's been lots of fun and is sort of snowballing.

Bunny Herrmann Newcomb's note was full of pride as she reported that they are now residents of that fast growing Bucknell alumni center of Basking Ridge, N. J., and she added that Dr. Bond's heart would have burst with pride had he seen Herb Heany and Sylvia Cliffe ('45) Williamson deliver two-thirds of the sermon on Layman's Sunday at their church this fall. Herb also handled the buying of their new home for them, so I would say that he is doing his bit to build up a wee corner of Bucknell in Jersey! Of course, Bunny, herself, is still holding down her usual seat in the choir, as well she should with her beautiful voice.

I've said it before, but I'll say it again. Unless some of you who don't normally write to me, do send me your news, this column will be always about the same people and we're interested in all of you, so let's get the pens busy!

43 MISS CAROLYN F. DONEHOWER
3722 Chestnut St.
Philadelphia 4, Pa.

Catherine Bunnell and Thomas McMahon

Catherine M. Bunnell is pictured above as she presented the annual Kappa Delta check to the president of the Multiple Sclerosis Service Organization of New Jersey. In addition to her business career with the Prudential Insurance Company in Newark, N. J., Catherine is active in philanthropic, organizational, civic and church work in her community and is leader of an active Girl Scout troop.

Capt. and Mrs. Frederick P. Kayser (Marion Joy Bonn) are leaving Lewisburg to spend two years in Germany.

Marion writes that her husband is in the Armed Services in an engineering battalion.

44 MRS. ROBERT F. BAKER
(Honey Rhinesmith)
Lindys Lake, R. D.
Butler, N. J.

REUNE IN JUNE

The happy memories revived by Christmas messages have made us more anxious than ever to get started for Lewisburg for our 15th Reunion, June 5, 6, and 7. Do hope most of you had the same reaction and we can establish an attendance record for a 15-year reunion. Please, please think of all the people you'll meet again, the wonderful times to relive. Try to come back!

Carl and Burda Murphy Fink had their second son, Paul, September 10, 1958, and the Ed Brennemans (Jeanne Beeler) welcomed a fourth daughter, Mila Jeanne, October 27, 1958.

New addresses: Lita and Haig Kantarian, 278 Crabapple Rd., Manhasset, N. Y.; Dick and Ann Fetterman Gutekunst, 113-A New York Ave., Forrestal Village, North Chicago, Ill.

45 MRS. BURR WILLIAMSON
(Sylvia E. Cliffe)
37 Rankin Ave.
Basking Ridge, N. J.

Dan Roop's promotions come along almost too rapidly for us to keep up with their proper announcement. Anyway, since our latest report which appeared in the January, 1959, issue (page 27) he has become a consulting engineer for Hospital Design and Engineering Management, operating his new business from 1445 East Crestwood Dr., Memphis 17, Tenn. If you need help in hospital design and engineering, better get in touch with Dan.

46 MRS. LELAND C. EWING
(Elizabeth J. Wells)
51 Clunie Ave.
Hastings-on-Hudson, N. Y.

The "Mike" Reifsnidys (Betty Wynn) spent a mid-January holiday in New York City and delighted us by stopping in for a visit. They testify to the 30 minute travel time from downtown to our door—so others please do follow their example!

William D. Davis is assistant controller of Potter Instrument Co., Inc., in Plainview, N. Y. Bill, wife Jane, and daughters Kimberly, 5; Jamie, 4; and Leslee Lyn (born December 10, 1958) live at 17 Eastgate Rd., Massapequa, N. Y.

The Dick Sylvesters (Betty Hadfield) and sons Peter, Davey, and Dickie of Ticonderoga, N. Y., are busy in community affairs. In January Betty was installed as Associate Matron of the Eastern Star, is learning to hook rugs, and is taking a commercial art course.

The Eugene Hill family (Pat Whittam) not only moved into their own home at 35233 Gary Dr., Farmington, Mich., but shortly thereafter, on November 19, 1958, welcomed a second son, Matthew James.

A son, Bobby, was born on December 30, 1957, to Mr. and Mrs. R. F. Grenhart (Catherine Casselman), 1220 Chesterfield Rd., Haddonfield, N. J.

The Curtis Atherton family (Eloise Oram) has returned to Hopewell Junction, R. D. No. 3, N. Y.

Christmas greetings from the Ernest L. Staley family (Rita Clemens) of 36 W. Washington Ave., Murray 7, Utah, carried a picture of their three lovely children. Baby Margaret Helen joined brother Lee, 8; and Kitty, 4½; on November 12, 1958. Rita writes of a vacation in Southern California, and visits to old friends, Disneyland, and Marineland. She plans to return to the classroom, in her chosen profession, saying that a double existence as wife-mother and teacher makes her happiest. We bet the school board is happy to have her back, too!

47 ROGER S. HADDON, Esq.
243 Water St.
Northumberland, Pa.

Virginia E. Ahlstrom and Dr. Antoine G. Hani were married in November. Dr. Hani, who specializes in psychiatry, is practicing in Washington, D. C., and the couple will reside in Bethesda, Md.

Samuel D. Lenox, Jr., Esq. and Patricia A. Eklings were married December 6, 1958. Sam is a member of the law firm of Lenox, Giordano and Lenox of Trenton, N. J. The couple will reside at 419 West State St., Trenton, N. J.

48 MRS. JAMES A. BROWN
(Joann G. Golightly)
954 Caldwell Ave.
Union, N. J.

Stanley E. Brush and his family have returned to West Pakistan after a year's furlough in the States. He is a teacher of religion and history at Foreman Christian College in Lahore, West Pakistan.

William H. Hansen, of 55 Meadows St., Pearl River, N. Y., has been promoted to assistant secretary of the Northern Assurance Co., Ltd. His wife, Dorothy Clark Hansen is very pleased—we are too, Bill.

Nancy Leigh Davis arrived October 20, 1958. Her parents are Florence (Kandy) Kreidler Davis and William Davis. She joins brothers John and Bruce and sister Wendy. That's quite a family, Kandy.

A newsy letter arrived from Jean Featherly Byrne. After receiving her master's degree in education at New York University, Feather taught school in West Orange, N. J., for 3½ years. In 1953 she married Brendan J. Byrne and they are living at 18 Dogwood Rd., West Orange, N. J. Their proud family are Brendan, Jr., 4½; Susan, 3; and Nancy, 14 months. Her husband has been Governor Robert B. Meyner's executive secretary for the past three years. So nice to hear from you, Feather.

49 MRS. THOMAS A. FRAZIER
(Marilyn L. Harer)
1344 Mansel Ave.
Williamsport, Pa.

REUNE IN JUNE

Your response with the ALUMNUS information was wonderful. Many, many of you sent information which we'll publish as soon as possible. Those who wrote that they intend to make the reunion are: Doris Wilde Thomas, Teddy Monaco Semlear, Harry Birchard, Marion Merrill Long, George Wilson, Betsy Abert Perry, Robert C. Sprout, Marge (Darnell) and Joe Evans, Mary Ross Pflum, Bette (McBride) and Will Boyer, Shirley (Shumberger) and Howard Beiseigel, Bill Davenport, Emily Hill Sharrett, Bob Abbott, Alice (Richter) Weidenbacher, Jean Marie Grove Zimmerman, Barbara Jones Purnell, Rae (Schultz) and Ned Glover, Lynn Harer Frazier, Mary Ann Eddinger Thompson and Carole Jackson Maudlin.

Lt. James A. Bortner, Naval engineer with the U. S. Navy, is serving as electrical officer of the USS Lake Champlain. He is married to the former Caroline Swaim and has two children—Caroline Tiffany and James Bradley. His service address is USS Lake Champlain, CVS-39, c/o FPO, New York, N. Y., but his preferred mailing address is P. O. Box 252, Jacksonville Beach, Fla.

Bill Wilkinson '46 has been honored with membership in the Young Presidents Organization in recognition of his service as president, since 1957, of Natural Gas Odorizing, Inc., of Houston, Texas. The Young Presidents Organization is a national organization of men under 40 years of age, who have been holding the office of president in a corporation doing more than a million dollar business volume per year. Bill has made great strides in his young career, having started as a financial analyst for Payson and Trask, New York in 1948.

Bill, the son of Bucknell parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. Norman Wilkinson '09 (Katherine MacCart '06) entered Bucknell with the Class of 1944 but took time out for World War II service from 1942 to 1945 as a navigator on B-24 Liberators, winning for himself the distinguished flying cross and the air medal and two oak leaf clusters. Graduating from Bucknell in 1946, cum laude and Phi Beta Kappa, he proceeded to Harvard Business School, receiving the MBA degree in 1948. Since moving to Houston in 1957, he and his wife, the former Marion J. (Polly) Weist '43, and three future Bucknell coeds have become active in community affairs. Bill also serves as a member of the Board of Directors of Natural Gas Odorizing, Inc. and Cue Fastener, Inc.

Always a vigorous supporter of the Bucknell Alumni program, Bill was one of the founders and past presidents of both the Westchester and Long Island Clubs, active in the Alumni Fund program and a member of the Bison Club of Bucknell. Since his election to the Board of Directors of The General Alumni Association in 1956, Bill has missed only one of the semi-annual meetings of the Board. Bill's present slogan is: "Bucknell's big enough for an alumni club in Texas—is Texas big enough for a Bucknell Alumni Club?"

Otto L. Sonder, Jr. has been appointed assistant professor of sociology at Lycoming College. He is also working toward his doctorate degree at Pennsylvania State University.

Evan H. Boden is an advanced applications engineer with Sylvania Electric Products Co., Inc., at Emporium. He is married to the former Anne Pauling and has three children, Barbara, 13; Gary, 8; and Eugene, 2.

Thomas J. Carr is an assistant department head at the Arma Corporation. He and his wife (Marie E. Goldsborough) have three sons, Thomas, Jr., 7; Richard, 4, and Robert 2.

M. Lloyd Davies has been promoted to results supervisor at the Staunton Steam Electric Station of the Pennsylvania Power & Light Co. He is married to the former Kathryn H. Phillips and lives at 625 Westmoreland Ave., Kingston.

Since April, 1956, William H. Webb, has been on the Internal Audit Staff of Chrysler Motors Corp. in Detroit. With the help of his four-year-old son Ricky and wife Jean, he is getting settled in a recently purchased ranch style house at 19613 Salisbury, St. Clair Shores, Mich.

Dr. James F. Orndorf has settled in general practice of medicine in Ulysses. He is married to the former June Brass and has three children, Lynn, 7; Jimmy, 6; and Timmy, 4. They are located on Grove St., in Ulysses.

Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Kline (Betty J. Oesterle) are living in their new home on Laguna Drive, Simi, Calif. Len is working as liaison engineer for Marquardt Aircraft Company, builder of ramjet engines.

Rev. Earl K. Dyer, Jr. accepted a call to serve the Bethel Baptist Church, Camden, N. J., effective June 1. He is married to the former Phyllis Jones of Williamsport and is the father of one son, David, who is 10 years old.

51 MRS. HAROLD P. NORRIS
(Rebecca J. Rogers)
6 Griffith St.
Montrose, Pa.

I was delighted to receive so many Christmas cards and notes from Bucknellians.

Johanne Armstrong Roddenberry writes that she, Paul, and daughter Linda have moved into a larger split-level house located at 32 Miami Rd., Norristown.

Pat Wiley Parsons writes in typically Pat-esque fashion that she is not working anywhere for pay, but everywhere for free!

Many thanks to Lee Cohn Kissman for her newsy letter about '51ers. She reports that Margie Davidson Fleischer welcomed her third child, Charles Andrew, on November 2, 1958. Lee also saw Ruth Block Harris on a television quiz program. And now I quote Lee: "The other TV star was David Kahn... He was on an Armstrong Circle Theater re-enactment of a poltergeist phenomenon in Long Island. He had been the reporter covering the story for a Long Island newspaper." Lee also reports entertaining Shelley Caine Frisch and her husband at dinner.

Franci Wilkins Brown's original Christmas card noted in a postscript that since May the Browns' hall tree has been decorated with a bonnet belonging to daughter Mollie.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Kelly (Cecile Constans) sent their Christmas cards early because Cecile and the children—Michael and Marc Stephen, who was born in September of 1958—were getting ready to leave for Paris. Frank planned to join his family there for the Christmas holiday and then fly back on January 4. Cecile says, "I have not set a definite date for my return trip, but hope it will be before March..."

We also had a card from Jean Bentz Burnham. No note—but apparently the Burnhams are still living in Watertown, Conn.

Ann Purpuri '52 writes that she has finished graduate school and that her father died in March, 1958. Both congratulations and condolences, Ann. Ann's address is 1309 N. Pennsylvania St., No. 11, Indianapolis 2, Ind.

52 MRS. JOHN S. BOULDEN, JR.
(Barbara Bleecker)
1605 Twin Maple Ave.
Towson 4, Md.

Finally! We have no backlog of news for the first time since I've been the '52 scribe. So—how about sending an avalanche of information my way?

News from Maryland: Glen and Bonnie (Mackie '54) Aspinwall write from 2100 Hannon St., Hyattsville, that Gary Robert joined the family on November 23. Chip (3½) and Linda (2) complete the Aspinwall "full house." A recent headline in the Baltimore Evening Sun stated "Young Named City Grid Coach." Next fall, City College, one of Baltimore's largest high schools, will have George Young as head grid mentor. For the past five years, George has coached the varsity team at Calvert Hall, his Baltimore high school alma mater. While I was Christmas shopping, I ran into Wanda Sullivan Schloeder. She and Nick live at 1566 Waverly Way, Baltimore, Md. Wanda is teaching at the Rogers Forge Elementary School in Towson while Nick teaches and coaches at Gilman School.

We received a beautiful English Christmas card from Lt. Frank Stefano. A Navy career man, Frank's address is 28 Groom Place, London, S. W. 1, England.

Bill and Ruth Castner Ruseling write that they have become very happy Connecticut Yankees in their new home—Box 34, Windsor St., Buckland, Conn.

Talk about your dream vacations—Marty and Nancy Holter Kwasnoi are beating all! (Altho' Standard Oil will probably expect a little work from Marty along the way). They and son Jeff sailed on the Liberte in December for a nine-month stay in Europe. Their present address is 140 Rue Frere, Bordeaux, France.

53 MRS. JAMES A. CHAMBERS, JR.
(Barbara Roemer)
58 Linden Ave.
Verona, N. J.

Brad Myers and Judy Minkin of Hollywood, Calif., were married September 16, in Reno, Nev. Brad is still in pro football and scored two TD's for the Eagles in an exhibition game against the San Francisco '49ers in September.

K. Frederick Mauger has been elected principal of the Milton Area Junior High School to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Harold L. Hoy '32. He is chief Burgess of Milton and a Lieutenant-Colonel in the Pennsylvania National Guard. He is also working on the Doctorate Program of Penn State University. Fred is married to the former Mary Ann Shimer '50, and has two children, Karen and Frederick.

Dr. David C. Weibel has successfully completed the examinations for a medical doctor licensure in Pennsylvania and is serving as surgical resident at the Harrisburg Hospital in that city. He and his wife (Jo Ann Grittner '56) are living at 2921 Heather Place, Harrisburg.

Norman A. Freytag and Doris M. Knopf were married on December 27, 1958. Norm is a welding engineer with Budd Co. and the Freytag address is 1635 Woodbrook Lane, Philadelphia 50.

54 MRS. PAUL C. TARR, III
(Anne E. Tuckerman)
20-A East Front St.
Media, Pa.

REUNE IN JUNE

Don't forget! Time: June 5, 6, and 7. Place: Bucknell University. Reason: the best reunion ever! Line up your baby sitters now. Jo Anthony Schofield, our reunion chairman, has big plans in the

Alumni Trustee Timetable

March 2—Election announcement in THE BUCKNELL ALUMNUS.

April 1—Ballots in mail.

May 15—Deadline for receiving ballots in Alumni Office.

June Commencement—Certification to Board of Trustees.

making. Vi Rahner Holden and hubby Frank are co-editors of our reunion book. They'll be getting in touch with you soon.

Philip M. Roth continues to receive acclaim in his writing career. After earning his master's degree at the University of Chicago, he continued there as an instructor in English until last fall when he became a full time writer. Phil was awarded the Aga Kahn Prize for the best short story of 1958 and has had recent stories published in the Paris Review and Esquire Magazine. In the spring of 1959, Houghton Mifflin Company will publish his long novella, Goodbye, Columbus.

Robert A. Houck and Patricia A. Baldino were married November 22, 1958, and are residing at Mechanicsburg.

BIRTHS: Son, David Allen, born October 16, 1958, to Mr. and Mrs. N. Jack Clark of 1153 Parkview Ave., Chicago Heights, Ill. Son, William Jerald, born August 27, 1958, to Mr. and Mrs. Jerry W. Asher, Jr. (Sara J. Anderson). Son, John Edward, born September 23, 1958, to Mr. and Mrs. James E. Schierloh (Ann Appleton). Daughter, Catherine, born August 29, 1958, to Mr. and Mrs. William F. Gray.

Karen Sue Crossley

Recently, I received a most unique announcement of the birth of Karen Sue, first child of Ray D. Crossley, II. Ray is serving a hospital pharmacy internship at the Public Health Service Hospital in San Francisco, Calif.

Dr. Lee R. Walters has been assigned to the organic section staff of Atlas Powder Company's chemical research department.

55 MRS. JOHN C. VANCE, JR.
(Jane Jones)
1013 Clinton St.
Philadelphia, Pa.

Quoting from a letter from James Davison, "In August of '57 I was released from the service and October, '57, found me in the management training program of the American Stores Co. in Philadelphia (Acme Super Markets). This fall I was chosen by the company to come to Michigan State University under a scholarship given by the Reynolds Metals Company. I am enrolled in the food distribution course taking work toward a master's degree. M. S. U. and Cornell are the only universities offering such a program for four-year students as well as a "Special" one-year program and a graduate course for super-market representatives and manufacturers' representatives. It has been a wonderful opportunity and we are certainly enjoying it out here despite the cold weather and a most unfortunate football season." Jim and Gretchen (Hendricks '54) are living at 1535-A Spartan Village, M. S. U., East Lansing, Mich.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles F. Felton, Jr. (Anne E. Kostenbader '54) of 1002 North Monroe St., Titusville, have a son Barry Charles who was born September 10, 1958.

Stephen A. Goldsmith and Mary Ludlow were married November 21, 1958. Steve is a law student at New York University.

Margaret A. Murnane and Anthony A. Cortese '55 were married November 29, 1958. Tony is vice president of Electronic Glass Processing Co., Inc., of Garwood, N. J. The new address of the couple is 701 Orange Ave., Cranford, N. J.

Norine McMann was married to Thomas P. Weaver on December 27, 1958.

Mr. and Mrs. Oscar J. Dickerman (Ann Rothmel) of 543 West 17th Place, Tempe, Ariz., announced the birth of a son David Oscar, September 24.

Nancy L. George and J. Robert Arthur, Jr. were married June 7, 1958, and are now residing at 118 Eastgay Drive, Akron 13, Ohio.

Marianne Shutack graduated from Dickinson Law School in June. During September she married John Lavelle, and now they are living in the Chetwynd Apts., Apt. 109, Rosemont, while they are studying for their law exams.

Betty Kraber was married December 21 to Frederick Kopf in New York City. They are living at 33 W. 81st St., New York 24, N. Y.

Carol Sarver '56 and Dave Basch are living in Laurel, Md., 703 Montrose Ave. Carol is teaching in an elementary school, while Dave is in the Army.

56 MRS. WILLIAM J. O'NEIL
(Jean Wirths)
1706 Esplanade, Apt. C
Redondo Beach, Calif.

Word comes from LaRue Snyder Scheirer, that she and husband Francis are now doing graduate work at New College, the seminary division of the University of Edinburgh, Scotland. The Scheirers will travel via Volkswagon through Europe and the Mid-East come May. LaRue asks that Bucknellians traveling in the area contact her at "Norwood," Canaan Lane, Edinburgh 10, Scotland.

Ginny McCully Straub, husband Pete, and son Bruce are now at Cherry Point, N. C., where Pete is stationed with the Marines. Their address is 70 Rowell Circle, Havelock, N. C.

BIRTHS: Son, John Conant, born October 12, to Ed and Nancy Beasten Speer. Daughter, Linda Lee, born December 11, to Marty and Barbara Bauer Tanner. Daughter, Carol Lennon, born January 1, to Ed and Anne Smith Janes.

John R. Miller tied the national match record in winning the fifty-yard metallic sight match at the National Smallbore Rifle Matches held at Camp Perry, Ohio, in August. His score was 400-38X. Coached by his father, Prof. John B. Miller '26, John competed against over 600 marksmen in the United States. He won a place on the international team which fired the famous International Dewar match against England, Canada, Australia, South Africa and Ceylon, winning second place in those matches. He is employed by Owens-Corning Fiberglas Company as a cost analyst. The Millers have three children and live at R. F. D. 3, Newark, Ohio.

Weddings: Deborah Ann White to Arthur J. Andersen, November 29; Roger L. Schwartz to Wendy LeVine, December 27; Samuel Faiello to Carmel J. Antonio, November 27, and Janet Gershman to Wallace Babbitt.

58 MISS FAITH P. BONSALE
Woodward Rd.
Wallingford, Pa.

REUNE IN JUNE

Remember to make your plans NOW for our first reunion the week-end of June 5-7. The reunion committee is hard at work planning for a bang-up week-end. If you have not already done so, please mail your questionnaire to Claire Halline at your early convenience. See you at the reunion on June 5, 6 and 7.

Mr. and Mrs. William D. Bandes, Jr. have a native Californian in the family with the birth of a son, Robert, on September 15, 1958. Bill is an instructor in the math department at California State Polytechnic College. The family home is at 193 Del Norte Way, San Luis Obispo, Calif.

Stephanie Sands, who left us after two years to complete her work at Adelphi College, is now enrolled at New York University Graduate School of Arts and Sciences, working for her master's degree in American History. She is also employed as a Media Research Analyst for the American Newspaper Publishers Association.

Jane Eccles is a United Air Lines stewardess flying out of LaGuardia Airport. She is living at 34 Gramercy Park, New York 3, N. Y.

Nelson Smith is attending the Theological School at Drew University, Madison, N. J.

John Krupka (Duke) and his wife Betty Shrenk Krupka '59 live in Red Lion. John is a senior high school mathematics instructor there.

MARRIAGES: Nancy A. vonGlahn to Robert S. Biglow, Jr., December 26. Nan is a retired United Air Lines stewardess and Bob is an Ensign in the U. S. Navy, undergoing primary flight training at Saufley Field, near Pensacola, Fla.; Laurence J. Sheehan to Beverly Jane Faust, September 6; Money Reynolds to Michael G. Miller, December 26; Joan Carberry to Howard Sipler '57, December 20; Ann Benjamin to Myron Baker, June 21.

Births: Mr. and Mrs. Norm Voorhees (Jo Hopkins) are the proud parents of a daughter, Diana Lynne, born November 20 in Williamsburg, Va. Not to be outdone by anyone, Mr. and Mrs. James Davis (Judy Geiwitz) had an 8 lb., 14 oz. son on October 10—Jeff Cory Davis. Mr. and Mrs. Wallace (Pete) Hunter (Mary Thurn) had an early Christmas present in the form of a daughter, Susan Jean, born December 4. Almost a year old now is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence H. Curry (Shirley Parker), Jennifer Lynn. Mr. and Mrs. John G. Hancock had a son, Stephen John, on September 26 in Berwick.

Howard Toepfer is spending some time in Johannesburg, South Africa. He writes, "the climate is great and so are the girls. The only lions I've seen about town are in the zoo."

Ensign Robert S. Biglow has been assigned to Saufley Field Naval Auxiliary Air Station undergoing primary flight training.

OUT OF THE ROCKWELL MAILBAG

BY

VERA COBER ROCKWELL, 1911

(continued from January issue)

So deeply did John Mohr's '33 unique biographical account impress us that we decided to imitate it. Next year we sent out our first Rockwellian, as we came to call it. And as we followed that with annual copies, it did something for us quite undreamed of at first. Imitation of this came from Olive Richards Landers '08, far removed by time and distance. Olive had seen the letter we sent Peg Weddell Brandon '16, and wouldn't we please put her on our "subscription list"? It was typical of growing response by many old friends and acquaintances from whom we had long been separated. Regular correspondence had been impossible, but a letter a year could bridge the gap of space and time. When we had parted years ago, we had not known where they were going. Now we were finding out and as they began to exchange their news for ours, we had the pleasure of following them from year to year.

Christmas, 1957, we sent out Volume Nine. As replies came in from widely scattered friends at home and abroad, we were struck by the way in which they reflected response to problems uppermost in our world today. Experiences, word pictures, ideas, thought-provoking and informative, were, above all, timely. These came not only from Bucknellians, but from friends and classmates at other colleges Leo and I have known: Denison, where in my freshman year I began life-long friendships; the University of Michigan where we spent some years working with dictionaries and Latin American students; and of course, Colgate from which Leo recently retired. News from all these sources would make a bulky volume, indeed, so I'll stick mostly to Bucknellians.

EDITOR'S NOTE: This column, the second of a series, will be continued in future issues of THE BUCKNELL ALUMNUS.

IN MEMORIAM

The following deaths have been reported to the Alumni Office since November, 1958. The University extends sympathy to the surviving relatives.

- 1888—Mr. Arthur W. Hazel (Acad.), July 15, 1958
- 1894—Mr. H. Burns Smith (Acad.), November, 1958
- 1901—Miss Lola Burchinal, December 28, 1958
- 1905—Mr. Hayden P. Prout, November 29, 1958
- 1908—Mr. Clarence E. Long, December 12, 1958
- 1911—Mr. J. Leslie Crowell
Mr. Edgar A. Snyder, January 18, 1959
- 1913—Mr. Carlton B. Hooker, January 31, 1959
- 1915—Mrs. William R. Burchfield (Mary E. Oecker), January 8, 1959
- 1919—Mr. Charles W. Mitchell, January 3, 1959
- 1920—Mr. J. Lester Houser, December, 1958
- 1923—Mr. Luther F. Miller, January 20, 1959
- 1924—Mr. Harry F. Royce
- 1925—Mr. Charles H. Drum
Mr. Abram J. S. Gaskill, January 31, 1959
Miss Mary A. Porter, January 13, 1959
- 1949—Mr. Chester J. Harwood
- 1951—Mr. Merrill W. Troutman, October 31, 1958

ALUMNI WEEKEND

Featuring

THE NEW UNIVERSITY THEATRE

JUNE
5 - 6 - 7th
1959

THE Bucknell ALUMNUS

MAY 1959

THE COLLEGE TEACHER: 1959

in the Dual Development Fund Campaign — See page 11

THE Bucknell ALUMNUS

OFFICERS OF THE ASSOCIATION

President

Charles F. Fox, Jr., M.D. '31

First Vice President

Robert W. Dill '27

Second Vice President

Mrs. Clyde P. Bailey (Dorothy Lemon '29)

Treasurer

Donald B. Young '33

Secretary and Editor

John H. Shott '22

Assistant Secretary and Assistant Editor

C. Bruce Rossiter '56

BOARD OF DIRECTORS

CHARLES T. FARROW '26, P. O. Box 29, Westfield, N. J. (1959)

ALLEN F. JONES '25, 2 Linn St., Progress, Harrisburg, Pa. (1959)

WILLIAM M. WILKINSON '46, 436 Oak Lane, Houston 24, Tex. (1959)

MRS. CHARLES E. COPELAND (Amorita Sesinger '22), 10 Ridgedale Ave., Madison, N. J. (1960)

DONALD W. GLOVER '41, Mullica Hill, N. J. (1960)

THOMAS W. SPECK '37, 708 Russell Pl., Plainfield, N. J. (1960)

ROBERT W. DILL '27, 5136 Butler Pike, Plymouth Meeting, Pa. (1961)

WILLIAM D. GOLIGHTLY, '25, 309 W. Webster Ave., Scranton, Pa. (1961)

MRS. PAUL M. SHOWALTER (S. Katharine Graham '33), 855 St. Louis St., Lewisburg, Pa. (1961)

MRS. CLYDE P. BAILEY (Dorothy Lemon '29), 16 Cburchill Road, Pittsburgh 35, Pa. (1962)

CHARLES F. FOX, JR., M.D. '31, 180 Washington Ave., Vandergrift, Pa. (1962)

WILMER D. GREULICH '34, 715 Greythorne Rd., Wynnewood, Pa. (1962)

EUGENE P. BERTIN '17, 210 S. Main St., Muncy, Pa. (1963)

ELINOR CHILDS '52, 74 Mt. Kemble Ave., Morristown, N. J. (1963)

ROBERT H. TAYLOR '48, 214 Avon Rd., Narberth, Pa. (1963)

() Year Term Expires.

Alumni Headquarters—GROUND FLOOR, EAST COLLEGE
Member—AMERICAN ALUMNI COUNCIL

ON THE COVER—Symbols on the cover identify Bucknell University as a college of the arts and sciences. Students portraying these areas of study are William D. Dearstyne, Jr., a freshman liberal arts student from Albany, N. Y., and Barbara A. Barbarin, a junior bio-chemistry major from Pompton Lakes, N. J.

The back cover lists the highlights of the Alumni Week End. Plan NOW to return to the campus on June 5-8. Send your reservation coupon TODAY.

VOLUME XLIII

MAY 1959

No. 5

IN THIS ISSUE

Alumni	Page
Barbara A. Barbarin '60	cover, 29
Flora M. Clymer '93	9
William Danforth '50	37
William D. Dearstyne '62	cover, 29
Charles T. Farrow '26	3
Frederick V. Follmer '06, H'56	11
Irvin Graybill, Jr. '49	3
Berkeley V. Hastings '13	11
W. Dale Hay '49	3
Peggy M. Hazard '52	39
Allan F. Jones '25	3
Warren R. Lewis '42	3
D. Eugene Long '28	3
George V. McGee '38	11
Thomas J. Mangan '21	11
Carl L. Millward '06, H'31	11
Charles F. Potter '07	9
Andrew R. E. Wyant '92	10
Alumni Trustee Timetable	39
Alumni Week End Reservation Coupon	Back cover
An Extraordinary Ministry by Rev. Edwin W. Rumsey '06	9
Announcing—The Life Income Plan	30
Bookshelf	9
Bucknell Dual Development Fund	11, 12, 29, 30
Class Reports	10, 31-38
Class Reunions	3, 8
Clubs	4, 39
Fun For Everyone	3, 8
Fund Gifts Received	6, 9
In Explanation	30
In Memoriam	38
Out of the Rockwell Mailbag	38, 39
Sports	5, 8
Students Recognize Gap in Financing	29
The College Teacher: 1959	13-28
The Student View	7

THE BUCKNELL ALUMNUS is published in January, March, May, September, and November by BUCKNELL UNIVERSITY. Entered as second-class matter December 30, 1930 at the post office at Lewisburg, Pa., under the Act of August 24, 1912.

MAY 1959

Spring descends on the Bucknell campus as the dogwood blooms in the Quad. Can class reunions be far away?

Alumni Week End
June 5, 6, 7, and 8 is designed to provide

FUN FOR EVERYONE

IF YOU haven't decided to come back to Bucknell over the week end of June 5, 6, 7, and 8, don't delay another day. Mark your calendar now! This year's program has been planned with you in mind. Much of the reunion planning has been undertaken by the individual classes and their reunion committees to assure you of a program that will meet your wishes.

Read the following detailed story of this great Bucknell week end and then fill in the reservation form on the back cover and mail it to the Alumni Office, Bucknell University, Lewisburg. Remember week end sleeping accommodations will be available in the dormitories for those who make their reservations early.

Many reunion celebrants will arrive early Friday to enjoy class reunion dinners on that evening. Altogether thirteen enterprising and fun loving Bucknell classes will be holding regular five year reunions. They include: the Emeritus Club, the Classes of 1904, 1909 (Golden Anniversary), 1914, 1919, 1924, 1929, 1934 (Silver Anniversary), 1939, 1944, 1949, 1954 and the first reunion of the Class of 1958. The Class of 1959, youngest alumni group, will also share in the reunion celebration.

Whatever your class, the week end provides festivities for all alumni of all classes. The growing number of perennials who come back every year will find many interesting and enjoyable programs.

FRIDAY, JUNE 6

If you arrive Friday, you will want to relax from your trip with a refreshing swim in the Freas-Rooke Swimming Pool. The pool will be open to everyone from 8:00 to 10:00 P. M. Remember to bring along your cotton bathing togs. Wool suits will not be permitted. Following your swim you will find your friends at The Bison next to the old Sigma Chi House, now Seventh Street House. An old-fashioned bull-session over a cup of coffee will be the order of the day from 9:00 P. M. to 12:00 midnight.

SATURDAY, JUNE 7

Festivities get under way early Saturday morning with a Bison Club breakfast (open to all alumni and guests) at 8:00 A. M. at the Lewisburg Club or the Phi Beta Kappa Breakfast (open to those eligible) at St. Andrews Episcopal Church at 8:30 A. M.

Following breakfast at 9:30 A. M., the delegates to the Annual Alumni Assembly of The General Alumni Association will meet in the new, air-conditioned, University Theatre in Coleman Hall. Delegates to this assembly will be afforded an opportunity to share in the growth of the association by voting for three alumni to be elected to the Board of Directors of The General Alumni Association. The nominees who have agreed to be candidates include the following:

MR. CHARLES T. FARROW '26, Westfield, N. J.
MR. ALLAN F. JONES '25, Harrisburg, Pa.
MR. D. EUGENE LONG '28, West Hempstead, N. Y.
MR. W. DALE HAY '49, Alexandria, Va.
MR. IRVIN GRAYBILL, JR. '49, Middleburg, Pa.
MR. WARREN R. LEWIS '42, Rochester, N. Y.

Additional nominations can be made through the presidents of alumni clubs and from the floor by any delegate attending the Annual Assembly.

The special feature of the morning program will be the class reunion meetings at 10:30 A. M., when class business and the election of officers will be held. Also, the class picture will be taken and the class reunion books

(Continued on Page 8)

CLUBS

HERE, THERE, AND EVERYWHERE

EDITOR'S NOTE: During the months of January, February, March, and April, Bucknellians from St. Petersburg to Boston and from Chicago to New York supported their local alumni clubs. Over 40 meetings were held with over 1000 in attendance.

Unfortunately, limited space in this particular issue does not allow us to publish the many excellent reports of these meetings. The following is a brief review of the club meetings:

PHILADELPHIA January 7

Meeting: Bison Roundup
Speaker: JOHN H. SHOTT '22

HARRISBURG January 8

Meeting: Monthly Dinner
Speaker: MRS. WINIFRED M. KITCHEN, '55

PITTSBURGH January 17

Meeting: Bison Roundup
Speaker: DR. CHARLES F. FOX, JR. '31

Left to Right: Judge Howard Hogan '29, Toastmaster; William Liming '33, President; Leonard VonHeill '52, Dinner Chairman; and Robert Odell, Head Football Coach of Bucknell, discuss football prospects following the Bucknell Alumni Club of Long Island Birthday Party on February 6.

YORK January 31

Meeting: Birthday Dinner
Speaker: ROBERT H. ODELL

BALTIMORE January 31

Meeting: Birthday Dinner
Speaker: DR. HAROLD W. MILLER

UNION COUNTY-MILTON February 4

Meeting: Birthday Dinner
Speakers: JOHN F. ZELLER '41
JOHN H. SHOTT '22

HARRISBURG February 5

Meeting: Birthday Dinner
Speaker: DR. C. WILLARD SMITH

JOHNTOWN February 5

Meeting: Birthday Dinner
Speaker: FORREST D. BROWN

BRIDGEPORT February 5

Meeting: Birthday Dinner
Speaker: ROBERT H. ODELL

OCEAN-MONMOUTH February 5

Meeting: Birthday Dinner
Speakers: DR. MANNING A. SMITH
FITZ R. WALLING '46

ALTOONA February 6

Meeting: Birthday Dinner
Speaker: FORREST D. BROWN

This happy group of celebrants were addressed by Dr. Manning A. Smith, Professor of Chemistry, and Fitz R. Walling '46, Director of Admissions, as the Bucknell Alumni Club of Ocean-Monmouth celebrated Bucknell's 113th birthday on February 5.

LONG ISLAND February 6

Meeting: Birthday Dinner
Speaker: ROBERT H. ODELL

LEHIGH VALLEY February 6

Meeting: Birthday Dinner
Speaker: DR. MANNING A. SMITH

PHILADELPHIA February 6

Meeting: Birthday Dinner
Speakers: DR. H. L. SPENCER H'53
JOHN H. SHOTT '22
FITZ R. WALLING '46

READING February 7

Meeting: Bison Roundup
Speaker: JOHN H. SHOTT '22

ST. PETERSBURG February 7

Meeting: Birthday Dinner

BELLEFONTE February 7

Meeting: Birthday Dinner
Speaker: DR. MARK C. EBERSOLE

CHAMBERSBURG February 12

Meeting: Birthday Dinner
Speaker: DR. J. ORIN OLIPHANT

BUFFALO February 12

Meeting: Birthday Dinner
Speaker: ROBERT H. ODELL

(Continued on Page 39)

Left to Right: Theodore Heysham '25, Program Chairman; Fitz R. Walling '46, Director of Admissions; Dr. Herbert L. Spencer H'53, Guest Speaker and Member of the Board of Trustees; John H. Shott '22, Alumni Secretary; and P. Herbert Watson '37, President of the Bucknell Alumni Club of Philadelphia, rally under a Bucknell banner following the club's birthday party on February 6.

by ARLIE SCHARDT, Sports Information Director

WINTER SPORTS

The winter sports season saw Bucknell win 28 of 38 varsity contests, including records of 16-7 in basketball, 6-1 in wrestling, and 6-2 in swimming. The wrestlers finished fourth of 18 teams in the Middle Atlantic Conference championship meet, the swimmers were fifth of 15.

Hal Danzig was All East center for the second straight year, John Ayre won the M. A. C. 130 pound wrestling crown, and Bill Barrett became Bucknell's first M. A. C. swim champion by splashing home first in the 50 yard free style in 24.3 seconds.

Freshman sports were also bright. The frosh cagers won 10 of 13, and should provide several key men for Coach Ben Kribbs next winter. The frosh swimmers were undefeated and capped a brilliant season by winning three of the four freshman races in the M. A. C. finals and finishing second in the fourth event. They broke eight of ten school records and posted some of the fastest times in the East, varsity or otherwise. The wrestlers had a 1-2 mark, but have two or three promising men to help next year's varsity.

The basketball team was hit hard in the last five games by injuries and illness, costing them a chance for a post-season tourney. Hal Danzig, who set a career rebound record of 1134, suffered a broken finger on his left hand and was handicapped for the final five games. Jack Flanagan missed one full game and parts of others due to the flu, and Bob Ericsson was hindered by a recurrence of shin splints.

The whole team rose up for one final effort, though, to score a spectacular victory over Penn State, 74-69, in the last game for Danzig, Ericsson, Flanagan, and co-captain Ellis Harley. It was Bucknell's 48th win in 71 games over the last three seasons, and their fifth in the last six against Penn State. Kribbs has definitely made Bucknell a basketball "name," and next year looks good again.

Danzig was All East, All State, and All Conference center, and played in the North-South All Star game in Raleigh, N. C. Harley was All Carrousel, 2nd team M. A. C., and honorable mention All State, while Flanagan was honorable mention M. A. C.

The swimmers lose only three lettermen, the wrestlers but one. Bucknell may well be the surprise of the East in aquatics next year, as Bob Latour's freshmen come of age. Bill Wrabley's wrestlers are traditionally strong.

SPRING SPORTS

Four varsity sports plus spring football will give Bucknell sports fans a full schedule of activities for the spring of 1959. Prospects are brighter than last year on all fronts.

Coach Hal Evans, who starts his 30th year as golf pro and coach at Bucknell, is blessed with five returning lettermen in a sport that calls for six men to compete, so the Bisons could well return to the form which brought them Middle Atlantic Conference crowns in 1956 and 1957. Last year's linksmen posted a record of five wins and eight losses.

Lettermen coming back with a bag full of clubs in 1959 are Bill Curtiss, Jerry Lindholm, John McDonald, Dick Bartholomew, and George Harder. Promising newcomers include Bob Schad, Marlyn Etzweiler, and Steve Strobeck.

Coach Rod Oberlin launches a 19 game baseball card with eight lettermen back in the fold plus some promising youngsters. All indications point to a good possibility of a winning season this spring, a far cry from last year's 4-10 mark.

The key to the Bisons' chances, as seems to be universally the case in college baseball, will be the development of a pitching staff. If Tommy Thompson can improve his 3-2 record of 1958, while Frank Moore recovers from a bad shoulder, Bucknell could move up. Other possible hurlers include Tony Rinaldo, Dennis Runey, newcomer Harry Vizethann, and sophs Jim Morrison and Mike Kasnick, the latter showing considerable promise.

Other lettermen back include Dick Burnett at second base, Tony Consentino in center field, Dick Pitko in right field, Ron Staley at third base, and Stew Wrigley at first. Anchoring the infield is smooth short stop Ellis Harley.

Last year's Bisons had five hitters over .300 after a slow start. With a bit of pitching help, then, this could be a sound team, since Oberlin reports the Bisons have lots of speed and a good defense. Steve Flamhaft will replace rugged Larry Mathias at catcher because Mathias' duties as football captain mean he will spend the spring on the gridiron.

Coach Hank Peters' tennis team is another one with championship aspirations. Helping Peters' omnipresent grin is the fact that there is not one senior on the squad. To improve on last year's 9-7 overall record is one obvious goal, but the Bisons also want to win the undisputed M. A. C. Championship which they shared last year with Swarthmore.

Bill Sweet paces the list of returning netters, and should be number one all year. The next spot will be a scramble between veterans Bob Goecker, Henry Livas, Tom Cowen, and Frank Wiegand. Rick Glantz, Jim Hand, and Den Sweetman will round out the early traveling squad, but must battle newcomers like Andy McIver, Richie Wolfe, Frank Lineaweaver, and Paul Pearson, to stay there.

Coach Bus Blum's track teams have lost only two dual meets in the last two seasons, but lost several top performers by graduation. Blum will have to count heavily on his sophomores to keep his fine record intact.

The sprints look strong again with Dick Merrill, Charlie Apgar, and Clint Gilkey in the blocks. Lou Ireland should win his share of javelin events and Lew Hart the shot-put competition, while the middle distances find co-captain Roger Conners, Arnold Christensen, and John Manning as top hopefuls. Co-captain Bob Wright will need help in the hurdles and jumps, where the Bisons are thin, as they are in the distances, where Dave Lynch is the only returnee.

(Continued on Page 8)

2466 FUND GIFTS RECEIVED- NEEDED BY JUNE 30-2910 MORE

WITH LESS THAN TWO MONTHS before the end of the 1958-59 fund year (the fiscal year closes June 30), the Bucknell Alumni Annual-Giving Fund shows an increase over last year's figures. However, it is clear that many Bucknellians need a reminder to send in their annual gift now if the fund is to show the normal growth experienced in the past three years. As we go to press (April 21, 1959), total contributions stand at $40,500 from 2,949 contributors as compared with $36,200 from 2,721 contributors on the same date last year.

It is in the number of contributors that our pace of former years is not being met this year and the size of our task is indicated by the headline of this article—TO MEET OUR QUOTA OF NORMAL GROWTH 2,910 ADDITIONAL CONTRIBUTORS MUST BE FOUND.

OUR PAST SUCCESSES

In the relatively short space of ten years, the Alumni Annual-Giving Fund has been developed to the point where more than $50,000 annually is being turned over by former Bucknell students to the University for use in meeting the University's operating expenses. Without the fund, it would be impossible for the University to carry on many educational programs which characterize our Alma Mater as a great University. Each year since the Alumni Fund was established in 1948, the generosity of Bucknellians has marked each fund year with success. But the needs of the University grow apace. The challenge of the future for the University is no less urgent than that which affects many of our national institutions. Accordingly, we turn toward the 1958-59 Alumni-Giving Fund with a great measure of hope. On its success depends the support of vital parts of Bucknell's educational program. Every former student, whether a graduate or not, enjoyed the benefit of at least a part of his or her education at Bucknell through the generosity of past Bucknellians and it is believed that all former students will take a personal interest in the success of the 58-59 Annual-Giving Fund.

A REALISTIC QUOTA

The table of figures on this page show the class-by-class target for this year, indicating the number of contributions needed (last column) to achieve the goal established on the basis of growth of the fund during the past few years.

This breaking down of the quota into class-by-class targets brings the size of the job within manageable limits for each class. And the quotas have not been derived by some involved secret formula—for each class they are based on the actual past performance of that particular class. In other words, in each class group the target has been established without regard to the performance of any other group. Thus, the goal set is a realistic obtainable figure.

WHAT HAS BEEN DONE?

The Alumni Fund Committee, under the able leadership of co-chairmen Dr. E. W. Pangburn '15 and Dr. Charles F. Fox, Jr. '31, has thus far this year planned and executed two mail appeals to the general alumni body. That does not mean that every alumnus has received two requests for contributions for those who responded to the first appeal did not receive the second reminder.

The first appeal consisted of the mailing of the Tenth Annual Fund Report entitled "26% of the Alumni Made the Big Tenth BIG!" This booklet report, mailed in mid-November provided a complete class-by-class record of last year's giving and suggested an early response in order to save the printing and postage expense of further reminders.

The second request for a contribution consisted of a letter mailed over the signature of the class fund manager. This reminder was sent only to those former students who had not responded to the first appeal. A growing number of class fund managers

(Continued on Page 9)

CLASS TARGETS 1958-1959

Class Of	Number in Class	Target 58-59	No. of Givers by 3-31-59	No. of Gifts Needed by 6-30-59	Class Of	Number in Class	Target 58-59	No. of Givers by 3-31-59	No. of Gifts Needed by 6-30-59
1958	593	142	74	68	1923	211	73	31	42
1957	593	158	72	86	1922	176	60	26	34
1956	679	174	80	94	1921	142	59	37	22
1955	619	151	66	85	1920	183	60	33	27
1954	667	186	89	97	1919	121	48	18	30
1953	670	183	71	112	1918	185	43	22	21
1952	721	198	105	93	1917	117	52	28	24
1951	735	186	89	97	1916	97	44	31	13
1950	767	229	79	150	1915	90	40	21	19
1949	834	271	114	157	1914	97	36	21	15
1948	670	225	81	144	1913	64	37	23	14
1947	531	168	96	72	1912	79	40	15	25
1946	374	100	39	61	1911	90	33	17	16
1945	297	82	39	43	1910	75	33	20	13
1944	326	92	35	57	1909	82	44	23	21
1943	394	128	54	74	1908	75	38	25	13
1942	365	130	71	59	1907	56	31	11	20
1941	349	131	51	80	1906	63	27	17	10
1940	393	118	54	64	1905	58	29	22	7
1939	390	111	42	69	1904	36	20	10	10
1938	296	80	34	46	1903	38	19	13	6
1937	294	82	38	44	1902	32	13	7	6
1936	300	93	23	70	1901	23	11	3	8
1935	279	84	36	48	1900	30	13	7	6
1934	313	90	44	46	1899	19	11	7	4
1933	322	102	45	57	1898	18	6	5	1
1932	275	64	28	36	1897	11	4	1	3
1931	338	111	65	46	1896	10	3	2	1
1930	256	68	27	41	1895	11	7	4	3
1929	255	67	23	44	1894	8	9	3	6
1928	302	93	34	59	1893	7	4	0	4
1927	279	87	42	45	1892	7	3	4	—
1926	240	88	36	52	1874 Thru 1891 Incl.	14	8	2	6
1925	234	84	44	40
1924	204	62	37	25
						17,479	5,376	2,466	2,910

The Student View

by BOBBIE RUNK '61

NO NEWS TODAY

Newsman's Conference at Bucknell attracts prominent newsmen from large eastern newspapers and produces interesting results.

RECENTLY, during the annual Newsman's Conference, Bucknell students entertained on campus several prominent newsmen who spoke, presented films, and led panel discussions on news events of current interest. Despite the largest snow storm of the year six out of the seven gentlemen scheduled to take part arrived to conduct a successful conference. The theme of this year's conference was "How Free is the Free World?"

The reporters who participated in the conference were Clark Mollenhoff of Cowles Publications, Walter Rundle of Newsweek, Theodore Kaghan of the New York Post, William Higginbotham of United Press International, John F. Quigley, editor of the Union Standard Journal, and Clifford A. Thomas of the Williamsport Sun-Gazette. These gentlemen also conducted seminars on such topics as the free press, the Soviet challenge in Germany, American security, and the organization of world news coverage, with each reporter leading the discussions in his special field of interest. The panel discussions centered around the subjects of hypocrisy within our democracy and tyranny in the non-communist world.

Several weeks before the conference took place, students in an advanced political science course conducted a rather extensive public opinion poll, among selected Bucknellians, concerning four current political issues which related to the theme of the conference. The four issues covered were segregation, the loyalty oath, the Berlin crisis, and the Cuban revolt. The results of the poll, which were kept separate for men and women, indicated that the habit of reading a newspaper regularly is not common to at least half of those who participated. The men appeared to have more newspaper exposure than the women.

In general, the question and answer periods revealed a much greater optimism about the state of our own country on the part of the guest newsmen than on that of the students themselves. Concerning segregation, Mr. Rundle stated that propaganda has unjustifiably emphasized its importance in the United States, and although we definitely have a problem, it is not the greatest problem of segregation that has existed. In India, for example, one can find the most degrading and appalling segregation in existence in the form of the caste system which is the peoples' very way of life. We are on the defensive; we must admit we have the problem and are facing up to it.

In answer to a pessimistic student editorial on the evils of large corporations and business monopolies, Mr. Rundle reported that high industrial taxes are making it more and more difficult for these monopolies to survive. Our problem is that we haven't told this to the rest of the world adequately. There is less monopoly of big business in this country today than there has been for about 50 years, according to Mr. Higginbotham of U. P. I.

Mr. Higginbotham says there are hypocritical phases in every area of life. If one chooses to discriminate, then put it on public record. The good thing about a democracy is that time will take care of things. The people may be wrong, but they will keep looking and will usually find a pretty good answer. "The essence of democracy is not hypocrisy, but an open fight against it, in an open forum by free men, the conquering of it, and its rise again only to be fought."

The Newsman's Conference began many years ago, but the interest of the student body gradually waned. In 1953 Professor DuWors who has since left Bucknell, reopened a new series, and students have accepted the major portion of responsibility for the organization and planning of the conference. Here is a priceless opportunity—and one which is unique to Bucknell University so far as we know—to learn firsthand of the news which is making history today. The questions of the attending students were intelligent and showed considerable thought. The chief drawback was the limited amount of time allotted for each discussion. But despite excellent publicity on the part of the committee, a well organized conference, and the reputation of the guest newsmen, the attendance was not good, unfortunately.

Let us examine some of the results of the conference which I have mentioned. It was rather surprising to find that the "hardboiled" news reporters were more optimistic concerning conditions in the United States than were the students. One reason for this may be that, as the student poll pointed out, we are relatively uninformed on the present conditions, and are basing our judgments on facts which are now history. But more important than this, we are about to go out into the world and find ourselves face to face with such problems as industrial taxes and business monopolies. The prospects do not look good. However, the people whose generation the newsmen represent have discovered that it is possible to live with and deal with such problems. It's the old story of the school of experience.

Those people immediately concerned with setting up the program, who spent a great deal of time in planning and preparation, were rather disappointed in that the attendance was not as good as was anticipated. We often do not have the time, or cannot take the time to keep ourselves intelligently informed about the outside world, and hence, those students brought the news to the rest of us in the person of the men whose job it is to know the news. Not only can we be sympathetic toward the feelings of these people, but we can be thankful that such people are present here on the Bucknell campus. It is this core of students, which I mentioned in another article, that is working to fight the apathy on campus. And as long as there are students like these there will be programs at Bucknell such as the Newsman's Conference.

FUN FOR EVERYONE

(Continued from Page 3)

will be distributed at this time.

At the conclusion of the class meetings at noon, all alumni will assemble in their regalia and will parade by classes to Davis Gymnasium for the All-Alumni Luncheon at 12:15 P. M. It is expected that over 1,000 Alumni will hear President Odgers' State of the University address. A special feature of the luncheon program will be the presentation of special awards to three outstanding Alumni.

In the afternoon, class socials at 3:00 P. M. will be held by all reuniting classes. The locations of these class socials will be printed in the programs available at the registration desks in the Carnegie Building.

Fraternity and sorority symposia begin the evening festivity at 6:00 P. M. Information relative to this part of the program will be mailed to members by their respective fraternities and sororities.

Later Saturday evening, there will be a variety of interesting entertainment, but high on the list of "must" activities will be a visit to the beautiful, new, air-conditioned University Theatre where Cap and Dagger will present an English comedy by J. M. Barrie entitled "The Admirable Crichton." You are urged not to miss this side-splitting presentation, which describes the English social class status and what happens to it on a desert isle when the chips are down.

Rounding out the festivities for the day will be the Alumni Jamboree at 9:00 P. M. This all campus get-together will provide light entertainment and dancing to Mal Arter's ('49) Orchestra in Davis Gymnasium. Plan to attend both the Cap and Dagger production and the Alumni Jamboree for an enjoyable evening.

SUNDAY, JUNE 7

Baccalaureate for the graduating seniors on Sunday at 8:00 P. M. will spotlight the Sunday program with Bishop Gerald H. Kennedy, Bishop of Methodist Churches in the Los Angeles area, delivering the sermon.

MONDAY, JUNE 8

Commencement exercises on Monday at 10:00 A. M. in Davis Gymnasium will be the final feature of the week end. Dr. Richard A. Kern, distinguished physician, teacher and naval officer, will deliver the Commencement address and will receive an honorary degree. Honorary degrees will also be given to Bishop Kennedy; Mr. David Burpee, member of the Board of Trustees of Bucknell University and President of the W. Atlee Burpee Company; Mr. Alfred A. Knopf, Chairman of the Board and Director of the publishing firm, Alfred A. Knopf Incorporated; and Dr. William R. White '26, Chairman of the Board of Trustees of Bucknell University and Vice President of the Guaranty Trust Company of New York.

It's going to be a great week end on the Bucknell campus—a fun filled week end you can't afford to miss. Make your reservations today!

SPORTS

(Continued from Page 5)

FOOTBALL

Although Coach Bob Odell can't promise any miracles in 1959, there is no doubt in anyone's mind that Bucknell will field a considerably stronger football team than last year's eleven. In fact, the season has several aspects which make it as interesting as anyone could ask for.

In the first place, of course, is the fact that the team must rebound from last fall's showing of one win in nine outings. Secondly, the schedule is an even greater challenge than before, but third, and this is the bright side—there are 29 tough young sophomores knocking at the gates trying for starting berths.

So spring practice, 1959 version, is going to be one of the most important Bucknell has ever had. There will be 52 candidates reporting, and this size in numbers alone is a good indication of things to come, since Bucknell last year was able to suit up only 30 varsity players at times.

In fact, 1958's lack of depth was the major factor in Bucknell's weak showing, since the Bisons were battling on even terms for three quarters in many contests, but simply could not match the opposition in its ability to supply fresh reserves for the final 15 minutes.

Bucknell has 15 lettermen back in camp, having lost seven via graduation. The varsity might see several sophomores nudging lettermen from starting assignments, which is fine, but the varsity faces its strongest competition at the start, which is a shame.

This means Odell will have to put a young and inexperienced team on the field against teams like Harvard, Buffalo, and Rutgers. Harvard had a fine team last fall and is better this year, while Buffalo and Rutgers handed the Bisons their two worst lickings in 1958, and are again loaded with power.

Bucknell was a colorful and exciting team despite its 1958 record, and will be even more exciting this fall. Odell says the one big change in style will be "a lot more passing." Yet Bucknell last year was one of the top passing teams in the East, and quarterback Paul Terhes won the M. A. C. passing and total offense titles.

Strong spots in addition to quarterback are pleasantly plentiful, on paper, at least. The guard position, where Bucknell was buried under injuries last year, ironically appears to be the deepest post this spring, due to the presence of no less than eight eager young sophomores for Assistant Coach Bill Wrabley to choose from.

Wrabley is also cheered by the presence of captain Larry Mathias at center, rugged Bob Patzwall at right tackle, and the move of versatile Denny Cox to end. Cox's toughness will add strength to the end position, which is the spot where more depth is still needed.

In the backfield, sophomores Ashton Ditka and Bill Urch could give Bucknell a pair of bull-like speedsters at the halfback posts, although they will have to out-buck three lettermen to win their spurs. Fullback is wide open.

Odell's biggest problems, then, include strengthening the end and fullback spots, more depth needed at tackle, and, basically, the preparation of a sophomore laden team to play a lot of football. "We have to count on them a great deal," says Odell seriously.

Odell figures that Rutgers and Delaware are again best equipped in the M. A. C. race, with Lehigh and Lafayette, who had young teams in 1958, not far behind.

1959 FOOTBALL SCHEDULE

*Sept. 26—Gettysburg	Hershey
Oct. 3—Harvard	Cambridge, Mass.
Oct. 10—Buffalo	Lewisburg
Oct. 17—Rutgers	Homecoming
Oct. 24—Lafayette	Easton
Oct. 31—Lehigh	Bethlehem
Nov. 7—Colgate	Hamilton, N. Y.
Nov. 14—Temple	Parents' Day
Nov. 21—Delaware	Lewisburg

* Night Game

BOOKSHELF

POTTER '07, DR. CHARLES FRANCIS
"The Great Religious Leaders"
 Simon & Schuster

This beautifully printed and bound volume is a revision and up-dating of the author's The Story of Religion, which has been in demand since its publication in 1929. The new volume takes advantage of the many scholarly advances in its field in the past generation; it has profited especially by the insights gained from the editing of the so-called Dead Sea Scrolls, of which Dr. Potter made a critical evaluation in his paperback The Lost Years of Jesus Revealed (Gold Medal Book, 50 cents), published in May, 1958, and devoted exclusively to the Scrolls.

In a brief review it is impossible to do justice to The Great Religious Leaders. In it Dr. Potter has reviewed the lives and teachings of the world's religious pioneers from the Egyptian Akhenaten (1388-1358 B. C.) to the present. Included are sympathetic but objective accounts of Moses, Zoroaster, Jeremiah, Buddha, Confucius, the Essene "Teacher of Righteousness", and Muhammad, and in the Christian tradition Jesus, Paul, Augustine, the Anglo-Saxon Patrick who Christianized Ireland, Luther, the Russian Nikon, and Wesley.

Together with Luther are considered the precursors and founders of the Protestant Reformation—Wycliffe, Huss, Savonarola, Erasmus, Zwingli, Melancton, and Calvin; with Augustine, the early Christian Fathers, and important figures in the developing Eastern Orthodox and Roman churches to the time of Jerome.

The later English tradition is represented by succinct characterizations of John Bunyan, George Fox, John Murray, and General Booth. And the American contribution is adequately discussed in portraits of Roger Williams, Jonathan Edwards, Ellery Channing, Joseph Smith, William Miller, Robert Ingersoll, Phineas Quimby, and Mary Baker Eddy. To a layman like myself the treatment of these Americans makes a special appeal; Dr. Potter's view of them is at once irenic and critical.

A concluding chapter on the future of religion and an appendix on "leaderless religions" end the text. These are followed by an index which will make the volume more useable for reference after the first reading.

In a land in which, despite our policy of toleration, first established by Roger Williams and firmly embedded in our tradition, there too often persists a bigotry begotten of ignorance and parochial loyalties, this book should be of great influence. If we are ever to have one world, the emphasis must shift in religion from emphasizing group differences, to recognizing the basic similarities in the various faiths. Dr. Potter's style is popular in the best sense of that word; he avoids technical theological jargon. It should be a cause of pride to Bucknell that one of her graduates has created in this book so great a contribution to peace and goodwill in religious life.

An Extraordinary Ministry

by

REV. EDWIN W. RUMSEY '06

As the Philadelphia Baptist Association concluded a year-long celebration of its 250th anniversary, it cited the services of three veteran pastors of the city. One of them was Miss Flora M. Clymer, missionary founder and pastor for 56 years of Greenwich Light Baptist Church. Miss Clymer is a graduate of Bucknell Institute, Class of 1893.

While employed as a secretary in downtown Philadelphia in 1901 she became concerned about the men on the ships which docked at the coal piers at Greenwich Point on the Delaware River, and felt called of God to do something for them. She chose the spot on which to build a church, leased the land from the Pennsylvania Railroad, personally solicited building materials and labor, and in two months time the building was completed and her life-long ministry began.

Miss Clymer was a prodigious worker and "The Seamen's Gospel Mission," as it was first called, was kept open every day, a Sunday School was organized, and the future was bright with promise.

Then came a crisis. The residents of that area raised pigs for a living. The city gave notice that the pigs—60,000 in number—must be disposed of in ten days. Seeing that the livelihood of her humble parishioners was at stake, Miss Clymer persuaded Mayor Weaver to intervene. As a result her people were allowed to keep their pigs for more than ten years and the crisis was averted.

In 1916 the mission was organized as the Greenwich Light Baptist Church, with 63 charter members and Miss Clymer was elected pastor for life. During all these years she has refused to accept a salary.

The work among seamen at the coaling station continued with great interest until the close of World War I. In the first five years Miss Clymer ministered to 20,000 seamen. At the close of the War the ground on which the building stood was commandeered by the Government and the church was compelled to relocate. Subsequent years have witnessed a slow yet continuous growth. Most of the older group have passed away. The present membership still numbers more than 100, but they are widely scattered.

Though she was never ordained, not many ministers can match the record of unselfish service that unassuming, homespun Flora M. Clymer has achieved.

FUND

(Continued from Page 6)

and their assistants are lending their aid to this program. All of the 63 Bucknell classes have class fund managers and in 9 of those classes, assistants to a total of 155 have been organized. Another dozen classes are now in the process of recruiting assistant class fund managers. The classes already having assistants are 1906-Frank L. Yost, manager; 1949-Richard D. Atherley, 1951-Raymond W. Tallau, 1953-Joan MacBain Stettler, 1954-Joan Herrmann Richmond, 1955-Richard M. Richter, 1956-Edward W. Burg, Jr., 1957-William S. Moyer, 1958-Jeff Jefferson. The assistant class fund managers undertake the task of personally writing notes of appeal to ten or fifteen of their classmates. Obviously, this personal touch has proved a most effective means of reminding classmates to mail their annual gifts.

THE CURRENT EFFORT

The third appeal is the personal solicitation phase of the fund program. Personal solicitation, as the name implies, consists of recruiting enough Bucknellians who are willing to visit five Bucknell neighbors and remind them of the Bucknell Alumni Annual-Giving program. Started in 1954, personal solicitation has been a success and will grow by leaps and bounds as soon as prospective volunteer agents can be convinced that working on the personal solicitation program is not "begging" but is simply reminding an alumnus of the benefits he or she received on the Bucknell campus.

The history of personal solicitation at Bucknell is rather interesting. It was begun in the spring of 1945 in three pilot areas to determine whether telephone contacts, mail contacts, or personal visits were most effective. It was soon discovered that personal contacts produced 50% contributions, mail contacts produced 8% results and telephones produced .8% results. Expanded to ten cities in 1955 and 1956, to 19 cities in 1957 and to 41 cities last year, over 500 alumni assisted as volunteer agents in the program in the spring of 1958.

To put the program into effect throughout the United States will require about 3,000 volunteer agents, so it will be seen that a tremendous potential for future growth exists. Every alumnus can help to bring the size of the job within manageable units by volunteering to serve as regional chairman, captain or agent. Of course, there is another, much more simple and easier solution—send your annual contribution to the Alumni Fund office, Bucknell University, Lewisburg, NOW.

CLASS REPORTS

EMERITUS CLUB

MISS MARY COTTON
Eldred, Pa.

REUNE IN JUNE

Alumni Headquarters makes a continuous survey to determine the whereabouts and activities of our oldest living alumnus and oldest living alumna in the Female Institute, the Academy, and the College.

While our alumni records of birth dates are not complete, present information available indicates that the oldest living student in the Academy is Brittain G. Roth Acad. 75-76 of Allentown, who was born on November 22, 1861.

Miss Emma Baker I'85 of Miami, Fla., who was born on October 29, 1865, seems to be the oldest living graduate of the Female Institute.

In the College department The Rev. James M. Paterson '92 of Wilmington, Del., who was born in Scotland on February 16, 1863, seems to be the oldest living alumnus of the College while Mrs. S. E. Downs (Ruth H. Sprague '98) of Narberth, who was born on March 26, 1873, seems to be the oldest living alumna of the College. Can anyone challenge these four Bucknellians in the then three departments of the University? If so, Alumni Headquarters at Lewisburg would like to know.

In making the annual search for the oldest living Bucknellians, Alumni Headquarters often receives heartwarming messages from these former students. Among those recently reaching the alumni office was a message from Miss Mary E. Butler I'93 who was a Christmas baby, born December 25, 1873, at Montandon. For many years, Mary has lived in California and has been unable to revisit the Bucknell campus. In a recent note she says, "Thirty years ago I came to California where I'll continue to reside for the remainder of my life. Always my best wishes for the continued growth and success of Bucknell."

00 MR. GEORGE A. GRIM
South Broad St.,
Nazareth, Pa.

The address for Marion A. Carringer, Esq., is still Tionesta. For many years he was president of the Class of 1900 and in 1951 was president of the Emeritus Club. His daughters are both graduates of Bucknell. Dorothy J. Carringer was graduated with the Class of 1951 as was her husband, Donald M. Smith. The Smiths are located in Pittsburgh. Rachel M. Carringer was graduated in 1941 and she and her husband, Robert Hauth, also live in Tionesta. Marion's son, Robert, attended Bucknell with the Class of 1946 and since his return from World War II has been making Tionesta his home.

02 MR. ALAN C. CUNNINGHAM
Charles C. Knox Home
Wynnewood, Pa.

EDITOR'S NOTE: Here are some facts about your reporter.

Alan Cunningham was pianist at the daily devotions while a student at the Academy and the College. When he was graduated from the Academy he had as his oration, "A Plea for Music in the Curriculum at Bucknell," based on the music program at Harvard.

Now, at eighty-one years of age, he is still singing in the choir at St. Mary's Episcopal Church in Ardmore. In March the choir sang Gounod's St. Celia Mass and Bucknell was well represented—Mrs. John S. Burlew (Grace Schaum '30) and Mr. Ward C. Elwell (father of John C. Elwell, a junior at Bucknell) were also members of the choir.

04 MR. HARRY E. McCORMICK
26 South Third St.
Lewisburg, Pa.

REUNE IN JUNE

By the time you read this, you will have received my letter to you dated April 2, in which I indicated some of the plans for the Commencement Weekend. A more complete program appears elsewhere in the magazine, so I will not bother to reiterate the program as arranged by the University.

I do, however, want to remind you that you are all invited to meet at 3:00 o'clock on Saturday afternoon, June 6, at our home for a class social.

If you cannot be present, please send some news of yourself and family. Your classmates all wish to hear about your children, grandchildren and yourself.

05 DR. LEWIS C. HYLBERT
435 Drake Ave.
Upland, Calif.

Listed in the first edition of a new publication, Who's Who of American Women, is the name of Mrs. John T. Fetherston (Edith Kelly).

Rev. Vernon Nelson Robbins died January 12, 1959, in Long Beach, Calif. He was an honored member of the Class of 1905. He graduated Summa Cum Laude, with the A.B. degree and was a speaker at our Commencement. In 1907 he won his M.A. degree. After graduation he entered Colgate-Rochester Theological Seminary where he graduated with the B.D. degree in 1908. For many years he was a successful pastor of churches in Michigan, Minnesota and Wisconsin. In 1904 he married Pauline Griggs of St. Paul, Minn. She was a music student at Bucknell Institute at the time of their marriage. At the time of retirement they moved to 6490 Myrtle Ave., Long Beach, Calif., to be near their children—and where Mrs. Robbins still resides. She writes—"How great a blessing and comfort I am daily finding out in fullest measure, for our children and their families have done so much for us both during Vernon's long illness and now in daily touch with me as I adjust to living alone after living 55 years together."

Mrs. Laura Hummel Guinter's daughter Ruth was married November 27, 1958, to Dr. Edward J. Jurji in the Pauline Hartford Memorial Chapel at the Presbyterian Hospital in New York City. At one time Ruth was a supervisor and an instructor at the American University Hospital, Beirut, Lebanon. More recently she was assistant director of Nursing Service in the Department of Nursing Faculty of Medicine, Columbia University. Dr. Jurji is an alumnus of the American University of Beirut. Now an ordained minister of A portrait of Dr. Andrew R. E. Wyant '92 is to be dedicated at the Phi Gamma Delta house at symposium, June 6, 1959. The painting of "Andy," one of Bucknell's Alumni all-time greats is a gift to the fraternity presented by friends and relatives of Dr. Wyant.

The excellent likeness in oil of the internationally known physician, clergyman, public speaker and philanthropist was executed by Joseph Burgess of New York City, who has done portraits of Calvin Coolidge (another famous Phi Gam) as well as numerous theatrical celebrities and others prominent in national life.

Burgess' portrait of Christy Mathewson '02, dedicated in 1955, also adorns the walls of the new Phi Gam lodge on University Avenue.

Dr. Wyant, about whom volumes could be and have been written, was the first president of the Bucknell Emeritus Club, president, reporter and fund manager for his Class of 1892.

The gold plaque mounted on the portrait frame is inscribed:

ANDREW R. E. WYANT, 1892
A.B., A.M., B.D., Ph.D., M.D.
"A Great Physical, Mental and Spiritual Athlete"

the United Presbyterian Church in the U. S. A., he is professor of Islamics and Comparative Religions in Princeton Theological Seminary.

07 DR. LEO L. ROCKWELL
1534 Caldwell
Lakeland, Fla.

Frederick R. Bower died of a heart attack in June, 1958, at the Oak Park Hospital, Chicago, Ill., at the age of seventy-one. For some time he had been retired from his work of landscaping. Freddy will be remembered as one of the town boys in the class, a member of the well known Bower family residing on Sixth Street, his father being in our time a well-known attorney. He is survived by three sisters, Misses Mary and Ruth Bower and Mrs. Harriet Gahagan, of Pittsburgh, and by a brother, Fleming Bower of Ada,

(Continued on Page 31)

BUCKNELL DUAL DEVELOPMENT FUND

REPORTS SUCCESS

in the INITIAL GIFTS phase of the campaign

AT THE TIME OF PRINTING, INITIAL GIFTS toward the $1,850,000 goal totalled close to the quota of $600,000—roughly 1/3 of the way—with some initial donors still unreported. This phase of the campaign has been advanced largely through the generosity and effort of the members of the Bucknell Board of Trustees. The latest major “boost” to the initial gifts effort was provided by $100,000 claimed through the 1-4 matching provision of the Samuel H. Kress Foundation as donations to university endowment made by others topped $400,000. A recent gift to endowment by Mrs. Ellen Clarke Bertrand of the Board of Trustees brought the total over the required matching amount. The Kress Foundation matching arrangement is one of three such challenges posed in the Dual Development Fund Campaign, the other two being provided by the F. W. Olin Foundation and the Christian R. and Mary F. Lindback Foundation.

ORGANIZES

for the second phase of the campaign, SPECIAL GIFTS solicitation

UNDER THE GENERAL CHAIRMANSHIP of R. Henry Coleman (Class of 1929), trustee of Bridgeport, Connecticut, about 17 areas are being organized for this second advance giving effort which has a quota of $400,000. The time schedule calls for completion of the Special Gifts phase by June 30, 1959. Strong leadership is continued in the chairmen already enlisted for nine geographical areas. They include: Dr. Dayton L. Ranck '16 and Dr. Edward W. Pangburn '15, Lewisburg; Chester Leaber '19, Manhattan; The Honorable Frederick V. Follmer '06, Milton; W. Wallace Orr (parent), Philadelphia; Clyde P. Bailey, Esq. '29, Pittsburgh; Walter L. Hill, Jr., Esq. '23 and Edward T. Wells (parent), Scranton; Sidney J. Apfelbaum, Esq. '42, Sunbury; James P. Harris, Esq. '12, Wilkes-Barre; and Charles R. Bidelspacher, Esq. '33, Williamsport. It is interesting to note that two chairmen bear the names of illustrious Bucknell presidents.

Special Gifts Chairman, The Honorable Frederick V. Follmer meets with his committee (left to right, Judge Follmer '06, George V. McGee '38, Berkeley V. Hastings '13, Thomas J. Mangan '21, and Dr. Carl L. Millward '06) to plan the campaign in Milton.

Precious Intangibles

The Dual Development Fund Campaign is a balanced effort to finance building needs (dormitory renovation and an administration center) and to finance through additions to endowment the “precious intangibles” of superior teaching. Of the campaign total, $750,000 will be used for the latter purpose. In this campaign progress report insert, Bucknell joins other colleges and universities in focusing the attention of alumni and alumnae—and the American people in general—on the importance of the college teacher.

Introduction:

YOU MAY OR MAY NOT recognize this Bucknell teacher by name.* The important recognition is what he does and what he stands for. He is one of 170 on the Bucknell campus. He and his colleagues are carefully selected. The number of Ph.D.'s among them is far above the national average of 37%. He is therefore the product of a long, expensive, disciplined, intellectual training. Bucknell must compete for his services in a national market along side of great private universities with many times Bucknell's endowment and universities with tax resources.

He, his colleagues, and their predecessors have shaped the minds and lives of some 40,000 men and women students over Bucknell's 113 year history, 17,000 of whom live today in every state and some 45 foreign countries. That's a sizeable life-influence, and it spreads as the taught teach and serve others through their professions, businesses, homes and communities. It is an intellectual chain-reaction; it is a leaven of multitudes; it is a kind of immortality.

Bucknell has a proud institutional history. Bucknell is a campus of great beauty. Bucknell is a collection of generally superior buildings, facilities, and all-round programs. But in the deepest sense, Bucknell is this teacher and his colleagues. He believes in what he is doing. We, too, must believe in him and in the importance of what he does. Bucknell's future—and that of American society and the free world—may well depend on him and our support of him.

 We are sure you do recognize him for he is our beloved Dr. James A. Gathings, chairman of the Department of Political Science.*

“If I were sitting here and the whole outside world were indifferent to what I was doing, I would still want to be doing just what I am.”

I'VE ALWAYS FOUND IT SOMEWHAT HARD TO SAY JUST WHY I CHOSE TO BE A PROFESSOR.

There are many reasons, not all of them tangible things which can be pulled out and explained. I still hear people say, "Those who can, do; those who can't, teach." But there are many teachers who can. They are teachers because they have more than the usual desire to communicate. They are excited enough about something to want to tell others, have others love it as they love it, tell people the how of something, and the why.

I like to see students who will carry the intellectual spark into the world beyond my time. And I like to think that maybe I have something to do with this.

THERE IS A CERTAIN FREEDOM IN THIS JOB, TOO.

A professor doesn't punch a time clock. He is allowed the responsibility of planning his own time and activities. This freedom of movement provides something very valuable—time to think and consider.

I've always had the freedom to teach what I believe to be true. I have never been interfered with in what I wanted to say—either in the small college or in the large university. I know there have been and are infringements on academic freedom. But they've never happened to me.

I LIKE YOUNG PEOPLE.
I REGARD MYSELF AS YOUNG.

I'm still eager about many of the things I was eager about as a young man. It is gratifying to see bright young men and women excited and enthusiastic about scholarship. There are times when I feel that I'm only an old worn boulder in the never-ending stream of students. There are times when I want to flee, when I look ahead to a quieter life of contemplation, of reading things I've always wanted to read. Then a brilliant and likeable human being comes along, whom I feel I can help—and this makes it all the more worthwhile. When I see a young teacher get a start, I get a vicarious feeling of beginning again.

THE COLLEGE
TEACHER: 1959

PEOPLE ASK ME ABOUT THE “DRAWBACKS” IN TEACHING.

I find it difficult to be glib about this. There are major problems to be faced. There is this business of salaries of status and dignity, of anti-intellectualism, of too much to do in too little time. But these are problems, not drawbacks. A teacher doesn't become a teacher in spite of them, but with an awareness that they exist and need to be solved.

AND THERE IS THIS MATTER OF “STATUS.”

Terms like “egghead” tend to suggest that the intellectual is something like a toadstool—almost physically different from everyone else. America is obsessed with stereotypes. There is a whole spectrum of personalities in education, all individuals. The notion that the intellectual is somebody totally removed from what human beings are supposed to be is absurd.

TODAY MAN HAS LESS TIME ALONE THAN ANY MAN BEFORE HIM.

But we are here for only a limited time, and I would rather spend such time as I have thinking about the meaning of the universe and the purpose of man, than doing something else. I've spent hours in libraries and on park benches, escaping long enough to do a little thinking. I can be found occasionally sitting out there with sparrows perching on me, almost.

"We may always be running just to keep from falling behind. But the person who is a teacher because he wants to teach, because he is deeply interested in people and scholarship, will pursue it as long as he can."

—LOREN C. EISELEY

THE CIRCUMSTANCE is a strange one. In recent years Americans have spent more money on the trappings of higher education than ever before in history. More parents than ever have set their sights on a college education for their children. More buildings than ever have been put up to accommodate the crowds. But in the midst of this national preoccupation with higher education, the indispensable element in education—the teacher—somehow has been overlooked. The results are unfortunate—not only for college teachers, but for college teaching as well, and for all whose lives it touches. If allowed to persist, present conditions could lead to so serious a decline in the excellence of higher education that we would require generations to recover from it. Among educators, the problem is the subject of current concern and debate and experiment. What is missing and urgently needed, is full public awareness of the problem—and full public support of measures to deal with it.

HERE IS A TASK for the college alumnus and alumna. No one knows the value of higher education better than the educated. No one is better able to take action, and to persuade others to take action, to preserve and increase its value. Will they do it? The outlines of the problem, and some guideposts to action, appear in the pages that follow.

WILL WE RUN OUT OF COLLEGE TEACHERS?

No; there will always be someone to fill classroom vacancies. But quality is almost certain to drop unless something is done quickly

WHERE WILL THE TEACHERS COME FROM?

The number of students enrolled in America's colleges and universities this year exceeds last year's figure by more than a quarter million. In ten years should pass six million—nearly double today's enrollment.

The number of teachers also may have to double. Some educators say that within a decade 495,000 may be needed—more than twice the present number.

Can we hope to meet the demand? If so, what is likely to happen to the quality of teaching in the process?

"Great numbers of youngsters will flood into our colleges and universities whether we are prepared or not," a report of the Carnegie Foundation for the Advancement of Teaching has pointed out. "These youngsters will be taught—taught well or taught badly. And the demand for teachers will somehow be at least partly met—if not with well-prepared teachers then with ill-prepared, if not with inferior teachers then with inferior ones."

MOST IMMEDIATE is the problem of finding enough qualified teachers to meet classes next fall. College administrators must scramble to do so.

"The staffing problems are the worst in my 30 years' experience at hiring teaching staff," said one college president, replying to a survey by the U.S. Office of Education's Division of Higher Education.

"The securing and retaining of well-trained, effective teachers is the outstanding problem confronting all colleges today," said another.

One logical place to start reckoning with the teacher shortage is on the present faculties of American colleges and universities. The shortage is hardly alleviated by the fact that substantial numbers of men and women find it necessary to leave college teaching each year, for largely financial reasons. So serious is this problem—and so relevant is it to the college alumnus and alumna—that a separate article in this report is devoted to it.

The scarcity of funds has led most colleges and universities to seek at least short-range solutions to the teacher shortage by other means.

Difficulty in finding young new teachers to fill faculty vacancies is turning the attention of more and more administrators to the other end of the academic line, where tried and able teachers are about to retire. A few institutions have modified the upper age limits for faculty. Others are keeping selected faculty members on the payroll past the usual retirement age. A number of institutions are filling their own vacancies with the cream of the men and women retired elsewhere, and two organizations, the Association of American Colleges and the American Association of University Professors, with the aid of a grant from the Ford Foundation, have set up a "Retired Professors Registry" to facilitate the process.

Old restraints and handicaps for the woman teacher are disappearing in the colleges. Indeed, there are special opportunities for her, as she earns her standing alongside the man who teaches. But there is no room for complacency here. We can no longer take it for granted that the woman teacher will be any more available than the man, for she exercises the privilege of her sex to change her mind about teaching as about other matters. Says Dean Nancy Duke Lewis of Pembroke College: "The day has passed when we could assume that every woman who earned her Ph.D. would go into college teaching. She needs something positive today to attract her to the colleges because of the welcome that awaits her talents in business, industry, government, or the foundations. Her freedom to choose comes at a time when undergraduate women particularly need distinguished women scholars to inspire them to do their best in the classroom and laboratory—and certainly to encourage them to elect college teaching as a career.”

SOME HARD-PRESSED ADMINISTRATORS find themselves forced to accelerate promotions and salary increases in order to attract and hold faculty members. Many are being forced to settle for less qualified teachers.

In an effort to attract and keep teachers, most colleges are providing such necessities as improved research facilities and secretarial help to relieve faculty members of paperwork and administrative burdens, thus giving faculty members more time to concentrate on teaching and research.

In the process of revising their curricula many colleges are eliminating courses that overlap one another or are considered frivolous. Some are increasing the size of lecture classes and eliminating classes they deem too small.

Finally, somewhat in desperation (but also with the firm conviction that the technological age must, after all, have something of value to offer even to the most basic and fundamental exercises of education), experiments are being conducted with teaching by films and television.

At Penn State, where televised instruction is in its ninth semester, TV has met with mixed reactions. Students consider it a good technique for teaching courses with large enrollments—and their performance in courses employing television has been as good as that of students having personal contact with their teachers. The reaction of faculty members has been less favorable. But acceptance appears to be growing: the number of courses offered on television has grown steadily, and the number of faculty members teaching via TV has grown, also.

Elsewhere, teachers are far from unanimity on the subject of TV. “Must the TV technicians take over the colleges?” asked Professor Ernest Earnest of Temple University in an article title last fall. “Like the conventional lecture system, TV lends itself to the sausage-stuffing concept of education,” Professor Earnest said. The classroom, he argued, “is the place for testing ideas and skills, for the interchange of ideas”—objectives difficult to attain when one’s teacher is merely a shadow on a fluorescent screen.

The TV pioneers, however, believe the medium, used properly, holds great promise for the future.

FOR THE LONG RUN, the traditional sources of supply for college teaching fall far short of meeting the demand. The Ph.D., for example, long regarded by many colleges and universities as the ideal “driver’s license” for teachers, is awarded to fewer than 9,000 persons per year. Even if, as is probable, the number of students enrolled in Ph.D. programs rises over the next few years, it will be a long time before they have traveled the full route to the degree.

Meanwhile, the demand for Ph.D.'s grows, as industry, consulting firms, and government compete for many of the men and women who do obtain the degree. Thus, at the very time that a great increase is occurring in the number of undergraduates who must be taught, the supply of new college teachers with the rank of Ph.D. is even shorter than usual.

"During each of the past four years," reported the National Education Association in 1958, "the average level of preparation of newly employed teachers has fallen. Four years ago no less than 31.4 per cent of the new teachers held the earned doctor's degree. Last year only 23.5 per cent were at this high level of preparation."

HERE ARE SOME of the causes of concern about the Ph.D., to which educators are directing their attention:

► The Ph.D. program, as it now exists in most graduate schools, does not sufficiently emphasize the development of teaching skills. As a result, many Ph.D.'s go into teaching with little or no idea how to teach, and make a mess of it when they try. Many who don't go into teaching might have done so, had a greater emphasis been laid upon it when they were graduate students.

► The Ph.D. program is indefinite in its time requirements: they vary from school to school, from department to department, from student to student, far more than seems warranted. "Generally the Ph.D. takes at least four years to get," says a committee of the Association of Graduate Schools. "More often it takes six or seven, and not infrequently ten to fifteen. . . . If we put our heads to the matter, certainly we ought to be able to say to a good student: 'With a leeway of not more than one year, it will take you so and so long to take the Ph.D.'"

► "Uncertainty about the time required," says the Association's Committee on Policies in Graduate Education, "leads in turn to another kind of uncertainty—financial uncertainty. Doubt and confusion on this score have a host of disastrous effects. Many superior men, facing unknowns here, abandon thoughts about working for a Ph.D. and realistically go off to law or the like. . . ."

ALTHOUGH ROUGHLY HALF of the teachers in America's colleges and universities hold the Ph.D., more than three quarters of the newcomers to college and university teaching, these days, don't have one. In the years ahead, it appears inevitable that the proportion of Ph.D.'s to non-Ph.D.'s on America's faculties will diminish.

Next in line, after the doctorate, is the master's degree.

For centuries the master's was "the" degree, until, with the growth of the Ph.D. in America, it began to be moved into a back seat. In Great Britain its prestige is still high.

But in America the M.A. has, in some graduate schools, deteriorated. Where the M.A.'s standards have been kept high, on the other hand, able students have been able to prepare themselves, not only adequately but well, for college teaching.

Today the M.A. is one source of hope in the teacher shortage. "If the M.A. were of universal dignity and good standing," says the report of the Committee on Policies in Graduate Education, "... this ancient degree could bring us succor in the decade ahead. . . .

"The nub of the problem . . . is to get rid of 'good' and 'bad' M.A.'s and to set up generally a 'rehabilitated' degree which will have such worth in its own right that a man entering graduate school will consider the possibility of working toward the M.A. as the first step to the Ph.D. . . ."

One problem would remain. "If you have a master's degree you are still a mister and if you have a Ph.D., no matter where it is from, you are a doctor," Dean G. Bruce Dearing, of the University of Delaware, has said. "The town looks at you differently. Business looks at you differently. The dean may; it depends on how discriminating he is."

The problem won't be solved, W. R. Dennes, former dean of the graduate school of the University of California at Berkeley, has said, "until universities have the courage . . . to select men very largely on the quality of work they have done and soft-pedal this matter of degrees."

A point for parents and prospective students to remember—and one of which alumni and alumnae might remind them—is that counting the number of Ph.D.'s in a college catalogue is not the only, or even necessarily the best, way to judge the worth of an educational institution or its faculty's abilities. To base one's judgment solely on such a count is quite a temptation, as William James noted 56 years ago in "The Ph.D. Octopus": "The dazzled reader of the list, the parent or student, says to himself, 'This must be a terribly distinguished crowd—their titles shine like the stars in the firmament; Ph.D.'s, Sc.D.'s, and Litt.D.'s bespangle the page as if they were sprinkled over it from a pepper caster.'"

The Ph.D. will remain higher education's most honored earned degree. It stands for a depth of scholarship and productive research to which the master has not yet addressed himself so intensively. But many educational leaders expect the doctoral programs to give more emphasis to teaching. At the same time the master's degree will be strengthened and given more prestige.

In the process the graduate schools will have taken a long step toward solving the shortage of qualified college teachers.

SOME OF THE CHANGES being made by colleges and universities to meet the teacher shortage constitute reasonable and overdue reforms. Other changes are admittedly desperate—and possibly dangerous—attempts to meet today's needs.

The central problem is to get more young people interested in college teaching. Here, college alumni and alumnae have an opportunity to provide a badly needed service to higher education and to superior young people themselves. The problem of teacher supply is not one with which the college administrator is able to cope alone.

President J. Seelye Bixler, of Colby College, recently said: "Let us cultivate a teacher-centered point of view. There is tragedy as well as truth in the old saying that in Europe when you meet a teacher you tip your hat, whereas over here you tap your head. Our debt to our teachers is very great, and fortunately we are beginning to realize that we must make some attempt to balance the account. Money and prestige are among the first requirements.

"Most important is independence. Too often we sit back with the comfortable feeling that our teachers have all the freedom they desire. We forget that the payoff comes in times of stress. Are we really willing to allow them independence of thought when a national emergency is in the offing? Are we ready to defend them against all pressure groups and to acknowledge their right to act as critics of our customs, our institutions, and even our national policy? Evidence abounds that for some of our more vociferous compatriots this is too much. They see no reason why such privileges should be offered or why a teacher should not express his patriotism in the same outworn and often irrelevant shibboleths they find so dear and so hard to give up. Surely our educational task has not been completed until we have persuaded them that a teacher should be a pioneer, a leader, and at times a non-conformist with a recognized right to dissent. As Howard Mumford Jones has observed, we can hardly allow ourselves to become a nation proud of machines that think and suspicious of any man who tries to."

By lending their support to programs designed to improve the climate for teachers at their own colleges, alumni can do much to alter the conviction held by many that teaching is tolerable only to martyrs.

WHAT PRICE DEDICATION?

Most teachers teach because they love their jobs. But low pay is forcing many to leave the profession, just when we need them most EVERY TUESDAY EVENING for the past three and a half months, the principal activity of a 34-year-old associate professor of chemistry at a first-rate mid-western college has centered around Section 3 of the previous Sunday's New York Times. The Times, which arrives at his office in Tuesday afternoon's mail delivery, customarily devotes page after page of Section 3 to large help-wanted ads, most of them directed at scientists and engineers. The associate professor, a Ph.D., is job-hunting.

"There's certainly no secret about it," he told a recent visitor. "At least two others in the department are looking, too. We'd all give a lot to be able to stay in teaching; that's what we're trained for, that's what we like. But we simply can't swing it financially."

"I'm up against it this spring," says the chairman of the physics department at an eastern college for women. "Within the past two weeks two of my people, one an associate and one an assistant professor, turned in their resignations, effective in June. Both are leaving the field—one for a job in industry, the other for government work. I've got strings out, all over the country, but so far I've found no suitable replacements. We've always prided ourselves on having Ph.D.'s in these jobs, but it looks as if that's one resolution we'll have to break in 1959-60."

"We're a long way from being able to compete with industry when young people put teaching and industry on the scales," says Vice Chancellor Vern O. Knudsen of UCLA. "Salary is the real rub, of course. Ph.D.'s in physics here in Los Angeles are getting $8-12,000 in industry without any experience, while about all we can offer them is $5,500. Things are not much better in the chemistry department."

One young Ph.D. candidate sums it up thus: "We want to teach and we want to do basic research, but industry offers us twice the salary we can get as teachers. We talk it over with our wives, but it's pretty hard to turn down $10,000 to work for less than half that amount."

"That woman you saw leaving my office: she's one of our most brilliant young teachers, and she was ready to leave us," said a women's college dean recently. "I persuaded her to postpone her decision for a couple of months, until the results of the alumnae fund drive are in. We're going to use that money entirely for raising salaries, this year. If it goes over the top, we'll be able to hold some of our best people. If it falls short. . . I'm on the phone every morning, talking to the fund chairman, counting those dollars, and praying."

THE DIMENSIONS of the teacher-salary problem in the United States and Canada are enormous. It has reached a point of crisis in public institutions and in private institutions, in richly endowed institutions as well as in poorer ones. It exists even in Catholic colleges and universities, where, as student populations grow, more and more laymen must be found in order to supplement the limited number of clerics available for teaching posts.

"In a generation," says Seymour E. Harris, the distinguished Harvard economist, "the college professor has lost 50 per cent in economic status as compared to the average American. His real income has declined substantially, while that of the average American has risen by 70-80 per cent."

Figures assembled by the American Association of University Professors show how seriously the college teacher's economic standing has deteriorated. Since 1939, according to the AAUP's latest study (published in 1958), the purchasing power of lawyers rose 34 per cent, that of dentists 54 per cent, and that of doctors 98 per cent. But at the five state universities surveyed by the AAUP, the purchasing power of teachers in all ranks rose only 9 per cent. And at twenty-eight privately controlled institutions, the purchasing power of teachers' salaries dropped by 8.5 per cent. While nearly everybody else in the country was gaining ground spectacularly, teachers were losing it.

The AAUP's sample, it should be noted, is not representative of all colleges and universities in the United States and Canada. The institutions it contains are, as the AAUP says, "among the better colleges and universities in the country in salary matters." For America as a whole, the situation is even worse.

The National Education Association, which studied the salaries paid in the 1957-58 academic year by more than three quarters of the nation's degree-granting institutions and by nearly two thirds of the junior colleges, found that half of all college and university teachers earned less than $6,015 per year. College instructors earned a median salary of only $4,562—not much better than the median salary of teachers in public elementary schools, whose economic plight is well known.

The implications of such statistics are plain.

"Higher salaries," says Robert Lekachman, professor of economics at Barnard College, "would make teaching a reasonable alternative for the bright young lawyer, the bright young doctor. Any ill-paid occupation becomes something of a refuge for the ill-trained, the lazy, and the incompetent. If the scale of salaries isn't improved, the quality of teaching won't improve; it will worsen. Unless Americans are willing to pay more for higher education, they will have to be satisfied with an inferior product."

Says President Margaret Clapp of Wellesley College, which is devoting all of its fund-raising efforts to accumulating enough money ($15 million) to strengthen faculty salaries: "Since the war, in an effort to keep alive the profession, discussion in America of teachers' salaries has necessarily centered on the minimums paid. But insofar as money is a factor in decision, wherever minimums only are stressed, the appeal is to the underprivileged and the timid; able and ambitious youths are not likely to listen."

PEOPLE IN SHORT SUPPLY:

WHAT IS THE ANSWER?

It appears certain that if college teaching is to attract and hold top-grade men and women, a drastic step must be taken: salaries must be doubled within five to ten years.

There is nothing extravagant about such a proposal; indeed, it may dangerously understate the need. The current situation is so serious that even doubling his salary would not enable the college teacher to regain his former status in the American economy.

Professor Harris of Harvard figures it this way:

For every $100 he earned in 1930, the college faculty member earned only $85, in terms of 1930 dollars, in 1957. By contrast, the average American got $175 in 1957 for every $100 he earned in 1930. Even if the professor's salary is doubled in ten years, he will get only a

TEACHERS IN THE MARKETPLACE

$70 increase in buying power over 1930. By contrast, the average American is expected to have $127 more buying power at the end of the same period.

In this respect, Professor Harris notes, doubling faculty salaries is a modest program. "But in another sense," he says, "the proposed rise seems large indeed. None of the authorities . . . has told us where the money is coming from." It seems quite clear that a fundamental change in public attitudes toward faculty salaries will be necessary before significant progress can be made.

FINDING THE MONEY is a problem with which each college must wrestle today without cease.

For some, it is a matter of convincing taxpayers and state legislators that appropriating money for faculty salaries is even more important than appropriating money for campus buildings. (Curiously, buildings are usually easier to "sell" than pay raises, despite the seemingly obvious fact that no one was ever educated by a pile of bricks.)

For others, it has been a matter of fund-raising campaigns ("We are writing salary increases into our 1959-60 budget, even though we don't have any idea where the money is coming from," says the president of a privately supported college in the Mid-Atlantic region); of finding additional salary money in budgets that are already spread thin ("We're cutting back our library's book budget again, to gain some funds in the salary accounts"); of tuition increases ("This is about the only private enterprise in the country which gladly subsidizes its customers; maybe we're crazy"); of promoting research contracts ("We claim to be a privately supported university, but what would we do without the AEC?"); and of bargaining.

"The tendency to bargain, on the part of both the colleges and the teachers, is a deplorable development," says the dean of a university in the South. But it is a growing practice. As a result, inequities have developed: the teacher in a field in which people are in short supply or in industrial demand—or the teacher who is adept at "campus politics"—is likely to fare better than his colleagues who are less favorably situated.

"Before you check with the administration on the actual appointment of a specific individual," says a faculty man quoted in the recent and revealing book, The Academic Marketplace, "you can be honest and say to the man, 'Would you be interested in coming at this amount?' and he says, 'No, but I would be interested at this amount.'" One result of such bargaining has been that newly hired faculty members often make more money than was paid to the people they replace—a happy circumstance for the newcomers, but not likely to raise the morale of others on the faculty.

"We have been compelled to set the beginning salary of such personnel as physics professors at least $1,500 higher than salaries in such fields as history, art, physical education, and English," wrote the dean of faculty in a state college in the Rocky Mountain area, in response to a recent government questionnaire dealing with salary practices. "This began about 1954 and has worked until the present year, when the differential perhaps may be increased even more."

Bargaining is not new in Academe (Thorstein Veblen referred to it in The Higher Learning, which he wrote in 1918), but never has it been as widespread or as much a matter of desperation as today. In colleges and universities, whose members like to think of themselves as equally dedicated to all fields of human knowledge, it may prove to be a weakening factor of serious proportions.

Many colleges and universities have managed to make modest across-the-board increases, designed to restore part of the faculty's lost purchasing power. In the 1957-58 academic year, 1,197 institutions, 84.5 per cent of those answering a U.S. Office of Education survey question on the point, gave salary increases of at least 5 per cent to their faculties as a whole. More than half of them (248 public institutions and 329 privately supported institutions) said their action was due wholly or in part to the teacher shortage.

Others have found fringe benefits to be a partial answer. Providing low-cost housing is a particularly successful way of attracting and holding faculty members; and since housing is a major item in a family budget, it is as good as or better than a salary increase. Oglethorpe University in Georgia, for example, a 200-student, private, liberal arts institution, long ago built houses on campus land (in one of the most desirable residential areas on the outskirts of Atlanta), which it rents to faculty members at about one-third the area's going rate. (The cost of a three-bedroom faculty house: $50 per month.) "It's our major selling point," says Oglethorpe's president, Donald Agnew, "and we use it for all it's worth."

Dartmouth, in addition to attacking the salary problem itself, has worked out a program of fringe benefits that includes full payment of retirement premiums (16 per cent of each faculty member's annual salary), group insurance coverage, paying the tuition of faculty children at any college in the country, liberal mortgage loans, and contributing to the improvement of local schools which faculty members' children attend.

Taking care of trouble spots while attempting to whittle down the salary problem as a whole, searching for new funds while reapportioning existing ones, the colleges and universities are dealing with their salary crises as best they can, and sometimes ingeniously. But still the gap between salary increases and the rising figures on the Bureau of Labor Statistics' consumer price index persists.

HOW CAN THE GAP BE CLOSED?

First, stringent economies must be applied by educational institutions themselves. Any waste that occurs, as well as most luxuries, is probably being subsidized by low salaries. Some "waste" may be hidden in educational theories so old that they are accepted without question; if so, the theories must be re-examined and, if found invalid, replaced with new ones. The idea of the small class, for example, has long been honored by administrators and faculty members alike; there is now reason to suspect that large classes can be equally effective in many courses—a suspicion which, if found correct, should be translated into action by those institutions which are able to do so. Tuition may have to be increased—a prospect at which many public-college, as well as many private-college, educators shudder, but which appears justified and fair if the increases can be tied to a system of loans, scholarships, and tuition rebates based on a student's or his family's ability to pay.

Second, massive aid must come from the public, both in the form of taxes for increased salaries in state and municipal institutions and in the form of direct gifts to both public and private institutions. Anyone who gives money to a college or university for unrestricted use or earmarked for faculty salaries can be sure that he is making one of the best possible investments in the free world's future. If he is himself a college alumnus, he may consider it a repayment of a debt he incurred when his college or university subsidized a large part of his own education (virtually nowhere does, or did, a student's tuition cover costs). If he is a corporation executive or director, he may consider it a legitimate cost of doing business; the supply of well-educated men and women (the alternative to which is half-educated men and women) is dependent upon it. If he is a parent, he may consider it a premium on a policy to insure high-quality education for his children—quality which, without such aid, he can be certain will deteriorate.

Plain talk between educators and the public is a third necessity. The president of Barnard College, Millicent C. McIntosh, says: "The 'plight' is not of the faculty, but of the public. The faculty will take care of themselves in the future either by leaving the teaching profession or by never entering it. Those who care for education, those who run institutions of learning, and those who have children—all these will be left holding the bag." It is hard to believe that if Americans—and particularly college alumni and alumnae—had been aware of the problem, they would have let faculty salaries fall into a sad state. Americans know the value of excellence in higher education too well to have blithely let its basic element—excellent teaching—slip into its present peril. First we must rescue it; then we must make certain that it does not fall into disrepair again.

Some Questions for Alumni and Alumnae

- ▶ Is your Alma Mater having difficulty finding qualified new teachers to fill vacancies and expand its faculty to meet climbing enrollments?
- ▶ Has the economic status of faculty members of your college kept up with inflationary trends?
- ▶ Are the physical facilities of your college, including laboratories and libraries, good enough to attract and hold qualified teachers?
- ▶ Is your community one which respects the college teacher? Is the social and educational environment of your college's "home town" one in which a teacher would like to raise his family?
- ▶ Are the restrictions on time and freedom of teachers at your college such as to discourage adventurous research, careful preparation of instruction, and the expression of honest conviction?
- ▶ To meet the teacher shortage, is your college forced to resort to hiring practices that are unfair to segments of the faculty it already has?
- ▶ Are courses of proved merit being curtailed? Are classes becoming larger than subject matter or safeguards of teacher-student relationships would warrant?
- ▶ Are you, as an alumnus, and your college as an institution, doing everything possible to encourage talented young people to pursue careers in college teaching?

If you are dissatisfied with the answers to these questions, your college may need help. Contact alumni officials at your college to learn if your concern is justified. If it is, register your interest in helping the college authorities find solutions through appropriate programs of organized alumni cooperation.

EDITORIAL STAFF

DAVID A. BURR The University of Oklahoma	FRANCES PROVENCE Baylor University
DAN H. FENN, Jr. Harvard University	ROBERT M. RHODES Lehigh University
RANDOLPH L. FORT Emory University	WILLIAM SCHRAMM The University of Pennsylvania
CORBIN GWALTNEY The Johns Hopkins University	VERNE A. STADTMAN The University of California
L. FRANKLIN HEALD The University of New Hampshire	FREDERIC A. STOTT, Jr. Phillips Academy, Andover
CHARLES M. HELMKEN St. John's University	FRANK J. TATE The Ohio State University
JEAN D. LINEHAN The American Alumni Council	ERIK WENSBERG Columbia University
ROBERT L. PAYTON Washington University	CHARLES E. WIDMAYER Dartmouth College
MARIAN POVERMAN Barnard College	REBA WILCOXON The University of Arkansas
CHESLEY WORTHINGTON Brown University

ACKNOWLEDGMENTS

Photographs: ALAN J. BEARDEN
Printing: R. R. DONNELLEY & SONS Co.

This survey was made possible in part by funds granted by Carnegie Corporation of New York. That Corporation is not, however, the author, owner, publisher, or proprietor of this publication and is not to be understood as approving by virtue of its grant any of the statements made or views expressed therein.

The editors are indebted to Loren C. Eiseley, professor of anthropology at the University of Pennsylvania, for his contributions to the introductory picture section of this report.

No part of this report may be reprinted without express permission of the editors.

Students Recognize Gap in Financing

COLLEGE STUDENTS are sometimes thought to be uninformed or unconcerned about the problems of college administration and finance. "Tuition" and "fees" are familiar financial terms, but "salaries" and "endowments" are often outside their interest and understanding. Few college students appreciate that there is a gap between the financing their fee-payments provide and the total cost of their education—a gap that present endowments cannot bridge, and a gap that keeps faculty salaries low.

It is encouraging to find some students alive to the financial problems which campaigns like Bucknell's Dual Development Fund help to solve. The following student editorial in a recent issue of The Bucknellian, student publication of the University, is reproduced as a happy instance:

Complete the Seats

In administration of a university, the question arises: how does a university attract high quality professors, and once having them, how can it retain them?

Highly trained people often do not go into teaching; they prefer to apply knowledge rather than to expound and share it. Today's universities, therefore, compete with industry for psychologists, economists, and scientists. Colleges battle with the federal government for language majors and political scientists and tussle with basic scientific research for pharmaceutical and medical experts.

Bucknell spars no less than any other privately-endowed institutions in a match for good professors in all departments. However, this school, having few endowed chairs and lecture-ships to bring superior professors to the campus, is severely handicapped.

At present, Bucknell has three chairs endowed in name only. Carrying the magnificent honor of a title, these chairs in the fields of philosophy, English literature, and economics receive no remuneration above and beyond a regular professor's salary. The Lindback chair, a fourth chair now being established in business administration, will amount to $10,000 per year, the first chair to be endowed by a separate fund.

And what of endowed chairs in the sciences, mathematics, history, political science, sociology, foreign languages, and engineering? There are none. No additional funds exist to attract professors to endowed chairs and to keep good people on the campus. Bucknell is fast approaching the status of a front-rank university; it lacks only the funds.

Christian R. Lindback of Philadelphia was a Trustee of Bucknell 1937-50, and honorary chairman of the Board 1947-50. A grant of $125,000 from the Lindback Foundation for the establishment of the Christian R. Lindback Chair in Economics and Business Administration is made contingent on raising of an equal amount in the Dual Development Fund Campaign.

IN EXPLANATION

Of the Relationship between the Annual Alumni Fund Appeal and the Dual Development Fund (capital gifts) Campaign.

IN THE BUCKNELL ALUMNUS for March 1959 there was printed the resolution passed by the Board of Directors of the General Alumni Association spelling out the adjustment to be made between the Alumni Fund (annual giving) and the Dual Development Fund (capital gifts).

That some confusion remains, however, is shown by the questions being asked by alumni. The most frequent are as follows:

1. Q. Is an Alumni Fund appeal now being carried on?

A. Yes. The regular 1958-59 annual Alumni Fund appeal is now in progress and will continue to the close of the current Fund year, June 30, 1959.

2. Q. Are gifts now being sought for the Dual Development Fund?

A. Yes—but from special prospects only. Some alumni are among these, but so also are parents, friends, corporations and foundations. No general appeal is now being made for the capital gifts program.

3. Q. When will the general appeal be made?

A. In the fall of 1959—between September 15 and December 31.

4. Q. Will those who give to the capital gifts program be solicited for the Alumni Fund as well?

A. No. During the next three years the Alumni Fund will be merged with the Dual Development Fund. Beginning in the fall of 1959, each alumnus will be asked to make as generous a gift as he can to the Dual Development Fund, payable over a three-year period. During the years in which the pledge is being paid, the giver will not be solicited for the Alumni Fund.

5. Q. Will donors to the capital program be listed as contributors to the Alumni Fund?

A. Yes. Contributors of cash or pledges to the capital gifts program, whenever made, will be credited also as Alumni Fund contributors for "Roll of Contributors" and "Continuity and Regularity" purposes in the 1959-60, 1960-61, and 1961-62 Fund years and for any subsequent year in which payments are being made on capital gifts pledges.

A principal point is that alumni generally will not be asked to give to the Alumni Fund and to the capital gifts program in the same Fund year. Both the annual and the capital programs are essential to the progress of Bucknell. Neither will be sacrificed to the other. For the general body of alumni the calendar is: Alumni Fund giving up to June 30, 1959; from that date to the end of 1959 capital gifts pledging on a three-year basis.

ANNOUNCING - THE LIFE INCOME PLAN

The Board of Trustees have recently authorized and endorsed another way of giving to the University—through the Life Income Plan. It enables an alumnus or friend of Bucknell to make a gift to the University, of cash, securities, or other property, and to receive an annual income from the earnings of the gift for the rest of his life and, also, for the life of a loved one. This way of giving involves substantial tax savings, and affords a present philanthropy that might otherwise be impossible.

If you would like to learn more about this method of giving that combines prudence with generosity, or if you would like to present the idea to a friend, please send for the new Life Income Plan pamphlet:

WESLEY N. HAINES
Director of Development
Bucknell University
Lewisburg, Pennsylvania

Please send me _____ copy(ies) of the Life Income Plan pamphlet.

Name

Address

City and State

CLASS REPORTS

(Continued from Page 10)

Ohio. He is buried in the Lewisburg Cemetery.

After these sad items it is cheering to recount more pleasant news of Percy Andrews. Percy has recently been elected to the Board of Directors of the First Seneca Bank of Clarion. This adds one more to his heavy business and financial responsibilities in the New Bethlehem area. He is president and treasurer of the C. E. Andrews Lumber Company which has been in operation for more than a century; he is president and treasurer of the Andrews Real Estate Company and the Citizens Water Company; vice president and director of the Meadow River Lumber Company of Rainelle, W. Va., largest hardwood lumber company in the United States. He is also a director of the Meadow River Coal and Land Company, and vice president and director of the Raine Lumber and Coal Company of Duo, W. Va. Percy and his good wife, the former Mary E. Halfpenny '05, are loyal Bucknellians, returning often to Lewisburg for college events, and taking a great interest in the development of the University.

08

MRS. JOHN H. MATHIAS
(Margaret W. Pangburn)
202 St. Louis St.
Lewisburg, Pa.

Clarence Edward Long, professional engineer, died December 12, 1958, at Greensburg, where he had long made his home and practiced his profession. While not originally a member of the Class of 1908 at Bucknell, he was graduated with the class and attended all our recent reunions. With his wife, the former Catharine Barnhart, he was present at all the events of our 50th Reunion last June. Immediately after graduation at Bucknell, he served as inspector for the Board of Public Works in the City of Harrisburg. For four years, from 1910 to 1914, he was an instructor at Carnegie Tech. From 1914 until his death, he was an active practitioner in engineering, a member of the American Society of Civil Engineers, the Society of American Military Engineers, the National Society of Professional Engineers, and a Fellow of the American Association for the Advancement of Science. In 1954 he served as president of the Westmoreland Chapter, Pennsylvania Society of Professional Engineers, and two years later was elected vice president of the state society. Through articles in professional journals, he was an enthusiastic advocate of construction of a waterway to link the New York State Canal System, near Rochester, with the Allegheny River, near Pittsburgh. His home address was New Alexandria, R. D., Greensburg. His wife survives him. Burial was at his boyhood home at Shippensburg.

09

MRS. HOWARD L. HEADLAND
(Sarah E. Walters)
3911 First Ave., N.
St. Petersburg 13, Fla.

REUNE IN JUNE

Sweet spring is here! Everywhere those delicate beginnings of new growth, that matchless blue in the late March sky and the caressingly warm sun call me outdoors. But, just a moment, this bit of news must be collected first and sent off to meet the deadline.

In the list of classes holding reunions this year appears 1909 (Golden). Ah! That's our business now and we feel like adding the wood opportunity to it; for it is a golden opportunity indeed for those of us who are still among the living and are able to be on the Bucknell campus from June 5 to 7 this year. We are invited and urged to be there and even so early as this many plans are in the making for our pleasure and enjoyment. So come by plane, train, car or boat and join in "Ray, Bucknell" as we used to do so long ago. Let nothing deter you.

Did you read the philosophy of Geraldine Farrar in a late Newsweek? "Seventy-seven is almost a venerable age but I am glad that the wheels of my adjustment are well oiled. I'm always happy because I have great resources, and instead of time hanging heavy on my hands, I don't have enough of it." Is she writing a book? "My goodness, no!" she said, "I'm still living one."

More acceptances to our "Golden" time come in daily. Frank Gibson, Box 726, Orange City, Fla., expects to be present. Gertrude Lillian Turner, "Shorty" Posten, Lillian Turner, Eunice Hall Johnson, R. H. Kauffman, Charles Hilbish, Heber Youngken, Albert Owens, Newton Fetter and Charles Fries expect to be there.

It is reported that Kappa Sigma is having a gathering at Commencement time. If that is so, we will surely expect to see Matt Haggerty, Doc Leiser and Allen Ritter.

In conclusion, let me say this: The Lord is the strength of my life.

11

LYMAN C. SHREVE, ESQ.
512 Masonic Temple
Erie, Pa.

Bob Lowry was with us during our freshman and sophomore years and then he went to Princeton, where he was graduated with an A.B. in 1912. He spent over two years with F. W. Woolworth Company and then became an anthracite coal operator until 1936 when he retired. He was married to Rose R. Robertson on January 9, 1918, and they spend their summers at Asbury Park, N. J., where they have a summer home. Bob's permanent address is 822 N. Rock St., Shamokin.

Eleanor G. Raup was married to George H. Plant on January 28, 1922. She has a daughter, Jane G. Plant, who is a technical writer for Bendix Aviation Corporation. Eleanor has spent some time in London, England, and writes that she has kept busy with home duties and church work. Her address is 828 Pack Ave., Baltimore 1, Md.

12

MRS. H. W. HOUSEKNECHT
(Maze Callahan)
108 W. Penn St.
Muncy, Pa.

EDITOR'S NOTE: Due to lack of space in previous issues of THE BUCKNELL ALUMNUS, the following article on the Connors' (A. Cleveland and Alberta Bronson) trip to the Far East has not been published. With the approval of Mrs. Houseknecht we are printing the account of their trip in this column.

THE CONNERS' 12 TOUR THE EAST

A friend drove us from Ardmore to New York on April 4. We flew to Seattle where we were met by cousins who entertained us over Easter. They drove us to Vancouver to take the S. S. Himalaya, an Australian vessel bound from there to Honolulu. We stopped over in San Francisco for two days and friends took us sight-seeing there. The Himalaya had never been north before and everywhere we were met and sent off with excitement, bands playing, escort of helicopters overhead, and fire-boats with water-jet salutes.

We stayed in Honolulu only two days at this time, leaving the longer visit for our return trip. We were met by Leon Rhodes '32 and had a wonderful afternoon, dinner and evening talking about Bucknell. Others who received word from Buck, did not have time to change appointments.

We flew from there to Tokyo by J. A. L.; were met by cousins, Dr. and Mrs. Gordy of University of Michigan, who were on a two-year contract to University of Waseda in Tokyo—3700 students. We stayed at International House and were sponsored by the President of Waseda University and by Dr. and Mrs. Charles Fries '09 of Bucknell and University of Michigan. On April 22 we had a hilarious Bucknell dinner at International House—Agnes ('19) and Charles '09 Fries; "Bunny" (Bernice Holz '32) Goodrich and Dick Goodrich (summer, graduate student '32); and ourselves '12. I had a cordial message also from Mary Lou Hind Palmore '52 from Magoya inviting us to visit them.

In Japan, we visited Buddhist Temples, Shinto Shrines, Christian Missions and colleges, hotels heated by natural hot springs and rode on old and modern subways. We saw and lived on the edge of Japanese gardens of unbelievable beauty and were entertained in Japanese homes. In one marvelous place, we were invited for the day—our two cousins, ourselves and two sophomores at International Christian College, friends of the older son of the family—one a Japanese student, the other, John D. Rockefeller IV. The aunt of our hostess had been Lady in Waiting to the Empress Meiji. There we saw chests and chests of fabulous allover hand-embroidered court kimonos, as well as ancient lacquer ware and furniture.

After we left Japan, we returned to sight-seeing in Honolulu and Pearl Harbor; went island-hopping; inspected volcanoes, museums, factories, rehabilitation centers, a fern grotto, and all sorts of unusual landscapes. And how can I describe the leis, particularly one made entirely of orchids? Especially important was the appointment we had with the Mayor of Honolulu, Neal Blaisdell '26. He is an utterly charming and disarming personality, friendly and gracious. He presented us with a bowl of polished native wood, with an engraved silver plaque on its side.

We flew back to the good old U. S. A., went sight-seeing in Los Angeles a few days, including Disneyland, and then home.

13

HOWARD V. FISHER, ESQ.
1319 Reading Blvd.
Wyomissing, Pa.

On September 30, 1958, Leslie W. Stout retired as vice president and manager of the Rehoboth Branch of the Farmers Bank of the State of Delaware. Leslie was first employed by the First National Bank of Dover, Del., after being graduated from the Wilmington Conference in that city (now known as Wesley College). He resigned this position in 1909 in order to enter Bucknell. During the summers throughout his college career Leslie worked in the Franklin National Bank in Philadelphia. From 1913 to 1938, when he was invalided for three years by a heart attack, Leslie was associated with Laird and Co., Wilmington, Del., New York stock exchange brokers, and the Industrial Trust Co., of which he was one of the founders. In 1941 he assumed the management of Rehoboth Trust Co., serving as its secretary and treasurer and later as its president until 1955, at which time the Trust Co. was amalgamated with the Farmers Bank of the State of Delaware (a bank chartered in 1807). He served the latter as vice president and manager until his retirement. Leslie plans to be present for our 46th anniversary.

LESLIE W. STOUT

14 MRS. H. B. WEAVER
(Dora Hamler)
348 Ridge Ave.
New Kensington, Pa.

REUNE IN JUNE

Jesse Riley is now assistant to the president of Alderson-Broaddus College, Philippi, W. Va., with two months off in the winter. From Floral City, Fla., he writes in part: "December 29th we left the hills of West Virginia for the sunny South. When we were in Lewisburg in September, I made arrangements for our class to have a dinner at the Lewisburger Hotel, Friday evening of Commencement Week. The proprietor told me the hotel can accommodate one such dinner only an evening, and so that if I wanted to reserve the dining hall I should do so then. I told him to hold it for the Class of '14 . . . I'll see you at Bucknell in June."

So mark your calendars for this dinner June 5.

Dr. Samuel H. Markowitz had a high honor bestowed on him by his Alma Mater this year. At the special convocation exercises on January 17, 1959, he received the honorary degree of Doctor of Literature, "for devotion and distinguished service to his people, for loyalty to his alma mater and to our common heritage." Dr. Markowitz is Rabbi of Beth David Congregation of Philadelphia. The Class of 1914 sends congratulations to this member who has been so highly honored.

L. F. Lyne, Jr., who now lives at 205 Edgemont Drive, Allenhurst, N. J., says he will be back in June for our 45th anniversary and he hopes that Charlie Coleman and Puff Lindberg will be there also.

The Stahlers (Harry and Besse) are now living at 4505 Cottage Place, Apt. 11, Union City, N. J.

Florence Reimensnyder lives in Milton and expects to be at Bucknell for our anniversary.

For latest news come to our anniversary dinner June 5.

15 MISS MARION R. BANCROFT
1308 Ninth St.
Altoona, Pa.

Jere B. Bates has been elected president of the Bucknell Alumni Club of Union County. After retiring in October, 1956, as salesman of educational materials in Eastern Pennsylvania for the McCormick-Mathers Publishing Company, Jere went into the greenhouse business as a hobby. He is now proprietor of "The Flower Pot" at 265 Green St., Mifflinburg. He is secretary of the Mifflinburg Area Chamber of Commerce; a director of the Susquehanna Economic Development Association, operating in seven counties in the area; president of the local Kiwanis Club; and treasurer of his church. Jere writes that while he was travelling, he helped to found the Pennsylvania Educational Salesmen's Club, the largest such organization in the United States. He was a charter member of the Professional Bookmen of America, the only organization of its kind in the world.

Dr. Edward O. Clark, minister emeritus of the Chevy Chase Baptist Church, Washington, D. C., is the interim minister of the Madison Avenue Baptist Church, New York City, beginning his ministry there March 8, 1959. This church, one of the historic Baptist pulpits in New York City, has been served by The Reverend Ralph Curry Walker, D.D., who has been called to the pastorate of the First Baptist Church, Temple City, Calif. Dr. Clark retired from the pastorate of the Chevy Chase Baptist Church in 1956, after serving there for 32 years.

New address: Mrs. Jessie (Jerry) Oswald Molloy, Brynwood Apts., H7, Brynwood Road, Wynnwood.

16 THE REV. ERIC A. ESTERLE
114 East 188th St.
New York 68, N. Y.

"Lester Switzer retired from the Bell Telephone Company of Pennsylvania on February 1, 1958, and lives at 208 N. 30th St., Penbrook, Harrisburg, where he has lived for quite a few years. He had worked for them since graduation."

Dr. James E. Nancarrow of Drexel Hill has been elected vice president of the National Association of Secondary School Principals.

Club Officers: M. Florence Rollins, re-elected vice president of the Bucknell Alumni Club of Altoona; Mrs. Amy Patterson Stevenson elected treasurer of the Bucknell Alumni Club of Monmouth-Ocean.

17 MRS. ERLE M. TOPHAM
(C. Ray Speare)
425 West Sedgwick St.
Philadelphia 19, Pa.

Mrs. Erle M. Topham '15 (C. Ray Speare) has been re-elected a member of the executive committee of the Bucknell Alumni Club of Philadelphia.

Richard E. Thomas lives at 1128 Drexel Ave., Drexel Hill. He is seldom home. Dick has an executive position with the Bell Telephone Co. and is traveling a great deal. We are lucky when we can catch him home long enough to attend our Philadelphia B. U. Alumni dinners. He and Mrs. Thomas have a son who is married and lives in Chestnut Hill.

It was interesting to me to note in the Class of 1947 alumni news that Earle S. Pedigo, Jr., has come to Marcus Hook. That is the same place his Dad worked about 40 or more years ago. He was with DuPont and I visited them in Claymont, Del., I think it was even before Tip and I were married.

Ethel Ward may be addressed at 1018 N. Jackson St., Wilmington 6, Del. She has taught there for many years and has won several honors for her work with the high school magazine. Ethel says she hasn't any news now but will dig some up for me later. In the course of her life she has had some very interesting trips to Canada, Mexico, Europe and has visited most of our United States. At present she is doing volunteer work at one of their hospitals.

I still think Charlie Siple '22 belongs to us and I get a note from him every once in a while. Charlie says his visiting was curtailed this year due to tutoring, but he did get down to North Carolina where he used to teach and had a grand time there. He says, "Brother Lew '18 and his wife spent three weeks in Europe last summer combining business and pleasure." Charlie's son Wade bought a home just about five miles away and he has enjoyed their family ever so much. He is a proud grandpa of a two-month old boy and a granddaughter in the second grade who is very smart, as he says all grandparents think. Charlie is substituting in the high school occasionally and works on the books of a local hardware store in the mornings. He likes to hear from old friends and will be happy to answer your letters if you write to him. In the course of this last year he has heard from Sprout, Bertin and Champion.

18 MRS. LAYTON E. KING
(Elizabeth Champion)
10 N. Loyalsock Ave.
Montoursville, Pa.

Read in the local paper that Hazard and Mrs. Chase's son, Richard, had become engaged to a young woman from Arcanum, Okla., Miss Virginia Royer. Richard is a graduate of the Eastman School of Music, has a Master of Science in educational psychology from the University of Utah and at present is a member of the Wichita Symphony Orchestra and a counselor at the North High School in that city. Congratulations Hazard, I know you are awfully proud of your son and his achievements.

Herbert C. Grice, Sr., has been re-elected treasurer of the Bucknell Alumni Club of Union County.

What does one do to get news? In the course of the past few years I have sent a letter to each and every member of the class—they must have been received, because the letters did not come back to me. Or is it that people just do not read and answer their mail?

How about answering my questions and while you are doing that give me some news of yourself and family?

19 DR. FRANKLIN D. JONES
2617 St. David's Lane
Ardmore, Pa.

REUNE IN JUNE

On December 23, 1958, Chester R. Leaber was appointed a senior vice president of The First National City Bank of New York.

Lloyd "Scow" Garner will be remembered as one of our varsity basketballers. He is retired and has been living at 8003 Northern, Raytown, Mo. He and his wife have been in Florida and expect to be here in June for that BIG 40th Reunion.

Dr. John D. Shoemaker is a dentist in Saltsburg.

Ruth Stein has been in library work in Dayton, Ohio, both city and county, since graduation. She had the thrill last year of starting a new library in a new city, the city of Kettering, Ohio, population 57,000, organized in 1952. She will be here in June and is getting all her friends to be back at the same time.

Now how about all of you members of the Class of 1919—are you getting all your friends lined up so that we will have our group reunions as well as the Class 40th Reunion?

20 MR. HAYES L. PERSON
60 S. Third St.
Lewisburg, Pa.

Dr. Lester E. Lighton has been elected a member of the executive committee of the Bucknell Alumni Club of Philadelphia.

21 MRS. ELLWOOD S. DERR
(Sara Bernhart)
1360 Jefferson Ave.
Lewisburg, Pa.

We are happy to report that Ray Bateman, younger son of Mr. and Mrs. C. Palmer Bateman (Lydia Coene) has been elected as an Assemblyman from Somerset County to the State Legislature in Trenton, N. J.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy W. Sauers (Ruth E. Klechner) are building a new home in Mifflinburg which they expect to occupy sometime this year. They have recently become grandparents for the sixth time. Congratulations!

22 MRS. GEORGE C. WOLFE
(Ruth H. Brown)
60 S. Second St.
Lewisburg, Pa.

Daniel W. Davis has been re-elected treasurer of the Bucknell Alumni Club of Chambersburg.

Congratulations are forwarded to Leona Dickrager for accepting the position of class fund manager for our class.

23 MRS. LEROY FRONTZ
(Olive W. Billhime)
Evergreen Farm
Allenwood, Pa.

Vivian Livingston Ferguson made her second trip to Europe last summer with a group from Temple University. They visited Brussels, Amsterdam, Cologne, Berlin, Copenhagen, Helsinki, Leningrad, Moscow, Warsaw, Prague, Salzburg, Vienna, Geneva, Paris and London. In London she spent some time with her brother, Lynn, an officer in "SAC." On her own she visited the lake country of Scotland and the Edinburgh Music Festival. The group's guide in Russia was one who had assisted Gunther in gathering material for Inside Russia and inasmuch as the book had not been released there, she was interested in learning their reactions to it. Vivian's son, Bob, is employed by Ball Construction Co. in California and her daughter, Betty Jean, lives in Tulsa, Okla. There are four granddaughters. Vivian's address is 57 Curtis Ave., Manasquan, N. J., where she is a high school librarian.

24 MRS. PAUL CUPP
(Louise Benshoff)
933 Muirfield Road
Bryn Mawr, Pa.

REUNE IN JUNE

"No life is so strong and complete
But it yearns for the smile of a friend."

—Bruce.

Plans are in full swing for a reunion to top all others June 5th, 6th and 7th. Gene Gerlach Moore reports continued interest in the questionnaires sent to each member in February. Gene says: "Of the first 24 replies, 15 are positive of returning and 18 are just as positive of sending checks to Bucknell . . . How about YOU?"

Mary Lape Horner (Johnstown) is still very active in Eastern Star, having served ten years as secretary. Mary is kept quite busy with part-time work—as an officer in the Republican Club and as a member of the election board, civic club, church circle and bridge clubs. Mary and Tom have a married son, a married daughter and two girls at home.

James N. Patterson, M.D., continues his professional activities in his home state of Florida and in areas far removed from Tampa. His recent activities include membership on the Board of Governors of the Florida Medical Association, Chairman of the Committee of Blood, member of the Liaison Committee of the Medical Schools of the Florida Medical Association, seventh year of service on the Committee on Publication of the Journal of the Florida Medical Association, member of the American Board of Pathology, for which organization he conducted examinations at Harvard Medical College in April. He was a member of a panel on Blood Coagulation Defects at the meeting of the American Society of Clinical Pathologists in Chicago.

L. F. Hartman has been re-elected president of the Bucknell Alumni Club of Bellefonte.

25 MRS. DANIEL HOPPER, JR.
(Mildred C. Francisco)
36 Van Doren Ave.
Chatham, N. J.

Mary Schilling Berg visited with her eldest daughter, Mary Joe, and family, including two grandchildren in Schenectady, N. Y. Mary came north to attend her husband's graduation from General Electric Advanced Management School. Her second daughter, Jerrie, is a junior at Miami University in Oxford, Ohio, and her youngest daughter, Karen, is a senior in high school. Last year, an American Field Service student lived with them for the school year and they enjoyed many interesting experiences. At present, Mary is taking courses at the University of Louisville to help with her substitute teaching and, as Mary says, "to remove the rust."

Dollie Schaffner Dietrich is teaching English and Problems of American Democracy in Reading Senior High School. She now feels she will at least know all about politics.

Harold Roles is teaching in the junior high school and Albert "Aps" Harris is located in the senior high school. Both are located in the Reading system.

The entire class extends deepest sympathy to the families of Charles H. Drum, Abram J. Gaskill and Mary A. Porter, who have passed away in recent months.

The name of Mrs. Kenneth L. Cober (Clara Price), 221 Treaty Rd., Drexel Hill, has appeared in the first issue of Who's Who of American Women. Over 19,000 names are in the volume.

Highlight for 1958 for the Tom Hines (Kay Glase), of 109 Hilldale Drive, San Anselmo, Calif., was a six-week cruise to the Orient. They found Hong Kong and Japan little changed and lovely as ever. Manila still bears the scars of war and corrupt self-government. They found it depressing in comparison to the old days.

I, as your class reporter, keep busy in church work, in a Twig Group, working for one of our state mental hospitals, but I am no longer in the teaching career. I am eager and available to receive all communications and am very appreciative of the answers to my letters.

26 MISS ANNA L. BROWN
45 Wildwood Ave.
Pitman, N. J.

Listed in the first edition of a new publication, Who's Who of American Women, is the name of Dr. Ruth Miller Steese.

We are very proud to have as a member of our class Neal Blaisdell who is the mayor of Honolulu, Hawaii. It must have been a real occasion for him as Hawaii was voted in the fiftieth state. It would be nice to hear from Neal, and catch up on what has been happening to him since graduation.

27 MRS. L. H. COLLISON
(Grace M. Pfeifer)
Marydel, Md.

What a joy it is to be able to greet you with oodles of news from the isles of the Pacific to dear old Pennsy-land! In answer to my letter request for news I received twenty-two replies. Not many, to be sure, but enough to keep our Class of '27 in newsprint. You will read about your classmates in the order of their replies—so here goes! (And, if you still haven't sent me some news about that most important person, YOU, please do.) There's always another issue of THE BUCKNELL ALUMNUS in the offing.

Writes Harry Ruhl, of 639 Bloom Rd., Danville—"Thanks for the publicity you gave me in the last BUCKNELL ALUMNUS. My appeal letter will be mailed."

Milton C. Endres, of 6903 Wayne Ave., Philadelphia 19, says, "Thanks for your nice reminder. Too many of us think how nice it is that someone acts as class reporter, but don't give much support. The past year has been fruitful as a management consultant, but we are most grateful that our older daughter has entered Smith College (she preferred an all-girl school). Her name is Elaine, and our younger, Judith, is still at Springside School as a sophomore."

Richard Vastine—we all knew him as Dick—extends a word of sympathy in that he has been editor of the Rotary Club weekly bulletin (Union, Union County, N. J.) and knows how hard it is to "pull out information from people." He continues, "I am leaving by jet plane for a ten-day trip to the west coast on February 27. Was invited to be on the program of the National Elementary School Principals' Convention at Los Angeles, Calif. From there I will fly up to San Francisco to visit several elementary schools with special emphasis on what they are doing for the academically gifted child. From there I'll be flying over the Rockies to Denver for a similar visitation. At Colorado I will make an official visit at the Air Force Academy on March 7, returning home on March 9. Our school system is making an intensive study of the academically talented child, and by some quirk of circumstances I found myself handed the job of chairman of a professional committee representing 400 teachers on a project called 'In Pursuit of Excellence'." Dick, by the way, is acting principal of the Hamilton School in Union, N. J.

28 MRS. H. MONTGOMERY MARSH, JR.
(Lorinne Martin)
60 Prospect Hill Ave.
Summit, N. J.

Randall L. Davis, veteran in the field of hotel management, has been appointed general manager of the new Sheraton-Dallas Hotel opened in March in Dallas, Texas. Their new building is the tallest building west of the Mississippi River and already has convention bookings for as long ahead as 1963.

29 MISS THELMA SHOWALTER
425 Market St.
Mifflinburg, Pa.

REUNE IN JUNE

June 6 is just around the corner! From all reports, you can not afford to miss this really big occasion—our 30th reunion. Raldo Shipman of Sunbury is our social chairman, and is doing a real job with plans for an afternoon "get-to-gether" at the Milton Country Club. It promises to be better than even our 25th.

Dot Lemon Bailey reports that she has received about 50% of the completed questionnaires. These have been edited and turned over to the Alumni Office, so work on the reunion booklet is progressing. But where are the other 50%? If you have not already sent yours to Dottie, please do it now.

William "Turk" Jones has lined up his area committees, and is very optimistic concerning the results. You will be hearing from these area chairmen—by phone, letter or a personal call. Be a good "committee" member and '29-er, and say, "Yes, I will be there," when they contact you.

Your reporter has had a letter from our president, Paul E. Fink, and he reports that almost everyone has been willing to do a job to make this a real reunion. We are counting on YOU.

John C. Minick, our general chairman, plans to come all the way from Glens Falls, N. Y., before the reunion in order to see that all plans are complete for your enjoyment of the week-end. Let's say, "Thank you," to these hard-working chairmen by being on hand, June 6th.

EDITOR'S NOTE: Listed in the first edition of a new publication, Who's Who of American Women, is the name of Thelma J. Showalter. Thelma has been re-elected secretary of the Bucknell Alumni Club of Union County. She is also a candidate for re-election as commissioner in Union County.

30 MRS. BERNARD F. KLOSTERMAN
(Emmalyn Y. Fuller)
23 Leathers Rd.
South Fort Mitchell, Ky.

Listed in the first edition of a new publication, Who's Who of American Women, is the name of Mrs. Bernard F. Klosterman (Emmalyn Y. Fuller).

Club Officers: Edward E. Bollinger, Jr., elected president of the Bucknell Alumni Club of Lancaster; Mrs. William G. Jones '29 (Sara Bailey), re-elected secretary-treasurer of the Bucknell Alumni Club of Bellefonte.

Dr. Emily Maxwell MacFarland, Mrs. Nona Ballinger Walker and Claibourne Walker

I had a charming letter from Nona Ballinger Walker '31 about our classmate, whom I remember so well and know you will too, Dr. Emily Maxwell MacFarland. Em's husband, Dr. Gordon MacFarland, died about two years ago and shortly before she had started a three-year post-graduate course at the University of Pennsylvania on physical medicine and rehabilitation. After completing the course she accepted the position of chief of PM&R at the Veterans Hospital, Salisbury, N. C. Last month her department was commended so highly that the area director of veterans hospitals made it the training center of the area. Quoting Mrs. Walker—"Pretty good for a beginning."

34

This is the last issue for the academic year. We had every plan made to see you in June then Bernie's large wholesale plant burned to the ground three weeks ago so he is real busy starting a new bakery.

31 MRS. W. ZELMAN SLEIGHTER
(Ruth J. Thomas)
833 Chestnut St.
Mifflinburg, Pa.

Listed in the first edition of a new publication, Who's Who of American Women, is the name of Trennie E. Easley.

Paul M. Showalter recently placed the Sigma Chi pin on his son Graham at initiation ceremonies at Davidson College, Davidson, N. C., where he is completing his freshman year. Graham co-captained the freshman basketball team and is now playing with the freshman baseball squad.

Paul is a Lewisburg attorney and has announced his candidacy for district attorney.

Ann Simpson, daughter of James and Helen (Hoffner '34) Simpson, is a freshman at Cornell. Ann has just been pledged Tri Delta.

32 MR. ELLIS F. HULL
11 Broad St.
Allentown, N. J.

In June, 1958, William J. Curnow was elected treasurer of the Ohio Fuel Gas Company and the Ohio Valley Gas Company, both of Columbus, Ohio. In February, 1958, Dr. Odgers appointed him to the University advisory committee for Economics and Business Administration. His oldest son, William J., Jr., is a sophomore pre-medical student at Bucknell.

33 MRS. ERNEST H. ENGELHARDT
(Janet Worthington)
Irontdale Place, Millville Road
Bloomsburg, Pa.

Club Officers: Donald C. Lane, elected vice president of the Bucknell Alumni Club of Connecticut; Franklin H. Cook, re-elected vice president of the Bucknell Alumni Club of Bellefonte; Albert H. Fenstermacher, re-elected treasurer of the Bucknell Alumni Club of Philadelphia.

Woody Woodcock is traveling advertising manager and salesman for the J. E. Fricke Co., Inc., one of the world's largest cordage houses. Woody, Jr., age 14, was a participant in the Little League World Series of 1955 and is attending Haddonfield High, playing football and baseball. Woody's daughter Claire is a most promising English-History teacher. Carolyn, age 22, graduated magna cum laude in 1957 from Bucknell as a Spanish and French major. Woody's major hobbies are scale model trains and small bore target shooting which he finds most fascinating.

In the Syracuse Herald-Journal appeared the following, "Two members of the faculty at the State University Teachers College at Oswego are included in the Who's Who of American Women. Biographies of Mrs. Mabel Leshner Archbold, nurse at the Campus School, and Miss Dorothy Mott, director of admissions at the college, are included in the publication." Mabel has 500 students from nursery school through ninth grade.

Your reporter and husband, Dr. Ernest H. Engelhardt '28, director of secondary education at Bloomsburg State Teachers College, have recently adopted a little girl, nine-year-old Sally. Sally recently appeared in the annual college fashion show. She attends fourth grade at the college Benjamin Franklin Training School. Our son Hans graduates this year from Haverford College, Philadelphia, where he is president of the senior class, member of the Founders Club, president of the Philosophy Club, varsity basketball player for three years, and varsity tennis player for four years. He plans to attend Harvard Law School in the fall of 1959.

34 MRS. WILLIAM S. LIMING
(Ruth E. Rohr)
396 Andrews Rd.
East Williston, N. Y.

REUNE IN JUNE

I'm sure if you have been reading your mail you don't need this reminder. But to make sure you've got the calendar marked and plans made; we "Reune in June" the 5th-7th at Bucknell. Come and meet old friends and see the changes on the campus. I've heard from many who will be there and I'm sure it will be a 25th we'll not forget. Get your room reservations in early so we can be together.

William P. Boger, M.D., who completed a "round the world" trip for purpose of lecturing on medical subjects last year, is scheduled for two important international congresses in the spring of 1959. The first will be in Prague, Czechoslovakia, which is probably the first to be held "behind the curtain" on the subject of antibiotics. The second is scheduled for Milan, Italy. On these extensive foreign trips Bill continues to carry the message of Bucknell University to an ever expanding group of young people. Bill, who is on our reunion committee, writes that he'll be back in time for our reunion. He'll have lots to tell us I'm sure.

Betty Bucher Beuret lives at 20030 Lombond Blvd., Shaker Heights, Ohio, where her husband is vice president of Fuller Smith & Ross Advertising Agency in Cleveland. Son Peter is a junior at Princeton; Martha, Jr., is in high school; Christopher is in sixth grade and Stephen is too young for kindergarten. Betty has been to Hawaii and Europe and is active in new hometown now. She'll have lots to tell us in June!

Since space is limited these are all the notes I can get published now. Remember the date, June 5-7, at Lewisburg. Eddie Myers and committee are counting on your help and your appearance to make this the greatest 25th of any class ever. See you in June!

35 MRS. PAUL L. DESCHANEL
(Ann W. Orr)
Chapel Wood
Gambrells, Md.

I have recently received a letter from Eleanor Romberger Kramer which I think deserves some special recognition. Eleanor attended Bucknell for two years with the Class of '35. A short while ago her husband died, leaving her with five children, one of them a baby. Since then she has been attending Wilson College in order to complete her college work and enter the teaching profession. From her letter, her faith in God, determination to finish her education, and hope for the future shine out in every sentence.

In order to make her college career possible, her two boys attend the Milton Hershey School and her baby spends the week days with her mother. It is a rough schedule, but Eleanor's hope is for the future. Certainly the prayers and hopes of all of us should be with her as she goes through this last semester.

Jack R. Jett writes from 505 Ohio St., Terre Haute, Ind., that he has been prosecuting attorney in Terre Haute for the past fourteen years and is now engaged in private law practice. He is married and has four wonderful children. He sends his greetings to all the 35'ers and I'm sure he would like to hear from his old Bucknell friends.

I am now engaged in another deadline frenzy—that of editor of our county teacher's association publication. I am also contemplating going to college full-time next school term to complete work on my master's degree. It will be my last chance, since there will be two others in college as undergraduates, soon. After all, we oldsters have to keep ahead!

Let's get behind our Alumni Fund and be "tops" in our per cent of participation by 1960 when we have our 25th—as Ed Hartman, our class fund manager so succinctly puts it.

36

MRS. CLYDE E. BURGE
(Lois Montgomery)
124 S. Fifth St.
Lewistown, Pa.

It was wonderful hearing from so many of you and having a dearth of class news to pass on. If all the items are not used for this issue, because of lack of space, they will be held in reserve for the September ALUMNUS.

At the risk of sounding boastful, I think we should feel very proud of our classmates and the worthwhile things they are doing. It is encouraging to note that so many of them are actively engaged in teaching, educational work, and vital civic affairs.

Did you note in the January ALUMNUS that six members of our class have second generation Bucknellians in the Class of 1962?

Dorothy Reeves Lord writes, "I was very happy to have my daughter, Edith, enter Bucknell this fall as a freshman. She finds it to be a grand place—the studies stimulating and a great social life." The Lords have two other children, both in high school. Their home is at 301 High St., Mt. Holly, N. J.

Dr. Harold H. Evans was recently elected vice president of the Bucknell Alumni Club of Union County. Harold, his wife, (Helen Showalter '34) and daughter, Sue, are planning to tour Europe during June and July.

Robert T. "Bob" Jones reports from Ellwood City: "I am presently serving on the Lawrence County School Board and seeking re-election to the local Ellwood City Union School Board this May. Wish me luck; my opponent is a woman."

Mrs. Nelson Wendt (June LeQuatte) reports that her husband is still active in the Bucknell Club of Long Island. June is president of West Nassau Council of Girl Scouts, an organization of some 10,000 girls and 3,500 adults, and is a member of the Garden City Recorder Society. Son, David, graduated from the University of North Carolina last year and daughter, Karen, will be a freshman at Dickinson next fall. The Wendts reside at 595 Foch Blvd., Williston Park, N. Y.

The Dick Engdahls of 1165 Glenn Ave., Columbus, Ohio, are planning to head West this summer for Zion, Bryce and Sequoia Parks. Dick is chief thermal engineer with Battell Memorial Institute, the world's largest independent research laboratory. Dick and his wife, Helen, are parents of one teen-ager, one 9-year old, and foster parents of two teen-agers. They are ardent supporters of World Neighbors, Inc., which promotes self-help projects in Asia. Dick is adviser to an Explorer Post, and a trustee of the First Community Church of Columbus.

37

MRS. PAULL W. ZIEGLER
(Mabel Nylund)
12 Garrison Rd., Parkside
Chester, Pa.

The Sunbury Alumni Club must appreciate Sig Stoler as much as the Philadelphia Club appreciates Herb Watson. Both were re-elected for another term; Sig will continue as treasurer in Sunbury, Herb as president in Philadelphia.

Care to dabble in a few statistics? A quick look at a "usually responsible source" states that we numbered 363 souls, all told, in 1937. In the last two years, 36 of that number have been mentioned in this column, a few of them more than once. Going back a couple more years, we can include another dozen who have sent us information. What is going on with the rest of the 363? The reunion booklet included sketches of 120 of us. That still leaves quite a few who are incommunicado. Are you one of them? Don't you think you ought to do something about it—NOW? While you have pen in hand, help Charlie Morris with his job by sending in your check for the Alumni Fund.

38

MR. IRA G. FOX
116 Westchester Dr.
Pittsburgh 15, Pa.

New club officers: Mrs. Howard T. Meminger (Dorothy M. Blix) has been re-elected secretary of the Bucknell Alumni Club of Chambersburg; Dr. Lazarus H. Weiss has been elected treasurer of the Bucknell Alumni Club of Altoona.

39

MR. DAVID R. BAGENSTOSE
12 Kinterra Rd.
Wayne, Pa.

REUNE IN JUNE

According to our class president, Bob "Clipper" Smith, plans are pretty well made for a terrific reunion June 5, 6 and 7. Those of us who returned for our 15th reunion remember the fun we all had together. This is our 20th. Be sure and make plans now to come to Lewisburg and have fun. Believe me when your class reporter tells you that it is wonderful just to see how old other members of the class have gotten while you still feel young and sylph-like. Many of you have indicated on your questionnaire that you plan to be on the campus this coming June 5, 6 and 7. Be sure to mark that calendar now!

Donald O. Roselle is a development engineer with DuPont in their Mechanical Development Laboratory. He is a registered professional engineer, a member of the National Society of Professional Engineers and the American Society of Mechanical Engineers. He is a licensed lay reader in the Protestant Episcopal Church and regularly employed by Philadelphia Episcopal City Mission. He is married to a non-Bucknellian, and he and Trudi are the parents of three prospective Bucknellians—Constance, 5; Claire, 4; and Christopher, 2. Their home is at 660 Buttonwood Dr., Springfield.

40

MRS. JAMES A. MILLER
(Mary McCrina)
1492 Colfax Ave.
Benton Harbor, Mich.

Much "forty"-tude was evident at the Bucknell Alumni Club of Chicago's meeting March 2. There were twenty-one present and one-third represented the Class of '40. Ruth Lepperd MacDowell and her husband, Fred, who have been residing at 239 Lawndale Ave., Aurora, Ill., since November; Leighton Thomas and his wife, Jean; plus we three Millers, made up the seven.

Ruth came bearing news: she has been active in dramatics since college, has taught dramatics, as well. Another former Cap and Daggerite, Rae-Louise Shultz (now Mrs. Rowland Porch, and mother of three), is still active in dramatics, too. Ruth also had to report that Kitty Bastian (Mrs. Ingraham Hartje) now lives in El Dorado, Ark. The Hartjes have two children. Two others we got up to date on were Ginny Fisher (Mrs. Charles Vogel '37) of Villanova, who has two girls; and Peg E. Davis (Mrs. Douglas McPherson), who has four children. About the most astonishing tale of the evening was Ruth's account of a coterie of Bucknellians, all of whom were stationed (or whose husbands were) at Smyrna, Tenn., during World War II: Joe Diblin, Fred Fahringer '42, Ralph Bush, Margie Brumbaugh Bush '42, and the MacDowells: a Little Bucknell!

Donald L. Drumm has been promoted to assistant chief engineer with the National Board of Fire Underwriters. He is a licensed professional engineer in Pennsylvania. He and his family are living at 43 Orion Rd., Berkeley Heights, N. J.

Just in time for this issue came a capsule history of the Weners (Harry and Jeanne Rolfe) since college: "suddenly realized that next year we will have our 20th reunion at Bucknell.

"We do go back to Bucknell quite often, Harry more than I, for he has been back to recruit, or search out teachers for various school systems—namely, West Orange when he was assistant superintendent, and now Mountain Lakes, where he is superintendent of schools.

"Now this spring we are going back for the most important interview of all—to get our son Rolfe into Bucknell in the fall of 1960!

"We also have a son Richard, 14 years old, who has Bucknell as his goal.

"After leaving Bucknell Harry continued his education at N. Y. U. and got his M.A. there. Then on to Columbia for the ultimate, his doctorate, which he received in 1956.

"The years have been busy ones since we left school and our experiences have been varied and fulfilling. However, we still have the warmth and affection for Bucknell and all that it stands for . . . We will certainly see you at reunion in 1960!"

41

MRS. WILLIAM F. HASSELBERGER
(Jean P. Steele)
635 Scott Ave.
Syracuse 3, N. Y.

Frederick Golden has been elected executive vice president and treasurer of the Warren Featherbone Company of Atlanta, Ga. He is married to the former Pearl Baum and has two daughters, Roberta Dale and Laura Jean. Their address is 426 Golf View Rd., N. W., Atlanta 9, Ga.

George L. Narber has been named assistant chief auditor of the Armstrong Cork Company at the company's home offices in Lancaster. The Narbers are presently residing at 432 Herr Ave., Millersburg.

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis M. McGlincy are the parents of a baby daughter, Andrea Louise, born January 16, 1959. Their home is at 1039 Clark St., Lancaster.

Mrs. Thomas C. Stephenson (Sarah J. Gundy) has been re-elected secretary of the Bucknell Alumni Club of Altoona.

MRS. THOMAS R. DIETZ
(Germaine B. Pepperman)
83 Nutt Rd.
Phoenixville, Pa.

Also heard that the Les Ehringers have been transferred to Chicago. So I'll add your address to these two: Mrs. Robert Huttenmeyer (Lil Cohan), R. F. D. 5, Little Neck Rd., Huntington, N. Y.; Mrs. Sidney Newcomb (Bunny Herrmann), 177 S. Finley Ave., Basking Ridge, N. J.; Les Ehringer, 247 S. Plumgrove Rd., Palatine, Ill.

MRS. ROBERT F. BAKER
(Honey Rhinesmith)
Lindys Lake, R. D.
Butler, N. J.

REUNE IN JUNE

This will be the last issue to reach you before Alumni Weekend. The following one will carry the story of our own special reunion so please make sure you're part of it. Ever so many are planning to be on campus and I wish we had space to list all those who will be there definitely. If you have any doubts about seeing some special classmates, then do contact them and make certain your own little group will attend. It'll be worth every effort and please don't be among those who, upon reading the ALUMNUS come September, will regret having missed a wonderful weekend that won't present itself again till '64. See you . . . please?

The Carl Moores '43 (Ruth Nulton) announce the birth of their second son, Stephen Eric, on January 10.

Earl R. Grose has resigned after 12 years with the YMCA to go into business for himself. His new work is the selling and fitting of hearing aids and operates under the name of Acousticon of Camden and is located at 300 Broadway, Room 504, Camden, N. J.

Mrs. Louis Verbeyst (Dora C. Seyfarth) tells us that a son, Kenneth Louis, who was born on November 7, 1958, was given a royal welcome by the whole family, including his five big sisters.

MRS. LELAND C. EWING
(Elizabeth J. Wells)
51 Clunite Ave.
Hastings on Hudson, N. Y.

Robert E. Score is a technical representative in sales engineering with the Atlantic Research Corporation. He and his wife, Randy (Ruthanne Studebaker '45) have three children: David, Donald and Jennifer.

ROGER S. HADDON, ESQ.
243 Water St.
Northumberland, Pa.

W. Nelson Roberts has been elected president of the Bucknell Alumni Club of Connecticut. Kenneth Warren and Robert List have been elected vice presidents of the Northern New Jersey Club.

It's good news from Chicago, and Jesse Syme. After 10 years as an FBI agent, Jesse joined Sears, Roebuck & Co. in 1957 as national claim manager, then last year he became divisional traffic manager. Jesse has taken a leading part in community activities at Evanston, Ill., what with heading up the July Fourth parade replete with TV's Wyatt Earp for real. Jesse and Marie (his favorite dancing partner) oversee the local cotillions, teach Sunday School, and openly support the Northwestern football team. The magazine Traffic World published an article authored by Jesse in March, 1958, presenting his report of a Sears seminar on the subject of effective damage prevention, as seen by shippers and receivers—and, after reading same, your reporter is having the Syme copy of this issue marked "special handling." Children Linda, David and Jeff complete the household, at 2514 Grant St., Evanston, Ill.

Gene Matthews and June (June Stott, girl Class Fund Manager), have abandoned the rock-bound coast of Rhode Island for country living: Spring Valley Farm, Bliem Road, R. D. 3, Pottstown. As June pens personal, pithy appeals to classmates re the Alumni Fund, friend Gene writes furtively from the foyer: "With headquarters in Reading, I'm still peddling yarns, but now with the American & Efrid Mills, Inc., of Mount Holly, N. C." (No doubt a great yarn, if you can pick up the thread.)

Your aging reporter, Roger Haddon, was an organizer and incorporator of a brand new bank in Sunbury last year, and now serves said institution as a director. It is the Susquehanna Valley Bank and Trust Company, capitalized at $525,000, and the fourth bank to be chartered by the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in the past 26 years.

MRS. JAMES A. BROWN
(Joann G. Gollightly)
954 Caldwell Ave.
Union, N. J.

William B. Conover has been appointed manager of the Sears, Roebuck and Company retail store at Ambridge. Bill has been with Sears since 1948, participating in their training programs. He is married to the former Ida Harstead and has three children: Kim, Gayle and David.

Rev. and Mrs. LaRue A. Loughhead and their three children, David, Stephen and Beth, moved to 6195 Washington Ave., St. Louis 12, Mo., on April 1. LaRue is the Associate Pastor of the Delmar Baptist Church in that city.

William J. Sauers is a medical technician in the Middletown Hospital, Middletown, Ohio. He resides at 203 15th Ave., in that city.

Rev. John M. Wilbur, Jr., is senior minister of the First Baptist Church, Beverly, Mass.

Louis H. Exstein is a certified public accountant and has been elected vice president and general manager of the Schober Organ Corporation of New York City. He is married to the former Blanche Bloch, has two sons, Michael and Ted, and lives at 215 East 73rd St., New York 21, N. Y.

One of my faithful letter writers, Helen Hayden Nelson, wrote to say that she and her family have moved back to New Jersey—35 Carolin Rd., Upper Montclair. Her husband, Ted, is with Johnson & Higgins in New York City. Helen said Barbara Hillhouse visited them—Barb is still in Princeton, N. J.

BIRTH: Margaret Hughes Coats of 141 Eagle Rock Ave., Roseland, N. J., sent me the good news of the arrival of Louise Ruth on April 25, 1958. She joined Martha, 8; John, 6; and David, 3. Margy said she sees Louise Bell Tompkins (Grant '48) and Betts Waddington Mackey.

MRS. THOMAS A. FRAZIER
(Marilyn L. Harer)
1344 Mansel Ave.
Williamsport, Pa.

REUNE IN JUNE

Reunion time is almost here! Plans are complete for our dinner-dance at the Milton Country Club for Friday night, June 5. So plan to come up on Friday to see everyone. And Saturday is full of plans, too. See you there.

Merle W. Smith has accepted a position as construction management engineer with the Office at Chief of Engineers, under the department of the Army. In his spare time he serves as director of engineering services in the Rockville civil defense organization. Merle, with his wife, Rosemary Palmer '44 and four children (3 boys and a girl), live at 1311 Grandin Ave., Rockville, Md.

Nancy Louise Slack

Nancy Louise Slack, 18-month-old daughter of Fred Slack, raids the pantry. Fred and his wife, the former Marian Eister, live at 626 Pennsylvania St., Lewisburg.

MRS. HAROLD NORRIS
(Rebecca J. Rogers)
6 Griffis St.
Montrose, Pa.

Since his return to Turkey, Ismet Ozkan has been working as a mechanical engineer and is chief of the operations group of the car repair shops for the Turkish State Railways. Married since 1953, he is the father of two children and is now listed in Who's Who in Turkey.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard B. Hile have bought a home at R. F. D. 2, Olean, N. Y., and are now living at their new address. They have two children, Howard Douglas and Laura Lee.

ALUMS ELECT: Wayne S. Harrison—president of the Bucknell Alumni Club of Pittsburgh; Robert M. Houskeeper—president of the Bucknell Alumni Club of Sunbury; Robert A. Watkins—president of the Bucknell Alumni Club of Chambersburg; Mrs. George V. Gerber (Mary Banta)—secretary of the Bucknell Alumni Club of Northern New Jersey.

Ann Purpuri '52 received her master's degree in social work in June, 1958. She is now working at a state alcoholism clinic in Indianapolis, Ind. In July, 1958, the State of Indiana sent Ann to Yale University to attend the summer school of alcohol studies. Ann's work consists of out-patient treatment, counseling and medical, for alcoholics and their families.

A son, Timothy David, was born to Mr. and Mrs. Herbert K. Zearfoss (Thelma McCarthy '54) on March 27, 1959. Herb was admitted to law practice before the Union County bar on February 16.

MRS. JOHN S. BOULDEN, JR.
(Barbara Bleecker)
1605 Twin Maple Ave.
Towson 4, Md.

From Jim Williams, minister of the Lake View Congregational Church, Worcester, Mass., came a grand letter. He has been appointed Chaplain (1st Lieut.) in the U. S. Army Reserve and will be serving with the 376th Infantry Regiment, 94th Division, Worcester Area Command. Jim writes, "We have been living in Worcester since 1957 and our family has grown with the addition of one son, Craig, now approaching his second birthday. One fine day I will get away on an Alumni Weekend in June, instead of mid-summer as has been the case, for a visit to Bucknell."

June Burns Bove reports that John '49 is teaching at The Cooper Union in New York City. June is the director of the Subsidiary Rights Department of Farrar, Straus and Cudahy, Publishers. Their address is 139-21—86th Ave., Kew Gardens 35, N. Y.

Lt. Gil Friday is the flight surgeon for Carrier Air Group Seven, serving with the Sixth Fleet in the Mediterranean Area aboard the aircraft carrier, USS Randolph.

Mrs. Payton Palmore (Mary Lou Hind) writes from Japan, "Our second daughter, Victoria Jean, was born September 3, 1958. Our older daughter, Christy Lou, is now two and fluent in both English and Japanese. We expect to be home for a furlough next summer (1959). We are busy with our small church and have baptized 35 members."

Alumni Club Officers: Marshall Goulding, vice president, Harrisburg; Ed Mighell, president, Harrisburg; Joe Ortlieb, member of the executive committee, Philadelphia; Larry Bloom, president, Altoona.

53

MRS. JAMES A. CHAMBERS, JR.
(Barbara Roemer)
58 Linden Ave.
Verona, N. J.

BIRTHS: Son, William Stanley, III, born November 10, 1958, to Bill '51 and Bobbie Maurer Reitz. Bill was transferred recently to a new J. C. Penney store on the outskirts of Washington. D. C. Son, James Danfield, born October 15, 1958, to Ed '51 and Louise Thorne Luce. Son, David MacBain, born September 14, 1958, to Wayne and Joan MacBain Stettler. Son, Timothy Jay, born October 3, 1958, to John and Judy Faucett. Son, born August 21, 1958, to Thomas and D. Elizabeth Sowers ('52) Hibler. Daughter, Ellen Ruth, born November 19, 1958, to Dr. and Mrs. Howard N. Bernstein. Howard is taking a residency in ophthalmology at the Kings County Hospital in Brooklyn, N. Y. Daughter, Margaret Jane, born October 7, 1958, to Dr. and Mrs. Max A. VanBuskirk (Mary J. Webber). Son, Frank, born December 4, 1958, to Mr. and Mrs. Frank S. Boguszewski, Jr., of 143 Market St., Nanticoke. Son, Bruce Lynn, born December 12, 1958, to Dr. and Mrs. Eugene Blakeslee (Marybelle M. Capron) of 1481 Kelchner Rd., Bethlehem. Son, Christian Adam, born February 25, 1959, to Joan (Lafferandre) and Peter Diamandis. Daughter, Marybeth, born January 29, 1959, to Mr. and Mrs. Howard D. Bidwell. Howard is studying for his professional engineering exams. Son, John Robert, born December 22, 1958, to Ann (Sundberg) and Jack Purcell. Jack graduates in June from the University of Virginia Law School and will be with the Washington law firm of Covington and Burling. Son, Thomas Wayne, born June 27, 1958, to Dr. and Mrs. Thomas B. Force. Tom is taking his residency at Temple University Hospital. Son, Edward, III, born December 10, 1958, to Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Brown, Jr. '51 (Wilene Edwards) of 107 Wildwood Rd., Elk Grove Village, Ill. The Brown's daughter, Donna Jeanne, was born August 29, 1957.

MAY 1959

Jeffrey Thompson was re-elected treasurer of the Bucknell Alumni Club of Northern New Jersey.

54

MRS. PAUL C. TARR, III
(Anne E. Tuckerman)
20-A East Front St.
Media, Pa.

REUNE IN JUNE

June is drawing nearer so don't forget! June 5, 6, and 7 are the big days of the month. Try your very best to join in our 5th reunion.

Julie Thompson recently moved to Lemoyne, where she is employed with the Cumberland County National Bank and Trust Co. in New Cumberland. Julie is secretary to the head of the mortgage department and writes that she is having a gay time fixing up her apartment.

Marilyn Gardner is now Mrs. Michael R. Crisci and her new address is 90 Brookside Ave., Apt. 4-A, Somerville, N. J.

Lt. (jg) Archibald A. Owen, III, and Miss Glenn Allen Brown were married December 30, 1958. Arch is an instructor at the U. S. Naval Academy at Annapolis, Md.

Barbara L. Jewell and John B. Zwynenburg were married December 28, 1958, and are living at 133 High St., Leonia, N. J.

A second daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. E. Marter Carhart, III, (Dorothy J. Masemer) on October 18, 1958.

Apologies to Mr. and Mrs. Warren Calbeck (Dorothy Newton)—your news apparently got lost. A new arrival, Kathleen Sue, born January 24, 1959, joins her sister, Donna Jean, who was born December 26, 1957. The Calbecks are living at 2205 S. Dinwiddie St., Arlington 6, Va.

Mr. and Mrs. William F. Bulick '53 (Gay Khounountz) announce the birth of their first child, William Grant, born December 12, 1958.

Norm Weber was married October 19, 1958, to Barbara Lefler from West Virginia. After Norm's service duty he resumed work at Weber's Pickled Meat Products in Newark, N. J. The Webers have bought a home at 23 Virginia Rd., Maplewood, N. J.

55

MRS. JOHN C. VANCE, JR.
(Jane Jones)
1013 Clinton St.
Philadelphia, Pa.

Toni Chase is teaching brain-injured and retarded children in Scottsdale, Ariz. Her husband is Warner Rogers. Their address is Rt. 2, Box 526.

Bill Brown and his wife Cathy had a son, William Beckett Brown, IV, in November. They are living at 319 Grove St., Haddonfield, N. J.

Bill ('54) and Vaughn Richart Francis moved to 66 Main St., Wellsboro, where he is working in the First National Bank and she is working in a law office.

Enid Dietrich and Ben Savidge of 2512 Panama St., Philadelphia 3, became the parents of William Barton on September 19, 1958.

Hugh S. Blair is assistant advertising manager of the St. Regis Paper Co. He is married to the former Mildred Henscha and lives at "The Kimberly," Apt. A-62, Yonkers, N. Y.

William D. Golightly received his master's degree in government management from Wharton School of the U. of P. and is now assistant to the city manager of Clarksburg, W. Va. He and his wife (D. Jean Carnegie) have a daughter, Cynthia Jean, and live at 554 Hammond Highway, Clarksburg, W. Va.

Dick Squires and Nick Danforth '50

A chance introduction to a new sport some nine years ago excited an interest and talent which have stroked William "Nick" Danforth '50, to coveted national ranking in the rugged game of Squash.

Tagged No. 2 amateur doubles team in the nation, the powerful, fore-handing Danforth and his partner, Dr. Paul Teele, hotly-pressed national champions Diehl Mateer and John Hentz before succumbing last year in Baltimore. Mateer acquired the U. S. singles title in Pittsburgh in January.

Back in 1950 after graduating from Bucknell, "Nick" had never swung a squash racket. One day in Pittsburgh, Danforth ran into Drew Mathieson '50, a campus classmate, and his father, A. R. Mathieson '20, a University trustee. The Mathiesons were heading for the University Club and a game of squash. "Nick", curious and challenged, agreed to join them and learn the game from the senior Mathieson.

Later, regular rounds at the Pittsburgh Athletic Club, University Club and other area courts equipped him eventually to enter top-flight tournaments. Bill teamed with partners to win the Pittsburgh City Doubles crown in both 1956 and 1957. He and Dick Squires won the Western Open tourney in their home city last year.

Danforth and his national doubles runner-up partner, Dr. Steele, crashed New York's crack play by coping both the Gold Racquets Invitation and the Rockaway Hunting Club titles. This fast-rising duo finished second in the Greenwich, Conn., Invitation against top-drawer players early in January.

"Nick", as he was dubbed at Bucknell, married the former Leslie Jane McCord, Chicago girl, last November and when not cavorting on the squash courts or shooting 70-ish golf at Fox Chapel Country Club is associated with Moore, Leonard and Lynch, a Pittsburgh investment firm.

Bill Danforth is a squash player worth watching in the next few years. He possesses what is called in the Metropolitan (N. Y.) Squash yearbook as "the hardest forehand in the game" and a cat-like agility that may yet take him that one giant step higher—partner on the No. 1 doubles team in the nation.

Lt. Donald B. Kaiserman is a helicopter pilot with the U. S. Army and since participating in the 3500 mile flight of H-21 helicopters to Alaska last August, he has been located in our 49th state. He expects to be released from active duty in August of this year.

56

MRS. WILLIAM J. O'NEIL
(Jean M. Wirths)
1706 Esplanade Apt. C,
Redondo Beach, Calif.

A daughter, Shermayne Gray, was born on April 2, 1958, to Nonie Cowen Irving and husband Roy '57. The Irvings are living in Pitman, N. J., and Roy is working nearby in Camden for RCA.

Mr. and Mrs. John Skiff (Arline Sherwood) have announced the arrival of Stacy Elizabeth, born October 2, 1958. John received his master's degree last June in automotive engineering and is now working for Chrysler in Detroit, Mich.

Bur Wallis Klaer now has a son, Kenneth Lee, born October 1, 1958. The Klaers have moved to 7818 Spring Ave., Elkins Park 17, Pa.

Lots of news in a note from Nancy Shepler Richards—Nancy and Don now have a son, Kirby Don, born in January, 1958. The Richards are living in Baltimore where Don works for Pittsburgh Consolidation Coal Company as a sales agent. Mr. and Mrs. Paul Pigman (Ellie Mackie '55) have a son, Paul Rine, Jr., born in September, 1958. Paul is with Connecticut General Life Insurance, as is Art Kinney. Art and wife, Dot Hund '57, have a son, Douglas, born in April, 1958. Mr. and Mrs. Dave Ekedahl have two daughters, Kathy and Beth. The Ekedahls live in Pittsburgh where Dave is with General Electric. Babs Besosa McKenzie and husband Cameron have moved to Lima, Peru, where life, they say, is wonderful. A classmate returned to Bucknell is Terry Schuttz. Terry is teaching World Lit and a new Foreign Institute Seminar.

57

MRS. PETER CHANNELL
(Catherine L. Evans)
5552 - 2A Netherlands Ave.
Riverdale, N. Y.

WEDDINGS: Suzanne A. Tucker to Oliver H. McDaniel, April 11, 1958; Carolyn M. Myer to Joseph Sneller, May 2, 1958; Gail D. Tallman to Chester E. James, May 3, 1958; Doris J. Toft to Allen P. Haarr, April 26, 1958; Judith J. Allardice to Oliver B. Conover, June 21, 1958; Nancy S. Gibbons to James Poff; Jean L. Zimmerman to John H. Frederick, Jr.; Forrest D. Long to Mary J. Woodward, July 5; Alvina M. Lavery to Marten N. Heine, May 17, 1958; Ronald A. Evans to Sally Dothard, September 6; Nest R. Garland to Donald Clark, June; Mary L. Griffith to Terrence K. Hickey, September 21; Beverly J. Pender to Franklin Solberg, May 30, 1958; Charles P. Jones to Kristine Johnson, November 15; Carol D. Wanamaker to William F. Lenker '56, July 19; Christine M. Horne to Richard G. Newman '56, July 12; David Y. Penman to Helen M. Terry, July 18; Jane K. Masters to Paul K. Nase, August 16; Catherine L. Evans to Peter Channell, September 6; Wiesje E. Zonruiter to William F. VanWyck, August 16; Arthur M. Saunders, Jr., to Miriam E. Thom '60, December 20; Gay Barbour to Stanley Frazee; Cary Lefever to Jack Walsh '56; Barbara Wilkes to Stephen Blomgren, June 7, 1958; Peg Lippincott to Lee Rankin, June 21, 1958; Diana Vasiliades to Paul Schaaff, August 17; Susie Magee '58 to Peter Schuerholz, January 31; Martha B. Green to George Meade, Jr., August, 1957; Donna A. Davie was married to G. Britten Winters, Jr., on June 28

38 and her new address is Devon Park Apartments, Devon. Donna is a bilingual secretary with Wyeth International Limited, Radnor.

Philippa C. Wehle was married February 14 to Boris Barabacheff in the American Church, Paris, France. Philippa completed her graduate courses at the University of Paris and received her master's degree from Middlebury College. Her husband is a graduate of Travaux Public Engineering School of France.

58

MRS. FRANK H. RICHARDS, III
(Faith Bonsall)
1408 Spruce St.
Philadelphia, Pa.

REUNE IN JUNE

Jeff Jefferson is still hitting the books—this time doing graduate work at the University of Wisconsin.

Sandra MacWatt is working in the personnel department of Lever Brothers Co. in New York.

George Silfen is working towards his master's degree in chemical engineering at Columbia University.

Fran Hittleman is also doing graduate work at Columbia University. She is taking her master's degree in psychology.

Gib Rodi is teaching second grade in Hammonont, N. J. Peggy Faulk is a lab assistant at Sloan-Kettering in Brooklyn, N. Y. Judy Daniel is also a lab assistant—at Memorial Hospital in New York City. New York has claimed also Betty Jones who works for J. Walter Thompson, Advertising firm. The MacMillan Co. has employed Marie Mastorakis as a copywriter for college textbooks. Mr. and Mrs. Bob Haslam (Jan Bull) were married on August 18, 1958, and are living in Rochester, N. Y., where Bob is studying at Colgate-Rochester Divinity School. Jan is a secretary-receptionist at Columbia Girls School, also in Rochester.

If anyone was at the Mardi Gras in New Orleans, La., they might have seen Ken Cestari and Bob Burnett whooping it up. As of this writing they had planned to be down for the celebrations since Bob entered the Army on March 4 as a 2nd Lt. in the corps of engineers, and Ken expected to go to Texas for six months, also with the U. S. Army. Corbin (Cub) Wyant has been serving time (in the Army, of course) at Fort Benning, Ga., since January. Prior to that Cub was working as a newspaper reporter.

MARRIAGES: Pat Johnson to W. J. Donovan, November 13, 1958; Merle Holden to Meldrum Winstead, March 21; Nancy Jane Brown to Robert Stevens, March 21; Faith Bonsall to Frank Richards, April 25.

IN MEMORIAM

The following deaths have been reported to the Alumni Office since January, 1959. The University extends sympathy to the surviving relatives.

- 1899—Mrs. Wesley Cook (Marian M. Wingert) (Inst.)
- 1901—Mr. Andrew N. Evans
- 1903—Mrs. Ernest L. Taylor (Sarah H. Ayres), July 2, 1957
- 1905—Rev. Vernon N. Robbins, January 12, 1959
- 1906—Mr. Benjamin G. Evans, January 12, 1959
- Mr. John D. P. Smithgall, February 7, 1959
- Mrs. Walker B. Kester (Gertrude Stannert), February 2, 1959
- 1915—Mrs. Norris I. Craig (Hope Craig), March 26, 1959
- 1923—Mr. Lawrence D. Lewis, March, 1959
- 1924—Mrs. Raymond F. Brandiff (Camille D. Thompson), March 3, 1959
- 1928—Mrs. Claude G. Avery (Ann E. Everitt), 1958
- 1929—Mrs. Charles A. Augat (Elizabeth P. Mills), 1958
- 1930—Mr. Daniel K. Schwartz, March 14, 1959
- 1934—Mr. Frank Scheid
- 1936—Mr. Glenn E. Tracey, February 16, 1959
- 1937—Mrs. Joseph I. Yogman (Lyetta Marshak), April, 1958
- 1941—Mr. Aldwin D. Jones, February 15, 1959
- 1943—Mr. Charles M. Sanker, October 30, 1959
- 1954—Mr. Paul R. Newman, March 15, 1959

OUT OF THE ROCKWELL MAILBAG

BY

VERA COBER ROCKWELL, 1911

(continued from March issue)

When Leo was working on the Early Modern English Dictionary at the U. of Mich., an esteemed colleague was Harold B. Allen, who has since joined the faculty of the U. of Minn. Two years ago the Allens spent a rewarding year in Egypt where Harold taught at Cairo University. Their Allen Annual gives timely information on their continuing association with Egyptian friends and reflects the influence such exchange visits have at this critical point of our history. So it's a temptation to quote all of their letter, but we'll choose just one item for you who are interested in seeing Bucknellians go places. And has this one gone places!

Here is part of Dr. Allen's entry for November: "HBA privileged at NCTE to confer merit award upon C. C. Fries with whom he took his Ph.D."

This, of course, is our own Charles Carpenter Fries '09, who founded the English Language Institute at the U. of Michigan, (from which stemmed later, the Bucknell chapter) and who has served in various countries to improve the teaching of English against the background of the native tongue of each country.

He and his wife, Agnes Carswell '19, who has contributed her own talent and charm in aiding Charles in this worldwide service, could give us volumes on their experiences in England, France, Puerto Rico, Japan, to mention only a few of the countries where they have been representing us. But that last one reminds me of the fun it was to get an envelope postmarked Japan and to find in it a card depicting the International House in Tokyo, bearing the following signatures of Bucknellians all there at the same moment: Bunny Holtz Goodrich '32, Richard L. Goodrich, summer of '31, Agnes Fries '19, Charles C. Fries '09, A. C. (Pat) Conner '12, Alberta Bronson Conner '12. And the envelope was addressed by my college pal and lifelong friend, Alberta Bronson, her signature reminding me of our college days when we shared the love of language study and traipsed up and down hill together with Greek texts under arm.

Hopping the ocean back to our own continent, we alight in Mexico into which charming country vacationers on our west coast are flowing as naturally and numerous as on the east coast they flow down into Florida. On July 28th of last summer, several of our friends, unaware of one another, were spending time in Mexico. It was a Denison chum, Gertrude Phillips Talbot, who wrote: "Our highlights this year begin in July when Virginia and I were in the Continental Hilton in Mexico City at the time of the big earthquake. Our doors jammed and we could not leave the room. The walls had three big cracks from ceiling to floor, the bathroom was a shambles . . . But we went from east coast to west, seeing many beautiful places and absorbing history and local customs. We even went with friends speed-boating in the Pacific."

An odd coincidence here. Leo and I had been in Guadalajara and on our return home, stopped in Mexico City just in time for the quake. In our own Christmas letter, this entry: "Next morning we fly to Mexico City. As before we stay at Hotel Luma. The third morning, an earthquake. Since Luma is only four stories high, we feel only the rock and roll of it. So warmly have we come to regard the efforts of Mexico to improve itself in every way, that a first reaction is hope that this may not affect the nation adversely."

MAY 1959

Other friends, Roy and Bee Anderson of North Carolina State College in Raleigh, were caught in Acapulco. Their experience, too, was exciting, but since Bucknellians don't know them, we'll let them serve as an introduction to a family that Bucknell knows very well indeed. For the Andersons, like Ken and Caryl Slifer '26, are internationally minded, their home having served as doorway and refuge for scores of foreign-born families, freshly arrived in this country. Even then as Roy and Bee were touring Mexico, Faiz, a junior at the U. of North Carolina and T. Matsumoto, research chemist from Japan, were staying in the Anderson home in Raleigh.

You will know why we have made this comparison if you have read in the American Magazine of the many and varied experiences of the Slifers in caring for foreign-born people. This year, with their Christmas message, the Slifers enclosed a photograph of their own fine-looking family, together with two of their present guests, Tamara from Poland, and Elvira from El Salvador. Their letter tells us, "Tamara, like her older sister, Zofia, before her, is living with us through high school. She's now a tall 16 and a sophomore. Last summer she was one of the waitresses for the Adirondack Log House and made a hit with her general good humor and all-round ability. Seven years in America have made her forget most of her Polish, but she can still wish you a 'Boze Narodzenia.' Elvira joined us the very day this picture was taken. She has had a new hairdo since, but she's so tiny people guess she's 12 instead of 20. Her ambition was to come to the States, learn English, study to be a teacher or a missionary, and go back to help her own people. She's picking up English fast, but she's feel more comfortable wishing you 'Feliz Navidad' in her soft Spanish."

A few years ago I gave English instruction to the children of an eminent Chinese geographer, then a visiting professor at Colgate. It was a real privilege to help these brilliant young people and we have watched with great interest as they have gone about preparing to make the best contribution possible to their adopted homeland. Mrs. Chang wrote, "Cedric is still in Cincinnati continuing his course in Architecture. Elfreda graduated from the U. of Michigan in June with a B.S. in Chemical Engineering and is now working for her Master's. Guendolynne has entered the U. of Michigan Engineering School."

EDITOR'S NOTE: This column, the third of a series, will be continued in future issues of THE BUCKNELL ALUMNUS.

Alumni Trustee Timetable

May 15—Deadline for receiving ballots in Alumni Office.

June Commencement—Certification to Board of Trustees.

PEGGY M. HAZARD '52

Miss Peggy M. Hazard's picture appeared in the January, 1959, issue of The Reporter, published by the Bell Telephone Laboratories, Inc. She is a registered medical technologist and is employed as a biologist (senior technical aide) for the Bell Telephone Laboratories, Inc. Her interest centers at the moment on marine organisms, a vital consideration in undersea cable work. Peggy lists as some of her activities: ski clubs, tennis clubs, church groups, amateur play-acting, canoe clubs and travel to Europe. Her address is 16 Hilltop Terrace, Chatham, N. J.

HERE, THERE, AND EVERYWHERE

(Continued from Page 4)

SYRACUSE

Meeting: Birthday Dinner
Speaker: ROBERT H. ODELL

LANCASTER

Meeting: Birthday Dinner
Speaker: JOHN H. SHOTT '22

NORTHERN NEW JERSEY

Meeting: Dance

ROCHESTER

Meeting: Birthday Dinner
Speaker: ROBERT H. ODELL

LOCK HAVEN

Meeting: Birthday Dinner
Speaker: DR. FRANK C. ABBOTT

SOUTH JERSEY

Meeting: Birthday Dinner
Speaker: DR. WESLEY N. HAINES

PITTSBURGH

Meeting: Birthday Dinner
Speakers: DR. KARL D. HARTZELL
JOHN H. SHOTT '22

ITHACA

Meeting: Birthday Dinner
Speaker: DR. J. CHARLES JONES '42

ELMIRA

Meeting: Birthday Dinner
Speaker: DR. J. CHARLES JONES '42

BOSTON

Meeting: Birthday Dinner
Speaker: JOHN F. ZELLER '41

GREATER NEW YORK-WESTCHESTER

Meeting: Birthday Dinner
Speaker: JOHN F. ZELLER '41

SUNBURY

Meeting: Birthday Dinner
Speakers: DR. ROY C. TASKER
JOHN H. SHOTT '22

SCRANTON

Meeting: Birthday Dinner
Speakers: DR. WALTER H. SAUVAIN
JOHN H. SHOTT '22

CHICAGO

Meeting: Birthday Dinner
Speaker: DR. FRANK C. ABBOTT

HARRISBURG

Meeting: Monthly Dinner
Speaker: FUJIO TOMITA

PITTSFIELD

Meeting: Birthday Dinner
Speaker: CAPT. HERBERT F. ECKBERG

TRENTON

Meeting: Birthday Dinner
Speaker: ROBERT H. ODELL

TRIPLE CITIES

Meeting: Birthday Dinner
Speaker: CAPT. HERBERT F. ECKBERG

NORTHERN NEW JERSEY

Meeting: Dinner
Speaker: JOHN H. SHOTT '22

HARRISBURG

Meeting: Monthly Dinner
Speaker: ALLAN F. JONES '25

WASHINGTON, D. C.

Meeting: Burnese Embassy Party
Speakers: DR. MERLE M. ODGERS
JOHN H. SHOTT '22

SCHENECTADY

Meeting: Birthday Dinner
Speaker: CAPT. HERBERT F. ECKBERG

February 25

February 26

March 2

March 5

March 11

March 13

March 13

April 3

April 9

April 12

April 17

ALUMNI WEEK END

Highlights

Bison Club Breakfast

Alumni Assembly

Class Meetings

All Alumni Luncheon

Cap and Dagger Production

"The Admirable Crichton"

Alumni Jamboree

Golfing

Swimming

We'll see you June 5 - 8

Send this reservation coupon today!

DORMITORY AND TICKET RESERVATION

Name Class Date of Arrival:

Mailing Address Hour:

DORMITORY RESERVATIONS: ($3.00 per person for both Friday and Saturday nights—One night only $3.00—Children 10 or under Free—Extra nights $1.50 per night)

Thursday Friday Saturday Sunday nights.

Please check if: Married Couple Mr. Mrs. Miss Children

If reservation includes persons other than yourself list names below:

Male Ages

Female Ages

Would you object to having your children share rooms with children of other classmates?

(Check) Yes No

Total Room Charges $

ALUMNI REUNION LUNCHEON (number @ $1.50 each) $

CAP AND DAGGER—"The Admirable Crichton" (number @ $1.50 each) .. $

ALUMNI JAMBOREE (Alumni Get-Together, Entertainment, Refreshments, Dancing) — No Charge

WE WILL DO OUR BEST BUT WE CANNOT GUARANTEE RESERVATIONS RECEIVED AFTER MAY 27! A $2.00 ADVANCE (NON-REFUNDABLE) PAYMENT MUST ACCOMPANY THIS RESERVATION. ADVANCE PAYMENT WILL BE CREDITED TO TOTAL CHARGES UPON ARRIVAL.

Handwritten notes in the top left corner, including "This" and "1959".

Handwritten "1959" in the top right corner.

THE September 1959
BUCKNELL
ALUMNUS

Oct. 17

HOMECOMING

RUTGERS

THE BUCKNELL ALUMNUS

VOLUME XLIV

SEPTEMBER 1959

No. 1

OFFICERS OF THE ASSOCIATION

President

Charles F. Fox, Jr., M.D. '31

First Vice President

Robert W. Dill '27

Second Vice President

Mrs. Clyde P. Bailey (Dorothy Lemon '29)

Treasurer

Donald B. Young '33

Secretary and Editor

John H. Shott '22

Assistant Secretary and Assistant Editor

C. Bruce Rossiter '56

BOARD OF DIRECTORS

MRS. CHARLES E. COPELAND (Amorita Sesinger '22), 10 Ridgedale Ave., Madison, N. J. (1960)

DONALD W. GLOVER '41, Mullica Hill, N. J. (1960)

THOMAS W. SPECK '37, 708 Russell Pl., Plainfield, N. J. (1960)

ROBERT W. DILL '27, 5136 Butler Pike, Plymouth Meeting, Pa. (1961)

WILLIAM D. GOLIGHTLY '25, 309 W. Webster Ave., Scranton, Pa. (1961)

MRS. PAUL M. SHOWALTER (S. Katharine Graham '33), 855 St. Louis St., Lewisburg, Pa. (1961)

MRS. CLYDE P. BAILEY (Dorothy Lemon '29), 16 Churchill Road, Pittsburgh 35, Pa. (1962)

CHARLES F. FOX, JR., M.D. '31, 180 Washington Ave., Vandergrift, Pa. (1962)

WILMER D. GREULICH '34, 715 Greythorne Rd., Wynnewood, Pa. (1962)

EUGENE P. BERTIN '17, 210 S. Main St., Muncy, Pa. (1963)

ELINOR CHILDS '52, 74 Mt. Kemble Ave., Morristown, N. J. (1963)

ROBERT H. TAYLOR '48, 214 Avon Rd., Narberth, Pa. (1963)

CHARLES T. FARROW '26, P. O. Box 29, Westfield, N. J. (1964)

IRVIN GRAYBILL, JR. '49, Middleburg, Pa. (1964)

ALLEN F. JONES '25, 2 Linn St., Progress, Harrisburg, Pa. (1964)

() Year Term Expires

Alumni Headquarters—GROUND FLOOR, EAST COLLEGE

Member—AMERICAN ALUMNI COUNCIL

ON THE COVER—We are indebted to Mr. Barnard Taylor of Grit Publishing Co. for the modern Homecoming theme on the cover. The football and bandman with his clarinet symbolize the fast approaching football season. The stadium flags bear a reminder of our Homecoming game with the Scarlet of Rutgers on October 17.

IN THIS ISSUE

Alumni	Page
Michael L. Benedum Hon. '40	27
Paul A. Bowers '33	7, 9
David Burpee Hon. '59	10
Ruth Sprague Downs '98	6, 9
Charles T. Farrow, Jr. '26	10
John S. Gold '18	15
Irvin Graybill, Jr. '49	10
Wilmer D. Greulich '34	9
Lewis C. Hylbert '05, Hon. '31	21
William J. Irvin '22	6, 8
Allen F. Jones '25	10
Gerald H. Kennedy Hon. '59	10
Richard A. Kern Hon. '59	10
Alfred A. Knopf Hon. '59	10
Charles J. Kushell, Jr. '27	9
William S. Liming '33	15
Bruce G. Lundvall '57	26
Earl C. Lyon, Jr. '51	25
Frank R. McGregor '23	23
Edward W. Pangburn '15	9, 15
Dayton L. Ranck '16, Hon. '51	15
Leonard Walker '57	26
Myrtle Walkinshaw Shupe '09	8
William B. Webster '45	24
William R. White '26, Hon. '59	10
A Record Reunion	6-10, 18
Alumni Awards	8, 9
Alumni Fund Plans	14, 15
Alumni Trustee Timetable	26
Benedum, Trustee, Dies	27
Bison Roundups	19
Bucknell Dual Development Fund	13-16
Class Election Results	18, 19
Class Reports	20-26
Commencement	10
Elections and Appointments	9, 10
Football Schedule	11
Homecoming 1959	3, 18
Homecoming Reservation Form	27
In Memoriam	27
Life Income Plan	16
One World, One People	4, 5, 18
Our Readers Speak	Back Cover
Out of the Rockwell Mailbag	27
Season Ticket Reservation	12
Sports	11, 12, 19
State of the University	6-8
Tufts Joins Staff	12
You Name Your Candidates	17

THE BUCKNELL ALUMNUS is published in January, March, May, September, and November by BUCKNELL UNIVERSITY. Entered as second-class matter December 30, 1930 at the post office at Lewisburg, Pa., under the act of August 24, 1912.

SEPTEMBER 1959

As fall descends on the Bucknell campus thoughts turn to football and loyal Bison rooters. This year put yourself in the picture and join in the fun.

HOMECOMING 1959

New Activities plus Traditional Alumni Events promise to make Homecoming unusually interesting and enjoyable

PLAN NOW to enjoy a full day of Autumn fun on Saturday, October 17, 1959, when Bucknell alumni celebrate Homecoming. This day promises to be one you won't forget and can't afford to miss. Whatever your interests, the program of events will provide more activities than you can possibly attend.

The fun and festivities begin at 8:00 A. M. when all alumni meet at the Bison Club Breakfast to get the latest dope on the team and enjoy good fellowship, story-swapping and the back-slapping of former classmates and friends.

Following breakfast some alumni will want to view the traditional Homecoming Parade of floats prepared by the fraternities and sororities, while others may be interested in attending two outstanding Alumni Seminars. For those of you who want a continuing contact with the "academic world," the Alumni Seminars, new additions to the Homecoming program, will surely fill the bill.

In the first seminar, Professor James A. Gathings, Chairman of the Department of Political Science, will speak on the subject, "The Cold War: How Cold Now?" In analyzing the present international situation, Professor "Jim" plans to point out the consequences of the American foreign policy.

In the second seminar, Professor Rudolph Haffner of the Department of Biology will talk about "Higher Education Tomorrow: Quality or Price Only?" He will discuss some of the underlying problems of higher education and the measures we are prepared to take to cope with these problems successfully. His illustrations will be drawn primarily from the area of science and science teaching.

For an ever increasing number of Bucknellians Homecoming means more than just fun and frolic. The General Alumni Association officers and committee members will meet Friday evening to expand activities of the alumni program. There will also be meetings of Class Presidents, Reunion Chairmen, and committee members of classes reuniting in June 1960 (all those whose class numerals end in "5" and "0"). Meetings of the Committee on Alumni Awards and the Committee on Nominations for Alumni Trustee candidates are other business meetings scheduled.

At noon, the All-Alumni Luncheon, where everybody gets to see everybody else before the game, gives you a chance to see the Bucknell Band and cheerleaders. Music, majorettes and cheers will put you in first-class shape for the game. No speeches at this luncheon—just lunch and fun.

And following lunch at 1:30 P. M. (DST) will be the outstanding highlight of the day—the football game with the Scarlet of Rutgers. The Bisons are a new team going all out to win this one for the alumni. Last year Billy Austin and company from Rutgers put on quite a Homecoming show at a jam packed stadium in New Brunswick. This year, head coach Bob Odell plans to reverse the tables, but is counting heavily on you to help root the team on to victory.

After the game, everybody will return to Davis Gym for more meeting and greeting of old friends at the Bison Round-up and Reception. Here's your chance

(Continued on Page 18)

ONE WORLD, ONE PEOPLE

by CYRUS H. KARRAKER, Associate Professor of History

The story of Bucknellians who brought Christian Culture to many lands

“GO YE INTO ALL the world and preach the Gospel to every creature.” This command of Christ to his disciples many former Bucknell students have obeyed with courage and devotion. Their service to the Master and to mankind forms a glorious chapter in the annals of Bucknell.

The history of missionaries who have gone out from Bucknell comprises an entire century, from 1858 to 1958. Little is known about the nineteenth century, for the records are sparse, however, these few reveal the origins of an amazing friendship that grew up between Bucknell and Burma. This story begins with the arrival of Shaw Loo on the campus in 1858—Bucknell's first foreign missionary. Shaw Loo graduated in 1864, and after obtaining a medical degree, returned to Burma to devote the remainder of his life to the service of his people. He held the official position of physician to the King.

CYRUS H. KARRAKER

A century later, in 1958, his daughter, Miss Lisbeth Shaw Loo, flew to Bucknell from Rangoon for the celebration of the tenth anniversary of Burma's independence, and the 100th anniversary of the admission of the first foreign student to Bucknell, at which time she presented the University with an oil painting of her father. On this occasion, Ambassador U Win presented Bucknell with a beautiful silver bowl as a gift from the President of the Union of Burma—a symbol of enduring friendship.

To this heart-warming relationship of a college with a nation several other factors have contributed through the years. There was first of all the striking personality of Mrs. Harriet Mason Stephens who became a pioneer missionary to Burma. She was born in Burma of missionary parents, married in America, and graduated from the Lewisburg Female Institute in 1858 at the age of 16. With her husband she returned to Burma in 1865 and devoted many years of her life to the education of Burmese women and girls. Mrs. Stephens also translated the Bible into Burmese. It was a great occasion at Bucknell when she returned to the campus for the Centennial Commencement in 1946, at the age of 104, to receive a special award.

A second channel of friendship has been Judson College at Rangoon where Bucknell missionary educators have taught Burmese students, while a third is the Burma-Bucknell Weekend which is held annually under the guidance of Mr. Forrest Brown and the Christian Association, and draws Burmese to the campus from many quarters.

Besides Dr. Shaw Loo and Mrs. Stephens, the careers of other Bucknell students who went into missions these early years mostly elude us. At the turn of the century we come upon the robust personality of Gilbert Leroy Hall of the Class of 1899. In a letter written in 1950 to a friend in Montandon he recalls that after graduating “he turned to say good-bye to Dr. Harris (there was a man!), and as I left, his face lighted up with this: ‘Mr. Hall, I trust the world will be some better because you have been here.’ From there, with these words in my memory I splashed into the world.”

G. L. Hall later graduated from Rochester Theological Seminary and held four pastorates, but he had found the church was not his domain and answered the call of “Boat Missions” in Puget Sound. He thus describes his ministry: “There was plenty of inland water navigation, rivers, sloughs and inlets along which were small communities, saw mills and logging camps mostly untouched with the Gospel. I raised $5,000 to build a cruiser with cabin space to hold small services. But could I navigate a boat? Well I had to. I did. I was in boat-work nearly ten years—it was grand! I could preach far more sermons and reach far more people.” Eventually came word from his Board in New York that “Boat Missions” had to be terminated. It was for him a severe blow—this was needy work—but nothing could daunt the spirit of Captain Hall. He now instituted his own missions and spent his remaining years travelling about in a car filled with Bibles which he enthusiastically distributed all over the Pacific Coast.

The great period of missions came after 1890, and its most fertile field was China. China was awakening to Western ideas after many centuries of comparative isolation, while in this era American thought was characterized by evangelism.

Frank G. Rawlinson, who was born in England, is a famous name in Chinese missions. Following his graduation in 1899, he studied at Columbia and at Rochester Theological Seminary, and then went to China in 1902 under the Board for Foreign Missions. Two of his schoolmates also served in China: Charles W. Harvey '00, who was active in the International Y. M. C. A., and Dr. Charles S. Keen '00, who set up the first school for the training of missionaries in the Chinese language. Rawlinson provided leadership of many sorts during his long missionary career which extended from 1902 until 1937, when he was killed in the Japanese bombing of the International Settlement.

Truly his ministry was complete. Rawlinson preached the Gospel; he wrote religious books and articles interpreting Christianity to the Chinese and Chinese culture to the missionaries, he was editor of the Chinese Recorder, a magazine devoted to the interpretation of the Christian movement in China, and he devoted much time to social and industrial problems in and about Shanghai. His views on missions were progressive for he advocated a cooperative Christian fellowship in missions. The Christian Century compared his scholarship to that of Robert Morrison and "other giants of the old days."

Rawlinson, Harvey and Keen were quickly followed to China by three students of the Class of 1901—Dr. Edgar T. Shields, Dr. Charles Byron Lesher and his wife, Dr. Mabel Grier Lesher. Let us consider first the career of Dr. Shields who was a native son of Lewisburg and educated in its schools before attending Bucknell. After taking a medical degree he located at the Baptist Mission in Chengtu on the Tibetan border of China. Here for more than six years he waged a heroic struggle against the opium traffic and smallpox, and for his services was gratefully honored by the Chinese government.

On his retirement from missions, Dr. Shields taught for a time at the University of Pennsylvania, after which he became resident physician at Devitt's Camp for tubercular patients, located north of Lewisburg. Thereafter, he prosecuted a relentless war against this scourge.

Charles Byron Lesher and his wife, Mabel Grier Lesher, after graduating took their medical training at the University of Pennsylvania, as did Edgar T. Shields, and sailed for Swatow, northeast of Hong Kong in 1910. Here and at Shanghai they were stationed as medical missionaries for more than seventeen years, until their final return to America and private practice in Camden. During this long period in China husband and wife combatted courageously the three scourges of Asiatic cholera, smallpox, and bubonic plague. The depth of their devotion to the people may be judged from the fact that Dr. C. B. Lesher alone vaccinated 500 Chinese against the plague in one day.

Following her retirement, Dr. Mabel Lesher was soon to become known as the great pioneer in the field of social hygiene. While serving as a medical missionary at Swatow, she had introduced a program of education in social hygiene at a girls' school, even learning the colloquial language for this purpose. From this initial success she went on to organize other school programs and lecture on the subject. In America, education in social hygiene became her chief interest, as she taught the subject in public schools and colleges, and crusaded for its introduction throughout the educational system. At length the American Social Hygiene Association appointed her its educational consultant, and in 1947 awarded her an Honorary Life Membership "in recognition of her valuable and varied services in that field both in China and America."

Dr. Mabel Lesher has expressed her conviction in these terms: "Our primary concern is the preparation of children and youth for finer family living, for wholesome boy-girl relations, and for later marriage, homemaking and parenthood." Now a resident of Lewisburg, she devotes much of her time to the welfare of children and youth of her county.

While the Leshers served at Swatow, their intimate friends from college days, the Hylberts, were engaged in missionary work at Shanghai. Dr. Lewis C. Hylbert graduated in 1905 and Mrs. Hylbert, who was Margaret Runyan, in 1902.

Dr. Hylbert was a missionary for 38 years, from 1910 until 1948, which was a period in China of much storm and stress. At one time the Japanese punished him severely for concealing from them, as they believed, large sums of money at his disposal. During the first fifteen years of his ministry his work was evangelistic among the twelve churches of the Ningpo district. In the succeeding years he was busily occupied with raising money to construct the Ningpo Hospital and schools and churches, and also with the administration of missions. His most famous achievement, undoubtedly, was in famine relief which saved the lives of thousands of Chinese. For this great humanitarian service the Government expressed to him its deep gratitude, and honored him with the degree of Chia Ho Hsum Chang (Good Harvester).

Dr. Hylbert was a missionary of much understanding and vision, one who was always close to the hearts of the Chinese people. Like Dr. Rawlinson, he discerns the need of missionaries and mission boards co-operating "in concerted action for a common Christian program." "All Christians," he vigorously affirms, "should pool their resources of men and money to win the world to Christ."

Another Bucknell missionary of distinction in China was Charles Lucas Bromley of the Class of 1908, who served in China from 1911 as teacher of the New Testament at Shanghai Baptist College and also in mission work at Ningpo. On the subject of the values of missionary life, he says. "Your spiritual insight is deepened; your world outlook is enlarged; your sense of worthfulness is increased. It was a marvelous experience."

A classmate of Dr. Bromley though serving in Burma was Dr. E. Carroll Condict '08, whose association with Bucknell has always been close. He was awarded the D.D. degree by his Alma Mater in 1935 and in succeeding years his three sons all graduated—Edward in 1936, Clinton in 1937, and Chubb in 1939. He and his wife arrived in Burma in 1911, and were stationed at Thayetmyo in South Burma under the auspices of the American Baptist Foreign Missionary Society.

Dr. Condict's career is truly a remarkable one, covering a period of 42 years, as missionary teacher, administrator, intelligence worker during World War II, and as scholar in Burma. His permanent gift to the Burmese was his translation of the Bible in the Southern Chin language. Everyone he inspired by his unconquerable spirit. When sought by the invading Japanese, dead or alive, his answer was to retire to the Chin Hills where he continued to preach and teach.

One of his chief interests was Judson College, which in the school year 1934-35 appears to have become predominantly Bucknellian for the catalogue of that year includes the names of E. Carroll Condict '08 as Secretary of the Board of Trustees, Samuel H. Richard '23 as Principal, Helen Hunt, daughter of President Hunt, as Dean of Women, while the lecturer in chemistry was Marian Esther Shivers of the Class of 1914. Marian Shivers won distinction in Burma as a missionary educator and also as Director of the Church World Service.

(Continued on Page 18)

The Carnegie Building, formerly the old library, was the scene of many happy reunions as alumni registered for the Alumni Week End.

A RECORD REUNION

Attendance records shattered at Class Reunions during Alumni Weekend, June 1959

BEAUTIFUL WEATHER, a colorful program, and over 1100 alumni, relatives and friends combined to make alumni weekend the best ever. There was "something doing" every moment for the crowds of alumni who thronged the campus the weekend of June 5-6-7.

Even before the registration desks opened in the Carnegie Building alumni could be seen touring the campus looking for old landmarks and discovering new ones. And slowly but surely familiar faces began to appear and the day was filled with the renewal of old friendships and surprises. The evening was taken up with good old fashion bull-sessions, refreshing dips in the Freas-Rooke Swimming Pool, and coffee calls at the Bison.

EARLY BIRDS

Festivities got underway at 8:00 A. M. on Alumni Day at the Bison Club breakfast with a record-breaking 140 alumni and guests gathered to eat a hearty meal and hear reports on the University's athletic program. President of the Bison Club J. P. Mathias '35 served as master of ceremonies during this kick-off event of the day. During the business session the following men were elected officers of the club for the ensuing year: Jay P. Mathias '35, president; Weber L. Gerhart, Jr. '19, Ralph Sherbo, and Dr. Kurt Manrodt, Jr. '39, vice presidents; John H. Shott '22, secretary; and Warren S. Reed '20, treasurer.

By 10:30 A. M. the reunion program was in high gear as 13 classes met in both the new air conditioned Coleman Hall and the Vaughan Literature Building to conduct class business meetings. During this period the eleven different reunion books, prepared especially for the occasion by class members, were distributed to the respective classes. Class regalia was donned, and the reunion pictures taken. The reunion chairman and class presidents are still scratching their heads trying to figure out how all the business was accomplished.

STATE OF THE UNIVERSITY

Following the class meetings reunioners of all classes marched in the traditional reunion parade to Davis Gymnasium where they enjoyed a delicious luncheon and heard the annual address of Dr. Merle M. Odgers, President of the University. Quoting from Dr. Odger's "State of the University" address he said:

Mrs. Ruth Sprague Downs '98, recipient of the Alumni Award for Recognized Contributions and Service to Fellowmen is congratulated by Dr. Charles Fox, Jr. '31, President of the General Alumni Association.

William J. Irvin '22, recipient of the Alumni Award for Distinguished Service to Bucknell University tries out the alumni chair at the All-Alumni Luncheon.

Delegates to the Alumni Assembly study ballots from which three alumni were elected members of the Board of Directors of The General Alumni Association. The meeting, held in the new air-conditioned University Theatre, made the task an enjoyable one on a very warm day.

"Bucknell University has received a grant of $109,518 from the Olin Foundation Inc. for an addition to the F. W. Olin Science Building. The grant will provide for additional class rooms and offices for the mathematics departments. Construction of the addition is scheduled to begin in August and be completed in early winter."

"Students returning last fall found the campus vastly improved by the extensive road-building and landscaping program carried on during the summer. This included construction of a new entrance to the campus to open to vehicular traffic the area in the vicinity of Coleman Hall and the new academic quadrangle."

"The remodeling of West College, one of the University's oldest residence halls for men, was started two months ago. This building with an occupancy up to this time of 140, will be ready for occupancy in September by 210 freshman men."

"This spring three more faculty members were made members of the Twenty-Five Year Club; Dr. Harold E. Cook of the music department and Dr.

Cyrus H. Karraker and Dr. J. Orin Oliphant of the department of history. Dr. Roy C. Tasker of the department of biology also received his pin before leaving for his sabbatical year in Pakistan."

"Our last large gathering of alumni of all classes was Alumni Homecoming last November. At that time I announced that Bucknell was launching a capital gifts campaign with an objective of $1,850,000. Most of you, I am sure, have read the progress reports on our Dual Development Fund published in THE BUCKNELL ALUMNUS. We still get some questions as to the "why" of the word "Dual," and I will say again that the word is used to emphasize the fact that the drive has two principal objectives: One to increase our endowment in the interest of maintaining a superior faculty, and second to do some necessary building, both new construction and the modernization of old buildings such as East College and West College."

"I can now tell you that we have $552,000 in the

"And where is my delegate's badge?" asks Wayne Harrison '51, as he registers for the Alumni Assembly in the lobby of Coleman Hall. Pictured (left to right) are: Miss Marlene Miller and Mrs. John Myers, Alumni office staff; Joe Shultz '08, Trenton; Mrs. Robert W. Dill '28 and Herb Watson '37, (partially hidden), Philadelphia; Mr. Harrison and John Johnson '04, Philadelphia.

Dr. Fox (left) presents to Dr. Paul A. Bowers '33 at the All-Alumni Luncheon the Alumni Award in Recognition of Meritorious Achievement in One's Chosen Field of Endeavor.

The Emeritus Club, a loyal group of perennial reunicers who graduated more than fifty years ago, welcomed members of the Class of 1909 into the fold.

The Golden Anniversary group from 1909 gathered with their wives before the camera to boast of one of the largest fifty-year reunions ever.

A class dinner at the Hotel Lewisburger on Friday evening got the Class of 1911 off to a head start in the reunion festivities.

Hard-working Reunion Chairman and Class President of the Class of 1909, Myrtle Walkinslaw Shaibe, came to the All-Alumni Luncheon prepared to give anyone the "time of day." "Walkie," as president of her class, was presented a certificate of membership in the Emeritus Club by Prexy Fox.

Dual Development Fund, or approximately 30%. This sum has been obtained largely through the gifts of the Trustees, or from gifts obtained by them. This puts us close to our Initial Gifts objective of $600,000, the obtaining of which constitutes the first major step in our campaign."

"We now face a phase of the campaign in which we go out in a more general way to our alumni, parents and friends. A lot of people, including myself, are going to work very hard during 1959 and 1960. Personally, I think this pitching in together on a large common cause is a good thing. I look upon this campaign as an opportunity to recruit additional leadership particularly among alumni in the younger classes. The great need in the next few months is for workers: hundreds of workers in all parts of the country. The enlistment procedure is now under way, and I am confident that we shall enroll the necessary number to make a strong organization."

ALUMNI AWARDS

Another highlight of the luncheon program was the presentation of Alumni Awards for 1959.

Introduced by John H. Shott '22, Alumni Secretary, this year's award winners received their certificates from Dr. Charles F. Fox, Jr. '31, President, of the General Alumni Association.

William J. Irvin '22, of Trenton, N. J., was the recipient of the Alumni Award for Outstanding Service, Unselfish Interest and Demonstrated Loyalty to the University and to the General Alumni Association. Upon the presentation of the certificate and Bucknell chair "Bill" was cited for his service to his Alma Mater in every phase of alumni activity which has included service as a member of the board of directors of The General Alumni Association, president of the Bucknell Alumni Club of Trenton, president of the Bison Club, class officer, member of the Athletic Advisory Committee, and loyal worker in behalf of the Bucknell Alumni Fund.

Reunicers at the Class of 1919 reunion included: (front row, left to right) Cliff Holleran, Voris Hall, Ray (Bing) Kline, Franklin Jones, Agnes Carswell Fries, Irene Yarnell Davis, Betty Spyker Owen, Dorothy Lawrence Wood, Golda Clark Laming, Alice Kelchner; (back row, left to right) Weber Gerhart and Mrs. Gerhart, Harry Angel, Clyde (Mike) Withington, Prof. George Kunkel and Mrs. Kunkel, Howard Harer, Kenneth Oakley, Mrs. Andrews and Harry Andrews.

The presentation of the Bucknell University Alumni Award for Recognized Contributions and Service to Fellow Men for 1959 to Mrs. Ruth Sprague Downs '98 brought a standing ovation from the 1100 alumni and guests assembled in the gymnasium. Mrs. Downs known internationally for her braille transcriptions in the field of mathematics, has also done outstanding work in a great variety of subjects including literature, law, philosophy, science and at least eight foreign languages. For her work in transcribing the gospels for use in Ethiopia, she was cited by the grateful government of that country.

Dr. Paul A. Bowers '33 was presented with the Alumni Award in Recognition of Meritorious Achievement in One's Chosen Field of Endeavor for 1959. Dr. Bower, a distinguished doctor of medicine in the field of maternal welfare, has been termed, "a pioneer in natural childbirth and other phases of physiologic obstetrics" by his associates in the medical field.

Late afternoon brought the classes together again as all classes held social events both on and off campus. In the early evening fraternity and sorority symposium headed the program and finally the very full day of activities came to a close with both the annual Alumni Jamboree in Davis Gymnasium and a performance by Cap and Dagger of J. M. Barrie's comedy "The Admirable Crichton" in the new University Theatre in Coleman Hall.

ELECTIONS AND APPOINTMENTS

For trustees and many alumni the Alumni Weekend meant more than just frivolity as committee meetings were held about the campus—sometimes into the wee hours of the morning. The following paragraphs give a report of the election of trustees, officers of the General Alumni Association and new members of the Board of Directors of the General Alumni Association as well as appointments to committees.

Wilmer D. Greulich '34, Wynnewood, was nominated for election as an Alumni Trustee on the Board of Trustees of Bucknell University for a term of five years. Other new trustees elected were Dr. Edward W. Pangburn '15, Lewisburg physician and a former member of the Board; Charles J. Kushell, Jr. '27, Chicago, vice president of the Finance Department of Montgomery Ward; and Herbert A. May, Pittsburgh, formerly senior vice president of the Westinghouse Air Brake Company. Since retiring from his Westinghouse post, he has been principally concerned with the program of the Defense Orientation and Conference Association, Washington, as secretary and treasurer.

Four trustees whose terms expired were re-elected. They are: A. Guy Freas of Huntington Mills; Dr. Daniel A. Poling, New York City; Dr. Herbert L. Spencer, New York City; and Paul L. Troast, Clifton, N. J.

THIRD PICTURE RIGHT:—"Contentment" could be the theme of this picture of the Class of 1939. Reunion Chairman Bob Smith, seated first row center, appears especially pleased with the fruits of his labors—or could it be the surroundings!

A handsome group in colorful "coolie hats," the Class of 1924, dined at the Susquehanna Country Club on Friday night as a prelude to an enjoyable week end.

Reunion Co-chairmen John Minick and Turk Jones corralled quite a bunch from '29 for their 30th reunion.

A reunion gift to the University of nearly $1,000 added to the success of the Silver Anniversary Reunion of the Class of 1934. The picture shows an extra dividend of two sons to boot.

The male members of the Class of 1944, outnumbered almost 2 to 1, brought back memories of the war years when so many '44 men had their college careers interrupted.

It's hard to believe, but this Class of 1949 will be coming back for its fiftieth in the year A.D. 1999.

Wives and children joined the Class of 1954 at their first five-year-get-together. Naturally, the talk concerned news of babies, marriages, and old boy and girl friends.

Although not in full force for the picture taking, four happy celebrants of the Class of 1958 braved the camera's eye. Dr. Roy Tasker (left) served as faculty host.

Returning early for commencement exercises, these members of the Class of 1959 joined in the reunion fun as the newest additions to the alumni body.

Officers of the General Alumni Association re-elected for the ensuing year were: Charles F. Fox, Jr., M.D. '31, Vandergrift, president; Robert W. Dill '27, Plymouth Meeting, first vice president; Mrs. Clyde P. Bailey (Dorothy Lemon '29), Pittsburgh, second vice president.

Three new members of the Board of Directors of the General Alumni Association were elected by the 86 delegates from 23 alumni clubs: Charles T. Farrow '26, Westfield, N. J.; Allen F. Jones '25, Harrisburg; and Irvin Graybill, Jr., Esq. '49, Middleburg.

Committee appointments included announcement of the membership of the committee for selection of Alumni Trustee candidates as follows: Mrs. Charles E. Copeland '22, chairman; Miss Elinor Childs '52; Donald W. Glover '41; C. Martin Neff '42; Dr. Emma E. Dillon '15; Clyde P. Bailey '29; Thomas W. Speck '37; Norman Davies, Esq. '26; and Robert W. Dill '27.

Members of the Alumni Awards Committee are: Mrs. Joseph B. Kelly '21, chairman; T. Cortlandt Williams, Jr. '20; Rev. Anthony F. Vasquez '37; Harry Dayhoff '23; Dr. Harry R. Warfel '20; Mabel Grier Leshner, M.D. '01; Paul A. Bowers, M.D. '33; William J. Irvin '22; and Mrs. S. E. Downs '98.

Appointed to a committee to study an improved method of nominating and electing alumni to membership on the Board of Directors were: William M. Wilkinson '46, chairman; Irvin Graybill, Esq. '49, and Dr. Eugene P. Bertin '17.

COMMENCEMENT

At the commencement exercises on Monday, June 8, the following were awarded honorary degrees: Dr. David Burpee, member of the Board of Trustees, president of the W. Atlee Burpee Seed Company, Philadelphia, DOCTOR OF SCIENCE; Bishop Gerald H. Kennedy, Bishop of the Los Angeles area of the Methodist Church, DOCTOR OF DIVINITY; Dr. Richard A. Kern, Philadelphia physician, DOCTOR OF SCIENCE; Dr. Alfred Knopf, chairman of the Board of Alfred A. Knopf Inc., New York, DOCTOR OF HUMANE LETTERS; and Dr. William R. White '26, Chairman of the Board of Trustees

(Continued on Page 18)

The bright sun and heat was little deterrence to reunion celebrants marching in the traditional reunion parade to the All-Alumni Luncheon. Here, the Silver Anniversary Class of 1934 is about to enter Davis Gymnasium.

BISONS ON UPSURGE IN 1959

by BRADLEY N. TUFTS, Sports Information Director

BUILDING A WINNING FOOTBALL TEAM is a job of no small proportions and despite last year's record of a lone win in nine outings Bob Odell has made considerable strides in building the Bison football team into a winning unit.

In almost every game last fall Odell's charges were in the thick of the fight for two or three quarters until the frontline unit wearied under the greater depth of the opposition. At any rate the new "belly" series attack, employed so successfully under Odell at Wisconsin, provided Bison fans with a new, interesting and highly imaginative brand of football.

The 'new look' has undergone a year of implementation and promises to be even more exciting this fall. The 1959 edition of the Herd will display a multiple offense employing, in addition to the "belly" or "drive" series, the "T", spread, man in motion and split-T. With fifteen game-tested lettermen on hand and as many as five outstanding sophomores ready to move into starting roles, the Bisons will be stronger in experience and depth than they were a year ago.

TERHES LEADS ATTACK

Spearheading the aerial and running attack will be junior quarterback Paul Terhes. A strong armed passer and a fine runner, Terhes took over for the injured Denny Cox last year and improved with every game, winding up as the first team Middle Atlantic Conference signal caller. A 5-11, 185 pounder from Milmont Park, Terhes capped his outstanding performances by winning the MAC passing and total offense crowns. Odell values "Turk's" services so highly that he has said that he wouldn't trade him for any back in the East.

Quarterback and end are the deepest positions on the squad and Odell has several capable performers to back up Terhes. Junior Fred Elliott of Philadelphia saw limited duty in '58 and can fill in when needed. Sophs Pat Malone of Glenshaw and Ken Twiford of Philadelphia shared the freshman duties last fall and showed good potential this spring.

Although three lettermen halfbacks are on hand, two promising sophs could bust into the starting lineup. Ashton Ditka, a 5-11, 180 pound speedster from Aliquippa, showed considerable promise in spring practice and could prove to be a real outside threat. The other halfback spot might go to Bill Urch, a 6-1, 198 pounder from Ligonier, Pa. A solid performer for the frosh last season, Urch showed this spring that he will be a tough man to move out. Far from being out of the picture are senior Ray Hettche of Baltimore, fifth leading ground gainer last year, juniors Marty Pope of Sunbury and Mickey Melberger of West Pittston and soph Ray Cosgrove.

The fullback post is in the capable hands of junior George Moncilovich, a tough, aggressive runner and the number two rusher last fall. George supplemented the Bison aerial attack in '58 with 142 yards in 56 tries and is being looked to for even better performances come September. Also on hand are senior letterman Clint Gilkey of Allison Park and soph Tom Noteware of Wellsboro.

MATHIAS ANCHORS LINE

Taking a look at the Bison forward wall we find nine lettermen on hand headed by Captain Larry Mathias. A 5-10, 180 pounder from Reading, Mathias is a top-flight performer on both offense and defense and can go equally well at center or guard. Moving in as a starter last year he did an outstanding job backing up the line and showed to be durable and a real hustler. He may move over to guard if sophomore Tom Alexander, the top performer up front for the frosh last year, recovers sufficiently from a leg injury to take over the center duties.

Elsewhere in the interior of the line seniors John Bergfeld of Havertown and Bob Patzwall of Baltimore, should be fixtures at guard and tackle respectively. Dick Bourdeau, a 6-1, 215 pounder from Milford, Conn., was the most improved player on the squad this spring and will give letter winner Charlie Negron a run for his money at the other tackle spot. Soph Kirk Foulke, 6-2, 205, from Philadelphia, will also see plenty of action. Unless Mathias moves over from his center post, sophomore Don Chaump of Pittston will probably join Bergfeld at the guards. Sophs Walt Duffy, John Flyzik and Dennis Morgan and senior letterman Tony Rinaldo will give him plenty of competition.

No less than four senior lettermen are available at the ends. Jim Brady, of Ambler, a starter for the past two seasons and All-Conference honorable mention last year, will probably go at one flank, with Phoenixville's Jack Eachus at the other wing. Eachus paced the conference last season with 16 receptions good for 272 yards and one touchdown. Dennis Cox of Bal-

1959 FOOTBALL SCHEDULE

*Sept. 26—Gettysburg	Hershey
Oct. 3—Harvard	Cambridge, Mass.
Oct. 10—Buffalo	Lewisburg
Oct. 17—Rutgers	Homecoming
Oct. 24—Lafayette	Easton
Oct. 31—Lehigh	Bethlehem
Nov. 7—Colgate	Hamilton, N. Y.
Nov. 14—Temple	Parents' Day
Nov. 21—Delaware	Lewisburg

* Night Game

FRED PRENDER

Head Coach Bob Odell filled out his football staff this June with the addition of Fred Prender, a 1954 graduate of West Chester State Teachers College, as backfield coach.

A Little All-America second team choice in 1953, Prender has served as athletic director and head football coach at Bristol (Pa.) High School for most of the past four years, and was Coach of the Year for Lower Bucks County in 1956. Prior to his coaching duties Prender served brief stints in the Baltimore Orioles baseball system and with the Toronto Argonauts of the Canadian Football League.

He was the leading college scorer in Pennsylvania in 1951 and took part in the Blue-Gray game in 1953. In addition to his football duties, Fred will assist Bill Wrabley with the wrestling team this winter. He is married and the father of a daughter Peggy, age 3.

timore, who has played at every position except tackle and center, is the top defensive lineman on the squad and along with senior Doug Forsyth, junior Mike Goldstein and soph Ron Maslanik will give added strength to the flanker corps.

DEFENSE IMPROVED

Defensively, the Herd will be stronger than last year and boasts outstanding performers in Brady, Cox, Mathias and Terhes. The tough early season schedule will mean that the sophomores will make some mistakes along the way, but the progress made in spring practice was most heartening.

With Brady, Eachus and Cox on hand the opposition will find rough going on the outside. Mathias will back up a line that is tough but lacks experience and Terhes has shown to be as reliable on defense in his safety position as he is in moving the ball down the field. If the sophs come along as expected the Bisons should keep their opponents well under the 2,913 yards they gave up last year.

1958 was a disappointing year record-wise but the interesting and exciting brand of football introduced by Bob Odell gave Bison fans some real thrills. 1959 promises even more variety and although the Herd faces a rugged nine-game slate the added experience and depth should bring the team further along on the winning road.

A LOOK AT THE OPPOSITION

The Bisons kick off the lid on the 1959 season against Gettysburg in the Rotary Bowl game at Hershey on September 26. This will be the sixth time the two rivals have met in the annual classic with the Bullets holding a 3-2 edge. The Herd dropped a 6-0 decision in the mud last year and will be out for revenge.

Harvard, with an all-veteran backfield and rated a chance at the Ivy League first division, will entertain Bucknell on October 3. The Cantabs, under John Yovicsin, are pointing toward a big year but will have to come up with some improvements in the line. In their only previous engagement the two teams battled to a 26-26 draw in 1951.

Buffalo will bring its swiftly rising football fortunes to Lewisburg on October 10 and should provide plenty of excitement. The Bulls finished with an 8-1 mark last season including a 38-0 decision over the Herd and won the Lambert Cup, symbolizing Eastern small college supremacy. The Bulls haven't lost much and Dick Offenhauer has 19 lettermen including fleet halfback Willie

(Continued on Page 19)

TICKETS

To assure yourself of seats on the fifty-yard line, order season tickets now. The north half of Section "D," on the fifty-yard line, has been shifted from the student section to the reserved seat section for season ticket buyers. Order your tickets now for Homecoming and Dad's Day. Applications will be filled as received.

ORDER YOUR FOOTBALL TICKETS EARLY 1959 FOOTBALL TICKET ORDER BLANK BUCKNELL UNIVERSITY

Please
Print

Last Name	First	Middle	Class
Street Address
City		Zone	State

No. of Tickets	Game	Date	Price	Amount Enclosed	For Office Use Only
	Reserved Seat Season Ticket		$10.00
X	Buffalo	Oct. 10	3.00
	Rutgers (Homecoming)	Oct. 17	3.50
4	Temple (Dad's Day)	Nov. 14	3.00
	Delaware	Nov. 21	3.00
	Additional Service Rotary Bowl— Gettysburg at Hershey	Sept. 26	3.00
	General Admission Season Ticket		4.00
Insurance and Postage				$.25
Total Amount Enclosed				$

CHOICE OF LOCATION WEST (HOME SIDE) EAST (PRESS BOX SIDE)
Sections are 23 rows high Section D—50 Yd. Line () Section S—50 Yd. Line ()
Low () Middle () High () Section C—30-40 Yd. Line () Section T—30-40 Yd. Line ()

NO REFUNDS Because of season ticket commitments, additional tickets for individual games may not be adjacent to season ticket seats. NO REFUNDS

Make checks payable to BUCKNELL UNIVERSITY—INTERCOLLEGIATE ATHLETICS. Return order blanks to Albert E. Humphreys, Director of Athletics. Tickets will be sent by insured mail.

TUFTS

JOINS

STAFF

BRADLEY TUFTS

Bradley N. Tufts of Burbank, California, has been appointed to the public relations staff of sports information director to succeed Arlie V. Schardt who has moved on to the staff of "Sports Illustrated."

Tufts comes to Bucknell after serving three and one half years in the office of the Athletic Publicity Director at Colgate University. While an undergraduate at Colgate he was on the sports staff of the school paper and was elected to Pi Delta Epsilon, national journalistic fraternity.

He also took part in various campus activities and served as president of Delta Upsilon social fraternity and chairman of the athletic committee of the Colgate Student Senate. He was a member of the Bed Roider freshman golf team and has worked two summers with Batten, Barton, Durstine and Osborn advertising agency.

BUCKNELL DUAL DEVELOPMENT FUND

WHERE WE STAND

AS WE APPROACH the alumni solicitation phase of the Bucknell Dual Development Campaign, it is well to consider the progress already made. Cash gifts and pledges reported since June have pushed the total to over $915,805—or about half way toward the goal of $1,850,000.

Several additional encouraging challenge gifts from foundations beyond those already named can now be announced. They will become operative when matching gifts by alumni and friends of the University are received.

At its last board meeting, the Samuel H. Kress Foundation modified the terms of its one to four matching grant by permitting Bucknell University to use gifts to the endowment fund from other foundations as matching funds.

The Kresge Foundation of Detroit, Mich., has awarded a grant of $25,000 to Bucknell University toward the cost of constructing the new administration center, which is one of the projects in the Dual Development Campaign. Estimated costs of the new administration center, which will form one wing of the present Vaughan Literature Building is $600,000. The Kresge grant was made on condition that the Dual Development Campaign raise the additional $575,000 needed for the building by December 1, 1961. In the past, the Kresge Foundation has made a similar grant toward building construction on the Bucknell campus.

PARENTS will help too

THE BUCKNELL PARENTS, an organization made up of the parents of Bucknell students, was established at a meeting of the parent group on the campus on May 9, 1959. The new merged organization is a consolidation of the former Fathers' and Mothers' Associations. Both of the former organizations had established a splendid history of helpful activities on and off the Bucknell campus that have made significant contributions in parent-university relations.

After consideration of the goals of the Dual Development Fund, the Board of Directors of The Bucknell Parents adopted as their loyalty fund project for the next three years, beginning July 1, 1959, the raising of $75,000 to be applied to the endowment goal of the Dual Development Fund.

It was further agreed that parents' gifts to the Dual Development Fund Campaign will be solicited in the name of The Bucknell Parents, but that the actual work of solicitation will be carried on under the direction of the Dual Development staff. It was further agreed that the officers and the board of the Parents Association will give as much assistance as it can in the solicitation program for the Dual Development Campaign.

This chart, displayed on the campus for the first time during Commencement Weekend will measure the progress of the Dual Development Campaign. Pictured at about 30% then, the "gift thrust" has since risen to the half-way mark.

Officers and parent representatives elected at the May 9 meeting are as follows: President, Mrs. Vernal R. Hardy, Wilmington, Del.; President-Elect, Carl M. Beery, Elmira, N. Y.; Vice President, Gordon Fromm, Dover, Del.; Secretary-Treasurer, Mrs. Forry Strobeck, Lewisburg; Parent Representatives for the Class of 1960, Mrs. Robert Angelo, Pittsburgh, Marco P. Barbarin, Pompton Lake, N. J., Mrs. John Pulizzi, Williamsport, Mrs. Edwin A. Ziegler, Lewisburg; Parent Representatives for the Class of 1961, Mrs. Kenneth S. Amish, Syracuse, N. Y., Mrs. Allison J. Berlin, Coraopolis, William H. Grill, Tuckahoe, N. Y., Bernard A. Riley, Lewisburg; Parent Representatives for the Class of 1962, Mrs. Edward M. Berman, Roslyn Heights, N. Y., Judge Harry D. Goldman, Rochester, N. Y., the Rev. Paul M. Humphreys, Waterbury, Conn.

We are happy to report that already some of the parents have been solicited and generous contributions in the form of cash, pledges and securities have been received.

ALUMNI Time Table Changed

AS THE RESULT of a recommendation of the Board of Directors of the General Alumni Association, a slight modification of the personal solicitation phase of the Dual Development Campaign has been made. The change calls for the personal solicitation of pledges and gifts from the general alumni body beginning in the first months of 1960, instead of during the last months of 1959. A few alumni will be solicited during the special gifts phase of the program in the last three months of 1959 and a few areas close to the University campus will conduct general alumni solicitation in late 1959 to establish a home-base participation in 1959 as a stimulus for other areas in early 1960.

Throughout the planning stages of the Dual Development Campaign, the directors of the campaign have sought and received the advice of the Board of Directors of the General Alumni Association. During the past year, a large part of the three Board of Directors meetings have been devoted to a consideration of co-ordinating the Bucknell Alumni Fund with the Dual Development Campaign. And in addition, a workshop session on the subject was held on the campus in October 1958. As the result of these deliberations, the Dual Development Campaign staff wisely refrained from conducting personal solicitation among alumni for the Dual Development project during the 1958-59 fund year, leaving the field open for the unrestricted Alumni Fund campaigning of the Alumni Fund Committee, the class fund managers, and the personal solicitation chairmen and agents working on behalf of the Bucknell Alumni Fund. However, it was felt unwise to conduct personal solicitation among alumni for the Dual Development Campaign during the latter half of 1959 because many alumni contributors might not realize that the Fund fiscal year closed June 30 and might misunderstand if asked to make two contributions during the calendar year 1959. Thus, on two occasions the Dual Development Campaign staff has stepped aside with its plans in consideration of the need for emphasis on Alumni Fund giving during the year 1959.

ALUMNI FUND PLANS for 1959-1960

AS PLANS FOR BUCKNELL'S DUAL DEVELOPMENT CAMPAIGN developed, it became clear that a continuation of the Alumni Fund on a normal basis during the Dual Development Campaign would result in double solicitation of alumni. It was considered that such a course would be unwise, if not impossible, from the viewpoint of the Dual Development efforts. Since the Dual Development Campaign had twice stepped aside so as not to interfere with the Alumni Fund of 1958-59 (once to postpone alumni solicitation until after June 30, 1959, and again, to postpone alumni solicitation until early 1960), it was felt that the larger interest of Bucknell University can best be served by a successful completion of the Dual Development Campaign. Thus, for the first time since its inception twelve years ago, the Alumni Annual-Giving Fund will not conduct a formal program during the 1959-1960 fiscal year. However, alumni who make gifts of cash or pledges to the Dual Development Campaign will also be listed as contributors to the Alumni Fund for "Roll of Contributors" and "Continuity and Regularity" purposes.

The new Bucknell color movie entitled "Presenting Bucknell" will be shown at Dual Development Campaign meetings throughout the U. S. A. Several select frames from the new movie are shown on the film clip.

During the merging of the Alumni Fund and the Dual Development Campaign, our splendid organization of class fund managers, assistant class fund managers and personal solicitation chairmen and agents will be held intact and during the personal solicitation phase of the Dual Development Campaign early in 1960 these loyal alumni workers will be providing important assistance in every possible way to the Dual Development effort.

Throughout the active personal soliciting phase of the Dual Development program, class fund managers and area agents and their assistants will be hard at work trying to establish new records of giving, not only in class efforts, but in area efforts as well. Throughout the campaign, careful records will be kept of the record of class giving—although no individual gift amounts will be revealed—as well as careful reporting of area giving. This arrangement permits the Alumni Fund to preserve its traditional record for helping provide the resources needed by Bucknell yet allows the Dual Development Campaign the greatest possible opportunity to achieve its fullest potential. And furthermore, this setup will avoid the unpleasantness and confusion of double solicitation.

WHY PERSONAL SOLICITATION?

THERE ARE SEVERAL GOOD REASONS why personal solicitation must be depended upon to secure complete victory in the Dual Development Campaign.

In the first place, there has been such a multiplicity of mail appeals for a wide variety of health and welfare causes—many of them worthy, some of them not so worthy—that the prospective donor has long since become weary of trying to read all of the sundry and varied appeals.

In the usual order, Dr. E. W. Pangburn '15, Trustee, and Dr. Dayton L. Ranck '16, Vice-President—Emeritus, Co-Chairmen for Special Gifts in the Lewisburg area, compare notes.

Professor John S. Gold '18 and Dr. Mark Ebersole, University Chaplain, who will head the Faculty Committee for the Dual Development Campaign.

In the second place, the alumni donor will be asked to give or pledge over a three-year period for a permanent improvement of Bucknell's resources, and therefore, is entitled to hear about the program from another alumnus who is qualified to talk intelligently of Bucknell's needs and the goals of the project.

Since this is the first comprehensive capital fund campaign in Bucknell's history since the Heating Plant Program of 1948, we must and will carry it on in the best Bucknell tradition. In the Heating Plant Campaign of 1948, it was possible to conduct personal solicitation in about 40 alumni areas. However, since then the distribution of Bucknellians has broadened considerably and we find substantial concentrations of the Bucknell family not only in the Northeast but also in the middle and far West and in the South. In fact, due to the energetic efforts of our alumni club officer staffs, all but about 1500 of our over 17,000 Bucknellians are now under the care of a Bucknell area club organization. By and large, Bucknellians throughout the nation have come to recognize a feeling of pride and gratitude toward Alma Mater whether they hold a bachelor's degree or a master's degree or even if they did not remain on the Bucknell campus for a full four-year program. Everyone should be given the opportunity to hear of Bucknell's progress and future needs and this can be accomplished only through personal visits. It is recognized that not all donors will be able to contribute as generously as they would like but successful completion of the campaign will require many, many "basic loyalty" gifts. This fact was amply demonstrated in the Heating Campaign in 1948.

Dr. Merle M. Odgers, President, and William S. Liming '33, discuss campaign activities at the Long Island meeting, with Mrs. Odgers as an interested listener. Mr. Liming is chairman for Special Gifts on Long Island.

During this fall we face the task of recruiting chairmen, captains and agents to serve in many local areas, with the actual visitations to be conducted in the early months of 1960. To visit the whole family of Bucknellians will require the help of almost 3000 workers who are willing to devote several evenings during early 1960 to the task. With this kind of cooperation complete victory is assured.

SPECIAL GIFTS Solicitation Continues

SPECIAL GIFTS SOLICITATION continued over the summer in a number of areas under the general chairmanship of R. Henry Coleman '29, Trustee, of Bridgeport, Conn. Solicitation of a special group of alumni, parents and corporations was continued in Wilmington, Del., under the leadership of Dr. Burt C. Pratt '33 and Dr. Vernal R. Hardy, a parent. On Long Island the special gifts program progresses under the leadership of William S. Liming '33, chairman, a group of 7 team captains with about 30 agents. In Manhattan, Chester R. Leaber '19 has just conducted the kickoff meeting. In Philadelphia the special gifts program will be conducted under the leadership of Romain C. Hassrick, Esq. '06. The parents' program in the Philadelphia area will be guided by Wallace W. Orr, father of senior student Cynthia J. Orr. Chairmanships have been established (as reported in our May 1959 issue) with programs to be conducted during early fall in Lewisburg, Milton, Sunbury, Pittsburgh, Scranton, Wilkes-Barre, and Williamsport. Still to be organized are the areas of Northern New Jersey, Southern New Jersey, Trenton, Westchester County, Brooklyn, Monmouth-Ocean Counties (N. J.) and Danville.

BUSINESS NEIGHBORS Attend Recognition Dinner on Campus

EIGHTY BUSINESS and industrial leaders from Lewisburg and nearby communities were guests at a Recognition Dinner held at Bucknell on June 10 to express the University's appreciation for their cooperation in various University-sponsored projects. Showing of the new film, "Presenting Bucknell," prepared in connection with the Dual Development Campaign, featured the dinner program.

Speaking at the dinner, Dr. Merle M. Odgers, president of Bucknell University, spoke in part as follows:

"One of my predecessors, David Jayne Hill, who was president from 1879-1888, later our American ambassador to Germany, as a student at Bucknell gave to a question in a little autograph album, 'What is your chief occupation?' this answer: 'making friends!' The future Bucknell president was reflecting one of the most characteristic aspects about Bucknell—its friendliness. Quite naturally, therefore, I welcome you on behalf of Bucknell as Friends of the University.

"Friendship, whether between individuals or institutions, is implemented by a common language. Bucknell neighbors enjoy a relationship that, I believe, is closer and more friendly than most 'town-gown' or 'university-area' relationships because we do speak the same language of freedom of enterprise; of constant progress along sound, mildly conservative lines; of dedication to the cultural, moral, economic values that give strength to our American way of life.

"Woodrow Wilson once said, 'The final synthesis of learning is in philosophy. You shall most clearly judge the spirit of a university if you judge it by the philosophy it teaches.' I am sure that the basic values and patterns in the business and community-life philosophy of our area quite naturally have molded and have been affected by the general spirit of the University.

"That's why we are interested in each other's progress. The University is strengthened whenever businesses and industries through united action achieve some economic goal for our area.

"Conversely, the whole area benefits economically as Bucknell makes progress—whenever our budget goes up, which is lately an annual climb; whenever a new building rises, which has happened frequently in the last few years; whenever events of importance are held on campus which attracts large numbers of people.

"Nor is our common language an economic monotone, and our inter-related progress is not limited to the material level. When a distinguished lecture series in science is set up with the cooperation of a neighboring industry—when we cooperate in an annual Science Fair—when a local business provides a scholarship, we demonstrate that we are partners in education, and that education in these days of national crisis is everybody's business. We have common concerns in a high level of culture for our area, in varied and interesting forms of recreation, and in programs that nourish the mind and spirit; and Bucknell is glad to serve these needs not only of its 2,200 students, but of the people of its area as well."

LIFE INCOME PLAN Arouses Interest

THE FIRST ANNOUNCEMENT of the new life income plan which appeared in our May 1959 issue of THE BUCKNELL ALUMNUS has been well received by many alumni who are personally interested in its provisions or who have friends to whom the program is of interest. Several alumni have already adopted the program. If you would like to learn more about this method of giving that combines prudence with generosity, please use the coupon below to send for the new life income plan brochure.

About mid-September the pamphlet will be mailed to all alumni in the Class of 1925 and all earlier years back to the Class of 1874.

WESLEY N. HAINES
Director of Development
Bucknell University
Lewisburg, Pennsylvania

Please send me _____ copy(ies) of the Life Income Plan pamphlet.

Name

Address

City and State

YOU NAME YOUR CANDIDATES

Grass Roots Democracy at Work in Your General Alumni Association

THROUGH A WISE PROVISION IN THE Constitution and By-Laws of the General Alumni Association, you have the privilege—and responsibility—of suggesting the names of Bucknellians to be considered by nominating committees as candidates for a number of University and Alumni posts.

Furthermore, Bucknellians follow the democratic process of not only nominating but of electing their representatives by an election process that provides several candidates from which the choice of a winner can be made by the Alumni voters themselves.

These broad democratic principles are not followed in all alumni associations. On many campuses the alumni governing board themselves select the candidates for alumni posts. And in many instances, only one candidate is selected for each office to be filled. Bucknellians have always felt that such nomination and election procedures do not provide adequately for the practice of democratic principles no matter how conscientious alumni governing boards and committees might be. Of course, just as in community, state and federal nominations and elections, the whole process is weakened unless broad participation by the voter is secured.

Therefore, this is your invitation to suggest the names of Bucknellians to be considered as candidates for a number of University and Alumni offices. The form (provided at Right) will make it easy for you to exercise your privileges and responsibilities as a member of the Bucknell Alumni family.

ALUMNI TRUSTEE CANDIDATE

Each year one alumni trustee is nominated for consideration for membership on the Board of Trustees by vote of Alumni from a slate of three candidates selected by the Alumni Committee on Nomination of Trustee. In our large alumni body, many likely possibilities might be over-looked unless we have your suggestion at hand. Your suggested candidate need not be a member of your class nor must he reside in your community, but he must have attended Bucknell University and should be able to give consideration of the broad problems of University policy and should be willing and able to attend two board meetings plus several committee meetings each year.

ALUMNI AWARDS CANDIDATES

The committee on Alumni Awards will meet on Saturday, October 17, to select recipients for alumni awards in three categories: (a) for meritorious achievement in the field or profession in which the candidate is engaged, (b) for recognized contributions and service to fellowmen through such media as religion, charity, art, science or public welfare, and (c) for outstanding service, unselfish interest, and demonstrated loyalty to the University and to the Association. The committee will appreciate your suggestions of candidates in these three categories.

ALUMNI BOARD OF DIRECTORS

The by-laws of The General Alumni Association provide for an election of three members to the governing Board of Directors each year, and you are invited to suggest the names of Alumni to be considered as alumni board of director nominees.

A WORD OF CAUTION

In the past, a few Alumni have misinterpreted this call for candidates and have felt that multi-recommendations are necessary for favorable committee action. Such is not the case; a candidate with one recommendation receives the same committee consideration as a candidate with a hundred recommendations. It would be well to keep in mind that under our by-laws, nominating committees are required to select the candidate it considers "best suited and qualified," rather than on the basis of the number of recommendations. Selection of candidates should never be made as a result of a popularity contest.

Remember—committees meet October 17, and in the case of alumni trustee candidates, cannot consider persons who have not previously accepted the invitation to be placed in nomination. As this clearance requires time, your suggestions should be made now.

Suggestions of Persons to Be Considered for Nomination

(Must Be Submitted by September 15, 1959, or Before)

I suggest for committee consideration the following Bucknellians:

I. AS CANDIDATE FOR ALUMNI TRUSTEE:

NAME CLASS
(Enclose sheet listing achievements of your candidate as you know them)

II. AS RECIPIENT OF THE 1950 ALUMNI AWARDS:

a. For Meritorious Achievement in the Field or Profession in Which the Candidate is Engaged.

NAME CLASS
(Enclose sheet listing achievements of your candidate as you know them)

b. For Recognized Contributions and Service to Fellow Men Through Such Media as Religion, Charity, Art, Science or Public Welfare

NAME CLASS
(Enclose sheet listing achievements of your candidate as you know them)

c. For Outstanding Service, Unselfish Interest, and Demonstrated Loyalty to the University and to the Association.

NAME CLASS
(Enclose sheet listing achievements of your candidate as you know them)

III. AS NOMINEE FOR THE BOARD OF DIRECTORS OF THE GENERAL ALUMNI ASSOCIATION:

NAME CLASS

YOUR NAME CLASS

ADDRESS

HOMECOMING

(Continued from Page 3)

to meet that classmate you have been looking for all day. He or she will be there to greet you at the cider barrel.

In the evening at 9:00 P. M. in Davis Gymnasium the all-campus dance will hold the spotlight. Entertainment will be provided and Homecoming trophies presented. Here will be another opportunity to meet the gang and whether or not you care to dance, Davis Gymnasium will be the place to spend an enjoyable Saturday evening.

We hope you will agree that Homecoming 1959 adds up to a wonderful day of reunion and reminiscence. Cut yourself in on the whole program by sending your ticket reservation forms shown on pages 12 and 27. This will be your last reminder, so DON'T DELAY—DO IT NOW!

ONE WORLD, ONE PEOPLE

(Continued from Page 5)

Dr. Condict's exploits in tooth-pulling should not be overlooked. Although he was not a professional dentist, the realization that thousands of Burmese suffered from bad teeth made this his special concern. Consequently, wherever he travelled in Burma he distributed handbills announcing that he would pull teeth "without pain and without payin'" until the total number which were "outened" rose to the stupendous figure of 16,650. One might say this was a case of the Gospel following the forceps as Dr. Condict's tooth-pulling extended to at least twenty different races.

Another principal area of missionary interest to Bucknellians besides China and Burma has ever been Korea, and in the Korean field shines brightly the name of Mande Pauline Keister '26 (Mrs. A. Kris Jensen). With her husband she served under the Methodist Board of Foreign Missions at Chemulpo and was a trustee of various schools including Yonsei University and the Methodist Theological Seminary in Seoul. She also taught in the Seminary though much of her work was administrative at the policy level.

During the Korean War Mrs. Jensen and her two children were evacuated to Japan; meanwhile, her husband was taken prisoner and endured for more than two years the tortures of North Korean prison camps. She holds the distinction of being the first woman to be ordained into the Methodist Church.

Her comments on foreign missions seem to us words of wisdom born of her rich experience. She writes: "For those who are free to go to a foreign field, and who have the necessary training and other qualifications, missionary work offers the most desirable life service for anyone dedicated to a church calling. A missionary has no doubt of the need of his work—and he enjoys friendships without any thought of racial lines, along with the closest possible fellowship with other missionaries. I can say this all without hesitation in spite of having been evacuated twice in emergency war situations, involving complete loss of all possessions both times—and in spite of the Korean War that resulted in the capture and horrible torture of death marches and prison camps for my husband for a three-year period in which I did not know if he were alive or dead."

More than a half-century has passed since the Leshers, the Hylberts, and Frank Rawlinson went out as missionaries to China, and now this once fertile field of missions is closed. But other peoples of Asia and Africa call for Christ's ministry. The Bucknellians who have entered foreign missions since the war, we have not mentioned. After all, their work is continuing.

Missions have changed since 1900. Today, three difficult problems, among many, confront missionaries in foreign fields. They are Western materialism, the intellectualising of Christianity, and the growth of nationalism and anti-white prejudice. Times have changed, requiring a different training and new techniques, but the goal still remains the same, which is to bring a personal God and a living faith into the lives of people who have need of Him.

The author offers his apology to those whose names are omitted for lack of information and to others who have not received adequate attention because of lack of space.*

A RECORD REUNION

(Continued from Page 10)

of Bucknell University and vice president of Morgan Guaranty Trust Company, New York, DOCTOR OF LAWS.

CLASS ELECTION RESULTS

The following are the results of the class elections held during the class business meetings on Alumni Day, June 6, 1959.

Emeritus Club—Dr. Carl L. Millward '06, president; W. Carl Sprout '08, first vice president; John C. Johnson '04, second vice president; William G. Murdock '04, secretary-treasurer; Miss Mary Cotton '96, class reporter; Col. A. F. Dershimer '03, class fund manager; Guy Payne '09, reunion chairman; Lewis C. Hylbert '05, reunion book editor-in-chief; Mrs. Jessie McFarland Thomas '05, Mrs. Margaret Pangburn Mathias '08, Benjamin Harris '08, Victor Luchsinger '08, Mrs. Sarah Walters Headland '09, Frank Yost '06, associate editors; Dr. and Mrs. William Leiser '09 and '21, Mr. and Mrs. William Donehower '06, social meeting chairmen; Jesse Higgins '01, regalia chairman.

Class of 1909—Mrs. Myrtle Walkinshaw Shupe, president; Mrs. Mary Meyer Abbott, secretary; William Leiser, treasurer; Mrs. Sarah Walters Headland, class reporter; Dr. Newton C. Fetter, fund manager.

Class of 1914—Jesse Riley, president; Mrs. Dora Hamler Weaver, secretary and reporter; Miss Mary Kunkel, treasurer; Jesse Riley, fund manager; Mrs. Edna Whittam Glover, reunion chairman.

Class of 1919—Franklin D. Jones, president; Franklin D. Jones, class reporter and fund manager.

Class of 1924—Arthur J. McMurtrie, president; Foster D. Jemison, vice president; Mrs. Elma Streeter Shaffer, secretary; G. Merrill Lenox, treasurer; Mrs. Elizabeth Moore Jones, class reporter; Merl G. Colvin, fund manager.

Class of 1929—Clyde P. Bailey, president; John C. Minick, vice president; Miss Thelma Showalter, secretary and class reporter; Charles W. Kalp, fund manager.

Class of 1934—Edward C. Myers, president; Sherburne B. Walker, vice president; Mrs. Marie Steinbach Fox, secretary; Vincent B. Wayland, treasurer; Mrs. Ruth Rohr Liming, class reporter; Frank E. Gerlitz, Jr., fund manager; Sherburne Walker, William P. Boger, Jr., reunion co-chairmen; Mrs. Marie Steinbach Fox, reunion book editor; Mr. and Mrs. Walter C. Geiger, Roland Harbeson, social meeting hosts and hostess; Sanford L. Barcus, A. Fay Beighley, class regalia chairmen.

Class of 1939—Barr Cannon, president; Mrs. Bernice Henry Rathmell, vice president; Mrs. Grace Collett Janson, secretary; Kurt Manrodt, Jr., treasurer; David R.

Bageustose, class reporter; William H. Roberts, fund manager.

Class of 1944—William Schure, president; Robert F. Baker, vice president; Mrs. Betty Evans Franklin, secretary; Ronald H. MacPherson, treasurer; Mrs. Honey Rhinesmith Baker, class reporter; Mrs. Margie Strouse Jones, fund manager.

Class of 1949—Robert C. Camac, president; Richard D. Atherley, fund manager; Mrs. Marilyn Harer Frazier, class reporter; Mrs. Barbara Jones Purnell, W. Dale Hay, reunion co-chairmen; W. Dale Hay, area contact chairman; Mrs. Rae Schultz Glover, reunion book editor; Mrs. Jeanne Grove Zimmerman, social meeting hostess; Mrs. Barbara Jones Purnell, reunion regalia chairman.

Class of 1954—Mrs. Judy Esmay Ahlfeld, president; Mrs. Janet Nides Bayless, vice president; Mrs. Janet Geller Pangburn, secretary; Victor Scott, treasurer; Mrs. Anne Tuckerman Tarr, class reporter; Mrs. Joan Herrmann Richmond, fund manager; Mrs. Thelma McCarthy Zearfoss, reunion chairman.

Class of 1958—Nile Lestrangle, president; Jack Brothers, vice president; Georgie Ann MacKay, secretary; Dick Locke, treasurer; Mrs. Faith Bonsall Richards, class reporter; Jeff Jefferson, fund manager; Homer Wieder, reunion chairman; Bob Ackerman, area chairman; Claire Halline Wieder, reunion book editor; Sue Smith, Jan Byrns, Barbara Pausser, Nancy Umholtz, assistant editor; Mrs. Merle Holden Winstead, Ginny Davis, Mrs. Sally Gilfillan McKay, social meeting hostesses; Alice Brewen, regalia chairman.

BISONS ON UPSURGE IN 1959

(Continued from Page 12)

Evans and Little All-America tackle Sam Sanders. Soph quarterback whiz Eugene Guerrie is a future star.

Rutgers, minus All-American Bill Austin, will provide the Homecoming opposition on October 17. Despite the one-sided score last year the Bisons gained over 300 yards against the Scarlet and the real difference was Austin. The Knights have 26 lettermen back headed by end Bob Simms, but lost some experienced linemen and their first two tailbacks. The Scarlet are not as strong as last year and John Stiegman's single wing pitted against the Bison multiple offense should provide some interesting moments.

Bucknell begins a three game road trip at Lafayette on October 24. The Leopards took a 34-6 decision last year and should be tough again with all but three starters back. Pacing the split-T attack is All-Conference fullback Don Nikles and he will get plenty of help from boys up from last year's undefeated freshman team.

Lehigh, Bucknell's opponent on October 31 is looking for improvement on last year's mediocre 3-3-3 mark, but has only 11 lettermen back. The Engineers lack depth in the line, but have experienced backfield performers. Quarterback Bob Scheu, tackle Walt Meincke and end Jim Needham are the top players in Bill Leckonby's split-T attack.

The final road trip of the season will be to Hamilton, N. Y. to meet Colgate on November 7. The Red Raiders, pushed around between the 20-yard lines last year, sent fullback Bernie Dailey through for one big gallop and took home a 7-0 victory. The Bisons should carry this one right down to the wire with the Maroon coming home after a tiring five-game road jaunt. Alva Kelley, moving over from Brown, will be in his first year at the helm of the Raiders and brings a new system with him. Pacing the attack are Dailey, quarterback Bob Paske and halfbacks Herm Brauch and Jacque MacKinnon.

Temple, a 44-6 Herd victim in '58, was winless last year and can't look for too much improvement with only five regulars back. The first unit is adequate but there is a lack of experienced depth. The Bisons will be out to take the "Old Shoe Trophy" for the sixth consecutive time in this Parents Weekend game.

A potentially strong Delaware eleven will come to town for the final game of the season. Last year the Blue Hens took a 28-8 decision and Dave Nelson has 20 of 28 lettermen back on his wing-T outfit. Nelson has a tough and experienced line to go with speed in the backfield and should come up with a team ready to challenge for the MAC title.

SOCCER OUTLOOK

Twelve returning lettermen and a fine crop of sophomores head the list of candidates ready to greet soccer coach Hank Peters this fall. Captain Steve Flamhaft of Brooklyn will lead a squad of over 35 in early practice sessions prior to the beginning of school.

Last year the Bison booters posted a 3-7 mark, but dropped several close decisions and carried powerful Penn State and Navy right down to the wire. Flamhaft, a center halfback and left fullback Roger Mackey were chosen on the All-Middle Atlantic Conference second team and Flamhaft was further honored by being a member of the North All Stars in the Orange Bowl game. He later went through trials for the U. S. Pan American Games team.

Soccer is definitely on the upswing at Bucknell and the increased attendance at last fall's games and the decision to come back early for practice indicate a real interest in the sport. Peters will be out to boost the Bisons above the .500 mark for the first time in his tenure, but faces a tough ten-game schedule including games with Penn State, Temple, Navy and Drexel. The Herd will be strong in the backfield but need a goalie to replace Bill Sharp.

BISON HEADQUARTERS FOR FOOTBALL GAMES AWAY

Don't forget that football games away from the campus give you an opportunity to see the Thundering Herd in action in your home area. Here's how you can meet the gang as you follow the Bisons on the road:

HERSHEY — September 26 — Bison Roundup before the Gettysburg game at the Cocoa Inn (formerly Community Inn) at 6:00 P. M. Bucknellians and friends will meet in a reserved room at the Inn and can order from the menu.

CAMBRIDGE, MASS. — October 3 — A Bison Roundup is being planned for the Harvard game. Detailed information regarding this roundup will be mailed to alumni in the Boston area.

EASTON — October 24 — Bison Roundup and Coffee Hour after the Lafayette game at the College Inn on the Lafayette campus. The Bucknell Alumni Club of North Jersey is considering a dinner for Bucknellians after the game. Details will be available at a later date.

BETHLEHEM — October 24 — Bison luncheon before the Lehigh game at the Plaza Restaurant, 618 E. 3rd St.—directly across the street from the 13-story main office of the Bethlehem Steel Company. Lunch will be served at 11:45 A. M. For lunch reservations and game tickets write to Mr. Harry H. Angel, Bethlehem Steel Co., Bethlehem, Pa., or call University 7-2424, Extension 734.

HAMILTON, N. Y. — November 7 — Bison luncheon before the Colgate game at Colgate Inn, Hamilton, at 12 noon or earlier.

CLASS REPORTS

EMERITUS CLUB

MISS MARY COTTON
Eldred, Pa.

Mrs. Henry T. Pope (Sara Catherine Johnson, Institute '92) has lived a long career of service to her fellow men. Born in Jerseytown in 1871, she began teaching school in Lumberton, N. C., in 1893, in a private school because at that date there were no public schools in the state. Married to Dr. H. T. Pope in 1896, she often traveled with her husband and nursed and administered to indigent patients. Although she had a family of five children to care for, she later taught in the public schools and served as a substitute teacher after she was past 73 years of age. Recently she was honored by the membership of the First Baptist Church of Lumberton, N. C., upon the 62nd anniversary of membership in the congregation. In a recent letter she wrote, "In my three years at Bucknell, under the guidance of the best of teachers, I have been able to be of service to others. I will not be able to ever see Bucknell again, but my heart is filled with gratitude when I think of what I received there."

Mrs. Pope, whatever you may have taken from Bucknell, you have used most wisely for the betterment of mankind. We salute you.

05 DR. LEWIS C. HYLBERT
435 Drake Ave.
Upland, Calif.

REUNE IN JUNE — 1960

OUR 1960 REUNION OFFICERS are: John B. Smiley, Chairman; Mrs. John T. Fetherston, Editor of our 1960 REUNION BOOK.

Let's all help them to make this 55th anniversary a BIG SUCCESS.

Mr. and Mrs. John B. Smiley had a delightful vacation in England. They are back now and he is giving time and thought to building up an interesting program for the 55th anniversary of our 1905 class.

As president of the Washington, D. C., Alumni Association of Phi Kappa Psi and also as a representative of the Phi Kappa Psi Fraternity, John B. Smiley had a prominent part in the program of wreath-laying at the tomb of Woodrow Wilson, one of our truly great presidents, at the Washington Cathedral on February 18, 1959.

LOST

The Alumni Office is in need of your assistance in locating four missing copies of the BUCKNELL ALUMNUS. Missing from our files are the following back issues of THE BUCKNELL ALUMNUS:

April 1938, Volume 22, Number 4
April 1939, Volume 23, Number 4
January 1941, Volume 25, Number 2
October 1943, Volume 28, Number 1

If you have all or any of the above-mentioned copies, we would sincerely appreciate receiving them for our files. If you do not have them, perhaps you can aid us in finding someone who does have them. Thank you.

A letter from Mary I. Bower '02 says that her sister, Catherine '01, is not well and Mary is caring for her in their home. Mary still enjoys driving through the Pennsylvania mountains from which she receives a spiritual satisfaction as well as a peaceful relaxation. She is in contact almost daily with Mrs. Roy Bostwick (Marie Leiser '99) whom she finds a delightful friend.

07 DR. LEO L. ROCKWELL
1543 Caldwell St.,
Lakeland, Fla.

On a beautiful Florida morning (Florida does have weather sometimes equal to central Pennsylvania) our daughter Margie '39 and her good husband John Wehling drove Vera '11 and me over to Floral City to see Bill Hinman and his lady.

Bill gave up his dental profession in Hillside, N. J., thirteen years ago to trek to Ponce de Leon land, where he set up as country squire on a beautiful spot in Floral City. We were welcomed by a vociferous turkey gobbler, far more hospitable than a big drake, whom Mrs. Hinman had to fend off with a rake as we walked about the estate.

We saw the orange grove, which had suffered under the killing cold a year ago, but is coming back fast. We saw the peach tree, which Bill has to preserve from the squirrels with his trusty rifle. We saw many treasures in the big house—both Bill and the Missus are collectors. Bill is particularly proud of the certificate of award given him by the New Jersey State Dental Association for his service as president during World War II.

As the brilliant Florida birds paused to dip in the bird bath near the house, we sat in the "breezeway" and had a good visit. It was most gratifying to see a fellow Old Monrovia and college roommate so happy and prosperous.

09 MRS. HOWARD L. HEADLAND
(Sarah E. Walters)
3911 First Avenue North
St. Petersburg 13, Fla.

The happiness and joy of the 1909 class of Bucknell University at its 50th reunion there is now an affair of the past but, ah, the memories of it will linger and thrill those of us who were fortunate enough to be present. Never again at my age had I expected to enjoy myself so freely and refreshingly. Everything was done for our pleasure in that almost perfect situation.

Here and now we want to extend our grateful and hearty thanks to the university as a whole; to Dr. and Mrs. Odgers; to John Shott; his assistant, Bruce Rossiter; to our host and hostess, Dr. and Mrs. James Gathings; to Mr. and Mrs. Guy Payne and to Dr. and Mrs. William Leiser, III. We also noted and are thankful in particular for the pleasant aid of the office staff, custodians, waitresses, and all others who helped us so efficiently.

On Friday evening at the University Cafeteria we gathered about 55 strong to enjoy a delicious dinner with our classmate Guy Payne and his charming wife as host and hostess. We all deeply appreciate that gracious gesture of yours—Guy and Alice. Later that same evening classmates William and Martha Leiser welcomed us to their home. There good fellowship and friendliness reigned and the hours passed much too swiftly. Super refreshments were served by vivacious Martha and her helpers. At a late hour a memorable evening had to come to a reluctant end.

On Saturday morning after the general alumni meeting, our class held its business meeting in Vaughan Literature Building. After the introduction of our host, the following officers were elected: President, Myrtle Walkinshaw Shupe; Vice President, Heber Youngken; Secretary, Mary Meyer Abbott; Treasurer, Dr. William Leiser, III; Class Fund Manager, Dr. Newton C. Fetter; and Class Reporter, Sarah Walters Headland.

12 MRS. H. W. HOUSEKNECHT
(Maze Callahan)
108 W. Penn St.
Muncy, Pa.

A good time was enjoyed by all at Alumni Weekend in June! These were the sentiments of those who attended the Alumni supper in Swartz Hall Friday evening and the All-Alumni Luncheon on Saturday.

Met Ruth Thomas Sleighter '31, Mifflinburg and her sister from Arizona, Sara Bernhart Derr '21, and Dr. Eugene Bertin '17 at the reporters' supper. After the meeting I had a most pleasant surprise when Rev. Eric Oesterle '16 came over and introduced himself. He's the husband of Helen Ott '14. I just about lost my eyesight looking for her on Saturday, but knowing how small she is, I can see why I missed her.

Alberta, Patty, Pop and I ate together at the All-Alumni Luncheon. Pearl Ream Williams and Frank '17 passed us up for a free meal with the '09ers. Eva Himmelreich Apgar and Ray ate with the 1914 class. Enjoyed seeing Amy Bollinger, Mary Meyer Abbott, "Walkie," Sara Walters Headland, Mabel Slout Weeter, and Ralph Winegardner of the 50th class. Hannah Madison Townsend '21, Ruth Mohn Baker '11, Eugene Long '28, Melvin McCarter '55 and Lib Heinsling Lowther and Red '14.

13 REV. GEORGE F. HAINES
324 Market St.
Lewisburg, Pa.

From Kansas City, Mo., comes news from Frank R. H. Richards. Dick writes "Arrived back here the 19th (March) from Miami, Fla., and living with Bill, the youngest son. They wanted us here for the baptismal of their first child. They named him after our oldest son, Lt. John Franklin Richards, who was killed in 1941 in the invasion of Holland." The Richards plan to go to Long Beach, Calif., in December. Their address is 807 E. 42nd St. Kansas City, Mo. While in Florida, Dick visited Mrs. Thomas J. Rees (Mary Jan Irely) at Miami, and George Campuzan at St. Petersburg.

Mrs. W. H. Hemphill (Hazel Gallo way) of Portland, Ore., is designing and supervising the creation of a garden for the Women's Convalescent Hospital — a semi-charity institution of 20 beds with the last word in modern equipment. Her services are her contribution to this agency which is partly supported by the United Fund. Her second choice in hobbie is oil painting. Hazel has two sons and five grandchildren and lives at 134 N. W. 48th Ave., Portland, Ore.

14 MRS. H. B. WEAVER
(Dora Hamler)
348 Ridge Ave.
New Kensington, Pa.

Dr. Ralph Bell retired in 1952 after practicing medicine in suburban Philadelphia for 32 years and is now living in Hollywood, Fla. He reports: "Mrs. Bell and I are in good health and our three children, Ralph, Jr., (B. U. '44), Phoenix, Ariz.; William, (Ohio State '44), Fort Lauderdale, Fla.; Louise Tompkins, (B. U. '47), West Caldwell, N. J.; each have three children. Our hobbies are long walks, golf, ocean bathing, bridge and shuffle board. I call on the sick when occasion arises and my wife helps in various drives and is a member of the ground observer corps."

Norman W. Whited retired from the engineering department of the City of Los Angeles on August 31, 1958, and now resides at 342 Esther Street, Costa Mesa, Calif. The City of Los Angeles council honored him with a special resolution citing him for his loyal and valuable service for 13 years to the city, and also for his outstanding service to our country during World War I, when he served as a First Lieutenant with the 50th Artillery Regiment, and World War II, when he served as Lt. Colonel, and was advanced to full Colonel.

Florence Halliwell Hardy who has been living in Port Allegany, for the past 32 years, writes, "I really haven't much news to tell that would be of interest to anyone, I fear. We haven't done any travelling, written any books, invented any gadgets, or anything of that sort. My husband, Fred, received his bachelor's degree at Bucknell summer session of 1929."

16 THE REV. ERIC A. OESTERLE, D.D.
114 East 188th St.
New York 68, N. Y.

Although an engineering graduate, John F. Jeffery has made a name for himself in the educational field. For nearly 40 years he has been serving the public schools of Erie as a teacher, high school principal and director of vocational education. He is active in civic circles and Erie Council of Service Clubs from local level to international past president. His greatest satisfaction, however, is derived from his endeavors in his own United Presbyterian Church and Erie Council of Churches, where he has served in practically all layman capacities. He is married to the former Alice Hines and has one son, an artist in Woodstock, N. Y., and one daughter who lives in the mid-west. Five grandchildren complete the family. John's address: 919 W. 3rd St., Erie.

While at Commencement we learned from Bruce Butt that classmate Lester A. Switzer had died. He is survived by his wife and one son. Norman Rehman, 215 Lenox Avenue, South Orange, N. J., Dot Schnure and John Conway were on hand for the June events on the campus. Dot's Fred and my Helen had their 45th reunion so we were there to "get them up and down the steps" and to otherwise help their senilities. The '14 banquet was a really swell affair. Jack Rice '14 showed some pictures of our days. Immediately upon conclusion of the showing I asked him to present them at our forty-fifth which comes up right soon.

More of you may have been on hand for the commencement exercises. We had to leave on Saturday because of preaching chores. Excuse lack of mention of your worthy name if that is the case.

17 MRS. ERLE M. TOPHAM
(C. Ray Speare)
425 W. Sedgwick St.
Philadelphia 19, Pa.

A very nice long letter arrived from Harry Willson who lives at 400 N. Arch St., Montoursville. In answer to my request for news he insists he has done nothing outstanding, but that life has been very good to him. He has had good health and a fine family and has fully recovered from a broken hip received in an auto accident some time ago. Harry was with Alcoa for 10 years and then changed to the life insurance business, where he spent 20 years. By that time his children were ready for higher education and in order to help them more he started a little business of his own. He buys and sells automobile accessories. His son graduated from Lafayette College and Princeton Seminary and is now a missionary to three Spanish-speaking churches in New Mexico. His daughters are both married. The older is a graduate of Juniata College. The younger, a sophomore in the University of Pennsylvania School of Nursing, is married to a medical student. Harry married a Scotch lassie who immigrated to this country at the age of 17 and they have had a very happy life together. The church is one of his greatest interests and he has been an Elder in the local Presbyterian church for the last 10 years.

Maude Witherson now lives in Altoona—205 Browning Avenue. Since living there she reports a new hobby—flower gardening, which she has found intensely interesting. She has also been working on her stamp collection which contains 250 music stamps. She says, "Last year I conducted the Ward Avenue Presbyterian Church Choir for several months and found it gratifying to be conducting again. I had to resign due to an extended critical illness of an aunt who had lived with me for a number of years."

18 MRS. LAYTON E. KING
(Elizabeth Champion)
10 N. Loyalsock Ave.
Montoursville, Pa.

When you of the Class of 1918 read this "report," the summer will be just another memory. Why not make it a memory that can be shared with the other members of the class—surely some of you did some travelling—had interesting visitors—saw a former classmate or two, and would like to share that memory. Why not sit right down and drop me a note and the news will appear in the next issue.

News is scarce—as usual. Did have a most interesting letter from Dr. Louis Walton Siple, director of the American Museum of Photography in Philadelphia. He begins by saying he knows what my problem is as he writes four columns a month—two for national magazines and two for local magazines, as well as being a member of a question and answer panel of a regional monthly graphic arts magazine.

He tells me that the museum published a book of his last year—The Photochemical Half-tone and he is now editing a book Memoirs of a Photochemist by Dr. Fritz Wentzel.

20 MR. HAYES L. PERSON
60 S. Third St.
Lewistown, Pa.

REUNE IN JUNE—1960

Dr. Thomas J. S. Heim retired on August 1 as professor of sociology at Westchester State Teachers College after 39 plus years of service in Pennsylvania. But he is still going strong and has accepted the position of head of the department of sociology at East Baptist College, St. Davids. Tommy is serving with distinction as class fund manager and this year again broke his previous record by convincing 55 of us to contribute to the Bucknell Alumni Fund. Good work, Tommy.

Dr. Lewis C. Hylbert '05, famous Bucknell missionary to China from 1910 to 1948 and referred to in Dr. Karraker's article in the front part of this magazine is also a 33rd degree Mason. Dr. Hylbert joined the Masonic Lodge while a student at Bucknell in 1902 and has been an active member for 57 years. Now living in California, Dr. Hylbert is an honorary member of the Ancient and Accepted Scottish Rite Bodies in The Valley of San Bernardino, Orient of California.

21 MRS. ELLWOOD S. DERR
(Sara Bernhart)
1360 Jefferson Ave.
Lewistown, Pa.

Thomas J. Mangan has been elected executive secretary of the Milton Chamber of Commerce.

Ellis S. Smith, Sr., retired in July, 1958, after teaching in the public schools of Rochester, N. Y., for 36 years. The Smiths spent last winter in California and expect to make their permanent home there; they are interested in meeting Bucknellians in the Escondido, Oceanside, Vista and Encinitas area. They are living at the Carefree Trailer Ranch, Escondido, Calif., but for the present are using 16 Holley St., Brockport, N. Y., as their mailing address.

Can any of you top this? Luke Bender has nine grandchildren.

I met Bill Nichols the other day and he informed me that Swede Larson passed away last fall. Incidentally, Bill Nichols is recuperating from a heart attack. He was hospitalized for the month of December.

Your reporter is happy that her older son, Ellwood, Jr. '54, is the recipient of two grants—Alexander von Humboldt Stiftung and an award of the West German government—to study in Munich, Germany, under Prof. Carl Orff. His field of research will be music for the stage.

22

MRS. GEORGE C. WOLFE
(Ruth H. Brown)
60 South Second St.
Lewisburg, Pa.

C. Ivar Carlson, of the Gas Company, Williamsport, attended the Recognition Dinner held on the campus for Bucknell's business neighbors on June 10.

The daughter of Dr. and Mrs. A. A. Allen, a June graduate of Wellesley, will spend the next year in post-graduate study in Europe.

Leona Dickrager, our energetic class fund manager, encouraged 48 of our 176 classmates to contribute $1200 to the Alumni Fund. Good work, Leona.

Our alumni secretary, John H. Shott, has assumed the new title of "grandfather" since the birth of a son, Gregory John, to John H. Shott, III '50 and his wife, the former Barbara A. Renninger '55.

23

MRS. LEROY FRONTZ
(Olive W. Billhime)
Evergreen Farm
Allenwood, Pa.

The Herbert Haydens (Katherine L. Owens) have spent much of the last year in traveling, having covered much of Alaska where they arrived on the day the Statehood Bill was passed and so joined in the celebration there. They visited Anchorage, Fairbanks, Mt. McKinley, and Nome (above the Arctic Circle) and returned home via the Alaska Highway. During our cold weather here, they took a cruise into the sunny and warmer areas . . . a Caribbean cruise during which they visited Nassau, Port au Prince, and Kingston. Sounds like such fun!

Rupert and Betty Swetland have sold their home in Hendersonville, N. C., since retiring from General Electric and have purchased a lovely split-level one overlooking the Cumberland Valley. Address—Graham Hill, Mechanicsburg R. D. 2. Rupert is now employed in a consulting capacity by the Pennsylvania Department of Highways.

24

MRS. HARRY W. JONES
(Elizabeth Moore)
326 South Oak St.
Mt. Carmel, Pa.

The Calvary Baptist Church of Norris-town recently honored Rev. and Mrs. Roland Hudson for their faithful Christian service the past ten years. We wish that we might publish in detail the church bulletin issued at that time so that all of Roland's friends might read with pride of an honored classmate. The 492 new members; the financial picture reflecting stewardship of time and means; the church with NO indebtedness; the major improvements—all these testify to the sentence "Pastor and people had a mind to work and to serve Christ." Roland's and Mildred's lives are all the richer for having two daughters and four grandchildren. Congratulations, friends, may you continue the rich and rewarding life to which you are so qualified!

Dr. Kenneth L. Cober, 221 Treaty Rd., Drexel Hill, and Dr. James E. Fidler, have written a book Design for Achievement in the Sunday Church School . . . the book charts a clearly illuminated path for organizing or expanding and revitalizing a Sunday Church School. Ken received a B.D. degree and an M.Th. degree from Colgate Rochester Theological Seminary. Bucknell conferred an honorary D.D. on him in 1950. He is now the executive director of the Division of Christian Education for the Board of Education and Publication of the American Baptist Convention.

22

25

MRS. DANIEL HOPPER, JR.
(Mildred C. Francisco)
36 Van Doren Ave.
Chatham, N. J.

REUNE IN JUNE — 1960

With the New Year of 1960, we will celebrate our 35th Reunion. To me it seems impossible that the years have gone so quickly. Let us all start planning for a long weekend in early June at Bucknell among all friends. What could be more inviting? We (Dan and I) will enjoy ourselves doubly, as our son Robert will be graduating at that time.

Among the travelers in Europe this summer are Mr. and Mrs. John Namisniak of Nanticoke. John is an instructor of science and mathematics in high school.

Margaret Ackerman, a teacher of English in Keene, N. H., has been coaching a very successful debating team in the past year. They have won over 50% of their contests throughout New England.

Mary Bray Young has been a volunteer librarian in Norristown and also is accepting substitute teaching. She, too, is a very active church worker and a most faithful correspondent.

One of our busiest classmates is Charlotte Bosler Ellis, a piano, drama and speech teacher in her own Ellis Studio. She is active in her work among teenagers and the music organizations of Pennsylvania and in her spare time writes one story a year. Top that if you can.

Remember June, 1960. We look forward to seeing you.

26

MISS ANNA L. BROWN
45 Wildwood Ave.
Pitman, N. J.

Mr. and Mrs. Norman H. Angell (Helen E. Everitt) returned in April from an enjoyable trip to the South, visited a son, Dr. John H. Angell and family in Savannah, Ga., and also toured Florida, stopping to see places of interest en route. Their home address is 401 Bosley Ave., Towson 4, Md.

Let us bring you up to date on the activities of our Ken Gardner. He has just completed a term as president of the Medical Society of New Jersey and is now illustrious potentate, Salaam Temple. His articles appearing in the Journal of the Medical Society of New Jersey, particularly the special article, "The Ever Changing Practice of Medicine," in the May, 1959, issue are real contributions not only to the medical profession but to laymen as well.

27

MRS. L. H. COLLISON
(Grace M. Pfeiffer)
Marydel, Md.

Catherine Walter, a resident of Milton, has been a teacher in the Montandon Elementary School since graduation.

Rose Newman Miller, of 525 Colfax Ave., Scranton, writes that she has two children, Sheila, a senior at Simmons College in Boston, and Joel, a senior in high school. Her husband is in the automobile and finance business in Scranton. In June of '58 they celebrated their 25th wedding anniversary. Rose was a music school graduate of Bucknell.

Charles Kushell, of 1320 N. State Parkway, Chicago 10, Ill., writes that in January they entertained in their home Jimmy '26 and Veta Davis Replogle.

Bill Laning, of 54 Burkshire Rd., Towson 4, Md., writes that he has started being of some use to Bucknell by accepting a job with the Engineering Alumni Association.

Evelyn Deen, of 106 W. Caracas Ave., Hershey, we were sorry to hear, was hospitalized in December as a result of an automobile accident. Her latest crusade she writes, "is trying to find music to go with an 1826 metrical version of the Psalms, a translation music approved by the Kirk of Scotland." Any suggestions?

Mary Hite Horoschak, since her husband's death in '57, has been director of residence in East Hall at Juniata College, Huntingdon. Mary was a music school graduate.

29

MISS THELMA J. SHOWALTER
425 Market St.
Mifflinburg, Pa.

Our 30th reunion was perfect with one exception. We missed many of you who were unable to return for this grand and glorious occasion. Harriet Menges Black sent regrets that she was unable to attend and added, "Five years from now my oldest daughter will graduate from high school and the youngest five years later."

The day's activities began with the business meeting at which President Paul E. Fink presided. Prof. Robert Slonaker MS'52, our faculty host, brought greetings from the University. The nominating committee with Jessie Fielding Eyster as chairman presented the slate of officers: president Clyde Bailey; vice president, John Minick; secretary and reporter, Thelma J. Showalter; fund manager, Charles W. Kalp. The slate was approved unanimously. Following the reports of the reunion chairmen, John C. Minick and William "Turk" Jones, the reunion booklet was presented by Dorothy Lemon Bailey and her capable committee. A paragraph appears about each member who answered the questionnaire as well as a list of addresses. Those of us who were present considered it an excellent production. The retiring president expressed his appreciation to those who had worked for the success of the reunion. The meeting concluded with a rising vote of thanks and sincere appreciation for thirty years of tireless leadership and devotion to Bucknell and the Class of '29 by our president, Paul E. Fink.

At noon, 35 members and their husbands and wives met on the "Hill" and joined the parade to the All-Alumni luncheon at Davis Gym. This is a delightful affair as it gives all Bucknellians who return at Commencement an opportunity to greet friends from many classes in addition to their own. The newly elected alumni trustee is presented and the awards, including the Bucknell Chair, are announced.

At the conclusion of the luncheon, we moved our activities to the Milton Country Club. Here a delightful party had been planned by our social chairman, Raldo Shipman. We were joined by Horace "Tip" Mason '31, and William Samuels '28, both of whom had always been very partial to the Class of '29. Several hours were spent in good fun and reminiscence. Yes, you really missed a good time.

30

MRS. BERNARD F. KLOSTERMAN
(Emmalyn Y. Fuller)
23 Leathers Road
South Fort Mitchell, Ky.

REUNE IN JUNE — 1960

Elizabeth Figner has returned to the North after spending eight years in Atlanta, Ga., and is now executive director of the Lehigh County Council of Girl Scouts of America with offices in Allentown. Her home address is 1014 Montgomery St., Bethlehem.

Frank R. McGregor '23, has highlighted a distinguished Government career by winning the highest award of the U. S. Department of Agriculture, a gold medal for distinguished service. Frank is Vice President, Operations, of the Commodity Credit Corporation, the $14.5 billion agency that "finances" the Government's price support and surplus disposal programs. He is also Deputy Administrator, Operations, of the Commodity Stabilization Service. This latter agency "operates the programs." Frank left his own private business in January of 1955 to accept his present Government positions.

Since this is a new year and my last year as your reporter (I will have served my five-year sentence), please help me to have a good year and write anything. No matter how unimportant it seems to you, it will be interesting to your classmates.

31 MRS. W. ZELMAN SLEIGHTER
(Ruth J. Thomas)
833 Chestnut St.
Mifflinburg, Pa.

James R. Simpson has been elected assistant treasurer of the Kennecott Copper Corporation and is a director of the Kaiser Aluminum and Chemical Corporation. He and his wife, the former Helen L. Hoffner '34, have one daughter, Ann, who has completed her freshman year at Cornell University. The family home is at 41 Club Way, Hartsdale, N. Y.

Sheldon S. Lee of 1006 West Drive, Port Neches, Texas, is west area engineer at the Port Arthur refinery for Texaco in charge of construction and maintenance. He writes, "The refinery is divided into 3 areas, North, West and Central. I have the worry of keeping going 3 cat crackers, 3 alkylation units, etc.—the potent end of gasoline refining. But I love it!" While their church was without a minister, he was lay reader, conducting Sunday and special occasion services in their Episcopal church . . . even preaching sermons for one year. They now have a rector and are adding 12 Sunday School rooms to their building. Sheldon is married and has one son who is a senior in college. Says his interests are "my church, my family and my work. They keep me busy."

Lou Mutzel and his wife return to the campus quite often as their son, Rodger Louis, will be a senior this year. Lou writes, "Teaching is one of those blessed chores and I love the profession. To help young boys and girls is all I ever wanted to do—and it helps to stay young."

32 MR. ELLIS F. HULL
11 Broad St.
Allentown, N. J.

Joseph L. Crowe of 70 Chestnut St., Weston, Mass., has recovered from a recent gall bladder operation. He is married and has two children, a son at the Coast Guard Academy and a daughter of high school age.

Dr. David J. Davis, pastor of the Plymouth Congregational Church in Miami, Fla., has been named one of the six top winners in the Crusade for Freedom's Truth Broadcast program for 1959. Writers of the six best Truth Broadcasts will be flown to Europe to broadcast their messages personally from Radio Free Europe's headquarters in Munich, Germany. They will also be briefed by SHAPE Headquarters in Paris and will inspect RFE's shortwave transmitter site near Lisbon, Portugal. David is married to the former Ruth Midgley and has one daughter and one son. One of the members of his family will be allowed to accompany him.

G. Heil Gramley is completing his second year on the Williamsport School Board and his ninth year as Registrar of Lycoming College. He resides on campus and was Dean of Men for seven years of his time there. He is married to the former Martha E. Cole and has two daughters.

33 MRS. EARNEST H. ENGELHARDT
(Janet Worthington)
Irondale Place, Millville Rd.
Bloomsburg, Pa.

Mrs. William C. Archbold (Mabel Lesh-er) is listed in the second edition of Who's Who of American Women.

34 MRS. WILLIAM S. LIMING
(Ruth E. Rohr)
396 Andrews Rd.
East Williston, N. Y.

Gladys Gander Jones of Fern Ave., Had-donfield, N. J., says that in addition to herself and husband, Phil Jones '33, that their son Chuck is '57 but he wasn't traditional as he married a Penn State '57 girl. Wendell R. Stevens is cargo sales manager with Pan American World Airways. He tells me that his son, Guy, is a student at Yale, majoring in economics and Wendy is a high school senior. The Stevens' are at home at 217 W. Washington Ave., Pearl River, N. Y. The Hon. William E. Brown was re-elected to his sixth term in the Pennsylvania House of Representatives from the First District of Chester County on November 5, 1958. Bill, or should I say His Honor, can be reached in Harrisburg or at his home—78 Virginia Ave., Coatesville. Mary E. Iddings of R. D. No. 2, Mifflinburg, has been a busy career gal indeed; since 1943 she has been in library service in Michigan, Ohio, Maryland and Pennsylvania. J. T. Baker (Tom) says he has lived way out west in Washington State for the past 14 years. Married a girl from the same state and has three sons, 17, 4, and 3. Likes it so much he hopes to stay there. He works at Hanford Plutonium plant operated by General Electric. He is manager in charge of the operation of one of the reactors. Sounds fascinating. Tom. His address is 1300 W. Third St., Grandview, Wash.

Kenneth H. Hunt is now at 327 High St., Williamsburg, where he is general superintendent of Williamsburg Plant of West Virginia Pulp and Paper Co. His son Kenley is in the Class of '61 at Buck-nell and working for a B.S. in chemistry.

36 MRS. CLYDE E. BURGEE
(Lois Montgomery)
124 S. Fifth St.
Lewisburg, Pa.

Mrs. Raymond T. Harding (Gay Ziga-relli), 49 Hamilton Ave., Wayne, N. J., is teaching Spanish at the Wayne High School where both her children are students. Daughter, Diane Gay, 16, is a junior and son, Bill, 13, a freshman.

Betty Sindle Clavell is teaching Spanish in San Juan High School, Citrus Heights, Calif., where her daughter Judy, 16, is a junior. Betty is also taking courses at Sacramento State College. She would like to hear from you. Her address is 7001 Coachman Way.

Mrs. Melvin Walters (Emma Angstadt) is teaching at Laurelton State Village, a state training school for mentally retarded girls. Emma is also very active in Girl Scout work. She lives at 922 Washington Ave., Lewisburg, with her husband and daughter, Linda, a junior high school student.

Virginia Brandon teaches English at Belington High School, Belington, W. Va.

Sophie T. Rokosz, chairman of the English department of the Hershey High School, where she has taught for 15 years, writes: "We were delighted to meet Dr. Willard Smith at the Bucknell Anniversary Dinner in Harrisburg. He made me very eager to return to the campus and, like Rip van Winkle, marvel at the many new developments."

37 MRS. PAULL W. ZIEGLER
(Mabel Nylund)
12 W. Garrison Rd., Parkside
Chester, Pa.

It must have been about this time of the year that old cynic was prompted to say, "School days are the happiest days of your life—especially if your kids are old enough to go."

The summer brought a welcome note from Virgil Lanni announcing a new address: 430 Wisner St., Park Ridge, Ill. Virgil also reports that he is still with R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Co. as Chicago Department Sales Manager.

The Bucknell Alumni Club of Syracuse is keeping Marie Schaff Amish busy, this time as secretary.

It was quite a shock to learn of the death of Lyetta Marshak Yogman. Our very belated expression of sympathy is extended to her family.

38 MR. IRA G. FOX
116 Westchester Drive
Pittsburgh 15, Pa.

Since the last reunion there hasn't been much news about our class but we will try to do better. I am relinquishing the job to another member of the class who will be counting on your support by your sending news either to the Alumni Office or directly to our Class Reporter.

It was my pleasure to see Anne Culbertson Dempsey and her family at reunion time. They came in from Illinois for Jack's 25th. Over the Homecoming Weekend I saw several of our classmates who did not make it to our 20th and had the chance to talk to Abe Zager and Dr. Lou Zlotkin. Abe is still the squire of Shrewsbury, N. J., and Lou is very busy with his medical practice in New Egypt, N. J.

We are sorry to record the death of Mrs. Gladys A. Hinkle, wife of Thomas L. Hinkle. Our sympathy is extended to Tom.

The Reverend William R. Webster '45, minister to Baptist students at Indiana University is enjoying a ten-month tour abroad which will include two semesters of study at New College, University of Edinburgh and a trip to the continent and to Moscow to visit the Russian Baptist Church. He will be accompanied by his wife and their three children.

40 MRS. JAMES A. MILLER
(Mary McCrina)
1492 Colfax Ave.
Benton Harbor, Mich.

REUNE IN JUNE — 1960

Col. John C. Fahringer was transferred this past January to Lowry Air Force Base, Denver, Colo., to activate the first Titan Missile Wing in the Strategic Air Command. Prior to this he was at the SAC Office at AF Ballistic Missile Division in Los Angeles. While there, he and Ric Brown managed to get together. John's new address is 532 Nile St., Aurora, Colo.

(ASIDE—to Ruth Lepperd MacDowell: you shouldn't have been so rash; we may just take you up on your invitation to visit you in Aurora—Ill., that is—when/if our high school band comes marching in next spring. Marti will be among that number.)

It was good to see Dr. Robert E. Street-er '38 again, on the University of Chicago campus in April. Bob's help and suggestions were appreciated in obtaining a scholarship for a Benton Harbor student entering the University of Chicago this fall.

41 MRS. WILLIAM F. HASSELBERGER
(Jean P. Steele)
605 Scott Ave.
Syracuse 3, N. Y.

Mrs. Clifton T. Holder (Helen L. Clarke) is principal of Jonesboro Heights School and Floyd Knight Community School at Sanford, N. C. She is active in civic affairs of the community and has been named "Teacher of the Year" of Sanford for 1959 and is now in competition for the state title in the "Oscar for Teacher" contest, sponsored by the North Carolina Federation of Women's Clubs.

Rev. Howard G. Hartzell has been elected vice president of the Bucknell Alumni Club of South Jersey. Robert F. Stone has been elected treasurer of the Bucknell Alumni Club of South Jersey.

42 MRS. THOMAS R. DIETZ
(Germaine B. Pepperman)
83 Nutt Rd.
Phoenixville, Pa.

Dr. and Mrs. Lewis D. Williams (S. Jean Stauffer) are the parents of a son, Lewis Davies, Jr., who was born September 11, 1958. "Davie" was welcomed at home by two sisters, Eleanor Anne '60 and Mary Lou. The family home is at Harvey Rd., R. D. 5, West Chester.

Recently the Central Susquehanna Valley Chamber of Commerce was named first place winner in the 1958 statewide Community Development Contest sponsored by the Pennsylvania State Chamber of Commerce and a group of utility and industrial organizations. Our own Sidney J. Apfelbaum, Esq., president of the Central Susquehanna Valley Chamber of Commerce, accepted the $1500 prize.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred O. Schnure, Jr. (Elise Miller '45) of 176 Woodhaven Dr., Pittsburgh 28, can now boast of two pairs, since the birth of Calvin David on April 28 . . . two boys and two girls complete the family.

43 MISS CAROLYN F. DONEHOWER
3722 Chestnut St.
Philadelphia 4, Pa.

Sincere sympathy is extended to Mrs. Edward N. Peck, the former Maribeth Bond, on the death of her husband on February 4, in Hahnemann Hospital. A former missionary to Hawaii, and later pastor of Rosewood Methodist Church, Los Angeles, Calif., Rev. Peck underwent open heart surgery in May, 1957, and again in January, 1959. Besides his wife, he is survived by two daughters, Barbara and Deborah, and a son, David.

Clark C. Bidleman, 321 E. First St., Bloomsburg, although confined to a wheelchair by multiple sclerosis, has a full time operating schedule that includes doing plastic laminating, bookkeeping, and selling business printing. Clark devotes his spare time to a club for the physically handicapped, the "Quad Meme," serving as president. In 1956 he received the annual Benjamin Rush Award from the County Medical Society for "Outstanding Public Health Service."

Dr. and Mrs. Gordon L. Brownell (Catherine I. Wittenberg '44) of 11 Shady Hill Rd., Weston, Mass., have four children. They have a busy household but both find time to be active in Weston community projects.

44 MRS. ROBERT F. BAKER
(Honey Rhinesmith)
Lindys Lake, R. D.
Butler, N. J.

Mr. and Mrs. J. William Benner, Jr. (Betty C. Miller '45) announce the birth of a son September 4, 1958.

Janet B. Leach was married to Robert C. Messman on March 7 and is living at 2711 Virginia St., Berkeley 9, Calif. She is in employee relations with Kaiser Medical Entities.

Henry B. Puff recently has been transferred from the Chicago office to North Tonawanda, N. Y., where he will be assistant product manager-resins for the Durez Plastics Division of the Hooker Chemical Corp. He joined the company in 1946, transferring to Chicago in 1947 where he has been district manager since 1956. He and his wife, the former Jean Ellingwood have two children, James and Margaret, and are living at 36 Huntington Court, Williamsville, N. Y.

Had the good fortune to meet Mary Louise and Johnny DeBarr one night last May. He's still a U. S. Marine (Lt.-Col.) and had just been transferred to N. Y. They're living in Fort Lee, N. J., but we were so pleased with the chance meeting that we neglected to discuss addresses, so please, John, send it to us soon.

46 MRS. LELAND C. EWING
(Elizabeth J. Wells)
41 Crest Drive
Tarrytown, N. Y.

Mr. and Mrs. Carroll P. Schuetz (Jean D. Crisman) of 432 Candlewood Rd., Broomall, now have three sons, Timothy, Douglas and David. The most recent addition was David who was born April 18.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert H. Voelker (Ruth M. Tischler) and their three sons, Robert, Donald and David, welcomed an addition to their family when Barbara Ann was born on February 6. The Voelkers are living at 24 Ferguson Ave., Shavertown.

Virginia A. Wiehe, although still handicapped by multiple sclerosis, has moved to a new address; 8237 Garrow Rd., Silver Spring, Md. Visits and cards from her Phi Mu sisters, classmates and the Bucknell family, we are sure, will be greatly appreciated.

Sister Rose Benedict (Jean F. Snyder) on June 24, was one of 104 young women who participated in the public pronouncement of vows and in the formal reception into the community as novices at Maryknoll Sisters of St. Dominic, Inc., at Maryknoll, N. Y. Prior to entering the convent in 1956, she was a medical technologist at the Reading Hospital for 9 years, served as secretary-treasurer of the Bucknell Alumni Club of Reading and as chairman of music appreciation for the American Association of University Women.

47 ROGER S. HADDON, ESQ.
243 Water St.
Northumberland, Pa.

Joyce Hauck Martin writes that little Joan Carol arrived May 15, 1958 (brother James is four years old). Daddy (Roger E. Martin '49) was recently promoted to senior engineer at the Shippingport Atomic Power Station, and the family resides at 5306 Clearview Ave., Aliquippa.

Bob Davis has much to report from 3027 Shawnee Drive, Fort Wayne, Ind. After graduation Bob and Dorothy lived a year in Emporium, then settled in Erie for 10 years. Now, with kiddies Joyce, Jim, Dick, Kathy and Kevin, the Davises reminisce about the outsize moving van that took them to Fort Wayne in 1957. Bob is a section chief in the Engineering Department of The Magnavox Company. Recalling some mutually warm bits of Bucknelliana, Bob harks back to the versatility of Dr. Ernst Meyer, who is remembered by daughter Joyce for his distinguished imitation of a crowing rooster in those happy times.

A belated report on the family doings of W. Ward Rosenberry and Bernice (Vittum '50) via their very thoughtful holiday greeting-letter. They live at Edgewater Beach, Md., having recently raised the roof of their abode to make a second floor. Last September, Ward had his electromagnetic log system on exhibit for the Naval Engineering Experiment Station at the I. S. A. show in Philadelphia. Their children number four: Joanne, Bill Ward, Gay and Susan Leslie. (The Rosenberrys report that Milt Jaques is a "rural neighbor" of theirs—and this is as fine an epithet for Milt as we have seen to date).

The formation of a law firm partnership to be known as Fetter & Zearfoss has been announced by W. Roger Fetter and Herbert K. Zearfoss '51, with offices at 433 Market St., Lewisburg.

MRS. JAMES A. BROWN
(Joann G. Gollightly)
1591 Hillcrest Terrace
Union, N. J.

Jim, Jeffrey, and I moved into our first home this past May—the porch alone has more Venetian blinds than our whole apartment did! We love all the room though, and Jeffrey loves the wall-to-wall carpeting to fall on. He was two in August—walking, talking, and getting into all of mother's pots and pans. Jim is in partnership with the Henry Reid Agency, representing Travelers Insurance Company. I had my hair cut—but I look the same. I hope to get a picture of us all in the next issue. Please come to see us.

David Z. Goldenberg is a chemical engineer and group leader in the research department of the Industrial Rayon Corp. in Cleveland, Ohio. He is local captain of the Community Fund Service and active in other civic affairs. In addition to civic and business activities, David is working toward an art degree at Cleveland Institute of Art. He is married to the former Helen Norton and has two children, William and Susan. The family home is at 3817 Severn Rd., Cleveland Heights 18, Ohio.

Dr. Arthur E. Harriman, son of Dr. P. L. Harriman, professor of psychology at Bucknell, has been appointed chairman of the psychology department at Franklin and Marshall College, Lancaster.

MRS. THOMAS A. FRAZIER
(Marilyn L. Harer)
1344 Mansel Ave.
Williamsport, Pa.

Robert E. Farrell is Paris Bureau Chief for McGraw-Hill World News. From 1949 to 1953 he was a journalist with The Wall Street Journal in the New York and Washington offices; 1953-54 attended Harvard under the Neiman Journalism Fellowship; 1954-55 traveled and free-lanced from Western Europe and since 1956 has been in Paris on his present assignment. He is married to the former Adriene Tassler and has one daughter, Katrina Luba, who was born December 23, 1957. Their address is 1 Quai Voltaire, Paris 7, France.

Dr. Albert J. Stratton, Jr., staff psychologist at the Cleveland-Cuyahoga County Tuberculosis Hospital was awarded his Ph.D. degree in January by Western Reserve University. His home is at 2675 Scarborough Rd., Cleveland Heights 6, Ohio.

Mr. and Mrs. Leroy V. Abbott, Jr. (Virginia J. Corkran) announce the arrival of Linda Carolyn April 23, 1957. They are living at 246 N. W. 110th St., Miami, Fla.

Mr. and Mrs. William B. Nolle (Glenna M. Godley) announce the birth of a daughter, Elizabeth Forman, on April 16, 1958. She joins a sister, Linda, who is 4½ years old. The family is living at 11 Carolyn Rd., Upper Montclair, N. J.

MRS. DAVID MILLER
(Martha J. Kreider)
614 Penn St.
New Bethlehem, Pa.

REUNE IN JUNE — 1960

Marilyn R. Adams, now Mrs. Robert A. Norman, Jr., worked 6 years for Bigelow-Sanford Carpet Co. and left there to take a position with the Dept. of the Army in Germany in Special Services. While there she met and married her husband. She has traveled extensively throughout the European Continent and is now "temporarily a housewife while her husband completes his studies at Virginia Polytechnic Institute."

Robert C. Collins of 240 S. Arlington St., East Orange, N. J., has been appointed senior sales representative in the New York office in charge of sales of Shippers' Car Line division, ACF Industries, Inc., the division of the company engaged in leasing tank and other railroad cars to industry.

Richard Linde received his M.A. degree in linguistics from the University of Michigan and has returned to Japan where he is now an instructor of English and linguistics at the International Christian University. He is married to the former Janet Huntley (Oberlin) and they have three children: Katharine, Margaret and Thomas. Their address is 1 C. U., 1500 Osawa, Mitaka-shi, Tokyo, Japan.

MRS. HAROLD NORRIS
(Rebecca J. Rogers)
6 Griffith St.
Montrose, Pa.

Rev. Donald S. Brown received his Bachelor of Divinity degree from Yale Divinity School last year and was ordained into the ministry October 3, 1958. He is presently serving the Kingsborough Presbyterian Church in Gloversville, N. Y. He and his wife Betty (Elizabeth Hatch) have two children, Catherine and Douglas, and are residing at 257 Kingsborough Ave., Gloversville, N. Y.

Mrs. George V. Gerber '49 (Mary E. Banta) was elected secretary of the Bucknell Alumni Club of Northern New Jersey.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Kelchner (Barbara L. Stine) welcomed a daughter whom they named Kate, on May 9 . . . incidentally, her mother's birthday! Their address is Hattertown Rd., R. D. 2, Newtown, Conn.

Dr. W. Webster Smith has received the degree of Doctor of Philosophy from the Institute of Fine Arts of New York University.

The formation of a law firm partnership to be known as Fetter & Zearfoss has been announced by W. Roger Fetter '47, and Herbert K. Zearfoss with offices at 433 Market St., Lewisburg.

MRS. JOHN S. BOULDEN, JR.
(Barbara Bleecker)
1605 Twin Maple Ave.
Towson 4, Md.

Betty Elliott Butler '55 writes that Lindy has been transferred by ALCOA from Boston to Worcester, Mass. They and son Geoffrey (3) and new addition Cynthia (born November 16) are now living at 21 Spring Terrace, Shrewsbury, Mass.

Fred Thomas and Kay Frank of Hartford, Conn., were married October 28 in San Francisco, Calif. Both Fred and Kay served two years with the State Department in Korea and now are assigned to the Washington, D. C., offices of the State Department.

Corinne White Warner and her husband are busy caring for their new daughter, Laurie Lee, born on December 13, 1958. The Warners are also "antiquing" for their Cape Cod house at 18 Merritt Drive, Schenectady, N. Y.

Jim and Doris Worstall Sickler welcomed James, Jr., on July 8, 1958. Jim works for Jackson and Perkins Co.—a name well-known to all you fellow gardeners. Their home (Stuart Ave. and Osborn St., Newark, N. Y.) is in the heart of vacationland, writes Doris, and they'd enjoy visitors at any time.

Bucknellians for 1975: The Nelsons (Jackie Wightman), Marilyn Ann, October 3; Ed and Nancy Harkrader Skorge, Ralph Trygve, November 4; Manny '54 and Mibs Davis Edelman, Kirk Howard, January 27; Jim and Janet Fagan Clitter, Sandra Leigh, February 8.

Announcement has been made by the Sealtest Foods Division of National Dairy Products Corporation of the promotion of Earl C. Lyon, Jr. '51 to Ice Cream District Sales Manager in Philadelphia. Earl first joined Sealtest Foods in 1955 as a merchandising specialist in the ice cream department.

Earl is married to the former Emilie C. Riley '51. They and their two boys live at 10 Kenwood Drive, Haddonfield, N. J.

MRS. JAMES A. CHAMBERS, JR.
(Barbara Roemer)
58 Linden Ave.
Verona, N. J.

The Caldwell's, Bill and Helen (Harri-son), and son Bobby, have a new address—Bldg. 5, Apt. A-2, 100 Franklin St., Morristown, N. J.

The Bowens, Jane (Banker), Greg, and son Doug, are residing at 330 Farview Dr., North Aurora, Ill. Greg is assistant director of personnel for All-Steel Equipment Co.

Lt. Harold Z. Brown was commissioned a flight surgeon on March 27 and has been assigned to Air Development Squadron 6, Quonset Point, R. I. His wife, the former Katharine A. Bell, had the honor of pinning on his new wings.

The Wayne Dillers (S. Carol Miller '56) live at 416 Hobart Dr., Haddonfield, N. J., and have two children: Chris and Katharine Lee.

Mr. and Mrs. James P. Carse (Alice F. Fetzner) of 110 Hamilton Rd., Chapel Hill, N. C., have a daughter, Alisa Louise, who was born June 13, 1958. Alice is a teacher of German at the University of North Carolina and, at the time of writing, was looking forward to visiting Europe with her husband and daughter this summer.

MRS. PAUL C. TARR, III
(Anne Tuckerman)
20-A East Front St.
Media, Pa.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas J. Reimensnyder (Margaret L. Hines) announce the birth of their second daughter, Carol Ellen, on Christmas Eve, 1958. She has a big sister, Laurene Susan, who is two years old. The family home is at 35 Conifer Rd., Levittown.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Robert Peters, Jr., (Jacquelin A. Long) announce the birth of a daughter, Elisabeth Ann, in December, 1958. The family is living at 3217 Alma St., Palo Alto, Calif.

Ellwood S. Derr of Lewisburg has been awarded a study grant from the Alexan-

Pic. Bruce Lundvall '57 (left) and Pic. Leonard Walker '57 appear to have the situation well in hand following a stint of "K.P."! Bruce and Lenny, now serving with the U. S. Army in Europe, report, "We sincerely hope that everyone is progressing as well as we are? As you can see we are really making the best of it. The training is wonderful and opportunities unlimited in new army green."

der von Humboldt Stiftung, Bonn, Germany, for the academic year of 1959-60. He will use the grant to continue study in musical composition for the stage as well as to attend the musicology seminar at the University of Munich. Ellwood sailed from the port of New York about September 1.

Paul Ganz, Jr., and Dianne Sheffer of Watson town were married June 19. Paul is on the teaching staff of the high school at Silver Spring, Md.

Ronald B. Goodman is a design engineer with Foster Wheeler Corporation, New York. He is also attending NYU taking work toward an M.B.A. degree. He recently joined the New York Valley of Ancient Accepted Scottish Rite of Freemasonry and received his 32nd degree in April.

55 MRS. JOHN C. VANCE, JR.
(Jane Jones)
3 Ford Court
Charleston, S. C.

REUNE IN JUNE — 1960

Mr. and Mrs. James W. Davison (Gretchen Hendricks '54) announce the birth of a daughter, Karen, on February 2, 1959. They are presently located at 1434-E Spartan Village, MSC, East Lansing, Mich.

Mr. and Mrs. Horace Faber (Sundra V. Ness) have returned to the East and are living at 25 South Baltimore St., Mount Holly Springs. They have a baby daughter, Christine Meta, who was born December 7, 1958.

From 112 Oak Ridge Road, Ramsey, N. J., comes word that Cal and Shirla Williams Stansfield became parents for the second time on January 26. Tommy's sister Lynn is 2½ years old.

Shirle also writes that Barb Wills and Jim Flynn were married in October 1958. They are living in Haddonfield, N. J.

Christian Einar joined the household of Mike ('54) and Lolly Messersmith Jensen 26 on June 16, 1958. The Jensens are living in Princeton, N. J., R. D. 1.

Harriet Coyle Mack, husband Paul, Kathleen, and Steven can be reached at 86 Ridge Trail, Easton. Paul is an industrial engineer with the Mack Printing Company.

56 MRS. WILLIAM J. O'NEIL
(Jean M. Wirths)
1706 Esplanade Apt. C, Hollywood Riv.
Redondo Beach, Calif.

Michael Zaparyniuk, Jr. writes that he has been ordained as a priest and is Pastor of the Holy Trinity Ukrainian Orthodox Church in Trenton, N. J., fulfilling the vacancy of his late Father. Reverend Zaparyniuk and his family are now living at 824 Adeline Street, Trenton 10, N. J.

Vera Nazzaro and Louis A. DeFusco were married January 3. Vera is a medical social worker at the St. Vincent's Hospital in New York City. They are living at 50 King St., Apt. 7-B, New York 14, N. Y.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert W. Dill, Jr. '57 (Joanne Foster) announce the birth of a daughter, Lisa Anne Miller, on February 20.

Ira T. Ellis, Jr., has been promoted to an associate engineer in the System Simulation Laboratory of IBM. His address is Box 551, Yorktown Heights, N. Y.

Joan C. Farmer was married to Bruce M. Hopkins in June, 1958. They are now stationed in Straubing, Germany, and will settle in Toledo, Ohio, upon their return to the States in December. Prior to entering the service, Bruce was with Owens-Corning Fiberglass in Toledo.

57 MRS. PETER CHANNELL
(Catherine L. Evans)
5552 - 2A Netherlands Ave.
Riverdale, N. Y.

Mr. and Mrs. Masaya Yamamoto (Toshie Atsuko Ouchi '56) are living at 3-2, Akamatsu, Mada, Kobe, Japan. He is teaching in the junior high school and is a candidate for a Ph.D. degree in American History at Kwansei Gakuin University. Atsuko is working for a Ph.D. degree in English Literature at the same University.

George S. Franke writes from the Belgian Congo, where he has gone to serve as an engineer for the American Baptist Foreign Missionary Society, that he has found Congo to be even more friendly, beautiful and exciting than he had originally expected. Too bad we do not have a class publication in which interesting messages of this sort can be published in full for the benefit of our class members. (EDITOR'S NOTE: Are you listening Jimmy Stewart? The alumni office will reproduce and distribute a class publication if you will appoint an editor or editors.)

Last year Isabel S. Gordon received a Ford Foundation Scholarship at Cornell University in their elementary education program. She received the Master of Education degree and is now teaching 5th grade at New Rochelle, N. Y.

58 MRS. FRANK H. RICHARDS, III
(Faith Bonsall)
9 Bigelow St.
Cambridge, Mass.

Bob Ackerman has completed his 6 months tour of duty with the Army and is now a sales correspondent with Continental Can Corp. in Montclair, N. J.

William Bandes was awarded a grant from the National Science Foundation to attend the Institute for College Teachers of Mathematics held at the University of Southern California. He is an instructor at the California State Polytechnic College and lives at 193 Del Norte Way, San Luis Obispo, Calif.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Allen (Nanette Transue '60) became the very proud parents of a daughter, Miriam Elizabeth Allen, on April 3, 1959.

Weddings: Susan Smith to Charles Snee, June 13, 1959; Phyllis Gilman to William Scott, June 6, 1959; Elizabeth Ziegler to Charles Zweizig, Jr., June 14, 1959; Miriam Moore to Edwin Klett '57, April 18, 1959; Anne Satler to Michael Pocquat, May 23, 1959; Donald Spear to Jeanne Schwertfeger, July 9, 1959; Dorothy Fuetterer to Dewitt Reynolds, April 18, 1959.

59 MISS JEANNE F. ANDERSON
133 E. 35th St.
New York City, N. Y.

REUNE IN JUNE — 1960

Hello Bucknellians—Class of '59 reporting. Since graduation, we have been busy little bees. Of major interest so far (aside from new jobs, weeks of looking forward to U. S. Army "tours," and restfully spent vacations beside the sea) are the wedding bells which have tolled for many of us: Gerald L. Zeigler of 1411 Monroe St., York, was married on January 11 to Joyce Neal; Linda E. Liddick and Edward V. Thomas '58, June 6, 1959; Carol A. Burrows and Michael J. Hixson, June 27, 1959; Barbara E. Dunning and Theodore E. DuPuy, June 27, 1959; Fredric F. Campbell and Virginia M. Wilkins, July 5, 1959; Connie L. Glascock and Donald G. Foster, June 27, 1959; Charlotte N. Gentry and Gregory T. Ogden, June 20, 1959; Patricia F. McClintock and Alan W. Steiss, June 13, 1959; Rodger B. Haglund and Mildred J. Dower, April 11, 1959; Molly A. Wolford and David L. Hamilton '57, June 27, 1959; Doris E. Abbott and Harry Walker, June 20, 1959.

See you at Homecoming—best so far!

Alumni Trustee Timetable

June Commencement—Appointment of Committee on Nominations for Alumni Trustee.

July 16—Letter to Class Presidents and Class Reporters.

August 14—Letter to representative Alumni, Alumni Club Presidents, Alumni Fund Representatives, Past Presidents of the Alumni Association, and former Alumni Trustees.

September 15—Deadline for receiving suggestions to be considered by Committee on Nominations.

October 17—Meeting of Committee on Nominations.

November 16—Committee on Nominations submits three candidates to the President of the Association.

December 4—Deadline for Board approval.

January ALUMNUS—Announcement of names of three candidates in THE BUCKNELL ALUMNUS.

February 16—Petition deadline.

March 2—Election announcement in THE BUCKNELL ALUMNUS.

April 1—Ballots in mail.

May 16—Deadline for receiving ballots in Alumni Office.

June Commencement—Certification to Board of Trustees.

BENEDUM, TRUSTEE, DIES

Death came on July 30 to Michael L. Benedum, 90, in Pittsburgh who for the past 21 years has been a member of the Bucknell University Board of Trustees.

His career in oil was wildcatting which began in the early days of the discovery of oil almost 100 years ago. Born in Bridgeport, West Virginia, the son of a small business man, he was slated to attend West Point. He put aside these plans after he casually met an oil company executive who offered him a job in the oil fields and before long Mr. Benedum was leasing potential fields.

He and his partner, the late Joseph Trees made a series of strikes that astounded the young oil industry. Their activities extended throughout the oil producing states of the United States and in Mexico, Venezuela, Canada and Europe. During his lifetime, Mr. Benedum, whose wealth has been estimated at from $75,000,000 to $100,000,000 made many large charitable gifts and established the Claude Worthington Benedum Foundation in memory of his only son who died while in the Army in World War I.

At the celebration of his 90th birthday in July, Mr. Benedum said: "I'm not afraid of death because I have not been afraid of life. Indeed, I would not be honest if I did not admit that the invisible has a great fascination for me."

"The twilight gathers about me."

IN MEMORIAM

The following deaths have been reported to the Alumni Office since May, 1959. The University extends sympathy to the surviving relatives.

- 1887—Prof. Walter S. Harley, April, 1959
1892—Mrs. William Dreisbach (Katherine R. Nesbit) (Inst.), June 3, 1959
1895—Dr. Peter B. Cregar, April 7, 1959
1899—Mrs. Samuel T. Gordon (Dr. Henrietta F. Allen), 1947
1900—Mr. Albert E. Pittman
1901—Mr. Charles F. Bidelsbacher, May 7, 1959
1902—Mrs. Harry B. Miller (Grace M. Brubaker), May 21, 1959
1903—Mr. Royce E. Carringer, May 16, 1959
1904—Mr. Clark P. Dickerman, March, 1959
1905—Dr. Charles D. Cooper, June 23, 1959
Mr. John H. Flood, Jr.
Miss Margaret Forgeus, July 19, 1959
Mr. Ralph F. Griffiths, May 29, 1959
Mrs. R. Everett Thomas (L. Ruth Leshner), July 28, 1959
Mrs. Harold Sharp (Laura Sharp) (Inst.)
1906—Miss Florence A. McCaskie, May 19, 1959
Dr. Penrose H. Shelley, April 11, 1959
Mr. Dickson S. Stauffer, July 5, 1957
1907—Dr. Ernest M. Gress
1908—Mr. Benjamin T. Harris, June 21, 1959
1909—Dr. Doncaster G. Humm, May 17, 1959
Mrs. J. Allan Jackson (Hazel M. Craig), May 15, 1959
Mr. Harry M. Smith, April 12, 1959
1910—Rev. A. K. Stockebrand, May 29, 1959
1911—Mr. Rasmus Clause, Jr., July 21, 1958
1913—Mr. C. Baker Bernhart
1914—Mr. Ralph A. Neff
1915—Miss Florence B. Barber
1916—Mr. Lester A. Switzer, June 3, 1959
1918—Mr. John M. Jones
Miss Mary Speece, May 13, 1959
1920—Mrs. John L. Kistler (Anne E. Bertolet), May 2, 1959
1921—Mr. Homer T. Eaton, April 28, 1959
1923—Mr. Charles E. Anderson, April, 1959
Mr. Leicester H. Hiram, June 6, 1959
1924—Dr. David W. Morgan, May 21, 1959
Mr. Louis W. Sobray
1925—Mr. Santo G. Lipari, May 15, 1959
Dr. Rufus M. Traver (Hon.)
1926—Mr. Gilbert A. Long
1928—Mrs. Paul G. Potter (Margaret F. Riley), March 2, 1959
1930—Mr. Frank M. Lepore, April 24, 1959
Mr. Eldred O. Ward, July 22, 1959
1931—Dr. W. Edward Duckwitz (Hon.), March 9, 1959
1932—Mr. Charles M. Stump
1937—Mr. Ralph H. Axthelm, May 15, 1959
1938—Mrs. George S. Lawson (Margaret E. Holstein), July 1, 1959
1939—Mr. Victor A. Navikas, 1959
1940—Dr. Michael L. Benedum (Hon.), July 30, 1959
1941—Miss Letha Bogart, May 15, 1959
Mr. Stanley P. Henning, April 13, 1959
1944—Mr. Francis M. Figlock, May 30, 1959
1946—Mr. Jack B. Pearson

OUT OF THE ROCKWELL MAILBAG

by

VERA COBER ROCKWELL, 1911

(continued from May issue)

Speaking of people who have achieved, let's talk about one who stood on the graduation platform with Leo that day in June, 1907. The name is Charles Francis Potter, well-known writer and speaker, and with a fine sense of humor—as you may have noted. When we mentioned in our Christmas letter that Leo was to address the Mecklenberg County Teachers' Association on the subject, English Is a Foreign Language Too, Charles Francis came right back with his own experience with this "foreign tongue" as used to him in his correspondence with English publishers. Leo quoted this in the '07 news. Since then the latter has had the privilege of writing a review of Potter's modernized World's Great Religions.

Leo's former student, Harry Warfel, is another whose achievements since graduation have been momentous. Last year he was president of the College English Association and traveled far and wide to speak to colleges and universities. Among his thought-provoking subjects were Your Language Is Your Life, The Poetry in Our Daily Speech, The Scientific Basis of Modern Audio-Visual Instruction. In the Warfel News, are more eye-catching items. This one for instance:

"For ten years Ruth and Harry have had as their hobby the facsimile reproduction of rare books. By 1957 they had issued twenty-five works of enduring importance. In this enterprise they enjoy the co-operation of many distinguished scholars."

Another student we are proud to claim is Harry Pierson '28. Little did I guess when he was so deftly manipulating Spanish subjunctives in my classes, that some day he would be using them to such good effect in many foreign countries. As a member of the Institute of International Education, he has been a roving ambassador of good will. We look forward to our next Mailbag to learn more of the work he and his charming Pauline are carrying on, this time in Asia.

By the way, George Abernathy '32, would make a wonderful ambassador to Asia! He is Professor of Philosophy at Davidson College, but has for years been concentrating on study of Asian problems, and especially Pakistan. As a result of this unique backlog of information, when a Foreign Policy meeting was held in Charlotte, N. C., recently, he was chosen as chairman of an unusual panel. Representatives of the Indian and Pakistan embassies in Washington sat around the table, presenting their divergent views on the relations between the two countries. There is no letter to quote on this, but since we were there, I am happy to report on the rare and impressive leadership George gave to the discussion.

Now let me whisk you back to 1927 when I was beginning another year of Spanish teaching. A pretty, bright-eyed freshman answered to the name of Margaret Zimmermann and told me confidentially, "I chose Spanish because I want to teach in Puerto Rico." I assured her it was a fine idea, although secretly, I never thought she would make it. Others with similar dreams had never left our shores. But Margaret fooled me. To my great delight, she went to my favorite little island and began teaching in Barranquitas. There she met a young Puerto Rican who shared her love of Shakespeare and other classics and soon they two were wed. Angel Mergal was a brilliant scholar and writer and earned his doctorate at Columbia while lengthening his list of publications. Margaret wrote at Christmas, "Angel is finishing his book on Unamuno. I try to work on my thesis and plan to go to Columbia just to finish writing. Margarita (their daughter) will join me the following December to take her M.A. in Political Science." As most of us know, Margaret has been teaching English at the U. of Puerto Rico for some years, making an outstanding contribution to their curriculum.

But let's take a look about in our own fair land. We tend to forget how fair it is until our imagination is stimulated by word pictures from our friends. For example, some of us might find it hard to envision what life along a great river can give us. Here is Peg Weddell Brandon's description of the view from their new home, Art, as Bucknellians all know, having recently become vice-president of N. Y. U. "We have a lovely place in Jersey across from Forty-second Street with the most fascinating view of the New York sky line and the Hudson River. Watching the river traffic is a constant delight, especially the passing of the big liners that dock across the way."

Even though your plans may be tentative, please mail this reservation TODAY and guarantee yourself a share in the program and also assist us in planning your accommodations. Although we will do our best—WE CANNOT GUARANTEE RESERVATIONS RECEIVED AFTER OCTOBER 10.

HOMEcoming RESERVATION

October 17, 1959

Please reserve tickets for the HOMEcoming LUNCHEON,
Saturday, October 17, 1959, at Davis Gym.

Please reserve tickets for the BISON CLUB BREAKFAST,
Saturday, October 17, 1959, at Lewisburg Club.

NAME (Print) CLASS

ADDRESS

(This slip may be attached to a postal card or slipped into an envelope.
Mail to Alumni Office, Bucknell University, Lewisburg, Pa., NOW. Send your room reservation to Forrest D. Brown, Secretary, Christian Association.)

OUR READERS SPEAK

YOUR CLASS YEAR:

YOUR OPINION OF THE BUCKNELL ALUMNUS:

Excellent.....; above average.....; fair.....; poor.....

REASONS FOR YOUR OPINION:

HOW MUCH USUALLY READ:

All.....; certain sections.....; about half.....; quick flip through.....

SUBJECTS PREFERRED AS ALUMNUS FEATURE ARTICLES:

Faculty.....; students.....; alumni.....; campus.....; University administration policies.....; faculty-written articles about current problems.....; other.....

ITEMS USUALLY READ:

Alumni achievement.....; Book reviews.....; Class reports.....; Club activities.....; Faculty news.....; Feature stories.....; Fund reports.....; Homecoming news.....; In Memoriam.....; Letters columns.....; Reunion and Commencement news.....; Sports.....; Student view.....; University affairs.....

MAGAZINE COVERS LIKED ESPECIALLY WELL:

Freshman girls.....; artist's sketch of fall scene.....; basketball player.....; Coleman Hall lobby.....; students and symbols depicting Bucknell as a university of the arts and sciences.....; the cover on this issue.....

WHAT WOULD YOU LIKE TO SEE ON FUTURE MAGAZINE COVERS:

WHAT FEATURES WOULD YOU LIKE TO SEE IN THE ALUMNUS:

ANY OTHER COMMENTS ABOUT THE ALUMNUS:

PLEASE TEAR OUT THIS PAGE AND MAIL TO:
The General Alumni Association
Bucknell University
Lewisburg, Pa.

THE BUCKNELL
ALUMNUS

November 1959

PRINCIPLES OF PHYSICS

BOTANY

ADVANCED CALCULUS

WORLD GEOGRAPHY

GRAMÁTICA ESPAÑOL DE REPASO

EXPERIMENTAL PSYCHOLOGY

DUAL DEVELOPMENT FUND

See page 10

THE BUCKNELL ALUMNUS

OFFICERS OF THE ASSOCIATION

President

Charles F. Fox, Jr., M.D. '31

First Vice President

Robert W. Dill '27

Second Vice President

Mrs. Clyde P. Bailey (Dorothy Lemon '29)

Treasurer

Donald B. Young '33

Secretary and Editor

John H. Shott '22

Assistant Secretary and Assistant Editor

C. Bruce Rossiter '56

BOARD OF DIRECTORS

MRS. CHARLES E. COPELAND (Amorita Sesinger '22),
10 Ridgedale Ave., Madison, N. J. (1960)

DONALD W. GLOVER '41, Mullica Hill, N. J. (1960)

THOMAS W. SPECK '37, 708 Russell Pl., Plainfield, N. J.
(1960)

ROBERT W. DILL '27, 5136 Butler Pike, Plymouth Meeting, Pa. (1961)

WILLIAM D. GOLIGHTLY '25, 309 W. Webster Ave.,
Scranton, Pa. (1961)

MRS. PAUL M. SHOWALTER (S. Katharine Graham '33),
855 St. Louis St., Lewisburg, Pa. (1961)

MRS. CLYDE P. BAILEY (Dorothy Lemon '29), 16 Churchill
Road, Pittsburgh 35, Pa. (1962)

CHARLES F. FOX, JR., M.D. '31, 180 Washington Ave.,
Vandergrift, Pa. (1962)

D. EUGENE LONG '29, 131 Avon Place, West Hempstead,
N. Y. (1962)

EUGENE P. BERTIN '17, 210 S. Main St., Muncy, Pa.
(1963)

ELINOR CHILDS '52, 74 Mt. Kemble Ave., Morristown,
N. J. (1963)

ROBERT H. TAYLOR '48, 214 Avon Rd., Narberth, Pa.
(1963)

CHARLES T. FARROW '26, P. O. Box 29, Westfield, N. J.
(1964)

IRVIN GRAYBILL, JR. '49, Middleburg, Pa. (1964)

ALLEN F. JONES '25, 2 Linn St., Progress, Harrisburg, Pa.
(1964)

() Year Term Expires.

Alumni Headquarters—GROUND FLOOR, EAST COLLEGE

Member—AMERICAN ALUMNI COUNCIL

ON THE COVER—The structure built with text books on the cover is a reminder to all Bucknell Alumni of the dual purposes of the Dual Development Fund to solicit funds for "brains" and "bricks." Thanks to Mr. Bernard Taylor of Grit Publishing Company for his art work.

The back cover gives highlights of events to be held on the Bucknell campus during the months of November and December.

VOLUME XLV

NOVEMBER 1959

No.

IN THIS ISSUE

Alumni	Page
James H. Duchine '40	23
Romain C. Hassrick '06	14
David L. Lawrence Hon. '59	3
D. Eugene Long '29	21
Andrew R. Mathieson '20	16
Owen A. Neff '53	25
Guy Payne '09	8
John W. Rice '14	10
William H. Schuyler '15	10
Thelma J. Showalter '29	16
Lewis L. Strauss Hon. '59	3
Edwin B. Williams Hon. '59	3
Gail B. Young '23	20
Alumni Trustee Timetable	27
Basketball Schedule	26
Bucknell Dual Development Fund	13-16
Campus Calendar	Back Cover
Class Reports	18-26
Clubs	11, 17
Count Down to One	4, 5
In Memoriam	27
News From the Bucknell Campus Family	8, 9
Out of The Rockwell Mailbag	27
Politics and the American Businessman	3, 17
Retiring	10
Sports	7, 17, 26
Summary of Gifts	12
Teachers That I Have Never Forgotten	10
The Student View	6, 17

THE BUCKNELL ALUMNUS is published in January, March, May, September and November by BUCKNELL UNIVERSITY. Entered as second-class matter December 30, 1930 at the post office at Lewisburg, Pa., under Act of August 24, 1912.

NOVEMBER 1959

POLITICS

and the American Businessman

A UNIQUE CONFERENCE, described by many as the most practical program of its kind ever sponsored by a university, was held on the Bucknell campus on September 25 and 26.

With "Politics and the American Businessman" as its theme, the conference brought together leading business associations, corporations, and citizens' groups from the eastern United States to hear, evaluate and discuss the various means of engaging in political activity, covering such methods as a do-it-yourself course and courses now being conducted by some organizations to train management personnel in practical politics.

Organizations participating in the conference included: U. S. Chamber of Commerce, General Electric Company, Effective Citizens Organization, Gulf Oil Corporation, Household Finance Corporation, Johnson & Johnson, National Association of Manufacturers, Chicago Association of Commerce and Industry, Manufacturers' Association of Berks County, Pa., Manufacturers' of Syracuse, N. Y., an association of business leaders known as "Operation New York." Each organization outlined its program in promoting a more conscious awareness of the role of the businessman in political activities.

In addition to the leading figures in the business world participating in the conference, three outstanding personages in the political and educational field made major addresses. In the opening address The Honorable David L. Lawrence, Governor of Pennsylvania and former mayor of Pittsburgh, discussed the "State Government and the Business Community."

At the annual convocation marking the formal opening of the University's 114th academic year, Dr. Lewis L. Strauss, former chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission and U. S. Secretary of Commerce was the principal speaker. During the convocation ceremonies three honorary degrees were awarded. Governor Lawrence received the honorary degree of Doctor of Laws while Dr. Strauss received the honorary degree of Doctor of Science. The third distinguished American to receive an honorary degree was Dr. Edwin B. Williams, a noted scholar and lexicographer and presently professor of romance languages at the University of Pennsylvania. Dr. Williams received the honorary degree of Doctor of Humane Letters.

In the closing session of the conference, Dr. Arthur Larson, Director of The World Rule of Law Center, Duke University, and former Special Assistant to President Eisenhower, spoke on "Political Education for Business Citizenship: the Stake in Individual Freedom."

In welcoming the businessmen at the opening of the conference, President Odgers explained, "Bucknell University is providing this forum on a politically non-partisan basis as an expression of its own responsibilities for fostering political awareness and concern. The conference is but one instance of the cooperative pattern designed to strengthen the climate of freedom in which the University was born and in which it has flourished for 113 years."

(Continued on Page 17)

The Honorable David L. Lawrence, Governor of Pennsylvania, opened the conference.

Left to right: Dr. Arthur Larson, Dean of the University Karl D. Hartzell, Dr. Lewis L. Strauss, Governor David L. Lawrence, Dr. Edwin B. Williams, and President Merle M. Odgers gathered outside Davis Gymnasium prior to the University's annual convocation marking the 114th academic year.

Dr. Lewis L. Strauss was the principal speaker at the annual convocation.

COUNT DOWN TO ONE

by
THE ADMISSIONS STAFF

TODAY'S HIGH SCHOOL senior who is preparing to enter college in September, 1960, might well be compared to a rocket being readied for flight. The tension, the mounting excitement, the gravity of the undertaking, the pressure from many quarters, the exhaustive research, even the danger of a mistake or a wrong choice—all of these are parts of the process of decision as the high school student chooses the college or university where he hopes to continue his education.

If you are a Bucknell alumnus or alumna with children of high school age, and with an active interest in your Alma Mater, you may find yourself a key member of the "launching crew" as your children begin to think of college. Even if you have no children, you may be "drafted" to serve on behalf of the child of a friend or business associate whose interest lies in the direction of Bucknell. In either case, you are likely to become vitally interested in the success of a particular "rocket."

There are other members of the "launching team" who are equally concerned with the outcome of the "rocket's" flight. They include: the admissions staff at Bucknell, the high school principal and/or guidance counselor, the faculty and trustees, and the non-alumni parents of high school students interested in Bucknell. All of these people are just as interested as you are in the success of the "rockets" to be launched in September, 1960.

The success of the "launching," in terms of the student who applies to Bucknell, means that he will graduate from the University having developed his mental powers, having achieved a certain social maturity, and having contributed to the life of the university during his four years' residence here. This is admittedly a "large order," but this is what Bucknell expects from each of the candidates who are accepted for admission.

The success of the launching depends upon several factors. Perhaps the most important is the student himself: his character, his abilities, and his seriousness of purpose. If it is obvious from a student's high school or preparatory school record, or from his score on the Scholastic Aptitude Test, or from his lack of interest either in Bucknell or in study of any sort, that he cannot possibly be expected to succeed at Bucknell, then the Admissions Staff cannot in good conscience grant him admission, whether or not he is the son or daughter of an alumnus. However, if from these records and tests it is equally likely that the son or daughter of an alumnus will succeed, then he or she will be given preference over an applicant of equal ability who is not the child of an alumnus.

There are other factors involved in the "launching" of a student into college life which are almost as important as the student's ability and attitude. One of these is the necessity that all members of the launching team work together in a spirit of cooperation. To do this, they must all understand what goal they are working to achieve; to what ends Bucknell's admissions program is directed; and in what type of "rocket" the University is most interested. This means that all those interested in a student who is seeking entrance to Bucknell should become familiar with the policies of the admissions office, and that they should be aware of the standards which must be met by each applicant who is granted admission.

NOVEMBER 1957

In the form of a "count-down," which precedes the launching of most rockets, here are some important facts, figures and dates which you should bear in mind as you work towards the launching date of the student in whom you are interested:

10 Only 10 months remain before the Class of 1964 enters Bucknell. If your son or daughter or the son or daughter of a friend of yours is interested in Bucknell, he should by now be in possession of the Freshman Bulletin, "Bucknell in Brief," and an application form. Applications not submitted under the Early Decision Plan (see item 4) are due in the Admissions office by February 15.

9 January 9, 1960: one of the dates on which the Scholastic Aptitude Test, sponsored by the College Entrance Examination Board, is given. This test is REQUIRED for each student seeking entrance to Bucknell. It will also be given on December 5, 1959; on February 6, 1960; and again in March, May and August, but the university prefers applicants to take the test on one of the three earlier dates. Applications to take this test must be sent to Princeton (C. E. E. B., Box 592, Princeton, N. J.) four weeks before the testing date in January, March and May; three weeks before the testing date in December, February and August.

8 Eight foreign nations, 18 states and the District of Columbia were represented in the Class of 1962. Although Bucknell has no geographical "quotas," it is the desire of the university to have students from as many states as possible represented in the student body.

7 Sometimes as many as 7 interviews per day are handled by each member of the admissions staff in addition to their other responsibilities. If the student in whom you are interested desires an interview, he is urged to write for an appointment at least two weeks before his visit, so that he will be assured of an interview when he arrives.

6 Six out of every 22 students at Bucknell are receiving some form of scholarship aid or earn money by working in various jobs on and off campus. Those interested in scholarship aid must obtain an application form and return it before February 15.

5 These are the five considerations upon which the admissions staff bases its decision: satisfactory completion of secondary school and favorable class rank; satisfactory score on Scholastic Aptitude Test; recommendation of high school principal or guidance counselor; character, personality, leadership; and unsolicited information from friends or alumni.

NOVEMBER 1959

4 January 4, 1960: last date for candidates seeking admission under the Early Decision Plan to mail their applications so that they may be received in the Admissions office by January 5. Candidates submitting credentials under this plan will be notified of their status (accepted; waiting list; not admitted) before the end of January. Last year very few children of alumni took advantage of this plan, yet alumni sons and daughters are given preference if they are well-qualified and apply early!

3 These are the 3 objectives of Bucknell University, which should be kept in mind by every person who is considering endorsing a student for admission: "... To provide the means and opportunity for the intellectual development of students of qualified preparation and character, to the end that they may become mature and responsible members of society ... To impart to the student the principles of inherited knowledge and culture and to bring the student to an awareness of his own talent ... As a center of independent thought Bucknell is dedicated to the cause of free and responsible inquiry, and to seeking the truth wherever it may be found."

2 Only 2 out of every 4 students who completed applications for Bucknell were accepted, in keeping with the standard of the university: "since it is impossible to admit all applicants who apply for admission, only those the University deems likely to benefit by its curriculum will be chosen for admission."

1 The whole question of "launching" a student ultimately reduces itself to ONE person: the student himself. In the end, he must choose the college or university to which he will make application; it is his interests, his likes and dislikes, his plans for the future and his ability which must be considered by the launching crew. Although you may be very eager, as an alumnus, to see your son or daughter enrolled at Bucknell, you must be very sure that Bucknell is the type of institution most suited to the needs and abilities of your child; that it is the university where your child is "most likely to succeed" and "most likely to be happy." The admissions staff will be glad to help you and your son or daughter determine whether or not Bucknell is the best choice; you need only to write in advance for an interview.

Launching time! The admissions staff welcomes your interest in and support of the Bucknellians of the future. They are looking forward to hearing from you and talking to you, and they ask you to remember that alumni children will be given preference provided their credentials are satisfactory and their interest in Bucknell is sincere.

We Students Say, "Yes"

An exciting, new challenge and privilege is offered to Bucknell students this year.

THIS YEAR, 1959-1960, marks a major step in the advancement of Bucknell University among the academically accredited institutions in the country. An academic Honors Program geared to challenge and develop more fully the capabilities of the superior student has been instituted for this school term. The program is the product of long and careful study by a committee of concerned members of the faculty and administration. Dr. Mark C. Ebersole, University Chaplain, is chairman.

For nearly a year the committee, which has been named the Academic Council, has been gathering information from and studying the various effects upon other schools which have successful Honors Programs. Last year, Joseph W. Cohen, Director of University Honors at the University of Colorado, spoke to a select group of students, faculty and administration about the success of the program at the University of Colorado, and answered questions of the group. The Council is hopeful that through the experience of others, most of the difficulties connected with the development of the program will be eliminated before they are encountered.

This year there are two honors colloquia in existence—a freshman colloquium consisting of 15 freshmen, and a sophomore colloquium consisting of 10 sophomores, and five juniors. In addition to these colloquia, special sections for advanced students have been set up in freshman English, political science, mathematics, the languages, World Literature, and History of Western Civilization courses.

The subject matter or material covered in the colloquia, rather than dealing with only one area of learning, is concerned with integrating all fields of knowledge and delving more deeply into the problem of the nature of man. Indeed, the theme of the sophomore colloquium is the "Nature of Man"; the freshman colloquium deals with the "Nature of Education." A book list was prepared for each program which the students were held responsible to read during the summer. For each weekly meeting of the colloquia, the students prepare a critical analysis of the work to be discussed that week. Both programs are conducted in the same manner, except that the sophomore group will cover a wider scope of the subject matter.

Freshmen, invited before they arrive at Bucknell to participate in the colloquium, are chosen on the basis of their high school records, their college entrance examination scores, and an intellectual autobiography each student must submit upon application to Bucknell. They may apply for entrance to the colloquium any time after the first semester if their academic standing is high. Sophomores and juniors are chosen on the basis of their college entrance examination scores, their college grades, and their general record of proficiency.

It is the hope of the University to organize in the near future a junior and a senior colloquium to round out the program. There is also hope for the development of a program in departmental honors whereby each department will establish an honors program within itself and offer recognition for outstanding academic achievement in the field with which it is concerned.

The members of the Academic Council, largely responsible for establishing the Honors Program at Bucknell, are: Dr. Ebersole, acting chairman; Assistant Dean of the University Frank Abbott, secretary; and Professors Mildred Martin, William Smith '41, and William Gwyn.

If engineered properly, this program is one which cannot fail. Through this program, Bucknell is beginning to pay off a debt long owed to the superior student—that of an opportunity to develop his potentialities to the fullest. With this opportunity, Bucknell will not only be offering the first rate undergraduate students their full worth, but it can also offer the promise of a greater challenge to top students from number one high schools all over the country.

Dr. Ebersole, in an address to the freshman class at the beginning of the school year, challenged each member with several basic questions of life and of existence to which very few really find answers, but which everyone of us must consider. "Who am I? Why am I here? What is my purpose in life?" How, except through thinking and searching can one find answers to these questions? And how, except through instruction and discipline, can one develop his ability to think and to drive into the heart of the questions? Without the answers, without some purpose, life would be an empty, day-to-day existence. Education, not only the attainment of knowledge, but also the ability to think, to reason, and to comprehend, is right and is, in fact, the key to understanding ourselves.

It would seem, then, because of the very purpose which they profess, colleges and universities owe a special opportunity to those students with the capacity for fuller achievement in every field. Not only do they owe it to the student, but they owe it to the country and to themselves. The familiar hue and cry today is the need for more research scientists and engineers to help strengthen our military position, to develop some sort of interplanetary rocket or missile, to heighten our prestige among nations, and to cause a ruffling of feathers elsewhere. There is a growing need, too, for leaders in politics, economics, religion, and every other field today. Even the purely selfish motive of raising the academic standing of the University would seem to be reason enough

(Continued on Page 17)

VICTORY NUMBER THREE MEANS A HAPPY HOMECOMING

by BRADLEY N. TUFTS
Sports Information Director

ANYTHING can happen from one year to the next and Bob Odell's football team has proved to its foes this season that what happened last year is rooted in a long forgotten past.

On Saturday, October 17, the Bisons upset Rutgers for their third win in four starts, a tie for first place in the Middle Atlantic Conference and a second place rating in the competition for the Lambert Cup, an award given annually to the outstanding small college football team in the East.

BULLETS MISS MARK

The first indications of what was to come were given on Saturday night, September 19, when 6,500 fans in Hershey Stadium were treated to a show of offensive and defensive might in the 21-0 victory over a favored Gettysburg eleven.

Junior quarterback Paul Terhes of Milmont Park, wasted no time in showing that he can run as well as pass, going 71 yards on an option play for a touchdown on the first play of the game.

Visions of last year's "mud bowl" were still in the minds of Coach Bob Odell and the Bison players and one touchdown wasn't going to be enough. With Terhes leading the team and halfbacks Mickey Melberger and Ashton Ditka doing most of the running the Bisons marched 51 yards the first time they had the ball in the second half with Melberger slamming over for the touchdown from the one yard line.

The final score was registered in the opening minute of the fourth quarter when quarterback Rick Elliott went over from the one yard line. This followed a 91 yard march in which sophomore fullback Ken Twiford carried six times for 81 yards including a 60-yard scamper that set up the score.

HARVARD HARD FOUGHT

This was only the beginning and even the loss to Harvard was no disgrace. It was an extremely hard played game that could have gone either way and except for several Bucknell fumbles and a costly pass interception the outcome would have been in doubt until the final minute of play.

The Crimson scored early in the second quarter and then tallied less than two minutes later on a 77-yard run-back of an intercepted pass.

With four minutes remaining in the game Terhes connected on a nine-yard pass to Ditka for a touchdown, and then the Crimson scored the clincher with only 20 seconds remaining in the game. The hosts from the Ivy League knew they had been in a fight and although its offense was not as sharp as in other games, the Bucknell defense, led by Captain Larry Mathias, Tony Rinaldo and tackle Jim Brady, was outstanding.

LAMBERT CUP CHAMPIONS?

The University of Buffalo, undefeated in two games and the defending Lambert Cup champions, came to Lewisburg a week later for the Bisons' home opener. Bucknell took a 6-0 halftime lead on the strength of a second quarter touchdown by Ditka and then came storming out for two third quarter scores.

NOVEMBER 1959

Twiford scored on a 19-yard run three plays after the kickoff and then seven minutes later Terhes hit on a ten-yard pass to Melberger. It was a brilliant sunny afternoon and a perfect day for scoring and with the fourth quarter only a minute and 25 seconds old Terhes scored from the one yard line on an end sweep to make the score 26-0.

This proved to be the winning margin as the visitors, unable to make any headway on the ground, opened up a full scale aerial barrage, connecting on three long distance scoring passes.

If it had not been for several defensive lapses two of these scores would not have materialized and the closeness of the score did not indicate the true pattern of the game. The Bulls' vaunted running attack was held to only four yards in the second half, and their passing game didn't begin to click until the fourth quarter rally.

SCARLET STUNNED

A week later, 10,000 Homecoming fans watched one of the great Bucknell victories in recent years and one of the best football games played in these parts in many years.

Both teams remembered the one-sided 57-12 Rutgers victory in 1958 and for Rutgers this proved to be a fateful remembrance. The Scarlet Knights marched 74 yards in the first quarter to score and it looked for just a brief moment that they might be victory bound again.

This was not to be the case, however, as the Bison defense buckled down and an offensive drive begun late in the opening period ended in a seven yard touchdown pass from Terhes to sophomore halfback Bill Urch.

Later in the second period a fumbled pass from center gave Rutgers a first down on the Bison nine yard line and when Mathias intercepted a fourth down pass in the end zone halting the threat, the visitors got their first real inkling of the determination of this Bucknell team.

Still trailing by an 8-6 count, the Bisons moved steadily downfield and with a minute and ten seconds remaining in the half, sophomore end Ron Maslanik kicked a spectacular fourth down, 27-yard field goal to give the Bisons a 9-8 buck at intermission.

Three times in the second half the visitors threatened in Bison territory, but were never able to get a sustained drive going. Bucknell scored the clincher on a ten yard run by Terhes with 30 seconds remaining in the game and sent the deliriously happy Homecoming crowd off with fond memories and an indication that this was a new Bucknell team.

The Bisons are winning and one of the outstanding features of this year's team is the new two platoon system used by Odell. He substitutes an entire team approximately every seven and a half minutes enabling each unit to get as much rest as possible. It has really worked wonders.

SOCCER TEAMS SPARKLE

Looking for its first winning season since 1949 Bucknell's soccer team started the season off in spectacular fashion with an upset 2-1 victory over highly regarded Penn State. It was the first victory in history for the Bisons over the Nittany Lions. Results of the first five games showed Hank Peters' booters holding a 3-2 mark

(Continued on Page 17)

NEWS FROM THE BUCKNELL

Faculty

AS BUCKNELL began its 114th year 20 new faculty members have been added to the Bucknell campus family. The new appointments were made to fill the vacancies resulting from leaves of absence, retirements and resignations.

Mr. Maurie Hillson, previously associate professor of education at State University Teachers College in Cortland, N. Y., will join the Department of Education as associate professor. Mr. William Mendenhall who was an instructor at Bucknell in 1952 returns to the campus as an associate professor of mathematics. Bill received his bachelor of science degree from Bucknell in 1945 and later was awarded his master's degree in 1950. He acquired his doctor's at North Carolina State College where he taught mathematics this past year. Mr. Richard P. Nickelsen will serve as chairman of the departments of geography and geology. He attended Dartmouth College and Johns Hopkins University where he earned his Ph.D. Dr. William Porter will be teaching in the physics department having been an associate of physics at Yale University during the past year.

In addition to the three new associate professors there have been five new assistant professors appointed. Mr. John Braun will join the Department of Psychology. Mr. Braun received his Ph.D. from the University of California. Prior to his appointment to the chemical engineering department, Dr. Jahwah Chen was a research assistant at the University of Illinois. He studied at Taiwan College of Engineering in China and at the University of Illinois. Mr. Claude Perotin will be assistant professor of French. He is a graduate of the Sorbonne in Paris. He was recently a professor at the Lycee de Cannes. Mr. Douglas E. Sturm, who is executive secretary of Christian Action in New York City, will be new in the Department of Religion. Mr. Sturm attended Hiram College and the University of Chicago Divinity School.

New instructors for the present academic year include: Mrs. Nora Elze '48 of the physical education department who will also be part-time instructor of mathematics; Miss Maureen Lyon, who graduated from Springfield College will also teach physical education; Mr. Philip R. Kleitz, Mr. William E. Messenger, and Miss Marilyn Mumford are all new additions to the English department; Dr. Robert A. Neidorf who received his Ph.D. at Yale University will teach philosophy; Miss Patricia Paden will join the Department of Classics; Mr. Fred W. Prender, a graduate of West Chester State Teachers College joins the Department of Physical Education and is presently serving as backfield coach for the Bucknell football team; Mr. Booth B. Rhea joins the Department of Sociology.

Lecturers for the coming year are: Miss Madeline M. Dague of the Department of Biology. Miss Dague will be assigned to the Geisinger-Foss Clinic School of Nursing as part of Bucknell's program with that institution; David E. Horlacher will be lecturer in the Department of Economics and Business Administration and Miss Edna Hazen will be added to the staff of the Department of Education.

EIGHT FACULTY members have been granted leaves of absence for a full year. They are: George L. Hersey, assistant professor of art; Dr. Harry L. Jacobs, assistant professor of psychology; Dr. C. Herschel Jones, professor of political science; Robert M. Murphy, assistant professor of religion; Mr. Emil Polak, associate professor of astronomy; Harold I. Shapiro, instructor in English; George Theokritoff, instructor in geography and geology; and Philip M. Withim, instructor in English. Mr. John W. Tilton, an instructor in English is on leave of absence during the first semester.

Dr. Harold W. Miller, professor of Greek and Latin, and Dr. Roy C. Tasker, professor of biology have been granted sabbatical leaves of absence for the full academic year. Dr. Mildred A. Martin, professor of English and Charles F. Stickney, associate professor of physics, have been granted sabbatical leaves of absence for the second semester. Mr. Henry "Hank" N. Peters has been granted a sabbatical leave of absence from February 1960 to April 1960.

University

TWO NEWLY-CREATED administrative posts and two appointments to fill staff vacancies have been approved for the present academic year.

Dr. Allen E. Ivy has been appointed director of Bucknell University's counselling service. Dr. Ivy had been instructor in guidance and director of student activities at Boston University prior to joining the Bucknell staff in September. In June, Dr. Ivy received his doctor's degree from Harvard University where he specialized in counselling psychology and guidance. Graduated with honors from Stanford University in 1955, he was elected to three honorary societies, including Phi Beta Kappa. As director of the counselling service at Bucknell, Dr. Ivy will provide professional help for students who may need assistance in analyzing special personal, educational, or vocational problems. Dr. Ivy will also serve as lecturer in education.

MR. JOHN P. RODGERS, JR., has joined the Public Relations staff in the newly-created position of news editor. Before coming to Bucknell, Mr. Rodgers was employed in the public relations department of Link Aviation Inc., as assistant editor of news publications. At Bucknell he will be responsible for the preparation of news stories concerning all phases of Bucknell life except sports. A native of Baltimore Mr. Rodgers attended the University of Baltimore and was graduated with honors from Boston University's School of Public Relations and Communications.

MR. SPIROS JANNIDES has joined the Bucknell University administrative staff as assistant dean of men. Mr. Jannides fills the vacancy created by the resignation of Mr. John Carhart. A native of Corfu, Greece, Mr. Jannides was graduated in 1957 from the University of Wisconsin where he was a counsellor for men. He was awarded the degree of Master of Arts in political science by the University of Wisconsin in June.

AT THE FIRST faculty meeting of the fall term Guy Payne '09, was made a member of Bucknell's 25-year club "in recognition of 50 years of friendship between the University and its closest neighbor, 50 years of service to the University by this neighbor, and 50 years of charity and generosity to the University, the faculty, and the student body."

In extending this recognition to Mr. Payne, President Odgers said, "Guy Payne may not have been in any official capacity at Bucknell over the last half century, he may not have been on our payroll, but he has given 50 years of service to Bucknell and Bucknellians, and I am sure that every member of the faculty joins me in extending to him, through the presentation of this service pin, our heartfelt appreciation of our fullest recognition of what his years of service have contributed to his alma mater."

Also at the faculty meeting it was announced that Mr. and Mrs. Payne had given their property, the College Inn, to the University. Under the terms of the agreement between Mr. and Mrs. Payne, the Paynes will continue to have full responsibility for the operation of the Inn, including its restaurant and apartments. When they no longer desire to use the property it will then be turned over to the University. Decision as to the eventual disposition of the Inn will be made by Bucknell's trustees.

In giving the Inn to the University, Guy announced, "We have kept our long time promise to bequeath the College Inn to Bucknell. Thereby Bucknell's influence, in which we have the greatest respect, will be financed a little better and Bucknell will continue as the Salt of the Earth and a City set on a Hill, to give light to many dark places of the Earth."

President Odgers congratulates Guy Payne '09, as a member of Bucknell's 25-year Club.

BUCKNELL UNIVERSITY has received a grant of $105,000 from the Ford Foundation. It has no relation to the Dual Development Fund Campaign, but is another of the prestige builders that is important to the University's development. The grant will enable the University to undertake an important research program in cooperation with the local public schools.

CAMPUS FAMILY

As announced by Ford Foundation officials in New York, the grant to Bucknell reflects the foundation's interest in achieving a "breakthrough in teacher education" and is one of ten made by the foundation for that purpose. Under the terms of the grant, over a three-year period, Bucknell will engage in extensive projects in cooperation with teachers and administrators in nine school systems in four area counties to seek new and better methods of educating their pupils.

Designated as the Upper Susquehanna Valley Cooperative Research Program, the project has been aided in its exploratory stage by a preliminary and separate grant of $7,500 from the Fund for the Advancement of Education. Established by the Ford Foundation, its primary aims are to bring teachers up to date on subject matter, to improve their teaching methods and to experiment with new programs of teaching aids. It will encourage and assist school personnel to identify, study, and solve their own education problems.

A series of experiments and demonstrations to improve curriculum and methods will be an important part of the project. It will include development of a science program in 63 elementary classes in participating schools, the use of physics and chemistry in nine high schools, team teaching in biology and the creation of a seminar for gifted high school students.

Dr. J. Charles Jones '42, chairman of the Department of Education, and Dr. Wendell I. Smith '46, head of the Department of Psychology, will direct the program serving as chairman and co-chairman respectively. Dr. John W. Moore, a former graduate assistant in education administration at Pennsylvania State University, has been appointed associate director. Mr. Richard F. Waechter MS '53, former principal of the Milton area joint schools, and Miss Josephine A. Ruff '59 will serve the program as elementary school science consultants.

A RECORD-BREAKING group of 682 freshmen arrived on the Bucknell campus for the start of the fall term. The previous high for freshman enrollment was set several years ago when 652 students were admitted.

The new students represent 17 states of the Union as well as four foreign countries. The largest percentage come from Pennsylvania, New York, and New Jersey, with Maryland, Connecticut, Ohio, and Massachusetts next in represented numbers. China, Brazil, Arabia and Venezuela are the four foreign countries sending freshmen this year.

The Bucknell Class of 1963 consists of 442 men and 240 women. The total enrollment in all classes this year amounts to 2,264 students. There are 1,454 men and 810 women.

AS PART of a project to make additions and improvements in residential space for men, West College, erected in 1900, has now been completely remodeled.

Some of the features of the newly decorated building are: built-in beds to accommodate the freshmen and counsellors, maple desks and closets, individually decorated rooms in such pastel shades as beige, yellow and blue, a modern and centrally located head resident's suite, a large lounge and recreation room on the ground floor, and fire-proof stair towers at each end of the building.

The remodeling of West College and eventually Old Main and East College plus the completion of Vaughan Literature by addition of a wing to be used as an administration center is one of five projects undertaken by the Bucknell Dual Development Fund Campaign.

IN ADDITION to the renovation of West College, improvements were also made in other residence halls throughout the University. These included 7th St. House, Walker St. House, Owens House, French House, Larison Hall and Bucknell Cottage. The improvements ranged from fire safety measures, such as the installation of emergency lights and exit lights to the renovation of one wing of Larison Hall and the building of a brick corridor to connect the Hall with Bucknell Cottage on all floors.

The stadium locker rooms destroyed by fire last spring, have been completely restored and enlarged. They are now heated through the University's Central Heating System, and new electrical transformers have been installed to replace those destroyed in the fire. Another stadium improvement was the replacing of another section of seats and the treating of the cement base to assure durability and long service.

Changes in the main buildings on the campus included: building of additional office space in both the Engineering Building and Vaughan Literature Building; the enlarging of the University Bookstore and four offices in the Carnegie Building, the completion of a meditation room in Bertrand Library, and the relocation of the Rivoir Audio-oral Laboratory with its 30 sound-absorbent booths and completely re-equipped with a complete communications system, including built-in tape recorders, microphones, and earphones.

Work on the addition to the Olin Science Building is moving along on schedule and is due to be completed on or about November 1.

AT THE BIENNIAL CONVENTION of the American Association of University Women in Kansas City this past June, the delegates voted to change their long standing policies and to admit to membership all women who are graduated from colleges approved by AAUW. This means that all Bucknell alumnae are now eligible for AAUW membership. Previously, only those Bucknell women who were graduated with A.B. degrees or with B.S. degrees in biology, chemistry, physics or education were eligible to become members. Miss Mary Jane Stevenson, Dean of Women at Bucknell and representative to AAUW, reports an intention of the AAUW to maintain a close and cooperative relationship with each of its approved colleges in an effort to "emphasize the need for liberal content and balance."

DURING THE PAST summer Bucknell was host to six summer conferences. They included: the Middle Atlantic Placement Officers Association Workshop, the Pennsylvania Banker's Association Trust Training School, the Pennsylvania Department of Child Welfare and Mental Health, the Pennsylvania Baptist Laboratory School, the Pennsylvania Banker's Association Summer School, and the Baptist Laymen's Conference.

Dr. Odgers stands before the magnificent main building of the University of Moscow during his European trip this summer.

DURING THE PAST SUMMER, President and Mrs. Odgers enjoyed a five-week European trip that took them behind the Iron Curtain. In the above picture, President Odgers stands before the main building of the University of Moscow.

The building pictured is one of only several buildings at the University. It was erected in the early 1950's at a fabulous cost and it is, perhaps, the largest educational structure in the world. It is the tallest building in Europe and has the highest tower in Europe except the Eiffel Tower.

The main building is for the pure sciences. Engineering or medicine are not offered in the main building nor for that matter anywhere in the University. Engineering and medicine are offered in separate institutions. The building contains among other things 6,000 to 7,000 bedrooms (single) for students, approximately 180 apartments for faculty families, 850 laboratories, a large swimming pool, club rooms, an auditorium for 1500, etc.

Although the President did not see specific figures in print, he was told by Russians that Russian University professors have an average salary of 4,000 rubles per month, which is roughly equivalent to $160 to $1000 depending upon the rate of exchange. Some outstanding professors receive a salary about three times this figure. The average salary of 4000 rubles per month, at the tourist rate of exchange, 10 rubles to the dollar, would be $400 per month.

Faculty members are appointed or "elected" for five years. At the end of five years, the competency of the faculty member is reviewed before reappointment. There is no such thing as permanent tenure.

There is no control of curriculum by the faculty or the administration. Curriculum appears to be identical or almost identical in the 30-odd universities in the USSR. Curriculum and many other matters have a central control in the ministry of higher education.

A few students from the United States were registered at the University of Moscow last year, probably for the first time.

RETIRING . . .

Together they have devoted eighty-nine years of service to their Alma Mater

Two familiar figures were missing from the Bucknell classrooms as fall classes got under way. They were Dr. John W. Rice, professor of bacteriology, and William H. Schuyler, assistant professor of visual education, who retired at the end of the 1958-59 college year. Both dedicated and devoted teachers, they have given the best of themselves to their students, colleagues, and their Alma Mater for a total of eighty-nine years.

John W. Rice

Dr. Rice, a graduate of Bucknell with the Class of 1914, began his teaching career in 1914 as an instructor in physics in the old Bucknell Academy and two years later began teaching biology in the college. In 1915 he received his Master of Science degree from his Alma Mater and in 1918 Columbia University awarded him his Master of Arts. He earned his doctorate from Columbia in 1922.

Except for short intervals at Hazleton High School, Yale Army Laboratory School, and Columbia, Dr. Rice served Bucknell University for 45 years. From 1924 until his retirement he was professor of bacteriology and for 17 years head of the Department of Biology.

Dr. Rice has published numerous books and articles, has served in many municipal, county and state posts during his Bucknell career and was instrumental in establishing the University's Health Service in 1925.

Although retired from active teaching, Dr. Rice is continuing as director of the University's Health Service and as consulting bacteriologist to the Geisinger Memorial Hospital and Foss Clinic, a position he has held since 1916.

Mr. Schuyler, a graduate with the Class of 1915, began his Bucknell teaching career as an instructor in chemistry in 1915. Most of his 44-year career has been spent in the chemistry and chemical engineering departments, including 27 years as assistant professor of chemical engineering. When the Bucknell Junior College (now Wilkes College) was established at Wilkes-Barre in 1933, he was made head of the chemistry department at that institution and served in that post for 10 years.

William H. Schuyler

In 1921 Mr. Schuyler was awarded a duPont Fellowship in chemistry and studied for two years at the University of Virginia. He earned his Master of Science degree in 1923 and later studied for his doctorate at both the University of Virginia and Columbia University.

A member of many professional organizations and author of several publications, Mr. Schuyler's special interest has been in photography. In addition to teaching the University's courses

EDITOR'S NOTE: Literally thousands of Bucknellians have learned their chemistry, photography, biology and bacteriology in the classes taught by these two great Bucknell teachers. To replace them has been a difficult assignment. But that task is somewhat lightened by the confidence that the Dual Development Campaign, designed in part to provide additional endowment for improvement of faculty salaries, will reach its goal in 1960.

Many alumni will recall traits of these teachers in the following tribute to great teachers written by Dr. J. Orin Oliphant, Chairman, Department of History at Bucknell.

TEACHERS THAT I HAVE NEVER FORGOTTEN

In the Beginning

My mother, who taught me to read before I entered school.

In the Grades

My first-grade teacher, but only because she was my first teacher in school.

In High School

A teacher of mathematics who taught me to believe that the subject that he was teaching can be as fascinating as it is important.

A teacher of Latin who taught me to believe that no other subject could be more fascinating, or more important, than the one that she was teaching.

In College

A professor who twisted my ears because I believed too much of what I heard or read.

A professor who taught me to believe that an effective teacher is constantly studying and is not restricting his reading to the subject that he is paid to teach.

Two professors who taught me, each of them in his own way, to believe that history is a subject as interesting and as important as either Latin or mathematics.

Two professors who frightened me into believing that slovenly expression is an abomination in the sight of God.

In Graduate School

A professor who taught me to believe that a good teacher organizes effectively the material that he intends to present to his students.

A professor who made me feel like an ignoramus by talking to me as if he thought that I knew many things that I had never heard of.

A professor who taught me to have slight respect for translations and to verify all my quotations.

Two professors who taught me to believe that superficiality is not the hallmark of an educated person.

Extracurricular

A librarian who opened his treasure room to me and who, through many years, made me envious of his knowledge of books.

Two professors, one an American and the other an Englishman, whose lectures in course I never attended, but whose writings, redolent with wisdom and felicitous in style, have been for me enduring inspiration.

J. ORIN OLIPHANT, Chairman
Department of History in photography, Mr. Schuyler has been especially active in the development of the Sunbury Camera Club of which he is past president.

In closing it can be said of Dr. Rice and Professor Schuyler that competence and enthusiasm for their subjects were their trademarks as teachers. Their lives and careers have been filled to the brim, and the work behind them is work well done. The life of greater leisure ahead has been most deservedly earned, and the Bucknell family, both past and present, wish both gentlemen many years of happy retirement.

RECEPTIONS DOMINATE CLUB ACTIVITY

LATE SUMMER picnics, freshman receptions, and round-ups at away football games in fifteen different club areas since June 30, 1959, forecast a record year of club activity in Bucknell's sixty-eight club areas. Freshman receptions have thus far been the most popular club activity with eleven clubs holding receptions. From a record-breaking entering class of 682 freshmen approximately two-thirds of the class members attended receptions or received letters of welcome from club presidents. The following is a brief review of club meetings to November 1, 1959.

BALTIMORE—A total of 16 entering freshmen from the Baltimore area received invitations to a reception held at the Eastpoint Shopping Center on Sunday, September 13. President Ann Mussina '32 expressed the feelings of all alumni present as she wished the freshmen good luck in the next four years and welcomed the parents of the entering students into the Bucknell family. A total of 56 alumni, undergraduates, freshmen, and parents attended.

BOSTON—October 3, was "Bucknell Time in Ole Bean Town" as Bucknellians and friends gathered at the Hotel Beaconsfield for the second Bison Roundup of the season following the Harvard game. Honored guests attending the dinner included Dr. and Mrs. Merle M. Odgers and Alumni Secretary John H. "Buck" Shott and his wife.

HARRISBURG—A record three meetings have been held by the Harrisburg club to date. A picnic for 15 freshmen and their parents was held on September 10, when 59 club members and friends joined to welcome the entering students. Dr. Malcom E. Musser, associate in admissions, Diane Bowles '62, and Herbert Hoffman '61, combined their experiences to introduce the freshmen to the "Bucknell Way-of-Life."

A second meeting, the first Bison Roundup of the football season, on Saturday evening, September 26, was held at the Cocoa Inn in Hershey prior to the Gettysburg game. Alumni from all parts of Pennsylvania and the East, as well as many campus officials, were present.

The club held its first monthly dinner of the school year on October 2, when The Honorable Nolan F. Ziegler '32, mayor of Harrisburg, was the guest speaker.

JOHNSTOWN—The Bucknell Alumni Club of Johnstown had a very successful picnic reception for freshmen on September 8. Two freshman girls and their parents attended the event along with more than 20 alumni and guests. President Norman S. Slick '49, welcomed the freshmen and their parents into the growing family of over 18,000 living Bucknellians. Vice President Dr. William Davison '48, discussed the next meeting of the club to be held at Green Gables near Jennerstown during spring vacation.

KANSAS CITY—Reaching back into our record of club meetings we note an informal meeting of 14 loyal Bucknellians, wives, and husbands at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Herbert A. Wenner '33, in far off Merriam, Kansas, on June 23. Mary Jane Stevenson, Dean of Women at Bucknell, was an honored guest.

LEHIGH VALLEY—Football games on successive weekends in Easton and Bethlehem gave rise to Bison Roundups numbers 3 and 4 sponsored by the Bucknell Alumni Club of Lehigh Valley. On October 24 a coffee hour after the game at the College Inn on the Lafayette campus gave alumni a chance to meet friends and discuss the game. A luncheon on October 31 before the game at the Plaza Restaurant in Bethlehem attracted many Bison rooters. President Harry H. Angel '19, was chairman for both events.

LONG ISLAND—More than 250 persons attended the 10th annual freshman reception sponsored by the Long Island Club on September 14, at East Williston, N. Y. Forty-five entering students and their parents were present out of a total sixty-five men and women entering Bucknell this year from the Long Island Club area.

Dr. C. Willard Smith, Chairman of the Department of English at Bucknell, was the guest speaker, and he made a tremendous hit with his audience as he injected humorous comments about Russia's moon rocket, referred to the "older generation," and read selected readings of appropriate poetry.

Another part of the program centered around panels composed of undergraduate men and women. D. Eugene Long '29, and Ruth Rohr Liming '34, were chairmen for the men's and women's panels respectively.

President William S. Liming '33, presided and announced the winner of the annual Christy Mathewson Award as Robert Edwards of Seaford High School. Richard H. Klemm '53, Chairman of the Scholarship Committee, presented a $100 scholarship to incoming freshman Leo V. Kanawada of Hicksville, N. Y.

In a short business meeting the following officers were elected for the ensuing year: Leonard S. Von-Heill '52, president; Richard H. Klemm '53, vice president; Jerry P. Olds '52, director; and William E. Moir '33, director. Officers re-elected are: Barbara Josenhans '56, secretary; Michael Harris '50, treasurer; Carol Bates '57, director; and John F. Nothel '49, director.

MICHIGAN-TOLEDO—A Bucknell cheering section was on hand to see the Michigan-Wisconsin football game in Ann Arbor on October 31. Bruce Scott '51, president, and Evan Thomas '31, reservation chairman, report continuing success in this annual club activity.

MONMOUTH-OCEAN—A reception for incoming freshmen was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Billings '47, on September 13. Over thirty freshmen, parents, alumni and guests attended the reception. President Isadore Zlotkin '34, welcomed the freshmen and their parents into the Bucknell family and invited the parents to take an active part in the club's activities. Alumni Secretary John H. Shott '22 was an honored guest.

NORTHERN NEW JERSEY—Off to a fine start, the Bucknell Alumni Club of Northern New Jersey reports three highly successful meetings, the first being the annual club picnic on August 25, at Laguna Beach.

The second meeting, a freshman reception on September 13, at the First Baptist Church in Montclair, proved to be the most successful freshman reception ever held in Northern New Jersey. A total of 235 persons attended with 95% of the entering freshman class present. Student panels served to acquaint the freshmen with the "do's" and "don'ts" while at Bucknell as well as to answer questions of alumni, parents, and freshmen.

(Continued on Page 17)

SUMMARY OF GIFTS TO THE UNIVERSITY FOR THE YEAR ENDING JUNE 30, 1959

	ALUMNI FUND		CAPITAL AND OTHER GIFTS		TOTAL GIFTS
	Number Giving	Amount Given	Number Giving	Amount Given	Number Giving	Amount Given
Alumni	5,189	$57,850.35	*	$ 80,798.66	5,128	$ 138,649.01
Bison Club			349	7,502.25	349	7,502.25
TOTAL ALUMNI GIVING ...	5,189	$57,850.35	349	$ 88,300.91	5,477	$ 146,151.26
Parents			329	4,531.86	329	4,531.86
Friends	11	245.50	80	127,084.02	91	127,329.52
Faculty	43	450.00	9	991.00	52	1,441.00
Corporations			38	55,984.99	38	55,984.99
Foundations			26	1,808,494.68	26	1,808,494.68
	5,243	$58,545.85	831	$2,085,387.46	6,013	$2,143,933.31
Less duplication of credits due to contributions of Bucknellians of Faculty being listed under "Alumni" and "Faculty."	38	450.00	4	514.00	42	964.00
TOTAL GIFTS	5,205	$58,095.85	827	$2,084,873.46	5,971	$2,142,969.31

* These donors are included in Column 1 "Alumni Fund—Number Giving."
The number of contributors to the Alumni Fund is 4,747.

GIFTS — ACCORDING TO PURPOSE:

Bucknell Engineers	$ 1,648.00
Christian Association (Cowan Lodge)	2,398.00
Doctors for Bucknell	1,457.50
Endowment Funds	386,747.15
Fathers' Association	4,531.86
Coleman Hall	1,455,712.51
Scholarship Gifts	23,451.87
Gifts for Current Use	126,427.97
Bison Club	7,502.25
Other Restricted Gifts	58,484.98
Dual Development (Unassigned)	74,607.22
Total Gifts	$2,142,969.31

BUCKNELL DUAL DEVELOPMENT FUND

Primer on the Campaign

What and Why of the Dual Development Fund

EDITOR'S NOTE: Recent issues of THE BUCKNELL ALUMNUS have carried stories and pictures of the plans of the Dual Development Campaign. We have now reached the point where alumni should know in a specific way the basic needs and reasons for the campaign.

At the kickoff meeting for special gifts in Philadelphia recently, Ken Slifer '26, co-chairman of the Dual Development Campaign, stated these plans and reasons so clearly that we have asked his permission to reprint them in THE BUCKNELL ALUMNUS. Here, in eleven short paragraphs, is what Ken said:

"We deeply appreciate your presence here today and your willingness to help Bucknell. I suspect some of you may be a bit hazy on just why you are here. My guess is that you have three basic questions in your minds:

1. What is the Dual Development Fund?
2. Why are we having such a campaign?
3. Why are we having it now?

"I'd like to answer those questions as clearly and concisely as I can.

1. Dual Development is Bucknell's first capital funds campaign in twelve years. (Some colleges run 'em end to end.) It's called "Dual" because it is almost evenly divided between endowment for faculty salaries and buildings—or between "brains and bricks," as one irreverent advertising man prefers to say. The goal is $1,850,000.
2. We're having this campaign because Bucknell's friends and benefactors have put us in the very pleasant position where we can't afford not to have it!

"Buck" Shott '22, Alumni Secretary, indicates to Mr. Lee Dixon, new Campaign Director, Mr. Raymond K. Irwin '44 of the Placement Office and director of the local area campaign, and Dr. Wesley N. Haines, Director of Development, the rocket's thrust has reached the halfway point on its climb to the $1,850,000 goal.

3. We're having it now because there are time limits involved that make it necessary as well as desirable.

"When the Olin Foundation gave us Coleman Hall, the biggest single gift Bucknell ever received, they put us under a heavy moral obligation to complete Vaughan Literature Building (which faces Coleman) to match it. In fact, we promised to do just that. When the missing wing is added to Vaughan, it will become the Administration Center and we can convert Old Main and East College entirely to men's dormitories. This means about 100 more rooms for men who must now live in town, and more revenue for the University. In addition, the Kresge Foundation has promised the last $25,000 of the cost of this needed new wing. So, you can see, there are a lot of reasons why we must build it.

"Again when the Kress Foundation (don't confuse Kress and Kresge) offered us a million dollars for endowment, they promised to pay $100,000 for every $400,000 we raised or received ourselves. Thanks to the continuing generosity of many people, we have already claimed five such units (and added $2,500,000 to Bucknell's endowment). But there's still just as much more waiting to be claimed and the offer expires in 1961. We've got to hustle.

"Moreover, that money is dedicated to endowment for faculty salaries. Bucknell has doubled maximum faculty salaries in the past five years and made it much easier for the Dean to hire and keep good teachers. Our salary schedule is at least average or better than the national average for all colleges and higher than some of our neighbors. But the margin isn't much and we're not content to have Bucknell "average" in any way. We want to keep on improving the faculty—and our endowment per student is still uncomfortably low.

"Again, the Lindback Foundation offer of $125,000, to be matched by us for the endowment of a chair in Business Administration, is another urgent challenge. Endowed professorships are an important and appealing part of the job involved in building a superior faculty. We hope there'll be more.

"As I said, our $1,850,000 goal is to be almost evenly divided between brains and bricks. It is evenly divided in campaign phases, too. Right now, we're about at the halfway mark with $925,000 in advance gifts, largely from trustees and foundations. It is up to alumni and parents to finish the job. (Incidentally, I belong in both groups!)

"Why parents? This is the first time Bucknell has included parents in such a campaign. We're doing it because many of them have shown encouraging interest and other colleges have cultivated parents successfully for years. Long ago, colleges had royalty and the church as patrons. State institutions still look to legislatures for much of their money. But independent colleges like Bucknell can count only on their own constituency, of which parents are an important part.

"That's something to remember. The tougher half of our job is ahead. We can do it—but not with the $5, $10, $25 annual gifts we normally make to the Alumni Fund or the Parents' Association. Our Dual Development goal requires substantial pledges over a three-year period, off the top of our incomes where Uncle Sam pays a large percentage.

"There's another basic, memorable fact. Our last campaign, twelve years ago, triggered a lot of other large gifts and really launched Bucknell's recent, rapid expansion. Foundations and philanthropists carefully watch what a college constituency does on its own. They like to help the college that helps itself.

At the September 30 Special Gifts Meeting in Philadelphia, President Odgers had the opportunity of speaking with (left) Mr. Walter H. Lenhard and Mr. William G. Seeburger. Mr. Lenhard is a parent of Lois Lenhard '60, and Mr. Seeburger is a parent of William Seeburger '62.

Plans for alumni and parent solicitation in the Philadelphia area are discussed among (left to right) Mr. Romain C. Hassrick '06, Alumni Special Gifts Chairman in Philadelphia; Dr. Odgers; and Mr. W. Wallace Orr, Parents Special Gifts Chairman in Philadelphia. Mr. Orr's daughter, Cynthia, is a member of the Class of 1960.

(Left to Right) Miss Sarah E. Eisley '60, niece of the Director of Public Relations, David K. Slifer '60 and Robert G. Schad '61, sons of the General Co-chairmen of the Dual Development Fund, will serve as student chairmen for the campaign to be conducted on the campus.

"You'll find the specific purposes of this Dual Development Fund carefully detailed in the campaign literature. But all the results can't be predicted. We can be sure, however, that the campaign will be an enormous boost to Bucknell in many unforeseeable ways—with pleasant by-products rolling in for years to come."

Where Are We Now?

At time of publication, the campaign has passed the halfway mark and has reached $927,321.93 toward the $1,850,000 goal.

What Are Sources of Gifts Thus Far?

We have received 25 separate gifts from 15 Foundations (corporate and individual)—$659,221.47.

Seven Corporations, not disbursing through a foundation, have made 8 gifts—$12,369.00.

Individuals have made 98 separate gifts—$248,999.46.

What Is the Range of Gifts?

Denominations of gifts thus far range as follows:

Number	Amount
1	$200,000.00
1	125,000.00
2	100,000.00
2	50,000-75,000
2	25,000.00
1	20,000.00
6	10,000-20,000
11	5,000-10,000
6	2,500- 5,000
14	1,000- 2,500
10	500- 1,000
75	up to 500

131 Gifts

Where Do We Go From Here?

On to the $1,850,000 victory to meet immediate endowment and building needs by:

Special Gift campaigns in selected areas during the remainder of 1959.

General Solicitation in November and December on the campus and in the local area (Lewisburg and Union County, Williamsport, Sunbury, Milton, Danville).

General Solicitation throughout the rest of the alumni body in the opening months of 1960.

What Amounts Are Needed for Success?

One or more large gifts—$300,000.

“Founder”	Share—$10,000	} Special Gift Range—$400,000 and over
“Patron”	Share— 1,000-9,999
“Builder”	Share— 750- 999
“Leadership”	Share— 450- 749	} —$200,000
“Sustaining”	Share— 300- 449
“Progress”	Share— 151- 299
“Basic Loyalty”	Share— 150-
	(over 3-year pledge period)

* Note to Alumni in companies with matching-gift programs:

An increasing number of companies and corporations will match an alumnus' gift to his Alma Mater. We know of some 60 plans of this kind. If your company has such a plan, your gift to the Dual Development Fund Campaign will be doubled. Maybe other companies without a formalized plan may be willing to match your gift if you ask them.

DUAL DEVELOPMENT FUND 1959

BUCKNELL UNIVERSITY, LEWISBURG, PENNSYLVANIA

Honorary Chairmen
Ellen Clarke Bertrand
Rush H. Kress '00
Robert L. Rooke '13
Andrew J. Sordani

Advisory Committee
Charles E. Wilson, Chairman
Detlev W. Brunk, Vice-Chairman

General Co-Chairmen
Harry G. Schod
Kenneth W. Slater '26

Initial Gifts
Horace A. Hildreth, Chairman

Special Gifts
R. H. Coleman '29, Chairman

Corporate Gifts
Paul L. Troast, Chairman

Alumni
Andrew R. Mathieson '20, Chairman

Parents Committee
Paul S. Killian, Co-Chairman
Paul G. Wehle, Co-Chairman

Evaluation
Berkeley V. Hastings '13, Chairman

Public Relations
Donald H. Sholl '42, Chairman
Jack Bozarth '50, Vice-Chairman

Treasurer
A. G. Freas

Chairman, Board of Trustees
William R. White '26

Faculty Representative
Professor John S. Gold '18

Fellow Alumni:

YOUR UNIVERSITY NEEDS YOUR HELP. Bucknell University as an eastern, medium-sized, co-educational institution is considered tops. Bucknell, like all of the smaller endowed colleges, must have financial assistance in order to maintain its high standards, keep apace with progress being made by other educational institutions, and contribute an excellence in education to the youth and world of tomorrow. The Board of Trustees are interested, as a matter of policy, in making Bucknell University better, not bigger.

You who have not been on the campus for the past five years cannot appreciate the great strides Bucknell has made. Thanks to several of our trustees and the Olin and Ford and other Foundations, it was possible in recent years to grant long-delayed increases in the compensation of the faculty and provide new facilities on the campus. The Ellen Clarke Bertrand Library, the F. W. Olin Science Building, Coleman Hall, Swartz Hall, the Freas-Rooke Swimming Pool and the John Houghton Harris Dining Hall have been built and furnished in recent years through the generosity of these friends of Bucknell.

Not since the campaign for funds for the new heating plant some twelve years ago, have the Alumni been called upon to contribute more than their regular gifts through the Annual-Giving Program. The time is now at hand when it becomes necessary for the Administration and the Trustees to call upon you for your generous support. Bucknell's endowment must now be increased and residential facilities improved.

Your Board of Trustees is interested in having your Alma Mater do the best possible job for your children and grandchildren and all other present and future Bucknellians by providing faculty, facilities and staff necessary for their education, training and development to the end that they may become mature and responsible members of society.

To you who read this plea, it is our sincere hope that you will respond wholeheartedly, when called upon and asked by a fellow Bucknellian, by giving of your means and your time in this DUAL DEVELOPMENT CAMPAIGN so that Bucknell can meet its purpose.

In order that we may have continuity with respect to annual contributions to the Alumni Fund, you will be listed as a contributor in each of the years during which your pledges toward the DUAL DEVELOPMENT FUND are paid.

Your cooperation is appreciated, and thanks a lot from both of us.

Yours for a Better Bucknell,
ANDREW R. MATHIESON '20,
Alumni Chairman, Dual Development Fund
THELMA J. SHOWALTER '29,
Alumnae Chairman, Dual Development Fund

MEMBERS OF ADVISORY COMMITTEE: Clifford J. Bockstrand, Thomas T. Baldrige '95, Joseph S. Clark, William H. Coleman, John A. Diemand, Ivar D. Fenton, M.O. '08, Frederick V. Follmer '06, Walter O. Fuller, Robert E. Harvey, M. O. Hooven '20, Emily Devine Kelly '21, Or. Thomas J. Killian, C. J. Kushell, Jr. '27, George R. Lamade, Or. Robert J. McCracken, Mrs. Christy Mathewson, Vice-Admiral Earle W. Mills, USN (Ret.), H. W. Prentiss, Jr., Homer P. Rainey, Ooytan L. Ronck '16, Hugh Scott, Richard M. Simpson, R. G. Tugwell, J. Regis Walthour, M. R. Worden, General Thomas D. White, USAF.

* For faculty endowment
* For buildings

POLITICS

(Continued from Page 3)

At the first general session of the conference in the University Theatre, Paul L. Troast, well-known engineer and Bucknell Trustee, served as chairman and introduced J. J. Wuerthner, Jr., Community and Business Relations Consultant of the General Electric Company. Mr. Wuerthner served as analyst for a panel of distinguished business and political leaders in a discussion of the principal legal and practical boundaries of political action. Those serving on the panel included: William H. Baumer, Assistant to the Chairman of Johnson & Johnson; George I. Bloom, Chairman of the Republican State Committee of Pennsylvania; G. Edward Janosik, Associate Professor of Political Science, University of Pennsylvania; John A. Seeton, Secretary, Pennsylvania Manufacturers' Association; Thelma J. Showalter '29, Chairman, Union County Commissioners, and Charles Kothe '34, Vice President for Industrial Relations, National Association of Manufacturers.

Dr. Horace A. Hildreth, former Governor of Maine and United States Ambassador to Pakistan, past president and now a trustee of the University, served as conference chairman. Dr. Frank C. Abbott, assistant dean of the University served as conference coordinator.

STUDENTS

(Continued from Page 6)

to establish such a program.

It has been too long since the superior student has been challenged to his fullest capacity. Heretofore, most of a professor's free time went to the student who found himself in academic difficulty. Too much time can never be devoted to this student, for he will always be with us, and there must always be the professor who is willing to spend extra time with him. Otherwise, many who are floundering would sink when an outstretched hand could have pulled him to safety. The others, however, must not be left treading water when they are able and anxious to move on.

It is the hope of students, faculty, and administration alike that the academic Honors Program will accentuate the academic concerns of the University; that it will act as a leaven to raise both faculty and students to a greater intellectual achievement. If we all believe in it, it can be an extremely effective system. I think the establishment and success of this program will be a landmark in the academic history of Bucknell.

VICTORY

(Continued from Page 7)

and victories over State, Lycoming and Wilkes.

Sophomore center forward, Lyman Ott, is the team's leading scorer at the midway mark in the season and fine defensive play has been turned in by Co-Captain Steve Flamhaft, fullback Roger Mackey and goalie Howie Levine.

For the first time in history Bucknell is being represented by a freshman soccer team. The yearling booters, coached by Bill Gold, won their first game, 4-3, against the Penn State frosh.

FRESHMAN FOOTBALL

Every year considerable attention is given the freshman football team with always an eye to the future. With ten senior linemen on the 1959 varsity, special attention is focused on the outstanding frosh line that averages 209 pounds from end to end.

NOVEMBER 1959

In their opening game against the Gettysburg frosh, Coach Bob Latour's Baby Bisons came from behind for a thrilling 13-7 victory on second half touchdowns by halfbacks Wes Irvine and Bob Theiss.

RECEPTIONS

(Continued from Page 11)

A fall dinner meeting on October 2, at Friar Tuck Inn resulted in an extremely interesting and entertaining evening for all present. Guest speaker for the evening, Kenneth W. Slifer '26, Bucknell trustee, spoke about his recent trip through Europe.

Club members are reminded to circle the date of February 19, 1960, now as Bucknellians in Northern New Jersey will celebrate Bucknell's birthday with a dinner on that evening.

PHILADELPHIA—The annual "Splash Party" in honor of incoming freshmen from the Philadelphia area was held August 31, at the Eastern Baptist Theological Seminary with 150 alumni, freshmen, parents, undergraduates, and guests attending.

Speakers at the meeting included Wallace W. Orr, parent of Cynthia Jane Orr, a senior at Bucknell, and John H. Shott '22, Alumni Secretary. Craig Hall '51, led the assembly in a medley of Bucknell songs.

Panel discussions by undergraduate men and women were led by Mrs. Daniel F. Griffith (Helen Morgan '37) and Mr. Robert W. Dill '27.

PITTSBURGH—Separate receptions for incoming freshman men and women were inaugurated by the Bucknell Alumni Club of Pittsburgh for the first time this year with marked success. A tea for freshman girls and their mothers was held at the Longue Vue Country Club on August 27. The mothers and the alumnae visited while the undergraduates and freshman girls talked and became acquainted. A smoker for freshman men and their fathers was held on September 4 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Mathieson '20.

Alumni and undergraduates met at the farm of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Davies '26, on August 30, for the club picnic. The attendance, food, program, and recreational facilities combined to make this annual affair one of the most enjoyable events of the year.

UNION COUNTY—The first freshman reception and alumni picnic ever to be held by the Union County Club on August 19, at the Conference Center at Cowan was a grand success and promises to be an annual affair. Following a catered picnic lunch freshmen and their parents heard undergraduates discuss life at Bucknell and were introduced to Alumni Secretary, John H. Shott '22, and Assistant Alumni Secretary, Bruce Rossiter '56, by Jere Bates '15, club president.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—A freshman reception and short business meeting was held on September 13 in Washington, D. C. Walter Held '43, outgoing president of the club, congratulated the entering freshmen on their choice of an Alma Mater, and urged the parents to take an active interest in the club program. New officers elected for the coming year include: George Wilson '49, president; Rick Chiriaco '49, vice president; and Jean White '50, secretary. G. Alain Vitray '47, treasurer, was re-elected for another term.

YORK—The cottage of Mr. and Mrs. Marlyn Etzweiler located along the beautiful Susquehanna River was the scene of the annual Bucknell Alumni Club of York picnic on July 18.

CLASS REPORTS

EMERITUS CLUB

MISS MARY COTTON
Eldred, Pa.

In June, Lycoming College conferred the honorary degree of Doctor of Law on Frederick V. Follmer '06, of Milton, judge of the Middle District of the United States Court.

The Rev. James McLean Paterson of the Class of 1892 who was born in Scotland on February 16, 1863, now lives in Wilmington, Delaware. With the help of a cane he can still get downstairs for his breakfast. He still counts as a great event in his life a visit to his homeland in Glasgow, Scotland, in June 1924 to the World Sunday School Convention. Two of The Rev. Paterson's children attended Bucknell. They are Mrs. C. A. Cerad (Elizabeth McLean Paterson '19) and Donald Clark Paterson '31. Congratulations to all the Patersons.

02 MR. ALAN C. CUNNINGHAM
Charles C. Knox Home
Wynnewood, Pa.

One of the most active members of our class passed away on August 21. Mary Unger McCracken lived in Manhattan, Kansas, where her daughter Elizabeth '29 teaches in the University of Kansas. The sympathy of the living members is extended to Elizabeth and all living members of the family.

At the reunion in June, there were not as many of the Class of 1902 as we usually have. The three were Charles I. Boyer, Dr. Lamar Williams and the writer. For the first time in many years, our class president, Dr. Lewis E. Theiss, was unable to be with us. We were well taken care of by Charles Boyer who was with us to drive us to meetings and help us on every occasion possible. On Sunday after church he and Mrs. Boyer took us to dinner, and in the afternoon entertained us in their delightful home.

05 DR. LEWIS C. HYLBERT
435 Drake Ave.
Upland, Calif.

REUNE IN JUNE—1960

August 21, 1959, John B. and Kae Smiley, 2000 Connecticut Avenue, N. W., Washington 8, D. C., arrived in Lewisburg to arrange for the 55th 1905 luncheon celebration on June 4, 1960, at the air conditioned Lewisburg Inn.

John and Kae came all the way from Washington to make final arrangements—temperature 90 degrees in the shade! Write him at once that you will be present June 4, 1960.

John and Kae just returned from their annual European trip. All was delightful except in Wales where Kae was ill—pneumonia.

John donned a beard to help Titusville (John's home town) celebrate the hundredth anniversary of the discovery of oil.

John is in charge of our 1905 55th reunion and wishes to hear from each one of you that you will be present. Everyone on the band wagon and help celebrate! Write him today!

18

JOHN B. SMILEY

Laverda Burgart Davis has informed me of the death of Margaret Forgeus on July 19, 1959. Margaret served as librarian at Cornell University, Meredeth College, Iowa University and, for several years preceding her retirement, worked in the Pennsylvania State Library in Harrisburg.

In February, 1959, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Elliott stopped off on their way to New England for a visit with Dr. and Mrs. Charles Cooper (our "Happy" and "Cottie" friends) in Brockport, N. Y., where they had a wonderful time reviewing college days. (Editor's Note—Dr. Cooper died on June 23, 1959.)

Dr. Norman Thomas, leader of the "Post War World Council" is carrying on a worth-while service to mankind in matters of foreign policy, especially in a crusade for universal disarmament under effective international control, coupled with a war on world poverty, in which lie the seeds of true world government.

We have hopes of seeing many of our 1905-ers at our next reunion at Bucknell on June 3, 1960. Begin to plan NOW.

06 MR. WILLIAM L. DONEHOWER
22 N. Fifth St.
Lewisburg, Pa.

Dr. Penrose H. Shelley died at his Port Royal home on April 11, 1959. After receiving his M.D. degree from Jefferson Medical College in 1911, Dr. Shelley practiced medicine in Hublersburg and Pleasant Gap. During World War I he served as a Captain in the U. S. Army Medical Corps, serving in France and Germany. After his Army discharge in 1919, "Shelley" served the community of Port Royal and Juniata County as general practitioner for about forty years, as he was still engaged in active practice at the time of his death. Our sympathy is extended to Mrs. Shelley and son, Dr. Penn Shelley, a member of the Class of 1953.

07 DR. LEO L. ROCKWELL
602 Charles Street
Lakeland, Fla.

A sad letter from Mary Stanton Speicher tells of the death of another classmate. Ruth Jones, who taught in the Reading schools for forty years, died September 2 after an illness of nine weeks. Mary says her death was a sad blow to the Speicher family, since Ruth lived only four blocks from them, and a close friendship had united them for years. She left no relatives, so that she put her life savings of more than a hundred thousand dollars in a trust fund to help needy students obtain an education. Certainly a fine memorial to a fine woman! We shall remember Ruth.

The roving Rockwells, as Mary has dubbed Vera and Leo, are back in Lakeland, Fla., for the year, Florida Southern College having been foolish enough to invite me to return as visiting professor. Please note the new address; we moved to get close to the campus; our last year with our daughter Margie and her husband, John Weihing, was delightful, but I felt their insistence on driving me to the college was too much of a burden for them. I have given up driving, as every septuagenarian should. The Rockwells had a hot summer in their permanent home in Hamilton, N. Y., but it was relieved by a fine visit to daughter Carol and her family in Battle Creek, Mich. I was invited to talk to the school men of the Charles Lose Club at Wyalusing Rocks, and had a pleasant time with them, seeing again several old friends and telling superintendents, principals, and teachers about the need for more foreign language study in our schools.

09 MRS. HOWARD L. HEADLAND
(Sarah E. Walters)
3911 First Avenue North
St. Petersburg 13, Fla.

Congratulations are due all of us because we are now eligible for membership in the Emeritus Club. Certificates in recognition of our having attended Bucknell University 50 years ago have been sent us. It seems, believe it or not, like a second diploma from our Fostering Mother. If you have not received yours, write to the alumni office for it.

Re, Malcolm Hallman: "After graduation I spent nine years in teaching and getting married to an Indiana University girl named Halcyon Fair and for the next 39 years our days in South Dakota, Iowa and 20-odd countries of four continents have enjoyed halcyon days with fair results. My teaching experience consists of administrative positions from a village job to college. My hobbies have been gardening, bee-keeping, writing, trout fishing and archaeology, not to mention grandchildren and the scores of friends, some dating from boyhood days to others far afield with whom I regularly correspond. I have even guided parties to pyramids in the mountains of Mexico and to old castles in Spain."

Re, Wilmer C. Johnson: "Classmates B. U. '09. After graduation I worked in the office of my father who had a real estate and insurance office including conveyancing and surveying, having served as county surveyor. He was also secretary of a small building and loan association. In 1912 I was elected secretary-manager of the association and have served in that capacity since that time. Assets at present are over four million dollars. I acted as conveyancer for the association and continued the real estate and insurance business. I have been a Justice of the Peace for the past 43 years—just a small town business man. I have a daughter, Eleanor Johnson Lindner, who graduated from B. U. several years ago, having married Robert Lindner (now deceased). I am now retiring from my private business and acting only as secretary of the Brandywine Building and Loan Association of Downingtown."

NOVEMBER 1959

Happy Holidays to you all—Thanksgiving, Christmas and New Year's Day! The best wish for us all is that these holidays will be spent with our families. God bless you all.

10 MISS MILDRED B. CATHERS
100 W. 33rd Street, Apt. 6
Bayonne, N. J.

REUNE IN JUNE — 1960

W. Jack Follmer, owner of the Jack Follmer Grain Company, has been named president of the Los Angeles Grain Exchange. The Follmers live at 806 Arcadia, Arcadia, Calif.

"Knots! Knots!!! and more Knots!!!" is the way Phares Hertzog advertises the program on knot tying which he gives for service clubs, church groups, and schools. He has already presented this "knotty program" more than three hundred times within a wide radius of his home in Elizabethtown.

Weaver Pangburn and his wife returned last April from a six-month trip to England, Holland, Spain, Portugal, Mallorca and the Madeiras. Combining business with pleasure he represented the International Recreation Association in contacts with public officials and influential citizens. The Pangburns spent the summer in Vineyard Haven, Mass.

Most of the countries of South America, some of the countries of Central America and stopovers at a few islands en route home—that was Winnie Hardgrove's itinerary this past summer. She said it was a strenuous trip but a very enjoyable one. The Grandmothers' Convention in New York City in October was next on her program.

Sara Ray Way spent most of the summer with her daughter and her family in Evanston, Ill.

The Viehovs—Mabel (Johnson) and Dr. Arno—spent part of the summer with their daughter and family in the Black Hills of South Dakota, after which they travelled through the Rocky Mountain Parks and eventually reached the West Coast where they were with their older son.

Phares Hertzog, Jack (Heine) Bank, and your class reporter unofficially represented 1910 at the Alumni Luncheon in Lewisburg in June. Going back for Alumni weekend has become a habit for these three members of the class.

With our 50th reunion due next June we hope many, many more will plan to return to Alma Mater for that weekend.

12 MRS. H. W. HOUSEKNECHT
(Maze Callahan)
108 W. Penn St.
Muncy, Pa.

Hasn't it been a crazy mixed up summer? This report is in the same boat—left-overs from the last issue. When Bruce uses his red pencil he prints just so much.

The Class of 1914 had a get-together in Harris Hall if you know where that is. We old timers remember this room as the music room of Miss Armstrong. Edna Whittam Glover '14, Mary Kunkel '14 and Ruth Hoffa Rice '14 did the grand elegant—perfect hostesses. Met Ellen Focht Richards '14, Bruce Butt '16 and Florence Reimensnyder '14. Lib Heinsling Lowther and I sat and talked our fool heads off; each butting in to see who could beat the other.

In this room was an object of interest—a good sized round table—the top carved with the initials and names of many boys. I noticed the names of Jack Roberts, Louis Waldner and Ralph Winegardner '09. They told us it was an old table that had been at the Baker House in our day. Look at it when you visit the campus.

Pop and I attended the 40th wedding anniversary dinner June 16 for Petrona and Frank Hean given by their daughter, Elizabeth. It was a delightful affair.

Early this spring had a card from Eva and Ray Apgar who were vacationing in Florida.

Olive Long Haggerty, Matt and grandson Gil left June 1 for California, expecting to be gone a month. They were sorry to have missed Olive's 50th reunion from the Seminary and Matt's 50th from college.

Your reporter had a nice spill May 8. Hobbled around for two weeks then thought I ought to see a doctor. His first move was to send me to the hospital, weigh me, then flop me in bed. Had an enjoyable time with X-rays and a 1200 calorie diet. Result: I must lose between thirty and forty pounds. He has guaranteed that when I celebrate my 50th I'll be able to "strut" with the thin ones. Pearl Ream excepted.

P. S. Do you know I have Pop on this slimming program—he may have to wear suspenders.

13 REV. GEORGE F. HAINES
324 Market St.
Lewisburg, Pa.

"Pete" Statler reports Les McKeague made a summer trip to Europe. At the June Commencement Robert Rooke, another Winfield great, was given special recognition by President Merle M. Odgers for his generous giving to the University.

C. Baker Bernhart, 67, Blue Ridge Summit, Md., died last June, a few days before Commencement time. He was buried in Lewisburg, his native town.

Mrs. Thomas J. Rees (Mary Jane Ireys) died in Miami, Fla., on August 5, 1959.

Harold Shaffer, a recent patient in the local hospital, has fully recovered and is ready to take up again his teaching duties on the campus.

14 MRS. H. B. WEAVER
(Dora Hamler)
348 Ridge Ave.
New Kensington, Pa.

H. Burton Musser, professor of agronomy at Pennsylvania State University, retired on July 1, 1959, after 37 years on the faculty. Burton joined Penn State's staff in 1922 and since 1929 has had full responsibility for the University's turf research program. As a developer of improved strains of grass seed, he has earned international recognition. During World War II, he was responsible for turf maintenance policies at more than 700 airfields. Just prior to his retirement, Burton was tendered a testimonial banquet. Expressions of his services were received from Vice President Richard Nixon, Secretary of Agriculture Ezra T. Benson, Dr. Milton Eisenhower, Dr. Eric Walker (president of the University) and more than 100 friends and associates throughout the country.

Karl Rippel retired from the Phillips Chemical Company on August 1, 1956, and then he says, "I was engaged to work for them during some construction work as a consultant. This work was completed ten months later. Margaret and I had a home in this little village of Fritch, about 35 miles northeast of Amarillo, Texas, and had it remodelled to suit our needs and enjoyed the summer of 1957 starting a lawn and growing flowers. Then, as you already know, Peggy's heart started to give out and she passed away January 19, 1958. After a couple of sessions in the hospital myself, I've gradually regained strength so that I am as strong as I ought to be. Last summer I started a trip east to Pennsylvania to visit relatives and friends from one end of the state to another. I spent an afternoon looking about the campus and called on my old friend, Dr. George Irland '15. Neither of my children are Bucknell news, as they both graduated from Texas University."

15 MISS MARION R. BANCROFT
1308 Ninth St.
Altoona, Pa.

REUNE IN JUNE — 1960

My apologies to members of the Class of 1915! Something happened to my letter to the Alumni Office between Altoona and Lewisburg, hence, we were not represented in the September ALUMNUS. My only news to date is sad.

After being in poor health for a number of years, Hope (Craig) Craig died in a Ft. Lauderdale, Fla., hospital on March 26 of this year. She and "Monk" had lived in Florida since 1955, when he retired as an employee of Allegheny Ludlum Steel Corp. For about thirty years they had been residents of Leechburg.

18 MRS. LAYTON E. KING
(Elizabeth Champion)
10 N. Loyalsock Ave.
Montoursville, Pa.

Back from several weeks and several thousand miles of gadding, so I guess I will talk about myself—no one else has offered me any material. Daughter, Mary Elizabeth, has a year's leave of absence from her position as a curator in the Textile Museum in Washington, D. C., and is spending it at the University of Arizona working on her doctor's degree. She drove to Arizona in her Volkswagen and Mother went along for the ride. We took six days to get there, and if any of you have any doubts as to the comfort of a long ride in a small car, please believe me, it couldn't be more comfortable, and the amount of luggage that one can stow in a small car is almost unbelievable. Weather was hot, but not unpleasantly so while driving, but Arizona was hot—I stayed a week and the temperature was at least 100 degrees every day I was there.

I flew back and shortly after I returned the weather in the East took a downward dip and I wished for some of the heat that had been "going to waste" in Arizona. It was a very delightful trip and now I have started to save my pennies, plus, so that I can go out next spring and see how the landscape looks traveling in the other direction.

So I am back, and busy with American University Women, serving my second year as president (we have a two year term). One of our winter programs will feature the Bucknell Dean of Women, Miss Mary Jane Stevenson, and another will feature the Dean of Women from Penn State, Miss Dorothy J. Lipp. We think we will have a contest to see whether Bucknell women or Penn State women are the more loyal. Personally I hope that they all turn out for both meetings.

And what did you do this past summer? Why not share your experiences?

21 MRS. ELLWOOD S. DERR
(Sara Bernhart)
1360 Jefferson Ave.
Lewisburg, Pa.

Edna M. Baker, although retired from the teaching profession, represented the New Jersey Education Association at the Fourth World Confederation of Organizations of the Teaching Profession held Gail B. Young '23 has been elected a district governor of Rotary International for the 1959-60 fiscal year. During the year he will visit each of the clubs in his district to offer advice and assistance on Rotary service activities and administration.

Gail is supervising principal of the Wyoming Borough School District and president of the Supervising Principals' Department of the Northeastern Area of the Pennsylvania State Education Association.

A Rotarian since 1934, he is a former member and past president of the Rotary Club of Wyoming.

Gail's address is 96 West River St., Apt. 6, Wilkes-Barre.

in Washington, D. C., in August. Miss Baker has attended the three previous sessions and also served as hostess and interpreter for the French-speaking delegations. The organization includes all major nations of the world except Russia, which sent observers to the Washington meetings.

It is with regret that I insert this sad news. Attorney Homer T. Eaton died suddenly of a heart attack on April 28, 1959, in his home in Erie. He was prominent in civic affairs as well as in law circles. He is survived by his wife, a son, Robert B. Eaton, and a daughter, Mrs. Charles Crawley. You'll remember that Homer did such a fine piece of work on our 1956 reunion yearbook.

23 MRS. LEROY FRONTZ
(Olive W. Billhime)
Evergreen Farm
Allenwood, Pa.

September 8 marked the transition of a gloriously courageous soul from a long tortured body when Constance H. Bennett died in Raybrook Sanitarium, Raybrook, N. Y., just two weeks after she was no longer able to actively contribute to the world's work as she had done so long in Saranac Lake. Your reporter was privileged to have her for a close friend from the days when Bennett and Billhime first sat side by side in Benny Griffith's French class, so in the pages of the ALUMNUS and for those friends, I wish to pay her this special tribute. I like to think it is what would have pleased Connie most, tho' she surely would have disclaimed any right to special mention.

20

25

MRS. DANIEL HOPPER, JR.
(Mildred C. Francisco)
36 Van Doren Ave.
Chatham, N. J.

REUNE IN JUNE — 1960

Attention Class Members! Those of you who are school administrators or teachers—take notice that reunion will take place on the very first week end of June, thereby allowing you to return to Bucknell. None other than our energetic go-getter Clair Spangler will again be our chairman.

The class extends sympathy to the families of Santo Lipari and Rufus M. Traver who have passed away.

Classmates! How about some news about yourselves so that we won't be strangers to one another when we RE-UNE IN JUNE!!!

27

MRS. L. H. COLLISON
(Grace M. Pfeifer)
Marydel, Md.

George W. Hart has been promoted to manager-marketing administration at Light Military Electronics Department of General Electric in Utica, N. Y. His home is at Tibbitts Rd., New Hartford, N. Y.

Caryl Dutton Slifer seems to grow busier with the years. Says she, "I've been racking my brain to find anything interesting enough to print. Best I can do is to enclose our annual letter for your amusement. Possibly our 'adoption' of La Salvadorean Elvira Rodriguez, now attending Bryn Mawr, for education to teach and minister to her needy people is news.

Caryl then goes on to tell about the five Ukrainians who joined her family circle in February of last year, after a wait of nine years, during which time they fled to Brazil before being allowed to enter the U. S. During the past years among her civic activities have been the presidency of the State Baptist Women's Organization, the first vice president of the New Jersey Baptist Convention, Women's Club and A. A. U. W., Sunday School teacher, manager of a Greyhound bus trip of 40 women and girls to Green Lake, Wis., and camp counselor at the State Baptist Camp near Lebanon, N. J. On September 4, 1958, she and Ken celebrated their 30th wedding anniversary as guests of their daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. Vic Scott '54 (Diane Slifer '54) and little daughter, Ellen, now 2 years old. In addition she is mothering a 17-year-old Polish girl, Tamara, whom she adopted 8 years ago.

Grace Milhous Merrick, still a staunch rooter for Kennett Square (I remember when just a Kennett Square post mark would make her shed tears), says she is still teaching English in the Kennett Square High School, while her son, Jack, is an "Ivy Leaguer" at Yale, and daughter, Sally, is a tenth grader at Kennett High.

Mabel Funk Murray is at present teaching English and Latin at Neffsville High School, her native village. Previously she was a teacher in Washington, D. C., for 23 years. She has two sons, Martin, a student at Albright College, and Harold, in high school.

Paul (Pete) Johnston, of 7307 Maple Ave., Takoma Park Sta., Washington, D. C., tells us that he and his wife recently enjoyed a 4,000-mile tour of Europe, visiting London, Brussels, West Germany, Switzerland, Venice, Rome, Capri, Pompeii, Monaco, Paris, and their son, Terry, who is in the Air Force in France. That certainly sounds wonderful—quite a step or two from the hilly paths of dear old Bucknell.

Martha Felty Ackerly, of 1206 Mifflin

Ave., Edgewood, Pittsburgh 18, writes that her daughter, Lorraine, works for the L. G. Balfour Co., and that her son, David, is a sophomore in high school, while her husband is engaged in engineering with the Freck and Lindsay Co., of Pittsburgh. As for Marty, she keeps herself busy with housework, church activities, civic club work, and the Tri Delta Alliance.

28

MRS. H. MONTGOMERY MARSH, JR.
(Lorinne Martin)
60 Prospect Hill Ave.
Summit, N. J.

Margaret M. Field is studying at the Yale University School of Nursing under a United States Public Health Service traineeship and is a candidate for an M.S. in nursing with a major in maternal and new-born health.

Dr. Albert F. Buffington, professor of German, is on leave of absence from his duties at Pennsylvania State University for the spring semester of 1959-60. He will continue his research in Pennsylvania-German dialect, music and folklore, part of which will be conducted in Germany.

29

MISS THELMA SHOWALTER
425 Market St.
Millinburg, Pa.

Howard T. Hogan, who is serving as a State Supreme Court Justice in Nassau County, Long Island, N. Y., assisted with the Seventh Annual Forget-Me-Not-Ball held recently to help the Nassau Cerebral Palsy Treatment Center in Roosevelt, Long Island.

Dorothy Lemon Bailey, wife of Clyde Bailey, of Pittsburgh, is serving as second vice president of The General Alumni Association.

At the recent convention of the Pennsylvania Association of County Commissioners, your reporter was privileged to renew an old friendship of long standing with Mr. George Roberts, father of Josephine Roberts Riegel. The girls who lived at Doabler and Brady Houses will all remember this genial gentleman.

30

MRS. BERNARD F. KLOSTERMAN
(Emmalyn Y. Fuller)
23 Leathers Road
South Fort Mitchell, Ky.

REUNE IN JUNE — 1960

Frances K. Kernohan is listed in WHO'S WHO OF AMERICAN WOMEN.

Charles E. Mohr, after 12 years service as director of the national Audubon Society's teaching center at Greenwich, Conn., has become director of Swiss Pines Park, a 160-acre nature preserve in Northern Chester County near Malvern. The Mohrs occupy a new home at 10 Beacon Hill Lane, Valley Forge.

The Bernard Klostermans '29 (Emmalyn Y. Fuller) are grandparents—a red headed gal, Kimberly Paige, and, of course, a Bucknellian-to-be.

33

MRS. ERNEST H. ENGELHARDT
(Janet Worthington)
Irontdale Place, Millville Road
Bloomsburg, Pa.

Dr. John L. Mohr has been made chairman of the department of biology at the University of Southern California. John was in Pennsylvania early in September attending the meetings of the Institute of Biological Sciences and visiting brother Charles E. Mohr '30, of Valley Forge.

Jane Williams Nelms' son, Jan, is attending the Citadel in South Carolina as a freshman. Her daughter Sybil entered Wyoming Seminary in September. Jane, a case worker for the Department of Pub-c Assistance, is attending night school, hoping eventually to get her degree. She loves to travel and has many interests such as Red Cross, United Fund, P. T. A., church, etc.

NOVEMBER 1959

Charles P. Leach, has a daughter, Cara, at American University as a junior and son, Charles P. Leach, Jr., in Case University in Cleveland as a freshman engineering student. His son Hamilton is a junior in New Bethlehem High School. Charles' extra-curricular activities are Boy Scouts and Republican politics. He and his wife, Clare, took a ride to the West coast and back in June in a TWA jet.

Jim Mettler lives in Cressona with his wife and two of their three children. Sherry, 14, is in the 10th grade and John, 10, is in the 5th grade. Both attend schools in the Blue Mountain Jointure.

His older daughter, Monya, 20, is married and lives in Westford, Mass. Her husband is an aeronautical engineer with AVCO in Wilmington, Mass. They have a daughter Karen, 1½.

Bernard Loth of 158 Grand St., Newburgh, N. Y., is still practising law there and acting as Cantor at Temple Rodeph Sholom in New York City. This past summer he acted as music critic for Ganett Newspapers, covering Empire State Music Festival at Bear Mountain with Symphony of the Air conducted by Stokowski, Villa-Lobos, Pelletier, etc. with famous soloists, operas, etc. He suggests that Bucknellians of the East think about going there next summer.

Kennard Lewis of 190 Washington Street, East Stroudsburg, reports that his oldest child, Harry D. Lewis, is a freshman at Dickinson College, Carlisle, taking a liberal arts course. His oldest daughter Bronwen, spent six weeks this past summer at Camp Wapalanne, New Jersey State School of Conservation, Stokes State Forest, Branchville, N. J. This camp stresses conservation and leadership training as well as athletics. At the same time his youngest daughter, Margaret Anne, was a student at East Stroudsburg State Teachers College in a special class for practice teachers.

At Haverford College's June, 1959, Commencement your reporter's son, Hans, was awarded a Keasbey Foundation Fellowship for two full years of graduate study at Oxford University, Oxford, England.

34 MRS. WILLIAM S. LIMING
(Ruth E. Rohr)
55 Magnolia Ave.
Garden City, L. I., N. Y.

Frank E. Gerlitz, Jr. of 1110 Spring Grove Ave., Lancaster, the re-elected vice president of the Bucknell Alumni Club of Lancaster, tells me he saw Jack Youngusband and his wife Peg Helm '35 in Santa Ana, Calif. He also says Charles "Chuck" and "Bunny" (Moore) Roush have returned from Memlo Park, Calif., to 5 Birchwood Lane, Hillsdale, N. J.

Col. James L. Webster is now in Fayetteville, N. Y. He and his family have returned to the U. S. after a three-year tour of duty in Japan. Jim was executive officer of Itazake Air Base. He is deputy to personnel of 26th Air Division (SAGE) in Syracuse, N. Y. His daughter Barbara (20) is a student at the University of Maryland and Janet (15) and Bonnie (10) are at home.

Rev. William Hallbauer has accepted a call to the Third Baptist Church of Germantown. He has previously held pastorates in Pennsylvania and New Jersey.

Please note my change of address and send me your news. Would particularly enjoy hearing from boating classmates! Bill and I and our youngsters and cat cruised down to Toms River, N. J., on vacation. Now I'm taking the Power Squadron course hoping to become a seaman. Had the Iredells (Arthur and Fran and family) aboard for fishing and fun—only catch, a sand shark. Well, there's one less in Long Island waters.
NOVEMBER 1959

36 MRS. CLYDE E. BURGEE
(Lois Montgomery)
124 S. Fifth St.
Lewisburg, Pa.

Martha M. McFarland has assumed the position of librarian in the Abington Township Senior High School at Abington. She resides in the Abington Court Apartments.

Our Class President, Charles F. Kottcamp, "Kotty," had a six-week business trip this summer which took him "around the world." He flew from New York to London and spent several weeks in the European area. From there, he went to the Middle East (Lebanon, Pakistan) to India, Burma, Hong Kong, and the Philippines. He returned to Pittsburgh via Honolulu and the West Coast. Most of the trip was made by air—jet planes. He reports that although the trip was a very interesting experience, among other things, it convinced him that there is no place like the United States.

Arthur J. Marvin was recently elected president of the new Williamsport Area Joint Secondary School District. Art, an engineer with Bethlehem Steel Co. resides with his wife, two sons, and two daughters at R. D. 2, Williamsport.

Peg Geary Davis (Mrs. John P. Davis, Jr.) writes: "John and I celebrated our 20th wedding anniversary in February. We have a daughter, Barbara, 16, and a son, John III, 13. John is manager of the Latex finishing and packaging department of International Latex Corp. I am teaching in the Dover schools. We are active in the Baptist Church and have the usual PTA, Scout, etc., interests and manage to play a little golf. We are interested in the Southern Delaware Bucknell Alumni Association of which John was president until this year. If any of our classmates are passing through Dover, we'd surely like to have them stop at 30 Bayard Ave., Eastover Hills."

Another class member very much interested in public school work is Charles Wm. Voris, A.M. '36. Bill's other avocation is raising iris. He is the entrepreneur of the Voris Iris Gardens, Watontown, R. D. 2. A nationally-known iris hybridizer, he has not yet succeeded in finding a suitable color combination for naming an iris "Bucknell." He is still hoping some seedlings may be the one, or will indicate further hybridizing until he obtains his objective.

Mrs. Louise V. Windsor Thompson's older daughter, Linda Louise, graduated from Bucknell in June. Louise is married to John R. Thompson '35, a dentist in Harrisburg. They live at 2215 Chestnut St.

Thomas W. Rauffenbart's son, John is in this year's freshman class. Tom, an attorney in Atlantic City, resides with his wife and two sons at 10 N. Thurlow Ave., Margate, N. J.

Rev. Samuel A. Fehl has been pastor of the First Baptist Church in Hornell, N. Y., since July, 1958. The Fehls are parents of two children; Sandra, 15, and Edward, 10.

D. Eugene Long '29 has been appointed to fill a vacancy on the Board of Directors of The General Alumni Association caused by the resignation of Wilmer D. Greulich '34 who is now a member of the Bucknell University Board of Trustees. Gene is an executive with the New York Telephone Co. and has been very active in the work of the Bucknell Alumni Club of Long Island. The Longs live at 131 Avon Place, West Hempstead, N. Y.

37 MRS. PAULL W. ZIEGLER
(Mabel Nylund)
12 W. Garrison Rd., Parkside
Chester, Pa.

Orchids to Betty McMahan Herrold and Marge Bastedo ('39) Miller for their newsy letters!

Betty writes, "Things have gone along with us as usual for quite a few years, except for the daily crises of family living. But this year things have been happening!"

"At the end of summer school we finally became suburbanites. We left the convenience of living practically on top of Columbia University and came to Ridgewood, N. J. The next week Ken '36 left for Europe to continue a study he is doing in industrial management." The Herrolds have at present three children: Carolann (12) in seventh grade, Edmund (10) in the fifth grade and Bill (7) in third grade. Betty says they seem to be thriving on fresh air and public school. The Herrold's new address: 369 Godwin Ave., Ridgewood, N. J.

Marge also has a traveling husband. She says, "Bob is still a lawyer with Standard Oil (New Jersey) and leaves tomorrow for a two-month trip in Europe—his fourth such trip since April!" Bob and Marge are the parents of Bruce (16) at the Lawrenceville School, Kathy (13) in junior high and Tommy (9) in fourth grade. Their address: Edgewood Ave., Box 385, Lawrenceville, N. J.

So good to hear from both of you!

Once more we are saddened by a death in our ranks. Ralph Axthelm died on May 15. To his family goes our sincere sympathy.

40 MRS. JAMES A. MILLER
(Mary McCrina)
1492 Colfax Ave.
Benton Harbor, Mich.

REUNE IN JUNE — 1960

Les McDowell and his wife, Jan, spent a month in Europe, crossing on the French Lines' "Flandre," flying back the end of June. Their itinerary was the Low Countries, England, and Scotland, after the Society of the Cincinnati meeting in Paris.

Our sympathy to Dr. Richard C. Snyder and his family on the death of his father, Edgar A. Snyder '11, in January of this year. Dick is in Seattle, Wash., a member of the faculty of the University of Washington.

H. Glenn Eshelman has been promoted to district manager, Cleveland office, Packaging Materials Division of the Armstrong Cork Co. He has been with the company since 1946, most of the time in the Summit, N. J., area. He is married to the former Alma R. Brandt and has three sons: Tom, Jim and Davy.

Rev. William S. McKee, of 502 East Academy Ave., Jennings, La., was awarded the Bachelor of Divinity degree by Union Theological Seminary in May and is now serving as pastor of the First Presbyterian Church in Jennings. Bill is married to the former Frances Watts and has three children: Frances, David and Richard. Our congratulations and best wishes to a man who left industry in 1955 with the courage to follow his convictions.

Dr. Noah E. Fehl, Jr. has been appointed under the Protestant Episcopal Church to serve for a three-year period in the Department of Religion at Chung Chi College in Hong Kong, China. While there he will be on the staff of the Anglican Bishop in Hong Kong.

Frederick S. Green is employed by General Mills in their Feed Division at Toledo, Ohio, where he is supervising the production of "Surechamp" Dog Food and Spratts' Pet Foods. He was formerly with Spratts' Patent in Newark, N. J., which was purchased by General Mills recently. Fred is married to the former Marion R. Reynolds '41, and has two children, Richard and Ellen. They live at 2817 Goddard Road, Toledo 6, Ohio.

42 MRS. THOMAS R. DIETZ
(Germaine B. Pepperman)
83 Nutt Road
Phoenixville, Pa.

The bravery of Kenneth R. Bayless, Esq., this past spring was responsible for the capture of two holdup men who, at gun point, attempted to hold up a cab driver in Tresckow. Ken's car was struck by the holdup cab which did not stop at the scene of the accident. Ken immediately gave chase overtaking the taxi. After stopping, the driver of the cab jumped from his taxi shouting, "It's a holdup. They got a gun." Quick thinking Ken, who was considerably smaller in stature than the gunman, resorted to his Army training of 15 years ago and with one judo twist and flip threw the man to the ground. Several minutes later both men were captured and our own Ken Bayless was the hero.

Never a dull moment around this household, particularly now that we have purchased and are running a little restaurant in the small country village where Tom's work is located. Kimberton is about 4 miles from Phoenixville and the luncheonette and coffee shop located near his plant was "going down for the third time" and since it was badly needed in the village, we decided to buy it on March 19. It was closed immediately and completely renovated, cleaned and redecorated and we opened it as "The Copper Corner" on April 9. Fighting a terrible reputation, no budget for advertising, and complete ignorance on my part, things are beginning to look up now and I think we are going to be able to swing it. One of the worst parts is that we are open seven days a week from 7:00 a. m. to 10:00 p. m. and labor is a problem. In theory, I was to supervise, plan and buy, and work just two or three hours over the lunch hour. Like most things, it sounds fine in theory, but just doesn't work out in practice, so someone has to "tend the store" and it usually is the Boss, herself. Now have 7 employees besides myself and the children who are pressed into emergency service as dishwashers and waitresses, occasionally. Have just finished a hectic two weeks when the Carnival was in the village and we were mobbed, thank heavens! So, morning, noon, or night, if you're ever in our neck of the woods, stop in "The Copper Corner"—serving breakfast, luncheon, and dinner daily.

22

Mr. and Mrs. John C. Bush have an all-girl quintet consisting of Betsy, Connie, Molly, Ellen and Joan. Mrs. Bush is the former Elizabeth O'Malia. John is with the advertising staff of the Wilkes-Barre Sunday Independent and is an instructor in journalism at Wilkes College. The Bushes reside at 86 Church Rd., Dallas.

43 MISS CAROLYN F. DONEHOWER
3722 Chestnut St.
Philadelphia 4, Pa.

A son, David Lee, born November 29, 1958, joined two sisters, Marjorie and Judith, in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Nathan Ives (Eleanor F. Phillips) of 1301 Maple Ave., Haddon Heights, N. J.

Jay W. Wagner is quality control engineer and plant manager of the new plant in Niagara Falls, Ontario, Canada, taken over by American Home Foods of Milton. The new plant is known as Canadian Home Foods, Ltd. and is the 5th Canadian subsidiary of American Home Foods, Inc. Jay's new address is Rolling Acres Drive, Niagara Falls, Ontario, Canada.

44 MRS. ROBERT F. BAKER
(Honey Rhinesmith)
Lindys Lake, R. D.
Butler, N. J.

Hope you saw the July issue of American Home with an article and pictures of the Bill Crages' (Donna Perry) do-it-yourself attic project resulting in two beautiful rooms.

Ken '42 and Mal Lewis Strittmatter, plus Jere and Kim, have moved to 621 S. George St., York.

The Harry B. Wheelers (Gloria Haggerty) announce the birth of Rachel Amy, June 17. She joins two brothers, Gil and Jonathan, at 356 Conniston Ave., Pittsburgh 10.

Birth congratulations go to Mr. and Mrs. Robert C. Messman (Janet Leach). Their first child, Anne, was born September 12.

We spent an evening reminiscing with Jan and Chuck Shaner while they were in New York for the dental convention. Our last meeting was around a bridge table in Chicago slightly more than 14 years ago. They live in Barrington, Ill., but his practice is in Mt. Prospect where his patients include the Carl Finks (Burdia Murphy).

45 MRS. BURR WILLIAMSON
(Sylvia E. Cliffe)
37 Rankin Ave.
Basking Ridge, N. J.

REUNE IN JUNE — 1960

George A. Markell, Jr., has been named produce manager of the attachment division of Clark Equipment Company's Industrial Truck Division. George started with Elwell-Parker in 1948 in their production department, joining their sales staff in 1950, later becoming their sales manager. He assumed his position with the Clark Equipment Co. on January 1 of this year and with his wife and two children is living at 235 W. Hamilton Lane, Battle Creek, Mich.

Jean A. Painter was expecting to receive her master's degree from the University of Southern California this past August. Hope you made it, "Paint," and how about those other plans you mentioned in your note?

Was pleasantly surprised to have Elizabeth Simmons Bowman '44 turn up as a guest at an Evening Guild meeting in my Presbyterian Church here in Basking Ridge, N. J. The sixteen years since last we met haven't changed her a bit. Betty is living in Dover, N. J., and finds that four daughters keep her pretty busy.

Apropos of the paragraph above, do you remember this? "Hoop-la, hoop-la, Jim, jam, jive. What's the best class? Forty-five!" Remember? Can you believe fifteen years have passed since that silly little ditty led the B. U. Hit Parade? Well, 'tis true, and this is an early reminder that June 3, 1960, is our 15th anniversary. Contact your special group of classmates now and start planning. Y'all come! Or if, perish the thought, you won't be able to join us in June, send news, send pix, send greetings.

In the meantime, happy holidays to you all. See you next year.

46 MRS. LELAND C. EWING
(Elizabeth J. Wells)
41 Crest Dr.
Tarrytown, N. Y.

William M. Moss, M.D., graduated from the University of Illinois Medical School in 1948; interned at Cook County Hospital; then spent two years as a medical officer in the Navy; and after a four-year residency in general surgery at Cook County Hospital, Chicago, Ill., became a diplomate of the American Board of Surgery in May, 1958. The Moss family: wife Betty Rupert, a former model, and 3-year-old son, Brian Joseph, and Dr. Bill, all laud the Southern California local, and hope Bucknellians will look them up at 944 W. Buffalo Ave., Santa Ana, Calif.

47 ROGER S. HADDON, Esq.
243 Water St.
Northumberland, Pa.

Ralph M. Keenan is a sales representative with Universal-Cyclops Corporation in Pittsburgh. He and Betty have three daughters: Jan Marie, Paige Lee and Tracy Rea, plus a female cocker spaniel. Surrounded by all this femininity, Ralph lives at 8 Conestoga Dr., Bethel Park.

In our fortnightly review from the Continent: C. Roland Wagner was scheduled to return from France via Copenhagen in August, after an enjoyable year (he a Ph.D.) as lecturer in American Studies (literature and civilization) at the Universities of Caen and Poitiers, under a Fulbright fellowship. Rollie's welcome letter capsulizes thus: "I received my Ph.D. in philosophy from Yale in 1952 . . . M.A. in English the same year from Columbia . . . Taught English one year at the U. of New Hampshire . . . then got a permanent post at the U. of Delaware . . . Now Assistant Professor of philosophy there . . . Married in 1955 . . . one child, born in 1956, Eric Michael." Rollie, remembered always as a perceptive, classic scholar, is presently pondering "the relationships between (among?) literature, psychoanalysis, and philosophy." Home address: 101 Ritter Lane, Newark, Del.

Jean Steele Iba proudly brought No. 4 (son, Wayne) home with her this summer. Born June 20, he joins little Glenn, Marilyn, and Carl. Husband and provider to this happy assemblage, Mark, is associated with IBM. They live at 225 E. Glen Road, Glen Acres, Hershey.

NOVEMBER 1959

Can't stay out of the news: F. Porter Wagner, Danville barrister, is the new president of the Pennsylvania District Attorneys Association. As they say: Res ipsa loquitur.

Dr. Wallace W. S. Loui has opened an office in Honolulu, Hawaii, for the practice of general, thoracic and cardiovascular surgery. He is married to the former Dr. Florence Chinn and has three children, Michael, Warren and Torrence. Their address is 1481 S. King St., Honolulu 14, Hawaii.

Robert C. McGowan has been named comptroller for the Chesapeake and Ohio Railway Co. The McGowans live at 22469 Blossom Dr., Rocky River 16, Ohio. Bob and his wife, Jean, have three children, Robert, Susan and Christopher.

48 MRS. JAMES A. BROWN
(Joann G. Golightly)
1591 Hillcrest Terrace
Union, N. J.

William M. Schwenke was recently appointed assistant to chief engineer at the Williamsport plant of the Bethlehem Steel Co. He is married to the former Betty J. Wertman and has two children, Canda Leigh and William D. Their home address is 129 W. Central Ave., S. Williamsport.

Mrs. Bertrand M. Walsh (Dorothy J. Seesholtz) of 1403 Kynlyn Dr., Wilmington 3, Del., is director of the Occupational Therapy Dept. at the DuPont Rehabilitation Center in Wilmington, Del. In August of 1958 she represented Delaware in the United States delegation to the Congress of World Federation of Occupational Therapists in Copenhagen, Denmark.

Mr. and Mrs. George W. Wagner (Dr. Mildred E. Sheesley) have a son who celebrated his first birthday on July 2, 1959. The family home is at 113 Kalbaugh St., Westernport, Md.

Mr. and Mrs. James R. Skove (Florence E. Fellows) and their family, David, 7; Cindy, 4; and James, Jr., 1, left for Europe in July aboard the SS America. Jim will be stationed in Frankfurt, Germany. We surely will miss them.

Gladys and Jerry Anderson (Kurtzie as we know her) announce with pride the arrival of Kathie, on March 20, 1959. The Anderson's address is 254 West Kelso St., Tucson, Ariz. Gee, Kurtzie, you should have told us about this at our 10th reunion!

Richard James Beale, on May 4, 1959, joined a brother, Ronnie, at the home of Helen and Jack Beale, the former Helen Beringer. Congratulations to you all.

Bob Taylor, our great class fund manager, always sends me some news—wrote he visited our class president, Ray Tyler and June, in Fort Wayne, Indiana, last year and they and their family were all well.

Robert M. Sundy and Arlene L. Sargent of Avon Park, were married September 5. Bob is Southeastern Field Executive for the Associated Press and is located in Jacksonville, Fla.

49 MRS. THOMAS A. FRAZIER
(Marilyn L. Harer)
1344 Mansel Ave.
Williamsport, Pa.

William H. Rummel, Jr., is manager of the Bond Department of the Cincinnati Insurance Company. Bill has been in the insurance business ever since he left the campus after graduation and has had experience in many of its branches. He is active in the affairs of their Presbyterian Church. He and his wife, Lillian, have two children, Scotty and Kim, and live at 5328 Oleander Dr., Cincinnati 8, Ohio.

The Haugs, Dick and Geri, have been transferred to Richmond, Va., as of March 1, 1959. Dick is a merchandising salesman with Ingersoll-Rand Co. Their temporary address is 1417 Grove Ave.

O. Leonard Nichols is general foreman of Westinghouse's Feeder Departments in Bloomington, Ind. He and Mary Jo can be found at their home, 4331 E. Kinser Dr., Eastern Heights, Bloomington, Ind.

James F. Reynolds and family, Harriet, Tommy (6), Patty (5) and Elizabeth (11 months) are living at 521 North Elm St., Hinsdale, Ill. Jim works in the Chicago sales office of Dow Chemical Co.

Also living in the Chicago area is Frank T. Romweber, who is working with the Central Engineering Division of the Sinclair Refining Co. He and Margery have three daughters — Susan, Constance and Jane. Their address is 17117 Longfellow Ave., Hazel Crest, Ill.

The Overholts, Matty and Shy (Winning), have been living at 20 Kings Highway, Huntington, W. Va., for the past two years. Shy is busy with their two children, Joann, 7½, and Scott, 3; while Matty is district sales manager with Buick Motor Division.

Doris Baker McChesney and husband have three children—Becky, 5; Jimmy, 3; and Kathleen Anne, born May 19, 1958. They all live at 2406 Willowbrook Rd., Bridgeville. She hears from Barbara Tope Scheden who lives in Minneapolis, Minn. Barbara and her husband have six children, three boys and three girls. The youngest are twins born in May, 1958.

Donald Mitchell, a proud father of two girls, and one boy, was recently transferred to G. E. Heavy Military Electronic Equipment Department in Syracuse, N. Y., in marketing and sales. They live at 125 Shady Lane, Syracuse 9, N. Y.

Donald E. Bloomfield is a chemical engineer employed by the Vitro Engineering Co., and is on loan to the Atomic Power Development Associates where he is a process engineer in the fuel cycle section. He is active in civic and church circles in his community and has taken considerable graduate work since leaving Bucknell. He is married to the former Carolyn Tulloch and has one daughter, Barbara Lee, who is 7. The family home is at 14714 Paris Ave., Allen Park, Mich.

Mrs. Edward M. Glover (Shirley R. Schultz) has been elected secretary of the Bucknell Alumni Club of South Jersey.

Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Schuppe of 22300 Wendell Dr., Mount Clemens, Mich., are the parents of a daughter, Erica, born January 19, 1959.

Mr. and Mrs. Gordon L. Nelson (Mary R. Scouller) announce the arrival of Elizabeth Alice on May 9. She joins a sister Mary, four years old, and a brother, Gordon who is two. The family home is at 11 E. Tomstead Road South, Simsbury, Conn.

50 MRS. DAVID MILLER
(Martha J. Kreider)
614 Penn St.
New Bethlehem, Pa.

REUNE IN JUNE — 1960

David B. Fawcett, Jr., is practicing law in Pittsburgh. In 1958 he was president of the Allegheny County Junior Bar Association and in 1959 was elected to the executive committee of the Allegheny

James H. Duchine '40 has become the fourth Bucknellian to assume an executive position with one of the nation's oldest and largest fund raising firms, Marts & Lundy, Inc., of New York City.

Jim will fill a newly-created vice presidency made necessary by the expanding services of the firm, which has raised more than one billion dollars for colleges, schools, churches and other philanthropic agencies since its founding in 1926.

Bucknell's ties with the organization have been close ever since the College's Board of Trustees prevailed in 1935 upon Marts & Lundy co-founder, Arnaud C. Marts, a fellow trustee, to assume the presidency of Bucknell during the critical depression years. As Bucknell president, Dr. Marts was responsible for eliminating almost all of the college's debt and for beginning the expansion program which lifted Bucknell to new eminence and which still continues to this day. After his resignation as University president in 1945, Dr. Marts returned to full time leadership as president of the New York fund raising organization. In 1956, he became chairman of the Marts & Lundy Board of Directors, and Thomas "Si" Morgan '21 became president.

A third alumnus, Louis W. Robey '04 was vice president and is now honorary vice chairman of the Board. He was also a member of the Bucknell faculty as well. Last year, Bucknell and Marts & Lundy friends paid him lasting tribute by endowing the Louis W. Robey Medal, which is annually awarded together with a cash prize to a graduating senior who best exemplifies the Bucknell qualities of leadership.

Jim was a member of the Delta Upsilon fraternity and was active in a number of student organizations at Bucknell. Currently, he is supervising a fund raising program for DePauw University in Greencastle, Ind. He resides with his wife and three children in Ithaca, N. Y.

Bar Association. He and his wife (Janet E. McKain '53) have a son, David B., III, and two daughters, Betsy and Emily, and live at 1920 Shaler Dr., Glenshaw.

Mr. and Mrs. George C. Geisler (Patricia L. Hiatt) are living at 347 Knehn Ave., Level Green, Trafford. George is with Westinghouse and is involved in the operation of their test reactor. They have four children.

Mrs. William S. Montgomery (Nancy D. Gibson) of 6200 Melba Ave., Woodland Hills, Calif., has a son and twin daughters and is now preparing to finish her college training at Valley State Teachers College so she can become a school teacher.

Mr. and Mrs. David A. Grimm now have two children: Steven David, born January 21, and Susan Ann, 4½ years older. Their home is at 27 James St., Westwood, N. J.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas W. Iszard announce the birth of a son, Davis Ridgeway, on March 13. The family home is at R. D. 1, Malvern.

Mr. and Mrs. John E. VanRoden (Cynthia A. Robb) of 1805 Hanford Rd., Baltimore 6, Md., have a son, Christopher Robb, who was born November 4, 1958.

The John H. Shotts III (Barbara A. Renninger '55) are the parents of a son, Gregory John, who was born April 18, thus bestowing the new title of "grandfather" on our Alumni Secretary, John H. Shott '22. John, Barbara and Gregory are living at 33-26 82nd St., Apt. 3-E, Jackson Heights 72, N. Y.

William Wolensky joined IBM in April of 1952 and has specialized in digital computers. He is experienced in all phases . . . planning, design, development and application. He and Anne have three children: Russell, Susan and James, and live at 26 W. Dogwood Dr., Poughkeepsie, N. Y.

Dr. William F. Larson was graduated from Jefferson Medical College in June and is now interning at Santa Monica Hospital, Calif.

Pete Weidenbacher and Jack Evans are making plans for the most gala 10th reunion ever witnessed by Bucknellians. We'll be hearing the details from Jack very soon.

David O. Karraker, son of Dr. Cyrus Karraker, left Washington in July to assume his new post of naturalist of the Virgin Islands National Park. This is one of the most recent parks to be created by the federal government, comprising almost the entire island of St. John. David has served on the staffs of the Everglades and Glacier National Parks and during the past two years has served as secretary to the park naturalist of the United States. His new position provides the opportunity to plan a nature program for an area which is most attractive in its flora and fauna and especially in marine life. Dave's address is National Park Service, Cruz Bay, St. John, Virgin Islands.

Mr. and Mrs. John Romano (Betty Vernson) are happy to receive into their home their first child, Paul Lawrence, who was born September 11, 1959.

51

MRS. HAROLD NORRIS
(Rebecca J. Rogers)
6 Griffin St.
Montrose, Pa.

William M. Martin has been promoted to assistant manager, gasket and packing sales department of the Industrial Division of Armstrong Cork Company. He and Carole have two daughters, Meredith and Melissa, and live at 309 Meadia Ave., Lancaster.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Norris (Rebecca Rogers) welcomed a son, David, on August 9, 1959. David joins a brother, Jeffrey, 5.

'Way back in March Dorothy Varni Child sent us a picture of a charming group of youngsters. The picture was taken in December, 1958, and the ages given are as of that time.

Standing, left to right are: Peter Sloat, 7½; Joanne Sloat, 5½; Donna Child, 3½. Seated, left to right are: David Sloat, 3½, Susan Sloat, 22 months; Chipper Child, 2; and Drew Child, 10 months.

The parents of the Child children are, of course, Tom and Dorothy Child. The little Sloats belong to Art and Bobbe (Bobbe Parcell '52)

Dottie also reported Art's transfer to Detroit. He is now General Line Divisional Manager of the Great Lakes Region for Johnson and Johnson. His office address is 2114 Guardian Bldg., Detroit 26, Mich.

Tom '50 is a salesman for C. R. Bard, and the Pacific Northwest is his territory. The Child's home address is 3622 84th Ave., S. E., Mercer Island, Wash. At the time Dorothy wrote they were planning a trip home to New Jersey this summer.

Dorothy also reports that Maxine Bishop Schwarz is living in Palo Alto, Calif., and has a boy and a girl; that Joan Sparrell Wells is in Denver, Colo. and has a boy; and that Diane Stott Briggs has two boys and a girl.

Thanks, Dorothy, for your newsy letter. Now let's hear from some of the rest of you!

52

MRS. JOHN S. BOULDEN, JR.
(Barbara Bleecker)
1605 Twin Maple Ave.
Towson 4, Md.

Gene Cobaugh writes that he and Betty now have two "rebels" in the family: Steve, 3½ and Thomas Weber, born on June 12, 1958. Both were born in Miami, Fla., where Gene became a C. P. A. in 1957 and is now associated with the firm of Pentland, Purvis, Keller and Co. The Cobaugh's address: 5100 S. W. 69th Ave., Miami, Fla.

From Rochester, N. Y., comes news of the birth of the Thomas' second daughter, Gayl Ann, on March 8. She joins Gwen Eileen, now 3, father Jack and mother Mary Grace (Jones).

Bob Birnbaum and Barbara Umanoff were married July 4 and are living at 65-74 Wetherole St., Rego Park, N. Y. Bob is with the firm of Goldstein, Golenbock & Barell, Esqs., of New York, N. Y.

The Beitels, Dick and Cynthia are living at 19602 Cherrywood Lane, Cleveland, Ohio, with their two children: Carol Lynn, 3; and Rauf Granger, 2. Dick is a sales engineer with ALCOA.

Jim LePard left ALCOA in 1958 to enter his father's firm, the S. S. Gill Company of Philadelphia. He and his wife, (Vivian Abronski '53), live at 321 Inwood Rd., Ardmore.

Smoky Ostendarp was elected varsity grid coach at Amherst College in March and began his new activities immediately.

He conducted spring drills at the Middle Three College in April.

Joanna Randolph '56 and Jack Rott were married April 18 and are living at 340 Gerard Ave., Elkins Park.

Mr. and Mrs. Dan Sanders (Liz Kulp '51) are living at 1445 Steel Rd., Haverstown. Dan is in the traffic division of the Bell Telephone Co.

Bob Davenport has accepted the position of head coach at the Tenaflly, N. J., high school.

Dr. Eugene DeBarr received his Ph.D. degree in June from Western Reserve University. He is an educational psychologist with the Cuyahoga County Division of Child Welfare and is director of the County Program. He is married to the former Leola Campanaro and has a daughter, Mary Karen. The family home is at 3684 Atherstone Road, Cleveland Heights 18, Ohio.

Donald Scheer and Nancy Brown were married August 15 and are living at 50 Payson Lane, University Heights, New Brunswick, N. J., while Don is completing the work for his Ph.D. degree in horticulture at Rutgers University.

Mrs. Roland I. Stemmeler (Rosemarie Scheerer) received her Ph.D. degree from the University of Illinois in June of 1955. The Stemmblers have one son, Robin, and live at 1110 W. Main St., Urbana, Ill.

Dr. Glenn Warner received his Ph.D. degree from the University of New Hampshire in June and is now a chemist in process development for Merck and Company, Inc., at their Danville plant. He is married to the former Nancy Cooper and has three children, Hugh, Elizabeth, and Carole. The Warners are living at Blue Hill Drive, R. D. 6, Danville.

A daughter, Sherri Lynn, was born on August 4 to Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Stevenson (Janet Miller '51). Address: 14 Reeves Rd., Greenfield Village, Woodbury, N. J.

53

MRS. JAMES A. CHAMBERS, JR.
(Barbara Roemer)
58 Linden Ave.
Verona, N. J.

Donald W. Hill was assistant professor in economics and business administration at Rollins College last year, and is now teaching and will finish work for his doctorate degree at the American University in Washington, D. C. He is living at 3736 Jason Ave., Alexandria, Va.

A son, Thomas Robert, born October 1, 1958, joins David and Debbie in the family of Mr. and Mrs. Robert H. Husted (Patricia E. Foulkes).

The Walter L. McConnells (Isabel L. Beers) are living at 290 Leonard St., Washington, while Walter is serving his internship at the Washington Hospital. He received his M.D. degree from Jefferson Medical School in June. Walter and Isabel are the proud parents of three children: Barbara, Walter Stephen and Jeffery.

Susan R. Miller and Daniel J. Strecker were married April 25 and are living at 1413 Prospect Dr., Kynlyn, Wilmington 3, Del. Susan is an instructor with The Diamond State Telephone Co.

Robert M. Schroder is married to the former Antonette Pagano and is living at 610 Waring Ave., Bronx 67, N. Y. After 2 years with the New York Stock Exchange as an examiner, he has changed to the firm of Filor, Bullard & Smyth, where he is an assistant manager. Incidentally, Richard A. Smith is a partner in the same firm.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry L. Shuldener, Jr. (Mary Ann Isaacs '54) now have a daughter.

NOVEMBER 1959

ter, Linda Beth, born January 29. She has a little brother, Jeffrey, waiting to welcome her, too.

Dr. Alan Solomon and Frances N. Jacobs of New York were married June 14. Alan is an assistant resident in medicine at the Montefiore Hospital in New York. Their address is 108 East 91st St., New York 28, N. Y.

Hugh J. Worthen has been transferred to the regional sales office in Philadelphia of Manning Maxwell and Moore, Inc. The Worthens, Hugh, Marilyn (Smith) '55, and young Bill are living at 10 Shelter Lane, Levittown.

Mary Sellers Shinn writes that she, husband David and children Holly, 1, and Brad, 4, are living in Lancaster at 1610 Ridgeview Ave. Her husband is assistant personnel manager of Lambert-Hudnut Division of Warner-Lambert.

Nancy (Schmehl) and Dick McMahon sent us a change of address notice—good luck in your new home at 485 Karl Drive, Richmond Heights, Ohio! The same best wishes go to Barbara Hunt Gurges and family for their new home at 133 Rodney Ave., New Brunswick, N. J.

We received a lovely post card from Claire (Vogelsong) and Ted Pease postmarked Juneau, Alaska! They spent their summer vacation touring Alaska, hiking, sightseeing, and island-hopping in a small plane.

54

MRS. PAUL C. TARR, III
(Anne E. Tuckerman)
413 Alliston Road
Springfield, Pa.

Mr. and Mrs. John M. Lashbrook (Constance Corey) of Woodcliffe Dr., Granby, Conn., and children, Coralie and John, Jr., are enjoying a new member of the family, Susan, who was born June 22.

Leslie B. Magee received his L.L.B. degree from Rutgers Law School in June and is a law clerk in the offices of Besson & Applegate, Madison, N. J. He and his wife, the former Laura De Rosa are living at 6-C Troy Dr., Springfield, N. J.

Virginia V. Martin and Marvin C. Kelly were married May 16 and are living at 94-30 60th Ave., Rego Park, N. Y. Marvin, an engineer, attended the University of Michigan Graduate Business School and is interested in atomic energy and research operations connected with it.

Rev. C. Frederick Mathias was installed as associate minister of the First Presbyterian Church, York, on March 5.

Dr. Lee R. Walters has been appointed an instructor in the chemistry department of Lafayette University.

Dr. and Mrs. Duane Olson (Joan V. Rafaj) have a daughter, Ruth Hylarie, born January 13. Duane received his Ph.D. in physics at Cornell University in June and is on the staff there as a research assistant. Their address is 218 Delaware Ave., Ithaca, N. Y.

Bundles of Joy—Fran and Tom Ross (Fran Harvey), announce the birth of their daughter, Laura Ann, on May 6, 1959. (Nancy Ann Raphael) writes that husband, (Tom), is now a Captain (USMC) and that their third child, Susan Beth, was born June 21, 1958. Mr. and Mrs. Charles Glass (Dottie Ryan), announce the arrival of their third child, Patricia Lee, in July, 1958.

Ens. Ray D. Crossley, II, is a staff pharmacist at the National Institute of Health (U. S. Public Health Service) at Bethesda, Md. He obtained a degree in Pharmacy from the Philadelphia College of Pharmacy and Science in 1958. He is married to the former Bernice Campbell and has one daughter, Karen Sue. The family address is 12112 Foley St., Silver Spring, Md.

Manfred H. Edelman has been named personnel supervisor of Pfizer International with headquarters in New York City.

Richard B. Reed is a Fulbright scholar at the University of Brazil in Rio De Janeiro this year.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Deprez (Marion Myers) announce the birth of their son, Robert Joseph, on June 17, 1959.

Mr. and Mrs. David R. Parkinson welcomed their first child, David Paul, August 1, 1959. They are living at 17 Babcock Drive, Levittown, N. J.

55

MRS. JOHN C. VANCE, JR.
(Jane Jones)
3 Ford Court
Charleston, S. C.

REUNE IN JUNE—1960

Since Dutch's ('58) graduation Margie Cuff Van Duzer has been living at 35 Laurel Drive, Scranton 10. He is a management trainee for Sears, Roebuck & Co. Their apartment has the Poconos in the backyard so if you are vacationing in the vicinity you'll have a chance to meet their daughter Karen.

Dr. Leard R. Altemus, Jr., was graduated from Jefferson Medical College in June and is now interning at University Hospital, Columbus, Ohio.

Katherine M. Noyes and the Rev. Thomas G. Campbell were married in June. Katherine is with the Visiting Nurse Association of New Haven, Conn., and her husband is second minister at the Redeemer Congregational Church, New Haven, Conn.

Dr. Thomas J. Cook of Sunbury received his M.D. degree from the University of Pennsylvania Medical School and is serving a year of rotating internship at Robert Packer Hospital and Guthrie Clinic at Sayre.

Dr. Joseph G. English of Williamsport was awarded the M.D. degree by the Temple University Medical School in June. He will intern at Nazareth Hospital in Philadelphia.

William A. Koelsch received his M.A., degree in geography from Clark University this past summer and is now at the University of Chicago for a Ph.D. residence with concentration in American history and minor work in geography. He is continuing as a Danforth Graduate Fellow.

Lt. and Mrs. Charles G. McLean (Claire D. Marshall) are spending a 3-year tour of duty on Bermuda where Charles is flying with the "Hurricane Hunters" based at Kindley AFB. They live at "Longview, Warwick Parish" (Phone 4291) and invite Bucknellians visiting the Island in the next 3 years to visit them. Their family consists of a son, Cevon, and 2 poodles. Their mailing address is 59th Weather Recon. Sqdn., Box 7, APO 856, New York, N. Y.

The John H. Shotts III '50 (Barbara A. Renninger) are the parents of a son, Gregory John, born April 18. They live at 33-26 82nd St., Jackson Heights 72, N. Y.

Attorney and Mrs. John Lavelle (Marianne Shutack) of Chetwynd Apts., Apt. 109, Rosemont, were both admitted to practice before the Pennsylvania Superior Court May 4 and the Carbon County Courts on May 6. Marianne has been associated with the law office of her father, Attorney George A. Shutack, who had the privilege and honor of moving for her admission to the Courts. Her husband is a member of the Philadelphia Bar. Marianne and John will be partners operating under the name of "Lavelle and Lavelle."

Owen A. Neff '53 has been selected under the Attorney General's 1959 Recruitment Program for Honor Law graduates as an attorney with the Criminal Division of the Department of Justice. This program was initiated in 1953 by the Attorney General and has proven successful both to the department and to the young attorneys participating. Owen is one of approximately fifty students to be chosen this year from a field of over 1,000 exceptionally qualified applicants.

Owen was married July 11, 1959, to Gertrude T. Wells and their address is 8878 Piney Branch Road, Apt. 201, Silver Spring, Md.

56

MRS. WILLIAM J. O'NEIL
(Jean M. Wirths)
1706 Esplanade Apt. C, Hollywood Riv.
Redondo Beach, Calif.

On April 11 Elisabeth L. Kroeck was married to Loren B. Zimmerman, and they are living at 163-B Fifth St., Fords, N. J. Elisabeth is a chemical market analyst in the General Chemical Dept. of the Allied Chemical Corporation in New York, N. Y.

Stuart A. Lewis of 901 Triphammer Rd., Ithaca, N. Y., recently opened a University Men's Shop adjacent to the Cornell University campus. He is also associated with his father in the men's clothing business in Ithaca.

Emily S. Maxwell and Bruce P. Holzschuh were married April 4. Emily and Bruce both work for American Viscose Corporation in Marcus Hook and live at 1310 Kynlyn Dr., Kynlyn Apartments, Wilmington, Del.

Mrs. Oliver L. Naudeau (Lois J. Reitz) is a publicity writer and graduate student at Mt. Holyoke College. She has one daughter, Victoria Leslie, and lives at 229 Elm St., Northampton, Mass.

Mr. and Mrs. Victor P. Rosner (Janet E. Lehr) have one son, John Charles, born November 30, 1957. Janet is teaching 3rd grade in Lewisburg while Vic is a senior at Bucknell.

Joanna Randolph was married April 18 to Jack Rott '52. Their wedding party included Bucknellians Mary O'Connor, Doc Shelley, John Scott, Abe Powelson, and Norm Freytag. Jo and Jack are living at 340 Gerard Avenue, Elkins Park 17.

Pete and Ginny (McCully) Straub announce the birth of Elizabeth Ann on June 14. The Straubs have a son, Peter Bruce, Jr.

Lois and Don Macaw announce the birth of their second daughter, Barbara Ann on April 2. The Macaws are living at 150 Seminole Avenue, Norwood.

GREG WOLF

Father, George Wolf, is already tempting son Greg (Class of '77) with a football. Mother, Carla Pieper Wolf, thinks Greg will be a center for the Bisons. The Wolf address is: 5920 Suson Place, St. Louis 39, Mo.

57 MRS. PETER CHANNELL
(Catherine L. Evans)
5552-2A Netherlands Ave.
Riverdale, N. Y.

Donald C. Stansfield received his M.S. degree from New York University and is now in the executive training program of the Bamberger Department Store in Newark, N. J.

John I. Dawes, who is in his second year of study at Dickinson Law School, Carlisle, was recently the recipient of the first John E. Mason Memorial Foundation Scholarship of $1000 awarded by Lambda Chi Alpha fraternity.

Mrs. Harry Kroger (Sandra A. Vought) is teaching in a two-room school house of the Ithaca, N. Y., school system. Her husband is teaching also and working for an advanced degree in physics at Cornell University. They are living at 127 Eddy St., Ithaca, N. Y.

Lt. George H. VanTuyl, III, returned to Alaska in January after spending a thirty-day leave in the States. He has been serving with the U. S. Army at Eielson Air Force Base near Fairbanks since February, 1958, and will complete his tour of duty there next October.

Joan L. Henry has received the Master of Science degree in Education from the University of Indiana and until July 1 is working as administrator of the National Defense Student Loan Fund and student counselor at that University.

William C. Black is a research fellow in the Department of Psychology and Division of Psychiatry at Western Reserve University. He received a graduate degree from that school in February.

BIRTHS: Daughter, Deborah Joan, born November 5, 1958, to Lt. and Mrs. Charles S. Myers of 1114 Sumner St., 26

Charleston, S. C. Daughter, Leslie Karen, born April 17, 1958, to Mr. and Mrs. Gerald R. West (Jean K. Sutherin). Daughter, Kris Karyl, born January 5, 1959, to Mr. and Mrs. Richard G. Berggren (Mary J. Wilken '56) of 1803 Central Ave., South Plainfield, N. J. Daughter, Anne Michele, born August 2, 1958, to Mr. and Mrs. David Liebeskind (E. Judith Seibel) of 577 Sandra Pl., Teaneck, N. J. Son, Gregory Edward, born January 17, 1959, to Mr. and Mrs. Anthony F. Lucas '59 (Ellena F. Steinman). Son, Scott James, born January 5, 1959, to Lt. and Mrs. James T. Stewart of 223 Forest Ave., Enterprise, Ala. Daughter, Lisa, born January 27, 1958, to Mr. and Mrs. Robert Barton (Lynn Davies). Son, Scott, born August, 1958, to Mr. and Mrs. Lee Andrews (Nancy Johnson). Daughter, Pam, born June, 1958, to Mr. and Mrs. Larry Steele (Carol Christ). Son, Donald, Jr., born August, 1958, to Mr. and Mrs. Donald Plump (Alice Frost). Daughter, Kim, born to Mr. and Mrs. Bob Hershock (Pat Groff '56). Daughter born to Mr. and Mrs. John Laud.

Babs Wilkes Blomgren and husband Steve are residing in Rochester, N. Y., where Babs is working for the Kodak Co. Steve, a 1957 graduate of Wesleyan, is a junior at the University of Rochester Medical School.

Others attending graduate schools include Gary Hess, University of Pennsylvania Dental School. Gary is a junior this year and he and his wife Barbara are living in Media where Barbara teaches elementary school. Sally Botsai gave up a Washington career to enter the student ranks at the University of Pittsburgh where she is living with her family. Phil Cerveny is a junior at the University of Pennsylvania Dental School—he and his wife Gwen Howell live in Philadelphia where Gwen is working for Prudential Life Insurance Co.

Many classmates are down South. Peg Lippincott and Lee Rankin are living in Alexandria, Va. Lee is stationed there while Peg is teaching junior high among the chaos of racial disputes. Judy Plattman and By Denenberg '56 find life in Norfolk, Va., just fine. And then there is a politician among us. Alice Beach is living in Georgetown (Washington, D. C.) and working on Capitol Hill.

58 MRS. FRANK H. RICHARDS, III
(Faith Bonsall)
9 Bigelow St.
Cambridge, Mass.

Barbara Bower left May 2 for a 2 year tour of duty in Damascus with the Foreign Service Staff of the Department of State.

Ellen Campbell had been teaching elementary subjects in the San Francisco Unified School District for the past year. She worked on her M.S. degree at Bucknell this summer.

Barbara Dickey was married to Jay W. Gorham in April. She's a research analyst with Curtis Publishing Co. They live at Wissahickon Gardens, Apt. 3-C, Philadelphia 44.

Mr. and Mrs. Mel Winstead (Merle Holden), who were married on March 21, are making their home at 122 S. Fifth St., Lewisburg.

Howie Rudge is with E. I. DuPont deNemours & Co. in Richmond, Va., as a research chemical engineer. Mrs. Rudge (Loie Ifert '59) is taking her master's degree in English Lit. at the University of Richmond. Their address is 2903 Floyd Ave., Richmond, Va.

Skip Wieder and Claire Halline were married in April. Skip has joined the staff of the Bucknell Admissions Office. Claire and Skip live at 339 Market Street, Lewisburg.

Don Slavin was married to Janet Downes last year. Don is working for Sadtler & Son, Inc., in Philadelphia as a consulting chemist.

Five of our former classmates graduated from the Columbia-Presbyterian School of Nursing in June. Eileen W. Baumann, Elizabeth Brandes, Ann Dunning, Sandra K. Howard and Barbara M. Long were the lucky ones.

Mary Anne Means and Carl A. Weegar were married June 10 and are living at MC-22, Harvard Ave., East Liverpool, Ohio.

John E. Shaffer, Jr., is supervisor of all classes for mentally retarded children in Bucks County. At the present time there are 36 such classes. John is working on his doctorate at Penn State University. He is married to the former Eleanor Broadb, has one son, Kelly Lee, and lives at Danboro.

59 MISS JEANNE F. ANDERSON
133 E. 35th St.
New York City, N. Y.

REUNE IN JUNE—1960

Our paths lead in different directions—Dave Goodwin spent the summer as an employee of Walt Disney in California's Disneyland. June Poline sailed on October 5 for France to do graduate study near Paris. Some of our '59 females have been employed in New York City. Among them are: Mary Lou Duffy, Irene Kaplan, Mona O'Neill, Wilma Rilling, Chris Kane, Pat Cagle and Elsie Rubin.

Weddings: Cynthia F. Dielman to Harold M. Danzig, June 27, 1959; Margery A. Nye to Clifford F. Lindholm, June 20, 1959; Madalyn V. Powers to Leigh W. Bauer, June 27, 1959; Judith A. Moser to Donald A. Booth, June 13, 1959; Robert Nicholson, Jr. to Barbara T. Robb, June 13, 1959; Charlotte T. Jones to Henry C. Farrell '55, July 18, 1959; William H. Lembeck to Judith A. Sullivan '61, August 29, 1959; Wilma L. Nies to Richard W. Strine '57, August 8, 1959; A. Diane Krajovic to Anthony D. Falconieri '58, August 1, 1959; Marguerite A. Norris to James R. Snyder, August 29, 1959; M. Patricia Reish to Robert B. Hemphill '58, August 15, 1959; Donna J. Gay to Frederick H. Grun, August 15, 1959; Isaac R. Reed, II to Norma J. Renninger '58, June 7, 1959; Barbara K. Clark to Alan J. Kunschner, September 19, 1959; Janet Herrmann to James Griffiths '58, September 19, 1959; Wendell Phillips to Alison Wood, September, 1959.

1959 BASKETBALL SCHEDULE

DATE	OPPONENT	PLACE
Dec. 2	Franklin and Marshall	Home
Dec. 5	La Salle	Home
Dec. 12	Gettysburg
Dec. 16	Lehigh	Bethlehem
Dec. 18	Albright	Home
Dec. 21	U. of Rhode Island	Home
Jan. 1-2	Poinsettia Tournament*	Greenville, S. C.
Jan. 4	Duke University	Durham, N. C.
Jan. 7	Delaware	Home
Jan. 12	Penn State	Home
Jan. 16	Lafayette	Easton
Jan. 29	George Washington	Fort Myers, Va.
Jan. 30	Gettysburg	Gettysburg
Feb. 2	Penn State	State College
Feb. 6	Temple	Home
Feb. 12	Rutgers	Home
Feb. 19	Rochester	Rochester, N. Y.
Feb. 20	Colgate	Hamilton, N. Y.
Feb. 21	St. Joseph's	Philadelphia
Feb. 23	Delaware	Newark, Del.
March 1	Muhlenberg	Home

(*) Includes Harvard, Furman, The Citadel, and Bucknell.

OUT OF THE ROCKWELL MAILBAG

by

VERA COBER ROCKWELL, 1911

(Continued From September Issue)

Donald and Roni Stillman, former valued members of the Bucknell faculty circle, left their home in Potsdam, New York, to take their first trip west. They sent a lively, even poetic picture story of their adventures. It begins, "High among our favorites were the Tetons with their jagged, snowly crags, hiking trails, lake view and superb camp sites, and Zion with its narrowing valley and high, red-stone walls." Would that there were space to add the rest of their fascinating experiences!

And so they came from all sides, these pictures of life, each fascinating in its own way. But perhaps none has more significance in the light of strategic need in our own homeland than the one from Freeville, N. Y. Near that village lies the many-acred community dreamed up by William R. George, in the year 1895. It was then that "Daddy" George, as he is known to thousands, took a few city boys on a camping trip. While introducing them to country life, he began to envision the pattern for what has become a phenomenal center for citizen training. It could be, he dreamed, a small community where boys and girls, whether underprivileged, overprivileged, homeless, or just children of far-sighted parents, might live as citizens in their own small nation and really get the feeling of responsible citizenship. He saw them coming in their teens, leaving at 21 to live and vote in the larger community, having been thoroughly prepared by this life-sized participation.

I am taking extra time for this story because of its meaning for all of us everywhere right now. More and better training for this responsibility has long been our need and here we have a working example of how one phase at least can be, and has been, carried out. And how did I come to know this? To answer, let me quote something we used to say to our Mexican students at the U. of Guadalajara last year. "We are teaching you, but you'd be surprised at how much you are teaching us."

And it happened here too. One of 'Daddy' George's three talented daughters was Edith '32, know to thousands as 'Edo'. And Edith elected Spanish when she came to Bucknell. I may have given her some Spanish, but she gave me richly in return. And so it was that I came to learn of her illustrious father and the way in which the George Junior Republic was meeting youth problems.

Later I had the privilege of visiting this "smallest republic in the world" while its founder was still living and while he watched with keenest interest and satisfaction the way in which his daughter Esther's husband, Donald Urquhart, was taking over the management of the Republic. And later on it was Edo's husband, Malcolm Freeborn, who became principal of the Republic High School. He and Edo have worked unceasingly in furthering this citizenship training.

Standing staunch and ready at his side from the beginning, Edo's mother, 'Mrs. Daddy,' as she was affectionately called, gave her husband help and inspiration for this unique venture, one which has been imitated widely not only in this country but in various others. After her husband's death, she continued writing Christmas letters to former citizens and friends, a custom she had started years before. But this year, instead of finding her letter in our Mailbag, we saw a copy of The Junior Citizen, a snappy, four-page news sheet printed by the citizens in their own workshop. On the front page, in center box, was the following:

"This year for the first time I am physically unable to send out my annual Christmas letter to my family and friends—including the former helpers and citizens. I want therefore, to take this opportunity of expressing my sincere best wishes to all for a Merry Christmas and Happy New Year. 'Mrs. Daddy.'"

It was unhappy news, although not unexpected, since Mrs. George is in her mid-eighties. I turned the pages with interest, scanning the many eye-catching headlines. And then I saw, as part of the Junior Republic Calendar, a statement by Arnold Grace, the plant manager, which expresses in large measure the secret of the success of this small republic.

"The citizens work at real jobs. This is what gives the work its real meaning. Work for young people at the Junior Republic has the same kind of urgency that work has in the adult world. If the boys don't run the harvester, the hay would rot in the field. If the girls don't wait on tables, nobody would eat. If the citizen who runs the linotype didn't show up for work, type for The Junior Citizen wouldn't be set and the paper would not meet its publication date. And so it is in all our work areas. The citizens perform real services for real wages which they in turn pay out for real services rendered them."

Appropriate at this point is the observation my husband has been voicing. He thinks we don't help our young people a bit by using that ambiguous, omnium-gatherum, unflattering, not-even-respectful term, "teen-agers." I know 'Daddy' George would endorse that heartily. His name for them, one that he coined himself, was 'adult-minors,' meaning of course, those who are adult physically but are prevented from sharing adult responsibilities until their twenty-first birthday. Maybe we ought to watch our language!

But it's time to close our Mailbag—and I do so reluctantly. There are so many more messages, personally dear to us, from friends and relatives. To illustrate, let me sign off with some words to listen to. They open the letter from a niece, Patty Cober Ashbrook, pastor's wife, busy mother of three, a Denison graduate. (But with quite respectable Bucknell lineage, her mother, Emma Kunkle Cober '22, her sister Jean Cober Crane '46, Uncle Ken '24, Cousin Ellen Cober Hepfer '50 and a grandfather, Alvin Cober 1896). Patty lives in Granville, home of Denison. Listen closely and you'll all but hear the sounds she describes:

"The voices of carolers fill the air tonight as the college students restlessly mark time, waiting for their Christmas vacation. Inside our home, excited little voices whisper secrets to each other that are a bit hard for adult ears to ignore. Suddenly Christmas is upon us. We stop our bustle to think of all our dear friends, scattered in so many directions, and try to pull the threads of life together in some sort of meaningful fashion so that we can share ourselves with you."

Our thanks to you, Patty, for that very appropriate phrase, "to pull the threads of life together" for that is what our Christmas letter, winging out in many directions, has done for us. And thanks again to you, John Mohr, for showing how it could be done!

Editor's note: This column, the last of a series, which first appeared in the January 1959 issue of THE BUCKNELL ALUMNUS, has been most interesting to us, the editors, as well as to the many Alumni who have voiced their pleasure in reading it. Thank you, Vera Cober Rockwell, for your fine contribution to THE BUCKNELL ALUMNUS and to your Alma Mater.

Alumni Trustee Timetable

November 16—Committee on Nominations submits three candidates to the President of the Association.

December 4—Deadline for Board approval.

January ALUMNUS—Announcement of names of three candidates in THE BUCKNELL ALUMNUS.

February 16—Petition deadline.

March 2—Election announcement in THE BUCKNELL ALUMNUS.

April 1—Ballots in mail.

May 16—Deadline for receiving ballots in Alumni Office.

June Commencement—Certification to Board of Trustees.

IN MEMORIAM

The following deaths have been reported to the Alumni Office since September, 1959. The University extends sympathy to the surviving relatives.

- 1895—Mr. William T. Harris, August 11, 1959
- 1898—Mrs. William F. Meyer (Edna E. Stifler), July 7, 1958
- 1900—Mrs. Elwood F. Gilbert (Mary M. Halfpenny) (Inst.), July 28, 1959
- 1902—Mrs. John W. McCracken (Mary A. Unger), August 21, 1959
- 1907—Miss Ruth C. Jones, September 2, 1959
Mr. Cecil M. Winbigler, March 13, 1958
- 1910—Mrs. Ned L. Askew (Sarah L. Raup), September, 1959
Mrs. Joseph J. Kerr (Hannah B. Bubbs) (Inst.), September 4, 1959
- 1913—Mrs. Thomas J. Rees (M. Jane Irey), August 5, 1959
- 1922—Mr. Edward G. Wentzel, Jr., September 15, 1959
- 1923—Miss Constance H. Bennett, September 8, 1959
Mr. Paul B. Cooley, October 15, 1959
Mr. John C. Koch, Sr., August 29, 1959
- 1927—Mr. Irvin A. Seltzer, November 12, 1952
- 1928—Miss D. Elizabeth Davis, July 20, 1959
Mr. William C. Knoll
Mr. Kenneth E. McGinnis, August 29, 1959
- 1931—Mr. Robert H. Keiser, August 14, 1959
- 1932—Mr. Walter E. Hall, August 23, 1959
- 1941—Mrs. Leslie F. Williams (Marcella Burt), October 6, 1959
- 1950—Mr. David C. Derr, September 13, 1959
- 1961—Mr. Nicholas A. Sirianni, October 1, 1959

THANK YOU

The return of the "reader" survey, which appeared on the back cover of the September issue, has topped all "reader" surveys ever taken by the editors of THE BUCKNELL ALUMNUS. Thanks to all of you who have showed your interest by returning the survey forms.

If you have not taken the opportunity to criticize your alumni magazine do so NOW.

CAMPUS CALENDAR

NOVEMBER

- 3 Bucknell Forum—Speaker: Mr. C. J. Kushell, Jr. '27, Vice President—Finance, Montgomery Ward and Company.
- 6-7 Cap and Dagger Play—"A Streetcar Named Desire" in the University Theatre.
- 7 Football—Bucknell vs. Colgate at Hamilton, N. Y.
- 10 Class of 1956 Lecture—Dr. J. Orin Oliphant, Chairman, Department of History
- 14 Parents Weekend—Bucknell vs. Temple in Memorial Stadium.
- 18-20 Religion-in-Life Program.
- 21 Football—Bucknell vs. Delaware in Memorial Stadium.

DECEMBER

- 2 Basketball—Bucknell vs. Franklin and Marshall in Davis Gymnasium.
- 2-3 Artist Series—The Shakespeare Festival Players with Arnold Moss in "The Tempest" in the University Theatre.
- 5 Basketball—Bucknell vs. LaSalle in Davis Gymnasium.
- 10 Bucknell Forum.
- 12 Basketball—Bucknell vs. Gettysburg in Davis Gymnasium.
- 13 Mixed Chorus Christmas Program in Davis Gymnasium.
- 16 Basketball—Bucknell vs. Lehigh at Bethlehem.
- 18 Basketball—Bucknell vs. Albright in Davis Gymnasium.
- 21 Basketball—Bucknell vs. Rhode Island in Davis Gymnasium.

THE BUCKNELL
ALUMNUS

January 1960

DUAL DEVELOPMENT FUND

PASSES THE MILLION MARK

THE BUCKNELL ALUMNUS

OFFICERS OF THE ASSOCIATION

President

Charles F. Fox, Jr., M.D. '31

First Vice President

Robert W. Dill '27

Second Vice President

Mrs. Clyde P. Bailey (Dorothy Lemon '29)

Treasurer

Donald B. Young '33

Secretary and Editor

John H. Shott '22

Assistant Secretary and Assistant Editor

C. Bruce Rossiter '56

BOARD OF DIRECTORS

MRS. CHARLES E. COPELAND (Amorita Sesinger '22),
10 Ridgedale Ave., Madison, N. J. (1960)

DONALD W. GLOVER '41, Mullica Hill, N. J. (1960)

THOMAS W. SPECK '37, 708 Russell Pl., Plainfield, N. J.
(1960)

ROBERT W. DILL '27, 5136 Butler Pike, Plymouth Meeting,
Pa. (1961)

WILLIAM D. GOLIGHTLY '25, 309 W. Webster Ave.,
Scranton, Pa. (1961)

MRS. PAUL M. SHOWALTER (S. Katharine Graham '33),
855 St. Louis St., Lewisburg, Pa. (1961)

MRS. CLYDE P. BAILEY (Dorothy Lemon '29), 16
Churchill Rd., Pittsburgh 35, Pa. (1962)

CHARLES F. FOX, JR., M.D. '31, 180 Washington Ave.,
Vandergrift, Pa. (1962)

D. EUGENE LONG '29, 131 Avon Place, West Hempstead,
N. Y. (1962)

EUGENE P. BERTIN '17, 201 S. Main St., Muncy, Pa.
(1963)

ELINOR CHILDS '52, 74 Mt. Kemble Ave., Morristown,
N. J. (1963)

ROBERT H. TAYLOR '48, 214 Avon Rd., Narberth, Pa.
(1963)

CHARLES T. FARROW '26, P. O. Box 29, Westfield, N. J.
(1964)

IRVIN GRAYBILL, JR. '49, Middleburg, Pa. (1964)

ALLEN F. JONES '25, 2 Linn St., Progress, Harrisburg, Pa.
(1964)

() Year Term Expires.

Alumni Headquarters—GROUND FLOOR, EAST COLLEGE

Member—AMERICAN ALUMNI COUNCIL

ON THE COVER — Looking at the Daniel C. Roberts Hall the camera's eye catches the first snowfall on the Bucknell campus.

The back cover is your invitation to celebrate Bucknell's 114th birthday with fellow Bucknellians. Your local alumni club will be sending you additional detailed information, so mark this date on your calendar TODAY.

VOLUME XLV

JANUARY 1960

No. 3

IN THIS ISSUE

Alumni	Page
George L. Abernethy '32	18
Berkeley V. Hastings '13	15
H. Boardman Hopper H'56	3
Mary A. Kunkel '14	11
Charles A. Larson '51	24
Chester R. Leaber '19	15
Robert C. McGowan '47	23
Andrew R. Mathieson '20	14
Milton Mensch '48	22
Dayton L. Ranck '16, H'51	19
Louis W. Robey '04, H'59	15
Harry G. Schad H'55	14
John T. Shirley '09, H'57	14
Kenneth W. Slifer '26	14
Harvey F. Smith '94, H'24	3
George S. Stevenson '15	17
Lewis E. Theiss '02, H'24	19
Harry R. Warfel '20	18
Vincent B. Wayland '34	8
T. Cortlandt Williams, Sr. '20	15
A Glance Back and a Look Ahead	6, 7, 26
A Report on Finances	10
Alumni Club and Trustee Directory	27
Alumni Club Meetings	Back Cover
Alumni in the News	17, 18
Alumni Trustee Timetable	25
Bucknell Dual Development Fund	13-16
Class Reports	19-26
Grammar Easy As Two and Two	18
In Memoriam	26
Middle East Musings	8
News From the Campus	11, 12
Sons and Daughters of Alumni	4, 5
The Student View	9
Two Trustees End Service	3
Winter Sports	12

THE BUCKNELL ALUMNUS is published in January, March, May, September and November by BUCKNELL UNIVERSITY. Entered as second-class matter December 30, 1930 at the post office at Lewisburg, Pa., under Act of August 24, 1912.

JANUARY 1960

TWO TRUSTEES END SERVICE

BUCKNELL lost the services of two dedicated and devoted trustees when Dr. H. Boardman Hopper and Dr. Harvey F. Smith withdrew this year from active participation in the affairs of the University. For reasons of health, both requested that they not be re-elected to the Board of Trustees when their terms expired in June and their resignations were regretfully accepted. Dr. Hopper had been a trustee for 41 years and Dr. Smith had served his alma mater in the same capacity for 30 years.

Dr. H. Boardman Hopper

A graduate of Haverford College in the Class of 1906, Dr. Hopper joined the Bucknell Board in 1918 to continue a tradition begun by his grandfather, William Bucknell, and later carried on by his father, Dr. Harry S. Hopper, who was chairman of the Board from 1890 to 1917.

SERVED SEVEN PRESIDENTS

A member of the investment firm of Hopper, Soliday, and Company, founded by his uncle and father in 1872 as "William G. Hopper and Company," H. Boardman Hopper made available to the University his special knowledge and ability during the administrations of seven Bucknell presidents. From 1918 until 1959 he served on the Trustee Finance Committee and was its chairman from 1921 until 1957. For 23 years, from 1936 until 1959, he served also on the Trustee Committee on Investments. To both of these assignments he gave generously of his time and talents in a period marked by unparalleled expansion of the financial program of the college.

In 1956 he was awarded the honorary degree of Doctor of Business Administration by Bucknell in recognition of "his notable integrity and efficiency in business affairs, his intimate relation to the University, and his expenditure of time, money, and effort in the interests of Bucknell."

In addition to serving Bucknell, Dr. Hopper also devoted considerable time to the work of the Northern Baptist Convention as a member of that body's Board of Education and Publication and to the program of the Pennsylvania Baptist Convention as a member of that Group's Investment Advisory Committee.

FROM BASEBALL TO MEDICINE

One of Bucknell's "athletic greats," Harvey F. Smith was acclaimed by his classmates in 1894 as one of the best all-around athletes ever graduated from the University and for two years played professional baseball with the Washington Senators before receiving his doctor's degree from the University of Pennsylvania's Medical School in 1897. In 1900 he joined the staff of the Harrisburg Hospital and the field of medicine for more than half a century has benefited by his major contributions to promote the well-being of his fellowmen.

Elected to B. U.'s Board of Trustees in 1929, he expanded his interests to assist in several different phases of the University's program over the next 30 years. These included noteworthy service on the Committee on Instruction, the Committee on Endowment and Scholarships, the Committee on Alumni Relations, and the Committee on Athletics, Student Health, and Physical Education. He was chairman of the last-named Committee from 1941 until 1950 and continued as a member of that group from 1950 until 1959.

Bucknell paid tribute to Dr. Smith as one of the country's leading physicians and surgeons in 1924, when it conferred upon him the honorary degree of Doctor of Science.

ACCLAIMED AS SURGEON

To central Pennsylvania residents, Dr. Smith is perhaps best known for his services on the staff of the Harrisburg Hospital, where for many years he was chairman of the institution's Medical and Surgical Directorate. His retirement several years ago as chief of the Hospital's Surgical Staff brought many expressions of appreciation in the public press for his brilliant record and his significant contributions to his chosen profession.

Dr. Smith had been instrumental in founding the Hospital's Tumor Clinic, one of the first in the state, and in recognition of his leadership, the Clinic was named for him in 1952. For over 40 years Dr. Smith has been a leader in cancer control work and has served with distinction on the Commission on Cancer and as director of the Pennsylvania Division of the American Cancer Society.

Other groups which have benefited by his enthusiasm and professional skill include the State Medical Society, and the American College of Surgeons. He has served on several important commissions for the Medical Society and his work on the Commission on Appendicitis Mortality has been particularly important.

Dr. Harvey F. Smith

CIVIC LEADER

Despite the many demands upon his time, Dr. Smith has been ever conscious of his civic obligations and has responded generously to many requests for his assistance in carrying out community projects. As chairman of the Harrisburg Rotary Club Foundation and as president of the Harrisburg Chamber of Commerce, he filled important posts directly related to the progress of the city in which he has made his home for more than half a century.

In their services to Bucknell, both Dr. Hopper and Dr. Smith have performed in the high tradition characteristic of the many distinguished men and women whose contributions to our University in the role of trustees have been, in large measure, a reflection of the love and esteem in which they hold Bucknell.

SONS AND DAUGHTERS OF ALUMNI TRADITIONALLY ENROLL AT BUCKNELL

THE PICTORIAL account on this and the following page provide proof that sons and daughters of alumni are, indeed, a handsome lot. A record forty-one members of the freshman Class of 1963 have either a Bucknell dad or Bucknell mother or both.

Relatives of freshmen other than mother and father include: 4 grandfathers, 4 grandmothers, 31 uncles, 12 aunts, 26 brothers, 12 sisters, 4 brothers-in-law, and 53 other more distant relationships. Bucknell continues in the "family" college tradition as generation after generation follow in their Bucknell parents' footsteps.

The names of each of the entering students and their Bucknell parents are listed below each photograph. The parent's name appears in bold face type.

Barbara A. Bogar
Robert H. Bogar '31
Janet Blair Bogar '33

Bruce D. Bonta
Henry G. Bonta '27

Clinton A. Conduct, Jr.
Clinton A. Conduct '37

Veronica T. Convery
William J. Convery '30

Janet R. Cupp
Emerson C. Cupp '19

Linda E. Davies
J. Norman Davies '26

John C. Demos, Jr.
John C. Demos '35

Richard W. Dobbie
James M. Dobbie '33

Joan E. Egge
William N. Egge '31

Carolyn E. Faul
David L. Faul '29

Patricia J. Gall
David C. Gall '19
Miriam Oakley Gall '22

Margaret A. Harpster
William F. Harpster '28

Frank T. Henderson
George D. Henderson '33

Rodger H. Hoffman
William M. Hoffman '38

Richard A. Johnson
George W. Johnson '31
Edith H. Johnson '34

Lois K. Klein
Lois Grabau Klein '39

Jonathan N. Lawson
Lawrence W. Lawson '22

Scott R. Lehman
Thomas E. Lehman, III '35

Wayne E. Lowery
Jay E. Lowery '38

William T. Mahood, Jr.
William T. Mahood '29

Jane A. McCay
Donald L. McCay '34
Mildred Easley McCay '33

William D. McRae, III
Dorothy Oaks McRae '40

Kathryn G. McVicker
Betty Davis McVicker '39

John N. Morris
Charles M. Morris '31

John T. Rauffenbart
Thomas W. Rauffenbart '36

Linda J. Raymaley
Edwin R. Raymaley, Jr. '36
Doris Johnson Raymaley '35

George W. Richards, III
George W. Richards, II '37

Charles A. Sheldon, III
Charles A. Sheldon '37

Edward B. Smalstig
Edward J. Smalstig '31
Alice Drennan Smalstig '31

James S. Straub
Dorothy S. Straub '31

William N. Sweet, Jr.
William N. Sweet '32

Lloyd E. Tressler
Isaac J. Tressler '40

Michael H. Ufberg
David D. Ufberg '34

Judith C. Vasquez
Anthony F. Vasquez '37

Thomas M. Waddell
Robert N. Waddell '20

Lynn T. Wagner
Donald E. Wagner '27

Frederick A. Waldner
Harold E. Waldner '32

Richard E. Wells
C. Edmund Wells '33
Jean Earnest Wells '36

Thomas M. Whitehead
Genevieve P. Whitehead '28

Ronald F. Wood
Francis L. Wood '28

James H. Yoder
Harold D. Yoder '33

CHARLES W. CHRIST, JR. '61

Senior Tony Rinaldo (65), junior Paul Terhes (far left), and several unidentified Bisons combine fierce line play and team effort to halt Rutgers before 10,000 Homecoming Day fans.

A GLANCE BACK and A LOOK AHEAD

by BRADLEY N. TUFTS
Sports Information Director

VARSITY FOOTBALL

EVEN a quick look at the past football season indicates that there is much more to the performance of Coach Bob Odell's team than is shown by the 4-5 record. The Bisons improved considerably on the disappointing mark of a year ago and at the same time moved up three notches to fourth in the Middle Atlantic Conference standings.

The highlights of the season were the tremendous upset victories over Buffalo and Rutgers in the first two home games and the Homecoming contest with the Scarlet Knights must go down as one of the great Bison victories in recent years.

Although it was a losing effort, the final game with Delaware Lambert Cup winners was actually one of the top performances of the year. The Blue Hens had one of the top teams in the East, but the Bisons held them to a 6-6 halftime deadlock before finally succumbing to the visitors' powerful running attack.

Largely responsible for keeping the Odellmen in the game was the passing combination of quarterback Paul Terhes and end Jack Eachus. Terhes set a new Bucknell game record by completing 23 of 36 passes and Eachus caught eight of his aeriels, also a new game mark. Terhes finished the year with 97 completions for a season high and again captured the MAC passing and total offense crowns.

Eachus was far from lonely all season although he was split off from the rest of the line. Jack caught 38 passes for a new season record and brought his three-year career total to 62. He was named to the All-East team of the week following the Delaware contest and also received Little All-America honorable mention in the Associated Press poll.

Senior tackle Jim Brady, the outstanding interior lineman for the Bisons all year, was named to the All-East team of the week following the Temple game. Terhes was chosen as first string quarterback on the All-East small college team and received honorable mention on the AP Little All-American and United Press International All-American teams.

When Odell calls the team out for spring practice this year the absence of the thirteen graduating seniors will be especially noticeable. In addition to Brady and Eachus the other seniors are Captain Larry Mathias, Larry Claycomb, John Bergfeld, Dennis Cox, Doug Forsyth, Clint Gilkey, Ray Hettche, Neil Murphy, Charlie Negron, Tony Rinaldo and Bob Patzwall.

Junior fullback George Moncilovich was elected captain of the 1960 team. "Mono" led the team in rushing this fall with 295 yards, was second in pass receiving, and was a standout on defense all year.

FRESHMAN FOOTBALL

For the second straight year Bob Latour's Baby Bisons finished the season with a 3-1 record. The highlight of the year came in the final game with the Lehigh frosh when the Bisons came off the field with a hard earned 31-30 victory to knock the Engineers from the undefeated ranks.

After an opening game victory over the Gettysburg frosh, the Bison Cubs dropped a heart breaking 7-6 decision to the Bloomsburg State Teachers College junior varsity. A decisive 20-0 victory over the Delaware frosh preceded the Lehigh game.

Once again Bob Odell can look forward to having a fine crop of sophomores on hand next year. The frosh, under the direction of Latour and assistant coach Franny Hatton, improved with each game and several men will figure prominently in next year's plans.

Outstanding for the yearlings were ends Bob Bodtke, Dick Lebec, Paul Mulcahy, and Dick Tyrrell, tackles Chuck Johnson, Chuck Newland, Darryl Novak and Dick Orłowski, guards Ron Hohowski, Charles Johnson and George Tydings and centers Dean Stump and George Rieu.

The top backs included quarterback Bob Ippolito, halfbacks Wes Irvine, Bob Theiss and Dick Johnson and fullbacks Dennis Lucas and Joe Garruto.

VARSITY SOCCER

For the first time since 1949 Bucknell's soccer team finished the year with a winning record. Coach Hank Peters' team wound up the campaign with a 5-0 victory over Muhlenberg for a 6-4 record.

The highly successful season included victories over Penn State, Lycoming, Wilkes, Gettysburg, Delaware and Muhlenberg and the only defeats came at the hands of strong teams from Temple, Elizabethtown, Navy and Drexel.

With 28 goals in the ten games, the Bison booters established a new team season scoring mark and also tied the 1948 team for the most victories in a season. Sophomore Lyman Ott, a Co-Captain elect of the 1960 team, lead the scoring parade with ten goals.

The highlight of the year was the 2-1 victory over Penn State in the season opener on goals by Denny Sweetman and Norm Edgett. It was the first victory for the Bisons in 24 meetings between the two teams.

Leading the offensive parade all year were Ott, Sweetman, Dave Boger, Don Trudell and Co-Captain Steve Flamhaft. Flamhaft, a halfback, fullback Roger Mackey and goalie Howie Levine were outstanding on defense.

Bob Schad, a junior, was elected a Co-Captain along with Ott at the conclusion of the season. He was also a Co-Captain of the team this year, but was injured in the Penn State game and saw little action the rest of the campaign.

FRESHMAN SOCCER

It was the first official freshman soccer team in Bucknell history, but Coach Bill Gold's team started things off in a big way by compiling a 4-0 record for the only undefeated mark at Bucknell this fall.

The Cub booters defeated the Penn State frosh, the Susquehanna varsity and twice took the measure of the Lock Haven junior varsity. Center forward Chris Parlanti led the scoring parade with 13 goals, but in the long run it was the fine team play, both on offense and defense, and the outstanding coaching job turned in by Bill, that produced the fine record.

VARSITY BASKETBALL

With victories in two of the first three games, Coach Benn Kribbs' basketball team went up against five more outstanding opponents before returning home after Christmas to face Delaware on January 7.

The Bisons downed Franklin and Marshall 82-55 in the season opener, lost to LaSalle 84-62 and then defeated a scrappy Gettysburg team 80-71. Both victories were marked by some fine rebounding and shooting by Kribbs' relatively inexperienced squad and the loss to the Explorers came at the hands of one of the top basketball powers in the East.

The Bisons, fighting opening game jitters, held only a 36-31 advantage at halftime against F. and M., but pulled away in the second period behind the fine play of Captain Tommy Thompson, junior Mike Kasnick and sophomore Joe Steiner. Thompson paced the scorers with 20 points while Steiner picked up 16 and pulled down 20 rebounds. Junior Dave Evans had 13 points and Kasnick and junior Bruce Babich hit for 12 each.

Tommy Thompson, senior guard from Kane and captain of the 1959-60 basketball Bisons, is the only returning starter from last year's fine team.

An outstanding LaSalle five came to town on December 5 and gave a good indication that it is a leading contender for the Middle Atlantic Conference title. Bob Herdelin and Bob Alden paced the visitors with 24 points apiece. The Bisons held the Explorers to a 40-36 half-time margin, but were unable to cope with their shooting and rebounding after intermission. Steiner led the Bucknell attack with 21 points and 16 rebounds and Thompson picked up 14 points.

The Bisons fought off a second half Gettysburg rally with eight foul shots in the final 64 seconds to gain their first Middle Atlantic Conference victory of the season. Bucknell led by 39-26 at halftime, but had to overcome some sharp outside shooting by the Bullets to pull out the victory. Babich led the scorers with 23 points. Evans had 21 points and 13 rebounds and Steiner and Thompson both scored 13.

Prior to their appearance in the Poinsettia Tournament the Bisons faced Lehigh, Albright and Rhode Island. They played the opening game of the tournament in Greenville, S. C., against The Citadel.

Thompson is the only returning starter from last year's fine team, but several juniors and some sophomores up from last year's frosh team have combined to give the Bisons a well balanced attack. The rebounding of Steiner, Evans and Babich has been most encouraging and they have received some help from sophomores Don Lampus and Mike Fadden.

Fadden, Kasnick and senior letterman Pete Matz have alternated in the backcourt with Thompson to add speed and some sharp shooting to the attack.

FRESHMAN BASKETBALL

The season opened on a sour note, but impressive victories over the Sunbury Y. M. C. A. and Gettysburg in the next two games have been good indications that once again Bucknell has come up with an outstanding freshman basketball team.

Coach Ed Pfeiffer's Baby Bisons dropped an 83-72 decision to the Franklin and Marshall yearlings in the opening contest, but then came back strong to post an 82-49 victory over Sunbury and a week later they ran up an 84-47 count against the Gettysburg frosh.

The team does not have exceptional height although 6-5 Hal Smoker from Columbia has been doing an outstanding rebounding job both on offense and defense. He pulled down 46 rebounds in the first three games and also leads in scoring with a 16.0 average.

Trailing Smoker in the scoring column are Bill Storch with 44 points, Larry Magargal with 42 points, Sam Penrose with 31 points and Cy Young with 27 points. Magargal was high with 22 points against Sunbury and Storch hit the same number against Gettysburg.

The yearlings, playing a fourteen-game schedule, also went up against Lehigh and Albright prior to Christmas vacation.

VARSITY SWIMMING

Swimming is only in its fourth year at Bucknell, but already Coach Bob Latour's charges have made a name for themselves in Eastern swimming circles. The Bisons have won six of eight starts for the past two seasons and hope to post an even better record this winter.

The schedule this season has also been stepped up. LaSalle, Lafayette, Rutgers and Lehigh are new additions to the slate, and Bucknell has been given the added honor of hosting the Middle Atlantic Conference Championships on March 4 and 5.

The schedule is the toughest the Bisons have ever had, but Latour has an outstanding group of sophomores

(Continued on Page 26)

MIDDLE EAST MUSINGS

by REV. VINCENT B. WAYLAND '34

DURING the past summer it was my privilege and opportunity to spend several weeks in the Middle East as a member of a study seminar group sponsored by the American Christian Palestine Committee. We visited in both regions of the United Arab Republic (Egypt and Syria); Lebanon, Jordan, and Israel. We also spent some time in Rome, where we visited the headquarters of the Food and Agricultural Organization of the U. N., and in Athens.

Naturally, in such a brief visit, crowded with interviews with the diplomatic representatives of the United States; government officials of the nations in which we were visiting; United Nations personnel; and some sight-seeing it is impossible to gather more than fleeting impressions of the vast problems that crowd one upon another in this troubled part of the world. However, I did return with three definite impressions.

STUDIO ANGELO — ALBERT G. FLOUTI

The author, Vincent B. Wayland '34 (left), is introduced to His Majesty, Hussein I, of Jordan during Rev. Wayland's visit to Jordan this past summer.

First, one can not help but feel a deep sense of compassion for the million or more Arab refugees who are living in conditions of almost unbelievable hopelessness. That they were misled and did not need to leave their homes and become refugees is somewhat beside the point in seeking a solution to their problems. The cruel fact is they are refugees and their lot is not being bettered by the various Arab leaders who exploit their plight to further certain pan-Arab propaganda aims and to add to the festering deterioration of the efforts of the United Nations and other agencies to bring about a permanent settlement of the Israeli-Arab dispute. These refugees constitute one of the most pressing problems that call for fresh approaches by all men of good will in seeking an equitable solution. Left alone these people will continue to be the pawns in a game of power politics that involves the prestige of many Arab leaders in Africa and Asia.

S

Secondly, one can not help but be filled with an unbounded admiration for the State of Israel and its efforts to provide a national homeland for the Jewish people of the world. The tremendous strides that have been made during the past decade in the reclamation of the deserts, the reforestation of the barren hills, the establishment of industry, the creation of farms and cities, and the establishment of a democratic state are impressive. The accomplishments are even more historic when one remembers they were attained under the conditions of war and meant the blending of many diverse cultures into one nation. The "pressure cooker" courses in Hebrew to give a common language for communication; and the "leap-frogging" of two milleniums of cultural and economic evolution to bring primitive tribesmen from Africa and Asia into a fairly even level of competition with the European Jewish immigrants are accomplishments that make our melting pot experience in the United States appear to be a very slow process.

Thirdly, one returns with a feeling of apprehension. The militant optimism of the Israeli and the equally militant opposition of the Arab world clash in discordant words and deeds. The fierce determination of Israel to stand alone, if necessary, to protect the state which has been created by their efforts and to preserve the social and political order which they believe to be peculiarly suited to the needs of Israel's citizens and tailor-made for the resources that are available sometimes seems a trifle too uncompromising. But then one hears the Arab nationalists proclaim their aim of "driving Israel into the sea." The Nassers and the Kassemis shout out the Maliks and the Husseins. Their schemes, often grandiose, for the development of their nations are too often based upon the desire to see Israel destroyed rather than upon a genuine desire to see the betterment of their people. And so this haunting apprehensiveness fills the Middle East and creates the uneasy peace that is often broken. If the Arab world could only be led by its own leaders to enter a long-range peaceful development of the resources, human and physical, rather than measuring all development in terms of the anti-Israel motive that seems to be the sole cohesive force in the Arab political scene, it would be a long stride toward easing world tensions in the Middle East.

Aside from these political and economic factors, the religious person cannot help sense the feeling of the living past. Jerusalem, the holy city of Judaism, Christianity and Islam; the Shepherd's Field where angels sang of peace and goodwill; Nazareth; the Sea of Galilee—All of these remind one that the values of our western culture received some of their greatest forward impulses from the teaching of the prophets of Israel and the Carpenter from Nazareth; and that here took place the long historical development of the Judeo-Christian tradition. And here today the western values of the worth of the individual and democratic action are receiving one of their most severe tests in the crucible of international and internal politics and economics.

The Student View

by BOBBIE RUNK '61

PRESENTING THE FORUM

Bucknell creates a new program to keep the students informed about world affairs

ONE EVENING in November, Vaughan Literature Auditorium overflowed with students and faculty who listened in tense excitement as the national program coordinator for the N. A. A. C. P. and the head of the Washington Bureau of leading Southern newspapers debated the question, "Are Negro Voting Rights Being Abused?" In the spring, a capacity crowd is expected to listen to Benjamin Davis, chairman of the New York Communist Party, speak on Communism. Last month there were two outstanding speakers who considered with us the most vital and relevant question, "Must We Compromise Labor's Bargaining Position in Order to Rid Labor Unions of Racketeering?"

Where are these exciting new programs coming from? The group responsible for bringing programs of this caliber to Bucknell is a new and very active group which functions under the name of the Bucknell Student Forum. The Bucknell Student Forum is composed of students from all classes who are interested in bringing to Bucknell outstanding speakers in literary, economic, scientific and political fields. The organization was born last year through the efforts of several interested students who sensed the need for a more academic atmosphere on the campus. The first program which dealt with Negro voting rights was such a success that the campus is looking forward to the remaining programs with great anticipation.

The Forum is composed of a president; vice president; secretary; treasurer; and adviser (Robert B. Hilliard, professor of history). Students, acting as committee chairmen for the particular programs in which they are interested, contact speakers and arrange the programs. Volunteer students from the campus serve as committee members for the program of their own choosing. About a week before each program, a preliminary briefing is conducted by the program chairman to familiarize the audience with the question at hand. Pertinent material is placed on reserve at the library.

The Forum programs that are scheduled for this year, in addition to the question of Negro voting rights, are: "Is There a Place for Literary Censorship in the Framework of Our American Democracy?" The speakers for this program are Spencer Coxe, Executive Director of the Pennsylvania Branch of the American Civil Liberties Union, and William Bell, Professor of Law at the Villanova Law School.

The speakers for the question, "Must We Compromise Labor's Bargaining Position in Order to Rid Labor Unions of Racketeering?", have not been selected. The fourth program will feature Benjamin Davis, chairman of the New York Communist Party, speaking on a phase of Communism. The subject matter for the fifth and sixth programs has not been decided at this date. One consideration has been in the field of politics in which leading Republicans and Democrats would be invited to discuss the major campaign issues. It has been suggested that an invitation be sent to Admiral Hymen Rickover to speak on education. Also under consideration as a possible Bucknell Student Forum program is a discussion of the function of modern poetry and the role of a poet by outstanding poets such as Carl Sandburg or Robert Frost.

Too often on a college campus the student is so entrenched in his studies and activities that he loses sight of the vital world issues at hand. Very few students, except those taking Political Science 103, sit down to read a daily newspaper. The outside world seems many miles away to the student when he is sheltered snugly in his own little world of the college campus. Yet this is the very student who will leave the halls of ivy and find himself suddenly at the wheel of the world, not knowing in which direction to turn. Knowledge per se is empty; our task is to mold knowledge into wisdom which can be directed toward improving man's condition.

We enter the portals of college, our cups running over with the wisdom and erudition of our high school years. How many of us have asked ourselves before entering college if there was enough left to learn which could keep us busy for four years? We soon begin to realize what a wealth of knowledge we have inherited in books and in the minds of men and women who have devoted their lives to sharing this knowledge. Inevitably, there comes the frustrating revelation that the more we learn the greater seems to be our ignorance. This is the beginning of human wisdom. Socrates was "wiser than this man: neither of us knows anything that is really worth knowing, but he thinks that he has knowledge when he has not, while I, having no knowledge, do not think that I have."

To be discerning and to judge soundly concerning what is right or wrong, proper or improper, is the mark of a wise man. It is wise to cultivate the ability to deal sagaciously with facts as they relate to conduct and to life. Indeed, we must know the facts first, but, in order to become truly wise, we must be able to apply them judiciously to life. With study comes not only the mastery of facts, but also the ability to think and reason. In the process of living, decisions must be made and courses of action must be chosen. To deny the striving for this ability, consciously or unconsciously, is to deny the very meaning of education. It is for this reason we cannot wrap ourselves selfishly in our own small lives, but must keep ourselves informed about the world which will be ours in a few short years.

The value of a program such as the Bucknell Student Forum lies in its attempt to create an awareness on campus of the problems which are man's present concern. There is the hope that knowledge gained through studies and programs like the Bucknell Student Forum will help to develop wisdom in young men and women and a better understanding of life.

A REPORT ON FINANCES

by JOHN F. ZELLER III, Vice President—Business and Finance

THE DETAILED financial report, which is published each year by the Treasurer, Donald B. Young '33, after completion of the annual audit by the University auditor, is again printed in black ink. But despite the substantial increase in fees which was effective in September, 1958, the net transferred to surplus at the end of the year ($4,126.16) was less than 1/2 of the preceding year's figure. Substantial increases in faculty salaries (up from $833,000 to $1,037,000), as well as other increased operating costs, used up the fee increase—and more. It required the best alumni fund record to date ($58,095.85) plus increased enrollment (2092 in 1957-58 to 2198 in 1958-59) to avoid red ink.

Educational and general expenses ($2,968,914.22) exceeded tuition and fees ($2,341,304.13) by $627,610.09. This deficit was made up by income from endowment, gifts, (including the alumni fund), and by income from auxiliary activities, which exceeded auxiliary activities expense by $165,513.13.

During the year 983 students received financial aid by way of scholarships, grants, discounts, employment, or tuition remission for a total of $289,874.42. Of this amount $101,098.71 was in work aid.

$2,142,969.31 was received in gifts from 5,971 donors. Of this amount, including the alumni fund, alumni contributed $146,151.26. Parents and friends contributed $132,338.00, foundations contributed $1,808,494.68 (including $1,475,000 from the Olin Foundation for the construction of Coleman Hall), and corporations contributed $55,984.99.

Capitalized additions to physical plant also reflect the Olin gift and bring the total value of plant and equipment to $10,489,302.32. Book value of endowment increased by $558,811.54, bringing the total to $5,390,859.58. Market value as of June 30th, 1959, was approximately $8,000,000. Endowment increases reflect additional gifts from the Kress Foundation matching other gifts to endowment at 1 to 4, from the Lindback Foundation for the endowment of the Christian R. Lindback Chair of Business Administration, from Mrs. Ellen Clarke Bertrand for the Library and from other Trustees and friends in response to the Dual Development Campaign.

While 1958-59 brought substantial improvement in the faculty salary brackets at Bucknell, placing them just above the national averages, faculty salaries are still too low to permit any complacency. Further upward adjustments must be made if Bucknell is to keep pace with the best colleges of the Middle Atlantic area. The comprehensive fee of $1750 per student pays over 85% of Bucknell's present costs but it is not sufficient to meet future needs and it is several hundred dollars below the cost at many other institutions of Bucknell's caliber. Regardless of how much direct aid is received, every Bucknell student now receives the type of scholarship which is represented by the 15% he does not pay toward the cost of his education, plus an additional unmeasured hidden benefit from those faculty members whose salaries have not yet reached the level demanded by an awakened realization of higher education's needs. Increased tuition and expanding endowments will eventually erase this hidden benefit, but even at Bucknell, where the endowment is low and there is no state appropriation, students will continue to pay 15% to 20% less than the cost of their education. Education is still the best bargain—and the best investment.

Bucknell University Operating Statement

Academic and Fiscal Year 1958-59

WHERE THE INSTRUCTIONAL DOLLAR COMES FROM:

83%	From Student Fees—Tuition and General Fee	$2,341,304.13
10%	From Income on Endowment	272,503.67
3%	From Gifts: (Including $58,095.85 from Alumni Fund in 1958-59)	85,349.48
4%	From Miscellaneous Sources—Registration fees, conventions, testing, discounts, and other sources	108,369.79
100%	Total Income for Educational Purposes	$2,807,527.07
	In addition Bucknell operated certain "self-supporting" auxiliary enterprises, residences, dining halls, bookstore, intercollegiate athletics, etc. Their gross income totaled	1,489,708.81
	Total University Income	$4,297,235.88

WHERE THE INSTRUCTIONAL DOLLAR GOES:

35%	For Faculty Salaries	$1,036,890.75
4%	For Library	118,775.11
20%	For Other Direct Educational Expenses, including administration, laboratory and classroom equipment and supplies, travel, extension, etc.	584,689.43
13%	For Operation and Maintenance of Physical Plant	375,603.17
6%	For Fringe Benefits—Retirement program, Social Security, Group Insurance	160,653.90
6%	For Scholarships and Grants-in-Aid	187,275.71
8%	For Improvements to Buildings and Equipment	242,300.14
8%	For Miscellaneous Expenses—Bulletins, communications, mimeographing, public relations, insurance, alumni service, etc.	262,726.01
100%	Total Educational and General	$2,968,914.22
	In addition the expenditures for auxiliary enterprises amounted to	1,324,195.50
	Transferred to Surplus	4,126.16
	Total University Expenditures	$4,297,235.88

NEWS FROM THE CAMPUS

Faculty

Mr. Forrest D. Brown and Professor Allen Flock will be the leaders this summer for the second "Behind the Scenes" tour for Bucknell students and their friends. The tour is limited to 30 students, and will fly from New York on June 8th, returning on July 25th.

This year the tour will include The Passion Play, and Berlin. Landing in Prestwick, the tour will first visit Scotland and then England, hence to Holland, Germany, Switzerland, Italy and France. Emphasis is put on contacts with students and leaders in the countries visited. In this connection many alumni abroad have been very helpful. Among the student groups visited will be those in Scotland, Oxford, London, Amsterdam, Berlin, Zurich, Geneva, Rome and Paris. One full day will be spent in the Swiss village of Aathal, seeing firsthand Swiss industry and welfare work. In East Berlin visits will be made to refugee camps and to East Berlin.

Last summer the tour was led by Mr. Brown and Dr. James Gathings. Dr. Gathings will lead the 1961 tour. The plan is for different members of the faculty to be involved from year to year in the leadership of the summer groups. Arrangements are handled by the Rogal Travel Service of Harrisburg, and a London firm.

Dr. J. Orin Oliphant, professor of history and archivist, was the recipient of the "Class of 1956 Lectureship" for the year 1959. Dr. Oliphant delivered a lecture in Coleman Hall Theatre on November 10, and gave as the subject of his talk "The Significance of the Crusading Spirit in American History."

Dr. Oliphant is the third teacher to hold the lectureship honor since it was established by the Class of 1956 as its graduation gift to the college.

Mr. William G. Buch, assistant professor of mechanical engineering, has been appointed chairman of the Fifth Annual Susquehanna Valley Science Fair to be held at Bucknell on April 22 and 23.

The Science Fair, co-sponsored by Bucknell University and the West Branch Manufacturers Association, brings together science students from secondary schools in more than 11 counties in the central Pennsylvania area to compete for awards.

University

Dr. Charles L. Horn '55, president of the Olin Science Foundation visited Bucknell on December 10 to take part in the formal opening of the new addition to the F. W. Olin Science Building.

The gift of $109,000 from the foundation made possible the addition of six new faculty offices for members of the mathematics department, four new classrooms with a total seating capacity for 223 students, and a seminar room complete with built-in kitchen unit.

Other changes made possible by the foundation's gift included the erection of a modern fire-proof stairway in the center of the building, the renovation of one of the existing classrooms to provide two additional faculty offices, the air conditioning of the building's auditorium and a chemistry lab where sensitive equipment is housed, and the installation of a new ventilating system.

The gift of $109,000 for the erection of the new addition brings the total amount contributed by the Olin Foundation for the construction of the F. W. Olin Science Building to more than one million dollars. The original building was completed in 1955.

Mary A. Kunkel '14

The University sadly announces the death of Miss Mary A. Kunkel, assistant registrar at Bucknell. Mary, as she was affectionately known to all who were associated with her, died at the Evangelical Community Hospital in Lewisburg on October 31.

Mary had been employed at Bucknell since 1928 and was a loyal alumnus of the Bucknell Institute Class of 1910 and the college Class of 1914. She received her Master of Arts degree from Bucknell University in 1927.

Miss Kunkel had devoted much of her life to service to the University. In many respects she was the "Registrar's Office" and carried in her mind innumerable details of the registration procedure which were known only to her. She embodied, as no one else has ever done, an essential service to students and faculty.

For many years Miss Kunkel was the treasurer of the Class of 1914 and was always ready to help with class reunions. She celebrated her 45th reunion with her classmates on the campus during the June, 1959, reunion week end.

Miss Kunkel was the daughter of the late George W. and Ella Berge Kunkel and is survived by a brother, Dr. George M. Kunkel '19, professor of mechanical engineering at Bucknell, and a niece, Nancy Lou Kunkel, a junior at Bucknell.

Miss Kunkel's long years of devoted service to our Alma Mater will be remembered for many years by the faculty, students, alumni, and her many associates.

The Board of Trustees has authorized the complete renovation of East College representing the second step in the University's program to provide improved dormitory facilities for its men students.

When renovated, the building will accommodate 240 men students, an increase of over 50 presently housed in the building. Improvements in the building will be patterned after those made in West College, which was renovated during the past summer.

Extensive changes in the Carnegie Building are now under way to provide two large office areas directly above the University's bookstore. The addition of enclosed fire-towers at both ends of the building and the renovation of existing offices on the second and third floors constitute the major changes.

Upon completion of the work the alumni and development offices will occupy the second floor of the building, while the third floor will be remodeled to provide six to eight interview offices for the placement bureau.

The alumni and development offices must move early in the spring when the renovation of East College is scheduled to begin. After the proposed wing to the Vaughan Literature Building is built, the alumni and development offices will move permanently into that building, leaving their area in the Carnegie Building for classrooms and faculty offices.

Bucknell's 1959-1960 Religion in Life Program centered its theme on a very practical approach to frontiers in life: business and industry, the suburbs and the inner city, delinquency, race relations, the campus, and the self. The group of 16 leaders was spearheaded by The Rev. Howard Moody of the Judson Memorial Church in New York City; Miss Genevieve Blatt, Secretary for Internal Affairs of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania; and Dr. Trude Weiss-Rosmarin, distinguished editor of The Jewish Spectator. Two Bucknell alumni of the Class of 1952 participated: Mrs. Mary Lou Hind Palmore '52 now on furlough from Japan; and The Rev. Charles B. Mercer '52, recently returned from three years in Yugoslavia.

Convocations on Thursday and Friday followed the lines of the three major faiths represented on the campus. Seminars in the afternoon dealt with specific issues within the frontiers, and in the evening dorm discussions dealt with the more closely related personal issues.

Another new feature this year was the presentation of two plays by the Bishop's Players of Santa Barbara, Calif. Without props, this popular theatre group presented John Paton's "Cry the Beloved Country", and "Episode of Sparrows", by Rumer Godden.

Student Chairman was Joan Berlin of Coraopolis, and Professor Robert Slonaker M.S. '52 served as faculty chairman.

The National Science Foundation recently announced a grant of $62,500 to the University for the continuation of its Summer Institute in Science and Mathematics for high school teachers.

At the same time, the foundation announced a grant of $44,000 that will enable Bucknell to inaugurate a Summer Institute in the Engineering Sciences for College Teachers of Physics and Engineering.

Both grants are designed to strengthen the training of scientists in this country by providing six-week courses which will enable high school and college teachers in the sciences to keep abreast of the latest developments in their respective fields. The grants will provide stipends covering tuition, fees, and a cash allowance for dependents.

Dr. Lester Kieft, professor of chemistry, will direct the Summer Institute in Science and Mathematics, while Dr. Charles H. Coder, Jr., chairman of the Department of Mechanical Engineering, will direct the Summer Institute in the Engineering Sciences for College Teachers of Physics and Engineering.

A grant of $25,000 to Bucknell to assist in financing the development of a new curriculum for business administration has been announced by the Ford Foundation. The primary aim of the program will be the establishment of courses of study designed to meet the expanding need for competent administrators and executives in the modern business world. A total of nine new courses in business administration will be created, and a new faculty member will be added to the staff. The new curriculum will place more emphasis on thought processes and less on particularized subject matter.

A summer program in American Studies for social science teachers in the secondary schools has been made possible by a recent grant of $10,000 from the Coe Foundation.

A refresher course in American Studies will provide social science teachers an opportunity to participate in a six-week program with special emphasis on public service theory, appreciation of American institutions and understanding of the American economic system.

Dr. James A. Gathings, chairman of the Department of Political Science, will direct the program.

(EDITOR'S NOTE: The list of foundation grants on this page and page 11 are expendable grants for special programs. They do not help to fulfill the need for endowment and building grants that the Dual Development Campaign is designed to meet.)

Students

The following is a tour schedule of the Bucknell University Women's Glee Club for the 1959-60 school year.

These concerts are definite: January 31, 10:45 A. M.—Beaver Memorial Methodist Church, Lewisburg; January 31, 2:30 P. M. WHP-TV, Channel 55, Harrisburg; January 31, Evening concert—Chestnut Hill Presbyterian Church, 8800 Germantown Ave., Philadelphia 18; February 1, Morning concert—Springfield High School, Springfield; February 2, 1:00 P. M.—Freehold Regional High School, Freehold, N. J.; February 2, Evening concert—First Presbyterian Church, Springfield, N. J.; February 3, 11:00 A. M.—Hightstown High School, Hightstown, N. J.; and February 4, 7:50 A. M.—Asbury Park High School, Asbury Park, N. J.

12

The following concerts have been planned but to date have not been confirmed: February 1, Afternoon concert—Toms River High School, Toms River, N. J.; February 1, Evening concert—Fort Dix Army Training Base, Fort Dix, N. J.; February 2, Morning concert—Red Bank High School, Red Bank, N. J.; February 3, Evening concert—First Presbyterian Church, Red Bank, N. J.

Professor Allen W. Flock, director of the Bucknell University Women's Glee Club, cordially invites you to attend the concerts in your local area.

The Bucknell University Chapel Choir, under the direction of Professor William D. McRae, will tour New York and the New England States from March 12 to March 15.

The tour schedule is as follows: March 12, Evening concert—First Baptist Church, 8 Second St., Iliion, N. Y.; March 13, Morning concert—First Baptist Church, 8 Second St., Iliion, N. Y.; March 13, Evening concert—First Baptist Church, 88 South St., Pittsfield, Mass.; March 14, Evening concert—Congregational Church of Rockville Centre, 430 Morris Ave., Rockville Centre, N. Y.

A cordial invitation to attend the concerts is extended to alumni living in these areas.

Alumni Office

The percentage of returns from the reader's survey published in the September, 1959, issue of THE BUCKNELL ALUMNUS was disappointing, but the answers to the questions were most enlightening and gratifying to the editors.

Questionnaires were returned from members of classes ranging from 1894 to 1959. The decade of 1950 to 1959 had a greater percentage of returns than any other decade.

In response to the question asking for an opinion of THE BUCKNELL ALUMNUS, 45% reported it to be an excellent magazine while 44% believed it to be above average. Reasons given for the opinions expressed in these two categories were: comparisons with other alumni magazines, interesting and informative, variety of interests and attractive and comprehensive. Eleven percent believed the magazine to be only fair while no one classified THE BUCKNELL ALUMNUS a poor publication. Reasons for the "fair" classification were: too many feature articles, not enough depth in content and articles too "boring."

When asked how much of the magazine was read, 42% reported they read all parts of the magazine, 47% read certain sections, 10% read about half and only 1% scanned the contents.

Because alumni editors are continually arguing the merits of a newsy alumni magazine against the advantages of an alumni publication dealing mainly with feature articles, we asked for comments on items usually read in THE BUCKNELL ALUMNUS. Almost without exception, alumni returning the questionnaires were solidly behind the news type of publication. In the order of preference the survey revealed that alumni wanted more news about classmates, reunions, university affairs, faculty, homecoming and sports.

Feature articles held the number seven spot in items usually read with feature articles on alumni receiving the most votes, followed by campus features and faculty-written articles about current problems. Items such as letters to the editor, fund reports, student view columns and book reviews followed in that order.

As the magazine cover most enjoyed, a first-place vote was given to the artist's sketch of a fall scene appearing on the November, 1958, cover. Other covers liked especially well, and in order of preference included the picture of Coleman Hall Lobby (March, 1959) and student's symbols depicting Bucknell as a university of the arts and sciences (May, 1959). Many alumni were attracted to the September, 1958, magazine cover on which a photograph of three freshman girls appeared. The abstract drawing on the September, 1959, issue, depicting Homecoming, received few votes as did the January, 1959, issue which illustrated a Bucknell basketball player.

To the question, "What would you like to see on future magazine covers?", an overwhelming number of alumni requested more campus views and pictures of buildings. It appears as though the editors will have to get out their cameras and get to work.

Comment arising from the question, "What features would you like to see in the ALUMNUS?", was very scattered with many individual expressions of opinion which defy tabulation. It is clear, however, from the questionnaires returned alumni want an alumni magazine that carries as much news as possible about their class members and university affairs.

We continually welcome your criticism of your alumni magazine. The editors want to know your thoughts on the general content of the magazine or your criticism on any specific article published in the magazine. Finally, we wish to thank all of you who have shown your interest by returning the survey forms. We will endeavor to follow your wishes in publishing a magazine that you will enjoy reading.

WINTER SPORTS 1960

BASKETBALL

Date	Opponent	Place
Dec. 2	Franklin and Marshall	Home
Dec. 5	LaSalle	Home
Dec. 12	Gettysburg	Home
Dec. 16	Lehigh	Bethlehem
Dec. 18	Albright	Home
Dec. 21	U. of Rhode Island	Home
Jan. 1-2	Poinsettia Tournament*, Greenville, S. C.
Jan. 4	Duke University	Durham, N. C.
Jan. 7	Delaware	Home
Jan. 12	Penn State	Home
Jan. 16	Lafayette	Easton
Jan. 29	George Washington	Fort Myers, Va.
Jan. 30	Gettysburg	Gettysburg
Feb. 2	Penn State	State College
Feb. 6	Temple	Home
Feb. 12	Rutgers	Home
Feb. 19	Rochester	Rochester, N. Y.
Feb. 20	Colgate	Hamilton, N. Y.
Feb. 24	St. Joseph's	Philadelphia
Feb. 27	Delaware	Newark, Del.
March 1	Muhlenberg	Home

(*) Includes Harvard, Furman, The Citadel, and Bucknell.

SWIMMING

Jan. 9	Franklin and Marshall	Home
Jan. 13	Penn	Philadelphia
Jan. 16	Gettysburg	Gettysburg
Feb. 6	Rutgers	Home
Feb. 10	Swarthmore	Swarthmore
Feb. 13	Lafayette	Home
Feb. 20	LaSalle	Home
Feb. 24	Delaware	Newark, Del.
Feb. 27	Lehigh	Bethlehem
March 4	Middle Atlantics	Home
March 5	Middle Atlantics	Home

WRESTLING

Jan. 9	Lafayette	Home
Jan. 13	Muhlenberg	Allentown
Feb. 6	Temple	Home
Feb. 10	Gettysburg	Gettysburg
Feb. 13	Rutgers	New Brunswick, N. J.
Feb. 20	Delaware	Newark, Del.
Feb. 27	Penn	Philadelphia
March 4	Middle Atlantics	Annapolis
March 5	Middle Atlantics	Annapolis

JANUARY 1960

BUCKNELL DUAL DEVELOPMENT FUND

FULL "THRUST" AHEAD

TWELVE YEARS AGO in the Heating Plant campaign, the slogan was "Full Steam Ahead." Bucknellians supplied the necessary "steam," $400,000 worth, and the University made remarkable progress. Today, new and more powerful forces are in play, and more Bucknellians are being asked to supply the necessary "thrust," $1,850,000 worth, to put Bucknell into a "higher orbit." At press time, a "gift thrust" of $1,031,734.74 has been generated to bring the campaign 55.7% of the way toward its goal.

AREA I LAUNCHING—Campus Campaign

STUDENTS, Faculty, Administration, and Professional Staff kicked off in November. While the home-base campaign is not over, 1,047 students have contributed $12,990.50. Bucknell women lead Bucknell men in percent of participation and in per capita gifts. West College residents lead in total amount, reflecting appreciation of the remodeling of West as the first fruit of the campaign. Student chairmen are Sarah E. Eisley '60, David K. Slifer '60 and Robert G. Schad '61.

Faculty, Administration, Staff thus far have contributed $11,719.75. Professor John S. Gold '18 and Chaplain Mark C. Ebersole are the co-chairmen.

The campus campaign thus far has reached $24,710.25.

AREA II LAUNCHING—Local Campaign

LEWISBURG and Union County and five adjoining counties are in various stages of special gift and general solicitation. First reports show that the $22,200.00 mark has already been passed in Lewisburg.

General co-chairmen for the local areas are Berkeley V. Hastings '13, and Raymond K. Irwin '44. Trustee Hastings is carrying the local operational co-chairmanship in addition to his national committee responsibilities. Other local area chairmen are Trustee Edward W. Pangburn '15, Dr. Dayton L. Ranck '16, Lawrence P. Lawson '48, Lewisburg; Judge Frederick V. Follmer '06, Preston P. Davis '28, Milton; Dr. Roy E. Nicodemus '25, Danville; Harold M. Neff, Jr. '48, Sidney J. Apfelbaum, Esq. '42, Sunbury; Luther M. Ertel '54, Charles R. Bidelspacher, Esq. '33, Williamsport.

Attending a recent meeting at the Hotel Lewisburger to plan for the Lewisburg Area Campaign were: (l. to r.) Raymond K. Irwin '44, John F. Zeller, III '41, Dr. Edward W. Pangburn '15 and Dr. Dayton L. Ranck '16.

AREA III LAUNCHING—PHILADELPHIA

THIS AREA includes the City of Philadelphia, five adjoining counties in Pennsylvania and all of the southern half of New Jersey. National campaign co-chairmen, Trustees Harry G. Schad and Kenneth W. Slifer '26, are doubling as operational co-chairmen. Other chairmen thus far enlisted are Dr. Earl Morgan Richards '13, Romain C. Hassrick, Esq. '06, W. Wallace Orr (parent), Philadelphia; William J. Irvin '22, Trenton area; Edward A. Kandle '40, Burlington County, N. J.; Robert W. Rink '41, Camden County, N. J.; Arthur P. Schalick, Jr. '42, Cumberland County, N. J.; Bruce O. Ranck '18, Salem County, N. J.; and Donald W. Glover '41, Gloucester County, N. J.

HARRY G. SCHAD H'55
Co-Chairman
Greater Philadelphia Area

KENNETH W. SLIFER '26
Co-Chairman
Greater Philadelphia Area

JOHN T. SHIRLEY '09
Co-Chairman
Greater Pittsburgh Area

ANDREW R. MATHIESON '20
Co-Chairman
Greater Pittsburgh Area

A campaign office has been opened on the fifth floor of the Atlantic Refining Building at Broad and Spruce Streets, Philadelphia (phone Pennypacker 5-4922), staffed by Alumni Secretary, John H. Shott and Associate Campaign Director, LeRoi Dixon.

The Philadelphia Special Gifts Committee under Roman C. Hassrick '06 has already produced $17,400.00. The general kick-off is scheduled for the middle of January.

AREA IV LAUNCHING—PITTSBURGH

BY THE MIDDLE of February the special gift and general solicitation effort will be under way in the City of Pittsburgh and Allegheny County and the adjoining counties covering the western part of Pennsylvania to the Ohio line. Trustees John T. Shirley '09 and Andrew R. Mathieson '20 are the regional co-chairmen. Mr. Mathieson also serves as national alumni chairman.

AREA V LAUNCHING—NEW YORK

FIVE BOROUGHs of New York City, two counties of Long Island, five counties north of the city, the southwestern end of Fairfield County, Connecticut, and ten counties of northern New Jersey form one large area. The launching date is set for the middle of March. Trustee T. Cortlandt Williams '20 and former Trustee Louis W. Robey '04 are the co-chairmen with Chester R. Leaber '19 as an associate chairman.

By the middle of March, this area will be under solicitation. The Special Gifts Committee on Long Island under William S. Liming '33 has already passed the $6,500.00 mark.

OTHER AREAS

WHILE the above major area campaigns are being organized and executed, a large number of campaigns will be carried out in other localities. Harrisburg, Scranton, Wilkes-Barre and Rochester, N. Y., are in process of organization, and the Special Gifts Committee of Wilmington, Delaware, under Dr. Vernal R. Hardy (parent) and Dr. Burt C. Pratt '33 has already accounted for $5,400.00.

Newly-renovated West College is the first fruit of the Dual Development Campaign. The clock atop the building, a memorial to the Class of 1907, has been preserved, but enclosed fire towers at each end of the building and a new front are visible additions to the freshman residence hall.

THE SPIRIT OF VICTORY

THE "SOLID FUEL" for success in the campaign is a victorious spirit among all members of the Bucknell family. That spirit is already strong among Bucknellians. A personal letter from President Merle M. Odgers went out to a large proportion of the alumni body briefly describing the campaign and asking for participation as solicitors when the campaign is organized in their areas. Many replied that they would work and many more can be counted on. Thus, we believe the campaign will be adequately staffed. We also believe the Bucknell campaign can break the existing record among major college capital-gift campaigns of 60% donor participation among alumni.

If one letter from an alumnus in response to the President's letter of invitation reflects the majority spirit, Bucknell can announce victory by Commencement in June, 1960: "I consider it always a pleasure to serve Bucknell."

GOALS FOR GENERAL CAMPAIGN OF THE DUAL DEVELOPMENT FUND

Endowment	$ 750,000
Mainly for support of a superior faculty.
Building	850,000
Improved and enlarged residential space for men (East College, West College, Old Main); completion of Vaughan Literature Building by addition of a wing which will serve as an Administration Center.
Annual Expense	250,000
For continuity of Alumni Fund; to cover receipts from this source for three-year pledge period, and receipts from other annual giving programs affected by the capital gifts campaign.
	$1,850,000

The Dual Development Fund Campaign to be completed by June, 1960, is the second step in Bucknell's Ten-Year (1956-1966) Development Plan. Remaining goals are as follows:

ADDITIONAL GOALS FOR LARGE INDIVIDUAL GIFTS IN THE TEN-YEAR DEVELOPMENT PLAN

Six additional Endowment Units of $500,000 each	$3,000,000
Chapel-Auditorium	1,500,000
Women's Residence Hall	1,200,000
Total	$5,700,000

T. CORTLANDT WILLIAMS '20
Co-Chairman
Greater New York Area

LOUIS W. ROBEY '04
Co-Chairman
Greater New York Area

CHESTER R. LEABER '19
Associate Chairman
Greater New York Area

BERKELEY V. HASTINGS '13
Co-Chairman
Local Area

BUCKNELL UNIVERSITY

IN MEMORY OF

NAME OR MEMORIAL GIFTS

A CAPITAL-GIFTS CAMPAIGN offers opportunities for name or memorial gifts. Here are some offered in the Dual Development Fund campaign to be marked by permanent plaques:

ENDOWMENT

Capital gift, income of which would strengthen engineering education and name the Engineering Building $500,000

Capital gift, income of which to be used for faculty salaries generally or to endow a professorship in any department for full endowment $250,000

Unrestricted capital gift, income of which to be used wherever need at a given time is most pressing suggested $100,000

Capital gift, income of which to be used as departmental funds suggested $ 25,000

Capital gift, income of which to be used as a scholarship minimum $ 5,000

(Although the endowment objective of the Dual Development Fund is mainly to support a superior faculty, three scholarship endowments have been made already)

(Any endowment made in the campaign is augmented by 25% because of the matching offer of the Samuel H. Kress Foundation)

BUILDING

Administration Center

(Extension to Vaughan Literature Building.)

Unit	Cost	Each semi-annual payment over a three-year pledge period
Administration Center Complete	$600,000	$100,000
Alumni Offices	50,000	8,333
Business Offices	50,000	8,333
Registrar's Office	40,000	6,666
President's Suite	25,000	4,166
Dean's Suite	25,000	4,166

Board of Trustees' Room	25,000	4,166
Admissions Suite	25,000	4,166
Treasurer's Office	20,000	3,333
Dean of Women's Suite	20,000	3,333
Dean of Men's Suite	20,000	3,333
Public Relations Suite	15,000	2,500
Lobby	15,000	2,500
Vice President's Suite	15,000	2,500
Development Office	15,000	2,500
Dean of Student Affairs' Suite	15,000	2,500
Lounges (2)	15,000	2,500
Committee Room	10,000	1,666
Placement Office	10,000	1,666
Dean of Women's Office	10,000	1,666
Individual Office Rooms (10)	5,000	833
Furnishing of an office	1,500	250

Residence Halls

East College can be renamed for the donor who provides the total cost of renovation $300,000

West College can be renamed for the donor who provides the full cost of renovation $300,000

Lounges (2) one in East College and one in West College $ 10,000 each 1,666

Head Resident's Suites (2) one in East College and one in West College $ 10,000 each 1,666

Individual Dormitory Rooms in East and West College (110) $ 5,000 833

Furnishing of a room $ 1,000 167

More details about name or memorial gifts are set forth in a pamphlet, "About Giving to Bucknell."

Name or memorial gifts may be made under the Life Income Plan. The plan is described in an available brochure.

Contact:

Office of Development
Bucknell University
Lewisburg, Pa.

ALUMNI IN THE NEWS

Elections and Nominations

At the Homecoming meeting of the Bucknell Engineering Alumni Association, the following alumni were elected to office: Campbell Rutledge '33, president; Eugene M. Cook '34, vice president; Roy H. Landis '22, second vice president; John B. Miller '36, secretary.

The following persons were elected as directors for the next three years: Eugene M. Cook '34; Frank E. Gerlitz, Jr. '34; George W. Hart '27; John M. Horter '29; Charles F. Millard '40; Robert H. Smith '33; and Stephen L. Windes '33.

The Committee on Nomination for Alumni Trustee met on Homecoming and after studying the records of achievement of a number of prospective candidates announced the names of the following candidates for the 1960 alumni trustee election: Mr. Bruce E. Butt '16, Harrisburg; Dr. Eugene D. Carstater '26, Falls Church, Va.; and Dr. Charles F. Fox '31, Vandergrift.

Photographs and biographical records of the three candidates will be published in the March, 1960 issue of THE BUCKNELL ALUMNUS. And in April, every alumnus will receive a mail ballot and will be able to vote for his or her candidate.

They Represented

Bucknell alumni continue to represent Bucknell University at the inaugurations and special exercises of many universities. That this kind of service to the University is pleasant and satisfying in most cases is amply illustrated by the following quotation from a recent letter: "I was greatly impressed with the ceremony and proud to represent Bucknell. I might add, also, that I felt closer to Bucknell than at any time since my graduation thirty-five years ago."

Alumni who represented Bucknell at presidential inaugurations and celebrations are: Mr. Shirley M. Leavitt '32 at the University of Alabama, Tuscaloosa, Ala.; Rev. William R. Webster '45 at Anderson College and Theological Seminary, Anderson, Ind.; Dr. E. Carroll Conduct '08, MA'11, Hon. '35 at the 150th anniversary of the celebration of the first entering class at Andover Newton Theological Seminary, Newton Centre, Mass.; Rev. R. N. Dutton '26 at the Baptist Missionary Training School, Chicago, Ill.; Mr. William E. Balliet '22 at Birmingham-Southern College, Birmingham, Ala.; Rev. Philip G. Murray '29 delivered the invocation and benediction at the inauguration at The University of California, Berkeley, Calif.; Dr. Ernest E. Blanche '38, MA'38 at The Catholic University of America, Washington, D. C.; Rev. George C. Fetter '10 at Coe College, Cedar Rapids, Iowa; Dr. George L. Abernethy '32 at Davidson College, Davidson, N. C.; Dr. Woodrow M. Strickler '34, Hon. '56 at Georgetown College, Georgetown, Ky.; Rev. and Mrs. George H. Sinclair, Jr. '49 (Marjorie Walter '48) at the University of Hartford, Hartford, Conn.; Rev. Paul M. Humphreys '28 at Hartford Seminary Foundation, Hartford, Conn.; Mrs. Homer R. Benson, (F. Kathryn Stannert '35) at the University of Hawaii, Honolulu, Hawaii; Dr. Charles D. Cooper '05 at Hobart and William Smith College, Geneva, N. Y.; Mr. Neal S. Blaisdell '26 at Honolulu Christian College, Honolulu, Hawaii; Mr. Frank W. Magill, Jr. '39 at Howard College, Birmingham, Ala.; Dr. John D. W. Fetter '13, Hon. '45 at Keuka College, Keuka Park, N. Y.; Mr. John H. Shott '22 at Kutztown State Teachers College, Kutztown; Mr. Nelson S. Rounsley '21, M'21 at Lafayette College, Easton; Rev. F. H. Heather, Jr. '33 at Pepperdine College, Los Angeles, Calif.; Rev. Anthony F. Vasquez '37 at The Philadelphia College of Bible, Philadelphia; Mr. D. Eugene Long '29 at The Presbyterian Hospital, New York, N. Y.; Theodore Garris, Esq. '35 at Queens College, Flushing, N. Y.; Dr. Frederick F. Ling '49 at Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute, Troy, N. Y.; Dr. John E. Brush '42 at Rutgers State University, New Brunswick, N. J.; Paul J. Abraham, Esq. '10 at Seton Hill College, Greensburg; Dr. Walter S. Eisenmenger '12, MS'15 at Springfield College, Springfield, Mass.; Mr. John F. Zeller, III '41 at Susquehanna University, Selinsgrove; Dr. Romeyn H. Rivenburg '97 at The University of Tampa, Tampa, Fla.; Dr. Emma E. Dillon '15, Hon. '47 at Trenton State Teachers College, Trenton, N. J.; Dr. Marjorie J. Rivenburg '24 at The University of Virginia, Charlottesville, Va.; Dr. Richard C. Snyder '40 at The University of Washington, Seattle, Wash.; and Mr. Jesse E. Riley '14 at West Virginia University, Morgantown, W. Va.

Retirement

Dr. George S. Stevenson '15

Dr. George S. Stevenson '15, who has been called "a founding father of the modern mental health movement," retired on December 1 as national and international consultant for the National Association for Mental Health.

One of the nation's leading psychiatrists, he was appointed medical director of the National Committee for Mental Hygiene in 1939, and when the committee merged with the National Mental Health Foundation and the Psychiatric Foundation in 1950 to form NAMH, his position became that of adviser on the planning and organization of mental health services here and abroad.

Dr. Stevenson's interest in preventive psychiatry began early in his career. After graduation from the Johns Hopkins Medical School in 1919 and an internship in psychiatry under Dr. Adolf Meyer, he was an instructor in nervous and mental diseases at Cornell University Medical school and also worked in neuropathology at the New York State Psychiatric Institute. Then, in 1922, he became research psychiatrist at the Vineland, N. J., Training School for Feeble-minded and in 1924 joined one of the first child guidance clinics in the country, a demonstration project in Minneapolis, Minn.

Juvenile delinquency was even then a subject of national concern. Dr. Stevenson's work in Minneapolis, Minn., led to his appointment to the National Committee for Mental Hygiene, first as field consultant and then director of its division on community clinics, which was doing preventive work in this field. As director, he helped to set up child guidance clinics in many cities and towns.

Since 1939, when he became medical director of NAMH, he has been concerned with community psychiatry on a national, and then an international, level. During the war he worked on selection studies of men being considered for military service and on plans for the care of psychiatric casualties. He helped to formulate the National Mental Health Act, and served as a member of the National Advisory Mental Health Council. Following the war he was named to the executive board of the World Federation for Mental Health and the United States Commission for UNESCO.

In 1949 and 1950 Dr. Stevenson was president of the American Psychiatric Association. His wide experience and services for mental health have been recognized with an award from Selective Service (following World War II), the Lord & Taylor Award (1953) for pursuing unusual lines of progress, the Adolf Meyer Award (1956), and a citation from District 65 of the Retail, Wholesale and Department Store Union, AFL-CIO for distinguished service as a member of Governor Harriman's committee on problems of the aging (1957).

He is presently psychiatric consultant to the U. S. Public Health Service and the Veterans Administration; and has been prominently associated with a number of other social service agencies and professional organizations.

How wide-ranging his work for NAMH has been is revealed by the inquiries that reach his office in the course of an average month — requests for advice on mental health problems, personal and institutional, from all over the country and the world; a Japanese Embassy official asking about child guidance clinics, a Swedish doctor inquiring from Stockholm about prevention of delinquency, a Canadian about alcoholism, an Iranian about facilities for emotionally disturbed children, a Venezuelan about education in the mental health field—and this is only a brief sampling.

In addition to his active career, which has taken him traveling at least half of his working life, Dr. Stevenson has written, for professional journals, more than a hundred articles on various aspects of mental health, has contributed chapters to the textbooks of other authors, and has himself published three books: CHILD GUIDANCE CLINICS, 1934; MENTAL HEALTH PLANNING FOR SOCIAL ACTION, 1956; and, with Harry Milt, MASTER YOUR TENSIONS AND ENJOY LIVING AGAIN, 1959. He and Mr. Milt also wrote the booklet, HOW TO DEAL WITH YOUR TENSIONS, featured in the Advertising Council's Better Mental Health Campaign.

At 66, he is wiry, soft-spoken, considerate, friendly and with a ready joke always on his lips. He is the owner of a 250-year-old farm near Red Bank, N. J., where he lives with his wife, the former Amy Llewellyn Patterson '16.

Three Stevenson children who attended Bucknell are: Anne Elizabeth '43, Amy Llewellyn '44 (married to Charles F. Bond '42) and William Chandler '51. Dr. Stevenson's two half-brothers, Robert E. Stevenson '39 and Wayne J. Stevenson '42 also attended Bucknell as did Mrs. Stevenson's brother, Edgar L. Patterson

'32. Cousins Gilbert P. Holt '42, Elaine Keyser '43 (Mrs. Harold W. Conner), Hilda Keyser '42, George W. Lewis '23 (deceased), and Thomas G. Lewis '28 add to the long list of loyal Bucknellians on the Stevenson family tree.

Book Review

(EDITOR'S NOTE: The following book review was written by Dr. William P. Warren, John Howard Harris Professor of Philosophy, for publication in THE BUCKNELL ALUMNUS.)

THE IDEA OF EQUALITY

Edited by GEORGE L. ABERNETHY

John Knox Press, Richmond, Va.,
Pages 351

This timely anthology by George L. Abernethy '32, who since 1946 has been professor of philosophy at Davidson College, Davidson, N. C., is a rich source-book on the adventures of a moral idea. Though less dramatic than the adventures of human liberty, they begin far back in Hebrew and Greek history; in the Book of the Covenant and other Old Testament sources; in Herodotus, Euripides, Thucydides, Plato, Aristotle, and the Stoics. Roman and Christian writings broaden and deepen the idea. In modern life, the interfusing of religious, philosophical, and social thought has led to a reformulation of the problem of existence with increased attention to the distinctively personal potentialities of the individual. This reformulation has conducted not only to an extension of the principle of equality: to women, laborers, members of diverse racial groups, members of all faiths. Equality has likewise come to be envisaged in application to different portions of men's lives: political, legal, economic, social, and developmental. The 74 writings, excerpts, and groups of excerpts comprise a massive range of interests: religious, economic, social, racial, legal, philosophical.

Among the more familiar contributors are: Luther, Fox, Paine, Henry, George, Laski, Tawney, Myrdal, Brunner, Truman, Niebuhr, Otto Klineberg, social psychologist, merits singling; likewise three U. S. Supreme Court decisions.

A limitation of the book is its hospitality. An essentially historical compiling of so many types of writing does not permit clear recognition of the functions or problems of each type. This is particularly true of the philosophical excerpts. These could comprise a rich source for the philosophical basis of equality—a matter in which Professor Abernethy is specifically interested. This issue and these excerpts are not disentangled, however. Nor, in fact, is the philosophical basis of equality adequately encompassed in the explicit writings on equality. So general a source-book is not intended as specific source-book.

GRAMMAR EASY AS TWO AND TWO, SAYS WARFEL '20

THIS past summer Dr. Harry R. Warfel '20, teaching at the University of Southern California during the summer session, took occasion to further shake up the grammarians by stating, "Learning grammar eventually will be as easy as two and two."

"Language operates by mathematical principles," said Harry, author of three books on the English language and the biographer of Noah Webster, the dictionary maker.

"Languages look and sound different, but they do the same things in much the same way," he said. "Languages are like football teams wearing different colored uniforms. Each team plays the same way with different formations, but it is still the same game."

"Getting from one language to another will be simpler, because in learning the system of one language a student really gains an insight into all other languages," Dr. Warfel said.

"Any one who wants to should be able to speak five or six different languages when they are learned by their mathematical system," he contended.

Because the principles are the same, even if the sounds and words are different in the 2967 languages in the world, translations eventually can be made by machines for business and government.

But it will be a long time before machines can translate poetry, the professor admitted.

"It's all very simple," Dr. Warfel insisted. "The mysteries of language that now baffle students are going to disappear as soon as new books on the mathematics of language are put into schools.

"It's all in the high school algebra books. The theory of functionality explains sentence order, and the principle of permutations underlies phrase arrangements. The sounds and letters in words operate primarily on the principle of combinations, but prefixes and suffixes come under the rule of permutations. This is the basis of machines like printing presses and typewriters."

Dr. Warfel, who has been on the faculty of the University of Florida at Gainesville, Florida, since 1948, formerly was with the Department of State. He taught at Bucknell University, his alma mater, from 1931 to 1935, and at the University of Maryland, College Park, Maryland, from 1935 to 1943.

In addition to two degrees from Bucknell, Dr. Warfel is a graduate of Columbia University and Yale University.

At Southern California last summer he taught a course in American literature since 1860 and a seminar on Walt Whitman.

After the summer session at USC, Harry and his wife, the former Ruth Farquhar '19, "got lost" in the Rockies for a month and returned to University of Florida via Lewisburg, a total trip of 11,500 miles. In December, Harry chaired a meeting on "The Mathematics of the Sentence" at the Modern Language Association convention in Chicago.

CLASS REPORTS

EMERITUS CLUB

MISS MARY COTTON
Edred, Pa.

Dr. A. R. E. Wyant, Class of 1892 and 2 years of age, writes that if one lives a useful life long enough he may receive one unexpected honors. Recently the Chicago Baptist Church of which he was pastor, 1895-1906, voted to install a great modern three-manual organ and in tribute to their first pastor will name it the Andrew R. E. Wyant Memorial Organ. As reported last year, Andy's portrait was painted to hang in the Phi Gamma Delta fraternity house on the Bucknell campus along with the Christy Mathewson '02 portrait. He and his wife, in their 90's, have been spending ten winters in the Florida sunshine at Hotel Pennsylvania, West Palm Beach, Fla. His latest booklet in the Good Samaritan and the Aging Problem has received many favorable comments.

Dr. and Mrs. Romeyn H. Rivenburg '07, are spending the winter in the home town of Mrs. Rivenburg at 324 Parkwood Ave., Kalamazoo 35, Mich.

We are saddened to report the death of Miss Flora M. Clymer, of the Institute Class of 1893, on November 24. A complete biography of Miss Clymer's unselfish service to her fellowmen was written by the Rev. Edwin W. Rumsey '06 and appeared in the May, 1959, issue of THE BUCKNELL ALUMNUS.

02 MR. ALAN C. CUNNINGHAM
Charles C. Knox Home
Wynnewood, Pa.

I tried to secure two props for this issue, but secured no aid, so here is something to keep the banner of 1902 floating.

When a man who wrote during his long life a small library of books for Boy Scouts, newspaper reports, many historical articles, and is still successfully having worthwhile articles appear in leading magazines although he is badly crippled, it challenges the rest of us. Our class president, Dr. Lewis E. Theiss, is the man who can still enjoy life and is worthy of a Rah. Hats off, Classmates!

Wish From the Scribe

To all the Class of 1902
Wherever you may be—
God bless you each and every one.
And may you have a year of fun,
And live most joyously.

05 DR. LEWIS C. HYLBERT
435 Drake Ave.
Upland, Calif.

REUNE IN JUNE — 1960

Rev. John C. Sanders, D.D., at 79 years of age is still active in the Christian ministry. His preaching schedule is considerably reduced but at the present he is doing pastoral work in a parish of four churches where he and his good wife enjoy visiting in the homes and meeting certain needs of the members. During the year he has solemnized five weddings and conducted seven funerals. The big event of the year for them was the celebrating of their 50th wedding anniversary with members of their family and friends at the Mercersburg Inn.

Mr. Harold V. Leshner is a successful, scientific farmer. He has planted two large fields of beans for a cannery and recently shipped a load of "Hot House Lambs" to New York City where he is assured highest prices. Harold says his children are scattered in five different states where they all have homes of their own.

Charles D. Cooper, Ph.D., passed away on June 23, 1959. All of his life he lived up to his nickname—"Happy." During the years he was an outstanding member of our class. In all of his contacts he was ever kind and generous. Charles earned his B.S. in 1905 and in 1907 Bucknell conferred on him the M.S. degree. Also he won his Ph.D. from Cornell University in the field of education. After college days Charles spent his life teaching, training, directing and supervising in the field of education. "Happy" was an inspiring leader of men. In a letter to me at the time of our 50th reunion, he said, "I am 'Happy' in the fact that more than 5,000 teachers carry some imprint of my teaching." His wife, Cottie Albright Cooper, is still residing at 233 Holley St., Brockport, N. Y. He is survived also by a daughter, Ora Cooper Diehl '29.

06 MR. WILLIAM L. DONEHOWER
22 N. Fifth St.
Lewisburg, Pa.

Rev. Edwin W. Rumsey and his wife celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary on June 21. Following a delicious turkey dinner, "Open House" was held in the afternoon for some thirty-six friends, relatives and former parishioners.

07 DR. LEO L. ROCKWELL
1543 Caldwell St.,
Lakeland, Fla.

We are saddened to report the death of our good classmate, Dr. Gilbert S. Perez, who died on November 22 in Manila. A complete account of Dr. Perez's life will appear in the next issue of THE BUCKNELL ALUMNUS.

Chauncey Brockway returned recently from a five-month trip around the world. He brought with him some very definite ideas about U. S. foreign policy, which he put into a letter to Rep. Kearns of the U. S. Congress. Mr. Kearns thought them worthy of inclusion in The Congressional Record, where they may be found under the date of September 12, 1959.

Harry and Ruth (Farquhar) Warfel '20, who recently returned from California, dropped in on us for an evening lately. Harry was visiting professor at the University of Southern California last summer, and as usual, had a wonderful time. The Warfels took the short way home, covering some 5000 miles on their return to Gainesville, Fla. Harry is as usual at work on a new book to add to his long list of publications in language and literature. More power to you, Harry!

The Lakeland Ledger recently commented editorially on the increased costs of political candidacy in these days. As an illustration of the change, it reminded its readers of the gubernatorial campaign of Lincoln Hulley '88 in 1920. Older Bucknellians will remember Dr. Hulley as a brilliant teacher at Bucknell. He was the uncle of Elkanah of our class. The Ledger says: "The late Dr. Lincoln Hulley, who was the brilliantly versatile president of Stetson University at Deland, Fla., was one of three candidates for Governor in 1920. He put some handbills and placards in the back of his Model T and went bumping along Florida's inadequate roads to seek out the people and shake hands. He was a frugal man who figured there was no need to splurge. He was badly defeated."

The Lions Club of Lewisburg took time out from tail-twisting during the celebration of its 35th anniversary recently to honor two Emeriti members of the Bucknell staff: Dr. Dayton L. Ranck '16 and Dr. Lewis E. Theiss '02. Pictured above at the 35th anniversary meeting are E. A. Snyder, president of the club, Dr. Dayton L. Ranck, Dr. Lewis E. Theiss, international vice president Finis E. Davis and Lyle E. Bennett.

08 MRS. JOHN H. MATHIAS
(Margaret Pangburn)
202 St. Louis St.
Lewisburg, Pa.

Dr. and Mrs. John F. Hummer '08, were greeted by more than 200 friends and relatives at a reception held in their honor on August 16 in celebration of their 50th wedding anniversary. Among the guests was Dr. Robert M. Steele '08, who had served as best man for the couple in 1909. Dr. Hummer was assistant superintendent of schools in Syracuse, N. Y., from 1924 until his retirement in 1948. Mrs. Hummer taught art and history. They have three children and 15 grandchildren and are living at 853 Ackerman Ave., Syracuse 10, N. Y.

Our congratulations to John and his wife on this anniversary. They were one of the enthusiastic couples who made our 50th anniversary party a success in 1958.

Olive Richards Landers is spending the winter in Dallas, Texas, but will be returning to Ocean Grove, N. J., in the spring.

Lack of news in this column is the fault of you '08ers—I tried to trick you by having no news in THE BUCKNELL ALUMNUS, thinking you might be concerned, but it didn't work. Some day I'm going to fill that space if only with anecdotes about my grandchildren. Then I know I'll get some letters.

09 MRS. HOWARD L. HEADLAND
(Sarah E. Walters)
3911 First Avenue North
St. Petersburg 13, Fla.

Although we all are now members of the Emeritus Club of Bucknell University, we hope that these few letters sent by classmates and received too late for publication in our Blue Book may be published in this issue of THE BUCKNELL ALUMNUS. Naturally, some of these are a bit out of date but, with the hope they may furnish information which you will appreciate, we send them on.

Re, Theodore Kamensky: "Hooh-Ray for the Orange and Blue and Classmates of 1909! I prepared in Bucknell and have known many wonderful people both in town and school—Prof. Manville, Burpee and Edwards, also fond memories of Mrs. Edwards, my friend W. C. Johnson and others. I returned to Bucknell for my sophomore year. Arriving late, I had to room in town which proved not to be a good plan. Later I returned to Florida and began construction work but back to New York in 1907. I decided Florida was the place for me and returned home. Interested in citrus I cleaned my own land and planted my trees. I still own this grove. In 1920 I married a young school teacher who had come here from Bluegrass, Ky. We had a family of four boys and one girl (my sugar). Of the three living boys and daughter we have 13 fine grandchildren. Frank J. is a Bucknell graduate, daughter a graduate of Stevens. During the years of orange growing I have been a sailor and winner of many races, seven years in race from St. Petersburg to Havana. Have made several visits to Lewisburg and have many fond recollections of those years at Bucknell. Enjoyed the Bucknell group in St. Petersburg when I was able and my classmate Mrs. Headland. Hope to be at the reunion if health permits."

20

"Greetings to all! Sorry I won't be able to see all of you in June. I live quite near Lewisburg (McVeytown) but I shall be tripping in another direction that week of June. Good luck and a good time. Margaret L. Stevenson."

At our reunion last June it was our great pleasure to meet up with Anna Lyell Gross (Mrs. M. G.) who lives at 16 Nassau Rd., Great Neck, N. Y. She was married in 1912 and is the mother of three children: Robert, Helen and William. There are 10 grandchildren. After 52 years it was glad to see her again.

For the new year to all of you, classmates, I send this old English blessing:

God bless Thy year,
Thy coming in,
Thy going out,
Thy rest,
Thy traveling about,
The smooth,
The rough,
The bright,
The drear,
God bless Thy year.

12 MRS. H. W. HOUSEKNECHT
(Maze Callahan)
108 W. Penn St.
Muncy, Pa.

A very famous physician once said that the greatest word in the English language is gratitude. So—not only at this season of the year but always let us return thanks for the freedom and the many blessings which we have enjoyed.

Pop and I had the pleasure of sharing Olive Long Haggerty's birthday dinner, October 2, at Usmars in Montoursville. Had a delightful time. We talked for two hours—had to stop because neither of the men likes night driving.

Frank Hean was a surgical patient at the Harrisburg Hospital. Home now—much improved—looks fine, but has not gone back to his office at this writing.

I'm very sorry to report the death of Ruth Royal Ruth, wife of Clifford "Rip" Ruth, who died in her sleep during the night of August 28. Her sister, Ethel Royal Evans '08, passed away six weeks earlier. "Rip" and Ruth had just moved into their beautiful new home at 1125 Rose Glen Road, Gladys, June 1.

Helen Levegood, Olive Long and I (of course with our Pops) celebrated our 40th wedding anniversaries in October and November. Now we shall get ready to climb the golden stairs toward our 50th.

Dr. Coleman J. Harris has retired from his duties as chairman of the Biology Department and curator of the museum at Morris Harvey College and has moved to Florida. Of his retirement, he says "I'll have lots of time for my stamp collecting hobby, lots of time to fish in and around St. Petersburg and to continue my study of plants and animals. Also, who knows, I may interrupt my retirement and teach again." His address is Box 1156, Pass-A-Grill Beach, Fla.

Thanksgiving eve—getting ready for the big invasion tomorrow. Big kids, little kids, dogs and cats. I'm just thankful to be alive.

We're in the black—no leftover news. So the merriest Christmas ever to Bruce and "Buck", to all you—grandchildren included—even the animals. Don't forget some food in the stockings for the birds and animals. I'll talk to you again in the New Year, 1960.

13 REV. GEORGE F. HAINES
324 Market St.
Lewisburg, Pa.

John Fetter was recently honored by the First Baptist Church of Ithaca, N. Y., in which he had served 40 years as University Pastor at Cornell. He had conferred upon him the title of Honorary Minister, and the Baptist Board of Education at a special dinner in the same church, gave him the title of University Pastor Emeritus.

Perry Caris, the math genius of our class, is still teaching mathematics at the University of Pennsylvania. He began his present work in the Fall of 1925. In the November, 1959, issue of The Pennsylvania Gazette, Perry is listed as having received a newly-established award for excellence in undergraduate teaching.

Since his retirement from the presidency of the Lehigh and New England R. R. Co., May 1, 1957, Walter W. Edwards and wife spend their winters at the Grenadier Apts., 3011 Granada St., Fort Lauderdale, Fla. Although retired, Walter continues to serve as director and chairman of the executive committee of the railroad. He also serves as director of several other corporations and as a trustee of St. Luke's Hospital in Bethlehem.

George Middleton lives at 801 N. E. 16th St., Fort Lauderdale, Fla. It is surprising how many of our class are going to hot places.

14 MRS. H. B. WEAVER
(Dora Hamler)
348 Ridge Ave.
New Kensington, Pa.

We regretfully announce the deaths of two of our closely associated classmates.

Mary A. Kunkel, assistant registrar at Bucknell University, died Saturday, October 24. Mary had been employed at Bucknell since 1928. She was graduated from Bucknell Institute with the Class of 1910 and from the University in 1914. She also held her master's degree from Bucknell. Mary was a native of the Lewisburg area, the daughter of the late George W. and Ella Berge Kunkel. She is survived by her brother Dr. George M. Kunkel '19, professor of mechanical engineering at Bucknell, and a niece, Nancy Lou Kunkel, a junior at Bucknell.

Harry S. Stahler's wife, the former Bessie Walker of Lewisburg, died Thursday morning, October 22. She is survived by her husband, a daughter, Mildred '39, a granddaughter and a brother.

Mary and Bessie always attended the 1914 reunions and were with us for the 45th in June. To their families we extend our most sincere sympathy.

18 MRS. LAYTON E. KING
(Elizabeth Champion)
10 N. Loyalsock Ave.
Montoursville, Pa.

Dr. Chester S. Keefer, formerly director and dean of the Boston University School of Medicine and president-elect of the American College of Physicians, has been appointed director of the newly-created Boston University-Massachusetts Memorial Hospitals Medical Center. Dr. Keefer is one of the nation's leading authorities on antibiotics. He received his Doctor of Medicine in 1922 from Johns Hopkins University and honorary degrees from both Bucknell and Boston University.

During World War II, Dr. Keefer was chairman of the National Research Council's Committee on chemotherapeutics and other agents and administrator for the civilian use of penicillin. Dr. Keefer has served as a medical administrative officer for the Committee on Medical Research of the Office of Scientific Research and Development and has been special assistant on health and medical affairs to the U. S. Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare.

JANUARY 1960

20 MR. HAYES L. PERSON
60 S. Third St.
Lewisburg, Pa.

REUNE IN JUNE — 1960

Plans for the 40th reunion are moving along well but we wish more of you would signify your intention of attendance. Some of those already on the "Yes" list are: Bob Bell, Merrill Brown, General Carroll Dietrick, Errol Derby, Steve Dimlich and wife Dot Villinger, Ralph Dyer, Dr. Mark Everett, Dr. Les Fowle, J. O. Fraker, Helen Nutt Hatch, Tommy Heim, Morris Hooven, George Little, Andy Mathieson, Joseph McIlwain, Helen Bodine Miller, Ruth Clark Oakley, Hayes Person, Tip Pinder, C. H. Pontius, Steve Puff, H. Clay Reed '22, J. E. Robbins, Anna Sterling Roseman, Walter Roos, Jules Seebach, Kathryn Glover Shoemaker, Dr. A. L. Sherk and wife Pauline Schenck, Warren Slocum, Doc Speare, Sandy Stewart, Paul Stolz, Harry Warfel, Dr. Henry Weber, Cort Williams, and Clayt Yon '22. Katherine Puddicombe Chapin and Harry Fries report they are "retiring" to Florida, and John Vanderbilt is "retiring" to Oklahoma. Their new homes will be too far away to return in June. We hope they will change their minds about that trip back next June.

22 MRS. GEORGE C. WOLFE
(Ruth H. Brown)
60 S. Second St.
Lewisburg, Pa.

Roy H. Landis of Ardsley House, Scarsdale, N. Y., has been elected second vice president of the Bucknell Engineering Alumni Association.

27 MRS. L. H. COLLISON
(Grace M. Pfeifer)
Marydel, Md.

Elmer "Dizz" Dietz of 30 Thurston Ave., Trenton, N. J., writes that last April he met with a serious auto accident. While crossing the street to mail a letter he was hit by a car, breaking his right arm in three places; his right leg was broken, and his left leg lacerated. At the writing of his card, February 4, he was still in a brace up to hip on right leg, and using a cane. We are all sorry to hear of his misfortune. Says Dizz, "Am back at work in Princeton, N. J., as manager of the Telephone Office, but I sure am a pretty sight with my cane and brace."

William Blaisdell of Honolulu 13, Hawaii, last, but not least, of the newsettes, writes all the way across the Pacific that he, for one, is very happy with the acceptance of Hawaii as the 50th State of the United States, and hopes that the admission of Hawaii will benefit the overall program of the United States in the furtherance of world understanding and brotherhood. Recently he was promoted to Fire Chief of the Honolulu Fire Company. This company is composed of 26 engine companies, 3 truck companies, and a fireboat, with a personnel in the department of 439. This department covers an area of 640 square miles, with a population of 450,000 and a property valuation in the hundred-millions. His brother, Neal '26 is the present mayor of Honolulu.

Robert W. Dill has been elected a member of the executive committee of the Bucknell Alumni Club of Philadelphia.

Elizabeth K. Lawson is listed in WHO'S WHO OF AMERICAN WOMEN.

Our own Charles Kushell received important mention in a recent issue of Printer's Ink when he was pointed out as one of the three top management men in the Montgomery Ward and Co. organization. Incidentally, Charlie was the first speaker in the 1959-60 program of the Bucknell Business Forum on the campus.

28 MRS. H. MONTGOMERY MARSH, JR.
(Lorinne Martin)
60 Prospect Hill Ave.
Summit, N. J.

Edna L. Whitaker has been named dean of girls at the Patterson Junior High School, Pottsville.

Margaret M. Field is studying at the Yale University School of Nursing under a United States Public Health Service traineeship and is a candidate for an M.S. in nursing with a major in maternal and new-born health.

30 MRS. BERNARD F. KLOSTERMAN
(Emmalyn Y. Fuller)
23 Leathers Road
South Fort Mitchell, Ky.

REUNE IN JUNE — 1960

President Ollie Wagner reported on the class meeting held on October 17 at Coleman Hall. Those present were: Bill and Gertie Emmitt, Maynard Henry, Ruth Wentworth Shure, Robert Payne, Francis Moerschbacher, Ollie Wagner and Eddie Smalstig, president of the Class of 1931. The meeting was most interesting and plans are pretty well made for the reunion in June.

I am sure you will approve of the nice treats in store for you. There will be class activities Friday night and, of course, the usual class meeting, parade and Alumni Luncheon on Saturday morning. A nice surprise Saturday afternoon will include your children. Anyone who wishes, may bring guests to the reunion.

Area committee members for the reunion include: Mrs. D. Neil Pursley (Mildred Gommer), Robert L. Payne, Mrs. Alex J. Tomko (Phoebe Evans), Dr. John S. Burlew, Marlin B. Stephens, Esq., Maynard B. Henry, Mrs. Charles R. Winter (Helen Ryder), Paul H. Crago, Dr. Charles M. Snyder, Mrs. R. Henry Coleman (Esther Keim) and Ralph G. Keller.

The reunion committee includes: Ollie Wagner, president; Francis Moerschbacher, general chairman; Sally Bailey Jones, secretary; Arthur M. Shorts, fund manager; Bill and Gertie Emmitt, reunion book editors; and yours truly, reporter.

Remember, there is a job for everyone. Get your classmates back to the reunion. Call the ones nearest you and make plans to come together. Write me a letter and let me know you are planning to return and your old friend from California or Illinois may decide to return because you will be there.

33 MRS. ERNEST H. ENGELHARDT
(Janet Worthington)
Irontdale Place, Millville Road
Bloomsburg, Pa.

By the time this issue appears, there will be snow on the ground and frost on the window panes. To please you, your children, or grandchildren, I am including a verse as yet unpublished, written by your reporter.

(Editor's Note: They said, "It couldn't be done," but a dog did it. Recently we received, not one, but two letters from a member of the K-9 corps. To be specific, "Loki", a Welsh Terrier owned by Mrs. Ernest H. Engelhardt (Janet Worthington '33) has written the Alumni Office two letters. The first letter brought to our attention news of "Loki" endorsing a check in a bank in Bloomsburg. Later a picture of the proceedings appeared in a local newspaper and in the AMERICAN BANKER, a national daily banking publication. The story was a first in "banking oddities." It was in the first letter that "Loki" requested a Bucknell freshman dink and the second letter reprinted here is an acknowledgement of our gift.)

"My dear Editor:

"I am a Welsh Terrier named Loki (from the Scandinavian God of Mischief) who wants to thank the Alumni Association of Bucknell University for honoring me for my literary achievements, with the gift of a Freshman dink. The orange button sets off the blue cap very well. (I brushed my whiskers for this photograph—after all I'm an eligible bachelor!)

"Although I was planning to dog you for an invitation to attend the convocation along with the governor, in thinking it over, I decided not to attend. One time my mistress invited her senior English class to our home for brunch and for hearing a recording of Mid-summer Night's Dream. When I appeared with my tennis balls and green rubber mouse, even Shakespeare didn't have a chance! She was quite irritated, and after all I'm a public relations man at heart.

"To tell the truth about your suggested title for my write-up, 'Bucknell Dog is Publicity Hound,' I like better the title, 'Publicity Hounds Bucknell Dog.' My efforts have not been for publicity but for advancing the canine world. In addition to writing letters of appreciation, endorsing my own check, opening a bank account, contributing to the shelter for homeless dogs, and playing the stock market, I am probably the only dog to be officially invited to be a member of the Bucknell Campus family. It really makes me wag my tail. Thank you again.

Loki"

Milton Mensch '48 has been elected vice president of Ben Sackheim, Inc., advertising agency. He is account executive on the Burlington Industries account.

Milton has worked in the field of advertising since his graduation and joined the Sackheim agency in 1959. Previously he had been associated with the Peck Advertising Agency and the William G. Scidanbaum Advertising Agency.

Milton is married to the former Dorothy Schulman and with daughter Nancy Ann, born August 10, 1959, lives at 185 Hall Street, Apt. 612, Brooklyn 5, N. Y.

JACK FROST

He comes at night with softest tread,
A cap of brown perched on his head.
He flies with wings of webby white,
And in his slender fingers-tight—
He holds a brush of comet's hair
And waves it boldly in the air.
Then perched upon our window sill,
He paints and paints while all is still
Such webby, fairy, airy scenes
Of trees and brooks and flowers and streams,

And weaves within sometimes a face,
(Of course it's very hard to trace.)
Then leaves as fast as he can run,
For Jack's afraid of old man Sun!

Campbell Rutledge, Jr., of 120 E. 5th St., Corning, N. Y., has been re-elected president of the Bucknell Engineering Alumni Association.

Mary Bell Heritage is a county probation officer and social worker. She is married to B. Paul Heritage. Their children are Elizabeth, Ben, Margie and Jonathan. She says her contributions to life in general are questionable, and hobbies—Hah! With two jobs?

John Harvey says he enjoys reading our news and information. He is principal of the Ogden School and coordinator of music for the Woodmere School District, Hewlett, L. I., N. Y. His wife, Betty, daughter Janie, and he visited Les Benner in St. Petersburg, Fla., last summer. John's orchestra has played for several of the Long Island Alumni Club Birthday and Valentine dances for the past several years. They really enjoyed the Bucknell Bison Band concert in Garden City last spring.

Doris G. Palsgrove's address has been changed to 7A N. Nice St., Frackville.

Rev. Alfred B. Haas served Silvelado Methodist Church in Long Beach, Calif., in August. He met many Bucknellians while preaching or conducting hymn festivals in the area. He is planning a trip to Europe this summer with Drew students. He is still enjoying teaching at the Theological School of Drew University, Madison, N. J.

Eddie Cleckner Myers and Eddie '34 with their girls, Wendy (17) and Sandra (14) flew to Mexico for a summer vacation, visiting Mexico City. "Acapulco was divine." Wendy is a senior at The Ellis School and Sandy is a freshman, three inches taller than Eddie. Eddie enjoys gardening, decorating, bowling and pulling crab grass. She golfs a bit, is on the Board of West Penn Hospital, is co-chairman of a group of teen-agers (her girls belong) who do volunteer work at the hospital and is a member of the Linden Garden Club and Shadyside Presbyterian Church.

Emily Steininger Reish and Ralph have a daughter Pat who was graduated from Bucknell in June and in August was married to Robert Hemphill '58. Pat is teaching at the Otis Air Force Base in Massachusetts. Rick is a high school sophomore and Joan is in sixth grade. Emily works at the Community Hospital.

Your reporter and her husband, Dr. Ernest H. Engelhardt '28 have booked passage for June on the Queen Elizabeth for a two-week tour of England where they will visit their son, Hans, at Balliol College, Oxford University, Oxford, England. The three of them then plan to spend the summer touring Europe.

34

MRS. WILLIAM S. LIMING
(Ruth E. Rohr)
55 Magnolia Ave.
Garden City, L. I., N. Y.

Eugene M. Cook of 509 Broadlawn Terrace, Vineland, N. J., has been re-elected vice president and is a director of the Bucknell Engineering Alumni Association. Your reporter enjoyed talking with Gene and his charming wife at our 25th reunion in June '59. Gene, like the rest of our classmates, has worn well. Wish more of you would be active in Alumni affairs. No time like the present to start and you will find it most rewarding.

How about some juicy news items—if you don't send them to me or the Alumni office, you'll turn to find this column and it won't be there.

35

MRS. PAUL J. DESCHANEL
(Ann W. Orr)
Chapel Wood
Gambrills, Md.

REUNE IN JUNE — 1960

"New Hope for Overloaded Hearts," written by Paul deKruif appeared in a recent issue of Reader's Digest. Of special interest is that research recognition is given to Dr. Charles L. Spurr. Dr. Spurr is associated with the Bowman-Gray School of Medicine and continues research in the field of cancer. He is married to the former Isabel M. Holtzinger '36, and the family home is at 1845 Buena Vista Dr., Winston-Salem, N. C.

George F. Zimmerman of 119 Fairview Ave., Teaneck, N. J., has been appointed project engineer in the Power Section of Allied Chemical's Barrett Division. He is married to the former Ruth Bauridel and has two daughters.

George L. McGaughey is assistant athletic director at Lafayette College. He is married to the former Margaret Gibbons and has three children, George, Margaret and James. The family lives at 315 Burke St., Easton.

Mrs. Eleanor Romberger Kramer, widow of Stewart E. Kramer, received her

B.A. degree from Wilson College in June and is now teaching in the Quincy Merged School District. We congratulate her and wish her well in her new job. With a home and five children depending upon her, we know they are all in good hands.

Don't forget the Silver Reunion in June—your reporter will have to depend on YOU for news of those who plan to come and other information—graduate school keeps me continually busy reading and writing.

36

MRS. CLYDE E. BURGEE
(Lois Montgomery)
124 S. Fifth St.
Lewisburg, Pa.

Joseph M. Katz is in the department of research and development at Lockheed Aircraft Missiles and Space Division in Sunnyvale, Calif. His home address is 745 Sutter Ave., Palo Alto, Calif.

Jack Barnes, his wife Eleanor, and two children; Jack, 16, and Ann, 11, reside at W. Elmcrest Dr., Dallas. I'm sorry space does not permit me to include Jack's note in toto, but he says; "Our door is always open to any of the 'gang' passing this way."

For the past five years, Francis P. Baker has been executive secretary of the Family Consultation Service. The Bakers and their two daughters; Sharon, 15, and Karen, 12, live at 1201 Michigan Ave., Rockford, Ill.

Eleanor N. Eckles, who has been in New Orleans for several years, has returned to Baltimore and is associated with the University of Maryland Medical School. She finds it nice to be back in Baltimore. Her new address is 67-C Severly Ct., Baltimore 21, Md.

Alfred Scheer, who began his collegiate work with our class, but finished at Penn State, is an elementary school principal at Bridgeton, N. J. Al and his family live at 201 Fayette St.

Mrs. Robert C. Desmond (Genevieve Lawrence) tells us that her husband has retired from the Marines, and they are making their permanent home at 4123 Conquista St., Lakewood, Calif.

Rev. and Mrs. Frederick W. Rapp (Grace Gault '38) of 175 Auburn St., Auburndale, Mass., spent last summer (NOTE—or the Summer of 1958) on a fabulous trip to Europe. They have four children, all of whom are attending school in Auburndale.

Thanks to Charles "Chick" Gwynne for a fine report of his visit to the campus for Homecoming. He writes: "It was my first homecoming in ten years, and I thought the University put on a terrific program! The weather was perfect, the parade wonderful, the football victory grand! I was glad I had gone even though I was tired but happy when I came home."

"Among those '36ers who were back were: Dr. Harold Evans, Bill Newcomb, John Decker, Lee Rohde, Bob Pethick, Henry McGee, Tom Rauffenbart, Ed Raymaley, John and Peg Davis, and Eleanor Koshland Appleby. Rumor had it that Dorothy Reeves Lord was in town, but I did not see her. Had dinner at the Kappa Sig house with Dan and Helen Morgan ('37 Griffith). Their son is a Kappa Sig sophomore. Bucknell has changed since we entered in September '32. I hope all you classmates are planning to attend our 25th, June '61."

Louis H. and Jane Brewer Winkler are parents of three sons. Their oldest son, Louis, is a freshman at Bates College in Maine. Their second son is a senior in high school, and the youngest is in 8th grade. The Winklers live at 1318 Madison Ave., Bethlehem.

Mrs. Frank Schott (Betty Betts) is the wife of a Lutheran minister and the mother of two daughters: Caryl, 18, and Judy. Her home address is 18712 West Pacific, Coast Highway, Malibu, Calif.

7 MRS. PAULL W. ZIEGLER
(Mabel Nylund)
12 W. Garrison Rd., Parkside
Chester, Pa.

A prosperous New Year to you all! I hope the holiday season was a happy one and you are looking forward to a year bright with opportunity.

A letter from Jeannette Evans Ballard brings us up-to-date on the doings at 1120 E. 63rd St. in Philadelphia. (Zone 31 completes their address). Jay reports a pleasant vacation last summer which took them to the Adirondacks, along with some other places that sound inviting. "General practice consumes all of George's time," says Jay. You probably remember that George has his M.D. from Hahnemann. The Ballards are the parents of a son, now 13.

I was hoping to have some news from Julius Altman and Ida Laura Lange Beaman for this issue. Maybe next time, m-m?

8 MRS. JOSEPH T. QUICK
(Mary Bachman)
Wrights Road, R. D. 2
Newtown, Pa.

Herb Bowman reports a lot of news from Florida where he is busily engaged in the automobile finance business. He and his wife, Jacqueline, and their three daughters—Patricia, 16; Susan, 13; and Cathy, 9; reside at 936 Bradley Court, West Palm Beach, Fla. Herb says, in part: "I just got a card from Bill and Barbara York of Endicott, N. Y.—it's a boy (William Scott), born November 13, 1959. Jim Nicholson and family are now residing in Palm Beach, Fla. I understand Jim is in the contracting business." Congratulations to Bill and Barbara.

Alice G. Brown teaches the third grade at the Mark Newbie School in Collingswood, N. J. Between her school activities she manages to devote time to a host of things, 5 educational associations along with choir work at the Haddonfield Methodist Church, and holds offices in two of these activities. Alice's address is 135 Merion Ave., Haddonfield, N. J.

Stanley C. Thomas, is guidance director at the Henry C. Conrad High School in Wilmington, Del., and is active in the Delaware State Department of Education program. He resides at 3833 Katherine Ave., Dunlind Acres, Wilmington 8, Del.

Kathryn Shultz Wing says that she is spending much of her time painting and taking two art courses at the Trenton Art School. Kitty lives at 19 E. Delaware Ave., Pennington, N. J., with her husband Martin and two daughters, Hannah, 16; and Prudy, 11.

9 MR. DAVID R. BAGENSTOSE
12 Kinterra Rd.
Wayne, Pa.

Thomas C. Leinbach, his wife and three children, have moved to the Washington area where he has become the new general manager and vice president of Executive Job Counselors Inc., an organization that has helped more than 40,000 men and women to obtain better positions and careers through scientific counseling techniques. The organization was founded by Ernest Haldane. Tom formerly held production and national sales management positions with the Berkshire Knitting Mills of Reading.

JANUARY 1960

40 MRS. JAMES A. MILLER
(Mary McCrina)
1492 Colfax Ave.
Benton Harbor, Mich.

REUNE IN JUNE — 1960

This is the year for all good members of the Class of '40 to gather. Twenty years now and time to report in person.

Mary McClelland Lago writes, "I keep seeing those notices about the reunion in June and keep thinking what fun it would be." She and her husband, Gladwyn, are both busy. She is working with the office of the Foreign Student Advisor on the University of Missouri campus. The University has an exchange contract with the Indian states of Bihar and Orissa. Her work is to help make contacts between new foreign students and new ICA arrivals and Columbia (Mo.) families. Gladwyn has been working on a new book and by next spring will be deep in a research project for the Public Health Service (brain-wave recording) so he might not be able to come along with her to the reunion. "But I'll think about it anyway!" she promises. Mary also explains her new address, which is 834 Greenwood Court, Columbia, Mo.: "We have a new house number but not a new house. We, along with two-thirds of the families in Columbia, have had our house renumbered in an effort to give some semblance of logic to the local house-numbering system. The old one must have been obtained through a house-number salesman who spilled his sample case on the way through town!"

Start planning now for that June reunion. Five years ago we had such a good time; this year should be even better.

P. S. Everybody: We appreciate hearing from you from time to time, too. So exercise your communications skills and keep us up to date.

41 MRS. WILLIAM F. HASSELBERGER
(Jean P. Steele)
605 Scott Ave.
Syracuse 3, N. Y.

Dr. and Mrs. Martin M. Cummings (Arlene S. Avrutine) with their three sons, have established their home in Oklahoma City where Dr. Cummings has become chairman of the department of microbiology and professor of microbiology at the University of Oklahoma School of Medicine. Dr. Cummings recently has written the article on "Tuberculosis" for the forthcoming issue (1960) of The Americana Annual, Yearbook of the Encyclopedia Americana. He has also recently co-authored Diagnostic and Experimental Methods in Tuberculosis.

Prior to moving to Oklahoma, Dr. Cummings served as Director of the Research Service of the Department of Medicine and Surgery of the Veterans Administration for six years and was recently the recipient of the exceptional service award by the U. S. government.

The Cummings family, always active in alumni affairs wherever they have lived are planning the establishment of a Bucknell alumni center for the Bucknellians who reside in Oklahoma.

43 MISS CAROLYN F. DONEHOWER
3722 Chestnut St.
Philadelphia 4, Pa.

William G. Thomas of 382 Wyatt Rd., Harrisburg, has been made management instructor in the Training Department of the Equitable Assurance Society, a job which will require considerable traveling.

Dr. and Mrs. Russell McQuay, Jr., of Oak Park, Ill., recently adopted Paulette

Robert C. McGowan '47 has been appointed Comptroller of the Chesapeake and Ohio Railway Company, one of the nation's major rail carriers. His responsibilities include, in addition to accounting, the operation of C & O Univac electronic computers which serve all departments of the company.

Bob has also been appointed Comptroller of several companies affiliated with the C & O including the White Sulphur Springs Company, Chesapeake Mineral Company and the Chesapeake Realty Development Company. He is 35 years old.

After graduating from Bucknell, Bob joined the General Electric Company and became Manager-Budget Systems of an operating division. He attended New York University's Graduate School of Business Administration evenings from 1947 to 1951. In 1951 he joined the C & O as Staff Assistant Budget Services. After serving in various line and staff positions, he was appointed General Staff Officer to the Vice President-Finance in 1958 and Comptroller in August, 1959. He is a member of the Comptrollers Institute and the National Association of Accountants.

Bob and his wife live at 22469 Blossom Drive, Rocky River 16, Ohio, and have three children: Robert 12, Susan 10, and Chris 3.

Michele McQuay. Russell is now head of division of parasitology, Mt. Sinai Hospital; research associate, Mt. Sinai Hospital of Research Foundation; assistant in parasitology, Chicago Medical School, Chicago, Ill.

44 MRS. ROBERT F. BAKER
(Honey Rhinesmith)
Lindys Lake, R. D.
Butler, N. J.

Mrs. Durrell D. Moore (Betty J. Mid-dlesworth) writes, "Our new home (1 Lakeview Circle, Greenbelt, Md.) is one of three 'news' in our lives recently. After watching it progress for many months, it finally has been completed. The second 'new' is Timothy Joel Moore, who joined us on February 2; while the third 'new' is my job as research assistant for Senator John L. McClellan of Arkansas."

Both Bobs, Tom, Kit and Tim join me in best wishes for 1960 to all of you. (Does it seem possible it was 20 years ago we were looking forward to September and Bucknell?)

Charles A. Larson '51 has been appointed assistant group manager in Pittsburgh for Connecticut General Life Insurance Company. He joined the company's Pittsburgh group insurance staff in 1955.

In his new post he will have special responsibilities in directing the group insurance services for business and industrial firms.

Charles' address is 1119 Macon Avenue, Pittsburgh 18.

REUNION BOOKS full of biographical data of our classmates are still available at the Alumni Office. If you didn't get yours, write now and enclose your check for $2.00 — you'll enjoy getting "caught up."

46 MRS. LELAND C. EWING
(Elizabeth J. Wells)
41 Crest Dr.
Tarrytown, N. Y.

A son, William Curtis, was born to Mr. and Mrs. Fitz R. Walling on October 6. He was welcomed by a sister, Susan Langham, who is 2½ years old. Fitz is Director of Admissions at Bucknell. The family home is at R. D. 1, Lewisburg.

Virginia Wiehe writes that her correct address is 9607 Garwood St., Silver Spring, Md. It was good to hear from you, Ginny.

Alice Nix Rapp accompanied her husband on a Fall business trip to Europe, seeing Switzerland, France, Italy, Vienna, and London.

47 ROGER S. HADDON, ESQ.
243 Water St.
Northumberland, Pa.

Richard L. Moore has been named manager of chemical public relations for W. R. Grace & Co. His wife is the former Dorothy Dillenback '46. Their home address is 128 Cooper Ave., Upper Montclair, N. J.

Louis Haug, a chemical engineer with Sylvania at Ottawa, Ohio, writes of the arrival of daughter Loria Ann on September 1, 1959. Brother Louis Jr. ("Chris") is going on age 4. Lou and Joan moved from Philadelphia in 1955, to their present address: 1539 Brookside Drive, Findlay, Ohio. Itinerant alumni always welcome at this happy house.

Tamara Gurvitch Goldman claims to have found the secret for former career girls who get married and have three sons at home. Tam is doing free-lance copy-writing for a New Jersey mail order house, a few days per week, now and then. With a free-lance babysitter on call back in Englewood, Tam says the whole thing works out famously. Your reporter has seen some of her ad copy, and is impressed. Manhattan's loss turns out to be New Jersey's part-time gain.

48 MRS. JAMES A. BROWN
(Joann G. Gollightly)
1591 Hillcrest Terrace
Union, N. J.

A really healthy and prosperous New Year is wished you all.

William H. McChesney, 325 Bender Ave., Roselle Park, N. J., is manager of the International Department, Price Waterhouse, New York City. His wife, the former Eleanor Gollightly '46 is a Girl Scout troop leader for her daughter, Joann. Ellie and Bill also have a son, Bill, age 11—Joann is 8. They all drove, in the rain, to see B. U. play Lafayette—now, that's spirit!

49 MRS. THOMAS A. FRAZIER
(Marilyn L. Harer)
1344 Mansel Ave.
Williamsport, Pa.

Ralph W. Speck is teaching English and directing plays at Dillard University. His new address is Box 192, Dillard University, New Orleans 22, La.

Irvin Graybill, Jr., of Middleburg, and Jane E. Summy of Elizabethtown, were married June 26. Irvin is District Attorney for Snyder County and lectures in business law at Susquehanna University.

50 MRS. DAVID MILLER
(Martha J. Kreider)
614 Penn St.
New Bethlehem, Pa.

REUNE IN JUNE — 1960

Jack D. Bozarth of 19 Upland Way, Haddonfield, N. J., is vice president, sales and planning, of the Sports Network, Inc., in the field of broadcasting and television. He and his wife (Patricia A. Jones '51) have two daughters, Amanda and Susan.

Rev. Max A. Coots has accepted a call to the Canton Universalist Church at Canton, N. Y. Rev. and Mrs. Coots (Emilie J. Fritz) and their three children, Douglas, Brian and Daniel, formerly lived in Cortland, N. Y., where Max was pastor of the church there.

Barbara J. DuBois is now Mrs. G. G. Jespersen and the mother of four children. Her husband is the American Vice Consul located at the U. S. Embassy, Teheran, Iran.

Rev. and Mrs. James H. Middleton (Dorothy J. Taylor '51) have moved to Wayland Academy, Beaver Dam, Wis., where Jim is now chaplain.

On October 1, a son, John Francis, was born to Mr. and Mrs. Frank Ripa of 2139 Hudson Terrace, Fort Lee, N. J.

Allan W. Dehls and Mrs. Marjorie McIntosh were married on July 26, 1958, in Westfield, N. J.

Richard W. Danforth and Leslie J. McCord were married on November 22, 1958. They will make their home in Fox Chapel.

Edwin A. Irland is a member of the technical staff of Bell Telephone Laboratories, Inc. He has been working mainly in the field of data transmission and recently is working on electronic switching for the NIKI-FELS (Anti-Missile) project. He and his wife (Catherine E. Klotz '51) have three children and live at 525 Ridgedale Ave., Hanover, N. J.

John D. Larson, who earned the degree of Master of Science in education at Bucknell in June, 1958, has been promoted to principal at the junior high school at Jersey Shore. He is a "Weekend Warrior" at Willow Grove where he was promoted recently to the rank of Lt. Commander in the Naval Air Reserve.

Leo J. Krasowski and Christine H. Ryczko were married December 27, 1958. Leo is associate professor of business administration and dean of students at Alliance College.

Paul C. Bordinger is supervising purchasing agent at Fort Bragg, N. C., and has recently opened a dry cleaners and barber shop to make use of his spare time. He and his wife, Mary, have three children, Terry, Jimmy and Barbara.

Dr. James W. Dean is dean of student affairs at Virginia Polytechnic Institute. He and his wife, Betty, have one daughter, Courtney Ellen, and live at 259 Kent St., Blacksburg, Va.

Rev. M. Edgar Datesman has been studying the past year at the University of Edinburgh School of Theology, Edinburgh, Scotland, toward his Ph.D. degree. He and his family toured Europe and the Holy Land before returning in September. He has taken a pastorate in Bedford.

Club officers: Michael Harris, elected treasurer of the Bucknell Alumni Club of Long Island; Clifford W. Clark, elected a member of the executive committee of the Bucknell Alumni Club of Philadelphia; Mrs. Arnold Schwartz (Ethel R. Tumen), elected secretary of the Bucknell Alumni Club of Monmouth-Ocean; Jean M. White, elected secretary of the Bucknell Alumni Club of Washington, D. C.

Rev. James H. Kepler of Granada Hills, Calif., is currently working with motion picture star, Charleton Heston, on a selective-reading work on the five books of Moses which will be recorded soon. Heston is known to his friends as a serious Christian layman and famous for his roles in many of the Biblical movies. Rev. Kepler has written one religious novel "The Jordan Beachhead" and has a second novel about the life of St. Paul which will be published soon.

51 MRS. HAROLD NORRIS
(Rebecca J. Rogers)
6 Griffiths St.
Montrose, Pa.

In September, Martha J. Acker received her Master of Education degree from Pennsylvania State University. Since leaving Bucknell, she has been in personnel work with Capital and American Airlines and has taught English and history in secondary schools. She is presently serving as assistant director of education at the American Institute of Biological Sciences. Her address of 167 Washington St., Carbondale.

Dr. and Mrs. Henry M. Kissman (Lee Cohn) welcomed a son, Paul Jacob, on October 29, 1959. The Kissmans also have a daughter, Ellen, age 2. Congratulations.

52 MRS. JOHN S. BOULDEN, JR.
(Barbara Bleecker)
1605 Twin Maple Ave.
Towson 4, Md.

I am very saddened to report that Mrs. Donald L. Frye was killed in an automobile accident in December of 1958. The former Helen Jackson of Park Ridge, Ill., she and Donald were married in August of 1957. I'm sure our entire class joins me in sending our deepest sympathy to Donald.

Manny '54 and Mibs Davis Edleman are now residing at 246 Evergreen St., Hillsdale, N. J., with Karen, 4; and Kirk, 1 fanny was transferred from Terre Haute, Ind., and is now personnel manager for Fizer International.

Bob Sperry has received his LL.B. from Tulsa University and is a patent attorney. Larry and Bob and their two children, Larry and Robert, Jr., live at 7609 E. 7th St., Tulsa, Okla. Bob is active as a Jaycee and a Boy Scout committeeman, and he and Mary enjoy their hobbies of antique collecting and horseback riding and their membership in the Orchid Club.

A wonderful letter came from 710 California St., El Segundo, Calif., from Phyllis Pell Pedersen. 1959 was a very eventful year for Phyllis and Bob, beginning with the birth of Elizabeth Ann on January 5. In June they began enlarging their home. On July 24 the whole family (Bob, 5½, 5½ and Peggy, 3½, too) left for a two-month combined business and pleasure trip to Scandinavia. As baby sitters were 30¢ an hour, Phyllis and Bob did lots of gadding about during their trip. Now the Pedersens have returned home to begin painting their new house addition.

Two of our classmates have been elected to alumni club presidencies. Bob Alton is the president in Cleveland; Lenny onHeill in Long Island.

Judd and Mrs. Bunnell (Mary Lou Johnston '54) along with Tamara, 4, and Pamela, 2, are spending the winter in Phoenix, Ariz., where Judd is assistant manager of the Camelback Inn. The Bunnells will return to Lake Mohonk Mountain House, Mohonk Lake, N. Y., for the summer of 1960.

Prior to her marriage to Attorney Kenneth W. Hergenhan on August 24, Jane Dahl taught school for four years in her home town of Bethlehem. In 1956-57 she taught for the Air Force on Okinawa and toured the Far East. 1957 saw her on a Caribbean Island tour while the summer of 1958 was spent in Europe. Following her honeymoon at Acapulco, the Hergenhan's are at home at 2035 S. W. 10th Ave., Portland 1, Ore.

Dr. and Mrs. Rudolph L. Buck (Dr. Ann Steele) have a young son, David Steele, who will have one candle on his birthday cake on February 17, 1960. The Bucks address is 3 Colonial Dr., Mt. Vernon, McKeesport.

Bob Kerr is a third year medical student at the Cornell Medical School. He was married in June to the former Mary Ode. Their present address is 325 E. 14th St., New York 21, N. Y. (Apt. 4-B).

3 MRS. JAMES A. CHAMBERS, JR.
(Barbara Roemer)
58 Linden Ave.
Verona, N. J.

The Whitney's, Jim and Nancy (Carroll), announce the birth of a son, Keith John, born April 1, and Mr. and Mrs. Victor Nuovo (Betty Stagg) announce the birth of a son, Victor Emmanuel, born March 20. Betty's husband is the pastor of the Hempstead Reformed Church, and the couple's address is 502 Clarendon Rd., nondale, N. J.

Our "reporter from the coast," Bette MacDonald) Becker, sends along the news of the new daughter born to Binky Kirk and Jack Butler—Nancy Lorene, July 19. The Butlers have two other children: Kathy, 3; and Jack, 2; and live at 56 Meadow Lane, Mountain View, Calif.

Two weddings which took place in December, 1958, and have not yet been reported are those of Pat Imschweiler and John H. MacFarlane in Tremont and etsy Gibson to Edwin Franklin, Jr. in Inxsutawney.

ANUARY 1960

Dr. and Mrs. Harold W. Heine (Marjorie A. Boote) are the parents of a son who was born August 12.

Susan C. Simpson and Don Anderson were married August 22. Susan received her master's in education from the University of Arizona in June and is teacher-counselor at the Holtville Union High School. Her address is Holtville, Calif.

Mrs. Gerald D. Haynie (H. Elizabeth Clark) prior to her marriage on August 28, spent 5 years as a music teacher in the public schools followed by a year with the Property Department of Standard Accident Insurance Company. She is a soloist with the Summit Methodist Choir and director of Junior Choir members of Montclair Operetta Club. The Haynies are living at 767 Springfield Ave., Summit, N. J.

Richard H. Klemm has been elected vice president of the Bucknell Alumni Club of Long Island.

Philip Roth's first book, Goodbye, Columbus, containing a novella and several short stories, has already received considerable advance acclaim, including the Houghton Mifflin Literary Fellowship. His stories have appeared in The New Yorker, Esquire, Commentary, in the 1956 Martha Foley collection, and last year, in Paris, he accepted the Aga Khan award from the princely hands of Sadruddin, brother of the current Aga.

A son, John Harrison, joined the family of Helen (Harrison) and Bill Caldwell on September 17.

Donald H. Fagans, 990 Bryant St., Rahway, N. J., left the U. S. in August for a nine-month tour around the world.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Knorr (Janet Pope '56) announce the birth of their first child, a son Edward Clayton, born on May 3, 1958. Ed graduated in June with an MBA from Wharton Graduate Division. Their home is 124-A Kent Ave., Haddonfield, N. J.

54 MRS. PAUL C. TARR, III
(Anne E. Tuckerman)
413 Alliston Rd.
Springfield, Pa.

Charles M. Stainton, Jr., of 142 Mahoning Dr., Pittsburgh, has been promoted to Store Security Manager in the Pittsburgh East Liberty Store of Sears, Roebuck & Company.

Mr. and Mrs. Willard Krisher of 313 N. Main St., Towanda, announce the birth of a son, Kent Willard, on November 7.

Mr. and Mrs. Heinz Luebke (Johnny Johnson) have recently moved into their home at 25 Buttonbush Lane, Levittown, N. J.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Graf (Barbara A. Shaffer '56) announce the birth of their second son, Reed Arthur, born September 8, 1959. Their present address is 1347 Greenberry Dr., La Puente, Calif.

55 MRS. JOHN C. VANCE, JR.
(Jane Jones)
3 Ford Court
Charleston, S. C.

REUNE IN JUNE — 1960

Dr. Willis G. Stose was graduated from Jefferson Medical College in June and is now interning at Jefferson Hospital, Philadelphia.

Mr. and Mrs. Jerome M. Thompson (Mary J. Blake '56) of 714 Washington St., Sewickley, have a son, Peter Marshall, who was born August 20, 1958.

Dr. Fred R. Amsler, Jr., and Irene L. App of Muncy, were married July 26, 1959, and are living in Duluth, Minn., where Fred is interning.

John F. Chironna is assistant professor of physical education, assistant football coach and head baseball coach at the University of Rhode Island. He and his wife (Katherine Alimisis) have one son, John Elias. Their address is Box 281, Kingston, R. I.

Dr. Barbara A. Crothers received her M.D. degree from Woman's Medical College in June and is now serving her internship at the Chester Hospital in Chester.

Donald J. Currie, Esq., is with the law firm of Cadwalader, Wickersham and Taft in New York City. In October he was married to the former Mary E. Stranghn of Fayetteville, N. C.

Dr. Warren W. Schlanger received his M.D. degree from Chicago Medical School in June and is now interning at Mount Sinai Hospital, 4300 Alton Road, Miami Beach 40, Fla.

Harriet Coyle Mack now has a son, Brian David, who was born on March 6, 1959.

Sheri Lynn is the name Margie Goodwin and Dave Lawrance '57 have chosen for their little girl who arrived April 6, 1959.

Jim Flynn, now a field engineer with General Electric Co., and Barb Wills were married on October 11, 1958. They are the neighbors of Patty Beury Schneider and her husband Bill at the Wallworth Park Apts. in Haddonfield, N. J.

Karen Louise Muehl has been living at 2537 Ellsworth St., Berkeley, Calif., with her parents Curt and Janet Shaw Muehl since her birth June 24. Janet is working as a school nurse until her husband's graduation next June.

Charlie Price is as busy as ever, but to make a long story short, his days are filled with the General Chemical Division of the Allied Chemical Corp. in the sales department and his evenings with his growing family of three. For the complete story please contact Charlie at 10721 Albany St., Oak Park 37, Mich.

Cindy Doremus Porter of Brookdale Road, S. Sudbury, Mass., writes of the birth of Melinda Lee on April 6, 1959.

56 MRS. WILLIAM J. O'NEIL
(Jean M. Wirths)
1706 Esplanade Apt. C, Hollywood Riv.
Redondo Beach, Calif.

Judith N. Locke and Heath B. McLendon were married May 30 and are living at 83 States St., San Francisco 14, Calif.

Caroline Meek and J. Kenneth Hart were married on June 13 and are living at 56-D Parkway Apartments, Haddonfield, N. J.

Barbara J. Morong and Raymond W. Hawkins were married July 27 at Hightstown, N. J. They are making their home at 3226 Prairie Ave., Brookfield, Ill. Bar-

Alumni Trustee Timetable

January ALUMNUS — Announcement of names of three candidates in THE BUCKNELL ALUMNUS.

February 16—Petition deadline.

March 2—Election announcement in THE BUCKNELL ALUMNUS.

April 1—Ballots in mail.

May 16—Deadline for receiving ballots in Alumni Office.

June Commencement—Certification to Board of Trustees.

bara is teaching in the elementary schools of LaGrange, Ill.

Lane L. Roess and Michael I. Londner were married August 8, and are living at 20-B Howard Dr., Bergenfield, N. J.

George R. Sylvester was married in May to Barbara A. Medert of Shaker Heights, Ohio, and is now a systems analyst with Jones and Laughlin Steel Corporation. George and Barbara are living at 2800 E. 130th St., Cleveland 20, Ohio.

Glenn C. Wightman and Margaret A. Wilkinson were married in June and are living in Bucknell Village while Glenn is completing work for his M.S. degree which he will receive in February, 1960.

Rev. Harold G. Williams, Jr., is serving the Elysburg and Rush Presbyterian Churches. His address is Presbyterian Manse, Elysburg.

Amerigo C. Chiriaco has been elected vice president of the Bucknell Alumni Club of Washington, D. C.

Barbara A. Josenhans has been re-elected secretary of the Bucknell Alumni Club of Long Island.

Mr. and Mrs. William F. Lenker (Carol D. Wanamaker '57) announce the birth of a son, Robert Buscher, on September 28. They are living at 103 Ardmore Ave., Ardmore.

Bruce Dittmar, having received an M.S. degree from Wisconsin, is enrolled at University of Pennsylvania's graduate school. Tony Grimaldi is Bruce's lab partner. They are both working toward their doctorates in chemistry. Betty Kiehl is at Smith, Kline & French Laboratories in Philadelphia as a literature scientist.

57

MRS. PETER CHANNELL
(Catherine L. Evans)
5552-2A Netherlands Ave.
Riverdale, N. Y.

Sibby Ulsh and Sam Adams are stationed in Brooklyn, N. Y., while Nancy Nielson is teaching on Long Island. Nancy is attending Hofstra College in Hempstead, N. Y., and will have her Master of Science in Education degree very soon.

Robert R. Krulisch has completed the work for his M.S. degree at Purdue University and is working for the Union Carbide Chemical Company at Charleston, W. Va.

June A. Wildhack received her M.S. degree in microbiology from Hahnemann Medical College in June.

Harry J. Ziegler, Jr., has been released from active military duty and is working for Addressograph-Multigraph Co. of Philadelphia as a salesman in the multigraph division.

58

MRS. FRANK H. RICHARDS, III
(Faith Bonsall)
9 Bigelow St.
Cambridge, Mass.

Sandra Stickney spent two months of the summer of 1959 traveling in Europe and is now a staff nurse at a New York Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Howie Sipler (Joan Carberry) became parents in October. Their blessed event is better known as Jeffrey Dwight Sipler. Congratulations!

Deborah Elizabeth Roach, born in September, claims Gay (Outerson) and Bart Roach as parents. Mr. and Mrs. Roach live in Little Rock, Ark., and are being kept happily busy with their new daughter.

Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Jennings (Pat Head) have their own home, the address of which is 13 Hodge Road, Franklin Park, N. J. Steve is the assistant supervisor of the cost department at American Can Co. Two Siamese kittens are members of their family.

Barbara Pausser is now living in Stockholm, Sweden, and will be there for several years. Her address is c/o Aslund, Vartavagen 85, Viggbymholm, Sweden.

The grapevine tells us that Jay Citron is back in New York from the Army, and is working with his father, as an art dealer.

I had a most enjoyable visit with Money (Reynolds) Miller who lives in Salem, Mass. (6 Andrew St.) Money is working there for a law firm, and husband Mike is in sales with Proctor and Gamble.

I trust that you all had a marvelous Holiday, and don't forget to keep me posted.

59

MRS. VENALD W. BOVARD, JR.
(Jeanne F. Anderson)
c/o 2 Lt. Bovard, Trans. Corps
Fort Eustis, Va.

REUNE IN JUNE — 1960

Hello again.

Esther L. Angus is in Europe where she is studying under a Fulbright Scholarship at the University of Caen, France.

John R. Coulter has joined the firm of Sperry Gyroscope Company as an assistant engineer in the Advanced Studies Engineering Department.

Marilynn J. Ekiss and Joyce S. Mehring are both on the staff of Eosso Research and Engineering Company and share an apartment at Leland Gardens, 64-B, Plainfield, N. J.

Mr. and Mrs. Alan Gordon (Joyce E. Anderson) of 40 Chesapeake St., S. E., Washington 20, D. C., are the parents of a young son, Alan. Joyce is completing work for her degree at American University.

Raymond G. Taylor, Jr., is studying theology at the Crozer Theological Seminary. He was married in June to the former Christine Morton. In addition to his studies at Crozer, Raymond is on the faculty of Pennsylvania Military College in the mathematics department and is assistant pastor of Central Baptist Church, Woodbury, N. J., where he is serving under Rev. Howard G. Hartzell '41. Mail will reach Raymond at Crozer Theological Seminary, Chester.

Doris O. Vogeler is in England, where she is secretary to the British National Director of the Experiment in International Living. Her address is "Otesaga," Upper Wyche, Malvern, Worries, England.

Weddings: Lyn Powers to Leigh W. Bauer, June 27, 1959; Melinda Hauser to Terry Hutton, September 5, 1959; Ann Norris to Jim Snyder, August 29, 1959; Franklin E. Harley to Jane Sutherland '60, December 5, 1959; Jeanne F. Anderson to Venald W. Bovard, Jr., December 27, 1959.

IN MEMORIAM

The following deaths have been reported to the Alumni office since November, 1959. The University extends sympathy to the surviving relatives:

- 1893—Miss Flora M. Clymer (Inst.), November 24, 1959
1899—William H. Engle, Esq., November 30, 1959
1901—Dr. Catherine Ruth Bower, December 9, 1959
1907—Dr. Gilbert S. Perez, November 22, 1959
1908—Mrs. Ethel R. Evans (Ethel M. Royal) (Inst.), July, 1959
1909—Mrs. William E. Fitzpatrick (Helena Way) (Inst.), October 14, 1959
1911—Mr. Elmer M. App, November 15, 1959
Mrs. Joseph R. Grubb (Bertha Dietrich), November 17, 1959
1912—Mrs. D. Clifford Ruth (Ruth Royal) (Inst.), August 28, 1959
1914—Miss Mary A. Kunkel, October 31, 1959
1916—Mr. Charles R. Wright, November 15, 1959
1920—Mrs. Edmund E. Vial (Helen Reed), October 29, 1957
1924—Mr. Joseph H. Powell, January, 1957
1925—Dr. Robert H. McBride, November 9, 1959
1929—Mr. John E. Rank, November 4, 1959
1931—Mr. Frederick M. Locke, November 18, 1959
1937—Mr. Thorwald E. Lewis, October 28, 1959

A GLANCE BACK

(Continued From Page 7)

on hand to supplement five returning lettermen. Heading the list of first year men are freestylers Bill Aussiker, Bill Dorr and Hal Wilson, backstroker Bill Dearstyne, divers Charles Hinkson and Dick Humphreys and breast-stroker Charlie Maunz.

The list of upperclassmen is headed by five lettermen, Co-Captain Bob Erdahl, Co-Captain Doug Forsyth, Jim Brubaker and Dick Kershner, all seniors, and junior Skip Cannon.

This group of sophs and Erdahl hold all of the Bucknell University records with the exception of the 50-yard freestyle mark which was set by Spencer Ryan, in a freshman meet this season.

VARSITY WRESTLING

Bill Wrabley's wrestling teams have won thirteen of fourteen matches in the past two years and with seven lettermen on the squad this season it would appear that the winning trend will continue.

Last year the grapplers placed fourth among eighteen teams in the Middle Atlantic Conference Championships and John Ayre came home with the individual title in the 130-pound division. Ayre will be back to defend his title along with Dave Murdock, the 1958 167-pound champion and a finalist in that division last year.

The other returning letterwinners are Pete Fritts in the 147-pound class, John McKenna and Don Warfel at 157-pounds, Grant Watkins in the 177-pound class and 123-pounder Ken Wightman. Also slated to see considerable action are 137-pounders Bob Brown and Bill Hayes and heavyweights Kirk Foulke and Ned Wight.

Seven dual matches, highlighted by contests with Rutgers and Penn, are scheduled prior to the MAC Championships on March 4 and 5.

ALUMNI CLUB & TRUSTEE DIRECTORY

CALIFORNIA

CALIFORNIA-NORTHERN
(SAN FRANCISCO)
Pres. Sanford H. Sanger '44
1501 Kingswood Drive
Hillsborough, Calif.

CALIFORNIA-SOUTHERN
(LOS ANGELES)
Co-Chm. George W. Hardie, Jr. '49
Co-Chm. Josephine LaBarr Hardie '48
294 Park Ave.
Long Beach 3, Calif.

COLORADO

ROCKY MOUNTAIN (also NEW MEXICO, UTAH, WYOMING)
Pres. Andrew Lobel '32
3191 S. Cherokee St.
Englewood, Colo.

DELAWARE

SOUTH DELAWARE

Pres. Charles H. Stewart '52
905 Monroe Terrace
Dover, Del.

WILMINGTON

Pres. Ray M. Campbell, Jr. '41
2521 Blackwoods Rd., Foulk Woods
Wilmington 3, Del.

DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA

WASHINGTON

Pres. George C. Wilson '49
5724 Carlin Land
McLean, Va.

FLORIDA

ST. PETERSBURG

Pres. Gilbert H. Lyte '09
731-68th Ave., South
St. Petersburg 5, Fla.

SOUTH FLORIDA

Pres. Thomas Davison, III, Esq. '45
1436 Ancona Ave.
Coral Gables, Fla.

GEORGIA

ATLANTA

Chm. Raymond F. Monahan '37
906 Artwood Road, N. E.
Atlanta, Ga.

ILLINOIS

CHICAGO

Acting Chm. Charles W. Hott '48
7748 Birch Ave.
Hammond, Ind.

KANSAS

KANSAS CITY

Pres. Herbert A. Wenner '33
9711 Johnson Drive
Merriam, Kan.

MARYLAND

BALTIMORE

Pres. Anna Weigold Mussina '32
34 Eastship Rd.
Dundalk, Md.

MICHIGAN

MICHIGAN-TOLEDO

Pres. Bruce M. Scott '51
20310 Damman Ave., Harper Woods
Detroit 36, Mich.

NEW ENGLAND

GREATER BOSTON

Chm. Calvin K. Sholl '46
10 Whiting St.
Lynn, Mass.

PITTSFIELD (WESTERN MASSACHUSETTS)

Pres. Stephen Terpak '24
110 Euclid Ave.
Pittsfield, Mass.

CONNECTICUT

Pres. W. Nelson Roberts '47
Taunton Ridge Rd.
Newton, Conn.

NEW JERSEY

ATLANTIC CITY

Pres. Joseph S. Mason '52
201-18th St., South
Brigantine, N. J.

MONMOUTH-OCEAN COUNTIES

Pres. Isadore I. Zlotkin '34
12 Court St.
Freehold, N. J.

NORTHERN NEW JERSEY

Pres. Robert D. Hunter '49
462 Demarest Ave.
Oradell, N. J.

SOUTH JERSEY

Pres. Robert A. Batten '49
160 West Holly Ave.
Pitman, N. J.

TRENTON

Pres. Vincent A. Halbert '34
203 Morningside Dr.
Trenton 8, N. J.

NEW YORK

BUFFALO

Pres. John A. Diffenderfer '53
303 Cazenovia St.
East Aurora, N. Y.

CAPITOL DISTRICT

Pres. Donald R. Smith '23
117 Washington Rd.
Scotia 2, N. Y.

ELMIRA

Pres. Joseph T. Shedio '38
550 South Main St.
Elmira, N. Y.

GREATER NEW YORK

Pres. Philip Glaser '45
68-19 Clyde St.
Forest Hills 75, N. Y.

ITHACA

Pres. D. Aldus Fogelsanger '27
402 Warren Rd.
Ithaca, N. Y.

LONG ISLAND

Pres. Leonard S. VonHeill '52
167 Rockaway Rd.
Garden City, L. I., N. Y.

ROCHESTER

Pres. Warren R. Lewis '42
394 Edgewood Ave.
Rochester 18, N. Y.

SYRACUSE

Pres. M. William LeMon, Jr. '54
324 Cleveland Boulevard
Fayetteville, N. Y.

TRIPLE CITIES

Pres. Douglas W. Burt '42
2203 Richmond Rd.
Endicott, N. Y.

WESTCHESTER

Acting Pres. Joann Golden
Limbacher '51
102 Ridge St.
Tuckahoe, N. Y.

NORTH CAROLINA

DURHAM

Pres. Francis E. Walker '32
2014 Wilson St.
Durham, N. C.

OHIO

CINCINNATI

Acting Pres. Leslie H. Berk '34
511 Traction Building
Cincinnati, Ohio

CLEVELAND

Pres. Robert R. Albert, Jr. '52
19115 Southgate Ave.
Warrensville Heights 22, Ohio

PENNSYLVANIA

ALTOONA

Pres. Lawrence S. Bloom '52
1328 Sixth Ave.
Altoona, Pa.

BELLEFONTE

Pres. L. F. Hartman '24
249 Nimitz Ave.
State College, Pa.

BLOOMSBURG

Pres. J. Claire Patterson '35
315 West St.
Bloomsburg, Pa.

BRADFORD

Pres. Helen Walters Breston '32
604 W. Washington St.
Bradford, Pa.

CHAMBERSBURG

Pres. Robert A. Watkins '51
21 Glenside Ave.
Hagerstown, Md.

DANVILLE

Pres. Grier Y. Boedker '49
102 East Market St.
Danville, Pa.

DUBOIS

Pres. Louis E. Woodring '29
321 E. Mahoning St.
Punxsutawney, Pa.

ERIE

Pres. Paul W. Layden '46
231 Madison Ave.
Erie, Pa.

HARRISBURG

Pres. Edwin R. Mighell '52
540 North 65th St.
Harrisburg, Pa.

HAZLETON

Pres. Patrick J. Gillespie '28
706 Markle Bank Building
Hazleton, Pa.

JOHNSTOWN

Pres. Norman S. Slick '49
802 U. S. Bank Building
Johnstown, Pa.

LANCASTER

Pres. Edward E. Bollinger, Jr. '30
Unter Den Linden, R. D.
Gordonville, Pa.

LEHIGH VALLEY (ALLENTOWN)

Pres. Harry H. Angel '19
Room 517-E, Con. Eng. Dept.,
Bethlehem Steel
Bethlehem, Pa.

LEWISTOWN

Pres. Thomas W. Lewis '50
595 Riverside Drive, Box 145
Lewistown, Pa.

LOCK HAVEN

Pres. Herbert C. Hinebaugh '39
1205 N. Hillview St.
Fleming, Pa.

LYCOMING COUNTY

(WILLIAMSPORT)
Pres. Robert D. Smink '26
1600 Lafayette Parkway
Williamsport, Pa.

MILTON

Pres. Carl L. Millward '06
526 N. Front St.
Milton, Pa.

MOUNT CARMEL

Pres. Harry W. Jones '23
326 S. Oak St.
Mount Carmel, Pa.

PHILADELPHIA

Pres. P. Herbert Watson '37
67 Prospect St.
Norristown, Pa.

PITTSBURGH

Pres. Wayne C. Harrison '51
473 Parkview Drive
Pittsburgh 16, Pa.

READING

Pres. William Pfum, Jr. '50
104 Erie Ave.
Shillington, Pa.

SCRANTON (NORTHEAST PENNSYLVANIA)

Pres. William R. Henkelman '52
612 South Irving Ave.
Scranton, Pa.

SHAMOKIN

Pres. Francis F. Reamer '21
2 North Eighth St.
Shamokin, Pa.

SHARON

Pres. Frank D. Hamlin '48
960 Pearl St.
Sharon, Pa.

SUNBURY

Pres. Robert M. Houskeeper '51
R. D. 2
Sunbury, Pa.

UNION COUNTY (LEWISBURG)

Pres. Jere B. Bates '15
265 Green St.
Millinburg, Pa.

UNIONTOWN

Pres. Russell E. Sangston '26
2 West Main St.
Uniontown, Pa.

WELLSBORO (TIOGA COUNTY)

V. Pres. Warren L. Miller '37
78 St. James St.
Mansfield, Pa.

WILKES-BARRE

Pres. Donald S. Mills '32
Miners National Bank Building
Wilkes-Barre, Pa.

YORK

Pres. James F. Favino '34
119 South Franklin St.
Red Lion, Pa.

SOUTH CAROLINA

CAMDEN

Chm. Lucy Bruce Scheible '47
1712 Brook Drive
Kirkover Hills,
Camden, S. C.

VIRGINIA

RICHMOND

Chm. Karl H. Stutzman '33
6103 Patterson Ave., Westhampton
Richmond 21, Va.

WASHINGTON

PACIFIC NORTHWEST

(including OREGON)
Pres. Thomas A. Child, Jr. '50
3622-84th Ave., S. E.
Mercer Island, Wash.

WEST VIRGINIA

CHARLESTON

Pres. Jesse E. Riley '14
405 Buckhannon Ave.
Clarksburg, W. Va.

BOARD OF TRUSTEES

Mrs. Ellen Clarke Bertrand H'54
New York, N. Y.
Dr. Elmer K. Bolton '08, H'32
Wilmington, Del.
Dr. Detlev W. Bronk H'57
New York, N. Y.
Dr. David Burpee H'59
Philadelphia, Pa.
Mr. R. H. Coleman '29
Fairfield, Conn.
Dr. Clarence W. Cranford '29, H'42
Washington, D. C.
Dr. A. Guy Freas H'57
Huntington Mills, Pa.
*Mr. Wilmer D. Grenlich '34
Wynnewood, Pa.
*Mr. Berkeley V. Hastings '13
Milton, Pa.
Dr. O. V. W. Hawkins '13, H'57
New York, N. Y.
Dr. Horace A. Hildreth H'56
Portland, Maine
Dr. Evan W. Ingram '20, H'56
Pittsburgh, Pa.
*Dr. Franklin D. Jones '19, H'46
Ardmore, Pa.
Mr. Ridgway Kennedy, Jr.
Drexel Hill, Pa.
Mr. Rush H. Kress '00
New York, N. Y.
Mr. Charles J. Kushell, Jr. '27
Chicago, Ill.
*Mr. Andrew R. Mathieson '20
Pittsburgh, Pa.
Mr. Herbert A. May
Pittsburgh, Pa.
Mr. William P. McNutt '27
Belle Vernon, Pa.
*Dr. Edward W. Pangburn '15
Lewisburg, Pa.
Dr. Daniel A. Poling H'46
New York, N. Y.
Hugo Riemer, Esq. '29
Los Angeles, Calif.
*Dr. Robert L. Rooke '13, H'51
Westfield, N. J.
Dr. Harry G. Schad H'58
Jenkintown, Pa.
*Dr. John T. Shirley '09, H'57
Pittsburgh, Pa.
*Miss Thelma J. Showalter '29
Millinburg, Pa.
Mr. Kenneth W. Slifer '26
Woodbury, N. J.
Dr. Andrew J. Sordani H'50
Wilkes-Barre, Pa.
*Dr. Clair G. Spangler '25
Wyomissing, Pa.
Dr. Herbert L. Spencer H'53
New York, N. Y.
*Dr. Harland A. Trax '01, H'51
Upper Montclair, N. J.
Dr. Paul L. Troast H'52
Clifton, N. J.
Dr. William R. White '26
New York, N. Y.
*Mr. T. Cortlandt Williams '20
Greenwich, Conn.
Mr. Charles E. Wilson
Scarsdale, N. Y.
Dr. Mary M. Wolfe '96, H'33
Lewisburg, Pa.

*Elected on nomination by the Alumni.

Originally elected on nomination by the Alumni and later elected to Trustee Board by action of the board itself.

YOU'RE INVITED TO A

party . . .

IN HONOR OF BUCKNELL'S
114th birthday . . .

WHEN: January and February

WHERE: Your Local Alumni Club

Here are some of the clubs that have planned parties to date:

Alumni Club	Date	Alumni Club	Date
Altoona	January 21	Philadelphia	February 6
Wilmington	January 29	St. Petersburg	February 6
Baltimore	January 29	Michigan-Toledo	February 6
Syracuse	January 30	Long Island	February 7
York	January 30	Chambersburg	February 11
Scranton	February 4	Connecticut	February 11
Harrisburg	February 4	Northern New Jersey	February 19
Washington	February 4	Pittsburgh	February 20
Greater New York	February 4	Pacific Northwest	February 24
		South Jersey	February 27

Additional detailed information will be mailed to you regarding all party plans.

THE

March 1960

BUCKNELL

ALUMNUS

OFFICERS OF THE ASSOCIATION

President

Charles F. Fox, Jr., M.D. '31

First Vice President

Robert W. Dill '27

Second Vice President

Mrs. Clyde P. Bailey (Dorothy Lemon '29)

Treasurer

Donald B. Young '33

Secretary and Editor

John H. Shott '22

Assistant Secretary and Assistant Editor

C. Bruce Rossiter '56

BOARD OF DIRECTORS

MRS. CHARLES E. COPELAND (Amorita Sesinger '22),
10 Ridgedale Ave., Madison, N. J. (1960)

DONALD W. GLOVER '41, Mullica Hill, N. J. (1960)

THOMAS W. SPECK '37, 708 Russell Pl., Plainfield, N. J.
(1960)

ROBERT W. DILL '27, 5136 Butler Pike, Plymouth Meeting,
Pa. (1961)

WILLIAM D. GOLIGHTLY '25, 309 W. Webster Ave.,
Scranton, Pa. (1961)

MRS. PAUL M. SHOWALTER (S. Katharine Graham '33),
855 St. Louis St., Lewisburg, Pa. (1961)

MRS. CLYDE P. BAILEY (Dorothy Lemon '29), 16
Churchill Rd., Pittsburgh 35, Pa. (1962)

CHARLES F. FOX, JR., M.D. '31, 180 Washington Ave.,
Vandergrift, Pa. (1962)

D. EUGENE LONG '29, 131 Avon Place, West Hempstead,
N. Y. (1962)

EUGENE P. BERTIN '17, 201 S. Main St., Muncy, Pa.
(1963)

ELINOR CHILDS '52, 74 Mt. Kemble Ave., Morristown,
N. J. (1963)

ROBERT H. TAYLOR '48, 214 Avon Rd., Narberth, Pa.
(1963)

CHARLES T. FARROW '26, P. O. Box 29, Westfield, N. J.
(1964)

IRVIN GRAYBILL, JR. '49, Middleburg, Pa. (1964)

ALLEN F. JONES '25, 2 Linn St., Progress, Harrisburg, Pa.
(1964)

() Year Term Expires.

Alumni Headquarters—GROUND FLOOR, EAST COLLEGE

Member—AMERICAN ALUMNI COUNCIL

ON THE COVER—A scene from Cap and Dagger's 1955 production of Medea is reproduced on our cover as a tribute to Cap and Dagger and the University Theatre.

The back cover lists the highlights from the campus calendar. You are cordially invited to attend all of these events. Circle June 3, 4, and 5 on YOUR calendar NOW.

THE BUCKNELL ALUMNUS

VOLUME XLV

MARCH 1960

No.

IN THIS ISSUE

- 3 The University Theatre, by Dr. C. Willard Smith
- 6 A Report of Progress, by Dean Karl D. Hartzell
- 8 Winter Sports Review, by Bradley N. Tufts
- 10 An Intangible Force, by Bobbie Runk '61
- 11 Dr. Herbert L. Spencer, Former President Dies at 65
- 12 A Change Is Needed, by William M. Wilkinson '46
- 13 Bucknell Dual Development Fund
- 14 Honor Roll
- 19 Trustee Candidates for 1960
- 21 Class Reports

Summer School, 20 — Spring Sports 1959-60, 20 —
President's Report Available, 20 — Classes Reunion, 21
— Dr. Arthur J. Pearse '05, 22 — T. Cortlandt Williams
'20, 24 — David B. Morgan, Jr. '50, 26 — In the Next Issue, 27 — Dr. Gilbert S. Perez '07 Dies, 27 —
In Memoriam, 27 — Alumni Trustee Timetable, 27.

THE BUCKNELL ALUMNUS is published in January, March, May, September and November by BUCKNELL UNIVERSITY. Entered second-class matter December 30, 1930 at the post office at Lewisburg, Pa., under Act of August 24, 1912.

THE UNIVERSITY THEATRE

by

DR. C. WILLARD SMITH
Chairman, Department of English

FRIENDS of the University Theatre have participated in the good fortune of a generous gift from the F. W. Olin Foundation to Bucknell University. Coleman Hall was dedicated on January 17, 1959. The central unit in Coleman Hall is the beautifully designed University Theatre. Those of us who over the years have had a consuming interest in the theatre know well that we are indebted not only to the Olin Foundation but also to Dean William H. Coleman whose enthusiasm for the liveliest of the arts has been continuously reassuring. Many of you, our alumni, to whom this notice is addressed, have seen the new theatre, and you have met, or you know the Director of the University Theatre, Harvey Powers. Furthermore, you unquestionably understand why the language used to describe it is likely to become extravagant, especially if you are or were members of Frill and Frown, Cap and Dagger, King Productions, University Players, the Lewisburg Theatre Guild, or friends, donors, and patrons. Those of us who now have the privilege of working in it insist that we should not be reproved for thinking of it as one of the finest of college theatres.

In the issue of the ALUMNUS for June, 1951, the Committee for the University Theatre Fund presented a report that is now remarkable only as an historical document. The purpose of the report was three-fold: to announce that collections then amounted to $6,000.00; to encourage those persons and organizations who, it was presumed, might in a quiet way wish to make contributions; and, above all, to thank individuals, graduating classes, and organizations who had brought the Fund into being. Since then, and in what seems now to have been a very short time, the Fund has increased to $22,000.00; but the Committee has succumbed to the enthusiasm of the Olin Foundation, and, in the face of good fortune, failed to meet.

The Fund enjoys a continuing existence even though much of the money has been spent, with a working balance now of approximately $4,000.00. The resources of the Fund have been used to purchase movable and replaceable equipment and to establish in the Green Room a permanent collection of rare books on the theatre, at the bequest of the Class of 1951, in honor and in memory of Professor Allan Gates Halline. Contributions to the Fund continue to be made regularly by organizations using the theatre, thus to provide resources for maintenance, replacements, and repairs (you know,—burnt-out bulbs, busted pulleys, tormented teasers, teasing tormentors, feedback, stiff brushes, old glue, watery grommets, phantom loads, graduated actresses, and brittle surprise pinks; "... if," as Al Jackson '59, would say, "you get the picture!")

Harvey M. Powers, Jr., Director of the University Theatre, looks on as lighting adjustments are made. One of two wagon stages can be seen in the background.

Our prose style suffered a sea change in that last parenthesis, and we are appalled by its approach to utter vulgarity. But the moment of unmasking may be at hand; later we may be able to restore our more formal attire and tone. My present difficulty is that I can't think of an astonishing way of telling you that things are different in the new theatre from what they were in the old days; but I can give you a few plain examples. Some of you will know exactly what I mean when I say that if "Goody" (Carol Goodwin '42) got caught on a hook today, she would go up forty-six feet, counterweighted! On the Lewisburg (Joint) High School stage, had she stuck to it, she could have gone up only eighteen feet, with G. Painter, Esq., helping on the ropes. In the University Theatre it is a great pleasure to stand back stage and watch the whole rear wall of a set, or a drop, disappear silently into upper darkness. Similarly the front or act-curtain will rise with an elegant hush, or descend upon Hamlet's last utterance with a dramatic suspiration. (John Forsht '35, would have liked that.) Or, it can part in the center, both sections moving aside evenly to reveal the heroine of Pajama Game, our next show, by the way; tickets $1.75, every seat a good one; March 23, 24, 25, 26, with a matinee on the 26th, a University Players production.

"How do you get out?" might be a question posed by these girls as they try to dig their way out of the old shop located under the Larison Hall Dining Room.

The new shop abounds in adequate lighting, superb facilities and breathing space!

Or suppose we go back to Bucknell Hall when and where an actor had to be in excellent physical condition to make a neat cross-over behind the scenes, or what we euphemistically called the scenery, the famous Dover Road set that served for one play after another. This set stood flat against the back wall of the stage, or, more precisely, bang up against the portrait of President Loomis. To make the cross-over the actor went out the window, on the right (not of the set; of the Hall), hung dangerously a moment, dropped to the ground, ran around the rear of the building, climbed (clomb) a ladder to the window on the other side of the "theatre," "entered" (possibly in another costume) and said, out of breath, something like, "Dr. Livingstone, I exhume!" Maneuvers of this sort were usually well-planned in advance by Ken Slifer '26, who may have thought of the idea, and then assigned it to such stalwarts as Bob Dilworth '27, Al Lauderbaugh '28, and Tubby Johnston '27, who in those heady days moved Bucknell Hall audiences to tears! Nowadays, of course, actors "cross over" on the level, behind the set (none of this charging around over even a small portion of our three-hundred-acre estate); they enter, in full possession of their faculties, and say "Get the hell out of here, Stanley!"

Kauffmann's barn provided little light and less heat for the hardy thespians of the '30s.

High above the auditorium, Tom Talley '63, adjusts the focus of a 1000 watt Leko.

A glance at a few of the photographs, kindly selected by the editor of the ALUMNUS, will point the contrast between the old and the new. Here, for example, is a charming scene taken in the old shop (under the Larison Hall dining room for young ladies) showing two "earnest seekers of the light," scenic artists, Sonia "Sunny" Suskind '59, and Lynette Wilson '59, not working, to be sure, but simply trying to get out. Things had a way of piling up down there, as they still do in the new shop, making it sometimes impossible to get to one's next class on time. On the walls appear incrustations of ancient graffiti, some of which are visible (others may be raised with a good magnifying glass) and (were a panoramic view possible, of the four walls and ceiling), such legends as "Yahle Construction Company," "Eagan, stay out!" "What we need is a PLAN!", "Tell Frisoli it won't work!", and "Must the show, particularly this one, go on?" would be revealed.

Or turn to another, a lovely interior of Kauffmann's (the first) barn, within which, at a "reasonable" temperature (no heat), a group of operatives is being taken by its leader, Jack Younghusband '34 (Peggy Helme '35, is up there above him on the platform), into the production of a set for The Royal Family. That's Jack wearing a dirty cap and pants talking to Jake Lieberman '35, who looks "technical" but tired. Charlie Blumberg '36, is finishing one of his early works in twentieth-century portraiture, and Ruth Rohr '34, is there to your right, in white tie, planning to become Mrs. William Liming '33 of Long Island. The wrong note, wrong costume with hat, is wondering what all of this is going to look like on the high school stage. The advertising in the background says that the play will begin at 8:15 p. m.; the BUCKNELLIAN will insist upon eight o'clock; and the tickets will say 8:30. But a letter received this Christmas from Jack and Peggy (Helme) Younghusband from their home in California proves that everything turned out excellently.

Now turn to the picture of the new workshop, or the new stage, complete with a trap that would inspire Charlie Jackson '35, with the notion of suddenly dropping a whole cast into hellfire at the end of Act II; or to a view of the "wagon wings," into and from which whole sets can be rolled "in a twink," and the differences again become obvious.

In 1933, propelled by the mighty surge of power emanating from the character of Hampton Bray '33, our first Production Manager, we presented Romeo and Juliet. (The name of the author did not appear on our program; nor will it be revealed here.) Hamp went to Philadelphia shortly before the day of the first performance and came home with four second-hand P. C. spotlights, each capable of pouring 1000 watts of illumination into the houses of the Montagues and Capulets. A few years later Stan Marshall '43, dropped one of these lamps from the top of Peck Painter's wiggly "A" ladder. But we still have the other three. They go to work, when we need them as a useful complement to squadrons of floods, strip lights, and pots.

The picture of Tom Talley '63, perched above the ceiling of the new auditorium shows him adjusting the focus of a 1000 watt Leko on the first "house batten." There are two rows of spots like these strategically placed to illuminate the stage from the "house" through *louvre*s "stepped" into the ceiling. They are reached by catwalks originating in the projection and light-control booth at the rear of the balcony, branching out and across the ceiling to every piece of electrical equipment, and finally emerging through a slot in the proscenium wall about twenty-five feet above the stage, thence down a ladder to the level of actors and grips. On the stage itself rows of spots and strip lights hang from movable battens, or lie on the floor to suffuse the lower areas of a sky-drop forty-two feet wide and forty-five feet high. All of this complicated array of "units of illumination" is regulated by the soft word of the stage manager, spoken through the "inter-com," stage right, to the control booth (in contrast, obviously, to the frantic "whispers," usually heard in the auditorium, of by-gone days: "Dim Number 3, Number 3, Number 3!! x censored!!"). There in the booth, watching the play through plate glass, feeling somewhat like a god at a moment of creation, sits the master electrician before an electronic "Izenour Board," shedding his radiance on the doings of all the world that is a stage.

Last winter Emlyn Williams arrived through snow and sleet, late for his performance of readings from Dylan Thomas. He required some special lighting effects. We are happy to report that in fifteen minutes, focus, colors, intensities, and cues were set and ready. The performance started after a delay of only twenty minutes. Several years ago we worked more than four hours on a problem less complicated to prepare the lighting for a presentation by Cornelia Otis Skinner.

At the moment it is perhaps correct to say that we have not as yet become fully aware of the possibilities of our theatre, but new and better things have been tried in Kiss Me Kate, The Admirable Crichton, A Streetcar Named Desire, the Arnold Moss production of The Tempest, and, most recently, in the presentation of three avant-garde "one acts," Tardieu's The Ticket Window, Ionesco's The Bald Soprano, Beckett's Krapp's Last Tape, and a performance of Paul Bowles' Two Piano Sonata, all expertly, in one new evening. Of this we are certain: This theatre with its spacious apron and stage, its "wagon wings," orchestra pit, superior rigging and lighting equipment (not to mention its shops, dressing rooms, green room, and gracious lobby) provides us with an instrument both versatile and "magic." Greek, Elizabethan, and modern plays; tragedies, comedies, musicals; tested and experimental plays, and, as we anticipate, first performances of the works of some of our own playwrights, whatever their demands for successful presentation, may, in the University Theatre, hold the mirror up to nature and reveal our world.

Harvey M. Powers, Jr., Director of the University Theatre and a member of our Department of English, and George L. Hersey of the Department of Art are, with the members of Cap and Dagger, the persons most directly concerned with the present and future developments in our college theatre. Theirs is an enthusiastic and intelligent commitment to a design for excellence for the Bucknell stage. Many of you have seen the evidence of Mr. Powers' skill as a director, and of Mr. Hersey's as a scene designer. The certain proof of what Mr. Powers believes and knows our players can accomplish was his own unpretentious and beautiful performance of a strangely moving play (for one actor and tape recorder), Samuel Beckett's Krapp's Last Tape, January 14, 15, 16, 1960. In this performance Mr. Powers set the standard and the measure of high achievement for Cap and Dagger and the University Players.

A REPORT OF PROGRESS

by

DR. KARL D. HARTZELL, Dean of the University

THE BUCKNELL STUDY is a University-wide project that was undertaken in the spring of 1956 at the suggestion of President Merle M. Odgers, as a means of laying a firm foundation for the administration that President Odgers was then inaugurating. It has involved virtually the entire faculty, numerous administrators, and in earlier stages, a good many students. While it must continue to be referred to in the present and future tenses as well as in the past tense, a great deal has been accomplished. Not the least of the values of the Study has been its involvement of so much of the University community in the study of objectives, present procedures and programs, and ways and means of progressing from where we are to where we believe Bucknell should be. Yielding to none in pride for what Bucknell has been and is, in today's rapidly-changing world, higher education in general, and Bucknell in particular, would at its grave peril remain only what it has been.

The Bucknell Study involves four major parts. The first was completed under the aegis of my distinguished predecessor, Dean William H. Coleman. This was a brief but, to me, exceedingly wise statement of the objectives of the University. I am told that the development of this statement occupied one hard-working committee during a full semester:

Bucknell University is committed in the Christian tradition to provide the means and opportunity for the intellectual development of students of qualified preparation and character to the end that they may become mature and responsible members of society.

Bucknell endeavors to impart to the student the principles of inherited knowledge and culture and to bring the student to an awareness of his own talent. As a center of independent thought Bucknell is dedicated to the cause of free and responsible inquiry and to seeking the truth wherever it may be found.

The other three major aspects of the Study have to do with the Student Body, the Faculty, and the Curriculum.

Without dwelling unduly upon the mechanics, Bucknell alumni may be interested to see how many different problems were explored by committees in the three areas: Student Body, Faculty, and Curriculum. In the first of these, under the general cognizance of the area committee there were sub-committees on Admissions, Student Attitudes, Academic Counseling, Non-Academic Counseling, Student Government and Fraternities, and Extra-Curricular Activities. In the Faculty area there were sub-committees on Composition of the Faculty, Teaching Efficiency and Effectiveness, The Contribution of the Teacher to the Total Program of the University, and Working Conditions. Sub-committees on the Curriculum included those on Undergraduate and Graduate Degree Programs, Core Courses, Function of the Major, Exceptional Students, Testing Devices, Curricular Balance and Relevance, and Intellectual Achievement and Student Values.

During the summer of 1958, selected members of the faculty were retained as "Coordinators"—expressly to coordinate the many findings and proposals of the reports that had come in from the sub-committees. The bulk of these reports was almost as impressive as their contents! To each Coordinator were assigned reports in a certain area, with the task of creating a single set of proposals out of many. The Coordinators as a group then reviewed intensively—literally, word by word—the reports that each had produced.

One major outcome of the Bucknell Study emerged from the Coordinators early in 1958-59—essentially, a complete revision of the faculty handbook that was last published in 1952. In eight years the faculty handbook had fallen far behind the march of events. The Coordinator for the Faculty section of the Bucknell Study was Professor C. Willard Smith, who as Secretary of the Faculty was well informed and full of ideas; his report dealt with the composition, organization, functions, privileges, and responsibilities of the faculty and with such matters as appointment, promotions, salaries, tenure, dismissal procedures, leaves of absence, and retirement. Another section of this Handbook for the faculty and the administration of Bucknell University has now been drafted by John F. Zeller, Vice President for Business and Finance.

The process by which innovations may be introduced through the Bucknell Study may be illustrated by the steps that have been taken in adopting Willard Smith's report. After the Coordinators had reviewed this report, it was considered by the Executive Committee of the Bucknell Study, which then recommended the report to the University Faculty. The entire report was distributed to the Faculty. An informal meeting was then held, during which debate proceeded without motions and formal votes. All criticisms and suggestions were noted and these were considered in turn by the Executive Committee. This group's recommendations on each moot point were made, then, at the next regular meeting of the faculty. The plan worked well, and the report, embodying many new proposals on matters that naturally are of great concern to every faculty member, was finally adopted at the April 1959 faculty meeting. This section of the Handbook is now under review by the Executive Committee of the Board of Trustees.

In the area of the curriculum there were Coordinators' reports on the Humanities, the Fine Arts, the Social Sciences, the Sciences, and on Honors Work and Special Problems Courses. Major attention was given to these in the series of Coordinators' meetings.

During much of the 1958-59 year the Dean of the University endeavored to embody the agreements of the Coordinators concerning the shape of the future Bucknell curriculum into a single Curriculum Report. The results were referred to the Executive Committee of the Bucknell Study late last spring. The report has been under review within that Committee during the present academic year. We expect that it will be submitted to the Faculty in much the way that the report on organization of the faculty was handled.

Meantime, there have been other specific outcomes of the work of the several committees within the Bucknell Study. In the course of the third year it became clear that the Faculty would welcome the initiation of an Honors Program designed to help the most able Bucknell student find within the curriculum a level of challenge commensurate with their capabilities. There is something essentially immoral about the failure of an individual to do the best work of which he is capable, and therefore something lacking in a college program that fails to challenge every student to work up to his best. Under the leadership of the Coordinator for Honors Work and Special Problems Courses a proposal for an honors program was put before the Faculty in April 1959.

At that meeting, faculty approval of such a program was secured in principle, with the initial steps in inaugurating the program to be taken this past fall. After much adjustment of teaching schedules that had already been filled, two types of courses were placed in operation—(1) Honors Colloquia, and (2) honors sections of certain introductory courses.

Colloquia are reading-writing-discussion seminars built around a series of books which, in turn, are chosen in relation to a general theme. For freshmen a colloquium was developed around the theme, "the nature of learning." For sophomores (and a number of juniors who were admitted to the "sophomore colloquium" this year), the theme is the nature of human nature." Some of the books that are being intensively studied in these two groups are the following: (Freshmen) Cassirer, Essay on Man; Descartes, Meditations; Pascal, Pensees; Auden, Selected Poems; Camus, The Myth of Sisyphus; Whitehead, The Aims of Education; Einstein, Out of My Later Years; James, Varieties of Religious Experience. (Sophomores) Hobbes, Leviathan; Jonson, Volpone; Huxley, Evolution in Action; Freud, Civilization and Its Discontents; Lenin, The State and Revolution; Hume, Enquiries. Student and faculty interest has been gratifying. These are demanding courses; in each, students read about one book each week and, on each book, write a paper of about 1000 words constituting their individual "response" to that book.

Honors sections are somewhat different. In general, they have been set up in those lower division courses in which enrollments are large and the student ability span is relatively wide. The English Department has offered one or more "fast sections" in freshman English for many years; this year there have been three such sections, and for the first time, two special sections were established in World Literature. Other honors sections were made available in mathematics, history (Western Civilization), political science (American Government), French, and German.

In accordance with the action originally authorizing the Academic Honors Council, this group is now completing a set of proposals for the further development of a program of General and of Departmental Honors, for submission to the University Faculty. Efforts are being made so to obtain special financing that would help us move forward more surely and successfully in the implementation of the Honors program.

Still another outcome of the Bucknell Study has been the revision—yet to be fully completed—of the faculty advisory system. Establishment of a special group of faculty members as advisers to freshmen and sophomores as recommended by the Sub-Committee on Academic Counseling. A detailed plan along these lines was developed by the Assistant Dean of the University, reviewed by the Coordinators and Executive Committee of the Bucknell Study, and put into effect this past fall with one sixty members of the faculty as volunteers.

The purpose of this plan is to establish a close relationship between every Bucknell freshman and at least one member of the faculty who takes an interest in the student's general educational development. Of course every good teacher is interested in the educational development of each of his students, but this interest is, quite naturally and properly, chiefly related to the subject area in which the student and teacher are working together. Matters of more general educational concern may "fall between the stools" if there is no faculty person whose specific function is to acquaint himself with the broader interests of the student and to advise with the student in the planning of his total program. During the first semester the volunteer freshman advisers saw their advisees as a group on the morning of registration; on the following evening they entertained them at informal picnics, most of which were held in faculty homes; the next scheduled meeting followed the availability of the informal mid-semester grade reports (this year based on performance during the first six weeks of the semester); another scheduled interview occurred in connection with pre-registration for the second semester. There have been, on the part of every adviser, many "unscheduled" interviews also. Freshman advisers have taken their assignments seriously and while there naturally are some "bugs" to work out, there is general agreement that the system is a major improvement over past practices. The system will probably be extended next year to include the present freshman class as well as next year's freshmen. Toward the close of the sophomore year, students must select their major field and at that time the "major" adviser is selected. Those of us who feel that the initial months of the freshman year are of crucial importance in the formation of student attitudes are encouraged with the progress that has been made.

I would like to cite one other concrete outcome of the Bucknell Study. It may seem odd but apparently it is true that Bucknell has never had a faculty Curriculum Committee, even though there have been committees by other names that have exercised some of the functions of a curriculum-planning committee from time to time. In recent years, at least, curriculum changes have been worked out largely by agreement between department

(Continued on Page 18)

The camera's eye records a "conference" with the Dean.

WINTER SPORTS REVIEW

*Swimming and Wrestling Teams
Set Hot Pace While Court Squad
Has Ups and Downs*

by

BRADLEY N. TUFTS
Sports Information Director

EDITOR'S NOTE: Before going to press Bucknell notched victories over Rutgers in basketball (70-53) and Lafayette in swimming (62-33). At Penn State the basketball team lost (62-60) while a powerful Rutgers wrestling team downed the Bisons (26-3). 167 lb. Dave Murdock remains unbeaten.

BASKETBALL

JUST when you think you're back on the right road, everything seems to go wrong again. This was the way Bison basketball coach, Ben Kribbs, felt after his team had suffered its third straight defeat at the hands of Temple's Owls.

The 63-50 loss to Bill "Pickels" Kennedy and company came only three weeks after a surprisingly easy 83-69 upset victory over Lafayette in the final game before the mid-semester break for final examinations.

The victory over the Leopards had snapped a streak in which the court squad lost four of five games. After winning two of three at home, the Bisons traveled to Lehigh for the first road contest of the season and came home on the short end of a 70-69 score despite a 28 point outburst for sophomore Joe Steiner.

Led by Steiner and Captain Tommy Thompson, the Herd resumed their winning ways with victories over Albright and Rhode Island. The 81-63 decision over a previously unbeaten Albright five was one of the best performances of the season. Thompson hit a season high of 8

Joe Steiner '62 (50) battles for a rebound in 63-50 loss to Temple.

28 points against Rhode Island as the Bisons staged second half rally to pull the game out of the fire.

New Year's Day was anything but a happy occasion for the team as it dropped a 95-73 decision to The Citadel in the opening game of the first annual Poinsettia Tournament in Greenville, S. C. In the consolation game the Bisons lost to Harvard, 68-59, but Thompson was named to the All-Tournament team. He scored 36 points in the two games.

The final contest of the Southern jaunt proved to be the most disastrous of all as the Duke Blue Devils took advantage of Bucknell's 25 per cent shooting average from the floor to ring up a 72-36 victory.

Returning to the friendly confines of Davis Gymnasium, the Kribbsmen trampled an undermanned Delaware team, 72-55, to snap a three-game losing string. Prior to the victory over Lafayette, they dropped their second home game in seven starts as backcourt men, Mark Du Mars and Wally Collender, led Penn State to a 71-5 victory.

With four men hitting in double figures, the Bisons erased a one point halftime deficit against Lafayette. The team hit a fantastic 18 of 27 shots in the second half and hit on 23 of 27 free throws against the Leopards to even the season record at 6-6.

The current losing streak started with a 69-55 loss to George Washington in the first contest of a two-game mid-semester trip. Gettysburg outscored the Bisons 19-3 in the final six minutes to reverse an earlier decision and record a 61-46 victory in the second game.

Despite the double loss, Steiner scored 38 points and pulled down 25 rebounds against George Washington and Gettysburg and was named to the Eastern Collegiate Athletic Conference's All-East team of the week.

The final games of the season found the Bisons hosting Rutgers on February 12 and then playing road contests with Penn State, Rochester, Colgate, St. Joseph's and Delaware before returning home to meet Muhlenberg on March 1 in the final game of the season.

SWIMMING

Coach Bob Latour's varsity swimmers won four of their first five meets and the frosh splashers were 3-0-1 at midseason, but most of the attention given the tankmen has been focused on the full scale assault made on school and pool records by both freshman and varsity swimmers.

Spencer Ryan, a freshman from Delmar, N. Y., cracked the 50-yard freestyle mark with a clocking of 23.4 as the frosh tied The Hill School in their season opener.

The varsity tankmen opened the season with a 58-37 victory over Franklin & Marshall as Co-Captain Bob Erdahl set a University record of 2:31.4 in the 200-yard individual medley. The frosh 400-yard freestyle relay team of Fowler Stratton, Dan Etenger, Bob Ayers and Ryan established a University and pool record, and freshman, Mark Haag, topped the old school mark in the 200-yard butterfly the same afternoon.

Other new marks have been set by Eric Moore, a freshman from Albany, N. Y., with times of 2:18.0 in the 20-yard freestyle and 4:58.4 in the 440-yard freestyle, and Bill Dorr, a sophomore from Albany, who cracked his own record with a clocking of 1:54.2 in the 100-yard freestyle.

At the midway point the varsity claimed victories over F & M, Gettysburg, Rutgers and Swarthmore and suffered its only loss at the hands of Penn. The frosh mermen owned F & M, Penn and Rutgers and tied The Hill school.

The varsity went up against Lafayette, LaSalle, Delaware and Lehigh prior to hosting the Middle Atlantic Conference Championships on March 4-5.

WRESTLING

With only a loss to Temple marring its record in four starts, Coach Bill Wrabley's wrestling team was slated to face Rutgers, Delaware and Penn before competing in the Middle Atlantic Conference Championships on March 4-5.

Captain John Ayre, a senior from Bethlehem, Pa., continues to show the way with four consecutive victories. He won the MAC 130-pound title last year and has won 22 of 23 matches in collegiate competition. His only loss came in the 1958 MAC Championships.

Dave Murdock, a senior from DuBois, Pa., has also won four in a row. He was the MAC 167-pound champion in 1958 and was runner-up in that class last year. He is also undefeated in dual matches and has won 23 of 24 over a three year period.

Other members of the first unit are seniors Ken Wightman (123), and Pete Fritts (137), junior Don Warfel (157), and sophomores Ken Brust (147), Bill Graham (177) and Ned Wight (Hwt.)

The Bison grapplers downed Lafayette in the season opener and then defeated Muhlenberg before dropping a 15-9 decision to Temple. The most recent victory was recorded over Gettysburg.

Bill Dearth, undefeated sophomore from Albany, N. Y., starts on his way toward winning his event against Rutgers. Bill holds both Bucknell and pool records in the 200-yard backstroke.

Bucknell lost its first wrestling match of the year to a strong Temple team by the score of 15-9. Above and to the right, Pete Fritts '60, 137 wrestler from Andover, N. J., tries unsuccessfully to sit-out on his Temple opponent. Pete lost 4-3.

AN INTANGIBLE FORCE

Can Social Pressure on Campus Be Directed to Benefit Both the University and the Student?

THERE is lurking within the framework of every organization and activity, in the back of every closet both in the Sem and in the Quad, and around every corner on campus a mysterious, intangible force which is capable of producing in students very strange and powerful effects. This force is present not only on the college campus, but in almost every living community, and affects not only students, but all members of our living communities. In dealing with the campus situation, we might say that the effects of this force can either help to improve the conditions under which the student works and lives, or they can result in constriction of the intellectual growth and development of the individual. This force, inevitably present in all gregarious societies, is most clearly and sharply characterized by its name—Social Pressure.

In an attempt to define the term, Social Pressure, let us first examine those areas in which its effects may possibly be termed beneficial, or at least contributing to the improvement of the group situation. For example, we can refer to the Women's Student Government Association. The Honor System upon which the government is based provides no measures by which rule-violators are reported to Honor Council; the responsibility is almost entirely individual. The philosophy of the system stresses personal growth and the development of individual honor. But because of the human element involved, the women do not always live up to the ideal of personal honor. This is the point at which Social Pressure takes over. While every woman has at some time allowed a minor violation to slip by unnoticed and unreported, very few women whose violations have been witnessed will fail to answer to the violation. To report oneself is the honorable thing to do, and those who disregard the rules, generally, are looked upon with disapproval by others. Therefore, we can say that a great deal of the success of the Honor System over the years has resulted from the age-old human need for the acceptance and respect of others which makes Social Pressure such a powerful agent.

On the other hand, one might argue that by recognizing Social Pressure as a strong factor in the successful operation of an Honor System we are making a mockery of the term, personal honor. However, a government or way of life based exclusively on honor is ideal and impractical. To the degree that the Social Pressure has been a factor in the success of the governing system and has helped to bring about a reasonably happy group living situation, it has been beneficial.

Where does the value lie in the terrific Social Pressure exerted by fraternities and sororities? This area of campus life is undergoing a great deal of questioning this year, and has become an extremely controversial issue. In an attempt to create favorable impressions, both upperclassmen and freshmen are pressured into a kind of model behavior, which decreases the problem of "wild" fraternity parties (witness the larger number of parties which tend to get out of hand second semester when the rushing pressure is off), and which can conceivably help to develop a certain self-assurance in a man or woman who is accepted by one of the Greeks. The pressure to live up to a certain level or pattern of behavior when the alternatives are wrong, or are less satisfying in bringing about harmony in the group as a whole exists for the benefit of everyone.

But there is also the more subtle Pressure brought to bear on students which does nothing to improve a group situation; it is in fact, often responsible for stunting individual growth. Through such agencies as the Tribunal, that omnipotent jury of all-knowing sophomores who sit in judgment upon freshmen who fail to conform to the Bucknell Way of Life during hazing, Social Pressure is brought strongly to bear in suppressing individualism. Social Pressure is responsible in a large part for the conformity of dress among the coeds on the campus. Among the men more than the women there is still a bit of a social stigma attached to those who overdo the intellectual side of an education by attending too many voluntary academic programs, such as lectures and concerts. Fortunately, this feeling is rapidly being replaced by an appreciation for these programs.

But now let's look at the campus as a whole. Before one has been present on campus as a student for a very long time, it is possible to detect the currents of Social Pressure in the tone of the campus. Attitude toward the academic, importance placed upon activities, general interest in personal growth—all of these areas act as gauges which record and indicate the level and direction of the existing pressure.

Not too many years ago, I am told, Bucknell thrived within a very strong socially oriented atmosphere; in fact, it had acquired a rather famous reputation as the "country-club on the Susquehanna". In the past two and a half years it has been possible to feel a gradual change in emphasis, a very definite leaning toward a more intellectual atmosphere. This shift admittedly did not stem from the conscious desire for such a change on the part of the student body, but rather has been made inevitable by increased competition, and an increasingly difficult academic program.

As a result of these academic changes the pressure toward genuine academic pursuits has been gradually increasing, and will some day, of necessity, become the dominant tone not only on Bucknell's campus, but on campuses all over the country. Evidence to support the belief that this academic interest is increasing can be found in recent discontent within sororities as regard to the amount of time they take. It can be seen in the decreasing interest in the Women's Student Government Association, in the refusal of women to accept offices because of the time it involves, which cannot be taken away from studying. And it can be seen in many other areas of campus life.

In this discussion of Social Pressure, we do not mean pressure toward the social aspects of the campus, but rather the pressure exerted by the society of the Uni-

(Continued on Page 18)

Dr. Herbert L. Spencer, Former President, Dies at 65

Outstanding Academic and Physical Growth Marked the Four Years Of His Administration

LOSS to his family, the world, and Bucknell—a devoted husband and father, an energetic worker in educational and community affairs, and a loyal Bucknellian—occurred when Dr. Herbert Lincoln Spencer, Honorary '53, was called to his eternal home on January 29, 1960, in New York City.

Dr. Spencer was inaugurated as Bucknell's eighth president on June 23, 1945 and served in this post until June, 1949, when he resigned to accept the position of executive director of the Samuel H. Kress Foundation. During the four years of Dr. Spencer's administration, Bucknell's academic and physical growth were outstanding.

One of the most challenging tasks at the start of his administration was that of providing housing for the many veterans who returned to college to resume their studies and for the additional faculty members required to teach them. Bucknell Village and Faculty Court were built to meet the housing need, and they are still in use today.

The need for more classroom space at this time was also acute and from war surplus material four temporary structures were erected on the campus. These included laboratories and classrooms for students in physics, commerce and finance, music, and an addition to the men's infirmary.

One of the University's most urgent needs, that of a new heating plant to replace the inadequate 50-year-old plant then in use, was emphasized by Dr. Spencer during the Summer of 1947 and that fall the University undertook a campaign to raise $400,000 to build a new plant. The campaign was a grand success, and the result is the present modern heating plant.

Under Dr. Spencer, Bucknell's academic growth kept pace with her physical growth and the result was a strengthened and expanded curriculum. One of the most important additions to the curriculum was the introduction of a University course for seniors, designed to integrate the various fields of subject matter which they had studied during their first three years in college. Also, under Dr. Spencer's administration, four-year courses in music were introduced for the first time.

The establishment of language houses for women students, the introduction of several courses in aeronautics in the curriculum, and the installation of a number of honorary fraternities were but a few of his many accomplishments.

At all times Dr. Spencer was vitally interested in the welfare of Bucknell's students, and he inaugurated a number of services designed specifically for students. Outstanding among these was a guidance center that provided testing and counseling service for hundreds of students. He also established the placement bureau which continues to be of great value to seniors interested in obtaining positions and to business firms seeking qualified employees.

Dr. Herbert L. Spencer

Thus did Dr. Spencer serve Bucknell as president and following his resignation from this post, he was made a trustee of the University and served loyally with considerable devotion and attention to the affairs of the University until his death.

Dr. Spencer received his Master of Arts and Ph.D. degrees from the University of Pittsburgh. He was a teacher and counselor, as well as assistant principal, in a Pittsburgh high school, and later became assistant director and then director of the Frick Training School, an institution sponsored jointly by the Pittsburgh Public Schools and the University of Pittsburgh. In 1933 he was chosen Dean of the College of Arts and Sciences of the University of Pittsburgh and a year later president of the Pennsylvania College for Women, now Chatham College, in Pittsburgh.

During World War II, Dr. Spencer acted as co-ordinator in western Pennsylvania for the Engineering, Science, Management War Training Program of the U. S. Office of Education. He was also a member of the Regional War Labor Board and the Blood Donor Service Committee of the Pittsburgh Chapter of the American Red Cross. Dr. Spencer acted as an educational expert for the U. S. Army's A. S. T. P., and was appointed to the Fourth Naval District Navy Manpower Service Committee of the United States Navy. He also served as chairman of the Pittsburgh Educational Committee of the National Committee on Co-operation with Education.

Dr. Spencer was president of the Pittsburgh Child Guidance Clinic, Inc., and also president of the Pittsburgh Personnel Association. He served as a director of the Metropolitan Y. M. C. A., the Federation of Social Agencies, the Frick Educational Commission, the Pittsburgh Academy of Science and Art, and was chairman of the Exceptionally Able Youths Committee of the Civic Club of Allegheny County and was a member of the Board of Trustees of the Kiskiminetas Springs School.

Dr. Spencer held membership in the Pennsylvania Society of New York; Delta Tau Delta, national social

(Continued on Page 18)

"A CHANGE IS NEEDED"

Says William M. Wilkinson '46

On June 6, 1959, Dr. Charles F. Fox, Jr '31, President of The General Alumni Association, appointed a committee to study an improved method of nominating and electing alumni to membership on the Board of Directors of The General Alumni Association and to prepare the necessary revisions in the constitution and By-Laws of The General Alumni Association.

To this committee he appointed the following alumni: William M. Wilkinson '46, Houston, Texas; Irvin Graybill '49, Middleburg; and Eugene P. Bertin '17, Muncy. Mr. Wilkinson was appointed chairman of the committee.

The following excerpts from a letter written by Mr. Wilkinson present the view that our present system of electing members to the Board of Directors is inadequate and undemocratic. The letter also poses recommendations for a change in the method of electing alumni to the Board.

"The following is a rather detailed statement of my thoughts and suggested action on electing alumni to the Board of Directors of The General Alumni Association.

"To my mind, the crux of the problem is that about 99½% of our Alumni have no real voice in the election of their own governing body, the Board of Directors of The General Alumni Association. In the last Assembly, of 86 Delegates and/or Alternates (the official record is not clear to me how many of each were actually present), only 82 Bucknellians voted for members for our Board of Directors, choosing representatives who are charged with governing the whole Alumni Association of some 17,000 Alumni.

"In theory, as I read the By-Laws, the present system provides: (1) every member of The Alumni Association is a member of an Alumni Club, if none in his vicinity, at least the Lewisburg area one; (2) every Club must elect or appoint Delegates and Alternates to the Assembly; and (3) said Delegates or Alternates in said Assembly elect the Board of Directors. There is a nod to the principle of proportionate representation, but no evidence that this is ever checked or enforced. There is also a nod to geographical representation in the phrase 'Delegates and Alternates of Clubs beyond a radius of 300 miles from Lewisburg need not be members of the Clubs they represent.' From a practical standpoint I still don't know what this means after reading it several times, along with the rest of the By-Laws. It certainly doesn't seem to provide for the Bucknellians out in the hinterlands, where there are no Clubs, or for those who cannot be active in Clubs.

"Aside from the merits of the theory of electing Directors, how does the theory break down in practice? (1) Many Alumni, particularly those some distances away from Lewisburg and the Eastern metropolitan centers, are not real members of any Club, because of lack of enough Bucknellians or lack of enough interest on the part of enough Bucknellians to form a Club, or because geographical distances or personal problems prevent any kind of regular attendance at an established Club. It is all very nice to know that we belong to the Lewisburg area Club, but that still doesn't give us much voice in the matter.

"(2) Every Club must elect or appoint Delegates and Alternates, but how many have ever heard of any such elections, or know of any considered appointments which supposedly represent the wishes and best interests of the Club members. I have worked personally in a number of Clubs, including several large ones, and in an official capacity, and the only question ever involved in naming of Delegates was 'who hopes to be going to Lewisburg for that week end.' There is neither time nor real provision in most Alumni Clubs for democratically elected, or for the qualified appointment of, Delegates with any assurance that they will even vote, much less that their vote at the Saturday morning Assembly will represent the wishes of even a fraction of the Club members. Usually the Delegate himself is lucky to have advance information as to the people and the action to be voted upon, much less the rest of the Club members knowing enough about it to express their opinions and instruct him properly.

"The fallacy of this 'every Club must elect or appoint a Delegate' is shown by the count last Spring which revealed only 23 Clubs represented by Delegates out of a total of some 70 organized Clubs, 42 of which held meetings during the year. It is interesting to note that one Club sent a Delegate even though it had no meetings! I would be willing to bet that no more than a handful of the Delegates at any Assembly are either elected or instructed by a majority of the members of the Clubs they supposedly represent. It might be interesting to circularize the Club Presidents to see how Delegates or Alternates are chosen, and how much or what kind of instruction they carry from the Club membership.

"(3) Even if chosen, the Delegates have many hurdles to overcome in actually getting an opportunity to vote in behalf of their Clubs. Both business and personal problems often arise to prevent their actually getting to Lewisburg, or getting there in time for the Saturday morning meeting. Once there, again business and personal affairs, and now too, other Bucknell interests often prevent them from making the Assembly meeting. Our Alumni week-end calendar is so crowded that it is often necessary to leave some other meeting early or skip some other affair which the Delegate might prefer to attend in order to represent his Club at the Assembly. Again, it might be interesting to canvass the Club Presidents on how many Delegates and Alternates are named who never show. Once there, the record is confusing as to how many Delegates and Alternates are properly qualified to vote, and what check is made upon who is doing the voting. Here too, there are practicalities of time and other matters which enter into the picture to help break down what democratic procedures we are supposed to have and further make a sham of any election.

"What is the result of all this? As mentioned, less than one-half of one percent of our Alumni body have any vote in the government of the Association. All 15 Directors currently serving are from New Jersey or Pennsylvania. With 67 out of the 86 Delegates and Alternates in attendance last Spring from these two states, what chance would anyone from any other area have! Admittedly, there are large numbers of our Alumni in New Jersey and Pennsylvania, but not all of them.

"And it is not fair to say that if other Alumni were interested, they would come and vote. Large numbers are under substantial handicaps of geography, time, and money which necessarily must be considered in most people's affairs, regardless of their interest in their Alma Mater. It would make as much sense to say that a citizen has to go to Washington, D. C. to be able to vote for the President; and, if he doesn't go and vote he just isn't interested and should not have any voice in his government! Actually even if you do go from one of the smaller Clubs or from non-Club areas distant from Bucknell, what is your vote worth against the overwhelming numbers from the big local Clubs in New Jersey and Pennsylvania. To say that only 82 Bucknellians are interested enough in their Association to have a right to vote for its officials is to ignore the more than 2,000 who expressed their choice in balloting for the Alumni Trustee and the more than 4,000 who gave to the Alumni Fund. Solicitations for the Alumni Fund are not restricted to members or Delegates from the big Clubs in New Jersey and Pennsylvania! It seems a little disproportionate that over 2,000 Alumni can help name our minority representatives on the Board of Trustees, while only about 80 are allowed to vote for our own governing Board of Directors. Great numbers of interested and loyal Bucknellians are deprived of any representation in the election of our Directors, and only a handful can ever vote under the present system.

"Last Spring I suggested that we consider the direct election of members of our Board of Directors by mail ballot, as is now done for the Alumni Trustee, to give every member of our Association a direct and real voice in the affairs of their General Alumni organization. In a survey of Alumni Club practices in other colleges made several years ago, it was found that 18 used a direct mail ballot as against 13 which named their officials by the annual meeting routine. Twice as many offered a choice of candidates as had only one candidate. Half of those using the direct mail approach expressed the opinion that the ballot increased Alumni interest in College affairs. How much more worth while would be the potential from increasing the interest of some 17,000 Alumni compared with the present system's questionable 'strengthening' of 42 active Clubs, representing only a fraction of our Alumni body, and those who are already interested and active. With a mail ballot, the nominations could be handled just as they are now to assure the same interest and the willingness to work on the part of the candidates. The cost would be negligible since we are already actively circularizing our Alumni body several times during the year. There would be no more need for hard feelings on the part of defeated candidates than in any other election. Our democratic processes would be in sad shape if we were afraid of hurt feelings on the part of defeated candidates. The only logical answer then would be not have elections."

EDITOR'S NOTE: Your comments, questions, and suggestions on the present or proposed method of electing alumni to membership on the Board of Directors to The General Alumni Association is cordially solicited. Please write to Mr. William M. Wilkinson, 436 Oak Lane, Houston 24, Texas, or to the Alumni Office.

BUCKNELL DUAL DEVELOPMENT FUND

WHERE

WE STAND

February 10, 1960

Total Gifts $1,115,299.07

60% of our Goal

Honor Roll

DONORS TO DUAL DEVELOPMENT FUND

AS OF

FEBRUARY 10, 1960

- Abbott, Dr. Albert J. ('29)
Abbott, Brenda J. ('62)
Abbott, Dr. and Mrs. Frank C.
Abbott, William E. ('63)
Acken, Myles K. ('63)
Adams, Charles P. ('62)
Adams, Martin H. ('61)
Adams, Mary A. ('63)
Adams, Sandra C. ('63)
ADCO Foundation
Ahlgers, Margot J. ('62)
Ahlgren, Frederick L. ('60)
Alish, Suzanne E. ('60)
Allanson, Sandra I. ('63)
Allard, Susan B. ('60)
Allen, Abbott W. ('63)
Allison, Janet M. ('61)
Allison, Mr. Roy W. ('51)
Altman, Theodore ('62)
Amendola, Margaret ('62)
Amter, Joanne H. ('63)
Andersen, Barbara A. ('60)
Anderson, Beverly L. ('62)
Anderson, Elizabeth F. ('63)
Anderson, Mr. Fred H. ('46)
Anderson, Gail K. ('63)
Anderson, Kurt A. ('63)
Anderson, Margaret J. ('61)
Anderson, Nancy J. ('60)
Anderson, Mr. Neil
Anderson, Sarah K. ('60)
Andrews, Barbara M. ('63)
Angelo, Judith DeF. ('60)
Ansis, Fredric W. ('63)
Anspach, Miss Mary P.
Appleton, Jr., Walter C. ('63)
Arbogast, Dr. J. W.
Arbogast, Jr., Dr. John W. ('47)
Ardouny, John R. ('63)
Argust, Thomas R. ('63)
Armentrout, Sally ('63)
Armour, Winthrop K. ('60)
Armsrong, Mr. ('14) and Mrs. ('17)
Earle B.
Armstrong, Mr. Theodore R. ('43)
Arnold, Edward L. ('63)
Arthofer, Mr. Adolf
Asch, Anna F. ('62)
Auerbach, Judith D. ('62)
Austin, Mr. John B.
Avery, Donald J. ('60)
Avitabile, Linda E. ('60)
Aymar, Susan D. ('63)
Baay, Carol E. ('61)
Babish, Grace V. ('63)
Bachschmid, Carol S. ('61)
Bacon, Steve J. ('63)
Bahrs, Dorothy M. ('62)
Bailer, Ronald L. ('62)
Bailey, Bruce E. ('63)
Bailey, Clyde ('59)
Bailey, Mr. ('29) and Mrs. ('29)
Clyde P.
Bailey, Gary L. ('63)
Baird, David D. ('61)
Baker, Miss Edna M. ('21)
Baldrige, Hon. Thomas J. ('95)
Bantle, Mr. Richard C. ('47)
Barbarin, Barbara A. ('60)
Bareiss, Roland M. ('63)
Barlow, Jill A. ('62)
Barlow, Nancy ('63)
Barratt, Mr. Alfred W. ('45)
Bartholomew, Mrs. R. H. ('36)
Bartlett, Robert W. ('60)
Barton, David ('62)
Barton, Robert ('61)
Bass, Mary E. ('63)
Bassett, Diane B. ('63)
Bates, Isabelle J. ('60)
Battin, Jr., Mr. Wayne L. ('26)
Baylis, Mr. William J.
Becbtel Brothers
Beck, Larry K. ('63)
Becker, Andrea L. ('63)
Beers, Stephen F. ('60)
Beery, Judith A. ('60)
Bebrens, Beverly K. ('63)
Behrhorst, Lee D. ('63)
Beimecke Foundation
Bell, Dorothea L. ('60)
Bender, Nancy L. ('63)
Benn, Bonnie G. ('63)
Bensinger, James R. ('63)
Bentivenga, Robert H. ('61)
Benton, Thomas A. ('63)
Berelson, Mr. Stuart E. ('59)
Berger, Mr. Seymour P. ('46)
Bergner, Rita M. ('63)
Berlin, Joan C. ('61)
Berman, Mr. and Mrs. Edward M.
Berman, Judith A. ('62)
Bernhart, Marie S. ('61)
Bertrand, Mrs. Ellen C. ('59)
Best, Holly E. ('63)
Biddle, Theodore L. ('60)
Biggs, Mr. Edgar H.
Bird, Diana D. ('63)
Bishop, Jr., John A. ('61)
Bishop, Penelope R. ('62)
Bittenbender, Mr. Joseph S. ('05)
Bitting, Jr., Mr. Robert C. ('49)
Black, Mr. Daniel D. ('48)
Black, Henry S. ('63)
Black, Suzanne L. ('63)
Black, Jr., William A. ('61)
Blair, Peter S. ('63)
Blanchard, Carol F. ('63)
Blanchard, Mr. William K.
Bloomquist, Douglas W. ('63)
Blum, Mr. Sylvester J.
Blume, Dr. Albert M. K.
Bocian, Gerald E. ('63)
Bodine, Linda A. ('63)
Body, Ruth E. ('60)
Boerner, Linda H. ('63)
Bogar, Barbara A. ('63)
Boger, David V. ('61)
Boger, Dr. William P. ('34)
Bollinger, Robert W. ('63)
Bollinger, Walter G. ('60)
Bollmeyer, Ruth E. ('60)
Bolton, Dr. Elmer K. ('08)
Bonawitz, Miss Dorothy M. ('31)
Bond, Dr. Charles M.
Bonney, Carol H. ('63)
Bonta, Bruce D. ('63)
Boorujy, Richard L. ('63)
Borger, Nancy J. ('63)
Boswell, Mrs. William ('44)
Boughton, Susan R. ('63)
Bourdeau, Richard M. ('61)
Bovard, Martha B. ('60)
Bowen, Mary L. ('63)
Bowers, Dr. Paul A. ('33)
Bowles, Diane E. ('62)
Boxell, Sandra K. ('63)
Boyer, Keith L. ('61)
Boyer, Ronald E. ('60)
Braak, Richard H. ('60)
Brady, Mr. Edward J. ('46)
Brandes, Jon L. ('61)
Braun, Dr. John R.
Brautman, Barbara L. ('63)
Brelsford, William M. ('62)
Brickley, Mrs. Argyle ('29)
Bridges, Mr. Bennie B.
Briggs, William A. ('60)
Brinkerhoff, Molly M. ('63)
Brinn, Ira M. ('61)
Brogan, Jr., Mr. Charles C. ('47)
Brook, Gay M. ('63)
Brooks, Daniel H. ('61)
Brooks, Mr. Marvin H. ('48)
Brooks, Susan C. ('63)
Brooks, Mr. Warren F. ('19)
Brough, Mr. Ralph E.
Bronse, Mr. D. Clayton ('33)
Brown, Jr., Mr. Albert L. ('35)
Brown, Miss Alice G. ('38)
Brown, Miss Anna L. ('26)
Brown, Mr. Forrest D.
Brown, Mr. ('49) and Mrs. ('52)
Frederick H.
Brown, Patricia Ann ('62)
Brown, Richard C. ('63)
Browne, Sheila ('63)
Brubaker, Donald G. ('62)
Brun, Linda A. ('60)
Brun, Barbara J. ('63)
Bryan, Elizabeth A. ('60)
Bryan, John R. ('61)
Bryan, Miss Margaret L.
Buch, Mr. William G.
Buchanan, Marjorie A. ('63)
Buck, Nancy J. ('61)
Buczynski, Robert J. ('61)
Budd, Mr. Harold F. ('45)
Buffalo Valley Telephone Company
Burdick, John M. ('63)
Burgee, Mr. and Mrs. ('36) Clyde E.
Burkholder, Dale E. ('62)
Burlew, Dr. ('30) and Mrs. ('30)
John S.
Burnett, Mr. and Mrs. James M.
Burpee, David ('59)
W. Atlee Burpee Company
Burrows, Betty A. ('62)
Burt, Mr. Paul A.
Burton, Caryl E. ('62)
Butts, Dr. Robert E.
Butzbach, Jr., Robert G. ('63)
Cadwallader, John F. ('62)
Caid, Mr. Larry A.
Cairo, Frank J. ('61)
Calder, James L. ('63)
Calise, Jr., William J. ('60)
Campbell, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. John
Cann, Jr., Mr. ('41) and Mrs. ('39)
Thomas W.
Cantner, Mrs. Edward C. ('52)
Capell, Margaret S. ('63)
Caren Trading Corporation
Carens, Dr. James F.
Carey, Carol-Ann ('63)
Carpenter, Miss Katherine G. ('11)
Carrington, Dorothy F. ('60)
Carson, Carolyn C. ('63)
Carson, Gail B. ('62)
Carson, Jane S. ('62)
Carter, Judith L. ('62)
Carver, David V. ('63)
Caryl, Sandra D. ('60)
Casden, Dr. Daniel D. ('42)
Casey, Jr., Edward J. ('63)
Cassel, Mrs. Grace E. ('56)
Cella, Gail A. ('63)
Cermak, William E. ('61)
Cern, Edna M. ('61)
Chamberlain, Clare E. ('63)
Chandler, Mr. Horace H.
Chandler, Margaret E. ('62)
Charbonnier, Richard W. ('62)
Chegwidden, Lee M. ('62)
Chen, Dr. Juh Wab
Chew, Dr. Jeanne M.
Chin, Jo Anne ('61)
Chittum, Jr., Wilton H. ('63)
Cbntharatanakul, Cbare
Citarella, Vincent M. ('63)
Citizens' Electric Company
Clark, III, George D. ('63)
Clark, Mr. Roberts R. ('50)
Clarkson Chemical Company, Inc.
Claus, Karl M. ('39)
Claus, Dr. Roger J.
Clement, II, George Y. ('62)
Clements, Reynold F. ('63)
Cloe, Mr. ('42) and Mrs. ('42)
Harvey W.
Cobb, Carol L. ('63)
Coder, Charles H. ('59)
Coffey, Charles A. ('60)
Coffman, Jr., Raymond L. ('63)
Cole, Christine L. ('62)
Cole, Gerald S. ('62)
Cole, Dr. ('06) and Mrs. ('06)
Harold N.
Cole, Sr., Mr. William H.
Coleman, Mr. ('29) and Mrs. ('20)
R. Henry
Collins, Donald R. ('63)
Colville, Mr. and Mrs. David H.
Comer, Mr. H. D.
Comer, Janet ('61)
Comstock, Mrs. Clarence B. ('02)
Condict, Jr., Clinton A. ('63)
Condict, Edgar R. ('62)
Conger, Meredith A. ('62)
Conger, Stephen G. ('63)
Conklyn, Daniel H. ('61)
Connitt, Carol J. ('62)
Conreux, Carol A. ('63)
Conroy, David M. ('60)
Consentino, Anthony J. ('60)
Contant, David P. ('62)
Conti, Richard A. ('63)
Convery, Veronica T. ('63)
Cook, David E. ('63)
Cook, Dr. and Mrs. Harold E.
Cook, Mr. M. Eugene ('43)
Cooper, Richard J. ('63)
Copeman, Barbara ('61)
Copp, James E. ('63)
Corder, Dwight ('59)
Coren, Mr. Lewis ('39)
Corman, Kay D. ('62)
Coru Products Company
Corson, Jeanne E. ('62)
Coschignano, Maximilian F. ('61)
Coughlin, Jr., Vincent J. ('63)
Courtmanche, Ronald A. ('63)
Covert, Mrs. Henry M. ('33)
Covey, Jr., Arthur R. ('63)
Cowan, Mrs. Morris N. ('18)
Cowling, Jo-Ann R. ('63)
Cox, Mr. and Mrs. Richard F. B.
Crespo, Jose R. ('63)
Cresswell, Peter J. ('63)
Crim, Mr. Jack S.
Crist, Mrs. Charles W. ('23)
Crocker, Jr., Dwight J. ('62)
Cromwell, Fredricka B. ('63)
Culbertson, Jack L. ('63)
Cupp, Mrs. Louise ('24)
Curley, Pauline V. ('63)
Czarnecki, Albert A. ('60)
Daffron, Elizabeth M. ('62)
Dahl, William A. ('63)
Dahmen, Mr. Charles A.
Daigh, Patricia R. ('62)
D'Alessandro, Martha K. ('63)

Dando, Mr. William A. ('34)
Daniels, Barbara A. ('63)
Danish, Steven J. ('63)
Darby, Bonnie A. ('62)
Darrab, III, Thomas H. ('63)
Davico, Johanna L. ('61)
Davies, Linda E. ('63)
Davis, Brenda A. ('61)
Davis, Deborah W. ('60)
Davis, Mr. ('51) and Mrs. ('51)
Frank A. C.
Davis, Mr. Preston B. ('25)
Davis, Mr. Thomas J.
Davis, Mr. and Mrs. ('48) Walter M.
Davis, Mrs. W. Ralph ('33)
Davison, Beatrice L. ('63)
Dayton, David A. ('60)
Dean, Nancy R. ('60)
DeCamp, Raymond R. ('62)
Dechar, Peter H. ('63)
Decker, Mr. John C. ('36)
Deem, Mr. Richard E. ('28)
Deese, Mr. and Mrs. Cecil W.
Deese, Katherine S. ('62)
D'Elisa, Mr. and Mrs. John
Delle, Diane E. ('62)
DeLong, Mrs. Elthera ('20)
DeLong, Sally J. ('63)
Demmy, Dorothy J. ('62)
Demos, Jr., John G. ('63)
DePrince, Jr., Albert E. ('63)
DeRosa, Carolyn ('63)
DeRusha, Forbes L. ('63)
Desanto, Jr., John A. ('63) de Shields, Charlotte C. ('62)
Devine, Janet L. ('63)
DeVol, Margaret ('60)
DeWaters, Mary-Ann ('61)
Diamond, Nancy J. ('61)
Dice, Dr. Stanley F.
DiChiara, Jr.,
Bartholomew G. ('63)
Diefenbach, Jr., George R. ('62)
Dietrich, Helene V. ('63)
Dietz, Miss Charlotte N. ('21)
Di Filippo, Marilyn J. ('63)
Dildine, Jack A. ('63)
Dill, Mr. ('27) and Mrs. ('28)
Robert W.
Diller, Jr., William J. ('63)
Dittmar, Mr. and Mrs. Harry R.
Dobbie, Richard W. ('63)
Dobson, Ruth E. ('62)
Dodge, Mr. M. Hartley
Donaldson, Jr., Robert J. ('62)
Donehower, Mr. Robert W. ('42)
Donohoe, Mrs. Dennis C. ('46)
Doughty, Gail E. ('63)
Downer, Mr. Harlan A. ('29)
Downing, Carol ('60)
Dreher, Mr. David H. ('53)
Drexel Hill Baptist Church
Driver, Mr. Robert ('56)
Droulard, Mary J. ('63)
Drozin, Dr. Vadim
Duff, III, Alfred T. ('61)
Duffy, Jr., Walter J. P. ('62)
Duke, Barbara L. ('62)
Duke, Nancy E. ('63)
Duncan, Mr. Stephen G. ('08)
Dunkerly, Mrs. S. Kenneth ('33)
Dunn, Jr., Mrs. George F. ('55)
Dunne, James S. ('63)
Duplicki, Mr. Alexander J. ('51)
Durham, George I. ('63)
Dutkus, Paulette J. ('63)
Dutton, Mrs. E. H. ('97)
DuVernet, Margaret ('61)
Dwyer, Nancy E. ('62)
Earhart, James W. ('63)
Earl, Mr. Boyd L. ('58)
Earle, Jr., Roger T. ('63)
Easton, Mr. G. Emerson ('39)
Ebaugh, Daniel D. ('61)
Eberenz, Mrs. William J. ('30)
Ebersole, Dr. Mark C.
Eckberg, Capt. H. F.
Edel, John J. ('61)
Edgar, Jr., Mr. James L. ('46)
Edgett, Norman S. ('60)
Edwards, Franklin R. ('63)
Edwards, Dr. Nancy A.
Egan, III, Joseph V. ('63)
Egge, Joan E. ('63)
Eisley, Sarah E. ('60)
Eisley, Miss Trennie E. ('31)
Eldred, Mr. Arthur R. ('59)
Ellison, Mr. and Mrs. Howard R.
Ellison, Nancy M. ('62)
Elze, Mrs. Nora M. ('48)
Embury, Dian ('62)
Emmett, Mark L. ('63)
Emrich, William O. ('63)
Endres, Mr. Milton C. ('27)
England, Dr. Bayard L. (H'53)
Engleson, Diane ('60)
Erdahl, Robert M. ('60)
Erdahl, William S. ('62)
Erdmann, John F. ('61)
Erickson, Kenneth R. ('62)
Erismann, Mary E. ('62)
Erney, Mr. ('31) and Mrs. ('34)
Adolph D.
Ernesberger, John W. ('63)
Erving, Clarissa P. ('63)
Erwetowski, Robert J. ('63)
Esposito, Karen ('60)
Etenger, Daniel J. ('63)
Evans, Mr. John H. ('50)
Everard, William H. ('63)
Everett, Lois R. ('62)
Evering, Miss Dale E. ('59)
Eversole, Marilyn F. ('62)
Ewing, Mr. Robert M.
Eynon, III, David L. ('63)
Faberman, Jay W. ('63)
Fagin, Neal I. ('61)
Faint, Mr. George R. ('25)
Fairchild, Jr., Mr. Elmer E. ('49)
Falk, Bruce V. ('63)
Faranetta, Janet M. ('62)
Farina, Mr. Alfred J. ('51)
Farina, Mr. Nicholas A. ('34)
Farmer, Richard T. ('63)
Fasenfeld, Nancy K. ('63)
Faul, Carolyn E. ('63)
Featherman, Mr. Arthur R.
Feick, Jack S. ('61)
Feigenbaum, Michael ('62)
Fekete, Roger A. ('61)
Fenton, Dr. Ivor D. ('08)
Fetter, Joan M. ('62)
Fetter, Dr. John S. ('32)
Fetterman, John A. ('63)
Figner, Linda L. ('62)
Filer, Mr. Edwin B. ('33)
Fine, Mr. Norman E.
Fink, Barbara J. ('63)
Fiorentino, Elaine L. ('63)
First National Bank of Milton
Firth, Herbert W. ('63)
Fisher, Miss Elizabeth M. ('36)
Fisher, Linda L. ('62)
Fisher, Robert C. ('63)
Fisk, Judith A. ('62)
Fithian, Mr. John W. ('39)
Flachsbar, Sue E. ('63)
Flegle, Mr. Francis
Flegler, Joel B. ('62)
Fleming, Eleanor A. ('63)
Fletemeyer, William L. ('62)
Flint, VI, Asher ('62)
Flock, Mr. Allen W.
Flood, Ellen E. ('63)
Follmer, Mr. ('06) and Mrs.
Frederick V.
Foote, Stephen A. ('63)
Force, Dr. Elwood B. ('31)
Fornigli, Duanne A. ('62)
Forsyth, Douglas R. ('60)
Fortin, Philip C. ('63)
Fortmann, Marda A. ('63)
Fowle, Dr. Lester P. ('20)
Frampton, Mr. Charles W. ('31)
Frangiskakis, John ('63)
Frantz, Dr. Adolph I.
Frantz, Mary A. ('61)
Franz, Beverly J. ('60)
Freas, Mr. A. Guy (H'57)
Freas Foundation, Inc.
Frese, Robert T. ('63)
Friedline, John T. ('62)
Friedman, Mr. ('47) and
Mrs. ('46) Jack
Friedman, Suzanne C. ('61)
Frischer, Alan S. ('63)
Frischknecht, Raymond L. ('63)
Fritchman, Vernon N. ('61)
Frohhoese, Jr., Walter E. ('62)
Fromm, Allan P. ('60)
Fromm, Mr. and Mrs. Henry C.
Frost, Richard B. ('60)
Froud, Diane E. ('63)
Fullerton, Barbara A. ('63)
Fullerton, Miss Roberta A. ('59)
Gagliardi, Linda M. ('62)
Gaiser, Lewis B. ('63)
Gall, Patricia J. ('63)
Gangemi, Paul J. ('62)
Gardner, Arthur S. ('62)
Gardner, Mr. Robert A.
Garner, Mrs. Clifford E. ('30)
Garner, Daniel C. ('60)
Garrett, Linda I. ('63)
Garrison, Beulah E. ('63)
Garvin, Dr. Harry R.
Gascoigne, Richard N. ('63)
Gaskins, Mr. John H. ('31)
Gates, Mary A. ('60)
Gathings, Dr. James A.
Gatski, Dr. Robert L. ('44)
Gaynor, Kathleen A. ('63)
Gaventa, Miss Katherine E. ('27)
Gealey, Thomas McD. ('63)
Geiger, Mrs. Jay E. ('54)
Geisel, Jr., Cameron M. ('60)
Gelman, Stuart I. ('63)
Geluso, Anna T. ('60)
Gemberling, Miss Ruth A. ('40)
George, Michael R. ('63)
George, Patricia E. ('62)
Gesell, Catherine J. ('63)
Gibeling, Barbara J. ('61)
Gibson, III, John I. ('63)
Gibson, Kathryn T. ('61)
Giffords, Frederic V. ('63)
Giffords, Norma C. ('63)
Gildeland, Mr. W. H. ('34)
Gilman, Jeffrey S. ('63)
Gingerich, Jacob C. ('61)
Gingrich, Jr., Harold L. ('60)
Ginsburg, Mr. Fred
Ginsburg, Stephen L. ('62)
Gionet, Arline E. ('63)
Giordano, John R. ('63)
Girvan, Theodore R. ('61)
Gitter, Mark L. ('63)
Givler, Joyce E. ('62)
Gladstone, Paul B. ('61)
Glaser, Virginia A. ('61)
Gloss, Karen D. ('63)
Glover, Mr. ('41) and
Mrs. ('43) Donald
Gluckman, Richard J. ('63)
Godshall, James B. ('61)
Goetz, Shirley A. ('63)
Gold, John S. ('18)
Goldman, Hon. Harry D.
Goldman, Leslie S. ('61)
Goldman, Thomas E. ('62)
Goldstein, Dr. Louis S. ('27)
Gonzalez, Dr. Beatrice E.
Good, Frederick W. ('61)
Goodman, Daniel S. ('62)
Gordon, Karen H. ('62)
Gordon, Jr., Nicholas T. ('63)
Gordy, Judith A. ('63)
Green, Donald J. ('61)
Greene, Norman G. ('63)
Greene, William ('62)
Gregg, Jr., Walter E. ('63)
Gregory, Donald L. ('60)
Greulich, Mr. Wilmer D. ('34)
Grice, Mr. Herbert C. ('18)
Grieco, Mr. Joseph V. ('40)
Griffith, Dr. Dalzell M. ('23)
Griffith, Mr. ('36) and Mrs. ('37)
Daniel F.
Griffith, Thomas M. ('62)
Grimley, Janet M. ('61)
Grit Publishing Company
Gross, Dr. Robert R.
Grossman, Mary L. ('61)
Guerinot, Mr. Joseph V.
Guild, Linda G. ('61)
Guinter, Mrs. C. W. ('05)
Gummo, Mr. Blanchard S. ('25)
Gunning, John T. ('62)
Gustafson, Elizabeth A. ('62)
Guyer, Joyce E. ('63)
Gwyn, Dr. William B.
Haag, Mark W. ('63)
Haas, Harry B. ('62)
Hacke, Hugh B. ('63)
Hackett, John P. ('61)
Hadzima, Michael E. ('63)
Hagerman, Mr. W. Ross ('26)
Haigh, Lucile J. ('60)
Haines, Mrs. C. William ('25)
Haines, Debra W. ('61)
Haines, Dr. and Mrs. Wesley N.
Halbert, David R. ('61)
Hale, Mr. John S.
Haley, Anthony W. ('60)
Hall, Barbara A. ('61)
Hall, Gerald L. ('63)
Hall, Jr., Mr. Turner P.
Hallbauer, Rev. William ('34)
Halter, Judith C. ('62)
Halter, Mr. ('48) and Mrs. ('47)
Wallace L.
Halvorsen, Jean M. ('63)
Hamilton, Bette K. ('63)
Hamilton, Lawrence R. ('62)
Hamlin, Mr. Albert J. ('15)
Hammer, Mr. Eugene L.
Hanks, Charles L. ('63)
Hansen, Isabelle J. ('63)
Hanto, Kari ('60)
Harbeson, Mr. Roland F. ('34)
Hardt, Linda J. ('62)
Hardvall, Judith Z. ('63)
Hardy, Linda ('61)
Hardy, Robert O. ('61)
Hardy, Robert W. ('63)
Hardy, Dr. and Mrs. Vernal R.
Harms, Ann R. ('61)
Harrises, Audrey A. ('63)
Harriman, Dr. Philip L.
Harris, Mrs. Douglas M. ('57)
Harris, Miss Frances M. ('27)
Harris, Joanne J. ('61)
Harris, Mr. ('50) and Mrs. ('51)
Michael
Harrison, Jr., Mr. ('54) and
Mrs. ('55) Arthur D.
Harrison, Judith W. ('61)
Hart, Mrs. J. Kenneth ('56)
Hartley, III, Alfred M. ('62)
Hartman, Jan M. ('63)
Hartman, Mrs. Joseph B. ('56)
Hartshorn, Mary E. ('61)
Hartzell, Rev. ('41) and Mrs. ('41)
Howard G.
Hartzell, Dr. Karl D.
Harvey, Mr. and Mrs. Robert E.
Haskett, Mr. Francis ('25)
Hassrick, Mr. Roman C. ('06)
Hastings, Mr. Berkeley V. ('13)
Hatley, Walter F. ('63)
Hauck, Betty A. ('60)
Haupt, Mrs. George W. ('25)
Hayden, Mr. Harold W.
Hazen, Miss Edna
Hazen, Roger W. ('62)
Heacock, Linda M. ('63)
Hedley, Dr. Russell A.
Heatzig, Anne L. ('61)
Hecht, Robert H. ('60)
Heck, Gary A. ('63)
Heebner, Mrs. Henry R. ('23)
Heer, George A. ('62)
Hegeman, Mr. ('43) and Mrs. ('43) H. Clinton
Heidtmann, Roy W. ('60)
Heimer, Malcolm L. ('62)
Heine, Dr. Harold W.
Heister, Miss Joan A. ('53)
Helm, Patricia A. ('62)
Helveston, Jr., Edmund C. ('63)
Henderson, Frank T. ('63)
Henderson, Mr. George D. ('33)
Henderson, Jr., Mr. J. Welles
Henderson, Nancy L. ('63)
Henderson, Mr. ('50) and Mrs. ('61) W. Floyd
Herb, Mr. Grant O. ('21)
Herkner, Douglas S. ('63)
Hermans, Mary A. ('63)
Herrellers, Ruth J. ('62)
Herring, Barbara J. ('63)
Hertz, Peter A. ('63)
Hess, Mr. and Mrs. A. Freeman
Hess, Margaret A. ('63)
Hess, Phyllis J. ('60)
Hess, Mr. Robert G.
Hetherington, Jr., Mrs. John ('55)
Hetrick, Glenn H. ('63)
Hetteche, Mr. Leroy R.
Hewens, Nancy N. ('63)
Heysham, Jr., Theodore ('25)
Hibschman, William C. ('63)
Hildreth, Hon. (H'56) and Mrs. Horace Hill, Jeremy D. ('62)
Hill, John S. ('60)
Hill, Margaret M. ('63)
Hill, Sr., Mr. and Mrs. Thomas C.
Hilliard, Dr. Robert B.
Himmer, Betty L. ('62)
Hines, Joseph L. ('62)
Hinkelman, Harold I. ('46)
Hinmon, John S. ('63)
Hipp, Linda E. ('63)
Hirsch, Judith B. ('63)
Hitchcock, Jr., William E. ('61)
Hitchens, Mr. Roland R. ('29)
Hitchner, Mrs. Warren E. ('37)
Hjortsberg, Sandra M. ('60)
Hoag, Barbara C. ('61)
Hock, Sarah F. ('60)
Hocker, Carolyn F. ('61)
Hodapp, Ellen L. ('61)
Hoffman, John J. ('63)
Hoffman, Dorothy L. ('60)
Hoffman, Gail E. ('60)
Hofman, Dirk C. ('60)
Hogan, Donald F. ('62)
Hogan, Jeannette G. ('63)
Hokuf, Stephanie J. ('61)
Hollinshead, Margaret A. ('60)
Hollister, Dr. Charles A.
Holmes, David D. ('63)
Holton, Carol J. ('63)
Holzer, Karen ('62)
Hook, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick A.
Hook, Karen J. ('62)
Hooker, Dr. Kenneth W.
Hopper, Robert H. ('61)
Horlacher, Mr. David E.

Horowitz, Mr. Paul
 Horowitz, Steven H. ('62)
 Horter, Mr. Richard L. ('26)
 Hourigan, Katharine A. ('63)
 House, Robert A. ('63)
 Household Finance Foundation
 Hubbard, John G. ('63)
 Hudson, Bruce J. ('63)
 Hudson, Carl J. ('61)
 Hummer, Mr. John F. ('08)
 Humphreys, Mr. Albert E.
 Humphreys, Virginia E. ('63)
 Hunsberger, Jr., Joseph L. ('63)
 Hurtt, IV, Mr. James H. ('52)
 Hussey, Susan E. ('62)
 Hyde, James R. ('63)
 Hyden, Mr. and Mrs. William L.
 Illies, Miss Barbel
 Ingraham, Michael L. ('61)
 Irey, Mrs. Philip M. ('06)
 Irland, Barbara E. ('60)
 Irland, Dr. George A. ('15)
 Irvine, Jr., Wesley ('63)
 Irving, Mr. ('57) and Mrs. ('56) Roy S.
 Irving, Miss Sally A. ('47)
 Ives, Mrs. Nathan F. ('43)
 Izatt, Mr. Thomas
 Jacobsen, Barbara A. ('62)
 Jacobus, Nancy R. ('63)
 Jaffe, Matthew E. ('63)
 James, Martha H. ('62)
 Jenkins, Mr. ('35) and Mrs. ('35)
 Harry L.
 Jens, Ronald P. ('60)
 John, Robert P. ('60)
 Johnson, Barry ('63)
 Johnson, Jr., Carltoo D. ('63)
 Johnson, Gordon S. ('62)
 Johnson, Harrison E. ('62)
 Johnson, Mr. John C. ('04)
 Johnson, Margaret L. ('60)
 Johnson, Thomas H. ('63)
 Johnston, Elaine R. ('60)
 Jones, Daniel K. ('63)
 Jones, Jan B. ('62)
 Jones, Dr. J. Charles ('42)
 Jones, Michael B. ('63)
 Jones, Nancy A. ('61)
 Jones, Paul M. ('62)
 Jones, Ruth V. ('60)
 Jones, III, Sheldon ('63)
 Jones, William R. ('63)
 Josenhans, Miss Barbara A. ('56)
 Joseph, Mr. Miles L. ('57)
 J P M Mfg. Company, Inc.
 Judd, Miss Anna C. ('00)
 Kachnor, Jr., John R. ('63)
 Kafschinski, Billie P. ('61)
 Kaier, William C. ('63)
 Kalman, Mr. Henry
 Kaminsky, Seth F. ('62)
 Kanawada, Jr., Leo V. ('63)
 Kaplan, Mark E. ('63)
 Kaplan, Peter S. ('63)
 Karpia, John P. ('62)
 Karraker, Dr. Cyrus H.
 Kauffman, Edward J. ('62)
 Kaufman, Michael A. ('63)
 Keech, William R. ('61)
 Keene, Jr., Andrew F. ('63)
 Keeny, Raymond E. ('63)
 Keifer, Mr. Earl E.
 Keldsen, Barbara L. ('60)
 Kelley, Kate P. ('63)
 Kelley, Marian A. ('61)
 Kelly, David B. S. ('63)
 Kemmler, James M. ('63)
 Kemper, Miss Claudette ('54)
 Kennedy, David S. ('63)
 Kennedy, Jr., Mr. Harry W. ('57)
 Kennedy, Mr. Richard A. ('49)
 Kennedy, Jr., Mr. Ridgway
 Kenyon, Mr. and Mrs. Wescott C.
 Kessler, Clemm C. ('63)
 Khin, Kyaw ('62)
 Kidd, Robert V. ('63)
 Kieft, Dr. Lester
 Kiehn, Richard M. ('63)
 Kidwell, II, Robert N. ('63)
 Kilt-Mullen Memorial Foundation
 Kilburn, Robert B. ('63)
 Killian, Mr. and Mrs. Paul S.
 Kindig, Mr. Carl H.
 King, Judith M. ('63)
 Kirkman, Martha A. ('63)
 Kirkpatrick, Grace A. M. ('62)
 Kittay, Burton A. ('63)
 Kjellberg, Robert K. ('61)
 Klatt, David A. ('62)
 Klein, Joan M. ('63)
 Klein, Lois K. ('63)
 Kleinberg, Neil A. ('61)
 Kleinfelter, Miss Helen E.
 Klemm, Mr. ('53) and Mrs. ('54)
 Richard H.
 Kline, Mr. Raymond D. ('19)
 Kling, James R. ('63)
 Klotz, Arthur H. ('63)
 Knecht, Susan C. ('63)
 Knight, Donald B. ('63)
 Knoblock, Virginia L. ('63)
 Knouse, Mr. Holman G. ('17)
 Koch, Susan A. ('63)
 Koch, Susan C. ('62)
 Koch, Wayne A. ('63)
 Kohl, Jr., Mrs. John L. ('32)
 Kopit, William G. ('61)
 Kordes, Betty C. ('62)
 Kraekel, Joyce R. ('61)
 Krane, Richard ('63)
 Kraunz, Barbara J. ('60)
 Kraus, Jon P. ('60)
 The Kresge Foundation
 Kresge, Marlene A. ('63)
 Kribbs, Benton A. ('59)
 Kriner, Jr., Mr. ('17) and Mrs. ('17)
 Clarence
 Kritis, Mr. ('54) and Mrs. ('55)
 Anthony G.
 Kroninger, III, Edward N. ('63)
 Kudrna, John R. ('63)
 Kuebler, Lois M. ('63)
 Kugler, William O. ('60)
 Kuhn, Marjory E. ('60)
 Kunkel, Dr. George M. ('19)
 Kunkle, Mr. Stanford L. ('21)
 Kurtz, Carol A. ('62)
 Kuschell, Mr. ('27) and Mrs. ('26)
 Charles J.
 Kutra, Jr., Peter G. ('63)
 LaFond, Janet M. ('63)
 Lages, Robert E. ('63)
 Laird, Janet M. ('61)
 Lambert, Doris A. ('63)
 Lambert, Virginia J. ('61)
 Lambly, Sharon A. ('62)
 Lamborne, Mr. George W. ('24)
 Landers, Mrs. Maurice ('08)
 Landis, Mary G. ('62)
 Landis, Mr. ('53) and Mrs. ('53)
 Richard W.
 Landsiedel, William J. ('63)
 Lang, John B. ('62)
 Lange, Ronald A. ('63)
 Langford, Robert G. ('62)
 Langsner, Mr. Adolph ('31)
 LaRosa, Mr. and Mrs. Salvatore
 Larson, Jerold B. ('63)
 Lathrop, Kay S. ('63)
 Latour, Mr. Robert A.
 Laubscher, Judith A. ('63)
 Laucks, Mr. Joseph C. ('27)
 Laudenslager, Mrs. William ('32)
 Lauver, Marthann M. ('60)
 Lawson, III, Edward K. ('60)
 Lebec, Richard S. ('63)
 Leber, Albert P. ('63)
 LeCates, William B. ('62)
 Lehman, Scott R. ('63)
 Leibowitz, Leonard ('60)
 Leidy, Patricia L. ('61)
 Lemerich, Ronald G. M. ('63)
 Lenhard, Lois L. ('60)
 Leonard, Mary E. ('63)
 Leshner, Mr. Herbert A. ('39)
 Leshner, Dr. Mabel G. ('01)
 Leslie, Richard F. ('63)
 Lewisburg National Bank
 Lewisburg Trust & Safe Deposit Company
 Liffand, Mr. P. Paul ('40)
 Lighter, Jane A. ('61)
 Lighter, Willard O. ('63)
 Lighton, Mr. Lester E. ('20)
 Liming, Mr. ('33) and Mrs. ('34)
 William S.
 Lindback Foundation, Christian R. and Mary F.
 Lintz, Dr. Sidney Z. ('33)
 Lipman, Gardina W. ('63)
 Lizza, Jr., Charles E. ('60)
 Loan, Eleanor L. ('62)
 Loebbecke, Eleanor C. ('62)
 Lo Grippio, Joseph R. ('60)
 Logue, Dr. James G. ('37)
 Lominska, Elizabeth J. ('63)
 Long, Mr. George W. ('24)
 Long, Linda B. ('63)
 Lord, Edith K. ('62)
 Love, Miss Harriet A. ('44)
 Loveland, Mr. Charles D. ('11)
 Lowery, Wayne E. ('63)
 Lowry, Dr. W. Norwood ('22)
 Lucarelli, Francis J. ('62)
 Lucas, Joan F. ('62)
 Ludeman, Lyda T. ('63)
 Ludemann, Mr. Clifford G.
 Luna, Dennis S. ('63)
 Lydman, Jane E. ('60)
 Lyon, Miss Maureen A.
 Lyons, Jr., J. Arthur ('63)
 Lysieczn, Edward D. ('63)
 McBride, Susan B. ('62)
 McCain, Mr. Donald R. ('05)
 McCarthy, Valerie T. ('61)
 McCarthy, William J. ('63)
 McCausland, Mr. ('59) and Mrs. ('59)
 William C.
 McCay, Jane A. ('63)
 McClung, III, John H. ('63)
 McClure, Mr. James F. ('13)
 McConathy, Donald R. ('63)
 McConnell, Alan S. ('61)
 McCord, Marti L. ('63)
 McCormack, Robert W. ('60)
 McCormick, Jr., Mr. Joseph W. ('26)
 McCulloch, John C. ('60)
 McDonald, John L. ('60)
 McDowell, Linda L. ('62)
 McDowell, Robert E. ('62)
 McFate, Mary A. ('62)
 McGinn, John P. ('63)
 McGough, Mrs. William G. ('28)
 McKay, Mr. William W. ('49)
 McKenna, John J. ('61)
 McKim, Neal G. ('63)
 McKinley, Mr. Arthur D. ('19)
 McLaren, Helen L. ('61)
 McLaughlin, Dr. Elizabeth T.
 McNutt, Mr. William P. ('27)
 McPherson, Mrs. Margaret O. ('40)
 McRae, Jr., Mr. William D.
 McRoberts, Mr. Roland B. ('43)
 McVicker, Kathryn G. ('63)
 Macartney, Mrs. John T. ('46)
 MacCreadie, Mr. William T.
 MacDougall, Barbara E. ('60)
 MacDougall, Evelyn ('63)
 Mackerell, Mr. and Mrs. Alexander
 MacLachlan, Ronald I. ('63)
 Macomber, Allen B. ('63)
 Magargal, Larry E. ('63)
 Magill, Jr., Mr. John T. ('45)
 Mahlan, Marcia C. ('60)
 Mahler, Karin ('61)
 Mahood, Mr. William T. ('29)
 Mallory, Hon. Charles R. ('09)
 Maloney, Karen A. ('63)
 Mangano, Gerald J. ('63)
 Mankin, Jr., Mr. ('53) and Mrs. ('56)
 Walter M.
 Mannella, Mr. Clifford W. ('42)
 Manning, Dr. Wayne E.
 Manoukian, Richard V. ('63)
 Markowitz, Rabbi S. H. ('14)
 Marks, Mr. ('47) and Mrs. ('46)
 E. Robert
 Marks, Mr. Franklin J. ('40)
 Markunas, Elenora B. ('63)
 Marple, Mrs. Thomas ('27)
 Marter, Jr., Mr. ('32) and Mrs. ('31)
 Cyrus D.
 Martin, Dr. F. David
 Martin, Jeffrey M. ('63)
 Martin, Col. Lewis T.
 Martin, Dr. Mildred
 Martone, Jr., Henry L. ('63)
 Mason, Johanna F. ('62)
 Massey, III, William G. ('63)
 Mather & Company
 Mathers, William N. V. ('63)
 Matthews, Sara P. ('63)
 Mathewson, Mrs. Jane S. ('01)
 Mathias, Mrs. Margaret P. ('08)
 Mathieson, Mr. A. R. ('20)
 Matz, Dr. Robert L.
 Mauger, Mr. ('53) and Mrs. ('50)
 K. Frederick
 Maxwell, Dr. and Mrs. Robert W.
 Mayr, Janet A. ('61)
 Mazeine, Mrs. Graham B. ('30)
 Meadows, Constance C. ('61)
 Meinert, John L. ('61)
 Melnick, Betsy A. ('63)
 Meminger, Alan S. ('63)
 Mendenhall, III, Dr. William ('45)
 Menousek, Ruth P. ('63)
 Merrill, Mr. E. Lindsey
 Merrill, Elliott ('61)
 Merrill Lynch, Pierce, Fenner &
 Smith Foundation, Inc.
 Merritt-Chapman & Scott Corporation
 Merritt, Dr. and Mrs. Frank W.
 Mervine, Mrs. Thomas B. ('37)
 Metz, Katherine E. ('62)
 Michaelis, Arthur F. ('63)
 Mifflinburg Telegraph
 Mills, Mrs. Oscar ('13)
 Miller, Mr. Donald K. ('59)
 Miller, Dorland W. ('63)
 Miller, Mr. John B. ('26)
 Miller, John J. ('60)
 Miller, Jonathan D. B. ('60)
 Miller, Pamela A. ('63)
 Miller, Pamela J. ('63)
 Miller, Sally A. ('63)
 Miller, Dr. William I. ('26)
 Milton, Deborah J. ('61)
 Minard, Dr. George W.
 Mine, Elizabeth A. ('61)
 Minges, James C. ('63)
 Minkin, Michael A. ('62)
 Minnier, Carl E. ('63)
 Miron Insulation Company
 Missimer, Jr., Hilary R. ('63)
 Miacham, Jr., Merle B. ('63)
 Mitchell, Mr. Bruce H.
 Mitchell, III, Frederick B. ('63)
 Mitchell, Mary P. ('63)
 Mize, Robert G. ('60)
 Monseu, Marie A. ('61)
 Monteith, Jr., James R. ('63)
 Mooney, Diane M. ('62)
 Mooney, Richard J. ('60)
 Moore, Eric A. ('63)
 Moore, Michael J. ('63)
 Moran, III, Fred V. ('63)
 Moreau, George T. ('61)
 Morgan, Marilyn ('61)
 Morris, John N. ('63)
 Morris, Mr. Robert B. ('08)
 Morris, Mr. T. J. ('00)
 Morrison, James L. ('61)
 Morrison, Pamela D. ('61)
 Morrison, Mrs. Robert ('39)
 Moser, Miss Elsa L. ('36)
 Mosher, Marlane B. ('63)
 Moss, Richard H. ('63)
 Mother, Donald B. ('63)
 Motill, Daniel ('61)
 Movsesian, Merle ('62)
 Moyer, Mr. Gilbert B. ('29)
 Mueller, James R. ('63)
 Muir, Mary J. ('62)
 Mulcahy, Paul K. ('63)
 Muller, Lorraine A. ('63)
 Mumford, Miss Marilyn R. ('59)
 Murphy, Jr., Edward F. ('63)
 Mussina, Carolyn M. ('61)
 Mussoline, Ayn P. ('63)
 Myers, Marcia L. ('62)
 Myers, Raymond I. ('61)
 Nancarrow, Mr. J. E. ('16)
 Nangel, Leonard E. ('61)
 Napier, Margaret E. ('63)
 Needham, Donald W. ('63)
 Neisner, Samuel D. ('63)
 Neiswander, Roger N. ('63)
 Nelson, Mrs. Raymond O. ('52)
 Nelson, Russell G. ('62)
 Nernberg, Jr., Maurice A. ('61)
 Ness, Carol A. ('63)
 Nesnow, Stephen C. ('63)
 Neumann, Robert S. ('63)
 Newcomb, Malcolm R. ('63)
 Newcomer, Roberta A. ('63)
 Newman, David T. ('63)
 Newman, Mr. Robert C. ('38)
 Newmiller, Beverly A. ('61)
 Nickelsen, Dr. Richard P.
 Nicodemus, Dr. Roy E. ('25)
 Nicoletti, Carol F. ('63)
 Nielsen, Johanne E. ('60)
 Nieman, Mr. and Mrs. Barney
 Noble, Jr., Clement H. ('63)
 Noble, Roger A. ('60)
 Northup, Thomas R. ('63)
 Norton, Jacqueline A. ('62)
 Nothel, Mr. John F. ('49)
 Nova, Karl E. ('63)
 Novak, Darryl L. ('63)
 Nycum, Nancy A. ('63)
 Oakes, William F. ('63)
 Odell, Mr. Robert H.
 Odgers, Dr. and Mrs. Merle M.
 Oetjen, Florence H. ('62)
 Ogilvie, Gene K. ('61)
 Ohl, Mr. Donald G. ('47)
 Ohme, Jr., William G. ('61)
 Oliphant, Dr. J. Orin
 Orlovski, Richard S. ('63)
 Orr, Cynthia J. ('60)
 Orrok, Dr. Douglas H.
 Osborne, Ronald C. ('63)
 Ott, Jr., Ray L. ('62)
 Ottesen, Judith C. ('62)
 Otto, Mildred S. ('63)
 Pabst, John H. ('63)
 Pangburn, Dr. Edward W. ('15)
 Parisi, Mr. Theodore A. ('62)
 Parisi, Jr., Theodore A. ('62)
 Parsons, George D. ('61)
 Partridge, Dr. and Mrs. Edward B.
 Parvin, Jan W. ('61)
 Passmore, John E. ('63)
 Patten, Dr. Karl W.
 Patterson, Alan L. ('63)
 Patterson, Kathryn D. ('62)
 Patton, Pamela J. ('63)
 Pawlitz, Lynne P. ('61)
 Payne, Mr. W. Guy ('09)

Peabody, Eldridge L. ('63)
 Pearlman, Alan J. ('62)
 Pearson, Paul D. ('61)
 Pedrick, Ronald J. ('60)
 Peeke, Susan E. ('63)
 Peltz, Susan L. ('63)
 Pennsylvania Bankers Association
 Penrose, Samuel J. ('63)
 Peper, Eric W. ('63)
 Perkins, Miss Judith L. ('54)
 Perry, Mr. Charles F. ('35)
 Perry, Patience ('60)
 Peterman, Pamela J. ('62)
 Peters, Mr. Henry N. ('39)
 Peterson, Mark B. ('60)
 Phillips, Harriet R. ('63)
 Piccolino, Edmund B. ('62)
 Piekarski, Mr. Felix ('20)
 Piersol, Joan McC. ('60)
 Pietschmann, Jr., Mr. and Mrs.
 Richard J.
 Pike, Anne L. ('60)
 Pinkerton, Judith A. ('63)
 Piper, Sr., Mr. W. T.
 Pitcairn-Crabbe Foundation
 Platz, Larry E. ('62)
 Plocnik, Thomas F. ('63)
 Poccia, John L. ('63)
 Poetter, Suzanne M. ('62)
 Pogue, Suzanne ('60)
 Poletti, Lawrence A. ('61)
 Polifka, Jean A. ('63)
 Pollack, Mr. Carl P.
 Pollack, Jerome M. ('60)
 Pollack, Mr. and Mrs. Morris D.
 Pomeroy, Mary L. ('61)
 Pomeroy, Estate, Mary S.
 Pope, Carol L. ('63)
 Pope, Jr., Loren B. ('63)
 Porter, Marvin H. ('60)
 Porter, Dr. William S.
 Porter, The Rev. and Mrs. Willis H.
 Portnof, Jon J. ('62)
 Portnof, Mr. Lawrence
 Posner, Mr. Ralph M. ('40)
 Post, Barbara ('63)
 Powers, Janet M. ('61)
 Poznick, Mrs. Daniel E. ('54)
 Pratt, Dr. Burt C. ('33)
 Predmore, Nancy A. ('62)
 Prender, Mr. Fred W.
 Price, Mr. Eugene B. ('52)
 Probst, Richard W. ('63)
 Prunetti, Frederick J. ('63)
 Puff, Dr. Robert C. ('42)
 Pugh, William W. ('63)
 Purnell, Dr. John S. ('23)
 Putterman, Mr. Isaac ('60)
 Pyle, Miss Florence ('54)
 Quick, Anne E. ('63)
 Quigley, Jacqueline ('62)
 Quigley, Jr., Thomas B. ('63)
 Ragusan, Mr. Francis J. ('34)
 Rajnik, Lawrence S. ('61)
 Ranck, Mr. Bruce O. ('18)
 Ranck, Mr. Dale E.
 Ranck, Helen A. ('62)
 Randel, Victor I. ('61)
 Ransom, Virginia R. ('62)
 Rappaport, Mr. Harold Rasmussen, Marcia L. ('63)
 Rath, Sandra L. ('62)
 Rathmell, Mrs. John N. ('39)
 Rauer, Virginia A. ('62)
 Reber, Mr. Harold Z. ('28)
 Reed, III, Charles N. ('60)
 Reed, Earlene A. ('61)
 Reed, Harold G. ('61)
 Reed, Martin D. ('61)
 Reed, Virginia A. ('62)
 Reed, Mr. Warren S. ('20)
 Rees, Dr. Ralph ('39)
 Reeve, Deborah A. ('62)
 Reincke, Robert L. ('62)
 Reinheimer, Jr., Kenneth G. ('61)
 Reish, Mr. ('33) and Mrs. ('33) Ralph
 Renkin, Mrs. Eugene M. ('52)
 Ressler, Mr. Charles T. ('52)
 Reuning, Jane L. ('60)
 Reuter, Henry A. ('63)
 Reynolds, Robert V. ('62)
 Rhea, Mr. Booth B.
 Rhindress, Richard C. ('62)
 Rhone, Sherry L. ('60)
 Riccio, Major Joseph A.
 Rice, Mrs. Fred D. ('16)
 Rice, Georgia W. ('60)
 Rice, Roger J. ('61)
 Richard, Nancy P. ('62)
 Richards, Mr. Earl M. ('13)
 Richards, III, George W. ('63)
 Richmond, Barbara J. ('63)
 Rider, II, Philip R. ('63)
 Ridgway, Mrs. Robert J. ('53)
 Riemer, Mr. ('29) and Mrs. Hugo
 Ries, Barbara A. ('60)
 Rigg, Jr., Donald L. ('60)
 Rinaldo, Jr., Anthony D. ('60)
 Ringenwald, Mr. Richard D. ('57)
 Rintelman, Mr. Donnae W. ('58)
 Risacher, Robert L. ('63)
 Rittenhouse, Earl D. ('61)
 Ritzenhaler, Isabelle ('63)
 Roberts, Barbara A. ('63)
 Roberts, Edgar J. ('60)
 Roberts, Mr. ('56) and Mrs. ('55)
 Kenneth A.
 Roberts, Miss L. Alice ('24)
 Robertson, Marion S. ('63)
 Robey, Dr. Louis W. ('04)
 Robinson, Mr. Carleton
 Robison, Sally J. ('63)
 Rodgers, III, James O. ('63)
 Rodger, Joyce L. ('63)
 Roedel, Mr. and Mrs. Milton J.
 Roessler, George D. ('61)
 Rogers, Jr., Mr. Charles S. ('52)
 Rogers, Nancy H. ('60)
 Rogers, Dr. P. B.
 Rohde, Mr. ('36) and Mrs. ('37)
 LeRoy H.
 Rohman, Richard L. ('63)
 Roll, Hildegard H. ('63)
 Rolnick, Mr. and Mrs. Jesse H.
 Ronald, Mark H. ('62)
 Rooke, Mr. Robert L. ('13)
 Root, Margaret E. ('63)
 Rose, Jr., Raymond W. ('63)
 Roselle, Mr. Donald O. ('39)
 Roth, Lina F. ('62)
 Rothermel, Mr. Robert E. ('50)
 Rothfuss, Dr. E. Lloyd
 Rothwell, Mr. Kenneth J.
 Rudin, Valerie A. ('62)
 Ruehl, Patricia L. ('62)
 Ruff, Mr. ('47) and Mrs. ('45)
 Raymond J.
 Rugen, Janet C. ('63)
 Ruhl, Mr. Harry S. ('27)
 Ruhl, Jane P. ('61)
 Rumbaugh, Susan E. ('62)
 Rummel, Barbara J. ('63)
 Rumsey, Mr. Edwin W. ('08)
 Runk, Barbara A. ('61)
 Rupprecht, David J. ('63)
 Rush, Alan E. ('60)
 Rushlemane, Elga R. ('63)
 Ruslik, Jr., Henry G. ('60)
 Russell, Mary A. ('62)
 Russo, Louis J. ('60)
 Russo, Vincent R. ('62)
 Ruth, Jr., James W. ('63)
 Rutledge, Mr. Campbell ('33)
 Salati, Mrs. Robert M. ('46)
 Saltzman, Donald J. ('60)
 Sanders, David B. ('63)
 Sanders, Robert J. ('63)
 Saunders, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur M.
 Sautier, Miss Idle M.
 Sauter, Jr., Carroll W. ('63)
 Sawyer, Jean E. ('63)
 Sayer, Mr. and Mrs. Donald C.
 Searles, Miss Marcia R.
 Schaaf, Carolyn J. ('61)
 Schaaft, Mrs. Paul ('57)
 Schad, Mr. Harry G. (H'58)
 Schad, Robert G. ('61)
 Schaefer, Dolores A. ('60)
 Schafer, Margaret V. ('60)
 Schatzle, Wilma L. ('61)
 Schawe, Ann E. ('60)
 Schawe, Mr. and Mrs. Fredric H.
 Scheel, Carol A. ('62)
 Scheffler, David B. ('61)
 Schellman, Carol A. ('63)
 Schlaikjer, Maren C. ('61)
 Schlener, William E. ('61)
 Schmidt, Mary L. ('63)
 Schneider, Nina I. M. ('62)
 Schraeder, Paul ('62)
 Schreiber, Judith ('63)
 Schreiner, Richard B. ('62)
 Schreyach, Jon C. ('60)
 Schubert, Lynne A. ('60)
 Schuman, Allan R. ('60)
 Schuman, Mr. and Mrs.
 Arthur L.
 Schumann, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Charles W.
 Schumann, Nancy B. ('62)
 Schuyler, Rebecca J. ('63)
 Schwartz, Hilda A. ('62)
 Schwarz, Susan E. ('63)
 Schweiger, Camilla E. ('62)
 Schweiker, Mrs. Roy W. ('24)
 Scialabba, Sebastian J. ('62)
 Scott, David H. ('63)
 Scott, Elizabeth A. ('63)
 Scott, Mr. Howard I. ('39)
 Scott, Patricia E. ('63)
 Seaman, Lesley E. ('63)
 Seasholtz, Linda L. ('61)
 Seeburger, William G. ('62)
 Seels, Frank H. ('63)
 Seguire, Joel H. ('63)
 Seibert, Nancy S. ('62)
 Sekeres, Joel H. ('62)
 Setterstrom, Mrs. Carl ('39)
 Shaffer, Donald L. ('63)
 Shaffer, Mr. H. A. ('13)
 Shaffan, Frederick E. ('60)
 Shannon, George M. ('60)
 Shapos, Patricia M. ('60)
 Sharff, Judy E. ('62)
 Shaw, Mr. Larnie B. ('39)
 Sheehan, Mary N. ('62)
 Sheesley, Jr., Devere L. ('61)
 Sheldon III, Charles A. ('63)
 Sheninger, Eugene L. ('63)
 Shepherd, Clark O. ('63)
 Sheridan, Dr. Marlin L. ('43)
 Sherkr, Dr. ('20) and Mrs. ('20) A. Lincoln
 Sherman, John L. ('63)
 Shields, Dr. John J. ('31)
 Shiffler, Mr. Neil F.
 Shinton, Mrs. Albert G. ('37)
 Shippe, Charles W. ('61)
 Shippes, Dr. Marvin G. ('32)
 Shirley, Mr. John T. ('09)
 Shorin, Mr. Robert L. ('49)
 Shott, Mr. John H. ('22)
 Showell, Frank X. ('63)
 Showers, Hon. William L. ('16)
 Shute, Carol D. ('63)
 Sichel, Paula ('63)
 Siegel, Deanna S. ('62)
 Siegel, Judith L. ('63)
 Siegle, Jr., George G. ('63)
 Sigmans, Edith S. ('60)
 Sihanantharath, Ousa ('63)
 Silvius, Mr. W. Paul ('38)
 Simons, Shirley A. ('61)
 Simpson, Blanche A. ('61)
 Simpson, Douglas H. ('63)
 Simpson, Paul E. ('63)
 Sims, Dr. Hugh D.
 Sine, Penny F. ('62)
 Skaar, Arnold H. ('63)
 Skelton, Richard C. ('60)
 Skidmore, Jr., Frank H. ('63)
 Skinner, Carol L. ('63)
 Skoronski, Joseph W. ('61)
 Slifer, David K. ('60)
 Slifer, Mr. Kenneth W. ('26)
 Sloan, Barbara L. ('62)
 Slonaker, Jr., Mr.
 Robert E. ('52)
 Smalstig, Edward B. ('63)
 Smith, Bradford J. ('63)
 Smith, Carol L. ('63)
 Smith, Dr. C. Willard
 Smith, Gordon L. ('63)
 Smith, Dr. Isaac R.
 Smith, Joanne J. ('61)
 Smith, Mr. J. Randle ('50)
 Smith, Judith A. ('62)
 Smith, Dr. Manning A.
 Smith, Marcia C. ('60)
 Smith, Marta J. ('63)
 Smith, Nancy R. ('62)
 Smith, Norma A. ('63)
 Smith, Mr. Ralph C. ('35)
 Smith, Mrs. Russel T. ('24)
 Smith, Susan C. ('61)
 Smith, Toni D. ('63)
 Smith, Mrs. Virginia ('46)
 Smith, Dr. Wendell I. ('46)
 Smith, Dr. William K. ('41)
 Smoker, Jr., Harry W. ('63)
 Smull, Miss Alice L. ('29)
 Smull, Miss Christine E. ('49)
 Snellbaker, Dona J. ('61)
 Snyder, Barbara J. ('62)
 Snyder, Dr. Dewey A. ('22)
 Snyder, Robert B. ('63)
 Soars, Miss Jessie L. ('30)
 Sollfrey, Mr. Lewis S.
 Solomon, Elliott H. ('62)
 Sondey, John A. ('62)
 Sordoni Foundation, Inc.,
 Andrew J.
 Space, Joan I. ('63)
 Sparks, Katherine A. ('60)
 Spaulding, Jean L. ('60)
 Speer, Hope F. ('60)
 Speer, Virginia E. ('63)
 Speicher, Mr. and
 Mrs. ('07) John W.
 Spence, Roger W. ('63)
 Spielman, Dr. Ralph
 Sprague, Dr. and Mrs. F. A.
 Springer, Winifred ('63)
 Squires, Michael G. ('63)
 Stahl, Mr. Charles I. ('49)
 Stanwood, Mrs. Howard C. ('36)
 Stark, Patricia ('61)
 Starkweather, Mrs. Howard W. ('11)
 Steele, Bonnie L. ('60)
 Stefanakos, Thomas K. ('63)
 Stein, Mrs. Silas S. ('27)
 Steinbach, Bruce A. ('61)
 Steinbaum, Frederick L. ('63)
 Steiner, Joseph R. ('62)
 Steinmetz, Robert G. ('62)
 Sternberg, Frederick J. ('63)
 Stevenson, Mr. ('52) and
 Mrs. ('51) Wayne M.
 Stewart, Douglas W. ('63)
 Stewart, Patricia A. ('62)
 Stickney, Mr. C. F. ('48)
 Stiffel, Todd ('63)
 Still, Mr. ('13) and Mrs. Ralph A.
 Stinchcomb, Larry S. ('62)
 Stine, Larry W. ('63)
 Stokes, Susan E. ('60)
 Storch, William R. ('63)
 Stratton, III, Fowler H. ('63)
 Straub, James S. ('63)
 Strauch, Karl R. ('63)
 Strauss, Jr., Norman ('60)
 Strobeck, Joel S. ('60)
 Stroehmann Brothers Company
 Stromberg, Mr. and Mrs.
 Everett C.
 Strout, Roger B. ('60)
 Strunk, David W. ('63)
 Sturgeon, Ann R. ('60)
 Sturm, Dr. Douglas E.
 Suarez, Barbara ('62)
 Suarez, Miss Maria J.
 Sugar, Stephen E. ('62)
 Sullivan, Patricia K. ('63)
 Sumner, Gary S. ('61)
 Surprenant, Joan L. ('62)
 Swanson, Mr. ('51) and
 Mrs. ('52) John P.
 Swartley, Mary A. ('62)
 Sweeney, William J. ('61)
 Sweet, Jr., Mr. George T. ('10)
 Switkes, Dr. and Mrs.
 Herman I.
 Symons, Janet M. ('62)
 Taintor, Mary E. ('63)
 Talley, Mr. and Mrs. Lewis H.
 Taylor, Katherine M. ('60)
 Taylor, Mary J. ('63)
 Taylor, Nancy J. ('62)
 Tedeschi, Mr. Reginald J. ('53)
 Teleky, Priscilla M. ('61)
 Teng, Peter Chie-Ling ('63)
 Terio, Robert P. ('63)
 Tessler, Rozlyne S. ('63)
 Tewksbury, Dr. Blake (H'54)
 Texaco, Inc.
 Theiss, Robert E. ('63)
 Thesieres, Terry R. ('60)
 Thomas, Jean L. ('62)
 Thomas, Margaret J. ('60)
 Thompson, Dr. ('37) and
 Mrs. ('49) Alden S.
 Thompson, Miss Elizabeth E. ('26)
 Thompson, Richard R. ('63)
 Thompson, Robert A. ('60)
 Thorn, Carol A. ('62)
 Tiley, Darwyn L. ('62)
 Tilton, Mr. John W. ('52)
 Tinsley, Roella ('62)
 Titus, Thelma J. ('61)
 Toal, John H. ('60)
 Tomasian, Marjorie Z. ('63)
 Tompkins, Ann L. ('63)
 Topham, Mr. ('15) and Mrs. ('17)
 Erle M.
 Topping, Mrs. William H. ('94)
 Toti, William R. ('62)
 Townsend, Pamela A. ('63)
 Trax, Dr. Harland A. ('01)
 Tressler, Constance L. ('62)
 Tressler, Lloyd E. ('63)
 Trexler, Barbara L. ('60)
 Troast, Mr. Paul L. (H'52)
 Trudell, Donald P. ('62)
 Trullinger, Gail E. ('62)
 Truller, Mr. Carl E. ('31)
 Tuhy, Miss Darina J. ('41)
 Turner, Phebe M. ('62)
 Twaddle, Dr. and Mrs.
 ('32) Paul M.
 Tydings, George R. ('63)
 Ufberg, Michael H. ('63)
 Ulp, David W. ('62)
 Underwood, Mr. Raymond P. ('41)
 Union National Bank of Lewisburg
 Urch, William A. ('62)
 Vanderbeck, Katherine G. ('62)
 Van Dijk, Johanna C. ('62)

- Van Pelt, Suzanne M. ('60)
 VanRiper, Esther L. ('62)
 Vasquez, Judith C. ('63)
 Vasta, Mrs. Sebastian J. ('55)
 Vaughn, Susan R. ('63)
 Veening, Dr. Hans
 Veetling, Jr., John P. ('63)
 Victoria, Carol A. ('63)
 Vidinghoff, Virginia M. ('61)
 Voegtlen, Ellen V. ('63)
 Vogel, Mr. ('37) and
 Mrs. ('40) Charles I.
 Vonada, Miss Esther E. ('25)
 Von Kaenel, Elizabeth A. ('61)
 Voss, Mr. Donald H.
 Vosseler, Rosemarie ('63)
 Waddell, Thomas M. ('63)
 Wadhams, Robert S. ('62)
 Wagner, Anne ('62)
 Wagner, Mr. Donald E. ('27)
 Wagner, Mr. ('47) and Mrs. ('46) F. Porter
 Wagner, Dr. Helmut R.
 Wagner, Lynn T. ('63)
 Walker, James S. ('63)
 Walker, Mr. Ralph C.
 Wall, Janet L. ('63)
 Wallace, Carol A. ('62)
 Walling, Mr. Fitz R. ('46)
 Walls, Mr. ('29) and Mrs. ('31) Kirby
 Walters, Mr. William H. ('45)
 Walton, Miss Mildred F. ('32)
 Waltz, Dr. Arthur D. ('12)
 Wandover, Miss Clare C. ('26)
 Ward, Mary M. ('63)
 Warden, Mr. Maxwell R.
 Ware, Mr. Emerson E. ('26)
 Warner, Susan S. ('63)
 Warren, Mr. Jesse
 Warren, Dr. W. Preston
 Watkins, Virginia D. ('62)
 Watson, Mr. P. Herbert ('37)
 Watt, Linda A. ('60)
 Weaver, Barbara J. ('62)
 Weaver, Martine I. ('63)
 Webb, Mr. Honer E. ('50)
 Webb, Richard A. ('63)
 Weems, Steven L. ('63)
 Weigel, June E. ('61)
 Weiner, Deanna L. ('62)
 Weiner, Dr. and Mrs. Max
 Weinerth, John L. ('63)
 Weisser, Jr., Ronald J. ('61)
 Weitzel, Louis J. ('63)
 Welcher, Robert S. ('63)
 Wellhofer, Jane A. ('60)
 Wells, Letha J. ('63)
 Werner, Denis P. ('63)
 Werner, John F. ('62)
 Wernitz, Susan J. ('63)
 West, Patricia ('60)
 West, Penelope J. ('63)
 Westfall, Susan J. ('63)
 Wharton, Charles J. ('63)
 Wheatcroft, Frances ('62)
 Whipp, Judith M. ('62)
 Whisler, John C. ('60)
 White, Nancy A. ('60)
 White, Mr. William R. ('26)
 Whitehead, Thomas M. ('63)
 Whiting, Jr., Mr. John W.
 Whiting, Wendy H. ('63)
 Whitmore, Nancy E. ('63)
 Whitten, Miss Mary H. ('42)
 Wian, Mr. Charles R. ('49)
 Widder, Mr. Kurt
 Wiesner, Richard H. ('63)
 Wight, Mr. Daniel E.
 Wight, Edward I. ('62)
 Wightman, Marilyn G. ('63)
 Wigington, Mrs. Louie M. ('49)
 Wilcox, Carolyn ('61)
 Wilcox, Jr., Winthrop P. ('60)
 Wiley, Ann I. ('61)
 Wiley, Evelyn ('63)
 Wilkinson, Kent K. ('62)
 Wilkinson, Mr. ('46) and
 Mrs. ('43) William M.
 Willeford, Jr., Dr. Bennett R.
 Williams, Carol L. ('63)
 Williams, Douglas C. ('63)
 Williams, Rev. Howard K. ('03)
 Williams, Joyce C. ('63)
 Williams, Liana M. ('63)
 Williams, Mr. ('20) and Mrs. T. Cortlandt
 Williams, Dr. T. Lamar ('02)
 Williamson, Mrs. Neihl J. ('42)
 Wilson, Ardath K. ('63)
 Wilson, Miss Dorothy M.
 Wilson, Mr. Lytle M. ('27)
 Wiltse, Jr., James V. ('63)
 Windsor, Victoria D. ('61)
 Wingate, Mr. Thomas H. ('31)
 Winstead, Dr. and Mrs. ('58)
 Meldrum B.
 Wisner, Irene ('62)
 Witman, Gny E. ('62)
 Witmeyer, Mr. Paul E.
 Witters, Sarah B. ('63)
 Wittmer, Frances E. ('60)
 Wolford, Barbara L. ('62)
 Wood, Mr. ('33) and Mrs. ('32) Edwin F.
 Wood, III, Frank T. ('61)
 Wood, Rev. L. Foster
 Wood, Mrs. Robert T. ('44)
 Wood, Mrs. W. Kent ('52)
 Woodcock, Miss Carolyn U. ('57)
 Woods, Jr., Mr. Elmer B. ('47)
 Woodward, Henry J. W. ('63)
 Woodward, Mr. Melvin L. ('53)
 Wright, Barbara A.
 Wright, Harvey B. ('63)
 Wright, Mrs. T. Orville ('29)
 Wright, Mr. and Mrs.
 Walter H.
 Wrynn, Vincent D. ('62)
 Wulezyn, Mr. Gregory
 Wunner, Charles H. ('63)
 Wycoff, Mr. Richard H. ('38)
 Wyke, Donald L. ('63)
 Yates, Richard P. ('60)
 Yerkes, Jr., Mr. John B.
 Yoder, James H. ('63)
 Yon, Mr. Arthur R. ('17)
 Young, Mr. Donald B. ('33)
 Young, Michael R. ('63)
 Young, Dr. Raymond H. ('43)
 Young, Thomas D. ('63)
 Zappone, Michael J. ('63)
 Zebley, Christine A. ('63)
 Zeller, Mrs. J. Fred ('03)
 Zeller, III, Mr. John F. ('41)
 Ziegenfus, Barbara A. ('61)
 Zimmerman, Richard S. ('63)
 Zinkin, Benjamin J. ('60)
 Zortman, Mr. Robert K. ('27)
 Zubeckis, John ('63)
 Zwanziger, Carolyn ('62)
 Zwicker, Bonnie L. ('63)

EDITOR'S NOTE: The foregoing list of donors is published to show extent of participation thus far. (Gifts are recorded only as and when they are received at the Campaign Office.) We hope that the final listing will include all members of the Bucknell family. If you have not given yet, please wait until a direct appeal is made.

A REPORT OF PROGRESS

(Continued from Page 7)

chairmen and the Dean. This may be a desirable arrangement if the curriculum is relatively stable, but one of the most impressive outcomes of the Bucknell Study is that there have been proposals for innovations virtually in every department, many of which affect other departments and often, entire degree programs. To systematize the consideration of proposals that are of general faculty interest, the Executive Committee of the Bucknell Study proposed the appointment by the President of an interim curriculum committee whose functions would be (1) to act as a curriculum committee, on an ad hoc basis, and (2) to bring in proposals for the proper functions and constitution of a permanent curriculum committee at Bucknell. Professor Wendell I. Smith, Chairman of the Department of Psychology, is chairman of this ad hoc committee, which functions through five small sub-committees on (1) Programs for Superior College Students; (2) the Advancement of Learning (matters having to do with teaching of effectiveness and the efficiency of the learning process); (3) General Education (distribution requirements); (4) the Major (matters of concentration and integration); and (5) the Graduate Program.

Both in the stages of active exploration and now, in the stages of integration and implementation, the Bucknell Study has been a kind of thorn in the academic flesh, a challenge to have a fresh look at fundamentals, to re-think established patterns, to be imaginative and original in proposing courses of action that will strengthen further the program that Bucknell offers. Though all of us are ready, I should suppose, to admit that changes in established patterns of life are as much needed as they are inevitable, changes of any kind frequently cause dislocations and at least temporary unhappiness. It seems to me that Bucknell alumni can view the Bucknell Study and its results with confidence that changes will be made only after the most careful inquiry and extended debate. Getting a faculty to reach a consensus on anything except the need for higher salaries and lighter teaching loads poses a major challenge to any one or any group! Faculties do not arrive easily at collective decisions, partly because "people who think otherwise" are not fundamentally happy when they are caught agreeing with their colleagues—agreement is the negation of originality, for all but one person, and for academicians, originality and individuality are cherished possessions! This is as it should be, and we are going to have to endure the sometimes-long process of study and debate through which any worthwhile changes in an academic program must pass. And in that very process of debate lies an assurance to Bucknellians of the past, present, and future that this institution will continue its impressive forward march.

AN INTANGIBLE FORCE

(Continued from Page 10)

versity toward a particular way of feeling. The tone of the Bucknell campus, created by this way of feeling, has been gradually leaning toward a more intellectual emphasis. And by recognizing and making use of the beneficial effects of Social Pressure, we can direct its force toward the improvement of the University and of ourselves.

DR. SPENCER DIES AT 65

(Continued from Page 11)

fraternity; Phi Delta Kappa and Phi Kappa Phi, national professional fraternities; Omicron Delta Kappa, national honorary leadership fraternity; Scabbard and Blade; Fort Pitt Rifle Association; the Masonic Order and Rotary Club; Iota Lambda Sigma; Phi Sigma Pi; Polygon Club; Pennsylvania State Education Association; National Education Association and served as a director of the Pennsylvania School for the Blind.

The sincerest and deepest sympathies of the Bucknell family and Bucknellians all over the world are extended to our former first lady, Mrs. Mildred Pollard Spencer; two daughters, Mrs. Nancy L. Schaller of Ligonier, Miss Sally Louise Spencer '53, of New Haven, Connecticut; two brothers, Vernon and Gordon; and two grandchildren.

Dr. Spencer's valuable guidance during his term as president and later as a trustee of Bucknell have been invaluable to the progress and welfare of the University.

TRUSTEE CANDIDATES FOR 1960

THE COMMITTEE for the Selection of Alumni Trustee Candidates presents for your action the names of three Alumni to be balloted upon in April 1960. We present the names, pictures and biographies of the proposed candidates. Early in April ballots will be mailed to all Alumni whose addresses are known to be correct. The voter will open the envelope at an indicated place, mark the ballot by voting for ONE candidate, seal and mail it. No postage required. On receipt at the Alumni Office the ballot will be placed in a locked ballot box. Balloting will end on Monday, May 16, 1960. During the following week, a committee of Alumni will open the locked ballot box, tally the votes and certify the results to the Board of Trustees.

BRUCE E. BUTT
Harrisburg, Pa.

E. D. CARSTATER
Falls Church, Va.

CHARLES F. FOX
Vandergrift, Pa.

College Record: B.S. in Electrical Engineering (Magna cum laude), Bucknell University, 1916; Electrical Engineering Society; Varsity Track; Captain of Class Track; Manager, Class Baseball Team; Class Banquet Toast; Junior Smoker Committee; Assistant Editor of L'AGENDA; Class Treasurer; Tau Beta Pi.

Professional Experience: Testman, General Electric Company, 1916-17; Equipment Man, American Telephone & Telegraph Company, 1919-24; Office Manager, Pennsylvania Motor List Corporation, 1924-25; Field Director Optimist International; Salesman New York Life Insurance Company, 1926-to date; C. L. U. designation from American College of Life Underwriters.

Organizations: Secretary and President, Organized Optimist Club, Harrisburg, 1926; Lynch Lodge 163 A. F. and A. M., Frederick, Md.; Memorial Lutheran Church; Director and Membership Chairman, Engineers Society of Pennsylvania; Director and Membership Chairman, Wedgewood Hills Civic Association, Harrisburg.

Military Record: Sergeant, Infantry, U. S. Army, 1917-19.

Bucknell Interests: President, Har-

College Record: A.B. in Political Science, Bucknell University, 1926; M.A. in Education, Bucknell University, 1930; L'AGENDA staff; Glee Club; Debating; Editor of BUCKNELLIAN; Beta Kappa (now Theta Chi); Phi Mu Alpha Sinfonia; Pi Delta Epsilon; Kappa Phi Kappa; Ph.D. in Education, University of Minnesota, 1937; Phi Delta Kappa.

Professional Experience: Teacher, Social Studies, Jersey Shore High School, 1926-27; Principal, Lykens Valley Vocational School, Berrysburg, 1927-29; Taught courses in American Government in Washington Square College of New York University while a graduate student in Personnel and Guidance in the graduate division of the School of Education, 1930-31; Research Fellow under University Committee on Educational Research of the University of Minnesota, 1931-35; Counselor, Vocational Rehabilitation, Min-

(Continued on Page 20)

Please read the biographies and kindly retain this copy of THE BUCKNELL ALUMNUS for ready reference when you receive your ballot in April.

College Record: Peddie School, 1927; B.S., Bucknell University, 1931; M.D., Hahnemann Medical School, 1935; Sigma Alpha Epsilon; Friars.

Professional Experience: Physician, 1936 to date; Vice President, Kiski Valley National Bank; Chairman, Westmoreland County Board of Public Assistance; Medical Examiner, Vandergrift School System; Team Physician, Washington Township High School; Past President, Kiski Valley Medical Society.

Organizations: Masons, Syria Temple; Elks; Brackenridge Heights Country Club; Pittsburgh Athletic Club; County and State Medical Societies; American Medical Association; American Legion.

Military Record: First Lieutenant, Medical Corps, World War II.

Bucknell Interests: Active member, Pittsburgh Alumni Club; Member of Board of Directors of The General Alumni Association; President of The General Alumni Association, 1958-to date; Member, Bison Club.

Personal Record: Born, January 20, 1907, Vandergrift; Married Marian Stinson '31, June 12, 1935; Children, Jane Stinson '58, born June 6, 1936; Judith Marian, born June 19, 1938; Charles F., III, born August 3, 1945.

ALUMNI TRUSTEE CANDIDATES

(Continued from Page 20)

BRUCE E. BUTT

risburg Bucknell Alumni Club, 1940; Chairman of Nominating Committee for Alumni Trustee, 1952; active member, Harrisburg Alumni Club; Assistant Chairman, Harrisburg Area, Fund Raising for 100th Anniversary and New Power Plant; Class Fund Manager, 1956 to date.

Personal Record: Born February 3, 1895, New Midway, Md.; Married K. Ernestine Mozer (Otterbein '25); Children, Ned Mozer, born 1932; Alysanne '57, born 1935.

E. D. CARSTATER

nesota State Department of Education, 1935-38; Administrative Assistant to the State Commissioner of Education, 1938-39; State Director of Vocational Education, Minnesota, 1939-40; Co-ordinator of Student Personnel Services at Hampton Institute in Virginia, 1941-43; State Director, Vocational Rehabilitation, Minnesota, 1944; Head, Training Research Branch, Personnel Research Division, Bureau of Naval Personnel, 1946-58; Training Research Adviser, Personnel Research Division, Bureau of Naval Personnel, 1958; Lecturer in Education, Bucknell University, Summer of 1936; Visiting Lecturer, School of Education, Indiana University, Summer of 1958.

Organizations: Member, American Psychological Association (Divisions of Military Psychology and Educational Psychology); Fellow, American Association for the Advancement of Science; Member, National Education Association; American Educational Research Association; National Council on Measurements used in Education; National Society for the Study of Education; Human Factors Society; Society for Personnel Administration; Ruling Elder, Falls Church United Presbyterian Church; Member-at-Large, Fairfax District Committee, National Capitol Area, Boy Scouts of America.

Military Service: United States Naval Reserve, 1944-46.

Bucknell Interests: President, Bucknell Alumni Club of Washington, D. C., 1949-50; Class of 1926 Fund Manager, 1927-29, 1949 to date; Member, Board of Directors, The General Alumni Association (served on Committee on Alumni Trustee Relations), 1948-51; Member, Friends of the Bucknell Library; Chairman, Personal Solicitation in Washington Area, 1958-59; Member, Bison Club.

20

Personal Record: Born 1905; Mill Hall; Married C. Marie Helwig '28, September 1930; Children, Joan Arlene '52 (Mrs. J. P. Davey); David Helwig '57; John Richard.

SUMMER SCHOOL

Summer School, June 27-August 5, will feature a number of special programs for graduate students. Two new graduate Institutes for teachers are scheduled. One is the Summer Institute for American Studies which has been made possible by a grant of $10,000., from the Coe Foundation of New York City. Twenty-five scholarships to this Institute are available. The studies will include American Political Institutions, American Social and Intellectual History, and Comparative Economic Systems. The Institute is under the direction of Dr. James A. Gathings. The second is the Summer Institute for Engineering Sciences made possible by a grant from the National Science Foundation. This Institute is for Junior College or Liberal Arts Teachers of physics or pre-engineering subjects. Substantial scholarships are available. Professor Charles Coder of the Mechanical Engineering Department is the Director.

In addition a fourth Summer Institute in Science and Mathematics open to high school teachers of biology, chemistry, mathematics and physics will be directed by Dr. Lester Kieft and a third Summer Institute for Asian Studies will be conducted by its director Dr. Samuel Chu. Both of these Institutes also offer substantial scholarships.

The Education program will include a Practicum in Guidance Counseling under the direction of Dr. Allan E. Ivy. The Practicum will permit graduate students both to observe and to counsel with students under the direction of an expert. The Education program will include courses in vocational and other counseling problems peculiar to rural schools and courses in developmental reading and the teaching of the gifted child. In addition there will be a full program for the certification of all types of school executives.

Another broadly cultural program is being planned. Among the lecturers will be the noted philosopher Milton H. Williams, of Syracuse University. Professor Lindsay Merrill will again conduct a weekly series of chamber music concerts. It is hoped that another program of plays will be offered in the University Theatre under the direction of Miss Alvina Krause. As usual the University gymnasium, pool, golf course, and tennis courts will be available for recreation.

It looks like another lively summer on the Bucknell campus!

SPRING SPORTS 1959-1960

BASEBALL

April 6—Albright	Home
April 9—Lehigh	Bethlehem
April 11—Georgetown	Washington, D. C.
April 12—Navy	Annapolis, Md.
April 21—Colgate	Home
April 23—Gettysburg	Gettysburg
April 27—Lafayette	Home
April 30—Scranton	Scranton
May 4—Penn State	University Park
May 6—Penn	Home
May 7—Pitt	Home
May 10—Penn State	Home
May 13—Susquehanna	Selinsgrove
May 14—Delaware	Home
May 16—F. and M.	Lancaster
May 18—Muhlenberg	Home
May 21—Temple	Philadelphia

GOLF

April 6—Lycoming	Home
April 9—Navy	Annapolis, Md.
April 21—Scranton	Home
April 23—F. and M.	Home
April 26—Lafayette	Easton
April 29—Gettysburg	Gettysburg
April 30—Delaware	Home
May 7—Colgate	Hamilton, N. Y.
May 11—Penn State	Home
May 9—Middle Atlantic	Newark, Del.
May 17—Albright	Reading
May 20—Lehigh	Home

TENNIS

April 7—Lafayette	Easton
April 11—Georgetown	Washington, D. C.
April 12—Navy	Annapolis, Md.
April 21—Albright	Home
April 23—Lehigh	Bethlehem
April 27—Penn State	University Park
April 30—Upsala	Home
May 3—Gettysburg	Home
May 7—Colgate	Hamilton, N. Y.
May 11—Haverford	Home
May 14—Delaware	Newark, Del.
May 18—Muhlenberg	Home
May 21—St. Joe	Home

TRACK

April 23—Delaware and Muhlenberg	Allentown
April 27—Juniata	Huntington
April 29, 30—Penn Relays	Philadelphia
May 6—Albright and F. and M.	Lancaster
May 11—Gettysburg	Home
May 13, 14—Middle Atlantic	Gettysburg
May 17—Temple	Home

PRESIDENT'S REPORT AVAILABLE

A limited number of copies of the Report of the President for the Academic Year 1958-59 is now available on a first come—first served basis.

The 48-page brochure is an authentic report of the current University operations and aspirations. While the supply lasts you may have a copy by writing to: Miss Trennie E. Easley, Director of Public Relations, Bucknell University, Lewisburg, Pa.

CLASS REPORTS

EMERITUS CLUB

MISS MARY COTTON
Eldred, Pa.

Diana W. Kress, daughter of Rush H. Kress '00, was married to Drummond B. Hadley on November 28, 1959. The young couple will reside in St. Louis, Mo.

Dr. John I. Woodruff '90, recently erected a plaque in memory of his Susquehanna University Class of '88 and authored a poem in memory of the late Dr. Latimer S. Landes of York for whom the new memorial gateway at Susquehanna University is named.

03

MRS. HARRY C. HERPEL
(Elvie Coleman)
1250 Park St.
McKeesport, Pa.

Col. A. F. Dershimier flew to Los Angeles, Calif., to spend the holidays with his son. He hoped to see Jane Fowler Bullis and husband Ray, who live in Whittier, Calif., not far from Los Angeles.

Emily R. Ebling spent the fall season in Alabama. A slight illness prevented her from taking her usual trip to Atlantic City, N. J., for the holidays.

Your reporter spent the holidays in North Philadelphia with her son and family. She was sorry not to be able to contact her three classmates living in Philadelphia.

Ida Luchsinger keeps busy with church and educational activities. She will report 1903 news, probably next issue.

05

DR. LEWIS C. HYLBERT
435 Drake Ave.
Upland, Calif.

REUNE IN JUNE—1960

Harold V. Leshner of R. D. 1, Northumberland, was recently elected president of the Northumberland County Sheep and Wool Growers Association.

06

MR. WILLIAM L. DONEHOWER
22 N. Fifth St.
Lewisburg, Pa.

Dr. Harold N. Cole is one of the doctors with fifty years of service who was awarded a certificate of distinction by the Academy of Medicine in Cleveland, Ohio, recognizing his "devotion to patients and contribution to the health and wealth of the public." He is one of the early skin specialists in Cleveland and one of the founders of the American Board of Dermatology and Syphilology. He has represented the U. S. government at the International Dermatological Congress abroad and has studied in France and Switzerland. For his contributions to his field, Dr. Cole has been given honorary membership in associations in his specialty in England, Germany, Sweden, Argentina, Brazil, Denmark, Venezuela and New York. Mrs. Cole is the former Hazel Knapp and the couple has three children.

09

MRS. HOWARD L. HEADLAND
(Sarah E. Walters)
3911 First Avenue North
St. Petersburg 13, Fla.

Helge Florin has been appointed publicity chairman of the Bucknell Alumni Club of St. Petersburg, Fla.

In August after our reunion Heber Youngken presented a paper entitled Recent Advances in the Anatomy and Histology of Drug Plants at the Teacher's Seminar of Pharmacognosy meeting at the University of Illinois College of Pharmacy in Chicago, Ill., and another paper at the scientific section of the American Pharmaceutical Association at Cincinnati, Ohio.

Re, Nelle Kobbe Eddy: Nelle Kobbe Eddy, Music '09, and her husband, Alvin C. Eddy, an electrical engineer, have a country home at White House Station, N. J. "I have never made the field of music but certainly have had an active and very busy 50 years since leaving B. U., teaching first in private schools, later having my own studio—teaching various instruments, leading an orchestra, directing a church choir—playing the organ and directing other groups. I have found there is always a place for you if you will do what is needed in the community in which you live and I am still working. Our daughter, our only child, Helen Eddy Hart who holds degrees from Lebanon Valley College and George Washington University, works in the field of international relations at the National Academy of Sciences in Washington, D. C. If I have any hobbies I think they are playing the very fine organ installed in our home last year and helping my husband take care of three acres of lawns and gardens. My best wishes to all of the Class of '09."

10

MISS MILDRED B. CATHERS
100 W. 33rd Street, Apt. 6
Bayonne, N. J.

REUNE IN JUNE—1960

Aren't you getting enthused about our 50th reunion due next June 3, 4, and 5? Reunion book editor, Weaver W. Pangburn, reports that of the appointees as associate editors, six have already accepted. They are as follows: McDonough, Street, Mitch, Gorton, Bell and Jenner. As of January 30, returns to questionnaires on life histories have begun to roll in at an encouraging rate.

Recently I've received word from Mac-

Arthur Gorton from San Diego, Calif., that he and Mrs. Gorton are planning a leisurely drive east in the spring which will bring them to Lewisburg in good time for the big reunion.

The George Streets expect to be with us, as does Winnie Dickson Hardgrove. Now that Abe's hospital experience is behind him, I'm sure we can count on the Paul Abrahams and we can also count on Ruby and Gurney Sholl. Phares Hertzog and "Heine" Bank are in Lewisburg every year for alumni festivities so we shall expect to see them and I'm looking forward to seeing you all there myself.

From those welcome notes on Christmas cards I learned that Mabel Johnson Viehover and Dr. Arno, Ruby and Gurney Sholl, and perhaps the George Streets, will be heading for Florida soon after the holidays. Emily Lane Yoder went to her winter home in Sarasota, Fla., in November, your scribe hopes to go to St. Petersburg, Fla., about the middle of February.

Bucknell alumni know Jack (Heine) Bank as a loyal alumnus who manifests his interest in his Alma Mater by going to Lewisburg for Alumni Week End and Homecoming each year. But Wayne, N. J., his home town, knows John as an outstanding citizen, just as busy now that he has retired as he was when he had a full time job. A past American Legion commander, he is chaplain and Americanization officer of Anthony Wayne Post 174. In November, 1957, he was made a life member of his Post and presented with a gold identification card. He is a consulting electrical engineer with the Newark (N. J.) firm of Boyd, Roper, and Tsao and in that capacity recently went to Sparta (N. J.) to work on plans for a high school to be heated by electricity—the first in the state to use this modern fuel. Last spring Jack gave a series of weekly lectures to boys in industrial arts classes in Wayne High School and has contributed a wealth of electrical equipment to the school. Students have been helped immeasurably by his gift according to their teachers.

Under a recent Wayne headline it is noted that "the committee approved appointment of John Bank, a retired engineer and Wayne resident, to the Historical Commission." A member of the Bucknell Band in college days, he has kept up his interest in music and is a member of the Fire Company Band of Pompton Lakes (N. J.) and the Butler American Legion Band. He also plays violin in the Pompton Lakes Symphony and is instructor and director of the Wayne P.A.L. Band. Jack is chairman of the Boys State Program and a consultant with authorities on juvenile delinquency.

Busy as this retired man is, he always has time to work for Bucknell interests and the Bucknell Alumni Club of Northern New Jersey. Perhaps one of his greatest sources of pride is his nephew, Brigadier General Charles L. Bank, U. S. M. C., who has recently retired after twenty-three years of active service.

In the next issue of the ALUMNUS I shall tell you some of the plans Abe and his committee have in the making for our "famous 50th"; and I hope by then to tell you of many more prospective reuners.

CLASSES REUNING June 3-5, 1960 EMERITUS CLUB (1885-1909)

1905	1935
1910	1940
1915	1945
1920	1950
1925	1955
1930	1959

Dr. Arthur J. Pearse '05 was an honored guest of the Cleveland Academy of Medicine recently when he received a certificate of distinction for practicing medicine for fifty years.

Dr. Pearse is presently serving as Director of Health for the District Board of Health of Cuyahoga County in Cleveland, Ohio. He has served as Public Health Commissioner for the past 22 years and previously was actively engaged as a general practitioner and surgeon for 28 years.

In a recent letter to the Alumni Office, he states, "I am still active and going strong, but expect to retire on July 1, 1961, if I am permitted to live that long. With the grace of God, I continue on."

On behalf of his classmates of the Class of 1905 and Bucknell University we, the editors, send Dr. Pearse our congratulations and warm wishes for many happy years of retirement.

12 MRS. H. W. HOUSEKNECHT
(Maze Callahan)
108 W. Penn St.
Muncy, Pa.

Suppose you have received your seed and flower catalogues, enjoyed December thrills and January bills yet Christmas was just around the corner.

My first greeting came from P. P. Kinnaman. It just said "A Friendly Hello." I was just thrilled. I don't believe anyone has heard a word from him in years. I soon put him on my mailing list.

The cards came from "Rip" Ruth, Vic and Helen Schmid, Ray '14 and Eva Appgar, Matt '09 and Olive Haggerty, Frank and Petrona Hean, Roy '10 and Rene Mickle, Gundy '13 and Kathryn Pawling, Lawrence and Margaret Sprout, Arthur and Sarah Waltz, Fatty and Alberta Connor, Paul and Evelyn Riehl, Buck '22 and Trix Shott, Alberta McNeal, Helen Ruth, Roy and Helen Clark, Red '14 and Lib Lowther, Margaret Harter Rathmell, Fred and Kate Iglar, Tom and Mary Weiser Jenkins, Tom '37 and Irene Wood, Elizabeth Stone and family, (Frank's daughter) Fannie Wood Brown '33 and family, Carrie Smithgall Ebert '25.

Merton Ogden writes from Delray Beach, Fla., "We landed here three weeks ago and have a dandy tan already. Left Rutland, Vt., in snow storm and found 85° here. Past few days have been cool, however. The natives call it winter weather when the thermometer goes down to 50° and in Vermont it isn't cold until it reaches zero. Mom joins me in wishing you all the best in the world."

22

A greeting from Ernest '07 and Caroline Burrows. Did you know they moved from Picture Rocks and are now living at 410 N. High St. in West Chester.

This from Bob Meyer. "Have you regained your mobility? My life the past year was about as usual—routine living. As to the campus—I attended the Science Fair and had my usual lick at football. Midsummer my wife and I made a safari into Canada, getting acquainted with French Canadians. The remainder of my time was devoted to miscellaneous jaunts and to making alterations at our premises. 1960 will have more glamour. We are going to elect a democrat for president. I am sure for my wife says she won't vote for Rockefeller. That decision should give us a democrat in the White House."

13 REV. GEORGE F. HAINES
324 Market St.
Lewisburg, Pa.

It is with deep regret that I announce the death of our good friend and classmate, Howard V. Fisher, on December 13, 1959, in the Reading Hospital. At the time of his death Howard was serving as director of the Wyomissing Federal Loan Association. For a few years he maintained a general law practice in Bethlehem and served for thirty years as an attorney for the Metropolitan Edison Company until his retirement in 1955.

During World War I he served in the Ambulance Corps in France.

Howard was graduated from the Bucknell Academy in 1909 and received his Bachelor of Science degree from the University in 1913. He received a Master of Arts degree in 1914 from Bucknell and later received the LL.B. degree from the Dickinson Law School. He did graduate work at Stetson University Law School and the Inn's of Court, London, England.

As a student, Sal was active in the Band, Glee Club, Minstrels, Cap and Dagger, Law Club and was a member of Delta Theta Upsilon. He was a member of the varsity basketball team for three years and played football, basketball and baseball for our class.

He served many years as president of our class and was very active in the affairs of the Bucknell Alumni Club of Reading having served as president for a number of terms. In the formative years of the first Alumni Fund he served as fund manager for the class.

On November 18, 1920, Howard was married to the former Margaret McClure. Margaret attended the Bucknell Institute and received a Master of Arts degree from Bucknell in 1919. There are four children: Margaret and Elizabeth, of Arlington, Va.; Howard of New York City and Victor '57 of State College. Also surviving is a sister, Miss Helen Fisher, of Tarpon Spring, Fla.

Bucknell has lost a fine gentleman and loyal alumnus. The Bucknell family and the Class of 1913 send sincere and deepest sympathy to his loved ones.

14 MRS. H. B. WEAVER
(Dora Hamler)
348 Ridge Ave.
New Kensington, Pa.

Christmas greetings were received from: Jessie and Ethel (Heiter '16) Riley, who are planning a winter vacation in California.

Edna and Marwood Glover ('13), Harry Stahler, Raymond and Eva ('12) Appgar, Olive Cooper Haskins, Jack and Ruth Rice.

Helen Stout thanks us for the report of the June reunion. She says, "those names surely brought back pleasant memories. I still am not reconciled to the fact that I had to miss being present. I am feeling much better now but must go much slower in my activities. I was in the hospital seven weeks." We are glad to learn that Helen is recovering so well from her serious heart attack in June.

Frances McNall signs her greeting, "Frances, who never has any real news for you but who enjoys a very busy life being retired. Whoever said that retirement meant leisure surely didn't know what he was saying. There just isn't enough time for everything one wants to do."

George and Betty (I'09) Grove, write from Tucson, Ariz., that they were sorry to miss the reunion this year. It was Betty's fiftieth from Bucknell Institute. They hope to be with us in '64.

15 MISS MARION R. BANCROFT
1308 Ninth St.
Altoona, Pa.

REUNE IN JUNE — 1960

Time to start planning to return for reunion June 3, 4 and 5, 1960. Jere Bates, chairman of the reunion committee, has asked the following class members to accept these assignments: Editor of the reunion book—Emma Dillon; Social Meeting Committee—Ed Pangburn and George Irland; Class Regalia Committee—Clair Groover and William Schuyler.

When you receive a questionnaire from Emma, please complete it and send it in immediately; it is necessary to know as early as possible how many will attend. It may be sent to Emma at 2420 Nottingham Way, Trenton 9, N. J., or to Jere at 265 Green St., Mifflinburg.

A speech and drama auditorium at The Peddie School has been dedicated and named the Geiger-Reeves Hall, honoring Carl E. Geiger and J. Walter Reeves, both veteran teachers at the prep school. Carl retired two years ago after 38 years in the English Department at The Peddie School, but has stayed at the school in another capacity. It is gratifying to see long and faithful service given such deserving recognition.

17 MRS. ERLE M. TOPHAM
(C. Ray Speare)
425 W. Sedgwick St.
Philadelphia, Pa.

Sorry to have missed the last two editions of the ALUMNUS, but I just didn't have any news. Now in answer to S. O. S. messages from me some of our nice friends have come through and I want them to know how I appreciate it—I'm sure you do too.

Fred Brenner thinks he leads a rather uneventful life but last September marked the 40th anniversary of his connection with the Travelers Insurance Co. and now (January 1) he turned his business over to his two sons Richard D. and Fred C. Jr. This puts him in the position to retire about March 1. From now on, Fred, show them your dust and have a wonderful time. I know you'll enjoy your new freedom. Whoop it up!

Janie Cooke Armstrong called me from Paulsboro, N. J., on the phone in order to help me meet my deadline. Says she and Army '14 saw Bob '40 and Fred Schnure '14 when they stopped to see Stella Corson (Mrs. Dayton '14) on their way to the shore. Had a nice visit with them. Jane and Army have 9 grandchildren. Isn't that wonderful! Army has been reed for a year. When he retired they celebrated with a grand trip to the Virgin Islands. They are getting ready now to go to Florida and expect to be there for most of the winter. Have a wonderful time folks and go while you can.

MARCH 1960

Another retirement coming up soon—Betty Redelin Davis tells me Ross '16 will retire August 1 and they are discussing daily what they'll do after that time. Betty, you'll love it. It's wonderful and you can do anything your heart desires. Good luck to you both. The other piece of good news is that their granddaughter Kathy McVicker is a freshman at Bucknell this year. Of this they are very proud well they should be. Kathy is studying music.

8 MRS. LAYTON E. KING
(Elizabeth Champion)
10 N. Loyalsock Ave.
Montoursville, Pa.

Dr. George H. Miles has been elevated to the rank of qualified fellow in the International College of Surgeons at the convocation ceremony held in Chicago. His specialty is orthopedic-tranumatic surgery. He is married to the former Martha Seaman and has one daughter, Sandra Denise. Their home is at 1121 26th Ave., Altoona. No one in the Class of 1918 goes anywhere or does anything—it seems. Christmas cards arrived from some of my old friends, but none had any news of comings and goings for me to report.

Jessie Potts Kline and husband Archie are spending some time in Florida. The Simichs, Dorothy and Stephen (Villinger '00) of Shaker Heights, Ohio, spent the Christmas holidays in the South. Called Hazel Gay Bailey in Dunedin, Fla.

Our local AAUW group, of which I am president, will have a Bucknell Night for our February meeting when the speaker will be Miss Mary Jane Stevenson, Dean of Women at the University. She is a charming person and we are looking forward to an interesting evening, hoping to prove all things that the weatherman cooperates with us. The road from Lewisburg to Williamsport can be a nasty one.

25 MRS. DANIEL HOPPER, JR.
(Mildred Francisco)
36 Van Doren Ave.
Chatham, N. J.

REUNE IN JUNE—1960

I send my personal greetings to all for 1960 with hopes for a gigantic turn-out for our 35th Reunion. Come and bring your family and let them join the celebration. Beate Mettler, a teacher at Bloomsburg State Teachers College will enjoy a sabbatical leave starting February 1. She will be in the south, staying in Florida and possibly Jamaica. If by chance you live in her route, she may drop by, but will return in June for our reunion.

Mary Schilling Berg will squeeze in a day at our reunion, but leave directly to attend the graduation of her daughter Terrie from Miami University in Oxford, Ohio.

Mary Bray Young will also attend the graduation of her daughter Pat from Hood College. Possibly she, too, could take in both events over the weekend.

Margaret Ackerman will again tour many countries of the continent this summer.

Indirectly, I have heard that we may expect to see Dollie Schaffner Dietrich, Mildred Biddison and Martha Jones.

I am sure there will be a large get-together of old familiar faces—Do not feel shy as we will all wear name tags. Please save the day of June 4.

MARCH 1960

27 MRS. L. H. COLLISON
(Grace M. Pfeiffer)
Marydel, Md.

Willard Remer of 4688 33rd St., San Diego 16, Calif., says "We are living it up in Southern California. I am a salesman for Bendough Furniture Store; my wife is assistant registrar in office of San Diego County Council of Boy Scouts of America. We like our jobs and enjoy all the activities and pleasures San Diego has to offer. My brother, Robert '50, and his family also live here, so we have the added pleasure of the role of 'grandparents' to Diane and Douglas!"

Lewis Davis of 633 Aspen Way, Upland, Calif., is serving as chaplain of the California Institution of Women (the only penal institution for females in California) since 1955, carrying on the duties as religious counsellor, as well as the usual parish duties on "campus." His wife will be remembered as Lillian Mattick '30.

Arthur Brandon of 58 King Ave., Weehawken, N. J., served his Alma Mater in several ways since his term as alumni trustee. Presently he is serving as a member of the Committee for Economics and Business Administration as well as an advisory member on the Bucknell Study Committee. He is also on the Board of Governors of Alderson-Broadus College in West Virginia. In March he spoke at the annual NEA conference in Atlantic City, N. J., and in April was the public-relations speaker at the annual meeting of the Maryland Utilities Association in Baltimore.

Minnie MacLean of 105 Myrtle Ave., Hornell, N. Y., writes, "Some of my Bucknell friends might like to know that I made a couple of records for piano while I was at the Haverstraw Rehabilitation Hospital for arthritic therapy. They have been on the air several times over WWVG."

29 MISS THELMA J. SHOWALTER
425 Market St.
Mifflinburg, Pa.

Numerous members of the Class of '29 are assisting in the general and local campaigns of the Dual Development Fund. R. Henry Coleman of the Board of Trustees is the Chairman of Special Gifts. Paul E. Fink, our former class president, is actively engaged in the drive for funds in the Williamsport area. Kenneth Bidlack is working with his fellow Bucknellians in his home town of Mifflinburg.

30 MRS. BERNARD F. KLOSTERMAN
(Emmalyn Y. Fuller)
23 Leathers Road
South Fort Mitchell, Ky.

REUNE IN JUNE—1960

I received a letter from Paul Crago and I quote: "If our 30th is anything like the 25th I certainly am looking forward to going back in June!" Paul is with Flagg-Utica Corp. on Fifth Avenue in New York City and is a grandfather—son Bill is a lieutenant in the Adjutant General's Corps at Fort Monmouth, N. J. The Cragos had often wondered who were the first grandparents of the Class of 1930? Let's hear from all the proud grandparents!

31 MRS. W. ZELMAN SLEIGHTER
(Ruth J. Thomas)
833 Chestnut St.
Mifflinburg, Pa.

Mrs. John D. Plant (Metta E. Allen) completed an ambitious project, the result of an idea she has held for more than 20 years. Following a recent major operation in which the leaders of her left arm were removed (the right hand having previously become paralyzed) she finished a 6 foot by 7 foot oil painting, "A Silent Sermon," done in memory of members of her family. The painting was presented to and dedicated in the Presbyterian Church of Tuckerton, N. J., and is hanging in the apex of the church. Tuckerton, N. J., is the birthplace of Mrs. Plant and the background of the painting includes the house of her birth, steeple of the church and general local scene. "Suffer Little Children To Come Unto Me" is the theme of the painting and shows Jesus Christ surrounded by children of 20 nations and attended by 4 angels. For the past 1½ years, Mrs. Plant has made her home with her daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Straley '41 (Metta F. Farrington '35) at 3419 Norton St., Hopewell, Va.

Dr. Robert S. Ingols has been elected chairman of the American Chemical Society's Division of Water and Waste Chemistry for 1960. He is the author of more than seventy scientific papers.

32 MR. ELLIS F. HULL
11 Broad St.
Allentown, N. J.

Dr. George L. Abernethy is serving on the selection committee for Woodrow Wilson Fellowships in Region V which includes District of Columbia, Virginia, West Virginia, North Carolina, Delaware and Maryland. Each year 1000 fellowships are awarded to outstanding seniors in this country and Canada who are interested in college teaching. His son Bob is president of the sophomore class at Johns Hopkins University.

Taking management's point of view, William J. Curnow faced labor leader Harry Block on January 9 when the Bucknell Student Forum sponsored a debate on "Must the Bargaining Power of Labor Be Sacrificed in Order to Rid Labor of Corruption?"

33 MRS. ERNEST H. ENGLEHARDT
(Janet Worthington)
Irontdale Place, Millville Rd.
Bloomsburg, Pa.

Charles E. Reedy recently has been promoted to assistant works manager of the American Car and Foundry at Milton. Charles has been with the company since 1933.

George W. Renninger is with American Viscose as staff chemist. He lives just off U. S. Route 1 south of Fredericksburg, Va. (121 Harrison Road). His son, George, was graduated in June at the University of Rochester with highest distinction and is now studying for his doctorate of physics at Princeton. His daughter, Ann, is getting ready to enter college next year. He and his wife Florence would be happy to see any of the class passing through on business or on their way to Florida vacations.

George H. Heinisch is district manager in Arizona for the Combined Insurance Company of America with seven agents in the state. The oldest of his three boys is in the Coast Guard, married, so he and Mary are now grandparents.

Three years ago when George F. Sandel was in Bloomsburg evaluating the junior and senior high school for the Middle Atlantic States Association of Secondary Schools, he recalled that Dr. Engelhardt '28 had served on a similar committee. Dr. Engelhardt evaluated the Milton Hershey School where George has taught for twenty-five years as a junior high school English teacher. George's wife is a Lebanon Valley College graduate who went on to Syracuse for a library degree. They were married at the close of World War II and went to Bucknell where he finished his master's degree and she worked as a reference librarian for Harold Hayden at the library. They have two daughters, Lynn, a seventh grader, and Betsy in fifth grade. He asked me not to publish all this news. Please forgive me, George, but I do so appreciate having something to write about—and do drop me a note when you come to Bloomsburg again, so I'll be home for that telephone call.

T. Cortlandt Williams '20, one of the leading figures in the nation's engineering and construction field, was recently elected Chairman of the Board of Stone & Webster Engineering Corporation. Mr. Williams has been associated with the firm since 1923 and has served as president since 1955.

Elected to the Board of Trustees of Bucknell by alumni vote in April, 1958, Mr. Williams is presently working in behalf of the Dual Development Campaign as Co-Chairman for the Greater New York area.

34 MRS. WILLIAM S. LIMING
(Ruth E. Rohr)
55 Magnolia Ave.
Garden City, L. I., N. Y.

John C. Kubacki of 1558 Mineral Springs Rd., Reading, was elected mayor of Reading. John is a democratic councilman and former sheriff of Berks County. He is married to the former Mary E. Stockler and has two sons, Alan, 14; and Joseph, 10. I am sure we all remember John's ability on the football team and wish him much success as mayor.

35 MRS. PAUL J. DESCHANEL
(Ann W. Orr)
Chapel Wood
Gambrills, Md.

REUNE IN JUNE — 1960

Don't forget our 25th reunion on June 3, 4, and 5. Peg Weddell Peters is making definite plans to come to the States from Johannesburg, South Africa, we are delighted to report.

Jane Orwig LeMon and Mel attended a musicology convention in Chicago, Ill., at Christmas. Marion Root Frank is busy with bridge in Trenton, N. J. Eleanor Wermouth Henry was in the mad whirl during the holidays, too. Marian Matter Davis '36 and I had lunch together in College Park, Md., recently. She works at the United States Department of Agriculture in statistics. The grind of graduate school goes on—and your reporter is finding the Library of Congress an exciting place for research. Please send news our way and let us know of your reunion plans.

36 MRS. CLYDE E. BURGEE
(Lois Montgomery)
124 S. Fifth St.
Lewisburg, Pa.

The Rev. Frederick W. Rapp became rector of St. Stephens Episcopal church in Port Washington, L. I., N. Y., on January 1. Since 1951, Fred has been rector of the Church of the Messiah, Auburndale, Mass., where he and Mrs. Rapp (Grace Gault '38) make their home. Fred is also on the staff of St. Paul's Cathedral, Boston, Mass., and on the faculty of Lasell Junior College, Auburndale, Mass.

37 MRS. PAULL W. ZIEGLER
(Mabel Nylund)
12 Garrison Rd., Parkside
Chester, Pa.

For those who find the caprice of winter weather something less than pleasurable, there is always a bright spot. Every day brings us one day closer to spring. Hope this last annual bout with flu, colds, sniffles, etc., has left you unscathed, and you are enjoying the bulbs you managed to plant last year.

Hugh Morrow has been named chief public relations adviser to Governor Nelson A. Rockefeller. Hugh, a top newspaperman, was formerly press secretary to Senator Kenneth Keating (R-N. Y.) and is responsible for many of the delightful barbs and witticisms that have made Keating's addresses admired as political gems. He has two daughters and six sons, including Hugh, Jr., a senior at M. I. T. and Vance, a freshman at Harvard. His wife is the former Carolyn Davison. Their home is at 3615 Newark St., N. W., Washington, D. C.

38 MRS. JOSEPH T. QUICK
(Mary Bachman)
Wrights Road, R. D. 2
Newtown, Pa.

The Christmas letter from the Charles Laubachers in Marietta, Ga., reports good health for all the family; a wonderful trip to Dallas, Texas, for the Kiwanis International Convention last summer (Charlie is president of their local Kiwanis Club); busy with P. T. A., Church Fund raising projects and other civic enterprises; hopes for more friends to drop in for a visit; and wishes for a good New Year for all. (Their latch string is out at 474 Wood Valley Dr., Marietta, Ga.)

Dr. L. J. Ledden is in the department of obstetrics and gynecology at St. Francis Hospital in Trenton, N. J. He and Jenny (Gray) have three boys aged 16, 10 and 9. Their summer home is in Beach Haven Terrace on Long Beach Island, N. J.

Fred Ryan is secretary of the Ewing Township Board of Education, Trenton, N. J. He and Violet have two boys: Rickey, 14; and Robert, 10. Violet tells me this will be a quiet year for them compared to last year when Fred was vice commander of American Legion Department of New Jersey. By the way, Fred's mother attended her 50th reunion at Bucknell last June.

39 MR. DAVID R. BAGENSTOSE
12 Kinterra Rd.
Wayne, Pa.

Dr. Walter M. Drozdiak is the author of a thought-provoking pamphlet How to Prevent a Toothache, printed originally in Today's Health, a nationally circulated magazine, and later copyright by the American Medical Association. "No dentifrice available today has been shown to contribute significantly toward reducing tooth decay under conditions of ordinary home use," Dr. Drozdiak's article points out.

40 MRS. JAMES A. MILLER
(Mary McCrina)
1492 Colfax Ave.
Benton Harbor, Mich.

REUNE IN JUNE — 1960

My New Year's resolution is to get organized, and if I start right now, I may be able to make it to the reunion this year. (First, I wish I could find my copy of the November, 1959, ALUMNUS). Because I'm quite sure that's the one with the account of the Les McDowells' trip to Europe and their attendance of the Society of the Cincinnati meeting in Paris. If anyone else was as uninformed as I was, their Christmas card tells all:

"Many friends have asked about the Society of the Cincinnati and its relationship to Cincinnati, Ohio. This hereditary military society was founded in 1783 by the officers of the Continental Line as they terminated their Revolutionary war-time duties and prepared to return home. It derived the name from the famous Roman general, Lucius Quintus Cincinnatus. Cincinnatus returning victorious in war, refused proffered honors and office, choosing instead to return to his home and farmland. Cincinnati, Ohio, was named for the Society by Major General Arthur St. Clair, who with other original members moved into Ohio after the Revolution."

There was another item which you may have missed—I nearly did—in the same issue, but a page or two from the regular column: a profile of Jim Duchine.*

We are planning on visiting with Ruth Lepperd MacDowell and her family the week end of March 18-20 and Ruth promises she will have some news via the "round robin," so look for a longer column in May.

Sometime between now and then, if you—miraculously—have nothing to do, round up your particular friends, so that when you come to the reunion (June 3-5), they will be there.

* Just found that November ALUMNUS (Knew all the time it was right here somewhere. How disorganized can you get?) Look for Jim on p. 23.

42 MRS. THOMAS R. DIETZ
(Germaine B. Pepperman)
83 Nutt Rd.
Phoenixville, Pa.

Learning things the hard way seems to be my forte, and I certainly learned that the ALUMNUS means business when it gives a deadline. My last report got to Lewisburg one day late and to my sorrow, no report of my news in THE BUCKNELL ALUMNUS! Try to do better from now on.

J. Leslie Ehringer has assumed his new duties as Capital Airlines' district sales manager in Norfolk, Va. He will direct Capital's overall sales activity in the Norfolk and Portsmouth areas. In the 14 years with the airlines, he has previously served in Capital's Chicago and Washington offices. He is married to the former Mary Bechtel and has two daughters.

William McGuire, associate professor of civil engineering at Cornell University, together with George Winter, head of the department of structural engineering at Cornell, is engaged in preliminary design a powerful radar to explore the earth's upper atmosphere — the ionosphere — and surrounding space, which Cornell plans to construct and operate for the Defense Department in Puerto Rico. The radar consists of a powerful transmitter, a sensitive receiving system and an antenna larger than any now known to exist.

Good news from Bill and Betty (Thomson) Carson. Bill has been made assistant factory manager of the Naugatuck, Conn., United States Rubber plant. Bill has been here since March 15 and Betty and the children moved on May 1. Their new address is Curtis Farm Rd., Middlebury, Conn. Invitations are issued for visits to their new home. And what's more, there's big news about the Carson family in another direction too, for they are the proud parents of another boy, born in August, Jimmy, and that makes three for them: Betty, 13; Kit, 3; and now Jimmy. As Betty says, she's tired, and that makes two of us!

44 MRS. ROBERT F. BAKER
(Honey Rhinesmith)
Butler, R. D.
Linds Lake, N. J.

The holiday notes were so welcome and as wish they could be printed. We all seem to agree that each year gets shorter with reunions and homecomings more important.

The Ed Alstons' (Estelle Howley) Christmas picture showed three pretty girls and their brother holding a very new baby, but we don't know the birth date or name. . . . Donna Perry Crage wrote that Bill's book of poems was published last month. She neglected to mention the title or publisher so if you want to know more about it—just write to 195 Puritan Rd., Tonawanda, N. Y., and tell them I sent you!

Speaking of writing, please remember I can pass along only what's written to me, and if there's someone you'd love to hear from but have mislaid the address, I'll be ever so pleased to send it to you. No, it isn't any trouble because that way I'll hear from you, too! So while you're spring cleaning take time out for a line or two.

46 MRS. LELAND C. EWING
(Elizabeth J. Wells)
41 Crest Drive
Tarrytown, N. Y.

Henry B. Puff has been named manager, field sales, resins, of the Durez Plastics Division, Hooker Chemical Corporation at North Tonawanda, N. Y.

Dr. Wendell I. Sprague and family, after three years in Africa, returned to the States during the Summer of 1959. They left Africa in July, took a quick tour of Europe and spent a week in London on the way home. They are living at 243 West Park Ave., State College, and Wendell is working at the Rockview Penitentiary. He has a two-year leave from the African missionary field. He is married to the former Sara Jane Smith and has four children, Joe, Janet, Nancy and Virginia.

Capt. and Mrs. Theodore Williams, Jr., are the parents of a daughter, Jean Cortland, born August 29, 1959. The proud father is on the teaching staff at the United States Military Academy at West Point, N. Y.

47 ROGER S. HADDON, ESQ.
243 Water St.
Northumberland, Pa.

W. Roger Fetter, Esq., of Lewisburg was sworn in as District Attorney of Union County on January 4. Roger is senior partner in the law firm of Fetter and Zearfloss (Herbert K. Zearfloss '51) with offices in Lewisburg.

Thomas F. Kiernan of 1123 Elmwood Ave., Wilmette, Ill., who has been with Allstate Insurance Co. since 1956, has been named an assistant advertising director of that company. He is married to the former Carolyn Stroop '46-'47 and has two daughters: Valerie, 9; and Christine, 7.

48 MRS. JAMES A. BROWN
(Joann G. Golightly)
1591 Hillcrest Terrace
Union, N. J.

Thanks to all of you who sent our family Christmas greetings. Hope you're trying to attend at least one of the alumni meetings in your area.

Dr. Gilbert F. Norwood has opened offices in Sunbury for the practice of orthopaedic bone and joint surgery. Prior to returning to Sunbury, Gilbert practiced in New Bedford, Mass., for 1½ years following his 3½ years of advanced training in orthopaedic surgery. He is the son of Mrs. Harriet Burrows Norwood '08, of Sunbury; is married to the former Mary E. Sarba and has two children, Penelope and Carol.

Dr. George J. Schumacher, associate professor of biology at Harpur College, Endicott, N. Y., has been named department head for the next three years. He has done much research in the field of fresh-water algae and is the author of several published articles. He is married to the former Frances Murdaugh and has two sons: George, 5; and Brian, 1.

Jean Lampert Lewis (Mrs. E. P.) wrote that she, her husband "Easy," and their two children—Pamela, 4, and Rhcp, 3, are now living at 40 Green Ave., Madison, N. J. Her husband was transferred to the A. T. and T. Company in New York City.

Ruth Williamson McKee and her husband Thomas R. McKee '49 have a new home at 5 Montrose Rd., Yonkers, N. Y. Their five (5) children love their new location.

51 MRS. HAROLD P. NORRIS
(Rebecca J. Rogers)
6 Griffis St.
Montrose, Pa.

The charming family pictured is that of Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Briggs (Diane Stott). Seated from left to right are Diane, Kimberly-Louise, 1; Charles W., Jr.; Charles W. III, 6; and Geoffrey Austin Stott Briggs, 4½. Charles, Jr., is director of development at Moses Brown School for Boys in Providence, R. I., as well as the coach of the school tennis team. Before Diane married and devoted herself to family life, she was employed by American Airlines. The Briggs' address is 86 Don Ave., Rumford 16, R. I.

THE BRIGGS FAMILY

Mr. and Mrs. Douglass Burnham (Jean Bentz) have a new address—764 Circlewood Drive, Aurora, Ohio.

Many thanks to Mrs. E. O. Clark '15 (Eva Thayer '21) who sent the following information about her daughter, Dorothy. Dorothy was married on August 2, 1958, to Marion Sanford Parish, of Cincinnati, Ohio. A son, Sanford Clark, arrived on November 10, 1959. The Parishes live at 4 Donna Ave., Hamilton, Ohio.

Pat (Wiley) and Don Parsons added a third name to their Christmas cards this past holiday season, that of Danny Guy, who arrived on June 2, 1959.

52 MRS. JOHN S. BOULDEN, JR.
(Barbara Bleecker)
1605 Twin Maple Ave.
Towson 4, Md.

Many thanks for all your Christmas cards which brought lots of cheery notes and news!

Dot Bohling wrote that she had a grand, but too short, three-week trip to Germany last summer.

A note from Babs Small '53 Stiefel tells that Herb is now sales manager for Gypsum Fireproofing Corp. They have bought a new house in Cranford, N. J. Address: 333 Manor Ave.

Mary Ann Fritz wrote that she's still doing research at Jefferson in Philadelphia in the department of obstetrics and gynecology. Fritz also sent along the following news: Jane Stahl was married to lawyer Kenneth Hergenhan, and they live at 2025 S. W. 10th St., Portland, Ore. Jeanne Jaques Inman has a second daughter, Louise Anne, born December 1, 1958. Marianne Thurnall Laffy has a new daughter, Monique Marie.

George '50 and Sally Baumgardner Stanton sent a note announcing the birth of their second son, Frederick George, on November 25, 1959.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. John P. Davey (Joan Carstater) their second son, Theodore Eugene, July 17, 1959. The Daveys live at 1824 North Sixth St., Concord, Calif.

Jim Mellinger has been named to the newly-created position of Division Engineer of Johnson Motors Division, Outboard Marine Corp., Waukegan, Ill., and assumed his new duties November 1, 1959. He has been with the company since 1956. In his spare time he is taking the four-year management course at the Industrial Management Institute of Lake Forest College. He is married to the former Sydney Sherwin and has two daughters, Barbara and Nancy. Address: 325 Blodgett Ave., Lake Bluff, Ill.

Jerry Olds has been named director of advertising with the Institute of Life Insurance in New York. He is married to the former M. J. Mower '51; has two children, David and Kathleen; and lives at 180 Wetherill Rd., Garden City, N. Y.

53 MRS. JAMES A. CHAMBERS, JR.
(Barbara Roemer)
58 Linden Ave.
Verona, N. J.

Frank S. Boguszewski, Jr., was elected to the school board in Nanticoke.

The sympathy of the class is extended to Susan and Barbara Simpson in the death of their father, Representative Richard M. Simpson of Huntingdon, on January 7 which followed brain surgery at the Naval Medical Center, Bethesda, Md.

Sally L. Spencer is dean of women and assistant dean of students at Southern Connecticut State College. She received her master's degree in 1958 from Columbia University and is now working on her doctorate.

David B. Morgan, Jr. '50 has been appointed a vice president of the Heli-Coil Corporation of Danbury, Conn.

David has been with the Heli-Coil Corporation since 1952. He became personnel manager in 1955 and was appointed director of industrial relations in 1956. Appointed assistant secretary of the Heli-Coil Corporation in 1957, he became a director of industrial and public relations in 1958.

Before joining the Heli-Coil Corporation, David was a member of the faculty of the Bethel, Conn., school system and previously had been a staff faculty member of the U. S. Merchant Marine Academy.

David received a Bachelor of Science degree from the U. S. Merchant Marine Academy in 1944, a Bachelor of Science in Education from Bucknell in 1950 and holds a Master of Science in Administration from New York University.

The Morgans are parents of five children: David, III, 13; Dona Jean, 10; Barry Scott, 7; Bonnie Lynn, 4; and Pamela, 2. The Morgan home address is: Old Hawleyville Rd., Bethel, Conn.

The class extends sympathy to Sally in the death of her father, Dr. Herbert L. Spencer. Dr. Spencer, former president of Bucknell, was awarded an honorary degree at our June, 1953, commencement.

MR. AND MRS. GERALD HAYNIE

Elizabeth Clark and Gerald Haynie were married on August 29, 1959, and are now living at 767 Springfield Ave., Apt. 22, Summit, N. J. Betty is presently working for the Standard Accident Insurance Co., Milford, N. J.

54 MRS. PAUL C. TARR, III
(Anne Tuckerman)
413 Alliston Rd.
Springfield, Pa.

Ralph C. Hemecker and Tozia A. Beckley '57, were married August 8, 1959, and are living at 2550 Independence Ave., Riverdale 63, N. Y. After three years with Allied Chemical, Ralph has joined American Cyanamid as a market analyst in chemicals. Tozia is a clinical instructor at the Cornell University-New York Hospital School of Nursing, the institution from which she received her B.S. degree in nursing in 1958.

Elizabeth A. Kinzie and Albert J. Ignatowski were married September 5, 1959, and are living at 311 Lincoln St., S. E., Huntsville, Ala.

Julia Thompson acquired the name of Mrs. LaMar D. L. Snyder on October 17, 1959. She is a secretary in the Cumberland County National Bank & Trust Co., and is living at 523-A Reno St., New Cumberland.

Joan Ayers writes us from Stuttgart, Germany, that she is teaching American Army Dependents. She is enjoying second grade and has been doing a lot of traveling. Joan's address is: Nelligen American Elementary School, APO 46, New York, N. Y., and she would like to get in touch with any Bucknellians in the area.

Arlene Small had a brief but wonderful vacation in France, Switzerland and Italy. She also tells us that Ellie Gilliams Donall and Bob Donall have a new daughter, Marjorie.

A daughter, Jennifer Anne, joined Mr. and Mrs. James R. Pigg (Caryl Colvin) on October 28, 1959. Mr. and Mrs. Martin W. Molloy (Ellie Bonom) announce the arrival of their daughter, Amy Carol, on December 12, 1959.

55 MRS. JOHN C. VANCE, JR.
(Jane Jones)
3 Ford Court
Charleston, S. C.

REUNE IN JUNE — 1960

Mr. and Mrs. Charles I. Bertolet (Joan M. Christman) and family have moved to 4601 Via Santa Maria, Santa Maria, Calif., and expect to be there for the next three years.

On April 20 Norm Single and Ellie Rugan became the parents of their first son, Eric Norman. Norm was recently made accounting supervisor of the newest United States Steel mill in Gary, Ind. Their address is: 665 Fillmore St., Gary, Ind.

After graduation, Matt Sleeper spent his two-year Army tour in Berlin, Germany, where he met his wife Ursula. He came home to take over as editor of the New Jersey Mirror and says that he has been squinting through the green visor ever since. His son, Michael Howard, joined them on January 13, 1959.

Donald B. Kaiserman of 609 Chicago Ave., Plainfield, Ill., was married last July in Alaska to Sylvia A. Elliott. He is employed in Joliet, Ill., as a salesman of both fixed wing and helicopter type aircraft.

Robert I. Rednick, Esq., has opened offices for the general practice of law at 125 N. Main St., Port Chester, N. Y.

Kingsley Gernon is presently employed as publicity director for the Kanawha County Schools, Charleston, W. Va.

A son, Britt, was born to Mr. and Mrs. Edward Savarese (Joanne Berger) on August 23, 1959. They are living at 1211 Bethlehem Pike, Flourtown, while Edward is sewer manager for Whitmarsh Township.

A daughter, Cecily Vianne, was born to 1/Lt. and Mrs. William Wandall on October 22, 1959, at Fort Eustis, Va. He and his family are preparing for their new assignment in Frankfurt, Germany, in January.

Dr. and Mrs. David M. Pugh (Ginny Wightman), residing at 14340 24th Place N. E., Seattle 55, Wash., announce the birth of Louise Elizabeth on October 10, 1959.

56 MRS. WILLIAM J. O'NEIL
(Jean M. Wirths)
1706 Esplanade, Apt. C, Hollywood Riv.
Redondo Beach, Calif.

Husband Bill and I enjoyed our two week Christmas vacation in the east. A highlight was a reunion in Philadelphia at the home of Betty Ann (Fogg) and Bill Hayward. Betty Ann is an occupational therapist at the University of Pennsylvania Hospital. She works with physically disabled out-patients. Bill is a Westinghouse application engineer. Margie (Marshall) and Steve Larkin were there with pictures of Steve, III (21 months) and Brian (9 months). The Larkins live at 35 Bruce Park Dr., Trenton, N. J. Ginny (McCully) and Pete Straub '55 traveled north from Haveloc, N. C., where Pete is with the Marines. The Straubs have two little ones: Bruce, 2; and Betsy, 6 months. Barbara (Bauer) and Marty Tanner '57 came south from Dalton, Mass., where Marty is associated with General Electric. The little Tanner girls are Kim and Linda. Also on hand to catch up on gossip were Janet (Replogle) and Bob Roberts '54 and Joanna (Randolph) and Jack Rott '52. A home taking care of their new arrivals, William Reilly, III, were Loie (Bunne) '57 and Bill Toal '54. Little Bill was born December 12 and weighed in at 8 lbs. 1 oz.

Kenneth A. B. Roberts is with John Manville as an industrial engineer and is living at 71 Eastern Ave., Summerville, N. J. He is married to the former Betty Lou Wolf '55. Ken's income tax deductions include two children: Kenneth, Jr. 2; and Christine Lea, 5 months old.

James and Judy (Milano) Izatt announce the birth of Thomas—born June 28. Jim is stationed at Fort Benning, Ga. and will make the Army his career.

58 MRS. FRANK H. RICHARDS, III
(Faith Bonsall)
9 Bigelow St.
Cambridge, Mass.

Lt. Edward B. Frontz is stationed with the U. S. Army in Hanau, Germany. A operations officer in charge of Army shop, he is responsible for the repair and maintenance of all types and sizes of vehicles. He has two brothers who are Naval aviators.

Roger K. Deutsch and Theona Wort were married November 25, 1959, and are living at 82-45 135th St., Kew Gardens Hills, N. Y. Roger is a manufacturer representative in the summer furniture and fireplace equipment industries of George Deutsch Association.

Marine 2/Lt. Nathan L. Headley, designated a Naval Aviator on December 1959, had his "Wings of Gold" pinned on by his wife, the former Barbara J. Pinney '60, at the Naval Air Station, Pensacola, Fla.

Mr. and Mrs. Morris A. Pickell (Mar L. McConnell '59) are the proud parents of a son, Douglas Allan, born January and declared the winner of the "First Baby of 1960" contest in Union County. This distinction brings with it a shower of gifts from Lewisburg merchants. The beaming father is a civil engineer with the Pennsylvania Department of Highways stationed at Montoursville. The family lives at 32 South 6th St., Lewisburg.

Reeves B. Van Duzer has been named Inventory Control and Budget Manager in the Scranton store of Sears, Roebuck and Co. He is married to the former Margery L. Cuff '55, has one daughter, Karen; and lives at 35 Laurel Dr., Oakmont Park, Scranton 10.

Mr. and Mrs. Reese Davis (Nan Christian) became parents on July 18, 1959. Born to them on that date was a son, Jeffrey Allen Davis. The Davis family is making their home at 156 W. Louthier St., Carlisle.

59 MRS. VENALD W. BOVARD, JR.
(Jeanne F. Anderson)
125 Indian Springs Road
Williamsburg, Va.

REUNE IN JUNE — 1960

Happy 1960—

Dick and Sally Weisbeck Humn celebrated the birth of a daughter, Wendy Jane, on October 12, 1959. Dick is employed in Harrisburg where the couple now resides. Another daughter, Nancy Onthank, was born to Bruce and Dee Hutchinson on September 26, 1959. Bruce is stationed as a 2nd Lt. at Fort Eustis, Va.

Nancy Seeburger and Anne Clark are teaching in an elementary school in Upper Darby. Reports are that they enjoy their work. Dave Ott is a student at Dickinson Law School, and Barb and Cal Nodine (Barb Fracassi) are attending the University of Massachusetts in East Leverett, Mass. Their mailing address is Still Corner, East Leverett, Mass.

Sylvia Beauregard and Miriam Mendelson are employed by the Schering Corp., Bloomfield, N. J., where they are doing research work.

Marriages: Raymond H. Edmeads to Joan L. Fulton '61, October 3, 1959; Raymond G. Taylor, Jr., to Christine M. Morton, June 1, 1959; Ray M. Fahringer to Nellie Molyneaux, September 19, 1959; Jeanne F. Anderson to Venald W. Bovard, Jr., December 27, 1959; James P. Seksinsky to Ruth Ann Moser, December 26, 1959; Sarah J. Kohl to William C. McCausland, November 25, 1959; Ruth V. Gortner to Douglas E. Haggan '58, December 5, 1959; Jo Elyn Shideler to John F. Heuer; John A. Erhard, Jr., to Betsy J. Dunlap, December 26, 1959; Jack Bennett to Diane E. Bowman, January 3, 1960; Susan J. Wellar to Emil Elinski '58; F. Ellis Harley '59 to Jane Sutherland '60, December 5, 1959; Marilyn G. Geller to George J. Mandakas, December 26, 1959; Mollie A. Troxell to William S. Geise, January 16, 1960.

In the Next Issue

In the May issue of THE BUCKNELL ALUMNUS a special 16-page feature will be presented. In collaboration with nearly 350 other alumni magazines in the United States, Canada, and Mexico, we will publish a special report on you, the alumnus or alumna—you who are, in the words of the report, "one of the most important persons in American education today." Look for "The Alumnus/a," illustrated with photographs and cartoons, in the May issue of this magazine.

DR. PEREZ DIES

Dr. Gilbert S. Perez

With the death in Manila of Dr. Gilbert S. Perez, Class of 1907, Bucknell lost one of the most distinguished of her graduates. A native of Pensacola, Florida, Dr. Perez followed his undergraduate study at Bucknell by graduate work in science at the University of Chicago. In 1909 he became one of a group of classmates who undertook pioneering in what were then distant lands—George and Margaret Riggs in Puerto Rico, the Schultz brothers in Alaska. Perez in the Philippines.

There he began his career as a teacher in a little provincial schoolhouse far back in the interior. A natural linguist, he had been fluent in French and Spanish while still in college; in the islands he familiarized himself with a number of Malay dialects, a fact which beyond a doubt aided his rapid rise to positions of increasing importance. His tales of experiences in the back-country were fascinating to his friends when he came back to the States on furlough. His success was to a considerable extent due to a combination of serious devotion to his career with a keen sense of humor, which helped him achieve remarkable results in his work.

He soon realized that the islands, still primitive in many ways after 400 years of Spanish rule, needed a rapid development of vocational education, especially in agriculture and the simpler crafts. The methods he used in persuading local school officials accustomed to the outmoded Spanish notion of education, were successful because of his profound understanding of the people, so that he very soon had school boards begging for the introduction of vocational courses.

Promoted in 1928 to the post of director of vocational education for the archipelago, with headquarters at Manila, he became recognized as one of the leaders in this field, and was often called on to head missions to introduce modern methods in other Far Eastern lands.

Throughout his life he was an inveterate collector. Already in college he possessed several interesting collections, two of the more unusual being one composed of street-car transfers from a large number of American cities, the other a full deck of playing cards, all from different decks. In the Philippines he began to collect Spanish coins minted during the long Spanish control of the islands. His stories of how he obtained honestly, but by means of stratagems which outwitted the canny Oriental dealers, some of the rarer issues, were a delight to his friends when he returned on furlough to the States. Eventually he possessed what was regarded as the finest collections of these coins in the world.

Throughout his career he published extensively both on numismatics and on general problems of education, as well as textbooks and volumes of verse. His numismatics publications brought him the distinction of being elected special guest of honor at national meetings of the American Numismatics Society, as well as membership in several European and Asian associations.

In 1933 Bucknell recognized his services to world education by conferring on him the degree Doctor of Pedagogy, honoris causa. His career was interrupted by World War II, during which he was interned by the Japanese in the prison camp of Santo Tomás. Here he was reduced in weight by undernourishment from his normal 250 pounds to 125. But managed to avoid ennui by starting another collection—of hottles!

When President Truman's Four-Point Program was initiated, Dr. Perez was asked to serve as consultant, a post in which he was able to make use of his long experience in promoting human welfare. At the same time he served as technical adviser to the newly independent republic of the Philippines.

His death resulted from a cerebral hemorrhage following a 20-month hospitalization with arteriosclerosis. He was 85 years of age.

Survivors are his widow, and a daughter Eleanor, both now residents in Sacramento, California, and a son, Robert '40, of New York City.

Of him the representative of the Philippines at the United Nations said: "He best exemplified the spirit of cooperation and friendship that has long existed between our two countries."

EDITOR'S NOTE: The obituary of Dr. Perez was written by his close friend and classmate, Dr. Leo L. Rockwell '07.

IN MEMORIAM

The following deaths have been reported to the Alumni Office since December, 1959. The University extends sympathy to the surviving relatives:

- 1897—Mr. Samuel Wittenmeyer (Acad.)
- 1899—Mr. Daniel H. Krise, December 26, 1959
- 1903—Rev. R. F. Bresnahan
- 1904—Dr. Haldy M. Crist
- 1908—Dr. Reuben W. Shrum, January 24, 1960
- 1911—Mr. Allan M. Fitch, October 5, 1959
- 1913—Howard V. Fisher, Esq., December 13, 1959
- 1919—Mr. Joseph M. Kwiatek
- 1921—Mr. Robert L. Hulsizer, January 28, 1960
- 1926—Mr. Theodore F. Angus, November 24, 1959
- 1928—Mr. Frank F. Wilsbach, December 16, 1959
- 1936—Mr. Michael Kotanchick
- 1937—Dr. John H. Drumheller, February 1, 1960
- 1939—Mrs. Max Bauer (Madge Turnbeaugh), September 16, 1959
- 1940—Miss Martha A. Laird, January 8, 1960
- 1953—Dr. Herbert L. Spencer (Hon.), January 29, 1960
- 1958—Mr. Graydon W. Goss, Jr.

Alumni Trustee Timetable

March 2—Election announcement in THE BUCKNELL ALUMNUS.

April 1—Ballots in mail.

May 16—Deadline for receiving ballots in Alumni Office.

June Commencement—Certification to Board of Trustees.

Highlights From the Campus Calendar

MARCH

- 4-5 Middle Atlantic Swimming Championships.
- 10-11 Newsmen's Conference.
- 19 Festival of Music.
- 21 Phi Beta Kappa Lecture—Dr. T. M. Greene, Professor of Philosophy at Scripps College.
- 22 Bucknell Student Forum.
- 23-26 Cap and Dagger Musical—"Pajama Game."

APRIL

- 9 Spring Recess Begins.
- 19 Spring Recess Ends.
- 19 Artist Series—National Symphony Orchestra.
- 22 Phi Beta Kappa Lecture—Dr. Robert E. Streeter '38, Dean of the University of Chicago.
- 22-23 Fifth Annual Science Fair.

MAY

- 4 Bucknell Student Forum.
- 5-7 Cap and Dagger Play—"The Crucible."
- 6-7 Spring Festival Weekend.
- 11 Student Recognition Day.

JUNE

- 1 Final Examinations End.
- 3-5 ALUMNI WEEKEND
- 4 Cap and Dagger Play—"The Crucible."
- 5 BACCALAUREATE and COMMENCEMENT.

THE BUCKNELL
ALUMNUS

May 1960

THE DUAL DEVELOPMENT FUND
AND A SALUTE TO ALUMNI — *see pages 11-30

OFFICERS OF THE ASSOCIATION

President

Charles F. Fox, Jr., M.D. '31

First Vice President

Robert W. Dill '27

Second Vice President

Mrs. Clyde P. Bailey (Dorothy Lemon '29)

Treasurer

Donald B. Young '33

Secretary and Editor

John H. Shott '22

Assistant Secretary and Assistant Editor

C. Bruce Rossiter '56

BOARD OF DIRECTORS

MRS. CHARLES E. COPELAND (Amorita Sesinger '22),
10 Ridgedale Ave., Madison, N. J. (1960)

DONALD W. GLOVER '41, Mullica Hill, N. J. (1960)

THOMAS W. SPECK '37, 708 Russell Pl., Plainfield, N. J.
(1960)

ROBERT W. DILL '27, 5136 Butler Pike, Plymouth Meeting,
Pa. (1961)

WILLIAM D. GOLIGHTLY '25, 309 W. Webster Ave.,
Scranton, Pa. (1961)

MRS. PAUL M. SHOWALTER (S. Katharine Graham '33),
855 St. Louis St., Lewisburg, Pa. (1961)

MRS. CLYDE P. BAILEY (Dorothy Lemon '29), 16
Churchill Rd., Pittsburgh 35, Pa. (1962)

CHARLES F. FOX, JR., M.D. '31, 180 Washington Ave.,
Vandergrift, Pa. (1962)

D. EUGENE LONG '29, 131 Avon Place, West Hempstead,
N. Y. (1962)

EUGENE P. BERTIN '17, 201 S. Main St., Muncy, Pa.
(1963)

ELINOR CHILDS '52, 74 Mt. Kemble Ave., Morristown,
N. J. (1963)

ROBERT H. TAYLOR '48, 214 Avon Rd., Narberth, Pa.
(1963)

CHARLES T. FARROW '26, P. O. Box 29, Westfield, N. J.
(1964)

IRVIN GRAYBILL, JR. '49, Middleburg, Pa. (1964)

ALLEN F. JONES '25, 2 Linn St., Progress, Harrisburg, Pa.
(1964)

() Year Term Expires.

Alumni Headquarters — GROUND FLOOR, EAST COLLEGE

Member — AMERICAN ALUMNI COUNCIL

ON THE COVER — From the banks of the Susquehanna River the artist's view shows the University before Old Main was completed nearly 110 years ago. In 1932 fire destroyed the central portion of the structure and seriously damaged both wings. Reconstruction of the building was completed in 1937 through the generosity of alumni and friends of the University.

The back cover lists the highlights of the Alumni Week End. Plan NOW to return to the campus June 3, 4, and 5. Send your reservation coupon TODAY.

THE BUCKNELL ALUMNUS

VOLUME XLV

MAY 1960

No. 5

IN THIS ISSUE

3 It's That Time Again!

—A Preview of Alumni Week End

4 Birthday Parties Popular

—A Report of Club Activity

6 Spring Sports Roundup, by Bradley N. Tufts

8 New Quarters for Alumni Office

9 Dr. Dayton L. Ranck '16, and Dr. Carl L. Millward '06, Die

10 Class Reports

11 Bucknell Dual Development Fund

13 The Alumnus/a

—A Special Report

29 Salute to Dual Development Fund Campaigners

31 Alumni Week End Program

39 Alumni Week End Dormitory and Ticket Reservation Slip

1960 Football Schedule, 6—Sorority Commencement Activities, 10—Attention Golfers, 32—Charles J. Kushell, Jr. '27, 33—Jack V. Dorman '34, 34—Jay C. Leff, 35—Dr. James Justice '54, 36—Philip Roth '54, 37—Alumni Trustee Timetable, 38—In Memoriam, 39.

THE BUCKNELL ALUMNUS is published in January, March, May, September and November by BUCKNELL UNIVERSITY. Entered as second-class matter December 30, 1930 at the post office at Lewisburg, Pa., under Act of August 24, 1912.

IT'S THAT TIME AGAIN!

June 3, 4, 5 Set for Alumni Week End

CLASS and campus committees are hard at work putting the final touches to the reunion preparations so that all Bucknellians who return to Lewisburg on June 3, 4, and 5 will long remember this Alumni Week End.

Whether your's is a reunion class or not plan now to spend a pleasant three days on the campus with your family, friends, and other Bucknellians. Classes holding regular five-year reunions include the Classes of 1905, 1910 (Golden), 1915, 1920, 1925, 1930, 1935 (Silver), 1940, 1945, 1950, and 1955. Also, the Class of 1959 will celebrate their first reunion, while the Emeritus Club will meet as the leaders of the ever increasing group of perennials who return every year.

Many classes have already planned special and unique features for the entertainment of its members and to learn of these plans your attention is directed to your particular class column at the back of this magazine. Page 31 carries a complete program for the entire week end.

As usual, overnight sleeping accommodations will be available in the dormitories for those who make their reservations early. Reunion classes have received reservation forms and all others should return to us the reservation slip shown on page 39. Be sure of good accommodations by sending us your reservation early.

To those of you planning to arrive on campus on Friday, June 3, your special attention is directed to the "Early Bird Golf Match" sponsored by the Class of 1950, to the All-Alumni Swimming Party in the Freas-Rooke Swimming Pool, and to the Coffee Hour at the Bison Snack Bar on Walker Street. Play the game of presidents, refresh with a dip in the pool and later meet your friends over a cup of coffee. Everyone will be there!

Your particular attention is also directed to the Annual Business Meeting of The General Alumni Association (Alumni Assembly) on Saturday morning at 9:30 a. m. At this time delegates to the assembly will hear reports and elect three alumni to the Board of Directors of The General Alumni Association. The nominees who have agreed to be candidates include the following: Mrs. Claire Wynkoop Carlson '49, Brooklyn, N. Y.; Mrs. June Stott Matthews '47, Pottstown; Henry G. P. Coates, Esq. '32, Hightstown, N. J.; Daniel F. Griffiths '36, Philadelphia; Peter Weidenbacher '50, Westfield, N. J.; and Warren R. Lewis '42, Rochester, N. Y. Additional nominations can be made through the presidents of alumni clubs and from the floor by any delegate attending the annual Assembly.

On Sunday, June 5, the University will hold its annual Baccalaureate for graduating seniors at 10:00 a. m. in Davis Gymnasium, followed at 2:00 p. m. by Commencement in the University Stadium. In case of rain the Commencement exercises will be held in Davis Gymnasium. Dr. Samuel Eliot Morison, Jonathan Trumbull Professor of American History, Emeritus, at Harvard, will deliver the Commencement address and Dr. Liston Pope, Dean of the Yale University Divinity School, will deliver the Baccalaureate sermon. Both Dr. Morison and Dr. Pope will receive honorary degrees.

Honorary degrees will also be given to Charles A. Dana, chairman of the Board of the Dana Corporation; Donald R. McCain '05, Chairman of the Board of the George W. Helme Company; Harry H. Pierson '28, Representative to the Asia Foundation in Thailand; Dr. Robert E. Streeter '38, Professor of English Literature at the University of Chicago; and Herbert A. May, Senior Vice President of the Westinghouse Air Brake Company.

As you can see, it's going to be a great week end on the Bucknell campus and one which you cannot afford to miss. Don't wait—make your reservation today!

CLUBS

BIRTHDAY PARTIES POPULAR

WHAT was the most popular mid-winter club activity? Without a doubt Bucknell birthday parties held the spotlight as twenty-five clubs from coast to coast celebrated Bucknell's 114th anniversary. And it is interesting to note that in these clubs over half of Bucknell's total alumni body of 18,000 received invitations to attend these celebrations.

A total of fifteen faculty and administrative staff members spoke at eighteen of the meetings and the new sound and color movie entitled "Presenting Bucknell" was shown to members of fifteen clubs. In many instances, both the film and faculty speakers were featured on the program.

Unfortunately limited space in this particular issue does not allow us to publish the many excellent reports of these meetings. The following is a brief review of club activity from January 1 to April 1 inclusive:

HARRISBURG	January 7
Meeting: Monthly Dinner
Speaker: WILLIAM LIPSITT, ESQ.
ALTOONA	January 21
Meeting: Birthday Dinner
*Speaker: CHARLES H. CODER MS '59
BALTIMORE	January 29
Meeting: Birthday Dinner
†Speaker: DR. WESLEY N. HAINES
WILMINGTON	January 29
Meeting: Birthday Dinner
*Speaker: DR. HAROLD HEINE
SYRACUSE	January 30
Meeting: Birthday Dinner
*Speaker: DR. CHARLES JONES '42
YORK	January 30
Meeting: Birthday Dinner
Program: Film

PITTSBURGH — Substituting at the Pittsburgh party on February 20 for snow-bound President Odgers, Alumni Secretary "Buck" Shott appears well pleased with the surroundings. Could it be charming alumnae Mrs. Annabell Kreider Schnure '40 (left) and Mrs. Anne Randle Waldner '42, or that beautiful birthday cake?

WILMINGTON — Twenty-five Bucknellians in the Bucknell Alumni Club of Wilmington observed the University's birthday with a fine dinner and an excellent talk by Dr. Harold Heine, professor of chemistry at Bucknell.

GREATER NEW YORK	February 4
Meeting: Birthday Dinner
†Speaker: MISS TRENNIE E. EISLEY '31
HARRISBURG	February 4
Meeting: Birthday Dinner
†Speaker: JOHN F. ZELLER '41
SCRANTON	February 4
Meeting: Birthday Dinner
*Speaker: DR. CHARLES HOLLISTER
WASHINGTON, D. C.	February 4
Meeting: Birthday Dinner
Program: Glee Club and Film
MICHIGAN-TOLEDO	February 6
Meeting: Birthday Dinner
Program: Film
PHILADELPHIA	February 6
Meeting: Birthday Dinner
Speakers: †JOHN F. ZELLER '41
*ROBERT H. ODELL
ST. PETERSBURG	February 6
Meeting: Birthday Dinner
Speaker: DR. COLEMAN J. HARRIS '12
LONG ISLAND	February 7
Meeting: Birthday Party
CHAMBERSBURG	February 11
Meeting: Birthday Dinner
*Speaker: DR. MANNING A. SMITH

PHILADELPHIA — Outgoing President Herbert Watson '37; principal speakers John H. Zeller '41, Vice President—Business and Finance, and Robert H. Odell, Football Coach; and Robert H. Taylor '48, new president of the Bucknell Alumni Club of Philadelphia posed for this picture following the party in Philadelphia on February 6.

ST. PETERSBURG — Morris van Gundy '98, and Albert Wadle '52, cut the birthday cake at the annual Bucknell birthday celebration in St. Petersburg on February 6.

CONNECTICUT February 11

Meeting: Birthday Dinner
*Speaker: DR. LESTER KIEFT

MONMOUTH-OCEAN February 11

Meeting: Birthday Dinner
*Speaker: DR. JAMES A. GATHINGS

NORTHERN NEW JERSEY February 19

Meeting: Birthday Dinner
Speakers: JAY P. MATHIAS '35
*ROBERT H. ODELL

LOCK HAVEN February 20

Meeting: Birthday Dinner
*Speaker: DR. J. ORIN OLIPHANT

PITTSBURGH February 20

Meeting: Birthday Dinner
†Speaker: JOHN H. SHOTT '22

PACIFIC NORTHWEST February 24

Meeting: Birthday Dinner
Program: Film

PHILADELPHIA February 24

Meeting: Bison Roundup

SOUTH JERSEY — Mrs. Mabel Batten Dutton '00, oldest alumnus present at the South Jersey party on February 27, was given the honor of cutting the cake. Standing beside Mrs. Dutton is Dr. Robert A. Batten '49, president of the club.

GREATER BOSTON February 26

Meeting: Birthday Dinner
Speaker: HERBERT L. HAYDEN

SOUTH JERSEY February 27

Meeting: Birthday Dinner
*Speaker: D. PAUL SOUDERS MA '50

UNIONTOWN March 3

Meeting: Birthday Dinner
†Speaker: DR. WESLEY N. HAINES

SOUTH CAROLINA March 17

Meeting: Birthday Dinner
Program: Film

ST. PETERSBURG March 26

Meeting: Picnic

TRENTON April 1

Meeting: Birthday Dinner
†Speaker: JOHN F. ZELLER '41

° Faculty † Staff

YORK — Eleven of the more than forty alumni, parents, and guests at the York County party on January 30 braved the camera's eye preceding the dinner and showing of the new color and sound movie entitled "Presenting Bucknell."

ALTOONA — The Bucknell Alumni Club of Altoona gathered at the Penn-Alto Hotel in Altoona on January 21 to celebrate Bucknell's 114th birthday and to hear Charles H. Coder, Acting Chairman of the Department of Mechanical Engineering.

SPRING SPORTS ROUNDUP

by

BRADLEY N. TUFTS

Sports Information Director

THERE was a long wait and a considerable amount of indoor practice, but the spring sports' program on the Bison campus finally got off the ground. Late season snows and the rains that usually accompany the first few weeks of spring forced the postponement of spring football practice for two weeks and curtailed the outdoor practice sessions of the baseball, golf, tennis and track teams.

BASEBALL

Sixteen sophomores are listed on Coach Rod Oberlin's 23-man baseball roster, but prospects for a winning season ride largely on the shoulders of six returning lettermen, Tommy Thompson, Mike Kasnick, Larry Mathias, Captain Tony Consentino, Steve Flamhaft and John Hackett.

Thompson, the leading pitcher on last year's team, and Kasnick will carry the brunt of the mound chores and Shown above as he looked during his playing days with Bucknell in the early '30's, Clark Hinkle was among 61 players and eight coaches recently nominated for election to the National Football Hall of Fame.

Perhaps the greatest fullback in Bucknell history, Hinkle was named to the All-East team in 1931, his senior year and was the leading scorer in the East in his sophomore year. He still holds Bison records for punting.

Hinkle moved on from Bucknell to the Green Bay Packers where he was named to the All-Pro team in four different seasons. If elected, he will be the first Bison player so honored.

Mathias will share the catching duties with sophomore Ben Jones.

Hackett is slated to go at first base with sophomore Vic Manuele at second, Consentino at shortstop and Flamhaft at third base. Sophomore Ken Twiford should be a big help in the infield when he joins the team at the conclusion of spring football practice.

Leading the race for starting berths in the outfield are sophomores Steve Ruckman, John Ruyak, Bob Wevoda and Bill Weydemeyer and senior Bill Brown. Kasnick will probably get one of the outfield spots when not on the mound. He was the team's second leading hitter last season.

The Bisons hope to improve on last year's 5-10 mark but face stiff competition from Navy, Colgate, Lafayette, Penn State, Penn, Pitt, Delaware and Temple. A home double header with Delaware on May 14 is one of the highlights of the schedule.

GOLF

Coach Harold Evans' golf team, bolstered by five returning lettermen, will be seeking its second consecutive Middle Atlantic Conference championship and fourth title in the last five years. The Bison linksmen will play an eleven match schedule and will defend their MAC title at the University of Delaware on May 9. Opponents include Navy, Colgate, Penn State and Lehigh.

The list of returning veterans includes the four men who captured the MAC title last year, Co-Captains Bob Etzweiler and Jerry Lindholm, Bill Curtiss and Bob Schad. Also slated to see action are letterwinner John McDonald, Steve Strobeck, Jerry Singer and Pete Sang

1960 FOOTBALL SCHEDULE

*Sept. 24—Gettysburg	Hershey
Oct. 1—Cornell	Ithaca, N. Y.
Oct. 8—Buffalo	Home
Oct. 15—Rutgers	New Brunswick, N. J.
Oct. 22—Lafayette	Homecoming
Oct. 29—Lehigh	Home
Nov. 1—Colgate	Hamilton, N. Y.
Nov. 12—Temple	Philadelphia
Nov. 19—Delaware	Newark, Del.

* Night Game

TENNIS

Coach Hank Peters' tennis team was the first spring squad to see action, dropping a 5½-3½ decision to Lafayette in the season opener. The Bison netmen have five returning lettermen on hand including Captain Bob Boecker and number one singles player, Bill Sweet.

Other top prospects are letterwinners Tom Cowen, Jim Hand, Henry Livas and Frank Wiegand, senior Frank Pulizzi and sophomores Frank Famariss and Mike Wachwalter.

TRACK

The Bison thinclads under Coach Bus Blum will be running for their fourteenth consecutive winning season with only four lettermen on hand. Bill Emery, school record holder in the discus, Lew Ireland, holder of the University mark in the javelin, and Co-Captains Clint Milkey and Dave Lynch are the lettermen on the squad, but they should receive considerable help from some upperclassmen and 22 sophomores on the roster.

Newcomers expected to score consistently are junior Al Duff in the pole vault, senior Jack Eachus in the 440 and 880, junior Marty Holmes in the distances and sophomore Dick Boddie in the sprints and high jump.

SPRING FOOTBALL

Coach Bob Odell and his staff had to sit around and wait for the snow to melt and the rains to stop, but were finally able to get spring practice underway on March 28.

Odell greeted a squad of 58 men at the first practice session, including sixteen returning letterwinners. Taking a quick glance at the situation it was evident that while the backfield was considerably stronger than a year ago, there would be a big rebuilding job in the line.

Tackle Dick Bourdeau is the only returning starter from last fall's forward wall that included such stalwarts as end Jack Eachus and tackle Jim Brady, both All-MAC choices, Captain Larry Mathias and guard Tony Rinaldo. Replacements will have to come from juniors John Aucker, and Dennis Morgan and sophomores Don Chaump, Kirk Poulke, Tom Alexander, Pat Malone, Ron Maslanik, Tom Noteware, and freshmen Ron Hohowski, Dick Lebec, Dick Orlovski, George Rieu, and Dean Stump.

The backfield returns intact with quarterback Paul Perhes, halfbacks Mickey Melberger and Ash Ditka and fullback Ken Twiford slated to be the front line unit. Captain-elect George Moncilovich is a doubtful performer due to an NCAA five-year eligibility ruling.

Also slated to see heavy duty in the backfield are Ray Cosgrove, Rick Elliott, and Bill Urch, all letterwinners last year, and freshmen Fran Garruto, Wes Irvine and Bob Theiss.

The team worked out for two weeks prior to Spring vacation and then finished up the final two weeks after the vacation. Twenty practice sessions within a 35-day period are allowed under the NCAA spring practice ruling.

SWIMMERS TAKE MAC LAURELS

Coach Bob Latour's Bison swimming team closed out the most successful season in the four-year history of the sport at Bucknell by capturing the Middle Atlantic Conference championship in a five-way battle with Lehigh, LaSalle, Dickinson and West Chester.

The Bison swimmers won four of the final five events to nose out defending champion, Lehigh, by three points. Three sophomores, Bill Dearstyne, Bill Dorr, and Chuck Maunz, were double winners in the two-day meet and also swam on the 400-yard medley relay team that won the final event in record time to clinch the title.

Two weeks later Dearstyne gained additional prestige for Bucknell by winning the 100-yard backstroke title in the Eastern Intercollegiate Championships at Harvard. He nosed out three swimmers from Yale in the final to take the title and also placed second in the 200-yard backstroke final. Although he didn't qualify for the finals, Bill also performed creditably in the NCAA Championships held at Southern Methodist University in Dallas, Texas.

WRESTLERS PLACE SECOND

Coach Bill Wrabley's wrestling team made its best showing of all time by placing second behind four-time winner, Wilkes College, in the MAC wrestling tournament.

Although they failed to produce an individual champion, the Bisons piled up enough points to top everyone except the powerful Colonels. The top performance was made by Ned Wight who went all the way to the finals before losing in the heavyweight class.

Pete Fritts and Ken Brust captured consolation championships and John Ayre and Dave Murdock bowed out in the consolation finals.

ODELL PONDS WEIGHTY PROBLEM — Empty helmets and shoes represent the six line vacancies that head football coach, Bob Odell, must fill on this year's team. First string positions were held last year by Jack Eachus, Jim Brady, Dennis Cox, Charlie Negron, Tony Rinaldo and Larry Mathias, all of whom will graduate in June.

NEW QUARTERS FOR ALUMNI OFFICE

Carnegie Building is new home for Alumni Office, Director of Development, and Stenographic Pool

Five years ago (October 24, 1955) the Alumni Office moved from Roberts Hall to the ground floor of East College. Members of the Alumni Office staff, Mrs. Janet Myers (left) and Mrs. Helen Keefer, are pictured in one of the East College Offices.

In one of the five offices occupied by the Alumni Office in East College were the biographical files with information on Bucknell's 18,000 alumni. Here workmen begin the laborious task of moving them to the second floor of the Carnegie building.

Members of the Physical Plant performed yeoman service in moving the Alumni Offices, the offices of the Director of Development, the Dual Development Campaign Office and the Stenographic Pool in the two days prior to the beginning of extensive remodeling of East College.

A visible change in the outside appearance of the Carnegie Building on two enclosed fire towers at each end of the building. Modern student activities offices, interview rooms for the Director of Placement and a completely remodeled Bookstore are but a few of the interior improvements.

The second floor of the Carnegie Building (formerly Carnegie Library) is now the home of Alumni Office Headquarters. When you next visit the campus on business or pleasure, be sure to inspect our new facilities and make the Alumni Office your headquarters.

Bucknell Alumni are always welcome to visit with Alumni Secretary John H. Shott, Assistant Alumni Secretary C. Bruce Rossiter, and the Alumni Office Staff. Pictured in the new Alumni Records Office are (l. to r.) Mrs. Jane Myers (foreground), Mrs. Helen Keefer, Mrs. Alice Dyer, Miss Marlen Miller, Miss Doris Schreffler, and Miss Barbara Border.

COMPETENCY, INTEGRITY, AND DEVOTION ILLUSTRATED HIS LONG CAREER

Dr. Dayton L. Ranck '16
Vice President and Treasurer,
Emeritus Dies

BUCKNELL lost one of its most devoted officials with the death of Dr. Dayton L. Ranck '16, on March 10, 1960, at the age of 74.

Dayton L. Ranck '16

Dr. Ranck's death came as a shock to his many friends and colleagues at Bucknell. Although he had been in ill health for some time he continued his keen interest in community affairs and in Bucknell, and visited several offices on the "hill" on the afternoon of the day of his death. Shortly before midnight he slipped away quietly in his sleep. Death was attributed to a heart attack.

Dr. Ranck graduated from Bucknell in 1916, and after several years of employment in the business world joined the Bucknell staff as Comptroller in 1924. In 1931 he was made treasurer of the University, a position he held for twenty-two years. In 1953 he was made Vice President and Treasurer, and in 1955 Vice President and Director of Development. He retired on June 30, 1957, after a total of thirty-three years of dedicated service to his Alma Mater.

To alumni and friends of the University, Dr. Ranck was "Mister Bucknell." To faculty and staff he was a kind and understanding friend. Although not primarily a teacher, he devoted his life to the service of teaching. Although not a scholar, his devotion to learning made scholarship possible at Bucknell.

His was the task of meeting payrolls in depression years when funds were insufficient, and of keeping Bucknell going during the war years when there were not enough students to support the University's program. Despite an insufficient endowment, he succeeded in keeping Bucknell in the black when other institutions were bemoaning their deficits. In adversity he kept Bucknell strong enough and sound enough to provide the base upon which Bucknell could move ahead in the fifties and upon which we build for the future.

Dr. Ranck always took a leading role in community affairs and contributed much of his time to the construction of the Evangelical Community Hospital of which he was a director.

He held membership in numerous fraternal and civic organizations, including Phi Beta Kappa, Lambda Chi Alpha social fraternity, Masonic Lodge, Lions Club and many others. He was also a director of the Lewisburg National Bank for more than two decades. He was a member of the First Baptist Church of Lewisburg and for many years one of its officers. The Sunday School Class of which Dr. Ranck was member has established The Dayton L. Ranck Memorial Fund in his memory.

The sincerest and deepest sympathies of the Bucknell family are extended to his wife, Mrs. Irene Snyder Ranck; a brother, Dale E. Ranck; five children, Mrs. Harry Rose '38, Mr. Lee S. Ranck '41, Mrs. Thomas Wilson '43, Mrs. John Liggett, and a foster daughter, Miss Justina Hildebrand.

When Bucknell conferred the honorary degree of Doctor of Laws upon Mr. Ranck in 1947, the Chairman of the Board of Trustees said of him:

"It is given to few persons to achieve a degree of affection and admiration in a single lifetime as that which Dayton Ranck has achieved at Bucknell."

Truer words were never spoken. We shall all miss him.

COMMUNITY LOSES AN OUTSTANDING CITIZEN, EDUCATOR, AND HUMANITARIAN

Dr. Carl L. Millward '06,
Emeritus Club President,
Dies at 78

THE Bucknell family and the local community were saddened at the death of Dr. Carl L. Millward '06, on March 10, 1960, at his home. He had been in failing health for a number of months and previously had been hospitalized.

Carl, as he was affectionately known to thousands of Bucknellians and friends, loyally served the youth of his community, his fellowman, and Bucknell from the day he graduated with the Class of 1906 until his death. In 1931 his Alma Mater recognized his outstanding service in the field of education by honoring him with the honorary degree of Doctor of Pedagogy.

Carl L. Millward '06

Dr. Millward was widely known as a leader in the field of education. From 1910 to 1945 he was associated with the Milton schools as science teacher, principal, and for twenty-eight years held the post of superintendent of schools. For three years he was president of the Summer Institute at Bucknell and for seven years was a member of the faculty.

Both the Rotary Club and Boy Scouting were keen interests of Dr. Millward who served as the President of the Susquehanna Valley Area Boy Scout Council and who received the Silver Beaver and Silver Antelope awards, the two highest awards in scouting.

A past president of the Milton Rotary Club, he also was district governor of Rotary International. In 1945-46 he served as a director of Rotary International.

He held membership in many social, educational, and fraternal organizations including the American Association of University Professors, National Education Association, Pennsylvania State Education Association, Kappa Phi Kappa, Phi Sigma Pi, Alpha Phi Omega, and Sigma Chi.

(Continued on Page 39)

CLASS REPORTS

EMERITUS CLUB

MISS MARY COTTON
Eldred, Pa.

We extend our sympathy to Dr. Harland A. Trax '01 in the death of his wife, Emma, which occurred on March 28.

02 MR. ALAN C. CUNNINGHAM
Charles C. Knox Home
Wynnewood, Pa.

Sympathy of the class is extended to Dr. Lewis E. Theiss in the death of Mrs. Anna Jackson Theiss on February 18, following an illness of several weeks. Mrs. Theiss, a graduate of Columbia University, established a domestic science department in the schools of Mt. Vernon, N. Y., and later taught in the public schools of Butler, N. J. She was also a lecturer of domestic science subjects for the state of Ohio. Mrs. Theiss had resided in the Lewisburg area for the past twenty years and had a wide circle of Bucknell friends.

Mrs. Thomas H. Sprague (Jessie Lovell) writes, "I am spending the winter in Florida—but under rather unpleasant circumstances as I fell and injured my spine and have spent some weeks in the Hollywood Hospital. Give my regards to the class members." Her present address is Box 421, Hollywood, Fla.

On a card, Mrs. Edward Burrowes (Helen Buoy) writes, "I am sorry that I have so little of interest to tell you. I live alone very quietly, read, do crossword puzzles and watch TV."

03 MRS. HARRY C. HERPEL
(Elvie Coleman)
1250 Park Ave.
McKeesport, Pa.

Ida E. Luchsinger is our most cooperative correspondent. She sends a line or two about news of other members of '03, and mentions some of her activities in church, civic and educational circles.

Col. A. F. Dershimier flew to California to spend the holidays with his son, then on to Alabama to visit a daughter. While in California he tried to get in touch with Jane Fowler Bullis and her husband Ray, but they were away.

Emily R. Ebling is another traveler, who, when she follows her regular routine, spends spring in Alabama, summer in Maine, foreign travel and some time at her home in Philadelphia.

G. H. Stewart and wife traveled in the Orient a year ago. They have been requested to write some of their interesting experiences for their classmates.

W. L. Kalp visits the campus frequently. We are pleased to have him represent 1903.

Your reporter will attend graduation exercises of "George School" on June 4. Her grandson John Herpel, 17, is one of the honor students. She regrets not being able to be at Bucknell on this same date.

Please send me news of your activities and those of your grandchildren.

10

05 DR. LEWIS C. HYLBERT
435 Drake Ave.
Upland, Calif.

REUNE IN JUNE — 1960

REUNION LUNCHEON

June 4, 1960

1:00 P. M.

Lewisburg Inn

Our General Alumni Association secretaries and Bucknell faculty are making great preparations for all Alumni who will be back on the campus during the Commencement week end, June 3-5.

Mrs. Edith Kelly Fetherston, president of our 1905 class and Mr. John B. Smiley, master of ceremonies, have given much time and thought to the preparations for our truly great 55th anniversary celebration during June 3, 4 and 5.

A considerable number of our 1905ers are coming long distances in order to meet with us and celebrate our own REUNION. We need every member of our class to enjoy this wonderful fellowship. Won't each member make a special effort to join in and be present for this great event.

07 DR. LEO L. ROCKWELL
602 Charles St.
Lakeland, Fla.

A good bundle of news this time—most of it sent me by Mary Stanton Speicher.

Vera Duncan Haskell spent the summer in her old home at Ulysses with her sister Marian. In the fall she returned to her present home in Montreal.

SORORITY COMMENCEMENT ACTIVITIES

JUNE 4, 1960

ALPHA CHI OMEGA—Dinner at Hotel Edison, Sunbury at 6:00 P. M.

ALPHA PHI—Dinner at Inn 15 near Williamsport on Route 15 at 6:00 P. M.

ALPHA SIGMA ALPHA—Dinner at Inn 15 near Williamsport on Route 15 at 6:00 P. M.

DELTA DELTA DELTA—Dinner at Pine Barn Inn, Danville at 6:00 P. M.

DELTA ZETA—Dinner at Hotel Edison, Sunbury

KAPPA DELTA—Dinner at Hotel Lewisburg at 6:00 P. M.

PHI MU—Dinner at Lewisburg Club at 5:30 P. M.

PI BETA PHI—Dinner at Lewisburg Inn at 5:30 P. M.

Kathryn King, living in her family home on Main Street, Reynoldsville, is very busy as organist and choir director at the Baptist Church.

All these folks living in their old home remind your scribe that he is reluctantly parting with his boyhood home in Old Monroe. The house, built in 1807, shortly after his great-grandfather came down from Connecticut, has been in the family ever since. But with the chilluns so far away, in Texas, Michigan, and Florida the place has become a burden. Vera '1 and Leo expect to return next fall from their present summer home in Hamilton N. Y., to Lakeland, since the administration at Florida Southern has been foolish enough to ask Leo to return as visiting professor.

Vera '11 and Leo enjoyed a fine visit with Mildred Cathers '10, who drove over from St. Pete, where she is wintering. There was much talk about the violin ensemble, with Les Stout '13 and Fred Bremier '10, which Charlotte Armstrong organized 'way back when.

Ruth Jones, whose death we reported last year, has left a legacy of more than $300,000 for college scholarships.

Mrs. Tom Schultz, who returned to Alaska with Tom last spring, writes that she is urging him to write a book on his Alaskan experiences. We're right with you on that, Mrs. Schultz. Keep after him. Tom likes his outdoors, but he should come in occasionally to warm up and write a chapter.

Zug is reported to be majoring in housework, while Elizabeth goes out into the wide wide world to provide the comfort of life. Knowing Zug, we wonder how much housework gets done. But we do implore him to send us the story of the tomcat who emulated George Mattis by becoming a consultant.

George Mattis, by the way, is proud to be active at eighty-two as consulting engineer in Oakland; I think that's in California; (in Florida they say they ain't no California).

09 MRS. HOWARD L. HEADLAND
(Sarah E. Walters)
3911 First Avenue North
St. Petersburg 13, Fla.

Re, Allan G. Ritter, 3946 Wilshire Blvd Los Angeles 5, Calif. "After graduation from Bucknell University I took off for California. While at San Dimas I received word that I had been elected to teach in the high school in Deer Lodge, Mont. Matt Haggerty, who had been my roommate at college for three years, had previously written that he had been elected principal at Deer Lodge. I accepted the job and then found out that Matt had decided to go to Nebraska instead; so I went to Deer Lodge alone. After teaching two years in Deer Lodge, I entered the University of Michigan Law School. There again Matt and I were roommates. After a year and two summers in Ann Arbor, Mich., I came again to California and entered the senior class at Stanford University Law School. During the Christmas holidays I went to Sacramento and passed the bar examinations. I was anxious to get into active practice and to

(Continued on Page 31)

MAY 1960

BUCKNELL DUAL DEVELOPMENT FUND

At the kickoff of general solicitation in Pittsburgh at the Penn Sheraton Hotel on February 29, Andrew R. Mathieson '20, National Alumni Chairman (left) and Co-Chairman with John T. Shirley '09, for Western Pennsylvania, confers with Ralph B. Derr '17, (center) and President Odgers. Mr. Derr is Co-Chairman with Wayne Harrison '51, for the Pittsburgh-Allegheny County effort. Special gift co-chairmen are Clyde P. Bailey '29, and James S. Replagle '26.

VICTORY WITHIN REACH

THE recent Charles A. Dana Foundation grant of $400,000 brought the Dual Development Fund to $1,500,000 and within reach of its $1,850,000 goal. The grant has meant another endorsement by one of America's great industrialists and his foundation of Bucknell and of the dual objectives of the current campaign, half of the grant being for endowment and half for building and remodeling. It has also brought added confidence to Bucknell's capacity to attain the campaign's goal. And, most importantly, although the benefaction has brought us within reach of our objectives, it is meant to challenge all Bucknellians and friends to reach. The grant is conditional upon our fully subscribing our dual goals.

The gap between the reach toward and the full grasp of the total is being closed as results continue to come in from the organized efforts in the local area, the Greater Philadelphia area, the Western Pennsylvania area, and a few other areas. It will be further closed as Bucknellians respond generously to the effort now being organized in the Greater New York area.

ALL BUCKNELLIAN'S WILL HAVE AN OPPORTUNITY TO PARTICIPATE

If you live outside the four areas mentioned above, please wait to make your response until a direct appeal is made to you. Such an appeal will be made before the campaign is over.

The listing of donors in an Honor Roll in the March issue of THE BUCKNELL ALUMNUS included on those whose gifts and pledges had been received in the campaign office as of February 10, 1960. Another Honor Roll listing will be made in the next issue to include subsequent donors.

In this issue of THE BUCKNELL ALUMNUS, Bucknell joins with 350 other schools, colleges, and universities in the United States, Canada, and Mexico in presenting the following 16-page report on the significant role played by the Alumnus and the Alumna in the life of the institution of which they are a corporate part. At Bucknell the making of the Alumnus and the Alumna begins with the student on the campus. Thousands of Bucknell students have read and have received inspiration for their future role in the corporate life of the University from the wording that appears on a bronze plaque in the lobby of the Ellen Clarke Bertrand Library.

February 5

1846

To the Students of Bucknell:

Our University was founded in 1846 through the vision, initiative, and generosity of a small group of pioneer educators.

Loyal alumni and friends have since contributed to its support and to its traditions.

*These benefactors ask no return save that you make the most of the opportunities they have helped to provide, and that you, as future alumni, exemplify their faith in you,
in your loyalty, and in Bucknell University.*

The Alumni of Bucknell University.

It is especially appropriate to include this supplement on the Alumnus/a within the fold of the Dual Development Fund insert, because the generous support of many alumni has already helped substantially toward the successful meeting of our goals, and we shall depend upon the loyal response of all Bucknell alumni to finish the job.

To the Salute to Alumni everywhere in the following pages, the editors wish to add Bucknell's Salute to its own alumni volunteers who already have worked as chairmen, captains, and solicitors in the Dual Development Fund Campaign thus far. We gratefully list them on the inside and back pages of this colored insert. Bucknell Parents, workers, Bucknell Trustees, and friends of the University are included along with the Alumni. This listing, of course, is complete only up to the date this issue goes to press. As the campaign moves into other areas, subsequent listings will salute additional workers in gratitude and honor.

THE ALUMNUS/A

ALAN BEARDEN, JON DRENNEIS

As student, as alumna or alumnus: at both stages, one of the most important persons in higher education.

a special report

a

...quite... and a declaration of dependence

THIS IS A SALUTE, an acknowledgment of a partnership, and a declaration of dependence. It is directed to you as an alumnus or alumna. As such, you are one of the most important persons in American education today.

You are important to American education, and to your alma mater, for a variety of reasons, not all of which may be instantly apparent to you.

You are important, first, because you are the principal product of your alma mater—the principal claim she can make to fame. To a degree that few suspect, it is the alumni that an educational institution is judged. A few yardsticks could more accurately measure an institution's true worth.

You are important to American education, furthermore, because of the support you give to it. Financial support comes immediately to mind; the money that alumni are giving to the schools, colleges, and universities they need.

ded has reached an impressive sum, larger than that ved from any other source of gifts. It is indispensable.
 ut the support you give in other forms is impressive indispensable, also. Alumni push and guide the legis-e programs that strengthen the nation's publicly orted educational institutions. They frequently act ademic talent scouts for their alma maters, meeting n talking with the college-bound high school students eir communities. They are among the staunchest de-ers of high principles in education—e.g., academic lom—even when such defense may not be the “popuar posture. The list is long; yet every year alumni are ing ways to extend it.

TO THE HUNDREDS of colleges and universities and secondary schools from which they came, alumni are important in another way—one that has nothing o do with what alumni can do for the institutions themselves. Unlike most other forms of human enterprise, educational institutions are not in business for what they themselves can get out of it. They exist so that free people, through education, can keep civilization on the forward move. Those who ultimately do this are their alumni.

 Thus only through its alumni can a school or a college or a university truly fulfill itself.

Chancellor Samuel B. Gould, of the University of California, put it this way:

“The serious truth of the matter is that you are the distilled essence of the university, for you are its product and the basis for its reputation. If anything lasting is to be achieved by us as a community of scholars, it must in most instances be reflected in you. If we are to win intellectual victories or make cultural advances, it must be through your good offices and your belief in our mission.”

The italics are ours. The mission is yours and ours together.

ROBERT PHILLIPS

Alma Mater . . .

At an alumni-alumnae meeting in Washington, members sing the old school song.

The purpose of this meeting was to introduce the institution to high school boys and girls who, with their parents, were present as the club's guests.

Alumnus + alumnus

Many people cling to the odd notion that in this

THE POPULAR VIEW of you, an alumnus or alumna, is a puzzling thing. That the view is highly illogical seems only to add to its popularity. That its elements are highly contradictory seems to bother no one.

Here is the paradox:

Individually you, being an alumnus or alumna, are among the most respected and sought-after of beings. People expect of you (and usually get) leadership or intelligent followership. They appoint you to positions of trust in business and government and stake the nation's very survival on your school- and college-developed abilities.

If you enter politics, your educational pedigree is freely discussed and frequently boasted about, even in precincts where candidates once took pains to conceal any education beyond the sixth grade. In clubs, parent-teacher associations, churches, labor unions, you are considered to be the brains, the backbone, the eyes, the ears, and the neckbone—the latter to be stuck out, for alumni are expected to be intellectually adventurous as well as to exercise other attributes.

But put you in an alumni club, or back on campus for a reunion or homecoming, and the popular respect—yea, awe—turns to chuckles and ho-ho-ho. The esteemed individual, when bunched with other esteemed individuals, becomes in the popular image the subject of quips, a candidate for the funny papers. He is now imagined to be a person whose interests stray no farther than the degree of baldness achieved by his classmates, or the success in marriage and child-bearing achieved by her classmates, or the record run up last season by the alma mater's football or field-hockey team. He is addicted to funny hats decorated with his class numerals, she to daisy chainmaking and to recapturing the elusive delights of the junior-class hoop-roll.

If he should encounter his old professor of physics, he is supposedly careful to confine the conversation to reminiscences about the time Joe or Jane Wilkins, with spectacular results, tried to disprove the validity of Newton's third law. To ask the old gentleman about the implications of the latest research concerning anti-matter would be, it is supposed, a most serious breach of the Alumni Reunion Code.

Such a view of organized alumni activity might be dismissed as unworthy of note, but for one disturbing fact: among its most earnest adherents are a surprising number of alumni and alumnae themselves.

Permit us to lay the distorted image to rest, with that of the rites conducted by cartoonist Mark Kelley on the following pages. To do so will not necessitate burying the class banner or interring the reunion hat, nor is there need to disband the homecoming day parade.

The simple truth is that the serious activities of organized alumni far outweigh the frivolities—in about the same proportion as the average citizen's, or unorganized alumnus's, party-going activities are outweighed by his less festive pursuits.

Look, for example, at the activities of the organized alumni of a large and famous state university in the Midwest. The former students of this university are never pictured as football-mad. And there is no denying that to many of them, there is no more pleasant way of spending an autumn Saturday than witnessing a victory by the home team.

But by far the great bulk of alumni energy on behalf of the old school is invested elsewhere:

- ▶ Every year the alumni association sponsors a reunion dinner to honor outstanding students—those with a scholastic average of 3.5 (B+) or better. This has proved to be a most effective way of showing students that academic prowess is valued above all else by the institution and its alumni.

- ▶ Every year the alumni give five “distinguished teaching awards”—grants of $1,000 each to professors selected by their peers for outstanding performance in the classroom.

- ▶ An advisory board of alumni prominent in various fields meets regularly to consider the problems of the university: the quality of the course offerings, the caliber of the students, and a variety of other matters. They report directly to the university president, in confidence. Their work has been salutary. When the university's school of architecture lost its accreditation, for example, the efforts of the alumni advisers were invaluable in getting to the root of the trouble and recommending measures by which accreditation could be regained.

- ▶ The efforts of alumni have resulted in the passage of urgently needed, but politically endangered, appropriations by the state legislature.

- ▶ Some 3,000 of the university's alumni act each year as volunteer alumni-fund solicitors, making contacts with 30,000 of the university's former students.

Nor is this a particularly unusual list of alumni accomplishments. The work and thought expended by the alumni umni—or does it?

group somehow differs from the sum of its parts

ELLIOTT ERWITT, MAGNUM

Behind the fun

of organized alumni activity—in clubs, at reunions—lies new seriousness nowadays, and a substantial record of service to American education.

of hundreds of schools, colleges, and universities in half of their alma maters would make a glowing record, if it could be compiled. The alumni of one institution took it upon themselves to survey the federal income-tax returns, as they affected parents' ability to finance their children's education, and then, in a nationwide campaign, lobbied for needed reforms. In a score of cities, the alumnae of a women's college annually sell tens of thousands of tulip bulbs for their alma mater's benefit; in recent years they have raised $80,000, not to mention hundreds of thousands of tulips. Other institutions' alumni stage house and garden tours, organize used-book sales, sell flocked Christmas trees, sponsor theatrical events. Name a worthwhile activity and someone is probably doing it, for faculty salaries or building funds or student scholarships.

Drop in on a reunion or a local alumni-club meeting, and you may well find that the superficial programs of yore have been replaced by seminars, lectures, laboratory demonstrations, and even week-long short-courses. Visit the local high school during the season when the senior students are applying for admission to college—and trying to find their way through dozens of college catalogues, each describing a campus paradise—and you will find alumni on hand to help the student counselors. Nor are they high-pressure salesmen for their own alma mater and disparagers of everybody else's. Often they can, and do, perform their highest service to prospective students by advising them to apply somewhere else.

THE ACHIEVEMENTS, in short, belie the popular image. And if no one else realizes this, or cares, one group should: the alumni and alumnae themselves. Too many of them may be shying away from a good thing because they think that being an "active" alumnus means wearing a funny hat.

Why they come

DEAN! DEAN WINTERHAVEN!

TO SEE THE OLD DEAN

And there will be TURBULENT YEARS

FOR AN OUTING

Here it is, Deans!
MY OLD ROOM!!...

TO RECAPTURE YOUTH

He was in my class, but I'm DARNED if I can remember his name!

TO RENEW OLD ACQUAINTANCE

I JUST HAPPEN to have your type of policy with me...

TO DEVELOP NEW TERRITORY

TO BRING THE WORD

Kelley

Back: The popular view
Charlie? Old Charlie Applegate?

TO PLACE THE FACE

Appearances would indicate that you have risen above your academic standing, Buchalter!

TO IMPRESS THE OLD PROF

He wants to do something for his OLD SCHOOL!

TO CONTRIBUTE MATERIALLY

Which way to MEM HALL, lad?

TO FIND MEM HALL

He says he's a FRAT BROTHER of yours!

TO BE A "POOR LITTLE SHEEP" AGAIN

Money!

Last year, educational institutions received more from any other source of gifts. Alumni support

WITHOUT THE DOLLARS that their alumni contribute each year, America's privately supported educational institutions would be in serious difficulty today. And the same would be true of the nation's publicly supported institutions, without the support of alumni in legislatures and elections at which appropriations or bond issues are at stake.

For the private institutions, the financial support received from individual alumni often means the difference between an adequate or superior faculty and one that is underpaid and understaffed; between a thriving scholarship program and virtually none at all; between well-equipped laboratories and obsolete, crowded ones. For tax-supported institutions, which in growing numbers are turning to their alumni for direct financial support, such aid makes it possible to give scholarships, grant loans to needy students, build such buildings as student unions, and carry on research for which legislative appropriations do not provide.

To gain an idea of the scope of the support which alumni give—and of how much that is worthwhile in American education depends upon it—consider this statistic, unearthed in a current survey of 1,144 schools, junior colleges, colleges, and universities in the United States and Canada: in just twelve months, alumni gave their alma maters more than $199 million. They were the largest single source of gifts.

Nor was this the kind of support that is given once, perhaps as the result of a high-pressure fund drive, and never heard of again. Alumni tend to give funds regularly. In the past year, they contributed $45.5 million, on an annual gift basis, to the 1,144 institutions surveyed. To realize that much annual income from investments in blue-chip stocks, the institutions would have needed over 1.2 billion more dollars in endowment funds than they actually possessed.

ANNUAL ALUMNI GIVING is not a new phenomenon on the American educational scene (Yale alumni founded the first annual college fund in 1890, and Mount Hermon was the first independent secondary school to do so, in 1903). But not until fairly recently did annual giving become the main element in education's financial survival kit. The development was logical. Big endowments had been affected by inflation. Big private philanthropy, affected by the graduated income and inheritance taxes, was no longer able to do the job alone. Yet, with the growth of science and technology and democratic concepts of education, educational budgets had to be increased to keep pace.

Twenty years before Yale's first alumni drive, a professor in New Haven foresaw the possibilities and looked into the minds of alumni everywhere:

"No graduate of the college," he said, "has ever paid in full what it cost the college to educate him. A part of the expense was borne by the funds given by former benefactors of the institution.

"A great many can never pay the debt. A very few can, in their turn, become munificent benefactors. There is a very large number, however, between these two, who can, and would cheerfully, give according to their ability in order that the college might hold the same relative position to future generations which it held to their own."

The first Yale alumni drive, seventy years ago, brought in $11,015. In 1959 alone, Yale's alumni gave more than $2 million. Not only at Yale, but at the hundreds of other institutions which have established annual alumni funds in the intervening years, the feeling of indebtedness and the concern for future generations which the Yale professor foresaw have spurred alumni to greater and greater efforts in this enterprise.

AND MONEY FROM ALUMNI is a powerful magnet: it draws more. Not only have more than eighty business corporations, led in 1954 by General Electric established the happy custom of matching, dollar for dollar, the gifts that their employees (and sometimes their employees' wives) give to their alma maters; alumni giving is also a measure applied by many business men and by philanthropic foundations in determining how productive their organizations' gifts to an educational institution are likely to be. Thus alumni giving, as Gordon K. Chalmers, the late president of Kenyon College, described it, is "the very rock on which all other giving must rest. Gifts from outside the family depend largely—some times wholly—on the degree of alumni support."

The "degree of alumni support" is gauged not by dollars alone. The percentage of alumni who are regular givers is also a key. And here the record is not as dazzling as the dollar figures imply.

Nationwide, only one in five alumni of colleges, universities, and prep schools gives to his annual alumni ceived more of it from their alumni than ow education's strongest financial rampart fund. The actual figure last year was 20.9 per cent. Allowing for the inevitable few who are disenchanted with their alma maters' cause,* and for those who spurn all fund solicitations, sometimes with heavy scorn,† and for those whom legitimate reasons prevent from giving financial aid,§ the participation figure is still low.

WHY? Perhaps because the non-participants imagine their institutions to be adequately financed.
(Virtually without exception, in both private and tax-supported institutions, this is—sadly—not so.) Perhaps because they believe their small gift—a dollar, or five, or ten—will be insignificant. (Again, most emphatically, not so. Multiply the 5,223,240 alumni who gave nothing to their alma maters last year by as little as one dollar each, and the figure still comes to thousands of additional scholarships for deserving students or substantial pay increases for thousands of teachers who may, at this moment, be debating whether they can afford to continue teaching next year.)

By raising the percentage of participation in alumni fund drives, alumni can materially improve their alma maters' standing. That dramatic increases in participation can be brought about, and quickly, is demonstrated by the case of Wofford College, a small institution in South Carolina. Until several years ago, Wofford received annual gifts from only 12 per cent of its 5,750 alumni.
Then Roger Milliken, a textile manufacturer and a Wofford trustee, issued a challenge: for every percentage-point increase over 12 per cent, he'd give $1,000. After the alumni were finished, Mr. Milliken cheerfully turned over a check for $62,000. Wofford's alumni had raised their participation in the annual fund to 74.4 per cent—a new national record.

"It was a remarkable performance," observed the American Alumni Council. "Its impact on Wofford will be felt for many years to come."

And what Wofford's alumni could do, your institution's alumni could probably do, too.

* Wrote one alumnus: "I see that Stanford is making great progress. However, I am opposed to progress in any form. Therefore I am not sending you any money."

† A man in Memphis, Tennessee, regularly sent Baylor University a check signed "U. R. Stuck."

§ In her fund reply envelope, a Kansas alumna once sent, without comment, her household bills for the month.

memo: from Wives to Husbands

► Women's colleges, as a group, have had a unique problem in fund-raising—and they wish they knew how to solve it.

The loyalty of their alumnae in contributing money each year—an average of 41.2 per cent took part in 1959 —is nearly double the national average for all universities, colleges, junior colleges, and privately supported secondary schools. But the size of the typical gift is often smaller than one might expect.

Why? The alumnae say that while husbands obviously place a high value on the products of the women's colleges, many underestimate the importance of giving women's colleges the same degree of support they accord their own alma maters. This, some guess, is a holdover from the days when higher education for women was regarded as a luxury, while higher education for men was considered a sine qua non for business and professional careers.

As a result, again considering the average, women's colleges must continue to cover much of their operating expense from tuition fees. Such fees are generally higher than those charged by men's or coeducational institutions, and the women's colleges are worried about the social and intellectual implications of this fact. They have no desire to be the province solely of children of the well-to-do; higher education for women is no longer a luxury to be reserved to those who can pay heavy fees.

Since contributions to education appear to be one area of family budgets still controlled largely by men, the alumnae hope that husbands will take serious note of the women's colleges' claim to a larger share of it. They may be starting to do so: from 1958 to 1959, the average gift to women's colleges rose 22.4 per cent. But it still trails the average gift to men's colleges, private universities, and professional schools.

©RICH HARTMANN, MAGNUM

for the Public educational institutions, a special kind of service

PUBLICLY SUPPORTED educational institutions owe a special kind of debt to their alumni. Many people imagine that the public institutions have no financial worries, thanks to a steady flow of tax dollars. Yet they actually lead a perilous fiscal existence, dependent upon annual or biennial appropriations by legislatures. More than once, state and municipally supported institutions would have found themselves in serious straits if their alumni had not assumed a role of leadership.

► A state university in New England recently was put in academic jeopardy because the legislature defeated a bill to provide increased salaries for faculty members. Then the university's "Associate Alumni" took matters into their hands. They brought the facts of political and academic life to the attention of alumni throughout the state, prompting them to write to their representatives in support of higher faculty pay. A compromise bill was passed, and salary increases were granted. Alumni action thus helped ease a crisis which threatened to do serious, perhaps irreparable, damage to the university.

► In a neighboring state, the public university receives only 38.3 per cent of its operating budget from state and federal appropriations. Ninety-one per cent of the university's $17 million physical plant was provided by p-

The Beneficiaries:

Students on a state-university campus. Alumni support is proving invaluable in maintaining high-quality education at such institutions.

ate funds. Two years ago, graduates of its college of medicine gave $226,752 for a new medical center—the largest amount given by the alumni of any American medical school that year.

Several years ago the alumni of six state-supported institutions in a midwestern state rallied support for a $150 million bond issue for higher education, mental health, and welfare—an issue that required an amendment to the state constitution. Of four amendments on the ballot, it was the only one to pass.

In another midwestern state, action by an "Alumni Council for Higher Education," representing eighteen publicly supported institutions, has helped produce a $13 million increase in operating funds for 1959-61—the most significant increase ever voted for the state's system of higher education.

SOME ALUMNI ORGANIZATIONS are forbidden to engage in political activity of any kind. The intent is a good one: to keep the organizations out of party politics and lobbying. But the effect is often to prohibit the alumni from conducting any organized legislative activity in behalf of publicly supported education in their states.

"This is unfair," said a state-university alumni spokesman recently, "because this kind of activity is neither shady nor unnecessary."

"But the restrictions—most of which I happen to think are nonsense—exist, nevertheless. Even so, individual alumni can make personal contacts with legislators in their home towns, if not at the State Capitol. Above all, in their contacts with fellow citizens—with people who influence public opinion—the alumni of state institutions must support their alma maters to an intense degree. They must make it their business to get straight information and spread it through their circles of influence.

"Since the law forbids us to organize such support, every alumnus has to start this work, and continue it, on his own. This isn't something that most people do naturally—but the education of their own sons and daughters rests on their becoming aroused and doing it."

a matter of Principle

ANY WORTHWHILE INSTITUTION of higher education, one college president has said, lives "in chronic tension with the society that supports it." Says The Campus and the State, a 1959 survey of academic freedom in which that president's words appear: "New ideas always run the risk of offending entrenched interests within the community. If higher education is to be successful in its creative role it must be guaranteed some protection against reprisal. . ."

The peril most frequently is budgetary: the threat of appropriations cuts, if the unpopular ideas are not abandoned; the real or imagined threat of a loss of public—even alumni—sympathy.

Probably the best protection against the danger of reprisals against free institutions of learning is their alumni: alumni who understand the meaning of freedom and give their strong and informed support to matters of educational principle. Sometimes such support is available in abundance and offered with intelligence. Sometimes—almost always because of misconception or failure to be vigilant—it is not.

For example:

An alumnus of one private college was a regular and heavy donor to the annual alumni fund. He was known to have provided handsomely for his alma mater in his will. But when he questioned his grandson, a student at the college, he learned that an economics professor not only did not condemn, but actually discussed the necessity of borrowing for the national debt. Grandfather threatened to withdraw his support unless the professor ceased uttering such heresy or was fired. (The professor didn't and wasn't. The college is not yet certain where it stands in the gentleman's will.)

When no students from a certain county managed to meet the requirements for admission to a southwestern university's medical school, the county's angry delegate to the state legislature announced he was "out to get this county"—the vice president in charge of the university's medical affairs, who had staunchly backed the medical school's admissions committee. The board of trustees of the university, virtually all of whom were alumni, joined other alumni and the local chapter of the American Association of University Professors to rally successfully to the v.p.'s support.

► When the president of a publicly supported institution recently said he would have to limit the number of students admitted to next fall's freshman class if high academic standards were not to be compromised, some constituent-fearing legislators were wrathful. When the issue was explained to them, alumni backed the president's position—decisively.

► When a number of institutions (joined in December by President Eisenhower) opposed the "disclaimer affidavit" required of students seeking loans under the National Defense Education Act, many citizens—including some alumni—assailed them for their stand against "swearing allegiance to the United States." The fact is, the disclaimer affidavit is not an oath of allegiance to the United States (which the Education Act also requires, but which the colleges have not opposed). Fortunately, alumni who took the trouble to find out what the affidavit really was apparently outnumbered, by a substantial majority, those who leaped before they looked. Coincidentally or not, most of the institutions opposing the disclaimer affidavit received more money from their alumni during the controversy than ever before in their history.

IN THE FUTURE, as in the past, educational institutions worth their salt will be in the midst of controversy. Such is the nature of higher education: ideas are its merchandise, and ideas new and old are frequently controversial. An educational institution, indeed, may be doing its job badly if it is not involved in controversy, at times. If an alumnus never finds himself in disagreement with his alma mater, he has a right to question whether his alma mater is intellectually awake or dozing.

To understand this is to understand the meaning of academic freedom and vitality. And, with such an understanding, an alumnus is equipped to give his highest service to higher education; to give his support to the principles which make higher education free and effectual.

If higher education is to prosper, it will need this kind of support from its alumni—tomorrow even more than in its gloriously stormy past.

ideas are the merchandise of education, and every worthwhile educational institution must provide and guard the conditions for breeding them. To do so, they need the help and vigilance of their alumni.

Ahead:

ROLAND READ

The Art

of keeping intellectually alive for a lifetime will be fostered more than ever by a growing alumni-alma mater relationship.

WHETHER THE COURSE of the relationship between alumni and alma mater? At the turn into the Sixties, it is evident that a new and challenging relationship—of unprecedented value to both the institution and its alumni—is developing.

► If alumni wish, their intellectual voyage can be continued for a lifetime.

There was a time when graduation was the end. You got your diploma, along with the right to place certain initials after your name; your hand was clasped for an instant by the president; and the institution's business was done.

If you were to keep yourself intellectually awake, the No-Doz would have to be self-administered. If you were to renew your acquaintance with literature or science, the introductions would have to be self-performed.

Automation is still the principal driving force. The years in school and college are designed to provide the push and then the momentum to keep you going with your mind. "Madam, we guarantee results," wrote a college president to an inquiring mother, "—or we return the boy." After graduation, the guarantee is yours to maintain, alone.

Alone, but not quite. It makes little sense, many educators say, for schools and colleges not to do whatever they can to protect their investment in their students—which is considerable, in terms of time, talents, and money—and not to try to make the relationship between alumni and their alma maters a two-way flow.

As a consequence of such thinking, and of demands issuing from the former students themselves, alumni meetings of all types—local clubs, campus reunions—are taking on a new character. "There has to be a reason and a purpose for a meeting," notes an alumna. "Groups that meet for purely social reasons don't last long. Just because Mary went to my college doesn't mean I enjoy being with her socially—but I might well enjoy working with her in a serious intellectual project." Male alumni agree; there is a limit to the congeniality that can be maintained solely by the thin thread of reminiscences or small-talk.

But there is no limit, among people with whom their a new Challenge, a new relationship education "stuck," to the revitalizing effects of learning. The chemistry professor who is in town for a chemists' conference and is invited to address the local chapter of the alumni association no longer feels he must talk about nothing more weighty than the beauty of the campus elms; his audience wants him to talk chemistry, and he is delighted to oblige. The engineers who return to school for their annual homecoming welcome the opportunity to bring themselves up to date on developments in and out of their specialty. Housewives back on the campus for reunions demand—and get—seminars and short-courses.

But the wave of interest in enriching the intellectual content of alumni meetings may be only a beginning. With more leisure at their command, alumni will have the time (as they already have the inclination) to undertake more intensive, regular educational programs.

If alumni demand them, new concepts in adult education may emerge. Urban colleges and universities may step up their offerings of programs designed especially for the alumni in their communities—not only their own alumni, but those of distant institutions. Unions and government and industry, already experimenting with graduate-education programs for their leaders, may find ways of giving sabbatical leaves on a widespread basis—and they may profit, in hard dollars-and-cents terms, from the results of such intellectual re-charging.

Colleges and universities, already overburdened with teaching as well as other duties, will need help if such dreams are to come true. But help will be found if the demand is insistent enough.

► Alumni partnerships with their alma mater, in meeting ever-stiffer educational challenges, will grow even closer than they have been.

Boards of overseers, visiting committees, and other partnerships between alumni and their institutions are proving, at many schools, colleges, and universities, to be channels through which the educators can keep in touch with the community at large and vice versa. Alumni trustees, elected by their fellow alumni, are found on the governing boards of more and more institutions. Alumni "without portfolio" are seeking ways to join with their alma maters in advancing the cause of education. The representative of a West Coast university has noted the trend: "In selling memberships in our alumni association, we have learned that, while it's wise to list the benefits of membership, what interests them most is how they can be of service to the university."

► Alumni can have a decisive role in maintaining high standards of education, even as enrollments increase at most schools and colleges.

There is a real crisis in American education: the crisis of quality. For a variety of reasons, many institutions find themselves unable to keep their faculties staffed with high-caliber men and women. Many lack the equipment needed for study and research. Many, even in this age of high student population, are unable to attract the quality of student they desire. Many have been forced to dissipate their teaching and research energies, in deference to public demand for more and more extracurricular "services." Many, besieged by applicants for admission, have had to yield to pressure and enroll students who are unqualified.

Each of these problems has a direct bearing upon the quality of education in America. Each is a problem to which alumni can constructively address themselves, individually and in organized groups.

Some can best be handled through community leadership: helping present the institutions' case to the public. Some can be handled by direct participation in such activities as academic talent-scouting, in which many institutions, both public and private, enlist the aid of their alumni in meeting with college-bound high school students in their cities and towns. Some can be handled by making more money available to the institutions—for faculty salaries, for scholarships, for buildings and equipment. Some can be handled through political action.

The needs vary widely from institution to institution—and what may help one may actually set back another. Because of this, it is important to maintain a close liaison with the campus when undertaking such work. (Alumni offices everywhere will welcome inquiries.)

When the opportunity for aid does come—as it has in the past, and as it inevitably will in the years ahead—alumni response will be the key to America's educational future, and to all that depends upon it.

alumni-ship

JOHN MASEFIELD was addressing himself to the subject of universities. "They give to the young in their impressionable years the bond of a lofty purpose shared," he said; "of a great corporate life whose links will not be loosed until they die."

The links that unite alumni with each other and with their alma mater are difficult to define. But every alumnus and alumna knows they exist, as surely as do the campus's lofty spires and the ageless dedication of educated men and women to the process of keeping themselves and their children intellectually alive.

Once one has caught the spirit of learning, of truth, of probing into the undiscovered and unknown—the spirit of his alma mater—one does not really lose it, for as long as one lives. As life proceeds, the daily mechanics of living—of job-holding, of family-rearing, of mortgage-paying, of lawn-cutting, of meal-cooking—sometimes are tedious. But for them who have known the spirit of intellectual adventure and conquest, there is the bond of the lofty purpose shared, of the great corporate life whose links will not be loosed until they die.

This would be the true meaning of alumni-ship, were there such a word. It is the reasoning behind the great service that alumni give to education. It is the reason alma maters can call upon their alumni for responsible support of all kinds, with confidence that the responsibility will be well met.

THE ALUMNUS/A

The material on this and the preceding 1 pages was prepared in behalf of more than 35 schools, colleges, and universities in the United States, Canada, and Mexico by the staff listed below, who have formed EDITORIAL PROJECT FOR EDUCATION, INC., through which to perform this function. E.P.E., INC., is a non-profit organization associated with the American Alumni Council. The circulation of this supplement is 2,900,000.

DAVID A. BURR
The University of Oklahoma

GEORGE J. COOKE
Princeton University

DAN ENDSLEY
Stanford University

DAN H. FENN, JR.
Harvard Business School

RANDOLPH L. FORT
Emory University

J. ALFRED GUEST
Amherst College

L. FRANKLIN HEALD
The University of New Hampshire

CHARLES M. HELMKEN
Saint John's University

JEAN D. LINEHAN
American Alumni Council

MARALYN ORBISON
Swarthmore College

ROBERT L. PAYTON
Washington University

FRANCES PROVENCE
Baylor University

ROBERT M. RHODES
Lehigh University

WILLIAM SCHRAMM, JR.
The University of Pennsylvania

VERNE A. STADTMAN
The University of California

FREDERIC A. STOTT
Phillips Academy (Andover)

FRANK J. TATE
The Ohio State University

ERIK WENSBERG
Columbia University

CHARLES E. WIDMAYER
Dartmouth College

REBA WILCOXON
The University of Arkansas

CHESLEY WORTHINGTON
Brown University

★

CORBIN GWALTNEY
Executive Editor

HAROLD R. HARDING
Assistant Secretary-Treasurer

★

All rights reserved; no part of this supplement may be reproduced without the express permission of the editors. Copyright © 1960 by Editorial Projects for Education, Inc., Room 411, 1785 Massachusetts Ave., N.W., Washington 6, D.C. EDITORIAL ADDRESS: P.O. Box 5653, Baltimore 10, Md. Printed in U.S.A.

SALUTE TO DUAL DEVELOPMENT FUND CAMPAIGNERS

- Abronski, Jr., Raymond W. ('52)
 Adams, Mary L. ('56)
 Adamucci, Richard ('57)
 Adcock, George B. ('36)
 Ague, Jr., Charles W. ('51)
 Ahlgren, Mr. and Mrs. Hugo
 Ake, John N. ('55)
 Ake, Thomas B. ('24)
 Anderson, Carolyn ('58)
 Androski, William A. ('38)
 Apfelbaum, Sidney ('42)
 Appleyard, James H. ('54)
 Arbogast, Jr., F. Leon ('40)
 Armstrong, Mr. ('14) and Mrs. ('17)
 Earle B.
 Armstrong, Theodore R. ('43)
 Arter, Malcolm E. ('49)
 Asbby, Arthur A. R. ('43)
 Askey, William H. ('41)
 Backstrand, Clifford J.
 Bacon, Edwin F. ('47)
 Bailey, Alan S. ('56)
 Bailey, Clyde P. ('29)
 Bailey, John L. ('53)
 Baker, David M. ('48)
 Baker, Edna M. ('21)
 Baker, J. Richard ('50)
 Baker, Warren J. ('41)
 Baldrige, Hon. Thomas J. ('95)
 Balling, Robert C. ('47)
 Bancel, Mrs. David A. ('47)
 Battle, Richard C. ('47)
 Barbour, E. Loretta ('28)
 Barto, William N. ('35)
 Bates, J. B. ('15)
 Batten, Jr., Richard W. ('43)
 Batteon, Dr. Robert A. ('49)
 Beale, Mrs. John R. ('48)
 Bechtel, Mrs. Donald C. ('23)
 Bechtel, Edwin ('55)
 Beckworth, Mrs. Evelyn M. ('30)
 Beisel, John N. ('53)
 Bell, Robert K. ('20)
 Bell, William ('43)
 Benedict, Fred E. ('17)
 Bennett, Robert R. ('52)
 Bergen, Mrs. Lee D. ('55)
 Berger, Seymour P. ('46)
 Bergin, Jr., Mr. ('56) and Mrs. ('57)
 Joseph M.
 Berringer, Robert T. ('56)
 Bertrand, Mrs. Ellen Clarke (H'54)
 Bickel, M. Martha ('32)
 Bidelspacher, Charles R. ('33)
 Bidlack, Kenneth A. ('29)
 Bigler, Harold S. ('48)
 Bigler, Ray P. ('16)
 Bishop, Esther E. ('37)
 Blair, Alexander C. ('51)
 Block, Dr. Leonard ('47)
 Blue, John ('48)
 Boedker, Grier Y. ('49)
 Bogert, John R. ('13)
 Bolter, Eugene ('54)
 Bond, Isabelle ('15)
 Borden, Arthur R. ('50)
 Bordeo, Lester ('59)
 Bove, John L. ('49)
 Bowen, Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm
 Boyer, Miss Billie J. ('57)
 Boyer, Willis D. ('48)
 Bozarth, Jack ('50)
 Bradley, Wesley A. ('47)
 Brady, Mrs. Edward J. ('46)
 Brewen, Alice M. ('58)
 Brook, Dr. Detlev W. (H'57)
 Broome, Walter G. ('40)
 Brough, Ralph E.
 Brown, Jr., Albert L. ('35)
 Brown, Banks D. ('41)
 Brown, Jr., William B. ('28)
 Brown, III, William B. ('55)
 Bryan, Mr. and Mrs. Isaiah G.
 Bunting, C. Harold ('52)
 Bunting, Charles T. ('23)
 Callenberger, Dr. George J. ('43)
 Campbell, W. Rand ('43)
 Camm, Thomas W. ('41)
 Cannon, Barr ('39)
 Cannon, J. Frank ('44)
 Cardarelli, Louis ('34)
 Carey, William O. P. ('48)
 Carhart, E. Marter ('54)
 Carlier, Philip R. ('54)
 Carpenter, Mrs. Walter ('21)
 Carr, Thomas J. ('49)
 Casden, Dr. Daniel D. ('42)
 Catherman, Robert L. ('54)
 Chalfant, Mr. ('19) and Mrs. ('17)
 Alexander
 Chukla, Joseph ('47)
 Clark, Clifford W. ('50)
 Clark, Jr., James O. ('42)
 Clark, John B. ('48)
 Clark, Hon. Joseph S.
 Clark, M. Howard ('33)
 Cleary, George M. ('49)
 Clement, Thomas R. ('58)
 Clouser, Isabelle L. ('38)
 Coale, Sr., Mr. and Mrs. William D.
 Colahan, Jr., Mrs. Joseph E. ('41)
 Coleman, R. H. ('29)
 Coleman, Dr. William H.
 Colteryahn, Walter P. ('49)
 Colwell, Mrs. Miles ('41)
 Cook, Jr., John B. ('29)
 Coren, Lewis ('39)
 Cowles, Jr., S. Clinton ('43)
 Crago, Paul H. ('30)
 Crist, Glenwood J. ('41)
 Culler, William H. ('33)
 Daly, Jr., William A. ('49)
 Danzenbaker, John D. ('41)
 Davies, John Norman ('26)
 Davies, Dr. Stanley P. ('12)
 Davis, Jr., Mr. ('41) and Mrs. ('41)
 John W.
 Davis, Mrs. M. Lillian ('24)
 Davis, Preston B. ('28)
 Davis, Mrs. Walter M. ('48)
 Dawson, Robert M. ('23)
 Dawson, William H. J. ('36)
 Deacon, Earle W. ('37)
 Decker, John C. ('36)
 Dennis, Jr., Mr. ('38) and Mrs. ('39)
 Chester A.
 Derr, Herbert N. ('21)
 Derr, Ralph B. ('17)
 Detwiler, Jr., Abram C. ('53)
 Devore, Richard G. ('49)
 Diemand, John A. (H'55)
 Dill, Jr., Mrs. E. Lamont ('48)
 Dill, Robert W. ('27)
 Dinsmore, Mrs. Paul M. ('41)
 DiPace, Joseph ('33)
 Doebler, W. Sherman ('49)
 Doescher, N. Gregory ('53)
 Donahoe, Robert H.
 Donehower, Robert W. ('42)
 Donnally, Miss Ruth E. ('36)
 Dorrell, Rev. Harold M. ('14)
 Doughty, Dr. and Mrs. Edward O.
 Downer, Harlan A. ('29)
 Duerger, L. Edward ('47)
 Duerig, Mrs. Alfred W. ('48)
 Dunn, Jr., Mrs. George F. ('55)
 Dunn, Jack L. ('40)
 Duryea, Jr., Alvin E. ('56)
 Eaton, Jr., Charles A. ('60)
 Eberenz, Mrs. William J. ('30)
 Eberhart, Paul M.
 Ebersole, Mark C.
 Eisle, Sarah E. ('60)
 Eldred, Arthur R. ('59)
 Engelhardt, August H. ('59)
 Ertel, Luther ('54)
 Esch, Mrs. A. Glenn ('37)
 Evans, Harold
 Exstein, Louis H. ('48)
 Eyster, Lewis A. ('17)
 Fadden, Gerald F.
 Farina, Alfred J. ('51)
 Farina, Nicholas A. ('34)
 Farrow, Jr., Charles T. ('26)
 Faust, Mrs. Robert C. ('49)
 Fawcett, Jr., David B. ('53)
 Featherstone, Arthur E. ('53)
 Fekete, Jr., Mrs. Frank ('44)
 Fenton, Dr. Ivor D. ('08)
 Fero, Mrs. L. D. ('14)
 Filer, Edwin B. ('33)
 Fink, Paul E. ('29)
 Finn, Harriet J. ('57)
 Fithian, John W. ('39)
 Flaherty, Frederick D. ('33)
 Follmer, Hon. Frederick V. ('06)
 Foster, Alexander ('48)
 Foster, J. Wallace ('25)
 Fox, Jr., Dr. Charles F. ('31)
 Fox, James A. ('58)
 Frampton, Charles W. ('31)
 France, Floyd M.
 Frankel, Volney B. ('43)
 Freas, A. Guy (H'57)
 Friedman, Leonard O. ('39)
 Frost, Mrs. Alvah G. ('06)
 Fry, Howard N. ('23)
 Fuller, Walter D.
 Furey, Jane ('36)
 Gale, Charles W. ('15)
 Gallant, Mr. ('56) and Mrs. ('57)
 Gary G.
 Galt, Mrs. Roger H. ('20)
 Garinger, Mrs. John W. ('48)
 Garrett, Jr., Robert Y. ('26)
 Garris, Theodore ('35)
 Garten, Thomas L. ('47)
 Gault, Jr., John C. ('39)
 Gaventa, Katherine E. ('27)
 Gehring, W. George ('23)
 Gerber, Joseph M. ('55)
 Gerla, Marvin ('43)
 Ginsburg, Irving R. ('56)
 Glaser, Mr. and Mrs. Henry J.
 Glaser, Philip ('46)
 Glover, Donald W. ('41)
 Gold, John S. ('18)
 Goldman, Harry H. ('35)
 Goldstein, Dr. Louis S. ('27)
 Goldightly, Dr. William D. ('25)
 Goodman, Ronald B. ('54)
 Gorby, Mrs. Donald L. ('54)
 Grabowski, Sidney ('15)
 Graham, Lloyd R. ('47)
 Gravell, George ('51)
 Graybill, Jr., Irvin ('49)
 Greulich, Wilmer D. ('34)
 Grice, Herbert C. ('18)
 Grieco, Joseph V. ('40)
 Griffith, Daniel F. ('36)
 Grimes, William C. ('11)
 Grisbaum, Mrs. Leon K. ('48)
 Groover, Clair G. ('15)
 Grose, Earl R. ('44)
 Grove, Mrs. George W. ('18)
 Haddon, Roger S. ('47)
 Hadtke, Dr. and Mrs. Charles P.
 Hafetz, Aaron I. ('57)
 Hagerman, W. Ross ('26)
 Hagerman, Jr., William R. ('57)
 Haggerty, Barbara A. ('51)
 Hain, George R. ('43)
 Haines, Mrs. C. William ('25)
 Hall, Mrs. Charles H. ('18)
 Hall, Craig M. ('51)
 Hamilton, Jr., Frederick B. ('41)
 Hamlin, Frank D. ('48)
 Harbeson, Roland F. ('34)
 Hardy, Dr. and Mrs. Vernal R.
 Harris, Mrs. Douglas M. ('57)
 Harris, Michael ('50)
 Harrison, Jr., Arthur D. ('54)
 Harrison, Wayne S. ('51)
 Harsh, A. W. ('20)
 Hartman, Edwin H. ('35)
 Hartzell, Rev. ('41) and Mrs. ('41)
 Howard G.
 Harvey, Robert E.
 Hassrick, Romain C. ('06)
 Hastings, Berkeley V. ('13)
 Hauber, Fordyce C. ('30)
 Heaton, Thomas H. ('39)
 Heim, Robert C. ('24)
 Heim, William A. ('44)
 Henderson, George D. ('33)
 Hennel, Mrs. Allan K. ('53)
 Herder, C. Edward ('57)
 Herpst, Rolland C. ('47)
 Hershberger, Jr., Harold D. ('54)
 Hess, John F. ('51)
 Hess, Mr. and Mrs. Justin H.
 Hester, Jack ('50)
 Hetler, Willard R. ('27)
 Heysham, Jr., Theodore ('25)
 Hildreth, Mrs. Alan E. ('19)
 Hildreth, Hon. Horace (H'56)
 Hill, Jr., Walter L. ('23)
 Hinmao, Robert M. ('54)
 Hoffman, Benjamin ('52)
 Hogan, Hoo. Howard T. ('29)
 Holler, Jr., Mrs. Clyde C. ('42)
 Holton, Jr., G. Allen ('54)
 Hooven, Morris D. ('20)
 Horsman, K. W. ('27)
 Horter, John M. ('29)
 Housekeeper, Robert M. ('51)
 Houseknecht, Mrs. H. W. ('12)
 Hughes, Janice ('59)
 Horwitz, David L. ('47)
 Ingram, Mrs. James F. ('58)
 Irvin, William J. ('22)
 Irving, Sally Ann ('47)
 Ivey, Arthur R. ('45)
 Ivey, Curtis L. ('52)
 Irwin, Raymond K. ('47)
 Jaffe, Melvin ('40)
 Jenkins, Jr., Harry L. ('35)
 Johnson, Mrs. Edward B. ('47)
 Johnson, Jr., Mrs. George W. ('55)
 Johnson, John C. ('04)
 Johnston, Jr., Chester A. ('45)
 Jones, Allen F. ('25)
 Jones, George H. ('24)
 Jones, Harry ('23)
 Josephans, Barbara A. ('56)
 Kalp, Charles W. ('29)
 Kammer, Edwin P. ('48)
 Kandle, Edward A. ('40)
 Kearney, Arthur ('53)
 Kearsh, Dean A. ('44)
 Keith, Russell M. ('50)
 Kelley, John M. ('58)
 Kelly, Mrs. Emily Devine ('21)
 Kennedy, Charles H. ('49)
 Kerr, Betty J. ('56)
 Kessler, Robert C. ('48)
 Kildare, William ('42)
 Killian, Paul S.
 Killian, Dr. Thomas J.
 Killouth, III, Mrs. Robert ('53)
 Kimball, Jr., Warren ('52)
 King, Edward R. ('33)
 Kinney, Jr., Arthur D. ('56)
 Klemm, Richard H. ('53)
 Kline, Mrs. Arch T. ('18)
 Knouse, Holman G. ('17)
 Knowles, Mrs. Bettie S. ('38)
 Knowles, Malcolm ('37)
 Kober, Mrs. Stavelly B. ('52)
 Kohlhas, Mrs. Harry R. ('54)
 Koplik, Dr. Benjamin S. ('42)
 Kramer, Daniel D. ('48)
 Kreis, Jr., Philip ('56)
 Kress, Rush H. ('00)
 Kressler, Russell L. ('31)
 Kritis, Mr. ('54) and Mrs. ('55)
 Anthony G.
 Krzywicki, Anthony A. ('48) and
 Mrs. ('46)
 Kuschell, Charles J. ('27)
 Labov, Shirley R. ('55)
 Lady, Mrs. Andrew ('51)
 Laher, Joseph ('25)
 Lamade, George R.
 Lamon, Warren H. ('50)
 Landis, Roy H. ('22)
 Larson, Charles A. ('51)
 Larson, Mr. ('50) and Mrs. John
 Laucks, Joseph C. ('27)
 Laudenslager, Mrs. William ('32)
 Lauderbaugh, Mr. ('27) and Mrs. ('27)
 Albert B.
 Lawson, Lawrence ('22)
 Lawson, Mr. ('48) and Mrs. ('47)
 Lawrence
 Layden, Dr. Paul W. ('46)
 Leaber, Chester R. ('19)
 Leezer, Samuel J. ('31)
 Leigh, Mrs. Philip C. ('57)
 Leister, Mrs. John S. ('55)
 Leitner, Joseph ('49)
 Lemler, Stanley R. ('40)
 Lenker, John J. ('37)
 Lerner, Thomas L. ('52)
 Lesperance, Theodore W. ('50)
 Lewis, Thomas G. ('28)
 Lewis, Warren R. ('42)
 Lightholder, Jr., C. T. ('57)
 Liming, William ('33)
 Lindberg, Ernest O. ('14)
 Logue, Dr. James G. ('37)
 Lomeo, James E. ('50)
 Long, D. Eugene ('29)
 Long, Mrs. Fred J. ('52)
 Long, George W. ('24)
 Lose, III, Mr. ('37) and Mrs. ('36)
 Charles R.
 Lose, John J. ('50)
 Loth, Bernard M. ('33)
 Lower, George H. ('53)
 Luck, Russell M. ('48)
 Lyons, Robert L.
 McCartney, Richard L. ('56)
 McCormick, Jr., Joseph W. ('26)
 McCracken, Dr. Robert J.
 McCullough, Sr., Mr. and Mrs. Harold N.
 McFadden, Mrs. William ('35)
 McGee, George V. ('38)
 McGraw, Rev. Bruce G. ('39)
 McHail, Bruce A. ('26)
 McHail, P. Richard ('41)
 McKay, William W. ('49)
 McKee, Thomas R. ('49)
 McKim, Robert V. ('49)
 McLaughlin, Robert ('48)
 MacIntyre, Herbert E. ('50)
 Mackey, Barton H. ('18)
 MacPherson, Mr. ('44) and Mrs. ('44)
 Ronald H.
 Mahaffey, Mrs. Carolyn M. ('25)

- Malcom, Arthur H. ('45)
Maloney, Martin J. ('39)
Mandel, Martin E. ('32)
Mangan, Thomas J. ('21)
Mannix, Thomas C. ('49)
Mansuy, Dr. Matthew M. ('41)
Marantz, I. Clint ('48)
Marino, Mrs. Thomas A. ('48)
Marks, E. Robert ('47)
Marsh, Jr., H. Montgomery ('28)
Marshall, Stanley C. ('42)
Marter, Jr., Mr. ('32) and Mrs. ('31)
Cyrus D.
Mason, Horace W. ('31)
Mason, Joseph S. ('52)
Mathews, John C. ('33)
Mathewson, Mrs. Christy ('01)
Mathias, Mrs. Margaret P. ('08)
Mathias, Roy P. ('39)
Mathieson, Andrew R. ('20)
Mauger, K. Frederick ('53)
Mausteller, Dr. J. Wilson ('44)
Mercedith, Jr., Frank S. ('53)
Miles, Mrs. Thomas M. ('39)
Miller, Dr. Bruce J. ('27)
Miller, Edward H. ('44)
Miller, George J. ('48)
Miller, Jr., Harry S. ('52)
Miller, Jr., James R. ('51)
Miller, Ned A. ('53)
Mills, Donald S. ('32)
Moir, William E. ('36)
Molof, Alan H. ('49)
Moore, Mr. ('50) and Mrs. John C.
Moore, Mrs. Frank W. ('46)
Moore, Mrs. W. Calver ('24)
Morris, Jr., George ('57)
Morris, John H. ('59)
Morrow, Martha M. ('26)
Morse, Ira S. ('37)
Motteran, Mrs. Ernest E. ('49)
Moyer, III, Mrs. John L. ('45)
Murphy, Bertram S. ('52)
Musser, Dr. William T. ('51)
Myers, Leon ('44)
Nahles, Corine V. ('44)
Nangle, Robert S. ('50)
Neff, Mr. ('52) and Mrs. ('50)
William II.
Nesbit, Dr. Samuel M. ('37)
Newcum, Nancy ('56)
Newman, Robert G. ('38)
Nicodemus, Dr. Roy E. ('25)
Nieman, Roger E. ('58)
Nogle, Elizabeth ('28)
Nothel, Jr., John F. ('49)
Oakley, Kenneth W. ('19)
O'Brien, Mrs. Charles ('31)
Odgers, Dr. Merle M.
Olds, Jerry P. ('52)
O'Neill, Mrs. Wiswell ('22)
Orbell, Jr., Mrs. C. A. ('45)
Ormsby, Ross R. ('27)
Orr, Wallace
Ott, Glenn E. ('20)
Pangburn, Dr. Edward W. ('15)
Pangburn, James A. ('20)
Parker, Barry T. ('54)
Paterson, J. Nyce ('26)
Payne, W. Guy ('09)
Peoples, Jr., John W. ('50)
Peters, Mr. ('34) and Mrs. ('34)
J. Gordon
Polliard, John C. ('59)
Posner, Ralph M. ('40)
Posner, Dr. Robert ('44)
Potter, Paul G. ('26)
Pratt, Dr. Burt C. ('33)
Purnell, Mrs. John S. ('50)
Pursley, Louis A. ('28)
Ragusan, Jr., Frank J. ('34)
Rahe, Fred ('36)
Rainey, Homer P.
Ramsay, Mrs. James G. ('33)
Ranck, Bruce O. ('18)
Ranck, Lee S. ('41)
Ranck, Samuel C. ('50)
Rasmuson, Mrs. Silas S. ('40)
Rathmell, Mrs. John ('39)
Reamer, Francis F. ('21)
Reichley, Otto W. ('01)
Reish, George E.
Reish, Mrs. Ralph ('33)
Replogle, Mr. ('26) and Mrs. ('27)
James S.
Rhoades, William A. ('49)
Richards, Dr. Earl M. ('13)
Richards, Rev. Thomas B. ('37)
Richter, Richard M. ('55)
Rickart, John C. ('52)
Riesmeyer, A. Henry ('27)
Rink, Robert W. ('41)
Rise, Dr. Wilson S. ('30)
Roash, Mr. ('44) and Mrs. ('46)
Nicholas A.
Roberts, L. Alice ('24)
Robey, Dr. Louis W. ('04)
Rogers, Jr., Charles S. ('52)
Rohrs, Walter F. ('39)
Rommelt, Raymond R. ('34)
Rooke, Robert L. ('13)
Roselle, James T. ('46)
Rosenberg, Dr. Norman J. ('50)
Rouner, Mrs. Arthur ('18)
Ryan, Richard A. ('51)
Sacks, Jay L. ('57)
Sacks, Sanford J. ('56)
Sager, Harold L. ('38)
Sangston, Dr. Russel E. ('26)
Schad, Harry G. ('58)
Schad, Robert G. ('61)
Schalick, Jr., Arthur P. ('42)
Scheule, Harold J. ('43)
Schnorbis, Mrs. Susan H. ('56)
Schnure, Fred O. ('16)
Schnure, Jr., Fred O. ('42)
Schnure, Robert B. ('40)
Scott, Hon. Hugh
Scott, Mrs. Richard R. ('47)
Scott, Mr. ('54) and Mrs. ('54)
Victor F.
Scott, Jr., William ('51)
Seeber, Gurney C. ('19)
Seebach, Jr., Julius F. ('20)
Seidel, Richard F. ('37)
Semlear, Mrs. Robert H. ('49)
Sharp, Joel A. ('49)
Shelley, Penn P. ('53)
Sherk, Mrs. A. Lincoln ('20)
Shirk, Andrew J. ('51)
Shirley, John T. ('09)
Sholl, Mr. ('42) and Mrs. ('43)
Donald II.
Shorin, Edward E. ('49)
Shott, John H. ('22)
Shott, III, John H. ('50)
Showalter, Mr. ('31) and Mrs. ('33)
Paul M.
Showalter, Thelma J. ('29)
Sieber, John R. ('50)
Silvers, Olivia J. ('96)
Simms, James ('42)
Simon, Arthur L. ('54)
Simpson, James R. ('31)
Sinclair, Robert ('52)
Sipley, Charles B. ('22)
Skavish, Jr., Martin G. ('52)
Slifer, David K. ('60)
Slifer, Mr. ('26) and Mrs. ('27)
Kenneth W.
Slocum, Warren H. ('20)
Small, Jr., Harry C. ('48)
Smeltzer, W. Paul ('47)
Smink, Robert D. ('26)
Smith, Jr., A. Crossley ('31)
Smith, Mrs. Joseph ('74)
Smith, J. Randle ('50)
Smith, Robert M. ('50)
Snyder, Dr. ('31) and Mrs. ('31)
Charles P.
Snyder, E. A.
Snyder, Harry C. ('52)
Snyder, Mr. ('42) and Mrs. ('41)
Robert A.
Sordoni, Hon. Andrew J. ('50)
Spear, Donald E. ('58)
Speare, William E. C. ('20)
Speer, Jr., Mr. ('57) and Mrs. ('56) E. C.
Sponagle, Alvin B. ('44)
Spragg, II, Walter S. ('52)
Sprague, Robert M. ('45)
Sprague, Mrs. George R. ('50)
Springer, Richard ('49)
Stabler, Jr., Andrew W. ('51)
Stahl, Merle C. ('50)
Steele, Laurence G. ('57)
Steelman, Mrs. Ellwood A. ('41)
Stern, George N. ('40)
Stevens, Mrs. Aldrich J. ('45)
Stevens, Wendell R. ('34)
Stevenson, Mr. ('52) and Mrs. ('51)
Wayne M.
Stewart, Jr., Sloan G. ('58)
Stille, Mrs. Charles C. ('55)
Stolarz, Lester D. ('39)
Stolz, Donald P. ('41)
Storer, Alexander ('17)
Strang, Lester S. ('47)
Streitz, George A. ('31)
Stroh, F. Francis ('39)
Stumbaugh, James E. ('50)
Summerill, Mrs. Thomas C. ('26)
Swartz, William E. ('54)
Tedeschi, Reginald J. ('53)
Teno, Mrs. Edward ('50)
Teter, Robert H. ('41)
Thompson, Howard M. ('52)
Thompson, Mr. ('55) and Mrs. ('56)
Jerome M.
Thurston, Mr. and Mrs. ('23) Charles K.
Titus, Zimmerman, Walter J. ('48)
Toews, Howard A. ('53)
Troast, Paul L. ('52)
Trout, Jr., Mr. ('50) and Mrs. ('50)
David M.
Tugwell, R. G.
Turner, Mr. and Mrs. Charles D.
Turon, Martin S. ('49)
Ulrich, Walter C. ('51)
Unger, Roland L. ('51)
Van Tuyl, Jr., George H. ('31)
Vincent, Jr., Thad S.
Vogel, Charles I. ('37)
Von Heill, Leonard S. ('52)
Von Heill, William H. ('47)
Waddell, Jr., Robert N. ('50)
Wagner, Charles V. ('59)
Wagner, F. Porter ('47)
Wagner, Henry C. ('49)
Wagner, W. Frank ('26)
Waldner, Craig M. ('40)
Waldron, John B. ('53)
Walgran, Robert E. ('49)
Walls, Mr. ('29) and Mrs. ('31) Kirby
Walker, Mr. ('53) and Mrs. ('54)
John R.
Walthour, J. Regis
Warden, Maxwell R.
Warner, Mrs. George E. ('39)
Warner, William B. ('10)
Watts, Harold S. ('48)
Webb, J. Alexander ('47)
Webber, Willard W. ('50)
Wehle, Paul G.
Weidner, Harold E. ('39)
Wells, Edward T.
Wells, William ('50)
Wendt, Nelson E. ('34)
Wertheim, Mrs. Edward L. ('31)
West, Mrs. Edward ('43)
White, General Thomas D.
White, William R. ('26)
Whitelock, J. Robert ('46)
Wightman, Harry F. ('35)
Wigington, Mrs. Louie M. ('49)
Wihtal, Mrs. Adolf ('24)
Wilkinson, E. Wallace ('29)
Williams, David H. ('47)
Williams, Dr. Harry H. ('27)
Williams, Dr. Howard K. ('03)
Williams, T. Cortlandt ('20)
Wilson, Charles E.
Wilson, James R. ('42)
Wilson, A. Thomas ('47)
Vilson, John H. ('43)
Vilson, Mrs. William R. ('54)
Winter, II, Dr. John C. ('40)
Winter, Jr., Dr. Theron A. ('54)
Wittmer, Edward F. ('35)
Wolensky, William ('50)
Wood, Jr., Thomas ('37)
Woodring, W. Guy ('23)
Wyant, Corbin W. ('58)
Wyckoff, Richard H. ('38)
Yon, Arthur R. ('17)
York, Donald E. ('51)
Yost, John H. ('42)
Zanarini, Gene A. ('35)
Zeller, III, John F. ('41)
Zeigler, Donald J. ('51)
Zimmerman, Mrs. James F. ('49)
Zimmerman, Walter J. ('48)
Zold, Mrs. Geza G. ('38)

ABOUT THE MATCHING CORPORATE ALUMNUS PLAN

Many alumni can achieve a doubling of their pledges and gifts to the Dual Development Fund if they are employed by a company that has an alumnus gift matching policy as a part of its aid to education pattern. Many businesses and corporations have such matching policies. Other companies might be persuaded to match an alumnus or parent gift if asked to do so.

Some plans allow for matching of gifts to educational institutions by any donor, whether alumnus, parent, or friend. Some companies limit the amount matched; others have no limits.

ABOUT THE LIFE INCOME PLAN

Several alumni have used the Life Income Plan to make endowment gifts to Bucknell as their part in the Dual Development Fund Campaign. It is a means of giving and investing whereby a donor can be both prudent and generous. The plan is available to non-alumni friends of Bucknell, too.

ABOUT MEMORIAL AND NAME OPPORTUNITIES

The Dual Development Fund Campaign offers many memorial and name opportunities both in the area of endowments and in the areas of residence hall remodellings and the new administration center.

Printed pamphlets and information on Memorial and Name Opportunities, the Corporate Matching Plan, and the Life Income Plan are available from

THE DEVELOPMENT OFFICE
BUCKNELL UNIVERSITY
Lewisburg, Pa.

CLASS REPORTS

(Continued from Page 10)

start repaying my debts, so came down to Los Angeles in January, 1913, and was fortunate to enter one of the prominent offices here. I remained connected with it for about 25 years and since that time have been conducting my own establishment. I am a member of the American and local Bar Associations and am admitted to practice in all California courts and in the Supreme Court of the U. S."

(Ed. Note: Allan was recently named a 33rd degree Mason. We were very glad to see him at our 50th reunion last June.)

MR. AND MRS. SHUPE

On October 4, 1959, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Shupe (Myrtle Walkinshaw '09) celebrated the 50th anniversary of their wedding which took place October 7, 1909. An "Open House" was arranged by their three children, Mrs. Philip H. Ihrig (Virginia W. Shupe '34), Mrs. Chalsmer K. Brown (Charlotte L. Shupe '36) and Dr. D. Ralston Shupe '39. Dr. John T. Shirley '09, was one of the guests at the happy occasion. We wish many more years of health, wealth and happiness to these lovely people.

Please send news of activities, travels, etc., to address listed above before July 10, 1960.

10 MISS MILDRED B. CATHERS
100 W. 33rd Street, Apt. 6
Bayonne, N. J.

REUNE IN JUNE — 1960

REUNION PARTY AND SUPPER

June 3, 1960

6:30 P. M.

Home of

Mr. and Mrs. Jay P. Mathias

Lewisburg

Saturday I had a brief but happy visit with the Rockwells—Dr. Leo '07 and Vera '11. He has been asked to return to Florida Southern University as a visiting professor again next year, he told me, so they will have another winter in the southland.

A wonderful program for our "50th" has been planned by Weaver Pangburn, with the able assistance of Butt, McDonough, Cranmer, Jenner, Bell, Gorton, Street, Eva Weddle, and Sara Way, working on the booklet. Reunion begins with a supper Friday evening at the beautiful home of one of Weaver's nephews, J. P. Mathias '35, so be on the hill in good time Friday afternoon. Saturday's plans are equally interesting — more about those when you arrive; we must have something for a surprise.

Ethel Watkins writes that she expects to be with us. Ethel took up weaving as a hobby shortly before her retirement and now devotes much time to her loom, making really lovely things. She has been president of the Guild of Hand Weavers and Craftsmen of Northeastern Pennsylvania.

Sara Ray Way expects to be with us for our "50th" and with her will come Mr. and Mrs. Palmer M. Way, Jr., and son Martin. In two years Martin will be ready for college and he's anxious to see Bucknell as a prospective Alma Mater.

Emily Lane Yoder is at her winter home in Sarasota, Fla., now but will be back in Huntingdon soon and is looking forward to being with us June 3-5. Her hobby is art and she really works at it.

Winnie Dickson Hardgrove is another loyal class member who will be with us at reunion time. On July 11 she is to start on a round-the-world tour with some off-beat places on her itinerary such as Central Africa, New Zealand, etc.

We're sorry our class prexy, Paul Abraham, had to return to the hospital but hope by June he'll be well and able to be with us.

Sorry I can't report more class members who plan to return but we shall hope to have them with us in Lewisburg by Friday afternoon, June 3.

ALUMNI WEEK END

Eastern Daylight Saving Time

FRIDAY, JUNE 3

- | | | |
|---------------|---|--|
| 2:00 p. m. } | Registration and Housing | Bertrand Library |
| 12:00 p. m. } | | |
| 1:00 p. m. } | EARLY BIRD GOLF MATCH sponsored by the Class of 1950 | |
| 5:00 p. m. } | (Green fees to be paid by individual) | University Golf Course |
| 6:30 p. m. } | Buffet Supper Meeting for Club and Class Presidents, Fund Workers and Class Reporters | Swartz Hall (John Houghton Harris Dining Hall) |
| 6:30 p. m. } | Trustee Dinner | University Cafeteria |
| 7:00 p. m. } | RELAX WITH A SWIM | Freas-Rooke Swimming Pool |
| 10:00 p. m. } | | Davis Gymnasium |
| 7:30 p. m. } | Meeting of Board of Directors | Room B117, Coleman Hall |
| | The General Alumni Association | |
| 8:00 p. m. } | Trustee Committee Meetings | |
| | Finance Committee | Room B206, Coleman Hall |
| | Instruction Committee | Room B214, Coleman Hall |
| 9:00 p. m. } | "LET'S HAVE ANOTHER CUP OF COFFEE" | |
| 12:00 p. m. } | Meeting place for all classes | The Bison Snack Bar, Walker Street |

SATURDAY, JUNE 4

- | | | |
|---------------|--|---|
| 9:00 a. m. } | Registration and Housing | Bertrand Library |
| 11:30 a. m. } | | |
| 12:00 m. } | Registration | Davis Gymnasium |
| 3:00 p. m. } | | |
| 8:00 a. m. } | BISON CLUB BREAKFAST | Lewisburg Club, 131 Market Street |
| 8:30 a. m. } | Phi Beta Kappa Breakfast | St. Andrew's Episcopal Church, Route No. 15 |
| 9:00 a. m. } | University Board of Trustee Meeting | Room 202, Bertrand Library |
| 9:30 a. m. } | ALUMNI ASSEMBLY | University Theatre, Coleman Hall |
| 10:30 a. m. } | ALUMNI CLASS MEETINGS | (As Assigned) |
| 12:00 m. } | Parade of Reunion Class Members | Lit Road |
| 12:15 p. m. } | ANNUAL ALUMNI REUNION LUNCHEON | Davis Gymnasium |
| 3:00 p. m. } | Individual Reunion Class Socials | (As Assigned) |
| 2:30 p. m. } | Cool, Cool Dip in the Pool | Freas-Rooke Swimming Pool, Davis Gymnasium |
| 4:00 p. m. } | | |
| 6:00 p. m. } | Fraternity and Sorority Symposia | (As Arranged by Organizations) |
| 8:30 p. m. } | CAP AND DAGGER PRODUCTION , University Theatre, Coleman Hall | "The Crucible" by Arthur Miller |
| 9:00 p. m. } | COMMENCEMENT JAMBOREE (All-campus Get-together, Entertainment, Refreshments, Dancing) | Davis Gymnasium |

SUNDAY, JUNE 5

- | | | |
|---------------|--------------------------------------|---------------------|
| 10:00 a. m. } | ANNUAL BACCALAUREATE SERVICES | Davis Gymnasium |
| 2:00 p. m. } | ANNUAL COMMENCEMENT EXERCISES | Academic Quadrangle |
| | (In Case of Rain—Davis Gymnasium) | |

Although I've been down in sunny Florida for the past few weeks, I've been in touch with Bucknellians and plan to attend the St. Petersburg Alumni Club picnic on March 26 where I shall be greeting old friends. Over in Lakeland, Fla., last

ATTENTION GOLFERS

Because golf has become more and more popular for students and residents of the Lewisburg area, and in order to protect the nine hole Bucknell course from overcrowding, it has become necessary to discourage play by outsiders by raising the greens fee to $4.50 on Wednesday afternoons and week ends. Alumni are never "outsiders," however, and are always welcome. A special "guest rate" of $3.00 is available to holders of "guest cards" which can be obtained on application at the Alumni Office or at the Alumni Registration Desk on Alumni Day and Homecoming.

12

MRS. H. W. HOUSEKNECHT
(Maze Callahan)
108 W. Penn St.
Muncy, Pa.

It's spring according to the calendar. It's "Christmas in May" according to my report. There are "left overs."

Violet Wetterau Naumann writes— "Sorry to hear of your spill—be sure to take good care of yourself. Florence is 101 years old. A wonderful woman and how fortunate Alice and Muff are to have her. We were shocked to read of the plane crash in Montoursville. I think we shall stick with train traveling. Happy holidays to you both."

"Was so sorry to hear you were ill. I do hope you are up and skipping around by this time. It seems such a long time to wait for five years to see good friends. I just am unable to count five years quickly enough." Love, Ruby.

"Don't take off too much weight or you won't be able to get down the hill in '62. Sorry to hear you have been having trouble. Poor Pop, he has the diets too! If I don't recognize you, whatever you do, please speak to me. Best wishes for a Happy Christmas season." Pearl.

P. S. You know I believe that Pearl is a little jealous that I'm going to have such a "swell" figure.

Louise Sieber '43 (Kathryn Oldt Pawling's daughter) wanted me to let Pop eat for Christmas. Try to stop him.

1912 has had a little hard luck the past year. Last Christmas—1958—Fred Iglar went to the hospital with a coronary. In September, 1958, Art Waltz broke his arm and was in a hospital in Antigonish, Nova Scotia. Vic Schmid had a bad coronary two years ago—was in and out of the hospital for several months. He was forced to retire from his coaching position. Frank Hean was a surgical patient in the Harrisburg Hospital this year. If we keep this up we won't even have a foursome to answer to roll call in 1962.

This time I am glad for a few "left overs," as I have been out of circulation for about two months.

Pop and I had a bout with the "flu." We occupied the "honeymoon suite" in the Muncy Valley Hospital for a couple of weeks. Why certainly we had flowers, but we also had bedpans, urinals, blood pressure apparatus, chest X-rays, hypos, blood sugars, electrocardiogram, cough medicine, an assortment of pills, 1200 calorie diet with a little ice water and orange juice thrown in.

Gee, I'm glad we're here to write this report.

32

13

REV. GEORGE F. HAINES
324 Market St.
Lewisburg, Pa.

Red Hawkins reports that he has no news about himself but says, "The annals of the happy and contented are uninteresting." But in these days it is indeed news to find a happy and contented man.

Leslie (Heavy) Stout and wife spent three months in Florida last year. In St. Petersburg, Fla., he received a card from Rabbi Glover and requested he look up the address of a party who had sent him a Christmas card but failed to sign his name. Guess who? Our own Clay Sanders and wife. One day the Stouts and Sanders went out for steak dinners served family style. Leslie reports that Clay had to be carried from the table. The Stouts also met George Campuzano at St. Petersburg, Fla.

Mrs. Walter D. Rhoads (Joletta Arthur) of Macon, Ga., reports she is in good health but stays close to home except when she visits her children in Savannah, Ga.

H. G. W. Smith is enjoying his retirement—raising flowers, talking with children and helping the wife with the dishes. He says he is finally coming to understand why on earth Bucknell required the reading of Cicero's De Senectute fifty years ago.

Dr. and Mrs. O. V. W. Hawkins (Marion K. Harman '14) of New York City, have given the University their attractive, completely furnished and equipped three-bedroom lodge "Hawkinsonia" in the Pocono Mountains for use as a retreat for study, rest, recuperation and relaxation for faculty members and administrators. Their gift is made "In memory of those grand men of the faculty from 1909 through 1914" when both donors were undergraduates.

John Bogert plans to return to the campus in June. If you have not seen Bucknell's "New Look" you should return to see how Bucknell has grown. Your reporter can only report the news YOU send him.

14

MRS. H. B. WEAVER
(Dora Hamler)
348 Ridge Ave.
New Kensington, Pa.

From John Luke Gehman's interesting Christmas letter comes the following quotation:

"What with all the anniversaries and reunions, a notable one had to be foregone. This was the 45th year of John Luke's graduation from Bucknell. His classmates were most eager to have him come to swell the attendance of this special anniversary. Our preoccupation with church work prevented us from entering into this memorable event. We assured them, however, that his presence would be felt(?) at the fiftieth annual reunion. No doubt by that time his physical appearance will have undergone such marked changes that he will be compelled to present his United States Passport to assure them that he is a bona fide member of the class. For as a result of Jessie's excellent cuisine, it is generally said even now

"His waistline has increased a bit—

An inch or so each year.

His sweet wife now refers to it

As 'hubby's hemisphere!'"

15

MISS MARION R. BANCROFT
1308 Ninth St.
Altoona, Pa.

REUNE IN JUNE—1960

Plans for our 45th reunion are moving along. Jere Bates, chairman, is really stirring up enthusiasm. Ed Pangburn reports that we start off with dinner, June 3, at

REUNION DINNER

June 3, 1960

7:00 P. M.

HOTEL MILTON

6:30 P. M., at the Milton Hotel and that the committee has big plans for class activities on June 4.

To date I have had word that these class members plan to be present—T. B. Williams, Harold C. Edwards, Mark Walter, "Tip" and Rae ('17) Topham, Ira Dunkle, Helen Eede McQuay.

T. B. Williams has been ill for the past year but hopes to get his doctor's O.K. to make the trip to Lewisburg. His family consists of three boys and one girl, all Bucknellians and married. His address is 200 Coventry Road, Fairless Hills.

Harold C. Edwards, who maintains law offices in Stroudsburg, has recently been elected president of the Monroe County Bar Association. He was admitted to the Bar in that county forty years ago. He has two daughters: one, in the Navy for eighteen years, is stationed in the Philippines; the other is married to a student who will be graduated from Dickinson School of Law this year.

A new $2,000,000 junior high school in Denver, Colo., was dedicated March 10 and named the "John B. Rishel Junior High School" in memory of our classmate who had served the Denver schools faithfully for 32 years. Andrew T. Lobel '32 of Englewood, Colo., long-time friend of Mr. Rishel, was invited by Dr. Odgers to represent Bucknell University at the dedication of the new school.

16

THE REV. ERIC A. OESTERLE, D.D.
114 East 188th St.
New York 68, N. Y.

By this time it is generally known that one of our finest classmates is dead. Other space in this issue will be devoted to his memory in an ampler detail than is here allowed. He was one grand guy. Dr. Dayton L. Ranck, our class president, died at his Lewisburg home on March 10.

We heard from Louie Park and Cecilia "Kit" (Kitlowski) Starzynski this past Christmas. Louie's greeting was simply signed while Cecilia wrote of her doings. She has seen Wade '15 and Winifred (Miller '15) Earle in Sarasota, Fla. Who knows what T. B. T. means? I have listened to Helen '14 talk in her sleep but it has never come out what the letters mean concerning the tight little sorority of Cecilia, Winifred and Helen. Out of 30 candidates, Cecilia's son ranked second in the final exams in plastic and reconstructive surgery at the Graduate Hospital in Philadelphia. The young doctor was wed December 31.

As for us, we are going into semi-retirement the last of the year and that includes this column.

17

MRS. ERLE M. TOPHAM
(C. Ray Speare)
425 W. Sedgwick St.
Philadelphia 19, Pa.

Brick and Ysabelle Yon spent their vacation this year in Fort Lauderdale, Fla. Just before leaving, Ysabelle broke her arm and had it in a cast during the entire vacation. However, both enjoyed the rest and will reopen their Atlantic City "Flinders" on April 13. Good luck folks, we'll be seeing you.

MAY 1960

Frances Hilgert Higgs (Mrs. John) of Conshohocken is planning for a nice trip to California and Hawaii. She expects to visit some friends and to call on some Bucknell acquaintances on the way.

Marie Volkmar has retired from Germantown High School this year. However, for the first term she substituted almost all term in the Philadelphia High School for Girls. When I talked to her early in February she had just finished this assignment but probably by now she has taken on another one.

Dick Thomas is still a very busy man for the telephone company. He and Mary have moved to the Thomas Wynne Apts. in Wynnewood.

Our Philadelphia Bucknell Alumni dinner at the Drake was a fine party. Sorry to report only 100 in attendance and no other "seventener" among them. All present reported a very fine time and were delighted with the speeches by John Zeller '41 and Bob Odell. This was my first chance to hear John and he certainly gave us a wonderfully enlightening talk on Bucknell. He made her purpose very real to all of us. It certainly should make us all feel that we want to help in every way, so that our Alma Mater will reach her goal.

18

MRS. LAYTON E. KING
(Elizabeth Champion)
10 N. Loyalsock Ave.
Montoursville, Pa.

Hasn't anyone in the Class of 1918 done anything, gone anywhere, had new grandchildren? Surely something has happened to someone that isn't top secret. How about giving me the dope?

Jessie Potts Kline and husband, Arch, enjoyed a visit in Florida earlier this year. Jessie reports that she had a nice visit with Hazel Gay Bailey in Dunedin, Fla.

As I said, news is scarce, so I will talk about myself. In May I will complete a two-year stint as president of the Williamsport Branch of American Association of University Women. Am contemplating going into retirement — having spent a good many years doing all kinds of things for all kinds of organizations. Think that the time has come for me to sit back and watch the next generation get in their licks.

Now is the time to start planning to come back to Bucknell for Alumni time. This isn't our reunion year—we have our next one in 1963—but it is fun to get back and see what is happening to Bucknell, and recall old times, places and faces.

20

MR. HAYES L. PERSON
60 S. Third St.
Lewisburg, Pa.

REUNE IN JUNE — 1960

REUNION BUFFET DINNER

June 3, 1960

6:30 P. M.

SUSQUEHANNA VALLEY
COUNTRY CLUB

Dr. Morris D. Hooven of 21 Clairidge Court, Montclair, N. J., has been promoted to the recently created position of consulting engineer in the electrical engineering department of the Public Service Electrical and Gas Company. Quoting Morris, "Human interest: My daughter Barbara '50 is married to James Fullmer '51. My son Daniel, now at Bucknell, hopes for an A.B. in August '60."

MAY 1960

The alumni office just received a bound pamphlet of an address delivered by our classmate, Dr. Harry R. Warfel, at Yale University on the occasion of the 200th birthday of Noah Webster—October 16, 1958. The title of the pamphlet is Noah Webster and the Dawn of Linguistic Science.

In a recent letter from Les Lighton, he reports the following: "I am glad that somebody still cares. Getting replies to my letters about the coming reunion is worse than getting you out of bed for a Saturday morning class, and by the time you read this, it is too late to do anything but pack up and come to the Friday night dinner and the Saturday reunion, June 3 and 4. Since the list published in the January ALUMNUS the following, not previously mentioned, have come across with pictures and more or less information for the L'AGENDA that Warfel is editing. We expect that also means that you will be at the reunion: George Benjamin Raymond Copeland, Lewis Eaton, Marion Goho-Roth, Charles Iredell, Llewellyn Jones, Harvey Kauffman, Huston LaClair, Willard Lewis, Esta Long-Kempton, William Rolfe, John Schneider, LaVerne Shea. The list is growing slowly and from now on it looks like this is the reunion that tops them all. No use repeating here what I have been saying in letters that give you all the details. Just pack up and come."

21

MRS. ELLWOOD S. DERR
(Sara Bernhart)
1360 Jefferson Ave.
Lewisburg, Pa.

Our sympathy is extended to Edna Martin Cole whose husband George H. Cole, a prominent lawyer in Syracuse, N. Y., passed away in January. Edna's address is 201 Manor Dr., Syracuse 3, N. Y.

Hannah Madison Townsend's new address is 205 S. Market St., Muncy. At this writing she is returning from a Caribbean cruise and a visit with her daughter who resides in Puerto Rico.

22

MRS. GEORGE C. WOLFE
(Ruth H. Brown)
60 S. 2nd St.
Lewisburg, Pa.

Elaine E. Hill retired from teaching in Clayton, N. J., in June, 1959, and is district director of the Mu Phi Epsilon, national music sorority, with offices in Williamsport. She recently completed the biennial inspection of the 26 chapters of the Atlantic Province including those in the deep South which she was fortunate in visiting during the recent months of cold weather we have been having here in the North. Her address is 801 West 4th St., Williamsport.

25

MRS. DANIEL HOPPER, JR.
(Mildred Francisco)
36 Van Doren Ave.
Chatham, N. J.

REUNE IN JUNE — 1960

Stop! Look back 35 years ago to when each and every one of us faced the big world with our new and well earned diploma and with an eager desire to make good. Come and renew those bonds and memories at our reunion June 3-5.

A letter arrived from across the country stating that "Mandy," Ruth Mandeville Aydelatt will fly in to see Bucknell and her many friends again. Surprising as it seems, "Mandy" is a new grandmother. With many other classmates, we also look forward to seeing Bea Mettler, and Mary Schilling Berg, our class secretary.

Charlotte Bosler Ellis is unable to return, as she is accompanying her husband on a tour of the continent and England

In Montgomery Ward Company's progressive steps toward future expansion, Charles J. Kushell, Jr. '27 was recently named president of two wholly-owned subsidiaries — the Montgomery Ward Credit Corporation and the Montgomery Ward Real Estate Corporation.

Mr. Kushell has been vice president—Finance Department of Montgomery Ward and Company since 1956.

Mr. and Mrs. Kushell (Isabelle C. Morrison '26) have one son, Charles John, Jr., and three grandchildren. They live at 1320 North State Parkway, Chicago 10, Ill.

and Wales. While touring, Charlotte will collect material for her stories and will also visit the music centers of the continent.

Remember our campus in the springtime. Come back and enjoy our greater Bucknell. We will be looking for you.

26

MISS ANNA L. BROWN
45 Wildwood Ave.
Pitman, N. J.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth W. Slifer (Caryl R. Dutton '27) were the recipients of the Brotherhood Award presented by the Goodwill Council of Gloucester County in New Jersey. The plaque inscription cites the Slifers as "being the epitome of those whose very lives exemplify brotherhood."

27

MRS. L. H. COLLISON
(Grace M. Pfeifer)
Marydel, Md.

LeRoy Horton of 8260 Westmoreland Dr., Sarasota, Fla., has had a most eventful year in 1958. He is now settling down on his Florida estate to enjoy the fruit of his labor! First thing was the wedding of his son, Bradley, who is a student in mechanical engineering at the University of Illinois. His daughter, Barbara, is also attending the same school and is in her junior year in home economics. While stowing away his children safely in college he and his good wife (Selena Reif '25) made plans and directed the building of a beautiful home way down south! They moved to Sarasota in October and at this writing have just completed seeding their lawn and planting the shrubbery so all is in readiness for Bucknell classmates to help share the beauties of Florida sunshine with them!

Mrs. Earl Sisson (Marion G. Coe) of Factoryville, is a professional social worker who has served Scranton and Dunmore

Jack V. Dorman '34 has been appointed assistant general superintendent of rolling and finishing at the United States Steel Gary Works, in Gary, Ind.

Jack joined U. S. Steel as a metallurgical observer at Homestead District Works in Munhall in 1934. Moving to the structural division of the plant in 1936, he advanced to assistant division superintendent before receiving an appointment as assistant to the general superintendent in 1949. Jack was named division superintendent of central maintenance in 1955, and division superintendent of slab and plate in March, 1958.

Jack and his wife Bernadine are parents of Janet Kay, who was born August 25, 1942, and John Vincent, who was born July 9, 1946.

The Dorman's address is Gary Hotel, Apt. 720, Gary, Ind.

from 1943 to 1953 with Family Service Association of America as executive secretary. She recently has been appointed executive director of the Planned Parenthood Organization of Lackawanna County, which is affiliated with the Planned Parenthood Federation of America, Inc. Dr. William D. Golightly '25 is one of the members of the group's Clergy Advisory Committee.

During the early part of May, Katherine and Bertha '30 Gaventa entertained thirteen of their Bucknell classmates at a luncheon at their home in Pedricktown, N. J. It was a grand "can that be you" time for all of us, many who hadn't seen each other for a quarter of a century when our waist lines were a bit trimmer! The party was voted a huge success and all of us most heartily recommended Bertha and Kitty as delightful hostesses. Those present were: Betty Hettinger Harrison '28, Ruth Heritage Stanton '28, C. Arlene Kimball '27, Edith Freed Stein, Grace Milhous Merrick, Betty McHose Robb '29, Mary Gettys Dock '26, Martha Thomas Natale '28, Polly Ware Ackley '28, Jane Beakley Down '28, Grace Pfeifer Collison, Kitty Gaventa and Bertha Gaventa '30.

Donald Wagner has changed his address from Hummelstown to 56 S. 5th St., Lewisburg. His son, Lynn, is enrolled in the Class of '63 at Bucknell. When any of the class is in Lewisburg, Don sends a hearty invitation to drop in for a visit.

Mrs. James S. Replogle (Veta D. Davis) has been appointed class fund manager.

28

MRS. H. MONTGOMERY MARSH, JR.
(Lorraine Martin)
60 Prospect Hill Ave.
Summit, N. J.

Mrs. E. D. Carstater (Marie Helwig) is now serving as assistant principal for instruction in the Falls Church High School. This 1600 pupil school is one of the 10 high schools of the Fairfax County system in the suburban Washington, D. C., area.

30

MRS. BERNARD F. KLOSTERMAN
(Emmalyn Y. Fuller)
23 Leathers Road
South Fort Mitchell, Ky.

REUNE IN JUNE — 1960

P. Kepner Jarrett will retire at the end of this school year after 40 years in the educational field, 33 years of which was spent in the Sunbury schools. He plans to spend his retirement indulging in his various hobbies along with some rest and travel.

By this time you have been well alerted of our 30th reunion on June 3 and 4. Word from Francis Moerschbacher, chairman of the reunion committee, has received a report from Bill and Gertie Emmitt that the reunion book questionnaires have been flooding the mail. Have you sent yours?

Francis reports an exciting week end is in store for all of us so plan now to return in June. The alumni office will be sending reservation forms for tickets and housing during the month of April. When you receive yours, don't delay, fill it in and return it to the alumni office promptly.

See you in June.

31

MRS. W. ZELMAN SLEIGHTER
(Ruth J. Thomas)
833 Chestnut St.
Mifflinburg, Pa.

Mrs. John D. Plant (Metta E. Allen) completed an ambitious project, the result of an idea she has held for more than 20 years. Following a recent major operation in which the leaders of her left arm were removed (the right hand having previously become paralyzed) she finished a 6 foot by 7 foot oil painting, "A Silent Sermon," done in memory of members of her family. The painting was presented to and dedicated in the Presbyterian Church of Tuckerton, N. J., and is hanging in the apex of the church. Tuckerton, N. J., is the birthplace of Mrs. Plant and the background of the painting includes the house of her birth, steeple of the church and general local scene. "Suffer Little Children to Come Unto Me" is the theme of the painting and shows Jesus Christ surrounded by children of 20 nations and attended by 4 angels. For the past 1½ years, Mrs. Plant has made her home with her daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Straley '41 (Metta F. Farrington '35) at 3419 Norton St., Hopewell, Va.

Dr. Robert S. Ingols has been elected chairman of the American Chemical Society's Division of Water and Waste Chemistry for 1960. He is the author of more than seventy scientific papers.

32

MR. ELLIS F. HULL
11 Broad St.
Allentown, N. J.

Mrs. George A. Mussina (Anna M. Weigold) was re-elected president of the Bucknell Alumni Club of Baltimore.

33

MRS. ERNEST H. ENGELHARDT
(Janet Worthington)
Irondale Place, Millville Road
Bloomsburg, Pa.

Ann Ferucci is married and living at 810 King St., San Gabriel, Calif. Dean, her husband, is an accountant with a firm that builds rigging for off-shore drilling operations. He has had a number of promotions which has made them corporate gypsies—St. Louis, Odessa, Texas, New Orleans, and now California. They adopted a boy, Bobby, now in kindergarten, and she finds time for church work, teaching in the junior department of the Presbyterian Sunday School and serving as chairman of study groups. She is currently considering serving on the staff of the county library. For this news I thank Kay, the wife of George Sandel. Kay went to high school with Ann.

Dr. John L. Mohr, professor and head of the biology department at the University of Southern California, was elected vice president of the Western Society of Naturalists, an organization of 600 biologists and zoologists. John has done considerable research work in the Arctic.

Dave Sarnier was promoted recently to associate professor at Temple University where he is promoting the cause of science education. Temple University received two grants from the National Science Foundation, totaling $50,000 to train science teachers there this summer. Dave has two daughters, Patty (10) and Debby (8), who are both looking forward to going to Bucknell. Dave saw Don Proctor and Edward King at a fund raising dinner not long ago and recognized them both after twenty-seven years.

Mrs. Pearl (Nieman) Siegel and Bob, her husband, recently returned from a seven-week trip to Europe and Israel, two weeks of which were spent in Russia. Their son is a senior at the University of Pennsylvania, and their daughter is a junior high student in Lewistown. Bob is a local attorney there.

Howard and Mavette (Carliss) Rose of Oil City are involved in the usual Red Cross, Community Chest, and P. T. A. Their two oldest boys, Howard and Bill, are at Penn State in business administration, Cathy is in 9th grade, and Mike is in 5th. They are all interested in basketball, Little League and tennis.

34

MRS. WILLIAM S. LIMING
(Ruth E. Rohr)
55 Magnolia Ave.
Garden City, L. I., N. Y.

Isadore I. Zlotkin, Esq., was re-elected president of the Bucknell Alumni Club of Monmouth-Ocean Counties, New Jersey. Izzy looked wonderful at our 25th reunion and he and his charming wife extended a welcome to any Bucknellians to visit them at 67 Center St., Freehold, N. J. Izzy got his LL.B. at Harvard.

Remember Alumni Week End, June 3-5. You're sure to meet old friends and make new ones. I'm hoping to get back, as we have a youngster almost ready for college and we'd like her to see the campus again.

35

MRS. PAUL J. DESCHANEL
(Ann W. Orr)
Chapel Wood
Gambrills, Md.

REUNE IN JUNE — 1960

REUNION PARTY

June 4, 1960

3:00 P. M.

LEWISBURG CLUB

Ed Hartman is our reunion chairman and is anxious to see as many 35'ers as possible at our reunion this year. After twenty-five years the nostalgia ought to have a stimulating effect and start the wheels moving Lewisburg-ward. Jay Mathias has made arrangements for a get-together at the Lewisburg Club on Saturday afternoon, June 4, from 3:00 to 5:00 o'clock. The class meeting will be Saturday morning at which time we will have our class election and discuss business.

Bill and Betty (Smith) Berlin send their regrets as they will be busy seeing their daughter graduate from college that week end.

I am not sure of the other committee members, but a complete reunion week end program appears in this issue, so be sure to look at it. I hope to see all of you on June 4 at which time I hope to glean a harvest of news.

36

MRS. CLYDE E. BURGEE
(Lois Montgomery)
124 S. Fifth St.
Lewisburg, Pa.

Robert V. Housel wrote a thesis in 1951 while doing graduate study in Washington, D. C., which may now result in the cutting of some of the red-tape in governmental reports. The Housels live at 440 S. Meadowcroft Ave., Pittsburgh 28.

37

MRS. PAULL W. ZIEGLER
(Mabel Nyland)
12 W. Garrison Rd., Parkside
Chester, Pa.

Ruth Ortt Slick sent a welcome letter from Winchester, Ind. Ruth is safely over a stay in the hospital and is back in routine again. Judy, Ruth's oldest, is looking forward to entering Albion College in Michigan in September. Nancy will be a high school junior and Robbie will be in the third grade. The Slick's address: 512 S. Oak St., Winchester, Ind.

THE SEAR CREW

And from Rochester, N. Y., came a letter and this tangible evidence of busy days for Rita Holbrook Sear. The Sear crew consists of Tommy, 16; Peter, 12; Kevin, 7; Brian, 5; and Amy, 18 months. When Rita sent this picture, she and her husband were on their way to Mexico to escape some of the trials of an up-state New York winter. Rita also mentions a successful Dual Development Fund campaign in their area, which had Bud Lewis '42 and our own Tom Richards as co-chairmen.

Charles O. Morris, Jr., is serving Rocky River, Ohio, as a member of the Board of Education.

Are you making plans to enjoy the campus and renew friendships on Alumni Week End, June 3-5?

I am sure all Bucknellians were saddened by the news of the death of Dr. Ranck '16. To know Dr. Ranck was to give real meaning to that often-used phrase "sympathetic understanding." I think the classes of our vintage, still struggling out from under the depression, were especially appreciative of his spirit and helpfulness. To Mrs. Ranck and the family our heart-felt sympathy.

MAY 1960

38

MRS. JOSEPH T. QUICK
(Mary Bachman)
Wrights Road, R. D. 2
Newtown, Pa.

Jack H. Candy, who has been with British Overseas Airways Corporation since 1946 following his Army service, has been promoted to district sales manager in their New York office. He left the position of sales manager in Philadelphia where he had charge of opening their new office in 1955. He is married to the former Dorothy Greenwood and has three children—Joanne, Sally and Jack. Their home is at 548 Amsterdam Ave., Ridgewood, N. J.

WHAT'S NEW?

Come on all you "'38ers!" Let's not be procrastinators. Your Bucknell friends you will not lose If you send in all your latest news.

Take a minute, paper, pen. Write a note or letter—then In the ALUMNUS you will read Of your classmate's latest word or deed.

P. S. With apologies to Bucknell's English Department.

40

MRS. JAMES A. MILLER
(Mary McCrina)
1492 Colfax Ave.
Benton Harbor, Mich.

REUNE IN JUNE — 1960

REUNION DINNER

June 4, 1960

5:30 P. M.

MILTON COUNTRY CLUB

Hur-ry! Hur-ry! Hur-ry!

Not a carnival — Alumni Week End, June 3-5. Get your reservations in early before the rush. (We have made it two times: from Michigan for the tenth reunion; from Texas for the fifteenth—so now we'll try for three. The whole family, too; they tell me they enjoy them. Anyway I plan on being there myself—family or no—so as not to spoil the record.)

Spring is the time for poets, so it is altogether fitting that at this season we learn of the publishing of a collection of poetry, These Things Are Mine (Pick Publishing Company) by Leo T. Foley (M.A.). He has long been known as "The Poet of the Poconos" and has written and published over 1,500 poems, articles and stories. In World War II he entered the Army Air Corps as a private and left it as a Lt. Colonel. He is presently an Air Force Senior Officer Instructor. In the business world he is an insurance and real estate broker.

Louis E. McKee, who is supervising principal of the Bemus Point, N. Y., schools, recently sent in a welcome letter. He had just returned from the A. A. S. A. meeting in Atlantic City, N. J. He says he looks forward to it because he always sees some Bucknellians. Last year he got so involved in a discussion with Dr. Sauvain that he walked with him almost two miles in the wrong direction on the boardwalk!

The same day as the letter from the above McKee came one from McKee

Jay C. Leff, who spent two semesters at Bucknell under the Navy V-12 program in 1943, recently made the columns of Life magazine.

The February 22, 1960, issue of Life carried a two-page article (pages 8-9) entitled "Faces by Forgotten Artists." The collection, which is the world's largest private collection of primitive and archaic sculpture, was shown for the first time in the galleries of Carnegie Institute in Pittsburgh on October 16, 1959. Jay's extensive collection of exotic art has been carefully selected by him—every piece of the nearly 1000 objects having been the object of careful individual study.

Jay is president of the Fayette National Bank and Trust Company of Uniontown, a post he has held since 1954.

The Leffs have a daughter, Erin Hillary, 11; a son, Scott Brian, 5; and live at 10 Linden Place, Uniontown.

Rocks: where Ilaria Sterniuk Zubritzky lives. She claims she is just a "plain doctor's wife" but I take issue with that! (Of course, I've never seen the doctor.) In addition to being a housewife, she is busy with three children, substitute teaching, teaching piano at home to about fifteen students, and then Girl Scout work, P. T. A., and hospital auxiliaries. She is planning on being at the reunion.

LAST MINUTE FLASH!

A letter from Dick Shultz informs me that he is chairman for reunion arrangements. Sam Fisher has arranged that we will have a Class of '40 dinner Saturday evening, June 4, at the Milton Country Club. Preceding that, Dottie Oaks McRae plans to have us at her home in College Park . . . a gracious repeat of the wonderful get-together she gave us in 1955. These two strictly Class of '40 affairs, topping our usual class meeting and other general reunion activities planned by Bucknell, should, he says, "give us a really splendid week end on the good ol' campus."

41

MRS. WILLIAM F. HASSELBERGER
(Jean P. Steele)
605 Scott Ave.
Syracuse 3, N. Y.

After 11 years abroad with the United States Information Agency, the last 2½ years as director of the U. S. Information Service in Iceland, Donald E. Wilson has been assigned to the Armed Forces Staff College at Norfolk, Va., as a representa-

A very interesting letter from Dr. James Justice '54 has been forwarded to us by Mr. Forrest D. Brown, secretary of the Christian Association at Bucknell.

Jim is medical officer for the U. S. Public Health Service on St. George Island, off the northern coast of Alaska. At the present time, St. George is owned by the federal government and managed by the Fish and Wildlife Service of the Department of Interior. The Pribilof Islands are famous for the fur seals and each year about five million dollars in tanned seal furs is harvested. This money goes to the new state of Alaska.

Dr. Justice operates a new six-bed hospital containing a laboratory, x-ray room, surgery room, outpatient clinic, dentistry room and three wards. His staff consists of a native girl who acts as clerk, nurse and assistant; and a janitor who also does the laundry and maintenance.

Jim started a hypertensive clinic and found twenty natives, from a total population of 240 persons in the village, who had hypertension. He comments, "This is quite an interesting problem and may be related to the high sodium chloride content of the water."

Jim tells of the Christmas season among the Aleuts and of their customs. He has recorded on tape the singing of ancient slavic counterpoint which has been unchanged since the early Christian days of the Byzantium Empire. Culturally, there is a mixture of old customs of unknown origin, Russian Orthodox religion and typical United States fads (even rock 'n roll). Modern hobbies have replaced the ancient skills of ivory carving and grass weaving.

Jim receives mail via a weekly air drop, which is a big event. He says "Keep the letters coming—they are better than sunshine." Address: St. George Island, Pribilof Islands, Alaska.

tive of the USIA. He will go to Washington, D. C., in July, 1960, for duty with the Agency.

42

MRS. THOMAS R. DIETZ
(Germaine B. Pepperman)
83 Nutt Rd.
Phoenixville, Pa.

Was absolutely amazed to get an air mail letter from Jeanne Rockwell Noonan from Ireland, for I did not know that her Ed had been awarded one of the 100 Fulbright teacher exchange posts. They are living in Ulster, finding it very cold (fireplace heat only) but extremely interesting. Keith, their son, is attending the same school where Ed teaches and finds it most challenging. Such a life sounds far from dull, for Rock is on leave now from her post at the Eastern Michigan University, where she did public relations work last year. Their address (until June 15) is J. R. Noonan, 7 Abbeydale Park, Belfast 14, Northern Ireland.

One Sunday morning not too long ago, Allen Beck and his family stopped in our little restaurant for a hamburger while they were hunting the home of a friend. Unfortunately, I was not there, but they left a note, and I was overjoyed the other day to have his wife, Dottie (Short '45), stop in with a friend while I was there. She tells me they are moving closer to us, in the Valley Forge area, in the near future.

Jeanne and Sandy McPherson are at it again. This time they've moved to Urbana, Ill., where Sandy accepted a position as Professor of Hydraulic Engineering at the University of Illinois. Their home address is 307 Bliss Drive, Urbana, Ill. Lots of luck, Sandy, and we'll look forward to seeing you all when you get East in the summer.

Another new address (received just yesterday—in time for this issue)! Keith Eisaman: 1020 Paxtang Ave., Harrisburg.

Spencer E. Roberts is now employed by Rutgers University as chairman of the Russian Area Program. Spence also holds a second job as consultant on Scientific Russian to New Jersey Standard Oil Company.

Dr. Franklin A. Gifford, Jr., is a research meteorologist with the U. S. Weather Bureau and is serving as supervising meteorologist, Weather Bureau Office, Oak Ridge, Tenn. He and his wife (Eleanor M. Frith '41) have two sons, Mike and Bob, and live at 109 Gorgas Lane, Oak Ridge, Tenn.

43

MISS CAROLYN F. DONEHOWER
3722 Chestnut St.
Philadelphia 4, Pa.

M. Eugene Cook of 70 Oak Ridge Drive, Haddonfield, N. J., was re-elected vice president and a director of the Bucknell Engineering Alumni Association in October, 1959. Gene is a radio engineer with RCA in Camden, N. J.

Dr. Daniel R. Davies has been named coordinator of the Kellogg Foundation Project in Educational Administration at Columbia University and also has been designated as executive director of the University Council for Educational Administration. He joined the staff at the Teachers College of the University in 1945 and was named Professor of Education in 1950. He is the author of a number of published works and since 1958 he and Dr. H. M. Brickell have been publishing a monthly newsletter entitled Policy Guide for School Boards. He is married and has two daughters, Cathy and Wendy.

William A. Fairclough has been elected president of the Bucknell Alumni Club of Connecticut.

Dr. Lois M. Henneberger was elected president of the Bucknell Alumni Club of Chambersburg.

Stanley C. Marshall of 319 Broadmoor Ave., Pittsburgh 34, during the past year was elected to the following positions: president, National Press Club of Association of Industrial Advertisers; director, Pittsburgh Chapter, Association of Industrial Advertisers; director, Pittsburgh Chamber of Commerce and was appointed to "Task Force to Define the Technician" by the Instrument Society of America. (We wonder what he does in his spare time!) He is married to the former Alice Zindel '42, and has three daughters, Lisa Jo, Dianne and Laurie Ann.

44

MRS. ROBERT F. BAKER
(Honey Rhinesmith)
Lindys Lake, R. D.
Butler, N. J.

We were so pleased to find Pat Carey '50 at the door one night, and just as surprised when Bill '43 and Janet (Lawlor '43) Hawk arrived a few weeks later . . . Not long after, Bob met Ernie Querino '43 in a restaurant in Dover, N. J., and the lunch hour came close to establishing a record in length! . . . These meetings, which mean so much, need not be just chance ones if we'd all try to get a group together for Alumni Week End in June. Please think about it—it's such a nice time of year to return to the campus . . . Went to the North Jersey Alumni meeting in February and though there were too few from our era, the evening was wonderful with Coach Bob Odell (and Jane) gaining the admiration of all . . . It was great to hear Bob Keegan announced as winning pitcher for St. Louis on March 20 during spring training in Florida. We sure hope to hear many more like announcements when the regular season opens . . . Do write, somebody, PLEASE?

The Rev. John D. Bolens was ordained by the Congregational Conference of Southern California and the Southwest on his birthday, December 2, 1959. He is serving the First Congregational Church of Albuquerque, N. Mex., as minister of Christian Education.

45

MRS. BURR WILLIAMSON
(Sylvia E. Cliffe)
37 Rankin Ave.
Basking Ridge, N. J.

REUNE IN JUNE—1960

Our class is having its reunion this June, and we are hoping for a good turnout. We trust it will be a successful one in that many '45ers will want to return to see what changes have occurred since we left the campus. We who have watched the buildings rise one by one have become accustomed to the new structures, but certainly to those who have not revisited Bucknell since our last reunion, the size of Coleman Hall as seen from those long windows of Vaughan will appear to be a dream, rather than reality. We who sat in classes on the first floor of West College will not recognize that building, and will be "green with envy" at the classrooms in Coleman Hall which replaced them.

The Class of '45, like the other ones in war years, contained many people who were trying to complete a degree in as short a time as possible. Perhaps we did not learn to know each other as well as we could have in normal times, but we all have the same label when we meet in June at the reunion—alumni of Bucknell '45. I suspect we may have more in common now than then—children, careers, P. T. A., Scouts, and some of us are already planning where we will enroll our children in college.

Please try to return to Bucknell during the week end of June 3-5. The activities for the week end have been planned with all of us in mind. We are meeting at a residence hall on Saturday afternoon for a social hour so we can renew our friendships again. We are counting on you—45ers—to return to our beloved 300 acres once more.

MAY 1960

Jean A. Painter was married in January to William D. Goodrich and is living at 5450 55th St., Apt. 25, San Diego 15, Calif. She received her Master of Science degree in Business Administration from the University of California in 1959 and is teaching in the San Diego school system.

Mr. and Mrs. John F. Bacon (Phoebe G. Follmer) and their three daughters returned to the States in February after two exciting years abroad. John was executive officer for the U. S. International Cooperation Mission, Point Four Program in Baghdad, Iraq. Due to the political situation there for a time, Phoebe and the girls were evacuated to Rome where they spent a year before returning to Baghdad. They returned to the States by plane and ship with stops at Alexandria, Athens, Naples, Genoa, Marseilles and Barcelona, passing through the Strait of Gibraltar. After visiting several weeks with their "home folks," the Bacons will reside at Meadowdale Farm, Sparks, Md.

46 MRS. LELAND C. EWING
(Elizabeth J. Wells)
41 Crest Dr.
Tarrytown, N. Y.

Rita Clemens Staley writes that she spent most of the summer in a counseling and guidance training institute at the University of Utah. She is now one of five full-time counselors at Olympus High, Murray, Utah—doing educational planning and disseminating college information.

47 ROGER S. HADDON, ESQ.
243 Water St.
Northumberland, Pa.

Mr. and Mrs. William B. Fortmann (Ruth E. Merrion '46) of R. D. 3, Reading, are the parents of three children: Nancy, 12; Marjorie, 3½; and William Thomas, nearly 1 year old.

Dr. George E. Taylor has been named superintendent of schools in the Council Rock Joint School System, Newtown, beginning May 1. Prior to this appointment he was serving as school administrator in the South Middleton Township School District, Boiling Springs. He is married and has two sons: Douglas, 13; and George, 5.

48 MRS. JAMES A. BROWN
(Joann G. Gollightly)
1591 Hillcrest Terrace
Union, N. J.

In case you were wondering, Alumni Week End is June 3-5, 1960. Wouldn't you like to see some of our '48ers? And to you all, have a happy summer—take some pictures—and write me!

Robert H. Taylor has been elected president of the Bucknell Alumni Club of Philadelphia.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Reichley (Jeanne A. Grice) of 605 Winston Dr., Endwell, N. Y., recently announced the birth of their second child, Kris Annette.

Mr. and Mrs. Quentin R. Walters of 154 E. Bennett St., Kingston, welcomed a daughter, their fourth child, on October 12, 1959.

Stuart L. Coyne of 106 N. Arlington Ave., East Orange, N. J., was recently appointed manager of college relations for engineer employment with IBM. He will be responsible for the coordination of IBM engineering recruitment and related activities at colleges throughout the country.

50 MRS. DAVID MILLER
(Martha J. Kreider)
614 Penn St.
New Bethlehem, Pa.

REUNE IN JUNE — 1960

REUNION PARTY

June 4, 1960

3:00 P. M.

LEWISBURG CLUB

Mr. and Mrs. John H. Evans announce the birth of their third child, Caroline Anderson, on January 27. Jeffrey (4) and Laura (3) form the "small fry" welcoming committee at 46 Hillcrest Rd., Madison, N. J.

Pete Bricker, who organized the orchestra called "Campus Kings" while we were in school, has another orchestra that will play for the Bucknell Alumni Dance in Northern New Jersey on April 7, 1960.

Mr. and Mrs. George Akerhelm (B. Jeanne Spong) have moved to the Pittsburgh area—R. D. 2, Shryll Heights, Greensburg.

Our 10th reunion is less than one month away so let's make it a date to return to the campus June 3-5 for an entertainment-packed week end. If you have been reading Jack Evans' letters to the class you know that much planning has been done to make this a memorable week end.

You will be receiving soon from the alumni office reservation forms for your ticket and room needs at Bucknell. Also, a reservation blank is included in this issue of THE BUCKNELL ALUMNUS. Be sure to fill in one of them and return with your wife and family!

As we go to press it appears that the 1950 reunion book will be the most complete of its kind yet published for a ten-year reunion class. The response has been hearty and the staff of reporters has done a remarkable job. Assure yourself of getting a copy of this book by returning to the campus for our 10th!

We will be looking for each and every one of you on June 3-5!

51 MRS. HAROLD NORRIS
(Rebecca J. Rogers)
6 Griffiths St.
Montrose, Pa.

Although our class doesn't reunite until '61, why don't you try to get back to the campus for Alumni Week End, June 3-5? You'll meet lots of old friends since more and more alumni are returning every year instead of sitting back and waiting for their reunion years to roll around. So, follow the crowd—back to Bucknell.

James B. McQuilkin of 26 Evergreen Place, Roseland, N. J., tells us that since leaving Bucknell he is "getting older, getting fat, getting children, getting ulcers!" To be more exact, he recently has been named to the newly created position of director of education, Roche Laboratories, Division of Hoffman-LaRoche. He is married to the former Gay Murray and has three children: Torrie, 6; Gail, 4; and Carol, 2.

Arthur E. Sloat recently accepted the Regional Cup for outstanding sales achievement awarded to Johnson & Johnson's Great Lakes Sales Division of which he is manager. He is married to the former Barbara Parcell '52, has 5 children and lives at 34256 Northwick Dr., Farmington, Mich.

Philip Roth '54, who recently received the eleventh annual National Book Award in fiction for his long novella, "Goodbye, Columbus," actually began his literary career before he was graduated.

The first drafts of "The Contest for Aaron Gold," his short story which was selected as one of the "Best Short Stories of 1956," were written while Phil was still an undergraduate. And his first published short story, "The Day It Snowed," appeared in the Chicago Review magazine within months after he was graduated.

Primarily a short story writer, Phil has gained considerable recognition, both at home and abroad, for his storytelling ability. For his story "Epstein," which appeared in a 1958 issue of the Paris Review, he was awarded the Aga Khan Prize for the best story of the year. The following year he was named the winner of the Houghton Mifflin Literary Fellowship for "Goodbye, Columbus."

Prior to receiving the National Book Award this year, he was granted a Guggenheim Fellowship for creative writing in the field of fiction. He is also the second prize winner in the O. Henry Awards for his story which was selected for the forthcoming collection of "Prize Stories: 1960," edited by Mary Stegner.

Other publications in which Phil's short stories have appeared include The New Yorker, Harper's, Esquire, Commentary and Epoch.

Phil is married to the former Margaret Martinson and lives in Amagansett, L. I., N. Y.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard W. Emerick (Anne A. Schultz) of 10 Springside Rd., Middlebury, Vt., announce the birth of a son, Mark, who joins his sister Susan. Dick is town manager of Middlebury, Vt.

Herbert A. Mertz has been elected president of the Bucknell Alumni Club of Lock Haven.

Wayne S. Harrison was re-elected president of the Bucknell Alumni Club of Pittsburgh.

Kathy Fish Myers reports that husband George '49 has been appointed store manager at the B. F. Goodrich store on Main St., Niagara Falls, N. Y. The Myers' address is 37 Garlow Rd., Lewiston, N. Y., and Kathy says they'd be glad to have any Bucknell friends stop in for a visit. Their house will be the one with the four children playing in the yard — Billy, 8; Dolores, 5; Peggy, 2; and Tommy, 1.

52 MRS. JOHN S. BOULDEN, JR.
(Barbara Bleecker)
1605 Twin Maple Ave.
Towson 4, Md.

Don't forget Alumni Week End June 3-5! It's not one of our special reunion years—but more and more alumni are returning each June. Jack and I went back last year and thoroughly enjoyed seeing all the new buildings and the Cap and Dagger play in the fabulous new theater.

Mr. and Mrs. William M. Smith (Barbara Cunningham) of 4002 S. Warner Rd., Lafayette Hill, announce the birth of a son, William McClellan, Jr., on September 20, 1959.

Howland Hollar, of 5 Center St., Cresskill, N. J., recently has been appointed chief divisional cost accountant for the Union Carbide Corporation. He is married to the former Margaret McKinney and has two children, David and Deborah. His primary interests are his family, work, church, civic and youth work in his area.

Donald Scheer of 1172 Pennsylvania Ave., Winter Park, Fla., has a new position with the Agriculture Research Service of the U. S. Dept. of Agriculture. His work involves citrus breeding. He was married to the former Nancy M. Brown last August.

From Mary Grace Jones Thomas—"We have joined the happy homeowners in a lovely suburban town just outside Rochester, N. Y. Shortly before moving, we found our nearby neighbors to be Tom '59 and Liz (Sowers) Hibler and their two sons. We're close enough to make frequent visits—weather and winter colds permitting! Our new address: 26 Meadow Dr., Webster, N. Y."

Mary Ann Fritz of 4508 Sansom St., Philadelphia 39, has been awarded a graduate fellowship for study at the Bryn Mawr Graduate School. Since February, 1957, she has served as research microbiologist in the department of obstetrics and gynecology at Jefferson Medical School.

Peggy and Dave Norwine have joined the growing ranks of home owners, too. They and year and a half old Mark have moved to 522 Hort St., Westfield, N. J.

53 MRS. JAMES A. CHAMBERS, JR.
(Barbara Roemer)
58 Linden Ave.
Verona, N. J.

Mollie (Brown) and Roger Roth '52 will be moving into their new home in April and their address will be R. D. No. 1, Granville, Ohio. Their sons—Mark, Brad and Neil—are now ages five, four and one respectively.

Mr. and Mrs. John L. Schick (Ellen Herte) and their children, Butch and Nancy, are now residing at 2826 Bonnybrook Dr., S. W., Atlanta 10, Ga., while Ellen's husband attends Georgia Tech. Good to have you back in the U. S. A., Ellen!

Hugh and Ruth (Zimmerman) Brown announce a baby brother for daughter Jean. David Hugh Brown was born May 26, 1959.

Barbara (Maurer) and Bill Reitz '51 and son, Billy, have a new address—13715 Woodlark Dr., Rockville, Md.

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Becker (Bette MacDonald) announce the birth of a daughter, Martha Christina, born December 28, 1959. Bette and Larry also have two sons, Bobby and Scott. Congratulations!

38

Dr. Henry E. Berkheimer is a research chemist with DuPont's organic chemical department at their Jackson Laboratory in Wilmington, Del.

Edmund H. Jeschke, Esq., announced the commencing of his general practice of law in association with the law firm of Muscrlain & Furtch of Syracuse, N. Y.

Mr. and Mrs. Theodore M. Pease (Claire Vogelsgong) are living at 1200 "L" St., Apt. 509, Anchorage, Alaska. Ted is on the staff of the Attorney General for the State of Alaska, and they intend to make Anchorage their permanent home.

Marilyn A. Gardner received an M.Ed. degree in art education from Pennsylvania State University in January.

54 MRS. PAUL C. TARR, III
(Anne E. Tuckerman)
413 Alliston Rd.
Springfield, Pa.

William F. Gray has been named assistant district traffic superintendent of the Bell Telephone Company of Pennsylvania.

Florence Pyle, former recorder at our Alma Mater, has been named assistant registrar to succeed the late Mary A. Kunkel '14.

Lt. and Mrs. Willis G. Pratt (Shirley Hartzell) announce the arrival of Laura Jo on December 30, 1959. A lost ambulance gave "Daddy" the opportunity to bring Laura into the world. She joins her brothers, William and David, who were born in Germany on August 2, 1956, and November 18, 1957, respectively. The Pratts are presently stationed at Ft. Riley, Kans.

Rev. and Mrs. Prescott Beach (Marjorie Beach) announce the arrival of their third child, Alexis Christine, on October 9, 1959.

Michael G. Gilman, Esq., of Iroquois Ave., Palisades, N. Y., was the winner of the $150 first prize in the Nathan Burkan Memorial Competition for 1959 at Fordham University School of Law. His prize-winning paper is entitled Fair Use of Copyrighted Works. He is married to the former Judith L. Kahn and has a year old daughter, Jodi Alayne.

Rev. C. Frederick Mathias has accepted a call to the West Chester Presbyterian Church and will begin his duties there about June 1. The West Chester Church has a membership of about 1,350. Rev. Mathias has been serving the First Presbyterian Church in York for the past three years. He is married to the former Clea R. Tanner and has a son and a daughter.

55 MRS. JOHN C. VANCE, JR.
(Jane Jones)
3 Ford Court
Charleston, S. C.

REUNE IN JUNE — 1960

Lorna M. Gardner and David J. Hower were married November 28, 1959. Lorna is district director of the Girl Scouts of Delaware County. Her new address is 26 N. Rigby Ave., Lansdowne.

From 709 East Church Lane, Philadelphia, George Klauder and Joann (Dietrich) Klauder '56 announce the birth of a son, John, on January 19.

Marianne (Dus Rudolph) and Jack Hetherington now have a family of two—Darren (2½) and son John, III, born November 20, 1959. Jack is in his final year at Jefferson Medical College.

From Wilmington, Del., comes news of the following births—to Bob and Lucille Baylis Yeatman, a daughter, Delna, March 4, 1958, and a daughter, Barbara, March 18, 1959; to Tom '54 and Jo Steinbright Elsmann a daughter, Carol, June 17, 1959, (son Kenny will be four in July); to Gordon and Nancy Daddow Gemmell a daughter, Kathryn, March 30, 1959.

Otto C. Davidson has received his Ph.D. degree in engineering mechanics from Stanford University and is currently serving his two years in the Army Engineers as a 1st Lt. He is stationed near and working for the N. A. S. A. His address is Box 1272, Palo Alto, Calif.

Dr. Irwin B. Ufberg of Wilkes-Barre and Lucille A. Barson of Lehighon were married in Newark, N. J., recently. Irwin is a graduate of the Temple University Dental School.

56 MRS. WILLIAM J. O'NEIL
(Jean M. Wirths)
1706 Esplanade Apt. C, Hollywood Riv.
Redondo Beach, Calif.

Walter Julia of 58 Harlem Ave., Carbondale, is attending Hahnemann Medical College. He is married to the former Beverly L. Clausen of Nixon, N. J.

Mary L. Pearah became Mrs. William R. Davis on October 10, 1959, and is living at 308 S. Church St., (Annex), West Chester.

Caroline (Olli) Grilli and John Keyes '58 were married August 29 in Long Beach, N. Y. The Keyes are living at 67-38A 223rd Place, Bayside 64, N. Y.

Elizabeth Kroeck and Loren Zimmerman were married April 11, 1959. The Zimmermans are living at 163-B Fifth St., Fords, N. J. Liz was employed by Allied Chemical Corp. until September and is now pursuing a career as "housewife."

H. Leslie Bishop and Margaret A. Minium were married February 20 in Lewisburg. Les is presently employed as sales representative for Paper Distributors of Harrisburg. Home address: 1605 Kent Rd., Camp Hill.

Donald L. Bohr of 1917 S. Queen St., York, is an elementary teacher (grade 6) in the Manchester School at Mt. Wolf and would appreciate hearing from any '56ers who are also teaching in the elementary field. Incidentally—Don is still a bachelor!

Barbara J. Cox '58, and Bruce I. Dittmar were married January 9 and are living at 1734 Pine St., Philadelphia 3, while Bruce is attending the Graduate School of Chemistry at the University of Pennsylvania. Barbara is a secretary with E. I. DuPont.

Mr. and Mrs. William H. Haelig, Jr. of 3020 Satsuma Dr., Dallas 29, Texas, are the proud parents of a daughter, Susan, born December 31, 1959. Bill is a sales engineer with Armstrong Contracting and Supply Corporation.

Joanna Randolph Rott and husband Jack '52 are proud parents of a daughter Leslie Ann, born February 23.

Anne Prosser Post and husband Bob '54 announce the arrival of Beverly Jane, born on September 23. The Posts live at 38 Hamilton St., Madison, N. J. Bob is in real estate in Madison, N. J.

Karl Mallory and Ruth Ellen Ironside were married on December 5 in Stamford, Conn.

Alumni Trustee Timetable

May 16—Deadline for receiving ballots in Alumni Office.

June Commencement—Certification to Board of Trustees.

MRS. FRANK H. RICHARDS, III
(Faith Bonsall)
9 Bigelow St.
Cambridge, Mass.

Mr. and Mrs. M. Edgerton (Edge) Deuel, II (Gib Rodi), married on June 20, 1959, are now living at 868 Lancaster Ave., Syracuse, N. Y. Edge is working for his master's degree at Syracuse University, and Gib is teaching music in the elementary school system. Other news is on its way.

Bob Stumpf is in the training program of the Gorham Silver Co. in Providence, R. I.

Jim Griffiths is in the Army. He and his wife (Janet Herman '59) are living at 1533-E Pershing Dr., Presidio of San Francisco, Calif.

Lt. Robert H. Burnett and Mary C. Palmer of Arlington, Va., were married in Germany on December 19, 1959. Bob is located at Fulda, Germany, with the 58th Armored Engineers Company.

LT. AND MRS. BURNETT

MRS. VENALD W. BOVARD, JR.
(Jeanne F. Anderson)
125 Indian Springs Road
Williamsburg, Va.

REUNE IN JUNE — 1960

Hi, everyone. Hope the winter was good to you. Whatever the case, there can be no disagreement that spring is a welcome sight.

Wedding bells rang again. This time for Nancy M. Wehle, who was married on January 2 to Lt. Branch A. Worsham, Jr. The couple will live in Alaska, where Branch is assigned for the next two years.

2nd Lt. Roger J. Conners, II also joins the ranks of the recently wed. He was married to Carolyn M. Feliver on February 6, and they reside at 5446-A Brett Dr., Van Vorhees Manor, Fort Knox, Ky.

The reporter received word from Ruth (Gortner) Haggan, who was wed on December 5 to Douglas Haggan '58. The couple's home is in Watchung, N. J., and Ruthie's description of their little house leads the reporter to believe that it is a lovely place. Watchung is near Bound Brook, N. J., where Doug is now employed. Their address is 27 Beechwood Place, Watchung, N. J.

Ruth Haggan, our reunion chairman, reports that plans are progressing smoothly for a bang-up reunion on June 3, 4 and 5. She reports that the alumni office will be sending reservation cards to all members of the class sometime during the month of April and suggests that you fill them in and return them to the alumni office promptly.

Marty Taylor, our reunion book editor, informs us that the reunion book is almost complete. Be sure to be on the campus during the reunion to get your copy.

See you in June.

DR. MILLWARD DIES

(Continued from Page 9)

He was a member of the Trinity Lutheran Church of Milton and was very active in Masonic circles for the past 48 years. He was one of the few 33rd degree masons and only this past November the Williamsport Consistory named a class in his honor.

Dr. Millward, a past president of The General Alumni Association, served his Alma Mater in distinguished fashion as president of the Bucknell Alumni Club of Milton, president of the Emeritus Club, and most recently as a member of the special gifts committee for the Dual Development Fund Campaign in Milton.

The deepest sympathy of the Bucknell family is extended to his wife, Mrs. Mary Kreisher Millward M'05; three children, Mrs. Joseph Weightman '39, Mrs. James A. Tyson, Jr. '43, and William N. Millward '28; two brothers, Boyd and James Millward; and a sister, Mrs. James Bierly '20.

In Dr. Millward's death his community, his University, and his Nation have suffered a grievous loss.

IN MEMORIAM

The following deaths have been reported to the Alumni office since February, 1960. The University extends sympathy to the surviving relatives:

- 1893—Mrs. Henry H. Null, Jr. (Elsie G. Roth) (Inst.)
- 1894—Mrs. E. E. Silliman (Susan I. Kurtz), February 6, 1960
- 1900—Mrs. Frederick J. Drynan (Alicia M. Zierden), February 14, 1960
- 1902—Mr. Clemens Wagner, March 31, 1960
- 1903—Rev. Morton R. Sheldon, 1959
Mrs. Norman Watson (Katherine Trainor)
- 1904—Mr. Roger Edwards, February 5, 1960
- 1906—Dr. Carl L. Millward, March 10, 1960
- 1909—Miss M. Ethel Cockburn
Mr. W. Harry Posten, March 20, 1960
Mr. Frederick W. Slack (Acad.), February 10, 1960
- 1911—Mr. Charles D. Loveland, March 12, 1960
- 1912—Mr. Cecil T. Smith
- 1914—Mr. Dale R. Angstadt, March 21, 1960
- 1915—Dr. John D. Trevaskis, 1959
Mrs. Fred Zeller (E. Louise Trescott), March 28, 1960
- 1916—Dr. Dayton L. Ranck, March 10, 1960
- 1917—Mrs. Henry W. Enberg (Mildred E. Jordan), October 22, 1959
- 1920—Mr. Arnold R. Kerth, August 21, 1956
Mrs. L. Blair Ranck (Mittie D. Mark) (Music), February 26, 1960
- 1922—Dr. Herman E. Wiant, March 14, 1960
- 1923—Dr. John J. Malinowski, March 2, 1960
- 1924—Mr. Edward T. Ashman, March 15, 1960
- 1929—Mr. Karl C. Albig
- 1930—Mr. John B. Kennedy, March, 1959
Mr. James L. Painter
- 1931—Mrs. Edward L. Wertheim (Madeline L. Waldherr), April 4, 1960
- 1932—Mr. John H. Ruhl, March 4, 1960
- 1936—Mr. George G. Robinson, February 26, 1960
- 1939—Miss Frances W. Balliet
- 1943—Miss Anna J. Holbrook

Send this reservation coupon today!

DORMITORY AND TICKET RESERVATION

Name	Class	Date of Arrival:
Mailing Address	Hour:

DORMITORY RESERVATIONS: ($3.00 per person for both Friday and Saturday nights — One night only $3.00 — Children 10 or under Free — Extra nights $1.50 per night)

Thursday	Friday	Saturday	Sunday	nights.
Please check if: Married Couple Mr. Mrs. Miss
If reservation includes persons other than yourself list names below:
				Children
				Male Ages
				Female Ages ...

Would you object to having your children share rooms with children of other classmates?

(Check) Yes No

Total Room Charges $

ALUMNI REUNION LUNCHEON (number @ $1.50 each) $

CAP AND DAGGER — "THE CRUCIBLE" (number @ $1.50 each) $

COMMENCEMENT JAMBOREE (Alumni Get-Together, Entertainment, Refreshments, Dancing)
— No Charge

WE WILL DO OUR BEST BUT WE CANNOT GUARANTEE RESERVATIONS RECEIVED AFTER MAY 27! A $2.00 ADVANCE (NON-REFUNDABLE) PAYMENT MUST ACCOMPANY THIS RESERVATION. ADVANCE PAYMENT WILL BE CREDITED TO TOTAL CHARGES UPON ARRIVAL.

ALUMNI WEEK END

highlights

- EARLY BIRD GOLF MATCH
- RELAX WITH A SWIM
- ANOTHER CUP OF COFFEE
- BISON CLUB BREAKFAST
- ALUMNI ASSEMBLY
- CLASS MEETINGS
- ANNUAL ALUMNI REUNION LUNCHEON
- CAP AND DAGGER PRODUCTION
- COMMENCEMENT JAMBOREE
- BACCALAUREATE AND COMMENCEMENT

SEE YOU JUNE 3, 4, 5

THE BUCKNELL
ALUMNUS

September 1960

Dual Development Fund Becomes Dual Victory Campaign

— Page 11

OFFICERS OF THE ASSOCIATION

President

ROBERT W. DILL '27

First Vice President

MRS. CLYDE P. BAILEY (Dorothy Lemon '29)

Second Vice President

DANIEL F. GRIFFITH '36

Treasurer

DONALD B. YOUNG '33

Secretary and Editor

JOHN H. SHOTT '22

Assistant Secretary and Assistant Editor

C. BRUCE ROSSITER '56

BOARD OF DIRECTORS

ROBERT W. DILL '27, 5136 Butler Pike, Plymouth Meeting, Pa. (1961)

WILLIAM D. GOLIGHTLY '25, 309 W. Webster Ave., Scranton, Pa. (1961)

MRS. PAUL M. SHOWALTER (S. Katharine Graham '33), 855 St. Louis St., Lewisburg, Pa. (1961)

MRS. CLYDE P. BAILEY (Dorothy Lemon '29), 16 Churchill Rd., Pittsburgh 35, Pa. (1962)

CHARLES F. FOX, JR., M.D. '31, 180 Washington Ave., Vandergrift, Pa. (1962)

D. EUGENE LONG '29, 131 Avon Place, West Hempstead, N. Y. (1962)

EUGENE P. BERTIN '17, 201 S. Main St., Muncy, Pa. (1963)

ELINOR CHILDS '52, 74 Mt. Kemble Ave., Morristown, N. J. (1963)

ROBERT H. TAYLOR '48, 214 Avon Rd., Narberth, Pa. (1963)

CHARLES T. FARROW '26, P. O. Box 29, Westfield, N. J. (1964)

IRVIN GRAYBILL, JR. '49, Middleburg, Pa. (1964)

ALLEN F. JONES '25, 2 Linn St., Progress, Harrisburg, Pa. (1964)

HENRY G. P. COATES, ESQ. '32, East Ward St., Hightstown, N. J. (1965)

DANIEL F. GRIFFITH '36, 599 Massachusetts Ave., Aldan, Pa. (1965)

PETER WEIDENRACHER '50, 525 Hillside Ave., Mountain-side, N. J. (1965)

() Year Term Expires

Alumni Headquarters—SECOND FLOOR,
CARNEGIE BUILDING

Member—AMERICAN ALUMNI COUNCIL

ON THE COVER — The new Administration Center as it will appear upon completion, is illustrated on our cover. We wish to thank Mr. Barnard Taylor of Grit Publishing Company for the excellent artist's sketch.

The back cover presents a list of events on and off campus for the months of September, October, and November to which all alumni are invited.

THE BUCKNELL ALUMNUS

VOLUME XLVI

SEPTEMBER 1960

No. 1

IN THIS ISSUE

- 1 Welcome Home Alums
—A Preview of Homecoming, October 22
- 2 Highlights and Sidelights
—A Report of Alumni Week End
- 7 Select Your Candidates
- 8 Football Preview for 1960
by Bradley N. Tufts
- 10 Three Faculty Retirements
- 11 Bucknell Dual Development Fund
—Progress Report
- 12 Honor Roll
—Donors to Dual Development Fund
- 18 The Club Program
- 19 For the Record
- 21 I Want to Be a Freshman
- 22 Class Reports

1960 Football Schedule, 8—Football Ticket Order Blank, 9—Bison Roundups, 18—Dr. Heber W. Youngken '09 and Dr. Heber W. Youngken, Jr. '35, 22—Dr. G. Merrill Lenox '24, 23—Samuel V. Convery '27, 24—Admiral Edward E. Colestock '29, 25—Dr. W. A. Benton Schrader '34, 26—Larry Ashman '52, 27—Lt. Alfred F. Grand, Jr. '58, 28—inside back cover: Lt. Forrest S. Chilton, III '43; Mrs. Ellen Clarke Bertrand H'54; In Memoriam; Alumni Trustee Timetable; Homecoming Reservation Coupon—Campus Calendar, back cover.

THE BUCKNELL ALUMNUS is published in January, March, May, September and November by BUCKNELL UNIVERSITY. Entered as second-class matter December 30, 1930 at the post office at Lewisburg, Pa., under Act of August 24, 1912.

WELCOME HOME ALUMS

ALL ROADS LEAD TO BUCKNELL for Homecoming October 22, 1960

THEY'RE all coming from the Class of 1900 to the Class of 1960 for the greatest gathering in Bucknell's recent history. This won't be an ordinary Homecoming—it will be an invasion of the "300 acres." We want 1500 Bucknell Alumni back—and we can get them if you make your plans now.

To repeat—Saturday, October 22, 1960, is the big day with festivities for old and young from early morning to late at night. Although the program isn't complete at this writing, traditional events are planned including a Bison Club Breakfast for the whole family; the Homecoming parade with the queen, her court, the Bison Band; numerous high school bands, and beautiful floats; the All-Campus luncheon for Alumni, students and their parents; the football game with the Leopards of Lafayette as our opponents; a victory celebration following the game; and an All-Campus Dance in the evening.

Following the parade and before the luncheon an extra-added feature for the day will be the cornerstone laying for the new administrative wing of the Vaughan Literature Building. You won't want to miss being a part of this historic moment.

Of course, the football game will be the main attraction of the day, and, we, the editors, will go out on the proverbial limb and predict good weather and a victory. The Bisons have a score to settle with the Leopards after last year's 12 to 6 defeat at Easton and a record to match after the startling 15-8 upset victory over the Scarlet of Rutgers before a Homecoming crowd of 10,000 last year.

A special first Bucknell Band Reunion is already in the works. Why don't you and your family and friends plan a special reunion and get on the bandwagon for the RETURN TO BUCKNELL—OCTOBER 22. Don't miss this exciting occasion. Forget everything for one day and put yourself in the Homecoming picture.

HIGHLIGHTS AND SIDELIGHTS

Alumni Week End 1960

Featured Fun

Fellowship and Festivity

A PULL on the heartstrings, an inviting program, and the desire to see the ever changing, ever beautiful Bucknell campus resulted in the return of throngs of Alumni and their families for Alumni Week End 1960. Beginning on Friday afternoon with the Early Bird Golf Match sponsored by the Class of 1950 until the final strains of Auld Lang Syne at the Commencement Jamboree on Saturday evening there was "something doing" every minute.

Following the usual pattern all five-year reunion classes (those whose class numerals ended in "0" or "5") met for business as well as social functions. When the final tally was made over 400 members of reunion classes had registered, and since the groups included many wives and children, it is safe to say that double that number attended these reunions. The Class of 1950 registered 74 members (high for the weekend). Members of classes not holding regular five-year reunions this year were also in attendance and every class except 1911 (they must be saving their steam for the big 50th reunion next June) was represented.

Honorary degree recipients stand with Dr. Odgers prior to the University's 110th Commencement. They are (l. to r.) Dr. Samuel Eliot Morison, Dr. Liston Pope, Dr. Robert A. Streeter '38, Dr. Harry H. Pierson '28, President Odgers, Dr. Charles A. Dana, Dr. Donald R. McCain '05, and Dr. Herbert A. May.

A traditional highlight of the weekend program was the Annual Alumni Reunion Luncheon in Davis Gymnasium where President Merle M. Odgers delivered his "State of the University" address. He happily announced the Bucknell Dual Development had reached its goal of $1,850,000; however, he also stated that we still had $350,000 to go. For an explanation of this paradox turn to page 11.

Two benefactors who have played major roles in the success of the drive thus far, Rush H. Kress '00, and Charles A. Dana, both of New York City, received special recognition at the luncheon, when it was announced that each has had a campus building named in his honor.

West College has been named Rush H. Kress Hall in honor of Mr. Kress, honorary chairman of the Board of Trustees and president of the Samuel H. Kress Foundation.

The Engineering Building has been named in honor of Mr. Dana, well known lawyer, industrialist and philanthropist, in recognition of his concern for undergraduate education in the nation's independent colleges.

Plaques to be placed in each building were unveiled by William R. White '26, Bucknell's Trustee Chairman, in the presence of Mr. Kress and Mr. Dana who attended the luncheon.

Dr. Eugene D. Carstater '26, Falls Church, Va., was nominated for election as an Alumni Trustee on the Board of Trustees of Bucknell University for a term of five years.

Dr. Roy E. Nicodemus '25, of the Geisinger Memorial Hospital-Foss Clinic staff, Danville, who served on the Board of Trustees as Alumni Trustee from 1953 to 1958 was also elected to the Board of Trustees. Trustees re-elected include Mrs. Ellen Clarke Bertrand, New York City (We are saddened to announce the death of Mrs. Bertrand on July 12. A complete biographical account of her life and service to the University appears inside back cover): R. Henry Cole-

With high spirits and fancy black derbies, members of the Class of 1915 joined in the largest reunion parade ever.

William S. Liming '33, sat proudly in the Alumni Chair after being presented the Alumni Award for Outstanding Service, Unselfish Interest, and Demonstrated Loyalty to the University and The General Alumni Association.

Ronald J. Pedrick '60 (left), in the absence of award winner, Dr. Andrew R. E. Wyant '92, accepted in behalf of Dr. Wyant from Dr. Charles F. Fox, Jr. '31 the Alumni Medallion and Certificate for Meritorious Achievement in One's Chosen Profession.

Before an audience of over 1000 Alumni Trustee, honored guests, and friends The Rev. Paul M. Humphreys '28, was awarded the Alumni Medallion and Certificate for Contributions and Service to Fellowmen.

A delicious dinner, excellent entertainment, and good fellowship at the home of Mrs. John T. Fetherston combined to make the week end a memorable one for the members of the Class of 1905.

To those perennial reunioners, the members of the Emeritus Club, we, The General Alumni Association, doff our caps for your untiring devotion to Alma Mater.

When the roll was taken thirty-six members of the Class of 1910 were present for their fiftieth reunion.

man '29, Bridgeport, Conn.; Berkeley V. Hastings '13, Milton; Hugo Reimer '29, Los Angeles, Calif.; and Charles E. Wilson, New York City.

Dr. Mary M. Wolfe '96, who completed 25 years of service on the Board of Trustees, was made an honorary member of the Board. Both Dr. Wolfe and Mr. Hastings were made members of Bucknell's Twenty-five Year Club in recognition of their quarter century of service to the University.

Officers of The General Alumni Association elected for the ensuing year are: Robert W. Dill '27, Plymouth Meeting, president; Mrs. Clyde P. Bailey (Dorothy Lemon '29), Pittsburgh, first vice president; Daniel F. Griffith '36, Philadelphia, second vice president.

At the 110th Annual Assembly of The General Alumni Association, 99 delegates (310 delegates were eligible to attend) representing 29 clubs were in attendance. Full representation was noted from the following clubs: Lehigh Valley, Western Pennsylvania (Pittsburgh), and Trenton.

It was encouraging to note that such far-away clubs as Seattle and St. Petersburg were represented at the Annual Assembly. And speaking of far-away places, the long distance record for attendance probably goes to Mrs. A. L. P. Peters (Margaret Weddell '35), Johannesburg, South Africa, and Salu Sabal '49, Lima, Peru, who attended the week end festivities.

The delegates to the Annual Assembly elected three new members to the Board of Directors of The General Alumni Association to serve for five years: Henry G. P. Coates, Esq. '32, Hightstown, N. J.; Daniel F. Griffith '36, Philadelphia; and Peter Weidenbacher '50, Westfield, N. J.

William S. Liming '33, Garden City, N. Y., was the recipient of the Alumni Award of the Bucknell Chair and Citation for Outstanding Service, Unselfish Interest and Demonstrated Loyalty to the University and to The General Alumni Association. The Alumni Medallion and Certificate for Meritorious Achievement in One's Chosen Profession was awarded to Dr. Andrew R. E. Wyant '92, Chicago, Ill., and the Alumni Medallion and Certificate awarded for Contributions and Service to Fellowmen went to The Rev. Paul M. Humphreys '28, Waterbury, Conn.

Committee appointments included announcement of the membership of the Committee for Selection of Alumni Trustee Candidates as follows: Donald W. Glover '41 (1962), chairman for the 1961 election; Dr. Emma E. Dillon '15 (1961); Clyde P. Bailey, Esq. '29 (1961); Thomas W. Speck '37 (1961); Miss Elinor Childs '52 (1962); C. Martin Neff '42 (1962). Newly appointed to serve for three years were: Robert H. Taylor '48 (1963); Edward C. Myers '34 (1963); and Mrs. Charles E. Copeland '22 (1963).

Members of the Alumni Awards Committee are William J. Irvin '22, chairman for 1961 awards; Dr. Harry R. Warfel '20 (1961); Mrs. Mabel Grier Lesher, M.D. '01 (1961); Mrs. Joseph B. Kelly '21 (1961); Paul A. Bowers, M.D. '33 (1962); Mrs. Ruth Sprague Downs '98 (1962). The three new members of the committee, winners of the 1960 Alumni Achievement Awards, automatically became members of the committee for three years. They are William S. Liming '33, Dr. Andrew R. E. Wyant '92, and The Rev. Paul M. Humphreys '28.

At the luncheon the Class of 1960 gift to the University was presented by John G. Eachus, III, president of the class. The gift will be benches, made of concrete and wood, for the pathways on the new academic quadrangle formed by the Ellen Clarke Bertrand Library, Coleman Hall and the Vaughan Literature Building.

A Friday evening dinner at the Hotel Milton, an excellent reunion book, and a well planned program were the ingredients for a successful 45th reunion for the Class of 1915.

Did you ever attend a Commencement program that included two processions? Bucknell's 1960 graduating class had this distinction—unique in the University's history.

Everything started off auspiciously enough, as guests took their places in the academic quadrangle (the area bounded by the Library, Coleman Hall, and Vaughan Literature Building) for the first outdoor Commencement in recent memory. Speakers and faculty filed to the platform and stood as the students began to march in—when thunder rumbled and it began to rain. Dr. Merle M. Odgers stepped to the microphone to deliver his opening remarks: "Commencement Exercises will be held in Davis Gym in one-half hour." So everyone moved to the gym and the procession was repeated all over again.

During the Commencement exercises the following were awarded honorary degrees: Dr. Samuel Eliot Morison, Boston, Mass., DOCTOR OF HUMANE LETTERS; Dr. Liston Pope, New Haven, Conn., DOCTOR OF DIVINITY; Dr. Robert E. Streeter '38, Chicago, Ill., DOCTOR OF HUMANE LETTERS; Dr. Harry H. Pierson '28, Bangkok, Thailand, DOCTOR OF LAWS; Dr. Charles A. Dana, New York, N. Y., DOCTOR OF SCIENCE; Dr. Donald R. McCain '05, New York, N. Y., DOCTOR OF LAWS; and Dr. Herbert A. May, Pittsburgh, Bucknell Trustee, DOCTOR OF LAWS.

The following are the results of the class elections held during the class business meetings on Alumni Day, June 4, 1960:

EMERITUS CLUB—Dr. Lewis E. Theiss '02, president; W. Carl Sprout '08, first vice president; John C. Johnson '04, second vice president; Mrs. Margaret Pangburn Mathias '08, secretary-treasurer; Miss Mary Cotton '96, reporter; Col. A. F. Dershimier '03, fund manager; Dr. Mabel Grier Leshner '01, Mrs. Sarah Judd Shields '02, directors; W. Guy Payne '09, reunion chairman; Lewis E. Hylbert '05, reunion book editor.

CLASS OF 1905—Mrs. Edith Kelly Fetherston, president; Harold V. Leshner, vice president; John B. Smiley, secretary-treasurer; Lewis C. Hylbert, reporter; Miss Claire M. Conway, fund manager; John B. Smiley, reunion chairman.

CLASS OF 1910—Paul J. Abraham, president; Weaver W. Pangburn, vice president; Mrs. Emily Lane Yoder, secretary; Homer D. Kresge, treasurer; Miss Mildred Cathers, reporter; Homer D. Kresge, fund manager; Weaver W. Pangburn, reunion chairman and reunion book editor.

CLASS OF 1915—Jere B. Bates, president; Miss Isabelle F. Bond, vice president; Miss Marion R. Bancroft, secretary and reporter; Jere B. Bates, fund manager.

CLASS OF 1920—William E. C. Speare, president; Harold A. Stewart, vice president; Mrs. Anna Sterling Roseman, secretary and treasurer; Paul V. Stolz, reporter; Walter D. Roos, fund manager.

CLASS OF 1925—Allen F. Jones, president; Emerson E. Jenkins, vice president; Miss M. Louise Baxter, secretary; Albert Harris, treasurer; Mrs. Mary Seidel Thompson, reporter; Dr. Clair Spangler, fund manager; Stephen C. Emanuel, Jr., Miss M. Beatrice Mettler, reunion chairmen; Miss Florence Laubschur, reunion book editor.

CLASS OF 1930—Francis C. Moerschbacher, president; William C. Emmitt, vice president; Mrs. Janet Bingman Meredith, secretary; Mrs. Sara Bailey Jones, treasurer;

And after only twenty years the Class of 1940 hadn't changed a bit—well, not much.

The Class of 1920 festivities got off to an early start with a dinner Friday evening at the Susquehanna Country Club.

And what handsome group is this? Of course, the great Class of 1925.

A Saturday afternoon picnic topped off a memorable week end for the Class of 1930.

The gals led the parade in the return of '45ers to the 300 acres.

Early returnees for Commencement included this happy group of new additions to the alumni body.

The Class of 1950 had the "spirit" and led all other classes in total attendance.

And the Class of 1955 returned with some prospective Bucknellians.

Mrs. Janet Bingman Meredith, reporter; Maynard B. Henry, fund manager.

CLASS OF 1935—Edward F. Wittmer, president; Harry L. Jenkins, Jr., vice president; Mrs. Doris Johnson Raymaley, secretary; Mrs. Elaine Ifill Larson, treasurer; Mrs. Ann Orr Deschanel, reporter. (Because of a double exposure the reunion picture for the Class of 1935 does not appear in this issue).

CLASS OF 1940—James H. Duchine, president; Wayne Knouse, vice president; Mrs. Mary McCrina Miller, secretary and reporter; Wayne Knouse, fund manager; Robert L. Stanton, reunion chairman.

CLASS OF 1945—Mrs. Anne Kloss Schnure, president; Mrs. Elise Miller Schnure, vice president; William Webster, secretary; Mrs. Elsie Wilson Young, treasurer; Mrs. Phoebe Follmer Bacon, reporter; William Bond, fund manager; Mrs. Elizabeth Doughty Scanlan, reunion chairman; Mrs. Jean Williams Wiederspahn, reunion book editor.

CLASS OF 1950—Andrew W. Mathieson, president; William Bucher, vice president; Robert Clancy, secretary-treasurer; Miss Helen E. Gloisten, reporter; Mrs. Jean McDonald Concklin, fund manager; John H. Evans, reunion chairman.

CLASS OF 1955—Donald R. Smith, Jr., president; Mrs. Martha Jones Stilley, vice president; Mrs. Betsy Bice Knox, secretary; Richard Klaber, treasurer; Mrs. Jane Jones Vance, reporter; Richard M. Richter, fund manager; Donald Clark, reunion chairman.

CLASS OF 1959—Harold R. Vizethann, president; Richard E. Burnett, vice president; Miss Barbara F. Jaffee, secretary; George R. Callahan, treasurer; Mrs. Jeanne Anderson Bovard, reporter; Richard Hunn, fund manager; Miss Martha M. Taylor, reunion book editor; Mrs. Ruth Gortner Haggan, reunion chairman.

The Reunion Week End Planning Committee asked the undergraduate chapters of fraternities not to hold student dances in fraternity houses on Saturday night of Reunion Week End because an All-University Dance was being held in the gymnasium at the same hour. We regret that at least one undergraduate fraternity chapter jumped to the conclusion that this request automatically eliminated the holding of symposium and advised its alumni "that the University has closed the fraternities for social functions during the Alumni Week End." As always, the 6:00 P. M. hour on Saturday night was specifically reserved in the program for the holding of fraternity and sorority symposia and it was so indicated on the printed program of the week end. Needless to say, the Alumni Reunion Week End will continue to reserve the hours of 6:00 to 3:00 P. M. on Saturday for this purpose.

From left to right, President Harry Vizethann, Faculty Host Charles A. Hollister, Robert F. Kluge, Reunion Chairman Ruth Gortner Haggan, and Robert McClay, Jr., held down the fort for the Class of 1959.

Select Your Candidates

THROUGH a wise provision in the Constitution and By-Laws of The General Alumni Association, you have the privilege—and responsibility—of suggesting the names of Bucknellians to be considered by nominating committees as candidates for a number of University and alumni posts.

Furthermore, Bucknellians follow the democratic process of not only nominating but of electing their representatives by an election process that provides several candidates from which the choice of a winner can be made by the Alumni voters themselves.

These broad democratic principles are not followed in all alumni associations. On many campuses the alumni governing board themselves select the candidates for alumni posts. And in many instances, only one candidate is selected for each office to be filled. Bucknellians have always felt that such nomination and election procedures do not provide adequately for the practice of democratic principles no matter how conscientious alumni governing boards and committees might be. Of course, just as in community, state and federal nominations and elections, the whole process is weakened unless broad participation by the voter is secured.

Therefore, this is your invitation to suggest the names of Bucknellians to be considered as candidates for a number of University and Alumni offices. The form (provided below) will make it easy for you to exercise your privileges and responsibilities as a member of the Bucknell Alumni Family.

Each year one Alumni Trustee is nominated for consideration for membership on the Board of Trustees by vote of Alumni from a slate of three candidates selected by the Alumni Committee on Nomination of Trustee. In our large alumni body, many likely possibilities might be overlooked unless we have your suggestion at hand. Your suggested candidate need not be a member of your class nor must he reside in your community, but he must have attended Bucknell University and should be able to give consideration of the board problems of University policy and should be willing and able to attend two board meetings plus several committee meetings each year.

The committee on Alumni Awards will meet on Saturday, October 22, to select recipients for alumni awards in three categories: (a) for meritorious achievement in the field or profession in which the candidate is engaged, (b) for recognized contributions and service to fellowmen through such media as religion, charity, art, science or public welfare, and (c) for outstanding service, unselfish interest, and demonstrated loyalty to the University and to the Association. The committee will appreciate your suggestions of candidates in these three categories.

The by-laws of The General Alumni Association provide for an election of three members to the governing Board of Directors each year, and you are invited to suggest the names of Alumni to be considered as Alumni Board of Director nominees.

In the past, a few Alumni have misinterpreted this call for candidates and have felt that multi-recommendations are necessary for favorable committee action. Such is not the case; a candidate with one recommendation receives the same committee consideration as a candidate with a hundred recommendations. It would be well to keep in mind that under our by-laws, nominating committees are required to select the candidate it considers "best suited and qualified," rather than on the basis of the number of recommendations. Selection of candidates should never be made as a result of a popularity contest.

Remember—committees meet October 22, and in the case of alumni trustee candidates, cannot consider persons who have not previously accepted the invitation to be placed in nomination. As this clearance requires time, your suggestions should be made now.

Suggestions of Persons to Be Considered for Nomination

Must Be Submitted by
September 15, 1960, or Before

I suggest for committee consideration the following Bucknellians:

I. AS CANDIDATE FOR ALUMNI TRUSTEE:

NAME _____ CLASS _____
(Enclose sheet listing achievements of your candidate as you know them)

II. AS RECIPIENT OF THE 1961 ALUMNI AWARDS:

a. For Meritorious Achievement in the Field or Profession in Which the Candidate Is Engaged.

NAME _____ CLASS _____
(Enclose sheet listing achievements of your candidate as you know them)

b. For Recognized Contributions and Service to Fellow Men Through Such Media as Religion, Charity, Art, Science or Public Welfare.

NAME _____ CLASS _____
(Enclose sheet listing achievements of your candidate as you know them)

c. For Outstanding Service, Unselfish Interest, and Demonstrated Loyalty to the University and to the Association.

NAME _____ CLASS _____
(Enclose sheet listing achievements of your candidate as you know them)

III. AS NOMINEE FOR THE BOARD OF DIRECTORS OF THE GENERAL ALUMNI ASSOCIATION:

NAME _____ CLASS _____

YOUR NAME _____ CLASS _____ ADDRESS _____

Guard
TOM ALEXANDER '62

Guard
DON CHAUMP '62

Quarterback
PAUL TERHES '61

Fullback
BILL URCH '62

Football

PREVIEW FOR 1960

by
BRADLEY N. TUFTS
Sports Information Director

BEGINNING his third year at the helm of the Bisons, Bob Odell will have fourteen lettermen on hand as he prepares his team for a tough nine-game schedule, but he also faces the task of having to replace the entire 1959 starting line.

Pointing toward the first winning season at Bucknell since 1954, Odell has an all-veteran backfield to work with, including two-time All-Middle Atlantic Conference choice, quarterback Paul Terhes, but the immediate task facing the Bison staff is to build two solid units up front.

Included among the losses are All-MAC standouts, Jack Eachus and Jim Brady, Dennis Cox, Doug Forsyth, Charlie Negron, John Bergfeld, Neil Murphy, Bob Patzwall, Tony Rinaldo and Captain Larry Mathias. The shoes of these men who were largely responsible for giving the Bisons the MAC defensive leadership last fall will be hard to fill, but Odell is hopeful that a good crop of sophomores and juniors on the squad will be able to do the job.

Junior Ron Maslanik is the only experienced end returning, but Pat Malone, a converted halfback, Walt Mayer, a starter on the 1958 frosh team, and sophomores Dick Lebec and Dick Tyrrell will be battling for starting assignments as targets for the strong-armed Terhes. The big problem is to find a "lonely end" replacement equal to Eachus, winner of the MAC pass receiving title for the past two years.

1960 FOOTBALL SCHEDULE

*Sept. 24—Gettysburg	Hershey
Oct. 1—Cornell	Ithaca, N. Y.
Oct. 8—Buffalo	Lewisburg
Oct. 15—Rutgers	New Brunswick, N. J.
Oct. 22—Lafayette	Homecoming
Oct. 29—Lehigh	Lewisburg
Nov. 5—Colgate	Hamilton, N. Y.
Nov. 12—Temple	Lewisburg
Nov. 19—Delaware	Newark, Del.

* Night Game.

With Dick Bourdeau, the top performer up front during spring practice, missing from the ranks because of academic difficulties, juniors Kirk Foulke and Denny Morgan will have to carry much of the load at tackle. Plagued by injuries last year, Foulke showed considerable promise and should be a bulwark of the forward wall. Morgan, who has good speed and size, was a non-lettering reserve last fall, but his marked improvement in the spring session and steady play warrant him a shot at the starting post. Outstanding among the soph prospects and good bets for berths on the alternate team in Odell's two-platoon system are Dick Orlowski and Ron Hohowski.

When they come out for the September 24 season opener against Gettysburg the Bisons will probably have two of the fastest and best guards in the Middle Atlantic Conference in juniors Tom Alexander and Don Chaump. A stand-out at guard last year, Chaump is one of the hardest tacklers and blockers on the squad and a good bet for All-MAC honors this fall. Alexander, a converted center, has been given a shot at the guard post because of his exceptional speed and will also team with Chaump to handle the line-backing duties. Backing up the sturdy juniors are John Aucker, Bob Williams and soph Dean Stump.

THE BUCKNELL ALUMNUS

Last year's starring center, Larry Mathias, has graduated and his top replacement, Alexander, has been moved to guard leaving the pivot post wide open. If he recovers sufficiently from a leg injury, the starting assignment may go to soph George Rieu, the number two center behind Stump on the frosh team last year. Senior John Sommers and junior Tom Noteware also figure to be in the thick of the fight and Foulke may be moved from his tackle post if the need arises.

While rebuilding is the big task up front, Odell enters his third year with virtually the same backfield that engineered last year's offensive attack. Heading the cast is Terhes, winner of the MAC passing and total offense crowns for the past two campaigns and a leading candidate for All-American honors this fall. Named to several All-East teams and nearly every all-opponent squad and the fifth ranked small college passer in the country last year, the Milmont Park native holds the key to the Bison attack. Acknowledged as an outstanding passer, Terhes is a better than average runner and the top defensive back on the team. Adding to the strength at the quarterback post, fiery Rick Elliott is also back for his final season and junior Jim West and soph Doug Williams will be on hand whenever needed.

Hard running senior, Mickey Melberger, and junior Ash Ditka will return to the starting halfback posts they manned last fall and should get adequate reserve support from junior Ray Cosgrove, seniors Marty Pope and Ed Reitzel and soph Dick Johnson. Cosgrove, hampered by injuries last fall and during spring practice, has good speed and could be a threat if he dodges the injury jinx. Ditka and Melberger are better than average runners and proven pass receivers.

The loss of last year's leading ground gainer, George Moncilovich, at the fullback post, has necessitated several changes, but the position should be nearly as strong as it was last fall. Ken Twiford, an early season standout last year, has experience at the post, but will be strongly challenged for the starting assignment by Bill Urch, a letter winner at halfback and the top running back in spring practice. Sophs Chuck Johnson and Denny Lucas should also see considerable action.

Overall, the Bisons should come up with a somewhat stronger offense, but for the first few games the defense may not match up to last year's. As the sophomores get more experience up front Odell should have two well-rounded units to work with. Hopes are high that the Bisons can finish over the .500 mark and at the same time improve on last year's fourth place finish in the Middle Atlantic Conference. Odell's multiple offense which proved to be highly successful last fall, will undergo certain revisions and changes, but will be essentially the same.

Included on the schedule this fall are eight of the nine foes the Bisons faced last year and Ivy Leaguer Cornell, which replaces Harvard on the slate.

Following the opener with Gettysburg in the traditional Rotary Bowl game at Hershey, the team travels to Ithaca, N. Y., to meet a considerably improved Cornell outfit and a leading candidate for the Ivy League crown.

Returning home on October 8 the Bisons will be out to repeat their 1959 victory over Buffalo. The 26-21 defeat suffered by the Bulls in Memorial Stadium last fall was the only blemish on the upstate New Yorkers' record and this year's contest promises to be another wide open affair.

A trip to New Brunswick, N. J., to meet Rutgers, another 1959 Bison victim, follows the Buffalo encounter and then Bob Odell brings his team back to Lewisburg for the Homecoming game with Lafayette and a battle with vastly improved Lehigh, one of the leading contenders for the MAC crown.

The final three games of the season find the Bisons meeting Colgate and MAC rivals Temple and Delaware. The season finale with the Blue Hens, winners of the MAC and Lambert Cup titles last fall, again promises to be one of the top games of the season.

ORDER YOUR FOOTBALL TICKETS EARLY

To assure yourself of seats on the fifty-yard line, order season tickets now.

The north half of Section "D," on the fifty-yard line, has been shifted from the student section to the reserved seat section for season ticket buyers.

Order your tickets now for Homecoming and Parent's Day. Applications will be filled as received.

1960 FOOTBALL TICKET ORDER BLANK

CHOICE OF LOCATION

Sections are 23 rows high

Low () Middle () High ()

WEST (HOME SIDE)

Section D-50 Yd. Line ()
Section C-30-40 Yd. Line ()

EAST (PRESS BOX SIDE)

Section S-50 Yd. Line ()
Section T-30-40 Yd. Line ()

NO REFUNDS—Because of season ticket commitments, additional tickets for individual games may not be adjacent to season ticket seats.

Please
Print

Last Name		First	Middle	Class
Street Address		City	Zone	State
No. of Tickets	GAME	DATE	PRICE	AMOUNT ENCLOSED	FOR OFFICE USE ONLY
	Reserved Seat Season Ticket		$10.00
	Buffalo (Parent's Day)	Oct. 8	3.00
	Lafayette (Homecoming)	Oct. 22	3.50
	Lehigh	Oct. 29	3.00
	Temple	Nov. 12	3.00
	Additional Service Rotary Bowl— Gettysburg at Hershey	Sept. 24	3.00
	General Admission Season Ticket		4.00
Insurance and Postage				$.25
Total Amount Enclosed				$

Make checks payable to BUCKNELL UNIVERSITY—INTERCOLLEGIATE ATHLETICS. Return order blanks to Albert E. Humphreys, Director of Athletics. Tickets will be sent by insured mail.

CHARLES M. BOND

HAROLD A. SHAFFER

FRANK A. SPRAGUE

THREE FACULTY RETIREMENTS

WHEN Bucknell opens its fall semester this September, three of its faithful and loved faculty members will be enjoying life in their retirement. Dr. Charles M. Bond, Professor Harold A. Shaffer '13, and Professor Frank A. Sprague ended their long and successful teaching careers this past June. Their years of service to the University total 107.

Dr. Charles M. Bond, who served Bucknell University for thirty-five years in the Department of Religion, has had a very impressive and colorful background. His educational record reads as follows: A.B., 1917, D.D., 1939, Colgate University; B.D., Crozer Theological Seminary, 1921; A.M., University of Pennsylvania, 1921; student, University of Chicago Divinity School, 1924-25, and three summer quarters. Dr. Bond's experience is as equally varied as his education: pastor, Baptist Tabernacle, Wilkes-Barre; university student pastor, Ohio University; served as Y. M. C. A. war work secretary with A. E. F. in England, France, and Russia; director of the school of religion, Ohio University; professor of religion and head of the Department of Religion at Bucknell University.

Dr. and Mrs. Bond are the parents of five children—Charles F. '42, Maribeth '43, William E. '45, Henry S., and Barbara J. '49. Four of the five sons and daughters are graduates of Bucknell.

In addition to the full schedule that Dr. Bond carried on campus, he also found time to participate in a great many community activities, giving the citizens of Lewisburg and the surrounding areas an opportunity to share in his wisdom and humor. Dr. Bond is listed in Who's Who in the East and Who's Who in the Clergy. He is the author of the pamphlet, "The Liberal Arts College Functioning in the Field of Religion," and has published several articles in Religious Education, Crozer Quarterly, and other similar publications.

This past April a group of sixty-one former students and associates gave a testimonial dinner in his honor. At that time, Dr. Wilbour Saunders, president of Colgate-Rochester Divinity School, spoke of Dr. Bond's service and achievements through the past years. Dr. Bond was presented with a silver bowl bearing the following inscription:

PROFESSOR CHARLES BOND

*With the affection and admiration of students, colleagues and friends
June 1960*

Dr. Merle M. Odgers, president of the University, awarded Dr. Bond a certificate of emeritus professorship.

Harold A. Shaffer has earned an enviable record of service at Bucknell University. For 39 years he has served faithfully in the position of instructor of electrical engineering and engineering drawing. A native of Lewisburg, Mr. Shaffer received his education in the Lewisburg public schools and Bucknell University. He attended Bucknell Academy, 1905-08; Bucknell University, 1909, A.B. 1913. (summa cum laude), B.S. in E.E. 1914; Bucknell University 1924 (M.S. in E.E.)

Mr. Shaffer's practical experience adequately prepared him to teach in his chosen field. Before joining the Bucknell faculty, Mr. Shaffer was employed by the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company of East Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania Power and Water Company of Holtwood, and the Milton Manufacturing Company and American Car and Foundry Company of Milton.

Mr. Shaffer is a member of the American Society of Electrical Engineers, the Register of Professional Engineers in Pennsylvania, the Masons, and the Lions Club. He is also listed in "Who's Who in Engineering."

Serving as treasurer of his class keeps Mr. Shaffer up to date with the activities of his classmates.

Frank A. Sprague served the University in the department of languages since 1924. Mr. Sprague's educational

(Continued on Page 17)

THE BUCKNELL ALUMNUS

BUCKNELL DUAL DEVELOPMENT FUND

CAMPAIGN AIMS FOR DUAL VICTORY—

$1,850,000 GOAL REACHED, BUT $350,000 MORE MUST BE RAISED

PRESIDENT Merle M. Odgers announced at the Alumni Luncheon on June 4, "We're over the goal, but there's still no touchdown."

The president explained the paradox by the fact that cash receipts and pledges had exceeded the funds sought for the endowment half of the campaign, but that the amount needed to finance the building half of the dual objectives was $350,000 short.

He further explained, "We must raise this additional $350,000 because some of our largest gifts were made on the condition that we complete projected buildings. We cannot meet the challenges and conditions of our building objective by taking money from the endowment side on which we are over to balance the side on which we are under, since it is not possible to convert monies designated for endowment by their donors, nor can we afford to forfeit endowment building units provided by the Kress Foundation."

So, the campaign continues among alumni and friends in areas that have not yet been organized for solicitation. All alumni and friends will have an opportunity to participate.

Building projects are already completed, under way, or scheduled in the confidence that their complete financing will be achieved as the second victory in the campaign is attained: West College (now Rush H. Kress Residence Hall) was remodeled in 1959; renovated East College is ready for occupancy in September, 1960; construction of the Administration Center is under way and to be completed by May 1, 1961; conversion of administration space in "Old Main" to residence hall use is scheduled for the Summer of 1961.

As the Dual Development Fund reaches its new goal of $2,200,000, Bucknell will have made major progress in the physical plant improvement program of its ten-year development plan, and the endowment resources of the University will have been strengthened substantially beyond the goal set at the start of the campaign.

Two benefactors who are playing major roles in the Dual Development Fund campaign were honored at the alumni luncheon on June 4: (right) Rush H. Kress ('00) and Mrs. Kress stand beside the plaque that now marks Rush H. Kress Hall (formerly West College). (left) President Odgers shows Charles A. Dana the plaque that names The Charles A. Dana Engineering Building. William R. White ('26), Chairman of the University Board of Trustees, said in unveiling the plaques, "In a capital gifts campaign we seek not only monies, but also meanings. These two benefactors symbolize the importance of two values on which the strength of the Bucknell of Tomorrow rests, alumni loyalty and the support of friends."

Honor Roll

DONORS TO DUAL DEVELOPMENT FUND

FROM

FEBRUARY 10, 1960 to AUGUST 1, 1960

EDITOR'S NOTE: The following list of donors is published to show extent of participation from February 10, 1960 to August 1, 1960. Gifts are recorded only as and when they are received at the Campaign Office. Gifts received in the Campaign Office prior to February 10, 1960, were listed in the March, 1960, issue of THE BUCKNELL ALUMNUS. We hope that the final listing will include all members of the Bucknell family. If you have not given yet, please wait until a direct appeal is made.

- ACF Foundation, Inc.
Abbe, Mr. Colman '53
Abbott, Mr. Richard S. A. '46
Abraham, Mr. Judson A. '49
Abraham, Mr. Paul J. '10
Ackroyd, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur O.
Acton, Mrs. Charles P. '51
Adams, Miss Cecilia A. '56
Adams, Miss Mary L. '56
Adams, Mr. Ralph D. '50
Adcock, Mr. George B. '36
Ahlfeld, Mr. '53 and Mrs. '54 Leonard H.
Albus, James C. '62
Alcoa Foundation
Alderman, Mr. Frederick R. '58
Alessio, Mr. Louis F. '48
Alexander, Ash & Swartz, Messrs.
Alexander, Mr. Casimir D. '33
Allegheny Ludlum Steel Corporation
Allen, Mrs. Robert M. '46
Altman, Mr. George I. '39
Altman, Miss Toby R. '57
Altseimer, Mrs. William A. '51
American Home Food, Inc.
Anchor, Mr. Charles J. '19
Anderson, Sr., Mr. and Mrs. Carl B.
Anderson, Miss Carolyn '58
Anderson, Mrs. Clifton E. '38
Anderson, Mr. '52 and Mrs. '53 Donald A.
Anderson, Mr. Douglas W. '27
Anderson, Mr. and Mrs. Leslie
Anderson, Miss Ruth D. '53
Anderson, Mr. William J. '43
Andrews, Mr. Arnold R. '39
Andrews, Jr., Mrs. Edwin L. '57
Andrews, Dr. Emrys W. '30
Andrews, Miss Evelyn V. '33
Andrews, Mr. James W. '52
Andrews, Mr. Robert T. '55
Anonymous
Anselm, Mrs. Frances S. '29
Antunes, Mrs. George '48
Apgar, Mr. '14 and Mrs. '12 Raymond L.
Appelbaum, Mr. '48 and Mrs. '48
Robert M.
Appleton, Mrs. Harvey K. '35
Armstrong, Miss Patricia M. '57
Armstrong, Jr., Mrs. Robert V. '24
Association of Bucknell Women
Atherley, Mr. Richard D. '49
Atherton, Mrs. Curtis '46
Atkins, Mr. S. Stephen '48
Aulbach, Mr. John M. '47
Austern, Mrs. Harold S. '55
Auten, Mr. Clarence L.
Averill, Jr., Mrs. Stephen P. '31
Ax, Mrs. Kurt '49
Ayres, Mr. '49 and Mrs. '47 Egbert L.
Bach, Mr. '26 and Mrs. '29 F. Earl
Bacon, Jr., Mr. '42 and Mrs. '42 Albert N.
Bacon, Miss Edna L. '02
Bacon, Mr. Edwin F. '47
Badger, Miss Ellen R. '47
Baer, Mrs. Donald P. '46
Baillets, Mr. George F. '09
Bailey, Mr. Alan S. '56
Bailey, Mr. '53 and Mrs. '54 John L.
Bair, Mrs. David L. '20
Baker, Mr. David M. '48
Baker, Miss Nancy A. '59
Baker, Mr. '44 and Mrs. '44 Robert F.
Baker, Mr. William R. '23
Balakian, Mrs. Gerard '48
Baldwin, Mr. William C. '52
Ballard, Miss Dorothy '33
Ballard, Mrs. James '11
Ballentine, Dr. Floyd G. '99
Bancel, Mrs. David A. '47
Bank, Mr. John C. '10
Barbarin, Mr. Marco P. '32
Barbour, Mrs. John '21
Bardsley, Mr. and Mrs. George H.
Bareiss, Mr. and Mrs. Max
Barker, Dr. Thomas G. '48
Barnes, Mr. '41 and Mrs. '42 Bruce W.
Barnes, Mr. Joseph S. '52
Barnes, Mrs. Paul F. '43
Barry, Mr. Desmond T.
Barthelmy, Miss Lillian M. '57
Bartholomew, Jr., Mr. '55 and Mrs. '56
Derben W.
Bartleson, Mrs. Carrie D. '99
Bartlett, Jr., Dr. '45 and Mrs. '45
Kenneth A.
Bartlett, Mr. Lester J. '16
Barton, Mr. William H. '52
Bartow, Mr. '45 and Mrs. '45 Lewis G.
Bartram, Jr., Mr. Thomas W. '48
Basmadjian, Mr. Khones '57
Bassett, Mrs. David E. '45
Bates, Mr. J. B. '15
Bathie, Mr. Alexander G. '38
Battersby, Mr. Harry '42
Battin, Jr., Mr. John P. '57
Battin, III, Mr. Wayne L. '52
Bauer, Mrs. Leigh W. '59
Baumer, Mr. '50 and Mrs. '50 William H.
Baush, Miss Mary '46
Baxter, Miss Catharine S. '25
Bay, Mr. '47 and Mrs. '48 John W.
Bayless, Mr. '53 and Mrs. '54
Theodore M.
Beagle, Mrs. Mac Morgan '04
Beauregard, Miss Sylvia C. '59
Beaver, Mr. Todd K. '55
Beale, Mrs. John R. '48
Becher, Mr. Lester C. '49
Beck, Miss Grace S.
Becker, Jr., Mr. Albert E. '50
Becker, Jr., Dr. Edward J. '51
Beckman, Mr. Robert E. '35
Beckworth, Miss Evelyn M. '30
Beckman, Jr., Mr. H. Edward '53
Beery, Mr. and Mrs. C. M.
Beetle, Miss Eleanor M. '56
Behr, Mrs. Richard L. '59
Behre, Mrs. Charles '56
Beidler, Mr. J. Garry '58
Beitler, Mr. Eugene P. '40
Beitman, Miss Janet L. '59
Belcher, Mrs. Earl J. '17
Bell, Mr. Robert K. '20
Bell, Mr. William T. '43
Bella, Mrs. Andrew '46
Belliveau, Mr. Raymond E. J. '46
Belt, Mr. Howard J. '50
Bendt, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert
Benedict, Mr. Fred E. '17
Benjamin, Charles Laurence
Benjamin, Mr. Robert D. '51
Benn, Mr. Marshall L. '07
Bennett, Mr. '52 and Mrs. '54 Robert R.
Bensen, Mr. A. Kenneth '58
Benson, Miss Anne M. '57
Benton, Mr. William A. '58
Bergen, Jr., Mr. John L. '35
Berggren, Mr. '57 and Mrs. '56
Richard G.
Berkowitz, Dr. Harold J. '48
Berley, Mr. Larry '34
Berlin, Dr. and Mrs. Allison J.
Berlin, Mr. '35 and Mrs. '35 William H.
Bernhart, Jr., Mr. C. Baker '40
Berninger, Mr. Bowdoin H. '49
Berringer, Mr. Robert T. '56
Bertles, Mrs. Robert W. '40
Beshel, Mr. Anthony A. '27
Bethel, Mr. George H. '52
Beuerlein, Mr. Edward W. '51
Bierach, Mrs. Jules '39
Bierly, Jr., Mr. James N. '47
Bigler, Mr. Ray P. '16
Bihl, Mr. Albert W. '27
Billings, Mrs. Robert E. '47
Bindrim, Miss Doris E. '35
Bingaman, Mrs. Jack W. '28
Birbaum, Mr. Robert J. '52
Bishop, Mrs. Everett L. '42
Bishop, Mr. and Mrs. John A.
Blair, Mr. Alexander C. '51
Blanchard, Mr. and Mrs. Francis W.
Blesh, Mrs. Morrell H. '28
Block, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph H.
Block, Mr. and Mrs. Max
Bloete, Mr. Wilbur R. '41
Blomgren, Mrs. Stephen E. '57
Bohs, Jr., Mr. '49 and Mrs. '47 L. Clifton
Boland, Mr. Robert J. '52
Bolger, Mrs. William '47
Bollig, Mr. J. William '50
Bollinger, Mr. and Mrs. Walter H.
Bollmeyer, Mrs. Albert K. '56
Bond, Mrs. Donald F. '37
Bond, Mr. Lawrence R. '34
Bonney, Mr. Thomas B. '48
Borden, Mrs. John '58
Borger, Mr. H. D.
Bosted, Mr. '53 and Mrs. '52 Nelson P.
Bostock, Miss Mary E. '57
Boston, Mrs. E. Daniel '45
Bostwick, Mrs. John '32
Bostwick, Mrs. Roy Crier '99
Boughter, Mr. C. Walton '45
Bowen, Mr. '56 and Mrs. '56 Dale T.
Bowen, Mr. Frederick H. '50
Bower, Miss Leah E. '26
Bower, Miss Mary I. '05
Bower, Jr., Mr. Walter J. '48
Bowler, Mr. David L. '48
Boyce, Mr. Harris R. '49
Boyd, Miss Cornelia R. '23
Boyer, Miss Billie J. '57
Boyer, Mr. Luther K. '43
Bradley, Mr. Harry F. '27
Brandon, Dr. '27 and Mrs. '16 Arthur L.
Brandriff, Mrs. Harold A. '31
Braucher, Mr. Samuel L. '35
Braun, Miss Mildred V. '45
Brantigam, Mr. Edward H. '43
Brantman, Dr. and Mrs. Joseph
Brelsford, Mr. and Mrs. Charles M.
Brenaman, Mrs. Stuart '33
Brenner, Mrs. Robert B. '43
Bressler, Jr., Mr. Henry W. '24
Brewen, Miss Alice M. '58
Bricker, III, Mr. Peter D. '50
Bridegum, Mr. John E. '30
Brown, Jr., Mr. Harold I. '39
Brown, Mr. Harold W. '47
Brown, Mr. '41 and Mrs. '42 J. Kenneth
Brown, Mr. James L. '47
Brown, Mr. James L. '51
Brown, Mr. Leslie M. '48
Brown, Mrs. Rodney G. '33
Brown, Mrs. Victor L. '31
Brown, Mrs. Warren C. '54
Bruce, Mr. E. A. '39
Bruen, Mrs. William '48
Brumberger, Mr. Richard A. '40
Brunner, Mr. William F. '57
Bruno, Mr. and Mrs. Paul A.
Bruno, Mr. '54 and Mrs. '55 Spencer A.
Brunns, Mrs. Robert B. '40
Bryan, Mr. and Mrs. John R.
Bryner, Miss Lois C. '48
Buchanan, Mr. George D. '49
Bucher, Mr. Herman W.
Bucher, Mr. Robert G. '50
Bucher, Mrs. Samuel E. '39
Buchman, Mrs. Roy '50
Budd Company
Budd, Mr. Raymond M. '50
Bueck, Mrs. Louis H. '36
Bufanio, Mr. Fred A. '36
Buley, Mr. Theodore H. '54
Bullock, Mr. '48 and Mrs. '47 George G.
Bullock, Mr. '49 and Mrs. '48 Howard K.
Bunting, Mr. Charles T. '23
Burdick, Mr. and Mrs. E. Douglas
Burgess, Mr. '56 and Mrs. '57 Seth T.
Burke, Mrs. Frederick T. '06
Burnett, Mrs. Ruth A. '59
Bush, Mrs. Leonard F. '34
Butcofsky, Mr. Donald L. '52
Butcofsky, Mr. Richard A. '37
Butler, Mrs. Edith B.
Butt, Mr. '10 and Mrs. '22 Cameron A.
Buzby, Mr. Robert Y. '50
Caffrey, Mrs. J. Gerard '47
Cagnoni, Mr. Guido J. '32
Caldwell, Mr. '53 and Mrs. '53
William A.
Camp, Mr. John T. '43
Campbell, Mrs. Douglas H. '50
Campbell, Mr. '49 and Mrs. '50 Frank H.
Campbell, Mr. '43 and Mrs. '45 W. Rand
Campbell, Mrs. William R. '47
Canarick, Dr. Sidney '39
Cannon, Mr. Barr '39
Cannon, Mr. '44 and Mrs. '44 Frank
Cappellini, Mr. Bartolomeo V. '53
Cardarelli, Mr. Louis '34
Carey, Miss Gertrude '35
Carey, Mr. '50 and Mrs. '48 William O. P.
Cargo, Jr., Mr. Ralph A. '53
Carhart, III, Mr. '54 and Mrs. '54 E.
Marter
Caris, Dr. '13 and Mrs. '14 Perry A.
Carnian, Dr. '52 and Mrs. '52 Robert H.
Carnecross, Mrs. John W. '37

Carodiskey, Mr. Thomas G. '49
 Carr, Mr. '49 and Mrs. '49 Thomas J.
 Carson, Mr. Harry L. '39
 Carter, Jr., Mr. Paul C. '57
 Caruthers, Mrs. Edward G. '39
 Casey, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence K.
 Cathers, Miss Mildred B. '10
 Catlin, Mr. '53 and Mrs. '55 William L.
 Caveleante, Mr. Anthony '24
 Chaffee, Mr. Ronald C. '54
 Chamberlain, Mr. George R. '23
 Chapman, Mr. M. M. '23
 Chase, Mr. Arnold I. '47
 Chase, Miss Jenne-Lee '59
 Childs, Miss Elinor L. '52
 Christ, Jr., Mr. Charles W. '61
 Christenson, Mr. '56 and Mrs. '56
 Herbert A.
 Christman, Mr. '54 and Mrs. '56
 Robert H.
 Cicero, Mr. Rupert H. '32
 Ciffofillo, Mr. and Mrs. Nick
 Cindrich, Mr. '48 and Mrs. '48 Anthony
 Clapp, Mrs. Frank '48
 Clark, Mr. Albert J. '15
 Clark, Mr. Gordon '57
 Clark, Jr., Mr. James O. '42
 Clark, Mr. John B. '48
 Clayton, Jr., Mrs. James M. '49
 Clemeas, Jr., Mrs. Harold N. '47
 Clemens, Miss Loretta L. '57
 Clement, Jr., Mr. '50 and Mrs. '49 Walton
 Clemmer, Mrs. Calvin L. '43
 Cline, Mr. William R. '57
 Clioger, Mr. Malcolm A. '26
 Clouser, Miss Isabelle L. '38
 Coates, Mr. Henry G. P. '32
 Cobucci, Mr. Daniel J. '54
 Coen, Mr. and Mrs. Manus
 Coene, Jr., Mr. Emile '24
 Coffey, Mr. and Mrs. Harry G.
 Cohen, Mr. Robert I. '59
 Colavita, Dr. James J. '33
 Cole, Jr., Mrs. C. Arnold '57
 Collins, Mrs. Perez H. '36
 Collinson, Dr. Daniel J. '42
 Colteryahn, Mr. '49 and Mrs. '49
 Walter P.
 Colvin, Dr. '24 and Mrs. '26 Merl G.
 Colwell, Mrs. Miles '41
 Comerford, Mr. James H. '49
 Commins, Mr. James A. '48
 Condict, Mr. Edward C. '36
 Confer, Mr. Alfred E. '51
 Connelly, III, Mr. '50 and Mrs. '49
 William H.
 Conner, Mr. '12 and Mrs. '12 A.
 Cleveland
 Conover, Mrs. Oliver B. '57
 Conreux, Mr. and Mrs. L. O.
 Contostavlos, Mr. Alex '54
 Converse, Dr. James M. '34
 Convery, Mr. Samuel V. '27
 Convery, Mr. William J. '30
 Conway, Mr. John J. '16
 Cook, Jr., Mr. John B. '29
 Cook, Mrs. Ralph B. '05
 Cook, Mr. Robert H. '53
 Cooper, Mrs. Charles D. '05
 Cooper, Miss Janet E. '32
 Cooper, Mr. Stanley '57
 Cooper, Mr. '48 and Mrs. '47 William T.
 Copeland, Mrs. Charles E. '22
 Copeland, Mr. '20 and Mrs. '22 D. W.
 Corning Glass Works Foundation
 Cornwell, Miss Florence D. '22
 Correall, Mrs. A. Donald '48
 Cortese, Mr. '54 and Mrs. '55 Anthony A.
 Cottrell, Mrs. Charles '58
 Coulomb, III, Mr. '54 and Mrs. '54
 Charles A.
 Covert, Miss Sandra A. '58
 Cowan, Mrs. James H. '46
 Cowell, Mr. Eugene F. '44
 Cox, Mr. John F. '25
 Cranford, Dr. Clarence W. '29
 Crank, Mrs. Russell E. '23
 Crossland, Mrs. Fred '18
 Crothers, Dr. Barbara A. '55
 Crouse, Dr. George W. '37
 Cruikshank, Mr. '48 and Mrs. '46 John W.
 Cubberley, Miss Edna M. '40
 Culbertson, Miss Shirley R. '59
 Culbertson, Mr. '43 and Mrs. '44 W. Joe
 Culler, Mr. William H. '33
 Dagenais, Mr. '48 and Mrs. '48
 Arthur W.
 Dailey, Mr. Joseph H. '54
 Daly, Mrs. Dan A. '55
 Dana Foundation Incorporated,
 Charles A.
 Daniel, Mr. Zachaeus '05
 Daniels, Mr. Thomas '51
 Dannenhauer, Rev. Kenneth S. '41
 Danzig, Mr. '59 and Mrs. '59 Harold M.
 Darling Valve and Mfg. Co.
 Darrison, II, Mr. and Mrs. John T.
 Daubert, Mrs. Banks O. '24
 Davenport, Mr. Robert G. '52
 Davenport, Dr. S. M. '16
 Davenport, Mr. William C. '51
 Davenport, Jr., Mr. William S. '49
 Davidson, Mr. and Mrs. Charles W.
 Davidson, III, Mr. Otto C. '55
 Daviduk, Mr. Nicholas '49
 Davies, Miss Dorothy M. '30
 Davies, Mr. J. Norman '26
 Davies, Dr. Stanley P. '12
 Davis, Mrs. C. Craig '51
 Davis, Jr., Mr. '41 and Mrs. '41 John W.
 Davis, Mrs. Lillian E. '24
 Dawson, Mrs. Daniel W. '32
 Dawson, Mrs. Robert M. '23
 Dawson, Mr. William H. J. '36
 Day, III, Mr. Charles S. '48
 Deacon, Mr. Earle W. '37
 Deans, Mr. Thomas R. '55
 Deck, Mr. Clifford C. '18
 Decker, Mr. Marlin K. '40
 Decker, Mr. Myron F. '25
 Dehls, Mr. Allan W. '50
 Delcamp, Mrs. Charles L. '38
 DeLeone, Mrs. John C. '57
 DeLong, Mrs. Robert '41
 Delta Upsilon Fraternity
 Denholtz, Mr. Jack W. '47
 Dennis, Jr., Mr. '38 and Mrs. '39
 Chester A.
 Dennis, Mrs. Edward P. '33
 Deprez, Mrs. Robert F. '54
 Derby, Mr. E. H. '20
 Derr, Mrs. Ellwood S. '21
 Derr, Mr. Herbert N. '21
 Derr, Mr. Ralph B. '17
 Detwiler, Jr., Mr. Abram C. '53
 Devens, Mr. Drew L. '47
 Devereux, Mrs. R. A. '28
 Devinney, Mr. '54 and Mrs. '54 James M.
 Diamandis, Jr., Mr. '53 and Mrs. '53
 Peter G.
 Diblin, Mr. Joseph A. '40
 Dickie, Mrs. Dorothy D. '55
 Dickstein, Mr. Jerry '59
 Dieffenderfer, Mrs. Olan '32
 Diehl, Mrs. Arthur J. '33
 Diehl, Mrs. G. Walter '29
 Dietz, Mr. Elmer W. '27
 Dietz, Mrs. Thomas R. '42
 Diffenderfer, Jr., Mr. '43 and Mrs. '44 W.
 Digiondomenico, Mr. Oresto J. '58
 Dill, Mr. '35 and Mrs. '36 Clifton H.
 Dill, Jr., Mr. '48 and Mrs. '47 E. Lamont
 Diller, Mr. '53 and Mrs. '56 Wayne W.
 Dinsmore, Mrs. Paul M. '41
 Diodoardo, Mr. Leon F. '59
 DiSerafino, Mr. Robert S. '49
 Dixon, Mrs. Raymond E. '10
 Dobson, Mr. and Mrs. John W.
 Dock, Mrs. Hugh '26
 Dodd, Jr., Mr. Samuel M. '48
 Dobmann, Mr. John J. '50
 Donaldson, Mr. '48 and Mrs. '47 James A.
 Donall, Mr. '54 and Mrs. '54 Robert L.
 Donehower, Miss Carolyn '43
 Dorr, Mr. Henry C.
 Dorrell, Rev. Harold M. '14
 Douglass, Mr. Holmes T. '21
 Downs, Mrs. J. C. '99
 Downs, Mrs. S. E. '98
 Dreibelbis, Miss Ruth A. '25
 Drexler, Mr. '49 and Mrs. '45 Joseph S.
 Dreffner, Jr., Mr. Charles E. '51
 Drumm, Mr. Donald L. '40
 Duck, Mr. '36 and Mrs. '38 Charles W.
 Duck, Mr. Gordon '54
 Dudley, Mrs. Charles M. '05
 Duffy, Mr. John J. '39
 Dunbar, Miss Agnes '27
 Dundore, Mrs. D. D. '31
 Dunigan Associates, James A.
 Dunn, Mr. Jack L. '40
 Dunne, Mr. and Mrs. James S.
 DuPuy, Mr. '59 and Mrs. '59 Theodore E.
 Durkee, Mrs. Herbert V. '13
 Dykstra, Mrs. Phillip '43
 Eaton, Mr. Donald E. '28
 Eberhardt, Dr. Lois M. '49
 Eberhart, Mr. '56 and Mrs. '56 Joseph C.
 Ebert, Mrs. Clarence G. '22
 Ebling, Miss Emily R. '03
 Eck, Miss Mable E. '37
 Eck, Miss Helena '37
 Edelman, Mr. George E. '50
 Edson, Mrs. Bernard '42
 Edwards, Mr. Charles R. '41
 Edwards, Mr. Joseph D.
 Edwards, Mrs. Mary E.
 Edwards, Mr. Walter P. '21
 Egel, Dr. Norman '31
 Egloff, Mr. '54 and Mrs. '54 James J.
 Eichberg, Miss Bettie L. '45
 Eisenbeis, Jr., Mrs. C. H. '46
 Eisenhauer, Dr. '46 and Mrs. '48
 Robert D.
 Eitel, Mr. William W. '41
 Ekedahl, Mr. David D. '56
 Ekiss, Miss Marilyn J. '59
 Elcome, Jr., Mr. '37 and Mrs. '37
 William E.
 Elkins, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Thomas W.
 Eller, Rear Admiral Ernest M.
 Ellis, Jr., Mr. Arthur R. '47
 Ellis, Mr. William A. '48
 Ellson, Mr. Stanley S. '56
 Elze, Mr. Warren E. '48
 Emmitt, Mr. '30 and Mrs. '30 William C.
 Engelhardt, Mr. August C. '59
 Engelhardt, Mr. August H. '32
 Engleson, Mr. and Mrs. Richard
 English, Mrs. William S. '15
 Epifanio, Miss Sandra A. '59
 Erieg, Mr. Mathias F. '47
 Ernst, Mr. '49 and Mrs. '49 William O.
 Estelow, Mr. '22 and Mrs. '25 Richard K.
 Etzweiler, Marilyn R. '61
 Evans, Mr. Fred W. '26
 Even, Mr. '37 and Mrs. '36 Robert S.
 Eynon, Mrs. James R. '35
 Fadden, Mr. Gerald F.
 Fagan, Jr., Mr. '49 and Mrs. '49 Harry M.
 Fairchild, Mr. Elmer E. '13
 Fairchild, Miss Margaret C. '36
 Farnsworth, Mr. J. Fred '27
 Farquhar, Mr. David E. '42
 Farquhar, Mrs. Francis '57
 Farrell, Mr. '58 and Mrs. '57 Leonard B.
 Farrell, Mrs. Richard D. '48
 Farrow, Jr., Mr. Charles T. '26
 Fassett, Mrs. Spencer '54
 Faulk, Miss Margrit E. '58
 Faust, Mrs. Wallace D. '17
 Fawcett, Jr., Mr. '50 and Mrs. '53
 David B.
 Faylor Paving Materials Co.
 Feigenbaum, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur
 Feiser, Mr. '38 and Mrs. '36 Leonard F.
 Fekete, Mrs. Frank '44
 Fenichel, Dr. Benjamin '30
 Fernandes, Mr. '54 and Mrs. '55 Dale R.
 Fero, Mrs. L. D. '14
 Ferriss, Jr., Mr. John A. '44
 Fetherston, Mrs. John T. '05
 Fetter, Mr. W. Roger '47
 Filippone, Miss Gladys C. '46
 Fink, Mr. '29 and Mrs. '28 Paul E.
 Finlay, Mrs. John R. '40
 Fippinger, Mrs. H. Richard '57
 Fish, Mr. '43 and Mrs. '45 Donald E.
 Fisher, Mrs. Carl W. '58
 Fisher, Mr. Charles W. '50
 Fisher, Mr. John W. '26
 Fisher, Mr. and Mrs. Robert E.
 Fisher, Mr. Samuel S. '40
 Fisher, Mrs. Walter '55
 Fitchett, Mrs. G. T. '49
 Fithian, Jr., Mr. Harry C. '34
 Flaherty, Mr. Frederick D. '33
 Fleer, Mrs. Lambert
 Flegler, Mr. and Mrs. Edward S.
 Fleming, Mr. A. S. '31
 Fleming, Mrs. J. G. '16
 Fleming, Miss Susan C. '55
 Flint, V. Mr. and Mrs. Asher
 Ford, Jr., Mr. Henry E. '51
 Ford, Mrs. Robert N. '29
 Foresman, Sr., Mr. John H. '93
 Fortin, Mrs. Philip F.
 Foster, Mr. Alexander '48
 Foster, Miss C. Vaughan '60
 Foster, Mr. J. Wallace '25
 Fox, Jr., Dr. '31 and Mrs. '31 Charles F.
 Fox, Mrs. Harold R. '37
 Fox, Mr. James A. '58
 Frable, Jr., Mr. Milton F. '28
 Frackenhohl, Miss Helen '49
 Frake, Jr., Mrs. Herbert '47
 Frame, Mrs. E. Bartram '40
 Frame, Mrs. Robert R. '57
 France, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd M.
 France, Mrs. York A. '47
 Frankel, Mr. Volney B. '43
 Franklin, Jr., Mr. Lester G. '49
 Franks, Mr. '49 and Mrs. '46 Norman A.
 Fraysier, Mr. Harry D. '53
 Frazier, Jr., Mrs. W. Edward '53
 Frazier, Mrs. Thomas A. '49
 Freas, Mr. Arthur K. '48
 Frederick, Miss A. Elizabeth '29
 Frederick, Mrs. William N. '36
 Freed, Mr. Richard L. '50
 Freeman, Jr., Mr. John E. '48
 Friedman, Mr. Matthew E. '47
 Frisch, Mrs. Gene '51
 Fritchman, Mr. and Mrs. H. Vernon
 Fritz, Mr. Charles L. '48
 Fritz, Jr., Mr. F. Herman '43
 Fritz, Miss Mary Ann '52
 Fromutb, Miss M. Marie '43
 Frost, Mrs. Alvah G. '06
 Fuglestad, Mr. '39 and Mrs. '40 Arne
 Gaidula, Dr. '53 and Mrs. '52 J. James
 Gailey, Mrs. Evan S. '56
 Gale, Mr. Charles W. '15
 Gall, Jr., Mr. '19 and Mrs. '22 David C.
 Galt, Mrs. Roger H. '20
 Gamble, Mr. Alexander '52
 Garde, Mrs. J. Franklin '47
 Gardei, Mr. Clarence D. '53
 Gardner, Mr. Horace W. '27
 Garrett, Jr., Mr. Robert Y. '26
 Garrison, Mr. Jack '49
 Garrison, Mrs. Rex '28
 Garten, Mr. Thomas L. '47
 Garver, Dr. Charles K. '34
 Gasprich, Mr. James A. '59
 Gasser, Mrs. Barbara M. '49
 Gates, Mrs. Harris R. '55
 Gault, Jr., Mrs. Craig M. '38
 Gavin, Mr. and Mrs. Morris R.
 Gearhart, Mr. Jerrold J. '49
 Geiger, Mr. Carl E. '15
 Geiser, Mr. Carl J. '27
 Geisler, Mr. '50 and Mrs. '50 George C.
 General Electric Corporation
 General Foods Fund, Inc.
 Geneske, Mr. Raymond J. '57
 Getman, William '61

ABOUT MEMORIALS

Alumni and friends of Dr. Herbert L. Spencer have started a fund of $20,000 to name the Dean of Women's Suite in the new Administration Center in memory of the former president and trustee of Bucknell University.

Similarly, Alumni and friends of Dr. Dayton L. Ranck have started a fund of $20,000 to name the Treasurer's Office in the Center in memory of the former vice president and treasurer of Bucknell who served the University for over three decades.

Anyone who wishes to participate in either or both of these memorial funds is invited to add memorial amounts to his existing pledge or gift to the Dual Development Fund, or to designate his pledge or gift for that purpose when a direct appeal for the Fund is made to him in the near future.

A number of memorial and name opportunities are still open in the Administration Building, which is itself unnamed as yet, and in the residence hall remodelings. East College is open to naming by a donor.

RANGE OF GIFTS IN THE "FIRST VICTORY" OF THE CAMPAIGN

(AS OF JUNE 4, 1960)

No.	Amount
1	$400,000.00
1	125,000.00
5	100,000.00
3	50,000.00—$75,000.00
3	25,000.00
2	20,000.00
11	10,000.00—20,000.00
23	5,000.00—10,000.00
12	2,500.00—5,000.00
73	1,000.00—2,500.00
48	500.00—1,000.00
475	150.00—500.00
2407	Up to 150.00
3064

Giannini, Mrs. Walter '58
Gibbons, Mr. Nathaniel T. '32
Gibney, Mr. John V. '08
Gibson, Mr. George C. '43
Giffin, Mr. Harold W. '16
Giles, Mr. Carl L. '36
Gilmour, Mr. '30 and Mrs. '31 Joseph E.
Gindele, Mr. Herbert H. '49
Gingerich, Mr. '51 and Mrs. '52 William W.
Ginsburg, Mr. Irving '56
Gladstone, Mr. and Mrs. Milton
Glaser, Mr. and Mrs. Henry J.
Glaser, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert P.
Glaser, Mr. Philip '46
Glenn, Mrs. Ben '27
Glover, Miss Carolyn '47
Glover, Mr. '13 and Mrs. '14 Marwood B.
Godley, Jr., Mr. Paul F. '43
Gold, Mr. '46 and Mrs. '48 William D.
Goldman, Mrs. Herbert '47
Goldstein, Mrs. Harry I. '33
Good, Mr. David R. '45
Good, Mrs. Glenville H. '32
Goodman, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert S.
Goodman, Mr. Ronald B. '54
Gorby, Mrs. Donald L. '54
Gordon, Miss Isabel S. '57
Gordon, Mr. Lynn S. '53
Gorsen, Mrs. Robert O. '26
Goudy, Jr., Mrs. J. Nelson '46
Graham, Mr. Lloyd R. '47
Grambow, Mr. Walter F. '54
Gramley, Mr. G. Heil '32
Grande, Lt. Alfred F. '58
Gray, Mrs. James L. '17
Grenoble Brothers
Gretsch, Mr. '55 and Mrs. '55 William R.
Gretzinger, Jr., Mr. W. C. '27
Griesbach, Jr., Mrs. Louis H. '59
Griffin, Jr., Mr. Frederick J. '43
Griffis, Mr. Terrold A.
Griffith, Miss Jane '43
Griffiths, Mr. William M. '43
Grigger, Mr. John C. '43
Grill, Mr. William H.
Grimes, Mrs. Paul '30
Grimes, Mr. William C. '11
Grimm, Mr. David A. '50
Grimm, Mrs. Earl '28
Groff, Miss Frances L. '12
Groff, Miss Margaret '04
Groover, Mr. William K. '52
Gross, Mr. '49 and Mrs. '48 Clifford A.
Grove, Mr. Owen Smith '35
Grubb, Jr., Mr. Walter C. '46
Guempel, Mr. Robert G. '48
Gulf Oil Corporation
Gum, Mrs. Edward F. '28
Hagemann, Mr. Edwin C. '16
Hagerman, Jr., Mr. William R. '57
Haglund, Mr. Rodger B. '58
Haines, Dr. Keith E. '31
Hall, Mrs. Charles H. '18
Hall, Mr. Craig M. '51
Hall, Mr. '24 and Mrs. '25 Walter J.
Hall, Mrs. William E. '51
Hallagan, Mrs. Stuart D. '27
Hallberg, Jr., Mrs. Eric C. '58
Halline, Mr. Edwin G. '53
Ham, Jr., Mr. James G. '47
Hamburg, Dr. '39 and Mrs. '40 Allen E.
Hamilton, Mr. '57 and Mrs. '59 David L.

Hammer, Mr. '51 and Mrs. '51 Richard R.
Hammesfahr, Mr. Ernest J. '50
Hancock, Jr., Mr. Willis R. '46
Hand, Jr., Mr. '26 and Mrs. '27 James H.
Handley, Mrs. Don W. '56
Hannold, Miss Lillian H. '17
Hannum, Mr. '42 and Mrs. '41 William B.
Hansen, Jr., Mr. '48 and Mrs. '48 William H.
Hanson, Rev. Joseph J. '41
Harding, Mrs. Raymond T. '36
Hardvall, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas T.
Harkness, Mrs. Clifton C. '26
Harnish, Mrs. Mary B. '05
Harrigan, Jr., Mrs. Francis L. '56
Harris, Mr. Louis
Harris, Mrs. Morton F. '42
Harrison, Mrs. Robert W. '48
Harrison, Mr. Wayne S. '51
Hartman, Mr. Edwin H. '35
Hartman, Mr. '36 and Mrs. '20 Robert N.
Hartshorn, Mr. E. Stanley '10
Hartshorn, Mrs. F.
Hartung, Jr., Mrs. Francis C. '49
Harz, Jr., Mr. Fred '54
Haslam, Mr. '58 and Mrs. '58 Robert E.
Hauber, Mr. Fordyce C. '30
Hawkins, Miss Dorothy R. '51
Hawkins, Mr. O. V. W. '13
Hayes, Mr. and Mrs. Donald W.
Hayes, Wm. Van V., (Estate of) '88
Hayward, Mr. and Mrs. John C.
Hazard, Miss Peggy M. '52
Hazel, Mrs. Emma F. '39
Hazen, Rev. Joseph C. '99
Hazen, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph V.
Heacock, Dr. Charles H. '11
Hebbard, Jr., Mr. Harry A. '37
Hegelein, Mr. Alan R. '54
Hegner, Mrs. Ralph L. '45
Heim, Mr. Robert C. '24
Heinaman, Jr., Mr. '51 and Mrs. '49 Howard B.
Heine, Mrs. H. Clair '31
Heine, Mr. '57 and Mrs. '57 Marten N.
Heinrich, Mr. '53 and Mrs. '53 James L.
Heisen, Dr. Aaron J. '35
Heiss, Miss Nancy L. '53
Heiter, Mr. Oliver A. '19
Heller, Miss Jean T. '49
Heller, Mr. William J. '39
Hellie, Mr. '46 and Mrs. '46 Charles W.
Helme, Mrs. Elsie J. '58
Helwig, Jr., Mr. '39 and Mrs. '39 Daniel E.
Hemecker, Mr. '54 and Mrs. '57 Ralph C.
Henderson, Mr. and Mrs. John R.
Henderson, Miss Martha H.
Henderson, Mr. Robert F. '56
Henderson, Mrs. William H. '37
Hendrixson, H. Mr. William G. '52
Hengeveld, Mrs. William A. '32
Hennel, Mrs. Allan K. '53
Henry, Mr. Howard C. '54
Herald, Mrs. Jane Y. '36
Herder, Mr. C. Edward '57
Herman, Mr. Charles B. '50
Herman, Mrs. David '45
Herman, Mr. Sherman A. '49
Hern, Mr. George P. '15
Herpst, Mr. '47 and Mrs. '49 Rolland C.
Herrmann, Mr. '48 and Mrs. '47 Paul E.
Herschcock, Mr. '57 and Mrs. '56 Robert J.

Herwig, Mrs. Bruce '53
Hess, Mr. Charles A. '38
Hess, Mr. George G. '57
Hess, Jr., Mr. '45 and Mrs. '45 James L.
Hess, Mr. John '51
Hester, Mrs. Louis '33
Hetler, Mr. Willard R. '27
Heuer, Mr. Robert G. '44
Heuman, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph
Hewson, Mrs. John G. '44
Hey, Jr., Mrs. E. Barry '54
Hicks, Mr. '51 and Mrs. '51 David S.
Hieber, Mr. '47 and Mrs. '47 O. Bernard
Higgins, Jr., Mr. James J. '52
Higgins, Mr. Warren '40
Higgs, Mrs. John W. '19
High, Dr. John D. '36
Hill, Jr., Mrs. J. Stuart '53
Hill, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas S.
Hillhouse, Miss Barbara '48
Hinkle, Jr., Mr. Charles J. '50
Hinman, Sr., Mr. Earl E. '11
Hipp, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick L.
Hirsch, Mrs. G. Foster '57
Hittleman, Miss Francine B. '58
Hjortsberg, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur
Hoffman, Dr. and Mrs. Benjamin
Hoffman, Mr. Benjamin '52
Hoffman, Mr. Philip G. '52
Hoffman, Mr. Wade F. '22
Hole, Mr. '52 and Mrs. '54 James E.
Holler, Jr., Mr. '41 and Mrs. '42 Clyde C.
Holman, Mr. Harvey I. '49
Holmes, Mr. James F. '51
Holton, Jr., Mr. George A. '54
Homa, Mr. '49 and Mrs. '49 Stephen W.
Hood, Jr., Mr. '48 and Mrs. '49 Raymond A.
Hoonbeck, Mr. Frank D. '54
Hooven, Dr. Morris D. '20
Hopkins, Mr. Francis C. '28
Hopler, Mr. Elliott S. '24
Hopper, Jr., Mrs. Daniel '25
Hornbeck, Mr. Cecil L. '53
Hornberger, Dr. J. Howard '19
Hort, Mr. Percy '31
Horter, Mr. John M. '29
Horton, Mr. Kenneth W. '48
Houck, Mr. '49 and Mrs. '49 Alvin S.
Houser, Mrs. James H. '53
Hower, Mrs. David J. '55
Huang, Mr. John L. '60
Hubbard, Mrs. Charles G. '37
Hubbard, Mr. Stanley B. '56
Huber, Mrs. Lawrence L. '48
Hubka, Mr. Eugene L. '47
Hucks, Jr., Mrs. Robert T. '48
Hudson, Mr. and Mrs. Jay S.
Huff, Mr. William Z. '47
Hughes, Dr. David W. '38
Hughes, Mrs. Paul H. '28
Hughes, Mr. Robert A. '49
Hulbert, Mr. William C. '40
Hull, Mr. Ellis F. '32
Hulley, Jr., Mr. William C. '13
Humphreys, Mr. Richard F. '31
Hunneke, Mrs. Fred E. '53
Hunt, Mrs. C. R. '35
Hunt, Mr. James D. '48
Hunter, Mr. '49 and Mrs. '51 Robert D.
Hurd, Mrs. Vincent N. '41
Husch, Mr. Donald H. '54
Huse, Mr. Jack T. '44
Husted, Mr. '44 and Mrs. '44 H. Harlan
Husted, Mr. Richard L. '53
Husted, Mr. '53 and Mrs. '53 Robert R.
Hutchinson, Mrs. Alan B. '55
Hutchinson, Mr. and Mrs. Alexander
Huus, Jr., Mr. '36 and Mrs. '34 Carl M.
Iglar, Dr. Frederick B. '12
Illingworth, Mr. Francisco P.
Impara, Mrs. Raymond J. '51
Ingram, Mr. and Mrs. Lee G.
Ingram, Mr. '20 and Mrs. '23 Evan W.
Insurance Company of America
International Business Machine Corporation
Iredell, Mr. '20 and Mrs. '18 Charles V.
Ireland, Mr. E. E.
Irland, Mr. '50 and Mrs. '51 Edwin A.
Irvin, Mr. William J. '22
Irving, Miss E. Adele '58
Irwin, Mr. Raymond K. '47
Irwin, Mr. Robert D. '52
Izard, Mr. Thomas W. '50
Ivey, Mr. Curtis L. '52
Jackman, Mr. '49 and Mrs. '50 Roy P.
Jackman, Mr. Samuel J.
Jackson, Rev. Carmalt B. '22
Jackson, Mr. Charles S. '35
Jackson, Mrs. John S. '37
Jackson, Rev. L. Earl '13
Jackson, Mrs. Samuel '56
Jackson, Mr. and Mrs. Sidney C.
Jacobus, Mr. and Mrs. John J.
Jacoby, Mr. John Z. '56
Jaekel, Mrs. Frederick B. '02
Jaffe, Mr. '49 and Mrs. '47 Lawrence
Jaffe, Mr. Melvin '40
Jaggard, Dr. Clarence W. '51
Janes, Jr., Mr. '56 and Mrs. '56 Edwin R.
Janson, Mrs. Eric '39
Jeary, Mr. and Mrs. John E.
Jemison, Mr. Foster D. '24
Jenkins, Mr. George N. '43
Jenkins, Mrs. Willard S. '27
Jennings, Dr. Edward D. '32
Jeramaz, Mrs. Thomas L. '46
Johnson, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. A. Sidney
Johnson, Miss Arline M. '58
Johnson, Mr. '48 and Mrs. '47 David C.
Johnson, Mrs. Edward B. '47
Johnson, Mrs. Eunice H.
Johnson, Mr. L. Roy '11
Johnson, Mr. Paul E. '32
Johnson, Mrs. Stephen B. '22
Johnson, Mrs. Walter C. '49
Johnson, Mr. Wilmer C. '09
Johnston, Jr., Mr. Chester A. '45
Johnstone, Mr. David C. '58
Jones, Dr. Frank L. '25
Jones, Dr. Franklin D. '19
Jones, Jr., Mr. Ralph E. '50
Jones, Mr. Robert M. '42
Joos, Mrs. Robert M. '51
Joralemon, Jr., Mrs. John L. S. '44
Joyce, II, Mr. William F. '35
Judd, Mr. Thomas R. '52
Kalman, Mr. Ernest M. '56
Kalp, Mr. Charles W. '29
Kammer, Mr. Edwin P. '48
Kandle, Mr. Edward A. '40
Kaplan, Dr. Leon
Kaste, Miss Viola M. '33
Kauffman, Mr. Carson W. '40
Kauffman, Mr. Riley H. '09
Kaufman, Dr. and Mrs. Joseph J.
Kaye, Mr. '52 and Mrs. '52 Martin W.
Kazary, Mr. '47 and Mrs. '47 Albert R.
Kearney, Mr. Arthur C. '53
Kearney, Mr. Thomas J. '55
Keech, Rev. '49 and Mrs. '47 Finley M.
Keegao, Mr. Robert C. '44
Keeler, Mr. Thomas F. '31
Keeley, Mrs. John B. '52
Keen, Mr. Alex W. '13
Keenan, Jr., Mr. C. Robert '40
Keenan, Mr. Ralph M. '47
Keenan, Mr. Robert J. '31
Keiser, Mr. John R. '11
Keister, Mr. Walter S. '50
Keith, Mr. Ronald B. '55
Keith, Mr. Russell M. '50
Keller, Miss Barbara '55
Kelley, Mr. and Mrs. John William
Kelly, Mr. Francis W. '51
Kelly, Jr., Mrs. John E. '49
Kendrick, Mr. '41 and Mrs. '41 Harold P.
Kennedy, Mr. Charles H. '49
Kennedy, Rev. and Mrs. Theodore F.
Kennedy, Mrs. William B. '40
Kennerdell, Mr. John S. '57
Kenzie, Mr. '57 and Mrs. '56 Allan G.
Kephart, Mrs. Edwin G. '27
Kern, Mr. Richard W. '54
Kerr, Miss Betty J. '56
Kershner, Dr. William R. '41
Ketchledge, Jr., Mr. John S. '49
Key, Mr. Clarence H. '21
Keyes, Mr. '58 and Mrs. '56 John W.
Keyser, Miss Hilda '42
Kiehl, Mrs. E. Robert '44
Kiely, Jr., Mr. '52 and Mrs. '52 William R.
Kick, Mr. '40 and Mrs. '40 George H.
Killebrew, Miss Ellen J. '59
Killian, Mr. William J. '50
Killough, III, Mrs. Robert '53
Kimball, Jr., Mr. Warren '52
Kincaid, Mr. and Mrs. William E.
King, Dr. Alden P. '21
King, Mr. Edward R. '33
King, Dr. Jack A. C. '42
Kinningham, Mrs. Joseph F. '51
Kinney, Jr., Mr. '56 and Mrs. '57 Arthur D.
Kiscars, Mr. Theodore C. '27
Kishbaugh, Mr. Albert M. '24
Kissell, Mr. Charles A. '15
Kissman, Mrs. Henry M. '51
Kistler, Mr. Warren A. '44
Kittay, Mr. and Mrs. Elias
Kline, Mrs. Arch T. '18
Klinetob, Dr. Richard H. '40
Kling, Mr. Roger E. '56
Klinghoffer, Mr. Fred '57
Knapp, Miss Dorothy J. '28
Knecht, III, Mrs. Charles L. '52

Knight, Mr. and Mrs. Elton E.
Knights, Dr. Edward B. '35
Knights, Dr. Frances E. '32
Knights, Miss L. Winnifred '35
Knorr, Dr. Edward A. '26
Knorr, Mr. '53 and Mrs. '56 Edward B.
Koose, Mr. Wayne E. '40
Knudson, Jr., Mr. '47 and Mrs. '46
Harry E.
Kober, Mrs. Stave '52
Koch, Mrs. Katherine S. '48
Koegler, Mr. Robert C. '41
Kohberger, Mr. '39 and Mrs. '40
Joseph W.
Kohl, III, Mrs. E. William '40
Kohl, Mrs. Richard C. '49
Kohlband, Mr. William F. '51
Kohlhaas, Mrs. Harry R. '54
Kooman, Mr. and Mrs. John J.
Kopit, Mr. and Mrs. Alexander
Koplik, Dr. Benjamin S. '42
Koser, Mr. Ralph B. '31
Kost, Mrs. Lewis V. '28
Koster, Mr. '55 and Mrs. '56 Jay S.
Koyen, Mr. Howard A. '32
Krackel, Mr. and Mrs. William Frederick
Kramer, Mr. Daniel D. '48
Kramer, Mrs. J. Stanley '55
Kramer, Mrs. W. R. '46
Krantz, Mrs. Lorraine K. '47
Krapp, Mr. Guy L. '50
Kressler, Mr. Russell L. '31
Krieger, Mrs. Richard I. '59
Kroner, Dr. Arnold L. '47
Krzywicki, Mr. '48 and Mrs. '46
Anthony A.
Kucker, Mr. Robert G. '52
Kuhl, II, Mrs. Paul E. '44
Kulp, Jr., Mr. Howard G. '29
Kunkel, Nancy L. '61
Kunz, Miss Nancy L. '56
Kurtz, Mrs. F. Roger '39
Kurtz, Jr., Mrs. John M. '34
Kuster, Rev. Herman '50
Kutz, Mr. Frank H. '53
Kutz, Mr. Jacob H. '23
LaBar, Mr. '54 and Mrs. '56 Bruce A.
Lacke, Mrs. Paul F. '51
Ladenheim, Miss Rebecca '54
Lady, Mrs. Andrew '51
Laird, Mr. John R. '53
Lamb, Mr. Glen '49
Lambert, Mr. '41 and Mrs. '44 Robert C.
Lamon, Mr. '50 and Mrs. '48 Warren H.
Lampe, Mr. Harold '51
Landis, Mr. Roy H. '22
Landzettel, Mr. Robert W. '57
Lanning, Mr. '14 and Mrs. '19 Leland P.
Lanning, Mr. John W. '49
Larkin, Jr., Mr. '56 and Mrs. '56
Stephen F.
Larrabee, Dr. '53 and Mrs. '53 Robert D.
Larsen, Mr. '56 and Mrs. '56 Robert R.
Larsen, Mr. Roy E. H. '50
Larson, Mr. William H. '51
Larson, Jr., Mr. Kenneth C. '56
LaRue, Mr. James A. '59
LaRue, Mr. '51 and Mrs. '51 Richard W.
Latta, Jr., Mrs. James '43
Lauderbaugh, Mr. '27 and Mrs. '27
Albert B.
Lauman, Mr. Robert M. '45
Lauroesch, Mrs. Thomas '46
Lavelle, Mrs. John P. '55
Leaber, Mr. '19 and Mrs. '18 Chester R.
Lecce, Mr. Robert A. '50
Ledden, Dr. '38 and Mrs. '38 Lewis J.
Lee, Jr., Ralph A. '61
Lee, Mr. '48 and Mrs. '49 William W.
Leehan, Mr. Charles H. '25
Lehigh Portland Cement Company
Leiby, Mrs. D. Kenneth '32
Leiby, Mrs. James R. W. '44
Leidy, Mr. and Mrs. Lester W.
Leinroth, II, Mrs. Robert G. '38
Leiser, Dr. John Y. '39
Leister, Mrs. John S. '55
Lemler, Mr. Stanley R. '40
Lenchuk, Mr. '47 and Mrs. '46 Paul
Lenker, Mr. John J. '37
Lenker, Mr. '56 and Mrs. '56 William F.
Leonard, Mr. and Mrs. A. E.
LeSchander, Mr. David E. '58
Lestrangle, Mr. Nile R. '58
Letchworth, III, Mr. '56 and Mrs. '57
George E.
Letts, Jeffrey Starlin '62
Levine, Howard S. '62
Levit, Mrs. Samuel '46
Lewis, Jr., Mrs. E. P. '48
Lewis, Mrs. Myrtle S. '24
Lewis, Mrs. Patricia Jones '50
Lewis, Mr. '55 and Mrs. '56 Ralph E.
Lewis, Mr. T. R. '51
Lewis, Mr. Warren R. '42
Lewis, Mr. William H. '50
Lewisburg Concrete Products Company
Lichtenfels, Mr. '52 and Mrs. '52
Philip J.
Liebergall, Mrs. Harvey '48
Liebeskind, Mr. and Mrs. '57 David
Limbacher, Mr. '49 and Mrs. '51
Robert W.
Linaberry, Mr. '50 and Mrs. '52 Jack R.
Linaberry, Dr. William H. '42
Linck, Mr. '54 and Mrs. '54 John L.
Lindner, Albert A. '61
Lindner, Mrs. John A. '29
Linton, Mr. William H. '49
Lippincott, Mrs. Donald M. '56
Little, IV, Dr. Ralph B. '43
Little, Mr. Robert C. '51
Lloyd, Mr. John J. '58
Locher, Mrs. R. Walter '49
Lofberg, Mrs. Clarence '23
Lofft, Jr., Mr. Charles W. '48
Lohrmann, Mr. Donald E. '51
Long, Mr. D. Eugene '29
Long, Mr. Guy A. '59
Longaker, Mr. Robert P. '42
Losch, Miss Lenore M. '28
Lose, III, Mrs. Charles R. '36
Lose, Mr. '50 and Mrs. '50 John J.
Loth, Mr. Bernard M. '33
Louis, Mrs. Kenneth C. '42
Lower, Mr. George H. '53
Luce, Mr. '50 and Mrs. '53 Edgar A.
Luck, Mr. Russell M. '48
Lundy, Mrs. James G. '23
Lyon, II, Mr. George D. '58
Lyons Shop
McCabe, Miss Virginia '43
McCartney, Mr. Richard L. '56
McCarty, Miss Mary Jane '51
McCasky, Jr., Mr. '27 and Mrs. '26
Stanley A.
McCaslin, Mrs. Murray F. '31
McChesney, Mrs. C. William '49
McClain, Mr. '31 and Mrs. '32 Warren J.
McClintock, Mr. Robert L. '48
McConnell, Mr. Stewart J.
McConnell, Dr. '53 and Mrs. '53
Walter L.
McCormick, Mr. Felix J. '29
McCormick, Mrs. Frank '42
McCreary, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph W.
McDonald, Dr. '49 and Mrs. '49
Robert W.
McFadden, Mrs. William J. '38
McGee, Mr. George V. '38
McGee, Mr. Henry M. '36
McGeoy, Mrs. John G. '46
McGraw, Rev. Bruce G. '39
McHail, Mr. Bruce A. '26
McHail, Mr. Paul R. '41
McIlwain, Mr. Joseph E. '20
McIntosh, Mrs. James S. C. '58
McKay, Mrs. John P. '39
McKee, Mr. John R. '55
McKee, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. John Ryan
McKinney, Mr. Walter R. H. '53
McLaughlin, Mr. Robert '48
McMurtrie, Mr. Arthur John '24
McNair, Jr., Mrs. Irving M. '54
McQuilkin, Mr. James B. '51
MacAniff, John K. '62
Macaw, Mr. Donald E. '56
MacIntyre, Mr. Herbert E. '50
Mack, Jr., Mrs. Charles A. '40
MacKay, Miss Georgia A. '58
Mackey, Mrs. Howard D. '48
MacKinnon, Mrs. Walter A. '52
MacPherson, Mr. '44 and Mrs. '44
Ronald H.
Magoon, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence E.
Mahaffey, Mrs. Carolyn H. '25
Mahle, Miss Ellen L. '58
Mahler, Mrs. Paul E. '48
Maier, Mrs. R. H. '39
Maio, Mr. Louis Francis '52
Malcom, Mr. Arthur H. '45
Mallay, Mr. Paul C. '23
Mandel, Mr. Martin E. '32
Mangan, Mr. Thomas J. '21
Mann, Mr. Walter H. '11
Manning, Mr. Alan S. '51
Manning, Mr. '52 and Mrs. '52
Donald W.
Manrodt, Jr., Dr. '39 and Mrs. '43 Kurt
Mansuy, Dr. Matthew M. '41
March, Mrs. Frederic C. '59
March, Mr. Louis A. '32
Marinelli, Mr. '45 and Mrs. '47
Nicholas W.
Markey, Mr. Joseph F. '50
Markson, Mr. A. Richard '53
Marshall, Jr., Mr. Hugh L. '33
Martens, Mrs. Henry '38
Martens, Mr. '56 and Mrs. '56
William R.
Martin, Mr. J. Luther '40
Martin, Mr. and Mrs. Lowell A.
Martin, Mr. Robert A. '51
Martz, Mr. Clarence J. '26
Mascioli, Mr. Rocco L. '52
Mason, Mr. Horace W. '31
Mason, Mrs. James O. '40
Mason, Mr. John A. '20
Mason, Mr. Joseph S. '52
Mathers, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd C.
Mathieson, Mr. Andrew '50
Maurer, Jr., Mr. Charles L. '37
Mayer, Mr. David W. '50
Mayer, Jr., Mr. Everett H. '57
Mayer, Mrs. George H. '40
Mayock, Dr. Robert L. '38
Maypole, Mr. '58 and Mrs. '59 Oliver I.
Meehan, Jr., Mr. Frank J. '52
Mehring, Miss Joyce S. '59
Meine, Dr. Bertha M. '10
Meminger, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence E.
Mendicino, Mr. Angelo D. '31
Menges, Mr. Cyril F. '46
Menske, Mr. Peter M. '44
The Merck Company Foundation
Meredith, Jr., Mr. '53 and Mrs. '53
Frank S.
Merrick, Mrs. J. Leon '27
Mertz, Mr. Robert A. '51
Mervin, Miss Carolyn S. '58
Meseroll, Mr. '42 and Mrs. '44 Charles P.
Messinger, Mr. Arthur H. '48
Messner, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick W.
Meyer, Jr., Mr. Charles H. '52
Meyer, Mrs. David '48
Meyer, Mr. Harry J. '33
Meyer, Mr. Robert W. '12
Meyer, Mr. '41 and Mrs. '43 Thomas O.
Meyer, Jr., Mr. '50 and Mrs. '52 Victor F.
Meyn, Mr. Charles A.
Mickleby, Mr. Earl B. '23
Miers, Mr. '26 and Mrs. '26 T. Jefferson
Miles Oil Company, T. M.
Miller, Dr. '27 and Mrs. '27 Bruce J.
Miller, Mr. C. W. '20
Miller, Mrs. C. William '36
Miller, Mr. Edward H. '44
Miller, Mr. George J. '48
Miller, Jr., Dr. Harold W. '51
Miller, Jr., Mr. Harry S. '52
Miller, Mr. and Mrs. Henry S.
Miller, Jr., Mr. '51 and Mrs. '54
James R.
Miller, Mr. Karl O. '53
Miller, Miss Katherine E. '26
Miller, Mr. L. Paul
Miller, Jr., Mr. '51 and Mrs. '51 Luther F.
Miller, Mrs. Paul E. '30
Miller, Mr. Philip C. '36
Miller, Mr. '37 and Mrs. '39 Robert G.
Miller, Mr. '49 and Mrs. '49 Robert L.
Miller, Miss Sarah K. '59
Miller, Mr. Stephen M. '51
Millett, Mr. Donald '51
Milligan, Mrs. John D. '23
Millward, Dr. Carl '06 (Dec'd.)
Milton Machine Works, Inc.
Milton Steel and Supply Corporation
Minnicks, Mrs. James F. '48
Mischinski, Dr. Matthew '47
Mohr, Mr. Charles E. '30
Molof, Mr. '49 and Mrs. '52 Alan H.
Mologne, Mr. Stuart J. '47
Monroe, Mrs. Paul S. '40
Monta, Mr. Anthony J. '34
Mook, Mr. John C. '50
Moore, Miss Alice C. '40
Moore, Mr. Clarence Byron '21
Moore, Mrs. Frank W. '46
Moore, Mrs. John T. '37
Moore, Miss Olive E. '17
Moore, Mr. '47 and Mrs. '46 Richard L.
Moore, Mr. Robert S. '18
Moore, Mrs. W. Calver '24
Morley, Mrs. William M. '51
Morone, Mr. Philip '49
Moross, Mrs. Charles M. '45
Morris, Jr., Mr. George E. '57
Morrison, Mr. Walter T. '56
Morrow, Miss Ellen L. '50
Morrow, Miss Martha M. '26
Morse, Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin
Morton, Mrs. John H. '46
Motteller, Mr. John C. '57
Moszczynski, Mrs. Edward '47
Motteram, Mr. '49 and Mrs. '49 Ernest E.
Moyer, Mrs. Earle L. '28
Moyer, Dr. and Mrs. George A. F.
Moyer, Dr. and Mrs. '45 John L.
Mueller, Mr. David A. '51
Muffy, Dr. James A.
Muncaster, Mrs. William T. '44
Murdock, Mr. Porter '47
Murphy, Mr. '26 and Mrs. '27
Kenneth T.
Murphy, Mr. Bertram S. '52
Murphy, Mrs. Charles E. '44
Musgrave, Jr., Mr. William W. '52
Muskey, Mr. Joseph P. '58
Mutchler, Mr. '39 and Mrs. '42
Charles E.
Myers, Mr. '34 and Mrs. '33 Edward C.
Myers, Miss Ruth Ann '57
Myers, Miss Sydney C. '57
Mynott, Mr. '54 and Mrs. '54 Geoffrey P.
Nardi, Miss Jean E. '59
National Lead Foundation, Inc., The Naugle, Mr. Floyd P. '56
Naumann, Mrs. Louis A. '12
Nayfield, Dr. Ronald C. '32
Neale, Mr. Jack '49
Neff, Mr. '52 and Mrs. '50 William H.
Netzel, Mr. Philip C. '41
Neuman, Mrs. Paul M. '52
Neuville, Mr. '57 and Mrs. '58 Stephen B.
Neuviller, Mrs. Thomas E. '49
Newark Tidewater Terminal, Inc.
Newcombe, Mr. Robert A.
Newcum, Miss Nancy '56
Newman, Mr. and Mrs. Paul F.
Newton, Mrs. Phillip R. '45
Neyhart, Miss Mary A. '32
Nicely, Mr. '08 and Mrs. '26 Charles A.
Nides, Miss Mary-Jane '56
Nikodem, Mr. and Mrs. '34 Walter J.
Nixon, Mr. John C. '40
Nogan, Mr. '57 and Mrs. '58 Donald S.
Nolan, Mr. '42 and Mrs. '42 Martin J.
Noll, Mr. '37 and Mrs. '40 Clyde M.
Nolle, Mrs. W. Bruce '49
Nonemaker, Jr., Mr. Frank '41
Nork, Mr. Vincent H. '40
Norman, Mr. '48 and Mrs. '47 William T.
Oakley, Mr. '19 and Mrs. '20 Kenneth W.
O'Brien, Mrs. Charles '31
O'Brien, Jr., Mr. '57 and Mrs. '57
Thomas J.
Olds, Miss Helena M. '07
O'Leary, Mr. '14 and Mrs. '12 Thomas A.
O'Loughlin, Mr. '49 and Mrs. '48
Edward P.
O'Neill, Miss Mona B. '59

ABOUT THE MATCHING CORPORATE ALUMNUS PLAN

Many alumni can achieve a doubling of their pledges and gifts to the Dual Development Fund if they are employed by a company that has an alumnus gift matching policy as a part of its aid to education pattern. Many businesses and corporations have such matching policies. Other companies might be persuaded to match an alumnus or parent gift if asked to do so.

Some plans allow for matching of gifts to educational institutions by any donor, whether alumnus, parent, or friend. Some companies limit the amount matched; others have no limits.

Alumni and friends interested in business and corporation giving are invited to request of the Campaign Office in Lewisburg, a copy of "The Case for Corporate Support of Bucknell University's Dual Development Fund."

- O'Neill, Mrs. Wiswell '22
Orbell, Jr., Mrs. C. A. '45
Orloski, Mr. James '35
Ormsby, Mr. Ross R. '27
Orr, Dr. W. Frederick '33
Ortlieb, Mr. '52 and Mrs. '54 Joseph W.
Oswald, Mr. D. Wendell '55
Owens, Miss Jennie G. '30
Oxenrider, Mrs. Bryce C. '51
Pahron, Mr. '57 and Mrs. '57 Hubs N.
Palczuk, Dr. Nicholas C. '52
Palmer, Mr. '43 and Mrs. '44 William H.
Palmieri, Mr. Frank J. '49
Pangburn, Mr. Edward W. '46
Pangburn, Mr. James A. '20
Parker, Mr. Barry T. '54
Parkin, Jr., Mr. '47 and Mrs. '43 Harry C.
Parkinson, Mrs. Bruce S. '52
Parvin, Mr. and Mrs. John L.
Patil, Mr. Annarao G. '58
Paul, Mrs. H. Clark '40
Pearce, Jr., Mr. '52 and Mrs. '54
Earnest O.
Pearlman, Mrs. Earl R. '36
Pearlman, Mr. Emanuel E. '39
Peichert, Miss Rena E. '46
Peifer, Miss Helen G. '25
Penn Salt Chemicals Foundation
Peoples, Jr., Mr. John W. '50
Perry, Mrs. Paul A. '49
Perry, Mrs. Walter W. '37
Person, Mr. '20 and Mrs. '20 Hayes L.
Peters, Mr. '34 and Mrs. '34 J. Gordon
Peters, Mr. Jack L. '52
Peters, Mr. Walter G. '40
Peterson, Mr. Richard H. '49
Pettrelli, Dr. and Mrs. Joseph V.
Peyser, Mr. Robert F. '54
Pfischner, Mr. '54 and Mrs. '54 Henry E.
Philbrook, Mrs. William O. '39
Phillips, Mrs. Harold '51
Phillips, Dr. John C. '28
Piccolino, Mr. and Mrs. Edmund L.
Pieper, Miss Marilyn D. '59
Pierson, Jr., Mr. Earle B. '38
Pigman, Mr. '56 and Mrs. '55 Paul R.
Pinkerton, Mr. and Mrs. Paul W.
Pirrotta, Mr. and Mrs. Anthony P.
Pitch Pipe Music Store
Plankenhorn, Dr. William F. '34
Pocius, Mr. Frank L. '40
Pocius, Mr. Martin A. '36
Poletto, Mr. and Mrs. '47 John F.
Polifka, Mr. and Mrs. Walter S.
Poling, Dr. Daniel A. H. '46
Polliard, Mr. John G. '59
Pond, Jr., Mr. Fred H. '54
Porch, Mrs. Rowland B. '40
Posner, Dr. Robert P. '44
Post, Mr. and Mrs. Richard
Post, Mr. '54 and Mrs. '56 Robert M.
Potter, Mr. Paul G. '26
Powell, Jr., Mr. Harry H. '47
Powelson, Jr., Mr. '53 and Mrs. '53
Abram V.
Price, Jr., Mr. Philip '59
Priemer, Mr. B. '28
Priestley, Mr. William A. '58
Pritika, Mr. Edward A. '53
Proctor, Mr. Donald B. '33
Psaty, Mr. Leon A. '44
Puff, Mr. '20 and Mrs. '18 Stephen F.
Pugh, Mrs. Robert C. '52
Pugliese, Dr. William M. '43
Pullen, Dr. Clifford W. '27
Purnell, Jr., Dr. '50 and Mrs. '49 John S.
Pursley, Mr. Louis A. '28
Quick, Sr., Mr. Horace F. '09
Quick, Mr. '38 and Mrs. '38 Joseph T.
Raab, Mr. James E. '50
Ramsey, Mr. John D. '26
Ranck, Mr. D. L. '16 (Dec'd.)
Ranck, Mr. Richard B. '55
Ranck, Mr. Samuel C. '50
Randel, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel
Randolph, Jr., Mrs. Eldred O. '40
Rankin, Mr. Gerard R. '53
Rapp, Mrs. Walter '46
Rappel, Mr. Frank R. '56
Rasmussen, Mr. John R. '56
Rasmussen, Mr. Paul '28
Rathe, Mrs. Roy M. '47
Rathmell, Mrs. John N. '39
Rauffenbart, Mr. Thomas W. '36
Raup, Miss Zura E. '39
Ready, Mr. Donald A. '42
Redden, Mr. Philip A. '57
Redington, Mary R. '63
Reed, Mr. '41 and Mrs. '41 Charles P.
Rehman, Mr. Norman J. '16
Reidenauer, Mr. '51 and Mrs. '52
Robert E.
Reifsnnyder, Jr. Mrs. H. N. '46
Reilly, Mrs. John V. '57
Reinoehl, Mr. Richard M.
Reiss, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph
Reitz, Mr. Carl O. '49
Replogle, Mr. '26 and Mrs. '27 James S.
Reubel, Mr. Alan '59
Reynolds, Mrs. Almon W. '20
Reynolds, Mrs. Dewitt C. '58
Rhoadee, Mr. William A. '49
Rice, Mr. John M. '40
Richards, Mrs. Hugh '45
Richards, Rev. '37 and Mrs. '42
Thomas B.
Richter, Jr., Mrs. H. F. '40
Richter, Mr. Richard M. '55
Riddell, Mr. Thomas F. '51
Riddle, Mr. George F. '25
Riegel, Mr. Donald R. '53
Riegel, Mr. '56 and Mrs. '56 John R.
Riesmeyer, Mr. A. Henry '27
Riesmeyer, Mr. J. Paul '30
Rillo, Miss Helen M. '29
Rink, Mr. Robert W. '41
Rishel, Mr. Robert S. '39
Ritchie, Mr. '16 and Mrs. '18 Kenneth C.
Rittinger, Mr. G. Warren '54
Rivenburg, Dr. Romeyn H. '97
Robb, Mr. '24 and Mrs. '29 Edwin D.
Roberts, Mr. J. Donald '50
Roberts, Mr. John W.
Roberts, Mr. '49 and Mrs. '50 Ralph C.
Roberts, Mr. '54 and Mrs. '56 Robert L.
Roberts, Dr. Stephen W. '32
Robertson, Mr. Alan J. '49
Robinson, Jr., Mrs. Dudley B. '51
Robison, Mr. Peter D. '49
Rodgers, Jr., Mrs. James O.
Roeder, Mr. William K. '53
Rogers, Miss E. Anne '59
Rogers, Mr. '51 and Mrs. '51 C. Graydon
Rogers, Mrs. John E. '35
Rohrbach, Mr. Karl G. '53
Roller, Mr. George A. '27
Rolley, Mr. George P. '58
Ronan, Mrs. John L. '25
Roop, Mrs. Amy H. '27
Roop, Mr. and Mrs. Marshall C.
Rose, Mr. Robert R. '51
Rosenberg, Mr. Norman J. '50
Rosenthal, Mr. Robert C. '55
Roser, Mr. James L. D. '50
Ross, Mr. E. Willis '22
Rosser, Jr., Mrs. Evan R. '46
Rosvold, Mr. '57 and Mrs. '58 Arthur T.
Rotelle, Mr. '57 and Mrs. '56 John F.
Rott, Mr. '52 and Mrs. '56 Jack R.
Roumer, Mrs. Arthur A. '18
Roush, Mr. Guy F. '28
Roush, Mr. Jack D. '49
Roy, Mr. '42 and Mrs. '43 Philip H.
Royer, Mr. '41 and Mrs. '41 Robert D.
Rubick, Mrs. Frank A. '43
Rudy, Mrs. James H. '44
Rue, Mr. Lawrence C. '43
Ruhl, Mr. George A. '31
Ruhl, Mr. William R. '50
Russell, Mrs. Samuel L. '17
Russo, Mr. Louis J. '33
Ruth, Mr. D. Clifford '12
Ryan, Mr. Frederick C. '39
Sacks, Jr., Mr. Harry E. '32
Sacks, Mr. Jay L. '57
Saeva, Mr. and Mrs. John P.
Safian, Mr. Kenneth '58
Sager, Mr. Harold L. '38
Sahli, Jr., Mr. Edward A. '58
Salmon, Mr. Vernon H. '49
Sanders, Mr. Charles L. '13
Sanders, Mr. Daniel T. '52
Sando, Miss Tonita D. '57
Sangston, Dr. Russell E. '26
Sarner, Dr. David S. '33
Sauvain, Dr. Walter H.
Savacool, Miss Anne M. '54
Saxl, Mr. Joseph H. '59
Scanlan, Jr., Mrs. John B. '45
Scanlon, Mrs. M. J. '54
Schaeffer, Mr. '48 and Mrs. '49 John I.
Schalick, Jr., Mr. '42 and Mrs. '42
Arthur P.
Schalin, Mrs. William G. '47
Schaumburg, Mr. '51 and Mrs. '52
John A.
Scheel, Mr. and Mrs. Alvin J.
Scheffer, Jr., Mr. Louis K. '53
Scheule, Mr. Harold J. '43
Schey, Mr. Robert B. '49
Schierloh, Mrs. James E. '54
Schilder, Mr. Stanley '48
Schiller, Mr. Richard J. '49
Schiro, Dr. S. R. '31
Schlacks, Miss Lois K. '46
Schleckser, Jr., Mr. Charles E. '45
Schlener, Mr. and Mrs. William E.
Schlichter, Mr. Walter B. '47
Schneider, Mrs. William E. '55
Schnorbus, Mrs. Susan H. '56
Schnure, Jr., Mr. '42 and Mrs. '45 Fred O.
Schnure, Mr. '14 and Mrs. '16 Fred O.
Schnure, Mr. '40 and Mrs. '40 Robert B.
Schradler, Dr. W. A. Benton '34
Schaub, Dr. and Mrs. Julius
Schrimmer, Mr. '54 and Mrs. '55
Robert S.
Schuetz, Mrs. Carroll P. '46
Schultz, Miss Dorothy A. '34
Scott, Mr. and Mrs. '47 Richard R.
Scott, Mr. '54 and Mrs. '54 Victor F.
Seaman, Mr. George C. '50
Sear, Mrs. Thomas B. '37
Seavy, Mrs. Harvey C. '41
Sedgwick, Dr. Cornelius E. '36
Seeburger, Miss Nancy L. '59
Seemann, Mr. S. Leroy '17
Seibert, Mr. '53 and Mrs. '53 Edward J.
Seiple, Jr., Mrs. Harvey '44
Selinger, Mrs. Gerald F. '40
Selner, Mr. Chester J. '52
Shackatano, Mr. Marc '36
Shafer, Mr. Albert W. '42
Shaffer, Mr. '26 and Mrs. '25 J. Paul
Shaffer, Jr., Mr. John E. '58
Shand, Mr. '56 and Mrs. '55 J. Richard
Shannon, Mr. Ridge R. '28
Sharadin, Mr. James E. '53
Shaub, Mrs. H. T. '36
Shaudys, Mrs. Hugh K. '52
Shaw, Mr. '51 and Mrs. '51 Raymond E.
Sheir, Mr. Harvey M. '53
Sheldon, Mrs. Richard W. '47
Shelley, Dr. Penn P. '53
Sheppard, Mr. H. J. '06
Sheppard, Mr. Horace J. '29
Shepson, Mr. Elbert L. '34
Sheridan, Mr. Daryl J. '51
Sherwood, Mr. A. M. '10
Shields, Mrs. J. L. '02
Shimer, Mr. '21 and Mrs. '19 Harold L.
Shipman, Jr., Mr. Cullen F. '43
Shipman, Mr. Robert H. '39
Shirley, Mr. Allan I. '35
Shive, Jr., Mr. Roy A. '51
Shoemaker, Mrs. L. K. '20
Short, Mrs. James L. '54
Showler, Mrs. Charles M. '04
Showalter, Mr. '31 and Mrs. '33 Paul
Showalter, Miss Thelma J. '29
Shrum, Miss Jane E. '27
Shubetski, Mr. and Mrs. John
Shugart, Mr. James W. '47
Shugert, Mrs. John '42
Shuldener, Jr., Mr. '53 and Mrs. '54
Henry L.
Shultz, Mr. John C. '53
Shultz, Mr. '08 and Mrs. '09 Joseph R.
Shuttlesworth, Mr. J. G. '31
Shuttlesworth, Mr. M. C. '28
Siebenheller, Mrs. William A. '59
Sieber, Mr. John R. '50
Siede, III, Mr. Charles F. '58
Siede, Jr., Mr. Charles F. '33
Sieger, Mr. '50 and Mrs. '48 Earl W.
Silagvi, Mr. Alexander F. '58
Silberfarb, Mr. Jacob I.
Silbert, Miss Lynn '59
Silverberg, Mr. Jeroll R. '45
Simms, Mr. James S. '42
Simon, Mr. and Mrs. '54 Arthur L.
Simon, Miss Gloria H. '48
Simon, Mr. Herman R. '51
Simon, Mr. Samuel '49
Simpson, Mr. '31 and Mrs. '34 James R.
Sine, Mr. and Mrs. Aubrey B.
Sipler, Mr. '57 and Mrs. '58 Howard D.
Sirinek, Mrs. Barbara L. '40
Sirinek, Mr. Theodore R. '40
Skavish, Mrs. Martin '19
Skeath, Mrs. J. Milton '22
Skinner, Mr. and Mrs. Dwight I.
Skuse, Mr. Harland G. '37
Slate, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence
Slaughenhoupt, Mr. '54 and Mrs. '54
Richard E.
Slavin, Mr. Donald G. '58
Slifer, Mr. Robert G. '00
Slifkin, Miss Dorothy A. '58
Sloat, Mr. Arthur E. '51
Slocum, Mr. Warren H. '20
Small, Mrs. Alan F. '19
Smallwood, Mrs. Wilbur R. '43
Smalstig, Mr. '31 and Mrs. '31 Edward J.
Smith, Jr., Mr. '31 and Mrs. '33
A. Crossley
Smith, Mr. '41 and Mrs. '42 Alan H.
Smith, Jr., Mrs. Arthur E. '34
Smith, Mrs. David R. '57
Smith, Mrs. Fay H. '45
Smith, Miss Jeanne M. '52
Smith, Mr. John S. '50
Smith, Mrs. Lawrence W. '45
Smith, Miss Margaret P. '46
Smith, Mr. Omar H. '15
Smith, Mr. Richard R. '57
Smith, Mr. Robert H. '26
Smith, Mr. Roswell O. B. '21
Smith, Mrs. Thomas '47
Smith, Walter '61
Smith, Mrs. William J. '42
Smith, Mr. '50 and Mrs. '43 William M.
Smith, Mrs. William M. '52
Snively, Mr. Lee R.
Snee, Mrs. Charles B. '58
Snell, Miss Christine '57
Snyder, Dr. '31 and Mrs. '31 Charles P.
Snyder, Mr. E. A.
Snyder, Mr. '52 and Mrs. '44 Harry C.
Snyder, Dr. M. Wilson '33
Snyder, Mr. '42 and Mrs. '41 Robert A.
Sofield, Mr. Stephen B. '51
Solberg, Mrs. Franklin '57
Sosnowitz, Mr. Gerald E. '46
Souders, Mr. D. Paul
Sowers, Mrs. Hugh P. '23
Sowers, Mr. Irvin P. '17
Spadafora, Mr. Emil V. '32
Spaeth, Mrs. William '25
Spangler, Dr. Clair G. '25
Spanos, Mr. Tasso G. '54
Speer, Jr., Mr. '57 and Mrs. '56 Edison C.
Spence, Mr. and Mrs. Wells W.
Spence, Mr. and Mrs. William D.
Spencer, Mrs. Mildred P.
Spencer, Jr., Mr. W. Ernst '55
Spielman, Jr., Mr. J. Edgar '48
Spotts, Mrs. Leiser '38
Sprague, Mrs. George R. '50
Sprague, Mr. Harold G. '38
Sprague, Mr. '45 and Mrs. '44 Robert M.
Springer, Mr. Charles H. '27
Springer, Mr. Richard '49
Sprunt, Mr. '17 and Mrs. '18 Clinton I.
Sprout, Mr. '48 and Mrs. '50 John W.
Sprout, Mr. Robert C. '49
Spurr, Miss Geraldine C. '30
Stabler, Jr., Mr. Andrew W. '51
Stahl, Miss Catharine Y. '22
Stahl, Mr. John H. '04
Stahl, Mr. Merle C. '50
Stainton, Jr., Mr. Charles M. '54
Staley, Mr. '52 and Mrs. '52 Harry L.
Stambaugh, Mr. Fred C. '45
Stansfield, Mr. '55 and Mrs. '55 Calvin T.
Startzel, Mr. Harry I. '50
Stauch, Manfred R. '62
Stauffer, Mr. Edgar Lee '59
Stauffer, Mrs. William R. '50
Stebbins, Mr. Edwin S. '37
Stee, Mr. '50 and Mrs. '49 Edward J.
Steele, Mrs. Andrew B. '31
Steele, Mr. Daniel R. '20
Stein, Mr. '44 and Mrs. '45 Minor J.
Steinbach, Mr. and Mrs. Felix A.
Steiner, Mrs. Herbert '53

SUPPORT BY THOSE WHO KNOW BUCKNELL BEST

(AS OF JUNE 4, 1960)

Alumni and Trustees (as individuals and through corporations and foundations) have contributed	$1,100,324.27
Bucknell Parents have given toward their $75,000 goal	$ 54,768.84
Students, Faculty, Administrative Personnel have contributed	$ 28,852.25

Sterner, Mr. George N. '40
 Sterr, Mr. '50 and Mrs. '50 Robert R.
 Stevens, Mr. Kenneth J. '49
 Stevens, Miss Maryann C. '59
 Stevenson, Miss Anne E. '43
 Stevenson, Miss Mary Jane
 Stewart, Miss Estella '25
 Stewart, Mr. William J.
 Stiger, Mr. Roy W. '50
 Stillo, Mr. Carl J.
 Stoddard, Mr. and Mrs. Wayne H.
 Stoner, Mrs. Robert '53
 Stoner, Mr. Thomas M. '53
 Stoops, Mrs. Paul B. '29
 Storer, Mr. Alexander '17
 Story, Mr. '53 and Mrs. '53 David O.
 Strang, Mr. and Mrs. Leslie E.
 Strang, Mr. Lester S. '47
 Strang, Mrs. Rodney W. '51
 Struck, Mr. Henry E. '49
 Strunk, Dr. W. M. '43
 Stubbs, Mr. Henry J. '49
 Stubbs, Mrs. John C. '59
 Stults, Jr., Mr. Charles S. '49
 Sturgeon, Mr. James G. '38
 Suits, Mrs. Thomas A. '54
 Summerfield, Mr. Frank W. '23
 Sutton, Miss Grace I. '16
 Swanger, Mr. Bruce L. '51
 Swanger, Mr. Harry E. '48
 Swank, Mr. Paul A.
 Swanson, Mrs. Ronald W. '58
 Swarr, Mr. '54 and Mrs. '57 David B.
 Swartz, Mr. Wendel A. '28
 Swick, II, Dr. J. Howard '38
 Swope, Mr. Charles F. '53
 Sykes, Mrs. A. McKnight '23
 Tague, Mr. Barry E. '60
 Tait, Mrs. Edwin '45
 Tait, Mr. William E. '47
 Talips, Mr. Philip '39
 Tallau, Mr. Raymond W. '51
 Tanner, Mr. '54 and Mrs. '56 James G.
 Tarr, Mrs. Paul C. '54
 Taxis, Mrs. John O. '37
 Taylor, Mrs. J. Richard '56
 Taylor, Miss Margaret L. '59
 Taylor, Miss Martha M. '59
 Taylor, Mr. Robert H. '48
 Teclaw, Mr. Edward A. '54
 Teeter, Mrs. Ruth F.
 Teno, Mrs. Edward '50
 Terrel, Mr. '52 and Mrs. '53 Stephen H.
 Territo, Dr. Joseph J. '48
 Teschner, Mr. Edward M. '57
 Teter, Mr. '41 and Mrs. '42 Robert H.
 Thacher, Jr., Mr. L. Russell '41
 Thieke, Mrs. Louis B.
 Thomas, Mrs. Charles W. '33
 Thomas, Mrs. Frederick C. '29
 Thomas, Jr., Mr. '56 and Mrs. '57
 Glenn A.
 Thomas, Jr., Mrs. Lee H. '40
 Thomas, Mr. Richard E. '17
 Thomas, Miss Rosina D. '52
 Thomas, Mr. William G. '25
 Thomas, Mr. and Mrs. '45 William R.
 Thompson, Mr. '49 and Mrs. '50 Ernest J.
 Thompson, Mr. '52 and Mrs. '51
 Howard M.
 Thompson, Miss Janet S. '59
 Thompson, Mr. Jeffrey K. '53
 Thompson, Mr. '55 and Mrs. '56
 Jerome M.
 Thorn, Mr. Norman H. '26
 Thornell, Mr. Harrison W. '42
 Thurston, Mr. and Mrs. Charles K.
 Tice, Mrs. Walter B. '42
 Tileston, Mrs. Gerald C. '33
 Titus, Mrs. Howard E. '35
 Toal, Jr., Mr. '54 and Mrs. '57 William R.
 Tobias, Dr. Richard B. '47
 Toebe, Mrs. G. E. '44
 Told, Miss Mary B. '55
 Tomb, Mrs. James E. '28
 Tomlinson, Jr., Mr. Edgar A. '39
 Totten, Mr. '50 and Mrs. '52 H. Joseph
 Townsend, Mrs. Horace '28
 Towson, Mr. and Mrs. Charles E.
 Troast, Mr. John G. '53
 Trout, Jr., Mr. '50 and Mrs. '50
 David M.
 Trudnak, Mr. Stephen A. '32
 Trumbower, Mrs. James D. '56
 Truxel, Mrs. Carl E. '31
 Tschop, Mr. '52 and Mrs. Samuel C.
 Tufts, Mr. Bradley N.
 Turner, Miss Elizabeth '24
 Turner, Jr., Mr. Frank S. '25
 Turp, Mrs. David H. '50
 Tyrrell, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred L.
 Ullman, Mrs. David U. '43
 Ulmer, Mr. Alfred R. '28
 Ulp, Rev. and Mrs. George Edwin
 Ulp, Mr. Richard B. '56
 Unger, Mr. Ronald L. '51
 Valk, Mrs. Donald B. '51
 Vanderbilt, Jr., Mr. '42 and Mrs. '43
 Walter S.
 Vanderhoof, Mr. '55 and Mrs. '55
 Frank B.
 VanTyle, Mr. Russell D. '39
 Vasquez, Rev. Anthony F. '37
 Veerling, Mr. and Mrs. John P.
 Velinsky, Mr. Milton B. '44
 Ventres, Mr. Shailer W. '16
 Verga, Dr. Armand F. '36
 Verbeyst, Mrs. Louis '44
 Vidinghoff, Mr. and Mrs. R. A.
 Vilella, Mr. Victor F. '46
 Virgilio, Jr., Mrs. Samuel '35
 Vislocky, Mr. John '51
 Visscher, Mrs. Charles D. '57
 Vollenweider, Mr. '49 and Mrs. '49
 John A.
 Vollmer, Miss Mary V. '58
 Waddell, Sr., Mr. Robert N. '20
 Waddell, Jr., Mr. Robert N. '50
 Wade, Mr. Harry F. '18
 Waechter, Mr. Richard F. '53
 Wagner, Mr. '45 and Mrs. '45 Charles L.
 Wagner, Mr. Charles V. '59
 Wagner, Mr. Cyrus L. '31
 Wagner, Miss Edna M. '32
 Wagner, Mr. and Mrs. Edward P.
 Wagner, Mr. George O. '30
 Wagner, Mr. Mason S. '31
 Wagner, Mrs. Miles D. '20
 Wagner, Mr. W. Frank '26
 Wagner, Mr. William M. '49
 Waide, Miss Phyllis T. '44
 Waldner, Mr. '40 and Mrs. '42 Craig M.
 Waldner, Dr. William R. '31
 Waldron, Mr. '53 and Mrs. '53 John B.
 Walker, Mr. '53 and Mrs. '54 John R.
 Walker, Mr. Spencer W. '51
 Wall, Mrs. William J. '56
 Wallace, Mrs. Peter D. B. '46
 Walsh, Mrs. George R. '51
 Walter, Miss Patricia M. '55
 Waltman, Mr. Harry R. '10
 Wampler, Miss Myrtle E. '35
 Ward, Miss Ethel V. '17
 Ward, Mr. John V. '41
 Warden, Miss Barbara A. '60
 Ware, Mr. Donald A. '53
 Warkenko, Mr. Norbert R. '51
 Wargo, Mr. '47 and Mrs. '47 Michael M.
 Warner, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur F.
 Warren, Mr. Ivan C. '47
 Warren, Mr. '47 and Mrs. '43 Kenneth
 Warren, Mrs. Kenneth C. '51
 Waters, Mr. Herbert R. '44
 Watkins, Dr. Luella Hauck '43
 Watkins, Mr. Robert A. '51
 Watstown National Bank
 Watt, Mr. Karl M. '22
 Watts, Mr. '48 and Mrs. '48 Harold S.
 Waymer, Mrs. Samuel S.
 Weaver, Mr. and Mrs. Walter M.
 Webb, Mr. J. Alexander '44
 Webb, Jr., Mr. Milton H. '52
 Webber, Mr. Harold F. '27
 Webber, Mr. Willard W. '50
 Webber, Jr., Mr. William S.
 Weber, Mr. Warren A. '31
 Weddle, Miss Emma E. '16
 Weddle, Miss Eva E. '16
 Weddle, Mr. Joseph N. '07
 Wehle, Mr. Paul G.
 Weidensaul, Mr. '29 and Mrs. '30
 Albert G.
 Weidner, Mr. Harold E. '39
 Weightman, Dr. '37 and Mrs. '37 Joseph
 Wein, Dr. Melvin A. '39
 Weinrich, Mrs. Carl '23
 Weis Markets, Inc.
 Weiss, Mr. Jack P. '48
 Welcher, Mr. and Mrs. Ronald E.
 Wellen, Mrs. Sanford D. '47
 Wells, Mrs. Ronald V. '35
 Welsh, Mr. Howard E. '41
 Wemple, Mr. Richard E. '52
 Wendel, Charles W. '61
 Wenk, Miss Patricia L. '57
 Werner, Mr. and Mrs. Sidney E.
 Westerman, Miss Carole J. '59
 Westfall, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Oliver A.
 Weyl, Mrs. Charles '41
 Wharton, Mr. and Mrs. H. J.
 Whitaker, Jr., Mrs. W. Allen '46
 White, Mrs. James T. '47
 Whitehead, Jr., Mr. '42 and Mrs. '44
 Robert C.
 Whitelock, Mr. '46 and Mrs. '44 J. Robert
 Whitfield, Mr. Gordon E. '46
 Whitford, Mr. Roger C. '47
 Whitlock, Mrs. Robert C. '49
 Whitney, Mrs. Edwin M. '98
 Whittam, Mr. Stewart F. '43
 Wickerham, Jr., Dr. Earl P. '43
 Wickerham, Mr. William W. '49
 Wiegand, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Frank L.
 Wilcox, Mr. Nathaniel D. '57
 Wildenberger, Mr. Richard J. '59
 Wilkes, Mr. Wade M.
 Will Corporation
 Williams, Mr. Charles W. '50
 Williams Company, Inc.
 Williams, Mr. Donald E. '53
 Williams, Jr., Mr. Edward J. '54
 Williams, Miss Grace D. '38
 Williams, Mr. Harry B. '49
 Williams, Mr. Jack E. '55
 Williams, Mr. '53 and Mrs. '54 John H.
 Williams, Jr., Mrs. John H. '48
 Williams, Mr. Lauren R. '35
 Williams, Mr. '49 and Mrs. '50 Luther L.
 Williams, Miss Mary R. '55
 Williams, Mr. and Mrs. R. Nelson
 Williams, Rev. '03 (Dec'd.) and Mrs. '98
 Roger H.
 Williams, Mr. William T. '42
 Williamson, Mr. '44 and Mrs. '45 Burr
 Willment, Mr. Franklin M. '41
 Wilson, Mrs. Rudolph L. '31
 Wilson, Mrs. W. Walter '07
 Wilson, Mrs. William R. '54
 Winkblech, Mr. '55 and
 Mrs. '15 Jacob E.
 Winter, Mr. Bruce H. '28
 Winter, Mr. '30 and Mrs. '31 Charles R.
 Winter, Jr., Dr. Theron A. '54
 Witman, Mr. and Mrs. James E.
 Witters, Mr. and Mrs. Robert H.
 Wittes, Mr. John A. '50
 Wittmer, Mr. '35 and Mrs. '34 Edward F.
 Wolensky, Mr. William '50
 Wolf, Mrs. Allan B. '50
 Wolfe, Mr. H. Michael '15
 Wolslegel, Mr. Raymond W. '32
 Wood, Mr. Harry P. '39
 Woodhull, Miss Jeanne L. '56
 Woodings, Sr., Mr. Robert T. '25
 Woodring, Mr. W. Guy '23
 Woodside, Mr. Wendell H. '24
 Woodward, Mr. Theodore R. '54
 Worley, Miss Jane L. '49
 Worthen, Mr. '53 and Mrs. '55 Hugh J.
 Wright, Mr. Herbert H. '59
 Wu, Mr. Wen-Shao '53
 Wyant, Mr. Corbin A. '58
 Wyant, Mr. Corbin W. '20
 Wyant, Mr. James W. '49
 Wyckoff, Mr. Richard H. '38
 Wyllie, Miss Doris E.
 Yaros, Mr. Ronald S. '57
 Yearling, Jr., Mrs. August '43
 Yodis, Mr. Anthony W. '37
 York, Mr. Donald E. '51
 Yost, Mr. John H. '42
 Young, Mr. '50 and Mrs. '48 Calvin R.
 Young, Miss Ruby J. '16
 Yount, Mr. Richard V. '40
 Zachara, Mr. '47 and Mrs. '48 Francis M.
 Zanarini, Mr. '35 and Mrs. '36 Gene
 Zaparyniuk, Jr., Rev. Michael '56
 Zavitz, Mrs. Walter E. '54
 Zearfoss, Mr. '51 and Mrs. '54 Herbert K.
 Zeiders, Mr. '49 and Mrs. '49 Charles V.
 Zenel, Mr. Joseph A. '49
 Ziegler, Dr. and Mrs. Edwin A.
 Ziegler, Miss Joan V. '54
 Ziegler, Mrs. Kenneth F. '39
 Ziegler, Mrs. Paul W. '37
 Zigarelli, Mrs. Joseph F. '45
 Zigler, Mr. '48 and Mrs. '48 Albert M.
 Zimmerman, Mr. '56 and Mrs. '56
 Loren B.
 Zlotkin, Mr. Isadore I. '34
 Zold, Mrs. Geza G. '38
 Zott, Mr. Frederick D. '38
 Zwanziger, Mr. and Mrs. George

RETIREMENT

(Continued from Page 10)

record and professional record are as follows: A.B., Tulane University, 1916; M.A., University of Wisconsin, 1919; University of Madrid, summers of 1925 and 1936. Teacher of Spanish and German, Northwestern Military and Naval Academy, Lake Geneva, Wisc., 1916-17; assistant in Spanish, University of Wisconsin, 1917-19; assistant professor of romance languages, Bucknell University, 1924-28; associate professor of Spanish, Bucknell, 1928-49; professor of Spanish, Bucknell, 1949-60.

Mr. Sprague is a member of several professional associations; namely, Modern Language Association of America, American Association of Teachers of Spanish and Portuguese, Sigma Delta Pi, and American Association of University Professors.

SEPTEMBER 1960

Mr. and Mrs. Sprague are the parents of two children—Walter A. '48 and Robert M. '45.

In addition to his educational and professional backgrounds, Mr. Sprague has greatly enriched himself by means of travel. He has been in Spain, France, England, Scotland, Ireland, and Central and South America. His friends and associates have shared in his extended travels through his many lectures and numerous articles.

It becomes rather evident from the foregoing sketches of the lives of these three men that they have retired from formal teaching only. Their records indicate that while they have left the classroom, they will not be content to remain inactive members of society. Now that time will permit it, we believe that each one of them will become even more active in community affairs.

Our sincere congratulations and best wishes to you in your new way of life.

THE CLUB PROGRAM

IN 1851 the members of the first graduating class of the University formed the first alumni club. Since that time alumni clubs have been established throughout the country from Boston to Los Angeles and from St. Petersburg to Seattle. Today there are 70 organized alumni clubs which service almost 90% of the alumni population.

Some Facts

Last year a total of 33 Bucknell Alumni Clubs held 70 meetings in areas of the country where the largest concentrations of alumni are located. Over 11,000 Alumni and 1650 parents received invitations to attend these functions. Opportunities to participate more fully in the life of the University and to associate with other Bucknellians in the same community were presented to 61% of a total alumni population of 18,000 with known addresses.

Some Conclusions

The club program for the past year was, in many ways, successful, but also it left much to be desired. Encouraging was the fact that 19 clubs held two or more meetings—one club (Harrisburg) held as many as 11 meetings. Encouraging also was the broad scope of the club programs which included freshman receptions, club picnics, Bucknell birthday parties, weekly and monthly luncheons, and spring dances. Finally, it was encouraging to see the many loyal Bucknellians volunteering of their time to make the club programs in their respective club areas successful. Our hats are off to all of you!

On the dark side of the picture we find 37 clubs holding no meetings this past year. This means that almost 30% of our alumni body, living within club areas, did not have the opportunity to join together for the fellowship and sociability available through a good alumni club program. We hope this can be corrected during this 1960-61 academic year.

Some Help

To keep alive the social contacts, to permit Alumni to renew old friendships and to make new ones, to spur and keep alive the interest of Alumni in Bucknell University and to provide an intellectual stimulation of thought and ideas along some of the lines of the University's educational program is the responsibility of your elected club officers and the alumni office.

Individual Alumni, on their side, carry the responsibility to support the local alumni club meetings for the benefits they get from attendance and for the information about today's Bucknell they can then pass on to inquiring parents of prospective students. Every Bucknellian is an ambassador of the University whether or not he or she realizes it.

Club officers are reminded that the alumni office is equipped to prepare and to mail letters of invitation to all alumni in your club area. We only request that a draft of the invitation or the details of the event are sent to us.

Some Facts, Conclusions, and Help for the Seventy Bucknell

Alumni Clubs

The alumni office will also recruit faculty or staff members to speak at club meetings within a 300-mile radius of Lewisburg. Whenever possible, club officers have their choice of faculty speakers when they are available. Last year 19 faculty and staff members of the University spoke to 42 alumni groups. Other assistance is extended clubs in the form of identification tags, song sheets and press releases.

Full Steam Ahead

Already — club meetings have been scheduled for this year with summer picnics, freshman receptions and Bison Roundups heading the list. A list of the Bison Roundups at away football games appears below. If you live in or near any of these areas make it a point to see the game and attend the Roundup planned for all Bucknellians. We'll be looking for you!

BISON ROUNDUPS

Don't forget that football games away from the campus give you an opportunity to see the Thundering Herd in action in your home area. Here's how you can meet the gang as you follow the Bisons on the road:

HERSHEY—September 24—Bison Roundup before the game at the Cocoa Inn (formerly Community Inn) at 5:00 P. M. Bucknellians and friends will meet in a reserved room at the Inn and may order from the menu.

ITHACA, N. Y.—October 1—A Bison Roundup is being planned for the Cornell game. Detailed information regarding this Roundup will be mailed to Alumni in the Bucknell Alumni Clubs of Ithaca, Rochester, Syracuse, and Triple Cities.

NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J.—October 15—Bison Roundup after the Rutgers game at the Edgebrook Restaurant at the intersection of U. S. Route 1 and N. J. Route 18 in New Brunswick. Detailed information regarding this Roundup will be mailed to Alumni in the Bucknell Alumni Clubs of Long Island, Greater New York, Trenton, Philadelphia, and Northern New Jersey.

HAMILTON, N. Y.—November 5—Bison luncheon before the Colgate game at the Colgate Inn, Hamilton, at 12 noon or earlier.

NEWARK, DEL.—November 19—A Bison Roundup is being planned for the Delaware game. Detailed information regarding this Roundup will be mailed to Alumni in the Wilmington area.

University Affairs

Dr. Merle M. Odgers was recently elected to the Board of Directors of the Geisinger Memorial Hospital and Foss Clinic in Danville. Nationally known as an educator, Dr. Odgers' appointment not only strengthened the Board of that institution but added to the regional character of the medical center.

Does a college close its doors following commencement in June and take a three-month vacation? Indeed it doesn't as the schedule for conferences and institutes on the Bucknell campus this summer testifies. No less than six conferences and six institutes bear out the fact that the Bucknell campus is a busy place during the summer months.

Conferences beginning in June and continuing through August included: Middle Atlantic Placement Officers Association, Pennsylvania Bankers Trust Training School, Central Pennsylvania Presbyterian Youth Fellowship, Pennsylvania Department of Highway Engineers, Pennsylvania Bankers Association Summer School, and the Pennsylvania Bankers Association Bank Directors Conference.

Summer Institutes included: the Institute of American Studies for high school teachers sponsored by the Coe Foundation and under the direction of Dr. James A. Gathings; the Institute for Asian Studies sponsored by the Asia Society, the Asia Foundation, and the Japan Society under the direction of Dr. Samuel C. Chu; the Institute in Science and Mathematics for high school science and mathematic teachers sponsored by the National Science Foundation under the direction of Dr. Lester E. Kieft; the Institute for Foreign Students in co-operation with the Institute of International Education and five other agencies under the direction of Mr. Harvey Powers; the Institute for High School Science Students sponsored by the National Science Foundation under the direction of Dr. Lester E. Kieft.

Not including the Institute for High School Science Students and the Institute for Foreign Students, the total summer registration for the other institutes and the Bucknell summer school program total 774.

The Bucknell Summer Institute for Foreign Students, the only one of its kind in the United States, was the largest ever held on the Bucknell campus. A total of 76 students, representing 26 foreign countries, registered for this program.

At ceremonies held on the Bucknell campus by the Freedoms Foundation in early July, both Bucknell University and Dr. Wesley N. Haines, Director of Development, received George Washington Honor Medal Awards.

Bucknell received its award for its 1959 convocation conference on "Politics and the American Businessman." The conference was the first of its kind ever sponsored by an American college or university.

Dr. Haines received his award for an outstanding public address entitled "Freedom Is Our Big Idea" which was delivered before a meeting of the Pennsylvania Bankers Association at Bucknell in 1959.

During the month of July, at the 1960 Joint Conference of the American College Public Relations Association and the American Alumni Council, in Washington, D. C., Bucknell University received a second place award for its volunteer solicitors' handbook entitled "How to Make Friends and Influence Giving." This handbook was prepared to aid volunteer solicitors during the Dual Development Fund Campaign.

Physical Plant

If you were to visit the campus this summer you could not help but be impressed at the numerous projects being undertaken to improve, add to, and beautify the physical plant. We, the editors, are amazed at the scope of this summer building program being carried on under the able supervision of Walter C. Geiger '31, Director of Physical Plant.

So broad and extensive is the physical plant improvement program that seven typewritten pages were prepared explaining the operation. Because of space limitations we can only give you a bird's-eye view of the major improvements undertaken.

Last year West College, now named Rush H. Kress Hall, was entirely renovated and this summer East College has undergone a complete interior face lifting. Erected in 1907, East College housed 190 male students. The improvements undertaken will increase the student capacity to 230.

Work has already started on the new Administration Center with all foundation walls completed at this writing. This wing, an extension of the Vaughan Literature Building, will house all administrative personnel and will be identical in appearance to Coleman Hall. Scheduled for completion by May 1, 1961, it will then be possible for the remodeling of "Old Main" during the Summer of 1961.

Because of the necessity of providing more space for women students the top floor of Harris Hall has been converted to dormitory space to accommodate 39 girls. Also, some space on the ground floor of Harris has been converted to dormitory space.

Continually conscious of the safety of our students in our academic buildings the University has taken measures in the past to add sprinkler systems and to reconstruct entire buildings to comply with state laws and to eliminate fire hazards. This year several new non-combustible fire towers have been built to replace the old outside fire escapes. New fire towers have been constructed on the south end of Harris Hall and between Harris Hall and Larison. In the latter case not only a fire tower has been constructed but these two buildings have been connected with hallways providing three double rooms for women students.

In Bucknell cottage, in addition to a new fire tower at each end of the building, the first floor has been completely remodeled. A portion of this floor has been set aside and designed for a women's infirmary. Parts of the second and third floors have also been remodeled.

In Larison Hall the third floor wing towards Harris Hall is being completely remodeled and will be in first class condition when the students return.

Because the Department of Biology has been crowded for space in Taylor Hall extensive renovation has been completed on the top floor of the annex and one large lab in Taylor Hall. The entire fourth floor of the annex is being changed so that it will be completely up to date and as modern as any new building. In addition there will be new lab work tables for the use of professors and students.

This year work continued on the stadium and two sections have been completely rebuilt which included repairing, concrete, water-proofing and new seating.

Campus roads are also being improved. The road leading from the president's house on University Avenue, connecting with Loomis Street, and continuing past the Music and Art Building and Walker Street is in the process at this time of being completely repaved with the installation of new curbing and boulevard lighting standards. A new road is being built from the site of the new Administration Center to Seventh Street and the road from the Vaughan Literature Building extending from the top of the hill to Moore Avenue has been removed. This road building program will also entail new walks and paths in this area. Finally, a new parking lot has been constructed along Moore Avenue between Faculty Court and Davis Gymnasium.

This explanation has been necessarily brief, but I am sure you will agree the face of the campus is changing daily. Why don't you return for Homecoming, October 22, and see for yourself.

Faculty

The Alumni Office has received accounts of two very interesting trips from two members of the faculty.

During the month of July, Professor Cyrus Karraker, a member of the history department, visited his son, David Karraker '50, naturalist at the National Park of St. John, Virgin Islands. Dr. Karraker also spent some time observing the progress of social welfare in Puerto Rico and during his stay advised the government officials on the setting up of day care centers for children.

Dr. Mildred Martin, a member of the English department, travelled in 23 countries in Asia and Europe during a sabbatical leave the second semester of last year. The trip included a 10-day trip in the U. S. S. R. as well as a 58-day journey by bus from India to France during which time Dr. Martin and her associates camped along the roadside, in school corridors and in road builders' huts.

An interesting part of Dr. Martin's trip occurred when she was entertained by students who have been in the Bucknell Institute for Foreign Students.

During the summer months Dr. William S. Porter, assistant professor of physics, conducted research in space physics at the National Aeronautics and Space Administrations Theoretical Division in Silver Spring, Md.

The NASA is the government agency responsible for all civilian scientific programs concerning meteorological, interplanetary and space research.

Students

Mademoiselle magazine for August, 1960 (pages 320-323) carried four pages of Bucknell co-eds modeling fall campus clothes. Featured were Janet Norris '62, Aruba, Netherlands, Antilles; Barbara Post '63, Philadelphia; Diane Collins '60, Sea Cliff, N. Y.; Shirley Harvey '61, Scarsdale, N. Y.; Carol Williams '63, Abington; Nancy Nycum '63, Johnstown; Virginia Vidinghoff '61, Malvern.

Determined to do their share in the United States space age, two Bucknell graduate students in the Department of Mechanical Engineering will continue their experiments on testing liquid fueled rockets this fall. The students, Barry R. Maxwell '59, and Arthur R. Rudmann '60, have been given an opportunity to discover for themselves some of the intricacies and problems found in rocketry, jet propulsion or in the other engineering areas where prospective mechanical engineers are expected to have more than an academic acquaintance in a particular field of specialization.

Their assignment is unique because of the fact that students were actually engaged in rocket research as a part of their graduate and undergraduate study, something which, to the best knowledge of those in Bucknell's engineering department, has never been undertaken at any other college or university in the country.

Letters

Following Alumni Week End on June 3, 4, and 5 numerous letters arrived in the President's Office and the Alumni Office from Alumni expressing their appreciation for a pleasant week end on the campus. The following are quotes from a few of them:

"Our visit was made very pleasant because of the courtesy of the lunch-room staff and members of the dormitory staff. In fact, all people connected with the University seemed to make an effort to make us feel at home."

MR. AND MRS. FRANK M. JENNER '10

"Mrs. Sholl and I, both members of the Class of 1910, wish to express to you our appreciation of the hospitality extended to the entire class by you and the University upon the occasion of our 50th reunion. It was a pleasant and inspiring week end."

J. G. SHOLL '10

"Alumni Week End was a real pleasure to me and a most happy introduction to Bucknell for my husband. With the tremendous change in campus since my last visit in 1946, I was still thrilled with the old tug on the heartstrings as we approached the hilltop and the first view of the rolling acres."

ELAINE IFILL LARSON '35

"We wish to express our thanks and our compliments to the University and to the Alumni Office for the generous hospitality extended to us during the 50th anniversary of the 1910 class and for the very thoughtful arrangements made for our comfort."

GEORGE T. STREET, JR., '10

"You surely rolled out the red carpet for us and don't think we didn't appreciate it! From the moment we arrived on Friday until our departure Monday morning every minute was a pleasure."

MILDRED B. CATHERS, '10

"Mrs. Applegate and I wish to express our sincere appreciation for the kind hospitality shown us during this past week end at Bucknell University. We enjoyed our stay with you. It was certainly a very wonderful affair and one that we will remember for some time to come."

CHARLES J. APPLEGATE '10

THE BUCKNELL ALUMNUS

I Want to Be a Freshman

FOR many of us there was no admissions problem when we decided to enter Bucknell as a member of the freshman class. In fact, if we entered during the 30's, we were probably wooed rather ardently. But that was before the days of "population explosion." When we were ready for college, college was ready for us. Let's face it—often college was ready for us even if we were not ready for college.

The reasons for the present intensity of the admissions problems has been well covered in the millions of well chosen words that we have read in newspapers and magazine articles, heard on radio programs and seen on television screens.

Basically, of course, it is a problem of support of higher education—or rather, the lack of adequate support. Some improvement in the pressures of college admission will be achieved when the 20% of college men and women who now support the college of their choice through alumni giving convince the 80% who now ignore the problem to pitch in and help. That's the picture nationally and Bucknell is just a little better than the national average. Substitute 26% and 74% in the sentence above and you have the Bucknell picture.

In the meantime, we must confidently try to do the best job possible on college admissions of which we are capable. To that end, this article is planned to report on the present admissions situation and to suggest how Alumni can take full advantage of the privilege of having their sons and daughters enroll at Bucknell. Similar articles were published previously (see THE BUCKNELL ALUMNUS, November '59, page 4, and November '58, page 4), but we believe many alumni will appreciate the opportunity to review the admissions situation as it looks for the coming year.

The Class of 1964

The upward trend continued this year even though we had to cut off applications from women on January 15, 1960, and from men on February 29, 1960. The admissions office received 14,355 inquiries and 3,643 prospective freshmen completed applications. As we go to press, Bucknell's Class of 1964 numbers about 775 students from 20 states, the District of Columbia, and Canada. The number of alumni children being admitted continues to increase, 43 sons and daughters of alumni parents being registered in the entering Class of 1964. We have no way of knowing how many alumni children become eligible to enter college each year, but we know that the number entering compares favorably with the record at our sister institutions. We are disturbed, however, because some alumni children cannot be admitted, mostly because of poor high school records or unusually low College Board scores, or because of late application for admission.

For the benefit of all Alumni, it might be well to review the selection procedure. The admissions committee gives careful consideration to:

1. The satisfactory completion of a secondary school and a favorable class rank.

(Note) In the Class of 1964, 46% of the men admitted ranked in the first 5th of their high school class, 33% in the second 5th, 15% in the third fifth, and 6% in the fourth 5th. Of the women admitted, 93% were in the first 5th, 5% in the second 5th and 2% in the third, fourth or fifth 5th.

2. A satisfactory score on the Scholastic Aptitude Test given by the College Entrance Examination Board.
(Note) In the entering Class of 1964, the average scores made by men in the college entrance examination board tests were: verbal—525, mathematics—590. For the women the median scores were verbal—588, mathematics—572.
3. The principal's or guidance counselor's recommendation of the candidate.
4. Qualifications of character, personality, and leadership.
5. Letters or other information from friends or Alumni.

The request for the secondary school record and the principal's or guidance counselor's recommendation is sent directly to the high school after the application forms have been received in Lewisburg. Since it takes some little time to secure these documents, early application is advisable.

Campus Visits

Campus visits are welcome and during the school year student guides are on duty to conduct campus tours. A personal interview is not a requirement for admission, but an appointment can be made with a member of the admissions staff to discuss college plans. To arrange an appointment, write or call (telephone Jackson 3-1271, extension 301) the receptionist in the admissions office; she better than anyone else knows the times that are available. To save visitors time, write or phone well in advance for an appointment. The admissions office is open for appointment Monday through Thursday from 9:00 A. M. until 11:30 A. M. and from 1:30 P. M. until 4:00 P. M. On Saturdays the office is open from 9:00 A. M. until 12:00 noon for group conferences (not individual interviews).

Early Decision

The admissions committee is willing to announce an early decision to well qualified candidates who designate Bucknell as their first choice. In such cases the admissions office should receive a written request for early admission from the school counselor, stating that Bucknell is the applicant's first choice. Prior to December 1, complete credentials for these candidates—including a formal application, secondary school record, and Scholastic Aptitude Test scores must be filed with the admissions office at Bucknell. Results of the Scholastic Aptitude Tests taken in the junior year of high school will be accepted for these candidates.

Alumni Preference

Sons and daughters of Alumni will be given preference for admission if their records show the same evidences of probable success in college as non-alumni children. Also, when it is requested, children of Alumni will be given early consideration of their applications, provided complete credentials have been received by December 1. This will give alumni children the opportunity to learn at an early date whether or not they can be offered admission.

Bucknell has always given preference to applicants whose parents are Bucknellians. There is no thought of

(Continued on Page 28)

CLASS REPORTS

EMERITUS CLUB

MISS MARY COTTON
Eldred, Pa.

You who are now young, some day may be old like us and "stand in the need of prayer." That ideal prayer may be anonymous, which we can adopt according to our individual needs. "Lord, thou knowest better than I know myself that I am growing older and will some day be old. Keep me from the fatal habit of thinking I must say something on every subject and on every occasion. Release me from craving to try to straighten out everybody's affairs. Make me thoughtful but not moody, helpful but not bossy. With my vast store of wisdom, it seems a pity not to use it all, but thou knowest Lord that I want a few friends at the end. Keep my mind free from the recital of endless details. Give me wings to get to the point. Seal my lips on my aches and pains; they are increasing and love of rehearsing them is becoming sweeter as the years go by. I dare not ask for grace enough to enjoy the tales of others' pains but help me to endure them with patience. Keep me reasonably sweet. I do not want to be a saint; some of them are so hard to live with. But a sour old person is one of the crowning works of the devil. Give me the ability to see good things in unexpected places and talent in unexpected people. Give me grace to tell them so. Amen." The above prayer appears in the leaflet A Model Man prepared by Dr. ANDREW R. E. WYANT '92.

Rev. E. STANTON COMREY '00 was elected Chaplain of the Bucknell Alumni Club of Cincinnati.

Bucknell lost its oldest alumnus of the Bucknell Academy in the death of BRITAIN G. ROTH in Allentown on May 18, 1960. Brit died at the age of 98, having spent 83 years in the newspaper game. He is survived by his daughter, Miss Marjorie N. Roth of Allentown, who resided with him and a son, W. Belford Roth, also of Allentown. To them, the University extends heartfelt sympathy.

02 MR. ALAN C. CUNNINGHAM
Charles C. Knox Home
Wynnewood, Pa.

The Y. M. C. A. camp on Hill Top, near to Downingtown, is a delightful place to spend a week, and this year eighty-some of the elder folk met together and had a fine time. The weather was ideal, the food ample, and the program interesting and in no way boring, so we all enjoyed a refreshing week.

If you too had some fun this summer, your reporter would be glad to let the rest of your classmates know about it. Four cents will supply me with news enough to keep 1902 alive!

03 MRS. HARRY C. HERPEL
(Elvie Coleman)
1250 Park Ave.
McKeesport, Pa.

Dr. and Mrs. Howard R. Murphy (CHARLOTTE E. SHIELDS) left Central Pennsylvania in July and are making their home at Sunset Home, Concordia, Kans.

Miss Ida E. LUCHSINGER received the Keystone Alumni Association scroll of honor at the 39th commencement of Keystone Junior College at La Plume. The scroll cites Miss Luchsinger for long and loyal service to Keystone and to her fellowmen. Miss Ida has been a faithful worker also in Bucknell alumni activities and attended the Emeritus Club reunion on our campus in June.

05 DR. LEWIS C. HYLBERT
135 Drake Ave.
Cpland, Calif.

Dr. DONALD R. MCCAIN was one of the seven prominent educators and industrialists who received honorary degrees from Bucknell University during the commencement exercises in June. Don received the Doctor of Laws degree.

06 MR. WILLIAM L. DONEHOWER
22 N. Fifth St.
Lewisburg, Pa.

The Alumni Office had a message recently from The Rev. NORRIS L. BROWN, telling that he has been bedridden pretty much over the past three years and would enjoy hearing from his classmates. His address is 109 Columbia Ave., Newtown Square, where he served for nine years as pastor of the Newtown Square Baptist Church.

07 DR. LEO L. ROCKWELL
602 Charles St.
Lakeland, Fla.

Your reporter and spouse are now Florida citizens, having sold their house in Hamilton, N. Y., and taken up residence in Lakeland, Fla. They spent the summer largely in throwing away the accumulations of many years and giving away books. Classmates should report their activities to the above address.

09 MRS. HOWARD L. HEADLAND
(Sarah E. Walters)
3911 First Avenue North
St. Petersburg 13, Fla.

For all we know GEORGE BAILETS of St. Petersburg, Fla., was the only member of our class at Bucknell commencement in June. He represented our local alumni club here which is still a vital group. It was organized by "yours truly" as long ago as 1947. Right now we are so very proud to have as our president, COLEMAN JOHN HARRIS '12, a son of our beloved and revered Prexy HARRIS '69. Remember every Sunday morning in a front pew of the Baptist Church Dr. and Mrs. Harris with their long row of boys? Well, Coleman John was one of them. He resembles Prexy, but does not fill me with awe as his father so often did.

It is with regret that we report the very sudden death of Mrs. Wallace Sheldon KAMENSKY last April in her home in Dunedin, Fla. She had visited all afternoon with TED, who was in the hospital, and succumbed to her first heart attack that evening. TED is better now and spends most of his time—even as the most of us—just puttering around. He has four children and ten grandchildren who are devoted to him. One of his sons, FRANK (JACK) was graduated by Bucknell University in 1950.

In Tucson, Ariz., on June 10, occurred the death of Mrs. BERTHA PFLEEGOR GROVE. She was the wife of GEORGE T. GROVE '14 and had resided in Tucson for 41 years where her husband was Director of Public Works. Bertha was born in Montandon and lived there until going to Tucson, Ariz. In a letter from her daughter the cause of death was given as complications resulting from a broken hip in May. Surviving besides her husband are three children: George T. Jr., Robert J., and Mrs. Betty Mahoney. Eight grandchildren also survive. Our sympathy is extended to the Grove family.

10 MISS MILDRED B. CATHERS
100 W. 33rd St., Apt. 6
Bayonne, N. J.

After reunion a note from FLOYD (Nick) BEEMER went to "ABE" expressing appreciation for greetings sent by those in reunion assembled. Nick would be glad to see classmates and friends going through Clarks Summit. His address is 328 Bedford St.

J. ELMER CROOP, M.D., was unavoidably prevented at the eleventh hour from attending our 50th reunion much to his great disappointment. Following are excerpts from a letter sent to 1910 classmates at that time. "Dutch," as he was known in '06-'07, was in college for his freshman year only but during that year.

Dr. Heber W. Youngken, Sr. '09 (left) and Prof. Stoklosa

Dr. Heber W. Youngken '09 and Dr. Heber W. Youngken, Jr. '35, two authorities in the field of pharmacy, make up the only father and son team of the general committee on revision of The Pharmacopeia of the United States. This volume outlines standards and controls for drugs recognized for use by the federal government. The committee on revision rules on the use, measure and dispensation of approved drugs. Dr. Youngken has served the committee for 40 years and his son has been a member for the past 10 years. This outstanding team has contributed a half century of service to this committee.

At the last session of the convention of the U. S. P. Revision Committee in March, Dr. Allen H. Bruce, president of the convention, read an honor citation presented to Dr. Youngken for his meritorious and faithful services to the programs of the U. S. P. Revision Committee during the past 40 years. Pictured above is Dr. Youngken (left) showing the citation to his colleague and former student, Prof. Mitchell J. Stoklosa, also a member of the committee.

along with creditable academic work, he won three coveted Bucknell "B's"—in football, basketball, track and field events. He was then only the second man in Bucknell history to achieve such a record during his freshman year and to Coach Hoskins he gives much credit for his training. At Homecoming in October, 1956, he, among others, was publicly acclaimed for his outstanding athletic record. In his letter he recalls professors and classmates whom he knew while on campus. He was a member of Kappa Sigma Fraternity. Also there was an enviable record of twenty months with the British Army as Captain in the Medical Corps during World War I climaxed on February 22, 1919, by his being decorated with the British Military Cross for bravery in action by King George in Buckingham Palace; "Twenty Months With the British Army," a chronological narrative of my experiences during World War I with the British Army, written in 1919—my most precious souvenir" came out of his wartime service. In his absence from reunion and at his request a copy of that book was presented to the Bucknell Library by WEAVER PANGBURN. Dr. Croop, who leads a varied and useful life, is still in active medical practice in Waterford.

Special letters came to reunion from GEORGE MITCH, GEORGIA (WEDDLE) Balliet, Mrs. Robinson, EVIE (TEED) Krouse's daughter, from BERTHA (GEIS) Beibigheiser and others, all of whom were missed. Since they couldn't be with us, their letters were most welcome.

11 LYMAN C. SHREVE, ESQ.
512 Masonic Building
Erie, Pa.

Thanks for the response to my June letter. So far, I have heard from the following:

HORACE R. BARNES, 1518 Clearview Ave., Lancaster, retired in 1952 as head of the Department of Economy and Business Administration at Franklin and Marshall. Since then he has been actively engaged with the Lancaster Chapter of Americans for the Competitive Enterprise System.

KATHERINE BRONSON Fowler's husband is still teaching in Buffalo Bible Institute and her eldest granddaughter, Virginia Hyde, has graduated from high school. She will try to attend our reunion next June. They live at 527 Main St., Ebenezer, Buffalo 24, N. Y.

WILLIAM C. GRIMES retired in 1957 as vice president of Western Pennsylvania National Bank and manager of the California office. He reports that BULL COULSON attended the fifty-year reunion at California State College in 1958. Bill's address is 217 4th St., California.

LESTER A. HARRIS is still practising law in Orlando. His address is 2312 Edgewater Dr., Orlando, Fla.

HARRY S. HOFFMAN lives at the Elks Club in Sunbury. I believe we can count on him for the reunion in June.

GEORGE W. LAWRENCE's address is 5402 Winchester Ave., Ventnor, N. J. My freshman year roommate went to Princeton the next fall and will attend his 50th reunion there. He is still in the ministry. He has two sons, two daughters, and nine grandchildren and reports that he is in the best of health.

12 MRS. H. W. HOUSEKNECHT
(Maze Callahan)
108 W. Penn St.
Muncy, Pa.

I don't know how many 1910ers were present at the festive board. I saw MILDRED CATHERS, EMILY LANE Yoder, ROY MIKLE and PAUL ABRAHAM. This class had a nice thought which I think should be passed on to the other classes. They invited the widows of the deceased members to enjoy the activities of the week end. We had the pleasure of taking with us Helen METZGER, widow of STAN, and Mary PAINTER, widow of FRANK. We took them down Friday evening for the lovely buffet supper held at the Mathias home. Pop and I enjoyed the delicious dinner for reporters in Swartz Hall. Getting old and "sot in our ways" we came home to sleep in our own beds. Then a return trip on Saturday morning for the luncheon. We had a wonderful time.

On Friday evening while the HEANS were eating their dinners in the University Cafeteria a lady, who sat at the same table, asked them if they knew a person by the name of Maze Callahan who had gone to Bucknell. Well, to make a long story short she said "My husband went to school to her when she taught at Mt. Holly, N. J., in 1914."

I happened in about that time to pick up the Heans. Thought they would enjoy Swartz Hall with its comfortable chairs and TV. Then I heard the story. He was RICHARD ESTELOW '22. I was thrilled to see him after all these years and to meet his lovely wife. Richard was graduated from B. U. in 1922, his wife in 1925. They were back celebrating her 35th reunion.

We really had a 1912 table at the alumni luncheon. ALBERTA and PATTY CONNER, FRANK and Petrona HEAN, LEON and GRACE FOG CRANDALL, PEARL and FRANK WILLIAMS '17, HARRY EVERETT and wife, Pop and I. We had a good time discussing our ailments, etc.

P. S. Everyone agreed that I looked fine, that my shape was very becoming. Pop now calls me Marilyn Monroe.

13 REV. GEORGE F. HAINES
324 Market St.
Lewisburg, Pa.

Mr. and Mrs. JAMES McCURE left Lewisburg in May for a two-month trip to Europe. Their tour took them through France, Germany, Italy, Switzerland and Great Britain. The retirement of HAROLD SHAFFER was announced last spring. His entire teaching career of 34 years was spent at Bucknell. In addition to his Bachelor of Arts degree at graduation, he received the Master of Science degree in electrical engineering from his Alma Mater in 1924. President Merle M. Odgers conferred upon him the rank of professor emeritus.

Nine members of our class attended the alumni luncheon in June and held a brief but animated reunion at one of the tables immediately afterward. Those present were BECK, GLOVER, HASTINGS, HAWKINS, ROOKE, C. L. SANDERS, C. S. SANDERS, SHAFFER, STOUT. These members elected as our president MARWOOD GLOVER, to succeed HOWARD FISHER, our leader for so many years, who died last December 13. In the afternoon some of the group went to the Cowan recreation center and had dinner at the Milton Hotel in the evening.

Your reporter preached the sermon in the First Baptist Church of Lewisburg on the Sunday morning Dr. Liston Pope preached the Baccalaureate sermon in the college gymnasium. It seems that most of my friends preferred to hear the Pope.

14 MRS. H. B. WEAVER
(Dora Hamler)
348 Ridge Ave.
New Kensington, Pa.

We regret to announce two deaths which occurred during the current year.

DALE REESE ANGSTADT, son of the late William and Annie Reese Angstadt of Lewisburg, died March 21. He resided in Lewisburg all of his life until 1940 when he moved to Lock Haven. Death followed surgery at the Lock Haven hospital. In ill health for several months, he had been a hospital patient for three weeks. Dale was a member of the E. U. B. church of Lock Haven. He is survived by two daughters and a son; Mrs. EMMA ANGSTADT Walters '36 of Lewisburg, Mrs. MARY LOUISE ANGSTADT Glock '51, Peekskill, N. Y.,

Dr. G. Merrill Lenox '24

Dr. G. Merrill Lenox '24, who was active in extra-curricular affairs during his student days, has continued his leadership in church and community affairs through the years. Who's Who in America reveals that he has been engaged in both church and civic activities on the local and national level.

After successful pastorates of local churches and a term of service as a national executive of the American Baptist Convention, Dr. Lenox went to his present position as executive director of the Detroit and Michigan Councils of Churches.

At the close of 10 years' service, Dr. Lenox was awarded a citation by the Detroit Council of Churches as "Executive of the Decade." He was cited by the Fourth Episcopal District of the African Methodist Episcopal Church for his contribution to human relations and received an award from the Jewish Community Council for his part in building brotherhood and good will in the Detroit metropolitan area.

Recently, Dr. Lenox was chosen as one of 12 American Baptist Leaders featured in Summoned to Serve, a book on Christian vocations by Joan Thatcher of the American Baptist Convention Board of Education and Publication. Dr. Lenox has been regular religious news commentator on radio station WJR for more than 13 years. He has traveled widely and is now planning a trip around the world in 1961. He has served on the important Central Committee on Policy and Strategy of the National Council of Churches and on the general Board of the Council. Recently he was elected as president of the Association of Council Secretaries, an organization of 500 members of professional executive staffs of the National Council of Churches and State and local councils.

Dr. and Mrs. Lenox are the parents of four children: John, Peter, Nancy and Susan. The Lenox address is: 14455 Mansfield Ave., Detroit 27, Mich.

and Robert D. of New Castle, Del. Eight grandchildren also survive. His wife, the former MARY LOUISE MARSH M'11, of Lewisburg, passed away in 1951. Interment was in Lewisburg cemetery.

In Tucson, Ariz., on June 10, occurred the death of Mrs. BERTHA PFEEGOR GROVE '09. She was the wife of GEORGE T. GROVE. They had been residents of Tucson for 41 years where George was Director of Public Works. Surviving, besides her husband, are three chil-

Samuel V. Convery '27

Samuel V. Convery '27 has been appointed a county judge of Middlesex County, N. J., by Governor Robert B. Meyner.

Sam was graduated from Rutgers University Law School in 1931 and passed the bar examination in 1932. He was appointed Deputy Surrogate for Middlesex County in 1938 and elected Surrogate in 1947. He resigned as Surrogate to become County Counsel in 1952.

The Converys are parents of five children: Samuel, Jr. 21; Kathryn, 20; James, 17; Clark, 14; and John, 12. Their address is 403 Neville St., Perth Amboy, N. J.

dren: George T. Jr., Upland, Calif.; Robert J., Phoenix, Ariz.; and Mrs. Betty Mahoney, Bakersfield, Calif. Eight grandchildren also survive.

Our sincere sympathy is extended to these families of our classmates.

15 MISS MARION R. BANCROFT
1308—9th St.
Altoona, Pa.

At a very successful dinner meeting at the Hotel Milton on Friday, June 3, approximately sixty-five persons—members of the Class of 1915 plus husbands, wives, and friends—launched what proved to be a most enjoyable week end of renewing friendships and recalling the past. Four of these classmates had come from Florida—WINIFRED and WADE EARLE, IRA DUNKLE, and TED BROWN. Some could not stay for Saturday, Alumni Day; other '15ers joined us at the Saturday morning business meeting. With our fiftieth reunion in mind, the group elected officers: JERE BATES, president; ISABELLE BOND, vice president; MARION BANCROFT, secretary.

EMMA DILLON with characteristic thoroughness, had done a bang-up job on the Reunion Book. If you were not with us to get a copy, do send to Alumni Headquarters or contact Jere Bates to catch up on the news about your old friends.

Thanks go also to Dr. ED. PANGBURN and to our professor, GEORGE IRLAND, and their helpers for planning so that from the dinner through the Alumni Luncheon everything went smoothly.

For those of us who had not been back for many, many years, discovering who was who was largely a guessing game, but what fun it was! Start to plan now for June, 1965.

24

16 MRS. GEORGE S. STEVENSON
(Amy L. Patterson)
940 W. Front St.
Red Bank, N. J.

Dr. SAMUEL M. DAVENPORT of 137 S. Maple St., Kingston, is serving as temporary president of the class until the 1961 reunion. He succeeds the late Dr. DAYTON L. RANCK.

17 MRS. ERLE M. TOPHAM
(C. Ray Speare)
425 W. Sedgwick St.
Philadelphia 19, Pa.

Received the following letter from ETHEL WARD just too late for the May edition. "Last spring when you wrote to me I was not sure of my plans so delayed answering. I did go to Ireland, Norway, Sweden, Denmark and Finland where I spent nine weeks. This summer I am planning another trip to London, Paris, Oberammergau, Austria, Spain, Portugal and Tangiers. Again I shall be abroad for about nine weeks. As before, I shall fly over and return by ship. One of these days, I don't know when, I'll be retiring, then be sure to come to see me when you visit Lewisburg." Ethel teaches in Wilmington High School, Wilmington, Del. We all hope she had a wonderful time.

Just received word from Katherine Clayton Russell, about the death of ALICE JOHNSON Schug on June 8 in Williamsport Hospital, where she had been under medical treatment for six weeks. This was a great shock to me as Alice was an old Lewisburg girl and I felt very close to her. I'm sure many of you feel the same way. At our 40th reunion she was so happy and seemed so well. She was then teaching but since last March had been retired. Alice was very active in community work. She helped organize the auxiliary of American Legion Post (Garrett Cochran), was on the board of the Y. W. C. A., past president of the Woman's Club, member of D. A. R., Clio Club, Pi Beta Phi Fraternity, the American Association of University Women, the Lycoming Historical Society and the Muncy Historical Society. She is survived by two daughters, Janet at home and Mrs. Layton S. Lyon, Jr., of Montoursville R. D. 2; three brothers, ALBERT W., Jr., '25, DONALD '24 and PAUL '32; five grandchildren; and six half brothers and sisters. Mrs. MARY LOUISE Peterson '40, Mrs. DIANA J. Sigler '55, WILLIAM S. '41, DAVID '48, Fred W. and JOHN VANWERT JOHNSON '52. She will be much missed by all of them and all of us too.

KATHERINE CLAYTON Russell and Sam left for their summer home in Eastham Cape Cod the day after she sent me the word about Alice.

18 MRS. LAYTON E. KING
(Elizabeth Champion)
10 N. Loyalsock Ave.
Montoursville, Pa.

Dr. CHESTER S. KEEFER, director of the Boston University Medical Center-Massachusetts Memorial Hospitals, and president-elect of the American College of Physicians, recently was elected a director of Merck & Co., Inc.

Arch and JESSIE POTTS Kline of Greensburg, stopped to say "Hello" en route to the Adirondacks where they spent several days with CLINTON '17 and LOUISE HAHN SPROUT at their summer home. En route home they toured the Thousand Islands.

Attended the Alumni Luncheon in June, and enjoying seeing some old friends, but the only '18er that I saw was Prof. JOHN GOLD. Surely there were some more there.

Why not write me and tell me, and the other members of the Class of your summer vacations. I am sure that many of you have traveled somewhere.

25 MRS. WILLIAM E. THOMPSON, JR.
(Mary E. Seidel)
Box Tree Farm
Whiteford, Md.

The following information was garnered at the June reunion; there's more to come so watch for it in the next issue or two. I tried to contact all 36 people but find I have missed out with ALBERT H. HARRIS, so Al, will you please send me your address, family news and news of yourself particularly. This same applies to all members of the Class of '25. If you want to hear about others, each of you please send information about yourself. Bill and I found it lots of fun and quite interesting to contact old classmates again. Plan now to attend our 40th reunion in '65, my, that makes us sound old!!! Well, here goes—

Officers elected at reunion: president—ALLEN JONES; vice president—EMERSON JENKINS; secretary—LOUISA BAXTER; treasurer—ALBERT HARRIS; class fund manager—Dr. CLAIR SPANGLER; class reporter—MARY SEIDEL Thompson; reunion chairman for '65—"BEE" METTLER; co-chairman—STEVE EMANUEL.

ACKERMAN, MARGARET (Peg)—11 Court St. Apt. 5, Keene, N. H. Peg teaches Latin in the Keene High School. Her plans for the summer include a trip to Europe, her 4th. She will have a short term course of study at Mayrhofen, Austria—summer school connected with the University of Innsbruck. The remainder of the summer she will spend touring with MILDRED BIDDISON, another friend, in a Volkswagen.

AMES, CY—Watsontown. Cy is back in his home town after retiring from Leeds, Northrop Co.

Aydelotte, RUTH MANDEVILLE (Mandy)—10507 S. E. 28th St., Bellevue, Wash. Mandy came the most miles to attend our reunion, after which she visited with MILLIE FRANCISCO Hopper for five days. Can't you just hear those tongues running on and on, what fun! She has two sons, Henry R., 26; and George H., 23.

BAXTER, CATHERINE — Darby. Catherine teaches math in the Darby High School. We were sorry she couldn't be with us but know she is having a wonderful time attending summer school in Hawaii.

Till the next issue—

26 MISS ANNA L. BROWN
45 Wildwood Ave.
Pitman, N. J.

Don't forget our class reunion date is June 3, 1961. Plans are already under way for a big time. In the meantime write and tell me what has been happening to you and your family so that we can be brought up-to-date on each other before next June.

Many of you will be happy to know that MAUD KEISTER Jensen is home on furlough from Korea. She can be reached at Box 398, Drew University, Madison, N. J. We congratulate Maud on receiving an honorary Doctor of Divinity degree from Lycoming College on June 5. It honors the fact that she was the first Methodist woman to become a regular member of the conference.

27 MRS. L. H. COLLISON
(Grace M. Pfeifer)
Marydel, Md.

EARL A. GILL retired after teaching in the Lewisburg High School since 1929. Earl served in World War I and taught in McKean County and New Bethlehem prior to teaching in Lewisburg. He received a master's degree from Bucknell in 1933. Earl and his wife have two sons: JAMES '50 and David.

The honorary degree of Doctor of Divinity was conferred upon Rev. ALBERT W. SHECKELLS by Keuka College in June for his achievement in Christian education and the pastoral ministry. He has been serving the First Baptist Church in Bridgeport, Conn. since 1957.

THE BUCKNELL ALUMNUS

MISS THELMA SHOWALTER
425 Market St.
Millinburg, Pa.

JOHN G. FARROW of Broad Park Lodge, White Plains, N. Y., has been selected to take part in a panel on biology course content by the American Institute of Biological Sciences or the Biological Science Curriculum Study. He has done research at the Marine Biology Laboratory at Woods Hole, Mass., under the auspices of the University of Pennsylvania and was the recipient of a National Science Research Fellowship, working at the Carnegie Institute of Washington in the Genetics Department. He has served as an instructor in physiology and zoology at Swarthmore College and is now head of the biology department at Peconic High School. His wife is the former CAROLINE E. DAVISON '30.

BENJAMIN G. KUPSTAS was the victim of the weather and a call to duty when he slipped on the ice and fractured his ankle. He was en route to keep an appointment with Dr. JOHN DORRIS '20, who is Democratic Chairman of Luzerne County.

THELMA J. SHOWALTER has been nominated to the Young Republicans Hall of Fame at a state committee meeting held in Harrisburg in June. Miss Showalter was the organizer of the Young Republicans in Union County.

MR. ELLIS F. HULL
11 Broad St.
Allentown, N. J.

GEORGE F. SANDEL of Hummelstown, attended the University of Wisconsin on a grant by The Newspaper Fund, Inc. The fund has given grants to 340 high school teachers in 49 states under a donation of $169,000 by the Wall Street Journal. George was accompanied by Mrs. Sandel and daughters Lynn and Betsy.

On a recent television show, "Governor Meyner's Weekly Report," ELLIS F. HULL, owner and publisher of the Allentown Messenger, interviewed Governor Meyner on problems facing New Jersey agriculture. Ellis represented a farm weekly publication.

EDGAR "PAT" PATTERSON, served as city manager of Fort Lauderdale, Fla., this summer during the vacation of City Manager, Donald P. Wolfer. "Pat" is Fort Lauderdale's city engineer.

MRS. WILLIAM S. LIMING
(Ruth E. Rohr)
55 Magnolia Ave.
Garden City, L. I., N. Y.

THOMAS G. CARLOMAGNO, head of the science department of the Fairlawn High School, Fairlawn, N. J., was a winner of one of the $100 awards in the National Science Teachers Association's Science Teacher Achievement Recognition (STAR '60) program for his significant contribution to high school science teaching throughout the country.

JOHN C. CROYLE was named director of customer service of the Remington Rand Univac Division of Sperry Rand Corporation. He is married to the former Eleanor H. Erickson and has two children, Frank and Helen. Address: 5125 Garth Ave., Ladera Heights, Los Angeles, Calif.

JOSEPH LINETTY has been promoted from instructor to assistant professor of engineering at the Pottsville Center of the Pennsylvania State University. He has been teaching at the Pottsville Center since 1956.

Your reporter humbly wishes to thank the Class of '35 for the warmth extended to Bill and myself at their Silver Anniversary Social Hour. They recalled that I was a member of their class but being an economics major I caught up to '34 and so graduated with them.

I'll always remember the great honor bestowed on Bill and am proud to have helped him in any small way in his Bucknell interests these many years. The chair is so comfortable!

Plan to attend Homecoming and since I'm getting this off during the Republican Convention — please be good Bucknellians — register and vote in November.

MRS. PAUL J. DESCHANEL
(Ann W. Orr)
Chapel Wood
Gambrells, Md.

We were so happy to see so many members of our class arriving continuously over the reunion week end. Your reporter thought she had been relieved of her job during the election of officers, and quite obviously, was talking to EMILY ORR STEWART when she was reappointed. We wish ED WITTMER, our new prexy, were here, as notes taken during reunion were blithely thrown away!

BUTCH BOISTON and GEORGE MCGAUGHEY looked as vigorous as they did during the golden age of football. Our new secretary, DOLLY JOHNSON RAYMALEY, is teaching on Long Island and will soon complete her work toward a master's degree. ELAINE IFILL Larson is doing volunteer work with retarded children.

PEG WEDDELL Peters fulfilled her promise to return for our Silver Anniversary, and it was wonderful to see her again and hear about her family and life in Johannesburg, S. Africa. Peg's trip this year has taken her as far west as the state of Washington and to Florida and Louisiana. PEG, MARION ROOT FRANK, and JANE ORWIG LeMon and the reporter had an extended vacation together at the LeMons on Lake Cayuga.

It was good to see BECKY HIRSH and TORY LIPPINCOTT Ettensperger after all these years. ROM RIVENBURG Balsbaugh and her husband were there, too.

JANET WORKMAN Appleton, her husband and their charming daughter came to visit us at MARION and HOWARD FRANK'S. Both Howard and Janet were sorry they couldn't join us. JANE MILLIKIN Abbott wrote that she was there in spirit, too, but couldn't make the trip because her son was graduating from Phillips Exeter Academy that week end.

MRS. CLYDE E. BURGEE
(Lois Montgomery)
124 S. Fifth St.
Lewisburg, Pa.

Bob Jones dropped in to see me while paying a brief visit to the campus last May. We were both amazed at how quickly the four years have sped by since our 20th reunion. At that time, our 25th seemed to be a long way off and here it is time to begin thinking about it! A reunion planning session is to be held on Homecoming Day, October 22. Please do your utmost to be in attendance at this meeting and bring as many of our classmates as you can round up—let's get rolling!

My thanks to JO COPELAND RHODES '39 for two articles of interest about Dr. ROSEMARIE TURSKY, Jo's "Big Sister" in Phi Mu, who is chairman of the Department of Pediatrics at Harrisburg Hospital. Rosemarie was married on April 18 to Dr. Donald E. Morrison, also a physician. They are at home at 1000 N. 2nd St., Harrisburg. The other article about Rosemarie appeared this spring in The Aglaia of Phi Mu and gave an account of the work she is doing in setting up Poison Control Centers throughout Pennsylvania to assist doctors in finding a quick reference to the composition, antidote and treatment for the common and not-so-common detergents and cleaners on the market today.

DANIEL F. GRIFFITH, recently elected to the General Alumni Association Board of Directors, has been associated with Atlantic Refining Company since 1937 as an organization analyst. He and his wife, HELEN L. MORGAN '37, and their two children, Elizabeth Ann and Thomas, live at 599 Massachusetts Ave., Aldan. Dan and Helen are active in the affairs of the Lansdowne Baptist Church and in civic activities in their area.

President Eisenhower and
E. E. Colestock '29

Rear Admiral Edward E. Colestock '29 was on hand to greet the Eisenhower family when they arrived at Newport, R. I., for their recent vacation. Admiral Colestock is Chief of Staff of the Naval War College in Newport, R. I.

Ed spent his freshman year at Bucknell then entered the United States Naval Academy where he received a B.S. degree in 1930.

Many alumni will remember Ed's father, the late Dr. Henry T. Colestock '96, who was head of the Bucknell University Department of History from 1904 to 1933. Dr. Colestock died in 1952 and Ed's mother, the former Emma Kunkle '96, died in 1929. Ed is a brother of William H. Colestock '25, Mrs. Mary E. Colestock Best '32 and the late Richard Colestock '35.

Rear Admiral and Mrs. Colestock have two children: Jane Victoria and Edward Richard.

MRS. PAUL W. ZIEGLER
(Mabel Nyland)
12 W. Garrison Rd., Parkside
Chester, Pa.

We are indebted to CLINTON CONDUCT's father, Rev. E. CARROLL CONDUCT '08, of Ely, Vt., for this news from the Lakewood Baptist Church, Lakewood, Ohio. (News does travel, doesn't it?) Congratulations are in order for CLINTON, who celebrated the 20th anniversary of his ordination last January. At that time he was honored by the church, which he has served as associate minister for four years. Clinton, who is also a graduate of Andover-Newton Theological School, served the United Baptist Church of Lakeport, N. H., before going to Ohio. (Did you see the picture of CLINTON, JR. '63 in the January issue?)

Appeals for news went out this time to GEORGE CROUSE in Youngwood and JEAN ARMSTRONG Bogar in Wilmington, Del. No reply from either direction at this writing, but that gives us something to look forward to in the next issue.

MRS. JOSEPH T. QUICK
(Mary Bachman)
Wrights Rd., R. D. 2
Newtown, Pa.

FRANCIS X. ANTONELLI has been named principal of the West Hazleton High School.

Dr. ROBERT E. STREETER was one of seven prominent educators and industrialists who received honorary degrees from Bucknell University during the commencement exercises in June.

Dr. W. A. Benton Schrader '34

In the April, 1960, issue of ETS Developments, Dr. W. A. Benton Schrader is featured as an "ETS Personality."

Currently, Ben is working on the problem of establishing score relationships between ETS (Educational Testing Service) tests taken at various points in a student's career. He states: "If these efforts are successful, they will help the guidance counselor interpret cumulative test records just as English sub-titles make a foreign language film easier to understand."

Ben has been in charge of the Statistical Analysis Division since 1952 and has taught courses in statistics and measurement at Harvard Summer School and at Rutgers. He also has been a teacher at Kansas State University, Ohio State University and the University of Tennessee. From 1943 to 1946 Ben served in the Army Air Corps, doing assorted psychological jobs.

Dr. and Mrs. Schrader and daughter, Helen, live at 265 Western Way, Princeton, N. J.

Mr. and Mrs. DAVID M. WILLIAMS (CHARLOTTE NOLL '39) and sons David and Bruce have moved to 2027 Hampstead Dr., Pittsburgh. Dave is connected with the Industrial Engineering Department at Westinghouse Headquarters at Gateway Center, Pittsburgh. Son David is breaking the Bucknell tradition by heading for Carnegie Tech this fall.

Mr. and Mrs. J. FREDERICK EVERETT (BETTY OSBORNE '39) and children, Elaine and Jim, now live at 1939 Meadow View Court, Thousand Oaks, Calif. Fritz is working for Ramo-Wooldrige Co. in Canoga Park, Calif.

39 MR. DAVID R. BAGENSTOSE
12 Kinterra Rd.
Wayne, Pa.

On July 15, HELEN L. CUNLIFF assumed her duties in her new position as West-Central area representative for the National Board of Missions of The United Presbyterian Church. Her new office address is 1021 McGee, Kansas City, Mo. Last year Helen was dean of women at Ottawa College and prior to that she was director of finances for the American Leprosy Mission in Boston, Mass.

40 MRS. JAMES A. MILLER
(Mary McCrina)
1492 Galfax Ave.
Benton Harbor, Mich.

HOWARD E. DEMOTT (M.S.), associate professor of biology at Susquehanna University, has been awarded a National Science Foundation faculty fellowship for the academic year 1960-61. Howard has been on the university faculty since 1948 and will take sabbatical leave from his teaching duties during the 1960-26

61 period. He will use the time and the fellowship to complete work on his Ph.D. degree in biology at the University of Virginia. He is married to the former Janet L. Artley and has one daughter, Sally, 14. They live at 123 S. Market St., Selinsgrove.

RUTH A. GEMBERLING has been promoted from secretary in the Engineering Department to assistant registrar of records under the Registrar's Office at our Alma Mater.

Chicago: Directors of Borg-Warner Corporation have elected FRANKLIN SLOFF assistant controller of the company, with headquarters in Borg-Warner's Central Office in Chicago. Franklin was formerly treasurer and controller of Borg-Warner's Byron Jackson Division in Los Angeles, which produces oil well tools, pumps, rubber products, and electronic instruments. Previous to this, for several years he was associated with Thompson Products, Inc., in Cleveland, Ohio, as Division Controller. He has had a total of 20 years' experience in varied fiscal capacities. Franklin also is a member of the Controllers Institute of America, National Association of Accountants, and the University Club of Los Angeles.

41 MRS. WILLIAM F. HASSELBERGER
(Jean P. Steele)
605 Scott Ave.
Syracuse 3, N. Y.

Dr. ROBERT C. FRANTZ has been named the first medical director of the Laureldale plant of the Western Electric Co. Prior to the above appointment he was industrial physician with the General Electric Co. at Pittsfield, Mass. He is married and has three children.

JOHN M. HUSTLER has been named manager of Sales Development and Technical Service of Dupont's Photo Products Department. He has been with DuPont since leaving college except for the period from April, 1944, to February, 1946, when he was in military service. He is married to the former JEAN E. WEBER '43, has two daughters, Lee Anne and Nancy Jane, and lives at 46 Spruce Dr., Fair Haven, N. J.

Our heartfelt sympathy goes to GLADYS CHUDOMELKA Colahan in the loss of her husband, Joe, following brain surgery. Gladys and her three children (Laurie, 4; Christine, 3; and Michael, 17 months) are staying on in their home in Stratford, N. J.

I was very pleased to hear from EVELYN DAY BROWN. Her husband, KEN '42, has been made assistant director of research of Betz Laboratories, Inc. Evelyn and Ken and their three girls (11, 9 and 7) are now residing at 3897 Byron Rd., Huntingdon Valley.

43 MISS CAROLYN F. DONEHOWER
3722 Chestnut St.
Philadelphia 4, Pa.

EARLE R. BATHOLOMEW, JR., technical director of the non-metallic materials laboratory at Wright-Patterson Air Force Base, Dayton, Ohio, has been sent on a scientific mission to three European countries (including Russia) by the federal government. This one-month trip included London, Brussels, Moscow and Leningrad.

Cmdr. WILLIAM M. STRUNK of 2730 Pointsetta Dr., San Diego 6, Calif., has been named a diplomat of the American Board of Radiology after passing competitive examinations given by the board. He is acting chief of the Department of Radiology at the U. S. Naval Hospital, San Diego, Calif. Bill is married to the former Beatrice M. Anthony and has three children, William, Jr.; Margaret and Gwendolyn.

JEANNE GREENIG Reddick and her husband Bill, of 164 West 79th St., New York 24, N. Y., are the proud parents of Kyle William born on May 27. They have a two-year-old boy named Val.

Jeanne has been active in radio and TV and Bill is a staff radio announcer for WJGM in

New York so perhaps many of you in the area see or hear both of them. Jeanne also appeared on the stage as Jeanne Shepherd but recently has been quite busy being a mother and appearing occasionally on TV and radio.

44 MRS. ROBERT F. BAKER
(Honey Rhinesmith)
Lindys Lake, R. D.
Bulder, N. J.

Dr. J. WILSON MAUSTELLER of R. D. 2 Evans City, has been appointed associate director of research for Mines Safety Appliance Research Corporation. He joined the company in 1950 and was named research manager in 1957.

Dr. HELEN E. ROYER, assistant professor of history at Montclair State College, has the honor of being the first woman in the history of Pennsylvania State University to be granted a Ph.D. degree in history. She received the degree in June.

From RON and RUTH COOMER MACPHERSON: "Had a wonderful trip through Europe . . . went to England, France, Switzerland and Germany and enjoyed every minute of it!"

45 MRS. JOHN F. BACON
(Phoebe Follmer)
Meadowdale Farm
Sparks, Md.

What a privilege to begin my "tour of duty" with this column by announcing the births of two babies. A daughter was born on August 30, 1959, to Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. LaCroix (MARY FOLLMER) of 7929 Beverly Dr., Prairie Village, Kans. Mary Ann joins Ricky and Bobby in this happy home. The second arrival was that of Amanda Krise Young, on October 11, 1959. Her delighted parents are Mr. and Mrs. Milton Young (MIRIAM KRISSE) who now live on Olive Lane, Owings Mills, Md. It is wonderful for me to live this close to Mim, a friend of very long standing.

I'm the most enthusiastic telephone detective. Discovered from a class list that Mr. and Mrs. Walter M. Robinson (DOROTHY HARTZ) of 406 Joppa Rd., Towson, Md., are phoning distance from me. We had a grand chat at naptime while two of their kiddies napped and two were in school. Dottie was with us for an all-too-short one year only, so we're looking forward to our own reunion very soon.

The Scanlan children

The above picture shows five handsome, healthy, happy future Bucknellians! Sean, Beth, Laurie, Brian and Barry belong to Mr. and Mrs. John B. Scanlan, Jr. (BETSEY DOUGHTY) of 12 Sanford Ave., Emerson, N. J.

46 MRS. LELAND C. EWING
(Elizabeth J. Wells)
41 Crest Drive
Tarrytown, N. Y.

'Tis the beginning of June in sixty-one,

That the 15th Reunion will be begun.

And who will remember that Reunion fun?

Let's hear from, and see you, every one!

Please do make plans early—your committee

THE BUCKNELL ALUMNUS

hard at work, but they need your aid and assistance to make our 15th a success. NORMA IITE BAIRD, PAT WHITTAM Hill, and yours will be there. More names, please.

"GINGER" DEGROAT Richardson writes of a home (2161 Congress St., Fairfield, Conn.), a new promotion for husband, Sandy general manager of Hepperstall Co.), and a son (Robert John, born February 26, '60). "Ginger" says, "That will hold all of for quite a while!" "All of us" includes Genia, 10; and Fred, 2.

8 MRS. JAMES A. BROWN
(Joann G. Golightly)
1591 Hillcrest Terrace
Union, N. J.

Here we are about to start a new year at Bucknell—let's hear about your year.

Jim, Jeffrey and I went to a Northern Newsey Bucknell picnic on July 23, 1960, at Suna Beach Club, Wayne, N. J., with my mother, ELLIE GOLIGHTLY McCHESNEY '46, her husband BILL, and their two children, Billy, 5; and Joanie, 8. We saw ROBERT GUEMPEL, DREY HUSK ZIGLER, ALBERT ZIGLER, ELEANOR CLER GROSS and CLIFFORD GROSS '49. We had a marvelous time—JOHN C. BANK '10, who organized it, is to be congratulated.

Dr. and Mrs. HAROLD J. BERKOWITZ of 2 Hart Drive East, Glen Cove, N. Y., announce the birth of their third child, Joan Carol, on May 2. Joan has brothers Kenneth and Steven help entertain her. Harold is a dentist in northern border state.

Dr. and Mrs. FRANKLIN S. McFEELY (LOIS HARVEY '50) and family have returned to Bozeman, Mont., after spending some time in Oklahoma where Frank was a visiting lecturer in statistics and computing at the University of Oklahoma. The McFeely address is 3 S. 14th Ave., Bozeman, Mont. Frank teaches mathematics at Montana State College.

Prof. ROGER H. BOWMAN has received a one-year grant from the American Heart Association to conduct a research project on the forces of energy used in the contraction of heart muscles and the hormonal influence involved. His studies will be carried out at Embridge University.

Dr. GEORGE H. GASS of 1101 Emerald Lane, Lombard, Ill., has been named recipient of two grants totaling $25,977 which will finance continued study in cancer research. He is married to the former DOROTHY E. KINSEY '46, and has two daughters and a son.

10 MISS HELEN E. GLOISTEN
161 Oak St.
West Hempstead, L. I., N. Y.

DICK and Janet LINDE are in Japan where Dick is presently an instructor in English and language at the International Christian University in Tokyo, Japan. Their address is 100 Osawa, Mitaka-Shi, Tokyo, Japan. They have two daughters, Katharine and Margaret; and a son, Thomas Christopher, who was born December 20, 1958.

PETE WEIDENBACHER, class president, and BOB LIST '49 took a trip to Japan and saw Dick during their stay there.

BETTY VERNSON Romano and husband, John, live in Wilmington, Del., and have a son, Paul Lawrence, who was born September 11, 1959.

JOHN C. GORSKI has been appointed staff engineer in Flight Line Test Equipment Development at the Owego (N. Y.) facility of IBM's Federal Systems Division.

Mr. and Mrs. EDGAR C. FRYLING of Waverly, Ohio, welcomed a new tax exemption on November 19, 1959, in the form of an adorable daughter, Debbie Sue. Edgar operates a real estate agency in Waverly.

YUTWEE R. ENG has received a transfer within the New York State Department of Mental Hygiene to work with their research unit in New York City. His main interest is in the causes and treatment of mental illness. He is married to the former Frances Hor and lives at 94-54 42nd Ave., Elmhurst 73, N. Y.

We have just learned of the birth of a daughter named Shavann Mary born November 1, 1959, to Mr. and Mrs. WILLIAM O. P. CAREY (BARBARA A. WILKEN '48) of 609 Covington Terrace, Moorestown, N. J.

Mr. and Mrs. GEORGE C. DERICK, JR., welcomed a daughter into their home on May 26, 1960. The Dericks' address is R. D. 1, Island Park, Northumberland.

51 MRS. HAROLD P. NORRIS
(Rebecca J. Rogers)
6 Griffis St.
Montrose, Pa.

There's lots of news this time, so I won't waste any space on prefatory remarks. Just—many thanks for all your notes.

Mrs. WILLIAM M. BUCHER (CLAIRE HARTH) writes: "Santa Claus and the stork arrived in a photo finish at our house last Christmas. Baby Anne Carole Bucher was born December 25, 1959. I trust that her brother, Billy, aged 3, won't think this happens every Christmas."

BARBIE (LEWIS) and RAY SHAW welcomed a son, Robert Howard, on March 28, 1960. Robbie joins two sisters, Christine, 4; and Cynthia, 2. RAY is still employed by DuPont as a sales technologist. The SHAW's address is 3 Man of War Drive, Media 26.

NANCY E. TATNALL became Mrs. Richard A. Whipple on April 30, 1960. Her new address is 7 Weer Circle, Klair Estates, Wilmington 8, Del. Best wishes, Nancy.

LYN adds that GLORIA KURZMANN is living in Burlington, Vt., where she is working at Mary Fletcher Hospital as a laboratory technician.

BETTS (HOUSER) APPLETON '51 and GEORGE E. APPLETON '53 greeted a baby daughter, Susan Rae, on June 18, 1960. GEORGE is an engineer with Hercules Powder Company in Gibbstown, N. J. In February the Appletons moved into their new home at 37 Cherry Ave., South Woods, Woodbury Heights, N. J.

Betts also says that JOAN (INKY) CARTER is now Mrs. O. R. Medlin. Her husband is a captain in the Air Force—flying jets. The Medlins have three girls—Kim, 4½; Linda, 3; and Susan, 2. They are now living in Weybourne, England. Their address is 84 Bomb Sqdn., APO 22, New York, N. Y.

Keep those letters coming—and start planning to exchange news and notes in person at our reunion next June.

52 MRS. JOHN S. BOULDEN, JR.
(Barbara Bleecker)
1605 Twin Maple Ave.
Towson 4, Md.

GENE COBAUGH was admitted as a partner of the firm of Pentland, Purvis, Keller & Company, Certified Public Accountants, with offices at 1701 DuPont Building, Miami, Fla. He has been with the firm since February, 1952. He is married to the former Betty Jean Steele and has two sons, Steven and Thomas.

TOMMY DEAN, formerly coach at William Penn High School, Harrisburg, has accepted the position as head coach at East Orange, N. J., High School for the season of 1960-61.

Dr. GILBERT FRIDAY has been awarded a $4800 Wythe Laboratories pediatric residency fellowship. The grant, provided by the Wythe Fund for Post-graduate Medical Education, will enable him to spend 2 years in advanced study at Children's Hospital, Philadelphia, in care and treatment of children. Gilbert previously had been on the staff of Man Memorial Hospital, Man, W. Va.

JOHN HARMON, of 1323 "K" St., S. E., Washington, D. C., received his LL.B. degree from Howard University in June.

Mr. and Mrs. MICHAEL REGGIA of 15 Baird Place, Whippany, N. J., enjoyed a European tour as a result of Mrs. Reggia appearing on

Ashman With Pacific Stars and Stripes

It's not often that we catch up with Larry Ashman '52 but now that we have located him in Tokyo, we are happy to pass on the information that he is assistant city editor of Pacific Stars and Stripes. His Tokyo telephone number is listed as Tokyo 331-5441. His home address is 5 Kogai-Cho, Azabu, Minato-Ku, Tokyo; home telephone, 408-1962. He is always glad to meet with Bucknellians in Tokyo.

Since attending Bucknell in the early 1950's, he has served on several state-side newspapers and has been a combat correspondent in the Marine Corps during the Korean military activity. Larry was a writer for THE BUCKNELL ALUMNUS while still a student at Bucknell.

the TV show "The Price Is Right" last March. They left New York June 2 by Sabine Jet Airlines with their first stop in England. From there they went to Belgium, France and Italy, seeing many of the world-famous sights in each of the countries. While in Italy Mike visited some relatives of his mother's family. Mrs. Reggia is the former Shirley Bubb of Sunbury. They have 3 children: Patty, Cindy and Sherry. Mike is employed by Western Electric in Whippany, N. J.

53 MRS. JAMES A. CHAMBERS, JR.
(Barbara Roemer)
58 Linden Ave.
Verona, N. J.

ANNE (KITE '55) and JACK WALDRON's children number four now since the birth of Stephen Robert on January 21. He joins Susan, 2; Jackie, 3; and Anne, 4½.

MARK JACOBSON is now manager of the Valhalla (New York) branch of the National Bank of Westchester, and was married this past November to Marilyn Deitch (University of Michigan '58). The Jacobsons live at 1296 Midland Ave., Yonkers, N. Y.

Dr. PENN P. SHELLY completed his Navy tour of duty in Pittsburgh this summer and became a resident physician at the Geisinger Memorial Hospital and Foss Clinic at Danville.

BIRTHS: The WORTHENS, HUGH and MARYLYN (SMITH '55), announce a new son to us, Wade Bolton, born April 30. "We've joined the baby-carriage crowd again" say ROGER and MOLLIE (BROWN) ROTH. It's a girl, Claire Ann, born July 1. Extra congratulations to Roger for "doing the honors" at Claire's unexpected arrival! Mr. and Mrs. DAVID R. SHINN '52 (MARY SELLERS) announce the birth of a son, Matthew Sellers, on March 22. He joins his brother, Brad, and sister, Holly, in enjoying their new home at 7732 Country Club Court, Clayton 5, Mo.

A letter from SUE MILLER Strecker announces both her marriage to Daniel James Strecker on April 25, 1959, and the birth of their daughter, Debora Lynn, on March 4, 1960. Congratulations to you both.

WALTER MANKIN writes that both he and his wife, DIANE (TRUMBOWER '56) are junior high teachers in English and would be interested in hearing from Bucknellians in the area of their home at 2633 Cynwyd Ave., Broomall.

When this paragraph is printed, you'll know that for the first time in seven years I "can see the bottom of my desk." Let's hear from many, many more of you, or else you might be forced to see an empty column one month, soon!

Lt. and Mrs. Alfred F. Grand, Jr.

Lt. Alfred F. Grand, Jr. '58 and Claire H. Carter of Columbus, Ga., were married at Fort Benning, Ga., on May 7, 1960. The Grands expect to live in France where Alfred will serve in the Military Police Corps.

Bucknellian Lt. Andrew Errickson '59 is middle saber bearer on the right.

54

MRS. PAUL C. TARR, III
(Anne E. Tuckerman)
413 Alliston Rd.
Springfield, Pa.

Bundles of Joy—Best wishes to Mr. and Mrs. JACK CLARK—a daughter, Patrice Michele, May 13. Mr. and Mrs. JOSEPH H. LOCK—a second child, Joe, Jr., February 6. Mr. and Mrs. Jay Geiger (LONNY CUPP)—a second daughter, Laurie Jayne, December 6, 1959. Mr. and Mrs. Donald C. Knodel (PATRICIA PRATT)—a son, David Scott, June 7. Mr. and Mrs. Paul C. Tarr (ANNE TUCKERMAN)—a second daughter, Kathryn Downing, May 15.

Mrs. Leslie Magee (LAURA DEROSA) writes that Les graduated from Rutgers University School of Law in June, 1959, and is now associated with the law firm of Besson & Applegate in Madison, N. J. The Magees have just moved into their new home on VanHouton Ave., Chatham, N. J.

Mr. and Mrs. James R. Pigg (CARYL COLVIN) and their three children have recently moved into a new home in Richmond, Va.

Dr. ROBERT L. CATHERMAN of 944 Park Ave., Williamsport, and Constance Plotts were married July 23. Bucknellians in the wedding party were HOWARD MACAULEY, Dr. DON R. KELSO and Dr. JOSEPH ENGLISH '55. Bob is resident physician in pathology at Williamsport Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. FRANKLIN GRAF (BARBARA SHAFFER '56) and family have moved to 8561 Larimore, Omaha 14, Nebr., where Frank has been promoted to sales area manager for Lever Bros. Co.

FRESHMAN

(Continued from Page 21)

changing this practice but only of being fair to their sons and daughters. The University believes that it is unfair to admit any student whose records indicate that he or she would have little chance for successful completion of college work. Furthermore, such a practice would be unfair not only to the prospective student, but also to parents and other applicants.

Letters Are Welcome

Letters from alumni are helpful (see "How Candidates Are Selected" above). These letters become a part of the applicant's admission folder and are considered when the admissions committee is studying the case. These letters cannot always be individually acknowledged, but they do become a part of the application and are helpful to the admissions committee. Furthermore, it is entirely proper to write a letter of recommendation for the son or of 28

55

MRS. JOHN T. VANCE, JR.
(Jane Jones)
3 Ford Court
Charleston, S. C.

THOMAS N. SPRAGUE has joined the Massachusetts Mutual Life Insurance Co. as a representative in its Miami-Henneberg Agency.

MARVIN I. WINSTON received an M.D. degree from the Chicago Medical School in June and will intern at the Long Island Jewish Hospital.

KENNETH F. KLOSTERMAN was elected chairman of the Bucknell Alumni Club of Cincinnati.

Mr. and Mrs. HUGH S. BLAIR of 730 Pelham Rd., New Rochelle, N. Y., announce the birth of a daughter, Bonnie Sue, on April 5.

A daughter, Susan Rita, was born on March 29, 1960, to Mr. and Mrs. JOHN R. MCKEE, V, of 433 Lee Blvd., Utica, N. Y. John is a technical writer at the Light Military Electronics Department of General Electric.

Mr. and Mrs. Francis C. Mangione (SUSAN J. CADY) of 106 Glenwood Dr., Warwick, R. I., will soon be lighting the first birthday candle for their son, Mark. Already an argument has developed as to whether he will become a Bucknellian or settle for Brown!

Mr. and Mrs. Paul F. Mack (HARRIET COYLE) announced the birth of a son, June 17, 1960.

On January 24, 1960, a daughter, Susan Elise, was born to Mr. and Mrs. J. Robert Arther, Jr. (NANCY GEORGE) of Hartville, Ohio.

MIKE GOODRICH writes that he has received a National Science Foundation Fellowship for a year's study at Penn State. He has been teaching biology at Dundee Central High School, Dundee, N. Y. Mike has two sons: Mike, Jr., 3; and Thomas, 1. Congratulations all around!

56

MRS. WILLIAM J. O'NEIL
(Jean M. Wirths)
1706 Esplanade Apt. C, Hollywood Riv.
Redondo Beach, Calif.

Word comes from SUE HADLEY that she became Mrs. Frank Schnorbus on August 8, 1959. The Schnorbus' live in Bordentown, N. J. Sue receives mail from NANCY BOVERS who is teaching in the Philippines in a U. S. Air Force School there.

JUDY LOCKE was married May 30, 1959, to Heath McLendon and the two are now living in San Francisco. Heath is employed by Standard Oil of California and Judy is associated with Bechtel Corporation. Judy had a note from SUSAN LUFTIG Smithline, announcing the birth of a son, Richard Lawrence on September 2, 1959.

ANN BARRY WALDRON BURNS and husband DON '54 announce the arrival of Rebecca Suzanne on January 22. The Burns have a two-year-old son, Bobby Dick. The family lives in Inglewood, Calif.

JACK KAUFMAN was married on July 5, 1959, to Frances Sugerman, Brooklyn College '59. Jack is now with the U. S. Army as an English instructor in Korea. When he returns to the states, he plans to return to Michigan State to complete studies for his Ph.D.

60

MISS JANE DAHL
47 Central Ave.
Newtonville 60, Mass.

Marriages: SUSAN STOKES and GORDON R. JOHNSTON, Jr., February 2; HARRY BUCK, Jr. and MARY POMEROY '61, February 6; BEVERLY FRANZ and DAVID NODINE '59, March 26; SUSANNE ALISCH and EDWARD ARNOLD, April 13; DAVID BURNETT and RUTH WALKER '59, May 7; LEONARD FERRO and JEAN BENNER, June 1; BARBARA TREXLER and George York, Jr., June 11; DONALD GREGORY and Peggy Williamson, HARVEY TUCKER and DORIS L. SHULMAN '62, June 12; RONALD E. BOYER and Judith Heckert, LINDA A. BRUN and HAROLD McCULLOUGH, Jr., DOUGLAS FORSYTHE and M. ARLENE KELLEY '61, June 18; MARILYN W. PEARCE and GEORGE HARDER, Jr. '59, JOANN POTTER and GEORGE HIPPE '57, DEBORAH Q. SMITH and W. Kenneth Menke, Jr., FRANK WIEGAND, III and Elizabeth Bennett, June 25; MARTHA LAUVER and EDWARD SAMEK '58, June 26; MARCIA C. SMITH and Robert S. Walin, July 2; JANE REUNING and DAVID ENGLISH '59, July 24.

Attending medical schools are: JOHN A. BERGFELD, THEODORE L. BIDDLE, DAVID A. DAYTON, ROBERT H. HECHT, EDGAR V. MC GINLEY, MARILYN E. MOYER, DAVID K. MURDOCK, DONALD F. POST, CHARLES N. REED, III and HARVEY M. TUCKER. Attending law schools are: WILLIAM J. CALISE, Jr., JOHN M. FISHER, JAMES J. KAUFMAN, NEIL A. KLEINBERG, ROGER L. MUTZEL, ARNOLD L. PUTTERMAN, ROBERT H. RAYMOND, Jr., ANTHONY D. RINALDO, Jr., KATHERINE A. SPARKS, JOHN D. TRAINER and FRANK L. WIEGAND, III.

Attending other graduate schools are: ROBERT W. BARTLETT, VICTOR I. BENDALL, HOWARD S. BENDER, MARTHA J. BIRTLEY, JOHN T. BLAKE, CAROL A. BROWN, CAROLE A. BROZEY, WILLIAM F. CAUL, Jr., NANCY R. DEAN, MARGARET E. DEGROOT, STEPHEN A. FLAMHAFT, DOUGLAS R. FORSYTH, RICHARD B. FROST, DONALD L. GREGORY and BARBARA L. HARDIE.

This listing will be continued in the next issue of THE BUCKNELL ALUMNUS.

daughter of a friend or relative. Such letters should carry information concerning the family background of the applicant but need not include a record of his or her high school achievements since such information comes to the admissions committee directly from the school. Whenever possible, a copy of your letter of recommendation whether for your own son or daughter or for the son or daughter of a friend or relative should be sent to the Alumni Secretary.

One Final Word

If the above procedure seems more complicated than it was when you entered college, let's face it—it is! But please don't jump to the conclusion that it is too complicated. Bucknell is just as eager to enroll your son or daughter as she was to enroll you as a student. But don't delay—a post card requesting preliminary information and an application form will bring your son or daughter complete information to start the entrance procedures.

THE BUCKNELL ALUMNUS

Lt. Forrest S. Chilton, III '43

The Forrest S. Chilton, III, Memorial Hospital in Pompton Plains, N. J., celebrated its fifth anniversary in November, 1959. The hospital is named in memory of the late Lt. Forrest S. Chilton, III '43 who was presumed dead as of June 22, 1945. Lt. Chilton was the pilot of a P-47 (Thunderbolt) fighter plane which crashed in the English Channel on its return from a dive bombing mission to St. Quentin, France, on June 21, 1944.

The Chilton Memorial Hospital is in the process of adding a 72-bed section to the original 50-bed structure.

Dr. Kurt Manrodt, Jr. '39 is vice president of the medical staff of the hospital which is named for his cousin, Lt. Chilton.

MRS. BERTRAND, TRUSTEE, DIES

Bucknell University lost one of its most generous benefactors and well-wishers on Tuesday, July 12, 1960 with the death of Mrs. Ellen Clarke Bertrand, a trustee of Bucknell University and the principal donor to the University's Library which bears her name.

Her husband, the late Herbert Bertrand, whose election as a member of the Board of Trustees occurred shortly before his death in 1940, was never able to serve as a trustee.

The late Joseph D. Dent '20, Bucknell Trustee, who was financial adviser to Mrs. Bertrand encouraged her interest in the University and its educational program and soon after her election to the Board of Trustees in 1950 she became the principal donor for the new library for which her gifts totaled $393,000. Thus Mrs. Bertrand's generosity sparked the second century development program of the University. Since the dedication of the Ellen Clarke Bertrand Library she has contributed $511,000 to endowment for the Library maintenance fund. In addition she has given the University tapestries and etchings valued at more than $11,000. When the Library was dedicated in June, 1951 her late husband was honored by having the Library's main room formally named The Herbert Bertrand Reading Room.

In 1954 when the University conferred upon Mrs. Bertrand the honorary degree of Doctor of Humanities, Dr. William H. Coleman, then dean of the college, cited her philanthropic spirit, her abiding interest in the University's welfare, and the generosity which made possible the beautiful library which bears her name.

IN MEMORIAM

The following deaths have been reported to the Alumni Office since April, 1960. The University extends sympathy to the surviving relatives:

- 1874—Mrs. Joseph Smith (Elizabeth I. Barber) (Inst.)
- 1876—Mr. Britain G. Roth (Acad.), May 18, 1960
- 1891—Mrs. Samuel P. Glover (Maze A. Pellman) (Inst.), May 22, 1960
- 1892—Rev. James M. Paterson, July 24, 1960
Mrs. George F. Solier (Fannie Montgomery) (Inst.)
- 1895—Mrs. J. Douglas Nisbet (E. Beulah Hayes) (Inst.), June 29, 1960
- 1898—Mrs. G. William Reisner (Grace Pretzman) (Music), 1959
- 1900—Mr. Guy F. Hankee (Acad.), April 7, 1960
- 1901—Rev. Raymond G. Pierson, April 24, 1960
Mrs. E. W. Pogue (Mable Browning) (Music), April 24, 1960
- 1902—Miss Gertrude J. Deppen, July 18, 1960
- 1903—Mrs. George W. Alexander (Eudora I. Davies), May 9, 1960
Dr. Howard K. Williams, July 17, 1960
- 1904—Miss Margaret B. Groff, August 4, 1960
- 1906—Dr. Augustus S. Kech, May 1, 1960
- 1907—Mr. John I. Catherman, April 18, 1960
Mr. Howard Siegfried
- 1909—Rev. Frank K. Gibson, February 28, 1960
Mrs. George T. Grove (Bertha R. Pfeegor) (Inst.), June 10, 1960
- 1910—Mrs. C. Elmer John (Stella R. Houghton), June 19, 1960
- 1912—Mrs. Eleanor P. Groh (Eleanor E. Pross) (Inst.), 1958
Mr. Merton M. Ogden, April 15, 1960
- 1914—Mr. David M. Satz
- 1915—Mr. Malcolm R. Buffington, June 5, 1960
Mr. E. Willard Samuel, August 9, 1957
- 1917—Mrs. Carl A. Schug (Alice S. Johnson), June 8, 1960
- 1918—Mr. C. Melvin Johnson
- 1920—Mr. Irvin V. Holmes, February 6, 1960
Mr. Albert S. Laehder, May 15, 1960
Mr. Walter L. Lees, July 25, 1960
- 1922—Mr. Willard T. Diffendafer, April 20, 1960
- 1924—Mr. H. Mark Parmley, June 20, 1960
- 1925—Mr. Earle E. Ellis, January 3, 1960
Mrs. William M. VanAlen (Nancy K. Miller) (Music), June 22, 1960
- 1926—Mr. Thomas E. Murphy, April 8, 1960
- 1927—Mr. Edwin S. Heiser, Jr.
Mr. L. Donald Kohr, March 12, 1960
- 1928—Mr. Harry C. Hunter, June 15, 1960
- 1929—Mr. William Kildare
Dr. George M. Simmonds, June 10, 1960
Mrs. Irene N. Wallace (Irene Noll), September, 1959
- 1930—Mr. Charles S. Rovenolt
- 1934—Mr. Morris Hyman
Mr. Michael J. Stranko, April 5, 1960
- 1936—Miss Edna D. Rich, July 3, 1960
- 1937—Dr. Alphonse S. Warakowski, June 22, 1960
- 1938—Mr. Thomas t. Hinkle, April 13, 1960
- 1940—Mr. Louis A. Cirelli
- 1942—Mr. Oscar O. Hoffman, Jr.
- 1944—Mr. Charles I. Bowersox, Jr., April 12, 1960
- 1948—Rev. Walter E. Boyer, May 6, 1960
- 1954—Mrs. Ellen Clarke Bertrand (Hon.), July 12, 1960
Mr. Anton M. Campanella, June, 1960
- 1957—Mr. Larry C. Kirkland, June 2, 1960

ALUMNI TRUSTEE TIMETABLE

June Commencement—Appointment of Committee on Nominations for Alumni Trustee.

July 15—Letter to Class Presidents and Class Reporters.

August 15—Letter to representative Alumni, Alumni Club Presidents, Alumni Fund Representatives, Past Presidents of the Alumni Association, and former Alumni Trustees.

September 15—Deadline for receiving suggestions to be considered by Committee on Nominations.

October 22—Meeting of Committee on Nominations.

November 16—Committee on Nominations submits three candidates to the President of the Association.

December 5—Deadline for Board approval.

January ALUMNUS—Announcement of names of three candidates in THE BUCKNELL ALUMNUS.

February 16—Petition deadline.

March 1—Election announcement in THE BUCKNELL ALUMNUS.

April 3—Ballots in mail.

May 16—Deadline for receiving ballots in Alumni Office.

June Commencement—Certification to Board of Trustees.

Even though your plans may be tentative, please mail this reservation TODAY and guarantee yourself a share in the program and also assist us in planning your accommodations. Although we will do our best—WE CANNOT GUARANTEE RESERVATIONS RECEIVED AFTER OCTOBER 14.

HOMECOMING RESERVATION

October 22, 1960

Please reserve _____ tickets for the HOMECOMING LUNCHEON,
Saturday, October 22, 1960, at Davis Gym.

Please reserve _____ tickets for the BISON CLUB BREAKFAST,
Saturday, October 22, 1960, at Lewisburg Club.

NAME (Print) _____ CLASS _____

ADDRESS _____

(This slip may be attached to a postal card or slipped into an envelope. Mail to Alumni Office, Bucknell University, Lewisburg, Pa., NOW. Send your room reservation to Forrest D. Brown, Secretary, Christian Association).

CAMPUS CALENDAR

SEPTEMBER

- 17 Freshmen Report
- 21 Convocation—Speaker: Dr. Paul J. Tillich, Harvard University
- 24 Football—Gettysburg at Hershey

OCTOBER

- 1 Football—Cornell at Ithaca, N. Y.
- 7 Parent's Weekend
Football—Buffalo at Lewisburg
- 15 Football—Rutgers at New Brunswick, N. J.
- 20 Artist Series—Van Cliburn
- 22 Homecoming
Football—Lafayette at Lewisburg
- 29 Football—Lehigh at Lewisburg

NOVEMBER

- 3 Class of 1956 Lecture—Dr. James A. Gathings, Chairman, Department of Political Science
- 5 Football—Colgate at Hamilton, N. Y.
- 11-12 Cap and Dagger Play—"The Lower Depths"
by Maxim Gorky
- 12 Football—Temple at Lewisburg
- 13-15 Religion-in-Life Program
- 19 Football—Delaware at Newark, Del.
- 20 Thanksgiving Recess Begins
- 28 Thanksgiving Recess Ends

THE BUCKNELL
ALUMNUS

November 1960

SECOND VICTORY WITHIN REACH

See page 13

OFFICERS OF THE ASSOCIATION

President

ROBERT W. DILL '27

First Vice President

MRS. CLYDE P. BAILEY (Dorothy Lemon '29)

Second Vice President

DANIEL F. GRIFFITH '36

Treasurer

DONALD B. YOUNG '33

Secretary and Editor

JOHN H. SHOTT '22

Assistant Secretary and Assistant Editor

C. BRUCE ROSSITER '56

BOARD OF DIRECTORS

ROBERT W. DILL '27, 5136 Butler Pike, Plymouth Meeting, Pa. (1961)

WILLIAM D. COLIGHTLY '25, 309 W. Webster Ave., Scranton, Pa. (1961)

MRS. PAUL M. SHOWALTER (S. Katharine Graham '33), 855 St. Louis St., Lewisburg, Pa. (1961)

MRS. CLYDE P. BAILEY (Dorothy Lemon '29), 16 Churchill Rd., Pittsburgh 35, Pa. (1962)

CHARLES F. FOX, JR., M.D. '31, 180 Washington Ave., Vandergrift, Pa. (1962)

D. EUGENE LONG '29, 131 Avon Place, West Hempstead, N. Y. (1962)

EUGENE P. BERTIN '17, 201 S. Main St., Muncy, Pa. (1963)

ELINOR CHILDS '52, 74 Mt. Kemble Ave., Morristown, N. J. (1963)

ROBERT H. TAYLOR '48, 214 Avon Rd., Narberth, Pa. (1963)

CHARLES T. FARROW '26, P. O. Box 29, Westfield, N. J. (1964)

IRVIN GRAYBILL, JR. '49, Middleburg, Pa. (1964)

ALLEN F. JONES '25, 2 Linn St., Progress, Harrisburg, Pa. (1964)

HENRY G. P. COATES, Esq. '32, East Ward St., Hightstown, N. J. (1965)

DANIEL F. GRIFFITH '36, 599 Massachusetts Ave., Aldan, Pa. (1965)

PETER WEIDENBACHER '50, 525 Hillside Ave., Mountaintown, N. J. (1965)

() Year Term Expires

Alumni Headquarters—SECOND FLOOR,
CARNEGIE BUILDING

Member—AMERICAN ALUMNI COUNCIL

ON THE COVER—Saturday, September 17, 1960, was a big day for the 761 freshmen arriving on the Bucknell University campus but it was an even bigger day for Mom and Dad who helped to carry everything from stuffed toys to golf bags into the dormitories. Pictured on our cover is Vincent A. Halbert '34, of Trenton, N. J., helping his daughter Susan unpack the family auto.

THE BUCKNELL ALUMNUS

VOLUME XLVI

NOVEMBER 1960

No.

IN THIS ISSUE

- 1 This Is Your University
- 2 Second and Third Generation Bucknellians
- 4 The Congo Crisis
—by George S. Franke '56
- 6 Bisons Impress Early
—by Bradley N. Tufts
- 8 The Club Program
- 10 For the Record
- 12 The Student View
—by Bobbie Runk '61
- 13 Bucknell Dual Development Fund
- 14 Matching Gift Programs of Business and Industry Multip
- 18 Class Reports

Homer W. Wieder, Jr. '58, 11—Loren L. Bly '60, 11—D. D. F. Kickoff Pictures, 15, 16—Bison Roundup, 16—Basketball Schedule, 17—Clair W. Halligan '23, 18—Raymond G. Taylor '30, 20—A. Crossley Smith, Jr. '31, 21—Thomas H. Wilkenson '33, 22—Earl P. Mathias '39, Jay P. Mathias '35 and Roy P. Mathias '39, 23—George Rifendifer '48, 24—A. Borelli '49, 25—Harry J. McSorley '53, 26—Lee R. Walters '54, 27—Kenneth S. Tashjian '55, 28—inside back cover: Donald Weaver '57, Frank Rappel '56, Ken Basmadjian '57, and Robert Landzettel '57; In Memoriam; More More Boola; Alumni Trustee Timetable—back cover: Campus Calendar.

THE BUCKNELL ALUMNUS is published in January, March, May, September and November by BUCKNELL UNIVERSITY. Entered as second class matter December 30, 1930 at the post office at Lewisburg, Pa., and Act of August 24, 1912.

The sundial in the foreground, a gift of the Class of 1910, is familiar to thousands of Alumni, but the 75 stone and wood benches on the campus this fall, two of which can be seen at the entrance to Roberts Hall, are new to everyone but the present students. The benches are a gift of the Class of 1960.

Number One

THIS IS YOUR UNIVERSITY

BECAUSE your University is dedicated to becoming "an institution of the highest order" (James Moore, III, father of Bucknell) and is as near to being a perpetual institution as humanity has devised, it is a place of memorials and tangible monuments to and of Alumni who have gone before. Bucknell has been fortunate to receive generous gifts not only from Alumni but from friends who believe in her and who can see a bright future for her because of the great strides she has made toward excellence in all fields. Bucknell is not the University you knew yesterday, although many of the familiar landmarks remain. Bucknell has grown steadily in its physical facilities and academic standing in the educational world because of the support you and friends of Bucknell have given to her. As an Alumnus, you can be proud of your Alma Mater, as she is proud of you.

Second and Third Generation Bucknellians

IN its annual feature, THE BUCKNELL ALUMNUS presents on this page and the following page a pictorial record of forty-two members of the freshman Class of 1964 who have a Bucknell dad or Bucknell mother or both.

At least seventy-three members of the freshman class are represented in the alumni body by Bucknell relatives other than mother and father. The relatives include: 7 grandfathers, 2 grandmothers, 22 uncles, 9 aunts, 20 brothers, 14 sisters, and 63 more distant relationships. As in the past, the Bucknell family tradition continues as generation after generation pick Bucknell as their Alma Mater.

Also, this year, there are six transfer students with eleven Bucknell relatives including two students having Bucknell dads. They are: Gerald A. Beierschmitt, Jr. '62, son of Gerald A. Beierschmitt AM'35 and P. Ellis Payne '62, son of Robert L. Payne '30.

Michael F. Andrews
Arnold R. Andrews '39

Susan M. Augat
Elizabeth Mills Augat '26

Edward B. Bower
John R. Bower '30

Florence K. Budd
Charles K. Budd '24

Robert L. Cooley, Jr.
Robert L. Cooley, Sr. '36
Mary Sockwell Cooley '35

James E. Davis
Edward M. Davis '39

Sandra M. Etzweiler
Marlyn D. Etzweiler '27

Linda J. Farrow
Charles T. Farrow, Jr. '26

Peter S. Feick
Ralph H. Feick '28
Mary Rodgers Feick '28

Fredericka L. Fox
Marie Steinbach Fox '34

Susan J. Halbert
Vincent A. Halbert '34

Robert E. Humphreys
Edward J. Humphreys '26

Marcia R. Ingols
Robert S. Ingols '31

Allan S. Johnson
Davis Johnson, Jr. '30

Joan L. Keenan
Robert J. Keenan '31

Gerald F. Kling
Robert M. Kling '36

Susan E. Maurer
Charles L. Maurer '37

Linda L. Merriion
Howard J. Merriion '38

Sally L. Miller
C. Eugene Miller '32
Mary Bolger Miller '32

Gail B. Morreall
Herbert W. Morreall, Jr. '37

Wayne S. Mountz, Jr.
Madeleine E. Mountz '37

Wendy A. Myers
Edward C. Myers '34
Edna Cleckner Myers '33

Robert I. Neiswinter, Jr.
Mary W. Neiswinter '36

Robin E. Noll
Clyde M. Noll '37
Florence Boyd Noll '40

Linda A. Perry
Charles F. Perry '35

Bonnie A. Ramer
John A. Ramer '41

Ann E. Reiter
Edna Schneider Reiter '34

John H. Richards, III
John H. Richards, Jr. '34

John F. Robinson
Virginia F. Robinson '28

Judith L. Ruoff
Hubbard S. Ruoff '36
Betty Schilling Ruoff '37

Richard C. Sheasley
Carl W. Sheasley '33

John C. Sleeth
Clovis S. Sleeth '42
Eleanor Lindell Sleeth '41

Robert F. Snodgrass, Jr.
Robert F. Snodgrass, Sr. '26

Charles W. Snyder
Charles P. Snyder '31
Ruth W. Snyder '31

Wendy G. Stevens
Wendell R. Stevens '34

Gail H. Thomas
Thelma Swenson Thomas '33

Jeanne L. Thomas
Leighton J. Thomas '40

David R. White
William R. White '26

Robert O. Winkler
Louis H. Winkler, Jr. '36
Etta Brewer Winkler '36

Lois L. Wittner
Edward F. Wittner '35
Lois Kurtz Wittner '34

Joseph G. Wortley, Jr.
Joseph G. Wortley '37

Stephen G. Zanarini
Gene A. Zanarini '35
Mary Hanning Zanarini '36

The Congo Crisis

by GEORGE S. FRANKE '56

ABOUT THE AUTHOR—This story was written by George Franke at the request of the editors after we had read with interest the story titled "From Chaos of the Congo White Men Flee in Terror" which appeared in the August 1, 1960 edition of LIFE MAGAZINE. Because of Mr. Franke's work in the Congo, we believe that Bucknell Alumni might gain some insight into the Congo crisis through the eye of an alumnus who has witnessed the recent upheaval.

Mr. Franke, a January graduate with the Class of 1957, considers himself a member of the Class of 1956. He graduated from Bucknell with a Bachelor of Science in Electrical Engineering. Following his graduation, he accepted a three-year appointment to use his engineering skills in mission work and for the last three years has been engaged in maintenance and repair of equipment for the American Baptist Foreign Missionary Society in the Congo.

A recent letter received in the alumni office indicates that he will return to the United States on or about October 17 beginning a regular furlough. Bucknellians who want to get in touch with him may write to him at 90 Redwood Road, Rochester 15, New York.

ON June 30, 1960, Belgian Congo, which had, perhaps the most enlightened colonial program, came to an end. The new Republique du Congo was in a state of virtual collapse a week later. Americans and Europeans fled for their lives. Only the intervention of United Nations troops has maintained order in anarchy. Today, an uneasy calm prevails. Outwardly, business goes on as usual. Virtually all foreigners, however, remain intimately concerned with the day-to-day political kaleidoscope.

The Belgian administration of Congo over the last ten years has been a serious attempt to build a sound basis for democracy. Anything can be condemned in retrospect, however, at the time various administrative decisions were made they seemed to be for the best interests of the Congolese people. Employers were required to provide free medical care for all their employees and their families. Laborers were protected by minimum wage laws scaled according to family size and by a pension or social security system. Since democracy requires an informed populous, a plan of mass education was instituted. To give a moral foundation, this program was operated through the Christian missions. Since 1948, both Protestant and Roman Catholic missions have been reimbursed for the cost of most of their school programs. The results of this are obvious: more than fifty percent of the population can read and write. Promising students were encouraged to go into teaching by salaries equal to or higher than their counterparts in Belgium. The government administrator himself was typical of Belgium's best.

1

George S. Franke '56

In the light of increasing demands for immediate independence, the Belgian government decided that it was better to get out while friendly relationships could still be maintained. To this end a conference of about 100 Congolese leaders took place in Brussels early this year. Lawyers were appointed to advise the various factions. A system of government was drawn up. June 30 was set for Independence Day celebrations.

This meant stopping Belgium's carefully planned program ten years before its anticipated conclusion. To fill the gap, hundreds of Congolese were flown to Brussels for accelerated courses while many others were taken into confidence in the various government departments.

Elections were arranged and, in an inconceivably short time, the new government was organized. Parliament convened about two weeks before Independence Day and the prime minister and his cabinet were chosen just in time to have their names printed on the program.

In the Independence Day speeches, Prime Minister Lumumba took his turn to air all his grievances with Belgium. This was the first shock to the many Belgians who, at the request of the same Congolese government, had agreed to stay at their various posts. Belgian government officials in the Congo had been ordered to stay at work until their Congolese replacements arrived. Belgian army officers had been asked to continue training the 20,000 man Force Publique.

The four-day holiday was enjoyed by all. Salaries had been ordered paid in advance and special government funds were released to make the celebration a joy to all. The Republique du Congo—not to be confused with its neighbor to the north, the former French colony bearing the same name—was born.

Like a hangover, on July 6, three days after the celebrations ended, the country was launched into chaos. Some 45 miles from our mission station at Sona Bata, the Congolese army was reported in mutiny.

Toward the middle of the afternoon a jeep load of fully armed Congolese soldiers drove up in front of my house. I went out to greet them only to find that they spoke a language which I do not understand. I called one of my apprentices who undertook to translate for me. The soldiers it seemed, were looking for firearms. When they were told that we did not have any, they seemed satisfied.

THE BUCKNELL ALUMNUS

By July 8, we realized that the situation was grave. The European nuns at a near-by convent had been raped during the night. We received a letter from our headquarters in Leopoldville where we were not allowed to have a radio transmitter. We were told to judge the local situation for ourselves. I transmitted this message to all of our stations. Furthermore, I arranged for more frequent radio communication with our four other stations equipped with radio transmitters.

That evening four of our single women (missionaries) arrived from Kimpese having passed by the mutinous army camp. They had had no reason to believe that everything was not normal. Their report reassured us. On July 10 we went to Leopoldville expecting to do some shopping.

I did a little shopping on the morning of the thirteenth and ended up at our Leopoldville mission compound about midnight. All of the local Protestant missionaries had gathered there. We were just erecting a new 50-star United States flag when we noticed several truck loads of Belgian soldiers arriving on the near-by highway. We telephoned the alarm to the U. S. Embassy downtown and waited for the battle to begin.

The next morning we awoke to find the city in the hands of the Belgian army. Hardly a shot had been fired. I went to the railroad station to see if a train would be leaving for Kinshasa. When I found the train would not be running, I returned to the mission compound and heard the news.

Our station at Sona Mpangu had been attacked by Congolese soldiers. Women had been raped; men had been severely beaten. A U. S. Air Force helicopter which had arrived in Brazzaville was dispatched immediately. All of our missionaries were ordered to evacuate. In Leopoldville our mission secretary, treasurer and I remained. We set up camp in a small room at the U. S. Information Service adjoining the Embassy.

The next day I arrived in Brazzaville to help guide the rescue aircraft. American and British missionaries were being brought in from our lower Congo stations.

On July 16, I went with a Navy DC-3 first to Masi-Manimba which we planned to make as a base for the evacuation of our mission stations to the east of Leopoldville. We talked to the local Congolese official and his advisors (possibly communists). We were told that we could land but that they would physically prevent us from taking any missionaries away. We went on to Kitwit which we found in Belgian control. We chose this as an evacuation base.

On the return trip we carried an interesting assortment of Belgian refugees. One was the banker with all of the bank's money in two large trunks.

Three helicopters were dispatched to Boko on July 17. I guided one of them. Along the way we seemed to be going in the wrong direction. Eventually we were lost and had to stop at a village and ask directions. When we arrived at Boko the pilots decided that their compass was defective. Nineteen adults and twelve children were evacuated.

Upon our arrival at Brazzaville a buffet lunch was provided by the U. S. Consulate. That evening the group was engulfed by a giant C-124 globemaster and was homeward bound.

The following day one helicopter started out to evacuate our Vanga station. At about 3:00 a. m. we were turned back by fog. We started out again at 10:00 a. m. and found the weather satisfactory.

About two-thirds of the outbound trip was complete when a warning light blinked on indicating engine trouble. We stopped to investigate and were able to continue after about 45 minutes. The crowd of about fifty villagers that gathered was curious but friendly.

We made two trips from Vanga to Kitwit and the group was flown in the waiting DC-3 to Brazzaville and another globemaster took them to the United States.

Of sixty-eight missionaries and their children who were "on the field," only four men remained. Since then four others have returned. At this writing plans are being made for the return of several more.

In the time that has passed since the evacuation, the presence of the United Nations troops has had a sobering influence on the ever-fluctuating political scene. About 25 percent of the Protestant missionaries remain although a few are returning from time to time. In Leopoldville, the foreign civilian population is about 15 percent of the January 1960 level. Many business establishments, however, appear to be operating normally.

Our mission secretary and treasurer have been to all of the stations. I have made one trip into the bush. We were stopped by Congolese soldiers on two occasions. The first time we happened to know one of the soldiers' brother-in-law, and we were sent on with best wishes. Our second meeting with soldiers was more inconvenient since we were thoroughly searched at gun point.

I cannot feel that our own work has suffered to any great extent. The churches, schools and hospitals are not functioning exactly as they were when we left them, but they are functioning. Many problems to which both missionaries and Congolese leaders were formerly blind are now readily apparent. A great opportunity presents itself: we can shed the obsolete traditions which have entangled us and attack anew the forces of evil, ignorance and disease which have made themselves so conspicuous during the past few months.

Terence T. Spencer, Courtesy of LIFE © 1960 TIME INC.

In the August 1 issue of LIFE MAGAZINE on page 10, the above picture appeared in which author Franke (left) and Lt. George Meyers walk warily away from natives toward a rescue helicopter. It may be noted that both George Franke and Lt. Meyers sprinted the last 100 yards barely escaping the wrath of the native population.

Thomas B. Quigley, Jr. '63, BUCKNELLIAN staff photographer

Behind excellent blocking, junior "Ash" Ditka, number 24, broke loose for a long gain during the 41-0 upset victory over the Bisons of Buffalo.

Bisons Impress Early

Bisons Lose Thriller to Rutgers; Great Show Against Buffalo; Terhes Labeled as All-American.

by

BRADLEY N. TUFTS
Sports Information Director

ALTHOUGH the 2-2 record sported by Bucknell's football team at the time of this writing might sound mediocre, there has been nothing in the first four games to indicate that the play of Coach Bob Odell's team has been mediocre.

Funny things happen in the game of football and strangely enough the performance by the Bisons that stands head and shoulders above the rest was the 23-19 defeat suffered at the hands of Rutgers in what will go down in the annals of Bucknell football as one of the finest performances by a Bison team.

Saturday, October 15 in New Brunswick, New Jersey, started out as a typical football day except for the fact that the weather was in the 80's. When the afternoon was over some 13,000 fans who were in attendance at the Bucknell-Rutgers game knew they had seen a battle the likes of which left everyone gasping for breath.

Terhes Breaks Record

This was the finest performance by the Bisons in several years. All-American quarterback candidate Paul Terhes, the brilliant senior passer from Milmont Park, Pa., completed 21 of 29 passes for 215 yards, a new Bucknell record for a single game, and threw three touchdown passes. His yardage mark eclipsed the 199 yards rung up by Tommy Dean against Colgate in 1951.

A star of the future, sophomore end Dick Tyrrell of Woodbridge, N. J. snagged eight Terhes' aerials against the Scarlet Knights to tie a school game mark established by Jack Eachus against Delaware last year.

There were other offensive standouts on the hot, sunny afternoon. Ash Ditka caught three passes for 54 yards,

Dick Johnson, a sophomore halfback from Grosse Pointe Mich. and another lad to watch in coming years, hauled two for 58 yards and tallied the touchdown that sent the Bisons ahead 19-15 with three minutes remaining in the game, and Ron Maslanik snared three passes for 28 yards and a touchdown.

Thomas B. Quigley, Jr. '63, BUCKNELLIAN staff photographer

An assist from junior "Ash" Ditka (on ground) and junior "Tommy" Alexander, number 60, frees senior quarterback "Turk" Terhes as he rolled out to his right for a substantial gain during the Buffalo game.

THE BUCKNELL ALUMNUS

ine Outstanding

If there was anything as spectacular as Terhes passing, was the tremendous job done by the Bison defense. Entering the game Rutgers was ranked ninth in the country in rushing offense with an average of over 264 yards per game. The Bison forwards knocked this mark for a loop, holding the vaunted Scarlet running attack to a mere 77 yards on the ground.

This was a game that was fought to the finish. Rutgers scored first and then Terhes pitched to Maslanik to make the count 8-6 after a try for a two-point conversion missed. The Scarlet Knights scored again to take a 15-6 lead at alltime.

The Bisons completely dominated the play in the second half. With a fourth and two situation on the Rutgers' four-yard line midway through the third period, Terhes rolled out to his left and hit Dick Tyrrell in the end zone. Maslanik kicked the point to make it 15-13.

With three minutes remaining in the game Terhes connected on a 40-yard scoring play with halfback Dick Johnson to take the lead for the first time and for a few brief moments victory seemed within our grasp.

The jubilation was short lived, however, as the Scarlet Knights stormed back to go ahead again with a minute and half remaining in the game. A desperate last ditch drive carried to the Rutgers' 36-yard line before time ran out.

Action in Other Three

There was also plenty of excitement and action in the three contests preceding the battle in New Brunswick. In the season opener, the Bisons staged a fourth quarter rally of their own to post a 14-7 victory over a stubborn Gettysburg eleven.

Although far from being as sharp as they were against Rutgers, the Bison backs and linemen kept the Bullets busy for most of the game, but were unable to push over the second touchdown until the final two minutes of the game.

Standouts in the opener were Dick Johnson who caught a 41-yard pass from senior quarterback Rick Elliott for a touchdown and kicked the extra point in his first varsity game, Ray Cosgrove, a junior halfback from Pittsburgh, who was voted the outstanding back in the game and scored the winning touchdown, and Ron Maslanik, a junior end from Saxton, Pa., who was voted the outstanding player in defense by Coach Bob Odell and his staff.

A week later the team traveled to Ithaca, N. Y. to play Cornell in what turned out to be another real thriller. Bucknell opened the scoring when Terhes led a 43-yard drive and then scored himself on a two-yard plunge. Maslanik kicked the extra point.

The Big Red struck back immediately, scoring on fourth down after a gallant Bison goal line stand, and then added a two-point conversion. The Bisons threatened twice after third quarter Big Red touchdown, but penalties and several bad breaks ruined each attempt.

Terhes again put on a fine performance as he completed 11 of 29 passes and was voted the outstanding back in this game.

Buffalo Bombed

The mightiest offensive demonstration of the young season was put on against Buffalo on October 8 in the Bisons' home opener. After going off the field with a slim 7-0 alltime lead, Terhes, Elliott and Doug Williams, a sophomore quarterback from Montclair, N. J., guided the team to five second half touchdowns and a 41-0 victory.

NOVEMBER 1960

Charles W. Snodgrass, CORNELL DAILY SUN

"Where's that football?" asks senior captain "Mickey" Melberger as "Turk" Terhes' pass falls incomplete during the Cornell game at Ithaca, N. Y. on October 1.

Six different players broke into the scoring column. Terhes scored himself and passed to Dick Tyrrell for a touchdown. Elliott, playing one of the best games of his career, ran for one tally and passed to Walt Mayer, a junior end from Philadelphia, for another. Fullback Ken Twiford went up the middle on a 15-yard draw play for a score, and Williams climaxed the final scoring march by passing to halfback Marty Pope for a touchdown.

It was a great day for football and the Bisons gave a good indication of what was to come against Rutgers. Odell employed every player he had available and many sophomores gave a good account of themselves in varsity action.

The backs and the ends make most of the headlines from week to week, but the play of the Bison interior line this fall has been tremendous. Tackles Kirk Foulke, Dick Orłowski, Denny Morgan and Tom Noteware, guards Tom Alexander, John Aucker, John Sommers, Chuck Johnson and Bob Williams and centers Dean Stump and George Rieu, both sophomores, have been outstanding.

The entire team received a big jolt when junior guard Don Chaump, certainly one of the best up front, broke his leg in the Gettysburg opener and was lost for the remainder of the season.

A Look at Soccer

Elsewhere on the fall athletic scene the varsity and freshman soccer teams and the freshman football team are struggling to reach or get over the .500 mark.

Coach Hank Peters' soccer team held a 2-2 record prior to a Homecoming Weekend clash with Gettysburg. The booters opened the campaign with a thrilling 6-2 victory over Penn State, the second in a row over the Nittany Lions.

Co-Captains Lyman Ott and Bob Schad paced the victory. Ott, who scored ten goals last year, hit the nets twice and Schad hit once from his halfback position.

(Continued on Page 16)

THE CLUB PROGRAM

Freshman Receptions Continue

To Be the Most Popular

Fall Club Activity

PRIOR to opening of school approximately 58% of the entering freshman class of 761 students had the opportunity, through freshman receptions, to learn from Alumni and undergraduates what they might expect from life on the Bucknell campus. A total of 13 alumni clubs representing 39% of the alumni body held 14 receptions. Clubs participating in this popular fall activity included: Harrisburg, Johnstown, Lancaster, Long Island, Northern New Jersey, Ocean-Monmouth, Philadelphia, Pittsburgh, Reading, Rochester, Union County, Washington, and York. The Bucknell Alumni Club of Pittsburgh held two receptions—a smoker for freshman men and their fathers and a tea for freshman women and their mothers.

Members of the faculty, staff, and undergraduate body along with Alumni combined to give the freshmen and their parents a firsthand account of Bucknell today and a glimpse of Bucknell through the years. Staff and faculty members who spoke at these meetings included: Dr. Wesley N. Haines, director of development; Benton A. Kribbs, MS '59, assistant professor of physical education and assistant director of athletics; John H. Shott '22, alumni secretary; Fitz R. Walling '46, director of admissions; and John F. Zeller, III '41, vice president—business and finance.

The following is a brief report of these meetings:

Harrisburg

On September 8 the Bucknell Alumni Club of Harrisburg held their annual freshman reception, a catered picnic supper, at Reservoir Park in Harrisburg. A total of 44 Alumni, parents, freshmen, and guests attended the affair and heard Dr. Wesley N. Haines, director of development at Bucknell, speak about the many improvements on the Bucknell campus. From senior students Mary Grossman '61, and Herbert K. Hoffmeier '61, the present freshmen learned about the Bucknell way of life.

Eleven entering freshmen and their parents from the Harrisburg area were present.

On September 24 the Harrisburg Club was host to Bucknellians and their guests at a pre-game roundup at the Cocoa Inn in Hershey.

Ithaca

Almost 100 Bucknellians and their guests enjoyed the hospitality of a Bison Roundup at the Big Red Barn on the Cornell campus at the Cornell-Bucknell football game on October 1. The splendid facilities of the Big Red Barn were made available to Bucknellians through the kindness of Hunt Bradley, alumni secretary, at Cornell. Arrangements for the gathering were handled by Mr. D. Aldus Fogelsanger '27, president of the Bucknell Alumni Club of Ithaca. Classes represented ranged from 1905 to 1960 and visitors to the Big Red Barn came from Buffalo, New York City, Long Island, Trenton, Northern New Jersey, Wilkes-Barre, Philadelphia, Pittsburgh and Ohio.

Johnstown

A total of 27 students, friends and Alumni were served cake and coffee at an informal gathering on September 7 at the home of Dr. William Davison '48. Over the coffee cups Christine Rishell '62, Nancy Nycum '63, and Ruth Jones '60, gave the incoming freshmen and Alumni first-hand accounts of fashions and activities that Bucknell is featuring this year.

This was the second annual Bucknell freshman reception held by the Bucknell Alumni Club of Johnstown and Dorothy Ryan Glass '54, secretary, reports that the affair was a grand success and will be continued.

Lancaster

The Bucknell Alumni Club of Lancaster reports a very successful freshman reception held on September 9, at the Elks Club in Lancaster.

The reception, a dinner meeting, was attended by 36 alumni, friends and parents which included four entering freshmen and their parents, several undergraduates and Mr. John F. Zeller, III '41, vice president—business and finance, at Bucknell.

Undergraduates participating in round-table discussions following a talk by Mr. Zeller were: David Scott '63, Judith Anderson '61, Betty Burrows '62, and Barbara Rummel '63. After the student panel acquainted the freshmen with the "dos and don'ts" while at Bucknell, a question and answer period was held.

Don Betty '51, served as program chairman for the affair.

Long Island

On September 12th at 8:30 P. M. the Bucknell Club of Long Island held annual Freshman Reception at the Community Church in East Williston, L. In spite of the presence of an uninvited and unwanted guest, Hurricane Don which swept through the area less than four hours previous to the meeting, the reception was a great success.

The meeting was called to order 8:40, precisely the time electricity was restored to the church. Honored guests, their parents and friends, local Alumni and, of course, our special guest from Bucknell, Mr. Fitz R. Walling '46, director of admissions, were welcomed by Leonard S. Von Heill '52, president of the club.

The first order of business was the election of officers. The Alumni agreed with the decision of the nominating committee, headed by Gene Long '29, and re-elected our present officers for the new year. They are Leonard S. Von Heill '52, president; Dick Klemm '55, vice president; Barbara Josenhans '55, secretary; and Mike Harris '50, treasurer.

At the reception our scholarship committee headed by Dick Klemm '53 presented a $100 scholarship gift to George R. Dirkes '64. An announcement also was made that the Christy Mathewson Sports Award presented annually to an outstanding athlete in the Long Island area was awarded to Anthony Codoluto of Elmont. The Long Island Club each year gives a scholarship to a boy or girl from Long Island who will attend Bucknell as a freshman, but this restriction does not apply to the Christy Mathewson Sports Award.

Following an address by Fitz R. Walling in which he welcomed the freshmen to Bucknell and explained to them what Bucknell expects of them as students and individuals, Carol Patterson '61 and Al Jackson '59 led panel discussions. Undergraduates represented on the panel were: Janet Comer '61, Susan Aymar '63, Evelyn Wiley '63, Nancy Schumann '62, Leo Kanawada '63, John Gaynor '62, Ken Brust '62, and Jim Sayre '62. After singing Bucknell songs the meeting was adjourned.

THE BUCKNELL ALUMNI

Northern New Jersey

The sixth annual freshman reception sponsored by the Bucknell Alumni Club of Northern New Jersey was held on September 11 at the Watchung Presbyterian Church in Bloomfield, N. J. Despite very inclement weather approximately 225 Alumni, parents and entering freshmen attended.

Round-table panel discussions were led by Jane Foster Neuviller '49, and Daniel A. Rothermel '38. This part of the program was so successful that Drew Mathieson '50, chairman for the affair, indicates that both Jane and Dan will be asked to repeat their performances next year.

A crowd of about 80 Alumni, some parents and several prospective students enjoyed the first showing of the new Bucknell film, "Presenting Bucknell," at the fall dinner held on September 23 at Villa Esposito at Paramus, N. J. Robert D. Hunter '49, club president, conducted a short business meeting at which Robert E. List '48, was elected president-elect of the club. Horace J. Sheppard, Sr. '06, and Cameron A. Butt '10, were presented with honorary membership cards in the club by reason of their having reached "Emeritus" status. Other eligible members will receive their honorary cards at a later date. Bob Hunter announced the scheduled events: a Bucknell Roundup following the Rutgers game on October 15, a concert by the Bucknell University Men's Glee Club on January 27, 1961, an informal hobo dance in April and the annual family picnic at Laguna Beach Club in July.

Charles S. Gwynne '36, provided dinner music at the beginning of the meal and Horace J. Sheppard, Sr. '06, pronounced the invocation. The film was introduced by Buck Shott '22, alumni secretary, who also extended greetings from the campus and expressed thanks to the Alumni who have assisted in the Dual Development Campaign in Northern New Jersey. Following the film, Buck Shott conducted a short question and answer program.

Monmouth-Ocean

The annual reception for freshmen and their parents was held on Sunday, September 11, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Strickland '46, Red Bank. A delightful buffet lunch prepared by the hosts was enjoyed by the 30 Alumni, freshmen, and parents who attended to honor the 11 young men and women who entered Bucknell this year. Four present students at the University, Andrea Becker '63, Point Pleasant Beach; Pat Gail '63, Freehold; Toni Smith '63, River Lanza; and Bill Davidson '63, Red Bank, conducted an informal panel in the playroom. Following the get-acquainted hour for the freshmen, Isadore I. Zlotkin, Esq. '34, president of the Bucknell Alumni Club, November 1960

Club of Monmouth-Ocean Counties presented Buck Shott '22, alumni secretary, who outlined the procedures used in selecting students for admission and described the educational characteristics of the members of the Class of 1964. Dr. and Mrs. George S. Stevenson, members of the Classes of 1915 and 1916 respectively, honored the group with their presence and entertained by telling anecdotes of campus happenings and described student activities of 40 years ago.

Philadelphia

More than 75 students from the Philadelphia-South Jersey area who entered Bucknell this fall as freshmen were guests of honor at a reception and swimming party given by the Bucknell Alumni Club of Philadelphia on August 22.

The pre-college gathering, to which parents of the prospective freshmen were invited, was held at the Eastern Baptist Theological Seminary. Robert H. Taylor '48, president of the Philadelphia Alumni Club, hosted the gathering. "Buck" Shott '22, alumni secretary at Bucknell, was the speaker for the evening and Craig Hall '51, led the group in a medley of Bucknell songs.

Mrs. Helen Morgan Griffith '37, was moderator for a panel of Bucknell coeds consisting of Lois Lenhard '60, Joan Fetter '62, Mary Hertrich '62, Bonnie McLaren '61, and Beulah Garrison '63. Robert W. Dill '27, president of The General Alumni Association, moderated the men's student panel consisting of undergraduates Bruce Hudson '63, Thomas Bauer '61, Terry Thesieres '60, and John Vidinghoff '63.

Pittsburgh

On August 26 a Smoker was held at the University Club for freshman men and their fathers. Attending the meeting were twenty-five out of the forty-five freshmen from the Western Pennsylvania area.

Trustees John Shirley '09, Evan Ingram '20, and Andrew Mathieson '20 were in attendance as were officers of the club. Edward Myers '34 was one of the speakers as was Dr. Shirley and Mr. Ingram. A special guest of honor from the campus was Ben Kribbs, MS '59, assistant director of athletics and head basketball coach. Mr. Kribbs spoke about the athletic program on the campus. John C. Hassenplug, a member of the senior class, commented on campus life and conducted a question and answer session. The meeting was a tremendous success with sixty-five in attendance, and it is hoped that this Smoker will become an annual affair.

On September 10, Bucknell Alumnae in the Bucknell Alumni Club of Pittsburgh held a tea for entering freshman women and their mothers from the Western Pennsylvania area. The tea, held at the Longue Vue Country Club, was attended by 51 women including 11 undergraduates who participated in informal round-table discussions. Undergraduates participating were: Nancy Borger '63; Joan Berlin '61; Linda Davies '63; Mary Ann DeWaters '61; Nancy Diamond '61; Judy Halter '62; Nancy Henderson '63; Susan Kilgore '61; Marilyn Morgan '61; Susan Robertson '63; and Edith Sigmann '62.

A part of the program included the singing of a number of Bucknell songs which the Alumnae and undergraduates enjoyed as much as the freshman girls who were singing them for the first time. A lion's share of the credit for the grand success of this gathering belongs to Mrs. Ellen Mackie Pigman '55, chairman, and her committee consisting of Mrs. Sally Deitrich Bailey '54, Mrs. Eloise Triggs Ruffing '51, and Mrs. Dorothy Lemon Bailey '29.

Reading

Eleven freshmen entering Bucknell in September along with their parents were entertained at a freshman reception held on September 9 at the Wyomissing Club in Reading. William Pfum '50, president of the Bucknell Alumni Club of Reading, presided at the gathering and introduced John H. Shott '22, alumni secretary, who gave the background and training of the Bucknell Class of 1964. A student panel described various phases of campus life. The student speakers were Marge Amendola '62, Reading; Linda Fisher '62, Wyomissing; Louise Benfield '62, Boyertown; and Larry Rightmyer '59, Sinking Spring.

Rochester

Off to a fine start for the present club year, the Bucknell Alumni Club of Rochester held a freshman reception on September 11 at the home of Mrs. Margaret Cornely Schmitt '33.

Approximately 80 freshmen, their parents, Alumni and undergraduates attended and a report from Warren R. Lewis '42, club president, indicates that this particular club activity will certainly become an annual affair.

Washington, D. C.

The Bucknell Alumni Club of Washington, D. C. held a freshman reception for twenty entering freshmen and their parents on September 13. A total of seventy people attended this ever popular club affair held in the Evening Star Reception Room.

Freshmen panel discussions were featured on the program, and an election of officers was held. The new officers for the Bucknell Alumni Club of Washington, D. C. are Rick Chiriaco '56, presi-

(Continued on Page 17)

FOR THE RECORD

A review of selected items of interest concerning people, events and important developments at Bucknell University.

Faculty

Ten members of the Bucknell University faculty received promotions for the 1960-61 academic year.

Six assistant professors were promoted to the rank of associate professor. They are: J. Ben Austin, mechanical engineering; Dr. Robert E. Butts, philosophy; Donald G. Ohl MS'47, mathematics; Dr. Ralph Rees '39, English; Darina J. Tuhy '41, music; Dr. Raymond H. Young '43, electrical engineering.

Promoted to the rank of assistant professor were: David E. Horlacher, economics; Dr. Elizabeth T. McLaughlin, English; Dr. Hans Veening, chemistry; and William J. Wrabley '51, physical education.

Except for Mr. Horlacher, who previously served as lecturer, all of the new assistant professors formerly held the rank of instructor.

Twenty-two new faculty members were on hand for the formal opening of Bucknell's fall semester on September 21. Representing the newest members of the University's teaching staff were two associate professors, eleven assistant professors, and nine instructors.

Newly appointed associate professors for the 1960-61 academic year are Dr. Mills F. Edgerton, Jr., and Dr. Richard C. Teevan. Dr. Edgerton, who previously served as a language instructor at Rutgers University, also assumes the duties of chairman of the Department of Spanish, a position left vacant by the retirement of Professor Frank A. Sprague last spring. Dr. Teevan, formerly a member of the faculty at Smith College, has joined the University's Department of Psychology.

Assistant professors named to Bucknell's teaching staff for the coming year, their particular field of instruction, and the name of the college where they either taught or earned their doctor's degrees last season, are as follows: Dr. Stephen C. Condon, French, Lehigh University; Dr. Carl W. Helms, biology, Harvard; Dr. Arthur D. Larson, economics and business administration, Cornell; Dr. Charles P. Thornton, geology and geography, Pennsylvania State University; Dr. John T. Webster, mathematics, North Carolina State; Dr. James K. Hummer, chemistry, Clark University; Dr. David J. Lu, history, Columbia University; and Dr. Douglas K. Candland, psychology, University of Virginia.

Assigned to Bucknell with the academic rank of assistant professor of military science are four officers of the U. S. Army who will be primarily concerned with the continued success of the University's basic and advanced R. O. T. C. programs. They are Capt. Carl L. Espy, Jr. of Columbus, Georgia and Auburn University of Alabama; Capt. Ernest E. Karlson of Duluth, Minnesota and the University of Minnesota; and 1st Lt. Richard M. Grabow of Brooklyn, New York and the Polytechnic Institute of Brooklyn.

The nine new instructors, their departments, and their college affiliations last spring while teaching or undertaking graduate studies are, respectively: Anthony C. Gosse, English, Brown University; Christopher Newton, English, University of Illinois; David Chaplin, sociology, University of Delaware; Miss Elizabeth N. King, biology, Duke University; Dr. William R. Stegner, religion, Drew University; Edward E. Podolnick, psychology, University of Delaware; Bruce J. S. Freed MS'57, mathematics, Pennsylvania State University.

Also, Miss Leah Cutler, women's physical education, who was formerly with the G. A. R. Memorial High School in Wilkes-Barre, and Paul Benson '34 of Lewisburg join the Bucknell family. Mr. Benson is rejoining Bucknell's mathematics department after 14 years in the business field.

Edward Staiano, a graduate of Bucknell with the Class of 1958, served part of last year as a graduate assistant in the Department of Mechanical Engineering. Upon completion of his graduate work and the degree of Master of Science in Mechanical Engineering, he became an instructor in the Department of Mechanical Engineering. Mr. Staiano continues in this capacity this year.

Chairmen of the instructional departments for the academic year 1960-61 will be as follows: Blanchard S. Gummo '25, art; Roy C. Tasker, biology; Lester Kieft, chemistry; Harold W. Miller, classics; Russell A. Headley, economics, commerce and finance; J. Charles Jones '42, education; Hugh D. Sims, chemical engineering; D. M. Griffith '23, civil engineering; J. B. Miller '26, electrical engineering; Charles H. Coder MS'47, mechanical engineering; C. William Smith, English; Douglas H. Orr, French; Richard P. Nickelsen, geology and geography; Adolf I. Frantz, German; J. Orin Oliphant, history; William I. Miller '26, mathematics; Col. Lewis T. Martin MS'60, military science and tactics; William D. McRae, music; Preston Warren, philosophy; Albert E. Humphreys, men's physical education; Margaret L. Bryan, women's physical education; Robert A. Artman, physics; James A. Gathings, political science; Wendell I. Smith '46, psychology; Margaret C. Ebersole, religion; Ralph Spielman, sociology; Mills F. Edgerton, Jr., Spanish.

Dr. Manning A. Smith, professor of chemistry, has been granted a sabbatical leave for the 1960-61 academic year to engage in research in Sweden under fellowship from the National Science Foundation. Sabbatical leaves for the second semester were also granted to three other faculty members: Dr. Glad C. Cook, professor of French; Dr. Harold E. Cook, professor of music; and Albert E. Humphreys, director of athletics and physical education.

Leaves of absence have been approved for five members of the faculty who are planning to work on their doctorate: Boyd L. Earl MS'58, mathematics; Joseph V. Guerinot, English; Emil J. Polak '51, mathematics and astronomy; Harvey M. Powers, Jr., English; and George Theokritoff, geography and geology. Mr. Polak and Mr. Theokritoff were on leave from the University during the past year.

Leaves of absence were also granted to Dr. Roger H. Bowman MS'48, associate professor of physiology, and Dr. Harry R. Garvin, associate professor of English. Dr. Bowman will be on leave for a two-year period to engage in research on behalf of the Heart Fund. Dr. Garvin has accepted a Fulbright Lectureship in Italy for the next year.

Staff

Miss Dorothy G. Kranich of Glen Cove, N. Y., has been appointed assistant dean of women.

A graduate of Gettysburg and Ohio State University, Miss Kranich will serve as director of Harris Hall and as advisor to sophomore women. She will coordinate the in-service training program for head residents.

On May 1, 1959, Homer W. Wieder, Jr. '58, of Plainfield, N. J., joined the Bucknell staff as assistant director of admissions and served in that capacity for one year. During the past summer, Mr. Wieder was appointed assistant director of development and is presently working on behalf of the Dual Development Fund campaign.

Mr. Wieder, a former basketball star at Bucknell and the recipient of numerous student honors, served as a lieutenant in the U. S. Army prior to beginning his duties at Bucknell. "Skip" is married to the former Claire Halline '58.

Loren L. Bly '60, who received the Bachelor of Science degree in education from Bucknell in June, has been appointed assistant director of admissions. Mr. Bly, a native of Cuba, N. Y., took an active part in campus activities as an undergraduate. He served as vice president and secretary-treasurer of Kappa Phi Kappa, national educational fraternity for men, and was a member of the Student-Faculty Congress.

He was a freshman men's counselor, and he is a member of Delta Upsilon, social fraternity.

Mr. John S. Carhart of Riverton, N. J., a graduate of Oberlin College and Temple University, has been named to the position of assistant director of admissions. Mr. Carhart previously served as assistant dean of men at Bucknell from 1955 through 1959. He returned to Bucknell after a year's leave of absence in which he studied for his doctor's degree at the University of Pennsylvania.

University Affairs

The first student to study at Pennsylvania State University under the new cooperative Graduate Housefellow Program, developed by Bucknell University and Penn State, is John F. Bernacki, of Euclid, Ohio.

Under a Bucknell grant, Mr. Bernacki will study for his master's degree at Penn State during the summer months and commute once a week for classes during the regular academic year while serving as a graduate housefellow on the Bucknell campus. Mr. Bernacki will take nine credits of his degree work at Bucknell. Upon completing the cooperative program, he will receive his master's degree from Penn State.

NOVEMBER 1960

The program was planned by Charles A. Meyu, dean of men at Bucknell, and A. M. Wellington, professor of counselor education at Penn State. Bucknell will provide the educational experience and Penn State the professional courses.

In order that the religious traditions of Bucknell may be enriched, the University has discontinued the compulsory weekly chapel service and has inaugurated a volunteer University Chapel Service. Under this new program, chapel services will be held on Sunday mornings in Coleman Hall at 11:00 A. M. The guest preachers for the chapel services will be men of considerable distinction. Some are clergymen and others are educators, all of whom have made outstanding contributions to the thought and life of American Protestantism. Among the guest preachers who will speak in chapel for the remainder of the academic year 1960-61 are:

November 6—Dr. Clarence W. Cranford '29, Pastor, Calvary Baptist Church, Washington, D. C.

November 13—Dr. Schubert M. Ogden, Assistant Professor of Philosophical Theology, Perkins School of Theology, Southern Methodist University

November 20—Dr. Mark C. Ebersole, Chaplain, Bucknell University

December 4—Dr. Will Herberg, Professor of Judiac Studies and Social Philosophy, Drew University

December 11—Prof. William D. McRae, Jr., Director of Bucknell University Chapel Choir

January 8—Mr. E. William Muehl, Professor of Practical Theology, Yale University Divinity School

January 15—Dr. James A. Martin, Jr., Professor of Religion in Higher Education, Union Theological Seminary

February 5—Dr. Merle M. Odgers, President, Bucknell University

February 12—Dr. Herbert Gezork H'56, President, Andover Newton Theological School

February 19—The Rev. Albert Fay Hill, Pastor, First Presbyterian Church, Elizabeth, N. J.

February 26—Dr. Gene E. Bartlett, President, Colgate-Rochester Divinity School

March 5—The Rev. Albert T. Mollegen, Professor of New Testament Language and Literature, Virginia Theological Seminary

March 12—Dr. Wilbourn E. Saunders, Former President, Colgate-Rochester Divinity School

March 19—Dr. Samuel D. Proctor, President, North Carolina Agricultural and Technical College

April 9—Dr. David A. MacLennan, Pastor, Brick Presbyterian Church, Rochester, N. Y.

April 16—Dr. Douglas E. Sturm, Assistant Professor of Religion, Bucknell University

April 23—Dr. Samuel C. Chu, Associate Professor of History, University of Pittsburgh

April 30—Dr. Robert W. Spike, General Secretary for Program, The Board of Home Missions of the Congregational and Christian Churches

May 7—Dr. Nels F. S. Ferre, Abbot, Professor of Christian Theology, Andover Newton Theological School

May 14—The Rev. John R. Fry, Editor, Presbyterian Life

May 21—Dr. Robert H. Beaven, Chaplain, The University of Rochester.

It is hoped that this voluntary chapel service will provide a situation where the Christian faith can be proclaimed with purity, and worship can be conducted with greater integrity.

Dr. Mark C. Ebersole, chairman of the Department of Religion and Chaplain for the University, has been named to succeed Dr. Frank C. Abbott as assistant dean of the University.

Dr. Ebersole's appointment will become effective February 1 when Dr. Abbott will leave Bucknell to assume a new administrative post as academic vice president of Montana State University.

Dr. Ebersole will be responsible for the administration of academic regulations and for the supervision of both

(Continued on Page 17)

Homer W. Wieder, Jr. '58

Loren L. Bly '60

Dr. Nels F. S. Ferre

Bucknell—Then and Now

In the eyes of a senior,

Bucknell University has expanded in three dimensions in the last four years

A STUDENT entering his senior year in college experiences unique and often very strange emotions or feelings as he stands in line at Davis Gymnasium to register for the fall semester of work for the last time, as he attends the Bucknell-Gettysburg football game as a student for the last time, as he watches a freshman class lay aside signs and dinks for the last time. This student often finds himself deep in thought, not only about his plans for the future which are very important to him, but also about changes in the University, both academic and physical, the development of his individual self as a result of the four years spent on a college campus, and the meaning of a college education to him. In this last year of writing the Student View column for THE BUCKNELL ALUMNUS I will be considering these three areas more closely, beginning this issue with changes in the University.

A Bucknellian from the Class of '57 returning to the Bucknell campus today for the first time since his graduation would be quite amazed by what he would see. The construction of Coleman Hall to the left added a third side (Vaughan Literature Building and Ellen Clarke Bertrand Library being the first and second sides) to a new academic quadrangle which will be in balance when the new Administrative Center is completed in the spring of 1961. A second floor has been added to the rear of Olin Science Building and several of the biology labs have been overhauled in Taylor Hall, not to mention the brand new interior face lifting in East College and in West College, which is now known as Kress Hall. Two fraternities have moved to the hill. Down the hill in the area of greater interest, perhaps, to the ladies, all three floors of Bucknell Cottage now have enclosed hallways joining with Larison so that the entire dormitory is now known as Larison Hall. Just this past summer, the fourth floor and basement of Harris Hall were remodeled to provide more dormitory space, and Larison and Harris Halls were also joined by hallways; however, each wing retains its original name.

What this returning Alumnus would not see in a quick tour of the campus is the remarkable rate of academic growth Bucknell University has enjoyed during the past four years, but he would soon sense a change if he were to attend classes for a short period of time. Several departments, including religion, chemistry, mathematics and biology, have revised their entire course of study. Many departments now offer an honors section in several of the required freshman and sophomore courses for advanced students. Not to be confused with these honors sections within individual departments is the Honors Program which offers weekly three-hour colloquia to a small number of the academically outstanding members of each class. This latter can be considered a major academic development for Bucknell and has met with a great deal of success and enthusiasm on the part of both the faculty and the students involved.

Many of the changes concerning the lives of the students outside the classroom provide just as significant an indication of an atmosphere more highly conducive to freedom of thought and conviction than prevailed four years ago. The women students reached a very important decision last year to replace a form of government based upon an honor system, which they no longer believed to be effective, with a form of self-government providing for imposed enforcement rather than enforcement on an individual basis. Two years ago, a group of concerned students instituted the Bucknell Student Forum and have been responsible for bringing to campus prominent Americans who have spoken on and debated such controversial issues as the Negro problem and communism. Chapel services, compulsory until this year, have been placed on a voluntary basis because it was felt that in a situation where people willingly assembled to worship God, the Christian faith can be proclaimed with purity, and worship can be conducted with integrity.

All of these changes point not only to an expanding University, one that is growing physically to meet the ever increasing problem of enrollment; they point not only to the University attempting to provide the finest equipment and conditions possible for college study; they show not only the University striving to provide the most thorough and efficient education possible for its students; but they also point to the University which is first seeking truth and which is leading the young men and women making up its student body in their own search for knowledge and truth.

These are the thoughts that occur to a senior and cause him to turn to an examination of himself in terms of the past four years as he realizes the progress of the University of which he is a part.

BUCKNELL DUAL DEVELOPMENT FUND

"SECOND VICTORY" WITHIN REACH—
HALF-WAY MARK TOWARD ADDITIONAL $350,000 PASSED

WITH a little less than $150,000 to be raised, Bucknell's first capital-gifts development effort in twelve years looks toward the full subscription of its $2,200,000 goal by the end of 1960.

The total $1,850,000 of the original goal, half for faculty salary endowment and half for building purposes, was reached in June, 1960. Since the endowment half was exceeded and the building half fell short, the additional $350,000 was added to the original goal to meet the building objective and to secure foundation grants tied to its full subscription by Alumni and other friends.

This picture shows the early construction on the new wing of the Vaughan Literature Building. The cornerstone was laid on Homecoming Day, October 22, 1960. In the background you can see the Vaughan Literature Building and the clock on the Ellen Clarke Bertrand Library.

NOVEMBER 1960

Campaigns in Club Areas

Alumni Club areas undertaking or planning campaigns in the drive toward the "second victory" include the Capital District, Buffalo, Triple Cities, Syracuse, and Elmira in New York State; Bridgeport, Boston, Hartford, New Haven, Pittsfield and Providence in New England; Sunbury, Wilkes-Barre, Bloomsburg-Berwick, York, Hazleton, Allentown, Lancaster, Reading, Altoona, Johnstown, and Chambersburg in Pennsylvania; and Baltimore, Chicago, Cincinnati, Cleveland, Detroit, Washington, D. C., Wilmington and Southern Delaware.

Areas where campaigns cannot be conducted are being reached by direct mail so that every living Alumnus will have an opportunity to participate.

Among the highest percentages of participation in the campaign thus far are the Rochester, N. Y., area, which reached 75% and the campus at Lewisburg where faculty and administrative personnel hit over 80%.

Pledges and Gifts Needed for Final Victory

Throughout the campaign, Alumni have been challenged to pledge over a three year period shares in various ranges:

$150	The basic "Loyalty Share"
151-299	The "Progress Share"
300-449	The "Sustaining Share"
450-749	The "Leadership Share"
750-999	The "Builder Share"
1,000-9,999	"Patron"
10,000 and over	"Founder"

Success in the final stretch will depend upon many pledges or gifts around the basic level, a good number in the middle range, and some "Patron" to "Founder" amounts.

MATCHING GIFT PROGRAMS OF BUSINESS AND INDUSTRY MULTIPLY

Bucknellians in Companies

With Programs Can Double Their Pledges

To the Dual Development Fund

IN the Fall of 1954, the General Electric Company added an imaginative new feature to its over-all program of aid-to-education that immediately caught the attention of colleges and corporations alike.

Since 1954, over 100 American and Canadian business firms have announced Corporate Alumnus Programs, following the concept of gift matching by companies of the contributions which their employees make annually to alma mater.

Not all of the Corporate Alumnus Programs are the same in every detail but there is a definite trend to broaden the scope of the program and increase the limits (most companies will match the gifts of $1,000 or more made by each employee). The recently instituted program set up by Ford Motor Company will match—and, in some cases, more than match—gifts up to $5,000 by an employee to one or more colleges or universities in any calendar year.

An exciting commentary on the gift matching concept from the corporate point of view comes from Dr. Morgan of the Dow Chemical Company, who likes to tell foreign visitors about matching gifts to explain how a capitalistic nation operates. Dr. Morgan puts it this way:

"Where else in the world but in a capitalistic nation such as the United States can you find a janitor who can decide how the Federal Government and his company will spend their money? One of our employees, a janitor, decided to give $100 to a leading university under the Matching Grant Plan for a scholarship to provide a boy with an opportunity which the janitor never had. On making this decision, he determined that $20 of the Government's money (the income tax which he probably would be required to pay) would go to the university for the scholarship. He also determined that the Company would send $100 to the institution for this scholarship. However, of the $100 paid out by the Company, $52 would have been corporate tax. Therefore, in making his decision, the janitor actually gave $80, the Federal Government relinquished $72 and the Company paid a net of $48. This is the way a capitalistic nation operates!"

While the growth of the Corporate Alumnus Program has been great, the potential for future growth is even greater. Any Alumnus who works for a company not appearing on the list that follows will be doing himself, his company, and Alma Mater a real favor by suggesting its adoption. Many corporations, small and large, will be introducing the program during the next year. One of them could be your company.

Here is a list of the companies that have already adopted the corporate alumnus plan of matching gifts made by their employees to alma mater:

Allegheny Ludlum Steel Corporation
American Brake Shoe Company
American & Foreign Power Company, Inc.
American Home Products Corporation
Atlas Powder Company
Atlas Rigging and Supply Company
Bank of New York
Whitney Blake Company (The Cook Foundation)
Bonwit Teller
Burlington Industries (Includes: Ely and Walker, Inc.)
Godfrey L. Cabot, Inc.
Campbell Soup Company
Canadian General Electric Company, Ltd.
Carter Products, Inc.
Cerro de Pasco Corporation
Chase Manhattan Bank
Chemical Bank New York Trust Company
Cleveland Electric Illuminating Company
Columbia Broadcasting System

Columbian Carbon Company
Connecticut General Life Insurance Company
Connecticut Light and Power Company
Continental Oil Company
Corning Glass Works Company
Deering, Milliken & Company, Inc.
Diamond Alkali Company
Dow Chemical Company
Dow Corning Corporation
Draper Corporation
Wilbur B. Driver Company
Ebasco Services, Inc.
Electric Bond and Share Company
Fafnir Bearing Company
Ford Motor Company
Gallo Wine
General Atronics Corporation
General Electric Company
General Foods Corporation
General Public Utilities Corporation

Gibbs & Hill, Inc.
Ginn and Company
Glidden Company
B. F. Goodrich Company
W. T. Grant Company
Gulf Oil Corporation
Harris-Intertype Corporation
Hercules Powder Company
Hewlett-Packard Company
Hill Acme Company
Hooker Chemical Corporation
J. M. Huber Corporation
Hughes Aircraft Company
International Business Machines Corporation
Jefferson Mills, Inc.
S. C. Johnson & Son, Inc.
Jones & Laughlin Steel Corporation
Kaiser Steel Corporation
Walter Kidde & Company
Walter Kidde Constructors

Kidder, Peabody & Company
 Koiled Kords, Inc. (The Cook Foundation)
 Lehigh Portland Cement Company
 Manufacturers Trust Company
 The Marine Midland Trust Company of New York
 Maytag Company
 McCormick & Company, Inc.
 McGraw-Hill Publishing Company
 Medusa Portland Cement Company
 Merck & Company, Inc.
 Metal and Thermit Corporation
 Morgan Engineering Company
 National Distillers & Chemical Corporation
 National Lead Foundation Company
 National Supply Company
 New York Trap Rock Corporation
 Northrop Corporation
 Norton Company

Owens-Corning Fiberglas Corporation
 John Nuveen & Company
 Pennsalt Chemicals Corporation
 Petro-Tex Chemical Corporation
 Phelps Dodge Corporation
 Pitney-Bowes, Inc.
 Ralston Purina Company
 Reliable Electric Company (The Cook Foundation)
 Schering Corporation
 Scott Paper Company
 Seton Leather Company
 Sharon Steel Corporation
 Simmons Company
 Simonds Saw and Steel Company

Singer Sewing Machine Company
 Smith Kline & French Laboratories
 The Sperry & Hutchinson Company
 Stevens Candy Kitchens, Inc.
 W. H. Sweney & Company
 Tektronie, Inc.
 Tennessee Gas Transmission Company
 Towers, Perrin, Forster & Croshy, Inc.
 United Clay Mines, Corporation
 Wallingford Steel Company
 Warner Brothers Company
 John Wiley & Sons, Inc.
 Worcester Pressed Steel Company
 Williams & Company
 Young & Rubicam, Inc.

Any Bucknellian connected with any of the above companies can make his pledge twice the amount he himself can pledge to the Dual Development Fund, although the company gives only as he pays his pledge each year.

The Dual Development Campaign got under way in York at a kickoff meeting held on September 26 at Moser's Restaurant. Shown (left to right) are captains Ivanhoe Winemiller '28; Rev. Warren Swank '44; Dave Gold '56; Harry Andrews '19, general chairman; Russell Boyer '36; Lloyd Hoffman '32; and C. Martin Neff '42.

At the organization meeting of the Dual Development Campaign in Reading, Berks County, and Pottstown, these Buckaellians accepted leadership assignments: (left to right) Clair G. Spangler, M.D. '25, general chairman; John R. Bower, M.D. '30, chairman of professional group; William F. Pfum, Jr. '50, president, Buckaell Alumni Club of Berks County.

NOVEMBER 1960

Henry B. Puff '46, Buffalo Club Area Chairman, is about to receive the ball from Warren R. Lewis '42, co-chairman with Thomas B. Richards '37, of Rochester Club Area Campaign as Dr. Wesley N. Haines, director of development, looks on. Lewis bet Puff $25.00 (winnings to D. D. F.) that Buffalo could not top 75% participation of Rochester. The Buffalo kick-off was on October 7.

SCRANTON TRIBUNE

Arthur Minnier '31, (left), general chairman for the Scranton Club area and Walter L. Hill, Jr. '23, special gifts chairman, discuss the campaign at the kickoff dinner in Scranton on October 5.

Mapping their strategy at the kickoff dinner of the Dual Development Campaign in the Harrisburg Club area on October 3 are: (left to right), Bruce Butt '16, area chairman; Walter Roos '20, co-chairman; and Keith Eisaman '42, special gifts chairman.

SPORTS

(Continued from Page 7)

In their second outing the Bisons suffered a 5-0 defeat at the hands of a Temple team bolstered by three All-Americans, and followed this with a 4-1 loss to Navy before downing Lafayette 5-2 to even up the slate.

Ott scored the lone tally against the Middies in Annapolis and then hit two more times at Lafayette to bring his season total to five. In addition to Ott, a junior from Kennett Square, Pa., and Schad, a senior from Jenkintown, Pa., other standouts have been senior Dave Boger with two goals, sophomore Bill Dahl who scored twice against Penn State, and senior Frank Lineaweaver and junior Frank Famariss who notched single tallies against Lafayette.

Following the Gettysburg game, the booters will meet Delaware, Lehigh, Drexel, Muhlenberg and Elizabethtown in the second half of the season.

Coach Bill Gold's freshman soccer team, lacking the talent that abounded on last year's frosh group, dropped its first two starts to the Penn State frosh and the Susquehanna varsity. In their only other games the yearling booters were scheduled to meet the Lock Haven junior varsity twice.

Freshman Football

The freshman football team, like its soccer counterpart, was still seeking its initial victory at press time. Coach Bob Latour's Baby Bisons dropped their season opener 14-13 in a thriller with Gettysburg. The loss was a double one as first string halfback Al Seigfried of Shickshinny, Pa., counted on to carry much of the running load, was lost for the season with a broken ankle.

Other starters in the opening game were Phil Morgan of Kingston, Pa. and Steve Porter of Williamsport, Pa. at the ends, Frank Fichter of Wayne, Pa. and Floyd Moore of Irwin, Pa. and the tackles, Bob Alevea of Pittsburgh and 16

Bill McQuown of Punxsutawney, Pa. at the guards and Bill Swineford of Lewistown, Pa. at center.

The backfield in addition to Seigfried was composed of Don Rodgers of Pittsburgh, at quarterback, Matt Hart of Lansdowne, Pa. at halfback and Joe Elliott of Villanova, Pa. at fullback.

24 Basketball Games

Coach Ben Kribbs' varsity team began preparations for the 1960-61 season on October 15 with eight returning lettermen on hand. The Bison court squad was bolstered by the addition of four starters from last year's freshman team, Hal Smoker, Tom Johnson, Sam Penrose and Larry Magargal, and service returnee Dick Kniffin.

The team will play a 24-game schedule this fall. Included on the slate are twelve home contests and eleven Middle Atlantic Conference games. Among the newcomers to the schedule are Cornell, C. C. N. Y., Baldwin-Wallace, Virginia, V. M. I., Pittsburgh, Westminster and Buffalo.

BISON ROUNDUP

NEWARK, DEL.—November 19—The last football Bison Roundup away from home will be held before the Delaware-Bucknell game at Kent Manor Inn on the DuPont Highway south of Wilmington. A social hour beginning at 11:30 a. m. will precede the dinner to be served promptly at 11:45 a. m. The cost for the dinner will be $2.30 per person. Reservations for the dinner and checks in advance payable to Mr. Stanley A. Zerbe should be sent to Mr. Zerbe at 1907 Arlene Drive, Wilmington 4, Delaware, by November 12. Reserved seat tickets at $2.50 for the game in the Bucknell section on the 50-yard line can be secured by writing Director of Athletics, Bucknell University, Lewisburg, Pa.

THE BUCKNELL ALUMNUS

CLUBS
(Continued from Page 9)

dent; Vince Pugliese '54, vice president; Dave O'Sullivan '55, treasurer; and Sally Williams '58, secretary.

York

The Bucknell Alumni Club of York held its annual picnic on July 16 at the cottage of Mr. and Mrs. Marlyn Etzweiler '27 located on the Susquehanna River. Guests of the club were the entering freshmen and their parents from the York area.

Each year this picnic has provided an excellent opportunity for Alumni to renew acquaintances and to welcome new students and their parents into the Bucknell family. The success of this affair insures that it will be continued.

Campus Reception

The Bucknell Alumni Club of Union County staged a freshman reception on the opening day of freshman week, September 17, in the lounge of the Davis Gymnasium.

Entering freshmen who are sons or daughters of Alumni along with their parents were invited to attend the event which gave parents an opportunity to meet classmates whom they had not seen in some cases for many years. Local members of the Alumni Club of Union County along with the alumni office headquarters staff served as hosts and hostesses.

The classes represented among alumni parents this year ranged from 1924 to 1942. Dr. and Mrs. Merle M. Odgers attended the reception to greet the group of entering students and their parents, numbering about 60.

There may have been a parent or two who did not receive notice of the reception because the invitation list is made up from the students' applications for admission. If the student fails to fill in on his application the name of his Bucknell parent, then the alumni club has no way of knowing he is a Bucknell offspring.

This first attempt at a reception for alumni parents was well received and it is planned to conduct such an event annually at the beginning of freshman week.

RECORD
(Continued from Page 11)

the honors program for superior students and the program of faculty advisers for freshmen and sophomores. He will also have the immediate supervision for the conduct of the University's graduate program and will continue to serve as University Chaplain.

A graduate of Elizabethtown College and Crozer Theological Seminary, Dr. Ebersole received a Master of Arts degree from the University of Pennsylvania and a doctor's degree from Columbia University and Union Theological Seminary.

Since joining the Bucknell faculty in 1953, Dr. Ebersole has held positions as assistant professor and associate professor of religion and, in 1958, was elevated to the academic rank of professor of religion and named chairman of the Department of Religion.

Bucknell upperclassmen have taken a big shine to a new Bucknell publication prepared by Mr. George R. Faint '25, Registrar. It is the "Illustrated Freshman Directory" showing the pictures and home towns of all the freshmen entering Bucknell in September. Seems like the sophomore, junior and senior men like to size up the beauties among the incoming freshman girls. Alumni Headquarters likes the new idea, too—but not for the same reason—we like the directory because it permits us to publish in THE BUCKNELL ALUMNUS the pictures of sons and daughters of Bucknell Alumni. (See pages 2-3).

The Artist Series program for the remainder of the 1960-61 year include the following events: February 14—The Festival Quartet; March 9-10—Zachary Solov Ballet; and April 20—Amsterdam Concertgebouw.

Each of the Artist Series events will begin at 8:15 P. M. with all but the Zachary Solov Ballet being held in Davis Gymnasium. The Lewisburg High School Auditorium will be the location for the Zachary Solov Ballet performance.

On October 12, the celebrated pianist, Van Cliburn, entertained an overflow crowd in Davis Gymnasium and received a standing ovation for his superb performance.

Bucknell University will offer 34 evening and Saturday courses to adults in the Lewisburg area this season. All graduate-level courses, the sessions have been arranged to provide adults with an opportunity to pursue their studies in their spare time.

Although the courses available to area residents on a part-time basis are on the graduate level, undergraduate studies in the fields of engineering, economics and business administration, and education will be offered if there is a sufficient demand. In addition to evening and Saturday classes, several courses in history, chemistry and engineering will be open to part-time students during regular class hours.

As in the past, this year's program is part of a cooperative scheduling program between Bucknell, Pennsylvania State University and Lycoming College, at the request of the West Branch Manufacturers Association.

Complete details on the evening graduate program may be obtained by contacting Professor Walter H. Sauvain, Director of Extension, 109 Coleman Hall, Bucknell University, Lewisburg.

"Politics and the American Businessman," a special report on Bucknell University's 1959 Convocation Conference, has been published by the Bucknell University Press.

Contained in the 128-page report are all of the major addresses made during the two-day program, including the speeches of Governor David L. Lawrence H'59, of Pennsylvania, Lewis L. Strauss H'59, former Secretary of Commerce and Chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission, and Arthur Larson H'59, Director of Duke University's World Rule of Law Center.

Each of the six sections of the book covers one aspect of the American businessman's role in politics. Such subjects as political awareness, statesmanship, political goals, political participation, practical politics, and successful political action programs are presented in the same clear and concise manner as when they were discussed during the conference.

Questions like "Why should businessmen be active in politics?" and "What kinds of political action are there?" are fully answered in the section covering the panel discussions which were held, with no important statements by the leading businessmen and educators who participated in the sessions omitted.

Copies of this special conference report are now available and may be obtained through the Bucknell University Bookstore.

BASKETBALL SCHEDULE
1960-61

Table with 3 columns: Date, Opponent, Place. Rows include Dec. 1—Gettysburg (Home), Dec. 3—Butgers (New Brunswick, N. J.), Dec. 7—Cornell (Ithaca, N. Y.), Dec. 10—C. C. N. Y. (Home), Dec. 14—LaSalle (Philadelphia), Dec. 16—Delaware (Home), Dec. 19—Baldwin-Wallace (Home), Jan. 4—Colgate (Home), Jan. 7—Delaware (Newark, Del.), Jan. 10—Penn State (Home), Jan. 14—George Washington (Home), Jan. 27—Univ. of Virginia (Charlottesville, Va.), Jan. 28—Va. Military Institute (Lexington, Va.), Jan. 31—Pittsburgh (Pittsburgh), Feb. 2—Gettysburg (Gettysburg), Feb. 4—Lafayette (Home), Feb. 7—Penn State (University Park), Feb. 10—Westminster (Home), Feb. 14—Temple (Philadelphia), Feb. 18—Buffalo (Home), Feb. 22—St. Joseph (Home), Feb. 25—Lehigh (Home), Feb. 28—Muhlenberg (Allentown), Mar. 4—Albright (Reading).

CLASS REPORTS

Clair W. Halligan '23

Clair W. Halligan, who earned his Bachelor of Science degree in electrical engineering magna cum laude in 1923, his Master of Science degree in electrical engineering in 1924 and his Electrical Engineering degree in 1934 at Bucknell, is serving as president of the Mitre Corporation of Bedford, Mass. The Mitre Corporation was established under the sponsorship of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology as an independent non-profit corporation with the mission "to provide the best air defense mission system that is possible within the limits of the available technology." The Corporation is still continuing its work in Air Defense and early in 1960 it expanded its scope to include the technical support of the Command and Control Development Division of the Air Force. The corporation is not engaged in manufacture, but is devoted to research in military electronics with 550 of the original personnel acquired from the Lincoln Laboratory of MIT. The number of employees is presently about 1400.

Mr. Halligan came to the Mitre Corporation from 30 years of engineering and development work with the American Telephone and Telegraph Company, Western Electric Company and the Bell Telephone Laboratories. He taught in the Electrical Engineering Department at Bucknell in 1924-26. He had served as director of military engineering of the Bell laboratories since 1951 until his acceptance of the presidency of the Mitre Corporation.

As an undergraduate he was a member of Tau Beta Pi and Kappa Delta Rho and is now a member of the Bison Club of Bucknell University. He is married to the former Dorothy A. Thom and there are two children.

EMERITUS CLUB

MISS MARY COTTON
Eldred, Pa.

Dr. JOHN I. WOODRUFF '90, whose home is on the Susquehanna University campus, has all the luck—he got to kiss the May Queen at Susquehanna and even had his picture in a recent issue of The Susquehanna Alumnus carrying out this pleasant assignment.

A survey of the birth dates of some of our older alumni reveals, according to our records, that the following Bucknellians enjoy the distinction of being the oldest living graduates in the four categories of:

Oldest living Alumna of the Female Institute—Miss ANNE F. WILLIAMS of 3337 Oregon Ave., Long Beach, Calif., who was born in 1864 and was in the Female Institute Class of 1884.

Oldest living Alumnus of the Bucknell Academy—Dr. ANDREW R. E. WYANT of 2044 West 110th Place, Chicago 43, Ill., who was born in May, 1867, and graduated from Bucknell in the Class of 1892 but who attended the Academy in 1887-88.

Oldest living Alumna of Bucknell University—Mrs. Albert H. Wynkoop (LOIS W. LYMAN) of 28 E. Marthart Ave., Havertown, who was born in February, 1872, and was in the Bucknell University Class of 1894. She had previously attended the Female Institute in 1890.

Oldest living Alumnus of Bucknell University—Dr. JOHN I. WOODRUFF of 305 Walnut St., Selinsgrove, who was born in November, 1864, and graduated from Bucknell University in the Class of 1890.

These are the real veterans of Bucknell University in the four categories of Female Institute alumna, College alumna, Academy alumnus, and College alumnus. It may well be that our records are not complete enough to identify these folks as our eldest Alumni, and if there are any others born earlier, we would be glad to hear about them.

The campus lost one of its oldest residents with the death of Mrs. Lottie Anderson, 90, mother of Mrs. Guy Payne. Born in 1870 in Sweden, Mrs. Anderson had lived in Lewisburg for the past 40 years and until recent years had assisted GUY PAYNE '09 and Mrs. Payne in the operation of College Inn. She was known to thousands of Bucknell students. Dr. Mark Ebersole, chaplain of Bucknell University, officiated at her funeral services.

03

MRS. HARRY C. HERPEL
(Elvie Coleman)
1250 Park Ave.
McKeesport, Pa.

Our grateful thanks to the class reporter of 1937 for sending me the obituary notice of Rev. H. K. WILLIAMS which came too late to be in the September issue. We were saddened to hear of his passing. The sympathy of 1903 goes to Mrs. Williams.

CARL W. TIFFANY writes that he couldn't run the 100 yd. dash in 10 but if sufficiently scared he might do it in 15 seconds. Carl is probably the oldest (83 years) active broker in Pennsylvania. His address is 2216 Raspberry St., Erie.

(EDITOR'S NOTE) — Your reporter fell while leaving a College Club board meeting on September 20 and suffered an interior dis-location of the right shoulder. However, this did not keep Mrs. Herpel from sending us a class report. From her hospital bed she dictated class news to a friend so that the Class of 1903 would appear in this issue. We wish a speedy recovery for our loyal reporter.

07

DR. LEO L. ROCKWELL
602 Charles St.
Lakeland, Fla.

During three trips to the hospital during the past year, Dr. CHARLES FRANCIS POTTER has had an opportunity for research in hospitalization. He'd like to write a book on the subject but already has three other books under contract. Busy as he is, he has already signed up for our 5th reunion scheduled for June, 1962.

Your reporter and VERA '11 were among the thousands in Lakeland, Fla., visited by Donna. We were lucky in escaping the devastation which many homes suffered in this area; although we were without current for four days, this was only an inconvenience, since we have a gas range and water heater. LLR has begun his third year teaching at Florida Southern College. Any '07ites coming to this area will find the latch-string out. Those who can't will do everyone a favor by sending class news for THE BUCKNELL ALUMNUS.

08

MRS. JOHN H. MATHIAS
(Margaret W. Pangburn)
202 St. Louis St.
Lewisburg, Pa.

Mr. and Mrs. HARRY F. HARTZELL celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary on April 27, 1960, at their home, "Orchard Hill Farm," in Los Altos Hills, Calif. There were 150 guests present, including their two daughters and three grandchildren. The New England-type home was lavishly decorated with flowers in all golden hues and a beautiful golden wedding cake was one of the highlights of the occasion.

We are glad for the news of the Hartzell's anniversary. Congratulations and best wishes to you from all your friends in the '08 class.

News of classmates is meager for this issue of THE BUCKNELL ALUMNUS. Some of you, I imagine, are busy recouping your strength for winter after a strenuous summer of vacationing. As for me, a month at the shore in August was a stimulating prelude to moving into a new office. The JPM Company has just completed a new building for their wire and cable industry and I am still on the job interviewing applicants.

10

MISS MILDRED B. CATHERS
100 W. 33rd St., Apt. 6
Bayonne, N. J.

EMILY LANE Yoder left Huntingdon early in October for her winter home in Sarasota, Fla. The oil-painting class in which Emily so much enjoys working was responsible for her early departure. If you're in Florida this winter you'll find her at 7171 Pinecraft Branch.

FRANK (Dunk) EAKELEY was in Colorado part of the summer thus exchanging 123° Texas (his home) heat for Colorado's 42° breezes.

The WEAVER PANGBURNS spent the summer and much of the autumn at Martha's Vineyard, Mass.

Dr. Arno and MABEL JOHNSON Viehover, JERNEY and RUBY PIERSON SHOLL, SARA RAY WAY, PRISCILLA HARDESTY Thompson, ETHEL WATKINS and MILDRED CATHERS gathered at the Jolly Roger, Wildwood Crest, N. J., for several days late in September there to continue the reunion begun in June when time for real visiting was not half long enough. EMILY LANE Yoder's early departure for Florida prevented her joining the group.

WINNIE DICKSON Hardgrove has returned from her round-the-world trip which proved most interesting in spite of being rugged and sometimes hazardous. Some scheduled stops in Africa had to be by-passed and a visit to Greece was substituted. Australia, New Zealand and India were particularly interesting. The whole trip was made by jet plane.

We regret to record the passing of STELLA HOUGHTON Johns who died in a convalescent home in Orangeville on June 19. The sympathy of her classmates is extended to her family.

11 LYMAN C. SHREVE, ESQ.
512 Masonic Building
Eric, Pa.

Reune in June, 1961

ROBERT LOWRY is probably at his summer home at Asbury Park, N. J., at this time but I am hoping that he will make the reunion. His address is 822 N. Rock St., Shamokin.

HERBERT S. LLOYD, Lily Lake, R. D. I, Napwallopen, retired from Wilkes-Barre school in 1954 and then went back to work again in 1959, teaching at Pine Hill, N. J., and in Egg Harbor City, N. J. His son, Roger, is doing graduate work in chemistry at West Virginia University. He hopes to be at our reunion in June.

WALTER RHOADS retired three years ago, married to JOLETTE ARTHUR '13. He has one son, WALTER DANIEL '39, and three granddaughters, who live in Savannah, Ga., and he has gone to work again with an engineering company. Walter's address is 2533 English Ave., Macon, Ga.

MATILDA GOLDING Starkweather was in England last year. Her son, Howard, Jr., is in research chemistry there. Her daughter, Mary, lives in Illinois and has six children. Matilda's address is 815 Augusta Rd., Westover Hills, Wilmington 6, Del.

LENORE HULSIZER HAWK writes that her husband retired from Babcock-Wilcox Co., Barberton, Ohio, and they then moved to the Sandhills Section of North Carolina, where many retired people from the Army and from New England now live. She is delighted with the "easy going" small town. Her address is Hill and Barber Roads, P. O. Box 31, Southern Pines, N. C.

12 MRS. H. W. HOUSEKNECHT
(Maze Callahan)
108 W. Penn St.
Muncy, Pa.

I believe a day in October is designated as Grandmother's Day so I'll try to bring the 1912 family up-to-date on their newest additions.

A daughter, Eliza, was born to Elizabeth Hean Stone and Charles in June. This is the first daughter born in the Stone family in 80 years.

A daughter, Rachel, was born to GLORIA HAGGERTY Wheeler '44 (OLIVE LONG'S daughter) and husband a few months ago.

When our reunion book came out in 1957 LAWRENCE SPROUT reported 4½ grandchildren. Picked up the paper the other day and saw where he and his wife, his son, Dr. and Mrs. William Sprout and children, Linda, Diana, David, Laurence, Margaret and Earl were visiting in Picture Rocks—an increase of 1½.

NOVEMBER 1960

LIB HEINSLING LOWTHER and RED '14 were visiting their daughter, RUTH '40 in Arizona in June when they were presented with a new granddaughter.

I have added two more charms to my grandmother's bracelet. A son, Patrick Leslie, was born to our older son, John, in February while Pop and I were in the hospital. Then when our younger son and wife came home over the July 4th weekend they presented us with a baby boy. This little stranger was born March 20 and came to live at their home June 29. They named him Charles Hilbert for Pop and Grandpa Dahl. They call him "Hibbie."

It all adds up to an item I once read "I have come to understand that what leads up to grandchildren in a woman's life is worth all the vacant and improved land in the United States."

This card from Holland from HELEN RUTH: "Am having a fine tour of British Isles and the Continent. The ride on the turbo jet was thrilling above the clouds and the ride thru Bonnie Scotland was very beautiful as is Scotland with its fine people, food and flowers. Switzerland, Germany, France, with Paris as last stop, still to come."

Some leftovers. By the way, I forgot to mention ALBERTA in my casualty list in May. Sent it in August but Bruce's red pencil did the damage. Now last February she had a cataract removed from one eye. Waiting till that healed before a second operation, she had a nasty fall which "jammed her up considerably."

Time to get your house in order for winter.

13 REV. GEORGE F. HAINES
324 Market St.
Lewishurst, Pa.

CHARLES L. SANDERS, our class secretary, was honored during the summer following the political conventions for an article he wrote for his local paper, The Mifflinburg Telegraph. Selected by the Republican National Committee for use as active campaign literature, it was distributed nationwide through the August Political Reporter. The caption of his column was "Qualifications Only Issue Before Voters Says Local Citizen." It appeared in the Reporter under the heading "A Retired Teacher Compares the Candidates." Charlie now lives retired after, as he says, attempting for 37 years to teach English in schools in Ohio, Pennsylvania, Connecticut and New York, the last 22 years in Jamaica, N. Y.

Last February, DICK RICHARDS, SR., was asked to be comptroller for the Kansas City District for the Census Bureau. On May 18, while headed for work, he met with an accident which shattered his right thigh, broke his arm, shoulder and some ribs. After 10 weeks in the hospital he returned home but has to report to the clinic three times a week for physical therapy. He hoped to learn to walk by October so he and Mrs. Richards can go to California for Christmas. Dick's address is 3713 Summit St., Kansas City, Mo.

Your reporter had another opportunity to preach in the First Baptist Church of Lewisburg on September 11. It was the day Hurricane Donna swept the East. His theme was timely: "Why Are You Afraid?"

Please send me a Christmas card with some news for the next issue.

14 MRS. H. B. WEAVER
(Dora Hamler)
348 Ridge Ave.
New Kensington, Pa.

As we go to press LEWIS F. LYNE, JR. is still a patient at Monmouth Medical Center where he has been confined since June 23 for surgery. Lew lives at 205 Edgemont Dr., Allenhurst, N. J., and we all hope by this time he has been able to return home.

Arthur J. Andersen, Jr.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur J. Andersen (Deborah Ann White '56) announced the arrival of Arthur J. Andersen, Jr., on October 6, 1959. Arthur Jr. and his parents live at 350 First Ave., New York 10, N. Y., just around the corner from Grandpa William R. White '26, chairman of the Bucknell Board of Trustees, who has probably become a baby-sitter by this time.

TRAVELS OF HARRY AND DORA

The past three summers our vacation trips have been in Europe. This year, we decided to visit the 49th state.

In mid-August, we took off from Greater Pittsburgh Airport at 9:30 a. m. for Seattle via Northwest Airlines. We arrived in Seattle at 8:00 P. M., P. S. T. At the Benjamin Franklin Hotel, we joined a group of eighteen, all Alaska-bound, headed by a guide from Thos. Cook & Sons. By Pacific Northern Airlines, on the morning of August 20, we flew to Juneau, capital of Alaska. Before visiting the city, we flew directly from the airport to Taku Lodge. This fifteen minute flight, by twin-engine Alaskan Coastal Airlines plane, was breath-taking, as we skimmed over the tops of glacier-filled mountains, seven thousand feet high. Our party filled two planes, nine to each of these small amphibian aircraft.

We alighted on the Taku River in front of Taku Lodge and were immediately taken to our cabins, rustic but as comfortable as any good hotel. From our cabin, we could see across the river a glacier (seven miles distant) which reminded us of the Rhone Glacier in Switzerland.

Our stay at the Lodge over the weekend was made exciting by a thirty-mile trip to the Taku River by motor launch. Here we saw Hole-in-the-Wall Glacier, Twin Glacier, and the famous Taku Glacier. Not even in Switzerland had we seen so much snow and ice. At one point, the river was filled with icebergs. Twice, we heard what sounded like dynamite explosions. These sounds, we discovered, were caused by pieces of glaciers breaking off and falling into the water. Our guide told us that was a rather rare experience.

Delicious meals were served in the Lodge dining-room, family style. Fishing for trout and salmon is unexcelled in the streams and lakes nearby; and for Sunday breakfast we had a bountiful supply of trout caught by two visitors to the Lodge.

The Rev. Raymond G. Taylor '30 and Milton Porter

Cited as a man always ready to answer the call of distress. The Rev. Raymond G. Taylor '30 became the 28th resident of the Adrian, Mich., community to be enrolled in the Exchange Club's "Book of Golden Deeds." The Rev. Taylor has been a Baptist minister for some 25 years and has served the Adrian Church the past 10 years. His son, Raymond G. Taylor, Jr., graduated from Bucknell University in 1959 and is serving as assistant pastor of Central Baptist Church, Woodbury, N. J., under The Rev. Howard Hartzell '41, while a student at Crozer Theological Seminary.

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Because of space limitations it is impossible to print in this issue the complete account of the "Travels of Harry and Dora." However, the most interesting account of their trip to Alaska will be continued in future issues of THE BUCKNELL ALUMNUS.)

17

MRS. ERIE M. TOPHAM
(C. Ray Speare)
425 W. Sedgwick St.
Philadelphia 19, Pa.

Just received word that GEORGE BENDER has entered the Williamsport Hospital for a kidney check up. Do hope by the time you read this that all will be well with him.

A nice letter from CHARLIE SIPLEY '22 says he attended the Atlantic City, N. J. alumni meeting for the Dual Development Fund and met BRICK YON. He had not seen him for a long time and says "He's the same old Brick even if his hair has turned gray." (Yes, Brick and all the rest of us). Charlie says he goes fishing about once a week—started last April 6 and that he is getting brown as a berry. They fish in the Great Bay.

On August 6 my sister, ANNA MAY '23, passed away after more than a year in which she put up a hard but losing fight against a severe form of leukemia. Her husband, Charles W. Crist, and our brother, WILLIAM E. C. SPEARE '20, survive.

On July 8 TIP suffered a slight coronary attack and today, September 13, is his first time out of the house. He says he feels fine now and expects to be up for Homecoming.

Wish I had some real pleasant news for you. Saw a few more seventeens on the list of Dual Development Fund. Good! Come on, let's back it up 100%.

20

18

MRS. LAYTON E. KING
(Elizabeth Champion)
19 N. Lovelock Ave.
Montoursville, Pa.

Just when I do not have a thing to report, along come letters from some of you and I am saved once again.

A letter from ELIZABETH STEPHENS Rouser is full of her family and I shall take the liberty of quoting from it. "We still live in Brooklyn, N. Y., where my husband has been minister of the Cadman Memorial Church (Congregational) for the past 14 years. We expect to retire here in the not too distant future. When we moved to this four story brownstone house our two mothers and four children were with us, one in college and three in prep school. Now both our mothers have gone to their reward and all four children have their own homes.

"Our eldest daughter, after teaching history in England and New Zealand, has settled in New York where she heads the Middle School and teaches history at the Spence School, one of the oldest private girls' schools in the city.

"Our eldest son has recently become minister of the Eliot Church (Congregational) in Newton, Mass. His book The Congregational Way of Life has just been published by Prentice-Hall.

"Our second son is hoping to finish the requirements for his Ph.D. degree, which he is doing in the Philosophy of Religion, with a view of teaching in a theological seminary. He has an appointment to teach in a seminary in Bangalore, India, for five years and expects to sail in October, 1961.

"Our youngest daughter married a Dutch opera singer while she was studying singing abroad and lives in Munich, Germany, where her husband is employed in the opera.

"Our sons have given us seven grandchildren. Our summer homes are quite near each other in New Hampshire, so there is much visiting during the vacation months. I have developed an interest in ceramics and have a well equipped studio in our cellar. It is fun to be part of this community and of the church, and it is also fun to turn out a few gifts on my potters wheel."

I thoroughly enjoyed hearing from Betty, and about her family, and am sure all of you have enjoyed her news.

Another letter from MABELLE EEDE enclosed a letter from DOROTHY McCLINTIC Johnson. Mabelle is back in Ballston Spa, N. Y., her home town. She has been using her talents and experience keeping house and caring for older persons, both in her home town, and afield—she has been with one of her neighbors for the past two years as a companion, which gives her time to do much church work, sew and knit, yet keep busy with a job.

20

MR. PAUL V. STOLZ
Hargrave Military Academy
Chatham, Va.

WILLIAM E. C. SPEARE was elected class president at the June reunion meeting.

Mr. and Mrs. HAYES L. PERSON (K. LUETTA WAGNER) recently enjoyed an extended trip to Alaska. LUETTA retired in June after teaching in the Lewisburg High School since 1922. Prior to 1922, she had taught in Hughesville. HAYES recently received a citation honoring him for 30 years of service with the Educators Mutual Life Insurance Co. He retired on July 1. The Persons live at 60 S. 3rd St., Lewisburg.

Mr. and Mrs. DAYMOND W. COPELAND (MARY J. WILLIAMSON '22) have returned to the home town of their Alma Mater (—we presume—the scenes of their courtship) and have established their new home at 29 Market St., Lewisburg. Cope is a veteran of World War I and of 25 years of service in the public schools of Pennsylvania. He spent several years in the insurance business in New York, leaving there to own and operate Green Brae Farm at Afton, N. Y., where he specialized in the breeding of Aberdeen-Angus cattle. The Copelands have four daughters, one son and seven grandchildren.

Mrs. Charles E. Kempton (ESTA M. LONG) writes to her friends at Bucknell. "I am now residing in Champaign, Ill. (1512 West Clark St.). My husband is a retired Baptist minister. Please state in your bulletin that I am happy here with my son. Let me hear from you."

Your reporter, dear classmates, yearns for news from each of you—what did you do on your vacation, frinstance? Any new grandchillun'? (Pardon my accent). Write any books, research reports or make any earth shaking discoveries of late?

Only other item at hand is some little item about your reporter's recent safari (by rail, hus, boat) covering 2500-some miles to New Orleans and up Old Man River's shores and levees to Memphis, Tenn., thence they "Carried me back (and homes) to ole' Virginny!" Please drop a line for the next issue of this grand old Class of '20's report.

21

MRS. ELLWOOD S. DERR
(Sara Bernhart)
1360 Jefferson Ave.
Lewistown, Pa.

Reune in June, 1961

We'll celebrate our 40th reunion on June 3, 1961. Our president, STAN KUNKLE, and the local '2lers are formulating plans for the reunion. How about you? Won't you please mark June 3 as a special date and join us?

Had a note last summer from ELLIS SMITH. He and Mrs. Smith have their winter home in California. The address is 211 Citrus, Escondido, Calif. They have driven East six times.

22

MRS. GEORGE C. WOLFE
(Ruth H. Brown)
60 S. 2nd St.
Lewistown, Pa.

THOMAS REBER STEIN, a Sunbury native who spent the S.A.T.C. days with us, has managed to get pretty far from home. Since 1957 he has been employed as a design engineer and mill manager at Sitka, Alaska, for the Alaska Lumber and Pulp Company which supplies the Japanese rayon industry with basic cellulose from wood harvested in Tongass National Forest in Southeastern Alaska. After leaving Bucknell he was employed by General Electric in Massachusetts and Chicago, by Hartford Steam Boiler Inspection and Insurance Company in New York, for 16 years with the Minnesota and Ontario Paper Company at International Falls. In the early fifties he worked as a design engineer for Wood Conversion Company, Division of Weyerhaeuser Corporation and assisted in the design of a pulp mill for the Rayonier Incorporation at Jesup, Ga. Tom, it's about time for you to return to the old home town and take in a Bucknell reunion. That'll be in June, 1962, for our class.

(EDITOR'S NOTE) In the May, 1960, issue of THE BUCKNELL ALUMNUS an error was printed in connection with the position of ELOISE E. HILL. Eloise is national first vice president of Mu Phi Epsilon and not district director as reported in the magazine. Our apologies, Eloise.

23

MRS. LEROY FRONTZ
(Olive Billhime)
Evergreen Farm
Allenwood, Pa.

LUKE L. STAGER of 642 High St., Pottstown, was recently named "Man of the Year" by the Boyertown Junior Chamber of Commerce. A dinner was given in his honor at which time he was presented with a plaque and guest book as mementos of the occasion.

THE BUCKNELL ALUMNUS

Luke has been in charge of Tung-Sol's Boyer-town operation since its opening in 1945 and was instrumental in its growth from a relatively small operation to its present multi-million dollar installation. He has served faithfully in civic activities and organizations. He is married to the former Marion North and has two children, John and Gloria, and two grandchildren.

Cmdr. NORMAN W. MORGAN of 1522 Oram St., Scranton, was honored recently at ceremonies held at the Scranton Reserve Center upon his retirement after 20 years of service. He served two years in World War I prior to entering college. After leaving college he worked in industry for a time before entering the teaching profession. He re-entered military service in 1942 and served in the active forces and the reserves until his recent retirement. His interest in education has been the dominant force and he has served as a teacher and coach and for a number of years has been supervisor of science, mathematics and audio-visual aid in the Scranton schools. Norman is married to the former Leona M. Morris and has one daughter, Norma Le.

BETTY (SPEAKMAN) and RUPERT SWETLAND'S youngest daughter, Alice, was married August 28 to James D. Keighton of Swarthmore. He is a graduate of Temple University and Alice is a graduate of High Point College, High Point, N. C. James will teach in William Penn Charter School.

ALVIN F. "Doggie" JULIAN, builder of championship sports teams on high school, college and professional levels and now mentor of the Dartmouth College cagers and head scout for the football staff, has joined the ranks of authors. He has written a book entitled Bread and Butter Basketball which has been published by Prentice-Hall, Inc. It features specific basketball techniques and contains humorous stories about his experiences as a player and coach over more than a 30-year span of activities.

Mrs. Charles W. Crist (ANNA MAY SPEARE) passed away on August 6 after more than a year's fight against leukemia. She is survived by her husband, a brother—WILLIAM E. C. SPEARE '20 and a sister—Mrs. RAY SPEARE TOPHAM '17. Our class sends sincere sympathy to Anna May's family.

25 MRS. WILLIAM E. THOMPSON, JR.
(Mary E. Seidel)
Box Tree Farm
Whiteford, Md.

BAXTER, LOUISA — Downsview, N. Y. Louisa operates the general clothing store in Downsview, N. Y.

BERG, MARY SCHILLING—1438 Roxewood Ave., Louisville 4, Ky. Mary brought her husband along and he liked us so well he said he'd be back again. He's manager of one of the divisions of G. E. Co. in Louisville, Ky. They have 3 daughters and 2 grandchildren, but I only have the names of 2 daughters! Jerrie was graduated June 5 from Miami University in Oxford, Ohio, and Karen, the youngest, is a student at the University of Kentucky.

BIDDISON, MILDRED P.—37 N. 3rd St., Easton. Mildred is secretary of the Easton Symphony Society and teaches French at Phillipsburg High School, Phillipsburg, N. J.

BUCHOVECHY, JOHN—R. D. 1, New Florence. John manages a liquor store in Johnstown. Although his wife died in 1954 he has a son who is married and has presented John with 3 grandchildren. This son, Basil, is a priest in the Russian Orthodox Church.

COOK, WILBUR W.—1106 Rosalie St., Philadelphia 49. Wilbur works with Philadelphia Electric Co. Brought his wife along to the reunion, they have 2 sons and 3 grandchildren. ROBERT H. was a member of the Class of '53.

NOVEMBER 1960

CUNNINGHAM, ROLAND C. — 842 St. Clair St., Grosse Pointe, Mich. Roland is a design engineer with the Detroit Edison Co. He has one son, Roland, Jr.

DALLMAN, DON—61 Brammand St., Phillipsburg, N. J. Don teaches chemistry in the high school and has been there 34 years! He is married and has one daughter.

DAVIES, EDWIN J.—264 State St., Nanticoke. Ed teaches U. S. History in Nanticoke High School. As usual he has a variety of interests but has managed to stay a bachelor! He's secretary of the Kiwanis Club, a member of the Caldwell Consistory, and active in the Amvets.

DECKER, MYRON—137 E. 38th St., New York 16, N. Y. We understand that Myron left in June for a month's tour in Europe.

SPANGLER, CLAIR—214 N. 6th St., Reading. Clair couldn't be with us as his daughter, Jane, was being graduated from Colby Junior College.

26 MISS ANNA L. BROWN
15 Wildwood Ave.
Pitman, N. J.

Reune in June, 1961

F. EARL BACH has joined the First National Bank of Glens Falls, N. Y., as vice president. He had been executive vice president and director of the Dutchess Bank and Trust Company in Poughkeepsie prior to joining the Glens Falls organization. He is married to the former M. ELIZABETH EVANS '29, and they have two daughters, Betsy and Kathy. Their new address is Kensington Court, Apt. C, Glens Falls, N. Y.

LOUIS M. HOLLAND, industrial manager of the Chamber of Commerce in San Francisco, Calif., was elected president of the American Industrial Development Council, Inc., at their 35th annual convention held in Atlantic City, N. J., last March. He is serving as vice president of the San Francisco Alumni Association of the Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity. Address: 314 Alicia Way, Los Altos, Calif.

27 MRS. L. H. COLLISON
(Grace M. Pfeiffer)
Marydel, Md.

DONALD WAGNER has changed his address from Hummelstown to 56 S. 5th St., Lewisburg. Both Don and his wife write that they would be happy to have any of the gang drop in to see them in Lewisburg.

JAMES T. McFARLAND is now acting high school principal at Brittonkill Central Schools, Tamarac High School, R. D. 3, Troy, N. Y. His address is R. D. 1, Hoosick Falls, N. Y.

HARRY BRADLEY of 56 Hillside Ave., Madison, N. J., reports that his daughter, Suzanne, a senior at Bucknell, was re-elected captain of the varsity cheerleading squad for 1960-61.

28 MRS. H. MONTGOMERY MARSH, JR.
(Lorraine Martin)
60 Prospect Hill Ave.
Summit, N. J.

LOUIS A. PURSLEY, Pennsylvania State Assemblyman, has been elected chairman of the Union County Republican Committee.

Dr. HARRY H. PIERSON was one of seven prominent educators and industrialists who received honorary degrees from Bucknell University during the commencement exercises in June. He travelled from Bangkok to receive the honor, probably the greatest distance of any of our commencement visitors.

Mrs. Wayne A. Evans ("JACKIE" HORN-ER), who has already garnered a yard-long list of community and professional awards during her exciting career, has added another

A. Crossley Smith, Jr. '31

A. Crossley Smith, Jr. '31 was one of the speakers at the Tenth Corrugated Containers Conference held in October at the Royal York Hotel in Toronto, Canada. Crossley is head of the Industrial Products Section, Application Research Division, Research and Development Department of The Atlantic Refining Company in Philadelphia.

A member of Delta Sigma (now Delta Upsilon) when a student here, he earned his Bachelor of Science degree in chemical engineering at Bucknell in 1931 and the Master of Science in chemical engineering at Lehigh University in 1932. He is a member of the Bison Club of Bucknell and assisted with the Dual Development Campaign in Philadelphia last year.

He is married to the former Virginia Humphreys '33 and they have two sons, Arthur and Gordon, who are active in competitive swimming. The family resides at 8237 New Second Street, Elkins Park.

by being placed on the honor roll of the Council and League for Nursing for "behind-the-scenes service to patients and the community." She received the "Woman of Achievement" award for Cayuga County from the Interclub Council in 1952, the award for Contribution to Nursing by Phi Mu Sorority in 1953, a citation for 25 years of public health nursing by the Ohio Public Health Association in 1954, and is listed in Who's Who in the Middle West and in Who's Who of American Women.

29 MISS THELMA SHOWALTER
125 Market St.
Mifflinburg, Pa.

Our classmate, HENRY M. FESSLER, died August 30, 1960. The Fessler family had been vacationing at Ocean City, N. J., when Henry suffered a coronary attack. He died several hours later in Jefferson Hospital, Philadelphia. Henry is survived by his wife, the former EDNA M. CRAFT '30, a son, Dr. Robert H. Fessler and a daughter, Barbara J. Fessler. The members of the Class of 1929 extend to Mrs. Fessler and the family their sincere sympathy.

U. S. Army Photograph

ROKA Officer; Lt. Gen. Song, Yo Chan;
Thomas H. Wilkenson '33

Mr. Thomas H. Wilkenson '33, Director of Safety, Department of the Army, within this year was honored by Lieutenant General Song, Yo Chan, Chief of Staff, ROKA, for his active part in the ROKA Safety Program. His travels took him to Korea, Japan, Okinawa, and Hawaii in February and March of 1960.

Dr. CLARENCE W. CRANFORD has written a book calling upon men and women of modern times to find in Jesus Christ the model for their lives. The book, His Life Our Pattern was published recently by Broadman Press and is a collection of messages applying the teachings of Christ to wide areas of everyday human experience. His book, Taught by the Master, was previously published by the same company.

33

MRS. ERNEST H. ENGELHARDT
(Janet Worthington)
Irondale Place, Millville Road
Bloomsburg, Pa.

ALLEN SEILER's oldest, Jerry, was graduated from Shippensburg State College this spring and was married in August. The second son, Dennis, won the "Gold Shoe" award for top athlete in Central Pennsylvania. He is a three-letter man at East Pennsboro High and first alternate to the Navy Academy. Michael is a senior in high school where he is an excellent football player and mechanic. Dennis attended Bucknell the summer of 1959 for five weeks on a National Science Foundation Grant.

JOHN H. RICHARDS, JR.'s daughter, Patricia, was graduated from Bennett College, Millbrook, N. Y., this June and was married to William Thomas Parker of Erie. His son, John, graduated this spring from the Haverford School.

CHARLES SIEDE, JR., and wife Eleanor, with whom I had pleasant conversations at our last reunion, have three sons—CHARLES, III, Stanley and David. CHARLES is a graduate of Bucknell '59 where he was captain of the Bucknell tennis team. Charles, Sr., plans to enroll the twins in Bucknell shortly. For the last twenty-five years he has been employed as sales representative for Dun & Bradstreet. They live at 6 Clinton Avenue in Arlington, N. J. Their hobbies are sailing and playing tennis at their summer home at Highland Lakes, N. J.

HAROLD J. ROSE of Miami, Fla., is manager of the Forest Lodge in Plainfield, N. J., and president of Rose Printers and Publishers in Irvington, N. J. His wife is author of Murphy Goes to the Races. Their children are: John, a graduate, B.E., February, 1960, of the University of Miami, who will be a high school teacher; Barry, who will graduate from Miami High School this June and enter the University of Miami, September, 1960; and two smaller children, Frances (7) and Randy (5).

22

Mrs. Claude G. Schmidt (MARGARET E. CORNELLY) is still teaching at the Columbia Preparatory School for Girls, is also historian for the town of Brighton, N. Y., and gets to New York City and Cooperstown, N. Y., for state meetings occasionally. Son, Claude, is at the University of Rochester. Daughter, Carolyn, is at the Columbia School. Their latch-string is out for visitors. Try them!

34

MRS. WILLIAM S. LIMING
(Ruth E. Rohr)
55 Magnolia Ave.
Garden City, L. I., N. Y.

Our heartfelt sympathy is extended to Dr. VINCENT A. HALBERT whose father, the Rev. Dr. LeRoy Halbert died unexpectedly in Lewisburg on September 4. The Rev. Dr. Halbert had moved to Lewisburg several years ago upon his retirement from the Baptist ministry and at the time of his death was serving as interim pastor of the First Baptist Church in Lewisburg.

Your reporter regrets that she has so little news to report. Perhaps you'll all rush me an item? Can't believe '34, "the class that had more" has no news.

35

MRS. PAUL J. DESCHANEL
(Ann W. Orr)
Chapel Wood
Gambrills, Md.

During the Alumni Luncheon, many of us discussed the education of our children. CLARENCE HOWELLS has a daughter at Earlham College in Indiana and the ERIC STEWARTS' daughter attends Swarthmore. Several classmates have children who had entered Bucknell, too.

A foundation honoring the memory of Dr. ROBERT M. LINDNER, named the "Robert Lindner Foundation" is one of the few in existence to promote rehabilitation through creative effort. The third annual awards were made on May 19 in writing, art, music and science. Competition is open to inmates of penal institutions across the nation.

ALLAN I. SHIRLEY and Helene B. A. Bartkus were married in Pittsburgh on June 11. Allan has offices at 721 Oliver Building, Pittsburgh 22.

JANE ORWIG LeMon has moved to Alfred University, Alfred, N. Y., where Mel is the head of the music department.

DOROTHY M. MOODY is one of 16 New Jersey classroom teachers named to receive national recognition from the Freedoms Foundation at Valley Forge for their exceptional service in furthering the cause of responsible citizenship, patriotism and a greater understanding of the American Way of Life. Dorothy's address is 227 Irving Ave., Bridgeton, N. J.

36

MRS. CLYDE E. BURGE
(Lois Montgomery)
124 S. Fifth St.
Lewisburg, Pa.

Reune in June, 1961

Just had the good word from President KOTTICAMP that ROBERT T. JONES, 600 Jefferson Ave., Ellwood City, will be chairman for our 25th reunion next June.

J. P. DAVIS, JR. (Prosser to you) and GLADYS (GEARY), and all the kids, are off on a three-year assignment as general manager of Playtex Pan-American and Playtex Caribe, subsidiaries of International Latex Corp. They plan to be on the campus for our 25th reunion and in the meantime you can write or visit them at L-8 Union St., Garden Hills, Bayamon, Puerto Rico.

(EDITOR'S NOTE) LOIS MONTGOMERY Burgee, who has been doing a terrific job on the personnel staff in the registrar's office, has recently become a junior high school teacher in Milton. Daughter, Jane, enrolled as a freshman at Western Maryland in September.

HOWARD G. FRANK was nominated to run for Congress for the 4th District of New Jersey by the New Jersey Conservative Party. After graduation at Bucknell, Howard was an engineering draftsman in New York City for several years and then a bridge designer for the State Highway Department of Delaware. During the war he was stationed in Washington with the Office of Chief Engineer. In 1949 he joined a Chicago consulting engineering firm as a staff engineer responsible for super-highway and turnpike projects. With his wife, the former MARION ROOT '35, he lives at 3228 S. Broad St., Trenton, N. J.

37

MRS. PAULL W. ZIEGLER
(Mabel Nylund)
12 W. Garrison Rd., Parkside
Chester, Pa.

CARROLL E. OSBORN was re-elected president of the Bucknell Alumni Club of Syracuse.

A clipping from Princeton, N. J., complete with a picture of ROBERT G. MILLER, announces the appointment of our Bob to the post of assistant general counsel of Standard Oil of New Jersey. Bob has held his new post since April. Congratulations!

Mrs. Kenneth Griffey (JEAN L. ROSER) reports the arrival of Kenneth Lee Griffey on June 30, 1960, and tells us that two daughters, Lynn and Jill Kirby will graduate from high school in 1962 and 1963. Both daughters will visit the campus next summer and we hope that the Roser family tradition at Bucknell will be continued. Grandpa, JOHN O. ROSER '11, is a former trustee now retired in Florida. Jean and her family live at 30901 S. W. 195th Ave., Homestead, Fla.

Mrs. A. Glynn Esch (GEORGIANA CRUM) is a teacher of world cultures and mathematics in the Lewisburg Joint High School. She has had fellowships in the National Science Foundation Institute for teachers of science and mathematics for summer courses at Bucknell University and Pennsylvania State University. She has three children and lives at 130 S. 14th St., Lewisburg.

And the 4c I invested in the stamp to carry that note to JEAN ARMSTRONG Bogar paid off. Jean obliged with a letter saying she has not been working (for pay, that is) since the war. Housewife Jean is the mother of Jan (11) in the sixth grade and Billy (13) in the eighth grade. Husband Bill is an engineer with DuPont, doing pioneering engineering in the textiles fibres department. If you want first-hand information on camping sites any place in the USA, get in touch with the Bogars—they've been there. BETTY REIFF Boyer, also Phi Mu, is one contact Jean has with Bucknell there in Delaware. The Bogars are caught up in the church work, Cub Scout, Brownie troop routine, too. Says Jean, "Bowling, golfing and bridge take up the slack, if any." Their address: 106 Neptune Dr., North Star, Newark, Del.

Having had my confidence and hope thus restored, I am investing 12c—or maybe even 16c—in another drilling for news project. Every once in a while a gusher comes in!

39

MR. DAVID R. BAGENSTOSE
12 Kinterra Rd.
Wayne, Pa.

ROBERT J. BECHTEL was recently transferred to the Wilmington office of Hercules Powder Company as technical assistant to the director of operations, cellulose products department. He is married to the former Irene

THE BUCKNELL ALUMNUS

Forsyth and they have two children, James and Jane. His new address is: 2622 Longwood Drive, Foulk Woods, Wilmington 3, Del.

40 MRS. JAMES A. MILLER
(Mary McGrina)
1492 Colfax Ave.
Beaton Harbor, Mich.

DONALD E. FORTNER, M.D., 5800 S. W. 73rd St., South Miami, Fla., has some personal items to bring "any interested parties" up to date: he remarried in December, 1957, and his wife, the former Evelyn Baker, is a Coral Gables girl. They have a possible future Bucknellian in their daughter Susan, born September 29, 1959. Don has been elected head of the Department of General Practice at the new Miami Baptist Hospital, opened in September this year. He would be very happy to see some former Bucknellians at medical meetings in Miami this year.

Dateline September 13: J. F. BUCHER, CDR, DC, USN, whom we know as John (Jack) and whose address will be U. S. S. Lexington (CVA-16), c/o F. P. O., San Francisco, Calif., is living with his wife and family, Timmy (6) and Melissa (1), at 140 Alder St., Coronado 18, Calif. He has been married to the former Kathleen Eckroat, Beaver College '42, since December 26, 1943. Their home in Coronado practically has the Pacific in the front yard. During the past year he has been traveling, as Senior Dental Officer, to Hawaii, the Philippines, Okinawa, Japan, and Hong Kong, and expects to be on another eight-month Pacific cruise by the time this is printed. "Although it is difficult to be away from my family," he says, "life on a first line carrier is challenging and stimulating, something new and exciting happens every day."

On the home front: in the Proceedings and Addresses of the American Philosophical Association published in October, Jim's senior English-philosophy class at Benton Harbor High was cited in the report "Teaching Philosophy in American High Schools." He also had an article appearing in the February, 1960, Bulletin of the National Association of Secondary-School Principals, "A High School English Program for Gifted Students."

43 MISS CAROLYN F. DONEHOWER
3722 Chestnut St.
Philadelphia 4, Pa.

Dr. and Mrs. MELVIN L. SOMMER announce the birth of their son, David Neil, on August 5. A three-year-old son Harvey joins in the welcome of the new baby at the family home, 157 Greenridge Ave., White Plains, N. Y.

44 MRS. ROBERT F. BAKER
(Honey Rhimesmith)
Liodys Lake, R. D.
Butler, N. J.

Dr. EMERSON L. DERR, 391 Eighth St., Selinsgrove, received the degree of Doctor of Education (in history) from Pennsylvania State University in June. He is a member of the faculty of the Sunbury Area School District.

45 MRS. JOHN F. BACON
(Phoebe Follmer)
Meadowdale Farm
Sparks, Md.

Ham and I are enjoying farming in spite of our ignorance. We miss the contact with international friends, but it is good to be home and the country is refreshing and stimulating. The girls love it. We are still unpacking and moving furniture, but the sight of any of you would be a treat. Stop in. And last of all—write! Hear?

Recently Mr. and Mrs. Thomas J. Padden (BARBARA DYER) and sons, Tom, Jim and Bill, from Steubenville, Ohio, were overnight guests of the Youngs in Owings Mills, Md.

NOVEMBER 1960

Barb and I chatted by phone and hope to all get together next time. (Mumps at our house this time).

Do you all know that AUDREY J. BISHOP is now living at 41 Park Ave., New York City? A delightful telephone chat with Bish's mother informed me that our classmate is now with DuPont in a public relations capacity. Baltimore's loss but truly a feather in DuPont's cap.

PHILIP F. DIETZ has been appointed manager of the Westinghouse Rayescent Lamp Department with offices in Bloomfield, N. J. Philip and his wife have five sons, Timothy, David, Stephen, Robert and William, and live at 24 Brunswick Rd., Montclair, N. J.

Do you have trouble naming and describing all of the Rockets being used in our space probes, moon shots and earth satellite launchings? If you do, BILL BOND is your man for he is engaged in the development and application of the Rocketdyne engine used in many of these missiles. Of special interest to Bill is the fact that when he was with Bell Aircraft in Buffalo, he helped develop the second stage engine and now at North American Aviation on the coast he is helping to develop the first stage engine used in the latest rockets. Bill says "Everything about these engines makes them fascinating—including the cost!"

Dr. WILLIAM B. MENDENHALL, III, associate professor of mathematics at Bucknell University, and E. H. Lehman have co-authored an article entitled "An Approximation to the Negative Moments of the Positive Binomial Useful in Life Testing" which was published in the June issue of Technometrics. The article discusses a statistical technique which is useful in evaluating the life characteristics of a physical or biological system.

Another telephone treat recently was talking to JEAN WILLIAMS Wiederspahn (Mrs. F. S.). Willy called from their home in Richmond, Va., on the eve of a trip north, hoping we could join them at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Truesdale (KARIN NELSON), 5123 Worthington Dr., Washington 16, D. C. The Truesdales recently announced the birth of a second son, Charles Nelson, born July 23, 1960.

47 ROGER S. HADDON, ESQ.
243 Water St.
Northumberland, Pa.

Dr. FLOYD L. HARRIS has been appointed assistant chief of the Department of Anesthesiology at the Veterans Administration Hospital in Richmond, Va., where he was trained. He and his wife, the former BARBARA J. MORROW '44, have three children and live at 4320 Forest Hill Ave., Richmond 25, Va.

LCDR and Mrs. WILLARD H. McDANIEL report the birth of their second son and fifth child, Steven Willard, on June 30. Willard is teaching anti-submarine warfare at the U. S. Naval Combat Information Center School at Glynco, Naval Air Station, Brunswick, Ga.

SHEILA OBSTFELD Fischer, who first played bridge at Bucknell, has now mastered the serious side of the game. In May, 1959 she won in the Long Island Women's Pair Championship tournament. She was "player of the year" for Nassau-Suffolk and was honored last January in a New York Times column by its bridge expert, Albert Morehead. Sheila is assistant manager of the Freeport (L. I.) Bridge Studio, and her tournament play brings her into contact with several other Bucknellians. Husband Bob is an artists' representative, and their two daughters are Susan, 13, and Jill, 10. Home address: 3314 Messick Ave., Oceanside, N. Y.

LOUISE BELL TOMPKINS sends much news. Now living at 30 Claridge Ct., Glen Ridge, N. J., the Tompkins family (GRANT TOMPKINS '48) includes Lynn, 11; Grant III, 9, and Karen, 7. In their former home at West Caldwell, N. J., Louise was close to MARGY HUGHES Coats '48 and BETTS WADDINGTON Mackey '48. At Glen Ridge they see JANICE "BUTCH" FELMILY WUR-

A Bucknell success story can be found only a few miles from the Bucknell campus at the new JPM Manufacturing Company plant located in Kelly Township, Union County. Pictured above are officers and top executives of this very successful wire and cable operation. They are Earl P. Mathias '39, vice president in charge of production; Jay P. Mathias '35, president of the company; and Roy P. Mathias '39, treasurer. Other Bucknellians holding top positions in this unique business are Margaret P. Mathias '08, director of personnel, and Lee S. Ranck '41, engineer and assistant to the vice president.

FEL '45 and husband DICK WURFEL '48, plus ANN GERHARD BARTOW '45 and husband BOB '43. The Tompkins, Wurfels and Bartows each have a girl in the sixth grade of the same school. GRANT TOMPKINS '48 is personnel manager and assistant to the president of Q-Tips, Inc.

MIDGE MYERS Doud issued one of those Bucknell-type Christmas letters in 1959, and a copy finally caught up with your reporter. Permanent address for Midge and Frank is still at Rt. 2, Sedalia, Colo. They have occasion for much travel in the Rocky Mountain area, and sons Eric (10) and Scott (6) seem to thrive on the schedule.

TAM GURVITCH Goldman sent us a post card in July from Israel. Quote: "Ten years and three children later, we're back in Israel. This time for the entire summer. We have an apartment in Tel Aviv, go swimming in the Mediterranean Sea and about once or twice a week take trips to different parts of the country. Our trio enjoys it as much as we do." Husband is Herb Goldman.

48 MRS. JAMES A. BROWN
(Joann G. Golightly)
1591 Hillcrest Terrace
Union, N. J.

Jim, Jeffrey and I welcomed Jill Eleanor on August 5, 1960, at 4:10 a. m. It was one of those races to the hospital, but we made it—she was 7 lbs., 6 oz. At six weeks of age she's on just three meals a day—one of those adorable children who loves to sleep! Jeffrey is very happy with her except he wishes she would play "cars" with him. Jim is so proud he has opened his own insurance agency and will be located in Livingston, N. J. I'm just plain pleased with the whole family. (Editor's Note—Okay, Joann, try these for the next arrivals—June, Jane, John, George—oops—Jacob!)

Rev. and Mrs. Charles Gordon (CHARLOTTE E. TAYLOR) have welcomed another addition to their family—Ian Murray Gordon, born April 7, 1960. He joins: Bonnie, 16 and Lester, 13 (adopted six years ago); Tad, 6½; Ruth, 4½; and Roderick, 2½.

Mr. and Mrs. ANTHONY A. KRZYWICKI (FAITH VAN SISE '46) announce the birth

George Rifendifer '48

George Rifendifer '48 has been appointed supervisor, training and accident prevention, of the Duquesne Light Company. George has been with the company since 1948 and was a test supervisor at the Shippingport Atomic Power Station prior to this promotion. George, wife Jeanne, and four children live at 313 Hankey Farms Dr., Hankey Farms, Oakdale.

of their third son, Van Bentley, on August 17. Address: 120 Livingston St., Poughkeepsie, N. Y.

JAMES A. COMINS has been named products manager of Atronic Products, Inc., of Bala Cynwyd. Jim taught at Lafayette College for three years then went into industry, spending three years with Philco Corp., two years with Remington Rand and two years with Curtiss Wright Corp. before joining Atronic Products, Inc. He received his M.S. degree from Drexel Institute in 1956. His wife is the former LaRue Wonderley and they have one son, James, Jr., 8. Address: 112 King George Rd., Pennington, N. J.

49

MRS. THOMAS A. FRAZIER
(Marilyn L. Harer)
1344 Mansel Ave.,
Williamsport, Pa.

A son, Craig Eister, was born to Mr. and Mrs. FRED W. SLACK, JR., on August 26, 1960. Fred is assistant comptroller at our Alma Mater.

HENRY E. STRUCK of 14 Linden Lane, Wayne, N. J., received his Master of Science degree from Newark College of Engineering in June. He is a project engineer with I. T. T. Laboratories in Nutley, N. J.

JAMES C. ABSALOM, JR., of 10816 Canby Ave., Northridge, Calif., recently received a cash bonus for having submitted inventions which were accepted for filing with the U. S. Patent Office by the Marquardt Patent Board. Jim, a development supervisor with the Marquardt Corporation, designed fuel flow regulators for turbojet engine application. Oops—Since writing the above, Jim has profited again from his inventive activities. Jim's new invention, entitled "Device for Regulating Fluid Supply Pressure," is still more complicated, so I won't even try to describe it.

JOSEPH S. DREXLER of 38 Noblewood Lane, Levittown, has been with National Tube (Division of U. S. Steel Corp.) since 1950 and was recently appointed general foreman in the finishing department at the Fairless 24

Works of the company. He and his wife, the former MERTHA F. NICKERSON '45, have one son, John.

Mr. and Mrs. ROBERT L. MILLER (ALICE M. BOGDANOFF) have informed us of the birth of twins, Elizabeth Anne and Christopher Scott joined Rod (6) and Debbie Lynn (3) on October 16, 1959.

HARRY BIRCHARD was awarded his M.B.A. degree in June by American University in Washington, D. C. He is a supervisory accountant employed by the U. S. Congress. On June 11 he was married to the former Sylvia D. Sanderfer and is living at 330 N. High St., West Chester.

Mr. ROBERT M. COWDRICK has been elected president of the Bucknell Alumni Club of Lehigh Valley.

Dr. GEORGE E. DODSON, physician in gynecology and obstetrics—Board Qualified—is an Associate with Trover Clinic in Madisonville, Ky. He finds the work very satisfying and says, "The living and practice here in Madisonville are just what I want out of life." Address: Trover Clinic, 55 East North, Madisonville, Ky.

JOSEPH E. ELICK has been promoted to section head in the Industrial Engineering Department of The Hoover Company. He is married, has two sons and lives at 445 Standish Ave., N. W., Massillon, Ohio.

AMY L. HENNEBERGER arrived in Heidelberg, Germany, on April 22 for a two-year assignment with the North Atlantic Girl Scouts. She is one of the nine field advisors working with approximately 15,000 scouts who are children of American military personnel stationed in 10 European and North African countries.

Anyone headed for Guam? If so, look up LCDR. JAMES A. BORTNER, U. S. N., who left August 1 for a two-year assignment at the U. S. Naval Ship Repair Facility. His address will be Navy No. 926, c/o FPO, San Francisco, Calif.

Dr. ROBERT H. WILLIAMS has opened offices at 331 Center St., Williamsport, for the practice of pediatrics and adolescent medicine. Bob received his M.D. degree from Western Reserve University School of Medicine and interned at hospitals in London, England, and Cleveland, Ohio. For the past year he has been affiliated with the Adolescent Unit of the Children's Medical Center at Boston, Mass. Mrs. Williams is the former BETTY LOU PETERMAN. They have two daughters, Emily (4) and Amy (2).

WILLIAM R. LAWSON and K. Ann Politt were married June 25, 1960. Bill who resides at 2022 Sheridan St., Williamsport, is an announcer-salesman for WWPA in Williamsport.

Dr. J. RICHARD ZERBY of 501 Kissel Hill, Lititz, received his Doctor of Education degree from Pennsylvania State University in August. He is serving as supervisor-teacher at the Warwick Union Schools in Lititz.

PHILIP MORONE has been named plant manager of the Watstown, Beavertown and Harrisburg plants of the Glen Gery Shale Brick Corp., with headquarters in Watstown. His wife is the former Nora Fisher and they have three children: Philip, 12; Pamela, 10; and Patrick, 8. Home address: R. D. 1, Watstown.

William A. Markley, Jr., of 304 Hartshorn St., Alliance, Ohio, a mathematics professor at Mount Union College, has been awarded a Mellon Scholarship for advanced study at the University of Pittsburgh. His wife is the former Patricia Errett and they have twin daughters, Ann and Susan, who were born September 7, 1955.

JOHN W. JONES has been named wholesale sales manager of the Sealtest Foods Division of the National Dairy Products Company with offices in Philadelphia. He is married to the former MARY L. PANGBURN '47 and they have three children: Beverly, 15; Stephen, 12; and David, 8. Address: R. D. 1, Howell Road, Malvern.

50

MISS HELEN E. GLOISTEN
161 Oak St.
West Hempstead, L. I., N. Y.

RICHARD L. FREED of 2105 Pleasant Ave., Glenside, was awarded the M.B.A. degree by the University of Delaware in June. Since returning in 1952 from his second hitch in the Army, he spent 4 years as an accountant with DuPont. Since 1956 he has been with Rohm & Haas Co. and is now industrial relations assistant. He is married to the former Kathryn Gehman and has two children, Cheryn Kay, 6, and Richard Kevin, 3 years old.

DORIS M. SEAMAN was elected secretary of the Bucknell Alumni Club of Cincinnati.

Mr. and Mrs. WILLIAM R. WEBBER of 21 Mervin St., Trumbull, Conn., announce the birth of their second daughter, Susan Jane, on May 18, 1960. Big sister, Elizabeth Ann, is 2½ years old.

Mrs. Donald S. Higgins (JANET W. MARDAGA) was elected treasurer of the Bucknell Alumni Club of Cincinnati.

Mr. and Mrs. FORREST D. BROWN, JR., announce the birth of a daughter, Karen Strivers, on July 1. Big brothers Douglas and David are 5½ and 4 years old. Address: 15 N. Avon Dr., Ashbourne Hills, Claymont, Del.

ANDREW M. MATHIESON was elected president of the class at our June reunion meeting. The Class of '50 took honors with 74 members registered for the week end, the highest attendance among all the classes.

ERIK J. BLOMQUIST, JR., is a member of a law firm newly organized on May 1 for the general practice of law. The firm name is Wicker, Smith, Blomqvist, Hinckley & Davant with offices at 506 Ainsley Bld., Miami 32, Fla. Erik received his LL.B. degree from the University of Miami. He is active as a Lieutenant in the Coast Guard Reserve and at present is serving as president of the Miami Phi Kappa Psi Alumni Club. He is married to the former Betty Jane Antilla and they have two children: Erik, Jr., 7; and Susan, 4. Home address: 1500 N. W. 132nd Terrace, Miami, Fla.

51

MRS. HAROLD P. NORRIS
(Rebecca J. Rogers)
6 Griffis St.
Montrose, Pa.

Reune in June, 1961

LYN JACKSON Sealand writes that she and Evans are living in Canton Center, Conn., where Evans is serving as pastor at the Congregational Church. The Sealand's have three daughters—Beverly Ann, 4; Pamela June, 2; and Deborah Jean, 10 months.

JAY J. SAPHIER, with his father, Lester Saphier, owns and operates the Triton Hotel the newest luxury resort on Lido Beach, Sarasota, Fla.. The 1960 Miss Florida Contest was held in Sarasota last summer and the Triton played host to the winner, Miss Kathy Magda, for a week prior to her participation in the Miss America Pageant at Atlantic City.

HERBERT K. ZEARFOSS and W. ROGER FETTER '47, have dissolved their law firm partnership and Herb has joined the legal department of the Fidelity Mutual Life Insurance in their Philadelphia offices. Mrs. Zearfoss is the former THELMA MCCARTHY '54. With their sons, Timothy (1½) and Jonathan (born September 22), they live at 1602 Stanwood St., Philadelphia 15.

MARY JANE RILEY Lacke (they pronounce it Lake) has been asked to handle the reunion book for our tenth-year reunion next June. Remembering what superb job she did on our fifth-year reunion book, we'll be looking forward eagerly to the result of her endeavors

THE BUCKNELL ALUMNUS

HERB ZEARFOSS has been contacted by sexy BUD BUSH concerning arrangements for our social meeting, so you can all look forward to a jolly get-together for "The class that's full of fun." BUD is aiming at an attendance goal of at least 75 '51ers to beat the record set by 50 last June. Be sure YOU are there to help us reach that goal.

And any of you who are willing to help in making preparations for our reunion should contact Bud. His address is 12 Monmouth Road, Eatontown, N. J. Get those letters in by mail SOON!

CLYDE McAVOY, who used to fill THE LUCKNELLIAN with all those fancy words, will soon be able to say it in another language. In preparation for his career as a foreign diplomat, he has already mastered Japanese and Thai (Siamese) and is now back in Washington, D. C., at the Foreign Service Institute to learn Indonesian in anticipation of an assignment to Djakarta next spring. During his stay in the United States, he and Jean and all the kids are living at 5119 East Ave., McLean, Va.

52 MRS. JOHN S. BOULDEN, JR.
(Barbara Blecker)
1605 Twin Maple Ave.
Towson 4, Md.

Mrs. Harry Baumgartner (AUDREY REYNOLDS) will serve as acting principal of the Eastern Joint Elementary School, Lewisburg, during the sabbatical leave of the regular principal, HAROLD M. DANOWSKY, M.S. '56. Audrey has had classroom teaching experience in every grade and prior to coming to Lewisburg she was principal of two elementary schools in the Meadville area school district.

Attorney and Mrs. Kenneth W. Hergenhan (JANE S. STAHL) of 4960 S. W. Hewitt Blvd., Portland 1, Oreg., announce the birth of their first child, Lisa Jane, on August 18.

Since last spring, I've received several wonderful letters from '52ers catching us up on their recent activities. If you haven't written in a while, how about letting us in on your "doings," too!

DANIEL WOODSIDE wrote that he obtained his degree in physical chemistry at Rutgers University in 1957. "I am now working in fundamental research in polyelectrolytes at Mellon Institute in Oakland. After hours, the various organizations of the Shrine provide interesting activities. If any of the class are in the Pittsburgh area, it would be nice to have them stop in and say hello at 700 Garfield St., Springdale."

From BOB BIRNBAUM a letter on a new letterhead—Birnbaum and Bernstein, Attorneys at Law, New York City. News from the home front, too. On April 7, Bob became a "very proud Daddy" when his wife, Barbara, presented him with a daughter, Margot Ann. In May, Bob worked on the Bucknell Dual Development Fund and says to us all—"This is a great project and I hope other members of our class get on the bandwagon!"

From JACKIE THOMPSON MORGAN—"You couldn't possibly be more surprised than we are at the recent speedy turn of events. ELLIOTT '50 accepted a position with General Electric as a process engineer in February. Since then we've managed to sell our old house, move to Schenectady, have a house built, and move again." Jackie adds that she and Elliott are glad to be relatively settled again at 31 Hickory Ridge, Balston Lake, R. D. 1, N. Y.

Doctors' daughters: On April 25, 1960, a third daughter, Nancy Jane, for Dr. JIM '53 and CAROL BROWN GAIDULA. One day later, April 26, a daughter for Drs. Rudolf and ANN LOUISE STEELE Buck (3 Colonial Drive, Mt. Vernon, McKeesport).

In June a letter came from Dr. GARY DONNELL catching us up on his activities since NOVEMBER 1960 he finished his internship and entered the Navy in August of 1957. He was ordered to the 3rd Marine Div., and "I spent a delightful year in Okinawa and in Japan . . . the Far East is a fascinating place . . . in the winter of '58 I was transferred to the U. S. S. Mt. McKinley. Home ported in Norfolk, Va. We made a six-month cruise to Europe, visiting Spain, France, Italy, Greece, Malta and Gibraltar. Last winter we made a voyage to Valparaiso, Chile, via the Panama Canal, in connection with the presidential trip to South America. Now I am starting residency training at the U. S. Naval Hospital in Philadelphia in dermatology. I expect to be here three years. Still single with no immediate plans for ending that. I hope to get back to Homecoming next year and to see all the '52ers."

53 MRS. JAMES A. CHAMBERS, JR.
(Barbara Roemer)
58 Linden Ave.
Verona, N. J.

Mr. and Mrs. NORMAN A. FREYTAG of R. D. 1, McKean Rd., Ambler, announce the birth of a daughter, Janice Lynne, on April 13, 1960.

GEORGE H. LOWER received his Bachelor of Divinity degree from Pittsburgh Theological Seminary on May 17 and was awarded a scholarship for work on his M.A. degree at Hartford Theological Seminary, starting in September.

We received a wonderfully long letter from CLAIRE (VOGELSONG) Pease telling all about life in Alaska where she and Ted are now living at Star Route A, Box 478-J, Spenard, Alaska, and enjoying such delicacies as deerburgers and moose roasts. But most important is the announcement of the birth of their son, David William, on July 30.

"A New Button" announces the birth of Eric Victor on August 18. The proud parents are DORIS (GLASSMAN) and Ben Button of 49 Nautilus Ave., Groton, Conn.

CARL and LYNN (HOWELL '54) Cording announce the birth of a son, Richard Carl, born July 17. This young lad and his sisters, Susan (4) and Peggy (2), are enjoying their new home at 532 General Knox Rd., King of Prussia, where Carl is working with General Electric Space and Missile Division.

The Browns and Taylors

Snapped at the Jersey shore this summer were (l. to r.) WILLENE (EDWARDS) and TED BROWN '51, children Teddy and Donna, with JOAN (HARRIS) and BILL TAYLOR '52, children Wendy and Billy.

Al Borelli '49

Al Borelli '49 went to Italy last summer playing concerts in Torino, Milan, and Venice as part of the Cultural Exchange Program. He returns to Switzerland in February for two more concerts and is making plans for a New York appearance in May, 1961.

Last June JOHN McFADDEN completed four years of night school and received a Juris Doctor degree from Detroit College of Law. He is now a sales representative for Modern Tool & Die Co. of Cleveland, Ohio. John and his wife, Billie, have two children—Deborah, 4; and John Scott, 1. Their home is at 14324 Lyons Ave., Livonia, Mich.

A letter from GAY DUNBAR Stoner brings us up to date on their news. Gay and Bob, married in 1955, have three girls: Susan Gay, 4; Sandra Lynn, 2; and Sally Ann, 6 months. Their home is at 417 Sleepy Hollow Rd., Pittsburgh.

Keeping up with DON HILL and family is hard! After Bucknell, Don received his master's degree from Cornell, then on to Rollins College in Florida where he was a professor in economics. At present he is a visiting professor at the American University in D. C. and will complete his doctorate work next September. Don and Elsa, their children Doug, Randy and Jane, live at 3736 Jason Ave., Alexandria, Va.

54 MRS. PAUL C. TARR, III
(Anne E. Tuckerman)
413 Alliston Rd.
Springfield, Pa.

GEORGE J. HENRY of 126 S. 3rd St., Catawissa, and Marilyn C. Morgan were married June 11. George is teaching in Southern Area Jointure.

Mrs. Matthew W. McGregor (PATRICIA J. INGHAM) is teaching under the Fulbright International Teacher's Exchange Program for the 1960-61 term in the first grade of the Pynes County Infants' School at Bideford, in Devon, England.

VINCENT J. McMANN, JR., received the LL.B. degree from Rutgers University in June. He is a law clerk with Herrigel, Bolan & Herrigel of Millburn, N. J. Vincent and his wife, Marcella, live at 527 North Ave., Apt. 6B, Elizabeth, N. J.

TENNYSON T. WANG is with the Transport Division in the field of computing and writing for the IBM 707 computer with the Boeing Airplane Company in Seattle, Wash.

Rev. Harry J. McSorley '53

The Reverend Harry J. McSorley '53, C.S.P. was ordained to the priesthood on May 11, 1960, by Francis Cardinal Spellman. Harry will go to Germany this Fall to begin a doctoral program at the University of Munster and other European universities.

SANDRA L. WHIPPLE and David Dietzer were married April 30 and are living at 629 Genesee St., Rochester 20, N. Y.

William J. Asher

Mr. and Mrs. Jerry W. Asher, Jr. (S. JANE ANDERSON) announce the birth of a daughter, Katherine Jane, on June 5. She joins William Jerald, who is two years old. The Ashers live at 410 Gatewood Terr., Sierra Madre, Calif. Jane also tells us that a third child, Richard Carl, joined the CORDING '53 family (LYNN HOWELL) on July 17. The BAILEY '53 family (SALLY DIETRICH) is now living at 956 Rita Drive, Pittsburgh 21. The Ferrens (HELEN FRAZEE) have a new address—1840 Loch Shiel Rd., Baltimore 4, Md. ANN (SIDES) and Gene Bishop have three boys and are living in Nashville, Tenn.

Mr. and Mrs. PIERREPONT E. SPERRY, JR. (CYNTHIA ANN KESSLER '58) announce the birth of a daughter, Cynthia Faye, on August 5. Pierrepont is attending Stanford University where he will earn his Master of Science degree in engineering.

BRUCE A. LABAR, of 5 David Ct., Metuchen, N. J., has been promoted to senior rating (accountant) with Arthur Anderson & Co. His wife is the former MARION MOLL '56.

The LaBars have a two-year-old son, Philip Schuyler.

Dr. BLAKE TEWKSBURY assumed the post of president of Lasell Junior College in Auburndale, Mass., on July 1.

ELLWOOD S. DERR was signally honored recently upon being presented to Dr. Luebke, president of West Germany, at a ceremony in Bonn, Germany. Ellwood has been a research fellow at the foundation since October, 1959, and is the only student of music granted such a fellowship. His grant to the foundation and academy has been renewed for the continuation of his work for the 1960-61 term. Ellwood spent his freshman year at Bucknell, received his bachelor's degree from the Eastman School of Music and his master's degree from the University of Illinois School of Music.

55

MRS. JOHN C. VANCE, JR.
(Jane Jones)
3 Ford Court
Charleston, S. C.

DONALD R. SMITH, JR., was elected class president at the June reunion meeting.

Dr. MARGUERITE R. DALLABRIDA was awarded her M.D. degree by the Woman's Medical College in June and is serving her internship at the Sacred Heart Hospital in Allentown.

Mr. and Mrs. David S. Hume (BOBBIE BURNS) had a son born May 2, 1959, and they named him after his father since they share the same birthday. They have another little boy, Bradford, 3, and a little girl, Lauren, 5. Dave is with I. B. M. and was recently transferred to White Plains, N. Y. Their new address is 16 West Way, Lawrence Farms South, Chappaqua, N. Y.

CHARLIE PRICE writes of a third addition, Carter Bruce, who was born July 8, 1959. Allied Chemical transferred Charlie to Chicago late last year to take charge of their metropolitan sales in his department (refrigerants and aerosol propellants). The Prices are living at 1814 West Farwell, Apt. 3-C, Chicago 26, Ill.

DOROTHY C. LEWIS and Keith Reynolds were married on April 5 and are living at 10966 Fellows Ave., Pacoima, Calif., where Keith is a video-tape editor with NBC-TV in Burbank, Calif. Dorothy is now a fulltime homemaker, after 2½ years as secretary to the vice president of the Carnation Milk Co., and is happy in her new role.

56

MRS. WILLIAM J. O'NEIL
(Jean M. Wirths)
1706 Esplanade Apt. C, Hollywood Riv.
Redondo Beach, Calif.

Reune in June, 1961

Class president LES BISHOP and reunion chairman SAM POSNER have announced the start of reunion plans. BARBARA HOPF Grogin with aid from ELIZABETH RUFÉ Jackson, POLLY ANN KELLER OWEN, ROBERT SHAFFER and ELIZABETH KIELAR will soon be mailing out questionnaires for information to be included in the Reunion Anniversary Book.

The arrival of future Bucknellians is announced by: Mr. and Mrs. William Hayward (BETTY ANN FOGG)—a girl, Janet Ellen; Mr. and Mrs. ROBERT ROBERTS '54 (JANET REPLOGLE)—a girl, Barbara Lee; Mr. and Mrs. RICHARD ULP—a girl, Karen Ann; Mr. and Mrs. ROBERT WHITEHEAD (CHARLOTTE ECCLES)—a boy, Gordon Blake; Mr. and Mrs. JAMES SCHUBAUER—a girl, Kirsten Lee; Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Hankins (JOAN FARMER)—a boy, Bruce Maxwell, Jr.; Mr. and Mrs. ALBERT KETLER, JR.—a girl, Heidi Elizabeth; Mr. and Mrs. Don Handley (ANN BRIDDELL)—a boy, David Martin; Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Hartmann (PEGGY HEALD)—a son, Joseph Heald; Mr. and Mrs. NEIL (Mickey) KA KUS—a daughter, Laura Ellen.

M. ANNE HARRIS was married on July to Bruce E. Dawson. Anne is teaching Rockaway Township, N. J., and Bruce is mechanical engineer with Thiskel Chemical Corp. The Dawsons are living at 10 Dacot Ave., Rockaway, N. J.

Recently married is ELEANOR BEETLE Charles L. Crane, Jr. The Cranes will be living at 38 N. Burnett St., East Orange, N. J.

Mr. and Mrs. Francis Scheirer (LARRY SNYDER) have returned from a tour of the continents and have prepared a program commentary and colored slides telling of the journey. Information is available by writing to the Scheirers at Quentin.

ILSE HOFFMANN is now Mrs. John Stanton and is living in Springfield, N. Husband, John, is an aeronautical engineer with Curtiss Wright.

BARBARA RIGG has become Mrs. Robert Cotter and is now living in New Brunswick, N. J. Bob is a chemist with Union Carbide.

BRUNO F. HEINE is married to the former Jacqueline Meyer and has one son, Karl Bruno. Bruno is an industrial controls specialist with the Detroit Controls Division of American Standard Corporation. The Heine's address is: 220 Allyndale Dr., Stratford, Conn.

WILLIAM F. HINCHMAN and Kay Swope were married January 4. Bill is manager of Household Finance Company at Pompano Beach, Fla. Their home address is: 15 S. E. 2nd Court, Apt. 4, Fort Lauderdale, Fla.

Speaking of a dream trip! JOHN R. RAMUSSEN, who works for the American President Lines in New York, N. Y., sailed on April 29 on their liner President Monroe for a combined business and pleasure trip to the west coast. En route he visited the Canal Zone, Acapulco, Mexico, San Francisco and—by ship—Chicago.

JAMES R. BASTIAN received an M.D. degree from Jefferson Medical College in June and is interning at the Williamsport Hospital.

Dr. and Mrs. DALE T. BOWEN (BARBARA A. NOXON) and son Bruce David are living at the Valley View Apts., 16th and Elm Sts., Allentown, while Dale is interning at the Allentown General Hospital. Dale received his M.D. degree in June from the Temple University Medical School.

Mr. and Mrs. ROBERT W. DRIVER (MAJORIE STEINKAMP) returned to the States in February after 5 months in Rome, Italy where Bob was one of seven people enrolled in the first Graduate Overseas Training Program of Syracuse University. He conducted independent research on the life and work of foreign correspondents in Rome including REYNOLDS PACKARD '26 of the United Press. Bob is now a reporter with the Toledo Blade. Driver address: 4115 Bowen Rd., Toledo 13, Ohio.

Dr. JOSEPH C. ENGLISH received his M.D. degree from Temple University Medical School in June and is interning at Mercer Hospital, Trenton, N. J. His wife, the former CLAIRE L. HAMMOND, is teaching at an elementary school in Philadelphia. Address: 31 Viking Lane, Levittown.

SAMUEL J. FAIELLO is an account executive in public relations with Joseph Mayers and Company. In his spare time he writes fiction with his first novel now in the hands of a literary agent. The Faiello's have a son, Dean Anthony. Home address: 233 Eastern Parkway, Newark 6, N. J.

ANDREW HORVAT, JR., is a sales representative for Levin & Hecht, Inc., and Barn & Goldsmith, Inc., and travels in five southwestern states selling sport shirts. The Horvats (NIKI A. DOCKEY '55) have a son, Matthew and live at 726 Greenleaf Dr., Richardson, Texas.

ARTHUR D. KINNEY, JR., has been appointed a staff assistant of the Pittsburgh inch office of the Connecticut Life Insurance Company. Arthur is married to the former DROTHY A. HUND '57, has two children, Douglas and Laura, and lives at 1827 Brett Ave., Pittsburgh 5.

THE BUCKNELL ALUMNI

NANCY C. COHILL and Stephen W. Rogers are married June 4 and are living at 24 Arden City Dr., Cranston, R. I.

E. JEANNE LOWER and Guy C. Bell were married on December 24, 1960, and are living at Dartmouth Apts., Swarthmore.

The Martens family

BILL MARTENS had a lapfull of family on his vacation at Sag Harbor, N. Y. Mrs. Martens (MARY BRYFOGLE) and son, William, helped Bill "relax."

BILL and CAROL (WANAMAKER) LENKER spent a wonderful week end with the Martens this summer and sent us this snapshot. The Lenkers left for Germany in October where Bill will serve in the U. S. Army. Bill received his D.D.S. degree from the University of Pennsylvania Dental School in June and is looking forward to practicing after his "hitch" is over. Bill and Carol have a one-year-old son, Robert.

JOHN W. NICHOLS and Maxine R. Phillips were married July 2. John is a psychiatric social worker at the Governor Bacon Health Center in Delaware City, Del.

ALVIN E. DURYEA, JR. was married on October 1 to Nancy J. Wharton. He is assistant manager of the First National Bank of Somerset County. Address: 97 Middaugh St., Somerville, N. J.

57 MRS. PETER CHANNELL
(Catherine L. Evans)
5552-2A Netherlands Ave.
Riverdale, N. Y.

A daughter, Jane Marie, was born to Dr. and Mrs. Paul K. Nase (JANE K. MASTERS) of 4422 Cates Ave., Jacksonville, Fla., on October 5, 1959.

JOHN PANKOPF and Dawn Regan were married October 10, 1959, and are living at 420 Maple Ave., Pittsburgh 15.

DARVIN L. SCHANLEY of 19-M Dryden, Arlington Heights, Ill., is employed by the American Casualty Company as a special agent and salesman. He was married on January 23 to Carole Taylor.

Last year one of the Alumni Contributions of World University Service went to Mr. and Mrs. MASAYA (DAVE) YAMAMOTO (T. ATSUKO OUCHI '56) of 3-2 chome, Akamatsu, Nade Kobe, Japan. With $100 they were able to get other student help and build a first aid center for their University Camp. It is called "Bucknell Cottage." We are proud of their accomplishments.

Lt. JAMES L. YARNALL and his wife, the former Joy N. Parrish, celebrated their first wedding anniversary on April 18. Jim is a helicopter pilot with the U. S. Marines at the New River, N. C., base. His home address is 4 Myrtle Court, Wrightsville Beach, N. C.

THELMA E. ADAMSON is a student in the School of Chemistry at the University of Geneva for the 1959-60 term. She is hoping to meet up with other Bucknellians who are living in Europe. Her address is 24 Blvd. des Philosophes, Geneva, Switzerland.

ELIZABETH L. FOSTER and John V. Reilly were married December 28, 1959, and their address is Box 272, Paoli.

DAVID J. GABRIEL of 1751 Sanderson Ave., Scranton, has been named mid-west representative for International Textbook Company's Publishing Department.

Mr. and Mrs. RALPH L. HARMAN (SUSAN E. McMICKLE '58) of Shetland Apts., Game Farm Rd., Ithaca, N. Y., announce the birth of a daughter, Patricia Ellen, on February 18. Ralph is employed by General Electric Company.

CAROLE P. VOUGHT and Ronald E. Feltman were married July 4, 1959 and are living at Gladstone, N. J., where Ronald is an engineer with RCA. Prior to her marriage Carole was a music teacher in the schools of Middletown, N. J.

J. HARRY BUCHANAN was married August 15 to Susan L. Shepardson. He is assistant account executive with Erwin, Wacey, Ruthrauff & Ryan, Inc. of New York City. The Buchanans are living at 4-A Beech Spring Dr., Summit, N. J.

ELEANOR M. HABER is trust administrator with the Bank of New York. She lives at 209 E. 56th St., New York 22, N. Y.

Mr. and Mrs. JAMES W. LADD, III (SUZANNE S. MILLER '58) announce the birth of their first child, Brett James, on March 5. The proud father is vice president of Ladd Motors, Inc. in Lebanon—also has his competition sports car racing license and is collecting racing trophies. The Ladds live at 309 Elm St., Lebanon.

M. JOYCE LOWER is a teacher of physical education at the Oakland Junior High School in California.

H. WILLIAM OCKER, JR., was elected president of the Bucknell Alumni Club of Pacific Northwest.

On June 12, following graduation from Colgate-Rochester Divinity School, Rev. A. DONALD O'POLKA assumed the duties of associate minister of the Wilkesburg Baptist Church in Pittsburgh. Don is married to the former EDITH F. EMERY '56. Their new address is 1432 Traymore Ave., Pittsburgh 21.

ROBERT E. GERMAN, JR., was elected vice chairman of the Bucknell Alumni Club of Cincinnati.

KENNETH H. ROSE and Sarah Jane Grose-dose of Annapolis, Md., were married June 25, and are living at "Pines on the Severn," Arnold, Md. Bucknellians attending Ken were DAVID CARSTATER '57, ROBERT JOHN-SON '56, PIERREPONT SPERRY '54, and DONALD COLE '53.

58 MRS. FRANK H. RICHARDS, III
(Faith Bonsall)
6 Holman St.
Allston, Mass.

We have a lot to catch up on since we didn't get into the last issue. It's been a short summer in Massachusetts and the story is probably the same for most of you. My husband, Dick, is continuing work in the School of Architecture and City Planning at M. I. T., and I am currently working for a professor in the School of Industrial Management at M. I. T. Still a Bucknellian at heart, though!

FRAN HITTLEMAN received her master's degree in psychology from Columbia University in January. On September 17 Fran married Lionel Schaen, head of radio and TV at C. J. LaRoche Advertising Agency in New York. All good wishes, Fran!

Dr. Lee R. Walters '54

Dr. Lee R. Walters '54 returned to Lafayette College in September as assistant professor of chemistry. Prior to accepting a teaching position at Lafayette in 1959, Lee was employed as a senior research chemist with the Atlas Powder Co. in Wilmington, Del. The Walters address is 317 W. Lafayette St., Easton.

IRA PODNOS has his master's degree in English from New York University. He married Hedda Litwin of Briarcliff Manor, N. Y., on June 25, and now teaches in the North Syracuse School System.

PHIDDY (GILMAN) and BILL SCOTT are in Lancaster, where Phiddy is teaching and Bill is with Sears Roebuck.

Mr. and Mrs. John Borden (MAG WIDMAIER) are living at 71 Beech St., N. Arlington, N. J.—they have a little boy, Douglas Crane, born last January 24.

SHIRLEY (COOK) Hatch and husband, Bill, of San Diego, Calif., became parents on May 28. Their little girl is Sybil Elizabeth.

PAT (HEAD) and STEVE JENNINGS added a third to their family on July 1. Looks as if their daughter, Lynn Alice, is destined to be a Bucknellian as her God-Mother turns out to be yours truly!

DABBIE (BARTLESON) and HAROLD ERIKSON joined the diaper set last January 11. Their little girl is Susan Lee.

Mr. and Mrs. ROBERT E. HASLAM (JANET B. BULL) of 1100 S. Goodman St., Box 109, Rochester, N. Y., announce the birth of a daughter, Barbara Lynn, on August 8.

Mr. and Mrs. JAMES DAVIS (JUDY GEIWITZ) announce the birth of a little sister, Jill Suzanne, (April 25) for two-year-old Jeff. They live in Vernon, Conn.

TONY FALCONIERI has completed the training program with Metropolitan Life Insurance Co. and has been assigned to the Seattle Field Office. He and wife DIANE (KRAJOVIC '59) live at 433 Belmont North, Apt. 206, Seattle 22, Wash.

DON HABERSTROH married Priscilla Milnes of Groveland, Mass., on July 9. Don is at the Army Chemical Center in Edgewood, Md., and will complete service in November.

WILLIAM E. SPEARE, JR., has been named curator of natural science at the Everhart Museum, Scranton. Bill taught science in Katonah, N. Y., last year.

Marriages: JANE VETTER to DON KING on April 30; JOHN KESSLER to JANICE HUGHES '59 on May 21; JOHN MUELLER

Kenneth S. Tashjy '55

McCall's Magazine has recently announced the appointment of Kenneth S. Tashjy '55 as home furnishings promotion manager. He had formerly served as advertising manager, Callaway Mills, Inc.; assistant advertising manager, Bigelow Carpet Co.; and advertising copywriter for Fletcher D. Richards Advertising Agency.

Following graduation in 1955 he served two years in the Army as public information officer at the Army's Engineer Center at Fort Belvoir, Va., as a First Lieutenant.

Since he left Bucknell he has also earned a Master of Arts degree from George Washington University. As an undergraduate he made an outstanding record in athletics serving on the varsity football squad for four seasons and on varsity wrestling for three seasons, was winner of the heavyweight intercollegiate boxing championship and selected for the All-East football squad in 1951. He was a member of Sigma Alpha Epsilon and served four years on the Bucknellian staff.

He is married and he and his wife with their young son live at 30 West Harriet Ave., Palisades Park, N. J.

to Jo Frances Creed on June 18; SALLY STUARD to Lawrence M. Detmer, assistant director of Johns Hopkins University Hospital, on July 1; FREDERICK HAUKE to Leitha Zimmerman on May 30.

GINA (BENTON) and RON FISHER are Navy folks for awhile. Ron was commissioned last year at Newport, R. I. They are now on Treasure Island, where Ron is with the Transportation Center. Gina says Treasure Island is "a little dab in the middle of San Francisco Bay."

On May 3, 1960, Lt. ROBERT W. PERRY took over as commanding officer of the 87th Ordnance Detachment (explosive disposal), Presidio of San Francisco, Calif.

SANDRA A. COVERT and Howard Friend were married August 20. Howard is a student at the State University of Iowa and Sandra hopes to begin graduate work there in February, 1961.

59

MRS. VENALD W. BOVARD, JR.
(Jeanne F. Anderson)
1612 Jefferson Ave.
Dunmore, Pa.

It was good to see so many '59ers back for symposium and reunion in June. Although a stalwart few appeared in the reunion photograph, more were on hand to share in the festivities. Keep up the good work! Thanks to all who worked so hard on making our first reunion a success.

JOAN T. HENDRICKSON and PETER T. BOOR were married on July 2, 1960, and are living at 1008 Begole, Flint 3, Mich. Joan will be teaching in the Lena Stoker School in Flint and Pete will teach instrumental music in a district outside Flint. Pete received a master's degree from the University of Illinois in June, 1960.

ARTHUR L. REENSTRA received the Master of Science in Electrical Engineering degree from Carnegie Institute of Technology in June.

ROBERT S. HARDER has accepted a position in the controller's office of the Armstrong Cork Co. His new address is 946 Buchanan Ave., Lancaster.

LANCE G. MINNICH of 501 W. Market St., York, received a B.S. degree in pharmacy from the Philadelphia College of Pharmacy and Science in June. He is employed by Minnich's Pharmacy, Inc., York.

DIANA E. SMITH of 6201 Newburn Dr., Washington 16, D. C., is head of the Histology Department at Hunter Memorial Laboratory and has been given the responsibility of setting up a similar laboratory in one of the Washington hospitals.

ROBERT WATKINS, former president of the Bucknell Alumni Club of Chambersburg, writes, "In all the rushing around to complete the Chambersburg alumni meeting, start out on a new job (now supervisor in the operating department for a new plant to manufacture Caprolactam—a form of nylon) and move the family 1600 miles, my wife Nancy presented me with a 6½ pound baby girl on February 21. We call her Karen Ellen and she is the pride and joy of her brother and sister, Barry and Lynn, as well as her parents. Sorry, I've run out of cigars, but they don't mail very well anyway!" Our reply is, "Congratulations and best wishes for all good things." Their address: 5785 Frost Ave., Beaumont, Texas.

J. DAVID PEARAH and ANN M. BLAKE were married July 2 and are living at 1227 W. Hilton St., Philadelphia 40. Dave is starting his second year at Temple Medical School and Ann is teaching music in the elementary school at Haverford.

NORMAN S. BURR and KATHLEEN WRIGHTSTONE were married May 28 and are living at 716 N. Washington St., Rome, N. Y. Norm is supervisor of employment and claims in the public relations department of General Cable Company.

KATHERINE Y. CAVITCH and Thomas Maddock, III, were married May 14 and are living at 2538 Ross Rd., Silver Spring, Md. Katherine is a chemist with the National Institute of Health at Bethesda, Md.

Upon completion of graduate work at the University of Missouri in June, LARRY C. RIGHTMYER was assigned as the assistant director of the technical department for Glen-Gery Shale Brick Corp., at Reading.

JOSEPHINE A. RUFF attended a 13-week session of specialized science-education training at Oak Ridge Institute of Nuclear Studies, Oak Ridge, Tenn., which was sponsored by the Upper Susquehanna Valley program of cooperative research at Bucknell University. She returned to the campus in September.

ALAN W. STEISS of 2300 S. Broad St., Trenton 10, N. J., is assistant planner with the State Planning Bureau, Department of Conservation and Economic Development. State planning is relatively new to the organizational structure of state governments and Alan served in a similar capacity in Wisconsin while taking graduate work at the University of Wisconsin. He and his wife, the former PATRICIA McCLINTOCK, have one daughter, Carol Jean, born April 1.

JOHN W. YAUKEY has completed 6 months service with the Army and is now an assistant auditor with Arthur Anderson & Co.

Come on '59ers—keep in touch. Let us hear more about what you've been doing. Happy Thanksgiving.

60

MISS JANE DAHL
47 Central Ave.
Newtonville 60, Mass.

Reune in June, 1961

Marriages: RUTH ELEANOR BODY and TERRY N. FETTERMAN '58, June 4; KATHLEEN J. CROSSETT and WILLIAM D. DAGGS '59, ROBERT H. HOPPER and NANCY L. BOYER '58, June 18; CAROL MAN DERBACH and Michael Joseph, June 19; RACHEL L. ROBBINS and CHARLES E. MERTZ, JR., July 14; SANDRA D. CARYL and William J. Schmacher, CAROL POPP and ALVAN LEVESQUE '58, July 23; MARGARET E. BECKMAN and Elton S. Goff, August 9; SHERRY L. RHONE and John F. Allison, ELIZABETH MARTIN and CHARLES A. COFFEY, August 20; HENRY C. RUSSELL, JR. and PATRICIA A. IRISH '59, August 27; WILLIAM O. KUGLER and Barbara A. Brouse, August 28; MARTHA B. BOVARD and Alexis Barron, PETER MATZ, JR., and Audrey Prior, MARGARET L. JOHNSON and GERALD R. REINHART '61, September 10; KARI HANTO and GEORGE L. HAGAR '59, September 18.

Continuing from the September issue of THE BUCKNELL ALUMNUS, these classmates are attending graduate schools:

ROY W. HEIDTMANN, SANDRA M. HJORTSBERG, PEGGY HOLLINSHEAD, ROBERT A. HOWELL, RONALD P. JENSEN, RUTH V. JONES, SUE KOCH, MARJORY E. KUHN, JOHN H. MANNING, JEFFREY K. MESSING, NEIL B. MURPHY, VIRGINIA M. NOTARI, MARK B. PETERSON, HOWARD B. SILBERBERG, CAROL SINGLETON, BERTRAM C. SIPPOLA, RALPH B. STRADER, III, J. STEPHEN STROBECK, ROGER STROUT, DENMAN J. SWEETMAN, MARGARET J. THOMAS, PATRICIA M. VASBINDER, BARBARA A. WARDEN, LORRAINE J. WASSERMAN, LYNDA L. WEAVER, RICHARD L. WERNER, LINDA E. AVITABILE, JUDITH BAYMILLER, WALTER G. BOLLINGER, MARGARET DUVERNET, ROBERT M. ERDAHL, DANIEL C. GARNER, JON P. KRAUS, JOSEPH V. PETRELLI, JR., HENRY C. RUSSELL, JR. and DONALD RIGG.

The teaching profession claims the following members of our class: HAROLD M. ADAMS, BARB ANDERSEN, NANCY J. ANDERSON, SALLY ANDERSON, JUDITH D. ANGELO, BARBARA C. BORSIK, PAUL E. BRINER, JR., ELIZABETH A. BRYAN, ALFRED B. CORNISH, JAMES B. CREASY, DEBORAH W. DAVIS, KAREN ESPOSITO, MRS. GERALDINE FAINT McLAREN, BARBARA L. FISHER, BARBARA J. GOOD, LUCILLE J. HAIGH, BETTY A. HAUCK, LOUISE P. JOHNSON, Mrs. MARTHA ANN LAUVER, SAMEK, JOYCE E. LARANY, ROBERT G. LESHNER, JANE E. LYDMAN, MARY J. LOUIS, NED D. McCLINTOCK, BARBARA E. MacDOUGALL, ELINOR M. MICHAEL, JOHANNE E. NIELSEN, ROBERT H. PATZ, WALL, LINNIE PECK, JOAN M. PIERSON, ZOE G. PROCTOR, SHERRY L. RHONE, LINDA J. RICE, JUDITH G. ST. CLAIR, JAN SHIPMAN, ROBERTA C. SNELL, JOHN W. STAUFFER, JR., BONNIE L. STEELE, JANET W. STOCKHAM, Mrs. SUI STOKES JOHNSON, LINDA A. WATT, JUDITH A. WHEAT, ELEANOR A. WILLIAMS, SHARON B. WRIGHT, ROY A.

THE BUCKNELL ALUMNUS

U. S. Army Photograph

Lt. Wcaver '57, Lt. Rappel '56,
Lt. Basmadjian '57, Lt. Landzettel '57

Four Bucknell reserve officers trained together for two weeks this summer at Camp Drum, N. Y. They are: 1st Lt. Donald Weaver '57, 1st Lt. Frank Rappel '56, 2nd Lt. Ken Basmadjian '57 and 2nd Lt. Robert Landzettel '57.

YOUNG, GUY H. BASTRESS, MILDRED E. BITTNER, EDITH A. CAMERON, Mrs. KATHLEEN CROSSETT DAGGS, DAVID H. EHLERS, N. DOUGLAS ERICKSON, RICHARD H. FELIX, ROBERT W. GEHRIG, C. ROBERT GEORGE, JOHN R. GRIMM, Mrs. ANNA HANLEY Ulmer, PATRICIA I. HAUSE, ROBERT E. HINKELMAN, GAIL E. HOFFMAN, ELAINE R. JOHNSTON, Mrs. HANNAH KELLER Rhawn, ERNEST V. LIDDLE, FRANCIS P. MARTINO, CHALMERS E. MEANS, RODNEY K. MORGAN, CYNTHIA J. ORR, PATIENCE PERRY, NANCY H. ROGERS, JAMES A. ROMBERGER and LLOYD F. WOODLING.

Other class members have the following business associations: JOHN C. EACHUS, JAMES A. HERB and LOIS L. LENHARD—Bell Telephone; GEORGE M. BUSHYEAGER, RONALD J. PEDRICK, RICHARD C. SKELTON and JACK E. WOERNER—U. S. Steel; RONALD E. BOYER, HAROLD L. GINGRICH and KATHERINE M. TAYLOR—General Electric Co.; FRANK K. REGAN and ANN R. STURGEON—Atlantic Refining Co.; FREDERICK L. AHLGREN and SARA G. BENSON—DuPont and Co.; MELVIN A. PHILLIPS and JOANNA R. ZIEGLER—Koppers Co.; GARY K. MUNKELT and NANCY A. SPENCE—Lederle Laboratories; Mrs. JANE REUNING English and RICHARD E. GOELLER—The Martin Co.; RAYMOND C. DEVEREAUX and JOHN C. WHISLER—Pennsylvania Department of Highways; MARCIA C. MAHLAN and JOHN T. ROLAND—Sylvania Electric Products Inc.; BARBARA A. BARBARIN—E. R. Squibb & Sons; JUDITH A. BEERY—Arnot Ogden Memorial Hospital; RANDOLPH T. BLISS, JR.—Merrill Lynch, Pierce, Fenner & Smith; JOHN R. CARLSON—Gimbel Bros. Dept. Store; DOROTHY F. CARRINGTON—Warner-Lambert Pharmaceutical Co.; JAMES P. CHAPMAN—Allis-Chalmers; SALLY E. COTNER—Conde Nast Publications, Inc.; LAWRENCE W. CRANE, III—New England Telephone Co.; ROBERT A. CROVELLI—U. S. Naval Air Development Center; PATRICK C. DELLER—Sikorsky Aircraft; MARGARET A. DeVOL—Bryn Mawr Hospital; HARRY E. EMINGER—American Car & Foundry; DIANE ENGELSON—Eastman Kodak; CHARLES J. ERNST—Kearfott Division; LEONARD J. FERRO—Bendix Aviation Corp.; CAMERON M. GEISEL, JR.—salesman and stockbroker; KURT D. GERRISH—Gerrish Motors, Inc.; CLINTON H. GILKEY—Dravo Corp.; GEORGE S. GREEN, JR.—Duquesne Light

Co.; RICHARD T. HAMPTON—Southern Railway; JOHN S. HILL—Chevrolet Baltimore; BARBARA E. IRLAND—Strong Memorial Hospital; HAROLD C. KELSHAW, JR.—Prudential Ins. Corp. of America; WILLIAM O. KUGLER—Sears, Roebuck & Co.; JEROLD F. LINDHOLM—Lehigh Portland Cement; DAVID LOEWENSTEIN, III—Wilson's Men's Stores; VIANNA B. LONG—Baltimore Gas & Electric Co.; MARILYN P. MACNANEE—Profit Sharing Industries; HOMER C. MOORE—Lybrand Ross Bros. & Montgomery; BRIAN A. O'LEARY—Pall Corp.; HENRY J. PULIZZI—Potomac Electric Power Co.; GEORGIA W. RICE—Remington Rand Univac; KENNETH W. RICKETT—Mr. Soltee; ARTHUR A. RUDMANN—Reaction Motors, Inc.; DONALD J. SALTZMAN—Fred Landau & Co.; DAVID E. SOLOMON—Westinghouse Electric Corp.; JEAN L. SPAULDING—Creative P. R., Inc.; FRANCIS D. STILLMAN, JR.—West Penn Power Co.; WAYNE E. STODDARD—Educators Assoc.; BEVERLY R. SWIGLE—Insurance; TERRY R. THESIERES—Buchan Loose Leaf Records Co.; THOMAS A. THOMPSON—Detroit Tigers; RALPH B. WEAVER—Pennsylvania Power & Light Co.; RICHARD C. WHITNEY—Doylestown Intelligencer; RICHARD P. WILKINSON, III—Strawbridge & Clothier; BETTY A. WILLIS—Insurance Co. of North America; RICHARD P. YATES—United Gilsonite Laboratories; SUSAN B. ALLARD—Standard Brands, Inc.; ISABELLE J. BATES—University of Rochester Medical Center; TIMOTHY J. BOOSER—Boeing Aircraft Co.; DAVID M. CONROY—U. S. Steel; PHYLLIS J. HESS—I. B. M.; DIRK C. HOFMAN—New Jersey State Highway Dept.; ROBERT H. HOPPER—Montgomery Ward; BRIAN R. KESSLER—City of Detroit Public Work Dept.; FRED LIEBERMAN—Wunderman, Ricotta & Kline; Mrs. CAROL MANDERBACH Joseph—New Jersey State Board of Child Welfare; JOAN E. MANN—Strawbridge & Clothier; CHARLES E. MERTZ, JR.—U. S. Steel; RICHARD J. MOONEY—Long Island Lighting; RALPH C. NILL—Standard Auto Co.; JEROME M. POLLACK—Par-Kay Mills, Inc.; MARVIN H. PORTER—Philadelphia Electric Co.; RANDOLPH M. REYNOLDS—A-M-R Chemical Co.; ANN E. SCHAW—Onco Oil Co.; LUCY D. SCHOLES—Standard Oil of Ohio; JAMES T. SHANNON—American Process Corp.; DAVID E. TOWSON—Army Chemical Center; Mrs. BARBARA TREXLER York—Lehigh County Family and Children's Service; CAROL M. WOOLEY—Time, Inc.

IN MEMORIAM

The following deaths have been reported to the Alumni Office since August, 1960. The University extends sympathy to the surviving relatives.

1893—Rev. Edward C. Pauling, July 7, 1960
1895—Dr. Ezra Allen, October 1, 1960
1897—Miss Margaret M. Raikie (Inst.)
1898—Mr. Roy B. Mulkie, July 26, 1960
1904—Mr. Lewis B. Custer, March 22, 1960
1907—Miss Carolyn M. Reeb, August 27, 1960
1908—Dr. John F. Hummer
1910—Mr. Donald J. MacCalman (Acad.), August 17, 1960
1911—Mrs. Karl McDonnell (Margaret Chappel), 1959
1913—Mr. George T. Piersol, June 1, 1960
1916—Commander William H. Henszey, July 31, 1960
1921—Mr. John C. Finnegan, September 8, 1960
Mrs. Coveleskie (Florence M. Konopka) (Music)
1923—Mrs. Charles W. Crist (Anna M. Speare), August 6, 1960
1925—Mr. Henry K. Owen, May, 1960
Mrs. William D. Golightly (Hanna Davis) (Music), August 24, 1960
Mrs. Anthony K. Wilsbach (Johannetta Snyder)
1929—Mr. Henry M. Fessler, August 30, 1960
1936—Mr. Allen W. Romig, July 16, 1960
1949—Mr. Thomas R. McKee, September 27, 1960
Mr. Richard G. Devore, August 29, 1960
1950—Dr. Louise Pearce (Hon.)

MORE MOOLA— MORE BOOLA

How N. W. Ayer Put a Foot in the Closing College Door

THERE is not a college president nor an instructor of freshman economics who hasn't known for some time that his college needed help—increased financial aid to higher education is desperately needed in the face of a growing population requiring increased physical plants and better teaching facilities. Fortunately, for prexy, prof and frosh alike, the academic world is receiving rare and effective assistance from America's oldest advertising agency, N. W. Ayer & Son, Inc.

The Advertising Council, which conducts public service campaigns of many kinds, has given Ayer the job of bringing home to old grads and non-grads the dramatic picture of closing college doors.

Through every medium, it is reminding parents that when their children are ready for college, college may not be ready for them; is stirring educators and laymen to face facts and is teaching all of us a bit about higher education's vital role in the survival of the free world.

Since 1956-57 when Ayer helped the Council launch this campaign, non-alumni contributions to colleges have risen 146 per cent—the sharpest of any group of contributors. During the same time alumni contributions have gone up 51 per cent.

Go to the head of the class, Ayer. Someone up there needs you.

from—

"True Stories About Advertising Agencies and Their Talented Men and Women"

published by The Advertising Council

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Bucknell Alumni hardly need be reminded that our University has benefitted substantially, not only from the above program, but more directly from the ever-ready assistance of Bucknellians who are now or past members of the Ayer organization, such as Ken Slifer '26, Don Sholl '42, Ted Kandle '40, Dick Gray '42, Jack Bozarth '50, and many others.)

ALUMNI TRUSTEE TIMETABLE

November 16—Committee on Nominations submits three candidates to the President of the Association.

December 5—Deadline for Board approval.

January ALUMNUS—Announcement of names of three candidates in THE BUCKNELL ALUMNUS.

February 16—Petition deadline.

March 1—Election announcement in THE BUCKNELL ALUMNUS.

April 3—Ballots in mail.

May 16—Deadline for receiving ballots in Alumni Office.

June Commencement—Certification to Board of Trustees.

CAMPUS CALENDAR

NOVEMBER

- 3 Class of 1956 Lecture—Dr. James A. Gathings, Chairman, Department of Political Science
- 5 Football—Colgate at Hamilton, N. Y.
- 11-12 Cap and Dagger Play—"The Lower Depths" by Maxim Gorky
- 12 Football—Temple at Lewisburg
- 13-15 Religion-in-Life Program
- 19 Football—Delaware at Newark, Del.
- 22 Thanksgiving Recess Begins at 5:30 P. M.
- 28 Thanksgiving Recess Ends at 8:00 A. M.

DECEMBER

- 3 Basketball—Rutgers at New Brunswick, N. J.
- 5 Phi Beta Kappa President's Address
- 7 Basketball—Cornell at Ithaca, N. Y.
- 10 Basketball—C. C. N. Y. at Lewisburg
- 14 Basketball—LaSalle at Philadelphia
- 16 Basketball—Delaware at Bucknell
- 17 Christmas Recess Begins at noon
- 19 Basketball—Baldwin-Wallace at Lewisburg

JANUARY

- 4 Christmas Recess Ends at 8:00 A. M.
Basketball—Colgate at Lewisburg
- 7 Basketball—Delaware at Newark, Del.
Wrestling and Swimming—Lafayette at Easton
- 10 Basketball—Penn State at Lewisburg
Swimming—Franklin and Marshall at Lancaster
- 11 Wrestling—Muhlenberg at Lewisburg
- 13-14 Cap and Dagger Play—"Amphitryon 38" by Jean Giraudoux
- 14 Basketball—George Washington at Lewisburg
Swimming—Gettysburg at Lewisburg
- 17 Final Examinations Begin
- 25 Final Examinations End
- 26-31 Men's Glee Club Tour
- 27-31 Women's Glee Club Tour
- 27 Swimming—Kent State at Kent, Ohio
Basketball—University of Virginia at Charlottesville, Va.
- 28 Swimming—Pitt at Pittsburgh
Basketball—Virginia Military Institute at Lexington, Va.
- 31 Second Semester Registration and Enrollment
Basketball—Pitt at Pittsburgh

Cope
January 1961
Vol. 2
THE BUCKNELL
ALUMNUS

A FEW GIFTS TO GOAL

See Page 11

OFFICERS OF THE ASSOCIATION

President

ROBERT W. DILL '27

First Vice President

MRS. CLYDE P. BAILEY (Dorothy Lemon '29)

Second Vice President

DANIEL F. GRIFFITH '36

Treasurer

DONALD B. YOUNG '33

Secretary and Editor

JOHN H. SHOTT '22

Assistant Secretary and Assistant Editor

C. BRUCE ROSSITER '56

BOARD OF DIRECTORS

ROBERT W. DILL '27, 5136 Butler Pike, Plymouth Meeting, Pa. (1961)

WILLIAM D. GOLIGHTLY '25, 309 W. Webster Ave., Scranton, Pa. (1961)

MRS. PAUL M. SHOWALTER (S. Katharine Graham '33), 855 St. Louis St., Lewisburg, Pa. (1961)

MRS. CLYDE P. BAILEY (Dorothy Lemon '29), 16 Churchill Rd., Pittsburgh 35, Pa. (1962)

CHARLES F. FOX, JR., M.D. '31, 180 Washington Ave., Vandergrift, Pa. (1962)

D. EUGENE LONG '29, 131 Avon Place, West Hempstead, N. Y. (1962)

EUGENE P. BERTIN '17, 201 S. Main St., Muncy, Pa. (1963)

MRS. JOHN W. LEWIS (Elinor Childs '52), 8A Sayre Court, Madison, N. J. (1963)

ROBERT H. TAYLOR '48, 214 Avon Rd., Narberth, Pa. (1963)

CHARLES T. FARROW '26, P. O. Box 29, Westfield, N. J. (1964)

IRVIN GRAYBILL, JR., Esq., '49, Middleburg, Pa. (1964)

ALLEN F. JONES '25, 2 Linn St., Progress, Harrisburg, Pa. (1964)

HENRY G. P. COATES, Esq., '32, East Ward St., Hightstown, N. J. (1965)

DANIEL F. GRIFFITH '36, 599 Massachusetts Ave., Aldan, Pa. (1965)

PETER WEIDENBACHER '50, 525 Hillside Ave., Mountain-side, N. J. (1965)

() Year Term Expires

Alumni Headquarters—SECOND FLOOR,
CARNEGIE BUILDING

Member—AMERICAN ALUMNI COUNCIL

ON THE COVER—The Class of 1905 Memorial Gateway to the lower campus wears a cap of snow as winter comes to the Bucknell campus.

The back cover presents a list of events on and off the campus for the months of January and February. Alumni are cordially invited to attend any or all of these activities.

THE BUCKNELL ALUMNUS

VOLUME XLVI

JANUARY 1961

No. 3

IN THIS ISSUE

- 1 This Is Your University
- 2 Afghanistan, An Unforgettable Experience
—by Dr. Michael F. P. Nightingale '49
- 4 Winter Sports
—by Bradley N. Tufts
- 6 Lambert Cup Champions
- 7 The Student View
—by Bobbie Runk '61
- 8 For the Record
- 11 Bucknell Dual Development Fund
- 12 Campaign Kickoff Pictures
- 13 A Report on Finances
—by John F. Zeller, III '41
- 14 The Club Program
- 15 Class Reports
- 24 Dr. Clair G. Spangler '25 Dies

Mary H. Hunt, 9—Women's Glee Club Tour Schedule, 9—William Mendenhall '45, 10—Robert L. Rooke '13, 10—Andrew R. E. Wyant '92, 10—M. Eugene Cook '43, 10—Sue E. Weddell '12, 16—J. Nevin Bauman '20, 18—Esther Gorton Harris '29, 20—Alumni Trustee Timetable, 23—Elegy for a Phonologist Who Died Aged Forty-Four by John S. Wheatcroft '49, 21—In Memoriam, 24—inside back cover: Alumni Club and Trustee Directory; back cover: Campus Calendar.

THE BUCKNELL ALUMNUS is published in January, March, May, September and November by BUCKNELL UNIVERSITY. Entered as second class matter December 30, 1930 at the post office at Lewisburg, Pa., under Act of August 24, 1912.

Number Two

This Is Your University

To provide an environment in which students are stimulated to broaden their horizons and to discover their talents is a primary objective of a liberal arts education. A diversified curriculum and a balanced schedule of cultural programs help to attain this objective. At Bucknell lectures by distinguished scholars, conferences, and concerts occupy an important place on the campus calendar and are as essential to undergraduate living as work in the classroom. The Artist Series annually brings to the campus outstanding programs. The Festival Quartet on February 4, the Zachary Solov Ballet on March 9 and 10, and the Amsterdam Concertgebouw on April 20 are the remaining programs for the 1960-61 Artist Series.

Students surround the noted pianist Van Cliburn after his concert in Davis Gymnasium on October 12.

Like a scene from "The Arabian Nights" the market place in Kabul, Afghanistan, remains the same today as it has for centuries.

AFGHANISTAN—An Unforgettable Experience

By MICHAEL F. P. NIGHTINGALE '49

IT was a hot summer day, with temperatures in the high 80's, on September 11th, 1957, as I completed the last lap of my long plane journey from San Francisco to Kabul, Afghanistan. It was not a little surprising, therefore, to observe my fellow passenger, an Afghan dentist then working with the Ministry of Education, carefully put on his overcoat which had been lying on the rack above! This was my introduction to the somewhat bizarre life I was to enjoy among the Afghans for the next two years. (I found out later that overcoats were worn or carried, all year round since such garments might be "borrowed" by relatives if left at home!)

My presence in Afghanistan was that of Statistical Adviser to the Ministries of Finance and Planning, to which I had been sent out as a member of a team of fiscal advisers with a private company under the ICA Foreign Aid Program. Our home was Kabul, altitude 6,200 feet, population unknown, the capital of Afghanistan, population also unknown, except that it was in "excess" of 12 million when the country was engaged in obtaining foreign aid of some sort, and "less" than that amount when payments, such as those to support the UN, for example, were to be extracted.

Included among these "12 million" indigenous folks were an estimated, or to be more precise, guessed at, two million nomads who migrated with their camels, sheep, chicken, children—and women—from the high lands in the central part of the country to the lower levels in the east and north during the cold winter months.

Afghanistan, as many of us know, particularly since the visit of Mr. Eisenhower, is about 700 miles long, 400 miles wide, lying in a northeast-southwest direction, bordered on the east and south by West Pakistan, on the north by the Soviet Union, and on the west by Iran. In the central and northeast section it is dominated by the Hindu Kush mountains, an offshoot from the Himalayan Range. In the immediate vicinity of Kabul they rise to a height of about 16,000 feet, but in the northeast, in that long corridor known as the Wakhan which extends to Red China and separates the Soviet Union from Kashmir, they rise to a height of 26,000 feet or so—this is the forbidden land of the Abominable Snowman. For political reasons one is not permitted to enter this area.

The scenery is, in general, drab, bare and barren, except for occasional green fertile valleys—I was reminded

The author (second from left) has breakfast—Afghanistan style.

ABOUT THE AUTHOR—Dr. Michael F. P. Nightingale, a member of the Class of 1949, has recently returned from a three-year sojourn in the Far East. During two of these years he served as Statistical Adviser to Ministries of Finance and Planning in Kabul, Afghanistan, representing the State Department. Prior to returning to this country, Dr. Nightingale spent ten months touring Central and Southeast Asia and the Orient.

Classmates or friends interested in corresponding with Dr. Nightingale may reach him by writing to 1015 Beverley Road, Brooklyn 18, N. Y.

much of parts of Nevada; however, the snows of the winter are a special delight in that they do much to soften this heat. The climate in Kabul and other mountain areas is superb, hot in summer but very dry, so not unpleasant, but unfortunately marred by tremendous dust storms emanating from the high plateau country—in winter this dust is replaced by mud created by the rains and snows, few roads being paved.

There is a relatively large foreign population in Kabul, over 300 Americans working on the aid program, and as many, if not more, Russians, plus staff associated with some 4 or so diplomatic missions. There are also many Germans living there or in the vicinity, mostly engaged in commercial enterprises—they have been there the longest; it is only recently that the Americans and Russians have become a more important segment of the community.

The Afghans are a hardy people, independent, but very hospitable and friendly—one sees little begging in the streets, a tremendous contrast to life in India. In fact, though Afghanistan is a poor country one sees little evidence of great poverty, or the great extremes of wealth that one sees in other Asiatic countries.

Life in Afghanistan was always interesting and challenging—nothing was simple, and as soon as one recognized this fundamental fact life became really quite bearable, in an unbearable sort of way, unless it rained. My house, that in happier moments I fondly looked upon as "home," had apparently been created as a basin in which to catch the waters of the heavens. It was basically made of mud and straw with ceilings of wood, on top of which were some two feet of mud and various things growing on top of that—I think that during one year I was host to a nice crop of alfalfa and wheat. At any rate, this overhead mess was resistant to the initial impact of the heavenly waters, but some eight hours of downpour would prove too much and the rain would come, or perhaps I should say filter through, carrying with it parts of the roof acquired during the process. At least there was uniformity—every room leaked, except the bathroom—I could never get it to leak and thus become an accepted member of the house.

We had two seasons in Kabul, the mud season when one prayed for the dust season, and the dust season when one prayed for the mud season—there never seemed to be very much in between, perhaps because we were too busy congratulating ourselves on the miraculous survival from the previous encounter with the elements. Since it was impossible to procure large enough sheets of glass, window panes consisted of several pieces stuck in the frame, perhaps overlapping, or more often as was generally the case, leaving a gap—the latter condition permitted the snows of the winter to enter one's domicile, an interesting psychological experience for those unaccustomed to this. In summertime, of course, the snow was replaced by the dust which at least was dry and seemed to be the lesser of two evils.

Heating one's house was, as might be guessed, no easy task. Again, one was faced with the usual dichotomy of choices resulting with the selection of the least undesirable one. Our stoves were made of sheet metal, their chimneys connected to the house chimney, which in some houses had been omitted due to forgetfulness on the part of the local builders. In my mansion it usually happened that as soon as a room had been brought up to a temperature which would sustain human life, clouds of smoke would pour forth from the many mud connections in the chimney so that the windows had to be opened, and we started off again on a new cycle of achievement.

But it was an unforgettable two-year experience—I shall always look back upon many humorous, and many interesting, experiences, made so by the antics, sometimes annoying at the time it must be admitted, of a wonderfully uninhibited people, a people still living "behind the times." It has been said, in kindly fashion however, that Afghanistan, the only country in the world which builds ruins, is rushing headlong into the fifteenth century. I am glad that one can still find such a place to visit and to enjoy.

WINTER SPORTS

Lambert Cup Champions: Booters Set Record; Basketball Begins

by

BRADLEY N. TUFTS

Sports Information Director

Co-captain Dick Kniffin '63 (left) of Kokomo, Indiana, and Co-captain Joe Steiner '62, of Punxsutawney, are pictured with Head Coach Ben Kribbs as the 1960-61 basketball season gets under way.

GOING into the final game before the break for the Christmas holidays, the Bison basketball team showed a 3-3 record, but here again hopes were high that the courtmen could put together a winning string that would carry them well over the .500 mark.

A combination of second half jitters, an illness and an injury has been the big problem facing the Bisons in the early season games. Senior Dave Evans, last year's starting center and the third highest scorer, will undoubtedly miss most of the season because of illness, and junior Mike Fadden, also a starter last year and counted on to handle a good share of the scoring and rebounding load, broke his foot in pre-season practice and didn't see action until the sixth game of the season.

Coach Ben Kribbs' team has had more than its share of problems in the second half this year. Although they held a 30-19 lead at intermission the Bisons dropped a 72-66 decision to a hot-handed Gettysburg team in the season opener and then watched a 30-14 halftime margin go out the window a week later in a 52-50 Cornell victory. The other loss in the first five games was by 79-69 to LaSalle after the courtmen had held the Explorers to a 39-39 deadlock at halftime.

Totals for the first six games show Co-Captain Joe Steiner '62 leading the team in both scoring and rebounding. The 6-4 forward from Punxsutawney, Pa. averaged 20.3 points and over 14 rebounds per game. Continuing at this pace he could establish a new Bucknell season scoring record and move well up among the all-time scoring leaders. Steiner scored 23, 24, 22 and 21 points against Rutgers, Gettysburg, C. C. N. Y. and Delaware.

The number two scorer is another junior, Co-Captain Dick Kniffin. A stellar backcourt performer who hails from Kokomo, Indiana, Dick has returned to school after three years in the service and promises to be one of the top playmakers in recent years. He hit for an average of 14.5 points in the first six outings.

The remainder of the starting lineup has been made up of seniors Bruce Babich and Mike Kasnick and junior Don Lampus. Sophomores Hal Smoker and Sam Penrose and juniors Kevin Cooney have been the leading reserves and Fadden, a 6-3 forward from Ocean City, N. J., can be counted on to help pick up the scoring and rebounding.

With victories over Rutgers, C. C. N. Y. and Delaware the Bisons played host to Baldwin-Wallace prior to the holiday break and then met Colgate, Delaware and Penn State in the first three contests following the vacation.

Swimmers Defend MAC Title

Coach Bob Latour's swimming team, out this year to defend its Middle Atlantic Conference championship, opened the season by finishing third in the Eastern Collegiate Swimming Association Invitation Relay Carnival at New York University on December 17.

The swimmers were entered in nine relay events in the first annual meet, and won the 200-yard and 400-yard medley relay races. Heading the relay units were Co-Captain Bill Dearstyne and Bill Dorr, Charlie Maunz, Skip Cannon and Dick Humphreys, all members of last year's MAC title winning team.

Dearstyne, a junior from Albany, N. Y., went on to capture the Eastern 100-yard backstroke championship after winning two events in the MAC meet and swimming on the 100-yard medley relay team that clinched the title for the Bisons.

Dorr, also a junior from Albany, N. Y., and Maunz, a junior from Kenmore, N. Y., were also double winners in the freestyle and breaststroke events respectively in the MAC meet, and swam with Dearstyne and Cannon, a senior from St. Davids, Pa. on the medley relay team. Humphreys, a junior from Waterbury, Conn., will compete in the diving events and the freestyle sprints for the mermen.

Wrestlers in Seven Matches

The Bison wrestling team opened its season on January 7 against Lafayette and is slated to compete in six other dual matches before taking part in the Middle Atlantic Conference Championships on March 3 and 4.

Hard hit by graduation, the matmen boast four returning lettermen headed by Captain Don Warfel. The others are juniors Ken Brust, Bill Graham and Ned Wight. Brust was the 147-pound consolation winner in the MAC tournament last year and Wight went all the way to the finals of the heavyweight division before losing.

Fred Prender, who serves as backfield coach on the football staff, has taken over for Bill Wrabley as head wrestling coach, and Wallace Maurer, formerly the head coach at Uncy (Pa.) High School, has been given the freshman duties.

Football Review

Closing out the season with a decisive 26-0 victory over Delaware, Bucknell's football team finished with a 7-2 record, the best in the past nine years, and was named the 1960 Lambert Cup champion as the leading small college in the East.

The victory over the Blue Hens, last year's Lambert Cup champions, was the fourth shutout posted by the Bisons during the fall and enabled Coach Bob Odell's team to close out with a perfect 6-0 record against small colleges. The only losses were by 15-7 to Cornell and 23-19 to Rutgers.

Heading the Bison offense that rolled up 2548 yards were All-American quarterback candidate Paul Terhes, halfbacks Ed Ditka and Captain Mickey Melberger and fullback Ken Twiford. This quartet accounted for 1957 yards passing and rushing.

Terhes, a senior from Milmont Park, Pa., completed 87 of 155 passes for 981 yards and nine touchdowns and ran for an additional 141 yards for a total offense mark of 1122 yards, four yards short of the Bucknell season record established by Brad Myers in 1951.

Melberger, a senior from West Pittston, Pa., led the team in rushing and scoring. He picked up 296 yards on the ground, three more than Twiford, a junior from Philadelphia, scored 36 points on six touchdowns, and also caught five passes for 92 yards and two touchdowns.

In addition to gaining 293 yards rushing, Twiford caught five passes for 96 yards, intercepted six passes, and scored two touchdowns.

All-American Paul "Turk" Terhes '61

Ditka, a junior from Aliquippa, Pa., was third in rushing with 246 yards, second in pass receiving with 27 receptions for 344 yards and was tied with Terhes for the number two scoring spot with 26 points.

Other offensive standouts included halfbacks Ray Cosgrove and Dick Johnson and ends Ron Maslanik and Dick Tyrrell. Cosgrove, a junior from Pittsburgh, picked up 134 yards on the ground, caught three passes and scored four touchdowns. Johnson, a sophomore from Grosse Pointe, Mich., ran for 108 yards, hauled in four passes for 107 yards and scored 15 points.

Tyrrell, one of two sophomores in the starting lineup, led the team and the Middle Atlantic Conference in pass receiving and tied a Bucknell record with eight receptions against Rutgers. In nine games he hauled in 28 passes for 305 yards and two touchdowns.

Maslanik, a junior from Saxton, Pa., excelled on both offense and defense, caught five passes and ranked fifth on the team in scoring with 19 points.

Supplementing the Bison offense was a defense that allowed opponents an average of 182 yards per game and only 59 points during the season. The light, mobile forward wall gave up 993 yards rushing in 363 attempts for an average of less than three yards per carry and the defensive secondary permitted only 51 pass completions in 150 attempts for 641 yards and intercepted 23 passes.

Defensive standouts included tackles Kirk Foulke of Philadelphia, Denny Morgan of Rochester, N. Y. and Tom Noteware of Wellsboro, Pa.; guards John Aucker of Lykens, Pa., Tom Alexander of Monaca, Pa., Bob Williams of Roslyn, N. Y., Dick Orłowski of Kingston, Pa. and Chuck Johnson of Camp Hill, Pa., and centers Dean Stump of Johnstown, Pa. and George Rieu of Atlantic City, N. J.

Booters Set Record

In 31 years of soccer at Bucknell University there has never been a day to match Wednesday afternoon November 16 when the Bison booters upended Elizabethtown College 4-3 in one of the big upsets of the year.

For Coach Hank Peters the victory that knocked the Blue Jays out of the undefeated column was the highpoint of a nine-year coaching career and for the team it marked the achievement of a 7-3 season record, the best in the school's history.

Prior to the come-from-behind Bison victory, Elizabethtown had gone undefeated through 23 straight regular season games since October, 1958, and the only loss the Blue Jays had suffered in the past two years was to Pratt Institute in the NAIA finals last season.

In its first eight games this season Elizabethtown had averaged eight goals per game and had allowed the opponents an average of less than one goal per game.

Sparked by junior Co-Captain Lyman Ott who tallied three goals, the Bisons booters fought back from a 3-1 deficit midway through the third period to go ahead on Ott's third marker at 6:27 of the final quarter and then dominated the remainder of the contest.

Elizabethtown has already been invited to play in the NAIA tournament again, and while the loss didn't affect the status of the Blue Jays, it did knock them out of the running for the Middle Atlantic Conference championship they won last year.

Ott, a junior from Kennett Square, Pa., finished the campaign with 14 goals, a Bucknell season record. The team total of 39 goals in ten games is also a Bucknell mark.

The team posted victories over Penn State, Lafayette, Gettysburg, Delaware, Lehigh, and Muhlenberg in addition to Elizabethtown and lost to Temple, Navy, and Drexel.

Schad and Ott were named to the All-Middle Atlantic Conference Northern Division team in a poll of coaches. Ott and Famariss were elected co-captains of the 1961 team.

First row (left to right)—Ron Maslanik '62, John Aucker '61, Paul Terhes '61, John Sommers '61, Capt. Mickey Melberger '61, Rick Elliott '61, Ed Reitzel '61, Marty Pope '61, Kirk Foulke '62, Dennis Morgan '62; Second row—Walt Mayer '62, Jim West '62, Ken Twiford '62, Ashton Ditka '62, Ray Cosgrove '62, Bill Urch '62, Tom Alexander '62, Jake Flyzik '62, Pat Malone '62, Don Chaump '62, Bob Williams '62; Third row—Dennis Lucas '63, George Rieu '63, Norm Garrity '63, Dean Stump '63, Tom Noteware '62, Dick Johnson '63, Chuck Newlond '63, Ron Hohowski '63, Dick Orlowski '63, Bo Erwetowski '63; Fourth row—Darryl Novak '63, Tom Stejonakos '63, Charles B. Johnson '63, Dick Lebec '63, Dick Tyrrell '63, Charles Johnson '63, Doug Williams '63, John Giordano '63, Reynold Clemen '63, John Lang '62; Fifth row—Head Coach Bob Odell, End Coach Rod Oberlin, Trainer Hal Biggs, Assistant Coach Bob Patzwall '63, Backfield Coach Fred Prender, Line Coach Bill Wrabley '51, Freshman Coach Bob Latour, Manager Tom Talley '63.

LAMBERT CUP CHAMPIONS

On Sunday afternoon, December 11, Bucknell was officially presented the Lambert Cup, emblematic of the Eastern small college championship, at a reception in the Hotel Manhattan in New York City.

On hand to receive the award for the Bisons were Dr. Merle M. Odgers, president of the University, Head Coach Bob Odell and Captain Mickey Melberger. Melberger was honored later that night when he appeared with the captains of Navy and Yale, co-winners of the Lambert Trophy for the major college championship, on the Ed Sullivan television show.

The presentation of the award highlighted a season that saw the Bisons win their last five games in a row, finish second behind Rutgers in the Middle Atlantic Conference, and wind up with a 7-2 record overall, the best since the undefeated season of 1951.

Bison players were also accorded numerous post-season honors. Paul Terhes, the 6-0, 195 pound quarterback from Milmont Park, Pa., who started every game in his three-year varsity career, was named to every All-East team and then followed this by being named to the Associated Press Little All-American team.

Terhes was also named to the third team NEA All-American, was picked on the All-Middle Atlantic Conference team for the third straight year, was named the conference's most valuable player, and played under Delaware Coach, Dave Nelson, for the Small College All-Stars in the third annual All-American Bowl in Tucson, Arizona on December 26.

In addition, Ken Twiford, Dick Tyrrell and Tom Alexander were named to the All-MAC team, Tyrrell, Captain-elect Kirk Foulke and Melberger received honorable mention on the Little All-American team, and Tyrrell, Melberger and Terhes captured MAC individual titles. Terhes won the passing and total offense crowns for the third straight year, Tyrrell took the pass receiving laurels and Melberger was the scoring champ.

In the highlight of all post-season affairs, the team was honored at the annual football banquet given by the Quarterback Club on November 29.

The program, which was held in the Coleman Hall Theatre, was highlighted by the announcement of the election of junior tackle Kirk Foulke of Drexel Hill, Pa. as the captain of the 1961 Bison football team.

A starter in every game this fall, Foulke was the bulwark of the Bison forward wall that allowed opponents an average of only 110 yards per game rushing and gave up only 5 points in nine games.

Also recognized at the annual affair were the winners of the weekly offensive and defensive awards given by the coaches, the seven graduating seniors, the MAC individual title holders, and the four players named to the Eastern Collegiate Athletic Conference teams of the week.

The seniors are Terhes, Melberger, quarterback Rick Elliott, guard John Aucker, guard John Sommers, halfback Ed Reitzel and halfback Marty Pope. Named to the ECA honor squad were Terhes, Foulke, halfback Ash Ditka and sophomore center Dean Stump.

The Student View

by BOBBIE RUNK '61

We Grow in Awareness

The college experience fosters not only intellectual and social development, but also makes a student critically aware of himself as a person.

HOW is it possible that a person should change so radically during four years of college? Where are the boys or girls now, who bounced into college four years ago fresh from a whirling, carefree high school career. It is difficult to find them among the class of young men and women who very shortly will be graduating from college and finding themselves members of the newest class of responsible citizens. Much, indeed, occurs during college to affect the life of a young person, but the full realization of this change is apparent only to a senior as he looks back over the four years, and even for him it is soon forgotten after graduation.

What high school graduate has not approached college with a bit of self-satisfaction and confidence in the great store of knowledge he has amassed from high school! Along with this feeling is perhaps a great deal of curiosity which becomes almost a challenge to the University to produce enough new knowledge to keep him meaningfully occupied for the next four years. It takes very little time to assure this student that he needn't concern himself with the possibility of exhausting the supply of knowledge available to him in such a short period of time. He soon learns to appreciate the wisdom of Socrates, and to realize how very little he knows.

Learning itself takes on an entirely new complexion—more interesting and exciting than ever before. For the most part students take a high school education for granted; attendance is compulsory, the materials and methods of learning are seldom stimulating, and teachers more often than not resort to feeding the material to students, spoonful by spoonful. Even during the freshman and sophomore years of college a certain minimum of facts must be memorized but it is at this point that students can begin questioning and discriminating, rather than accepting and swallowing required information. Now one is given the opportunity, in fact, the encouragement, to inquire for oneself, to cultivate a questioning mind and to stimulate a desire to search out the answers.

To a greater extent in college than ever before a student discovers the why of things, as well the what. In certain relatively new fields where many areas are as yet unexplored, such as psychology and chemistry, it is possible within four years to push beyond the explored field of knowledge and experiment with the unknown. In every field of study the student will eventually be required to examine a bit of the subject matter for himself and record his findings in the form of a paper or examination. As a result of such exercises and disciplines, he learns to question blind acceptance, and to consider all available evidence with an open mind before coming to a decision.

This difference in discrimination of the minds of freshmen and seniors can be illustrated by examining a discussion by each on the same subject. One evening, before the presidential election and first television debate, a senior friend of mine sat at dinner with a group of five freshmen, all strong supporters of Vice President Nixon. The topic of conversation was the two candidates. The consensus of freshman opinion was one of complete despair for Senator Kennedy should he become the next president because "he cannot possibly keep all of his promises" and "he knows absolutely nothing about foreign affairs." A casual reminder by the senior of Senator Kennedy's work in the area of foreign affairs in the Senate for eight years was met with stony silence. The "discussion" was ended with the statement that the people of the United States would never elect Senator Kennedy, and the subject was quickly changed. A few evenings before, this friend had watched the same debate with a small group of classmates and faculty members. The discussion afterward, unlike the one at the dinner table, was extremely enjoyable because opinions were reasonably expressed and reasonably accepted or rejected. The difference lay in accepting what one heard without knowing why, and questioning that which is heard so that it is possible to reach a rational decision and defend it intelligently.

Although the cultivation of the mind is the primary concern of the University, one cannot overlook the changes in behavior which the society of a university effects. Year after year the various classes have been stereotyped or characterized, usually in a joking manner, and there is often more truth in these stereotypes than one sees at first. The first year generally is spent trying to "fit in", to become a real part of the college society; the second year, in grooming the new freshmen into the "Way"; and the third and fourth years in trying to escape from the social conformity and to assert individuality. Though these phases may be looked upon with amusement, they are no less crucial to each person as they are experienced. As a whole, the college society, precisely because it is based on group participation, helps to bring about important changes within an individual—increased poise and self-assurance, greater tolerance and understanding, and generally more meaningful human relationships.

Who can enumerate or generalize when considering individual personal development which results from a college education? Each of us reacts differently and develops uniquely in this highly concentrated four year period. It is possible to examine apparent over-all effects as we have done, but perhaps the only generalization we can make with honesty is that most students will emerge from college with a greater awareness of themselves as persons than they had before entering college. Perhaps they will leave with greater desire and resources which will help them to derive meaning from their lives.

FOR THE RECORD

*A review of selected items of interest
about Alumni, Faculty and important events
and developments at Bucknell University*

University Affairs

This summer, 1961, the Bucknell Summer School, will sponsor a European travel course in art and aesthetics under the direction of Dr. F. David Martin, professor of philosophy. Two courses will be offered: Philosophy 212 for undergraduates and Philosophy 312 for graduate students. Students may pursue these courses for three credit hours or for non-credit.

Both courses will be based on the fundamental experience of meeting our artistic heritage in its original setting, so as to bring to life the times and spirit that created the greatest artistic values of western civilization. Qualified local specialists in the visual arts will meet or travel with the group. Each object of art will be related to the artist or artisan, his life and character; and the environment which inspired or made possible its creation. The tour will avoid or minimize the tourist-type of sightseeing which covers broad areas in a rapid and cursory manner.

The countries to be visited are: Italy, Greece, Austria, West Germany, Switzerland, France, and England.

Dr. Martin is well-qualified to conduct this study-tour. He has lived and travelled extensively in Europe. His outstanding scholarship, his familiarity with the art centers of Europe and his devotion to this subject will make this program an invaluable experience to every participant.

A brochure describing the tour in detail may be obtained by writing to Dr. Martin or to Dr. Frank W. Merritt, Director of Summer School.

Bucknell has been awarded grants totaling $105,300 by the National Science Foundation for the continuation of two summer institute programs.

The larger grant, $66,300, will be used to conduct the Summer Institute in Science and Mathematics, while the second grant, amounting to $39,000, has been earmarked for the Summer Institute in Engineering Sciences.

Both grants are designed to strengthen the training of scientists by providing six-week courses which will enable high school and college teachers in the sciences to keep abreast of the latest developments in their respective fields. The grants provide stipends covering tuition, fees and a cash allowance for dependents.

For the fifth consecutive summer, the Summer Institute in Science and Mathematics will offer courses in biology, chemistry, mathematics, physics and astronomy. Under the direction of Dr. Lester Kieft, chairman of the Department of Chemistry, the program will be available for approximately 65 qualified high school teachers of science and mathematics.

Open to junior college teachers of physics and pre-engineering and college teachers of engineering and physics, the Institute in Engineering Sciences will feature courses in civil, mechanical, electrical, and chemical engineering. Although only 40 qualified teachers will be accepted for the Institute under the provisions of the National Science Foundation grant, a limited number of additional applicants will be permitted to participate in the program at their own expense. Charles H. Coder M.S. '59, associate professor of mechanical engineering, will direct the Institute for the second consecutive year.

Requests for application blanks to attend either of the Institutes should be made as soon as possible, since both enrollment and stipends will be limited. In all cases, completed applications must be postmarked no later than February 15, 1961. Teachers interested in attending the Institute in Science and Mathematics should contact Dr. Kieft, while those planning to attend the Institute in Engineering Sciences should write to Mr. Coder.

Bucknell's Upper Susquehanna Valley Program of Cooperative Research supported by the Ford Foundation reached a new milestone in service to area schools and school districts this fall.

Fourteen new programs were added to those offered for the first time last year, bringing the number of different projects being presented under the program to twenty-one.

Among the variety of studies being conducted are in-service programs for teachers, special study programs for gifted students, and consultant programs undertaken with the cooperation of school principals and other school officials interested in the continued development of individual educational systems.

Recognizing the importance of the Cooperative Research Program to those in the Upper Susquehanna Valley area, government agencies have joined with Bucknell, the Ford Foundation and, in several instances, the public school systems themselves to provide financial support for various programs.

Director of the program is Dr. J. Charles Jones '42, chairman of the Department of Education, and co-director is Dr. Wendell I. Smith, chairman of the Department of Psychology.

The 1960-61 Religion in Life program held on the campus on November 13-15 centered its theme on "The Idea of the University." A syllabus prepared by Dr. Douglas Sturm, assistant professor of religion, served as resource discussion material.

The program was designed to encourage serious conversation between students, faculty and guest speakers to emphasize the fact that there is no contradiction between genuine religion and genuine scholarship.

Guest speakers who helped to make this year's Religion in Life program one of the best ever included: Dr. Shuber M. Ogden, assistant professor of philosophical theology, Southern Methodist University; Dr. Harold Taylor, former president of Sarah Lawrence College; and The Rev. Victor R. Yanitelli, vice president for student personnel, Fordham University.

Student chairman was James DeLaney '62, of Rutherford, N. J.

Observing its 10th anniversary this year, Bucknell University's Business Forum has featured and will continue to feature the heads of six of America's leading corporations as guest speakers at monthly dinner meetings.

A cooperative undertaking of education and industry in the central Pennsylvania area, the Forum opened its 1960-61 program on November 16, when Edward G. Budd, Jr., President of the Budd Company, Philadelphia, was the principal speaker.

Other prominent industrialists who have accepted an invitation to address the Forum include R. E. Harvey, president of Merritt-Chapman and Scott, Inc., New York; H. H. Rogge, president of he American Car and Foundry Company, Inc., New York; Barry T. Leithead, president of Cluett, Peabody and Company, New York; and Dr. Robert D. Calkins, president of the Brookings Institution of Washington, D. C.

Sponsored by Bucknell, the Business Forum is under the direction of Dr. Neil L. Shiffler, assistant professor of economics.

The University's new Bituminous Laboratory was dedicated on November 17 as a major feature of the Bituminous Concrete Highway Conference held on the campus.

The new laboratory, located in the Charles A. Dana Engineering Building, is equipped with the latest facilities for both student instruction and the needs of the Bituminous Concrete Industry.

Contributions from members of the Bituminous Concrete Association of Pennsylvania and members of the Pennsylvania Stone Producers Association have made possible over $10,000 worth of laboratory apparatus.

Students at Bucknell are striving to master French, German and Spanish with the aid of an "electronic" tutor located in the University's Rivoire Language Laboratory.

A network of tape recorders, an instructor's console complete with three independent tape decks and monitoring panel, and 30 sound-absorbent booths constitute the major portions of the system.

The laboratory, named in honor of the late chairman of the Department of French, Dr. Jean A. Rivoire, is a living symbol of Dr. Rivoire's influence in promoting language instruction. In addition to a laboratory named in his honor and the dedication plaque which bears his name, students of French today are still receiving instruction from portions of tapes recorded by him before his death in 1957.

As part of the cultural exchange program of the U. S. State Department, eight law students from El Salvadore recently spent a four-day visit at Bucknell as guests of the University.

The El Salvadorean students met informally with students and faculty, participated in programs especially planned for them, and attended many of the University events during their stay here. Arrangements for their visit at Bucknell were made by Dr. Jeanne M. Chew, of the Department of Spanish, and by Sigma Delta Pi, national Spanish honorary society.

In addition to the interpreter traveling with the group, members of the Spanish honorary society and students enrolled in classes in advanced Spanish served as interpreters throughout the four-day visit.

One of the most outstanding musical events of the holiday season on the Bucknell campus took place on Sunday evening, December 11, when the Bucknell University Mixed Chorus and Symphony Orchestra presented Handel's famous oratorio, The Messiah, in Davis Gymnasium.

Over 300 members of the Chorus and Orchestra participated in the program making it one of the largest groups ever assembled on the campus. Allen W. Flock, associate professor of music, directed the program and Lindsay Merrill, assistant professor of music, directed the Symphony Orchestra.

A limited number of copies of the Report of the President for the academic year 1959-60 is now available on a first come—first served basis.

The 44-page brochure is an authentic report of the current University operations and aspirations. While the supply lasts, you may have a copy by writing to: Miss Trennie E. Easley, Director of Public Relations, Bucknell University, Lewisburg, Pennsylvania.

Bucknell University lost one of its long time administrative officers with the death of Miss Mary H. Hunt, recorder emerita of Bucknell, on Tuesday, December 6, 1960, in Lewisburg. Memorial services for Miss Hunt were conducted by Dr. Mark C. Ebersole, University chaplain, and interment was made in the Chestnut Ridge Cemetery near Lockport, N. Y.

Miss Hunt, who retired from Bucknell in 1952 after serving for 33 years as University recorder, was a native of Amenia, N. Y., and a graduate of Denison College. She joined the Bucknell administrative staff in 1919 as secretary to the president and recorder, serving under her uncle, Dr. Emory Hunt, who was then president of Bucknell. She relinquished her position as secretary in 1931 in order to devote her full time to the increasing responsibilities of the recorder's office.

She was active in church and University affairs and served several terms as a deaconess of the First Baptist Church and as chairman of the Board of Missions for several years. She was a member of the Bucknell University Campus Club and the Civic Club of Lewisburg.

Miss Hunt is survived by her sister, Miss Mildred Hunt of Lewisburg; a niece, Mrs. Thomas F. Latrell of Northport, N. Y.; and three nephews, The Rev. Horace H. Hunt III of Columbus, Ohio, James Emory Hunt of Kingsport, Tenn., and Frederick R. Hunt, who is now stationed in Marburg, Germany. Both James and Frederick Hunt are Bucknell alumni, having been graduated from the University in 1951 and 1953 respectively.

The heartfelt sympathy of the University family is extended to the surviving sister, niece and three nephews.

The following is a tour schedule of the Bucknell Women's Glee Club for the 1960-61 school year: January 22, 10:45 A. M., Beaver Memorial Methodist Church, Lewisburg; January 26, afternoon concert, West Pittston High School, West Pittston; January 26, 7:45 P. M., Methodist Church, Kingston; January 27, 1:45 P. M., Ridgely Junior-Dulaney Senior High School, Lutherville, Maryland; January 27, evening concert, Calvary Baptist Church, Towson, Maryland.

On Saturday evening, January 28, the Bucknell Alumni Club of Washington, D. C., will sponsor the glee club. A concert will be presented at the Washington Lodge No. 15, B. P. O. Elks, 919 H Street, N. W. All alumni in the area are cordially invited to attend this Bucknell birthday celebration.

The glee club continues its tour following their Washington appearance with concerts on: January 29, 9:30 A. M., Mount Olivet Methodist Church, Arlington, Virginia; January 29, 11:00 A. M., National City Christian Church, Washington, D. C.; January 29, evening concert, Memorial Baptist Church, Arlington, Virginia; January 30, 9:00 A. M., Annapolis Senior High School, Annapolis, Maryland; January 30, 2:00 P. M., Dumbarton Junior High School, Baltimore, Maryland; January 30, evening concert, Strasburg Senior High School, Strasburg; and January 31, at 10:40 A. M., Central Dauphin High School, Harrisburg.

The glee club will present a program of sacred and secular songs with the following featured soloists: Betty Burrows '62, Strasburg, flute; Betty Kordes '62, Westhampton Beach, N. Y., contralto; Anne Rutledge '61, West Pittston, piano; and Marti McCord '63, Harrisburg, piano.

The student directors are Joanne Harris '61, Drexel Hill, and Anne Rutledge '61. Accompanists are Joanne Harris '61, and Lina Roth '62, Nazareth.

Alumni and the general public are invited to attend the evening concerts.

Faculty

Dr. James A. Gathings, professor and chairman of the Department of Political Science, was named last April as the recipient of the Class of 1956 lectureship.

Each year a member of the Bucknell faculty is chosen by a representative committee of students and administrative officials for the lectureship. Dr. Gathings is the fourth teacher to be recognized for his inspirational teaching and as part of such recognition has been made the recipient of a cash award.

In fulfilling the obligation which goes with the award, Dr. Gathings delivered an open lecture on November 3 for members of the faculty and student body. The subject of Dr. Gathings' lecture was "Mr. Khrushchev visits the UN."

Under the sponsorship of the Industrial Education Institute of Boston, Mass., Dr. William Mendenhall '45, M.S. '50, associate professor of mathematics, will conduct a series of seminars on controlling and reducing costs of industrial experimentation in five major cities during December, January, and February.

The lectures are designed to present technical specialists and managers responsible for planning, directing or executing experimental industrial programs with the latest techniques, methods, and procedures for reducing experimentation costs and increasing effectiveness.

An authority on life testing and system reliability, Dr. Mendenhall, in addition to his teaching duties, has served as statistical consultant to several leading industries and is the author of articles and papers in his area of specialization.

Dr. Cyrus H. Karraker, associate professor of history, was recently honored by the Pennsylvania State Conference of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People when they bestowed upon him the Human Rights Award plaque.

Dr. Karraker is widely known for his work in dealing with the migratory child labor problem in Pennsylvania. In addition to writing many articles on the subject for national publication, Dr. Karraker was recently quoted by A. E. Farrell in his article End Child Labor Now which appeared in Good Housekeeping magazine.

Two members of the faculty have been named consultants of the newly formed general research and development division of the Buchart Engineering Corporation in York.

Ralph C. Walker, associate professor of electrical engineering, will serve as the Corporation's authority in electromagnetic-hydrodynamics. John S. Hale, III, instructor in civil engineering, will serve as consultant in computers.

Bruce Mitchell, Bucknell's artist-in-residence, and former correspondent for Life magazine during World War II, was honored recently when his war paintings, along with those of 12 other artists, were placed on permanent display in the Pentagon in Washington, D. C.

The paintings will become an historic collection of the war years as seen through the eyes of Life's war artists. About 300 paintings were placed in the Pentagon for public viewing.

Invaluable experience useful in the classroom was gained during this past presidential campaign by Charles A. Hollister, associate professor in the Department of Political Science. Dr. Hollister served as chairman for Union County Democrats for Kennedy and Johnson and was aided in his endeavors by a group of his students in political science. It was an extraordinary opportunity for these students to receive training in such areas as manning quarters, raising money, planning political rallies, writing speeches, and distributing literature.

Alumni

Sigma Alpha Epsilon has named the handsome library of its new $30,000 addition the Robert L. Rooke Library in honor of Trustee Dr. Robert L. Rooke '13, co-donor of the Freas-Rooke Swimming Pool. The dedication was announced at a Homecoming banquet attended by over 300 alumni, guests and students.

Dr. Rooke, the principal contributor to the special fund raising campaign for the addition to the SAE house, was honored at the dinner by testimonials from President Odgers, William I. Miller '26, professor of mathematics, and Howard P. Falls, SAE National President. As a special part of the program honoring Dr. Rooke, Professor Miller unveiled a handsome portrait of Dr. Rooke painted by Norman Appleton '22. The portrait now hangs in the fraternity living room. Also, Dr. Rooke was honored by Mr. Falls who presented him with the Merit Key Award, the fraternity highest alumnus award.

The Robert L. Rooke Library contains a sizeable collection of books granted by the Levere Memorial Foundation, SAE's national educational endowment fund. In addition to the library, the new wing contains a house mother's suite, chapter offices and accommodation for 18 students.

On Tuesday evening, December 6, Bucknellians in the San Francisco area met to hear President Merle M. Odgers and to organize for personal solicitation in behalf of the Bucknell Dual Development Fund Campaign. Arrangements for the dinner were made by Sanford H. Sanger '47, president of the Bucknell Alumni Club of Northern California.

An honored guest at this dinner was Dr. Andrew R. E. Wyant '92. On the sports page of the San Francisco Chronicle, Will Connolly, a well-known West Coast sports writer, made note of the fact that Dr. Wyant would be in attendance.

In his column Mr. Connolly said, "Alumni of Bucknell, on the Ivy League fringe at Lewisburg, Pa., will cut touches tonight at Leopard Cafe with a remarkable patriarch of 94, one Dr. Andrew R. E. Wyant.

"Next to A. A. Stagg, who has four years on him, Dr. Wyant is the oldest All-American extant. He and Mr. Stagg correspond regularly, for after four seasons at Bucknell (1888-91), Dr. Wyant played another four under Double A at Chicago, wrapping up his football in 1896. In that day, eight years of competition at separate schools was allowable.

"Dr. Wyant played center and endured 98 intercollegiate games without a substitute. He had the physique for it, and to this day isn't stooped by the years. He stands 6' 4", weighs 210 and wears size 15 shoes.

"'Straight as a ramrod,' says Sandy Sanger of Los Altos, prexy of local grads. 'Dr. Wyant doesn't wear glasses and is as sharp as a tack. He coached and wrote a biography of Christy Mathewson, the great Giant pitcher from Bucknell, the first college man to make the majors.'

"Dr. Wyant, a Phi Beta Kappa, doctor of philosophy, doctor of medicine and ordained minister, will sit at the table with Dr. Merle M. Odgers, who is merely president of Bucknell."

At the Homecoming meeting of the Bucknell Engineering Alumni Association, the following alumni were elected to office: M. Eugene Cook '43, president; Frank E. Gerlitz, Jr. '34, first vice president; Roy H. Landis '22, second vice president; and John B. Miller '26, secretary-treasurer.

At the business meeting William H. Dauberman '38, was elected to a three-year term as a member of the board of directors and Donald H. Betty '51, was named to a two-year board term.

(Continued on Page 23)

BUCKNELL DUAL DEVELOPMENT FUND

TO ALL ALUMNI:

A word of thanks and

A word of appeal

As we go to press (December 22, 1960), we are about $25,000 short of the final $2,200,000 goal.

To all Alumni whose pledges and gifts have brought the Dual Development Fund so close to victory (nearly $\frac{1}{4}$ of the total), their Alma Mater expresses its pride and gratitude.

To all Alumni who for one reason or another have not yet participated, their Alma Mater offers a last opportunity (use pledge card on next page) and a cordial invitation to help finish the job.

This is Bucknell's first capital gifts campaign in 12 years. It deserves complete success. Alumni who give to it will not be asked by the University for any other gift for the three-pledge years.

These pledges or gifts will do it:

1 three-year pledge or gift of $5,000	= $5,000
4 three-year pledges or gifts of $1,000	= $4,000
8 three-year pledges or gifts of $500	= $4,000
20 three-year pledges or gifts of $300	= $6,000
40 three-year pledges or gifts of $150	= $6,000
	$25,000

(Of course, all pledges or gifts of any amount are helpful, needed, appreciated.)

CAMPAIGN WENT FROM COAST TO COAST

Dr. Wesley N. Haines, Director of Development, pointed out campaign goals at Elmira-Corning, N. Y., kick-off on October 19, 1960, to (left to right) Mrs. Jean Richards Hoffman '43, Edward K. Hoffman '44, and Edwin S. Stebbins '37.

EDITOR'S NOTE: Pictures of a bang-up alumni meeting San Francisco on December 6, had not arrived by print time. They will appear in the next issue of THE BUCKNELL ALUMNUS.

At the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Walter '23 (Mary Appleman '23) in Detroit on October 13, 1960, (left to right) John Kingsbury '51, Bruce Scott '51, (Michigan-Toledo club president), Dr. Haines, and Evan Thomas '31, strike a determined campaign pose.

Southern California Bucknellians, meeting at Los Angeles on December 5, 1960, look as sunny as their climate.

Flanking President Odgers (center) are Trustee and Mrs. Hu Riemer '29 (right) and Mr. and Mrs. George W. Hardie, Jr. (Josephine LaBarr '48), co-chairmen (left) at the December 5 kick-off meeting in Southern California.

LET'S EARN A's

FOR

P_RTICIP_TION

F_ND

IS NOT COMPLETE

WITHOUT U IN IT.

Gifts are tax-deductible. Checks are payable to Bucknell University.

To strengthen Bucknell University, and in consideration of the gifts of others for the same purpose, I (we) subscribe to the DUAL DEVELOPMENT FUND (for endowment and building) the sum of:

_____ Dollars ($_____).

Cash herewith $_____, balance payable in ten equal quarterly payments (payment over three tax years suggested), or as follows: _____

Pledge to be paid in full on or before June 30, 1963.

Date _____

SIGNED _____

Address: Bucknell Dual Development
Fund, Lewisburg, Pennsylvania

STREET _____

CITY _____

MAIL THIS CARD TODAY!

(or enclose in an envelope)

No
Postage Stamp
Necessary
If Mailed in the United States

BUSINESS REPLY MAIL

First Class Permit, No. 1, Sec. 34.9, P.L.&R., Lewisburg, Pa.

POSTAGE WILL BE PAID BY

DUAL DEVELOPMENT FUND OFFICE
BUCKNELL UNIVERSITY
LEWISBURG, PENNSYLVANIA

SUMMARY REPORT

Complete and detailed reports will be published later

Sources

Totals

CORPORATIONS AND BUSINESSES:

(exclusive of corporate gifts credited to Trustees and Parents) $ 89,607.13

FOUNDATIONS:

(exclusive of foundation gifts credited to Trustees and Parents) 706,279.78

INDIVIDUALS:

Alumni (exclusive of Alumni who are Trustees) $435,881.55

Faculty and Administration 15,454.75

Friends 27,357.45

Parents 64,818.59

Students 13,353.25

Trustees (as individuals and thru Corporations and Foundations) 821,444.96

Total to date $1,378,310.55

$2,174,197.46

Needed to reach $2,200,000.00 goal $ 25,802.54

FROM THE PRESIDENT'S REPORT

FOR THE ACADEMIC YEAR

1959-60

"In the current campaign for funds I see a reawakened interest on the part of some alumni who would not ordinarily identify themselves with alumni functions; I see in these and other alumni good examples of the statement of Dr. Hu Shih, the Chinese scholar, that 'America's greatest contribution to education was its revolutionary concept of the alumnus; its concept of the former student as an understanding, responsible partner and champion.' I see a greater awareness on the campus of what is attractive about Bucknell to other people, an awareness to which the film 'Presenting Bucknell' has certainly contributed. I am impressed by the large support given Bucknell by parents of students and former students.

"The campaign is creating, I believe, a deeper understanding of the role of Bucknell University in higher education as an institution of growing prestige. I think that more people share my conviction expressed two years ago under the title 'The Bucknell of Tomorrow' that 'given reasonable world stability, we shall see at Bucknell the expansion of effort and the heightening of quality which our times demand of education on all levels'."

MERLE M. ODGERS,
President

A REPORT ON FINANCES

by JOHN F. ZELLER III '41, Vice President—Business and Finance

THE academic and financial year 1959-60 resulted in substantial increases in both the Endowment and Plant accounts and brought the book value of the University to a high of $18,439,708.32. The Endowment account increased by $401,184.06 to $5,02,043.64. (Market value of endowment as of June 30th was $7,915,472.33.) The Plant account increased by $16,603.07 to $11,405,905.39.

Cash gifts received by the University during the year totaled $844,904.94, reflecting the successful efforts of thousands of Bucknellians in the Dual Development Campaign in the Middle Atlantic area in the winter and spring of 1960.

The operating account for the period, breakdown of which is shown in the accompanying table, shows an increase of more than $180,000 over the preceding year. These figures do not include an additional $270,850.93 which was received in special grants and expended for designated research and special summer projects. Nor do they include $43,700 in student loans, the major part of which was received from the United States government under the National Defense Loan program.

Other student aid totaled $316,477.71 and was distributed to 1080 students as scholarships, grants-in-aid, tuition remission, discounts, or work aid ($105,347.8 of the student aid total).

Educational and general expenses, as shown in the accompanying table, exceeded tuition and fees by $728,657.08. This deficit was all but balanced by income from endowment, gifts (including the $50,000 credited to the Alumni Fund from Dual Development receipts), and income from auxiliary enterprises, which exceeded auxiliary enterprise expenditures by $168,445.63.

Despite substantial increases in income from all sources, and despite careful budgeting, the University ended the year with a deficit of $1,123.35 on total operations of just under five million dollars. While this deficit cannot be considered a significant figure in an operating budget of this size, it does point up the need for the tuition increase which was adopted by the Board of Trustees for September, 1960, and which made possible the additional and much needed faculty salary increases authorized for the current year.

A college, after all, unlike a business enterprise, does not exist to make a profit. It is essential that it break even on its operations—but its primary obligation is to see to it that every dollar it receives is used to produce the maximum educational benefit for its students.

BUCKNELL UNIVERSITY OPERATING STATEMENT

Academic and Fiscal Year 1959-60

WHERE THE INSTRUCTIONAL DOLLAR CAME FROM:

81%	From Student Fees—Tuition and General Fee	$2,409,082.46
12%	From Income on Endowment	358,354.20
3%	From Gifts: (Including $50,000 from Alumni Fund in 1959-60)	78,440.97
4%	From Miscellaneous Sources—Registration fees, conventions, testing, discounts, and other sources	122,292.93
100%	Total Income for Educational Purposes	$2,968,170.56
	In addition Bucknell operated certain "self-supporting" auxiliary enterprises, residences, dining halls, bookstore, intercollegiate athletics, etc. Their gross income totaled	$1,564,057.95
	Total University Income	$4,532,228.51

WHERE THE INSTRUCTIONAL DOLLAR WENT:

35%	For Faculty Salaries	$1,100,996.04
4%	For Library	120,375.20
22%	For Other Direct Educational Expenses, including administration, laboratory and classroom equipment and supplies, travel, extension, etc.	684,086.90
12%	For Operation and Maintenance of Physical Plant	380,659.33
5%	For Fringe Benefits—Retirement program, Social Security, Group Insurance	171,548.29
7%	For Scholarships and Grants-in-Aid	210,942.93
5%	For Improvements to Buildings and Equipment	161,684.00
10%	For Miscellaneous Expenses—Alumni Office and bulletins, communications, mimeographing, public relations, insurance, etc.	307,446.85
100%	Total Educational and General	$3,137,739.54
	In addition the expenditures for auxiliary enterprises amounted to	$1,395,612.32
	Current Fund Deficit	$ 1,123.35
	Total University Expenditures	$4,532,228.51

THE CLUB PROGRAM

Bucknell Birthday Parties

Highlight The Club

Program During February

Birthday Parties

As we enter a new calendar year alumni club activity continues at a fast pace. As this is written (early December) the Alumni Office already has received from fourteen club presidents their plans to hold Bucknell Birthday Parties in late January and February. Many others have expressed their desire to participate in this annual affair and undoubtedly will send notice to their club members in the near future.

Areas in which clubs plan to celebrate Bucknell's 115th birthday are: Rocky Mountains on January 11 with Dean Karl D. Hartzell as guest speaker; Chambersburg on January 26 with Dr. J. Charles Jones '42, chairman of the Department of Education at Bucknell, as guest speaker; Northern New Jersey on January 27 with the Men's Glee Club providing the entertainment; Connecticut on January 29 with entertainment by the Men's Glee Club; Harrisburg on February 2 with Dr. Merle M. Odgers as guest speaker; Union County on February 8 with Dr. Odgers speaking; Lancaster on February 10 with a showing of the new sound and color movie entitled, Presenting Bucknell; Pittsburgh on February 11; Trenton on February 17 with Head Football Coach Bob Odell as guest speaker; and also Baltimore, Syracuse, St. Petersburg and Georgia during February. As we go to press news has been received from Wilkes-Barre that Bucknellians in that area are planning a party for late January.

Bucknellians in these areas and in other areas planning to hold dinners and meetings will receive invitations in the mail as the details are worked out.

Special Celebration

A party to celebrate Bucknell's birthday will be held in the Tuscon, Arizona, area on Saturday, February 4. Judson W. Bunnell '52, general manager of the Scottsdale Country Club and Resort is in charge of the affair. Alumni in the area will be alerted by special invitation, but for the benefit of vacationers who may wish to join the party the following details are noted. Alumni and friends are invited to arrive early on Saturday, February 4, or before and take advantage of the many activities at the club. A social hour will begin at 6:30 P. M. with a delicious steak dinner to follow. The price of the dinner will be $4.00 including tax and tip. Reservations for the affair should be sent to: Judson W. Bunnell, General Manager, Scottsdale Country Club and Resort, Scottsdale, Arizona, by January 28, 1961. If convenient you may call Mr. Bunnell at WHitney 5-8437.

In Review

The Bucknell Alumni Club of Harrisburg continues to lead all Bucknell Alumni Clubs in holding regular monthly dinners. President Earle Mead '52, reports three meetings held on October 6, November 3 and December 1. At the November meeting, Dr. Harold Heine, professor of chemistry at Bucknell, presented a most enlightening discussion concerning experiments undertaken at Bucknell during the last eight years in the field of lockjaw. Dr. Heine explained that these experiments have been conducted in an attempt to discover the cause of lockjaw in white mice.

Not only was the fall season a successful one for the Bison football team but it was also a success for clubs holding Bison Roundups prior to or following football games. Perhaps the most successful, in terms of number of alumni attending, was the Bison Roundup following the Rutgers game on October 15. Close to 200 people attended the affair held at the Edgebrook Restaurant in New Brunswick. Our hats are off to Robert D. Hunter '49, president of the club, for arranging for the roundup and our thanks go also to Bradley N. Tufts, sports information director, for the impromptu review of the game given before the serving of a delicious buffet dinner.

The Bucknell Alumni Club of Union County was host at a Bison Roundup following the Homecoming game with Lafayette on October 22. Jere B. Bates '15, president of the club, was in charge of this annual reception for alumni.

A Bison Roundup under the sponsorship of the Bucknell Alumni Clubs of Rochester, Syracuse and Triple Cities was held prior to the Colgate game at the Colgate Inn at Hamilton, N. Y., on November 5.

A roundup prior to the Delaware game was held in Wilmington on November 19. Stanley A. Zerbe '48, is to be commended for the fine arrangements and for the telephone follow-up urging alumni to be present. The alumni secretary and assistant alumni secretary attended this meeting and each of the other Bison roundups.

The Bucknell Alumni Club of Western Pennsylvania held a unique post-election celebration in Pittsburgh on November 12.

In St. Louis on November 28, Bucknellians had an opportunity to meet and speak with Fitz R. Walling '46, director of admissions at the University. The dinner meeting was arranged by Mr. and Mrs. George W. Wolf (Carla J. Pieper '56).

Thanks to Dr. Peter M. Mensky, supervising principal of the Lakeland Joint Schools in Jermyn, Bucknellians attending the Pennsylvania State Education Association in Harrisburg on December 27 met for a luncheon at the Y. W. C. A. Dr. Mensky moderated a panel discussion entitled "Workable Jointure Patterns—Curricular, Administrative, Financial—in Actual Operation." Dr. J. Charles Jones '42, chairman of the Department of Education, and C. Bruce Rossiter '56, assistant alumni secretary, attended from the campus.

Although detailed reports on meetings held in Southern California on December 5 and Northern California on December 6 are not available at this writing, Bucknellians in these areas were privileged to hear Dr. Merle M. Odgers and to see the new sound and color movie entitled "Presenting Bucknell."

Basketball Roundups

Just as Bucknellians follow the Bison football games and attend Bison Roundups, so do they attend the basketball games and Bison Roundups held prior to or following these games.

The first roundup in the infant basketball season was held in Philadelphia at the Penn-Sherwood Hotel prior to the Bucknell-LaSalle game at the Penn Palestra. A recent note from Robert H. Taylor '48, president of the Bucknell Alumni Club of Philadelphia, indicates that plans are under way for another roundup to be held on February 14 prior to the Temple game. In charge of the arrangements for the LaSalle and Temple roundups is Walt Weidemann '39. Bucknellians in the Philadelphia area will receive the details as to time

(Continued on Page 23)

CLASS REPORTS

EMERITUS CLUB

MISS MARY COTTON
Eldred, Pa.

Bucknell lost one of its most famous biology graduates with the death, on October 1, of Dr. EZRA ALLEN in Fair Lawn, N. J. Dr. Allen entered the Bucknell Academy in 1889, earned the bachelor's degree in 1895, the master's degree in 1896, all at Bucknell. He was awarded the Doctor of Philosophy degree by the University of Pennsylvania in 1914 and was made an honorary doctor of science by Bucknell in 1922. After teaching in Montana, Pennsylvania, and New York, he joined the teaching staff at Stetson University in 1941 where he also served as curator of Monroe Museum. He has to his credit many developments in biological research, including important discoveries in the field of neuroanatomy. In 1958 at the age of 88 he retired and made his home in Fair Lawn, N. J., with relatives. He is survived by his sister, Mrs. Creighton M. Konkle (LAURA L. ALLEN '01, of Washington, D. C.). Heartfelt sympathy is extended to his surviving relatives by the University.

JOHN C. (JOHNNY) JOHNSON '04, is probably re-living his days of football at Bucknell as he watches his grand nephew RICHARD JOHNSON '63, cavort as a high stepping halfback on the current Bison team. Dick had the honor of scoring the first touchdown of the season at the Gettysburg game in Hershey. Dick's parents are Mr. and Mrs. GEORGE W. JOHNSON '31, (EDITH HASSELBERGER '34) of Grosse Point, Mich.

(EDITOR'S NOTE): ALAN C. CUNNINGHAM, reporter for the Class of 1902, has come up with a most unique idea to collect news from members of his Class of '02, as well as any other interested Bucknellians. Mr. CUNNINGHAM offers to give a professional reading of handwriting if Bucknellians will send to him (718 Sussex Rd., Wynnewood) a 100-word chatty letter about themselves using white paper and black ink. Mr. CUNNINGHAM will return to the sender his comments about their handwriting and, in turn, gather news for publication in THE BUCKNELL ALUMNUS.

03 MRS. HARRY C. HERPEL
(Elvie Coleman)
1250 Park Ave.
McKeesport, Pa.

Dr. JOHN B. COOK (48 Beach Ave., Pennsville, N. J.) is now retired after 47 years of teaching. His oldest son, BELMONT '29, has been with DuPont since graduation; son, EUGENE '34, is with Owens of Illinois; and daughter, Alice, is an R.N. at Memorial Hospital, Wilmington, Del. With six grandchildren and one great-granddaughter, life is full of interest.

HENRY P. FRIEND (1407 Oakland Blvd., Norristown) has retired from his profession of consulting engineer. He is still active in giving his services to Montgomery County Park Board. The Friends have three children and five grandchildren.

W. LAWRENCE KALP (428 Bath Ave., Long Branch, N. J.) retired in 1946 and celebrated his 81st birthday last October. His health is good, except for intermittent attacks of arthritis. His wife, EDITH PHILLIPS '01, deceased in 1953. His daughter, Margaret E.

Kalp, is associate professor of Library Science at the University of North Carolina. She received her A.M. degree in Library Science at the University of Michigan.

05 DR. JOHN C. SANDERS
R. R. 6
Chambersburg, Pa.

(EDITOR'S NOTE): The alumni office received with regret the resignation of Dr. LEWIS C. HYLBERT as class reporter, after many years of faithful service to the Class of 1905 and the University.

Since Dr. HYLBERT'S resignation, your class president, Mrs. EDITH KELLY Fetherston, has appointed Dr. JOHN C. SANDERS to the position of class reporter.

If any members of the class have news to report, please inform Dr. SANDERS at the above address or the alumni office. Thank you.

07 DR. LEO L. ROCKWELL
602 Charles St.
Lakeland, Fla.

A good letter from FRED ZUG gives a budget of news. FRED tells of how he and his Missus sold their house in Sarasota, Fla., after the hurricane of '49, which "scared them to death" and did tremendous damage. Since that they are back in the good old Keystone State. Mebbe VERA and I will be scared out some day, but after surviving the early days of World War I in Germany, severe earthquakes in Chile and Mexico, Hazel in up-state New York, and Donna here, I guess Old Nick has found we are hard to destroy. One cheering note in Fred's letter; he made a profit when he sold his Florida property. In his eight-page letter he includes some good stories he and COIT HOECHST have collected but I suspect SHOTT and ROSSITER are too cramped for space to allow me to tell them in THE BUCKNELL ALUMNUS. Those who wish to hear them must come to see us in Lakeland, Fla.

BILL HINMAN had a bad fall end of September which landed him in the hospital for some time. His wife Sally says he was trying to climb to Heaven at their home in Floral City, Fla., but the ladder broke and he dropped 20 feet. Donna didn't damage their place at all.

ZUG reports that he sees the WEDDLES from time to time and gives some notes on the reunion of three years ago, which reminds me that y'all better be getting ready for June '62. VERA and I hope to get back to Bucknell for Commencement next spring and hope we see some of you then. As old residents here we want to visit the No'th and find out what you damyankees are like.

08 MRS. JOHN H. MATHIAS
(Margaret W. Pangburn)
202 St. Louis St.
Lewistown, Pa.

Again the Class of 1908 is saddened by the death of one of its members. Through a letter from CHESTER HIGBY I learned of the death of JOHN HUMMER. John spent his life in the teaching profession, retiring several years ago from the position of assistant superintendent of schools in Syracuse, N. Y. We are glad that he had such a wonderful time at our 50th reunion. Our heartfelt sympathy goes out to his wife and sons.

OLIVE RICHARDS Landers has left Texas and come east to live. She is located in Virginia Beach, Va., and is engaged in editorial and publicity work.

My family, too, is experiencing the loss of one of our group. My sister, JESSIE W. PANGBURN M'23, passed away on November 11. Some of you know how very much she will be missed.

09 MRS. HOWARD L. HEADLAND
(Sarah E. Walters)
3911 First Avenue North
St. Petersburg 13, Fla.

As today is November 19, I feel like wishing you all a Thanksgiving with many happy family reunions and a Christmas merry with all its trimmings, but alas and alack, by the time you may be reading this all those joyous festivities will be only memories. So now, hail to the Glad New Year and "Lord let me fly my banners of good will long, wide and high."

From Mrs. Harry Weeter (MABEL SLOUT) came a colored photo card of the bridge of Kintai at Iwakuni—most beautiful. She writes: "I did not get here in cherry blossom time but it is still lovely. I took my eldest grandson (15) to Mexico for five weeks. Then sent him home—visited Los Angeles and San Francisco in California. Then came 10 days in our new state of Hawaii where I met the friend with whom I traveled the rest of the way around the world. I left Louisville, Ky., July 8 and expect to be home for Christmas." Home to MABEL is 309 Westport Dr., Louisville, Ky. What a globe trotter you have become, MABEL! Congratulations that you have the good health which makes it possible for you to do all these things.

We four 1909ers of St. Pete (Fla.) have a bit of history to report. All of us, except GEORGE BAILETS, lazied away a quite warm summer right here in our own comfortable homes.

GEORGE and his wife, Ruth, went traveling and I quote: "We spent a most interesting summer in Glens Falls, N. Y., Ruth's home city, and in Weirs Beach and Hanover, N. H., the home state of 'Young Hickory from the Granite Hills,' Franklin Pierce, the last New England Democrat to be chosen president until this year. That was 1852, when his name was not proposed until the 35th ballot and his nomination not made until the 49th. Then Mr. Pierce 'accepted reluctantly' a 'somewhat different situation from 1860,' remarked Sen. John Kennedy. Our nation then was in as great turmoil over the issue of secession and slavery as is the world today over the question of Communist tyranny and slavery."

GILBERT LYTE and his Marguerite find their lovely new home near Tampa Bay, Fla., so cozy that they have little or no desire to leave it.

Quoting HELGE FLORIN: "I'm retired or tired, don't know which. Had planned a trip north this summer to see our children and their families but on May 30 I wasn't feeling well so my good wife called the Dr. He came: looked me over and called the ambulance. In less than two hours I was being operated on. Fortunately it was successful and after a short stay in the hospital, I was discharged but under orders. Our trip which would have taken us to Ol' B. U. was off indefinitely. Our daughter Jean is married to an Air Force Colonel now stationed in Washington, D. C.

Dr. Sue E. Weddell '12

Dr. Sue E. Weddell '12. is the author of this year's "World Day of Prayer" worship service which will be used by Christian women around the world in their annual observance of the first Friday in Lent (February 17). Each year the service is written by a representative of a different country and on this 75th anniversary Dr. Weddell was chosen from the United States where the "Day" was started in 1887.

As an executive secretary of the Foreign Mission Conference of North America, Miss Weddell participated in the formation of the United Council of Church Women in 1941 and since then has visited many countries in Europe and Asia, consulting with church groups and speaking at conferences. Her various official duties have taken her to India, Ceylon, Arabia, the Middle East, and to Europe where in 1948 she was a delegate to the constituting meeting of the World Council of Churches in Amsterdam. Still active on the Committee on World Literacy and Christian Literature, Miss Weddell serves as an adviser and consultant to several church groups.

In 1955 Bucknell University conferred upon Dr. Weddell the honorary degree of Doctor of Humanities. Her address is 13 Bath Ave., Ocean Grove, N. J.

They have a boy. Our son Donald is a Lt. in the Navy Air Force, stationed in R. I. They have two girls. We expect them for the holidays and that will be fun. Had a nice letter from RALPH WINEGARDNER who is retired and lives in California and likes it. Why, I don't know 'cause they don't have green beaches there."

Aside from making a short trip to Winter Park to see Dr. JOHN C. HOSTETTER '08 and later another trip to Miami, Howard and I have been at home. A bit of pleasant news to us is that on October 13, 1960, Vaughan and ELOISE HEADLAND Whitesides '46 presented us with a new granddaughter, Barbara Ruth.

May the New Year bring to all of us good health, exceeding peace and full contentment. God bless you all.

10

MISS MILDRED B. CATHERS
100 W. 33 St., Apt. 6
Bayonne, N. J.

"HEINE" BANK has recently been admitted to the Veterans Administration Hospital in East Orange, N. J., and is located there in room 4C. Cards or a visit any day from 2:00 to 8:00 P. M. will be greatly appreciated.

RUBY and GURNEY SHOLL spent much of October travelling about: first to New England where they enjoyed the flaming autumn foliage; then to Cleveland, Ohio, for a visit with JACK '37 and his family. Their final destination was Milwaukee, Wisc., where RUBY visited with many old friends.

11

LYMAN C. SHREVE, Esq.
512 Masonic Building
Erie, Pa.

Reune in June, 1961

VERA COBER ROCKWELL has been honored by being listed in the first edition of the new WHO'S WHO OF AMERICAN WOMEN. Congratulations. Her husband, Dr. LEO L. ROCKWELL '07, writes from Florida Southern College at Lakeland, Fla., and appears to read the news of our class, as well as that of his own. The Rockwells live at 602 Charles St., Lakeland, Fla.

EVELYN H. McCASKIE has written recently that she has just returned from a long trip, which covered Rotterdam, Marseille, Genoa, Port Said, the Suez Canal to Aden, Singapore, Bangkok, Saigon, Manila, and Hong Kong; and home by the way of Tokyo, Okinawa and the Pacific to Cold Harbor, Alaska, to Vancouver and Montreal. What a trip!! Her address is Ripton, Vt.

MABEL ROSENSTEEL Ballard writes interestingly of her travels and of her work during the last presidential campaign for the Republican National Headquarters in Washington, D. C. Her address is 1727 Massachusetts Ave., N. W., Washington 6, D. C.

HERBERT S. LLOYD has sent out a letter to the members of our class, asking for information to be included in our Fiftieth Reunion Book. If you have not sent in your reply, please do so at once. His address is Lily Lake, R. D. 1, Wapwallopen.

12

MRS. H. W. HOUSEKNECHT
(Maze Callahan)
108 W. Penn St.
Muncy, Pa.

Well, the election is over! As I said before, we went to bed Democrats and Republicans and woke up Americans. "One nation under God, indivisible with liberty and justice for all."

In October we visited the children at Camp Hill. We were privileged to see our newest grandson baptized at Christ Presbyterian Church.

While we were there FRANK and Petrona HEAN invited us to the monthly dinner meeting of the Harrisburg Alumni Club. Had a delightful visit with CARL '08 and Mrs. SPROUT, also JEAN SLACK '39, all former Lycoming Countians.

We missed seeing PEARL REAM and FRANK '17 but learned that FRANK was very ill and in the hospital.

Dr. and Mrs. HARRY S. EVERETT (NELLE M. FOLLMER '21) have moved to 147 Analomink St., East Stroudsburg, where "SCHEIDY" is serving as professor of mathematics at East Stroudsburg State College.

Dr. SUE E. WEDDELL has been honored by being selected to write the "World Day of Prayer" service for 1961 when United Church Women all around the world will observe their 75th anniversary. This service is written three years in advance. For a number of years Sue had edited the "World Day of Prayer" service which each year is written by women of a different country. "World Day of Prayer" is observed each year on the first Friday of Lent.

I was shocked and saddened when I read "In Memoriam" the death of MERTON OGDEN in April. I have written to Mrs. Ogden for details of his death so will write the account in my next issue.

This is the Thanksgiving season. Have you counted your many blessings one by one? Take inventory—it's later than you think.

*Maker of Snowfall, Shepherd of the Spring,
Kindler of flowers in far and lonely places,
Wake little children from dark slumbering,
Let stars of Christmas morning light their faces.*

DANIEL W. HICKY

A blessed Christmas and a peaceful New Year.

14

MRS. H. B. WEAVER
(Dora Hamler)
238 Ridge Ave.
New Kensington, Pa.

TRAVELS OF HARRY AND DORA

(Continued from November issue)

Monday morning we bade a reluctant farewell and boarded our planes for a return trip to Juneau. We were transferred to the lovely Baranof Hotel, and after lunch were taken by bus on a sight-seeing trip. We passed the Governor's Mansion, the Territorial Museum, the famous Chapel by the Lake with its cross-shaped picture window facing on Mendenhall Glacier. We visited Mendenhall Glacier, which, we were told, was used for one of the scenes in the film "Ice Palace." On this trip we passed many of the attractive homes of residents. Flowers abounded on the lovely lawns.

After dinner we visited the famous "Red Dog Saloon," and heard the much-publicized Rag-Time Hatie at the piano.

Next morning, we were flown to Anchorage, known as the Chicago of the North. This city is almost as far west as Hawaii, and the clock registers Alaska Time—the last time zone before the International Date Line.

Anchorage is a beautiful city. A six million dollar high school was passed on our sight-seeing trip. We visited with the principal and vice-principal and saw the magnificent gymnasium and auditorium. The auditorium is used for New York concert and opera companies. We passed beautiful homes and learned that living in Anchorage is expensive. Homes which would sell here for $15,000 cost double the price and more. It was explained to us that this is because of permafrost.

From the two days of sight-seeing in Anchorage we were taken by bus to Fairbanks. This was a two-day trip of scenic beauty over the Glenn and Richardson Highways, through the very heart of Alaska. We stopped the first night at comfortable Copper Center Lodge, after a trip through snow-covered giant mountains of the Wrangell Range and icy glacial streams and shining lakes.

In Fairbanks, we were assigned to the Nordale Hotel—another of Alaska's first-class hostels. Our visits here were to the impressive University of Alaska, with its excellent museum, and a trip through the city, including the very complete new Chamber of Commerce Building. We drove to the Ester Gold Fields and took an afternoon ride in a stern-wheeler riverboat. One of the stops of the boat was at an Indian village, where we saw their mode of life.

On Monday, August 29, we flew to Point Barrow and visited the Eskimo villages of Brower, Utkeucvik (White Owl), and Barrow. This was a flight of three hours via Wien Airlines. We spent the night at Barrow's Top of the World Hotel, which has been open to visitors for only a few years. The white residents consist of two ministers, eleven teachers and a few doctors and nurses. Two guides are there during the tourist season and they explained the life in this most northern point in North America, along the coast of the Arctic Ocean. While we were there, the North Star, he ship which brings food and other supplies, made its annual stop.

Food was excellent in the two restaurants. We visited a native cottage and one of the women explained—in excellent English—the Eskimo crafts. She showed us how the clothing and footwear are made by the women.

Dog-sled rides were participated in by some of our group, including Dora. She had some difficulty getting in and out of the sled, due to the heavy parkas and boots we were given to wear in the 29 degree weather. When the ossing of the children in the skins was shown, one of the group suggested to her (unkindly) hat she try that out, since she was so graceful and agile in the sledding.

The evening closed with an entertainment by the natives in their small recreation center. This consisted of native singing, accompanied on their skin-drums stretched over hoops of driftwood; dancing; and a young mother's demonstration as to how baby is taken in and out of the garment over the shoulders. The evening closed with singing in their language of "God Will Take Care of You." The chorus was repeated in English, with the audience joining. Most of the Eskimo men and women are Presbyterian.

Back to Fairbanks next morning, and on August 31, we left by bus for the Yukon. This was a two-day trip, with a stop at Beaver Creek Lodge for the night, and then on to Whitehorse, capital of the Yukon. We travelled the Alcan Highway. Sightseeing in Whitehorse included a visit to the Robert Service Museum and the beautiful Miles Canyon.

Next morning we boarded an old-fashioned parlor car of the White Pass and Yukon narrow-gauge railroad for our trip to Skagway. This was a thrilling ride, following the gold-rush trail of '98. As with all our journeys, the scenery was beyond description. A diversion in Skagway was an evening of entertainment in the Eagles' Lodge Hall, climaxed by the reenactment of "The Shooting of Dan McGrew."

At Skagway, we boarded the Yukon Star, for a trip of three days through the Inside Passage to Vancouver. Most outstanding was the passage through Tracy Arms, an area reminiscent of our 1959 trip through the fjords of Norway.

One day was spent sightseeing in Vancouver, a beautiful Canadian city. The next day, we continued by boat to Victoria. The flowers around the Empress Hotel in Victoria rivalled those of the much-talked of Butchart Gardens, which we also visited. The visit in this English-style town was a fitting climax to our Alaskan tour.

Then back to Seattle by boat, where we boarded our jet airliner for home.

This was a summer to be remembered and one highly recommended as an exciting adventure for all Bucknellians who enjoy travel even as do Harry and Dora.

Under date of October 28, WILMA KNAPP Morrow writes "I'm kept busy with my work. I'm director of occupational therapy at the Summit County Receiving Hospital (Cuyahoga Falls, Ohio) and time just seems to fly. Of course, I do other things than my job. I'm very much interested in occupational therapy as a profession and do considerable recruitment work. I'm also the Ohio delegate from the Ohio O. T. Association to the House of Delegates of the American O. T. Association and that takes considerable time. In fact, I'm leaving November 9 for Los Angeles, Calif., to attend the national conference. After that I'm going to have a vacation in Hawaii, so you see it isn't all work. I'll probably retire one of these days but I'm sure I'll find plenty to keep me busy. I wouldn't be happy otherwise." Wilma's address is 1726 Eighth St., Cuyahoga Falls, Ohio.

15 MISS MARION B. BANCROFT
1308—9th St.
Altoona, Pa.

Under the date of October 3, I received the following news from "ED" CLARK: "Just a note to say that I have accepted a call to be minister of the First Baptist Church, Painesville, Ohio, and settled in this nice community near Cleveland on September 7. EVA '21 and I have come out of semi-retirement to full-time service but we are enjoying the activity quite a lot. We greatly enjoyed the recent reunion, especially the banquet. Our address is: 21 East Washington St., Painesville, Ohio. Regards to all."

17 MRS. ERLE M. TOPHAM
(C. Ray Speare)
425 W. Sedgwick St.
Philadelphia 19, Pa.

Dr. EUGENE P. BERTIN was recently elected president of the Lycoming County Heart Association.

Dr. RALPH B. DERR recently retired after 35 years of service with the Aluminum Company of America. Widely known in the chemical industry, he was recognized by Bucknell University in 1958 when an honorary degree of Doctor of Science was conferred upon him. The Derrs started their retirement with a trip that took them to Australia, the Philippines, and India.

A note from JIM and Margaret CASE. They are now living in Florida. They like it very much, except for the hurricane scare. Last June in Orlando, Fla., they stopped to see Mary and CHARLEY HAY. Had a nice visit and said the HAYS expected to come to Lewisburg in October. I looked for them at Homecoming but didn't see them. Wonder if they came?

Helen and JOHN HENDREN '19 were in Miami, Fla., last winter and the CASES and HENDRENS dined together many times. ED KEOUGH '19 is at Lake Worth, Fla., and the CASES and KEOUGHS talk together often on the phone. The CASES live at 12750 N. E. Third Ave., North Miami 61, Fla.

Saw COZ SEEMANN, BRICK YON and CLINT SPROUT at Homecoming. If others were there I didn't find their names on the registration board. Sorry, for you missed a wonderful game. Aren't you proud of our team this year? They have been wonderful and certainly deserve your support. Do you belong to the Bison Club? Why not join and help our athletic program.

18 MRS. LAYTON E. KING
(Elizabeth Champion)
10 N. Loyalsock Ave.
Montoursville, Pa.

DOROTHY McCLINTIC (Mrs. W. H. Johnson) lives at 2632 N. E. 16th St., Wilton Manors, Fla. Her mother, who lives with her, is 90. She says that she is fine, physically, but her eyesight is not too good and she is beginning to be a bit confused, as are many persons not even that old. She, Dorothy, is taking some courses at night school—"Writing for Publication," among others, and is planning to take Spanish this semester.

I am busy as ever—working part time, keeping house, sewing and knitting, and trying to keep up with my children—Mary Elizabeth is back at the University of Arizona working on her Ph.D.—expects to complete her work this year, and Layton, Jr., is now living in Forest Hills North, N. Y., having been transferred back East by Socony. Close enough to spend a weekend with "Mom" now and then.

19 DR. FRANKLIN D. JONES
2617 St. David's Lane
Ardmore, Pa.

FRANCES HILGERT Higgs had an interesting vacation last spring when she visited California, Mexico, Arizona and Hawaii. In

Honolulu Frances had a brief visit with Mayor NEAL S. BLAISDELL '26 during which Mayor BLAISDELL presented her with a gold "Key of the City and County of Honolulu" and Frances presented the mayor with "Philadelphia City Coins" from Mayor Dilworth of Philadelphia. While touring the islands she met JOSEPH WILLIAMS '25 from Kingston. In Arizona Frances visited with HELEN KROUSE Coty '17 for a week. Frances concludes her letter with: "Bucknellians everywhere have woven their lives in all activities of the world—and I'm reminded of Dr. JOHN H. HARRIS '69 who said, 'Make the world better because you have lived.'" Frances is back home in Conshohocken in school substitute work. She writes, "Next vacation?—only two more states to visit, Maine and Alaska."

23 MRS. LEROY FRONTZ
(Olive Billhime)
Evergreen Farm
Allenwood, Pa.

The Reverend WILLARD D. CALLENDER, in connection with the coming establishment of the American Baptist Headquarters at Valley Forge, has transferred his office to the Valley Forge area, where he carries responsibility for the work of the Ministers and Missionaries Benefit Board of the American Baptist Convention in ten eastern states and also operates the Eastern Ministerial Information Service. For over 30 years, Bill was engaged in pastoral and administrative work in New England.

25 MRS. WILLIAM E. THOMPSON, JR.
(Mary E. Seidel)
Box Tree Farm
Whiteford, Md.

Mr. LYNN N. BITNER of 368 Council Rock Ave., Rochester 10, N. Y., general manager of the Gannett Newspapers, was named vice president of the New York State Publishers Association.

Since I last sent in news some things have happened to sadden us. We lost JO SNYDER WILSBACH in September. JO was on hand for the June reunion, more chic than I've ever seen her, and with her laugh as ready as ever. If you want to write to TONY '26, his address is 202 Hale St., Harrisburg. JOE GARDNER is another one we lost in November, and he also was back for our reunion in June. It was interesting to hear him tell of his "Gardner Dream House" which came about after his retirement from the education field. At reunion time his firm was building a new post office in Columbia, N. J. Mrs. Gardner lives at Blue Hills, Columbia (R. D.), N. J.

I received word just today that CLAIR SPANGLER had died. Bill and I felt particularly close to CLAIR as we three had gone to high school together and saw each other once in awhile. CLAIR was active in so many things and his enthusiasm carried over to others, he will be missed very much. Our sincerest and heartfelt sympathy is extended to the loved ones left by these three classmates.

Now on the more pleasant side, recently received word that ROBERT A. WEST has been made assistant principal of Coughlin High School in Wilkes-Barre. He was formerly head of the mathematics department and faculty manager of athletics there.

ALICE V. DAVIS, of 148 Pine St., Freeport, N. J., spent this past summer traveling all over Europe with her sister Marian. ALICE is a teacher in Freeport, N. J.

STEVE EMANUEL, of 421 River Rd., Wilkes-Barre, is the same old STEVE, and look out "girls." STEVE is on the prowl. He is director of visual education of the Wilkes-Barre Schools.

EDYTHE REYNOLDS ESTELOW's address is Harbournon Rd., Box 419, Pennington, N. J. EDYDE's husband, RICHARD '22, is business manager of the Columbia Carbon Company.

J. Nevin Bauman '20

The October 31, 1960, edition of Life Magazine featured a picture story on the 1961 auto show in Detroit, Mich., and among the industry's six top executives was listed J. Nevin Bauman '20, president of The White Motor Company.

Mr. Bauman received a Bachelor of Science degree in mechanical engineering from Bucknell University in 1920 and a master's degree in engineering from the University of Michigan in 1922.

In 1922 Mr. Bauman joined the sales organization of The White Motor Company in Cleveland, Ohio, and became an apprentice transportation engineer. After serving in training jobs in engineering and research he started to work as a retail truck salesman in Baltimore, Md. His training in the sales end of the business, in addition to his engineering background, fitted him well in his later years as vice president in charge of sales from 1935 to 1955. He was elected executive vice president of the Truck Division in 1955 and was elected president early in 1956. In 1960, Mr. Bauman was appointed chief executive officer.

Mr. and Mrs. Bauman are parents of two children—Robert Patten Bauman and Susan Bauman Walker. The Bauman address is 23549 Stanford Rd., Cleveland 22, Ohio.

They have one son, Richard, a sophomore in Central High School (Hopewell).

WILLIAM C. EVANS (82-16 34th Ave., Jackson Heights 72, N. Y.) was the first person Bill and I saw on the campus at the June reunion and, thank goodness, he and POLLY '28 are the same as always, irrepresible! BILL is sales engineer for the Republic Steel Co., and POLLY does personnel work with Gimbel Brothers. If you like to play tennis join them on a court at West Side Tennis Club.

FRANK L. FROST, JR., of 20 Cragmere Rd., Wilmington, Del., is with the DuPont Co. He has one daughter who is married to Dr. K. R. Baldwin and lives in Richmond, Va. She has presented JACK with a grandson and granddaughter.

FRANCIS HASKETT (94 Madison Ave., Mt. Holly, N. J.) is executive officer of the Mt. Holly Savings and Loan Co., as deliberate as ever!

MILDRED FRANCISCO Hopper of 36 Van Doren Ave., Chatham, N. J., is another one who hasn't changed. MILLY and Dan were there for a double purpose, for the day after our reunion their son, ROBERT HUSTON, was being graduated from Bucknell. They also were very recent grandparents, as another son and his wife had presented them with Douglas Gregory in April. BOB '60 was married June 18 to NANCY LEE BOYER '58.

EMERSON JENKINS' address is Box 1102, York. JENKS is as easy as ever, a well known figure in the eastern states and among Bucknellians. He sells that heavy equipment for Farnival Machinery Co.

ALBERT W. JOHNSON, JR., lives in Roaring Spring. Don't you like the sound of AL's address! He's a practicing lawyer and is hearing examiner for Public Utility Commission. His older son, Albert 3rd, was graduated from Penn State in June, 1960, and entered University of Pennsylvania Law School this fall. His younger son, Ed. L., is a junior at Kiski Prep. AL is still as "smooth" as they come.

ALLEN F. JONES of 2 Linn St., Progress, Harrisburg, is our new class president and an active one he is. He's directing engineer for the General State Authority in Harrisburg. AL is married and has two daughters active in high school. He and his family took a trip west this summer, visited most of the western national parks, San Francisco, Los Angeles, San Diego (California) and Tijuana, Mexico. AL expects to hunt in November and December so to you men who like to hunt, "good hunting," but be careful.

Bye till the next time.

26

MISS ANNA L. BROWN
45 Wildwood Ave.
Pitman, N. J.

Reune in June, 1961

GENE CARSTATER began a new assignment in October. He is now specialist for Tests and Measurements, Curriculum and Instruction Branch, Instructional Standards and Materials Division, Bureau of Naval Personnel, which navy men will immediately recognize as code, Pers-C11t. He is located in room 3712 Arlington Navy Annex (Arlex, for short).

Don't forget our class will be reuning in June. Please drop me a line telling me that you are planning to return for the reunion.

27

MRS. L. H. COLLISON
(Grace M. Pfeifer)
Marydel, Md.

Dr. CHARLES I. CARPENTER, who developed the Air Force Chaplain's Corps from its inception, has retired to return to the pastorate of the Avenue Methodist Church in Milford, Del. Since 1958 he has been protestant chaplain of the Air Force Academy in Colorado and before that had distinguished himself by outstanding service in chaplain activities since 1936. Upon his retirement he was honored and was presented with four bound volumes of pictures and testimonial letters from government officials, high ranking military officers and leaders of all faiths, recognizing his accomplishments.

Awards of the Legion of Merit, with Oak Leaf Cluster, the Distinguished Service Medal, and the Belgian Military Cross have come to Dr. Carpenter who was acclaimed by Chaplain Major General Terrance P. Finnigan, his successor as the "greatest chaplain we have ever had." Classmates and other Bucknellians in the Delaware area should visit Charles soon and hear one of his sermons at the Avenue Baptist Church in Milford, Del.

30

MRS. EARLE H. MEREDITH
(Janet E. Bingham)
303 S. Main St.
Jersey Shore, Pa.

Officers who are to keep the Class of '30 "in the news" and active as an alumni group are: President—FRANCIS MOERSCHBACHER, Vice-President—WILLIAM EMMITT, Secretary—Mrs. Earle H. Meredith (JANET BINGMAN), and Treasurer—Mrs. Earl Jones (SALLY BAILEY).

About 50 persons attended the reunion and voted it a most enjoyable occasion. Many of the class members had not attended any other reunion nor had they seen the new buildings on the campus. Most of us felt—very emphatically—"that we were horn thirty years too soon!"

A tribute was paid OLLIE WAGNER for reviving and "vitalizing" the class and a motion was made to name OLLIE an honorary chairman of the board of directors of our class.

VIRGINIA EMMITT KLINE '59, daughter of BILL and BETTY EMMITT, was congratulated by the class for her share in putting out a wonderful roster of the Class of '30. It is a valuable book and if you didn't get one (only a dollar) write to the alumni office and get acquainted with the whereabouts of your classmates.

A letter from PEG (AUMILLER '27) JAMES gives the following information about LEFTY and daughter Margie. LEFTY is busy working on his football team for the Ivy League! Margie had a year at Grier and has returned to Ithaca (N. Y.) to finish her senior year in high school there. The JAMES' address is still 101 Delaware Ave., Ithaca, N. Y. PEG says all their old friends are doubly welcome to drop in anytime.

REBA DECKER Hartman and husband Robert are the proud grandparents of a baby girl, born to their daughter, Judy.

Dr. JOHN S. BURLEW has been named director of research for the Research and Development Division of Carrier Corporation.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Schreyer (CLARA MILES) had the privilege of entertaining in their home—for one year—a student from Copenhagen. This program was adopted by the Milton P. T. A. and the Schreyers and their two teenage daughters felt amply rewarded by the friendship made in this exchange student.

31

MRS. W. ZELMAN SLEIGHTER
(Ruth J. Thomas)
833 Chestnut St.
Mifflinburg, Pa.

Reune in June, 1961

You can bet it was a great thrill to GEORGE W. JOHNSON to see his sophomore halfback son, Dick, score the first touchdown of the 1960 season at Hershey on September 24. Dick's other Bucknell relatives, all of whom would have enjoyed the sight, include his mother, the former EDITH HASSELBERGER '34, his great uncles, JOHN C. JOHNSON '04 (another BU football great), LEROY JOHNSON '04, his uncles CYRUS LEROY JOHNSON '22, JAMES R. JOHNSON '26, Major General HARRY W. JOHNSON '27, and his aunt, Mrs. Cameron M. Bieber (MARY E. JOHNSON '28).

Dr. CHARLES E. CHAFFEE has been superintendent of Bethlehem city schools since 1954 and prior to that time held a similar position in the schools of Stratford, Conn. He earned an Ed.D. from New York University in 1939 and in 1959 was awarded an honorary Doctor of Pedagogy degree by Susquehanna University. He is an active member of several local civic organizations and of a number of national and state educational associations including AASA, ASCD, PASA, etc. Mrs. Chaffee is the former Dorothy E. Rothermel. They have a daughter and a son and make their home at 1403 Madison Ave., Bethlehem.

The planning committee for our 30th reunion met at the PAUL SHOWALTER home following the Homecoming game and reception. You will be hearing from them and through this column. Meanwhile, keep your calendar cleared for June 3.

33 MRS. ERNEST H. ENGELHARDT
(Janet Worthington)
Ironlake Place, Millville Road
Bloomsburg, Pa.

Rev. FRED H. HEATHER, JR., returned to Washington, D. C., on June 15 to join the staff of the Methodist Commission on Chaplains. He will head the Department of Civilian Chaplains which embraces the work of 134 Methodist clergymen who serve as chaplains in Veterans Administration and public hospitals, clinics, prisons and industry. Fred had served on the commission staff from 1948 to 1956 as associate secretary and treasurer.

Dr. ENGELHARDT '28 and I returned late in August on the U. S. America from a three-month tour of 13 countries in Europe with our son Hans, a Haverford graduate student at Balliol College, Oxford, England. While we visited Scotland and England, he was in Russia with the Oxford basketball team where he was their high scorer in games played in Moscow, Leningrad and Bilibi. The team was flown in jet plans for a tour of Russia and was presented at various stops with bouquets of flowers and gifts from the Russian teams. Events were sponsored by the Russian National Sports Association, Bourvesnik. Hans is captain of the Balliol College tennis team at Oxford and was named one of six freshmen to join the Penguins, an organization composed of twenty of the best tennis players of Oxford University.

THE FIRST SNOWFALL

A choir boy dressed in crimson gown
Came running o'er the frozen ground.
With collar white and happy cry,
He dashed in church with tie awry
To tell the children, one and all,
"The snow flakes have begun to fall!"

Their hymn books left upon the floor,
The choir boys chased outside the door.
Their red robes whirling in a row,
They tried in vain to catch the snow,
And blinked their eyes and ate the air.
Then chased about just everywhere.

One jumped the fence away up high;
Their spirits seemed to touch the sky.
Their hair was wet; their feet were muddy.
I didn't move—a fuddy-duddy.
But loved their buoyant ecstasy,
A spiralled camaraderie.

J. C. WESTFALL of 724 Hillcrest Drive, N. W., Harbor Hills, Bradenton, Fla., is married to MARGARET PEARSON '32. He retired March 31, 1959, and on September 1, 1959, the Westfalls moved to Florida. Their two sons are David, 14; and John, 12. JC worked for a national finance company for eighteen years in many different cities and states, being a branch manager in Clarksburg, W. Va., for six years. Three months ago they completed a new home (designed by his wife) overlooking Harbor Hills Bay and the Manatee River. JC has been active in church work, Scouting, Masonic Lodge, and the chamber of commerce. Last summer they stopped at Lewisburg to show their boys the Bucknell campus. Only a success may be called JC!

MARION SMITH, now Mrs. George Klingman, is a busy homemaker and mother. This year she returned to the teaching profession, instructing 168 lively eighth graders. On Sunday she teaches a class of juniors—also is chairman of music in their local women's society. Her family is growing. Joel is a senior. Roger is on the junior high basketball team, and Linda is a busy 5th grader, interested in scouts, music, and reading.

HUGH MARSHALL is manager of Prudential in Quakerstown. This fall he was commercial chairman of the United Fund in upper Bucks County. He also helps in Boy Scouts and Rotary Club. His wife, Emily, is active in the women's club, Upper Bucks County Art League, the hospital, bridge, and golf. His daughter, Susan, is in her second year at Averett College, Danville, Va., where she is active in basketball, theatre, and majoring in merchandising. His younger daughter is a junior cheerleader. Hugh 3rd (age 10½) is fielder in the local little league championship team and tackle on the midget (85 lb.) football team. The family traveled this year to New Orleans, La., and south.

ABE W. WASSERMAN has been an attorney in Newark, N. J., for the past 23 years. He resides in Maplewood, N. J., is married, and has two daughters, one now at Skidmore. He is a member of the Township Committee of Maplewood, serving as finance chairman. Still interested in Bucknell, he did not enjoy the recent Rutgers football game.

GEORGE WALTERS spent a month in Florida and Key West the last two winters. He is the retired president of the Men's Club, member of Consistory and Acacia Club of Williamsport, past president of A. A. A. of Lycoming County, member of the executive committee and director of the Lycoming County Fair Association at Hughesville, continuous member of the Bucknell Bison Club, and campaign director of the following fund drives: Red Cross, Polio, and Blind in Lycoming County.

Your reporter hopes you like her poem, "The First Snowfall." Do you remember "Jack Frost," printed in our column last fall? Out of 8,700 entries submitted by librarians, teachers, and professors in the United States, it was one of 400 poems selected by the board to be published in the National Poetry Anthology for 1960 of Los Angeles, Calif. Your reporter's second copyrighted and privately published pocket-sized volume of 72 poems is on the market as of November 25, 1960, entitled Falling Petals. It sells for $1.00 in the area stores of Columbia County.

EPILOGUE

A poem falls
Beneath this tree.
A poem drifts
To you from me.

35 MRS. PAUL J. DESCHANEL
(Ann W. Orr)
Chapel Wood
Gambrells, Md.

We hope you all had a happy holiday and wish you the best of everything in the New Year. What's new?

37 MRS. PAULL W. ZIEGLER
(Mabel Nyland)
12 W. Garrison Rd., Parkside
Chester, Pa.

Sincere wishes for a Happy New Year!

Our news this time was gathered at Homecoming last October and printed through the courtesy of HERB WATSON, class president and newsgatherer deluxe. Among those lucky ones to enjoy a Homecoming sans rain were FRANK '38 and BETTY MacNAMARA FALCONE, now living in York, I believe. Also JOE VALENTINO and his wife, HELEN, and DAN GRIFFITH '36, and EDIE and LEE ROHDE '36.

Did you notice this year's crop of second generation Bucknellians? LEW MAURER, HERB MORREALL, CLYDE NOLL and BETTY SCHILLING RUOFF all have daughters in '64, while JOSEPH WORTLEY has a son. ART SHELDON's son is a sophomore, I think. Here at 12 W. Garrison, we are still in the "Run, Boots, run. Run to Father, Boots" routine, and it is somewhat staggering to realize so many of you will be traveling to B. U. to see your own youngsters.

HERB also says "WOODY" FOLTZ (ELWOOD W. FOLTZ, M.D.) who, incidentally, lent able assistance to the entertainment committee at the last Philadelphia alumni dinner, is with the University of Pennsylvania Hospital, doing research, among other things.

This time next year, plans for our 25th reunion will be in full swing. Hope most of you are looking forward to that week end in Lewisburg.

39 MR. DAVID R. BAGENSTOSE
12 Kinterra Rd.
Wayne, Pa.

Chaplain (Major) FRANK H. NOLL recently has been presented the air force commendation medal for meritorious service as staff chaplain to the 29th Air Division of the Air Force Defense Command during 1957-58. His medal was won while he served as spiritual guide for isolated radar detachment personnel in the Central Northwestern United States. At present he and Mrs. Noll with their five children are stationed in France with the 60th Troop Carrier Wing, APO 84, New York, N. Y., and they are looking forward to the completion of their present assignment in July, 1961.

WILLIAM C. HANSON received quite a write-up in The Trumpeter for October, 1960, the magazine distributed to employees of the American Stores Company, on his promotion to manager of Zone II of the company's extensive outlets. Bill began his grocery career as a part time clerk in Milton in 1935 and since his graduation has been with the American Stores organization, serving mostly in New York State. His latest assignment takes him to Buffalo, N. Y.

40 MRS. JAMES A. MILLER
(Mary McCrina)
1492 Colfax Ave.
Benton Harbor, Mich.

Major HORACE A. LOWE, JR., recently attended the U. S. Army Language School in Monterey, Calif., and effective November 15 will be located in Germany. Address: USAG South Area Stuttgart, APO 154, New York, N. Y.

EVELYN GALLOWAY HALL and her husband, GEORGE '39, live at 712 Chillum Rd., Hyattsville, Md. They have two children—Douglas (15) and Elaine (10). GEORGE is a librarian. EVELYN classes herself as "housewife and substitute teacher." She says, "Since I married I have worked in a candy store (yes, I still like candy), at the Library of Congress, and even tried selling Avon. I've been a den mother for three years, a Brownie leader for three years, and am in my third year as a substitute teacher. I enjoy it very much. I can't quite swing teaching full time, but I may some time. I've been very active in P. T. A. work and church activities. In the former I've been secretary and editor of their paper for three years. I do tutoring in my spare (?) time."

41 MRS. WILLIAM F. HASSELBERGER
(Jean P. Steele)
605 Scott Ave.
Syracuse 3, N. Y.

Reune in June, 1961

In February, 1960, Mr. and Mrs. CLOVIS S. SLEETH (ELEANOR M. LINDELL) moved to 1467 Main St., Phoenix, N. Y., about 16 miles north of Syracuse. CLOVIS still has his Sleeth Pontiac business in Syracuse and is now a commuter. To help finance college education for the children (son John is a freshman at Bucknell) LINDY is now teaching business subjects at Phoenix Central School. She attended summer school at Syracuse University and is working toward her master's degree. Daughter Caroline will be ready for college next year and son Robert

Mrs. Russell D. Harris '29

For several years Mrs. Russell D. Harris (Esther R. Girton '29) has played a leading role in the work of the National Shrine at Valley Forge. Mrs. Harris holds the position of recording secretary of the Martha Washington Guild of the Washington Memorial Chapel and the Woman's Auxiliary of the Historical Society. She has received special honor and recognition for the efficiency of her work, which will stand among the permanent archives of the Shrine, which Lord Bryce called "The Westminster of America."

She is married to Dr. Russell D. Harris, a graduate of Hahnemann Medical College. They have one daughter, Carol, who assists in the program of the young people at Valley Forge. The Harris address is 301 Gay St., Phoenixville.

Last summer the Harris family made a seven-week tour of Europe. On this same trip was Dr. George H. Miles '18 and his family.

two years later. LINDY say the new home is right on the Oswego River and Main Street is Route 57 so they are located where it is easy for their friends to find them.

43 MISS CAROLYN F. DONEHOWER
3722 Chestnut St.
Philadelphia 4, Pa.

GEORGE F. HAINES, JR., is now in a new air pollution position in the expanding research department of the Bethlehem Steel Co., engaged in research studies relating to the air pollution problems of Bethlehem Steel plants and of the entire steel industry. The Haines family now lives at 1704 Levering Place, Bethlehem.

ELAINE DYLLA Bronez writes that she and her husband Ray became happy parents of twins, Mark and Melissa, who were born October 13, 1960. Two sons, Jeffrey (6) and Thomas (3) complete their family. They live at 315 Westmoreland Rd., Alexandria, Va. Ray works at the Pentagon in the Foreign Military Rights Section of the U. S. Department of Defense.

Mr. and Mrs. GEORGE R. HAIN are proud parents of a son, George R. Hain, Jr., who was born November 25. George, Jr., has four charming sisters: Emily, Susan, Kathleen and Patricia. GEORGE, SR., is vice president of Royal Imprints. The Hain address is 520 Matlack Ave., Lewisburg.

Dr. ROBERT KROUT, 6817-5th St., N. W., Washington, D. C., recently returned from Toronto, Canada, where he lectured at an International Podiatry Seminar on an advanced concept of foot disease and he demonstrated an improved method of controlling symptoms of altered circulation and arthritis. Recently Dr. KROUT also contributed articles to professional journals.

44 MRS. ROBERT F. BAKER
(Honey Rhinesmith)
Lindys Lake, R. D.
Butler, N. J.

Homecoming, as usual, was nicer than ever and we had our annual reñion with FRANK and GINNY THOMPSON CANNON (to whom I lost a bet on the World Series). The familiar faces were just great, but there were too few of them . . . ART BALD '43 stopped to see us one night in November en route home to Penny and their two daughters—our first meeting in seven years.

Not a bit of mail has come to help fill this little space and I'm planning to take names at random and make up news—so you'd better write something fast . . . Our very best wishes for 1961 to everyone.

45 MRS. JOHN F. BACON
(Phoebe Follmer)
Meadowdale Farm
Sparks, Md.

I certainly have enjoyed reading your letters and learning the "facts and figures" of each family. Have about decided our class has done nobly as far as providing future citizens. It's hard to picture schoolmates with three, four and five miniatures, but then, who of us really realizes the passage of time? There is not room at each reporting for me to include all your replies, but hold on, eventually it will be published.

WILLIAM J. ALLEN, 209 Rodmor Rd., Havertown, reports that in addition to helping Marie raise three girls (Janet, Lois and Marie) and two boys (William and James) he is also a registered engineer and going to Drexel Institute as a graduate student in business administration.

The Rev. and Mrs. James W. British (EMILY JOSIF) are busy out there at 134 Rhode Island, Detroit 3, Mich., with their four girls (Christine, Cheryl, Gayle and Pamela) and his activities as director of the Board of Christian Social Concerns for the Methodist Churches in the Detroit Conference. EMILY has been doing some interesting choral work also.

An interesting life she leads! CARMEN MARINIER Breslin writes that her husband, Andrew J., is a building contractor and together they own a hotel restaurant. After their three kiddies ("J. D.", Robbie and Jerry) were in school, CARMEN became manager of this operation. I can just see CARMEN's vivacity at work. They live in Tamaqua (R. D. 2) and the name of their place is Scraf-fords, Inc.

A big "hello" from ERNEST S. BEREZ, 1501 Hawthorne St., Pittsburgh 6. He says he's "Corporation Officer Associated Hardware Supply Co." He and his wife, Natalie, have Franne, Joel, and Steven to keep them active and happy.

There's been a change of address in the past year for LOIS DEPUY Boston. She and E. Daniel (and Danny, Dave and Suzanne) now live at 751 Hyslip Ave., Westfield, N. J. That area is a regular hotbed of Alums and I gather my Roomie is still very interested in Bucknell, sorority and PTA affairs.

Bartow children—Robin, Gail, Steven and Michael

ANNE GERHARD BARTOW (and Bucknellian ROBERT '43) of 6 Ridley Court, Glen Ridge, N. J., report an active life in their community and their home. BOB is vice president of a reproduction firm. The BARTOWS enclosed this picture of their smiling foursome.

It seems to me that DOUGLAS M. BROWN of 3061 Canyon View Circle, Salt Lake City 9, Utah, has lots of interests. Since 1947, he has been a research associate, Department of Biological Chemistry, University of Utah, with outside activities in photography. He sees Dr. HARRY F. BRUMBACH, who practices in Twin Falls, Idaho. DOUG and family—Thomas, Diane and Gail—visit back and forth with the BRUMBACHS.

Mrs. Alfred L. Colesworthy, Jr. (DOROTHY ANDERSON) of Sea Cove Rd., Cumberland Foreside, Maine, writes of Peter Lee's arrival, September 16, 1957, and her activities in local volunteer and church work.

To Bristol, Va., this past year moved good people DOUGLAS and BETSY RICHES RICHARDSON and their young son. I know they'd love callers if you ever are near.

The business of life insurance plus innumerable civic activities consumes the time and energy of TED COHEN, 1681 Bay Rd., Miami Beach, Fla.

As district sales manager of the mid-south region of the Curtiss-Wright Corp., Princeton, N. J., DANIEL BRIMMER, wife and Margaret, Daniel and Keith live at 3435 Oxford Circle, Allentown.

It's true what they say about "southern hospitality!" So says LOUISE SNYDER Barclay. She, William E. Jr., and their boys (William, III, and Claude) now live at 2719 Cupid St., New Orleans 14, La. Bill is Gulf Personnel Manager for Alcoa Steamship Co. When we all go to Mardi Gras, "Little Snyder" asks us to be sure and stop in and say "hello."

IRVIN BREGMAN of 306 E. Ward Ave., Altoona, is now executive vice president of Automotive Supply Co.—in charge of Pennsylvania and West Virginia operation—18 units! Busy man. He and his wife Harriet have two boys, Matthew and Sandy.

An "open house" welcome comes from MARION NELSON BARTLETT and dentist hubby, Dr. KENNETH, of 29 Brookside Terrace, Cedar Grove, N. J., where they live with Richard, David and Steven. In addition to his practice and brand new office, this family is interested in sports cars and KEN is a past national president of the Mercedes-Benz Club of America.

Another classmate in Florida, NICHOLAS S. BURNS, JR., of 212 S. 7th St., Dade City, Fla., is busy selling real estate and all types of insurance. I'm sure Nicholas, James and Sarah Ellen keep his wife and him stepping also. This southern resident sends word he "aims to make next reunion."

MRS. LELAND C. EWING
(Elizabeth A. Wells)
41 Crest Drive
Tarrytown, N. Y.

Renne in June, 1961

WILLIAM D. GOLD has been appointed director of Bucknell's IBM installations and represents the University in the West Branch Data Processing Association. BILL was assistant manager of the Bucknell University Bookstore prior to this new appointment. He is married to the former VIRGINIA C. LEHR '48, has four children and lives at R. D. 1, Lewisburg.

WILLIAM R. RAVE has been promoted to senior engineer at the IBM Poughkeepsie Produce Development Laboratory and is in charge of Current Produce Tape Engineering for the Division. BILL is married to the former MIRIAM S. EVANS '48, and has three children: William, Richard and Patricia. Address: 53 Ireland Dr., Poughkeepsie, N. Y.

ROGER S. HADDON, ESQ.
243 Water St.
Northumberland, Pa.

The Rev. WALLACE POTEAT is now in Houston, Tex., where he is pastor of the Garden Villas Community Church. He is married to the former Margaret De Pasquali and they have six children: two girls and four boys. The family resides at 215 Evans St., Houston 17, Tex.

Dr. CURTIS W. CLUMP of 469 Willow Rd., Hellertown, has been on the staff at Lehigh University and was recently promoted to associate professor. He is co-author of a new book, Principles of Unit Operations, other co-authors being his colleagues at the University.

D. WILLIAM STUEMPFLE, JR. has been named project manager of plant engineering in industrial and plant engineering at the Owego facility of IBM's Federal Systems Division. He is married to the former PATRICIA MADENFORT '45 and has two children: Michael, 10; and Barbara, 6. Address: 3002 Columbia Dr., Endicott, N. Y.

With this installment, yours truly retires as reporter for the Class of 1947, after doing this bit for the nine-plus years that began in October, 1951. These were green years for the class, and it has been a rare privilege to chronicle even a small segment of the busy lives that have been a-living during these years. Hundreds of babies arrived; families moved around, some spectacular successes were achieved here and there, and volumes of happy memories were etched. We honestly feel that you may welcome a new viewpoint on the '47 goings-on at this point; it is therefore a pleasure to announce that your new class reporter will be TAMARA GURVITCH Goldman, a Bucknellian of wide acquaintance, keen insight and considerable literary mettle. Her exact mailing address is: Mrs. Herbert Goldman, 370 Holland Lane, Englewood, N. J.

Thank you so much for your interest, your letters, your collect cablegrams and your unflinching support out there in the precincts. Over and out. Roger.

MRS. JAMES A. BROWN
(Joann G. Golightly)
1591 Hillcrest Terrace
Union, N. J.

We are happy to announce the arrival of Mary Ann McKee born on October 19, 1960, daughter of the late THOMAS R. McKEE '49, and Mrs. Thomas R. McKee (RUTH F. WILLIAMSON). Mary Ann joins five other children in the McKee family. Her father, THOMAS R. McKEE '49, died on September 27, 1960. I'm sure your other classmates join me, RUTHIE, in sending belated condolences—and future happiness with your wonderful children. RUTH lives at 5 Montrose Rd., Yonkers, N. Y.

ADA CORN Meyer wrote me of her marriage to Dr. Jack C. Begelman on June 16, 1960. Congratulations and best wishes, ADA. Her address is 634 Maitland Ave., West Englewood, N. J.

PEGGY ROWE Harrison writes of the arrival of their third child, Betsy Ruth, on November 13, 1959. She joins Wendy and Russell. PEGGY and family live at 225 Upland Dr., Rochester 17, N. Y.

MRS. THOMAS A. FRAZIER
(Marilyn L. Harer)
1344 Mansell Ave.
Williamsport, Pa.

Mr. and Mrs. NICHOLAS G. SILEO (NIDA POTEAT '48) now live at 11412 N. E. 8th Ave., Miami 38, Fla., where NICK is teaching at the University of Florida and NIDA is teaching third grade in the public schools. The children count reached five when Gina Maria joined the family in 1959.

FREDERICK W. SLACK, JR., assistant comptroller of Bucknell University, was elected to the Board of Directors of the West Branch Data Processing Association.

Births: A daughter, Barbara Kathryn, was born to Mr. and Mrs. Thomas A. Frazier (MARILYN HARER) September 25, 1960. Two weeks later (October 9, 1960) a daughter, Kathy Marie, was born to Dr. and Mrs. JOHN PURNELL '50 (BARBARA JONES). The PURNELLS now have three girls while the Frazier count is two boys and one girl.

MISS HELEN E. GLOISTEN
161 Oak St.
West Hempstead, L. I., N. Y.

ROBERT F. ERVIN, JR., is eastern manager, converting sales, with the Champion Paper and Fibre Co. with offices in New York City. He is married to the former Rosemary Vane and has three children. To quote Bob, "I am working in two directions which are actually parallel: 1. raising a fine family and 2. building a business career." Address: 451 Hartung Dr., Wyckoff, N. J.

Mr. and Mrs. WALTER S. KEISTER welcomed their seventh child, a son, on October 3, 1960. He joins Susan, 12; Walter, 9; Marylou, 7; Robert 5; Linda, 3; and Billy 2. WALTER, SR., is art teacher and golf coach at the Lewisburg Joint High School. In November the KEISTER home was severely damaged by fire and the family is living temporarily with WALTER'S parents in Laurelton.

BARBARA R. KING and Ira C. Robbins were married September 18, 1960. Mr. Robbins is superintendent of The Ferris School for Boys in Wilmington, Del., and the Robbins' residence is at the school.

Dr. and Mrs. JOHN S. PURNELL, JR. (BARBARA E. JONES '49) announce the birth of their third daughter on October 9, 1960. John is practicing medicine in Lewisburg with offices in the new Medical Arts Building.

Dr. JAMES C. REITZ and C. Joan Henry were married July 2, 1960, and are living at 212 Quincy Ave., Long Beach 3, Calif. JIM writes, "I began specialty practice in obstetrics and gynecology with the Harriman Jones Clinic in July, 1960, and at present have a growing and satisfying practice." In their spare time JIM and Joan are enjoying sailing, water skiing, swimming and traveling.

MRS. HAROLD NORRIS
(Rebecca J. Rogers)
6 Griffiths St.
Montrose, Pa.

Renne in June, 1961

HERBERT A. MERTZ recently accepted a position as coating technologist with the Blandin Paper Co. of Grand Rapids, Minn. Herb is married to the former Jean Phillips and has two children, Patricia Jean, 4½, and Allison, who was born June 16, 1960. Address: 203 Clover Lane, Grand Rapids, Minn.

MRS. JOHN S. BOULDEN, JR.
(Barbara Bleecker)
1605 Twin Maple Ave.
Towson 4, Md.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert F. Scarr (JEAN LOWRY) recently moved to Cleveland, Ohio, where they are making their permanent home. They have two daughters: Lynn Elizabeth, born September 9, 1957; and Gail Diane, born March 17, 1959. Address: 5808 Fry Road, Cleveland 30, Ohio.

Mr. and Mrs. JUDSON W. BUNNELL (MARY LOU JOHNSTON '54) and their family have moved to Scottsdale Country Club, Rt. 2, Box 284, Scottsdale, Ariz., where JUD has accepted the general managership of this famous country club resort in the southwest.

On October 29, 1960, ELI CHILDS became Mrs. John Witt Lewis. Jack and ELI were married in Basking Ridge, N. J. They are now "at home" at 8-A Sayre Court, Madison, N. J., after a grand trip to the Virgin Islands. ELI writes that Jack is an engineer at Bell Labs in Whippany, N. J., a graduate of Case Institute in Cleveland, Ohio, and holds a master's degree from Penn State.

More news please! For the first time in a year, I'm all caught up—so to make sure there's no blank space where '52 should be in the next issue—please drop me a line!

MRS. JAMES A. CHAMBERS, JR.
(Barbara Roemer)
58 Linden Ave.
Verona, N. J.

A baby daughter, Susan Grace, born September 23, joins her sister Marybeth and brother Howard in rounding out the family of Mr. and Mrs. HOWARD D. BIDWELL of 861 Ellington Road, South Windsor, Conn.

Dr. and Mrs. DAVID C. WEIBEL (JO ANN CRITTNER '56) have returned from California to 60 South Bell Rd., Bellmawr, N. J., while Dr. WEIBEL serves a three-year residency in neurology in the Navy Hospital in Philadelphia.

Catching up on the news about Dr. MAURICE MUFSON is grand. After graduation from N. Y. U. College of Medicine in 1957, MAURICE was an intern, and then assistant resident in medicine at Bellevue Hospital in New York City. In July, 1959, he entered the Naval Medical Corps and is at present engaged in research in virology at Camp Lejeune, N. C., where he is studying respiratory infections in recruits and seasoned troops at the base.

Announcement has been made of the engagement of NED MILLER to Anita Podell, Cornell '58, and a Christmas wedding is planned. NED is with the Connecticut Mutual Life Insurance Company at 342 Madison Ave., New York 17, N. Y., and was recently elected vice chairman of the Field Agent's Advisory Committee.

A note from BARBARA LEVIN Cohen '53 brings us up to date, and the news is most welcome. After leaving Bucknell, BOBBIE received her B.S. in public relations at Boston University, then worked for Columbia Records for two years, and became Mrs. Jason Cohen. Their family includes two girls and their home is at 98 Cherry St., Framingham, Mass.

Mr. and Mrs. RICHARD McMAHON '52 (NANCY SCHMEHL) announce the birth of a daughter, Sally Irene, on October 17. Our congratulations!

MRS. PAUL C. TARR, III
(Anne E. Tuckerman)
413 Alliston Rd.
Springfield, Pa.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Deprez (MARION MYERS) announce the birth of their second son, Thomas Christopher, born October 6, 1960.

The Molloy family (ELLIE BONOM) has recently moved to 4973 Terry Dr., Ventura, Calif.

EDDIE MIZMA, who earned his Ph.D. at Cornell, is a development chemical engineer with Eastman Kodak in Rochester, N. Y. His newest title, however, is husband, having married the former Lois DeWitt in January, 1960. The Mizmas live at 330 Manitou Rd., Hilton, N. Y.

Mr. and Mrs. Oscar J. Dickerman (ANN M. ROTHERMEL) welcomed their second son on September 23, 1960. He joins 2½ year old David Oscar and their address is: 543 West 17th Place, Tempe, Ariz.

In July, 1959, MARTHA ROBERTS married Dr. Franklyn C. Hill, Jr., a neurologist, and moved to 1704 Pleasant Valley Ave., Oakland, Calif. Their daughter, Elizabeth, was born May 2, 1960.

Have read of the recent engagements of Jefferson Medical College residents, BILL STOSE and REED ALTEMUS. No doubt there will be more later—news that is.

Renee in June, 1961

Lt. and Mrs. WILLIAM F. LENKER (CAROL D. WANAMAKER '57) are in Fulda, West Germany, where BILL will be for the next two years with the U. S. Army Dental Service. Address: 86th Med. Det. (Dental Sec.) APO 168, New York, N. Y.

Mr. and Mrs. WILLIAM L. PALMER, JR. (DELLA CRITELLI '57) are now at 4501 Erie Ave., Cincinnati 27, Ohio, where BILL is assistant to the marketing manager of Proctor and Gamble. After his military service he spent one year at Columbia University Graduate School of Business and is now doing graduate work at the University of Cincinnati. They have one daughter, Mary Elizabeth, born in September, 1957.

Dr. JAMES R. BASTIAN and Carolyn T. Schnell were married September 24, 1960, and are living at 1613 Catherine St., Williamsport. JIM received his M.D. degree from Jefferson Medical School in June and is interning at the Williamsport Hospital.

AMERIGO C. CHIRIACO has been elected president of the Bucknell Alumni Club of Washington, D. C.

Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Burns (JANE HILL) are now living at 232 North Fulton Ave., Mount Vernon, N. Y., with their new arrival, Amy Jane, born September 3.

JOE '54, and MARY LOU (AISTRUP) BATTIN have a daughter, Brenda Meredith, born August 1. The BATTIN address is 24C Dunvale Rd., Towson, Md., where JOE is working for DuPont.

Received a nice newsy letter from CLAIRE (HAMMOND) EBERHART. CLAIRE and JOE had a son, Stephen Walter, on September 16. DADGIE (STEINKAMP) DRIVER and husband BOB had a daughter, Barbara, on the same day. CLAIRE also reports the vacation trip of Mr. and Mrs. William Davis (MARY LEE PEARAH)—they're enjoying the sun and sights in Bermuda for a month.

Mr. and Mrs. Cameron McKenzie (BARBARA BESOSA) and daughter, Cammie Ann, are enjoying their new home country—Sweden. BABS writes that her activities include modeling for a Swedish magazine, golf, cross-country skiing, studying Swedish, gymnastics and traveling through the countries of Europe. Husband, Cameron, is the managing director of Brunnsvicks Svenska A.B., the Swedish branch of Brunschwic-Balke-Collender's international division. The McKenzie address is: Villa Karlsro, Lidings 1, Sweden.

Mr. and Mrs. RODGER B. HAGLUND announce the birth of a daughter, Robin Gayle, on October 25, 1960. Rodger is a third-year medical student at Temple University Medical School. The Haglunds are living at 4943 Penn St., Philadelphia 24.

ROBERT C. STRACHAN and PATRICIA L. WENK '57, were married October 8, 1960, and are living at 851 Springfield Ave., 21-J, Summit, N. J. BOB is a chemist with Merck, Sharpe & Dohme and PAT is a chemist with CIBA.

Lt. JOHN L. STRIZZI has been on active duty with the U. S. Army since November, 1958. He served with the 7th Division in Korea from March, 1959, to April, 1960, and since that time has been at the Philadelphia Main Recruiting Station which is located at 401 N. Broad St.

On September 24, 1960, ALFRED C. WEST-ERMANN and Barbara Bickley were married and are now living at 30 E. Hartsdale Ave., Apt. 5-E, Hartsdale, N. Y. AL is a television buyer with Ted Bates & Co., Inc.

CARL H. KUEHN and PATRICIA M. ARMSTRONG '57, were married October 22, 1960, and are living at 1821 Grandin Rd., S. W., Roanoke, Va.

GINNY VOLLMER became Mrs. David W. Swaile on June 25, 1960. The Swailes are living at 16700 Van Aken Blvd., Shaker Heights, Cleveland 20, Ohio. GINNY taught business education courses at North Hills High School in Pittsburgh for the two years prior to her marriage.

NANCY UMHOLTZ was married on December 31, 1960, to The Rev. George Pera in the very beautiful First Presbyterian Church of New York. Rev. Pera is the chaplain at New York University, having also served in this capacity at Ohio State University. The Peras are presently residing in New York City.

Don't forget that you all have to send me your news in order for the Class of '58 to have a column! I look forward to hearing from many of you—soon—next issue is March.

Thank you, '59ers, for your letters. I am happy to report more good news as a result of your correspondence.

After their wedding in August, BARBARA NAGLE and JOHN BEATTY '57 settled in Philadelphia, where JOHN is a student of law at the University of Pennsylvania. BOBBIE is also doing graduate work at the University, which will enable her to teach while JOHN is in school.

WILLIAM (SCOTTY) McROBB and MIRIAM MENDELSON were married on the 7th of May, and after having completed SCOTTY'S six months in the Army, the couple live at 180 Prospect St., East Orange, N. J.

Another recently married couple, ROBERTA FULLERTON and HUGH BROWNING '57, are living in Brooklyn, N. Y. JEAN NARDI married Bill Benning in July and they settled in Montoursville.

ELAINE CHAZEN and Benjamin Hockman were married June 11, and SUSAN LEAVITT and JOHN DIERST '61 took their vows on the 18th of June.

Among the recent proud parents we include: Mr. and Mrs. William A. Siebenheller (NORMA COYLE) whose son, David William, was born on July 13. The little family lives at 384 Tysen's Lane, Staten Island 6, N. Y.

Mr. and Mrs. JACK BENNETT announce the birth of a daughter, Jill Patrice, on October 15 and Mr. and Mrs. RAYMOND EDMEDS (JOAN FULTON '61) of 3262-A Wakefield Rd., Harrisburg, also inform us that their daughter, Robin Michele, was born on the 16th of August. Congratulations! We're hoping that we may have in these children some hearty future Bucknellians.

To our list of world travelers I add the name of TERRY CARLSON. TERRY took leave from his army duties in Germany this summer and toured several European countries. NANCY SEEBURGER, who also traveled in Europe this summer, ran into TERRY while she was on tour. Bucknellians seem to meet everywhere!

One of my news-birds reported that MONA O'NEILL, JOY STICHWEH and BETSY HOOVER share a beautiful apartment in sunny California. Let us hear more about it, girls.

DAVID O. SHADE received a master's degree in retailing from the University of Pittsburgh and is now a buyer trainee with J. C. Penney Co. He and his wife, the former JUDITH HANSON '58, live at 147-25 Northern Blvd., Flushing 54, N. Y.

WALTER STANEK is serving as principal of the Millville Area Joint School District. His wife is the former Shirley Kessler and they have one son, John Bart, Address: P. O. Box 237, Millville.

Mrs. William S. Geise (MOLLIE A. TROXELL) has been graduated by the School of Medical Technology at Geisinger Memorial Hospital and is certified by the American Society of Clinical Pathologists. Mollie is employed at the Geisinger Memorial Hospital in Danville and her home address is R. D. 1, Northumberland.

WILLIAM CONRAD, III, and Ann Culp were married October 8 and are living at R. D. 1, Sherburne, N. Y. BILL is a member of the faculty of the New Berlin Central High School, New Berlin, N. Y.

DAVID ENGLISH spent three months in New Mexico for Martin Corp., and was recently promoted to engineer with that company. He and his wife (JANE REUNING '60) live at 1720-F Glen Keith Blvd., Towson 4, Md.

CAROL METCALF toured 12 countries in Europe after graduation and is now a medical secretary with Arthur D. Little, Inc., of Cambridge, Mass. Her address is 3 Exeter Park, Cambridge, Mass.

That's all for now. Thanks again for keeping in touch.

Renee in June, 1961

Attending medical schools are: LOUIS J. RUSSO, JR., (Dental), WINTHROP P. WILCOX, JR. and ROBERT L. YOXTHEIMER. FRED HABACHT is attending law school.

Now serving in the armed services are: ROGER K. ALBEE, JOEL E. BERMAN, WILLIAM V. BOGART, JAMES G. BRADY, ARNOLD C. CHRISTENSEN, WILLIAM B. CURTISS, JR., JAMES S. EISBERG, JOHN C. ELWELL, COURTNEY R. FRITTS, BRADFORD GREEN, JR., E. KIRBY LAWSON, III, LARRY MATHIAS, JONATHAN D. B. MILLER, KENNETH W. MOTT, CHARLES NEGRON, ALAN E. RUSH and ROBERT L. THIEKE.

On October 5, 1960, a daughter who was named Phyllis Lynn was born to Mr. and Mrs. PETER L. KLINE (VIRGINIA M. EMMITT '59) of 164 W. Baltimore Ave., Apt. 2, Lansdowne.

BARBARA ANN WARDEN is attending the Middlebury (Vt.) School in Paris under the "Middlebury Graduate School of French in France" program for the 1960-61 term, where she is taking French and working for a master's degree. Address: 93 Boulevard Saint-Michael, Foyer International des Etudes, Paris, France.

WILLIAM O. KUGLER became an executive trainee with Sears, Roebuck & Co., in their Harrisburg store in June and in September reported to Fort Sam Houston, San Antonio, Texas, for eight weeks at Officers Basic School in the Medical Service Corps. He and his wife will then return to Pennsylvania where BILL will be stationed at the Valley Forge Army Hospital.

ARTHUR A. RUDMANN is a research engineer with the Reaction Motors Division of Thiokol Chemical Corp., and has been developing process techniques for high energy rocket fuels. He is living at North Cape Trail, Lake Telemark, Rockaway, N. J.

AUNDRA A. SWOPE, who entered Bucknell with the Class of 1961 and later transferred to Juniata and then Allegheny will receive her degree in June, 1961. On August 6, 1960, she was married to Victor R. Zack, Jr., who is director of admissions at Allegheny College.

Weddings: MARGARET A. DEVOL and JAY D. CITRON '58, October 15, 1960; PATRICIA I. HAUSE and DANIEL W. FRY '56, October 14, 1960; JOAN O. SOLLFREY and Kenneth Gottesfeld, October 1, 1960; and CAROLYN D. FULTON and Peter Opdyke.

RECORD

(Continued from Page 10)

Re-elected to three-year terms on the board were Morris D. Hooven '20, Lester C. Lighton '20, J. Campbell Rutledge '33, Fred O. Schnure '14, and T. Cortlandt Williams '20.

Over the years, "Payne '09," and the College Inn have become a campus legend. Both Mr. Payne and the Inn are known to literally thousands of Bucknellians.

At a faculty meeting last year, it was announced that Mr. and Mrs. Payne had given their property, the College Inn, to the University. At that time terms of the agreement were that the Paynes were to continue to have full responsibility for operation of the Inn including its restaurant and apartments. When they no longer desired to use the property, it was stipulated that it then be turned over to the University.

As of January 1, Mr. Payne will retire and the University will take over the operation of the Inn. However, Mr. and Mrs. Payne will continue to live in their apartment at the Inn and keep in close touch with life on the Bucknell campus.

I am sure the editors express the thoughts of the campus family in wishing Guy and his good wife the very best wishes for a long and happy retirement.

During the 1961-1962 academic year the National Council of Alpha Lambda Delta (national scholastic sorority for freshman women) will award the Alice Crocker Lloyd Fellowship and the Adele Hagner Stamp Fellowship for graduate study. The amount of each fellowship is $1,000 and may be used in any college or university where there is a chapter of Alpha Lambda Delta.

Any member of Alpha Lambda Delta who graduated in 1953, 1959, or 1960 and who has maintained the scholastic average throughout her college career is eligible.

Alumnae interested in either of these fellowships are requested to write to Miss Sylvia Ohanesian, assistant dean of women at Bucknell. Miss Ohanesian will send application blanks and information upon request. Applicants will be judged on scholastic record, recommendations submitted, the soundness of the applicant's project and purpose and, to some extent, on need. The application must be completed by the applicant herself and submitted to the fellowship chairman by February 15, 1961.

Books

BY BUCKNELL AUTHORS

CRANFORD, DR. CLARENCE W. '29
His Life Our Pattern

Broadman Press, Nashville, Tenn., 1960

Dr. Cranford, pastor of Calvary Baptist Church, Washington, D. C., has written a very interesting book calling upon modern men and women to find in Jesus Christ the model for their lives. This collection of 17 messages applies the teachings of Christ to wide areas of every-day, human experience. Dr. Cranford who is serving as a member of the Board of Trustees of Bucknell University was the recipient of the honorary degree of Doctor of Divinity from Bucknell University in 1942 and served as president of the American Baptist Convention in 1957-58. Besides his pastoral duties, he somehow finds time to speak at numerous conferences and has been a regular speaker at Bucknell Chapel services. His son Richard K. Cranford is a member of the Bucknell Class of 1962. Broadman Press also published his previous book Taught by the Master.

WALTZ, THE REVEREND A.
PIERCE '06

This Is My Life

Privately Mimeographed, 1959

The Rev. A. Pierce Waltz '06 (he was christened Pierce Abraham but later changed his name to Abraham Pierce to avoid confusion with his brother Philip Andrew who had the same initials) has sub-titled his book "A Few Memories of My Youth—Education—Ministry—Retirement."

This 33-page document, naturally autobiographical, will be of interest to anyone who likes the flavor of the historical accounts of pastoral work in faraway places in the early years of the century.

The book includes a number of family pictures and a most interesting collection of pictures of the churches Rev. Waltz served in South Dakota, Nebraska, Iowa, and Kansas. Today, The Rev. A. Pierce Waltz divides his time between Kansas City, 3209 Touromee Ave., and Florida, 304 East Broad St., Tampa.

CLUBS

(Continued from Page 11)

and place for the Temple roundup by letter invitation.

Information for other roundups for away basketball games will be sent to alumni as they are planned.

Alaska Alumni Assemble

Reports reach the Alumni Office of alumni meeting in many parts of the world and our 49th state is no exception. A recent letter from Claire Vogel-song Pease '53, brings word that she and her husband recently entertained at their log cabin home in Spenard, Alaska, Dr. James Justice '53. Dr. Justice is a medical officer for the U. S. Public Health Service on St. George Island off the northern coast of Alaska and on a recent vacation to the mainland he visited with Mr. and Mrs. Pease. Mr. Pease is on the staff of the attorney general for the State of Alaska.

Classmates desiring to correspond with Mrs. Pease should write to Star Route A, Box 478-J, Spenard, Alaska. Dr. Justice's address is St. George Island, Pribiloffs, Alaska.

Bucknell Baptists

Bucknell Baptist ministers attending the Pennsylvania Baptist Convention and Bucknellians from the Erie area met for lunch on Thursday, October 20, 1960. Dr. and Mrs. Charles M. Bond were in attendance representing the campus family and Dr. Bond, emeritus professor of religion, conducted the meeting, which was attended by 14 Bucknellians. Classes represented ranged from 1897 (Mr. Jerome C. Fetzer) to 1957 (the Rev. Donald O'Polka.)

ALUMNI TRUSTEE TIMETABLE

January ALUMNUS—Announcement of names of three candidates in THE BUCKNELL ALUMNUS.

February 16—Petition deadline.

March 1—Election announcement in THE BUCKNELL ALUMNUS.

April 3—Ballots in mail.

May 16—Deadline for receiving ballots in Alumni Office.

June Commencement—Certification to Board of Trustees.

Elegy For A Phonologist Who Died Aged Forty-Four

To let them hear the sounds he heard them sound, to make them make the sounds he knew he heard.
 say saltimbanque, seulement, surprendre
 —that was his passion:
 no Christ or painter clenched the truth more surely in word or color than this man in his ear:
 but oh, no more than any Christ can kindle light in jungle hearts, painter can pluck his eye and plunge it in the blind.
 no more could he curl ear inside the hair he daily threatened with a rape for beauty's sake or onto skull deaf even to echoes of its own emptiness.
 And so he cursed—but soft—and prayed and chalked until an evening when he stooped to tie a lace. It seems a foolish way to die.
 The just god saw that he made no sound,
 he rose up gently and fluttered down,
 and the chalk was still on his fingers.

When I remember Jacques Rivoire, then I know for real that hell is a siren undulating its forever instant of begin and end through the now of perpetual night.
 and heaven—heaven is just the just word justly breathed across an eternal silence.

by permission of the "Step Ladder"
 Knox College

EDITOR'S NOTE: The above elegy was written as a memorial to Dr. Jean Alexis Rivoire, popular professor of French at Bucknell for seven years prior to his sudden and unexpected death on January 1, 1957. The poem was written by Dr. John S. Wheatcroft, assistant professor of English, and was first printed in The Stepladder, Volume 42, Number 3, Winter 1959. Jack Wheatcroft's poetry has also appeared in quarterlies and reviews in this country and Great Britain, such as Sidewalk, Artesian, Epos, Poetry Digest, Targets and Impetus. Dr. Wheatcroft earned his bachelor's degree at Bucknell University in 1949, his master's degree at Rutgers University, and his Doctor of Philosophy degree at Rutgers University in June 1960.

IN MEMORIAM

The following deaths have been reported to the Alumni Office since October, 1960. The University extends sympathy to the surviving relatives.

- 1885—Miss Emma R. Baker (Inst.), November 18, 1960
- 1894—Mrs. Edward W. Lawrence (L. Blanche Swengel) (Inst.)
- Mrs. Emanuel E. Pawling (Alice L. Mensch) (Inst.)
- 1898—Miss Louise W. Lawshe (Inst.), November 30, 1960
- 1902—Dr. Herbert D. Simpson
- Frank W. Stanton, Esq., November 20, 1960
- 1905—Mrs. L. Walter Davis (Laverda A. Burgart)
- 1906—Miss Edith Halfpenny (Inst.), November 28, 1960
- Rev. Homer D. Pease, July 23, 1960
- Rev. Edwin W. Rumsey, November 11, 1960
- 1907—Mr. Marshall L. Benn, May 24, 1960
- 1910—Mr. J. Leslie Conover, August 26, 1960
- 1911—Mr. Ray E. Miller, 1954
- 1912—Mr. Victor A. Schmid, August 9, 1960
- 1914—Mr. Lewis F. Lyne, Jr., November 25, 1960
- Miss Ethel E. Peterson, July 14, 1960
- 1916—Mr. Paul B. Lewis, October 19, 1960
- 1920—Mr. Burton H. Sweitzer
- 1921—Miss N. Marguerite Coe, October 10, 1960
- Miss Lulu C. Tyson, November 14, 1960
- 1922—Mr. Ralph F. Hartz, November 14, 1960
- 1923—Miss Elinor S. Hanna, September 9, 1960
- Miss Jessie W. Pangburn (Music), November 11, 1960
- 1924—Mr. J. Ronald Eckman
- 1925—Mr. Joseph R. Gardner
- Dr. Clair G. Spangler, November 12, 1960
- 1927—Miss Katherine I. Bennetts, November 20, 1960
- Mrs. Charles W. Siller (M. Elizabeth Haslam), September 14, 1960
- Dr. Howard J. Smith, November 11, 1960
- 1928—Mr. W. Kenneth Steele, November 2, 1960
- 1930—Edgar M. Lare, Esq., December 2, 1960
- 1935—Mr. Gailard S. Hughes
- Mr. George J. Keller, October 15, 1960
- 1953—Mr. John B. Lamade, November 30, 1960

DR. CLAIR SPANGLER '25, TRUSTEE, DIES AT READING

It is with deep regret that we must report the untimely death of Clair G. Spangler M.D. '25, on Saturday, November 12, 1960. Clair apparently suffered a heart attack while raking leaves in front of his home in Wyomissing. He was 58 years old.

Dr. Spangler was born in Union County on February 21, 1902, the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Newton E. Spangler. He attended schools in Union County prior to his attendance at Bucknell University, where he received a Bachelor of Science degree in Biology in 1925 and then studied medicine at the University of Pennsylvania Medical School. Upon graduation in 1929, he became an interne at the Reading Hospital and was associated with that institution in numerous capacities until his death.

Because of his long residence on or near the Bucknell campus and because of his congenial and outgoing spirit he was well known to hundreds of Bucknellians outside of his Class of 1925. He served as class president of the Class of 1925 until 1955 and on that occasion, the 30th reunion of his class, he served also as reunion chairman and succeeded in having the largest percentage of attendance at a reunion of any class at Bucknell University. Clair was a long time president of the Bucknell Alumni Club of Reading—Berks County and was a leader of alumni activities in his home area ever since his graduation from college. In 1955 Dr. Spangler was elected to the Board of Trustees of Bucknell University and served on the committees of instruction and alumni relations. He recently was chosen general chairman of a University drive to collect capital funds and had made all arrangements to conduct a kickoff dinner just a day or two before his death. His Class of 1925, the organized alumni of Berks County, and Bucknell University will sorely miss his outstanding leadership in alumni affairs.

Dr. Spangler was a prominent figure in county and state medical circles for a number of years and was quite active in the Berks County Medical Society. He was secretary of the organization from 1936 through 1954 and served as its president in 1959.

Under his secretaryship, the society grew in membership and made marked improvement in its organizational, development and scientific progress.

Besides being a member of the county and state medical societies, Dr. Spangler was active in the American Medical Association, the American College of Physicians, the Pennsylvania and American Heart Associations and other scientific organizations.

He was also active in the Reading-Berks Chamber of Commerce, Red Cross, Christmas Seal Drives, and United Fund activities, and performed many services for the Berks County Board of Assistance and Masonic groups. He also was a former medical adviser to Selective Service Board No. 31.

After interning at Reading Hospital he became house physician there from 1930 to 1936 and served in the Department of Cardiology and Internal Medicine for several years. In 1917 he was appointed associate medical director of the hospital and in 1951 was named director.

He is survived by his widow, Frances P. (Parker) Spangler; three daughters: Ann Elizabeth, wife of Robert Vogt, Needham, Mass.; Jane Heber Spangler and Susan Grove Spangler, at home, and one grandchild.

The funeral, conducted in Reading on November 15, was attended by Trustee Berkeley V. Hastings '13, Vice President John F. Zeller '41 and Alumni Secretary John H. Shott '22 and Mrs. Shott.

The heartfelt condolences of his classmates and the entire University family are extended to Mrs. Spangler and his three daughters.

Clair was a man of great integrity and by his activities among his many friends and associates, the name of his beloved Bucknell gained an added luster because Clair was an alumnus.

ALUMNI CLUB & TRUSTEE DIRECTORY

CALIFORNIA

CALIFORNIA-NORTHERN
(SAN FRANCISCO)
Pres. Sanford H. Sanger '44
1501 Kingswood Dr.
Hillsborough, Calif.
CALIFORNIA-SOUTHERN
(LOS ANGELES)
Co-Chm. George W. Hardie, Jr. '49
Co-Chm. Josephine LaBarr Hardie '48
294 Park Ave.
Long Beach 3, Calif.

COLORADO

ROCKY MOUNTAIN (also NEW MEXICO UTAH, WYOMING)
Pres. Andrew Lobel '32
3191 S. Cherokee St.
Englewood, Colo.

DELAWARE

SOUTH DELAWARE
Pres. Charles H. Stewart '52
905 Monroe Terrace
Dover, Del.
WILMINGTON
Pres. Stanley A. Zerbe '48
1907 Arlene Dr.
Wilmington 4, Del.

DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA

WASHINGTON
Pres. Amerigo C. Chiriaco '56
1425 21st St., N. W.
Hartnett Hall
Washington 6, D. C.

FLORIDA

T. PETERSBURG
Pres. Coleman J. Harris '12
6234 Second Ave., North
St. Petersburg 10, Fla.
SOUTH FLORIDA
Pres. Thomas Davison, III, Esq. '45
1436 Ancona Ave.
Coral Gables, Fla.

GEORGIA

ATLANTA
Pres. Lynn Davies Barton '57
1318 Nerine Circle
Dunwoody, Ga.

ILLINOIS

CHICAGO
Acting Chm. Charles W. Hott '48
1218 Park Dr.
Munster, Ind.

KANSAS

KANSAS CITY
Pres. Herbert A. Wenner '33
9711 Johnson Dr.
Merriam, Kans.

MARYLAND

BALTIMORE
Pres. Anna Weigold Mussina '32
34 Eastship Rd.
Dundalk 22, Md.

MICHIGAN

MICHIGAN-TOLEDO
Pres. Bruce M. Scott '51
20310 Damman Ave., Harper Woods
Detroit 36, Mich.

NEW ENGLAND

GREATER BOSTON
Pres. E. William Sanders, Jr. '57
11 Lowell Rd.
Concord, Mass.

PITTSFIELD (WESTERN MASSACHUSETTS)

Pres. Stephen Terpak '24
110 Euclid Ave.
Pittsfield, Mass.
CONNECTICUT
Pres. William A. Fairclough '43
Fox Hill Rd.
Woodbridge, Conn.

NEW JERSEY

ATLANTIC CITY
Pres. Joseph S. Mason '52
201 18th St., South
Brigantine, N. J.
MONMOUTH-OCEAN COUNTIES
Pres. Isadore I. Zlotkin '34
12 Court St.
Freehold, N. J.
NORTHERN NEW JERSEY
Pres. Robert E. List '45
834 Fairacres Ave.
Westfield, N. J.

SOUTH JERSEY

Pres. Robert A. Batten '49
160 West Holly Ave.
Pitman, N. J.

TRENTON

Pres. Vincent A. Halbert '34
203 Morningside Dr.
Trenton 8, N. J.

NEW YORK

BUFFALO
Pres. John A. Diffendafer '53
105 Park Place
East Aurora, N. Y.
CAPITOL DISTRICT
Pres. Donald R. Smith '23
117 Washington Rd.
Scotia 2, N. Y.

ELMIRA

Acting Pres. George W. Berry '35
1009 Sycamore Circle
Elmira, N. Y.

GREATER NEW YORK

Pres. Philip Glaser '45
68-19 Clyde St.
Forest Hills 75, N. Y.

ITHACA

Pres. D. Aldus Fogelsanger '27
402 Warren Rd.
Ithaca, N. Y.

LONG ISLAND

Pres. Leonard S. VonHeill '52
167 Rockaway Rd.
Garden City, L. I., N. Y.

ROCHESTER

Pres. Warren R. Lewis '42
394 Edgewood Ave.
Rochester 18, N. Y.

SYRACUSE

Pres. Carroll E. Osborn '37
325 Homewood Dr.
Fayetteville, N. Y.

TRIPLE CITIES

Pres. Douglas W. Burt '42
2203 Richmond Rd.
Endicott, N. Y.

WESTCHESTER

Acting Pres. Joann Golden
Limbacher '51
102 Ridge St.
Tuckahoe, N. Y.

NORTH CAROLINA

DURHAM

Pres. Francis E. Walker '32
2014 Wilson St.
Durham, N. C.

OHIO

CINCINNATI

Chm. Kenneth F. Klosterman '55
1278 West Galbraith Rd.
Cincinnati 31, Ohio

CLEVELAND

Pres. Robert R. Albert, Jr. '52
19115 Shakerwood Rd.
Cleveland 22, Ohio

PENNSYLVANIA

ALTOONA

Pres. Lawrence S. Bloom '52
1328 Sixth Ave.
Altoona, Pa.

BELLEFONTE

Pres. L. F. Hartman '24
249 Nimitz Ave.
State College, Pa.

BLOOMSBURG

Pres. J. Claire Patterson '35
315 West St.
Bloomsburg, Pa.

BRADFORD

Pres. Helen Walters Breston '32
604 W. Washington St.
Bradford, Pa.

CHAMBERSBURG

Pres. Lois M. Henneberger '43
260 East Baltimore St.
Greencastle, Pa.

DANVILLE

Pres. Grier Y. Boedker '49
108 East Market St.
Danville, Pa.

DUROIS

Pres. Louis E. Woodring '29
106 Nancy Lane
Punxsutawney, Pa.

ERIE

Pres. Paul W. Layden '46
303 Madison Ave.
Erie, Pa.

HARRISBURG

Pres. Earle M. Mead '52
2254 Boas St.
Harrisburg, Pa.

HAZLETON

Pres. Patrick J. Gillespie '28
706 Markle Bank Bldg.
Hazleton, Pa.

JOHNSTOWN

Pres. William R. Davison '48
9 Elkwood Lane
Johnstown, Pa.

LANCASTER

Pres. Edward E. Bollinger, Jr. '30
Unter Den Linden, R. D.
Gordonville, Pa.

LEHIGH VALLEY (ALLENTOWN)

Pres. Robert M. Cowdrick '49
834 North 26th St.
Allentown, Pa.

LEWISTOWN

Pres. Thomas W. Lewis '50
595 Riverside Dr., Box 145
Lewistown, Pa.

LOCK HAVEN

Pres. George D. Wolf '56
Park Ave.
Woolrich, Pa.

LYCOMING COUNTY

(WILLIAMSPORT)
Pres. Robert D. Smink '26
1600 Lafayette Parkway
Williamsport, Pa.

MILTON

Acting Chm. Berkeley V. Hastings '13
541 Broadway
Milton, Pa.

MOUNT CARMEL

Pres. Harry W. Jones '23
326 S. Oak St.
Mount Carmel, Pa.

PHILADELPHIA

Pres. Robert H. Taylor '48
214 Avon Rd.
Narberth, Pa.

PITTSBURGH

Pres. Wayne C. Harrison '51
473 Parkview Dr.
Pittsburgh 16, Pa.

READING

Pres. William Pfum, Jr. '50
104 Eric Ave.
Shillington, Pa.

SCRANTON (NORTHEAST PENNSYLVANIA)

Pres. William D. Golightly '25
309 W. Webster Ave.
Scranton, Pa.

SHAMOKIN

Pres. Francis F. Reamer '21
2 North 8th St.
Shamokin, Pa.

SHARON

Pres. Frank D. Hamlin '48
960 Pearl St.
Sharon, Pa.

SUNBURY

V. Pres. Raymond H. Young '43
320 North 9th St.
Sunbury, Pa.

UNION COUNTY (LEWISBURG)

Pres. Jere B. Bates '15
265 Green St.
Mifflinburg, Pa.

UNIONTOWN

Pres. Russell E. Sangston '26
2 West Main St.
Uniontown, Pa.

WELLSBORO (TIOGA COUNTY)

V. Pres. Warren L. Miller '37
78 St. James St.
Mansfield, Pa.

WILKES-BARRE

Pres. Donald S. Mills '32
Miners National Bank Building
Wilkes-Barre, Pa.

YORK

Pres. Warren A. Swank '44
661 E. Philadelphia St.
York, Pa.

SOUTH CAROLINA

CAMDEN

Chm. Lucy Bruce Scheible '47
1712 Brook Dr., Kirkover Hills
Camden, S. C.

VIRGINIA

RICHMOND

Chm. Karl H. Stutzman '33
6103 Patterson Ave., Westhampton
Richmond 21, Va.

WASHINGTON

PACIFIC NORTHWEST (including OREGON)

Pres. H. William Ocker, Jr. '57
20026 First Place, S. W.
Seattle 66, Wash.

WEST VIRGINIA

CHARLESTON

Pres. Jesse E. Riley '14
405 Buckannon Ave.
Clarksburg, W. Va.

BOARD OF TRUSTEES

Dr. Elmer K. Bolton '08, H'32
Wilmington, Del.
Dr. Detlev W. Bronk H'57
New York, N. Y.
Dr. David Burpee H'59
Philadelphia, Pa.
*Dr. Eugene D. Carstater '26
Falls Church, Va.
Mr. R. H. Coleman '29
Fairfield, Conn.
Dr. Clarence W. Cranford '29, H'42
Washington, D. C.
Dr. A. Guy Freas H'57
Huntington Mills, Pa.
*Mr. Wilmer D. Greulich '34
Wynnewood, Pa.
*Mr. Berkeley V. Hastings '13
Milton, Pa.
Dr. O. V. W. Hawkins '13, H'57
New York, N. Y.
Dr. Horace A. Hildreth H'56
Portland, Maine
Dr. Evan W. Ingram '20, H'56
Pittsburgh, Pa.
Mr. Ridgway Kennedy, Jr.
Drexel Hill, Pa.
Mr. Rush H. Kress '00
New York, N. Y.
Mr. Charles J. Kushell, Jr. '27
Chicago, Ill.
*Mr. Andrew R. Mathieson '20
Pittsburgh, Pa.
Mr. Herbert A. May
Pittsburgh, Pa.
Mr. William P. McNutt '27
Belle Vernon, Pa.
*Dr. Roy E. Nicodemus '25
Danville, Pa.
*Dr. Edward W. Pangburn '15
Lewisburg, Pa.
Dr. Daniel A. Poling H'46
New York, N. Y.
Hugo Riemer, Esq. '29
Los Angeles, Calif.
*Dr. Robert L. Rooke '13, H'51
Westfield, N. J.
Dr. Harry G. Schad H'58
Jenkintown, Pa.
*Dr. John T. Shirley '09, H'57
Pittsburgh, Pa.
*Miss Thelma J. Showalter '29
Mifflinburg, Pa.
Mr. Kenneth W. Slifer '26
Woodbury, N. J.
Dr. Andrew J. Sordani H'50
Wilkes-Barre, Pa.
*Dr. Harland A. Trax '01, H'51
Upper Montclair, N. J.
Dr. Paul L. Troast H'52
Clifton, N. J.
Dr. William R. White '26, H'59
New York, N. Y.
*Mr. T. Cortlandt Williams '20
Greenwich, Conn.
Mr. Charles E. Wilson
Scarsdale, N. Y.
Dr. Mary M. Wolfe '96, H'33
Lewisburg, Pa.

*Elected on nomination by the Alumni.

*Originally elected on nomination by the Alumni and later elected to Trustee Board by action of the board itself.

CAMPUS CALENDAR

JANUARY

- 4 Christmas Recess Ends at 8:00 A. M.
Basketball—Colgate at Lewisburg
- 7 Basketball—Delaware at Newark, Del.
Wrestling and Swimming—Lafayette at Easton
- 10 Basketball—Penn State at Lewisburg
Swimming—Franklin and Marshall at Lancaster
- 11 Wrestling—Muhlenberg at Lewisburg
- 13-14 Cap and Dagger Play—"Amphitryon 38" by Jean Giraudoux
- 14 Basketball—George Washington at Lewisburg
Swimming—Gettysburg at Lewisburg
- 17 Final Examinations Begin
- 25 Final Examinations End
- 26-31 Men's Glee Club Tour
- 27-31 Women's Glee Club Tour
- 27 Swimming—Kent State at Kent, Ohio
Basketball—University of Virginia at Charlottesville, Va.
- 28 Swimming—Pitt at Pittsburgh
Basketball—Virginia Military Institute at Lexington, Va.
- 31 Second Semester Registration and Enrollment
Basketball—Pitt at Pittsburgh

FEBRUARY

- 1 Second Semester Begins
- 2 Basketball—Gettysburg at Gettysburg
- 3-4 Cap and Dagger Play—"Amphitryon 38" by Jean Giraudoux
- 4 Basketball—Lafayette at Lewisburg
Swimming—Rutgers at New Brunswick
Wrestling—Temple at Philadelphia
- 7 Basketball—Penn State at State College
Wrestling—Gettysburg at Lewisburg
- 8 Swimming—Swarthmore at Lewisburg
- 10 Basketball—Westminister at Lewisburg
- 11 Wrestling—Rutgers at Lewisburg
Swimming—Pennsylvania at Lewisburg
- 14 Artist Series—Festival Quartet
Basketball—Temple at Philadelphia
- 18 Basketball—Buffalo at Lewisburg
Wrestling—Delaware at Lewisburg
Swimming—La Salle at Philadelphia
- 20 Bucknell Student Forum
- 21 Swimming—Delaware at Lewisburg
- 22 Basketball—St. Joseph's at Lewisburg
- 23-24 Newsmen's Conference
- 25 Basketball—Lehigh at Lewisburg
Wrestling—Pennsylvania at Lewisburg
Swimming—Lehigh at Lewisburg
- 27-28 Phi Beta Kappa Visiting Scholar Lecture
- 28 Basketball—Muhlenberg at Allentown

The Archives, Bertrand Library
Bucknell University
Lewisburg, Pa.

SEASON'S GREETINGS

THE BUCKNELL
ALUMNUS

March 1961

RECORD BEQUEST

Page 2

RECORD CAMPAIGN

Page 13

OFFICERS OF THE ASSOCIATION

President

ROBERT W. DILL '27

First Vice President

Mrs. CLYDE P. BAILEY (Dorothy Lemon '29)

Second Vice President

DANIEL F. GRIFFITH '36

Treasurer

DONALD B. YOUNG '33

Secretary and Editor

JOHN H. SHOTT '22

Assistant Secretary and Assistant Editor

C. BRUCE ROSSITER '56

BOARD OF DIRECTORS

ROBERT W. DILL '27, 5136 Butler Pike, Plymouth Meeting, Pa. (1961)

WILLIAM D. GOLIGHTLY '25, 309 W. Webster Ave., Scranton, Pa. (1961)

Mrs. PAUL M. SHOWALTER (S. Katharine Graham '33), 855 St. Louis St., Lewisburg, Pa. (1961)

Mrs. CLYDE P. BAILEY (Dorothy Lemon '29), 5025 Fifth Ave., Apt. 3-B, Pittsburgh 32, Pa. (1962)

CHARLES F. FOX, JR., M.D. '31, 180 Washington Ave., Vandergrift, Pa. (1962)

D. EUGENE LONG '29, 131 Avon Place, West Hempstead, N. Y. (1962)

EUGENE P. BERTIN '17, 201 S. Main St., Muncy, Pa. (1963)

Mrs. JOHN W. LEWIS (Elinor Childs '52), 8A Sayre Court, Madison, N. J. (1963)

ROBERT H. TAYLOR '48, 214 Avon Rd., Narberth, Pa. (1963)

CHARLES T. FARROW '26, P. O. Box 29, Westfield, N. J. (1964)

IRVIN GRAYBILL, JR., Esq. '49, Middleburg, Pa. (1964)

ALLEN F. JONES '25, 2 Linn St., Progress, Harrisburg, Pa. (1964)

HENRY G. P. COATES, Esq. '32, East Ward St., Hightstown, N. J. (1965)

DANIEL F. GRIFFITH '36, 599 Massachusetts Ave., Aldan, Pa. (1965)

PETER WEIDENBACHER '50, 525 Hillside Ave., Mountain-side, N. J. (1965)

() Year Term Expires

Alumni Headquarters—SECOND FLOOR,
CARNEGIE BUILDING

Member—AMERICAN ALUMNI COUNCIL

ON THE COVER—This spring-time picture of students between classes was taken from the porch of the Ellen Clarke Bertrand Library looking toward the Charles Parker Vaughan Literature Building. Presently under construction at the far end of the "Lit Building" is the new administrative wing.

The Campus Calendar is presented on the back cover.

THE BUCKNELL ALUMNUS

VOLUME XLVI

MARCH 1961

No. 4

IN THIS ISSUE

- 1 This Is Your University
- 2 A Record Bequest From a Generous Benefactor
- 3 Bertrand Bequest Points Up Future Needs
- 4 Bucknellians Around the World
- 6 Winter Sports Review
- 8 The Club Program
- 10 For The Record
- 12 Trustee Candidates for 1961
- 13 Bucknell Dual Development Fund
- 14 Honor Roll—Dual Development Fund Campaigners
- 20 The Student View
—by Bobbie Runk '61
- 21 Class Reports

Ellen Clarke Bertrand H'54, 2, 3—Alumni Census of 1960, 5—Spring Sports 1961, 7—John S. Fetter '32, 12—Morris D. Hooven '20, 12—William S. Liming '33, 12—Chelton W. Smith '21, 22—General Harry W. Johnson '22, 24—Dr. Kenneth L. Cober '24, 26—Dr. William P. Boger '34, 28—Charles A. Kothe, Esq. '34, 30—Alumni Trustee Timetable, 31—In Memoriam, 32—Summer School, 32—Inside Back Cover: Alumni Week End Reminder; Back Cover: Campus Calendar.

THE BUCKNELL ALUMNUS is published in January, March, May, September and November by BUCKNELL UNIVERSITY. Entered as second-class matter December 30, 1930 at the post office at Lewisburg, Pa., under Act of August 24, 1912.

Number Three

This Is Your University

"Bucknell University is committed in the Christian tradition to provide the means and opportunity for the intellectual development of students of qualified preparation and character to the end that they may become mature and responsible members of society.

"Bucknell endeavors to impart to the student the principles of inherited knowledge and culture and to bring the student to an awareness of his own talent.

"As a center of independent thought Bucknell is dedicated to the cause of free and responsible inquiry and to the seeking of truth wherever it may be found."

—the objectives of Bucknell University

A quiet atmosphere for study and research can be found in the Herbert Bertrand Reading Room of the Ellen Clarke Bertrand Library.

A Record Bequest From a Generous Benefactor

Over $1,000,000 Posthumous Gift From Ellen Clarke Bertrand Designated as Endowment for Maintenance and Operation of Library

Ellen Clarke Bertrand H'54

The Ellen Clarke Bertrand Library

AN unprecedented forward step in the continuing development of Bucknell University was realized on February 2, 1961, when University officials announced that Mrs. Ellen Clarke Bertrand, Bucknell trustee and benefactor, had bequeathed more than four million dollars to the University.

The bulk of her estate was designated by Mrs. Bertrand as endowment for the maintenance and operation of the Ellen Clarke Bertrand Library of which she was the principal donor. The Library, made possible largely through her gifts, was completed in 1951 as one of the major projects of the University's Second Century Development Program.

During a period of fourteen years prior to her death, Mrs. Bertrand's generous gifts to the University had exceeded $900,000. Of this amount $511,000 had been contributed to the endowment fund for the maintenance and operation of the Library.

Mrs. Bertrand's will, filed in Surrogate's Court in New York County also provides for personal and specific bequests totalling $285,000. Of this amount $155,000 was for charitable and educational organizations. Among these specific bequests was one of $40,000 to Bucknell University for the establishment of two scholarship funds. One of the funds, designated as a memorial to her parents, will provide a scholarship for a woman student, while the other will establish a scholarship for a male student, in memory of her late husband, Herbert Bertrand.

President Merle M. Odgers expressed his appreciation for Mrs. Bertrand's devotion to Bucknell when he said: "Since the Library is the heart of our University, Mrs. Bertrand's bequest will be of major significance in assuring the continued growth of our academic program. We are deeply grateful for her understanding of our needs and for her generosity to this institution."

It was with deep sorrow that Bucknellians learned of Mrs. Bertrand's passing on July 12, 1960. THE BUCKNELL ALUMNUS of September 1960 (inside back cover) in reporting her death, recalled her philanthropic spirit and abiding interest in the University's welfare, originally encouraged by the late Joseph D. Dent '20, Bucknell Trustee and financial adviser to Mrs. Bertrand.

(Continued on Inside Back Cover)

Bertrand Bequest Points Up Future Needs

*Endowment for Scholarships, Faculty
Salaries and Professorships,
Lectureships, and Unrestricted Funds Is Woefully Short at Bucknell*

THE generous provision for Bucknell University in the will of Mrs. Ellen Clarke Bertrand will, of course, enhance the standing of the University, but it also presents all Bucknellians with a challenge. This challenge might best be defined by quoting Harry H. Haddon, editor of the unbury Daily Item. In an editorial he said, "The bequest of Mrs. Bertrand in an amount seldom equaled among the smaller universities of the nation is above all else a tangible expression of enduring confidence by one who, from close association, knew the worth of Bucknell and realized its great potential. Also it is a ringing challenge to Alumni and friends to elevate their sights with respect to the many long recognized needs of the University."

In explaining how the Bertrand gift will be used John F. Keller III '41, Vice President—Business and Finance, stated,

"Mrs. Bertrand's will specifies that the principal be added to the Library Maintenance Fund, to which she had already contributed $511,000 prior to her death. Until the estate is closed, we shall not know the exact value of the bequest, but we may assume the principal of the Library Maintenance Fund will be approximately four and a half to five million dollars.

"When this has been invested and incorporated in the endowment account it will produce annual income of approximately $200,000. For the first year this will be applied to the restoration of the library roof and tower and to the replacement of the heating and ventilating equipment, partially destroyed in the fire, with heating and air conditioning units.

"In succeeding years the income on the Library Maintenance Fund will bear the cost of operating the Library. Total Library operations in the current year are budgeted at $175,900. The additional income available from the Maintenance Fund will make it possible to strengthen the Library in a variety of ways. For example, library needs include enlargement of the book and periodical collections with an increased annual budget for acquisitions, an additional trained librarian, and improvement in library salaries generally. As income from the fund takes over library operating costs, operating funds can be released for other purposes as the Board of Trustees may direct, including additional strengthening of faculty salaries."

The news of Mrs. Bertrand's bequest, coming as it does upon the successful attainment of the Dual Development Campaign goal, caused Dr. Wesley N. Haines, Director of Development, to remark, "The naming of Bucknell University as the residuary legatee of the estate of Mrs. Ellen Clarke Bertrand, greatly improves the University's endowment. But it is still less than it should be for our size and status. The improvement will enable Bucknell, with the continued support of Alumni and friends to face the increasing pressures of the 60's and to fulfill its role more adequately in the complex of American higher education. But Bucknell should never be satisfied to meet only minimum standards—and there is a long way to go to match the endowment of $10,000 per student or even $20,000 per student which other institutions can boast.

"The Bertrand gift, earmarked as endowment for the Library, guarantees that Bucknell will have as fine an under-

(Continued on Inside Back Cover)

If it's a newspaper you want or a particular periodical it can be found in the attractive Periodical Room located on the first floor of the Library.

Librarian Harold W. Hayden (center) is pictured behind the Circulation Desk located on the main floor of the Library.

BUCKNELLIANS

around the world

OUTSIDE U. S. 137*

*Alumni of Bucknell University
Live in Fifty States of the Union and Forty-six Foreign Countries*

Have you ever met a close friend or classmate in a distant land, state or city and exclaimed, "It sure is a small world!"? If you have never had this experience, it may not be long before you meet a Bucknellian you haven't seen for years.

Our latest Alumni Census gives proof that Bucknellians are, to be sure, a restless group. Every state in the Union is represented by at least three Bucknellians and forty-six foreign countries claim 137 additional Alumni.

The accompanying map shows the state-by-state distribution of the 18,857 former students of Bucknell University with known addresses. The count was made in November, 1960, and includes the graduates of June of this past year. The list of states includes the comparable census for October, 1955.

About 30% of our Bucknellians move each year, and experience shows that about 180 copies of this issue of THE BUCKNELL ALUMNUS will be returned to Alumni Headquarters as undeliverable.

You can improve this situation by informing Alumni Headquarters, Bucknell University, Lewisburg, Pa., when and where you move. You can also help by informing the office about Bucknellians who move into your local community.

The United States Post Office Department does a splendid job of notifying us about changes of address that it has received, but a sizeable amount of tax money could be saved if everyone notified our office of a change of address BEFORE moving.

Why not check your name and address as printed on the back cover NOW? If it is not your preferred mailing address drop us a post card.

ALUMNI CENSUS OF 1960

	Oct. 1955	Nov. 1960		Oct. 1955	Nov. 1960
Alabama	23	30	Nebraska	13	14
Alaska		7	Nevada	2	9
Arizona	41	64	New Hampshire	30	40
Arkansas	10	10	New Jersey	2454	2895
California	379	576	New Mexico	22	29
Colorado	37	63	New York	2234	2675
Connecticut	254	337	North Carolina	65	81
Delaware	182	220	North Dakota	1	3
District of Columbia	114	136	Ohio	381	444
Florida	230	389	Oklahoma	29	40
Georgia	43	68	Oregon	13	25
Hawaii		19	Pennsylvania	7748	8154
Idaho	5	11	Rhode Island	32	28
Illinois	156	216	South Carolina	37	43
Indiana	75	86	South Dakota	4	4
Iowa	17	24	Tennessee	43	64
Kansas	30	28	Texas	107	138
Kentucky	33	49	Utah	9	15
Louisiana	19	29	Vermont	17	24
Maine	33	33	Virginia	188	272
Maryland	380	541	Washington	59	69
Massachusetts	254	318	West Virginia	61	57
Michigan	163	194	Wisconsin	35	39
Minnesota	28	36	Wyoming	6	5
Mississippi	10	13	Outside U. S.	128	137*
Missouri	33	44
Montana	8	12	TOTALS	16,257	18,857

Austria	1	El Salvadore	1	Pakistan	1
Belgium	1	England	5	Panama	5
Brazil	7	France	8	Paraguay	1
British Guiana	1	French West Africa	1	Peru	1
British West Indies	2	Germany	8	Philippine Islands	2
Burma	5	Guam	1	Portugal	1
Canada	19	India	5	Puerto Rico	6
Chile	3	Iran	1	Saudi Arabia	1
China	1	Italy	3	South Africa	2
Colombia	2	Japan	7	Sweden	2
Costa Rica	1	Jordan	1	Turkey	2
Cuba	3	Lebanon	1	U. S. S. R.	1
Denmark	1	Mexico	7	Venezuela	5
Dominican Republic	1	Netherlands	1	Virgin Islands	3
Ecuador	1	Northern Ireland	2
Egypt	2	Norway	1	TOTAL	137

* EDITOR'S NOTE: For your information we have listed the number of Alumni in foreign countries by country. This listing does not include A. P. O. addresses in New York City or San Francisco.

WINTER SPORTS REVIEW

Courtmen Over .500 Mark; Swimmers Still Winning; Victories for Wrestlers

by BRADLEY N. TUFTS
Sports Information Director

SINCE our last issue went to press, Ben Kribbs' basketball team received a severe blow when Co-Captain Dick Kniffin was declared ineligible for action during the second semester, but the Bisons are still over the .500 mark.

At this writing the team has won only one of four starts without Kniffin in the lineup, but the much improved play of senior Bruce Babich and sophomore Hal Smoker and the return to early season form of Co-Captain Joe Steiner are good indications that the courtmen may still finish with a very creditable record.

In the final game before Christmas vacation Steiner pumped in 30 points and Kniffin contributed 27 in a 93-76 victory over Baldwin-Wallace and then the Bisons came roaring back following the two-week layoff to knock off Colgate, Delaware, Penn State, George Washington and Virginia before finally seeing their seven-game winning streak go down the drain at V. M. I.

Among the outstanding individual efforts during the winning streak were Kniffin's 31 points against Colgate, Steiner's 30 against George Washington, and the 31 scored by Babich in the victory over Virginia.

Win One of Five

After taking it on the chin from V. M. I. in the final contest of a two-game southern jaunt, Kniffin scored 27 points and played a great all-around game in a 79-67 loss to Pitt. It was his final appearance of the season (although he did not realize it until returning to school a day later) and he was acclaimed as the outstanding visiting performer in the Pitt Field House this season.

Following a one-point setback at the hands of Gettysburg and a two-point loss to Penn State, both on the road, the Bisons roared back to top Westminster 91-82 in a well-played game before dropping a 78-66 decision to a strong Temple team in the Palestra.

Harry "Hal" Smoker, Jr. '63

In the Westminster game Babich scored 25 points, 20 of them in the first half, but it was Smoker and the visitors Ron Galbreath who provided the real scoring show for some 2,000 fans.

Smoker posted the highest total by a Bucknell player in nine years with 34 points, 24 of them coming in the second half when the Bisons pulled away from a slim two-point halftime lead, and Galbreath, a 6-0 sharpshooter, pumped in 40 points in the losing cause to tie a Westminster single game scoring record.

Four E.C.A.C. Selections

As of this writing four Bucknell players have been honored by being named to the Eastern College Athletic Conference team of the week. Kniffin was selected to the honor squad after leading the Bisons to victories over Colgate and Delaware with 58 points in the two games, Babich earned a spot on the team with 50 points and 30 rebounds against Virginia and V. M. I., Smoker was selected for his fine performance against Westminster that also included 17 rebounds, and Steiner was chosen after scoring 50 points against Temple and Buffalo.

The Bisons picked up some consolation in the loss to Temple when Steiner led both teams in scoring with 31 points. This was the highest total by any visiting player in the Palestra this season and his 15 field goals represented the highest total by any player on the University of Pennsylvania court during the current campaign.

When Kniffin left the team he was averaging 20.1 points per game with 281 points in 14 games, and despite being "only" 6-1 and a backcourt performer, he had pulled down 107 rebounds.

Steiner is currently averaging 21.1 points per game and with six games remaining he needs only 47 more points to break the single season scoring record posted by Hal "Moose" Danzig during the 1957-58 season.

Frosh Basketball

With victories in nine of its first ten games, the freshman basketball team under the guidance of Ed Pfeiffer is again on the way toward turning in another outstanding record.

Headed by a former All-State performer at York High School, Bill Fry, the Baby Bisons have included double victories over the Gettysburg and Penn State freshman teams among their list of successes. The only setback came at the hands of a strong Delaware freshman team.

In addition to Fry, a 6-0 backcourt performer who is averaging 15.5 points per game, the starting unit includes Jerry Bartley of Altoona, Al Kaminskis of West Pittston, Don Hester of Punxsutawney and Charlie Seiler of Honeoye Falls, N. Y.

Swimmers Still Winning

Although only six freshmen moved up from last year's openotch yearling squad, Bob Latour is in the process of turning out another swimming team that will finish with a winning record and will be a strong contender for the Middle Atlantic Conference title.

Once again though, it is the two standout juniors from Albany, N. Y., Co-Captains Bill Dearstyne and Bill Dorr, who are carrying the big load. At this writing Dearstyne is undefeated in the 200-yard backstroke in eight meets and Dorr has won eleven of twelve freestyle races.

To date the team has posted victories over Lafayette,

Franklin and Marshall, Gettysburg, Swarthmore and Penn and has dropped decisions to Kent State, Pitt and La Salle. A contest with a strong Lehigh team remains. The swimmers will defend their MAC championship at West Chester on March 3 and 4.

In addition to Dearstyne and Dorr, other top performers have been freestylers Bob Ayers, Dan Etenger and Dave Ulp, divers Dick Humphreys and Bob Theiss, breastroker Charlie Maunz, and butterflyer Skip Cannon.

Wrestlers Off to Good Start

With three victories and a tie in its first five matches, Coach Fred Prender's wrestling team has a good chance of posting another winning season. At this writing the grapplers have matches remaining with Penn and Temple.

In their first five outings the matmen scored victories over Muhlenberg, Gettysburg and Delaware, tied Lafayette and lost only to a strong Rutgers team.

Captain Don Warfel, competing in both the 157-pound and 167-pound divisions, won five straight bouts to head the list. Junior Bud Dusel won his only start against Rutgers and sophomore Don Knight posted victories in three of four matches.

Sophomores Bart DiChiara and Jim Koehn and junior Ned Wight each won three of their five starts. In addition to the two remaining dual matches, the grapplers will also compete in the MAC tourney on March 3 and 4.

SPRING SPORTS 1961

BASEBALL

April 8—Lehigh	Home
April 11—Susquehanna	Home
April 14—Juniata	Huntingdon
April 15—Pittsburgh	Pittsburgh
April 18—Gettysburg	Home
April 21—Lafayette	Home
April 22—Albright	Reading
April 25—Muhlenberg	Allentown
April 27—Navy	Annapolis, Md.
May 6—Delaware	Newark, Del.
May 8—Penn State	Home
May 12—Syracuse	Syracuse, N. Y.
May 13—Colgate	Hamilton, N. Y.
May 16—Scranton	Home
May 18—Penn State	University Park
May 20—Temple	Home

GOLF

April 11—Scranton	Scranton
April 15—Colgate	Home
April 21—Delaware	Newark, Del.
April 22—Navy	Annapolis, Md.
April 25—Lafayette	Home
April 28—Lehigh	Bethlehem
April 29—Gettysburg	Home
May 2—Juniata	Huntingdon
May 5—Georgetown	Home
May 8—Lycoming	Williamsport
May 11—F. and M.	Lancaster

May 13—Albright	Home
May 17—Penn State	University Park
May 19—Cornell	Home

TENNIS

April 11—Lafayette	Easton
April 14—Georgetown	Home
April 15—Colgate	Home
April 20—Albright	Reading
April 22—Lehigh	Home
April 26—Haverford	Haverford
April 29—Upsala	Home
May 2—Gettysburg	Gettysburg
May 5—Penn State	Home
(Varsity and Frosh)
May 9—Cornell	Ithaca, N. Y.
May 12—Syracuse	Home
May 13—Delaware	Home
May 17—Muhlenberg	Allentown
May 20—Navy	Annapolis, Md.

TRACK

April 15—Temple	Philadelphia
April 18—Lafayette	Easton
April 22—Delaware and Muhlenberg	Home
April 28, 29—Penn Relays	Philadelphia
May 2—Juniata and Lycoming	Home
May 6—F. and M. and Albright	Home
May 9—Gettysburg	Gettysburg
May 12, 13—Middle Atlantics

THE CLUB PROGRAM

A Review of the Birthday

Parties and a Look at the Schedule of Spring Meetings

In Review

Since the last report in the January issue of THE BUCKNELL ALUMNUS and up to March 1, a record number of twenty-three club meetings have been held in areas where nearly half the alumni body is located. This record could have been better if "Old Man Winter" had not crimped the plans of Alumni in the club areas of Chambersburg, Syracuse, Wilmington and York. However, three of these clubs have already rescheduled belated birthday meetings for early spring.

The following reports on meetings have been received in the alumni office to date.

The special celebration held by Bucknellians in Arizona on February 4 at the Scottsdale Country Club in Scottsdale, Ariz., was a tremendous success. Twenty-seven Bucknellians, ranging from the Institute Class of 1893 (Mrs. Orianna Williams White) to the Class of 1955 (Mrs. Ann Rothermel Dickerman) were in attendance. Arrangements for this meeting were handled by Judson W. Bunnell '52. Ellis S. Smith, Sr. '21 of Escondido, Calif., came the greatest distance to help celebrate the 115th anniversary of our University.

The following poem described by the writer as "An Overgrown Sonnet" was written by Mrs. Orianna Williams White of the Female Institute Class of 1893 on the day following her attendance at the Bucknell birthday dinner held at Scottsdale, Ariz. Mrs. White also wrote the class day poem for her Class of 1893. We think you will agree that over the years she has not lost her poetic touch nor her love for Bucknell.

BUCKNELL UNIVERSITY RE-UNION

*One Arizona winter day New Englanders would hail in May,
(For daffodils the heart beguiled, and
February smiled and smiled,
As if she were not Winter child)
Came o'er the hills from far away Old students to a party gay,*

*They welcome all to sumptuous hall
Whose color scheme the senses thrall,
And such a feast was seldom seen
By emperor or king or queen,
Such animated conversations, such reminiscence and narrations,*

*Rich food for thought for many a day
Though Bucknell's halls are far away.*

*For Bucknell, Alma Mater true
Gave motif to the deeds we do,
Helped us in "following the gleam,"
Gave shape to many a youthful dream,
And though Life bring us sore bereavements*

*Let's honor her and her achievements,
Let's lift her banner oft and more,
Cry to the world, "Excelsior!"*

Despite snow and clogged roads, thirty-seven Bucknellians and friends enjoyed a most successful birthday party in Baltimore, Md., on February 5. Assistant Director of Development Homer W. Wieder '58 and his wife, Claire Halline Wieder '58, visited the group and brought to the members a message from the campus.

Mrs. Anna Weigold Mussina '32, president and Mrs. Doris Wilde Thomas '49, secretary-treasurer, arranged for the dinner.

The Bucknell Alumni Club of Harrisburg has held two successful meetings since January 5. In January the club held their regular monthly meeting and heard from Mr. Clayton L. Rock, meteorologist at the U. S. Weather Bureau located at the Harrisburg-York State Airport. Mr. Rock presented a most interesting discussion concerning the ever-expanding influence the weather exerts on our daily lives. Following Mr. Rock's presentation, a film entitled "Hurricanes and Their Destructiveness" was shown.

On February 2 Dr. Merle M. Odgers helped Alumni, parents and friends in the Harrisburg area celebrate Bucknell's 115th birthday. A total of forty-one persons were in attendance at the West Shore Country Club. The program was planned by President Earle M. Mead '52 and his committee.

Despite questionable weather, twenty-two Alumni, parents and friends turned out for the birthday dinner held by the Bucknell Alumni Club of Lancaster on February 10. The program for the evening included the showing of the Bucknell color and sound film entitled,

"Presenting Bucknell." Elected to offices in the club were: Frank E. Gerlitz, Jr. '34, president; Jack A. Bidding '47, vice president; Mrs. Nancy Martin Brubaker '54, secretary; and J. Harry Gundrum '39, treasurer.

Bucknellians in the Bucknell Alumni Club of Lock Haven celebrated Bucknell's birthday by meeting on February 11 for a delicious dinner at the Lock Restaurant.

This club also showed the film "Presenting Bucknell" and elected officers. The officers elected are: George D. Wolf '53, president; D. Andrew Zarella '53, vice president; Mrs. Esther McCormick Long '15, secretary-treasurer; Lucile Scullen '26, Mrs. Marian Purley Pedlow '37, Hugh Williamson '50 and Mrs. Sara Beck Ricker '29, directors.

Perhaps the finest moment of the evening was the $20.00 donation by the club to the Cancer Society in memory of the club's past president, Herbert Hinebaugh '39.

On Friday evening, January 27, eighteen Bucknellians of the Bucknell Alumni Club of Michigan-Toledo held a combination Bucknell birthday party and a farewell party for Mr. and Mrs. James H. Walter '23 (Mary E. Appleman '22) of Dearborn, Mich. Jim, or "Colonel" as he is affectionately known by his friends, retired recently from Great Lakes Steel after a long and distinguished career with that company. The Walters are moving from Michigan to take up residence in Florida and join many other Bucknellians in the land of sunshine and orange juice.

After a delicious dinner at Stouffer's Restaurant, the group went to the home of President and Mrs. Bruce M. Scott '51 for an after-dinner party. At that time the Walters were presented with an inscribed farewell gift in recognition of their generous help to the club over the years.

Dr. Mark C. Ebersole, chaplain and assistant dean of the University, and his lovely wife, Dorothy, helped Bucknellians in the Bucknell Alumni Club of Monmouth-Ocean celebrate Bucknell's birthday on February 9. Dr. Ebersole spoke to the nineteen Bucknellians and guests in attendance and presented to them the current campus scene.

Officers elected for the 1961 year are: Isadore I. Zlotkin, Esq. '34, president; Frank W. Strickland '46, vice president; G. Edward McComsey '52, treasurer; and Mrs. Elizabeth Quinn Billings '47, secretary.

An impressive turnout of one hundred seventy-nine Alumni and friends celebrated Bucknell's birthday in Northern New Jersey on January 27. The Bucknell University Men's Glee Club provided the entertainment for the affair.

Following the glee club concert, a buffet supper was served and outgoing president, Robert D. Hunter '49, was presented a gift by the club for the fine job he has done for the past two years. John C. Bank '10 was given an honorary membership in the club.

Elected officers for the coming year are: Robert E. List '48, president; Louis Alessio '48, president elect; Drew Mathieson '50, David Grimm '50 and D. Scott Hicks '51, vice presidents; Fred Shehadi '54, treasurer; and Mrs. Betty Busch Kates '51, secretary.

John H. Shott '22, alumni secretary, and C. Bruce Rossiter '56, assistant alumni secretary, travelled with the Bucknell basketball team to Philadelphia on February 14 to meet with twenty Alumni and friends at the Bison Roundup prior to the Bucknell-Temple game at the Palestra that evening. Walter Weidemann, Jr. '39 was chairman for the event.

The Bucknell Alumni Club of Rocky Mountains had a record turnout of twenty Alumni and friends to meet with Dr. Merle M. Odgers and Dean Karl D. Hartzell in Denver, Colo., on January 11.

Responsible for the fine turnout at the meeting were Mrs. Alberta Rutgers Conover '36, secretary, and Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Lobel '32 (Ethel Hutchins '33). Mr. Lobel is president of the club.

The annual dinner celebrating Bucknell's birthday by the Bucknell Alumni Club of St. Petersburg was held on February 4 at the Shawn House in St. Petersburg, Fla. The thirty-eight Alumni and friends in attendance heard Dr. Leo L. Rockwell '07 give an address in the form of a quiz on Bucknell professors.

Club President C. John Harris '12 presided at the meeting and recognized many guests from out of town. Dr. Eric Oesterle '16 gave the invocation.

The club's faithful reporter, Mrs. Ruth Stephens Porter '05, sent the alumni office a complete report of the meeting but space does not permit the listing of the many honored guests in attendance. However, Mrs. Porter sent with her report a poem she prepared and read at the meeting. This poem cannot be overlooked and it reads as follows:

"The food you have eaten had plenty of sweets; calories, vitamins were in the eats,

Offered to all of the folks from B. U., wrapped in our thoughts of the Orange and Blue.

The whole bill-o'-fare, which was served on the platter, spells hope for the thin, but the fat will get fatter.

In case you broke diet and have indigestion, don't squeal to the doctor if he asks a question.

John Harris, the son of our prexy is here. Under his guidance we'll have a good year.

Watch out for your English, lest you be wrong. Doc. Rockwell is here with a memory, long.

We'd like to pay homage to each one of you; the folks are all tops if they trained at B. U.

The local Bucknellians are glad you are here, so plan to come back and be with us next year."

Although there is no organized club in the great state of Texas, a record number of twenty-nine Alumni and friends attended a "Get-Together" at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William M. Wilkinson '46 (Marion J. Weist '43) in Houston, Texas, on February 4.

This turnout was by far the best turnout of Bucknellians in Texas ever. It is important to note that the Wilkinsons have been, for the past few years, entertaining new Bucknellian arrivals in the area. The informal program included a buffet supper, treasure hunt a-la-Wilkinson and the chatter of old and new Bucknellians about their Alma Mater.

More than 90 Bucknell Alumni and friends from the Alumni Clubs of Union County and Milton gathered at the Lewisburg Club on February 8 to hear Dr. Merle M. Odgers and to celebrate Bucknell's 115th anniversary with a delicious turkey dinner.

Jere B. Bates '15, retiring president of the Union County Club, planned and presided at the meeting. He introduced the guests at the affair which included three members of the Board of Trustees: Dr. Edward W. Pangburn '15, Berkeley V. Hastings '13, and Miss Thelma Showalter '29. The program included group singing and a concert by four trombonists from the Bison Band. Prior to Dr. Odgers' talk, the club held its annual election of officers. Officers are: Andrew J. Shirk '51, president; Dr. William Mendenhall, III '45, vice president; Mrs. Marguerite Strouse Jones '44, secretary; and Herbert C. Grice '18, treasurer.

The Bucknell Alumni Club of Washington, D. C., celebrated Bucknell's 115th birthday on the occasion of Bucknell University Women's Glee Club concert in Washington on January 23. Over one hundred fifty Alumni and friends attended the concert.

According to Amerigo Chiriaco '56, president of the club, Bucknell was represented on February 4 at the All-Pennsylvania College Alumni Association luncheon by Trustee Clarence W. Cranford '29 and Trustee and Mrs. Eugene D. Carstater '26 (C. Marie Helwig '28).

A Look Ahead

As this issue goes to press a total of fourteen alumni club meetings have been scheduled from March 1 through July 16. Of course, we hope there will be many more and as they are scheduled and the details worked out Alumni in the respective club areas will receive invitations. If your club has not had a meeting this year and is not in the following list of clubs scheduled to hold meetings, contact your club president and offer your services in helping to get Bucknellians together in your area for a meeting prior to the closing of the club year on June 30.

Of particular interest to clubs in northern New York, to Bucknellians in several clubs in New Jersey and New England is the forthcoming visit by President Merle M. Odgers and Alumni Secretary John H. Shott '22. They will be in Boston, Mass., on April 6; Connecticut on April 7; Atlantic City, N. J., on April 11; Triple Cities, N. Y., on April 19; Buffalo, N. Y., on April 20; and Rochester, N. Y., on April 21. President Odgers and "Buck" Shott '22 will visit and bring a message from the campus to all Alumni and friends. Details about these meetings will be mailed to Alumni in the respective areas.

On March 2 in Harrisburg Miss Mary Baldwin '33 will speak on "Touring Europe" at the club's monthly dinner.

In Wilmington, Del., on March 13 and in York on April 8 Bucknellians will try again to celebrate Bucknell's birthday with dinner meetings. The Wilmington meeting will be a combined dinner-dance. Further information on these meetings will reach Alumni in these areas in the near future. St. Petersburg, Fla., is scheduling a meeting for March and on

(Continued on Page 32)

A review of selected items of interest about Alumni, Faculty and important events and developments at Bucknell University

University Affairs

Four celebrated musicians, each a renowned soloist in his own right, were heard on Tuesday, February 11, when the Bucknell University Artist Series presented the Festival Quartet.

The quartet is composed of feature pianist Victor Babin, violinist Szymon Goldberg, violist William Primrose and cellist Nikolai Graudan.

Ever since its formation four years ago, the Festival Quartet has dedicated itself to performing the rich but rarely performed piano quartet literature of such composers as Beethoven, Brahms, Mendelssohn, Mozart, Schumann and Strauss. It constitutes the first contemporary quartet in more than three decades to be made up of world-renowned artists for the purpose of presenting the finest in chamber music to the concert audience.

The concert by the Festival Quartet marked the second of four outstanding musical programs presented this season under the auspices of Bucknell's Artist Series. Remaining programs for the 1960-61 season are: the Zachary Solov Ballet on March 9 and 10; and, the Amsterdam Concertgebouw on April 20.

For the second consecutive year Bucknell University will award scholarships to the Summer Institute of American Studies, to be held at the University June 25 through August 4, according to Dr. C. Herschel Jones, professor in the Department of Political Science and director of the program, announced today.

Twenty-five scholarships, valued at $400 each, will be awarded to qualified teachers of social studies in the secondary schools. Resident scholarships awarded will cover tuition, room, board and books. A limited number of non-resident scholarships covering tuition, books and a cash stipend will also be granted.

Objective of the program, made possible by a $10,000 grant from the Coe Foundation of New York, is to assist secondary school teachers in the discharge of their primary responsibility to instruct their students in the nature and functions of American economic, political and social institutions which form the fabric of our life and rights and duties as citizens.

During the six-week program, teachers will receive a basic course in Government Policy and Decision Making and will select either America in the Twentieth Century or Comparative Economic Systems as their optional course of study. The final week of the Institute will include a field trip to the state or nation's capital for a practical review of government in action.

Social science teachers who are interested in attending the Summer Institute are urged to write to Dr. C. H. Jones, Bucknell University, Lewisburg. In addition to those admitted on a scholarship basis, a limited number of non-scholarship applications will be accepted.

Bucknell University has accepted an invitation to participate in the 1961 African Scholarship Program of American Universities.

In making the announcement, President Merle M. Odgers stated: "Bucknell is delighted to be among the more than 80 colleges and universities in the United States who have expressed a willingness to take part in this scholarship program. We believe it can make a real contribution to world affairs, particularly in those emerging nations of Africa where college and university-trained leaders are so critically needed."

Under the program, Bucknell will provide an African student with a four-year scholarship to the University. The scholarship will cover tuition and fees during the student's stay at the college, while the living expenses of the student will be provided by a grant from the International Co-operation Administration.

Construction of a new $45,000 addition to Bucknell University's Tustin Gymnasium has been completed on schedule.

The new two-story addition, erected on the south side of the gymnasium, provides accommodations on the ground floor for an archery range or a golf driving range. A modern dance studio, suitable for use as a badminton court or similar athletic events, constitutes the major portion of the new section on the second floor.

Besides the additional athletic facilities in the new area, new faculty offices and storerooms have been constructed on each floor. The new faculty offices are for the use of members of the women's physical education department while the storage facilities will be used to store costumes, scenery and various athletic equipment.

Also included in the new addition is a modern fireproof stairwell. The stairwell replaces the stairway which previously occupied the southwest corner of the women's basketball court and interfered with the court's regulation shape.

All of the work on the new structure was carried out by members of the University's work crew, under the supervision of Walter C. Geiger '34, director of the physical plant.

In other construction news, the following summer improvement projects were recently approved by the Board of Trustees: the conversion of the East and West wings of Roberts Hall into dormitory facilities for men; renovation of Taylor Annex and the ground floor of the Botany Building for the Department of Biology; enlargement of Coleman Hall's main parking lot and an amesite surface on tennis courts; installation of boulevard lights on the Seventh Street hill; transfer of the Federal Reserve Relocation Center's offices to the center basement of Old Main, and the relocation of the Department of Geology to the second floor of Carnegie.

A report on graduate study undertaken by members of the Class of 1960 reveals that better than 20 per cent of the class is engaged in some form of postgraduate work. By field of interest, biology majors have the highest representation, followed by political science and psychology students.

Work on the new Administration Center is running a little behind schedule because of the bad weather, but the building is still expected to be ready for occupancy by the end of May.

Miss Dorothy A. Burmeister of the Women's Infirmary and Mrs. Paul L. Wertman of the Treasurer's Office were awarded 25-year service pins by President Odgers at the annual Christmas dinner for members of the administrative staff on December 16.

A $2500 grant has been received by the Department of Chemistry from du Pont. The grant is intended to enable the department to satisfy important needs and to engage in worthwhile activities that would not otherwise be possible.

A grant of $1500 has been awarded to the Department of Mathematics by the General Electric Foundation. Designed to strengthen the department's undergraduate training program, the funds will be used for research projects, equipment purchases, professional publications, and other associated needs.

Recently catalogued in the Library of Congress was the Bucknell University sound and color 16mm film entitled "Presenting Bucknell." The film, a panoramic view of life at Bucknell both inside and outside the classroom, traces the history of the University and discusses the 1960-61 Dual Development Fund.

While Alumni have THE BUCKNELL ALUMNUS and the students have their Bucknellian, staff and faculty members have had to rely primarily on notices, memorandums, newspaper stories, and periodic meetings for communication. Although these vehicles of communication undoubtedly will continue, a new communications medium has been established by the Public Relations Office to keep the growing Bucknell campus family informed. This new medium, entitled Campus Report, is edited by John P. Rodgers, Jr., news editor, and will be published every other month during the school year.

On February 23 and 24, Bucknell University held its first Challenge conference with the theme, "America Challenged in a Changing World." Among the speakers were Norman Thomas '05, former Socialist candidate for the presidency of the United States; Michael Harrington, editor of New America; Max Freedman, Washington correspondent for the Manchester Guardian; Russell Kirk, editor of Modern Age; E. M. Debrah, Consular, Embassy of Ghana; and B. M. Adarkar, India's Economic Minister.

These distinguished gentlemen discussed such topics as the African problem, the cold war, disarmament, the role of the public sector in newly developing nations, and the world beyond the cold war.

The student chairman for the conference was Marsha A. O'Bannon '61, of Arlington, Va. Faculty advisors were Dr. Kenneth Rothwell of the Department of Economics, and Dr. William B. Gwyn of the Department of Political Science.

Committees have been formed for Bucknell's Sixth Annual Science Fair. Headed by Dr. Roy C. Tasker of the biology department, the Fair will be held in Davis Gym, April 7 and 8. Committee members include Dean Karl D. Hartzell, Capt. H. F. Eckberg, Dr. Lester Kieft, William G. Buch, Robert E. Slonaker, Jr. MS '52, Col. Lewis T. Martin MS '60, J. Dwight Corder MS '59, J. Ben Austin, Jr., John P. Rodgers, Jr., and Donald B. Young '33.

Faculty

Dr. Mark C. Ebersole assumed his new position as assistant dean of the University on February 1, and has been working on the forthcoming evaluation of Bucknell by the Middle States Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools and the Engineering Council for Professional Development.

Harvey M. Powers, director of the Institute for Foreign Students, represented Bucknell at the Center Directors' Conference of the Institute of International Education and the Fourth National Conference on the Exchange of Persons, held in San Francisco.

After attending the sessions and delivering a report on Bucknell's highly successful Summer Institute, Mr. Powers returned to Cornell University, where he is working on his doctorate this year.

While at the University of Michigan, Ralph C. Walker, associate professor of electrical engineering, and two other U. of M. engineers submitted a proposal to the Air Force which has resulted in a savings of more than seven million dollars to the taxpayer. The savings occurred when the Air Force accepted the suggestion that an inductance coil be used in place of capacitors to store the enormous spark energy needed to operate its new hypersonic wind tunnel. In conducting space vehicle re-entry studies, the use of capacitors proved to be dangerous as well as impractical. The Air Force's new hypersonic wind tunnel is located at the Arnold Engineering Development Center, Tullahoma, Tenn.

Under a Navy contract, Richard C. Teevan, associate professor of psychology, is working on a program designed to produce a suitable method of evaluating an area of motivation; namely, "fear of failure." With Dean Hartzell, he is also planning for a large scale study of motivational factors in student achievement at the college level.

At the December meeting of the Board of Trustees, sabbatical leaves for three faculty members were approved for 1961-62. Second semester leaves for the coming academic year were awarded to Dr. James A. Gathings of the political science department and Professor John S. Gold '18 of mathematics. Dr. Harold W. Heine, professor of chemistry, received a sabbatical for the entire year.

Numerous faculty members have been involved in writing and editing literary works. Based on information submitted for the "Campus Report," they are as follows:

Articles: "The Concept of Dynamis in the Hippocratic De Victu" by Dr. Harold W. Miller, professor of classics, in the 1960 edition of Transactions of the American Philological Association; "Inland Ports" by Dr. P. Burwell Rogers, associate professor of English, in the October issue of American Speech; and "A List of Places Included in 19th Century Virginia Directories", reviewed by Dr. Rogers in the Virginia Magazine of History and Biography.

Books: Handbook of Psychological Terms is presently being revised by Dr. Philip L. Harriman, professor of psychology; Douglas K. Candland, assistant professor of psychology, is in the process of finishing a book on experimental psychology, to be published by Basic Books, for use in high school science courses and by science clubs; and Richard C. Teevan, associate professor of psychology, is preparing a book of readings for use in general psychology.

Poems by John H. Wheatcroft, assistant professor of English: "On Listening to S. Stravinski Play D. Scarlatti", Epos, spring issue, and Best Articles and Stories, December, 1960; "To My Lady of Great Expectations" and "Beethoven", Sidewalk (Edinburg, Scotland): "All These Are Instants", Artesian, autumn, 1960; and "Now a Poem Is Is" and "Testament", Targets, September, 1960.

Plays: "Ofoti the Troll" by John H. Wheatcroft.

Editors: Richard C. Teevan, psychology editor of Encyclopedia Americana and co-editor of Insight Books (a series of publications in psychology) for Van Nostrand Co.

(Continued on Page 32)

TRUSTEE CANDIDATES FOR 1961

Take Advantage of Your Right as an Alumnus and Vote for the Candidate of Your Choice in April

THE COMMITTEE for the Selection of Alumni Trustee Candidates presents for your action the names of three Alumni to be balloted upon in April 1961. We present the names, pictures and biographies of the proposed candidates. Early in April ballots will be mailed to all Alumni whose addresses are known to be correct. The voter will open the envelope at an indicated place, mark the ballot by voting for ONE candidate, seal and mail it. No postage is required. On receipt at the Alumni Office the ballot will be placed in a locked ballot box. Balloting will end on Tuesday, May 16, 1961. During the following week, a committee of Alumni will open the locked ballot box, tally the votes and certify the results to the Board of Trustees.

JOHN S. FETTER
Jenkintown, Pa.

MORRIS D. HOOOVEN
Montclair, N. J.

WILLIAM S. LIMING
Garden City, L. I., N. Y.

College Record: B.S. in Biology, Bucknell University, 1932; M.D., Jefferson Medical College, 1936; Phi Lambda Theta; Alpha Omega Alpha (Honorary Medical); A.A.A.S.

Professional Experience: Intern, Philadelphia General Hospital, 1936-38; Resident in Radiology, Philadelphia General Hospital, 1938-41; Radiologist, Nazareth Hospital, Philadelphia, 1940 to date; Radiologist, Philadelphia State Hospital, 1941 to date; Radiologist, Wills Eye Hospital, 1941-52; Instructor in Radiology, Graduate School of Medicine of the University of Pennsylvania, 1941-53; Director of Department of Radiology, Nazareth Hospital; In charge of training residents in Radiology at Nazareth Hospital; Director, Nazareth Hospital X-Ray technicians training school; Director, Barnegat Pier Co., N. J., Toms River Shopping Center, N. J., Business Forms, Inc., Pittsburgh; Diplomate of American Board of Radiology, 1941 to date.

Organizations: American Medical Association; Medical Society of State of Pennsylvania; Philadelphia County Medical Society; Philadelphia College of Physicians; American College of College Record: Attended Carnegie Institute of Technology; B.S., (Magna Cum Laude), Bucknell University, 1920; D.Sc., (Honorary), Newark College of Engineering, 1957; Anniversary Medallion, University of Prague, 1957; D.Sc., (Honorary), Bucknell University, 1958; Phi Kappa Psi; Eta Kappa Nu (Honorary); Tau Beta Pi (Honorary).

(Continued on Page 19)

Professional Experience: Engineer, Westinghouse Electric Manufacturing Company; Radio Engineer, Robbins Electric Company; Consulting Engineer, Public Service Electric and Gas Company. At various times has been a member of Engineering Manpower Commission, National Power Policy Commission, National Defense Power Commission, Radio Advisory Committee, New Jersey Advisory Committee on Scientific and Engineering Personnel, Science Advisory Committee of Rensse-

(Continued on Page 19)

Please read the biographies
and kindly retain this copy of
THE BUCKNELL ALUMNUS
for ready reference when you receive your ballot in April.

College Record: A.B., Bucknell University, 1933; Tau Kappa Epsilon (formerly Alpha Chi Mu); Sigma Tau Delta; Pi Delta Epsilon; Editor-in-chief, The Bucknellian, L'Agenda and Commencement News; Senior Tribunal; Middle Atlantic Intercollegiate Press Association.

Professional Experience: Secretary, Central Y. M. C. A., Philadelphia, 1933-34; Editor, Ocean County Sun, Toms River, N. J., 1934-35; City Desk, Long Island Daily Press, Jamaica, N. Y., 1936-42; Manager, Promotional Service, Policyholders Service Bureau, 1946-55; Manager, Group Sales Promotion and Publicity, Metropolitan Life Insurance Company, New York, N. Y., 1955 to date; Author of series of Personnel Management Reports including: "Employee Contact Through the Bulletin Board", "The Information Rack in the Employee Communication Program", "Employee Contests as Morale Builders", "Outline for Organizing and Operating an Employee Publication," 1950-55; Guest Lecturer, New York University Evening Classes in Public Relations, 1954-56. Various speaking engagements and communications lectures including:

(Continued on Page 19)

BUCKNELL DUAL DEVELOPMENT FUND

OVER-SUBSCRIBED FUND TOPS TWO AND ONE-QUARTER MILLION DOLLARS

On December 6, 1960, Bucknellians in the San Francisco, Calif., area gathered for dinner to meet and talk with President Merle M. Odgers and to see the film, "Presenting Bucknell." These "Bisons" met in the Leopard Cafe and after the meeting took campaign pledge cards for Bucknellians in the northern California area.

Some of the honored guests at the December 6th meeting in San Francisco, Calif., were (left to right) Harry F. Hartzell '08, chairman for the dinner program; Mrs. Hartzell; Mrs. Margaret Allen Davis '19; Dr. Merle M. Odgers; Dr. A. R. E. Wyant '92; Mrs. Sanford H. Sanger; and Mr. Sanger '44, president of the Bucknell Alumni Club of San Francisco.

A $25,000 grant from the Richard King Mellon Foundation, received on December 24, was the angel on the top of the Christmas tree, enabling the Fund to reach its $2,200,000 final goal on schedule by the end of 1960. Since then, a substantial number of pledges and gifts have been received. The Dual Development Fund is still "open." Boxes on succeeding pages explain its open aspects. A printed report of the campaign, including a listing of all donors, will not be ready until Commencement time in June.

On the following pages, the University gratefully and proudly lists, on the basis of Campaign Office records, all campaign chairman, captains, and workers in areas where organized solicitation was undertaken. To their help, the Dual Development Fund owes its success.

Honor Roll

DUAL DEVELOPMENT FUND CAMPAIGNERS

The following alumni, faculty, friends, and parents are truly the unsung heroes of the Dual Development Campaign. These campaigners are listed here for all to see. We want to recognize EVERY campaigner. Extreme care has been taken in the preparation of the following lists, but some errors or omissions are almost inevitable. We will appreciate it if you will bring any error or omission to the attention of the campaign office so that proper recognition may be made in the next issue of THE BUCKNELL ALUMNUS. Our deep gratitude goes to the following people:

sions are almost inevitable. We will appreciate it if you will bring any error or omission to the attention of the campaign office so that proper recognition may be made in the next issue of THE BUCKNELL ALUMNUS. Our deep gratitude goes to the following people:

THE NATIONAL LEADERSHIP

Honorary Chairmen

Rush H. Kress '00
Robert L. Rooke '13, H'51
Andrew J. Sordoni H'50

Advisory Committee

Charles E. Wilson, Chairman
Detlev W. Bronk H'57, Vice-Chairman
Clifford J. Backstrand
Thomas J. Baldrige '95 H'27
Joseph S. Clark, Jr.
William H. Coleman H'56
John A. Diemand H'55
Ivor D. Fenton '08
Frederick V. Follmer '06, H'56
Walter D. Fuller
Robert E. Harvey
M. D. Hooven '20 H'58
Thomas J. Killian
C. J. Kushell, Jr. '27
George R. Lamade
Robert J. McCracken H'47
Mrs. Christopher Mathewson '01
Homer P. Rainey
Hugh Scott
R. G. Tugwell
J. Regis Walthour
Maxwell R. Warden
Thomas D. White

General Co-Chairmen

Harry G. Schad H'58
Kenneth W. Slifer '26

Initial Gifts

Horace A. Hildreth H'56, Chairman

Special Gifts

R. H. Coleman '29, Chairman

Corporate Gifts

Paul L. Troast H'52, Chairman

Alumni

Andrew R. Mathieson '20, Chairman

Alumnae

Thelma J. Showalter '29, Chairman

Parents Committee

Paul S. Killian, Co-Chairman
Paul G. Wehle, Co-Chairman

Evaluation

Berkeley V. Hastings '13, Chairman

Public Relations

Donald H. Sholl '42, Chairman
Jack Bozarth '50, Vice-Chairman

Treasurer

A. Guy Freas H'57

Chairman, Board of Trustees

William R. White '26, H'59

Faculty Representative

John S. Gold '18

ALUMNI AREA LEADERSHIP

1893

Arthur F. Gardner

1895

Thomas H. Baldrige

1900

Rush H. Kress

1901

Jeanette Stoughton Mathewson
Harland A. Trax

1904

John C. Johnson
Louis W. Robey

1905

Joseph S. Bittenbender
Cottie Albright Cooper

1906

Frederick V. Follmer
Sarah Furman Frost
Romain C. Hassrick
Horace J. Sheppard, Sr.

1907

Helena M. Olds

1908

Elmer K. Bolton
Ivor D. Fenton
Harry F. Hartzell
Margaret Pangburn Mathias

1909

W. Guy Payne
John T. Shirley
William B. Warner

1910

John C. Bank
E. Paul Smith

1911

William C. Grimes

1912

Stanley P. Davies
James P. Harris
Maze Callahan Houseknecht

1913

Bright W. Beck
John R. Bogert
Berkeley V. Hastings
Earl M. Richards
Robert L. Rooke

1914

Earle B. Armstrong
Harold M. Dorrell
Beulah Hummel Fero
Ernest O. Lindberg
Fred O. Schnure

1915

Isabelle F. Bond
Edgar T. Clapp
Albert J. Clark
George A. Irland
Edward W. Pangburn

1916

Ray P. Bigler
Bruce E. Butt
John J. Conway
Maurice B. Cooke
Samuel M. Davenport
Norman J. Rehman
Jacob S. Russin

1917

Jeannette Cooke Armstrong
Fred E. Benedict
Eugene P. Bertin
Yeurith Westbay Chalfant
Ralph B. Derr
Lewis A. Eyster
Holman G. Knouse
Raymond E. Sprenkle
Alexander Storer
Arthur Yon

1918

David Boswell
Mary Dunn Boswell
John S. Cold
Herbert C. Grice, Sr.
Mary Arhogast Grove
Charles H. Hall
Miriam Minch Hall
Jessie Potts Kline
Barton H. Mackey
Bruce O. Ranck
Howard L. Rosenberger
Elizabeth Stephens Rouner

THE DUAL DEVELOPMENT FUND IS OPEN for participation pledges or gifts.

Until the final report is made, Alumni are invited to make the percentage of participation as high as possible, as an expression of thanks for the gifts of others in the past, and as a warrant for gifts from philanthropic friends in the future.

1919

Charles J. Anchor
Larry F. Andrews
Larry Angel
DeWitt K. Botts
Alexander Chalfant
Margaret Allen Davis
Mary McLeod Hildreth
Clifford A. Holleran
Franklin D. Jones
Chester R. Leaber
Kenneth W. Oakley
Turney C. Seeber

1920

Robert K. Bell
Elthera Corson DeLong
Morris D. Hooven
Charles V. Iredell
George P. Little
Andrew R. Mathieson
Glenn E. Ott
James A. Pangburn
Walter D. Roos
Marian Gobo Roth
Julius F. Seebach, Jr.
Mary Schenck Sherk
Warren H. Slocum
William E. C. Speare
F. Cortland Williams
Corbin W. Wyant

1921

Edna M. Baker
Clara Casner Carpenter
Victor G. Clare
Herbert N. Derr
Grant O. Herb
Raymond G. Hilday
Anna Fairchild Homan
Stanford L. Kunkle
Thomas J. Mangan
Thomas F. Morgan, Jr.
Charles H. Rickenberg
Harold L. Shimer
Kenneth C. Winsor

1922

Amorita Sesinger Copeland
H. T. Davenport
C. Emory Diffenderfer
Miriam Oakley Gall
William J. Irvin
Karl Krug
Roy H. Landis
Lawrence Lawson
Susanna Plummer O'Neil
William Parry
John H. Shott
Catharine Y. Stahl
Mary Appelman Walter

1923

Helyn Kerstetter Bechtel
Cornelia R. Boyd
Charles T. Bunting
Ellsworth E. Caldwell
Robert M. Dawson
W. George Gehring
Dalzell M. Griffith
Walter L. Hill
Frank W. Homan
Paul C. Mallay
Walter B. Shaw
Donald R. Smith, Sr.
Harry E. Stabler
Elizabeth Speakman Swetland
Rupert M. Swetland
Helen Powell Thurston
James H. Walter
Foster C. Wilson
W. Guy Woodring
Gail B. Young

1924

Florence Martz Anderson
C. Kenneth Budd
Lillian Edmunds Davis
Earl Dunlap
Robert C. Hein
George H. Jones
George W. Long
Geneva Gerlach Moore
Nicholas Palma
Edwin D. Robb
Alice Roberts
Rose Curtis Wihtal
Wendell H. Woodside
Fred T. Zimmerman

1925

William H. Colestock
Myron F. Decker
Carrie Smithgall Ebert
Donald O. Eschbach
Alexander Foster
J. Wallace Foster
Sara Walton Haines
Francis Haskett
Theodore Heysbam, Jr.
Emerson E. Jenkins
Allen F. Jones
Joseph Laher
Carolyn Huat Mahaffey
Roy E. Nicodemus
Howard Thomas

1926

F. Earl Bach
Robert A. Black
Eugene D. Carstater
J. Norman Davies
Fred W. Evans
Charles T. Farrow, Jr.
Robert Y. Garrett, Jr.
W. Ross Hagerman
Joseph W. McCormick, Jr.
Bruce A. McHail
Katheryne F. Miller
Martha M. Morrow
J. Nyce Patterson
Paul G. Potter
James S. Replogle
Donald L. Rigg
Carrie Smith Rood
Kenneth W. Slifer
R. Frederick Snodgrass
Ann Zerby Summerill
W. Frank Wagner
William R. White
Anthony K. Wilsbach

1927

Douglas W. Anderson
Gilbert L. Bennett
Arthur L. Brandon
Evelyn Deen
Robert W. Dill
Marlyn D. Etzweiler
Paul L. Garrett
Katherine E. Gaventa
Marie Webb Gebhart
Louis S. Goldstein
Gordon Goodyear
William C. Gretzinger, Jr.
George W. Hart
Willard R. Hetler
K. W. Horsman
James E. Hulick
Goldena Guilford Jenkins
Paul M. Johnson
Charles J. Kushell, Jr.
Joseph C. Laucks
Albert B. Lauderbaugh
Phoebe Bloomfield Lauderbaugh
Dom B. Mare
Philip Martin
Ralph H. Martz
S. Grace Milhous Merrick
Bruce J. Miller
Mabel Funk Murray
Ross R. Ormsby
Veta Davis Replogle
A. Henry Riesmeyer
Amy Haldeman Roop
Russel E. Sangston
Howard B. Schanely
Albert W. Sheckells
Kathryn M. Smith
R. Barlow Smith
Fred E. Stevens
Harry H. Williams

1928

Anna Mayes Bingham
William B. Brown, Jr.
C. Marie Helwig Carstater
Preston B. Davis
Eleanor Miller Dill
Ernest H. Englehardt
Elva Horner Evans
Patrick J. Gillespie
Frederick R. Helwig
M. Elizabeth Royer Hughes
Paul M. Humphreys
Fred B. Kemery
Thomas G. Lewis
Elizabeth Ross Ludlam
H. Montgomery Marsh, Jr.
Louis A. Porsley
Gny F. Roush
M. C. Shuttlesworth
Alfred R. Ulmer

Ivanhoe W. Winemiller
D. M. Wischaupt
Francis L. Wood

1929

Clyde P. Bailey
Dorothy Lemon Bailey
Donald L. Brubaker
R. Henry Coleman
John B. Cook, Jr.
Harlan A. Downer
Jessie Fielding Eyster
Paul E. Fink
Jane Foust Ford
John M. Harrison
Howard T. Hogan
John M. Horter
Evelyn Fischler Jacobs
Charles W. Kalp
Bernard Klosterman
D. Eugene Long
Felix J. McCormick
John C. Minick
Philip G. Murray
Clifford H. Reed
Hugo Riemer
Anne Griffiths Shindel
Thelma J. Showalter
Ethel Ream Sweger
Kirby Walls
Albert Weidensaul
E. Wallace Wilkinson

1930

Robert C. Barton
Evelyn M. Beckworth
John R. Bower
Paul H. Crago
Dorothy Levegood Eberenz
William C. Emmitt
Elizabeth Figner
Fordyce C. Hauber
Edward S. Hoffman
Emmalyn Fuller Klostermao
Francis C. Moerschbacher
Ralph W. Nickerson
Robert L. Payne
Edward J. Stroh, Jr.
Ruth Evans Turner
George O. Wagner
Helen Ryder Winter

1931

Luther O. Carlisle
James R. Cox, Jr.
Trennie E. Easley
A. S. Fleming
Charles F. Fox, Jr.
Charles W. Frampton
Meribah S. Gardiner
William H. Genne
Percy Hort
George W. Johnson
Robert Keenan
James H. Konkle, Jr.
Russell L. Kressler
Samuel J. Leezer
Dorothy Lugosch Marter
Horace W. Mason
Arthur E. Minnier
Joseph Nissley
Martha Warner O'Brien
Paul M. Showalter
Ruth Thomas Simoonson
James R. Simpson
Edward J. Smalstig
A. Crossley Smith, Jr.
Charles P. Snyder
Ruth Weidemann Snyder
George A. Streitz
Evan R. Thomas
Charles L. Titus
Carl E. Truxel
Cora Newsham Truxel
George H. Van Tuyl, Jr.
Katherine Ruf Walls
Charles Winter

1932

Marco P. Barbarin
Henry G. P. Coates
Mary Sheehan Condon
Janet E. Cooper
Newton I. Griffiths
Lloyd S. Hoffman
Agnes Jones Jones
Dorothy Jones Jones
Ruth Taylor Lantz
Barbara Smith Laudenslager
James P. Logan
Martin E. Mandel
Cyrus D. Marter, Jr.
C. Eugene Miller

Donald S. Mills
Anna Weigold Mussina
Marion Groover Osborn
Maree E. Pensyl
George Phillips
George Sandel
Mary Smith Sisley
Samuel H. Woolley

1933

Mary A. Baldwin
Samuel W. Bernstein
Charles R. Bidelspacher
Janet Blair Bogar
Franklin A. Bower
Clayton Bronse
Catherine Reese Carlisle
William H. Culler
Lucile Meyer Diehl
Joseph DiPace
Francis F. Fairchild
Edwin B. Filer
Frederick D. Flaherty
George D. Henderson
Willis E. Jones
Edward R. King
Donald C. Lane
William S. Liming
Bernard M. Loth
John C. Matthews
Burt C. Pratt
Donald B. Proctor
Charlotte Hanna Ramsay
Emily Steininger Reish
Ralph Reish
Campbell Rutledge, Jr.
David S. Sarnar
S. Katherine Graham Showalter
Charles F. Siede, Jr.
Clarence W. Turner
Abe W. Wasserman

1934

Leslie H. Berk
Irvin Blakeslee, Jr.
Louis Cardarelli
Paul C. Confer
John B. Dempsey
Nicholas A. Farina
James F. Favino
Tilman H. Foust
Frank E. Gerlitz, Jr.
Wilmer D. Greulich
Roland F. Harbeson
Isabelle H. Hatfield
Isabelle James
Edith Hasselberger Johnson
Ellen Koser Johnson
James C. Kingsley
Esther Ferguson Kurtz
Ruth Rohr Liming
Donald L. McCay
George A. Mussina
Marie Peters Nikodem
Walter J. Nikodem
Mary Murray Pennypacker
J. Gordon Peters
Ruth Rippel Peters
William Plankenhorn
Frank J. Ragusan, Jr.
Paul S. Reitz
Raymond R. Rommelt
Harold D. Ruger
Thaddeus A. Salaczynski
Wendell R. Stevens
Lyde Tingley Sutherland
George J. Vetter
Nina Lambert Vetter
Vincent B. Wayland
Nelson E. Wendt
Isadore I. Zlotkin

1935

Dorothy Sauer Ball
Romlyn Rivenburg Balsbaugh
Dorothy Miller Bennra
Alfred G. Benson, Jr.
John L. Bergen, Jr.
Elizabeth Smith Berlin
William H. Berlin
Samuel L. Braucher
Albert L. Brown, Jr.
Gertrude Carey
Ann Orr Deschanel
Forest W. Francis
Theodore Garis
Mary Arner Gingrich
Harry H. Goldman
Edwin H. Hartman
Charles S. Jackson
Harry L. Jenkins, Jr.
William H. Jones
W. Kemp Meefee
Jerome D. Morris

Ella L. Mundy
James Orloski
Leonard W. Osborn
J. Claire Patterson
Daniel Primout
Edith McCormick Smith
Harry F. Wightman
Lauren R. Williams
Edward F. Wittmer
Heber W. Youngken, Jr.
Gene A. Zanarini

1936

George B. Adcock
Marguerite Forbell Bartholomew
Russell R. Boyer
Fred A. Bufanio
Starring Bull
M. Howard Clark
Margaret Tomlinson Confer
William H. J. Dawson
John C. Decker
Ruth E. Donnelly
Samuel A. Fehl
Beth Druckemiller Feiser
Daniel F. Griffith
Charles Gwynne
William L. Iveson
Raymond A. Kanyuck
Kathryn Byerly Kintner
Jane Glunt Lose
C. Josephine Williams Miller
William E. Moir
Robert V. Pethick
Frederick C. Rahe
Thomas W. Rauffenbart
Sophie Rokosz
Hubbard S. Ruoff
Eric G. Stewart
Zigmund A. Stohler
J. Fred Weaver

1937

Marie Schaff Amish
Russell N. Appleby
Richard Butcosk
Clinton A. Condict
Earle W. Deacon
Georgiana Crum Esch
Gordon L. Everett
Harry A. Hebbard, Jr.
C. Malcolm Knowles
Willard H. Leavitt
John J. Lenker
J. Gibson Logue, Jr.
Charles R. Lose, III
Wladimir Z. Lotowycz
Eloise Klinetoh Marshall
George L. Marshall
Hazel Jackson Mielke
Herbert W. Morrell, Jr.
Charles O. Morris, Jr.
Madeleine Earnest Mountz
Samuel M. Nesbit
Clyde M. Noll
Carroll E. Osborn
Agnes Wolf Perry
George W. Richards, II
Thomas B. Richards
Edith Greisinger Rohde
Rita Holbrook Sear
Thomas W. Speck
Edwin S. Stebbins
Ellen Gronemeyer Taxis
Charles I. Vogel
P. Herbert Watson
Laurence G. Welliver
Thomas Wood, Jr.
Willard D. Zimmerman

1938

William A. Androski
Francis X. Antonelli
Robert O. Beers
Nellis B. Brouner, Jr.
Leon B. Cameron, Jr.
George J. Campo
Isabelle L. Clouser
Ernest S. Cramer
Kenneth Delafraige
Ana Culbertson Dempsey
Chester A. Dennis, Jr.
Emily Dooley
Gay Russell Dueger
Jeanne Kurtz Esser
Ira G. Fox
Daniel W. Freeman
Elizabeth Stead Knowles
Jean Miller McFadden
George V. McGee
Robert Newman
William P. Pfeiffer
Joseph T. Quick
Daniel Rothermel

Ethel Abbotts Albert
Paul Albert
F. Leon Arbogast, Jr.
Eliza Russell Armstrong
A. Kermit Bower
Richard A. Brumberger
Cladys Stillman Bruins
Stephen Caporaletti
Charles W. Catherman
Janet Johnstone Clarke
Jean Levan Crum
Edna M. Cubberley
Margaret L. Davis
Marlin K. Decker
Carol Martin Dunham
Jack L. Dunn
Charles R. Eyer
Samuel S. Fisher
Joseph V. Grieco
Harvard E. Griffith, Jr.
Dorothy Gottschall Hamburg
Warren Higgins
Melvin Jaffe
Edward A. Kandle
John A. Kessler
Richard H. Klinetoh
Wayne E. Knosse
Stanley R. Lemler
Agnes Hall Leviness
Calvin C. Lomhard
A. Ruth Lepperd MacDowell
William R. Morgan
F. Elizabeth Boyd Noll
Mary Johnson Peterson
Ralph M. Posner
Reuben W. Rader
M. L. Leo Stannert Ranek
Donald Stewart Richardson
Harvey G. Rhoad
Robert S. Schell
Charles R. Scott, Jr.
Douglas L. Seidinger
James F. Shuman
Walter D. Smith
Helen M. Spence
Gordon L. Stearns
Lester E. Stein
Clyde E. Stein
Eugene E. Stein
George E. Stein
Howard E. Stein
John E. Stein
Lewis E. Stein
Morton E. Stein
Norman E. Stein
Oscar E. Stein
Philip E. Stein
Richard E. Stein
Seymour E. Stein
Solomon E. Stein
Theodore E. Stein
Victor E. Stein
Walter E. Stein
Yip E. Stein

James B. Aikman
Sidney Apfelbaum
Kenneth R. Bayless
Richard M. Biow
Harry F. Bolich
Doris Lutz Boswell
Mary R. Brislin
J. Kenneth Brown
Douglas W. Burt

A. L. Alexander
Theodore R. Armstrong
Arthur A. R. Asby
Kenneth J. Baserman
Richard W. Ratten, Jr.
William W. Bowen
Millicent Wood Bower
W. Rand Campbell
Clara Walton Clemmer
S. Clinton Cowles, Jr.
Donna Perry Crage
Betty Laner Decker
Carolyn Donehower
Muriel Heise Dykstra
William A. Fairclough
Volney B. Frankel
Marvin Gerla

Helen Rhinesmith Baker
Robert F. Baker
Ruth White Bath
Jeanne Beeler Breneman
J. Frank Cannon
George F. Clark
Eugene F. Cowell, Jr.
Emmy Lou Craig
Eleanor E. Cummings
Sarah Fry Diffenderfer
Paul M. Eyster
Nancy Lightner Fekete
Sanford Finkelstein
Albert J. Fladd
Mary Evans Franklin
Bushnell Fullerton
Jean M. Gillespie
Earl R. Grose
Robert G. Heuer
Edward K. Hoffman
Jean Richards Hoffman
Jack T. Huse
H. Harlan Husted
Mary Foley Joraleman
Dean A. Kearsb
Robert C. Keegan
Dorothea Bittner Kleppinger
Robert D. Kriz
Jean Griest Leiby
George Liles
Harriet A. Love
Ronald H. MacPherson
Ruth Cooper MacPherson
J. Wilson Mausteller
Peter M. Mensky
Edward H. Miller
Charles E. Murphy
Ottole Fredericks Murphy
Corine V. Nahles
June Owens
Elmo Pascale
Hope Wohnus Perry
Robert Posner
Henry B. Puff

Fred H. Anderson
Eloise Oram Atherton
Margaret Gurnee Baer
Seymour P. Berger
Rosemary Bennett Brady
Emily Kelly Carlough
Dorothy Huffman Cieslicki
Marion Turner Clump
Walter Davis
Eleanor DeLong Conrad
Edmund W. Fetter
Gladys C. Filippone
Janice Ubil Fischer
Ruth Merriion Fortmann
Philip Glaser
Joan Ruhlhey Goslow
Harold H. Hilday
Margaret Thompson Jeramaz
Thomas F. Kiernan
Donald M. Kresge
Faith VanSise Krzywicki
Paul W. Layden
Robert Lehet
Dorothy Minter Mason
Cyril F. Menges
Sara McFall Moore
Ruth Irland Morton
Betty Wynn Reifsnyder
Jane Slack Roach
Emily Soos Robinson
James T. Roselle
Jean Crisman Schuetz
Calvin K. Sholl
Lois Hayes Shore
Harry B. Tumen
Ruth Tischler Voelker
J. Dudley Waldner
Gorden E. Whitfield
J. Robert Whitelock
John Woomer
Elwood C. Zimmerman

THE DUAL DEVELOPMENT FUND IS OPEN for naming or memorializing areas in buildings and remodelings achieved by the campaign.

The new Administration Center, scheduled for dedication on June 3, 1961, contains a few offices and rooms yet unsigned. East College itself remains unnamed, and both East College and Rush H. Kress Hall offer opportunities for memorials and donor recognition.

For details and specifications please contact:

DEVELOPMENT OFFICE
BUCKNELL UNIVERSITY
Lewisburg, Pennsylvania

Edwin F. Bacon
Robert C. Balling
Marjorie Geils Bancel
Richard C. Bantle
Marjorie Stickler Barger
Elizabeth Quinn Billings
Leonard Block
Wesley A. Bradley
Charles C. Brogan, Jr.
Claude J. Bubb, Jr.
Alice Schoonmaker Campbell
William E. Craumer
Jean Crofoot D'Amore
Vito D'Amore
L. Edward Dueger
Arthur R. Ellis, Jr.
Mathias F. Erieg
Elizabeth Carrill France
Matthew E. Friedman
Lois Miller Fullerton
Thomas L. Garten
Gary C. V. Gawain
Tamara Gurvitch Goldman
Lloyd R. Graham
Francis B. Haas, Jr.

ane Hamilton
 Ruth Douglass Hannigan
 Roland C. Herpst
 David L. Hurwitz
 Sally A. Irving
 Raymond K. Irwin
 Milton G. Jaques
 Elizabeth Jacoby Johnson
 Carolyn Stroop Kiernan
 Melvin Landew
 Thomas F. Latrell
 Marilyn Miller Lawson
 Kermit W. Lewis
 Howard J. Lonergan
 Janice Grant McAuliffe
 Robert C. McGowan
 Robert Malesardi
 Stephen F. Marcucio
 E. Robert Marks
 June Stott Matthews
 Eugene J. Matthews
 Jerome B. Meltzer
 Jean Franklin Montgomery
 Richard L. Moore
 Mildred Valentine Painter
 John F. Poletto
 James B. Pulford
 Donna McNeal Pursley
 Thomas J. Quigley
 Betty Milnamow Reitzler
 Nancy Anchor Rodgers
 John C. Rogers
 Girard W. Rudolph
 Mary Walter Ruggieri
 Dorothy Watkinson Schalin
 Walter B. Schlichter
 Mary Gregg Scott
 George D. Simcoe
 Margaret Banks Sheldon
 W. Paul Smeltzer
 Kenneth H. Snyder
 Richard C. Stadden
 Lester S. Strang
 Jesse W. Syme
 William E. Tait
 William H. VonHeill
 F. Porter Wagner
 Ivan C. Warren
 Kenneth Warren
 Roger C. Whitford
 David H. Williams
 A. Thomas Wilson
 Francis M. Zachara

1948

Louis F. Alessio
 David M. Baker
 Arax Aroosian Balakian
 Helen Beringer Beale
 Russell M. Beckley
 Harold J. Berkowitz
 Harold S. Bigler
 Willis D. Boyer
 Leslie M. Brown
 Walter H. Brown
 Phyllis Bub Byrod
 John B. Clark
 Charles F. Clifford
 Natalie Dann Craumer
 Robert C. Craumer
 Mary Fairchild Daughenbaugh
 Florence Kreidler Davis
 Charles S. Day, III
 Mary Hess Dill
 Samuel M. Dodd, Jr.
 Jean Kohler Duerig
 Eleanor Moore Eisenhauer
 Nora Giavelli Elze
 Warren E. Elze
 Louis H. Exstein
 Edward G. Fennell
 Douglas H. Fleming
 Charles L. Fritz
 Ruth Rice Garinger
 Janet Gardiner Gawain
 Paul P. Halecki
 Frank D. Hamlin
 William H. Hansen, Jr.
 Josephine LaBarr Hardie
 Peter J. Henderson
 Paul E. Hermann
 A. Ann Minnich Hollyday
 Raymond A. Hood, Jr.
 Harvey P. Huber
 Helen Gilmour Huber
 Ruth Naul Hucks
 James D. Hunt
 William D. Husted
 Edwin P. Kummer
 Norman R. King
 Anthony A. Krzywicki
 Lawrence Lawson, Jr.
 David W. Leiby
 Robert E. List
 Russell M. Luck

Bertram K. McCracken
 Robert McLaughlin
 Audrey Johnson Marantz
 I. Clint Marantz
 Thomas F. Marcucio
 George J. Miller
 Kathleen McCauley Morrow
 John H. Mudd
 Gladys Sauer Muller
 Jane Gaiser Myers
 Harold Neff, Jr.
 Helen Hayden Nelson
 Robert S. Painter
 Robert G. Scherer
 Stanley Schilder
 Carolyn J. Scott
 William Schwenke
 Francine Ringler Schoenfeld
 Marjorie Walter Sinclair
 Helen Busing Skove
 Harry C. Small, Jr.
 Lawrence J. Spicer
 J. Edgar Spielman, Jr.
 James M. Stahl, Jr.
 Harold F. Steff
 Robert H. Taylor
 Virginia Stauffer Unger
 William H. Unger
 Quentin R. Walters
 John B. Warden, Jr.
 Harold S. Watts
 Robert E. Wentz
 John M. Wilbur, Jr.
 Walter J. Zimmerman

1949

Barbara Bechtel Acker
 Stanley R. Acker
 Malcolm E. Arter
 Richard D. Atherley
 Philip Baron
 Robert A. Batten
 Jean Zeising Becher
 Donald E. Bloomfield
 L. Clifton Bohs, Jr.
 David N. Boswell, Jr.
 Wallace D. Boswell
 John L. Bove
 Albert R. Brown
 Howard K. Bullock
 Richard B. Byrod
 Thomas G. Carodiskey
 Thomas J. Carr
 Donald J. Carss
 George M. Cleary
 Richard W. Gleckner
 Sidney A. Cohen
 Walter P. Colteryahn
 Chetwin Cooke
 Robert M. Cowdick
 Nancy Roe Crowell
 William A. Daly, Jr.
 Howard R. Dieter
 Vincent L. Evans
 Lloyd W. Furman, Jr.
 Jack Garrison
 Henry J. Gatski
 Jerold J. Gearhart
 Sally Gottfried Goodgold
 Clifford Gross
 George W. Hardie, Jr.
 Walter O. Harf
 Sherman A. Herman
 Joseph M. Hiznay
 Richard G. Hogentogler
 Robert Hollyday
 Robert E. Hoke
 Alvin S. Houck
 Roy P. Jackman
 Guy Johnson, Jr.
 Donna Spencer Johnson
 John R. Jones
 Ellis H. Kauffman
 Janet Payne Kelly
 Charles H. Kennedy
 John S. Ketchledge, Jr.
 David B. Kirschstein
 Myron W. Kronisch
 George N. Kuchta
 George J. Kuzmak
 Joseph Leitner
 Robert W. Limbacher
 Frederick F. Ling
 Odette Hutchison Locher
 William W. McKay
 Thomas R. McKee
 Robert V. McKim
 Joseph M. Maloney
 Thomas C. Mannix
 Jervis W. Martin
 T. Anne Vastine Martin
 Robert W. Megargel
 Alan H. Molof
 Donald A. Montgomery
 Helen Harris Motteram

Max H. Muller
 George E. Myers
 Glena Godley Nolle
 John F. Nothel, Jr.
 Carl G. Patterson
 Theresa L. Pellegrino
 Robert T. Pratt
 Barbara Jones Purnell
 Audrey Reynolds
 James F. Reynolds
 William A. Rhodes
 Ralph C. Roberts
 Alan J. Robertson
 Ruth Dusenbury Scherer
 Robert B. Schey
 Thelma Monaco Semlear
 Joel A. Sharp
 Edward E. Shorin
 George H. Sinclair, Jr.
 Thomas M. Skove
 Fred W. Slack, Jr.
 Richard Springer
 Ernest S. Steele, Jr.
 Kenneth Stevens
 Doris Wilde Thomas
 Theodore J. VanKirk
 Henry C. Wagner
 William H. Webb
 Juliana Hospers Wheatley
 Shirley Nicodemus White
 William W. White
 Barbara Horner Wigington
 Ernest Wildfoerster
 Luther Williams
 Keith G. Wolverton
 Jane L. Worley
 O. Linwood Young
 Mary Shirk Zelders
 Catherine Albright Ziegler
 Jeanne Grove Zimmerman

1950

Lois Dial Adams
 Fred Anderson, Jr.
 Edward A. Bartholomew
 William H. Baumer
 Albert E. Becker, Jr.
 William W. Bell, Jr.
 Howard J. Belt
 Robert A. Bird
 J. William Bolig
 Frederick H. Bowen
 Jack D. Bozarth
 Peter D. Bricker, III
 Forrest D. Brown, Jr.
 William R. Byer
 John V. Campana, Jr.
 Jacqueline Cruse Campbell
 Verdine Campbell
 William O. P. Carey
 Etta Adams Carl
 H. Spencer Carlough
 Gerald J. Cavanaugh
 Clifford W. Clark
 Charles H. Concklin
 V. Jean McDonald Concklin
 Donald B. Cornish
 Allan W. Dehls
 George Derick, Jr.
 Dale E. Derr
 J. Kenneth Edwards
 William Fearen
 Sara Krimer Goodman
 Naomi Hons Haag
 Ernest J. Hammesfahr
 Michael Harris
 Charles B. Herman
 Jack E. Hester
 Janet Mardaga Higgins
 Arthur C. Johns
 Ralph E. Jones, Jr.
 Robert Jones
 Russell M. Keith
 John C. Koch, Jr.
 Wayne F. Klenck
 Gustave Krayner
 Warren H. Lamon
 John Larson
 Robert A. Lecca
 Theodore W. Lesperance
 Jack R. Linaberry
 James E. Lomeo
 John J. Lose
 Paul A. Lotto
 William L. Martin, Jr.
 Andrew W. Mathieson
 Mary Shimer Mauger
 John C. Mook
 David H. Morgan, Jr.
 Ellen L. Morrow
 Lester W. Mosher
 Robert S. Naugle
 Margaret Smith Neff
 Boyd L. Newcomb, Jr.
 George F. Norton

Walter C. Pfeifer
 John W. Peoples, Jr.
 William F. Pflom, Jr.
 Alex V. Pulianas
 Charles W. Rahner, Jr.
 Samuel C. Ranck
 Jack W. Ray
 Arthur B. Raynor
 Frank Ripa
 Julius W. Shedico
 Doris M. Seaman
 Eugene L. Shaver
 Wayne H. Sheffer
 John L. Sloand
 John R. Sieber
 J. Randle Smith
 Robert M. Smith
 D. Paul Souders
 Irene Melhuish Sprague
 Merle C. Stahl
 George Stanton
 James E. Stumbaugh
 Doris Coombs Teno
 Bernard M. Tostanoski
 David M. Trout, Jr.
 Leanne Freas Trout
 Cynthia Robb VanRoden
 Robert N. Waddell, Jr.
 Charles E. Walsh, III
 Kenneth E. Waters, Jr.
 Willard W. Webber
 William R. Webber
 Peter Weidenbacher
 Herbert S. Wilcox
 Ira J. Winter
 William Wolensky

1951

Charles W. Ague, Jr.
 Walter E. Barrett, Jr.
 Walter W. Bauman
 Donald Betty
 Alexander C. Blair
 Ralph S. Brautigam, Jr.
 Harvey H. Bush
 William Butscher
 Gloria Lange Clark
 Joan E. Clark
 Helen Berlin Close
 Alfred E. Confer
 Burton J. Correll
 Alexander J. Duplicki
 Louis S. Edwards, Jr.
 Alfred J. Farina
 James R. Febr
 Joseph D. Fife
 William H. Foulk, Jr.
 Paul L. Frantz
 Charlotte Caine Frisch
 Ray C. Fry
 Milton L. Geiser
 George Gravell
 Barbara A. Haggerty
 Craig M. Hall
 Wayne S. Harrison
 John A. Henderson
 John F. Hess
 D. Scott Hicks
 Donald S. Higgins
 Virginia Rude Hungerford
 Kathryn Johnson Ives
 Francis W. Kelly
 Ernest J. Kessler
 Joseph G. Kitler
 William F. Kohland
 Michael T. Krivak
 Nancy Haney Lady
 William H. Larsen
 Charles A. Larson
 Richard T. Larson
 Richard W. LaRue
 Thomas R. Lewis
 Mary J. McCarty
 Allan S. Manning
 William M. Martin
 James R. Miller, Jr.
 Luther F. Miller, Jr.
 Susan Reinoehl Miller
 William E. Moyer
 William T. Musser
 Kathryn Fish Myers
 Ann Cooper Nixon
 Charles M. Orben, Jr.
 Nicholas J. Packs
 William H. Ragg
 Dale E. Rauck, Jr.
 E. Ann Raup
 Charles L. Ray
 June Simon Robinson
 Robert J. Rockwell
 John A. Schaumburg
 Bruce M. Scott
 William Scott
 Raymond E. Shaw
 Herman R. Simon

Arthur Sloat
 Andrew W. Stabler, Jr.
 Janet Miller Stevenson
 James E. Thomas
 Herbert Uhl, Jr.
 Ronald L. Unger
 William J. Waibel
 William Wakefield
 Janice Cupp Wilcox
 John L. Williams
 Donald E. York
 Herbert K. Zearfoss
 Donald J. Zeigler
 Frederick J. Zwieselle, Jr.

1952

Robert R. Albert, Jr.
 Donald A. Anderson
 William C. Baldwin
 Thomas T. Balog
 Doris Neuberger Barrett
 William H. Barton
 Wayne L. Battin, III
 Richard A. Beitel
 Robert R. Bennett
 Alma Jonv Beuglass
 Robert J. Birnbaum
 Robert J. Boland
 Howard L. Bozarth
 Barbara Tredennick Bretz
 Linwood C. Butler
 Hugh S. Campbell, Jr.
 Robert Carman
 Joseph J. Childrey
 James E. Clitter
 Janet Fagan Clitter
 Spencer D. Coleman, Jr.
 Janet Herrold Crovatto
 Allan A. Cruickshanks
 William O. J. Daily
 Elizabeth Jensen Detwyler
 Bruce A. Drexel
 Margaret Nippes Finley
 Joseph A. Gallagher, Jr.
 Sally Morris Gregg
 Herbert A. Grosswirth
 Richard C. Haberstroh
 James P. Hastings, Jr.
 Peggy M. Hazard
 William G. Hendrixon, II
 William Henkelman
 Charles L. W. Hitchcock
 Benjamin Hoffman
 James Hole
 James H. Hurtt, IV
 Curtis L. Ivey
 Grant E. Johnson
 J. VanWert Johnson
 Martin W. Kaye
 Catherine Hill Keeley
 William R. Kiely, Jr.
 Warren Kimball, Jr.
 Virginia Clements Kober
 Anne Schimmel Knecht
 David C. Kuobloch, Jr.
 Keith D. Law
 Kenneth G. Lawson
 Ira A. Levin
 Elinor Childs Lewis
 Richard McMahon
 Carolyn Hanson MacKinnon
 Donald W. Manning
 Mary Tompkins Manning
 Frank Meehan, Jr.
 James E. Mellinger
 Sydney Sherwin Mellinger
 Edward Mighell
 Harry S. Miller, Jr.
 Josephine Hildreth Mirza
 James W. Moore
 Bertram S. Murphy
 Jane A. Mutchner
 William H. Neff
 Jerry P. Olds
 R. Jean Montgomery Orben
 Nicholas C. Paleczuk
 Marianne Colville Parkinson
 Phyllis Bell Pedersen
 Michael N. Reggia
 Eldred W. Rensson, Jr.
 John C. Rickart
 Donald N. Rishe
 Ronald Rockwell
 Charles S. Rogers, Jr.
 Conrad K. Schaumburg
 John Silan
 Ted R. Simpson
 Robert Sinclair
 Martin G. Skavish, Jr.
 Robert E. Slonaker, Jr.
 Harry C. Snyder
 Walter S. Spragg, II
 August St. John
 Sara Baumgardner Stanton
 Wayne M. Stevenson

Cynthia Blunt
Lester Borden
Carole B. Castaldi
John R. Coulter
Marilynn J. Ekiss
Arthur R. Eldred
August H. Engelhardt
A. Diane Krajovic Falconieri
John H. Gruel
Molly Wolford Hamilton
George E. Harder, Jr.
Robert S. Harder
Nancy Hierwarter
Janice Hughes Kessler
Herbert Kallenberg
Elizabeth Kilbury
Alan J. Kunschner
Barbara Clark Kunschner
James LaRue
Peter M. Lindholm
Herbert Lockwood
David A. Lutz
Lois Crabtree Mayoile
Joyce S. Mehning
Sarah K. Miller
John H. Morris
John C. Polliard
Philip Price, Jr.
Alan Reubel
Larry G. Rightmyer
George H. Schneer
Nancy L. Seeburger

Charles J. Taylor
Margaret L. Taylor
Martha M. Taylor
Linda L. Thompson
Charles V. Wagner
Walter L. Wentzel, Jr.
Carole J. Westerman
George R. Wuerthner

1960*

Sarah E. Easley
Richard E. Goeller
Barbara Good
John W. Leroy
Victor P. Rosner
Marthann Lauver Samek
David K. Slifer
Neil G. Weisbeck

1961*

Robert G. Schad

1962*

Nancy King Parks
Richard L. Whitman

*Undergraduate campaigner lists are not complete; many additional workers were active in the campus student campaign.

OTHER LEADERSHIP

(Non-Alumni Trustees, Non-Alumni Faculty, Parents, and Friends)

Frank C. Abbott
Mr. and Mrs. Hugo Ahlgren
Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Albus
Bart Amendola
Mrs. Thomas T. Balog
David A. Bancel
Mrs. Leslie H. Berk
Mr. and Mrs. Francis W. Blanchard
Joseph H. Block
Ralph E. Brongh
Mr. and Mrs. Isaiab G. Bryan
Mrs. William Butscher
Leroy Christman
Mrs. John W. Dobson
Robert H. Donaboe
Paul M. Eberhart
Mr. and Mrs. Rand R. Eisberg
Harold Evans
Floyd M. France
Ralph C. Franklin
Adolf I. Frantz
James A. Gathings
Costis J. Generalis
Dr. and Mrs. Vernal R. Hardy
Mrs. Robert E. Harvey
Russell A. Headley
Ridgway Kennedy, Jr.

Carl H. Kindig
Mrs. Kenneth F. Klosterman
Abraham Honickman
Mrs. Harvey P. Huber
Mrs. John Larson
Mrs. Warren R. Lewis
Robert L. Lyons
Mildred A. Martin
Russel N. Mathias
Mr. and Mrs. Abraham A. Minton
Wallace Orr
George E. Reish
Joseph Reiss
C. J. Robinson
Mrs. James O. Rodgers, Jr.
P. Burwell Rogers
Walter H. Sauvain
Walter J. Schindler
Hugh D. Sims
Anthony J. Sirianni
E. A. Snyder
Charles K. Thurston
W. Preston Warren
Edward T. Wells
Bennett R. Willeford, Jr.
Mrs. Richard A. Ziemer
James F. Zimmerman

ALUMNI TRUSTEE CANDIDATES

(Continued from Page 12)

JOHN S. FETTER

Radiology; Inter-American College of Radiology; American Roentgen Ray Society; Radiological Society of North America; Huntingdon Valley Country Club; Seaview Country Club; The Franklin Institute, Philadelphia; Jenkintown Methodist Church.

Bucknell Interests: Member, Bucknell Alumni Club of Philadelphia, Bison Club, and Doctors for Bucknell; Annual contributor to Alumni Annual-Giving Fund; Group chairman for one division of Bucknellians making recent personal contact canvass for funds for Bucknell.

Personal Record: Born, March 26, 1911; married Hazel V. Greenly; children: Joan Marlene, '62, born February, 1941; Carla Sue, born May, 1947; Sally Ann, born October, 1949.

MORRIS D. HOOVEN

laer Polytechnic Institute, Engineering Advisory Committee of Newark College of Engineering, Engineers' Joint Council, Engineers' Council for Professional Development, and committees in the listed organizations.

Organizations: Past President, Montclair Society of Engineers, American Institute of Electrical Engineers, Engineers' Council for Professional Development; senior member, Institute of Radio Engineers; member, American Society of Mechanical Engineers, National Society of Professional Engineers, American Society for Engineering Education.

Military Record: PFC, U. S. Army Signal Corps, World War I.

Bucknell Interests: Member, University's Engineering Advisory Committee, tee, Board of Directors of the Bucknell Engineering Alumni Association, Bison Club, and the Advisory Committee of the Dual Development Fund; chairman, North Jersey Dual Development Fund Drive.

Personal Record: Born, May 30, 1897, Weatherly; married Florence Bleecker, Oct. 1927 (deceased); children, Barbara Bleecker Fullmer '50 (married J. C. Fullmer '51); Daniel Bleecker '60; Elizabeth Bleecker, Cornell '60.

WILLIAM S. LIMING

University of Tennessee Seminar on Industrial Editing, Public Relations Society of America, South Atlantic Council of Industrial Editors, Buffalo-Niagara Frontier Industrial Editors Associations, Delaware Valley Industrial Editors Association, International Council of Industrial Editors, Life Insurance Advertisers' Association, American Association of Industrial Editors, American Association for the United Nations, 1950 to date. Judged American National Red Cross annual Editorial Contest, Community Councils of Buffalo annual promotion and publicity competition, Sales Promotion Competition of International Council of Industrial Editors, and Gold Quill Award, 1956 to date.

Organizations: President, American Association of Industrial Editors, 1956, and member of Board of Directors, 1954 to date; House Magazine Institute, New York City; President, Professional Industrial Communications Association, 1957-59; Industrial Editors Advisory Committee of the U. S. Treasury Department's Savings Bonds Division, 1957 to date. Community activities including: Boy Scouts, School Citizens Committee and the Baptist Church-in-the-Garden, Garden City, N. Y.

Military Record: Lieutenant (j. g.), U. S. Navy, Standards and Curriculum Section of the Training Division, Bureau of Naval Personnel, Washington, D. C., 1942-46.

Bucknell Interests: Member, Bison Club and the Bucknell Alumni Club of Long Island; President, Bucknell Alumni Club of Long Island for three terms and presently on Executive Committee; Chairman, Alumni Fund Personal Solicitation Project (Long Island—1955); organized Long Island High School Contact Committee; organized the Freshman Reception Program first sponsored in the Long Island Club 12 years ago; organized the annual Long Island Sports Award (Christy Mathewson Award); served two terms as president of The General Alumni Association and several terms as a member of the Board of Directors of the Association (Chairman of numerous alumni committees); represented Admissions Office at high school "College Information" programs; helped develop and design the current Alumni Officers Handbook; edited and prepared the Class of 1933's Twentieth Reunion L'Agenda; Chairman, Special Gifts program of Dual Development Fund, Long Island 1959-60; General Chairman, Dual Development Fund for Nassau and Suffolk Counties of Long Island 1959-60; awarded alumni chair for Outstanding Service. Unselfish Interest and Demonstrated Loyalty to the University and The General Alumni Association, 1960.

Personal Record: Born, August 23, 1910, Toms River, N. J.; Married Ruth Elizabeth Rohr '34, June 26, 1936; children: Ruth Gail, born in 1943 and admitted to Bucknell Class of 1965. Robert Geoffrey, born September 11, 1946.

More People Have More Thoughts

The Approach of Graduation Is Both An Exciting and a Sobering Prospect.

FOUR years of college are almost over. It is time for all of us who are seniors to begin thinking about what will come after graduation. Graduate school applications and acceptances or rejections are going out and coming in through the mail every day, job interviews are being arranged through the placement bureau, wedding plans are being discussed in every dormitory on campus; and every decision made is profoundly affected by the four years of college experience which has prepared the way for it.

Let us look at some of the effects of a college education on a senior and its meaning for him as he plans for his future after June. There is no question about the need for an excellent undergraduate record to be accepted for graduate work in any university or graduate studies center. Many of us have discovered that the same tremendous increase in the number of applications which began to hit the undergraduate schools three or four years ago is now beginning to swamp graduate institutions, and the competition becomes keener every year. Unofficially, a rather substantial number of Bucknell seniors will continue their studies full time next year at a college or university: an even greater number will attend evening and summer sessions while holding a full time job. Wherever these students enroll, they represent Bucknell University and Bucknell represents them.

Probably the large majority of students upon graduation will begin working in any number of different positions. The decision about jobs is a difficult one to make and is the subject for endless discussions. Though it is important to everyone, the men are particularly concerned since, in most cases, it will affect the pattern of their lives for a long time. How can one be sure that the contract he signs or the position he accepts will bring him the happiness, contentment and fulfillment he is looking for? How can one be sure that what he is looking for is ultimately right or meaningful for him? Advice is sought and welcomed, but finally the decision is his own. We hope we are prepared to make it intelligently.

Many of the members of the Class of 1961 will be married shortly after graduation. This has little effect on the practical use to which a college education is put by a young man, but in the case of the woman, a great cry is often raised about the waste of a four-year education, not to mention the money involved, on a woman who marries just after graduation and begins to raise a family. She may never have the opportunity to put her education to practical use. However, this woman is prepared to step into an interesting and relatively lucrative position if it becomes necessary for her to supplement her husband's income when children are of college age, or if her husband should die and she must support and educate several children.

But important as the concept of a college education is as a preparation or training for a more interesting job, perhaps even more important is the development of the mind during these four years of intensive study. It is possible to cultivate a reasoning power which will free the mind from petty prejudices and biases, and provide a basis for rational thought. Why is this particularly desirable? Because then a man is able to question existing values and social distinctions of which he will shortly become a part, and see himself as he really is. He can then, if he is strong enough, put aside this superficial value scale and find a more meaningful answer to the question, who am I?

Archibald MacLeish gives a picture of the America we are about to face:

"Senora it is true the Greeks are dead:

"It is true also that we here are Americans:

That we use the machines: that a sight of the god is unusual:

That more people have more thoughts: that there are

"Profress and science and tractors and revolutions and Marx and the wars more antiseptic and murderous And music in every home . . ."

In such a country as this we must examine ourselves and our lives in a search for meaning which has been lost in the confusion of a mechanized America. As we leave the University and take our American places, it is up to us to begin this search and this questioning.

EDITOR'S NOTE: We, the editors, want to take this opportunity to thank Bobbie for the excellent job she has done for us during the past three years. Bobbie, who graduated in February, has presented to Alumni her views as a student on many subjects. We wish her every good wish in the future and look forward to her support as she joins the ranks of Alumni.

* from "Invocation to the Social Muse" by A. MacLeish

CLASS REPORTS

EMERITUS CLUB

MISS MARY COTTON
Eldred, Pa.

Reune in June, 1961

FRANK W. STANTON '02 died November 20, 1960, at the age of 82. While attending the University he played basketball, baseball and football. He was captain of the football team in 1901 and 1902 and was catcher for the famous CHRISTY MATHEWSON '02. After leaving Bucknell he was athletic director at Denison University for four years and later attended Western Reserve University where he received his law degree in 1908. He settled in Cleveland, Ohio, where he practiced law. His family residence was in Chagrin Falls, Ohio, where he served as mayor for four years and also served as president of the Cuyahoga County Board of Health. He was a charter member of the Chagrin Valley Little Theater and appeared in many productions, playing the leading role in the "Old Soak" and "Life With Father." For 25 years he taught a class of teenage boys in the Federated Church of Chagrin Falls. His wife died in 1934. He leaves four sons: William, Thomas, JAMES '51 and John; one sister, Mrs. MARY STANTON Speicher '07 of 1200 Center Ave., Reading, and seven grandchildren. He always attended Bucknell's Homecomings and he and his son, JAMES, were preparing to attend the game last fall when he was taken ill.

Thanks is due Mrs. Dorothy W. Fravies, the daughter of Mrs. ALBERT H. WYNKOOP '94 (LOIS W. LYMAN '90) of Havertown, who writes that an error was made in THE BUCKNELL ALUMNUS of November, 1960, in naming Mrs. WYNKOOP as the oldest living alumna of Bucknell University. Mrs. WYNKOOP regrets that she cannot claim that honor. She says that she did not attend the University but only the Institute from which she graduated in 1890. It was Mr. WYNKOOP who was in the Class of 1894. We extend our sympathy to Mrs. WYNKOOP who is bedridden from a stroke suffered two years ago. However, she follows with keen interest the items in each issue of THE ALUMNUS for the names of those whom she used to know. This emphasizes why the reporter begs you to send more news that may be passed on to the many looking for a word from friends of past days.

03 MRS. HARRY C. HERPEL
(Elvie Coleman)
1250 Park Ave.
McKeesport, Pa.

EMILY R. EBLING (5225 Schuyler St., Philadelphia 44) spent 11 weeks this summer at New Harbor, Maine. She will be in Alabama for three months after the holidays. She reports enjoying theater, concerts, bridge, auto trips and life generally. Her special report was that JANE FOWLER Bullis is well again, which is good news.

05 DR. JOHN C. SANDERS
R. R. 6
Chambersburg, Pa.

Our 55th reunion in June, sparked by our president EDITH KELLY Fetherston and JOHN B. SMILEY and attended by 20 members and relatives, was a memorable occasion. When the 60th comes up we trust that as many as possible may be there!

LAVERDA BURGART (Mrs. L. Walter Davis) passed away at her Altoona home this past winter. "Vi" was graduated summa cum laude and in 1906 received an M.A. degree. She also took special courses in extension work at the University of Pittsburgh and Penn State. She had been a school teacher, secretary of Y. W. C. A., draftrix for the Pennsylvania Railroad and a housewife. Laverda lived an active and energetic life, giving her services to church organizations, League of Women Voters, A. A. U. W., International Sunshine Society, U. S. Bond drives and the Pennsylvania Railroad Garden Club. Our class has lost an outstanding member and our sympathy is extended to her family and friends.

06 MR. WILLIAM L. DONEHOWER
22 N. 5th St.
Lewisburg, Pa.

J. THEODORE PARK has retired as visiting professor of mathematics at Florida Southern College in Lakeland, Fla., and has moved to 450 Norwood St., Merritt Island, Fla. Since retirement he has been able to devote more time to research work in the field of the mathematics of time. Since moving to Merritt Island, he has been invited to meet a number of the scientists working at Cape Canaveral and has seen quite a number of the rockets launched there. He also refers to this section of Florida as the "trout capitol of the world," and makes us all want to fish in the St. Johns River, the Indian River or the Banana River. Better get the bait ready, J. Theodore, we'll be right over.

07 DR. LEO L. ROCKWELL
602 Charles St.
Lakeland, Fla.

Good news from Sally HINMAN about BILL. He is home and recovering well. He now drives the car and is able to do light work about the house (Bill, does that include washing the dishes? Consult FRED ZUG.)

CHARLEY POTTER is also making good progress. Evidence is the poetry on his Christmas card:

My leg is broke
So is my poke
But I CAN JOKE
That I didn't croak
And go up in smoke!!

A nice note from GEORGE RIGGS, still going strong in his mid-eighties. Watssa mattah you othah guys; ain't you learned to write yet? ZUG, can't you stir up those Pittsburgh guys, HOECHST, AUGUST, BENN et al, and the suburbanites, PERCE ANDREWS, CHAUNCEY BROCKWAY, and the rest of that rambunctious Western Pennsylvania gang.

The St. Petersburg alumni have done a very foolish thing in asking me to speak to them at their Founders Day meeting. Any of you got any good stories of the old days? I'm getting up a collection of questions for an examination on Bucknell history. Norman Stewart has made some fine additions to my own repertoire. I shall ask who put BILLY OWEN's '80 cow in the chapel—who really wrote THE WOODPECKER ("It knocks, but saves the tree")—who asked where a setting hen put her legs—what professor could throw a stone from his backporch and hit three pigpens? What did MARY STANTON and other Semites paint on the George Street bridge? Gimme more!

09 MRS. HOWARD L. HEADLAND
(Sarah E. Walters)
3911-1st Ave., N.
St. Petersburg 13, Fla.

Most interesting and welcome news this time. Thank you both.

On a Christmas card from Manila in the Philippines MABEL SLOUT Weeter writes more about her round-the-world trip: "This time my greetings come to you from a far away place I never expected to see when I last saw you. A friend and I are waiting here for a freighter that will stop in Saigon, Djakarta, Singapore and numerous other ports before we disembark in Colombo, Ceylon. After a few days there we will do what we can to see India before I have to fly home for Christmas with my family. Before we arrived in the Philippines, we spent ten days in Hawaii, five weeks in Japan and a week in Hong Kong. There isn't time or space to tell you how much we have learned! I hope you have a wonderful Holiday Season."

The San Giorgio—November 30, 1960

Old Athletes Never Die:

They just lie and lie and lie.

Free and easy translation from the Olympic Observer for November 20:

"Yesterday an old gentleman crawled through the barbed wire barrier enclosing the excavation area of the Olympic Stadium and found the ancient straightaway marble starting and finishing lines of the Stadia where the 192.27 meter races begun in 776 B. C. were run. He took off his coat, rolled up his sleeves, got set in lane 2 of the 20 lane course and ran it in something flat. (Orsippis in the 16th Olympiad had even discarded his loin girdle when he ran it and thus introduced the custom for all contestants to participate in the nude.)

"On being interviewed he said his name was MALCOLM SCOTT HALLMAN from Spearfish, S. D., and that he was an apiarist. Asked why he risked a heart failure at 77, he said he was celebrating in memory of his old track days of over half a century ago in Bucknell University. He added that he had visited and studied over fifty other archaeological sites around the world to prepare himself to become a teacher in that subject."

From the January 1961 issue of Al Malaikah Digest, a monthly publication of Malaikah Temple, A. A. O. N. M. S., we learn of new honors accorded our classmate, ALLAN G. RITTER. Having served as potentate of the Al Malaikah Shrine Temple in 1936, he is now serving as trustee. He has also been a director of the Los Angeles Unit of Shriner Hospital for Crippled Children since its inception in 1947 and is a past president of its Board of Governors.

Listed in Who's Who for the past six years, Allan is past national president of Kappa Sigma fraternity and a member of Phi Delta Pi legal fraternity and many professional organizations.

He and his wife, Ila, live at 328 21st St., Santa Monica, Calif.

During the past two years your scribe has also been traveling—back and forth to the hospital that is. Husband, Howard, had a cataract removed on January 4 and the other one on January 11. He came home, so happy to say, January 17 and is now recuperating. And so, in 1961 we feel most thankful to God for all His blessings to us this far.

Have faith

There shall be wings!

If the accomplishment be not for us,

'tis for some other.

Statement by Leonardo da Vinci in 1505.

Chelton W. Smith '21

Chelton W. Smith '21, superintendent of Pennsylvania Electric Company's Shawville Station since 1956, has done a most commendable job in expanding and operating the station. Built over a period of nine years at a cost of $90,000,000.00, Shawville Generating Station is the largest power producer in Pennsylvania.

Mr. Smith joined the Pennsylvania Electric Company in 1924 as an efficiency engineer and worked in the Williamsburg, Saxton and Warren generating stations before being named superintendent of the Shawville Station. He had previously been assistant superintendent of power for the Potomac Edison Co. in Hagerstown, Md.

Mr. and Mrs. Smith are parents of two children: Chelton W. Smith, Jr. '50 and Mrs. Peter A. Portante (Jacquelyn Smith '53). The Smith address is 17 N. W. 3rd Ave., Clearfield.

10

MISS MILDRED B. CATHERS
100 W. 33rd St., Apt. 6
Bayonne, N. J.

With deep regret we record the sudden death of CAMERON A. BUTT on January 16, 1961, at his home, 1068 Mount Vernon Road, Union, N. J. A graduate of Bucknell's engineering course, he held various construction engineering positions in the Canal Zone, Guatemala, and British Honduras until World War I when he served with the U. S. Army 1917-1919. In 1922 he joined the executive staff of Standard Oil Company at its Bayway, N. J., plant from which he retired as chief estimator in 1954. Dissatisfied with retirement he took a position in an investment broker's office with which he was connected at the time of his death. He belonged to the F. and A. Masons, American Legion, Bayway Esso Executives' and Foremen's Club, and Esso Annuitants' Club. "Cy" was a loyal Bucknellian and we are glad he could enjoy with us our 50th reunion last June. He had recently been given honorary membership in the Northern New Jersey Alumni Club. He is survived by his wife, EDNA FOLLMER BUTT '22; a son, G. Bruce Butt, a Virginia Polytechnic Institute graduate, a construction engineer of Cincinnati, Ohio; and a brother, BRUCE E. BUTT '16 and to them we extended the sincere sympathy of his classmates.

From the Pittsburgh Press of December 4 comes the following item: A collection of historical materials of the late Joseph W. Yoder, author, lecturer, and singer, has been transferred to the Juniata College library by his widow, EMILY LANE Yoder. Mr. Yoder, a popular visitor among high schools for 20 years, collected a rich background in Amish material.

11

LYMAN C. SHREVE, ESQ.
512 Masonic Building
Erie, Pa.

Reune in June, 1961

We will hold our Fiftieth Reunion on June 2, 3 and 4, 1961. This is an occasion which happens only once in a lifetime and I am hoping that I will see all of you there at that time. EARL HINMAN reports that he has heard from most of you and feels that we will have a record attendance.

HERBERT S. LLOYD is still expecting you to answer his questionnaire for the reunion book and if you have not written to him please do it now.

MATILDA GOLDING Starkweather called my attention to an error in the report which was published last fall. Her son, Howard, Jr., is in research chemistry. He has three children. Her daughter, Mary, lives in Illinois and has three children.

12

MRS. H. W. HOUSEKNECHT
(Maze Callahan)
108 W. Penn St.
Muncy, Pa.

RUBY says "I am glad when this time of year comes. We get a line or two from good friends."

Charles Dickens wrote—

"Many Merry Christmases

Many happy New Years

Unbroken friendships

Affection on earth

And Heaven at last for all of us."

I say "I wish that Christmas would be in our hearts every day."

Greetings came this year from HELEN RUTH, RUBY and TIM O'LEARY '14. HELEN and Roy Clarke, VIOLET and Louis Naumann, KATHRYN and GUNDY PAWLING '13, LIB HEINSLING and RED '14. Helen Schmid, Alberta McNeal, EVA and RAY APGAR '14, ALBERTA and PATTY CONNER, OLIVE and MATT HAGGERTY '09, GRACE '09 and LEON CRANDALL, MARGARET Rathmell, MARY and Tom Jenkins, Florence, Muff and ALICE SCOTT, Petrona and FRANK HEAN, Renee and ROY MIKLE '10, Kate and FRED IGLER, Madge and RIP RUTH, Maude and BOB MEYER, Evelyn and PAUL RIEHL, Margaret and LAWRENCE SPROUT, TOM WOOD '37 and family, PERCY KINNAMAN, HELENE D. BOWER '18, the Rodney Browns (FANNIE WOOD '33), BUCK SHOTT '22, BRUCE ROSSITER '56, JEAN LITTLE '28, EDYTHE '25 and RICHARD ESTELOW '22, CARRIE SMITHGALL Ebert '25, CLARABEL '36 and Glenwood Smith, LOUISE '43 and FRED SIEBER '39, Elizabeth and Charles Stone.

MERTON and Mrs. OGDEN went to Florida in November, 1959. They were having such a happy time when Merton suffered a stroke March 22. His left side was paralyzed. After being in the hospital for two weeks the doctor told them that nothing more could be done as his heart was affected. With the help of friends there, Mrs. Ogden and daughter, Mary Jean, brought him by ambulance and plane to Rutland Hospital on April 11. He passed away April 14. Merton went to Panama Canal Zone directly from college. Left Panama to enter World War I with 322nd Engineers. From end of war until 1921 was in South America on hydro-electric projects.

Came back to the States and engaged in road work until 1941, then was sent by federal government to Panama to gun emplacements. In 1942 he volunteered in World War II—was engineer supply officer in Pasco, Wash., and San Francisco, Calif. At end of war he was a Lt. Colonel. From then until retirement in 1956 he was with Vermont State Highway Dept. as road and bridge engineer. He was a registered professional engineer, State of Vermont. Merton belonged to all Yorke Rite and Scottish Rite Masonry; Kappa Delta Phi; and Sigma Chi. He is survived by his wife, Helene Zorn, a Wells College graduate, and one daughter, Mary Jean. A son, Merton, Jr., died July 2, 1947.

VIC SCHMID passed away August 9 at his home in Philadelphia. He suffered his first heart attack February, 1958. He was in and out of the hospital the first year. Because of this condition he was forced to retire from Baltimore City College. Being inactive, not able to see his friends, he had lost his zest for living as a shut-in. After graduation he spent one year at DuBois, four years at Johnstown, two years at New York Military Academy, four years at Tome School, Port Deposit, Md., then thirty-four years at Baltimore City College. Vic was a Delta Sigma Nu, Phi Kappa Psi, life member Johnstown Lodge F. and A. M., charter member Football Hall of Fame Foundation; Gold Life Pass Intercollegiate Athletic Association for College Football Officiating—first one issued to a Bucknell graduate. He was a 1st Lt. R. O. T. C. at New York Military Academy. He was a member of Philadelphia B. U. Alumni Club. He is survived by his wife, Helen, a Temple University Medical School graduate, three daughters and four grandchildren.

Then last Monday, January 16, a letter came from my children at Camp Hill, clipping enclosed announcing the death of FRANK WILLIAMS '17, PEARL REAM's husband. Frank passed away after an illness of several months Saturday, January 14. Funeral services were held in Harrisburg, Wednesday January 18, with burial in the Lewisburg cemetery. This was a great shock. Frank was a part of our class. He was always with us for reunions and always on hand for the Alumni Luncheon in June. We are going to miss him. Sincerest sympathy is extended to these loved ones from the 1912 family.

"And so He came and taught us how to live to hope, to share, to give." H. B. S.

13

REV. GEORGE F. HAINES
324 Market St.
Lewisburg, Pa.

Wilbur L. Leonard of 14 Caryl Ave., Yonkers, N. Y., died October 6, 1960, in the Ell Co. Hospital at Ridgway. He was the beloved husband of HELEN BARTOL Leonard, daughter of the late Dr. WILLIAM C. BARTOL '72 and Belle Africa Bartol. Wilbur was a son of the late Annie L. Leonard and William J. Leonard, a brother of Mrs. Lester F. Burke of Pittsburgh and Harold Leonard of Pittsburgh and Pompano Beach, Fla. He was a Lt. in the 6th Division of World War I, a member of the Masonic Order Buffalo Shrine and was employed for many years in the New York office as a salesman for the Michle Printing and Manufacturing Co. of Chicago. We extend to our classmate Helen our deep and sincere sympathy.

October 22, 1960, was designated as "BOB ROOKE day" at the SAE fraternity when the new wing of their fraternity house was dedicated.

Mr. and Mrs. LESLIE (HEAVY) STOUT left their home in Delaware last November to spend the winter at St. Petersburg, Fla.

The McKEAGUES enjoyed a 43-day cruise last summer which took them to Ireland, Norway, Sweden, Finland, Russia, Germany and other European countries.

We regret to report the death of another member of our class, GEORGE T. PIERSOL died last June at his home in Los Angeles, Calif., where he was living in retirement. A letter from Mrs. Piersol informs us that in 1915 George went to Anaconda, Mont., to work for the Anaconda Copper and Mining company as a civil engineer. In 1918 he enlisted into the Army and served as a lieutenant in the chemical warfare service.

We extend hearty congratulations to our classmate, BERKELEY V. HASTINGS, University trustee, who was presented the 1961 MCA service award at the 83rd annual dinner of the YMCA at Milton last January. Berkeley is in the insurance and real estate business.

MARWOOD GLOVER informs us he had an interesting letter from HELEN DAVIS who lives at 489 22nd Ave., North in St. Petersburg, Fla. Helen claims that keeping young is not difficult in Florida and that she can dance the tumba, tango and cha-cha with ease.

Your reporter served the First Baptist church in Lewisburg as interim minister from September to January 1. At Christmas time he was presented with a beautiful silver pitcher with his name and date of service inscribed upon it in recognition of his service to the church. He hopes his classmates had a glad and sober Christmas and that they will have a Happy New Year. He hopes too they will send him some news.

4 MRS. H. B. WEAVER
(Dora Hamler)
348 Ridge Ave.
New Kensington, Pa.

Christmas greetings were received from VA '12 and RAYMOND APGAR and RUTH and JACK RICE sent a "Merry Christmas" from their Lewisburg home. HARRY FAHLER's new address is 507½ Water St., Northumberland. S. H. MARKOWITZ hopes to be with us in '64. He is still with Beth David Reform Congregation, Philadelphia. Rev. JOHN LUKE GEHMAN has had a busy year supplying pulpits in the neighborhood of his home town, Parsons, Kans. HELEN FOUT, 1006 W. 4th St., Williamsport, received a fifty-one year medal from the State Sunday School Association, for service as a Sunday School teacher of adults. FLORENCE EIMENSNYDER sent a card from her home 124 Mahoning St., Milton, and FRANCES McNALL writes from 912 Elm Ave., Takoma Park 12, Md., where she resides with sister, MARJORIE '16. "If you keep as busy as we you will be sure to have 365 days of satisfaction."

We regret to announce the death of LEWIS LYNE, JR., which occurred November 25, following surgery earlier in the summer. Lewis attended all of our reunions and, as one of the members of our class has said, "It will just not be the same without him."

Word has been received of the death of THEL E. PETERSON on July 14. Ethel attended Bucknell with the Class of '15. Many of us remember her and are sincerely grieved to learn of her death.

6 MRS. GEORGE S. STEVENSON
(Amy L. Patterson)
940 W. Front St.
Red Bank, N. J.

Reune in June, 1961

An interesting and newsy note reached the alumni office from Dr. and Mrs. ERIC A. ESTERLE who now live at 216 18th Ave., S. E., St. Petersburg 4, Fla. Eric regrets the absence of news of the Class of 1916 in the last two issues of THE BUCKNELL ALUMNUS, especially in view of the activity that would be in progress in preparation for the 45th reunion on the campus on June 2-3, '61. He tells of having met among others during the holidays in St. Petersburg, Fla.: LOU EATON '20, WINIFRED '15 and WADE EARLE '15, LESLIE STOUT '13 and his wife, GILBERT H. LYTE '09, VERA '11 and LEO ROCKWELL '07, GEORGE BAILETS '09, the Headlands (SARAH WALTERS '09), CHICK FLORIN '09, Mrs. RUTH STEPHENS PORTER '05, and Dr. JOHN I. WOODRUFF '90. It is very evident that the Bucknell-St. Pete Club is growing by almost weekly additions. Newcomers to St. Petersburg should contact the president, COLEMAN J. HARRIS '12, 6234 2nd Ave., North, St. Petersburg 10, Fla. In fact, newcomers or travelers in any area should consult the alumni club directory, printed on the inside back cover of the January '61 issue of THE BUCKNELL ALUMNUS and contact the president when locating in any of the 68 alumni club areas.

17 MRS. ERLE M. TOPHAM
(C. Ray Speare)
425 W. Sedgwick St.
Philadelphia 19, Pa.

I have received cards (Christmas) from more than 40 Bucknellians from classes '12 to '60. Few of them are from 1917 and I hesitate to sort of steal news for '17 column from other classes—yet I don't feel like missing a column because the '17ers haven't sent me news, so here goes.

JEANNETTE OWENS Fogarty is well and still living in Winter Park, Fla.

BRICK and Ysabel YON are closing their hotel till March and will take a well earned vacation. They became grandparents again with the arrival recently of Kathleen Smail in Linwood, N. J.

MIRIAM BRIDGE Rudin '19 may move to Philadelphia this year as her son-in-law and daughter have been transferred to the Jenkintown area. We'd like that!

LOUIS PARK '16 is retired and living in Milton, R. D. 1.

FAY SCHOCH Ford's '18 husband expects to retire March 1 and they will move to Florida, near Ft. Myers.

BEULAH HUMMEL Fero '14 expects to be a grandmother for the first time in February. We're thrilled. TIP '15 and I attended her son's wedding in Hartsville a year ago last summer.

A letter from RAY SEAMAN Reiner '22 states that she is back home after a fine visit, first to daughter "K" (CAROLYN '53) who just had a new son and then back to New Jersey to daughter, Peggy, for a family reunion in Maplewood, N. J.

GENEVIEVE SHUTTERLY Wierman '18 whose husband teaches in Pennsylvania State University, has just had a new grandson.

RUTH '16 and ALBERT HAMLIN '15 had a nice trip to Rio this year. Ruth was ill after she returned but says she is coming along OK now. Thank goodness Ruth!

MARY JOE WOLFE Stillwagon '14 has been having a little trouble with her health and we've missed seeing her at Homecoming and Commencement as we always used to do. She says she feels good now and expected to go to Lewisburg for Christmas to see the family. Trust she'll be able to come to Commencement and Homecoming this year. Good luck Mary Joe.

Our Philadelphia B. U. club executive committee met recently at President BOB TAYLOR's '48 home to lay plans for our program this year. All Philadelphia alumni reading this be sure to plan to come to our dinner-dance—it's new. We have always had a dinner party in February and a dance in May. We've been hit by bad weather many times in February so decided to have one bangup event this year instead of those two. It should be fun and will be held April 8. We are hoping to have a summer picnic too.

Have a happy healthy 1961.

18 MRS. LAYTON E. KING
(Elizabeth Champion)
10 N. Loyalsock Ave.
Montoursville, Pa.

We wish to extend deepest sympathy to BRUCE O. RANCK on the death of his wife, the former Esther D. Wentz, on October 31, 1960, in Salem Memorial Hospital, Salem, N. J. Bruce and Mrs. Ranck had been on the campus only a few weeks before to attend a football game.

Like all other Bucknellians the news of the fire in the library was received with dismay. It could have been worse.

A Bucknellian who began her college career with the Class of 1918, LOUISE BASSELL Belcher, reported via her Christmas card, that they had moved into a new home this past summer. Her new address is 425 Lindon Ave., Westfield, N. J. Louise accelerated her college work and graduated with 1917.

Christmas cards brought news of HAZEL GAY Bailey. She noted the deaths of her brother Clarence (a professor at Cornell University) and her husband's mother.

Other cards came from DAGMAR JAMES MacFarlane in San Francisco, Calif., and EVELYN MCGANN LEABER in New York. Evelyn and Chet were planning a real old fashioned Christmas for daughter Pat and husband and two grandchildren, there from Mexico City, Mexico, and the weatherman even co-operated with snow.

DOROTHY VILLINGER DIMLICH '20, known to many of the Class of 1918, of Shaker Heights, Ohio, spent the holidays in the sunny South.

DOROTHY McCLINTIC Johnson writes that she and her husband are enjoying their life in Fort Lauderdale, Fla.

Williamsport Branch of AAUW celebrated their 50 years of existence, first as a college club and then as a branch of AAUW by entertaining the national president of that organization, Dr. Anna L. Rose Hawkes. Dr. Hawkes is a most interesting speaker and the evening was an enjoyable one.

20 MR. PAUL V. STOLZ
Hargrave Military Academy
Chatham, Va.

Congratulations to WILLARD L. LEWIS of 101 Watt St., Connelville, who has been given national recognition by Freedom's Foundation at Valley Forge for "exceptional service in furthering good citizenship, patriotism and appreciation of the American Way of Life." His record of hard work with the Boy Scouts, fraternal, church, school and civic groups attest to his being worthy of this honor. He is married to the former Edith J. Gniska and has two children, Willard, Jr., and Barbara.

WILLIAM J. ROLFE has been appointed borough manager of Clarks Summit. From 1939 to 1956 he was principal safety adviser, right-of-way engineer and traffic manager with the Pennsylvania Department of Highways. Since 1956 he has been employed as a draftsman for Bellante & Clauss, architectural firm of Scranton. Bill's home is at 510 Colburn Ave., Clarks Summit.

21 MRS. ELLWOOD S. DERR
(Sara Bernhart)
1360 Jefferson Ave.
Lewisburg, Pa.

Reune in June, 1961

The new address for EDNA MARTIN Cole (Mrs. George H.) is 989 James St., Apt. 5J, Syracuse 3, N. Y.

Dr. LESTER K. ADE left Williamsport on January 5 for a 48-stop tour round-the-world. He will begin his trip home from Paris on March 31. This is his third tour around the world. He is planning a trip to Greenland this summer.

Gen. Harry W. Johnson '22

Major General Harry W. Johnson '22 retired from the U. S. Army at Fort Monroe, Va., on January 31, 1961, ending a military career that began more than thirty-four years ago.

A graduate of both Bucknell University and the United States Military Academy, General Johnson has held many top level command and staff positions. At special ceremonies in his honor General Johnson was presented the Distinguished Service Medal by General Herbert B. Powell, USCONARC commander. A special citation lauded General Johnson for "exceptionally meritorious service in positions of great responsibility" and reviewed the many posts he had held prior to his last position as chief of staff for combat developments at U. S. Continental Army Command.

General Johnson is the brother of Cyrus '22, James '26, Mary '28 (Mrs. Cameron Bieber), and George '31. He is a nephew of John C. Johnson '04 and LeRoy Johnson '11.

General and Mrs. Johnson (nee Pauline McGreevy) have four children: Mrs. C. G. Collins, Mrs. J. T. Dixon, 1st Lt. Harry W. Johnson, Jr., and Miss Nancy Johnson. The Johnson address is 37 Fenwick Road, Fort Monroe, Va.

22

MRS. GEORGE C. WOLFE
(Ruth H. Brown)
60 S. 2nd St.
Lewisburg, Pa.

The Rev. Dr. FINLEY KEECH retired from the ministry at the First Baptist Church in Fall River, Mass., on November 13 after 35 years in the ministry. He served the Fall River Church for 18 years having previously served in Newark and Rahway, N. J., and Harrisburg. A testimonial to the Rev. Dr. Kech was held in Fall River on November 20 attended by some 500 church members, church and civic dignitaries and friends. The Keeches hope to stay in the Fall River area, but visited Florida Buck. Plans in February. In a recent letter to Buck 31-41, he said, "You won't lose touch with me for I will keep you informed what the procedures are. Let me see, our 40th comes up in '62, doesn't it? Well, we are counting on being there if nothing breaks in the meantime." Anent our 40th. Finley, of course was reminded of the story of the teacher who asked the boy what was a fortification. Puzzled, and evidently not knowing, the kid made a stab at it with the following logical deduction: "A fortification is two twentifications!!!!"

BILL IRVIN has moved to 865 Lower Ferry Road, Trenton 8, N. J.

Dr. ALEX A. ALLEN is all mixed up—sending South Carolina postcards from Clearwater, Fla. What's up, Doc?

KARL KRUG is fed up with winter! (Who isn't?) He bought a new car and the Philadelphia snow plows immediately built an ice wall around it.

23

MRS. LEROY FRONTZ
(Olive Billhime)
Evergreen Farm
Allenwood, Pa.

Lacking news from the outside, your reporter will give a run-down of her own predominantly military (and Bucknell) family:

Lt. (j.g.) LEROY, JR., formerly with Squadron UW-13 flying out of Argentina, Newfoundland, is now a second year student at Bucknell. He maintains his contact with the Navy as a "Week-End Warrior" attached to UR-933 at N. A. S., Willow Grove, where he is flying co-pilot on R-5D type aircraft.

1st Lt. EDWARD B. '58 is operations officer with the 507th Army Ordnance stationed at Hanau, Germany.

Ensign Richard F. graduated from Pensacola last October and is a helicopter pilot serving aboard the U. S. S. Forrestal in the Mediterranean.

24

MRS. HARRY W. JONES
(Elizabeth Moore)
326 South Oak St.
Mt. Carmel, Pa.

PAUL R. SWEITZER, after 30 years of teaching, retired to the picturesque Vermont village of Castleton where he has an antique shop in the carriage shed of his old house—which incidentally was built in 1807. Visitors welcome! He finds that life continues to be exciting and full of varied interests since retiring as assistant professor from Castleton Teachers College.

Mrs. E. Faulconer Hale (ETHEL M. DAVIS) retired from her position as head of the English Department of Hackettstown High School, Hackettstown, N. J., on March 31, 1960, a position she has held for thirty-one years. She and her husband were in Europe during the summer.

A recent letter received in the alumni office from LOUISE BENSCHOFF Cupp informs us that she and Paul had a month's vacation in England, Scotland and Wales. She says, "We flew to London by jet, rented a car and toured the country—returned on the Queen Elizabeth. The weather couldn't have been better and the flowers were at their peak! . . . A highlight in November was the celebration of Mother and Daddy's 70th wedding anniversary. Dad, at 93, and Mother, at 91, still remember their trips to Bucknell and enjoy many greetings from Bucknell friends who still remember them . . . We have 8 fine grandchildren (all out of town) and with a wife, 3 daughters, 7 granddaughters and 1 grandson, Paul surely has a harem!"

Additional news from Louise concerns GENEVA GERLACH Moore of Park Drive Manor, 520-B, Philadelphia 44, who has received an honor of which we can be proud. She always has been a hard and determined worker so that she well deserves this latest honor. She entered a Vicks-CARE Contest by completing a statement on: "Why Americans should care about their neighbors abroad." A winner was chosen in each state and Geneva won in Pennsylvania! The prize is a trip for two to Europe and she has chosen her brother Attorney WILLIAM H. GERLACH '28, to go with her. All winners will act as good will ambassadors from America to CARE center and will be entertained at dinners and luncheons given by officials of various towns they will visit. They will fly by chartered plane March 6 to Rome; 9th to Athens; 12th to Istanbul; 14th to Paris and 18th home. Geneva plans to stay abroad and tour England and Switzerland. Recalling how very hard she has worked to make our past reunion successes, I am sure that we all wish her the finest of trips!

25

MRS. WILLIAM E. THOMPSON, JR.
(Mary E. Seidel)
Box Tree Farm
Whiteford, Md.

Do you have a young adult or two in your home for whom you are planning additional educational training? If so, better contact Dr. ANDREW HENDRICKSON, head of Ohio State University's Center for Adult Education. Andy, an authority on adult education, figured that young adults, the minute they quit the classroom routine of their youth plummet from a lot of learning to little or none. To learn the facts, he surveyed 30 young adults and came up with some most interesting results.

MARTHA J. JONES of 24 Swallow St. Pittston, is another interested active person. She's a math teacher in West Pittston High School and is president of the West Pittston Local Branch of P. S. E. A. On October 3 she, along with Miss IDA LUCHSINGER '08 attended the inauguration of the new president of Keystone Junior College.

FLORENCE LAUBSCHER lives at R. F. D. Lock Haven. Florence teaches English and journalism in the Williamsport High School. She is our class reunion book editor.

JOHN E. NAMISNIAK of 20 Dewey St. Nanticoke, looks much the same. He's married and teaches math in the Nanticoke High School.

HULDA BAXTER Pingrey of 117 S. 3rd St., Mechanicville, N. Y., teaches math in the high school and her husband is supervising principal of the elementary schools. They have twin daughters who are attending Plattsburg State College. Hulda hasn't changed either, her nice, quiet self.

HAROLD F. ROLES of 150 Spring St. Reading, is a widower. After his name he wrote "teacher and hermit," so we'll try to get a little more information about him.

ALICE E. ROSSITER retired June of '6 from Norristown High School and lives at 2 Valley Forge Rd., Phoenixville.

RALPH M. STINE of 153 Highland Ave. Kenmore 23, N. Y., works for Western Electric. He and JERRY '26 have one son, Robert G. graduate of Syracuse University who is a life insurance salesman in Fort Lauderdale, Fla.

GERTRUDE GARDNER Snyder of Darville teaches typing in the Danville High School. Some folks don't know that she was married April 4, 1958, to Charles Snyder retired.

WILLIAM G. THOMAS lives at 32 Thompson Ave., Leonardo, N. J., and teaches in Middletown Township High School. His daughter, Shirley, is married and presents him with a grandson just a week before our reunion. His son is presently a junior at W. and J.

ROBERT T. WOODINGS, SR. of 121 Anderson Rd., Pittsburgh 9, is a manufacturer and owner of Robert T. Woodings, Inc. He's married, has a son (ROBERT T., JR., '60) daughter, and two grandchildren.

Dr. R. ROMUALDO SCICCHITANO lives in Ashland and is surgery chief of the State General Hospital. His daughter, ROSE '53 is married to ED McGINNIS, JR. '51. Hi son, LEON '54, has followed in his father's footsteps, was graduated from Jefferson in '58 and is now surgeon resident there.

A TRIBUTE TO CLAIR G. SPANGLER

Back in 1916-17 when I taught the Moore's School at Kelly Cross Roads, Union County, Clair G. Spangler was one of my pupils, finishing country school in the spring of 1917 and going on to high school that fall, the fall I entered Bucknell.

His father, Newton Spangler, was one of the township school directors at that time and an ex-school teacher of twenty-two years experience and during his entire teaching career as a country school teacher was one of the best in the country.

Clair was a very bright boy and ideal pupil in every way and told me that he was seriously thinking of becoming a doctor. I urged him to hold to his ambition and strive for its attainment.

Later on, through THE BUCKNELL ALUMNUS, I followed his career and was much pleased to note that he had succeeded.

Now, when I read of his untimely death, I am not only shocked but sorry that such a useful and worthy friend and helper of Bucknell was claimed by death. I had voted for him as a Bucknell trustee, for I knew he would be a wise and congenial friend loyal to the cause of Bucknell.

This is one more proof that good boys do become good men, as many a teacher can testify. To have been one of his teachers is indeed a real satisfaction to me. These are things in life money cannot buy. Their value means far more to the teacher than any salary.

I pay homage to the memory of Clair, admiring his courage in setting a high and difficult goal and attaining it and then giving his varied talents and services for the welfare of others.

To the noble and worthy life of my loved, honored and respected pupil, I sincerely pay tribute. Over many years my memory of him was a source of inspiration and courage I valued highly. He richly deserves my humble praise and may God bless his noble work and console his family and host of friends.

Very sincerely,

ROY W. SAUERS '21

A TRIBUTE TO MY HONORED PUPIL DR. SPANGLER

No hand can stem the tide nor mark the time That ends and starts and end to start again. Except the hand that surely is sublime and makes the restful ease and hurtful pain for man to pull apart and recombine in worthy patterns mortal and divine. The life of him I hereby justly praise Just so did end to start and live again In memory's span of future's coming days Inspiring man to toil and try to gain the worthy goals that make our lives sublime and raise our souls above the odds of time.

To such a one I humbly tribute pay, For men like him do ease and light our way.

ROY W. SAUERS '21

26 MISS ANNA L. BROWN
45 Wildwood Ave.
Pitman, N. J.

Reune in June, 1961

PENROSE C. WALLACE has retired from full time teaching and is doing some substitute teaching to help fill up his time. He served for many years as teacher and chief school administrator in the York area. His present address is 205 Holly Drive, Camp Hill.

MARCH 1961

Don't forget our reunion June 2, 3 and 4, 1961. GENE CARSTATER spent a week on the campus recently working on our reunion book. Please get your completed questionnaires to him promptly.

27 MRS. L. H. COLLISON
(Grace M. Pfeifer)
Marydel, Md.

Classmates—one and all—how tragic to report no news in the beginning of this eventful New Year. I know all of you are doing many things that the rest of us would like to hear about—even if it is competing with the President in playing golf! Won't you just "swamp" our wee post office with letters so that I can pass the news on to the rest of us? Do it now, please! And a great big thank you!

29 MISS THELMA J. SHOWALTER
425 Market St.
Millinburg, Pa.

PAUL E. FINK and KENNETH D. RHONE were both recently elected to directorships on the Board of Directors of Grit Publishing Company. Both of our classmates have had long years of service with Grit which for almost 80 years has published a weekly family newspaper that is distributed nation-wide. Paul is now circulation manager and Ken, who began as a Grit reporter in 1931, became editor in November 1949. Both have added extensive community service projects to their activities. Ken, as a member of the Chamber of Commerce Highways Committee coined the name "The Keystone Shortway" for the new interstate highway that will connect Sharon and Stroudsburg when completed. Paul has been an active member and officer of the Kiwanis Club of Williamsport. Ken's daughter Sherry Lynn graduated from Bucknell University in 1960. We all remember that they both served Bucknell University even as undergraduates, Paul working in the alumni office and Ken writing Bucknell's sports publicity.

31 MR. EDWARD J. SMALSTIG
1645 Second St.
Beaver, Pa.

Reune in June, 1961

30th reunion coming up June 2-3-4, 1961.

No need to remind all of you who attended the 25th in 1956, I'm sure. You've been looking forward to this one for 5 years, the same as AL and I have. How about all the rest of you who couldn't make it in '56 and therefore cannot realize what you missed? May we count you in this time for sure? We'd all like real well to see you again and renew our acquaintances. How about it? Mark that calendar now! Arrange for a week of your vacation if need be! Close down the shop, the mill or the office if you have to but be on hand to shake the hand of the classmate you haven't seen for 30 years. In the meantime get in touch. Drop us a note now, today.

ED SMALSTIG

1645 Second St., Beaver, Pa.

PAUL SHOWALTER

855 St. Louis St., Lewisburg, Pa.

HORACE MASON

Druid Lane, Saddle River, N. J.

Dr. CHARLES A. GODCHARLES, chairman of the Department of Psychology at Hamilton College in Clinton, N. Y., was the author of the psychology section of an unusual treatment of the subject "Science in the Liberal Curriculum" which appeared in the Hamilton Alumni Review in October, 1960.

CARL and PAT TRUXEL and ED and AL SMALSTIG spent the Homecoming week end together. Saw and talked over reunion plans with PAUL and KITTY '33 SHOWALTER, CHARLES and RUTH SNYDER, JIM SIMP-

SON and wife. Saw and talked with CHARLES and MARIAN FOX, GEORGE JOHNSON and CHARLES MORRIS, whose daughter was Homecoming Queen and quite a doll. There were seventeen of the class registered at the Gym, but I'm sure there were more of the class in town. I know I saw more than 17 of the old classmates.

Holiday greetings produced notes from CARL and PAT TRUXEL, HANK GRAHAM, ELEANOR FARQUHAR Hardgrove, RUTH SLEIGHTER, who has resigned as class reporter, CHARLES and RUTH SNYDER, CHARLES and MARIAN FOX, PAUL and KITTY '33 SHOWALTER, VEE LAMBERT Mattern, HELEN MOWRY Brandriff, JIM SIMPSON and TIP MASON. They are all well, managing to keep busy and assure us that they will be at our 30th reunion.

32 MR. ELLIS F. HULL
11 Broad St.
Allentown, N. J.

Announcement has been made by S. GRAYDON RANCK, president of General Equipment Rentals, Inc., Selinsgrove, of his company's affiliation with National Truck Leasing System, a nation-wide network of independently owned and locally managed companies engaged in business of leasing trucks without drivers under "National Lease" brand name.

By the time this is printed JOHN T. SHERWOOD will have a new assignment as a Secret Service agent. Since 1953 he has been assigned to protect Vice-President Nixon and has served on protective details for former presidents, Franklin D. Roosevelt, Harry S. Truman and Dwight D. Eisenhower (while he was president-elect.)

33 MRS. ERNEST H. ENGELHARDT
(Janet Worthington)
Ironside Place, Millville Rd.
Bloomsburg, Pa.

MARCH DAYS

The daffodils are nodding
Almost rhythmically,
The spring they are announcing
Most estatically.

The ladies hold their hats
To face the windy gales,
Some hold them tight in place
With most enchanting veils.

New permanents are needed,
And bureau drawers a mess.
They haven't had attention
Since Christmas, we confess.

We think it looks like spring
And go without our coats.
Before we really know it,
We've coughs and aching throats.

The curtains don't look fluffy;
The panes we can't see through.
We scan the fashion pages—
Our old clothes just won't do.

There's so much to be done,
Our thoughts are in a riot.
What's first on our agendas?
"A slenderizing diet!"

* Copyright—

JANET WORTHINGTON ENGELHARDT,
1960

BILL LIMING writes that after 12 years in East Williston, L. I., the family moved to Garden City—the new address is 55 Magnolia Ave. Last summer they had a cruise on their newly acquired cabin cruiser from L. I. down the Atlantic coast, through Manasquan Inlet in New Jersey, Barnegat Bay, Toms River, and then back home. His daughter Ruth is in her senior year at Cathedral School of St. Mary and son Robert is in Garden City Junior High.

Dr. Kenneth L. Cober '24

The Reverend Doctor Kenneth L. Cober '24, executive director of the Division of Christian Education, Board of Education and Publication of the American Baptist Convention, was featured as the "American Baptist of the Month" as reported in the November, 1960, issue of The Penn-Baptist. Ken has had an ever-increasing and productive career starting with his first school days at the Opera House in Rio Piedras, Puerto Rico, where his father was general missionary for the American Baptist Home Mission Society. During his college days his father, The Rev. Dr. A. A. Cober, was pastor of the Memorial Church in Williamsport.

Positions of leadership previously held by Ken include the executive secretaryship of the Rhode Island Baptist Convention, director of Christian Education for the New York State Baptist Convention, and pastor of Baptist churches in Buffalo and Canandaigua, N. Y.

Mrs. Cober, the former Clara Price '24, also shares Ken's interests. Each summer she directs the art center at Green Lake, Wis. She is a member of the faculty and of the board of trustees of The Baptist Institute at Bryn Mawr and is currently national chairman of leadership training for the National Council of American Baptist Women.

Kenneth was awarded the honorary Doctor of Divinity degree by Bucknell University in 1950, the year his daughter Ellen L. Cober, now Mrs. John M. Hepfer, was graduated from Bucknell.

The Cobers are active members of the Drexel Hill Baptist Church and now live at 613 Forrest Road, Wayne.

Bill was Long Island chairman of special gifts for Bucknell's Dual Development program.

SAM (Say, is this the way your Alma Mater taught you to write, boy?) STEM was elected first vice-president of the First National Bank of Whippany (?) and director of Mona, Plains Savings and Loan. His daughter Joan is graduating from Monmouth High School, June, 1961, and his other daughter is a freshman in high school. How did I do, Sam? Be a pal, and writ so I kin red. Illegibility is the sign of a true success!

THELMA SWENSON Thomas writes that her son, Wayne, is finishing business college and her daughter, Gail, is a freshman at Bucknell. Her husband is a manufacturer in plaster and metals. Thelma is busy with hospital activities, civic problems, and is looking forward to the reopening of the golfing season. Thelma is a friend I well remember at Hunt Hall.

EDMUND A. SMITH says he is still trying to earn a dollar as vice-president of the Peerless Insurance Co. in Keene, N. J. He just returned from Washington, D. C., where he served as an adviser for the insurance industry at the White House Conference for the aging. His daughter, Lonelee, is in her second year at Cornell and is doing very well, majoring in French, interior decoration and design. His son, Edmund, Jr., a senior in Keene High School, hopes to enter college this fall with work in park management. Golf and politics occupy Edmund's time—he also teaches courses in political action.

JOHN H. STEPHENS, JR., lists the following: Achievements—happiness; Travels—to and from work; Hobbies—living; Vocation—railroad; Community services—farming and paying taxes; Contribution to life—three sons (one Penn State graduate, one Penn State junior, and one senior in high school.)

CLARENCE W. TURNER is power supervisor for Niagara-Mohawk in Albany, N. Y. He keeps busy with church, Masonic affairs, hunting, and fishing. His son, Brian, is a junior at the University of Rochester, majoring in geology and very active in ROTC, football, and Theta Delta Chi. His son, Terry, is a freshman at the University of Miami, Fla., but would like to transfer next year to Bucknell in business administration. His daughter, Cheryl, is starting high school and shows a decided interest in music. They were in Florida during the Florida hurricane—quite lively at times!

34 MRS. WILLIAM S. LIMING
(Ruth E. Robt)
55 Magnolia Ave.
Garden City, N. Y.

ARTHUR IREDELL's daughter, Susan, was elected "Miss Penn Hall" last June. She is now a student at Bethany College in West Virginia. Arthur's son, Scott, is a sophomore at Garden City High School and his daughter, Peggy, is in Stewart Grade School. The Iredell address is 68 Willow St., Garden City, N. Y.

35 MRS. PAUL J. DESCHANEL
(Ann W. Orr)
Chapel Wood
Gambrills, Md.

What a delightful surprise to hear from BETTY MURRAY FISHER several times since our last news letter. Wendy Fisher graduated from Northfield School for Girls the same week end we had our 25th reunion which accounts for the absence of the Fishers in Lewisburg. Wendy is now attending Earlham College in Indiana where CLARENCE HOWELLS' daughter is a student. CLAVIN FISHER '34 is retirement counselor for the Aetna Life Affiliated Companies and Betty is district director of the Girl Scout Council in Farmington, Conn. Their son, Peter, is a high school freshman.

HELEN MOYER LEWIS '34 also wrote about her research in psychiatry and wanted to know if the noted author-psychiatrist was the same ROBERT LINDNER she knew at Bucknell. We are happy to report that Bob's study, Solitaire, from The Fifty Minute Hour was produced by the CBS TV Workshop under the title "The Mind's Eye," on December 11, 1960.

Our holidays were graced by the visit of JANE and Mel LeMon whom we kept in a constant whirl. They are living on the campus at Alfred University and enjoying it very much. Jane is teaching in a nearby high school and Mel is enjoying directing coed music once more. We were saddened to hear of the serious illness of their grandson, Jeff (son of BILL LeMON '54 and Bonnie) who has been a patient at Children's Hospital in Boston, Mass.

36 MRS. CLYDE E. BURGEE
(Lois Montgomery)
124 S. 5th St.
Lewisburg, Pa.

Reune in June, 1961

M. HOWARD CLARK is a safety engineer and division manager with the Liberty Mutual Insurance Company in Pittsburgh. When asked for news to pass on to his Bucknell friends, he gives us this: "Besides continued employment and growth with Liberty Mutual, I won a watercolor prize in 1959 and had a one-man show of paintings in Philadelphia at the Engineers Club in 1959 and 1960. My wife and I are both active in Little Theater. Melissa (M. MELISSA EVANS '33) does fine work in sterling silver and is active with this hobby." Address: 45 Ordale Blvd., Mt. Lebanon, Pittsburgh 28.

NONIE GOLDSMITH Pearlman is president of the Pittsburgh section of the National Council of Jewish Women and will be very busy in March when their national convention convenes in her city. Her daughter, Ann, is at the University of Pittsburgh still "heading towards anthropology." Her son plays the guitar.

37 MRS. PAUL W. ZIEGLER
(Mabel Nylund)
12 W. Garrison Rd., Parkside
Chester, Pa.

JACK FILER recently moved from Savannah, Ga., to 1240 Mt. Paran Rd., Atlanta 5, Ga. Jack is district sales manager for the Cyclone Fence Co. of Chamblee, Ga.

38 MRS. JOSEPH T. QUICK
(Mary Bachman)
Wrights Rd., R. D. 2
Newtown, Pa.

MARY BELLE (McKEAGE) and Geza Zold announce the birth of a son, John McKeage Zold on November 22, 1960.

BILL VAN DUREN has been transferred to duPont F. & F. Plant in Parlin, N. J. OLIVE (DECKER) '37, and twins plan to move sometime after June.

39 MR. DAVID R. BAGENSTOSE
12 Kinterra Rd.
Wayne, Pa.

ROBERT E. SMITH has been promoted to the position of general manager of marketing for The Chemstrand Corporation in New York. With his wife, the former MARGARET A. FARRELL '41, and two children, David and Susan, he lives at 447 Fairway Rd., Ridgewood, N. J.

Dr. D. RICHARD WYNN, former professor of education at the Teachers College, Columbia University, is now associate dean of the School of Education at the University of Pittsburgh. He is married to the former HELEN L. SPECHT, has two daughters, Leanne and Sherry Lee, and lives at 8146 Brittany Place, Pittsburgh 37. During 1960 he had two books published by McGraw-Hill: Careers in Education and American Education, the latter co-authored with Professor Chris DeYoung.

MRS. JAMES A. MILLER
(Mary McGrina)
1492 Colfax Ave.
Benton Harbor, Mich.

Christmas always brings response from classmates. This year BOB Q. JONES' card had a very fitting theme—a picture of the lovely chapel in China Lake, Calif., where he is stationed. Bob is a Chaplain, U. S. Navy (Commander) and has been for seventeen years. He has lived in France, Italy and Hawaii with his family—two sons: Robert Q., Jr., 12; and Jay Alan, 6; and two daughters: Pamela Lynn, 10; and Heather Lei, 3.

From LES McDOWELL there was again a resume of the year's activities on the family Christmas card. Among other highlights, Les attended the Naval War College in June and in July participated in the Defense Strategy Seminar in Washington, D. C., living "like a prince at Anderson House."

BOB MacGUIRE and his wife are now enjoying their new home at 1200 Thornden Rd., Rockville, Md.

ALFRED DOBROF, who has been executive secretary of the Indianapolis (Indiana) Jewish Community Center Association for the past nine years, has been appointed director of the Department of Jewish Community Center Planning of the National Jewish Welfare Board in New York City. Al lives in Mt. Vernon, N. Y. (104 Foster Ave.) with his wife, the former Rose Weisman, and their four young daughters.

MRS. WILLIAM F. HASSELBERGER
(Jean P. Steele)
605 Scott Ave.
Syracuse 3, N. Y.

Reune in June, 1961

Be sure to plan to be at our class reunion in June. It will be fun to see how much "younger" we have grown in the past 20 years!

After being out of touch with HERBERT R. WINICK for several years, we learn he has not been resting on his Bucknell laurels. He entered military service after leaving the campus and was discharged in May, 1946. He then attended N. Y. U. Graduate School of Business Administration and is now a partner in the firm of Winick, Barnett and Schiffer, Certified Public Accountants in New York City. He is president of Woodmere Estates Civic Association and an officer of several other civic groups in the Woodmere area. His wife was the former Bernyce Alpert. They have two children, Steven, almost 12 and Lauren, 8. Their address is 923 Beth Lane, Woodmere, L. I., N. Y.

MRS. THOMAS R. DIETZ
(Germaine B. Pepperman)
83 Nutt Rd.
Phoenixville, Pa.

Thanks for the concern on my Christmas cards that all was well with the Dietz clan, since it has been so long since news has been in the columns. All is well, since I've sold the restaurant (too much work) and I've finally gotten back my pep. Since there has been such a positive lapse of news, I hope the following will bring you up to date. Even if it isn't news to the people most concerned, most of you haven't heard!

H. WALTON CLOKE has been re-elected national president of the American Public Relations Association. Walton is coordinator of public relations for Kaiser Industries Corporation. He is also chairman of the Public Relations Committee (also serving as vice chairman) of the President's People-to-People Program.

ANNE D. HOUGH and Leslie M. Jones were married January 10, 1959, and are living at 1121 Pauline Blvd., Ann Arbor, Mich.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert A. Kulp (MARY A. HEACOCK) had their fourth child, Margaret Louise, on December 21, 1958. She has two sisters and a brother and the family home is at 225 Golfview Rd., Ardmore. This is very late news, but we don't want to omit anyone.

BILL and BETTY (THOMAS) CARSON have moved back to Mishawaka, Ind., after living for a short time in Connecticut. Bill has been made factory manager of the U. S. Rubber Plant and their new address is 1022 W. Lawrence St., Mishawaka, Ind. This is a temporary address, as they have not yet found a home and are living in an apartment.

Can't believe that I have more late news stashed away, but here is another important birth. BUD and DORIAN (SMITH '43) VANDERBILT sent me word of the birth of a son, Walter Scott, III, born on February 8, 1959, the same day as their Alice's 4th birthday. Don't be so late in reporting any future news, Bud!

New address for JEAN PEARCE Cromwell (Mrs. E. K.) is 34 Cambridge St., Pleasant Ridge, Mich.

JEAN KOEBLEY Cochran and her family have had a 17-year-old exchange student from New Zealand living with them this past year, and have thoroughly enjoyed the experience of learning more about the other side of the world.

New address for NELLE DEAN Lunsford is 2471 Eastern Ave., Alliance, Ohio.

More up-to-date news in the next issue!

MRS. ROBERT F. BAKER
(Honey Rhinesmith)
Lindys Lake, R. D.
Butler, N. J.

Last time I threatened to make up some news rather than face extinction, but my plea was answered and please believe that the following notes are true.

The Harry Wheelers (GLORIA HAGGERTY) have a new address, 360 Middlegate Dr., Bethel Park, and a new daughter, Judith Mae, born August 23, 1960, to join sister Rachel.

From Lt. and Mrs. Richard Gutekunst (ANNA FETTERMAN), NAMRU3, Navy 540, c/o FPO, New York, N. Y. "Here I am in the land of pyramids and belly dancers . . . We live 5 miles south of Cairo in a town called Maadi, between the Nile and the eastern desert . . . We've been through the big pyramid and have seen the sphinx . . . The three children are in the American school with children from 14 different countries . . . Expect to be here three years."

From Bill and DONNA PERRY '43 Crago, "We're working on a new book together . . . Had a nice chat with HANK PUFF when I did some B. U. campaign solicitation work for him."

From Betty and AL MAGAGNA, "Yes, the Magagnas have been on the move again (224 MacAlpine Rd., Ellicott City, Md.) . . . We spent a wonderful summer of golf, golf, golf . . . with both of us winning silver trophies."

From Mary Louise and JOHN DEBARR '47, "Had hoped to go home for Christmas but John has been assigned to help investigate the cause of the fire on the carrier Constellation."

Brenda is the newest name on our holiday greeting from Lita and HAIG KANTARIAN.

While we were complaining about an episode of incessant phone calls, the following arrived from LOUISE TERRETT in Montana. "We now have a gravel road right to our door, and will soon have a telephone!" They had to hire their own contractors to string 7 miles of wire. (We've stopped complaining!)

From DOTTIE HELLER, "Have just returned from a tour of the Middle East . . . Stopped off at Athens, then to Cairo where I rode a camel to view the pyramids and sphinx, and had dinner in a tent in the desert . . . In Jerusalem we walked through the Garden of Gethsemane and saw the Mt. of Olives . . . Needless to say I'm still with Sabena Airlines." Last November Dottie was appointed sales representative for her company and was elected president of the Philadelphia Women's Travel Club, a group of 150 women engaged in selling travel.

From DON '46 and BEEJAY WALTER McMULLEN, "Don owns a roofing business now . . . We play golf and I love it . . . Am a blond now and love that, too!"

Happy Springtime to all of you.

MRS. JOHN F. BACON
(Phoebe Follmer)
Meadowdale Farm
Sparks, Md.

From 1667 Stephens Dr., Valley Forge, comes a chatty note from DOROTHY SHORT BECK. She and ALLEN '42 just moved to this new home last May—with Patricia and Allen William, Jr. ALLEN is vice president of a company which manufactures cardboard and she has a week's schedule of volunteer activities which staggers me! They are active Alum-ers and I'll bet have made more Home-coming than many!

One of the nicest things to happen to us this Christmas was the receiving of over 200 cards—many with wonderful messages from folks not seen in years. One was from SALLY GOULD Smith. A little over six months ago, she and her husband, Rev. Fay H., and their son, Dick, and daughter, Betsy, moved to Edinburg, Ill., where Fay is the Methodist minister. Their children are busy schoolers and Sally extends "welcome" to any who come. Their address in Edinburg is P. O. Box 158.

(Left to right) David and Don Score, Linda Bond, Jen Score and Billy Bond

A grand chatty note from MARJORIE HUDSON '46 BOND brings us up to date on husband (and our classmate) WILLIAM E. G.—they just moved into a new home this fall—new address 5910 Kentland Ave., Woodland Hills, Calif.—and among last summer's guests were Bill's parents, newly retired Dr. and Mrs. Charles Bond. Then along came RANDY and BOB SCORE '46 and their three children. The time flew for these old friends as they talked over "old times" and their present activities. The Bond children in the picture are William, 12; and Linda, 11. The Score children are David, Don and Jen.

Now, I'm at this writing all caught up on your correspondence to me, so let us not falter. Someone write to me for the next edition. Happy New Year!

Dr. William P. Boger '34

Dr. William P. Boger '34 has returned recently from a South American tour during which he gave a series of twenty-two lectures on the subject of the use of antibiotics and research on the staphylococcus problem. Speaking at medical schools and hospitals his trip took him to Bogota, Lima, Santiago, Buenos Aires, Montevideo, Sao Paulo, Rio de Janeiro, Port of Spain and San Juan.

According to Dr. Boger his "feeble Spanish got quite a stimulation through the simple mechanism of all my friends refusing to understand me unless I spoke Spanish," and this led him to observe the importance of being able to use languages other than one's own. Dr. Boger suggests that "because of our lack of knowledge of other languages, we lose much by misunderstanding and inability to comprehend what situations really are."

As any traveler does, Dr. Boger marveled at the natural beauties of the Andes and "drank deeply" of the many cultures. His trip afforded him "the opportunities to learn and teach."

Dr. and Mrs. Boger live with their two sons, Robert and William, on Glenhardie Road, Wayne.

46 MRS. LELAND C. EWING
(Betty Wells)
41 Crest Drive
Tarrytown, N. Y.

Reune in June, 1961

A genuine plea from me to thee,

Come to Reunion and let us see,

How you are and what you're doing.

For column news is sure scarce going.

Reported reunion returnees: BETTY WYNN Reifsnnyder and GLO WHITMAN Cowan.

Gleaned from Christmas cards: The F. Richard Synners (BETTY HADFIELD) was born in 75 Cedar Ave., Rockville Center, N. Y. The Synners (PAT WHITMAN) announced the birth of Geoffrey Stuart on December 25, 1960.

Sister Rose Ewing, M. P. JEAN F. SNYDER, is now living in New York City after telling of her work in the field of social work.

I shall save for reprint in the Reunion Class Book. She can be addressed at Queen of the World Hospital, 3210 E. 23rd St., Kansas City 27, Kan.

47 MRS. HERBERT GOLDMAN
(Tamara Gurvitch)
370 Holland Lane
Englewood, N. J.

Hello! I know I can speak in the name of all of us when I say that ROGER HADDON deserves a special accolade for recording our news with such unwavering regularity and accuracy for almost a decade. Thank you, Rog, for a job well done. This decade also saw him amass an impressive list of achievements in the fields of law, banking, promotion and advertising—all deftly interrelated.

And if you, dear classmates, are reading this column it proves that you are interested in what's what with the rest of us. So, be fair. We want to hear about you, too. Okay?

Dr. MARTIN KURMAN is now a specialist in obstetrics and gynecology with offices at 40 E. 83rd St., New York 28, N. Y. Home address for Marty and his wife: 3 Peter Cooper Rd., New York 10, N. Y.

Mr. and Mrs. York A. France (LIZ CARROLL) and two sons have moved last summer to 519 Upper Mountain Ave., Upper Montclair, N. J. York is with Moody's Investors Service, counseling banks on investments.

Major JOHN R. DEBARR, USMC, has been appointed assistant counsel for the court at the Naval Court of Inquiry investigating the tragic fire aboard the aircraft carrier, USS Constellation, at the New York Naval Shipyard, Brooklyn, N. Y., on December 19, 1960, in which 50 lives were lost. In 1956 he served as defense counsel for the Marine Sergeant drill instructor's controversial court martial which grew out of the deaths of several Marine recruits on a forced march during training at Parris Island, S. C. He is presently assigned to the Third Naval District Headquarters Legal Staff, New York, as Assistant Admiralty Officer and Claims Officer.

Mrs. Leigh Woehling (MOLLIE WOLFINGER) reports that the latest addition to their family is 18-months old Katharine. Her two brothers are Ed, 11; and Don, 8. Leigh is with the International Salt Co. For the past three years they've been living near Scranton. Address: Box 155, Waverly.

Bruce, Patty and Rusty Bullock

A son, Bruce Duncan, was born to Mr. and Mrs. GEORGE C. BULLOCK '48 (RUTH RICHARDSON) on July 3, 1960. He joins Patty, 10; and Rusty, 9. Fussy has taken up portrait painting, while George is an engineer with the New Jersey Bell Telephone Co. in Camden, N. J. Home address: 30 Seckelpear Rd., Levittown, N. J.

Patty and Barbara Murphy

Mrs. Michael F. Murphy, Jr. (GRATIA HENRY), a teacher in the English Department of Youngstown University, extends a welcome to any Bucknellians who may find themselves in the vicinity of Hubbard, Ohio. The Murphy family includes daughters Patty, 6; and Barbara, 4. They live at 210 Christian Ave.

Mrs. W. NELSON ROBERTS (JEANE MORGENTHAU) sent the kind of letter reporters dream about. Skip, a project engineer with Consolidated Control Corp. in Bethel, Conn., is handling the mechanical end of "Unimate," a one-armed robot with a magnetic memory drum for a brain. With Skip on the Planning and Zoning Commission of Newton, Conn., and Morgie, co-chairman of the Candidates Screening Committee, they're making their town a better place to live in. Morgie is also doing promotion for the local American Field Service program. Attending the A. F. S. regional conference in New York this fall, she met SACHIYE MIZUKI '48, who is on the national staff. Three other Bucknell families live in Newtown (pop. 13,000): Mr. and Mrs. Alex Sarjeant (JOAN WATERMAN '46), Mr. and Mrs. ROBERT KELCHNER '51, and Mr. and Mrs. DAVE MORGAN '50. All active members of the community. The Roberts family includes Carole, Keith, Lee and Connie (in 4th, 3rd, 1st grades and pre-school, respectively.) Home address: Taunton Ridge Rd., Newtown, Conn. Mr. and Mrs. RICHARD ADAMSON '49 (CAROLYN HAND) visited the Roberts in November. Dick, Carolyn and their three children recently moved to 1923 Winding Brook Way, Scotch Plains, N. J.

48 MRS. JAMES A. BROWN
(Joann G. Golightly)
1591 Hillcrest Terrace
Union, N. J.

BENJAMIN F. BASTIAN has been named plant engineer of Armstrong Cork Company's facility in Dunkirk, Ind. This plant manufactures a wide variety of glass containers primarily for the food, chemical, pharmaceutical and beverage industries. The Bastians have three children: Susan, Cathy and Benjamin, III. New address: 439 N. Main St., Dunkirk, Ind.

After working as an engineer with Westinghouse for 8 years following graduation, WILLIAM H. DOUGLAS resigned his position, sold his home and entered Pittsburgh-Xenia Theological Seminary to study for the ministry with the object of entering the missionary field. He served as student pastor of the Plain Grove United Presbyterian Church while attending the seminary. With his wife, the former NANCY BISHOP '49, and two children, William and Susan, the past year was spent studying Portuguese at the Language School in Campinas and they now have moved to the interior of Brazil to begin their missionary work. They are missionaries under the Commission on Ecumenical Mission and Relations of the United Presbyterian Church in the United States. Their address is: Mutum, Mato Grosso, Brazil, S. A.

Dr. JAMES S. TRESSLAR has retired from his position as director, Bureau of School Buildings, with the Pennsylvania Public Instruction Department to accept the newly created post of assistant supervising principal of the Plymouth-Whitemarsh school system in Montgomery County. He and his wife, the former D. ELIZABETH BOYER '41, have three children: Jon, Jan and Jeffrey and live at Pottsgrove.

GEORGE HENRY NEFF, III, became manager of the Hotel Suburban in Summit, N. J., in December. He formerly had been co-manager (with his cousin, HAROLD M. NEFF, JR.) of the Neff Hotel in Sunbury.

RICHARD A. WATSON, 1531 St. Michael Dr., Columbia, Mo., via his wife, sent news of their first child, Thomas Clark, born on October 20, 1960, and of Dick's appointment with the University of Missonri as assistant professor of political science and associate director of the Bureau of Government Research.

Steve, Dave and Bill Nelson

HELEN HAYDEN (Mrs. Ted C.) wrote me of a belated Christmas present—a fourth son, Charles Owens, born December 28, 1960, weighing in at 9 lb. 11½ oz. That makes it four boys in the Nelson family—at 35 Carolin Rd., Upper Montclair, N. J. Our congratulations, Helen and Ted. Helen's brother, BILL, and his family now live in Chicago Heights, Ill., at 1906 Euclid Ave.

ARAX AROOSIAN Balakian (Mrs. Gerard) moved to a new house last summer—57 Crabtree Lane, Tenafly, N. J.

A welcome note from Dr. MARTIN KURMAN '47—he and his wife live at 3 Peter Cooper Rd., New York 10, N. Y.

Thank you all for your holiday greetings.

50 MISS HELEN E. GLOISTEN
161 Oak St.
West Hempstead, L. I., N. Y.

Rev. JAMES H. MIDDLETON of 412 Arbana Dr., Ann Arbor, Mich., is serving as pastor of the First Baptist Church in that city. His wife is the former DOROTHY TAYLOR '51, and they are the parents of two children, Janet and Donald.

MARCH 1961

51 MRS. HAROLD P. NORRIS
(Rebecca J. Rogers)
6 Griffis St.
Montrose, Pa.

Reune in June, 1961

Before you know it June'll be "bustin' out all over," and we hope that the Bucknell campus will be bustin' out with alumni from the Class of '51. Set aside June 2, 3 and 4 for a sentimental journey back to the world that was ours in the dear, dead days that are not beyond recall. You can live them over again and catch up on ten years of gab and gossip when the Class of '51 reunies in June of '61. Will you be there?

A Christmas card note tells us that PAT (WILEY) and DON PARSONS are enjoying son, Danny, more with each passing day. The Parson's address is R. D. 5, Towanda.

And JOHANNE ARMSTRONG Roddenberry writes that husband Paul is still with the Reading Company and that daughter Linda is quite grown-up and loves kindergarten. Johanne's address is 32 Miami Rd., Norristown.

MARTHA JANE ACKER is now serving as assistant director of educational activities for the American Institute of Biological Sciences at 2000 P St., N. W., Washington 6, D. C. She earned her Master of Education degree from Pennsylvania State University in 1959 and visited the campus last fall in connection with the visiting biologist's program of the American Institute of Biological Sciences.

I was delighted to receive a newsy note from MARY SCOULLER Nelson '49, who was our guardian angel (or, in more terrestrial terms, our freshman counsellor) on third floor Bucknell Cottage. Mary's charges included DOTTIE JAMES, FAITH BRADLEY, CHRIS RILEY, RAY WILSON, PEG NETTLETON, JEANIE WALTERS, FRANCI WILKENS, MARGE HAAS, ANN BUSCH, ARLENE BLANK '52, PAT WILEY, CHAR STRATTON, NICKY NICODEMUS and JOYCE SEELYE '52. Whatever happened to you all? I don't even know the married names of most of you. Won't you send me some news about yourselves, your families, your careers for the next issue of the ALUMNUS?

Getting back to MARY, the best counsellor a freshman girl ever had—she sent me a picture of what keeps her busy all day, her three delightful children (pictured below)—Elizabeth Alice, 18 months; Gordon Lyle, 3½; and Mary Scouller, 5½.

Mary also writes that her husband, Gordon, works for the Connecticut General Life Insurance Co., that they love New England, and that their lives are full and happy.

Several months ago Mary talked with PEG NETTLETON Brison. Peg's husband, Bill, is an Episcopal rector in Bethany, Conn. "Peggy," says Mary, "is happy as a minister's wife, still has her infectious laugh, and adores their son, now two years plus."

Now, let me hear from you!

Elizabeth, Gordon and Mary Nelson

52 MRS. JOHN S. BOULDEN, JR.
(Barbara Bleecker)
1605 Twin Maple Ave.
Towson 4, Md.

Thanks to many of you for your newsy Christmas notes!

From BABS (SMALL '53) STIEFEL; "HERB and I spent two wonderful weeks in Nassau this summer . . . We've been following TOMMY DEAN'S East Orange (N. J.) football team with much interest. Tommy's wife, BETH, has found a B. U. neighbor—BONNIE (MACKIE '54) ASPINWALL. She's living in Maplewood while GLENN finishes his tour of duty in Korea."

JANE LEE CRAIG and E. Daniel Vierling were married November 26, 1960, and are living at 8245 West Mercer Way, Mercer Island, Wash. Jane Lee spent several years as a classroom teacher in the elementary schools and then became an airline stewardess with the Northwest Orient Airlines.

LEON ARASIM has retired from the U. S. Department of Justice and is teaching school in Pemberton Township, in the Levittown area of New Jersey. Leon has taken some graduate work at Bucknell and hopes to complete work for an advanced degree at Rutgers University. Address: 163 Millbrook Dr., Levittown, N. J.

"We have joined the many Philadelphia alums" writes RUTH CASTNER Rustling. "Bill was made assistant to the general sales manager in July and we moved down from Connecticut in August. This community is perfect for children . . . David has woods and lots of fields to explore after kindergarten. Beverly is involved with French, ice skating and ballet lessons in addition to 2nd grade." The Rustling's address: 2735 Edge Hill Rd., Huntington Valley.

A Christmas card signed "The Five Blencowes" was most welcome. WINNIE HODGSON Blencowe sent news of Bob's and her family. Bob is attending Newark College of Engineering, evening division, and will receive his E.E. degree in June. A son, Robert, Jr., was born in April of 1957. He was joined by twin sisters, Sandra and Susan, on July 12, 1959. Winnie wonders if there are any other twins for the Class of '52. How about letting me know if there are? The Blencowe's address: 18 Schley St., Garfield, N. J.

From ELI CHILDS Lewis: "Jack and I had a marvelous 10 days at Canul Bay Plantation on St. John on the Virgin Islands. The resort is in the National Park so we ran into DAVE KARRAKER '50 who is in the National Park service there.

In the next issue—news of Peyton and MARY LOU HIND Palmore and ERNIE and MARJORIE MONZERT '54 PEARCE.

53 MRS. JAMES A. CHAMBERS, JR.
(Barbara Roemer)
58 Linden Ave.
Verona, N. J.

H. MARSHALL WIGGINS and Deborah E. Kopf were married on October 8, 1960, and are living at 100 Edwards St., Roslyn Heights, N. Y. Marshall is a sales representative with the Addressograph-Multigraph Corporation of Woodside, N. Y.

FRANK S. BOGUSZEWSKI, JR., has returned to his first love (the sea) and is serving as Lieutenant (Senior Grade) on the USS Yellowstone, a destroyer tender that will be operating out of Mayport, Fla. When quarters are available, Frank plans to establish a home for wife, Joan, and the two youngsters, Frank and Lynne, in the Mayport, Fla., area.

JOHN L. STORCH, now a bridge design engineer with the Pennsylvania Department of Highways in Harrisburg, had an interesting two months last summer on loan to the Canadian Aero Service Corporation deep in the rugged bush country of Eastern Quebec, helping out on the Quebec Cartier Mining Com-

Charles A. Kothe, Esq. '34

Charles A. Kothe, Esq. '34, who is serving this year as vice president, Industrial Relations Division of the National Association of Manufacturers, has published a new textbook on labor relations entitled "Industrial Relations in the Non-Union Plant." He is a member of the Tulsa, Okla., law firm of Kothe, Hall and Sublett.

Before the NAM year is out in April, Kothe will have appeared before more than 20,000 top management personnel in most of the nation's industrial centers.

One of the outstanding honors which has come his way was a reception and dinner given by the German Parliament in Bonn, Germany, last July when he was on a Western European tour studying labor conditions and relations.

Mr. Kothe appeared on the Bucknell campus in the program of the conference on "Politics and the American Businessman," in September, 1959.

Mr. and Mrs. Kothe and children, Diane and Charles, live at 4181 Oak Road, Tulsa 5, Okla.

pany Ore-Development Project, a vast and varied construction undertaking featured as a cover story by Engineering News-Record in their December 16, 1960, issue. John, with his wife, the former JOANN COTTLE, and their three children live at 1922 Princeton Ave., Camp Hill.

We have two future Bucknellians to tell about! JOAN (LAFFERANDRE) and PETER DIAMANDIS announce the birth of a son, Cameron, who became a small brother to young Peter and Christy on November 25, 1960. Way back in January, 1960, Steven Carl was born to JANE (BANKER) and GREG BOWEN. Steve's brother, Doug, is now 32.

The WHITNEYS JIM, NANCY (CARTEB) and children, Doug and Keith, now live at 1111 E. 1st St., Tucson, Ariz. Jim is a title company owner.

The WILLIAM E. FURMAN address is Continental Dr., Rockledge, N. Y. Let's have some news from you!

54

MRS. PAUL C. TARR, III
(Anne E. Tuckerman)
113 Alliston Rd.,
Springfield, Pa.

Mr. and Mrs. HENRY PFISCHNER (CAROL MASON) announce the birth of their first child, Linda Jean, on December 18, 1960.

CAROL ITJEN Haller writes to say that baby, Richard, born July 1, 1960, joins brother Robbie, 3. Husband, Henry, received the Grand Prize for Buffets, the Spitzer Prize and the Medal of the French Republic awarded by the National Hotel Exposition in New York in November. He is the executive chef at the Hampshire House in New York City.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul W. Paterson (JUNE HOFFMAN) announce the birth of their son, Andrew, born September, 1960. Note—June married her flying instructor.

55

MRS. JOHN C. VANCE, JR.
(Jane Jones)
3 Ford Court
Charleston, S. C.

Mr. and Mrs. David J. Hower (LORNA M. GARDNER) of 26 N. Rigby Ave., Lansdowne, announce the birth of a son, Mark, on December 1, 1960.

From 41 S. Yearling Rd., Columbus 13, Ohio, comes word of Larry and MARY STRICKLAND Johnson's daughter, Nancy, who was born October 1, 1960.

GEORGENE DUNN Noffsinger writes that she has retired from teaching since husband, Ted, has begun the practice of dentistry in Gaithersburg, Md.

NANCY BARNES KLAHRE and husband FRANK became the parents of their second son in October.

All mail for ED and MARIAN KENNEDY TITUS should be addressed to 160 Harper St., New Concord, Ohio, since Ed has finished his service stint and has accepted a teaching position at Muskingum College. He received his Ph.D. from Carnegie Tech in January of '59. The Tituses have two children: Richard, 2½; and Judith, almost 1.

On June 11, 1960, Mr. and Mrs. Igor Hudadoff (JUNE WRIGHT) announced the birth of their 7 lb. 6 oz. daughter, Pamela Ann. Recently they celebrated another triumph when June's husband had his third series of books published in the field of music education. The Hudadoffs are residing at 58 Haymaker Lane, Levittown, N. Y.

56

MRS. WILLIAM J. O'NEIL
(Jean M. Wirths)
1706 Esplanade Apt. C, Hollywood Riv.
Redondo Beach, Calif.

Reune in June, 1961

JACK '52, and JOANNA (RANDOLPH) ROTT have moved to their new home at 333 E. Moreland Rd., Willow Grove, and are the new neighbors of ABE '53, and TRUDY (KNUDSON) POWELSON '53.

Husband Bill and I attended the Southern California dinner meeting for the Bucknell Dual Development Fund in Los Angeles, Calif. DON '54 and ANN BARRY WALDRON BURNS were there from Inglewood, Calif.; FLOYD NAUGLE and wife Genevieve were there from Santa Monica, Calif., where Floyd is interning at Santa Monica Hospital. The Naugle address is 1250 16th St., Santa Monica, Calif. The STEVENS, BOB '58 and NANCY JANE (BROWN '58) drove up from San Clemente, Calif., where Bob is stationed with the Marines.

Mrs. STAN ELLSON and Mrs. RICH McFARLAND celebrated on the same date and in the same hospital, the arrival of their second sons, Jimmy Ellson and Steve McFarland—both born October 3. The Ellsons live at 39 Letitia Lane, Media, where Stan is a job analyst in staff personnel at Scott Paper.

Chester. The McFarlands are in Wayne where Rich is teaching at Valley Forge Military Academy.

Word from the KINNEYS—ART, DOT (HUND '57) and the little ones Doug and Laura, says they've bought a house at 2072 Elmbrook Lane, Pittsburgh 16. Art and Dot were chairmen of the November Bucknell "Election Celebration" party in Pittsburgh.

Mr. and Mrs. PAUL PIGMAN (ELIE MACKIE '55) have put the finishing touches to their new home in Bridgeville. NANCY (SHEPLER) and DON RICHARDS joined in the fun at a Pigman party. The Richards address is 100 Longridge Ct., Lutherville-Timonium, Md.

Thought we'd share with you the following snapshots of future Bucknellians received from their proud parents:

Claire (Hammond) Eberhart and son, Stephen Walter

Barbara (Besosa) McKenzie and daughter, Cammie

58

MRS. FRANK H. RICHARDS
(Faith Bonsall)
6 Holman St.
Allston, Mass.

JULIE KELLY and John A. Turnbull, Jr., were married on December 11, 1960, and are living at 61-15 97th St., Apt. 11-N, North Forest Hills, N. Y. Bucknellians in the wedding party were Mr. and Mrs. ARTHUR ROSVOLD '57 (CAROLE GERHART) and TISH BRANDES. Julie is assistant account supervisor with Young & Rubicam, Inc., of New York City.

Mrs. Alan G. Stephenson (PEGGY SMITH), married April 7, 1960, is now a secretary with Dean Wittmer & Co. in Seattle, Wash. Before her marriage Peggy was a stewardess for United Air Lines for nearly two years. The Stephensons live at 359 Prospect St., Seattle 9, Wash.

DAVID PAUL is serving as pastor of the Methodist Church in Warwick, Md. This is his last year at Crozer Theological Seminary where he is working for his B.D. degree. His wife is the former Peggy A. Maxton.

Word was received that ROG FRASSENEI is serving as head football and baseball coach at Curwensville High School. During his first year as varsity coach Rog had a record of 2-1, and received the "Coach-of-the-Year" award. Congratulations!

BOB VEROY, our amiable football manager to these three years ago, is living in the French Quarter of New Orleans, La., no less! Bob says he feels like a decrepit old bachelor when he reads the column and sees that so many '58ers are married and raising families. He is manager of Inland Marine Underwriting for the Marine Office of America in seven southeastern states.

BEV GRINER McNALLY, just around the corner in Newton Centre, Mass., is working at Andover Newton Theological School while husband TOM is finishing his senior year. Bev and Tom are living on campus at Andover Newton.

DORIS (WILKINS) and CLIFF SMITH have a son, Douglas Clark, born August 9, 1960. After leaving Bucknell Doris and Cliff lived in Queens, N. Y., for seven months, going from there to Lawton, Okla., for 6 months while Cliff was in the Army. Current address: 2 Hunt St., Rumson, N. J. Cliff is a mechanical engineer with the Bendix Corp.—washing machine anyone?

MAG WIDMAIER Borden and husband John have recently opened a tremendous clothes shop in Fairhaven, N. J., "The Clothes Closet." From the brochures Mag sent the shop could have given the old Lyons Shop a lot of competition (that's if it had been in L-burg, of course!) At any rate—anyone in that area will get a really nice surprise—just plugging a little, Mag.

On October 16, 1960, MARY ANNE BUNKER Daly and Dan became the parents of a son, Bruce Bunker Daly—Bruce weighed in at 9 lbs. 5 oz.—producing for the Bucknell football team, maybe! They planned to move to South America sometime after Christmas; but I haven't received word yet.

ROGER NIEMAN received his master's degree in February, 1960, from the Wharton School of the University of Pennsylvania. Since that time Roger spent 6 months in the Army in the position of assistant public information officer at Fort Lee, Va. This past October Roger started in an institutional sales training program with Sherson, Hammill & Co., a Wall Street securities firm.

BEV CAMPBELL Rulewich received her master's degree in social work in June, 1960, from Columbia. On September 3 Bev married Roger C. Rulewich, a '58 graduate of Yale. They currently live at 309 East 87th St., New York 28, N. Y. They plan three years of architectural school at either Yale or Harvard next September (1961).

MARY (THURN) and PETE HUNTER, now residing in Aliquippa, outside of Pittsburgh, increased their family once again last June. Their son is David Brownlee Hunter.

VIC ALLISON and his wife, the former Patricia Sundberg, are living at 45 Ashford St., Allston 34, Mass. Vic is a student at Andover Newton Theological Seminary.

which accompanied our first reunion yearbook, will slip a dollar in an envelope (check or money order made payable to the Class of '59) and send it to Mr. Bruce Rossiter, Alumni Office, Bucknell University, Lewisburg, Pa. The dollar covers the cost of printing the '59 Reunion Yearbook and because many did not send it in payment for the book, the class is "seeing red financially." Marty offers that if we could make up for the deficit, perhaps we could publish a third year edition instead of waiting for the usual fifth. Come on, '59ers, let's back those who devote time and talent toward the benefit of the Class of '59, in order that we may remain in contact with one another.

FRED BIOREN has completed 6 months of Army service, and is now a salesman for the Colgate-Palmolive Company in New Hampshire, Vermont, and Northern Massachusetts. Address: 4 Blue Hill Ave., Nashua, N. H.

SANDRA HAACK and G. James Jarratt, III, were married November 5, 1960. Sandy is a secretary for Burroughs Corp. in Radnor. The Jarratts are living on Devon Rd., Malverne.

ALVIN JACKSON was married in November to Marilyn Hockett, Northwestern '59. Al and his bride live at 905 Broad St., Apt. 5-V, Bloomfield, N. J. Al is in Wall Street with VanAlstyne, Noel and Co., stockbrokers, and Marilyn is employed as a registered travel agent with the Montclair Travel Bureau of Montclair, N. J.

JOHN ERHARD was commissioned as an ensign in the U. S. Navy on December 16, 1960, and has been assigned to duty aboard the USS St. Clair County. Address: USS St. Clair County (LST 1096), FPO, San Francisco, Calif.

A baby boy, Richard Andrew, was born on November 30, 1960. BENO and I are delighted to say that he's ours.

Bye for now.

60 MISS JANE DAHL
47 Central Ave.
Newtonville 60, Mass.

Reune in June, 1961

The finger points to an important date—June, 1961. Our class will hold its first reunion then; I plan to be there and hope there will be many of you to meet and greet!

NANCY D. BAKER of "Longfield," Ridley Park, is teaching 7th and 8th grade English in the Nether Providence School System. Since leaving Bucknell, she has spent 1½ years at the University of Southern California where she received her A.B. degree, a summer touring Europe and a summer studying French at McGill University, Montreal, Canada.

JOHN C. WEISS writes, "I started the 1960-61 school year at the University of Buffalo as a graduate assistant in the Biological Department working on a master's degree. I resigned in October, 1960, from that post upon acceptance into medical school in Missouri. November 1, I took a teaching position in Waverly, N. Y., as a teacher of secondary science and mathematics for the rest of the school year. Next fall I will enter med school."

JAMES G. BRADY was commissioned a Navy Ensign on October 14, 1960, and is undergoing primary flight training at the Sausley Field Naval Auxiliary Air Station in Pensacola, Fla.

2nd Lt. CHARLES L. GOODELL and Sara G. Glidden were married December 28, 1960. Charles is a Navigator Bombardier in the U. S. A. F. stationed at Mather AFB, Calif., where he is attending Advanced Navigator Radar Bombardment and Reconnaissance School. He entered the Air Force in March, 1957, and expects to make it his career.

JUDITH K. McALLISTER and BRIAN A. O'LEARY were married November 12, 1960. Address: 50 Orchard Dr., East Williston, N. Y.

JAMES P. CHAPMAN is an engineer undergoing sales training with Allis-Chalmers Manufacturing Company and is a member of the Graduate Training Program in the capacity of editor of Aces (Allis-Chalmers Engineers Society) Argus monthly publication of all graduate trainees with A-C. With his wife, the former LOUISE A. LINTON '59, he resides at 7911 W. Hampton Ave., Milwaukee 18, Wis.

BART F. PETRINI, JR., and Rosemary DeRicci were married October 22, 1960. Bart is an engineering management trainee with Fairless Works of the U. S. Steel Corp. of Morrisville. The Petrinis are living at 260 Roosevelt St., Bristol.

Lt. WILLIAM V. BOGART received his paratrooper wings at Fort Benning, Ga., and is now a platoon leader in Hawaii. Address: 125 Sig. Bn., 25th Inf. Div., Hawaii APO, San Francisco, Calif.

JOAN SOLLFREY's marriage to Ken Gottesfeld was announced in the last issue and since then, I've heard from Joan, who is living and teaching in Denver, Colo. She says she's "dying to see the big cities again."

WINNIE WILCOX writes from Cornell. "Medical school is quite entertaining but the lack of contact with people on the outside is sometimes disquieting. For some obscure reason, I actually look forward to receiving the next issue of THE BUCKNELL ALUMNUS." Now, what do you mean "obscure," Winnie? He adds that JOE VINCENT is a student at Penn Medical School. Good luck to you both.

From ERNEST LIDDLE, a note from Grand Rapids, Mich. Ernest earned his M.A. from Bucknell last August and is now an associate professor of historical theology at Grand Rapids Baptist Theological Seminary. In addition to his teaching responsibilities, he is working toward a Ph.D. degree at Michigan State University.

Ran into CAROLYN SAXTON last week. A member of our class for two years, Carolyn is working here in Pittsburgh, so we made plans to have lunch, together with JUDY ANGELO, some Saturday in the very near future.

DIANE COLLINS writes that her job as an editorial assistant with McGraw-Hill Publishing Co. in New York, is fascinating and it does sound so! If anyone should see Diane, ask her about her interview for that job!

Also married in November were JANET STOCKHAM and James W. Reece. Address: Apt. 6, 422 Harvard St., Norfolk 5, Va.

DOROTHY E. MOSER and WILLIAM DAY '59 were married in California and are living at Shari Los Robles, 1455 Los Robles Ave., Pasadena, Calif.

Finally, so many of you have asked what I am doing, besides keeping track of my classmates. I manage to keep busy teaching 10th and 11th grade English at Quaker Valley High School, going to night school twice a week, and corresponding with fiancé DAVID OTT '59 who is at Fort Knox, Ky. I wish I could answer each note from those of you who have written but time simply won't permit it! How about some news from those of you whose whereabouts are still a mystery?

ALUMNI TRUSTEE TIMETABLE

March 1—Election announcement in THE BUCKNELL ALUMINUS.

April 3—Ballots in mail.

May 16—Deadline for receiving ballots in Alumni Office.

June Commencement—Certification to Board of Trustees.

59 MRS. VENALD W. BOVARD, JR.
(Jeanne F. Anderson)
1612 Jefferson Ave.
Duumore, Pa.

HELLO!
MARTY TAYLOR writes from 18 Oakland Place, Summit, N. J., to express the hope that many of us who did not respond to the letter

IN MEMORIAM

The following deaths have been reported to the Alumni Office since January, 1961. The University extends sympathy to the surviving relatives.

- 1903—Dr. Roger H. Williams, December, 1960
 1905—Miss Nellie F. Hood (Inst.), December 25, 1960
 Mrs. Carl L. Millward (Mary V. Kreisher) (Music), January 27, 1961
 1910—Mr. Cameron A. Butt, January 16, 1961
 1911—Mr. Sidney P. Davis, September 7, 1950
 Mrs. Vincent W. Poorman (Edith Harpell), 1957
 Dr. Charles H. Heacock, December 30, 1960
 1917—Mr. F. Glenn Rogers, February 4, 1961
 Mrs. George J. McCarthy (Elizabeth B. Lehr), January 24, 1961
 Mr. Frank E. Williams, January 7, 1961
 1920—George W. VanDyke, Esq., December 25, 1960
 1923—Mr. Walter B. Shaw, January 22, 1961
 1925—Mrs. Lewis K. Rich (Mary Graham) (Music), February 5, 1961
 1926—Mr. Herbert W. Foshay
 1929—Dr. Kenneth G. Reinheimer, October 22, 1960
 1930—Mr. Leonard M. Roupp, January 27, 1961
 1938—Mr. William E. Stryjak, December 12, 1960

CLUBS

(Continued from Page 9)

April 8 the Bucknell Alumni Club of Philadelphia will hold a dinner-dance at the Philadelphia Rifle Club.

On May 6 Bucknellians will meet at the Penguin Inn in Clifton, N. J., for a dinner-dance sponsored by the Bucknell Alumni Club of Northern New Jersey and, finally, on July 16 Bucknell Alumni in the Bucknell Alumni Club of Rocky Mountains will hold a family picnic at the U. S. Air Force Academy in Colorado Springs, Colo. Capt. and Mrs. Philip J. Erdle (Carolyn M. Knies '52) have arranged for a tour of the Academy and have reserved the picnic grounds for the occasion.

The record of alumni club meetings to date is a good one and we are hoping that records can be broken this year in the number of clubs having meetings. You can help us set a new record by getting in touch with your local club president or by writing your club president in care of the Alumni Office expressing your desire to meet with Bucknellians in the area.

RECORD

(Continued from Page 11)

Books

BY BUCKNELL AUTHORS

GLOVER, EDWIN A., ESQ., '30
Bucktailed Wildcats
A Regiment of Civil War Volunteers
 Thomas Yoseloff, New York and London, 1960

Alumnus Edwin A. Glover, Esq., '30 has written the story of the tall, boisterous lumbermen from the wildcat district of Pennsylvania—700 ragged and undisciplined lumbermen from the counties of McKean, Elk, Cameron, Tioga, Potter and nearby areas—who answered President Lincoln's first call for volunteers and became the first Pennsylvania rifles—one of the most formidable and deadly rifle regiments of the Civil War.

The Bucktailed Wildcats fought heavily during the early part of the war. Rough and hardy, they foraged for their own food and not only fought battles, but skirmished before and covered the withdrawal after. From the moment the yelling Wildcats descended from the Northern Pennsylvania wilderness with a deertail bobbing in every hat, they became a legend.

The book is a thoroughly researched document, based on official records, newspapers, contemporary reports, regimental histories and the letters of the men themselves. More than that, it is the dramatic and exciting story of one of the most colorful regiments of the Civil War.

Mr. Glover has spent a lifetime devoted to extensive historical research and no one is more eminently qualified to have written this history of the Bucktailed Wildcats. Every reader of history—Civil War buff or not—will enjoy this interesting story of an unusual fighting unit.

(EDITOR'S NOTE)—Edwin A. Glover, Esq., '30, who is president of the Tioga County Historical Society and vice president of the Pennsylvania Federation of Historical Societies, was the speaker at a meeting held on the campus on Wednesday, February 1, 1961, by the Susquehanna Civil War Roundtable. The title of his address was "The Pennsylvania Bucktails—Why were they famous?"

Summer School

The 1961 Bucknell Summer School will open for the six weeks session June 26 and close August 4. An eight weeks program for students of chemistry will open June 12 and close August 4.

This summer Bucknell is inviting a number of distinguished professors and creative artists to visit the campus for a week, deliver five lectures, either in a course or connected with a field of study, and one evening lecture open to the public. Arthur S. Link, Editor of the Woodrow Wilson Papers, Firestone Library, Princeton University, has already accepted our invitation and will lecture for a week in History 314, America in The Twentieth Century, on Woodrow Wilson, Theodore Roosevelt, and the Progressive Movement. His public lecture will be on "The Higher Realism of Woodrow Wilson." Dr. Link is probably the outstanding authority in the United States on this era of our history.

The Distinguished Visiting Professors program is but another item in a continuing effort to make the Bucknell Summer School one of the finest. It will contribute to Bucknell's general objective of providing a program of studies and of cultural events that will attract undergraduate students, graduate students, and students who have no degree in mind, but who wish to improve themselves culturally and intellectually. The Summer School program seems to be achieving its objective, if numbers can be considered a criterion of success. The total number of students enrolled has risen from 582 in 1957 to 817 in 1960. The election of courses other than those in professional education has broadened from 115 in 1958 to 225 in 1960. These latter figures do not include the 132 elections of courses in the sciences and mathematics made in the Institute for Teachers of Science.

Bucknell's principal objective, however, continues to be that of providing superior instruction for teachers, guidance counsellors, and administrators. We are fortunate in being able to offer again the Summer Institute for American Studies, sponsored by the Coe Foundation; the Summer Institute for Asian Studies; the National Science Foundation Institute for Science Teachers; and the National Science Foundation Summer Institute for the Engineering Sciences for Junior College and Liberal Arts College Teachers. Elementary school teachers will be offered a program of studies which will emphasize teaching the gifted child, diagnosis and correction of reading difficulties with special emphasis on developmental reading in the primary through the junior high school grades, and teaching the social sciences in elementary school. An extensive and varied program of courses leading to certification of elementary and secondary school principals, supervision, and guidance counsellors will also be provided.

The arts, sciences, and humanities will be well represented by a large and varied program of courses. Two special travel courses in aesthetics, Philosophy 212, for undergraduates, and Philosophy 312, for graduates, will be under the direction of Professor F. David Martin of the Bucknell Department of Philosophy, who will be assisted by a number of local experts. Europe will be the classroom and its art treasures will be studied in situ.

As usual, a rich extracurricular program devoted to lectures, music, and art will be open to both students and the general public. One of the most popular of these, Chamber Music, under the direction of Professor Lindsey Merrill of the Department of Music, will be presented for the fourth summer.

So Bucknellians don't feel shy about recommending the Bucknell Summer School to friends and neighbors. If you have the time, you might even recommend it to yourself!

GENEROUS BENEFACTOR

(Continued from Page 2)

In 1954, Bucknell University made Mrs. Bertrand "one of her own" by conferring upon her the honorary degree of Doctor of Humanities. In citing Mrs. Bertrand, Dr. William H. Coleman, then Dean of the University, said in part, "'Thy modesty,' said Fielding, 'is a candle to thy merit.' Modesty is, perhaps, Mrs. Bertrand's distinguishing trait. That her generosity should have made possible the beautiful library that bears her name borders on the dramatic. Like the poet she has given to airy nothing a local habitation and a name. The noble Bertrand Library symbolizes in brick and mortar the intellectual life for which, we trust, this University stands."

And so this posthumous gift of over four million dollars by Bucknell's greatest benefactor assures a continuing of the "intellectual life" which was first symbolized by her generous gift of the beautiful Ellen Clarke Bertrand Library.

FUTURE NEEDS

(Continued from Page 3)

graduate library as can be found anywhere. But Bucknell still is woefully short on scholarship endowment, endowment for faculty salaries and professorships, endowed lectureships, and especially unrestricted endowment funds."

It is to be recalled that within the Ten-Year Plan announced in 1956, Bucknell still has two objectives to attain, a Chapel and a Women's Dormitory. Moreover, a Campus Center or Student Union and a Men's Dormitory are additional physical needs that must be met in the future.

Dr. Haines continued, "Our former President, Arnaud C. Marts, has estimated that 90% of the endowment of American Colleges has come by way of bequests. Bucknellians of all generations should be forever grateful for the wisdom and generosity of good friends like Ellen Clarke Bertrand, and others, who have remembered Bucknell in their wills."

C'mon along to . . .

ALUMNI WEEK END
JUNE 2, 3, and 4

- EMERITUS CLUB
- CLASS OF 1911
- CLASS OF 1916
- CLASS OF 1921
- CLASS OF 1926
- CLASS OF 1931

- CLASS OF 1936
- CLASS OF 1941
- CLASS OF 1946
- CLASS OF 1951
- CLASS OF 1956
- CLASS OF 1961

An invitation to return to Bucknell on June 2, 3, and 4, for Alumni Week End is extended to all Bucknellians and especially to those members of the reunion classes listed above. During the month of April members of these reunion classes will receive a special Reunion Reservation Form to be returned to Alumni Headquarters, Bucknell University, Lewisburg, Pennsylvania. The return of this form will reserve a room or rooms in a dormitory for you, your family and your friends. Reunion class members will be housed with their classmates in the same dormitory in most instances.

Members of non-reunion classes will receive a Reunion Reservation Form in the May issue of THE BUCKNELL ALUMNUS.

We hope we'll see YOU on June 2-4.

the campus calendar

MARCH

- 3-4 Burma-Bucknell Weekend
- 9-10 Artists Series—Solov Ballet
- 11 PIAA Swimming Finals
- 17-18 University Players—"Pal Joey"
- 23-24 University Players—"Pal Joey"
- 25 Spring Recess Begins at 12 Noon

APRIL

- 4 Spring Recess Ends at 8:00 A. M.
- 7-8 Bucknell Sixth Annual Science Fair
- 14 Concert by the "Brothers Four"
- 20 Artists Series—Amsterdam Concertgebouw Orchestra
- 21 Senior Prom—"Buddy Morrow and His Orchestra"

MAY

- 4-6 Cap and Dagger Play—"The Male Animal"
- 5-7 Spring Festival
- 12-13 House Party Weekend
- 20 Classes End
- 23 Final Examinations Begin
- 31 Final Examinations End

JUNE

- 2-4 Alumni Weekend
- 4 Baccalaureate and Commencement

Mrs. Harold W. Hayden
616 Ingham Street
Lewisburg, Pa.

THE BUCKNELL
ALUMNUS

May 1961

1911

1936

1936

1961

Join the parade !

see page 15

OFFICERS OF THE ASSOCIATION

President

ROBERT W. DILL '27

First Vice President

MRS. CLYDE P. BAILEY (Dorothy Lemon '29)

Second Vice President

DANIEL F. GRIFFITH '36

Treasurer

DONALD B. YOUNG '33

Secretary and Editor

JOHN H. SHOTT '22

Assistant Secretary and Assistant Editor

C. BRUCE ROSSITER '56

BOARD OF DIRECTORS

ROBERT W. DILL '27, 5136 Butler Pike, Plymouth Meeting, Pa. (1961)

WILLIAM D. GOLIGHTLY '25, 309 W. Webster Ave., Scranton, Pa. (1961)

MRS. PAUL M. SHOWALTER (S. Katharine Graham '33), 855 St. Louis St., Lewisburg, Pa. (1961)

MRS. CLYDE P. BAILEY (Dorothy Lemon '29), 5025 Fifth Ave., Apt. 3-B, Pittsburgh 32, Pa. (1962)

CHARLES F. FOX, JR., M.D. '31, 180 Washington Ave., Vandergrift, Pa. (1962)

D. EUGENE LONG '29, 131 Avon Place, West Hempstead, N. Y. (1962)

EUGENE P. BERTIN '17, 201 S. Main St., Muncy, Pa. (1963)

MRS. JOHN W. LEWIS (Elinor Childs '52), 8A Sayre Court, Madison, N. J. (1963)

ROBERT H. TAYLOR '48, 214 Avon Rd., Narberth, Pa. (1963)

CHARLES T. FARROW '26, P. O. Box 29, Westfield, N. J. (1964)

IRVIN GRAYBILL, JR., ESQ. '49, Middleburg, Pa. (1964)

ALLEN F. JONES '25, 2 Linn St., Progress, Harrisburg, Pa. (1964)

HENRY G. P. COATES, ESQ. '32, East Ward St., Hightstown, N. J. (1965)

DANIEL F. GRIFFITH '36, 599 Massachusetts Ave., Aldan, Pa. (1965)

PETER WEIDENBACHER '50, 525 Hillside Ave., Mountaintown, N. J. (1965)

() Year Term Expires

Alumni Headquarters—SECOND FLOOR,
CARNEGIE BUILDING

Member—AMERICAN ALUMNI COUNCIL

ON THE COVER—Thanks to the staff of the Grit Publishing Company Design Department the cover symbolizes the return of Alumni from many classes to the campus for Alumni Week End on June 2, 3, and 4. Have you made your plans to join the parade to Bucknell? If not, why not do it today! Send in your reservation (see inside back cover).

The highlights of the week end are reviewed on the back cover.

THE BUCKNELL ALUMNUS

VOLUME XLVI

MAY 1961

No. 5

IN THIS ISSUE

- 1 This Is Your University
- 2 Fraternities, An Open Appraisal
—by Charles A. Meyn, Dean of Men
- 4 Adventure to Indonesia
—by Charles M. Cargille '56
- 6 He Remembered The Forgotten Men
- 8 Administration Center, A Preview of Our Newest Building
- 10 Alumni Board Nominees
- 12 For The Record
- 15 Join The Parade, Alumni Week End
- 16 The Club Program
- 18 Spring Sports, 1961 Edition
—by Bradley N. Tufts, Sports Information Director
- 19 Class Reports

Charles M. Cargille '56, 4—Robert Lindner '35, 6—Claire Wynkoop Carlson '49, 10—Isabelle L. Clouser '38, 10—Robert W. Dill '27, 11—Warren R. Lewis '42, 11—Frank R. McGregor '23, 11—Robert W. Megargel '49, 11—Adolph Langsner '31, 14—Arnaud C. Marts H'46, 14—1961 Football Schedule, 18—Victor A. Schmid '12, 20—Karl G. Goerdel '19, 22—Thomas F. Morgan, Jr., '21, 24—Hugo Riemeier '29, 26—Edward Lewis '40, 28—Martin M. Cummings '41, 29—(Rhoda Wolf) Dodie Marshall '56, 30—Alumni Week End Program, 31—In Memoriam, 32—Alumni Trustee Timetable, 32—Alumni Week End Dormitory and Ticket Reservation Coupon, 32—Bequests For Bucknell, 32—S. P. E. House Destroyed By Fire, 32—Sorority Commencement Activities, 32.
Back cover: Alumni Week End Highlights.

THE BUCKNELL ALUMNUS is published in January, March, May, September and November by BUCKNELL UNIVERSITY. Entered as second-class matter December 30, 1930 at the post office at Lewisburg, Pa., under Act of August 24, 1912.

Number Four

THIS IS YOUR UNIVERSITY

Each year the pageantry, pomp, and ceremony of Commencement is preceded by the high spirits, good fellowship, and hearty demonstrations of loyalty to Alma Mater by hundreds of Alumni.

One may ask "Why do Alumni return for Alumni Week End?" Obvious answers to this question are: to see old friends and classmates, to boast about children and grandchildren, or in short to be among a lot of happy people. But do these explanations really answer the question? Maybe they do, but we suggest a reason that we are all aware of but seldom voice and that is allegiance.

Skillful writers and orators have on occasion bruited the theme, allegiance, but never have they seemed to touch that secret place in the heart of an Alumnus reserved for this special loyalty. The treasure of allegiance is the possession of each Alumnus which becomes more precious as the years unfold.

We suggest this is the real reason Alumni return and hope it is one of the reasons you will return for Alumni Week End on June 2, 3, and 4, 1961.

"To thee we swear our proud allegiance, thy loyal sons are we, and true"—Alumni Parade to Davis Gymnasium for the Alumni Reunion Luncheon,

An Open Appraisal

by
CHARLES A. MEYN
Dean of Men

THE 1960-61 Catalogue issue of the Bucknell University Bulletin, page 42, reads as follows. "Thirteen Greek letter fraternities have houses on or near the campus, and each of the nine sororities has a suite in Hunt Hall. Individually and through the Interfraternity and Panhellenic Councils these groups actively contribute to the social and cultural life of the campus. Students may join these groups only after meeting academic requirements set by the two councils and approved by the University."

Do the men's fraternities at Bucknell "actively contribute to the social and cultural life of the campus," as stated? If they do make these contributions, what evidence can be presented to this effect? Furthermore, what will be the role of men's fraternities at Bucknell in the future? These and many other questions related to fraternities should be answered for the many publics of our University.

The relationship of fraternities to their parent Alma Mater has radically changed since World War II. Although they were once considered corporate entities existing side by side with the University, we now find that they have been, of necessity, assimilated into the structure of the University's routine operation. They are no longer independent entities but rather extensions of the institution's responsibility to create desirable living units for its undergraduate men. A recent excerpt from an article appearing in the April, 1961, issue of a bulletin published by the Interfraternity Research and Advisory Council emphasized this trend, "the central offices are steadily losing the effective supervisory control which was characteristic of an earlier day. This tends to throw a greater burden for management of fraternity chapter affairs on the institutions involved. This tends still further, undesirably, to open the gap between the national headquarters and the undergraduate chapters."

As the effectiveness of central office supervision has decreased among Bucknell fraternities, the Dean of Men and his staff have tried to fill this gap with realistic programs to strengthen the individual chapters and the total fraternity program. Needless to say, we have not arrived at the millennium, but definite progress has been made. We are aware of areas needing particular attention in the future and we shall initiate, on June 2nd, a program that is designed to deal with many of these areas. However, what has been the progress of our efforts to date?

I emphasize the collective adjective "our" because on many occasions it has been the cooperative effort of the Alumni, the University and the active chapter that has enabled progress to be made. On certain other occasions the national organization of a local chapter also has been of assistance. I wish to appropriately recognize all of these groups but special attention must be given to the undergraduate men working through the Interfraternity Council. These grass root" participants have done a creditable job to date and their efforts should be made known.

Springtime brings out the men on fraternity row.

The fraternities have been responsible for initiating a program to emphasize academic standards among their memberships. In 1957 the University regulation required a freshman to attain a 1.6 to become eligible to pledge a fraternity. This average was obviously below a satisfactory standard. The attrition rate of fraternity men was high, and many students who were not academically motivated were dropped. During the fall semester of 1957 the Interfraternity Council passed a motion to raise the academic pledging requirement to 1.8. In addition, the I. F. C. requested that it be given the responsibility for working toward a higher objective in the future. Both recommendations were accepted by the University. In 1958 the academic average for pledging was raised by I. F. C. to 1.9. On April 6, 1961, the I. F. C. raised the grade point average for pledging to 2.0. In essence, this will mean that every man pledged by a fraternity will have a graduating average.

The significance of these efforts has been realized during the last two semesters. During the spring semester of 1959-60 and the fall semester of 1960-61, two consecutive semesters, the academic average for fraternity men has been above the all-men's academic average at Bucknell.

No visitor to the campus can help but notice the excellent physical facilities of our fraternities. Their size and architecture blend into the overall design of the surrounding academic facilities. Architecturally, they add to the appearance of our campus. The interiors of the houses also have received appropriate maintenance as well as improvements. This particular aspect of fraternity maintenance is usually a constant source of difficulty on many campuses. However, the cooperative efforts of the Alumni and the active members have minimized this problem at Bucknell.

During my short tenure on campus four houses have significantly expanded or improved their chapter houses. Two chapters have recently built new houses and a third has purchased a large home in the borough. At least two additional fraternities have taken steps to build new chapter houses while a third is considering an extension of its facilities. Over half of our chapters have been involved in some type of improvement program during the past four years. This is indeed an enviable record.

In 1957 the I. F. C. adopted a "dry" or non-alcoholic rushing policy for the thirteen fraternities. Fraternity open houses for freshmen during the fall semester have been conducted without alcoholic beverages during the last four years. The formal rushing open houses during the second semester are also non-alcoholic social events. The responsibility for enforcing these policies has been assumed by the I. F. C. No violations have been reported since the adoption of these policies. In an effort to reduce the expense of rushing, all "paid" entertainment also has been eliminated. This removes considerable financial burden from the budgets of the fraternities.

The open houses for freshmen at fraternities during the fall semester of 1958-59 were conducted so well that the requirement that chaperons be present was removed during the 1959-60 academic year. These open houses have, during the last two years, been conducted on the Friday evening of Parents Weekend and four additional weekends. Parents of freshmen have been impressed and pleased with the open houses they have attended.

Several other programs that contribute to the social and cultural life of the Bucknell campus have been initiated by the I. F. C. Additional programs are currently under consideration for the future. A few of these are: central food purchasing by the fraternities; a mid-semester formal rushing period; an I. F. C. newsletter; and an Alumni Interfraternity Council.

Social affairs are among the many fraternity sponsored campus activities.

On Friday evening, June 2, Commencement Weekend, a meeting has been planned with fraternity corporation representatives and advisers. At this time we shall review with these men the present status of fraternities at Bucknell and investigate possible programs for the future. The purpose of this initial meeting is to develop an agenda for a second meeting in Lewisburg during the early fall. The intervening months between Commencement and the fall semester will enable the representatives to gather ideas, suggestions, and comments from their memberships. Bucknell men who will not be on campus for symposia at their fraternities are invited to contact their corporation president concerning the June 2nd meeting. It is my hope that our general Alumni and the Alumni of fraternity affiliation, in particular, can participate in this constructive analysis of our fraternity system.

The fraternity system at Bucknell has been changing in character, purpose, size, and physical appearance during the last five years. The cooperative effort of the University, Alumni, and the undergraduate membership has been quietly building a fraternity system that has made and will continue to make contributions to a revitalized Bucknell. However, we have made only small strides in many areas toward our ultimate objective. This objective, broadly defined, is to have a fraternity system in which every chapter is financially sound; adequately housed; academically oriented; socially responsible; and contributes to the moral as well as to the intellectual and social development of every member.

I believe in the fraternity system. I believe in the fraternity system at Bucknell. However, I do not believe that we are currently obtaining a maximum effort from our fraternities toward the ultimate objectives I have mentioned. When we have experienced the capabilities of fraternities at their best, together with interested and active alumni house advisers; then we shall near our objective.

*Formerly .6 changed to 1.6 with 4.0 system adopted September, 1960.

ASSOCIATED PRESS PHOTO

Horse drawn vehicles and bicycle conveyances travel along one of the main streets in Jogjakarta, the capital of the Republic of Indonesia.

ADVENTURE knocked loudly in May of 1959. It was my third year of medical school at Johns Hopkins. It came by letter—"You are invited to spend a year in my country"—from an Indonesian doctor and personal friend, Dr. Loa Swan Bie, then completing his year of study as an exchange physician at our hospital.

Dr. Loa was a man with a vision of one world at peace, with nations building in cooperation, students from East and West learning new values and insights together, from one another. He was a man appreciative of his year in America, under our ICA exchange. So he chose an American and invited him to his own home, putting ideal into practice, to make that world of his dream one step closer to reality.

What I have seen and heard in that year is a lesson upon which the future and very survival of America depends. It taught me that our world is in revolution, that America will serve as an instrument of God's will in alleviating the suffering of mankind, or it will be destroyed in its failure and communism will spread through all of Asia, Africa, the Middle East, and South America. We live in a day of crises, of terrible alternatives. Peace or atomic destruction; Christian democracy and socialism or communist tyranny; the individual or the state; Russia or America.

Throughout Asia there is a "revolution of rising expectations." The students and young people,—alert, capable, serious,—know as well as you and I that no longer is there need for human brothers to starve. The resources and technology of our world in 1961 is equal to the basic needs of its people for shelter and food. But everywhere are the sick and starving, without food or medicine. Trachoma continues to blind, leprosy to maim. Millions sleep on the sidewalks of Calcutta and Bombay. Ninety-five per cent are illiterate in Afghanistan, 85 per cent in Iran. The number of illiterates is increasing as populations explode without effort of control. Education, coveted by all, remains a privilege for the rich. Human beings continue to toil like animals, with the reward of ever-worsening conditions of life.

ADVENTURE TO INDONESIA

by CHARLES M. CARGILLE '56

But the people demand change! Students are the intellectuals of Asia. Supported by the masses they are demanding not only political independence but food, shelter, education, and medical care for their peoples. And they will get it whether by democratic method, or communist. With America, or in spite of America, they will succeed. China, with no other alternative, was forced to develop with communist methods. India, Burma, Indonesia, much of Africa hang precariously in the balance between East and West.

Communism thrives on poverty. While their politicians distract us with threats of missiles and sputniks, their technicians and political cadres, specialists in political subversion, are pouring into the neutralist countries, intent on convincing the workers that communism is the answer. With superb organization the party exploits every opening to further its power.

Poverty, communism, and revolution are the facts of our dilemma. If America fails to offer a successful, democratic, cooperative answer for these tremendous needs it will soon find itself standing alone on its island. If we fail to love and help our neighbors, fail to devote creative resources to the basic needs of the developing countries, our way of life stands doomed by indifference and complacency.

Who shall take the initiative for America? Will our government do the job? Our missions, our relief agencies, our Tom Dooleys? Have they done the job? No! We have steadily lost ground for forty years. Poverty is increasing. Communism is spreading. No! We must engage ourselves in this struggle as individuals! We need 180 million Americans, each aware of the challenge, personally working in every sphere of action open to him. Whether Christians obedient to the Law of Love, or as Americans fighting for the survival of our families, it must be personal, it must be intensive, it must be dedicated and continuous. Every individual is vital. Every talent is required to do away with poverty and bring the necessities of life to all peoples.

What must we do? Perhaps most wisely we would begin where Dr. Loas began—right where we are, with a vision and an imagination. We would let an idea of peace, cooperative, the relief of suffering take hold of us, and then work to make it a reality. He invited a student to his country, at personal sacrifice and great difficulty. We could create our opportunities, with imagination.

There are many channels open to the seeking person. Active support of the following would be only a few:

1. The United Nations and its specialized agencies, WHO, and UNESCO.
2. The ICA international cooperative aid program.
3. The overseas projects of our churches.
4. Medical pioneers like Dr. Seagrave in Burma and Dr. Schweitzer in Africa.
5. Literacy campaigns as guided by Dr. Frank Laubach, world literacy expert.
6. Private agencies like MEDICO, CARE, or Heifer project.
7. Student Exchanges, like the Junior Year Abroad program of Bucknell.
8. Personal travel abroad and the nourishing of Person to Person friendships.
9. Hospitality for overseas students studying in America.
10. Training Centers like Koinonia Foundation which prepare qualified workers for overseas assignments.

But most significant of all would be your personal service abroad. Graduates with technical, educational, medical, stenographic, business, administrative, or other skills can readily find opportunity abroad by contacting a training and placement center like Koinonia Foundation.

A visit with the famous Burma surgeon, Dr. Seagrave, was a highlight of the trip.

America must "wake up or blow up" in the words of Frank Laubach. Our survival depends upon each one of us, individually.

ABOUT THE AUTHOR—Even before Charles M. Cargille entered Bucknell University in September of 1952, the call to adventure was loud in his ears. As a high school student, Charles had hitchhiked a total of 8,000 miles through much of the Eastern half of the United States.

While at Bucknell he continued his search for adventure and education, travelling extensively during his summer vacations. During his junior year, he studied at the University of Aberdeen in Scotland and, while there, toured the Scottish Highlands, Wales, Sweden, and Finland. In 1956 he returned to Bucknell and received the A.B. degree.

Following graduation he entered Johns Hopkins University as a medical student. In 1959 he interrupted his medical schooling to become the first American medical student to study in Indonesia under the special student exchange program.

Again, he was off on what was to be a hitchhiking experience he would not soon forget. He worked his way across the Atlantic Ocean to West Germany as a groom for some 65 cows, which were being sent to war-ruined and agriculturally underdeveloped countries by Heifer Project, Inc. A hitchhiking professional by the time he reached West Germany, he began a long trip through Europe, the Middle East, Iran, Afghanistan, Pakistan, India, and Malaya visiting doctors, missionaries and students in route to Indonesia. His return trip to the United States was a thrilling experience from beginning to end. A highlight of the trip was a ten-day visit with the famous "Burma Surgeon," Dr. Seagrave, in Namkhan, Burma.

Now in his last year of medical school where he is specializing in obstetrics and gynecology, he has taken time to write the following article for THE BUCKNELL ALUMNUS describing his impressions of the world crisis which we all face.

HE REMEMBERED THE FORGOTTEN MEN

ROBERT LINDNER

A BUCKNELL
ALUMNUS, '35

THOSE who witnessed it seem never to tire of describing his arrival at Bucknell. They say he carried suitcases, tennis racquets, hockey sticks, golf clubs, and a typewriter. The numbers of these items vary with the narrator, but the idea is always the same: Bob Lindner was a New York boy who arrived in Lewisburg in 1931 thoroughly prepared to enjoy a romantic conception of college life "in the country." The details of the story are unimportant and may be altered to suit the fancy of him who tells it, for the spirit is valid. Bob continued, always, to engage with passionate absorption in any idea or activity which claimed his voluntary attention.

The tennis racquets and golf clubs, used with pleasure but with indifferent skill for a while, soon made way for the typewriter which became his constant companion in a small but significant segment of Bucknell's campus life. Novels were written, pictures painted, poems composed, peace movements and strikers supported. Then Instructor Lois Stevenson, of the English department, helped these students start The Apple Cart. Bob consistently contributed to this little publication, which Bucknellians of the middle thirties remember with nostalgia.

Later, in biographical sketches, Bob always mentioned along with Miss Stevenson, Professors George Lawson and Philip Harriman. Professor Lawson, the philosophy department in those days, was generous in opening his personal library and his profound mind to Bob. Professor and Mrs. Harriman became his beloved lifelong friends. It was Philip Harriman who led Bob to understand that if he wanted to write he had to have something to write about, that he should know—really know—people. So after graduating from Bucknell in 1935, Bob went to Cornell and took a Ph.D. degree in psychology. During that period he and Eleanor (Johnnie) Johnson '34 were married.

Jobs were still scarce in the late thirties, but while Bob was substituting for a Lehigh professor on leave word came from Philip Harriman that a psychologist was needed at the Northeastern Federal Penitentiary. Uncle Sam employed Bob, and the Lindners returned to Lewisburg with a feeling of homecoming and of the appropriateness of starting their family there.

Bob had become interested in psychoanalysis by this me, and with "captive" patients at hand in the penitentiary proceeded to devote himself to serious study of psychopaths. His first book, Rebel Without a Cause, grew out of his work with an incarcerated patient. Rebel aroused a great deal of both professional and popular interest (it was bought by Warner Brothers), for psychopaths are the most difficult of all disturbed people to work with. It was largely as a consequence of this book that Bob had no trouble filling his fifty-minute hours as a private psychoanalyst in Baltimore when he left Lewisburg at the end of the Second World War.

For the remaining eleven years of his life Bob practiced analysis, acted as Consultant for the Board of Correction of the State of Maryland, and wrote books, magazine articles, and numerous papers for professional publications. Rebel was followed by Stone Walls and Men, a psychoanalytic study of crime. Next came Prescription for Rebellion, a young man's philosophy of an effective way of living.

The honor Bob cherished more than any other came in response to Prescription. Doubt, the magazine of the Forensic Society, chose him Man of the Year in 1953. This society is comparatively small, but its members are significant because they take joy in the unusual—seek out the doubters of established methods—support the questioners of accepted practices. Bob had competition for their favor, and finally shared "Man of the Year" title with Albert Einstein and Chief Justice Black. However, he didn't decline the honor because he was required to share it.

After Prescription came The Fifty Minute Hour, a collection of psychoanalytic tales, three of which have been filmed and one of which has been sold for possible movie production. Then, in 1956, came a book of essays, Must You Conform? Most of these titles have been translated and published in various European countries, Japan, and Israel. When he became ill, Bob had just begun to write The Wizard, a novel about "a psychoanalyst who became a man."

Bob Lindner died, aged 41, in 1956. Even those who knew him well were amazed at the distances from which letters of grief arrived, and that Baltimore bookstores filled with persons looking for others who lamented losing Bob. At a large public meeting, the idea of The Robert Lindner Foundation was born.

The Robert Lindner Foundation was organized to encourage creative thinking, but a method of accomplishing this was at first elusive. The Foundation presented some stimulating lectures at well attended public meetings, but this was not enough, and not at all unique. Then the idea of a Prisons Awards Contest, to encourage creative thinking specifically in the fields of literature, science, art, and music, took shape as the appropriate instrument.

In its first year, the Prisons Awards Contest was open to inmates of prisons in seven eastern states, and seventy-five entries were judged. In its third year, a total of 2000 entries came from most of the fifty states and Canada. Many showed promise, and some gave evidence of talent able and ready to compete with professionals.

One service of the Foundation is to act as agent without fee in marketing the better entries. A cartoon series has been sold to a national advertising company, and a scientific device to a manufacturer. More than a dozen paintings have been sold, and the 1960 Award poems have been placed for publication. Other sales are in the offing. (Oddly, the burglar-proof lock designed by a prisoner whose offense may be surmised has not yet found a market.)

Letters from inmates and wardens alike praise the work of the Foundation. Wardens write that the mere fact of the Contest helps morale by demonstrating that society's forgotten men are remembered; that preparing entries turns deadly wasteful hours into living, hopeful experience. Winning a contest or receiving honorable mention can change a man's whole life. "Incorrigibles"—esteemed first by the Foundation and thereafter by themselves—have become model prisoners and used the influence created by their new-found self respect for social rather than antisocial objectives.

Samples of the second annual Robert Lindner Foundation Prisoner Awards Competition in art, science, literature, and music were recently displayed in the windows of the famous Enoch-Pratt Library in Baltimore, Md.

Personal correspondence with the secretary of the Foundation, and evaluative comments from the judges on promising entries, have allayed prisoners' early suspicions of the Foundation's motives. The number of entries they submit attests the enthusiastic support inmates now give the program. The professional standing of the artists, writers, critics, and teachers who give freely of their time to judging the contest entries suggests that Baltimoreans are proud of the project.

The boy who arrived at Bucknell in 1931 was still young Bob Lindner when he died in 1956, still engaged with passionate absorption and sincerity in ideas and people and the future. Some of the books will doubtless live; but most of all, the strength and courage and generosity that characterized Bob as a student have inspired others effectively to go on seeking respect for the individuality of all men and resistance to the coercive influence which stifles a man's soul. Can many of us hope for a surer immortality than this?

EDITORS NOTE: The Robert Lindner Foundation, since its inception in 1956, has steadily expanded its Prison Awards Program and now is receiving national recognition for its work in contributing to the creative development of "the forgotten man." Because we knew of no better person to tell Alumni about Bob Lindner and the work of the Robert Lindner Foundation, we asked Mrs. Eleanor Johnson Lindner '34, to write the story for us. Anyone desiring to know more about the work of the Foundation should write to the Robert Lindner Foundation, 10 E. Fayette Street, Baltimore, Md.

Artist's sketch of the Administration Center

ADMINISTRATION CENTER

A Preview of Our Newest Building

DURING the month of May, administrative offices in East Wing, West Wing, Roberts Hall, and the second floor of the Carnegie Building will move to a new home. The Administration Center, the newest addition to the physical plant and one of the results of the successful Dual Development Campaign, is near reality and will be ready for all Alumni to inspect on Alumni Week End, June 2, 3, and 4.

An addition to the Charles Parker Vaughan Literature Building erected in 1933 as part of the new academic quadrangle, the Administration Center's exterior appearance will match exactly the Georgian Colonial architecture of the "Lit" building. In fact, it will be extremely difficult after the building is complete to determine the exterior difference in age.

On the interior, however, there is a tremendous difference. The new building, which joins the "Lit" auditorium, is one-third larger and has one more floor. It is of modern design and is completely air-conditioned.

The new building, because of architectural limitations, provides less space for most services than in the past, but space is utilized more efficiently. Also, professional staff offices are smaller than existing offices, but conference rooms have been strategically located to provide for group meetings. Suites of rooms for the Dean of the University, the Dean of Men and Dean of Women have been provided in order that a secretary for each can serve as a receptionist for the entire professional staff in each area. Finally, large work rooms have been designed for the clerical staff.

With the exception of office chairs and lounge furniture, existing furnishings and equipment will be used. Many desks have been refinished by the physical plant staff.

Further description of the building with special reference to room dedications will be published in a special article to appear in a forthcoming issue of THE BUCKNELL ALUMNUS. It's not necessary for you to wait to get the scoop. Join the hundreds of Alumni returning for Alumni Week End on June 2, 3, and 4, 1961, and see for yourself!

Facilities on the ground floor include: a visitor's lounge, the Admissions Offices, Alumni Offices, and service areas (I. B. M., stenographic pool and duplicating work-rooms, faculty and administrative post office, and mailing room).

Offices on the first floor such as the Office of the Dean of the University, Offices of the Registrar and Recorder, and the Business Offices provide space for most of the student services.

The second floor provides offices for the President, Director of Development, Director of Public Relations, Dean of Student Affairs, and the Deans of Men and Women. Three conference rooms and a lounge are also located on this floor.

ALUMNI BOARD NOMINEES

Delegates to the Annual Assembly on June 3, 1961, Will Elect Three Alumni to the Board of Directors of The General Alumni Association

EACH year three members of the fifteen-member Board of Directors of The General Alumni Association are elected. At least three members of the Board shall be women. The present membership list of the Board of Directors, showing the year of expiration of their terms of service, appears on the inside front cover of this issue of THE BUCKNELL ALUMNUS.

On this page will be found pictures and short biographical outlines of the six candidates who have agreed to serve (if elected) five-year terms on the Board of Directors. These candidates have been selected by the present members of the Board sitting as a nominating committee. Their selection was made on the basis of their past record of service to the alumni association and with the idea that representation on the Board shall be as closely as possible in numerical proportion to the geographic distribution of the alumni family.

The election is held at the Annual Assembly of The General Alumni Association scheduled for Saturday morning, June 3, at 9:30 A. M., Daylight Saving Time. Additional nominations may be made from the floor of the Assembly just prior to the election.

Voting representation in the Annual Assembly is conducted by delegates elected or appointed by the various alumni clubs of The General Alumni Association. Each club is entitled to send to the Annual Assembly one delegate and one alternate. In addition, each club may send one delegate and one alternate for each 75 Alumni residing in the club area. Since all but 1500 of our Alumni are within one of the geographic areas of our 68 alumni clubs, it can be seen that all Alumni can be fully represented at the Annual Assembly. For purposes of voting, the 1500 Alumni outside of specific club areas are considered as members of the local (Union County) alumni club. During the three months prior to the Annual Assembly, alumni club presidents receive from Alumni Headquarters reminders urging them to elect or appoint a full complement of Alumni to represent the club at the Annual Assembly.

A quorum consists of those delegates and alternates who attend and each delegate or his alternate is entitled to one vote. All business is dispatched by a majority vote of those present. The By-Laws provide that there shall be no voting by proxy.

This method of election has been adopted by The General Alumni Association after a study of methods in use at other universities and, frankly, is designed to encourage maximum representation of each alumni club at the Annual Assembly. At first glance it might seem that clubs at some distance from the campus suffer because of difficulties of finding delegates to represent them at the Annual Assembly. Actually, among the fourteen alumni classes that reunite each year on the campus, there are some class members who will make a long trip to the reunion and thus can represent their local club with a minimum of inconvenience. Alumni who are returning for class reunions can provide a valuable club service by calling their local club president and offering to serve as a delegate at the Annual Assembly in Lewisburg.

The meetings of the Annual Assembly are open to all Alumni, and everyone on campus during Alumni Week End is cordially invited and urged to attend the Annual Assembly session scheduled for 9:30 A. M. Even if you are not a delegate, you will be interested in hearing the annual reports of the Association and will be able to carry back to your local club a report of the activities of The General Alumni Association.

CLAIRE WYNKOOP CARLSON '49

College Activities: B.S. in Civil Engineering, Bucknell University, 1949; Phi Mu; Alpha Lambda Delta; Women's Student Government Association; Christian Association; L'AGENDA staff; W. V. B. U. staff; Member, American Society of Civil Engineers.

Present Occupation: Project Engineer, West Virginia Pulp & Paper Company, New York City, N. Y.; Student, New York University School of Law.

Alumni Activities: Past President and Member of Board of Directors of the Bucknell Alumni Club of Greater New York; Area Captain, Bucknell Alumni Fund, 1958-59.

ISABELLE L. CLOUSER '38

College Activities: A.B., Bucknell University, 1938; Cap and Dagger; Theta Alpha Phi; Sigma Tau Delta; Kappa Delta Epsilon; Women's Education Club; Girls' Glee Club; Mixed Chorus; Senior Honor House President.

Present Occupation: Editing and Writing, Henry I. Christ's staff for English in Action series published by D. C. Heath and Company.

Alumni Activities: Secretary, Vice President, and Past President, Bucknell Alumni Club of Harrisburg, Pennsylvania; Member, Bucknell Alumni Club of New York City; Editor, Class of 1938 Twentieth Reunion Book; Active in Queens 1957 Alumni Fund and the Dual Development Campaign Drives.

ROBERT W. DILL '27

College Activities: Class of 1927, Bucknell University; Sigma Chi; Student Council; Friars, Frill and Frown; Varsity football.

Present Occupation: Engineer and Superintendent of the construction company of Robert Hawthorne, Inc., Philadelphia.

Alumni Activities: President and Director of The General Alumni Association; Member of the Executive Committee and past President and Vice President of the Bucknell Alumni Club of Philadelphia; Alumni Representative on University Athletic Council; Member, Bison Club; Active in Heating Plant, Cowan, Alumni Fund, and Dual Development Campaigns in Philadelphia.

WARREN R. LEWIS '42

College Activities: A.B., Bucknell University, 1942; Sigma Chi; Spanish Club, Christian Association; "B" Club; and participated in Varsity Soccer and Baseball and Intramural Sports.

Present Occupation: Personnel and Industrial Relations, Eastman Kodak Co., Rochester, N. Y.

Alumni Activities: President, Bucknell Alumni Club of Rochester; Member, Bison Club; Active in Heating Plant Campaign and Co-chairman of Dual Development Campaign in Rochester.

FRANK R. MCGREGOR '23

College Activities: Class of 1923, Bucknell University: Sigma Chi; Phi Delta Sigma; Tau Kappa Alpha; President, Sophomore Class; Member, Debating Team and Freshman and Sophomore football teams.

Present Occupation: Senior Partner, Frank R. McGregor & Associates, Washington, D. C.

Alumni Activities: Past President, Vice President, Secretary and Treasurer of the Bucknell Alumni Club of New York; Conceived the idea and active in the drive for the Christy Mathewson Memorial; active in drive for funds to build the stadium; treasurer and class fund manager; Member, Bison Club.

ROBERT W. MEGARGEL '49

College Activities: A.B., Bucknell University, 1949: Sigma Alpha Epsilon; Pi Delta Epsilon; Omicron Delta Kappa; Men's Glee Club; "B" Club; L'AGENDA staff; BUCKNELLIAN staff; Who's Who in American Colleges.

Present Occupation: Marketing Representative, Textile Fibers, duPont Co.

Alumni Activities: Past President, Bucknell Alumni Club of Buffalo; Personal Solicitation Chairman, Alumni Fund, 1958, Co-chairman, 1959; Area Chairman, Dual Development Campaign, 1960.

FOR THE RECORD

Musical Tours 1961-1962

Announcement of the tour plans of the Bucknell University musical organizations are being made now so that alumni club officers and individuals may know where the organizations will appear during the 1961-1962 academic year. These advance notices can prove of mutual benefit to both the musical organizations and the alumni clubs with consequent benefits to Bucknell University. Alumni in the areas to be visited can use this information to arrange for appearances of the singing and instrumental groups in church, community service, and other local organizations. On the other hand, the Bucknell musical groups can benefit by having received support for their appearance in local communities. Working together the musical groups and the alumni clubs can help Bucknell University in a worthwhile public relations project.

The tentative areas to be covered by each group and the approximate dates of the tours are as follows:

BUCKNELL SYMPHONIC BAND—Connecticut, Massachusetts, Long Island. March 18-23, 1962. Manager, Betty Kordes '62. Westhampton Beach, N. Y.: Assistant Manager, Joel H. Sequine '63. Norwalk, Conn.

MEN'S GLEE CLUB—Wilmington, Baltimore, Washington, Petersburg, Richmond. January 25-30, 1962. Manager, Richard C. Buggeln '62. Orange, N. J.

WOMEN'S GLEE CLUB—Mid-Hudson Valley, Eastern Long Island, Northern New Jersey. January 25-30, 1962. Manager, Betty A. Burrows '62. Strasburg, Pa.

CHAPEL CHOIR—Pittsburgh and Western Pennsylvania. March 10-12, 1962. Manager, Robert D. Smink, Jr. '62. Williamsport, Pa.

SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA—Oneonta, Albany and Poughkeepsie, N. Y. February 18-20, 1962.

Bucknell alumni club presidents or individual Alumni who would be interested in having any organization in their local communities sponsor a concert by a University musical group would do well to make preliminary arrangements now and inform Alumni Headquarters of their wishes. Here's a chance to build ideal public relations for Bucknell University, provide financial support for your local organization or alumni club, and assist a student musical organization in its program of spreading the good name of Bucknell University in your community.

Graduate Record Examinations

A preliminary report of the results of the Graduate Record Examination taken by 398 members of the Class of 1961 has been prepared by George R. Faint, Sr. '25, Registrar, and has been presented to members of the Bucknell faculty.

Quoting from a part of the report, Mr. Faint says, "As compared to the Classes of 1959 and 1960, average scores in each of the Area Tests (Social Science, Humanities, and Natural Science) are higher this year. The increases are large enough to have meaning, comparing 1961 to 1960, this is, 15 points in Humanities and 28 points in Natural Science, both of which are in the right direction! As compared to the performance of some 3000 seniors in 21 selected colleges, used by The Educational Testing Service in preparing the Area Tests, our seniors—on the average—were somewhat higher in the Humanities Test, and only slightly below in the Social Science Test."

A review of selected items of interest about Alumni, Faculty and important events and developments at Bucknell University

The following chart compares the Bucknell mean scores with the national mean scores in the three test areas:

Test Area	Bucknell Mean Scores	National Mean Scores
Social Science	486	489
Humanities	497	494
Natural Science	530	487

In comparing these scores, Mr. Faint cautions, "It will be well to guard against trying to draw too much meaning from the test results, valuable as they are. Individual performance on tests may depend upon a number of factors other than ability, including particular content of a test, conditions under which tests are taken, personal health, and so on."

Students Take Advantage Of NDEA Loans

As we go to press the House Committee on Education and Labor Special Sub-committee on Education is hearing testimony from educators who are suggesting that the National Defense Education Act which now provides for student loans be expanded by adding a new scholarship program to the National Defense Education Act. Under the proposed amendment, amounts provided for scholarships would be $17,500,000 for the first year, $26,250,000 for new scholarships the second year, and $35,000,000 for new scholarships in each of the two succeeding years. In other words, the total amounts range from $17,500,000 in the first to $113,750,000 in the fourth year. Hence when the program is in full force, the minimum number of scholarships will be more than 100,000, and the probable number, as estimated by proponents of the bill, would be more than 160,000. The maximum annual amount of a single scholarship would be $1,000; the student receiving the scholarship would select his own junior college, college, or university; and the awards would be made, on the basis of academic achievement and financial need, by state boards. A grant of $350 a year will be made to each institution on behalf of each scholarship holder enrolled.

In this connection it might be interesting to note what progress has been made under the present National Defense Student Loan (rather than scholarships) program.

Since the present law became operative in February 1959, 87 Bucknell students have received loans totaling $48,485.25.

In Pennsylvania, for 1960, some 7,648 students took advantage of loans amounting to $3,189,988.00. Eighty colleges participated.

The U. S. Office of Education has reported that 140,281 loans totaling $59.6 million were made to college students between February 1959 and July 1, 1960, the first 17 months of the National Defense Student Loan program.

The program, authorized under Title II of the National Defense Education Act, established loan funds at institutions of higher education for the purpose of granting low-interest, long-term loans to deserving students who need such assistance.

Since participating colleges and universities contribute to the fund $1 for every $9 in Federal money, total National Defense Student Loan funds available at participating institutions between February 1959 and July 1960 were $78.6 million.

The Office of Education pointed out that, of the $59.6 million loaned in the first 17 months of the program, $14.1 million went to students who plan to become teachers and to those with superior academic preparation in science, mathematics, engineering, or a modern foreign language.

Portrait of Progress

Statistics are cold, but not when they present a portrait of progress. The accompanying tables reflect Bucknell's advance in the last five years. Student enrollment has gone up by more than 300 students, faculty have been added, and the operating budget has almost doubled. This dramatizes the inflation of our economy, to be sure, but the percentage of ups and downs among the areas of operation reflect conspicuous improvements at Bucknell.

Among the six kinds of Expenditures the following should be noted:

(1) The rise in Instruction and Research means that the faculty salary budget has been doubled and that enlarged provisions for professional growth have been provided. This, in turn, means that students enjoy greater academic opportunities.

A recent study of faculty salaries in Pennsylvania in 1960-61 reveals that among the ten institutions with enrollments in the 1500-3000 enrollment range Bucknell stands in third place for its full professors in relation to maximum salaries, average salaries, and fringe benefits, second place for its associate professors, and first place for both its assistant professors and its instructors.

Equally gratifying is the fact that among the seventy institutions in the state reporting their fringe benefit arrangements Bucknell exceeds the average for full professors by almost $400 (or 42%), the average for associate professors by almost $300, the average for assistant professors by more than $100, and the average for instructors by $34.

(2) Provision for Retirement for Bucknell people adds a degree of security for later years far beyond the measure of the 212.3% increase.

(3) Plant Operation, through good business management, shows a percentage of total decrease, even though three new buildings, Coleman Hall, Olin Science Building, and the Freas-Rooke Swimming Pool, and many improvements of other buildings, have been added to Bucknell's physical facilities.

(4) Increase in Aid to Students has in part helped to compensate for rises in tuition. But the '59-'60 total is still low and highlights Bucknell's need for enlarged scholarship aid.

(5) Administrative expenses have risen least and their percentage-of-total has dropped most. This may mean that we have not heard of Parkinson's Law or of rising costs in modern government services!

(6) Although a new dormitory and an additional dining facility have been added, the total cost for Auxiliary Enterprises has shown a lower than average increase.

Both dramatic improvement and conspicuous needs are demonstrated in the Income statistics:

(1) Students at Bucknell pay in Tuition and Fees approximately $300 apiece less than the budget cost of their education (but far less if capital facilities were considered.)

(2) and (3) Endowment income increase reflects both a larger endowment and the best investment practices. The most egregious improvement has occurred in the Gifts and Grants of foundations, corporations, parents, Alumni, and friends. Yet, in the very area of the most dramatic advance, the greatest need appears. Bucknell's income from endowment, gifts and grants is less than one-half the national average in terms of percentage of total income.

(4) Economical business management passed on in modest student charges show, despite enlarged facilities, the greatest decrease in percent-of-total. The lower national average reflects the many commuter institutions which, unlike Bucknell, provide no residential facilities.

This warmly encouraging profile of Bucknell augurs well for the Bucknell of Tomorrow, while it shows some measure of its needs for continued progress.

FIVE YEAR COMPARISON OF OPERATING STATISTICS

Expenditures	Dollars		5-Year Percentage Increase
	1954-55	1959-60
(1) Instruction and Research -----	$ 878,982.49	$1,745,142.10	98.5%
(2) Staff Retirement Expense -----	31,257.00	107,019.14	242.3%
(3) Plant Operation (Educational) -----	233,741.95	380,659.33	62.8%
(4) Student Aid (Excluding Work Aid) ----	74,177.09	254,812.93	243.5%
(5) Administration and other expense -----	597,720.44	961,826.97	61.1%
(6) Auxiliary Enterprises (Dorm and Food Services, etc.) -----	823,702.95	1,395,612.32	69.4%
TOTAL EXPENDITURES -----	$2,639,581.92	$4,818,072.79	83.7%
Income
(1) Tuition and Fees -----	$1,307,572.70	$2,409,082.46	84.3%
(2) Endowment Income -----	149,518.09	358,354.20	139.7%
(3) Gifts and Grants -----	51,624.71	319,291.90	579.6%
Sundry Income -----	43,789.70	166,162.93	279.4%
(4) Auxiliary Enterprises (Dorm, Food Services, etc.) -----	1,034,619.31	1,561,057.95	51.2%
TOTAL INCOME -----	$2,647,124.57	$4,816,949.44	83.7%

University

A special European travel-study course in art and aesthetics will be offered to qualified college and university students this summer by Bucknell with college credits awarded in the same manner as during regular class sessions.

Dr. F. David Martin, professor of philosophy, will serve as tour director and instructor. Among the countries to be visited during the seven-week program will be Italy, Greece, Austria, West Germany, Switzerland, France, and England. In each country visits to leading galleries, museums, art centers, and historical sites have been scheduled.

The tour officially begins June 29 in Milan, Italy, and ends August 17 in London, England. Complete information regarding the itinerary, fees and college credits to be awarded may be obtained by writing to Pathways of Art in Europe, c/o Dr. F. David Martin, Bucknell University, Lewisburg, Pa.

In the November, 1960, issue of THE BUCKNELL ALUMNUS we announced a new cooperative Graduate Housefellow Program developed by Bucknell University and Pennsylvania State University.

The program, as it is planned, states that Bucknell will provide the educational experience and Penn State will provide the professional courses. At the present time Mr. John F. Bernacki of Euclid, Ohio, is serving as a graduate housefellow on the campus.

According to Charles A. Meyn, dean of men, three graduate housefellows have been appointed to participate in the program next year. They are: John R. Aucker '61 of Lykens; Francis J. Cornelius of Bradford, a senior at Lock Haven State College; and Edward A. Thompson of Newark, N. Y., presently a senior at Cortland State Teachers College in New York.

Faculty

Eight members of the Bucknell University faculty have been granted fellowships for summer research and study according to Dr. Harold W. Heine, chairman of the faculty committee on graduate study and research.

Recipients of the summer grants and their respective departments are: Dr. Juh Wah Chen, chemical engineering; Dr. Carl W. Helms, biology; Dr. William E. Jenner, mathematics; Dr. Cyrus H. Karraker, history; Dr. Edward B. Partridge, English; Dr. Douglas E. Sturm, religion; Ralph C. Walker, electrical engineering; and Dr. John S. Wheatcroft '49, English.

Funds for the fellowships were provided by the University and by grants from the Joseph W. Henderson Summer Fellowship Program, the duPont Foundation, and the Shell Oil Company Foundation.

In the March issue of THE BUCKNELL ALUMNUS, a member of the Department of Psychology was erroneously credited with being the psychology editor of Encyclopedia Americana. This distinction rightly belongs to Dr. Philip L. Harriman.

Two of the six articles contained in the March issue of the Bucknell Review were written by Bucknell faculty members. Dr. Charles M. Bond, professor of religion, emeritus, discusses the perversion of biblical literature by many modern authors and dramatists in "J. B. Is Not Job," while Dr. Harold E. Cook, professor of music, explains some of the fundamental differences between poetry and other literature in "The Musicality of Poetry."

Alumni desiring copies of the March issue of the Bucknell Review may secure same by writing to the circulation desk of the Ellen Clarke Bertrand Library. The price of the issue is 60c per copy.

Dr. James A. Gathings, chairman of the Department of Political Science, and D. Paul Souders, associate professor of mathematics, will be co-directors of the third annual "Behind the Scenes Tour" of Europe this summer. The tour will begin June 11.

Books

— by Alumni Authors

LANGSNER, MAJOR ADOLPH '31 and Zollitsch, Herbert G., Co-Authors

Wage and Salary Administration

South-Western Publishing Company, Cincinnati, Ohio, 1961

Major Langsner and his co-author have written "Wage and Salary Administration" to serve as a basic textbook for students at both the graduate and undergraduate levels. It is designed for students majoring in personnel management, business management and administration, industrial management, industrial engineering, and production control. Since wages and salaries are now general public issues and are usually one of the focal points of our business and economical life, the book is also suitable for colleges and universities that do not offer these courses but need a general coverage of modern wage problems in connection with studies in liberal arts, economics, industrial psychology, and industrial sociology.

BOND, CHARLES MARTIN, A.M., B.D., D.D.

"How Does One Know God?"

From the Andover Newton Quarterly, March 1961, pages 41-45, Andover Newton Theological School, Newton Centre, Mass.

In this brief five-point dissertation on the question "How Does One Know God?", Dr. Bond has shown with convincing power why he has captured the interest and admiration of thousands of Bucknell students during his long career as a member of the Bucknell University faculty.

Although retired in June 1960, after many years as professor of religion at Bucknell, Dr. Bond presents in this short piece convincing evidence of the reason why he is held in such high regard by so many of his students and associates.

If you would like to read Dr. Bond's article and cannot obtain a copy from Andover Newton Theological School, Alumni Headquarters will be glad to loan you a copy.

MARTS, ARNAUD C. H'46

Man's Concern For His Fellow Man

W. F. Humphrey Press Inc., Geneva, N. Y., 1961

Dr. Marts' latest book will be of particular interest to Bucknellians. Published on the occasion of the 35th anniversary of the founding of Marts and Lundy Inc., it tells of the beginnings of the humanitarian spirit and the manifestations of that spirit through the centuries.

Of particular interest to Bucknellians will be Chapter II telling about the beginnings of modern fund raising with particular reference to Lyman L. Pierce and Charles S. Ward and the other pioneers such as Harvey J. Hill, Olaf Gates, Christian H. Dreshman and, of course, Dr. Marts.

A valuable appendix listing articles on philanthropy written by members of the staff of Marts and Lundy, Inc., is a worthwhile addition to the book.

Alumni Week End, June 2, 3, and 4
Offers a Refreshing and Varied Program
For Alumni of All Ages

Join the Parade!

IN a few short weeks Alumni from all sections of the United States will be making a journey to the "300 acres" to renew old friendships and enjoy a fun-filled week end planned especially for them. Of course, the week end to which we refer is the annual Alumni Week End on June 2, 3, and 4.

Have you made your plans to return? If not, don't wait—send in your reservation today! It doesn't matter if yours is a reunion class or not. Every year the perennial reunioners, those who come back every year, increase in number and find more and more of their classmates returning for that "look around."

Reports from the reunion chairmen of the regular five-year reunion classes indicate a record turn-out. Classes holding reunions this year include the Classes of 1911 (golden), 1916, 1921, 1926, 1931, 1936 (silver), 1941, 1946, 1951, and 1956. Also, the Class of 1960 will celebrate their first reunion with the perennial reunioners, the members of the Emeritus Club.

Members of reunion classes are urged to read their class column at the back of this magazine to learn of the many special and unique features planned for the entertainment of their members.

As usual overnight sleeping accommodations will be available in the dormitories for those who make their reservations early. Members of reunion classes have received reservation forms and all others should return to us the reservation slip printed on page 32. Be sure of good accommodations by sending us your reservation early. We hope you can arrive on the campus on Friday, June 2, to participate in the Early Bird Golf Match sponsored by the Class of 1950. All golfers from all classes are invited to participate in the tournament. Swimming in the Freas-Rooke Swimming Pool and the Coffee Hour at the Bison Snack Bar on Walker Street provide meeting places for those Alumni who will not be attending class reunion dinners.

On Saturday morning at 9:30 a. m. your particular attention is directed to the annual business meeting (Alumni Assembly) of The General Alumni Association. At this time delegates to the Assembly will hear reports from the Alumni Secretary and President of The General Alumni Association and will elect three Alumni to the Board of Directors of The General Alumni Association. Biographical sketches and pictures of the candidates are shown on page 10.

The class reunion meetings and class pictures are the highlights of the morning program and later at the Alumni Reunion Luncheon you won't want to miss President Odgers' State of the University message and the presentation of the alumni awards.

The Cap and Dagger production of "The Male Animal," a comedy by James Thurber, and the President's Reception given by Dr. and Mrs. Odgers in honor of the graduating class and reunion classes should command your presence on Saturday evening. A social and dance will be combined with the President's Reception to provide a complete evening of entertainment and sociability.

On Sunday, June 4, the University will hold its annual Baccalaureate for graduating seniors at 8:30 a. m. followed by the annual Commencement exercises at 10:30 a. m. Both Baccalaureate and Commencement will be held in Davis Gymnasium. Mr. Roger M. Blough, Chairman of the Board of the United States Steel Corporation, will deliver the Commencement address and Rev. Dr. John Sutherland Bonnell, pastor of the Fifth Avenue Presbyterian Church of New York City, will deliver the Baccalaureate service. Both Mr. Blough and Dr. Bonnell will receive honorary degrees.

Honorary degrees also will be given to Dr. Leland J. Haworth, Director of the Brookhaven National Laboratory; Mr. Paul S. Killian, Vice President in Charge of Purchases of the Bethlehem Steel Company, Inc., and Dr. Rush H. Kress, honorary chairman of the Board of Trustees and president of the S. H. Kress and Company.

It's going to be a great week end on the Bucknell campus, and we know you won't want to miss it. Don't wait—make your reservation today. See the complete week end program on page 31.

THE CLUB PROGRAM

A Look at The Record

As the May issue of THE BUCKNELL ALUMNUS goes to press the record of meetings held and meetings planned for the year 1960-61 will be slightly ahead of last year's record of thirty-three clubs holding seventy meetings.

If all meetings planned between now and June 30 are held as scheduled thirty-five different clubs will have held seventy-two meetings. Of course this total could be swelled by clubs planning spring picnics or dances so we cannot be sure of the exact total at this date; however, we can be sure of one thing. Club activity is on the upswing as evidenced by the fact more clubs are meeting at least once a year and more and more Alumni are turning out for a growing variety of programs presented by excellent club leadership.

Clubs meeting at least once this year include: Northern California, Southern California, Rocky Mountain, Wilmington, Washington, D. C., St. Petersburg, Baltimore, Boston, Michigan-Toledo, St. Louis, Connecticut, Atlantic City, Monmouth-Ocean, Northern New Jersey, Southern New Jersey, Trenton, Ithaca, Long Island, New York City, Rochester, Syracuse, Triple Cities, Chambersburg, Harrisburg, Johnstown, Lancaster, Lock Haven, Milton, Philadelphia, Pittsburgh, Reading, Scranton, Union County, and York.

The Bucknell Alumni Club of Harrisburg leads all clubs in meetings held with ten followed by Northern New Jersey with six and Pittsburgh with five meetings. Philadelphia has held four meetings while St. Petersburg, Connecticut and Union County have each reported three meetings. Wilmington, Washington, D. C., Monmouth-Ocean, Long Island, Rochester, Lancaster and York have each reported two meetings. All other clubs listed above held one meeting. Monthly and weekly luncheons held by the Bucknell Alumni Clubs of New York City, Pittsburgh, Philadelphia and Scranton have not been included in the count of club meetings.

In addition to the meetings listed Bucknellians met for dinner at the Pennsylvania State Education Association Convention in Harrisburg, at the Pennsylvania Baptist Convention in Erie, and for Bucknell birthday celebrations in Scottsdale, Arizona, and Houston, Texas.

It is entirely within the realm of possibility that errors or omissions in the listing of club meetings have occurred. If such is the case with your club, we would appreciate hearing from you. Please write the Alumni Office, Bucknell University, Lewisburg, Pa., giving the name of the club and the date of your club meeting. Also, please include any other relevant information about the meeting.

Greater Boston

Members of the Class of '22 through '65, plus a number of guests, were represented at the dinner meeting, addressed by President Merle M. Odgers, who presented a report on recent activities of the University on and off the campus. After a delightful dinner at the historic Colonial Inn in Concord the members present elected the following officers: President, James P. Hastings, Jr. '52, who also served as master of ceremonies; Vice President, Calvin K. Sholl '46; Secretary, Mrs. Byron A. Denenberg (Judy Plattman '57); Treasurer, Dewell R. Soule '57.

Clubs Holding Meetings and Number of Meetings Held Surpass Last Year's Record

Connecticut

Bucknellians in Connecticut have been treated to two outstanding club programs since January. Approximately 85 Alumni, parents, and students attended the Men's Glee Club Concert in Fairfield, Conn., on January 29. A lion's share of the credit for the excellent attendance belongs to Martha Sober '45, Richard Gehle '55, Jerry Rudolph '47, and William Webber '50.

Bill Fairclough '43, president of the club, celebrated on April 7 a dual occasion: he became a father for the fourth time and chairmanned the club's Spring Dinner meeting. The 47 Alumni, parents and friends heard President Odgers report on campus affairs. Other honored guests included Mrs. Herbert L. Spencer, widow of the late Dr. Herbert L. Spencer, president of Bucknell from 1945 to 1949; and Mr. T. Cortlandt Williams '20, Bucknell Trustee, and Mrs. Williams of Greenwich, Conn. Dr. Odgers was accompanied to the meeting by Mrs. Odgers and Mr. and Mrs. John H. "Buck" Shott '22.

Harrisburg

The Bucknell Alumni Club of Harrisburg held its regular monthly meeting at the Central Y. M. C. A., on Thursday evening, March 2, 1961. Twenty-three Bucknellians and friends were present.

Mary Baldwin '33, who recently returned from a twenty-one day tour of Europe, showed slides of her tour through eight countries on the continent. A question and answer period followed.

New York City

Four parent families helped to swell the attendance at the Bucknell birthday dinner attended by fifty Alumni and parents in New York City on February 23.

Phil Glaser '46, president of the club, introduced the University trustees in attendance, O. V. W. Hawkins, Esq. '13, and Mr. T. Cortlandt Williams '20. Classes represented at the dinner ranged from 1913 to 1960. Buck Shott '22, alumni secretary, introduced the guest speaker, Dr. Karl D. Hartzell, dean of the University, who held his audience to close attention with his discussion of the admissions problems raised by the ever-increasing number of applicants for entrance to Bucknell.

Philadelphia

One hundred and forty Alumni and guests were treated to the first combination dinner-dance ever held by the Bucknell Alumni Club of Philadelphia on April 8 at the Philadelphia Rifle Club. Guests from the campus attending the dinner-dance were Dr. and Mrs. Merle M. Odgers, Alumni Secretary John H. Shott '22, and his wife, and Assistant Alumni Secretary C. Bruce Rossiter '56, and his wife.

Prior to a delicious turkey dinner, Lester E. Lighton '20, pronounced the invocation and following dinner the club members held their annual business meeting. Robert W. Dill '27, chairman of the nominating committee, announced the slate and the following officers were elected: Robert H. Taylor '48, president; Daniel F. Griffith '36, vice president;

By special request from Ellis S. Smith, Sr. '21, of Escondido, Calif., we are presenting for all to see a group of Bucknellians who attended the Bucknell Birthday Party at the Scottsdale Country Club in Scottsdale, Ariz., on February 4. Seated on the chair at the center of the picture is Mrs. Orianna Williams White of the Bucknell Institute Class of 1893. Mrs. White is the author of the poem, "Bucknell University Re-union," published on page eight of the March issue of THE BUCKNELL ALUMNUS. Judson W. Bunnell '52 (seated in front center), manager of the Scottsdale Country Club, handled the arrangements for the meeting.

Mrs. Clara Walton Clemmer '43, secretary; and Albert H. Fenstermacher '33, treasurer. The following club members were elected to the executive committee with terms to expire in 1964; Craig M. Hall '51, Alice Roberts '24, Theodore Heysham, Jr. '25, Cynthia Orr '60, and James Pangburn '54.

Arrangements for the dinner and dance were made by Mr. and Mrs. Joseph W. Ortlieb '52 (Maralyn Murphy '54), and Mr. and Mrs. Karl A. Heininger '52 (Janyce Coll '54). At the intermission of the dance Joe and Karl held a drawing for door prizes donated by members of the club.

According to President Robert H. Taylor '43, plans are being made for a Family Day in June at a picnic area in Willow Grove. All Philadelphia Alumni will receive details of the meeting by mail at a later date.

Pittsburgh

Despite a heavy snowfall 113 hardy Bucknellians in the Pittsburgh area turned out for the Bucknell Birthday Dinner-Dance on February 4 at the University Club in Pittsburgh. Fitz R. Walling '46, Director of Admissions at the University, and his charming wife were special guests at the celebration. Following the dinner and talk by Mr. Walling everyone enjoyed dancing to the music of Ben E. Benack's Orchestra.

Arrangements for this very successful Valentine Dinner-Dance were made by Virginia Thompson Cannon '44, and hubby, Frank Cannon '44. Wayne S. Harrison '51, president of the club, reports this affair was the highlight of the year and already looks forward to next year's program.

St. Petersburg

The Bucknell Alumni Club of St. Petersburg met for its final meeting of the academic year 1960-61 on April 1, at the Skyway Picnic Grounds. There were 19 present. The invocation was given by Dr. Eric Oesterle '16. The following officers were elected for the coming year: Dr. Coleman J. Harris '12, president; Mrs. Sarah Walters Headland '09, vice president; Albert Wadle '52, vice president; George Bailets '09, secretary and treasurer, and Mrs. Elise Owens Long '08, assistant secretary and treasurer.

The Rockwells '07 brought some old Kodak books filled with snapshots of people we knew long ago. We had a perfect day, lovely surroundings, wonderful food, memories revived of days long ago, but precious in our memories.

Seashore

The annual Bucknell Birthday Dinner of the Bucknell Alumni Club of the Seashore Area was held on Tuesday, April 11, at The Flanders in Atlantic City with Ysabelle and Art Yon '17 serving as our genial host and hostess.

After a delightful dinner, President Odgers gave an interesting report of campus activities, stressing the continuing problems of finding space for the ever increasing numbers seeking admission to Bucknell and pointed out that the freshman class of 650 to enter Bucknell in September 1961 has been selected from 3600 applicants. The speaker was introduced by John H. "Buck" Shott '22, Alumni Secretary. The film "Presenting Bucknell" was shown following the speech.

Officers elected were: President, Thomas W. Rauffenbart '36; Vice President, Irving Ginsburg '36; Secretary-Treasurer, Miss Billie Jane Boyer '57. President-elect Tom Rauffenbart served as master of ceremonies after being introduced by Joseph F. Mason '52, retiring president of the club.

Trenton

Seventy-one Alumni and friends of Bucknell University attended a Bucknell birthday party at Landwehr's Restaurant on Friday, February 17, 1961. Head football coach Bob Odell was the guest speaker, and he showed a highlights film of the 1960-61 football season.

York

On April 8 at Moser's Restaurant, 30 members of the Bucknell Alumni Club of York met for dinner and to hear Dr. Malcolm Musser '18, associate in admissions, discuss the changing campus scene.

Prior to Dr. Musser's speech, an election was held and the following Alumni have been elected to office for the coming year: Robert Beers '33, president; Donald L. Ward '49, vice president; Mrs. Elizabeth MacNamara Falcone '37, secretary; and C. Martin Neff '42, treasurer.

Arrangements for the dinner meeting were planned by Warren A. Swank '41, retiring president.

(Continued on Inside Back Cover)

Some of the celebrants at the Bucknell Birthday Party in Pittsburgh on February 4 included: (front row l. to r.) Mrs. Louise Matthews Miers '26, John T. Shirley '09, Trustee of the University; Fitz R. Walling '46, Director of Admissions at Bucknell; Mrs. Walling and Mrs. Virginia Thompson Cannon '44, dance co-chairman. (Back row l. to r.) Wayne Harrison '51, President of the club; Andrew Mathieson '20, Trustee of the University, and Henry Pfischner '54, Secretary-Treasurer of the Bucknell Alumni Club of Western Pennsylvania.

SPRING SPORTS 1961 EDITION

by BRADLEY N. TUFTS
Sports Information Director

Baseball

The ground was covered with almost an inch of snow twenty-four hours before the Bison baseball team was scheduled to take the field for its second game of the season against Susquehanna, but people were still insisting that it was spring.

In the season opener against Lehigh which was played in a cold, biting wind, the Bisons broke out of a hitting slump in the seventh inning after trailing 4-0, but the late inning rally fell one run short as the Engineers posted a 4-3 victory.

Football halfback Ash Ditka was the hitting star for Coach Rod Oberlin's team with a double and a triple, a stolen base and a run batted in. Junior Bart Richards, a pitcher who came in to play center field in the eighth inning, had two hits in as many times at bat, and junior Norm Lochten pitched two hitless innings in relief for other top Bucknell performances.

In addition to Lochten and Richards the other front-line pitchers on the staff are senior Mike Kasnick and sophomore left-hander Dick Kiehn. Kiehn was the starter and loser against Lehigh.

Sophomore Gary Heck will see most of the duty behind the plate. Junior Ben Jones is the top first baseman, and three other junior lettermen, shortstop Ken Twiford, center fielder Bob Wevodau and right fielder Jack Ruyak, are also slated for heavy duty.

Ditka heads the list in left field, sophomore Sam Neisner is at second base, and another sophomore, Bob Sunenblick, will see plenty of action in the outfield.

Sophomore Art Covey will probably share the third base post with junior letterman Vic Manuele, but both may yield to Kasnick when he's not on the mound.

With very little outdoor preparation prior to the season opener, Oberlin does not expect the team to hit consistently early in the season, but if the pitching holds up the Bisons have a good chance of bettering the 5-10 record of the past two years.

Spring Football

The whooping and shouting over the Lambert Cup has begun to die down and Head Coach Bob Odell and his staff are already knee deep in preparations for the tough campaign that lies ahead of them.

Five 1960 starters, Ron Maslanik, John Aucker, Dean Stump, Mickey Melberger and Paul Terhes, will be missing next fall, and the biggest task facing Odell and his aides is to find a replacement for Little All-American quarterback Terhes.

Following the first week of practice the leading candidates for the signal calling post appear to be junior Pat Malone, sophomores Doug Williams and John Giordano and freshman Don Rodgers.

Kirk Foulke '62

Williams has had the most experience at quarterback, playing behind Terhes and Rick Elliott last fall, but Malone, a letterman at end last year and at halfback the year before, could be a big factor in the race for the starting post. Giordano saw limited action last year, and Rodgers was the number one quarterback for the freshman team last fall.

In addition to Terhes, Aucker and Melberger will graduate in June and Maslanik and Stump have left school because of academic difficulties.

Junior Ray Cosgrove is slated to take over for Melberger at right halfback, junior Don Chaump who broke his leg in the season opener with Gettysburg will probably fill Aucker's guard spot, sophomores Rene Clements and Dick Lebec are battling for Maslanik's right end position and sophomore George Rieu and freshmen Bill McQuown and Frank Fichter are the leading candidates for the center post.

The returning starters from the 1960 team include left end Dick Tyrrell, tackles Tom Noteware and Captain-elect Kirk Foulke, guard Tom Alexander, halfback Ash Ditka and fullback Ken Twiford.

Other returnees from last year include tackles Chuck Newland and Denny Morgan, guard Dick Orlowski, center Charlie Johnson, and halfbacks Dick Johnson, Bill Urch and Norm Garrity.

Top freshman prospects include end John Thornton, tackle Floyd Moore, guard Bo Aleva, halfbacks Mike Seigfried and Matt Hart, and fullbacks Joe Elliott, John Barron and Mike Connell.

Chaump, Mayer and Morgan were scheduled to miss most of the spring drills because of injuries suffered last season.

(Continued on Inside Back Cover)

1961 FOOTBALL SCHEDULE

Date	Opponent	Place
*Sept. 23	Gettysburg	Hershey
*Sept. 30	Temple	Philadelphia
Oct. 7	Colgate	Hamilton, N. Y.
Oct. 14	Rutgers	Homecoming
Oct. 21	Lafayette	Easton
Oct. 28	Muhlenberg	Home
Nov. 4	Buffalo	Buffalo, N. Y.
Nov. 11	Lehigh	Bethlehem
Nov. 18	Delaware	Home

* Night Game.

CLASS REPORTS

EMERITUS CLUB

MISS MARY COTTON
Eldred, Pa.

Your reporter has recently received a list of about 850 Alumni and Alumnae whose addresses are unknown. Seven of these were from her own Class of 1896. It would be a pleasure to hear from any of these folks.

It is hoped that a large number of the Emeritus Club will be in attendance for our reunion on June 2, 3 and 4. Your reporter expects to be there and would like to see you. Why not plan to be present? You will have a fine time meeting old friends.

lodge in Massachusetts. The Upland Lodge No. 419, where he holds a plural membership, awarded Lewis a fifty-year pin.

07

DR. LEO L. ROCKWELL
602 Charles St.
Lakeland, Fla.

Since no news has trickled in from classmates, I'm reduced to talking about VERA '11 and me. Some weeks ago we bussed to Gainesville, where I gave a paper on linguistics at the Florida Academy of Sciences. We had a good visit with the WARFELS. RUTH '19 is making good recovery and looks fine. HARRY '20 is going great guns with several scholarly projects.

We are of course delighted at the good news of the Bertrand legacy. The March issue of THE BUCKNELL ALUMNUS tells how it will be used. We are cheered also by the continuing emphasis on international relations. It is to be hoped that this country will soon cease to be numbered among the underdeveloped nations in modern language study, and that Bucknell will improve its offerings in this field. Dr. Arthur S. Flemming, under whose administration as secretary of the federal Department of Health, Education, and Welfare the NDEA Program for training teachers of languages was developed, spoke here recently, and emphasized strongly our national backwardness in this area of education.

The appreciative review of the work of CHARLES FRIES '09 in the teaching of English as a foreign language, found in the Saturday Review for March 18, pays tribute to his pioneering achievements in developing a scientific approach to the problem of international communication. It is good to see such recognition of one of the most distinguished of Bucknell graduates.

08

MRS. JOHN H. MATHIAS
(Margaret W. Pangburn)
202 St. Louis St.
Lewisburg, Pa.

Dr. E. CARROLL CONDUCT has added to his already long list of career activities which includes clergyman, missionary, teacher, intelligence worker, acting dentist, hospital worker and public worker, this new one, interim pastor of the Calvary Baptist Church in Springfield, Vt. Dr. Conduct's three sons graduated from Bucknell and two of his grandsons have attended the University.

09

MRS. HOWARD L. HEADLAND
(Sarah E. Walters)
3911 First Avenue North
St. Petersburg 13, Fla.

Dr. CHARLES C. FRIES touched down at home base in Ann Arbor, Mich., for a short time last January between trips to Mexico and Japan. He continues his interest in his special field of teaching the English language and is giving guidance to the new developments in this area, especially in the Far East and the Middle East.

Excerpts from Fries letter to VERA '11 and LEO ROCKWELL '07:

"I'm afraid there has been a terrific amount of harm done abroad by those who have, with the best will in the world, gone about very ignorantly to teach 'the heathen' the American language and the American way of life. I wish that our people would learn that incompetence in the areas in which our people make contacts with the natives abroad is both dangerous and harmful. Unfortunately, I can, after considerable diversity of contact, give a number of horrible examples, and we ought to have learned long ago, I think, that we just can't buy real friendship.

"It has been a long time since we got together and talked. We've been saying so, many times, and wondered whether we couldn't do something about it. In fact, Agnes has been strongly of the opinion that we should, when the mercury gets down to fifteen below, just pack up and head for the sunshine that you people are enjoying regularly. As a matter of fact we might have done so, for the next two weeks, had it not been fated that we were to go to Mexico for a quick trip and then on to Japan for about two weeks and then back here to look after a number of top people that I have been more or less instrumental in bringing over from Pakistan and Japan. Somehow or other, this being retired doesn't live up to its advertising and press notices. In fact, after four years of official retirement we just don't see much difference. Anyway it would be fun to get together and see if we can find this elusive way of life, for you don't seem to have discovered it either."

Dr. JOHN T. SHIRLEY has been given recognition by The Caduceus of Kappa Sigma, that fraternity's magazine, for his continuing loyalty to his fraternity organization. The editors of THE BUCKNELL ALUMNUS would like to add a word of praise for John in connection with his continuous and thoughtful service to our own alumni magazine. There is hardly a week goes by that John does not send us some news clipping and otherwise keeps us informed of the doings of Bucknellians around the country. And his classmates can attest to his faithfulness in appearing at anniversaries and reunions of his classmates and friends.

10

MISS MILDRED B. CATHERS
100 W. 33rd St., Apt. 6
Bayonne, N. J.

Rev. GEORGE C. FETTER of 1015 Brookridge, Ames, Iowa, served the First Baptist Church of Cedar Rapids, Iowa, as interim pastor for 6½ months in 1960. At present he is supplying the pulpit of the First Baptist Church in Des Moines, Iowa. During the Christmas holidays he spent three weeks with his younger daughter, Judy (now Mrs. Kendall) in San Jose, Calif.

HOMER D. KRESGE, owner and publisher of the Ocean Grove Times since 1925, retired on February 17, 1961, after 35 years with the newspaper. His son WILLIAM T. KRESGE '41, who has been editor and partner in the business since the end of World War II, will take over as head of the newspaper. Homer began his newspaper experience while still going to high school and worked his way through Bucknell University as manager of the college weekly newspaper and handling University public relations for WILLIAM C. GRETZINGER '39, who was then registrar. Following graduation, Homer held jobs with the Philadelphia North American, Saturday Evening Post, American Magazine, Women's Home Companion and with the New York Times as assistant editor of the Times' Current History Magazine and the Mid-Week Pictorial.

EMILY LANE Yoder and SARA RAY WAY celebrated the Bucknell Birthday with the St. Petersburg, Fla., Club at Shawn House on February 4 and enjoyed LEO ROCKWELL'S '07 reminiscences of college days. Your scribe hopes to picnic with the St. Petersburg Club on April 1.

How about another class reunion the first week end in June? Already several class members have indicated their plan to be there. Why not join them?

02 DR. A. R. E. WYANT
2044 West 110th Place
Chicago 43, Ill.

A $33,000 Dr. Andrew R. E. Wyant Memorial Organ will soon be dedicated at the Morgan Park Baptist Church in Chicago, Ill., as a tribute to their first pastor. Dr. Wyant was pastor of this church from 1895 to 1906 and will speak on "Remember the Days of Old" at the dedication service on May 21—the first day of his 95th year.

03

MRS. HARRY C. HERPEL
(Elvie Coleman)
1250 Park St.
McKeesport, Pa.

We regret to report the death on December 1 of Dr. ROGER H. WILLIAMS, for 29 years pastor of First Baptist Church of Greensburg, and former moderator of the Pittsburgh Baptist Association, president of the Pennsylvania State Convention and president of the State Minister's Council. He was laid to rest in Lewisburg Cemetery. Our sympathy is extended to his family. Mrs. Roger Williams NELLE HOWER '98 is living at 511 Sidney St., Greensburg.

EMILY R. EBLING will soon be returning from Alabama to her home in Philadelphia. We hope the severe weather of this past winter did not curtail her enjoyment of the many owners on her relative's estate, where she spends her winters.

Col. A. E. DERSHIMER spent Christmas with his children and families in San Antonio, Texas.

IDA E. LUCHSINGER continues her busy life in church, education and civic affairs and her loyalty to '03.

Hope some of our '03 class may get back to B. U. in June. Your reporter has another "George School" graduation to attend on the same June date. Sorry not to be able to be with you at B. U.

05

DR. JOHN C. SANDERS
R. R. 6
Chambersburg, Pa.

Keep in mind the Commencement week end, June 2-4, 1961!

LEWIS C. HYLBERT has been slowly recovering from serious surgery but was well enough to attend the February meeting of the Upland, Calif., Masonic Lodge. It was quite an occasion for Lewis for he was awarded a fifty-year Masonic Medallion from his home

In the March issue of THE BUCKNELL ALUMNUS, Mrs. Maze Callahan Houseknecht, reporter for the Class of 1912, reported the death of Victor A. Schmid '12 who passed away on August 9, 1960.

Vic, who starred in football, basketball and track at Bucknell, spent most of his life in the field of athletics. Among other things he was a charter member of the Football Hall of Fame Foundation and received the first gold life pass from the Intercollegiate Athletic Association for College Football Officiating issued to a Bucknellian. A coach of football and basketball at Johnstown High School in 1913, 1914, 1916 and 1917, the men who played under him recently honored Vic by presenting to Albert M. Rubis (right), Johnstown High School principal, a memorial plaque. Dr. Charles R. Colbert (left), made the presentation at a ceremony honoring Mr. Schmid. The text of the plaque is as follows:

"In memory of Coach Victor A. Schmid, died August 9, 1960. Coached Johnstown High School athletics 1913, 1914, 1916, 1917.

"This memorial presented by players of the respective years. He is remembered as a great leader, a man of high morals and principles who left a fatherly impression on all his players."

11 LYMAN C. SHREVE, ESQ.
512 Masonic Building
Erie, Pa.

Reune in June, 1961

REUNION BANQUET

June 2, 1961

6:30 P. M.

HOTEL LEWISBURGER

This is the last report before our big reunion week end, which begins with the banquet at the Lewisburger Hotel on Friday evening, June 2, 1961. The members of the class who have made all of the arrangements for the reunion are Earl E. Hinman, Herbert Lloyd, Roy DeLong, and Jose Villalon.

The last report I have from Earl Hinman indicates that we are going to have a fine attendance. Among those who will be there, and whom you will want to see, are JOHN ARNOLD, Mrs. Fred Bush (MARGARET CURTIS), HARRY COULSON, NELSON CROSSMAN, ROY DeLONG, Esq., Mrs. Arthur Fowler (KATHERINE BRONSON), Mrs. H. Hann (GRACE COBB), Mrs. Myron Hawk (LEONORE HULSIZER), JOHN HILBISH, EARL HINMAN, HARRY HOFFMAN, ANDREW HUSTON, HERBERT LLOYD, ROBERT LOWRY, Rev. F. B. McALLISTER, EVELYN McCASKE, WALTER RHOADS, Mrs.

Leo Rockwell (VERA COBER), JOHN ROSE, LYMAN SHREVE, Esq., Mrs. H. H. Starkweather (MATILDA GOLDING), and JOSE VILLALON.

The Reunion Book, which Herb Lloyd has spent so much time preparing, is in excellent shape. You will be delighted with it.

I will see you all on June second.

12 MRS. H. W. HOUSEKNECHT
(Maze Callahan)
108 W. Penn St.
Muncy, Pa.

Do you think we ought to put away the snow shovel?

Last Tuesday, I went out in the back yard—the first I had been there since Christmas. It was a beautiful day. Thought I ought to bring out a chair, look over my garden, then decide where I should begin to clean it up. My tulips were up about three inches. The next day it rained, snowed, sleeted, with some thunder and lightning thrown in. We had everything that was in the book.

On BOB MEYER'S Christmas card he said, "My activities in 1960 were for the most part trekking over the country. I looked for you and Pop at the football games. The team did well. My wife and I expected to see both of you at the first number of the Artist Series—Van Cliburn. He was brilliant. I had a reserved seat on the gallery steps. We were set to go to Handel's "Messiah," but a snow storm put finis to that. I am going to the Inauguration if there is not too much winter. For me, Washington, D. C., is the only city to 'trek to!' Why am I telling you all of this? Because when our 50th rolls around next June, Bob will have a million aches and pains not counting the excuses. Who knows, he might not be able to trek. I'll fool him I'll check on him before June.

LOUISE PAWLING SIEBER '43, writes, "FRED '39, Rick III, and I took a five-week seven country, tour of Europe. Saw the Passion Play. A real experience but we all realize even more than before, America is the best."

Dr. FREDERICK B. IGLER has announced his retirement, effective June 30, after 42 years as Baptist minister to students at the University of Pennsylvania in Philadelphia. Fred has been one of the pioneer University pastors, having moved to Philadelphia in 1917 four months after his graduation from Colgate Divinity School to begin his service to Baptist students on the University of Pennsylvania campus.

To all the friends of little Florence who lived with ALICE and Muff SCOTT: she passed away as peacefully as she had always lived on February 3, 1961. Had she lived till February 28, she would have been 104 years old. One of my happiest and most cherished memories is that I knew her and loved her.

When I received the clipping from Johnstown announcing the memorial plaque for VIC SCHMID, I did not know who had sent it as only the street address was given. I needed a glossy print in order to have it published in THE ALUMNUS. So I wrote to "Occupant" at this address. It happened to be MABEL BROWN ALLEN '15. So many thanks to Mabel, JOHN JAMES '32, and Bill Dressler for the glossy print. John and Bill are editors of the Tribune-Democrat, Johnstown.

I noticed in THE ALUMNUS that CARRIE SMITHGALL EBERT '25 and EARL DUNLAP '24 participated in the Dual Development Campaign. I was thrilled to see these young folks giving a lift. They went to school to me in Montoursville.

Two customers for our 50th, ART WALTZ and FRED IGLER have already decided on transportation. Art says he has been planning since our 45th. Mrs. Waltz has had a severe case of shingles but is much improved at the present time. We expect you, too, so keep well.

To drum up a little trade. Pop and I are going on our second honeymoon around the first week in May. (Pop doesn't know too much about it). Expect to make our headquarters with Pop's sister in Devon. There we'll stop to say "hello" to all the 1912'ers in that area. Don't do any dusting, washing, polishing because we want to feel at home.

Hope the sun shines while we are on our honeymoon.

13 REV. GEORGE F. HAINES
324 Market St.
Lewisburg, Pa.

I have tried to get some news for this issue but not a single one of my forgetful classmates sent me any news. In order to stir up interest among slumbering thirteeners I am offering a prize for the best news item for the next edition. I will announce the winner at our June (1962) class meeting.

Many members of our class live in Lewisburg and adjacent towns. They are: Mrs. H. K. Bright (ETHEL CLUSH), ELMER FAIRCHILD, BENJAMIN HARRIS, BERKELEY HASTINGS, JAMES McCLURE, Mrs. Oscar Miles (ETHEL HOTTENSTEIN), Mrs. Thomas Miller (GRACE ROSSITER), J. LUNDY PAULHAMUS, CHARLES SANDERS, HAROLD SHAFFER, Mrs. Chester Shoemaker (EVA BROWN), H. GUNDY PAWLING and PAUL STEIN. These join me in urging you to return to Lewisburg in June. And please bring your reporter news.

O yes, your reporter spent February in Florida to escape some of the severest weather. Lewisburg has experienced in years. I saw the Library blaze but it failed to dispel the zero weather.

4

MRS. H. B. WEAVER
(Dora Hamler)
348 Ridgo Ave.
New Kensington, Pa.

Under date of January 21, RALPH MOORE writes, "The envelope was found enclosed with our last year's Christmas card, so I'll make use of it. I'm Scotch enough not to waste the amp." He refers to an effort I made in 1959 to gather news. If any of you happen to come across an old Christmas Greeting with enclosed stamped envelope, please follow Ralph's example. He saved me this time so that we can help keep the record clean by having some news. Ralph continues, "I have a little old news about myself. Last March I had a serious operation on my left eye for a detached retina. It was successful and I have sight in the eye but not to the extent I should like. . . . We are both interested in our church work. Bernice (not a Bucknellian save by adoption) is at a committee meeting of her Women's Association this cold (8° above) evening. . . . Our son CARL '43 is still living at Bethlehem and teaching at Lehigh. He is married to the former RUTH NULTON '44. They have two lovely and lively boys, 6 and 7. The Moore address is 60 Fayette St., Oakdale.

In compliance with the request from the Alumni Office that all class reporters urge their classmates to return to the Bucknell campus for Alumni Week End, may we all make the effort to meet in Lewisburg next June 2-4.

15

MISS MARION R. BANCROFT
1308 Ninth St.
Altoona, Pa.

Mrs. J. Franklin Long (ESTHER McCORRICK) has been elected secretary-treasurer of the Bucknell Alumni Club of Lock Haven.

The Union County Democratic Committee has drafted CLAIR G. GROOVER as a candidate for judge of the court of common pleas of Pennsylvania's 17th judicial district. Clair is a director of the Mifflinburg Bank and Trust Company and has numerous other business interests in addition to his law practice.

"BUCKY" STEVENSON had an interesting article, "The Secret of a Real Vacation" in the March 19 issue of This Week magazine. Bucky is president-elect of the World Federation for Mental Health, and former national and international consultant to the National Association for Mental Health. He also is former president of the American Psychiatric Association and of the American Orthopsychiatric Association.

16

MRS. GEORGE S. STEVENSON
(Amy L. Patterson)
940 W. Front St.
Red Bank, N. J.

 Reune in June, 1961

REUNION DINNER

June 2, 1961

AMERICAN LEGION POST 44

Plans for our 45th reunion are moving along. BRUCE BUTT, chairman for the reunion, is really stirring up enthusiasm and reports that a good number of our classmates will be on hand to start off the week end with a dinner on Friday evening, June 2, at the American Legion Post 44 near Northumberland. CHARLES RUBIN, chairman for this social event, will soon mail to the class additional details including program information and information as to advance reservations.

Mrs. DOROTHY BUNNELL SCHNUR, welcome book editor, reports that the questionnaires are still coming in for the book and many classmates are indicating to her their plans to return. Have you marked your calendar? If not, circle the dates of June 2, 3 and 4 today and be with us for a joyous week end. See you June 2.

Mrs. ARTHUR L. BRANDON '27 (MARGARET C. WEDDELL) of Weehauken, N. J., returned to her Alma Mater and her former home town and addressed the local organization of the A. A. U. W. when they entertained the Bucknell senior women in Hunt Hall recreation room on January 9. Her topic was "geared to the interest of the senior women."

President Judge WILLIAM L. SHOWERS recently announced that he would seek a second ten-year term as judge of the 17th judicial district, comprising the Courts of Common Pleas of Union and Snyder Counties, at the spring primary election.

17

MRS. ERLE M. TOPHAM
(C. Ray Speare)
425 W. Sedgwick St.
Philadelphia 19, Pa.

FORREST G. WALTER, who attended Bucknell's Music School in 1917 and later studied privately with well known music writers and composers, has recently completed his 1600th musical composition. Forrest, who traveled extensively after graduation as a musician and teacher, has since 1930 concentrated on composing in the field of religious musical plays, cantatas, and anthems. Forrest lives in Milton and he and Mrs. Walter are the parents of a son and four married daughters.

LILLIAN HELENA HANNOLD passed away at her home in Wenonah, N. J., on January 17, her 65th birthday. She had been ill for about 3½ months. Before she died, she willed her eyes to the Delaware Valley Eye Bank. After leaving school, Helena served a year in the U. S. Navy during World War I, taught school for one year, and then worked in the Veterans Administration until her retirement in 1956. We are so glad that she returned for our 40th reunion in 1957. It was so nice to see her. I phoned her home and extended our sympathy to her three brothers and two sisters.

ALEX and Mrs. STORER are enjoying a vacation in Florida. Alex sent us a card from Ft. Myers. They were basking in the beautiful 70°-88° weather, while we were battling snow and freezing temperatures up here. Alex said he met CAMPUZANO '13 in St. Petersburg and they had a good time together. Tip and I expect to see them after they return and may have more news for you next time.

Mrs. George J. McCarthy (ELIZABETH B. LEHR) died on January 24 in Mount Holly, N. J. Elizabeth was kept busy with many volunteer jobs. One such job was that of instructing foreign-born wives of servicemen at Fort Dix and McGuire Air Base in New Jersey. Her husband passed away on Christmas night in 1955 and her son was killed in an airplane accident during World War II. Our sympathy is extended to her survivors: a sister and two brothers.

Word has been received of the death of F. GLENN ROGERS on February 4 in Tampa, Fla. Before his retirement in 1946 Glenn had been superintendent of schools of Centre County. From 1948 to 1952 he served as treasurer of Centre County. For the past few years Glenn and his wife had been spending their winters in Florida and the remaining months at R. D. 2, Howard. Glenn's brother, E. LLOYD ROGERS '15 died in 1955. We extend our sympathy to his survivors.

FRANK E. WILLIAMS passed away on January 7 at the Harrisburg Hospital where he had been a patient since last September. Although Frank received a civil engineering degree, he followed the teaching profession.

For many years Frank taught mathematics at the William Penn High School in Harrisburg and in recent years he was assistant to the principal and dean of boys at that school. Our sympathy is extended to Frank's wife, the former PEARL REAM '12, whose address is 2617 Reel St., Harrisburg.

18

MRS. LAYTON E. KING
(Elizabeth Champion)
10 No. Loyalsock Ave.
Montoursville, Pa.

HERBERT GRICE, SR., has been re-elected treasurer of the Bucknell Alumni Club of Union County.

20

MRS. M. A. J. ROSEMAN
(Anna Sterling)
1736 Welsh Road
Philadelphia 15, Pa.

In retrospect, 40 years seem to have passed like four since leaving Bucknell. The group who gathered for our 40th reunion last June forgot time had passed and were students again renewing old friendships.

A letter from DOC SPEARE, asking me to be class reporter, seemed quite a task, but age seems to be bringing a will to try anything. So will you all help by sending me a card telling what you have done, are doing, or plan to do.

We are reading about and planning for retirement some day. How about a retirement home, for Bucknellians, on the campus?

21

MRS. ELLWOOD S. DERR
(Sara Bernhart)
1360 Jefferson Ave.
Lewisburg, Pa.

 Reune in June, 1961

REUNION DINNER

June 2, 1961

6:30 P. M.

HOTEL LEWISBURGER

In a recent letter from Mrs. EMILY DEVINE Kelly, reunion book editor, she reports the following, "Our sincere thanks to the members of the Class of '21 who sent a resume of the past forty years for the reunion book. We hope to make our new L'Agenda (forty years later) unique by reminding you who the person was during Bucknell days, what he did in those college years and taking you on a travelogue through Memory's Garden from 1917 to 1961 (44 years). The L'Agenda of 1919, 1920, 1921 and 1922 have furnished the interesting research and while it has been an avalanche of work it has been a labor of love for Bucknell's best and happiest class. The list of members who plan to attend sounds like Who's Who, too many to list, but it should be a gala reunion from June 2 to 4 for the Class of 1921. YOUR biography is well worth reading, with the college years added to the present, and you'll be anxious to know what happened to Bill or Joe or Mary or Helen in the past forty years. We hope to see you at the reunion but should you not be able to make it you may obtain the 140th anniversary book for a nominal token after the reunion by writing to the Alumni Office. We'll see you in the reunion book and WE HOPE AT BUCKNELL June 2 to 4 for our 40th."

H. L. SHIMER, social chairman for the reunion week end, indicates that arrangements have been made for a dinner on Friday evening, at 6:30 P. M., at the Hotel Lewisburger. Additional information regarding the details and reservations will be mailed to you soon.

Karl G. Goerdel '19

The George Eastman forty-year service award pin was recently presented to Karl G. Goerdel '19. Mr. Goerdel joined Tennessee Eastman in 1920 as a civil engineer. Karl states, "During my first ten years here, I probably walked over every acre within a thirty-mile radius of what is now Tennessee Eastman." In the early years with Eastman, Karl worked with a crew surveying land the company had purchased. He staked out many of the early buildings, located anchor bolts and assisted in determining the placement of the machinery.

Karl was assistant superintendent, E. & S. Division, at the Holston Ordnance Works from 1942 to 1943 when he was transferred to Clinton Engineering Works as coordinating engineer. He returned to Tennessee Eastman in 1943 as acting superintendent of the engineering division. In 1947 Karl was made superintendent of the engineering division and is currently serving in that capacity.

Mr. and Mrs. Goerdel, the former Elizabeth Hamlett, have three daughters and three grandchildren. The Goerdel address is 1514 Linville St., Kingsport, Tenn.

23 MRS. LEROY FRONTZ
(Olive Billhime)
Evergreen Farm
Allenwood, Pa.

WALTER L. HILL, JR., Esq., member of the law firm of Warren, Hill, Henkelman and McMenamin in Scranton has been elected president of the Lackawanna Bar Association at the annual meeting in January.

25 MRS. WILLIAM E. THOMPSON, JR.
(Mary E. Seidel)
Box Tree Farm
Whiteford, Md.

This is being written in early March and although you won't read it for awhile, I can't resist saying, "What a winter!" Bill and I were snowed in six times and my only regret was it wasn't the right kind of snow for good shoveling and skiing around here. Alas, when the snow did fall, I was too heavy and broke them.

Enuf of weather and down to news. Had a nice letter from MARGARET ACKERMAN part of which I am going to share with you. "Bid and I traveled over 2,000 miles in a Volkswagen this summer in Europe, from Rotterdam to Milan—had a third member from Luxemburg on—managed to see some of the out of the way places, quaint towns in Alsace for instance, as well as the scenic highlights that we had visited before. At Milan we went our separate ways. Bid back to Paris via Montreux, Switzerland. I kept the car and headed for Mayrhofen, Austria, for a short term summer session of the University of Innsbruck held in this quaint village in the Zillertal. Only six Americans were in attendance at my session, but a great many nationalities were represented—no Russians however, but there were two Egyptian girls. After Mayrhofen I traveled up through Germany and handed over the car an hour before the deadline on August 22. By that time I had driven, in all, slightly over 3,000 miles. Now I'm trying to absorb all I've seen via the more than 500 colored slides I took." It all sounds wonderful to me. Margaret, I'd love to see those slides sometime.

Did you all know our class is honored by having a "Woman of the Year" in our midst! It was an honor bestowed on FLORENCE LAUBSCHER by the American Association of University Women, Williamsport Branch. She was recognized for her work as a devoted church woman, as a dedicated teacher, as a loyal leader in the Y. W. C. A. and as an enthusiast of student journalism. Not so long ago, Florence received the C. S. P. A. Gold Key Award from the Columbia Scholastic Press Association of Columbia University. At present she is serving a second term on the Executive Committee of the Pennsylvania Scholastic Press Association. She is an English teacher and adviser to the student literary magazine published by the Williamsport High School.

Bid sent me word, thanks Bid, that LOUISE BARNES Standen is teaching in Northampton Junior High School at Northampton and lives in a beautiful country home near Palmerton. Her son (in the Air Force) is in Florida, and her daughter is a student in Palmerton High School.

We see HELEN WEIDENHAMER Clarke every once in awhile. She's teaching in the Philadelphia area and is interested in Historic Philadelphia, is doing work on Elfreth's Alley, etc.

News doesn't come out of thin air, so you folks who have not been reported on, please take your pen in hand and write me something about yourselves and families, your work, your interests, your hobbies.

Till the next time.

26 MISS ANNA L. BROWN
45 Wildwood Ave.
Pitman, N. J.

 Reune in June, 1961

REUNION DINNER

June 2, 1961

6:30 P. M.

OTZINACHSON COUNTRY CLUB

After three years of fund raising on behalf of churches and colleges, The Rev. ROLLAND N. DUTTON, has returned to the pastorate. He is now serving the First Baptist (Temple)

Church at Crisfield, Md., commonly known as the "Seaford Capital of the World."

LUCILE SCULLEN has been elected a director of the Bucknell Alumni Club of Lock Haven.

MALCOLM G. JONES was with E. I. du Pont de Nemours & Co. for many years, and was director of sales and synthetic fibers of the Textile Fibers Department. He was president of Robbins Mills and of Sidney Blumenthal & Co. In 1957, he retired from industry and engaged in real estate operation at Waynesboro, Va. He was also retained by Virginia Carolina Chemical Co. to study its former fiber operation. Now he has been named to an assignment on Hercules fiber. He will be special assistant on a part-time basis to Fores B. Evans, manager of the newly established Fiber Development Department.

After filling in those questionnaires for the Reunion Book, I know you are looking forward to our 35th reunion. Have you marked the dates on your calendar—June 2, 3, and 4? This promises to be our best reunion yet. If you don't believe it, ask FLORENCE UTZ FOCHE, reunion chairman, or GENE CARSTATER, reunion book editor.

According to Prof. WILLIAM I. MILLER and Mrs. THELMA STAMM SEIDEL, arrangements have been made for a class dinner on Friday evening, June 2, at 6:30 o'clock at the Otzinachson Country Club in Milton. Additional information regarding the program and reservations for the dinner will be mailed to you soon.

If you haven't marked your calendar to return to the Bucknell campus for your fun filled week end, don't hesitate, do it now. See you on the campus June 2.

27 MRS. L. H. COLLISON
(Grace M. Pfeiffer)
Marydel, Md.

Dr. JOHN S. CREGAR, SR., of 44 South Munn Ave., East Orange, N. J., is president of the New York Ophthalmological Society. This is one of the most recent of the many honors he has achieved in professional circles.

CATHERINE CAWLEY writes from 478 Llano Lane, Fair Oaks, Calif., where she is making her home, that she is teaching typing and shorthand at Moore's Select Secretarial School in Sacramento, Calif. Says Cay, "The west continues to be my chosen location—I don't believe I could ever live back east again, and I shudder when I think of all the snow and ice you people have had all winter. Here we travel fifty miles to see snow—into the Sierras, but we leave it there! I still miss my friends back east and send them all a hearty welcome to come west."

28 MRS. H. MONTGOMERY MARSH, JR.
(Lorinne Martin)
60 Prospect Hill Ave.
Summit, N. J.

Mrs. Raymond L. Hightower (JEAN D. MATTHEWS) of 441 Stuart Ave., Kalamazoo 48, Mich., received her Master of Arts degree from Western Michigan University in January.

Since the death of her husband, EARLE L. MOYER, on August 8, 1958, CHRISTINE STERNER MOYER has been occupying her time by seeing something of the world. During the summer of 1959 she was a member of the Gettysburg College Educational Tour which spent ten weeks in Europe, seeing many things of interest from the fjords of Norway to the ruins of ancient Greece. For six and a half weeks during the summer of 1960 Christine was on a personally conducted bus tour of the Canadian Rockies, the Alcan Highway and Alaska. While in Fairbanks, Alaska, she was a special guest of the A. A. U. W. branch there and found that Bucknell has great prestige in that area through the work of the late Dr. CHARLES E. BUNNELL '00, who served the University of Alaska as president.

or 30 years. Christine's son, WILLIAM '57, is an accountant with Esso Standard Oil Company and lives in Kenilworth, N. J.

ALBERT V. SCHOLL has become a registered securities representative with Janney, Battles and E. W. Clark, Inc.

29 MISS THELMA SHOWALTER
425 Market St.
Millinburg, Pa.

Mrs. Mack Ricker (SARAH BECK) has been elected a director of the Bucknell Alumni Club of Lock Haven.

Dr. CLARENCE W. CRANFORD left the Calvary Baptist Church in Washington, D. C., after having served it for nearly 20 years. He feels he would like to round out the last decade of his active ministry in a smaller community and church where he will have more time for reading and perhaps writing. Much progress has been made during his service in the Washington Church and the choice Dr. Cranford has made was a difficult one. He has accepted the pastorate of the United Baptist Church in Lewiston, Maine, and will be residing just across the street from Bates College. Clarence will probably find his life fuller and busier than he is anticipating! Address: 336 College St., Lewiston, Maine.

EUGENE J. MIRARCHI of 812 Chestnut St., Kulpmont, has been elected president of the Northumberland County Bar Association. He has been Democratic County Chairman since 1950 and a delegate to the Democratic Conventions in 1956 and 1960. At the recent inauguration of President Kennedy, Mr. Mirarchi, accompanied by his wife, headed the contingent of Northumberland County Democrats who attended the inauguration and one of the inauguration balls held in Washington, D. C.

31 MR. EDWARD J. SMALSTIG
1645 Second St.
Beaver, Pa.

 Reune in June, 1961

REUNION SOCIAL

June 3, 1961

3:00 P. M.

OTZINACHSON
COUNTRY CLUB

CHARLES M. MORRIS, Ph.D., is one of the participants in the 1961 medical series lectures being given by the Jewish Community Center of Easton. Dr. Morris opened the series on January 24 with a lecture entitled, "Psychiatry and Psychology: Allies of the Medical Practitioner."

To date your Class is without the services of a Reunion Book Editor. Will any one of you volunteer for this job? If someone doesn't come up soon, all of you will have to suffer the consequences. Have contacted each of the past Reunion Book committee staff, HANK GRAHAM, JIM SIMPSON, KEN HAYNES and ELVA CHRIS McCall and not one can spearhead this job. Anyone in a position to read it up? All the aforementioned staff will be glad to help. Time is short. Help needed.

PAUL SHOWALTER and his committee have arranged for the class rendezvous at the Milton Country Club on Saturday, June 3, from 3:00 to 5:00 P. M. If enough of you indicate your intention of being in Lewisburg on Friday night, June 2, I'm sure we could arrange to have dinner together as a group. We can also arrange for dinner at the Country Club on Saturday night for any and all who have no commitments elsewhere. The main thing is to get word to Paul Showalter as soon as you can. Tell him when you'll be back and what your requirements will be. By the time you have received this issue of THE BUCKNELL ALUMNUS you will have received a special invitation to return to the campus. Please fill in the reservation card with your request for dormitory rooms and ticket needs and return them to the Alumni Office as soon as possible. We are told that we will all be in the same dormitory and same floor, if possible. We want all of you back and we want each and every one of you to have a real good time. Just remember you've got to do your part. Plan now!

Here is the report as of March 17. Just received Paul's report today. Look forward to seeing and renewing acquaintance with these classmates who have checked in: GLADYS S. MURRAY, R. MARVEL KEAGY, ROBERT J. KEENAN, ED SMALSTIG, ALICE DRENNEN SMALSTIG, CHARLES F. FOX, MARION STINSON FOX, WARREN J. McCLAIN, HORACE W. MASON, KEITH E. HAINES, JAMES R. SIMPSON, JAMES H. KONKLE, W. GREGG ALLEN, ROBERT H. BOGAR, W. ZELMAN SLEIGHTER, RUTH THOMAS SLEIGHTER, CARL E. TRUXEL, CORA NEWSHAM TRUXEL, ARTHUR H. STONE, JOSEPH NISSLEY, ESTHER MINICH LAWSON, HELEN REECE, PAUL M. SHOWALTER, and DON C. PATTERSON.

Count them up, team: twenty-four of us are getting back to see each other and about two hundred more of you who haven't checked in yet. We want to see you too. We're hoping there are some of you who want to see some of us. If you do, prove it; we'll meet you on campus the evening of June 2 for sure.

What do you know, PAUL SHOWALTER is running for judge of Union and Snyder Counties in the May primaries. We are all with you. You've just got to win Paul. How can the rest of you fail to attend your 30th reunion arranged for you by the judge of Union County? Who do you want to arrange your reunion, the governor? Give Paul a little more time. Congratulations and good luck, Paul.

RUTH THOMAS SLEIGHTER has resigned as our class reporter but she does the thing that you and I failed to do for her; she sent me some news. Thank you, Ruth; see you in June.

MARY WOLFE ROSS is in the Harrisburg Hospital. Make a speedy recovery Mary and join with us in June. We'll be looking for you.

MARGARET ROSS Steele is moving back to Lewistown.

There will be residence quarters for all of us together if we want it. Get in touch with Paul right away.

32 MR. ELLIS F. HULL
11 Broad St.
Allentown, N. J.

DOROTHY A. KIRKWOOD (Mrs. G. Donald Freeman) is show manager for a Ski Trade Show in New York City as well as being show manager for a Los Angeles, Calif., Public Ski Show. Husband Don is an instrument engineer for Shell Chemical in Torrance, Calif., (5214 Paseo de Pablo) where they live. They have a son at UCLA and a daughter in high school. They live just minutes away from the Pacific and but an hour's drive from Disneyland. Dorothy says "Come see us, you Bucknellians."

33 MRS. ERNEST H. ENGELHARDT
(Janet Worthington)
Irondale Place, Millville Rd.
Bloomsburg, Pa.

PETALS FALLING

Of rare and evanescent thing I sing,
Of mystical communion with the earth.

Outside I ran one clear spring day in May.
Barefooted in the cool and dewy grass,
To gather for myself a yellow spray
From tangled golden bushes on the hill.
I turned to travel to the lower lawn
When suddenly I realized that I
Was running on a purple carpet soft
With violets; I crossed the winding walk
Of reddish brick and glanced to skies of blue.
Then saw, so far beyond, beside the gate,
The petals falling, pink and lavender
And waxy white, from our Magnolia tree.
A halo for the tree, a mystic crown
Was on the ground, encircling it around.
And I was running with and toward this beauty.
And always had been running and would be.

And I was part of it, and it a part of me,
Its beauty and its truth, my only destiny.

*Copyright — JANET WORTHINGTON ENGELHARDT—1960, reprinted in the National Poetry Anthology, 1961, of Los Angeles, California.

ANDREW ZANELLA has been elected vice president of the Bucknell Alumni Club of Lock Haven.

MARGIE KERR SMITH reports that CAL '30 retired from Hotpoint Co. last June and that they are living at 835 Small St., Port Charlotte, Fla., during the winter months and at Southhold, Long Island, N. Y., during the summer months. Their daughter Barbara Jean is employed locally at home. Calvin Jr., is a freshman at Duke, and Bill is a ninth grader at the local school. Cal spends days fishing and golfing, but Margie hasn't retired yet.

GINIE HUMPHREYS SMITH, Mrs. A. CROSSLEY SMITH, JR. '31, of 8237 New Second St., Elkins Park 17, sent some news about last summer. MARY HAZARD Ingram's daughter Paula was married in a very beautiful setting in Cranford, N. J. The wedding was just like a Bucknell reunion. Present were: KITTY and PAUL SHOWALTER '31, HELEN HOFFNER SIMPSON '34 and her husband JIM SIMPSON '31 and their attractive daughter who is a junior at Cornell and a Tri Delt, GINIE and CROSS SMITH '31, ETHEL SWENSON Thomas and her daughter Gail who is a freshman at Bucknell this year, and MARIE WALBERT Miller '30.

Ginie says Cross has been for several years a trustee of the Second Baptist Church of Germantown, and she is active in other departments. They have both been graduated from Scouts, P. T. A., and secondary school sports. Their older boy, Arthur, is a senior at Princeton University, and their younger boy, Gordon, is a sophomore at Yale University. Gordon dives, and Art is a swimmer on their respective college varsities.

I wish you each would be like Ginie and write a long newsy letter so your reporter could have such interesting news every time.

Hope you all have a relaxing and delightful summer!

34 MRS. WILLIAM S. LIMING
(Ruth E. Rohr)
55 Magnolia Ave.
Garden City, L. I., N. Y.

A. FAY BEIGHLEY of 504 Highland Terrace, Williamsport, has been elected president of the Family and Children's Service of Lycoming County at their annual meeting in January. He faces a challenge in that a severe financial problem confronts the agency

Thomas F. Morgan, Jr. '21

Dr. Arnaud C. Marts H'46 recently announced the retirement of Thomas F. Morgan, Jr. '21 as president of Marts & Lundy, Inc. "Si", who has served as president of the fund-raising organization since 1956, will continue to serve the company as a senior consultant, a position which is also held by Dr. Louis W. Robey '04.

Mr. Morgan has been associated with Marts & Lundy since its inception in 1926 and was one of the first men in the profession of fund-raising. During the course of his career, he has given direction to fund-raising campaigns which raised well over 100 million dollars for various clients, including colleges, schools, hospitals and other philanthropic agencies.

"Si" attended West Point, and later he received the degree of Bachelor of Science in Electrical Engineering from Bucknell. He is an active member of the Lambda Chi Alpha fraternity, presently serving as president of the alumni chapter. He has played a leading role in the program to provide the fraternity's new chapter house on the campus. Currently, he is serving as treasurer of Lambda Chi Alpha national fraternity. He is also a trustee of Wilkes College.

"Si" is married to the former Edith Somers, a graduate of Rochester University, and they are the parents of two children: Linda, a student at Grier School in Tyrone; and Thomas F., III, an elementary school student in Lewisburg. The Morgan's home address is 23 Market St., Lewisburg.

ISADORE J. ZLOTKIN, Esq., has been re-elected president of the Bucknell Alumni Club of Monmouth-Ocean.

Polly and JOE KIELB and their children, Robin and Alan, live in that fabulous city of Angels, at 3845 Potomac Ave., Los Angeles, Calif., and like it very much. I look forward to my annual letter from them at Christmas and this past Christmas made them dearer to us than ever with their kind thoughts and interest in our son, Robert. How I wish BILL '33 and I could see them again as we used to see Joe before they went west. I'm sure they'd enjoy hearing from any Bucknellians who travel to the west coast.

I'm sure you'll all be interested to know that our beloved "Donna Quixote," or should I say Dr. DOROTHY KESTER is now in Lagos, Portugal, where she is writing a book. Our pride and joy career gal is on a leave of absence from her native Ohio and on a scholarship from Ohio Delta Kappa Gamma Society. Prior to her settling down to writing in this Atlantic seacoast village, she lived out of a flight bag for six months, poking into all the non-touristy places she could find. I'm sure we'll all be looking for more news from Dorothy and all of us wish her well in her projects.

Perhaps we'll run into her e'er summer is over as we're planning a trip to Europe and North Africa ourselves and we're up to our necks in travel books—after all, we must please each one of us. Bob wants Denmark and Germany, Ruth Gail, Paris and Venice, Bill wants Rome and Madrid and North Africa and yours truly to revisit Amsterdam and the Rhine. I'm sure we'll all enjoy our trip and be home in time to see Ruth Gail enrolled as a freshman at Bucknell.

Now that you know what some of us are doing, how about a line or two so we can keep up to date on more of '34!

35

MRS. PAUL J. DESCHANEL
(Ann W. Orr)
Chapel Wood
Gambrills, Md.

THOMAS E. LEHMAN, III, of 239 Butler St., Kingston, was recently elected potentate of Irem Temple at Wilkes-Barre. Tom is married to the former Dorothy Derk and has three children: Susan, Scott, and Tom.

After 20 years in Naval Medical Service, Dr. WILLIAM H. DRUCKENMILLER has retired from active duty and has established a private practice in Erie. During his Naval career, he served as neurosurgical adviser from the three armed forces to the National Aeronautics and Space Administration and was on special assignment to the Mercury Project in which the groundwork was laid for the man in space. His wife is the former Louise Clausen and they have three children: Amanda Louise, Susan D., and William H., Jr.

36

MRS. CLYDE E. BURCEE
(Lois Montgomery)
124 S. 5th St.
Lewisburg, Pa.

Reune in June, 1961

Our class president, CHARLES KOTT-CAMP, general chairman of reunion, ROBERT T. JONES, and editor of the Reunion Book, ERIC STEWART, have been very busy on plans to make our 25th Reunion a great success.

No doubt you have returned your questionnaire to Eric. As of March 15, he reported 94 questionnaires received and more coming in daily. He indicated that signs point to an interesting roundup of what our classmates have been doing since our 20th reunion in 1956. Many indicated that they will attend the reunion. Some who can't make it, ask if copies of the book will be available to them. The answer is, yes. Following the union, the book will be offered for sale mail.

STUART BUTTON, Susquehanna, principal of the school district, finds relaxation riding his hobbies of coin collecting (president Triple Cities Numismatic Association), butterfly collecting, and Indian relics. SARA A. DREWS Collins is a water skier. PEG GEAL and husband JOHN PROSSER DAVIS are living in Puerto Rico for the next three years and say it is an accomplishment to have your employer pay you to live at a vacation resort. STERLING HARVEY is with U. S. Radio Corp. and recently joined the Caterpillar Club by having to bail out of an airplane at 13,000 feet. Dr. EDWARD McKEE is busy raising a family of five children in Charleston, S. C. F. MACK MOORE is a consultant in gerontology specializing in retirement programs. But he includes among his hobbies a Tug collection. DOMINICK SCLAFANI requires travel throughout U. S. A. and Europe. Dr. HAROLD EVANS leaves June for an auto tour of Scandinavia. CHUC GWYNNE will also tour Europe this summer. Still a bachelor school teacher, he is working on a degree in piano and plans to get one organ later. CHARLES DUCK's son graduates from Bucknell in '62! JUNE LEQUAT, Wendt's son graduated from the University of North Carolina in 1958. She finds time to be president of a Girl Scout Council of 10,000 girls! Dr. LOUIS WINKLER has shifted from his auto racing hobby to "ham" radio. STARRING BULL is a high school principal and vacations everywhere from Scandinavia to Hudson Bay and Hawaii. JOHN DECK is an avid collector of German stamps. BO HUS is still piloting the world's largest ship in and out of New York harbor. Col. J. RITTER holds a key job in the Air Force and will be in Denmark this summer and probably Hong Kong this fall. HOWARD FRANK is in Congress in 1960.

One sad note, KENNETH M. BEAL passed away February 11 and the questionnaire arrived the day of the funeral. He leaves his wife, the former Beatrice Van Rensselaer, and a daughter, Virginia, 18.

DICK GILBERT and his wife, Jean, became parents of a baby daughter recently. The Gilberts live in Seattle, Wash., where Dick is vice president of Alaska Airlines.

BOB HOUSEL changed jobs last year when Duff-Norton moved from Pittsburgh. Bob came manager of personnel administration at Steel City Electric Co. Some government red tape involving business may be cut because of the thesis Bob wrote nine years ago when doing graduate work at the American University in Washington, D. C. Bob's thesis was studied by the old Hoover Commission and changes were recommended. Now there is a new study group—a special House subcommittee headed by Rep. John Lesinski, Michigan Democrat, and it is demanding so many answers from Federal agencies.

The Otzinachson Country Club, Milton, has been reserved for a dinner and meeting of the Class of 1936 for Friday evening, June 2. Make plans now to attend this event. Reservation cards will be sent later.

REUNION DINNER

June 2, 1961

6:15 P. M.

OTZINACHSON
COUNTRY CLUB

the year because of the reduced allocations from the Bucknell Club Fund. Mrs. Beigham is the new HILLSBURY TOWN '33.

FRANK E. GUNDEL, who has been elected president of the class of 1936, is a graduate of 37

MRS. PAUL W. ZIEGLER
(Mabel Nyland)
12 W. Garrison Rd., Parkside
Chester, Pa.

Mrs. George W. Pedlow, Jr. (MARIAN E. PURSLEY) has been elected a director of the Bucknell Alumni Club of Lock Haven.

Reverend Doctor ANTHONY F. VASQUEZ, pastor of The St. John's Baptist Church, 13th and Tasker Sts., Philadelphia, tells us of the fifth anniversary service of House of Prayer for All People held in the church on February 15, 1961. Within the sanctuary are housed the FLAGS OF NATIONS which were presented by their governments. There are also letters of prayer and good will sent by world leaders; kings, presidents of nations and ambassadors representing over 85 governments. In addition, a prayer room houses a display of GIFTS OF NATIONS sent by nearly every country, showing handicraft and objects of art produced by its people. At the anniversary service, Dr. Glenn H. Asquith, executive secretary of the Philadelphia Baptist Association, was the guest speaker. As part of its world outreach, the church has initiated a crusade of prayer, enlisting people of every religious denomination to pray daily for peace and brotherhood—to join in the world-wide fellowship of prayer.

There are a number of new addresses to report. Since the beginning of the year, these are the members of the class who kept the moving vans busy: FRANK W. DUNHAM, 40 Harrison Ave., Portsmouth, N. H.; Capt. FRANK R. MORE, U. S. N., 2331 N. Underwood St., Arlington, Va.; THAYER D. MOSS, Esq., 203 Rebel Rd., Annandale, Va.; JOHN H. PETHERBRIDGE, 1930 Graefield Rd., Birmingham, Mich.; JOHN O. ROSER, JR., 111 S. W. 30th Ave., Miami 35, Fla.

38

MRS. JOSEPH T. QUICK
(Mary Bachman)
Wrights Rd., R. D. 2
Newtown, Pa.

ROBERT W. GROOVER has been named assistant general manager of the Bethlehem Steel Company plant in Lebanon. Bob has been located in Lebanon since soon after leaving college and is active in professional circles, civic affairs, scouting activities and is a member of the Managers of the Good Samaritan Hospital. He is married to the former Elizabeth Hertzog and they have three sons: Donald, Michael and David.

WILLIAM H. DAUBERMAN is the author of an article published in the May, 1960, issue of The Westinghouse Engineer entitled "Advanced Electrical Systems for Application to Metal Industry Drives." Bill is a sponsor engineer with Westinghouse Electric Corp. in Pittsburgh. Bill and his wife, the former Helen Hisdorf, have three children: Susan, Lucinda and David. Address: 457 Pacific Ave., Pittsburgh 21.

LEW LEDDEN, FRITZ RYAN '39, BILL VANDUREN, MARY and JOE QUICK attended the February 17 dinner meeting of the Trenton Bucknell Alumni Club.

39

MR. DAVID R. BAGENSTOSE
12 Kinterra Rd.
Wayne, Pa.

J. HARRY GUNDRUM has been elected treasurer of the Bucknell Alumni Club of Lancaster.

HERBERT C. HINEBAUGH died at the Memorial Center Hospital, New York, N. Y., on January 17. He had been a patient at the hospital since last November and had made arrangements to give his eyes to an eye bank and his body to the Sloan-Kettering Cancer Research Institute. Herbert was a chemical engineer employed by Koppers Co., Inc., at the time of his death. He was very active in his church and community and had served as vice president and president of the Bucknell Alumni Club of Lock Haven. Sincerest sympathy is extended to his wife, son—Kurt, and daughter—Margery.

40

MRS. JAMES A. MILLER
(Mary McCrina)
1392 Colfax Ave.
Benton Harbor, Mich.

All classmates are urged to return to the campus for Alumni Week End—more and more alumni are returning every year. Last year DOUG and MARY LOUISE MAYHEW FISH came by air from Florida. ESTHER MURRAY Holladay piloted her own plane from Arlington, Va.

Elsewhere in THE ALUMNUS it has been recorded that RUTH LOWTHER Miller has a daughter, born in June, 1960, in Arizona.

Last October I was able to spend a week in the East and managed to get on the campus—during Homecoming week end, yet! It was good to see Dr. Karraker again and Dr. J. CHARLES JONES '42.

MARY McCLELLAND Lago leads a busy life in the atmosphere of the University of Missouri, where husband Gladwyn is instructor. Glad is completing a text (with Lloyd Bennington) for Ronald Press; went to Chicago and Washington for National Science Foundation panels and is still working on brain-wave research. Mary, besides all the other projects we have mentioned previously, was orientation chairman for international students last fall and last summer helped produce a weekly television program featuring foreign students.

JIM DUCHINE will be at the University of Detroit, working with Marts and Lundy. He is now vice president of the fund-raising firm.

CURTIS E. HENNING has been transferred from Atlanta, Ga., to Clifton, N. J., by Becton, Dickinson and Co., manufacturers of surgical instruments, to become eastern regional sales manager.

My parting shot is to be on the lookout for a "chain letter" which in a moment of exhilaration I sent off to help alleviate the insolvency of our class. The response has been good so far—keep up the good work!

41

MRS. WILLIAM F. HASSELBERGER
(Jean P. Steele)
605 Scott Ave.
Syracuse 3, N. Y.

 Reune in June, 1961

REUNION DINNER

June 2, 1961

SUSQUEHANNA VALLEY COUNTRY CLUB

Do you plan to return for your 20th reunion on June 2, 3 and 4? If not, make your plans today and come back and head for the "300 acres" to help your classmates celebrate our 20th. You will be overwhelmed and pleasantly surprised at the changes made and the new buildings on campus such as the Ellen Clarke Bertrand Library, Coleman Hall, Swartz Hall for men, the new fraternities on the hill and the recently completed Administration Center. Mrs. ELIZABETH COOPER Hannum reports that response to the questionnaires for the 20th reunion book is gratifying and her mail box is bulging at the seams with letters from every part of the U. S. A.

On the local scene, DICK KAUFFMAN (R. D. 1, Lewisburg) is in charge of the local arrangements and is working on plans for a dinner to be held June 2 at the Susquehanna Valley Country Club. Additional information regarding this dinner will be mailed to you.

On December 31, 1960, DON STOLZ was named manager of the College Inn at Bucknell. Don, who had been employed in the University Bookstore, began his new duties as manager when Mr. and Mrs. W. GUY PAYNE '09, turned over their property to the College.

Let's everyone plan on being at the class reunion June 2-4. It hardly seems possible that we will be celebrating our 20th reunion. I hope you'll all find it convenient to attend!

42

MRS. THOMAS R. DIETZ
(Germaine B. Pepperman)
83 Nutt Rd.
Phoenixville, Pa.

W. FREDERICK GOODYEAR of 14 Woodcock Dr., Westport, Conn., has been appointed by the Teleregister Corporation as their new manager of development. He has been with the company since 1957 as supervisor of electrical development. He and his wife, Lorene, have two daughters: Donna and Janet.

Still going around with a smug glow on my face from an unexpected trip to Florida for eight days in March. My husband decided on the spur of the moment that he could take the time off, wonderful friends of ours moved in with their three boys (seven cherubs to get off to school every morning!) and we took off for the sunny South! It was a grand trip, sightseeing, mostly, since we'd never been there before, and now I feel as if I can face the rest of the year with a slight degree of sanity!

Had two unexpected windfalls from letters with news of '42 in them. HONEY RHINE-SMITH BAKER '44 wrote that she had learned via a newspaper article that JOE BUZAS, owner of the Allentown baseball franchise in the Class A Eastern League, had decided to move the franchise to another location for the coming season. Joe is now living in Alpha, N. J. So good to get news about class members we haven't heard of for so long. Thanks a lot, Honey, for your contribution, and for your note.

Class Reporter MABEL NYLUND Ziegler '37 sent me the following much appreciated news about her brother, MILTON E. NYLUND. Without any knowledge on my part that he and his family were so close to me, he was stationed at the Valley Forge Army Hospital, doing lab work. He is now a captain and was recently transferred to Okinawa where he is doing similar work at the Army Hospital there. His wife and family (twins Gary and Leslie, 10; and Ricky, 7) were still at their home at 262 Hearstone Rd., Candlebrook, King-of-Prussia, when Mabel wrote. Milton's address is: Captain Milton E. Nylund 0-989988, U. S. Army Medical Service Group, APO 331, San Francisco, Calif. Perhaps his family has been able to join him by now. We hope so, and I'm sure they'd appreciate hearing from any of you who might have lost track of them. Thanks again, Mabel; it helps to have other class reporters pass along news of '42.

HOPE HANNING HEATON writes that she and TOM '39 have become radio hams! They have quite a radio shack and Hope proudly writes that "even" she made general class after struggling through novice and technical. Sounds extremely complicated but wonderfully interesting. Maybe there are some more hams in our class—think of the news you could gather up and forward to me!

New address for the CHARLES MESE-ROLL family: 9 Twinoaks Dr., Trenton 8, N. J. Charlie is still working for the Telephone Co., but was transferred to the Trenton office. He and his wife, MARIE GRABOWSKI MESEROLL '44, and their wonderful family are enjoying their new home.

Hugo Riemer '29

In February Hugo Riemer '29 was elected president of the United States Borax and Chemical Corporation. He will serve also as chief executive officer of the corporation.

Mr. Riemer was president of the nitrogen division of the Allied Chemical Corporation from 1953 to 1958, when he joined United States Borax as executive vice president. He originally had joined Allied in its legal department, after several years with the New York law firm of Cravath, Swaine & Moore.

Mr. Riemer is a son of the late Dr. G. C. L. Riemer '95, who was professor of German at Bucknell University from 1901 to 1918, and a brother of Grier Riemer '29 of Cleveland, Ohio. He is a nephew of the late Dr. Hugo B. C. Riemer '06 who had been a member of the faculty of the Harvard Medical School. In June, 1961, Hugo was re-elected to membership on the Board of Trustees of Bucknell University.

Mr. and Mrs. Riemer, the former Marjorie Wodelton, are the parents of a son and three daughters. The Riemer home address is 323 North Carmelina Ave., Los Angeles 49, Calif.

43 MISS CAROLYN F. DONEHOWER
3722 Chestnut St.
Philadelphia 4, Pa.

How about rushing to the nearest mail box with your news items, big and small, and send them to your reporter. It's been very quiet in this corner for the past few issues. Surely some of you are doing interesting and exciting things that your classmates would like to hear about.

44 MRS. ROBERT F. BAKER
(Honey Rhinesmith)
Lindys Lake, R. D.
Butler, N. J.

Mrs. J. Charles Jones (MARGUERITE STROUSE) has been elected secretary of the Bucknell Alumni Club of Union County.

KATHLEEN PEVIS is a formerly despatcher for job with the National Geographic Society as "Travel writer." She has changed it to "Travel with camera and broken leg" since the publication of her latest photographic art in the January, 1961, issue of The National Geographic. Look up your January issue of the Geographic and you will see a picture of Kathleen—broken leg and all.

One of the happiest messages we've ever received came from FRANK and GINNY THOMPSON CANNON when they called to tell us their first child, a daughter, had arrived that afternoon. She was just four weeks old when they became her parents. In all the excitement we didn't learn her name, but did find out that Frank's first batch of similac was lumpy!

From MERLE '49 and ROSEMARY PALMER SMITH, "Had a pleasant visit with SYBIL KEALEY Harris and her two boys . . . She told me that DORA SEYFARTH Verbeyst had her 7th child (6th girl!) . . . Have been pursuing a hobby which just goes to show that nothing one learns in college is ever wasted. I took German for five semesters and got straight D's, but some of it must have stuck with me. Certainly Prof. McCrossen's comments about world events did. I got interested in translations of books by Willi Heinrich and decided to read an unabridged original version of The Cross of Iron, but was unable to find one. After writing to Herr Heinrich expressing admiration for his writing, he sent an autographed copy of the original edition. Am translating my fourth book now, but it's like trying to eat with chopsticks when you're starving, because I look up about 20 words on each page."

With springtime and nostalgia always hand in hand, how about turning some memories into realities and plan on being part of Alumni Week End next month? More and more people are returning to campus then and it's just as nice as Homecoming . . . without having to worry about freezing rain!

45 MRS. JOHN F. BACON
(Phoebe Follmer)
Meadowdale Farm
Sparks, Md.

WILLIAM MENDENHALL, III, has been elected vice president of the Bucknell Alumni Club of Union County.

ROBERT FINKERNAGEL writes from P. O. Box 12, Gainesville, Fla., about a very busy life. He is presently manager of the Gainesville Chamber of Commerce, and also is active in the life of his church there. He and his wife, Naida, have three children: Ann, 14; Nancy, 9; and Bobby, nearly 7.

From Morrisville, N. Y., I heard from CALVIN E. DUNKLE, who is Campus Store manager and dormitory supervisor at State University of New York, Ag. & Tech. Institute. He and his wife have a little boy, John Charles, who is about three. This classmate would like to hear from friend classmates. How about it?

An engineer with New Jersey Bell Telephone Company, RICHARD B. DIFFENDERFER, of 810 Cedar Ave., Haddonfield, N. J., reports two little boys: Paul, 5; and John, 2.

46 MRS. LELAND C. EWING
(Elizabeth J. Wells)
41 Crest Dr.
Tarrytown, N. Y.

Reune in June, 1961

Our class is having its reunion this June, and we are hoping for a good turnout. We trust it will be a successful one in that many '46ers will want to return to see what changes have occurred since we left the campus. We are all anxious to see the new buildings—Ellen Clarke Bertrand Library, Coleman Hall, Swartz Hall, and the recently completed Administration Center.

The Class of '46, like other classes in war years, contained many people who were trying to complete a degree in as short a time as possible. Perhaps we did not learn to know each other as well as we could have in normal time, but we all have the same label when we meet in June at the reunion—Alumni of Bucknell '46.

Please try to return to Bucknell during the week end of June 2-4. The activities for the week end have been planned with all of us in mind. We are meeting at a residence hall on Saturday afternoon for a social hour so we can renew our friendships. We are counting on you—'46ers—to return to our beloved 300 acres once more.

FRANK W. STRICKLAND has been elected vice president of the Bucknell Alumni Club of Monmouth-Ocean.

We are all saddened to learn of the death of TED ROSELLE who died of cancer in February in Massapequa, N. Y. He had served on the Sales-Research Staff of the General Dynamics Corporation. Previously he had been in partnership with his brother RICHARD D. ROSELLE '41, in Seattle Wash. Ted interrupted his college career in 1942 to serve with distinction in the 5th Air Force Liberator Group in the southwest Pacific. He flew on 46 combat missions and won the Air Medal with five Oakleaf Cluster during his air service. He is survived by his wife, the former EDWINA HALLIGAN of our class, two daughters and a son. Also surviving are his mother and two brothers, CLIFFORD E. ROSELLE who attended Bucknell in 1940-41 and RICHARD D. ROSELLE '41.

47 MRS. HERBERT GOLDMAN
(Tamara Gurvitch)
370 Holland Lane
Englewood, N. J.

JACK A. BIDDING has been elected vice president of the Bucknell Alumni Club of Lancaster.

JAMES N. BIERLY, JR., who earned his M.S. degree with our class, has just been awarded his Ph.D. from Temple University. Jim is a physicist with the Franklin Institute in Philadelphia.

Mrs. Robert E. Billings (ELIZABETH QUINN) has been elected secretary of the Bucknell Alumni Club of Monmouth-Ocean.

Mr. and Mrs. MICHAEL A. McGUIRE, Jr. (EVELYN SNAVELY) are living at 7 Morningside Dr., Longmeadow, Mass. After living in Roseland, Short Hills and Longmeadow, perhaps the next move will be to Seabrook!

It's a boy for Mr. and Mrs. EUGENE MATTHEWS (JUNE STOTT). John Stott arrived January 22 to the delight of two sisters: June, 8; and Jan, who celebrated her 7th birthday in April. The Matthews' address: R. D. 3, Bliem Rd., Pottstown.

48 MRS. JAMES A. BROWN
(Joann G. Golightly)
1591 Hillcrest Terrace
Union, N. J.

ROBERT W. HAIGH has been appointed director of planning with the Standard Oil Company in Ohio. In 1953 he received the degree of Doctor of Commercial Science from the Harvard University School of Business Administration. His wife is the former JAN S. SHEBLE, and they have four children: Cynthia, 11; Anne, 9; Robert, Jr., 7; and Barbara, less than a year old. Address: 269 Rocklyn Rd., Shaker Heights 22, Ohio.

Dr. and Mrs. Thomas R. Marino (DORIS STRASSNER) announce the arrival of their third child (first boy) Thomas Ralph, Jr., on February 25, 1961.

ROBERT E. LIST has been elected president of the Bucknell Alumni Club of Northern New Jersey.

DWIGHT S. MILLEMAN has given up the rugged winters of Ambridge to return to Florida where he is now settled at 4730 N. F. 15th Ave., Ft. Lauderdale. He recently opened an office of the A. M. Kidder & Co., Inc. (investment securities) in Boca Raton, Fla.

As a result of a merger between companies, WILLIAM and DOROTHY CLARK HANSEN and their children have moved to 11 Bay State Rd., Natick, Mass. Happy days to you all up there.

I wonder how many of you have been privileged to hear from FLORENCE FELLOWS Skove in Germany? She and her husband, Jim and their three children have been over there almost two years and hope to come home in July. Almost every month they take a trip somewhere—I think they're one of few to take advantage of such exciting experiences.

Don't forget Alumni Week End—June 2, 3, and 4.

49 MRS. THOMAS A. FRAZIER
(Marilyn L. Harer)
1344 Mansel Ave.
Williamsport, Pa.

MICHAEL F. P. NIGHTINGALE, statistician, is now lecturing in mathematics and statistics at Queens College, Flushing, N. Y.

WILLIAM B. DAVIS, JR., has been promoted to supervisor—fundamental planning with Bell Telephone of Pennsylvania. He is involved in studies to determine the most economical methods of implementing future programs of telephone communication with the use of existing equipment. Bill and his wife, the former Margaret Roberts, and Bill, III, live at 1919 Columbia Ave., Camp Hill.

KENNETH F. MALONEY, who has been with the Arabian American Oil Company in Saudi, Arabia, most of the time since his graduation in 1949, has returned to the New York office where he has been named assistant manager, M & OS department of the company. The Maloneys left Arabia in early August, flew to Athens, then took a seven-day cruise on the Stella Maris through the Greek Islands to Istanbul. Back to Athens, then to Frankfurt, where they hired a car and drove through Germany to Vienna. On to London for a wonderful week of sightseeing; to Ireland for a motor trip to southern Ireland (including the Blarney Stone), and then to New York. Ken, his wife and the two children, Kenneth and Susan, now live at 244 Monroe Ave., River Edge, N. J.

Birth: A daughter, Amy Jean, was born January 1, 1961, (six hours too late for a tax deduction) to Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Lewis (GRACE SELINGER). She joins sisters Rebecca (5) and Jennifer (3). Gil has become a partner in his law firm, Santangelo and Lewis, Pottstown.

IRVIN GRAYBILL, JR. has announced his candidacy for the office of president judge of Pennsylvania's 17th Judicial District which includes Snyder and Union Counties. Irvin is currently serving his second term as district attorney of Snyder County and is a member of the Board of Directors of The General Alumni Association of Bucknell University.

50 MISS HELEN E. GLOISTEN
161 Oak St.
West Hempstead, L. I., N. Y.

LACEY K. BARNES has been with IBM since 1956 and recently was appointed staff engineer in Plant Engineering Design at the IBM Space Guidance Center, Owego, N. Y. He is a member of the Owego Junior Chamber of Commerce and the Owego Lodge of Elks and is active in community and church affairs. He is licensed by the State of New York for professional engineering and land surveying. Lacey's wife is the former Anna Saxon, and they have three children: Linda, Sandra and Jonathan. They live at 4 Orchard Ave., Owego, N. Y.

The Bucknell Alumni Club of Northern New Jersey has selected two members of the Class of 1950 as vice presidents of the group. DAVID A. GRIMM and ANDREW W. MATTHIESON will share these duties for the coming year. Dave lives at 27 James St., Westwood, N. J. and Andy is a Westfield resident, at 725 Belvidere Ave.

THEODORE K. FRUTIGER received his Master of Arts degree from Pennsylvania State University in January and is an assistant professor of mathematics at Lycoming College.

HENRY A. FRYE, JR., of 369 Bonnie Brae Ave., Rochester, N. Y., has been appointed to the professional employment section of the employment department of Bausch and Lomb, Inc. He is married to the former Mary Harrington and they have three children: Mark, Diane and Deborah.

51 MRS. HAROLD P. NORRIS
(Rebecca J. Rogers)
6 Griffis St.
Montrose, Pa.

Renne in June, 1961

MARY JANE RILEY Lacke, our reunion book editor, reports that questionnaires have started pouring in and that, judging from such an enthusiastic response, she is looking forward to a really great reunion. To name a few, the following persons have indicated that they hope to return to attend the big 10th: BILL SCHAFFNER, HELEN BERLIN Close, DOROTHY JAMES Lampe, DON BETTY, WALT BAUMAN, HERB ZEARFOSS, DICK ROUSH, JACK MILES, FRED BRENNER, DAVE RUSSELL, RON KELLER, RIP FEHR and JOE BLACKBURN. Won't you add your name to these lists?

My bulging mail box indicates that BUD BUSH, reunion chairman, and HERB ZEARFOSS are working very hard to insure a successful and enjoyable reunion, but only you can make their efforts bear fruit, so do plan to come back to Bucknell in June.

Mrs. Howard W. Kates (BETTY J. BUSCH) has been elected secretary of the Bucknell Alumni Club of Northern New Jersey.

D. SCOTT HICKS has been elected a vice president of the Bucknell Alumni Club of Northern New Jersey.

WILLIAM M. MARTIN has been named assistant district manager of the Industrial Division Office of the Armstrong Cork Company in New York. He has been with Armstrong since graduation. His wife was the former Carole Pistler, and they live at 23 Park Dr., Plandome, N. Y.

ANDREW J. SHIRK was elected president of the Bucknell Alumni Club of Union County.

BOYD A. MERTZ and Joan M. Kunkle were married January 15 in Sunbury. Boyd is owner of Boyd Mertz Greenhouse and is building a new home in R. D. 1, Northumberland, where he and his bride will reside.

JAMES H. STANTON'S recent letter came from Brazil where he is visiting old friends and taking a look at the country. He says he likes the Latin Americans and may live there some day. Jim's home base is still Chagrin Falls, Ohio, but he has been spending most of his summers in Alaska working for the government and for private concerns building houses, weirs and cabins. However, next fall he plans to settle down in San Francisco, Calif., in an old house for a while. Good luck, Jim, wherever you are.

C. GRAYDON ROGERS has been named research vice president of the Delaware Management Company, Inc., national distributor and investment adviser for both the $101 million Delaware Fund and the $8 million Delaware Income Fund. He is research vice president of the Delaware Income Fund, will continue as an investment officer of the Delaware Fund, and will sit in on the management firm's Investment Advisory Committee. He has been with the organization since 1956, first serving as a security analyst. He is married to the former MARY E. EDWARDS, has four children, and lives at 121 Snowball Dr., Levittown.

ROBERT H. SEITZER of 160 Forest Rd., Glen Rock, N. J., recently was appointed superintendent of schools at East Orange, N. J. He is active in civic, church and American Legion affairs in East Orange as he was in Williamsport where he was located before going to East Orange about seven years ago. His wife is the former Marjorie Sprengle. They are the parents of one daughter, Rebecca Rae.

Dr. ROBERT E. STOVER of 557 Glenn Rd., State College, has been named head of the Human Factors Section in the Electronics Systems Department of HRB-Singer, Inc., State College. He has been with the company on a part time basis since 1957 and became a full time staff psychologist in January, 1960. He is married to the former Kay M. Goodman.

RAYNELL WILSON Stephens writes that after obtaining her degree in nursing she worked for a year at Children's Hospital in Philadelphia. After marrying and moving to Carbondale, she worked for a year at Hahemann Hospital in Scranton. Ray now has three children: Tommy, 6; Beth, 4; and Jeff, 1½. She says, "You could say I am still active in the nursing profession, but it is more of the home nursing variety." The Stephens address is Watts Hill, Honesdale. Ray reports that GEORGE '50 and SALLY '52 (BAUMGARDNER) STANTON are also Honesdale residents.

Dr. WILLIAM T. MUSSER has filed nominating papers for the post of coroner of Union County. Dr. Musser has been practicing medicine in Milflinburg for two and one-half years.

52 MRS. JOHN S. BOULDEN, JR.
(Barbara Bleecker)
1605 Twin Maple Ave.
Towson 4, Md.

Thanks to many, many classmates for answering my plea for news in the January issue of THE BUCKNELL ALUMNUS.

From 7 Daiko Cho, 10 Chome, Higashi-ku, Nagoya, Japan, came a welcome letter from MARY LOU HIND Palmore. "After a year in the U. S. A. where Peyton studied at Union Theological Seminary in New York, we have returned to Nagoya and have moved to the above address. Our second daughter, Vicki, died while we were in the states in a tragic accident—caught her head in a crib side extension. Needless to say, it was a terrible shock for all of us but we weathered the storm, matured and deepened by the experience. Since returning to Japan, our third daughter, Paula Jean, was born October 17, 1960, at Kyoto. Christy, who just turned 4, has entered Japanese kindergarten and is enjoying it immensely even though she has forgotten most of the language. Our work this term will be more general in nature than before, including teaching in the Nagoya Christian Boys School on whose campus we now live, assisting in churches without pastors or in need of special help, and serving on several committees in the Aichi District."

Nursery News: ERNIE and MARJORIE MONZERT '54 PEARCE announce the birth of Lois Eileen on October 22, 1960. She joins Michael (born August 22, 1958) and Donna (born February 19, 1957)—"so you can see things around here have taken on the appearance of a day nursery," writes Margie. "We love it though (most of the time!)." The Pearces' address—1508 Church Rd., Orland. Jim and DORIS WORSTALL Sickler added daughter Marjorie Hellen to their family on May 18, 1960. She joins brother, Jimmy, 3. In November of last year the Sicklers moved to 308 High St., West Medford 56, Mass. Jim left Jackson and Perkins in New York State and is now grounds supervisor of Tufts University. KEITH and MIAMI MAYHEW LAW and two children are just an hour's distance from Doris and Jim, so they get

Edward Lewis '40

Bucknellians will be pleased to learn that the motion picture "Spartacus" was produced by alumnus Edward Lewis, a member of the Class of 1940. He is currently vice president of Kirk Douglas' independent motion picture company, Bryna Productions.

Edward opened a furniture factory in Philadelphia in 1939 but sold the business when he entered the U. S. Army in 1942. Upon his discharge as a captain, Edward headed west where there were unlimited opportunities for writers in Hollywood. Selling scripts was another matter and he went into the construction business to finance another try at writing. In 1948 a script was filmed as "The Lovable Cheat."

In 1949 Edward teamed with director Al Rogell and produced "The Admiral Was a Lady." After a short association with Rogell and Jack Warner, Jr., Edward formed a TV company with Marion Personette. The pair was hired to go east to film the Faye Emerson TV show. This program led to his being "discovered" and brought him to Hollywood as a producer. He produced the first "Schlitz Playhouse" and "China Smith" series.

His first assignment with Bryna Productions was to act as associate producer for "Lizzie" starring Eleanor Parker. His next assignment was that of writer-producer on "The Careless Years." He also served as producer for "Day of the Gun," co-starring Kirk Douglas and Rock Hudson. Since then he has completed another original screenplay "The Sun at Midnight."

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis, the former Mildred Gerchick, are the parents of two daughters, Joan and Susan.

brothers, and her obviously very happy parents. JACK and I have added to our family, too. The count is now two boys and two girls with the birth of Barbara Sherbrooke (Brookie) on March 4. In April Jack will celebrate his fifth anniversary with the C. and P. Telephone Co. of Maryland (Bell System) and is a traffic engineer in Baltimore, Md.

KEN LAWSON sent a grand letter telling of his and SHIRLEY's (O'GRADY '53) doings in the past ten (can it really be that many?) years. "After serving four years in the U. S. A. F. during the Korean War, 1951-55, we returned to B. U. and finally made the grade in June of 1956. By that time we had two children—Kenny, Jr., and Lisa, who are now eight and seven respectively. Following graduation, we came to Camillus and have spent the time since then at this same address—(109 Camillus Drive, Camillus, N. Y.) I am presently working as a financial specialist with the General Electric Company's Semiconductor Products Department in Syracuse, N. Y. Almost forgot—since moving we've had two more boys—William, 4; and Craig, 1."

It is with great sorrow that I report the death of CHARLES M. CLOTHIER. Charles was in one of the airplanes that collided over New York City in December of last year. He left his wife, Agnes, and three sons: Charles, 15; Glenn, 9; and Ronald, 5. Charles was a senior engineer of the service armament division of Sperry Gyroscope Co. of Great Neck, L. I., N. Y., where he was a specialist in systems analysis and radar development. "He was responsible for many significant advances in the radar field" said a colleague. Recently he had been doing graduate work in applied mathematics at Adelphi College.

A letter from 16 Brucewood Rd., South Acton, Mass., catches us up on news of JIM '50 and BOBBIE WALL DAVENPORT. Jim's new job is eastern district manager of Hughes Aircraft, a Los Angeles firm. Bobbie, active in church work, is also busy with their two boys—Ray, 2; and Jimmy, Jr., 4. "We really love New England and if anyone is touring our Concord and Lexington areas, we are only ten minutes away."

JANET CAUL Ferreira writes from 218 Lookout View Dr., Golden, Colo. "We bought a home three years ago, two years after coming to Colorado. We have two fine boys—Paul, 4; and Jeffrey, 1. In addition to caring for the boys' needs, I keep busy with ten piano pupils and substitute organ playing and choir directing at church. My husband, Larry, is director of research at Coors Porcelain Co. Since we learned that Phil and CAROLYN KNIES Erdle and family are at the Air Force Academy, we have seen them several times."

AL BRADLEY is now director of industrial relations of the Overhead Door Corporation, Hartford City, Ind. Al and his family live at 400 East First St., Hartford City, Ind.

A second son was born to VAN and BERDA STOUT '53 JOHNSON of 1306 Market St., Berwick. He joins an older brother and a sister.

WILLIAM R. FRAZIER, JR., of 1103 Anchor St., Philadelphia 43, is an account executive with Hornblower & Weeks, members of the New York Stock Exchange and other leading exchanges. He formerly was associated with Fidelity-Philadelphia Trust Company as manager of divisional business development.

BILL HENKELMAN recently was elected president of the Scranton Real Estate Board. He and NATALIE ISAAC have one son Robert and live at 612 S. Irving Ave., Scranton.

JOE MASON is now representing Guardian Fire Equipment Company in the Atlantic City, N. J., area.

Dr. ED McCOMSEY has been elected treasurer of the Bucknell Alumni Club of Monmouth-Ocean (N. J.).

Mr. and Mrs. DONALD STRASSNER announce the birth of their second daughter, Robin Jean, on November 24, 1960. She joins Wendy Lee, almost 5, and David Borse, 3. Bucky is with Alcoa and was recently transferred from Baltimore, Md., to Philadelphia.

53

MRS. JAMES A. CHAMBERS, JR.
(Barbara Roemer)
58 Linden Ave.
Verona, N. J.

Dr. and Mrs. H. ZANE BROWN (KITSY BELL) of 15435 Jonas, Allen Park, Mich., are rejoicing over the birth of their "Dear-born" (Mich.) baby, Karl Bell, who arrived on January 10.

ALICE FETZER (Mrs. James P. Carse) is serving as director, University Christian Fellowship, at the University of Connecticut. Son, Nelson K., arrived on May 16, 1960, to join Alisa Louise, born in June, 1958. The family lives on Hanks Hill Rd., Storrs, Conn.

Mr. and Mrs. James L. Shive (CAROLYN F. REINER) of 2030 Grande Ave., S. E., Cedar Rapids, Iowa, welcomed their second son on November 1, 1960, and named him Michael Morgan. He joins Polly Lynn, 5; and Philip Reiner, 3.

Mrs. Wayne D. Stettler, Jr. (JOAN MACBAIN) our class fund manager, reports the arrival on February 4, 1961, of a new son, Jeffrey, who joins two-year-old David. Husband Wayne is now a pediatric resident in the Washington, D. C., Children's Hospital.

HERBERT H. QUINN, JR., has assumed the duties of manager of the Lewisburg branch of Sherwin-Williams. Herb spent two years as an accountant with the Corning Glass Works, then three years as advertising representative for Brown and Bigelow in Central Pennsylvania, before joining Sherwin-Williams as a bulk market salesman. He is married to the former Jean Trivelpiece and has two children: David and Debbie.

Mr. and Mrs. JAMES R. RITTER (MARGARET E. O'BRIEN) of 17 Moreau Dr., R. D. 3, Glens Falls, N. Y., announce the birth of a son, Robert Mark, on December 14, 1960. He joins Kathleen, 6; and John, 3. Jim is a chemist with General Electric Corp. in Hudson Falls, N. Y.

GEORGE D. WOLF has been elected president of the Bucknell Alumni Club of Lock Haven.

Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Kase (JEAN SWANGER) of 123 W. Chocolate Ave., Hershey, announce the birth of a girl, Sue Ellen, on January 7. Mr. and Mrs. John Schick (ELLEN HERTE) announce the birth of a son, Steven Michael, on February 21.

Mr. and Mrs. WILLIAM H. PEARSON '57 (ANNE SCHOONMAKER) have moved from one house to another eight times since 1953 and are finally settled at 9232 Harton Rd., Lynnhaven, Va., where Bud works for Minnesota Mining & Manufacturing Co. Anne and Bud have two daughters—Lynn, 6; and Debbie, 3; and they enjoy seeing EILEEN (SMITH) '55 and BOB CHRISTIAN and their three boys who live nearby.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred E. Hunneke (LEE TRAUMULLER) announce their newest heir's arrival, Steven Jeffrey, who was born on February 16 and seems to be making brother Bill quite happy! Lee and Fred have recently moved into a new home at 27 Country Club Rd., Tenafly, N. J.

We Chambers will also be in our new home June 1, so all the letters you surely will be writing this summer should go to 15 Walden Place, West Caldwell, N. J.

BETSY (O'NEILL '57) SWARR and DAVE have added a daughter to their family of two sons. Elizabeth arrived on December 16, 1960.

Remember Alumni Week End in June!

together frequently. From Ballston Lake, N. Y., the following announcement from ELLIOTT '50 and JACKIE THOMPSON MORGAN Problem: Too many boys. Approach to problem: one last desperate effort. Result: Anne Clair Morgan, born February 8, 1961. Our first Anne! (After her three big

MRS. PAUL C. TARR, III
(Anne E. Tuckerman)
413 Alliston Rd.
S. Ringfield, Pa.

ROBERT N. ANGUS, who has been a freelance writer and editor for the past two years, had an interesting assignment in Europe last summer. Working for the NBC Monitor Program and Pageant magazine, he covered interviews and wrote stories (with pictures) of German refugees from communism. His assignment included interviews with Berlin City officials, German Federal Republic officials, Austrian government officers, and refugees and communist functionaries in East Berlin, Germany. In addition to his free-lancing, he now serves as editor of Audio Times and Photographic Trade News.

BARBARA A. BLESSKANY and Patrick F. Rogers, a chemical engineer, were married December 18, 1960, and are living at 8115 El Paseo Grande, La Jolla, Calif.

Dr. JAMES W. JUSTICE was married on February 11, 1961, to Miss Mildred Ann Haight (Syracuse University) of Oceanside, L. I., N. Y., at Anchorage, Alaska. They plan to live next year in an Eskimo village on the Arctic Ocean at Kotesbue where a new hospital is being built. Jim extends a warm welcome to Bucknell visitors.

Mr. and Mrs. J. MICHAEL DEVINNEY (JANET C. WILT) and their two children have become Texans with the transfer of Mike to Houston, Tex. (2921 Duke St., West University Place, Houston 5) where he has become manager of claims for the Glens Falls Insurance Co.

FRANKLIN DELCAMP recently sang the leading tenor role in the opera "Faust" presented at the Fashion Arts Auditorium in New York, N. Y. Frank, who earned his master's degree in music at Catholic University of America in 1958, has opened his own music studio teaching voice and allied subjects.

JEROME FELCHER of 22 Phipps Ave., East Rockaway, N. Y., has announced the opening of his office for the practice of structural engineering at 20 E. 30th St., New York 16, N. Y.

RONALD B. GOODMAN and Hannah Indig were married November 19, 1960, and are living at 74-77 220th St., Bayside 64, N. Y. Ron is a process engineer in the sales group of the Fired Heater Dept. of Foster Wheeler Corp.

Mrs. C. Paul Brubaker (NANCY A. MARTIN) has been re-elected secretary of the Bucknell Alumni Club of Lancaster.

Mr. and Mrs. Duane Olson (JOAN V. RAFAJ) of 309 E. Upland St., Ithaca, N. Y., announce the birth of a son, Eric Paul, on September 11, 1960, at Ithaca, N. Y. They also have a daughter, Ruth, born January 13, 1959. They are going to the University of Liverpool, England, for 18 months where Duane will do research and teach in the Department of Physics. After March, their address will be Chadwick Laboratories, University of Liverpool, Liverpool, England.

MRS. JOHN C. VANCE, JR.
(Jane Jones)
3 Ford Court
Charleston, S. C.

RICHARD R. BRADWAY and Mrs. Bradway (formerly Betty Lou Adams) now residing at 135 Dearborn Ave., Rye, N. Y., have three children: Richard R., Jr., 4; David A., 2; and Sharon Ann, 6 months. Dick is a sales representative for the National Tube Division, United States Steel Corp., working out of the company's New York district sales office at 71 Broadway, New York 6, N. Y.

JOHN F. CHIRONNA has been appointed head football coach at Rhode Island University. He is married to the former KATHERINE ALIMISIS and has two sons: John Elias and Jim Frank. Address: 22 Edgewater Rd., Wakefield, R. I.

Mr. and Mrs. Harris R. Gates (NANCY J. GREEN), of 102 Lake Dr., East, Wayne, N. J., now have two children: Elizabeth Anne, born December 28, 1960; and Deborah Moore, born February 7, 1959.

Dr. JACK E. WILLIAMS of 641 Cleveland Ave., Milton, who has been a teacher in the Milton schools for the past seven years, received the degree of Doctor of Education in Education Administration from Pennsylvania State University in January.

From 30 N. Queen St., York, PEGGY WALLACE LeCATES writes of BYRON's graduation from Dickinson School of Law last June and admission to the York County Bar Association in January. He is now a law clerk for Judge Spencer A. Liverant. Their daughter, Jean Suzanne, was born March 23, 1960.

DIANA JOHNSON Sigler writes that FRANK and RUTH (ARMSTRONG) VANDERHOOF and two daughters, Luanne and Louise, are living in Wharton, N. J., Lake Forest, R. D. 1, in a house they have practically built themselves. Bill and MARIANNE MacMAIN Thornton have recently bought a home in Prairie Village, Kan.—3810 W. 71st Terrace. Bill works for Westinghouse. But, back to Dee; after spending three years living in a 225-year-old farmhouse in the heart of Pennsylvania Dutch Lancaster County, she's now in Dixie—304 Deerfield Rd., Oakhurst, Petersburg, Va.—where husband Alan is a district manager for Chevrolet Motor Division. Their sons, Alan, Jr., and Peter Davidson are 22 months and 5½ months as of February 14.

We, Dr. and Mrs. John C. Vance, Jr. (JANE JONES), have announced the birth of Peter Bailey on March 4 at the Charleston Naval Hospital. Our daughter Keven would have preferred a sister, but the rest of the family is delighted with the first male in over 50 years.

MRS. WILLIAM J. O'NEIL
(Jean M. Wirths)
1706 Esplanade, Apt. C, Hollywood Riv.
Redondo Beach, Calif.

Reune in June, 1961

Don't forget Alumni Week End, June 2-4. We will celebrate our 5th reunion and the ivy whispers that many of our classmates plan to return to see the new buildings and renew old friendships. And, of course, there will be those old-fashioned bull sessions at the "Burger."

FREDERICK S. SHEHADI, JR., has been elected treasurer of the Bucknell Alumni Club of Northern New Jersey.

RHODA WOLFE (professional name: Dedie Marshall) post cards from Nassau the news that she is on location there and in Haiti on a photographic modeling assignment.

The girls who lived in First Bucknell Cottage and Lounge in the Fall of '52 gathered for a year-end celebration on December 28 at the Russian Inn in Philadelphia. In attendance were: MARY LOU ADAMS, NANCY ROMBACH BROWN, DEBORAH WHITE ANDERSEN, JEANNE LOWER BELL, ARLINE SHERWOOD SKIFF, POLLYANN KELLER OWEN, NANCY STRASSNER, NANCY FLEMING, and NANCY BECHTEL GRIERSON.

GEORGE S. FRANKE began studying at Harvard at mid-year for a master's degree in teaching. George, who has already spent three years in the Congo doing technical work under the supervision of the American Baptist Mission Society, plans to return to Africa. If the Congolese ever establish a technical institute, he would like to serve on its faculty. Following his return from the Congo last fall, he wrote "The Congo Crisis," which appeared in THE BUCKNELL ALUMINUS, November, 1960, page 4.

Mr. and Mrs. H. JUDSON CARR (SHIRLEY L. HALL '57) of 131 North 31st St., Camp Hill, are the parents of two sons:

Martin M. Cummings, M.D. '41

Dr. Martin M. Cummings has been selected for appointment as chief of the Office of International Research at the Public Health Services National Institutes of Health in Bethesda, Md., beginning July 1, 1961.

Dr. Cummings has been chairman and professor of the Department of Microbiology at the University of Oklahoma Medical School since 1959. In addition to his administrative and teaching duties there, he has conducted research in epidemiology, microbiology, and clinical medicine, and served as consultant to the Veterans Administration and the Medical Research Foundation of Oklahoma.

From 1953 to 1959 he was director of research service in the Department of Medicine and Surgery of the Veterans Administration, where he was responsible for the administration of a $17 million medical research program and the coordination of research activities with other federal agencies, including NIH, the Department of Defense, and the National Science Foundation.

Previously, he was chief of the Tuberculosis Research Laboratory at the U. S. Veterans Hospital in Atlanta, Ga. (1949-53) and director of the Tuberculosis Evaluation Laboratory of the PHS Communicable Disease Center in Atlanta (1947-49). Early in his career, Dr. Cummings was assigned as a PHS officer to the State Serum Institute, Copenhagen, Denmark, for a period of research and training activities (1946-47).

Dr. Cummings is married to the former Arlene Avrutine '42 and they have three sons: Mark Steven, Lee Bernard, and Stuart Lewis.

Timothy, 2½; and Charles Judson, born October 11, 1960. Jud is in the real estate business.

A change in address comes from 1/Lt. WILLIAM and CAROL (WANAMAKER '57) LENKER and son Robert. The Lenkers are

Dodie Marshall '56

Preparing for a career on the stage is a process made up of many different activities. For Dodie Marshall—our own Rhoda Wolf '56—the pattern has been similar to that of many others.

Starting with modeling and TV commercials, plus the winning of several "Queen" awards, Dodie appeared last spring in her first off-Broadway show, "Tiger Rag" at the Cherry Lane Theatre, in which she both sang and danced. Following that performance she remained a Greenwich beatnick for a performance of Naked City "The Fault of Our Stars" on television.

Favoring an appearance in summer stock at the Philadelphia Playhouse-In-The-Park and a possible entire season doing musicals at the Chicago "Tent-house," rather than the Miss New York City Summer Festival Queen Award, Dodie will have a busy program during the summer season.

She has also appeared off-Broadway in "The Tender Trap" and in summer stock at Newport and Sommer's Point. Films in which she has appeared include "Markham" and "The Apartment." On TV Dodie has appeared in performances of "The Yum Yum Girl" for U. S. Steel Hour, Naked City (this spring), Sunday Showcase "After Hours," and "The Fabulous Fifties."

Hostess and modeling assignments on the Dave Garroway Show, the Steve Allen Show, the Arlene Francis Home Show, Top Dollar and Haggis-Baggis have provided TV experiences in these fields.

Occasional appearances on industrial shows and films for Lionel, Derby Foods, Dodge, Berkshire Nylons, and Royal Typewriter fill her part-time activities. All the while she must find time for dramatic training and is currently studying under Stella Adler and is taking voice training with Colin Romoff. Her training has included study in the workshops of Bert Lane, Herbert Berthoff, John G. Fish, Eli Rill, and Jack Palance.

stationed in Kaiserslautern, SW of Frankfurt, Germany. New address: 464th Med. Det. (Den Sec), APO 227, New York, N. Y. Despite a rainy winter, the Lenkers are looking forward to a trip to Holland for "tulip time" in May.

Mr. and Mrs. Lee Klaer (BUR WALLIS) announce the arrival of their second son, Andrew Wallis, born December 12, 1960.

Mr. and Mrs. GEOFFREY MYNOTT '54 (BOBBIE FOLK) had a second son, John Addison, born August 14, 1960. The Mynotts live at 1305 Glen Echo Rd., West Chester, where Bobbie has been busily sewing for the Vogue contest sponsored by the Federated Women's Clubs.

Charlene Foushee became the bride of RON HENWOOD on January 21 in New York. Following a honeymoon in St. Thomas, the Henwoods returned to New York where Ron is employed by Kufel and Esser, Engineering.

MARY O'CONNOR became Mrs. Ken Harris on February 5 in Philadelphia. The Harris address is 180 Delaware Ave., Chicago 11, Ill. JOANNA RANDOLPH Rott was an attendant in the wedding.

News briefs: JIM LEO is studying for the Episcopal ministry in New York; AL '57 and BETTE (SKOW) KENZIE are living on a Pennsylvania farm near where Bette teaches school; RUSS MAYER is living in New Jersey and working for a New York jewelry concern; ELEN STANCS is working for Young and Rubicam Advertising, New York, N. Y., and living in an apartment in the city; SUZIE LUFTIG Smithline, husband Fred, and son Richard have a new address: Scarsdale Manor South, Garth Rd., Scarsdale, N. Y.

57

MRS. PETER CHANNELL
(Catherine L. Evans)
5552—2A Netherlands Ave.,
Riverdale, N. Y.

Mr. and Mrs. JOHN F. PANKOPF of 420 Maple Ave., Pittsburgh 15, announce the birth of a daughter, Heidi Lynn, on July 16.

Dr. CALVIN J. WOLFBURG opened an office at 113 Queen St., Northumberland, on September 26 for the practice of optometry. He received his doctorate degree from Pennsylvania State College of Optometry and served as intern for 18 months at the Optometry Eye Clinic there. He is married to the former Joyce Fischer and has a son Mark who was born February 1.

The alumni office recently learned of the marriage of Ann Trautwein to Joseph Patlovich in June of 1959. In April, 1960, they were blessed with the birth of a daughter, Linda Jo.

Mr. and Mrs. Peter A. Bond (MARCIA H. GRAHAM) of 76 Broad St., Catskill, N. Y., have two daughters: Karen, born April 2, 1959; and Debra, born in 1960. Marcia is working part time as head nurse (at night) in the Green County Memorial Hospital.

WILLIAM S. MOYER was married on April 4, 1959, to Joan A. Fletemeyer, a graduate of Southern Seminary and Mary Washington College of the University of Virginia. They are living at 54 Columbia Ave., Kenilworth, N. J. Bill is an accountant with Esso Standard Oil Co. and is presently employed in the New Jersey Sales Division in Elizabeth, N. J. His brother-in-law, WILLIAM L. FLETEMEYER, is a junior at Bill's Alma Mater.

CAROLE BATES and DAVID H. CARSTATER were married November 12, 1960, at Massapequa, L. I., N. Y. Bucknellians in the wedding party were Mr. and Mrs. ARTHUR E. POWERS (AUDREY J. LLOYD), Mrs. LAURENCE G. STEELE (CAROL J. CHRIST), Mrs. RICHARD G. NEWMAN '56 (CHRISTINE M. HORNE) and KENNETH ROSE. Dave is a chemical engineer for the Naval Propellant Plant, Indian Head, Md. Home address of the newlyweds is 3805 "W" St., Apt. 302, S. E., Washington 20, D. C.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Donald Clark (NEST R. GARLAND) of 8 Rosalind Rd., Trenton 8, N. J., announce the birth of a son, Warren Donald, on November 4, 1960.

EDGAR P. KASTNER, JR., and Dorothy H. Aldridge were married November 5, 1960, and are living at 27 Beacon Rd., Summit, N. J. Edgar is an accountant with Price Waterhouse and Co., New York, N. Y.

Mr. and Mrs. G. Foster Hirsch (CAROLE J. SLAFKAN) are living in Basking Ridge, N. J. (Hamilton Lane, R. D. 1), with their daughter, Linda Susan, who was born February 3, 1959.

Mr. and Mrs. SAMUEL W. ADAMS (SYLVIA D. ULSH) of 140 W. Elm St., Shillington, announce the birth of a son, John Pichens, on November 5, 1960.

58

MRS. FRANK H. RICHARDS, III
(Faith Bonsall)
6 Holman St.,
Allston, Mass.

The response was better this time, but knowing the Class of '58 I am quite sure you're all doing interesting things that you're not telling us about!

RONALD L. FOLLMER, JR., who has been director of band and orchestra at Lewisburg Joint High School, has resigned in order to pursue the study of medicine.

Mr. and Mrs. MORRIS (MICKEY) PICKELL (MARY LOU McCONNELL '59) welcomed a second son into their home on January 28. He joins Douglas Allen, who was the New Year Baby for Union County in 1960. Address: 58 S. 6th St., Lewisburg.

Mr. and Mrs. Eric Hallberg (BERT BAY-ER) have been on the go since June of '58. They lived in Glen Rock, N. J., for a year, then moved on to Philadelphia. Eric was transferred recently to New Providence, N. J., where they are living at 22 Walker Dr. As Bert says "the most important event" occurred on February 10, 1960, in the form of Eric Conrad Hallberg, III. From the picture Bert enclosed it looks like "Ricky" has his mother's mischievous twinkle!

A more recent "most important event" is Allysa Lynn Scott, born February 19, 1961, to PHIDDY (GILMAN) and BILL SCOTT. Phiddy and Bill are living in Lancaster at 1589 Fruitville Pike.

Phiddy says she hears from NAN (VON GLAHN) and BOB BIGLOW and that they're living in Virginia Beach where the lucky pair have just invested in a boat, motor, and trailer for water skiing. That shouldn't be too hard to take!

CAROLYN ANDERSON was married on November 5, 1960, to Dr. Walter P. Orbin. They are residing in Mt. Lebanon, outside of Pittsburgh, where Andy is a legal secretary for the time being.

HENRY WAN is completing work on his doctorate thesis at the MIT School of Industrial Management—small world—since we are on the same floor, I get a chance to see Henry and keep up with what he is doing.

Class Reporter goofs! I got a letter from someone awhile back and promptly lost it. I did manage to salvage the envelope from the trash barrel, but the letter just wasn't to be found. So— whoever wrote me from Hubbard Aluminum Products Company in Pittsburgh gets an apology, and an humble request for a repeat performance of whatever the letter contained.

News does filter through the veritable grapevine, but it would be more reliable to hear it straight from you—so get busy and write.

MRS. VENALD W. BOVARD, JR.
(Jeanne F. Anderson)
1612 Jefferson Ave.
Dunmore, Pa.

Hello again '59ers! Is not the spring a welcome sight!

Mr. and Mrs. DAVID M. ENGLISH (JANE L. REUNING '60) of 1720-F Glen Keith Blvd., Towson 4, Md., who were married July 24, 1960, are both employed by the Martin Co. in Baltimore, Md. Jane is editor of the Baltimore edition of the Martin Mercury newspaper and Dave is an engineer with the company.

From MONA O'NEILL we hear, "Am sharing an apartment with JOY STICHWEH and BETSY HOOVER who are working for a law firm and savings and loan association respectively. Am enjoying myself immensely and seeing Bucknellians who crop up all the time!" Try the doorbell at Apt. 1, 1812 Pacific Ave., San Francisco 1, Calif.

CAROL L. METCALF and Ronald L. Keenhold of Morrisville were married January 21 in Binghamton, N. Y. Ronald is a member of the athletic staff at M. I. T.

Recently, two more baby girls were born to '59ers. HAL and CYNTHIA (DIELMAN) DANZIG announce the birth of Linda Faye. LOU (LINTON) and JIM CHAPMAN '60 tell us of Wendy Leigh's birth on February 9, 1961. Hal and Cynthia are living at 439 Old Connecticut Path, Saxonville, Mass., and Hal is employed by Itek Electro Products in Cambridge, Mass. Lou and Jim live at 7911 W. Hampton Ave., Milwaukee 18, Wis. Jim will be in a training program with Allis-Chalmers Co. in Milwaukee until fall.

GARY MULVIHILL dropped in recently for a visit. He's working as a sales representative for a New York manufacturing company and his job takes him through parts of Pennsylvania, New York and New Jersey. He gave us news of AL FOSTER and DAVE GOODWIN, who are working in Philadelphia for Chesebrough-Pond's Inc. AL and FLO FOSTER live at 5 Planebrook Rd., Malvern.

Just a word of thanks to you folks who have written. It's a pleasure to receive your letters, and I know that our classmates enjoy hearing your news. C'mon, send me some pictures so that we can see what we're reading about. Have a nice summer. See you in the fall.

MISS JANE DAHL
820 McDonald St.
Sewickly, Pa.

Renne in June, 1961

They say New England winters are bad but I honestly can't recall any like this past season here in Pittsburgh! But now the grass is green, the trees are in bloom, and the Bucknell campus is, I imagine, as lovely as usual. Furthermore, it's the place to be on June 2, 3 and 4! Those on "the hill" are anticipating a large return of alums this year and Pete Pedrick, reunion chairman, hopes that a great number of those alums will be '60 graduates.

Scheduling for this busy week end is difficult, but Pete is hard at work trying to secure a band and a place where our class can meet and greet. May I join Pete in urging all of you to "reune in June"—and a good time is guaranteed!

On a recent trip home, PEGGY HOLLINS-HEAD and I got together for lunch. Peg seems to be doing well at Harvard Business School and says life is never dull in Harvard Square; I think Peg will make a good New Englander yet!

PAT VASBINDER and BOB BARTLETT became Mr. and Mrs. on February 4, 1961. He has matriculated for an M.S. degree in physics and is a teaching assistant in that department at the University of Maryland while Pat is working in the admissions office of the graduate school at the University of Maryland.

CAROLINE C. SINGLETON and RICHARD T. HAMPTON were married on January 28 and are living at 8312 Cary Lane, Apt. 328, Silver Spring, Md. Dick is employed by the Southern Railway in Washington, D. C.

A daughter, Wendy Leigh, was born to Mr. and Mrs. JAMES P. CHAPMAN (LOUISE A. LINTON '59) on February 9. She goes out for her airings from 7911 W. Hampton Ave., Milwaukee 18, Wis. Her daddy is an engineer with Allis-Chalmers in that city.

ARNOLD C. CHRISTENSEN of 1097 Hempstead Turnpike, Franklin Square, N. Y., is a funeral director and assistant to the president of Llauss Funeral Home, Inc.

LT. JOHN C. ELWELL completed the missile officer orientation course at the Air Defense School, Fort Bliss, Texas, on January 10.

ROBERT F. COECKER and DAISY A. CRANE '62, were married December 30, 1960, and are living at 530 Cherry Tree Lane, Smoke Rise, Butler, N. J. Bob is a salesman with Reinauer Brothers Fuel Company.

Mrs. GEORGE E. HARDER (MARILYN W. PEARCE) is an English teacher at the John Jay High School, Katonah, N. Y. Hubby George is office manager for H. I. Dorfman Consulting Engineers Inc.

Mr. and Mrs. VICTOR P. ROSNER (JANET E. LEHR '56) of 108 S. 27th St., Camp Hill, now have two sons: John Charles, 3; and Eric Lehr, born October 11, 1960. Vic is employed by the Cumberland County National Bank and Trust Company.

JANET W. STOCKHAM and James W. Reece were married November 28, 1960, and are living at 422 Harvard St., Norfolk, Va. Janet is teaching in the Maury High School in Norfolk, Va., and her husband is in the Navy.

ALUMNI WEEK END

Eastern Daylight Saving Time

FRIDAY, JUNE 2

2:00 p. m. }	Registration and Housing	Bertrand Library
12:00 p. m. }	EARLY BIRD GOLF TOURNAMENT	University Golf Course
1:00 p. m. }	(Obtain Alumni Guest Card at Registration Desk)
5:00 p. m. }	Meeting of the Development Committee of the
4:00 p. m. }	Board of Trustees	Room 216, Administration Center
6:30 p. m. }	Buffet Supper Meeting for Club and Class Presidents, Class Fund Managers and Assistants and Class Reporters (John Houghton Harris Dining Hall)	Swartz Hall
6:30 p. m. }	Trustee Dinner	University Cafeteria
7:30 p. m. }	Meeting of Board of Directors
	The General Alumni Association	Room 207, Administration Center
8:00 p. m. }	Trustee Committee Meetings
	Finance Committee	Room 216, Administration Center
	Instruction Committee	Room 224, Administration Center
8:00 p. m. }	Meeting of Presidents of Fraternity Alumni Associations and Chapter Advisers	Room 201, Bertrand Library
8:00 p. m. }	RELAX WITH A SWIM	Freas-Rooke Swimming Pool
11:00 p. m. }	"LET'S HAVE ANOTHER CUP OF COFFEE"
9:00 p. m. }	Meeting place for all classes	The Bison Snack Bar, Walker Street
12:00 p. m. }

SATURDAY, JUNE 3

8:00 a. m. }	BISON CLUB BREAKFAST	Lewisburg Club, 131 Market Street
8:30 a. m. }	Phi Beta Kappa Breakfast	St. Andrew's Episcopal Church, Rt. No. 15
9:00 a. m. }	Registration and Housing	Bertrand Library
11:30 a. m. }	University Board of Trustees Meeting	Board Room 217, Administration Center
9:00 a. m. }	ALUMNI ASSEMBLY	University Theatre, Coleman Hall
9:30 a. m. }	ALUMNI CLASS MEETINGS	(As Assigned)
10:30 a. m. }	Registration	Davis Gymnasium
12:00 m. }	Parade of Reunion Class Members	Lit Road
3:00 p. m. }	ANNUAL ALUMNI REUNION LUNCHEON	Davis Gymnasium
12:15 p. m. }	Individual Class Reunion Socials	(As Assigned)
3:00 p. m. }	Alumni Swimming	Freas-Rooke Swimming Pool
5:00 p. m. }	Fraternity and Sorority Symposia	(As Arranged by Organizations)
3:00 p. m. }	Cap and Dagger Production	University Theatre, Coleman Hall
	"The Male Animal" by James Thurber
8:30 p. m. }	PRESIDENT'S RECEPTION	Davis Gymnasium Annex
10:30 p. m. }	(To honor Class of 1961 and Alumni Reunion Classes)
9:00 p. m. }	Social and Dance	Davis Gymnasium
12:00 p. m. }	(All-campus Get-together, Entertainment, Refreshments)

SUNDAY, JUNE 4

8:30 a. m. }	ANNUAL BACCALAUREATE SERVICES	Davis Gymnasium
	Address by Rev. Dr. John Sutherland Bonnell, Pastor, Fifth Avenue Presbyterian Church of New York City
10:30 a. m. }	ANNUAL COMMENCEMENT EXERCISES	Davis Gymnasium
	Address by Mr. Roger M. Blough, Chairman of the Board of United States Steel Corporation

Dr. and Mrs. George R. Johnston (SUSAN E. STOKES) of 9411 Hilspach St., Philadelphia 16, announce the birth of a daughter, Karen Elizabeth, on January 12.

SUZANNE M. VANPELT is employed by Merck Sharp and Dohme, Inc., at their West Point (Pa.) laboratories as a research chemist. Address: 7303 Laurel Lane, Philadelphia 18.

PHYLLIS TODD has become a service representative with the New Jersey Bell Telephone Company in Newark, N. J.

61 MISS CAROLANN M. BUQUET
58 Brookside Ave.
Merrick, N. Y.

EDITORS NOTE: Although the members of the Class of 1961 have nearly one month to go before they can be considered Alumni, the class already has elected alumni class officers. The alumni class organization is as follows: Bob Scott, Mt. Vernon, N. Y., president; John Carboni, Ridgefield, Conn., vice president; Debbie Milton, Broomall, Pa., secretary; Bob Etzweiler, York, Pa., treasurer; Carolann Buquet, Merrick, N. Y., class reporter; and Roland Weisser, Sharon, Pa., class fund manager.

Class members in the reunion organization are: Marge McGroarty, Garden City, N. Y., reunion chairman; Janet Comer, Great Neck, N. Y., area chairman; Mary Linn Grossman, Camp Hill, Pa., reunion book editor; Nancy Diamond, Pittsburgh, Pa., Ginny Glaser, Margate, N. J., Nancy Shaffer, Ridley Park, Pa., Dave Baird, Butler, Pa., assistant editors; John Aucker, Lykens, Pa., Bobbie Widder, Plandome, N. Y., Ann Campbell, Wilmington, Del., social meeting host and hostesses; and Pat Stark, Morristown, N. J., class regalia chairman.

IN MEMORIAM

The following deaths have been reported to the Alumni Office since March, 1961. The University extends sympathy to the surviving relatives.

- 1888—Mrs. Charles E. Stein (Margaret M. Hower) (Inst.), April 3, 1961
1903—Mrs. Avery M. Schermerhorn (Mary L. Long), February 27, 1958
1904—Carroll Caruthers, Esq., March 27, 1961
1905—Mrs. Inez Moran (Inez E. Olds), November 1, 1960
1906—Dr. Frank P. Boyer (Academy), March 26, 1961
Miss Mary M. Moll, March 24, 1961
1908—Mr. James E. Elliot, April 5, 1959
1914—Dr. Friedman H. Cathrall, February 23, 1961
1915—Mr. Elwood S. Frymire, April 2, 1961
1917—Miss Lillian H. Hannold, January 17, 1961
1918—Dr. Thomas A. Eshelman, November 21, 1959
1920—Mr. Corbin W. Wyant, February 23, 1961
1921—Mr. Frank T. Taylor, March 17, 1961
1923—Mrs. Warren L. Miller (M. Elizabeth Grove), March 24, 1961
1925—Mrs. Paul Crowl (Carolyn E. Brown), January 5, 1961
1930—Mr. A. Ross Williams
1934—Miss Dorothy A. Schultz, February 7, 1961
1936—Mr. Kenneth M. Beach, February 11, 1961
1939—Mr. Herbert C. Hinebaugh, January 17, 1961
1946—Mr. J. Theodore Roselle, February, 1961
1952—Mr. Charles M. Clothier, December 16, 1960
1953—Mr. John S. Kanyuck, March 1, 1961
1957—Lt. James L. Yarnall, March 8, 1961

ALUMNI TRUSTEE TIMETABLE

May 16—Deadline for receiving ballots in Alumni Office.

June Commencement—Certification to Board of Trustees.

BEQUESTS FOR BUCKNELL

According to the executor of the estate of Dr. Charles H. Heacock '11, approximately $60,000.00, or one-fourth the share of the total estate, will be given to the University.

The bequest will be placed in the University endowment fund in memory of Dr. Heacock.

"To Walk With Greatness—Always"

S. P. E. HOUSE DESTROYED BY FIRE

Fire, of unknown origin destroyed the Sigma Phi Epsilon fraternity house at 1 University Avenue on Friday morning, April 21.

At about 4:00 A. M., the first alarm was telephoned to the Lewisburg Fire Company by a student at the neighboring Sigma Alpha Mu house. While awaiting the arrival of the firemen, members of the S. A. M. house helped to rescue students and fight the fire with garden hoses and fire extinguishers.

All nineteen occupants of the house escaped from the building with only one member suffering from smoke inhalation. Most of the men fled the house in night clothes saving only what clothing they wore. Personal losses included clothing, jewelry, text books and other possessions used in classroom work. Those members of the fraternity left homeless have been housed in the University dormitories.

The Sigma Phi Epsilon fraternity purchased the house four years ago. Formerly the property of Judge Albert W. Johnson '96, the house had been used several years prior to the purchase by SPE as a nursing home. The house was built about the turn of the century.

As this is written representatives of the State Fire Marshal's office are conducting an investigation to determine the cause and the amount of damage.

SORORITY COMMENCEMENT ACTIVITIES

June 3, 1961

ALPHA CHI OMEGA—Dinner at Hotel Edison, Sunbury, at 6:00 P. M.

PHI MU—Dinner at Lewisburg Club at 6:00 P. M.

PI BETA PHI—Dinner at Lewisburg Inn at 6:00 P. M.

DORMITORY AND TICKET RESERVATION

Name _____ Class _____ Date of Arrival: _____
Mailing Address _____ Hour: _____

DORMITORY RESERVATIONS: ($3.00 per person for both Friday and Saturday nights — One night only $3.00 — Children 10 or under Free — Extra nights $1.50 per night)

Thursday	Friday	Saturday	Sunday	nights.
Please check if: Married Couple					Children
Mr.					Male
Mrs.					Ages
Miss
If reservation includes persons other than yourself list names below:					Female
					Ages

Would you object to having your children share rooms with children of other classmates?

(Check) Yes No

Total Room Charges $

ALUMNI REUNION LUNCHEON (number @ $1.50 each) $

CAP AND DAGGER — "THE MILE ANIMAL" (number @ $1.50 each) $

WE WILL DO OUR BEST BUT WE CANNOT GUARANTEE RESERVATIONS RECEIVED AFTER MAY 26! A $2.00 ADVANCE (NON-REFUNDABLE) PAYMENT MUST ACCOMPANY THIS RESERVATION. ADVANCE PAYMENTS WILL BE CREDITED TO TOTAL CHARGES UPON ARRIVAL.

CLUBS

(Continued from Page 17)

Luncheon Meetings

The Bucknell Alumni Clubs of New York, Philadelphia and Pittsburgh wish to remind Alumni and visitors to these areas that the regular luncheon meetings of the clubs will be continued throughout the summer.

NEW YORK—First Wednesday of each month at 12:15 p. m., at the Hotel Lancaster, 38th and Madison Avenue. (Reservations required, phone Mrs. Roessner, 0x7-6300, extension 273).

PHILADELPHIA—Every Monday at noon, St. James Grill, 13th and Walnut Streets.

PITTSBURGH—Every Friday at noon, Kaufmann's Department Store, 11th Floor Dining Room, Fifth Avenue.

SPORTS

(Continued from Page 18)

Bob Williams has been ill this spring and Ditka and Twiford are playing with the baseball team.

Odell has scheduled 20 practice sessions and will probably wind up the spring program with an intrasquad scrimmage on the weekend of May 6.

The team appears to be the strongest from the point of depth that Odell has had since coming to Bucknell with considerable experience both on the line and in the backfield and should be somewhat heavier than last year's fine aggregation.

If capable replacements can be found for the vacated posts the Bisons should make another strong run for the Lambert Cup and Eastern small college honors.

Golf

Coach Harold Evans' golfers will be aiming for their fifth Middle Atlantic Conference championship in the past six years this spring and with Co-Captains Bob Etzweiler and Bob Schad back for their final seasons the linksmen have a good nucleus.

Etzweiler, winner of the MAC individual title two years ago, was the number one man last year, and Schad, an All-American soccer player, was undefeated in the number three slot as a junior.

Junior Curt Mull is the only letterman on the squad, but Evans expects good performances from juniors Pete Sang and Jerry Singer and sophomores Ted Casey, Don Mothner and Alan Patterson.

The golfers were scheduled to open the season at Scranton on Tuesday, April 11. Among the top matches on the schedule are contests with Colgate, Delaware, Navy, Lehigh, Juniata, Georgetown, Penn State and Cornell.

Tennis

Four lettermen are listed on Coach Hank Peters' tennis roster, but with a tough 14-match schedule and few experienced players to back up the four veterans, the netmen will have an uphill fight trying to get back over the .500 mark. Last year's 5-7 record marked only the second time in the last nine years that the Bison net squad has not posted a winning slate.

Captain Jim Hand, one of three seniors on the squad, is slated for the number one post, and he will be backed up by junior letter winners Ted Altman, Frank Famariss and Mike Nachwalter.

Prior to the season opener with Lafayette on April 11, Peters named sophomore Doug Herkner and junior Bob Heuman to round out the top six. Missing from the 1960 squad are the top four singles players.

In addition to Lafayette, other strong teams on the schedule include Georgetown, Colgate, Lehigh, Haverford, Penn State, Cornell, Syracuse and Navy.

Track

Only four lettermen, including Co-Captains Dick Boddie and Marty Holmes, are on the 1961 track squad and with such teams as Temple, Lafayette, Delaware, Franklin and Marshall and Gettysburg on the schedule, Coach Bus Blum will have a tough time keeping intact his record of thirteen consecutive winning seasons.

In addition to Boddie, who will compete in the hurdles, high jump and broad jump, and Holmes, the top performer in the distance events, the list of letter winners includes sprinter Steve Magoon and pole vaulter Sebbie Scialabba.

Other top point winners are expected to be Ron Andreuzzi in the broad jump and high jump, Vince Burleson in the shot put and discus, Bob DeCamp in the 880, Art Lemkau in the javelin, Bob Theiss in the pole vault and javelin, and Cap Weil in the high jump and hurdles.

Bison Briefs

SWIMMERS TOP WINTER SLATE

Bucknell's swimming team with a 7-3 record and a second place finish in the Middle Atlantic Conference Championships topped all Bison winter teams. Wrestling was 4-2-1 and basketball was 12-11.

DEARSTYNE AND DORR BOAST ENVIABLE RECORDS

Bucknell's swimming co-captains, Bill Dearstyne and Bill Dorr, both juniors from Albany, N. Y., have established themselves as the greatest swimmers in Bison history in their two years of varsity competition. The two have combined to win 53 of 61 races and seven Middle Atlantic Conference championships and they share or hold outright seven school records. They have been re-elected co-captains for the 1961-62 season.

STEINER SETS SCORING MARKS

Joe Steiner, Bucknell's junior basketball co-captain from Punxsutawney, established season and single-game scoring records during the past campaign. His season total of 506 points in 23 games was good for a 22.0 average and he posted the high game mark with 40 points against Lehigh. He also won the Middle Atlantic Conference scoring championship in a tight race with Gettysburg's Ron Warner, St. Joseph's Jack Egan and Temple's Bruce Drysdale. He averaged 25.1 points per game in eleven conference contests and was named to the All-MAC first team.

ADDITIONS AND CORRECTIONS

In the March, 1961, issue of THE BUCKNELL ALUMNUS an honor roll list of Alumni and friends working in behalf of the Dual Development Fund Campaign was published.

Additions to this list are as follows: C. Graydon Rogers '51, Helen Miller Davis '56, and Elizabeth Foster Reilly '57.

Although our batting average was good in the publishing of the Dual Development Fund Campaigners, we really struck out in the case of Sigmund A. Stoler '37. The Campaign Office apologizes for misspelling Mr. Stoler's name and listing him in the wrong class.

BUCK

ALUMNI WEEK END

highlights

- EARLY BIRD GOLF MATCH
- RELAX WITH A SWIM
- ANOTHER CUP OF COFFEE
- BISON CLUB BREAKFAST
- ALUMNI ASSEMBLY
- CLASS MEETINGS
- ANNUAL ALUMNI REUNION LUNCHEON
- CAP AND DAGGER PRODUCTION
- PRESIDENT'S RECEPTION
- BACCALAUREATE AND COMMENCEMENT

see you june 2, 3, 4

THE BUCKNELL
ALUMNUS

September 1961

Who Gets Into College—see page

OFFICERS OF THE ASSOCIATION

President

ROBERT W. DILL '27

First Vice President

MRS. CLYDE P. BAILEY (Dorothy Lemon '29)

Second Vice President

DANIEL F. GRIFFITH '36

Treasurer

DONALD B. YOUNG '33

Secretary and Editor

JOHN H. SHOTT '22

Assistant Secretary and Assistant Editor

C. BRUCE ROSSITER '56

BOARD OF DIRECTORS

MRS. CLYDE P. BAILEY (Dorothy Lemon '29), 5025 Fifth Ave., Apt. 3-B, Pittsburgh 32, Pa. (1962)

CHARLES F. FOX, JR., M.D. '31, 180 Washington Ave., Vandergrift, Pa. (1962)

D. EUGENE LONG '29, 131 Avon Place, West Hempstead, N. Y. (1962)

EUGENE P. BERTIN '17, 201 S. Main St., Muncy, Pa. (1963)

MRS. JOHN W. LEWIS (Elinor Childs '52), 8A Sayre Court, Madison, N. J. (1963)

ROBERT H. TAYLOR '48, 214 Avon Rd., Narberth, Pa. (1963)

CHARLES T. FARROW '26, P. O. Box 29, Westfield, N. J. (1964)

IRVIN GRAYRILL, JR., ESQ. '49, Middleburg, Pa. (1964)

ALLEN F. JONES '25, 2 Linn St., Progress, Harrisburg, Pa. (1964)

HENRY G. P. COATES, ESQ. '32, East Ward St., Hightstown, N. J. (1965)

DANIEL F. GRIFFITH '36, 599 Massachusetts Ave., Aldan, Pa. (1965)

PETER WEIDENBACHER '50, 525 Hillside Ave., Mountain-side, N. J. (1965)

MRS. ROBERT D. CARLSON (Claire Wynkoop '49), 2801 Beverly Rd., Brooklyn 26, N. Y. (1966)

ROBERT W. DILL '27, 5136 Butler Pike, Plymouth Meeting, Pa. (1966)

WARREN R. LEWIS '42, 394 Edgewood Ave., Rochester 18, N. Y. (1966)

() Year Term Expires

Alumni Headquarters—GROUND FLOOR ADMINISTRATION CENTER

Member—AMERICAN ALUMNI COUNCIL

ON THE COVER—Thousands of alumni, students and parents jammed Memorial Stadium for the Homecoming football game last year. Why don't you put yourself and your family in the picture this year by planning NOW to attend Homecoming on October 14, 1966. The football game with Rutgers, the State University of New Jersey, is only part of an exciting Homecoming program. For more details see the back cover.

THE BUCKNELL ALUMNUS

VOLUME XLVII SEPTEMBER 1961 No. 1

IN THIS ISSUE

- 1 This Is Your University
- 2 Who Gets Into College
—by Frank H. Bowles, President
College Entrance Examination Board
- 5 Charting a Course for Bucknell
—by Admissions Office Staff
- 8 Football Preview for 1961
—by Bradley N. Tufts, Sports Information Director
- 10 Alumni Week End 1961
- 14 Who's Your Candidate?
- 15 An Open Letter to Alumni
- 16 For the Record
- 18 The Club Program
- 20 Donor and Memorial Plaques in the Administration Center
- 22 A Pictorial Roundup, Class Reunions
- 25 Class Reports

Football Ticket Order Blank, 9—Football Schedule, 9—P. Herbert Watson '37, 11—Harry L. Nancarrow '20, 11—Rush H. Kress '00, 12—William H. Genne '31, 13—Earl E. Hinman '11, 13—Romeyn H. Rivenburg '97, 17—William T. Johnson '18, 17—Kenneth Vandembree '31, 26—Margaret Mattern Otto '18, 27—Neal S. Blaisdell '26 and Kenneth W. Slifer '26, 28—Francis F. Fairchild '33, 30—John F. Riefler '42, 32—David Gregg, Jr. '45, 34—Alumni Trustee Timetable and In Memoriam, inside back cover—Homecoming Reservation Coupon, back cover.

THE BUCKNELL ALUMNUS is published in January, March, May, September and November by BUCKNELL UNIVERSITY. Entered as second class matter December 30, 1930 at the post office at Lewisburg, Pa., under Act of August 24, 1912.

Members of the physical plant crew find themselves knee deep in work as they clear the lower campus of leaves.

NUMBER FIVE

This is your University

Everyone at Bucknell realizes that the teacher, not the dean nor the student nor even the president, is the most important person on the campus. But, it is equally true that a teacher alone cannot keep the University operating. It takes a total of nearly three persons to keep one teacher in "business" in the classroom and laboratory at Bucknell.

To aid a teacher to perform his duties, money must be raised, buildings must be erected and maintained, grounds must be kept trim and neat, meals must be prepared and served, the sick must be cared for, books must be kept, checks must be issued, housing assignments must be made, heat must be provided, the physical plant must be protected, libraries must be operated, and the many publics must be informed. These are but a few of the services supplied by many people, working together to keep your Alma Mater operating efficiently. Bucknell could be compared to a small city providing services and facilities of a scope and nature far beyond the needs of many small towns.

WHO GETS INTO COLLEGE?

by

FRANK H. BOWLES

President, College Entrance Examination Board

WHAT ARE my child's chances of getting into college?

What can I as a parent do to improve my child's chances of getting into the college that seems best for him?

Chances are you've asked these questions, and maybe other parents have asked them of you. For admission to college has become the nation's sure-fire topic of conversation.

Elections, baseball and international upheavals compete for attention, of course; but these matters don't touch our personal lives. Yet it seems that every American has some contact with the business of college entrance, knows a surprising amount about it—or at least thinks he does—and wants to know more.

What he wants to know usually boils down to the two questions above.

THERE IS a quick answer to the first question—what are my child's chances of getting into college?

Any child who has an I. Q. of ninety-five or better, who can write a letter including a simple declarative sentence such as "I want to go to your college," who can read without moving his lips, and who can pay college expenses up to $500 a year can go to college. But it may also be true that a child with an I. Q. of 140 who can do differential equations in his head may not get to college.

Obviously, then, the general answer can only indicate that there is a tremendous range of institutions, with varying standards and opportunities, and that many factors determine actual chances of admission. For a full answer to the question, we must examine and describe these types of institutions.

As a first step, let us take a hypothetical group of one hundred high school graduates who go on to college in a given year, and see what the typical pattern of their applications and acceptances would be:

Twenty students, all from the top half of the class, will apply to sixty of the institutions that are generally listed as "preferred." Ten of them will be accepted by twenty of the institutions. Nine of the ten will graduate from their colleges, and six of the nine will continue in graduate or professional school and take advanced degrees. These ten admitted students will average six years' attendance apiece.

Seventy students, forty from the top half of the class (including those ten who did not make preferred institutions), all twenty-five from the third quarter, and five from the fourth quarter, will apply to eighty institutions generally considered "standard" or "respectable." Sixty will be accepted by one or both of the colleges to which they applied. Thirty of the sixty will graduate, and ten will continue in graduate or professional school, most of them for one- or two-year programs. These sixty admitted students will average about three years of college apiece.

Thirty students, including all of the fourth quarter and five from the third quarter, will apply to institutions that are ordinarily known as "easy." Half of these institutions will be four-year colleges, and half junior colleges or community colleges. All thirty students will be admitted. Fifteen will leave during the first year, and eight more during the next two years. The seven who receive degrees will go directly to employment, although one or two may return to college later for a master's degree in education.

AT THIS point, we need some specific information about the types of institutions I have just mentioned "Preferred" institutions—the ones that receive the most attention from high school students—number from 100 to 150, depending on who makes the list. In my judgment the larger number is correct, and the list is still growing. It should reach 200 by 1965, and 250 by 1970. The number of places available in preferred institutions—now approximately 100,000—should increase to about 150,000 during the next decade.

The present 150 preferred colleges are located in about fifteen states—mostly in the Northeast, the northern Middle West and on the Pacific coast. Four-fifths are private with three-fourths of the total enrollment of the group. The one-fifth that are public have one-fourth of the enrollment. This proportion is changing; in a few years it will be three-fifths private and two-fifths public, with a fifty-fifty enrollment split.

It now costs about $3,000 a year to send a child to preferred institution.

*Copyright 1961 by DRE: All Projects for Education, Inc. All rights reserved.

"Standard" institutions—which are not selective at admission, but will not admit any student obviously destined to fail—number from 700 to 800. The larger number includes about fifty that could be considered part of the preferred list and another fifty that could be placed on the easy list. In my judgment, the smaller number is the right one for this category. It will stay about constant over the next decade, with some shifting between lists. But enrollments within the standard category will go up by at least fifty per cent.

Standard institutions are of course located in every state. Seventy per cent of their enrollments are in public institutions, and thirty per cent in private ones. But the private institutions outnumber the public ones in a ratio of sixty-four to one. Many of the private colleges are remarkably small.

Costs at standard institutions tend to run from $1,500 to $2,500 per year. Yet some of these schools operate with very low fees, and naturally the public ones are in the lower cost brackets.

"Easy" institutions number about 800, of which 300 are four-year colleges and the rest junior colleges or community colleges. The list will grow rapidly as colleges are established over the next decade. Even though some easy colleges will raise requirements and join the standard group, there may well be 1,500 colleges in this category by 1970. Enrollment will triple in the same period.

At present about one-third of the easy institutions are four-year private colleges with enrollment problems, and many of these are trying to enter the standard group. But almost all newly established institutions are tax-supported. Thus by 1970 the number of private colleges on this level of education will be negligible.

Cost of attending these institutions is now very low; tuition ranges from nothing to $500 a year.

WITH THESE descriptions established, let us consider chances of admission to these institutions, now and in the future.

The "preferred" institutions are already difficult to enter, and will become more so. In general, their requirements call for an academic standing in the upper quarter of the secondary school class, and preferably in the upper tenth. School recommendations must be favorable, and the individual must show signs of maturity and purpose. Activities and student leadership have been much overplayed, particularly by parents and school advisers, but they carry some weight as indications of maturity. Parental connections with colleges help, but are rarely decisive. If any factor is decisive, it is the school record as verified by College Board scores.

Chances of admission to any of this group of "preferred" colleges may be estimated as follows:

School record in upper ten per cent, with appropriate College Board scores and endorsement from high school—not worse than two chances out of three.

School record in upper quarter, with verifying College Board scores—not worse than one in three. This does not mean that the student will get one acceptance out of two or three tries, but rather that this estimate of chance holds for any preferred institution he applies to.

School record below the upper quarter, with strong counterbalancing factors, such as high College Board scores, remarkable personal qualities, proven talents in special fields, strong family connections, recent awakening of interest and excellent performance, achievement despite great handicaps—not better than one chance in three, and not worse than one chance in four.

No others need apply.

THE "STANDARD" institutions are, taken as a group, still accessible to any student whose past performance or present promise gives reasonable chances of college success.

But there are gradations within the standard institutions. Some approach the selectiveness of the preferred group; others are purposefully lenient in their admissions and stiffer in later "weeding out" during the first year of college.

A student shows reasonable chance of success when he has taken a secondary school program, including at least two years of mathematics, two years of a foreign language, and four years of English, has passed all subjects on the first try, and has produced good grades in at least half of

MOONSHOOTER SYNDICATE

THE AUTHOR

Frank Bowles is the nation's leading authority on a matter of great importance to students and their parents: how to find the right college and get into it.

He has been director, and now president, of the all-important College Entrance Examination Board since 1948. And he has been dealing with college admissions and testing of applicants virtually all the time since he received his B.A. (1928) and M.A. (1930) from Columbia. He was director of university admissions for Columbia before going to the College Board.

Among his side assignments, he has served on the Fulbright National Selection Committee, the King George VI Scholarship Committee of the English Speaking Union, and the National Scholarship Service and Fund for Negro Students. He has been a consultant to the Fund for the Advancement of Education and to a number of colleges and universities, generally dealing with administrative organization and the development of graduate programs. He has long been an officer of the Middle States Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools. He is a member of the Board of Visitors of the U. S. Military Academy, and a trustee of the New Lincoln School.

Currently Mr. Bowles is in Paris, at the office of UNESCO, on a two-year assignment of great interest. He is heading a Carnegie-supported study of university admissions theory and practice around the world.

His book, "How to Get Into College," was published in 1958, and revised last year. In this article, he opens new horizons and gives fresh advice and new ideas for those increasing numbers of youngsters who want to go to college at a time when getting into college seems to be more and more difficult.

PHOTO CREDIT: FABIAN BACHRACH
Frank Bowles

them. This means a school record not too far below the middle of the class, at worst. Now that nearly all standard institutions are requiring College Boards or similar types of examinations, the school record has to be backed by test scores placing the student in the middle range of applicants (CEEB scores of 100 or higher).

Such a student can be admitted to a standard institution, but he may have to shop for vacancies, particularly if his marks and scores are on the low side and if he comes from a part of the country where there are more candidates than vacancies. Thus students in the Northeast often have to go outside their region to get into a standard college, even if they have excellent records. On the other hand, where there is still room for expansion, as in the South and parts of the Middle West, students may enter some of the standard institutions with records that are relatively weak.

Students with poor records or poor programs who still offer unusual qualifications, such as interest in meteorology or astronomy, students who wish to follow unusual programs in college, or students who are otherwise out of pattern will often find it difficult to enter standard institutions. Curiously enough, they may well encounter greater difficulty with such institutions than they would have with many in the preferred category. In other words, standard institutions are "standard" in many senses of the word. They take care of the majority of college students, and will continue to, but they do not move much outside of a fixed pattern.

"EASY" INSTITUTIONS are by definition non-selective. We can make several generalizations about them:

First, any high school graduate can enter an easy institution, regardless of his I. Q., or his studies in school, or what he hopes to do in college and after.

Second, an easy college usually offers a wide range of courses, all the way from a continuation of the general high school course, to technical and semi-professional programs, to the standard college subjects.

Third, easy colleges will draw some well-prepared students who later go on to advanced degrees.

Fourth, since the easy colleges are not selective (neither keeping students out nor forcing them out), they must operate so that students will make their own decisions, and thus they must have a strong institutional emphasis on guidance.

Fifth, since one of the most powerful of all selective devices is the charge for tuition, easy colleges tend to charge low, or no, tuition.

Sixth, easy colleges are a consequence, not a cause, of enlarged demand for higher education. Even when they offer programs which a few years ago would not have been considered as college work, they do so in response to demand. And the demand is increasing. Total enrollment in higher education in 1970 will be about double that of today, and it may well be that this type of institution will account for from one-third to one-half of that total. The number and size of these institutions will increase, and they will become widely distributed throughout the country, instead of being concentrated on the Pacific coast and in the Middle West as they are now. Thus in 1970 it will still be possible for any student to enter college.

TO SUM up, then, the answer to our first question is that a student's chances of getting into college are excellent—provided that he is able and willing to do what is necessary to prepare himself for the college he would like to enter, or that he is willing to enter the college that is willing to accept him.

LET'S TURN now to our second question: What can I as a parent do to improve my child's chances of getting into the college that seems best for him?

This is one of the standard, rather heavy questions for which there are already available a great many standard, rather heavy answers, dealing with the desirability of the good life, the need for stable parents and other valid but unenlightening pronouncements. But some of the problems raised by this question do not yield to standard answers. Three such problems, or needs, deserve our attention:

1. The need for parents to promote thinking, learning and reading.

Colleges, particularly the preferred colleges, are bookish places. They emphasize reading and discussion as stimuli to learning and thinking instead of stressing note-taking and the study of text-books to accumulate facts. College entrance tests are built in part to measure reading skills. And the student with the habit of reading will do better work in college than the student who relies on studying text books and memorizing facts.

The habit of reading is most easily formed at home. It can be formed by the presence and discussion of books. This means, for example, that the fifty dollars that parents often spend on coaching for college entrance tests can better be spent over two years in the collection of fifty or sixty "highbrow" paperbacks. For this is reading that will do more than any coaching courses to improve test scores—and it will at the same time improve preparation for college studies, which coaching courses do not do.

2. The need for parents to make financial preparation for college.

College is a costly business. The preferred colleges cost about $3,000 a year, and of course this comes out of net income after taxes have been paid. For most families with children in college, it represents gross income of at least $4,000. Referring back to the average span of six years' attendance for students who enter a preferred college, the family of such a student must dedicate $24,000 of gross income for his college expenses.

Not long ago, a survey showed that half of a group of parents who expected their children to go to college did not know the costs of college and were not making any preparations to meet those costs. The lesson is obvious. Parents who are not ready to deal with college costs are failing in a vital area of support. Urging a child to study so that he can get a scholarship may pay off, but it is a poor substitute for a family plan for the financing of the child's education.

3. The need to choose a college in terms of the child's abilities and interests.

Much is made of the problem of choosing colleges, and great effort goes into the process of choice. But the results, if judged by the turmoil that attends the annual selections, fall far short of expectations. The difficulty seems to lie in the placing of emphasis on the college, not the student. When the application is sent in, the parent often knows more about the merits of the college to which the application is going than he does about the applicant as an applicant.

Naturally it is difficult for a parent to be objective about his own child. But enough is now known about evaluating individual abilities and achievements that any parent who really wants to may view his child as the child will be viewed by the college. Such an evaluation is neither so difficult nor so time consuming as the processes parents often go through in evaluating colleges. And since it relies on standard academic information, it involves little or no cost. Yet its value is inestimable. For if the choice of college is made in terms of the child's capabilities, the first and most important step has been taken toward placing the child in the college that seems best for him. And this in turn is the best insurance for a successful college career.

Charting a Course for Bucknell

by the Bucknell Admissions Office Staff

MANY Alumni during vacation trips have noticed the colorful picture of a group of sleek, swift sail boats cutting through the water, racing against the vagaries of natural elements toward a desired goal. The skippers of these racing craft must employ every skill at hand in the endeavor to complete the race successfully. Competition for entrance to college today is like this picture in that it is also a race against skilled competition for the achievement of a desired goal or objective; in this case, the right to attend the college or university of one's choice.

As in any race there are natural and artificial obstacles that must be passed or overcome. Some which must be overcome initially in charting a course toward college are:

1. Lack of motivation toward academic pursuits.
2. Time wasting and procrastination.
3. Temptation to engage in too many social activities.

Such obstacles, singly or in combination, can cause the academie racing craft to slow down or even founder and ruin one's chances for success.

As in a four-lap race course, each of the four years of preparation in secondary school contains important elements which lead to a successful outcome. It is not possible to base chances for admission to college on one final semester of good work in secondary school. If scholastic weaknesses exist, remedial steps must be taken during the first two years of secondary schooling in order to insure an above-average standard of academic achievement in the junior and senior years.

The prospective college applicant today is, in effect, better prepared to sail a successful course toward college than his predecessors. He has the assistance of a highly trained Race Committee—namely, the admissions officer, the high school guidance official, and thoughtful parents. Each of these persons is eager to offer every opportunity for success, not only in gaining entrance to college, but also in doing a good job while there.

The Bucknell Admissions Office staff (l. to r.)—Fitz R. Walling '46, Director of Admissions; Loren L. Bly '60, Assistant Director of Admissions; Malcolm E. Musser '18, Associate in Admissions; and John S. Carhart, Assistant Director of Admissions.

Race Committee (Admissions Staff—Guidance Counselor—Parents)

The Race Committee seeks to provide every type of guidance possible. The Admissions Officer supplies detailed information through such publications as Bucknell in Brief. He endeavors to assist by answering questions, evaluating credentials in the personal interview or conference and providing opportunity for a guided tour of the campus. The guidance officials and parents have been cooperating and planning ahead for college entrance by advising the proper choice of curricula and keeping a constant check on achievement.

The Skipper (Candidate for Admission)

In the final analysis the outcome of the race depends not upon the assisting groups, but upon the student himself and upon the condition of his equipment. The "skipper" must have character, seriousness of purpose, and ability. His boat and equipment must be of good condition to be seaworthy to weather the storm of competition. The hull (secondary school record) must be of the most careful construction and of high quality. Any vital flaws (low grades and too many non-academic electives) lessen the chances of reaching the goal easily. College Board Tests are the sails which give the extra power that drives the skipper ever closer to his goal. Sails of the best quality (high college board scores) are of little value without an excellent hull (a solid academic record). These are two vital parts of the equipment that must work together efficiently—one complimenting the other.

Special equipment, namely extracurricular activities, special talents or interests and participation in community affairs, will all provide advantage for the skipper. Alumni sons and daughters possess special equipment not available to others in the competition. Their sailing equipment (academic and personal record) is reviewed before that of any other participants, and if the result points to probable success, he or she is given preference over a candidate who is not the son or daughter of an Alumnus. If, however, the results do not predict probable success at Bucknell, the committee feels an obligation both to the skipper and his or her parents to recommend non-admission.

Tune-Up Race (Early Decision)

The Race Committee is willing to announce an early decision to those well-qualified skippers who have admission to Bucknell University as their desired goal. In such cases the Admissions Office should receive (1) a written request for early decision from the secondary school guidance counselor stating that Bucknell is the candidate's first choice; (2) a completed application form and secondary school records; and (3) results of the Scholastic Aptitude Test of the College Entrance Examination Board. Results of the Scholastic Aptitude Tests taken in the junior year of secondary school will be accepted for these candidates. All of the above listed items must be received by November 1, of your senior year. The results will be announced before the first of the new year.

Making Application to Enter the Competition

1. Write to the Director of Admissions, Bucknell University, Lewisburg, Pennsylvania, for information and application forms.

2. Complete the application forms and return them early in the fall of your senior year—not later than January 1, 1962.

3. Plan ahead for a visit to the campus. Campus visits are welcome. During the school year student guides are available to conduct visitors on campus tours. A personal interview is not a requirement for admission. However, you may find the interview a helpful source of advice in making your college plans. To arrange an appointment write or call (telephone JA 3-1271, Ext. 301) the appointment secretary in the Admissions Office; she, better than anyone else, knows the times that are available. In order to make your visit as enjoyable as possible, please write or phone well in advance for your appointment.

4. Arrange to take the College Board Entrance Examinations and have the results sent to Bucknell. The University requires the Scholastic Aptitude Tests, two Achievement Tests and the Writing Sample.* Tests should be completed in December or January of the senior year. Later results will arrive too tardily for proper consideration by the Admissions Committee.

Race Results of Past Years

The following charts provide a picture of the competition for entrance to Bucknell, and of the academic qualifications of successful applicants. They will serve as a guide in the evaluation of your own credentials. Since many factors are used by the committee in making a decision, the information contained in the charts should not be regarded as absolute requirements.

Best wishes for "Smooth Sailing".

*Note: Those students who expect to continue a foreign language in the freshman year should take an Achievement Test in that language. All engineering and science majors are required to take the Advanced Mathematics Achievement Test.

TYPES OF SECONDARY SCHOOL REPRESENTED

Type of Secondary School	Men Number	%	Women Number	%	Total Number	%
PUBLIC	364	86	213	91	577	88
INDEPENDENT	60	14	20	9	80	12
TOTALS	424	100	233	100	657	100

Average Scholastic Aptitude Test Scores for Entering Freshman Class by Program of Study
September 1961

Boys			Girls
V.	M.		V.	M.
580	614	A.B. (Liberal Arts)	605	588
558	612	B.S. (Biology, Chemistry, Physics)	597	614
522	584	B.S. Business Administration	556	597
0	0	B.S. Education, Elementary	559	559
489	528	Secondary	554	569
0	0	B.S. Music Education	549	473
528	614	B.S. Engineering: Chemical, Civil, Electrical, Mechanical A.B. Engineering	0	0

The Total Freshman Class Average Scholastic Aptitude Test Scores

	1959		1960		1961
	V.	M.	V.	M.	V.	M.
MEN	498	567	528	589	546	604
WOMEN	567	550	587	573	588	583
MEN and WOMEN	524	563	549	583	562	597

APPLICATIONS FOR ADMISSION – 1961

	Men	Women	Total
PROCESSED AND COMPLETED	2468	1345	3813
NUMBER OFFERED ADMISSION	987	404	1391
NUMBER ENROLLED	424	233	657

Rank by Fifths in Secondary School for Men and Women Entering in Sept. 1961

Men
Fifth of Class	Number	%
First	266	63
Second	106	25
Third	29	7
Fourth	4	1
Fifth	1	0
Unclassified	18	4
TOTALS	421	100

Women
Fifth of Class	Number	%
First	214	92
Second	11	5
Third	3	1
Fourth	2	1
Fifth	1	0
Unclassified	2	1
TOTALS	233	100

FOOTBALL PREVIEW FOR 1961

by BRADLEY N. TUFTS
Sports Information Director

LAMBERT CUP champions in 1960, the Bisons have a big order to fill if they are to equal last year's fine record, but pre-season indications point to another winning season and if adequate depth is established at center and quarterback, Bob Odell's team could make another strong run at the Eastern small college title.

The basic strength of the team lies in the experience and mobility of the interior line, capable running strength in the backfield and better than average pass receiving. Little All-American Paul Terhes led a dangerous and potent offense last fall, but the sharp blocking and outstanding defensive work of the Bison forward wall also played a leading role in the seven victories.

Foulke Heads Line

Captain Kirk Foulke, a 6-2, 220 pound tackle from Newton Square is the bulwark of the line and could well be one of the best interior linemen in the Middle Atlantic Conference. Other 1960 starters in the line who are returning are end Dick Tyrrell, an all-MAC choice last fall, tackle Tom Noteware and guard Tom Alexander.

Backing up these men are a host of other veterans who should help to give Odell the most experienced line corps he has had since coming to Bucknell. Included among the other returnees are ends Rene Clements, Dick Lebec and Walt Mayer; tackles Denny Morgan, Chuck Newland and Darryl Novak; guards Don Chaump, Dick Orlowski and Bob Williams; and centers Dick Bourdeau, Charlie Johnson and George Rieu.

Chaump, who suffered a broken leg in the season opener last year and missed the entire campaign, and Orlowski, a converted tackle, are both exceptionally big for guards, and should make this position one of the strongest on the team. Bourdeau lettered as a tackle in 1959, but has been moved over to the pivot position after being out of school last year.

The starting array up front could include Tyrrell and Clements at the ends, Foulke and Morgan at the tackles, Alexander and Orlowski at the guards and Rieu at center, but this may change with the opening of fall practice on September 1.

Quarterback Replacement

In the backfield the big problem is to find replacements for Terhes and the number two signal caller, Rick Elliott, who also graduated in June. Doug Williams, a junior from Montclair, N. J., gave a good showing in the final intrasquad scrimmage last spring and has been tentatively given the number one spot. The principal replacements will probably be junior John Giordano and sophomore Don Rodgers, the number one quarterback on the freshman team last fall.

Williams does not have the passing arm that Terhes had, but, for that matter, very few players in the country last year did. He is a better than average runner and with some experience under his belt he should be capable of handling the job.

Ash Ditka returns to begin his third season as the starting left halfback. Although not fast, he is a strong runner and was the third leading pass receiver in the conference last year. Ray Cosgrove moves up from the number two spot to take over the right halfback chores and Ken Twiford, a power runner and outstanding defensive performer, will again man the fullback post.

Among the veteran halfbacks returning are Norm Garity, Dick Johnson, Bill Urch and Jim West, and three highly rated sophomores, John Barron, Mike Connell and Joe Elliott will back up Twiford at fullback.

Although nineteen lettermen are listed on the pre-season roster, several sophomores figure to play leading roles in the Bisons' drive for the Middle Atlantic Conference title this fall.

Outstanding Sophomores

In addition to the outstanding first-year fullbacks, other leading sophomores in the backfield include halfback Matt Hart, Lansdowne, halfback Mike Seigfried, Shickshinny, and Rodgers, a quarterback from Pittsburgh.

Standouts in the line include guard Bob Aleva, Pittsburgh, guard Tom Boyd, Havertown, center Frank Fichter, Wayne, guard Bill McQuown, Punxsutawney, guard Bill Swineford, Lewistown, and ends John Thornton, Philadelphia and Haskell Williams, Strafford.

The Bisons are again faced with a formidable schedule, and while there is experience at every position except center and quarterback it will be a rough task to equal or better last year's fine record. 1961 will see the Bisons fielding a hard hitting, mobile offensive line and an equally tough defensive unit. There will be greater balance between running and passing in the offense, and there should be greater speed in the backfield with the addition of several swift sophomores. This will be an exciting, hard-hitting team and every Bucknellian should avail himself of the opportunity to see the Bisons in action during the season. In addition to the regular nine-game schedule the team will hold a practice scrimmage against Columbia University in New York City on Saturday, September 16.

The following is a brief look at the opposition the Bisons will face this fall.

GETTYSBURG—The Bullets figure to be slightly stronger than last year. They are strong at end, center and quarterback, but lack depth at the halfback posts. The standout performers are end Harry Richter and quarterback Earl Little. This season the Bullets will meet Buffalo prior to the Bucknell game.

TEMPLE—Playing their second night game in a row, the Bisons will meet a rapidly improving Temple team bolstered by one of the finest sophomore contingents in the conference. The backfield, headed by quarterback Bill Grubb, halfback Don Council and fullback Ernie Wayland and sophomore quarterback Joe Morelli, will be deeper and faster. Tackle Bill Lites heads a line that should be considerably stronger.

COLGATE—The Bisons had one of their toughest games of the year against the Red Raiders last fall and figure to be in for more of the same competition again this season. Center Ken Kerr and quarterback Dan Keating are the leading returnees and Coach Alva Kelley will also have a fine group of sophomores.

RUTGERS—For the past two years the Bisons and the Scarlet Knights have waged terrific battles with each team winning one game. Rutgers again has a big line and its 1960 backfield, headed by Sam Mudie and Steve Simms, returns almost intact. Another exciting game is in store for Bison fans.

LAFAYETTE—Halfback Walt Doleschal and guard Pete Lehr are the standouts for the Leopards and Coach Jim McConlogue has 22 lettermen returning. There is a lack of depth and experience in the line. The Bisons have won only six times in Easton and will be out to get this one.

MUHLENBERG—The Mules return to the schedule after a six-year absence. Coach Ray Whispell's team compiled a 6-3 record last year, but only eight lettermen are returning and a big rebuilding lies ahead. Only three starters return from 1960. Quarterback Rollie Houseknecht is the stand-out performer.

BUFFALO—It will be cold in upstate New York at this time of year and the Bulls will certainly remember the second half Bucknell rally that produced a 41-0 victory last fall. Heading the list of eighteen lettermen are quarterback Gene Guerrie, end Bill Selent and guard Jack Hartman.

LEHIGH—Tackles Mike Semcheski and Reed Bohovich and fullback Boyd Taylor head a list of eight returning lettermen. Coach Bill Leckonby is again faced with a lack of depth, but has veterans returning at every position except right end. The Engineers should emphasize a strong running attack.

DELAWARE—The Blue Hens fell below .500 for the first time during Dave Nelson's tenure last year, but should have the material to bounce back near the top of the conference this fall. Nelson may use as many as five sophomores from last year's undefeated freshman eleven in the starting lineup. Tackle Bill Grossman is outstanding up front.

Ken Twiford '62

Kirk Foulke '62

1961 FOOTBALL SCHEDULE

Date	Opponent	Place
*Sept. 23	Gettysburg	Hershey
*Sept. 30	Temple	Philadelphia
Oct. 7	Colgate	Hamilton, N. Y.
Oct. 14	Rutgers	Homecoming
Oct. 21	Lafayette	Easton
Oct. 28	Muhlenberg	Home
Nov. 4	Buffalo	Buffalo, N. Y.
Nov. 11	Lehigh	Bethlehem
Nov. 18	Delaware	Home

* Night Game.

ORDER YOUR FOOTBALL TICKETS EARLY

To assure yourself of seats on the fifty-yard line, order your tickets now.

The north half of Section "D," on the fifty-yard line, is reserved for early ticket orders.

1961 FOOTBALL TICKET ORDER BLANK

CHOICE OF LOCATION
Sections are 23 rows high
Low () Middle () High ()

WEST (HOME SIDE)
Section D-50 Yd. Line ()
Section C-30-40 Yd. Line ()

EAST (PRESS BOX SIDE)
Section S-50 Yd. Line ()
Section T-30-40 Yd. Line ()

Please
Print

Last Name		First	Middle	Class
Street Address		City	Zone	State

DATE	GAME	NO. OF TICKETS	RESERVED PRICE	AMOUNT ENCLOSED	FOR OFFICE USE ONLY
Sept. 23	Gettysburg at Hershey*		$3.00
Oct. 14	Rutgers (Homecoming)		3.50
Oct. 28	Muhlenberg (Parents' Day)		3.00
Nov. 18	Delaware		3.00

*Night Game	Insurance and Postage	$.25
Total Amount Enclosed		$

Make checks payable to BUCKNELL UNIVERSITY—INTERCOLLEGIATE ATHLETICS. Return order blanks to Albert E. Humphreys, Director of Athletics. Tickets will be sent by insured mail.

Fun and the opportunity to renew old friendships and their common inherent allegiance to Bucknell combined to attract the largest attendance ever of Bucknellians.

Alumni Reunion Week End, with almost seventy group meetings scheduled in the 36-hour period from Friday noon to Saturday midnight, proved a busy time for the several thousand Alumni and guests who visited the campus. All of the traditional events that have stood the test of time were included and several interesting innovations kept the participants going at full speed with too little time out for rest. By far the largest group meeting was the Annual Alumni Luncheon held in the gymnasium at noon on Saturday when over 1,000 Alumni almost filled the gym to capacity. The Emeritus Club and 11 other classes holding regular five-year reunions (those whose class numerals end in "1" or "6") made up the bulk of the crowd, but the "perennials," those who attend alumni week end every year, were much in evidence.

Growing in popularity is the Friday evening class dinner, and six of the reunion classes held dinners at public hotels and clubs at nearby off-campus locations. All of the reunion classes held their regular business sessions on Saturday morning. Reports, pictures, and interesting sidelights on particular class reunions can be found in the class reports section of the magazine. Following the luncheon all classes re-convened for Saturday afternoon social affairs on and off the campus. As is customary, the 6:00 P. M. hour on Saturday was reserved for fraternity and sorority symposia, with no conflicting or reunion events scheduled at that hour.

Reunion books were "big" again this year with eight of the reunion classes gathering and compiling statistical and biographical material for a total of 439 pages. Alumni wishing to purchase reunion books can do so by writing the Alumni Office, but we suggest you write soon since the supply is limited. Also, to be published soon is a remembrance book of statistics and biographical material for the 600 members of the Emeritus Club excluding the Class of 1911. Editor Weaver Pangburn '10, with the assistance of a number of emeritus club members, has been working for nearly a year on this first Bucknell history of our senior Alumni.

Some Innovations

Several other firsts were established by the Bison Club this year under the leadership of President Jay P. Mathias '35. The first annual Bison Club Award, to be given to one not directly connected with athletics at the University who has contributed most to the success of the sports program, was made to Professor Allen W. Flock, Director of Bucknell's marching band. Also, for the first time, Bucknell rings were presented to the senior varsity members of the football and basketball squads. Officers elected at the Bison Club business meeting were: Jay P. Mathias '35, Lewisburg, president; Weber L. Gerhart, Jr. '19, Lewisburg, Kurt Manrodt '39, Pompton Plains, N. J., and Kenneth Bayless '42, Hazleton, vice presidents; John H. Shott '22, Lewisburg, secretary; Warren S. Reed '20, Lewisburg, treasurer; and W. Sherman Doeblér '49, Lewisburg, assistant treasurer.

Another innovation this year was a meeting of fraternity alumni advisers and fraternity corporation presidents with the Dean of Student Affairs John Hayward and Dean of Men Charles A. Meyn. This group, which included 22 Alumni from the 12 fraternities, discussed the formation of an Alumni Advisory Committee and the development and extension of a health and safety program for fraternities. A second meeting of the group is scheduled for Saturday, October 7, 1961.

State of The University

A highlight of the Saturday luncheon program was the annual address of Dr. Merle M. Odgers, President of the University. In his "State of the University" address, he said, in part:

"It has been a year of drama and excitement, and at the same time one of quiet achievement and steady progress.

"For many of us, it will be remembered as 'The Year of the Library Fire.' Fortunately, what might have been a very great loss was prevented by the efficient work of many volunteer firemen on that cold, snowy December 24, and it was possible for the Library to reopen for service when classes were resumed according to schedule.

"As you have probably noted, the work of reconstructing the roof and tower has already begun and by September the Library will be restored to its former appearance as one of the most beautiful and imposing structures on our campus.

"Less than two months after the Library fire came another exciting piece of news, closely related to this same building. I am referring, of course, to the announcement that Mrs. Ellen Clarke Bertrand had left the bulk of her fortune to Bucknell for the maintenance and operation of the Library of which she had been the principal donor.

"We shall be eternally grateful to Mrs. Bertrand for her devotion to Bucknell and for her unparalleled generosity.

"I should like at this point to pay special recognition to the memory of another trustee who was largely responsible for developing Mrs. Bertrand's interest in Bucknell and for persuading her to serve on our Board of Trustees. Joseph Daykin Dent, Class of 1920, was an imaginative, enthusiastic, and tireless worker for his beloved Alma Mater until his untimely death in 1957. In appreciation of his quiet but effective efforts for this University, Joe Dent's colleagues on the Board of Trustees commissioned a well-known sculptor, Harry Rosin, to execute a bronze head of him which has been placed appropriately in the Ellen Clarke Bertrand Library.

"Since his efforts were so closely connected with the development program of the University, it has been deemed appropriate to memorialize his achievements by naming for him the development offices in the new Administration Center.

"Because he was vitally interested in the athletic as well as the academic well-being of Bucknell, it has been decided also to name the new driveway which passes the entrance to Memorial Stadium and the Academic Quadrangle Dent Drive.

"We began classes last September with the second-highest enrollment in the history of the University. Our student body of 2,405 men and women was only seven short of the record-breaking enrollment of 2,412 in the post-war period of 1948-49. Last fall's freshman class was the largest ever as 763 students began their studies. Needless to say, our housing facilities were taxed to capacity as the year got under way.

"To our teaching facilities this year we were able to add a new Bituminous Laboratory in the Charles A. Dana Engineering Building. Funds to create the laboratory were provided by the Bituminous Concrete Association of Pennsylvania which acted as co-sponsor with our civil engineering department in conducting a special conference in conjunction with the dedication of the laboratory in November.

"The year 1960-61 saw the completion of several important improvements in our physical facilities. The complete renovation and refurbishing of East College was accomplished prior to the start of the fall term as we continued our excellent progress in providing improved housing accommodations for men. We were able also to improve our women's housing by the renovation of a portion of Harris Hall, where we were able to provide rooms for 46 more women students. The women's facilities for physical education were also improved by the expansion of Tustin Gymnasium, where a new wing was added during the fall months.

"Mention of so many improvements and additions to our physical plant may well lead you to ask about the state of our budget in these days of rising costs.

"The University's Operating Budget for the academic year 1960-61 totals slightly over $5,000,000, almost twice as much as the total operating budget of only six years ago. It is a balanced budget, and we expect to end the year on June 30th in the black.

"The 1960-61 budget included substantial increases in faculty salaries. A recent study of faculty salaries in Pennsylvania in 1960-61 reveals that among the ten institutions with enrollments in the 1500-3000 enrollment range Bucknell stands in third place for its full professors in relation to maximum salaries, average salaries, and fringe benefits, second place for its associate professors and first place for both its assistant professors and its instructors."

The details of Dr. Odgers' announcement concerning the academic administrative reorganization appeared in the July issue of ABOUT BUCKNELL.

Thoroughly surprised and elated P. Herbert Watson '37, sat comfortably in the Alumni Chair after being presented the Alumni Award for Outstanding Service, Unselfish Interest, and Demonstrated Loyalty to the University and The General Alumni Association.

Robert W. Dill '27, (left), President of The General Alumni Association, proudly presented the Alumni Medallion and Certificate for Meritorious Achievement in One's Chosen Profession to Harry L. Nancarrow '20.

Even the threat of rain could not dampen spirits.

Carrying on the work of The General Alumni Association at their semi-annual meeting were the following members of the Board of Directors: Seated (l. to r.) Henry G. P. Coates, Esq. '32, Allen F. Jones '25, Irvin Graybill, Jr., Esq. '49, Robert H. Taylor '48, Mrs. Clyde P. Bailey (Dorothy Lemon '29), and Peter Weidenbacher '50. Standing (l. to r.) are: Assistant Alumni Secretary C. Bruce Rossiter '56, Alumni Secretary John H. Shott '22, President Robert W. Dill '27, Daniel F. Griffith '36, and D. Eugene Long '29. Attending the meeting but not pictured was Charles F. Fox, Jr., M.D. '31.

Upon receipt of the honorary degree of Doctor of Laws, Dr. Rush H. Kress '00, received a standing ovation from the capacity crowd in Davis Gymnasium during the Commencement exercises.

Three faculty members received special honors when they were named recipients of the newly created Lindback awards for distinguished teaching for the 1960-61 college year. They are Dr. James A. Gathings, political science; Dr. Harold W. Miller, Greek and Latin; and Dr. James O. Oliphant, history.

Elections and Awards

William S. Liming '33, Garden City, N. Y., was nominated for election as an Alumni Trustee on the Board of Trustees of Bucknell University for a term of five years. Mr. Liming is manager of the Group Sales Promotion and Publicity Division of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company of New York City.

James R. Simpson '31, of Hartsdale, N. Y., was also elected to the Board of Trustees. He is the treasurer of Kennecott Copper Corporation, and a director of the Kaiser Aluminum and Chemical Corporation.

Trustees re-elected included David Burpee H'59, of Philadelphia; The Rev. Clarence W. Cranford '29, of Lewiston, Me.; O. V. W. Hawkins, Esq. '13, of New York City; Evan W. Ingram '20, Andrew R. Mathieson '20, and John T. Shirley '09, all of Pittsburgh, and William P. McNutt '27, of Belle Vernon.

Officers of The General Alumni Association re-elected for the coming year are: Robert W. Dill '27, Plymouth Meeting, president; Mrs. Clyde P. Bailey (Dorothy Lemon '29), Pittsburgh, first vice president; Daniel F. Griffith '36, Philadelphia, second vice president.

At the 110th Annual Assembly of The General Alumni Association, 105 delegates (316 delegates were eligible to attend) representing 31 clubs were in attendance. Full club delegations were recorded from the following clubs: Lock Haven, Milton, Western Pennsylvania (Pittsburgh), Towanda, and York.

The delegates to the Annual Assembly elected three members to the Board of Directors of The General Alumni Association to serve for five years: Mrs. Robert D. Carlson (Claire Wynkoop '49), Brooklyn, N. Y.; Warren R. Lewis '42, Rochester, N. Y.; and Robert W. Dill '27, Plymouth Meeting (re-elected).

P. Herbert Watson '37, Norristown, was the recipient of the alumni award of the Bucknell Chair and Citation for Outstanding Service, Unselfish Interest and Demonstrated Loyalty to the University and to The General Alumni Association. The alumni medallion and certificate for Meritorious Achievement in the Field of Business (transportation) was awarded to Harry L. Nancarrow '20, Philadelphia, Assistant Vice President for Freight Sales and Services for the Pennsylvania Railroad. The alumni medallion and certificate awarded for Contributions and Service to Fellowmen was presented to The Rev. William H. Genné '31, Montclair, N. J., Executive Director of the Department of Family Life of the National Council of Churches of Christ in the U. S. A.

Initial alumni awards in two new categories were presented for the first time with the presentation of certificates to twenty Bucknellians who have served as alumni trustees on the Board of Trustees of the University upon nomination of The General Alumni Association and to eleven past presidents of The General Alumni Association.

Committee Appointments

Appointed to membership on the Committee for Selection of Alumni Trustee candidates were: Mrs. Brown Focht (Florence Utt '26), Lewisburg, (1964); Mrs. Craig M. Waldner (Anne Randle '42), Pittsburgh (1964); and D. Eugene Long '29, West Hempstead, N. Y. (1964). Members continuing to serve are: Donald W. Glover '41 (1962), Mrs. John W. Lewis (Elinor Childs '52) (1962), C. Martin Neff '42 (1962), Robert H. Taylor '48 (1963), Edward C. Myers '34 (1963), chairman for the 1962 election, and Mrs. Charles E. Copeland (Amorita Sesinger '22) (1963). In accordance with the By-Laws of The General Alumni Association, all of the candidates in the 1962 election will be women.

Members of the Alumni Awards Committee are William J. Irvin '22 (1962), Paul A. Bowers, M.D. '33 (1962), Mrs. Ruth Sprague Downs '98 (1962), William S. Liming '33 (1963), chairman for the 1962 awards, Andrew R. E. Wyant, M.D. '92 (1963), The Rev. Paul

M. Humphreys '28 (1963), The Rev. William H. Genné '31 (1964), Harry L. Nancarrow '20 (1964), and P. Herbert Watson '37 (1964).

Baccalaureate Services

At the baccalaureate services held at Davis Gym at 8:30 o'clock Sunday morning, Dr. John S. Bonnell, pastor of New York's Fifth Avenue Presbyterian Church, preached the sermon. Dr. Bonnell told the graduates and assembled guests that Americans must face the grim fact that since the close of World War II the Soviet Union has been consistently winning the war of minds and souls of men.

"Today, more than one billion human beings are under the direct control of governments espousing Marxist ideology," Dr. Bonnell said. "A tragic apathy and complacency dominates the minds of the American peoples.

"While we must maintain our military defenses to the maximum, the struggle for the minds of men will not be won by guided missiles, supersonic planes, atomic submarines or hydrogen bombs. Ideas cannot be obliterated even by super bombs."

Dr. Bonnell then said, "Russia presents herself as the friend of colonial and exploited peoples, the lover of peace, the defender of common man all around the world. More important, she has succeeded in getting millions of people to believe her propaganda.

"We have laid far too much stress on our standards of living and material comforts rather than on those spiritual principles of the dignity and worth of every human being and his right under God to freedom and justice.

"Most tragic of all," Dr. Bonnell continued, "we have been losing faith in the basic principles upon which this nation was founded and in our mission to mankind, which was unceasingly proclaimed by our founding fathers. We must capture America's vision of her place in history and in the purposes of God for mankind.

"In some departments of history nowadays, they are wiscracking about this estimate of ourselves. While we falter, the Soviet Union steps into the breach and talks about the forces of history being on the side of Marxism and that her way of life is the answer to humanity's dream.

"We are sometimes upset with the mountainous difficulties in front of us that we have forgotten the faith that moves mountains. With renewed faith in God, America can recapture faith in her place of leadership in the free world," Dr. Bonnell concluded.

Commencement Exercises

At the commencement exercises held at 10:30 Sunday morning in the gymnasium, Dr. Bonnell was awarded the honorary degree of DOCTOR OF DIVINITY. Other honorary degrees were awarded to Dr. Leland John Haworth, Upton, L. I., N. Y., Director, Brookhaven National Laboratory, DOCTOR OF SCIENCE; Mr. Paul Stewart Killian, Bethlehem, Vice President in Charge of Purchasing and a Director, Bethlehem Steel Company, DOCTOR OF LAWS; Dr. Rush Harrison Kress '00, New York City, long time benefactor of Bucknell, merchant and philanthropist, DOCTOR OF LAWS.

Roger M. Blough, New York City, chairman of the Board of Directors of the United States Steel Foundation, Inc., received the honorary degree of DOCTOR OF CIVIL LAW and made the commencement address. In his address, Dr. Blough advised, "The acquisition of new knowledge is neither easy nor lightly undertaken: it is a rugged experience and jolting because it affects the pattern of people's lives."

He predicted that efforts to stop or retard the application of knowledge will prove to be futile. "The obstructionists may delay the installation of new machinery or slow down the introduction of new methods," he said, "but man's search for new and better ways of doing things will sweep by them—if not in this country, then in a competitive one—if not today, then tomorrow."

Prior to the University's 111th Commencement the honorary degree recipients posed for their pictures with President Merle M. Odgers and Chairman of the Board of Trustees William R. White '26. They are (l. to r.) Dr. Odgers, Dr. Paul S. Killian, Dr. Roger M. Blough, Dr. John S. Bonnell, Dr. Leland J. Haworth, and Mr. White.

Before an almost capacity crowd in Davis Gymnasium at the Annual Alumni Reunion Luncheon Mr. Dill presented to The Rev. William H. Genné '31, (right) the Alumni Medallion and Certificate for Contributions and Service to Fellowmen.

Earl E. Hinman, (left) president of the Class of 1911, was called to the speaker's table at the luncheon by Alumni Secretary John H. Shott '22, to receive a certificate of membership in the Emeritus Club of The General Alumni Association in recognition of having attended Bucknell University fifty or more years ago.

WHO'S YOUR CANDIDATE?

WHILE Bucknellians will not make as much fuss as the Democrats and Republicans did at their national conventions last year, we also are faced with the selection of candidates. By September 14 it will be necessary to prepare for committee consideration and action candidates for a number of University and alumni posts. Through a wise provision in the Constitution and By-Laws of The General Alumni Association, you have the privilege—and responsibility—of suggesting the names of Bucknellians to be considered by nominating committees.

Furthermore, Bucknellians follow the democratic process of not only nominating but of electing their representatives by an election process that provides several candidates from which the choice of a winner can be made by the alumni voters themselves.

These broad democratic principles are not followed in all alumni associations. On many campuses the alumni governing board themselves select the candidates for alumni posts. And in many instances, only one candidate is selected for each office to be filled. Bucknellians have always felt that such nomination and election procedures do not provide adequately for the practice of democratic principles no matter how conscientious alumni governing boards and committees might be. Of course, just as in community, state and federal nominations and elections, the whole process is weakened unless broad participation by the voter is secured.

Therefore, this is your invitation to suggest the names of Bucknellians to be considered as candidates for a number of University and alumni offices. The form (provided below) will make it easy for you to exercise your privileges and responsibilities as a member of the Bucknell Alumni Family.

Every five years the three trustee candidates to be voted on by the Alumni are selected from among the women of Bucknell. In 1962 a woman trustee is to be chosen for membership on the Board of Trustees of Bucknell University. In an alumni body as large as ours, many likely candidates might be overlooked unless we have your suggestion at hand. Your candidate need not be a member of your class nor must she necessarily reside in your community, but she must have attended Bucknell University and should be able to assist in the consideration of the broad problems of University policy and should be willing and able to attend at least two board meetings plus several committee meetings each year. These meetings are generally held in Lewisburg in the fall and spring of the academic year.

The Committee on Alumni Awards will meet on Friday, October 13, to select recipients for alumni awards in three categories: (a) for meritorious achievement in the field or profession in which the candidate is engaged, (b) for recognized contributions and service to fellowmen through such media as religion, charity, art, science or public welfare, and (c) for outstanding service, unselfish interest, and demonstrated loyalty to the University and to the Association. The committee will appreciate your suggestions of candidates in these three categories.

The By-Laws of The General Alumni Association provide for an election of three members to the governing Board of Directors each year, and you are invited to suggest the names of Alumni to be considered as Alumni Board of Director nominees.

In the past, a few Alumni have misinterpreted this call for candidates and have felt that multi-recommendations are necessary for favorable committee action. Such is not the case: a candidate with one recommendation receives the same committee consideration as a candidate with a hundred recommendations. It would be well to keep in mind that under our By-Laws, nominating committees are required to select the candidate it considers "best suited and qualified," rather than on the basis of the number of recommendations. Selection of candidates should never be made as a result of a popularity contest.

Remember—committees meet October 13, and in the case of alumni trustee candidates, cannot consider persons who have not previously accepted the invitation to be placed in nomination. As this clearance requires time, your suggestions should be made now.

Suggestions of Persons to Be Considered for Nomination

Must Be Submitted by September 14, 1961, or Before to The Alumni Office, Bucknell University, Lewisburg, Pa.

I. AS WOMAN CANDIDATE FOR ALUMNI TRUSTEE:

NAME OF WOMAN _____ CLASS _____
(Enclose sheet listing achievements of your candidate as you know them)

II. AS RECIPIENT OF THE 1962 ALUMNI AWARDS:

a. For Meritorious Achievement in the Field or Profession in Which the Candidate Is Engaged.

NAME _____ CLASS _____
(Enclose sheet listing achievements of your candidate as you know them)

b. For Recognized Contributions and Service to Fellow Men Through Such Media as Religion, Charity, Art, Science or Public Welfare.

NAME _____ CLASS _____
(Enclose sheet listing achievements of your candidate as you know them)

c. For Outstanding Service, Unselfish Interest, and Demonstrated Loyalty to the University and to the Association.

NAME _____ CLASS _____
(Enclose sheet listing achievements of your candidate as you know them)

III. AS NOMINEE FOR THE BOARD OF DIRECTORS OF THE GENERAL ALUMNI ASSOCIATION:

NAME _____ CLASS _____

YOUR NAME _____ CLASS _____ ADDRESS _____

AN OPEN LETTER TO ALUMNI

Editor's Note: The following letter written by Jay P. Mathias '35, President of the Bison Club, has been endorsed by University officials and by the Executive Committee of the Bison Club. It is published here to inform Bucknell Alumni interested in financially supporting Bucknell's intercollegiate athletic program of their responsibilities.

Dear Alumni,

Bucknell's intercollegiate athletic program is now in a sound and healthy condition. We have a fine group of scholar-athletes, good coaches, good equipment, good schedules—and an all around program of physical education, intermural and intercollegiate athletics in which all Bucknellians can take pride.

The Bison Club is proud of its part in this program—and proud to be associated with an institution which has made as much progress in so many areas and in so many ways as Bucknell has done in the past few years. Bucknell's general and academic success is reflected in the athletic schedule—for example, in the fact that we can once again be on the schedules of Ivy League teams. Bucknell is fully respectable athletically—and academically.

But progress brings accompanying responsibility. Responsibility to see to it that present high standards are maintained, present success repeated, present prestige merited.

Bucknell's football team—in Bob Odell's words—is no longer “lying in the weeds” waiting to surprise some unsuspecting opponent. The Lambert Cup winners are on top—and like every team on the top—are the sure target of every team they meet—and of every carping critic of intercollegiate athletics generally and college football in particular.

The wolves are howling! Even the friends of intercollegiate athletics (Sports Illustrated, for example) are blaming college presidents and over-zealous Alumni for the disgrace of the college basketball scandals.

Football may be next. No matter how pure they may be, schools with successful records are the first to be suspected of improper recruiting, excessive subsidization, or under-the-table payments in violation of NCAA and ECAC regulations.

The Alumnus who has supported the athletic program of his alma mater with the best of intentions and the purest of motives will be surprised to find himself cast as the villain of the piece because his seemingly innocent gift to a deserving undergraduate athlete violates conference rules. The unsuspecting undergraduate who unthinkingly accepts under-the-table assistance is surprised to find himself ineligible, disgraced, and branded for life. The college finds itself in public disgrace, the object of much moralizing on editorial pages across the nation, stripped of whatever hard earned prestige it may have achieved by the honest efforts of its faculty and staff—and wondering whether that faculty committee may not have been right when it recommended that intercollegiate football (or basketball) be dropped.

The Bison Club does not want this to happen at Bucknell. Gifts to the Bison Club will be used to support Bucknell's program of inter-collegiate athletics in ways that are wholly within the regulations. If you want to help the athletic program generally—or help an undergraduate athlete specifically—do it through the Bison Club.

Sincerely,

JAY P. MATHIAS '35, President,
The Bison Club

For many Alumni who may not be familiar with the activities of the Bison Club it may be helpful to know that it was organized on June 8, 1940, by interested Alumni to provide a channel for Alumni who might wish to support the athletic program of the University. The Bison Club regularly schedules breakfast meetings at Homecoming and Commencement Week Ends and holds a “Smoker” on Friday evening prior to the Homecoming Game.

Its primary activity is to raise funds for financial support of the athletic program. Two funds are maintained:

1. A General Contribution Fund. Contributions to this fund are used to support the general program of the club:
 - A. Board (on a basis of need) for freshman athletes who receive grants-in-aid for tuition, etc.—but who can work only part-time and earn only $\frac{1}{2}$ of the Board charge.
 - B. Contact lenses for varsity athletes who must wear glasses while engaged in competition.
 - C. Hospitalization-Medical-Surgical-Accident Insurance for grant-in-aid recipients.
 - D. Tutoring for athletes who need academic assistance.
 - E. Awards for outstanding athletes.
2. Special Financial Aid Fund. Contributions to this fund are used (as designated by the donor) to provide tuition, fees, room and board to athletes (on the basis of need) with the approval and under the jurisdiction of the University Committee on Scholarships and Student Aid.

On December 11, 1960, Bucknell was presented the Lambert Cup emblematic of eastern small college football supremacy. Pictured at the presentation ceremonies were (l. to r.) Robert H. Odell, head coach; Henry Lambert, co-donor of the cup; Mickey Melburger '61, captain of the Bisons; and President Merle M. Odgers.

FOR THE RECORD

A review of selected items of interest

about Alumni, Faculty and important events

and developments at Bucknell University

Foreign Students

Students from over 90 foreign countries attended the 18th Annual Summer Institute for Foreign Students sponsored by the Institute of International Education. The eight-week session was under the direction of Harvey M. Powers, assistant professor of English. Dr. Mildred A. Martin, professor of English, served as assistant director of the Institute.

The main purpose of the program was to acquaint these students with the English language. Also, special sessions were held to familiarize them with the academic and administrative procedures in American colleges and to introduce to them American manners and customs.

The majority of foreign students came from North Africa and the Middle East. Also represented were students from European, Latin American and Far Eastern countries.

High School Students

Thirty-two high school junior boys from Pennsylvania and surrounding states participated in the annual six-week Institute for High School Science Students during the summer. Dr. Lester Kieft, chairman of the Department of Chemistry, directed the program made possible by a grant from the National Science Foundation.

The boys, chosen from 200 applicants, attended classes in chemistry and biology to help them become familiar with science instruction on the college level and to develop enthusiasm for possible careers in science.

Bucknell Parents

On May 6, 1961, at the general meeting of The Bucknell Parents the following officers were elected for the present academic year: The Rev. Paul M. Humphreys '28, president; Mr. Jay Hudson, president-elect; the Honorable Harry D. Goldman, vice president; and Mrs. Forry L. Strobeck, secretary-treasurer.

Summer Enrollment

Enrollment in the 1961 summer session at Bucknell was at an 11-year high of 775.

Although far short of the record enrollment figure of 1,088 set in the summer of 1916, it marked the third consecutive summer in which increases have been noted.

Students engaged in graduate and special study accounted for over 55 per cent of the enrollment figure, while those attending four of the special Summer Institutes held on the campus accounted for the second largest group.

NASA Contract

Dr. William Mendenhall '45, associate professor of mathematics, has been awarded a contract by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration to conduct a preliminary study to obtain an experimental design which will provide maximum information for a given expenditure in a planned space experiment.

Experimental design is concerned with the manner in which the experiment will be conducted rather than the mechanical or electrical equipment involved. Because of the enormous costs in constructing and orbiting a space satellite, the NASA is vitally interested in obtaining as much information as possible from a given experiment.

Working with Dr. Mendenhall on the project will be Dr. John T. Webster, assistant professor of mathematics, and two undergraduate assistants, William B. LeCates '62, of York, and Stanley G. Sheeler '62, of Allenwood.

Faculty Promotions and Leaves

Five associate professors have been promoted to the academic rank of full professor. They are Dr. J. Charles Jones '42, education; Dr. Douglas H. Orrok, French; Emil J. Polak MA '51, mathematics and astronomy; Dr. Marlin L. Sheridan '43, civil engineering; and Dr. Bennett R. Willeford, Jr., chemistry.

Promoted to the rank of associate professor are Robert H. Odell, physical education; and Robert E. Slonaker, Jr. MS '52, chemical engineering.

Three instructors have been promoted to assistant professors; Neil R. Anderson, art; Joseph V. Guerinot, English; and Dr. Robert A. Neidorf, philosophy.

A sabbatical leave for the second semester has been granted to Sylvester J. Blum, associate professor of physical education.

Leaves of absence for the 1961-62 academic year have been approved for three members of the faculty who are planning to work on their doctorates. They are Bernard O. Bogert, assistant professor of geology and geography; J. Dwight Corder, assistant professor of electrical engineering; and Edward F. Staiano '58, instructor in mechanical engineering.

Leaves of absence for an additional year have been given to Dr. Roger H. Bowman, associate professor of physiology, and Dr. Harry R. Garvin, associate professor of English. Dr. Bowman is currently engaged in a two-year research program on behalf of the Heart Fund at Cambridge University, England, while Dr. Garvin will complete his second year in Italy under a Fulbright lectureship.

Also granted a leave of absence was George L. Hershey, assistant professor of arts, who will spend the 1961-62 academic year in Italy under a Fulbright Fellowship.

HONOR ROLL ADDITIONS

We wish to thank the following Bucknellians who made pledges or gifts to the Dual Development Fund during the campaign but whose pledge cards or gifts did not arrive on the campus until after the printed report of the campaign was published:

R. H. Anderson (Parent)
Catherine Wittenberg Brownell '44
Gordon L. Brownell '43
Marlyn D. Etzweiler '27
W. E. Fleming (Parent)
Mr. and Mrs. Lionel A. Franke, Jr.
(Parents)
Marion Martin Frantz '41
Edith Hesselberger Johnson '34
George W. Johnson '31
John M. Kennedy '53
August Klein, Jr. '51
Fred H. Lewis '20

Mr. and Mrs. William C. McConnell (Parents)
Jean Grabowski Mattern '45
Jane Gaiser Myers '48
Joseph Nissley '31
Bruce M. Scott '51
Arthur R. Slade '40
Norman H. Stewart (Emeriti)
Elizabeth Spyker Owen '19
Fred V. Vitale '29
Roy H. Wagner '48
Harry L. Wynn '35
Frederick J. Zwiesele, Jr. '51

Dr. Rivenburg Dies

It is with regret that we inform you of the death on May 31, 1961, of Dr. Romeyn H. Rivenburg, Vice President and Dean Emeritus of the University. He was in residence at the family home at Clifford and would have been 87 years of age in November.

Dr. Rivenburg retired in 1945 after 22 years of service as Dean. He graduated from Bucknell, summa cum laude, in 1897, and was awarded the Master's degree by Bucknell in 1898. He was head of the Mathematics Department at the Peddie School, Hightstown, N. J., from 1900 to 1923, and Assistant Headmaster from 1910 until he returned to Bucknell in 1923. In 1928 he was awarded the honorary degree of Doctor of Laws by Stetson University, Deland, Florida.

Dr. Rivenburg was Bucknell's first Vice President, having been appointed to this rank in 1935. He served as chief academic officer and in large part managed the affairs of the University during the war years when President Marts was away from the campus on other assignments.

In dedicating the yearbook to him in 1942 L'Agenda said: "Throughout his years at Bucknell he has tempered his power over many phases of student life with common sense and keen sympathy for the student point of view." We honor him "for this, and for his quiet, winning generosity, and for the faithfulness with which he has served Bucknell."

In 1947, his alma mater conferred upon him the honorary degree of Doctor of Humanities. In presenting him for the degree, Dean Coleman cited Dr. Rivenburg for his "fairness, modesty, thoughtful consideration and sympathetic understanding." The degree was conferred by President Herbert L. Spencer, who praised him as a "tireless administrator, wise counselor, and devoted servant of his alma mater."

He is survived by his second wife, the former Bessie Todd of Kalamazoo, Mich., whom he married in 1947, following the death in 1945 of his first wife, Marion Jones. Also surviving are two daughters, Mrs. Romlyn Rivenburg Balshaugh '35, of Hershey, and Dr. Marjorie Rivenburg '24, who is a member of the faculty of Westhampton College.

Dean Rivenburg was a wise and kindly friend to many Bucknellians, a loyal and devoted servant of his alma mater, and a Christian gentleman for every moment of his long and useful life.

Guy Payne '09, Honored

A testimonial dinner was given for Mr. and Mrs. W. Guy Payne '09, on April 25, 1961, at the University's Cowan Recreation Center. The toastmaster was Dr. Philip Harri-man. After a delightful dinner of roast beef the approximately 80 guests who came to honor Mr. and Mrs. Payne heard a vivid biographical sketch given by Mr. Forrest Brown. Mr. John F. Zeller, III '41, represented the official University family and explained the generous arrangement of Mr. and Mrs. Payne providing for the University to pay them $50,000 for the Inn in return for which the Paynes will make a $50,000 gift to the endowment fund of the University for certain specific purposes.

Dean Emeritus Romeyn Rivenburg next spoke and gave testimony of the many old friends of the Paynes who have been fortunate enough to associate with them during the long years that they have occupied the campus. Dr. C. Willard Smith next gave a poetic salute to the Paynes after which several former students of the University testified to the generosity of the Paynes to them while they were students on the campus. They included Dr. Ernest E. Blanche '38, Dr. John D. Johannesen '43, and Dr. Mildred S. Wagner (Mildred Sheesley '48). At the conclusion of the speaking program Mr. Payne was presented with a beautiful captain's chair suitably engraved.

Former Staff Member Dies

We are sorry to announce the death on December 23, 1960, of Mrs. Winifred Blair who served on the administrative staff of the University during the 1940's and early '50's. Mrs. Blair served as hostess at Walker House at the time of her retirement but had been a head resident for a number of years and was well known to thousands of Bucknellians who had come to know her gracious spirit. She had a flair for contract bridge and hundreds of Bucknellians benefited from her instruction in playing the game.

Professor Johnson Retires

Many complimentary things can be said of anyone whose career at Bucknell or any other institution has spanned 37 years. Such a career is that of William T. Johnson '18. Certainly he met the standards of respectability, dependability, and competence. The important thing to remember in this man's professional career is the over-all effect of his character and his personality upon his students, his associates and his University.

William T. Johnson, associate professor of history, officially retired at the end of the academic year 1960-61, and was given emeritus rank by a grateful University for his many years of service to education in general and Bucknell in particular.

An alumnus of Bucknell, Professor Johnson received his bachelor of arts degree from the University in 1918. He was graduated summa cum laude and currently serves as president of the Bucknell Class of 1918.

Following his graduation from Bucknell, Professor Johnson taught in the Milton schools for a period of 5½ years before joining the faculty of his Alma Mater as an instructor in English and Latin in 1924.

In 1938, Professor Johnson was promoted to the academic rank of assistant professor of history, and in 1958 was named associate professor of history. He also served as chairman of the Department of History for two years.

In addition to receiving his bachelor's degree from Bucknell, Professor Johnson holds the master of arts degree from Harvard University, which he earned in 1936. He also engaged in special graduate work at Columbia University and, in 1922, studied abroad under private instruction.

He is one of the founders of the first Phi Lambda Theta fraternity at Bucknell, established prior to the founding of the present fraternity house which bears the same name.

His daughter, Eleanor M. Johnson '61, graduated from Bucknell with cum laude honors this past June.

Dr. Romeyn H. Rivenburg '97

William T. Johnson '18

THE CLUB PROGRAM

Club activity for the academic year 1961-62 got off to an accelerated pace as six alumni clubs in the South held meetings during the month of July. As we go to press a total of twenty-six club meetings have been held or are being planned with a majority of clubs featuring freshman receptions or Bison Roundups.

In Review

Because of an early publication deadline for the May, 1961, issue of THE BUCKNELL ALUMNUS several club meetings held during the Spring could not be reported. The following club reports have been submitted for publication in this issue.

Triple Cities

Bucknell Alumni and parents to the number of 37 gathered for the annual spring dinner of the Triple Cities area at the Sheraton Inn, Binghamton, on Wednesday, April 19. The meeting was planned by Douglas W. Burt '42, retiring president and the master of ceremonies was Samuel W. Bernstein, Esq. '33.

The guest of honor and principal speaker was Dr. Merle M. Odgers, President of Bucknell. He was accompanied to the meeting by Mrs. Odgers and Mr. and Mrs. John H. "Buck" Shott '22, Alumni Secretary.

After the meeting the following new officers were elected and inducted: President, Robert D. Wilt '40; Vice President, Gerald F. Wagner '40; Secretary-Treasurer, Mrs. Samuel W. Bernstein (Laura Goldstein '34); Chairman of Picnic, Wilbur T. Breckinbridge '53; Chairman of Songs and Singing, Jack F. Bailey M.D. '38.

Buffalo

President Merle M. Odgers was the featured speaker at the spring dinner held by the Bucknell Alumni Club of Buffalo at the Williamsville Inn on Thursday, April 20, 1961. He was introduced to the 30 Alumni and guests in attendance by John H. Shott '22, Alumni Secretary. The meeting was arranged by Henry B. Puff '44, who also served as master of ceremonies for the speaking program which followed the dinner. The invocation was given by George J. Vetter '33. The new color film, "Presenting Bucknell," was shown to the group by John J. Plewak '41.

Prior to the dinner, Dr. Odgers and "Buck" Shott attended the dedicatory exercises for the Western New York Nuclear Research Center held at the University of Buffalo at which Governor Nelson A. Rockefeller gave the dedicatory address.

Rochester

The University Club of Rochester was the scene of the annual spring dinner of the Bucknell Alumni Club of Rochester on Friday, April 21, 1961. President Warren R. Lewis '42 conducted the meeting and the invocation was pronounced by the Rev. Thomas B. Richards '37. The honored guest and principal speaker at the dinner was President Merle M. Odgers who presented an interesting and entertaining report of University activities including many humorous stories to illustrate his remarks about the present

Club Meetings in the South,

Freshman Receptions and Bison Roundups

Dominate Club Activity

educational program, the students and the campus life of today. He extended the thanks of the University to the Alumni and friends in Rochester who had achieved the highest percentage of participation in the recently completed Dual Development Campaign. Dr. Odgers was accompanied to Rochester by Mrs. Odgers and Mr. and Mrs. John H. "Buck" Shott '22, Alumni Secretary.

"Bud" Lewis established a memory record by introducing by name and class all of the people in attendance at the dinner. Not to be outdone, Judge Harry E. Goldman, father of Thomas Edward Goldman '62, arose and named from memory the 16 parents who were in attendance. Judge Goldman told the parents—and Alumni—of the cordial welcome that awaited them upon their arrival on the Bucknell campus and regaled the audience with many humorous experiences encountered on his many visits to the campus. Dr. Odgers, who was celebrating his birthday on that evening, was presented with a birthday cake while the crowd sang happy birthday wishes.

American Baptist Convention

Even though the American Baptist Convention was held this year across the continent from our home campus, 11 Bucknellians and friends got together for a Bucknell dinner in Portland, Oregon, on June 15, under the leadership of the Rev. Albert W. Sheckells '27 of Bridgeport, Conn. Those who attended included, besides the Rev. and Mrs. Albert W. Sheckells, Rev. and Mrs. Ivanhoe McCollum (Janis Alice Raikes '22), Dr. and Mrs. Kenneth I. Cober '24 (Clara Price '25), Dr. Roland Hudson '24, Rev. Willard D. Callender '23, Dr. and Mrs. Edward O. Clark '15 (Eva Thayer '21).

Summer Meetings

Club activity during the summer months is becoming increasingly popular as evidenced by family picnics being held in widely scattered areas. The Bucknell Alumni Clubs of Rocky Mountains, Philadelphia, Northern New Jersey, Pittsburgh and York each held family picnics. The Bucknell Alumni Club of York combined their picnic with a freshman reception for entering freshmen and their parents from the area.

On August 11, Bucknellians in the San Francisco, Calif., area met at DiMaggio's Restaurant to meet and hear Dr. J. Orin Oliphant, chairman of the Department of History and University archivist, bring news to them from the campus. And on August 17 Dr. Oliphant spoke to members of the Bucknell Alumni Club of Pacific Northwest in Seattle.

An informal gathering of Bucknellians in the Columbus, Ohio, area met on August 25 at the Ohio Stater Inn and saw the color and sound film entitled, "Presenting Bucknell."

A southern tour of the Alumni Club circuit by Alumni Secretary John H. Shott '22, and his wife resulted in six club meetings. The following are reports of these meetings:

Southern Florida

Fifty-three Bucknellians, wives, and husbands met on July 13, 1961, at the Escape Hotel in Fort Lauderdale for their summer dinner meeting. The meeting was planned by Dwight Milleman '42, who served as master of ceremonies at the affair.

Guests of honor at the meeting were Mr. and Mrs. John H. Shott '22, Alumni Secretary, and Assistant Alumni Secretary C. Bruce Rossiter '56.

Prior to the showing of the film, "Presenting Bucknell," an election of officers was held. The results of the election are as follows: Dwight Milleman '42, president; Eric Blomquist '50, vice president; and Mrs. Beatrice Smith Peters '48, secretary-treasurer.

St. Petersburg

The Bucknell Alumni Club of St. Petersburg met at the Driftwood Inn on Tuesday, July 18, with twenty-five in attendance. Dr. Coleman J. Harris '12, presided, and Alumni Secretary "Buck" Shott '22, gave a most interesting talk on the school. The Alumni were happy to see him and Mrs. Shott. New faces this time included Mrs. Metta Allen Plant '31, J. M. (Kid) Hillman '14, and his wife, Frank Olson, a friend of E. G. Mears '02, G. L. Campuzano '13, and Mrs. Janice Lissenden Impara '51.

President Harris, a son of former president John Howard Harris, read the death notice of Mrs. Ruth Farquhar Warfel '19, who passed away on June 24 this year. Mr. Shott reported the death of Dean Rivenburg '97 at his home in Clifford on May 31. Dr. Leo L. Rockwell '07, spoke of the meeting of Phi Beta Kappas at the recent commencement at Bucknell. The Rockwells, Vera '11 and Leo '07, are always on hand for the St. Pete meetings of the Alumni and add a special flavor to the occasions.

Mrs. Alfred Moore, mother of Jack C. Moore '61, was invited to attend but unfortunately could not make it. Jack graduated last June with a Bachelor of Science degree in mechanical engineering. He is a resident of St. Petersburg.

Seventeen of the club members who could not come sent interesting messages which were passed around the tables for all to read. Eric Oesterle '16, served as the secretary for the club in the absence of George Bails '09, vacationing in Glen Falls, N. Y. He, his wife, and Mr. and Mrs. Howard L. Headland (Sarah Walters '09) were on campus recently.

Atlanta

Famous Mammy's Shanty was the site and Southern Fried Chicken—with the world's best Pecan Pie—was the menu when Bucknellians met to hear Buck Shott '22, alumni secretary, report on current campus life in late July. In the absence of President Mrs. Lynn Davies Barton '57, master of ceremony duties were ably performed by Past President Ray F. Monahan '37. The invocation was given by Jack Filer '37.

South Carolina

Bucknellians in the Camden area met with Alumni Secretary and Mrs. Buck Shott '22 for dinner at Elizabeth Thomas Restaurant, Camden, on July 25. Frank E. Mendes III '44, chairman of the meeting, offered the invocation and introduced Secretary Buck Shott who spoke briefly and showed the University film, "Presenting Bucknell." All of those in attendance are connected with the duPont plant in Camden.

Durham

Dr. Sherwood Githens, Jr. '31, chairman, greeted a group of Bucknellians from Durham and Winston-Salem who gathered at Schrafft's Country Inn to meet with Buck Shott '22 and his wife on July 26. Following the showing of the film, "Presenting Bucknell," Buck discussed the current campus scene.

Richmond

Bucknellians in Southern Virginia met for dinner and a meeting with Alumni Secretary and Mrs. Buck Shott '22 on July 27. Mr. Karl H. Stutzman '33 was chairman and his son, David, served as operator of the projector for the showing of the film, "Presenting Bucknell." Interesting messages from those too far distant to attend were read after which Buck Shott brought the guests up-to-date on campus affairs.

Freshman Receptions

As we go to press nine clubs have made plans to entertain the entering freshmen and their parents at freshman receptions during late August and early September. Clubs planning for parties are: Philadelphia on August 29, Long Island on September 14, Trenton, Rochester, and Washington, D. C., on September 10, Westchester on September 12, and New York City on September 13. The Bucknell Alumni Clubs of Johnstown and Western Pennsylvania are planning receptions, but at this writing no dates have been announced. Pittsburgh area Bucknellians plan to hold two affairs—a tea for freshman women and their mothers and a smoker for freshman men and their fathers.

Bison Roundups

Don't forget that football games away from the campus give you an opportunity to meet with your Bucknell friends and to see the Thundering Herd in action in your home area. Here's how you can meet the gang as you follow the Bisons on the road:

HERSHEY—September 23—Bison Roundup before the Gettysburg game at the Cocoa Inn beginning at 4:30 P. M. This year Bucknellians and friends will meet in a reserved room at the Inn and may order from the menu. Reservations are not necessary.

PHILADELPHIA—September 30—Bison Roundup before the Temple game at Sunken Gardens (Candlelite Room). Cheltenham Avenue and Limekiln Pike from 6:00 P. M. to 7:30 P. M. This restaurant is just across the street from the Temple Stadium and has excellent parking facilities. Please send your reservations for this buffet to Mr. Harry M. Fagan, Jr., Worcester, Pa., or call him at JU4-3122 or UL5-1111 before September 28.

(Continued on Inside Back Cover)

On July 13, 1961, in Fort Lauderdale at a meeting of Bucknellians in Southern Florida, Alumni Secretary John H. Shott '22 (left) chatted with Mrs. Beatrice Smith Peters '48, secretary-treasurer of the club, and with Dwight S. Milleman '42, newly elected president.

DONOR AND MEMORIAL PLAQUES IN THE ADMINISTRATION CENTER

SECOND FLOOR

Board of Trustees Room

Gift of
MARIE LEISER BOSTWICK F'99 in memory of her husband
ROY GRIER BOSTWICK,
ESQ. '05
Chairman, University Board of Trustees, 1941-47

President's Offices

Gift of
RICHARD KING MELLON FOUNDATION

Committee Room

Gift of
PAUL L. TROAST H'52
Member, University Board of Trustees

Dean of Student Affairs Office

Gift of
ELMER K. BOLTON '08
Member, University Board of Trustees

Conference Room

In memory of
CLAIR G. SPANGLER, M.D. '25
Member, University Board of Trustees
given by FRANCES P. SPANGLER and classmates, other Alumni, and friends

Development Suite

In memory of
JOSEPH D. DENT '20
Trustee of the University, 1950-57

Public Relations Director

Donated on behalf of CHEROKEE PLANT
MERCK CHEMICAL DIVISION
MERCK & CO., INC.

Public Relations—News Office

In memory of
CHARLES F. BIDEISPACHER,
ESQ. '01
given by
CHARLES R. BIDEISPACHER,
ESQ. '33
and MARGERY TRENEER
BIDEISPACHER '36

Public Relations— Sports Information

Gift of MATHER & CO.

Lounge—Second Floor

Gift of INSURANCE COMPANY OF NORTH AMERICA

Dean of Men's Suite

Gift of
HON. HORACE A. HILDRETH H'56
President of the University, 1949-53
and
KATHERINE WING HILDRETH

Dean of Women's Suite

In memory of
HERBERT LINCOLN
SPENCER H'53
President of the University, 1945-49
given by Alumni, family, and friends

Conference Room

Gift of
GRIT PUBLISHING COMPANY

Kitchen

In memory of MARY S. POMEROY
by bequest

FIRST FLOOR

Suite of Dean of the University

Gift of
THE KRESGE FOUNDATION

Suite of Vice President—Business and Finance

Gift of
MR. H'61 AND MRS. PAUL S.
KILLIAN

Treasurer's Suite

In memory of
DAYTON L. RANCK '16
Vice President and Treasurer of the University
given by CITIZENS' ELECTRIC CO.
LEWISBURG NATIONAL BANK
and other friends and Alumni

Business Office

Gift of
ROBERT L. ROOK '13
Chairman, Executive and Investment
Committees
University Board of Trustees

Registrar's Office

Gift of
STROEHMANN BROTHERS CO.
in memory of
H. J. STROEHMANN, SR.

Registrar's Workroom

Gift of PARTNERS OF MERRILL LYNCH, PIERCE,
FENNER & SMITH
FOUNDATION, INC.

Recorder's Workroom

Gift of
MERRITT-CHAPMAN & SCOTT
FOUNDATION, INC.

Lobby—First Floor

Gift of IDA GREENE WATTSON F'94
in memory of
CALVIN GREENE
EDWARD McVITTY GREENE '95
Trustees of the University

GROUND FLOOR

Alumni Offices

Gift of
JOHN T. SHIRLEY '09
and
ANDREW R. MATHIESON '20
Members,
University Board of Trustees

Alumni Workroom

Gift of
DAVID BURPEE H'59
R. HENRY COLEMAN '29
BERKELEY V. HASTINGS '13
CHARLES J. KUSHELL, JR. '27
HARRY G. SCHAD H'58
KENNETH W. SLIFER '26
HARLAND A. TRAX '01
WILLIAM R. WHITE '26
T. CORTLANDT WILLIAMS '20
Members,
University Board of Trustees

Lobby and Admissions Suite

Gift of
A. GUY FREAS H'57
Chairman, Buildings and Grounds Committee
University Board of Trustees

Data Processing Room

Gift of Berwick and Milton Plants of ACF INDUSTRIES, INC.
through
ACF FOUNDATION, INC.

Post Office and Faculty Mail Room

Gift of
MR. AND MRS. PAUL G. WEHLE

Stenographic Pool

In memory of
DR. WILLIAM VAN VALZAH
HAYES '88
by bequest

DONOR PLAQUE IN EAST COLLEGE

East College Lounge

Bucknell University
gratefully acknowledges the many services and benefactions

of

HON. ANDREW J. SORDONI H'50
Member, University Board of Trustees

OTHER ACKNOWLEDGMENTS

The Administration Center is one of the fruits of the building objective of the 1959 and 1960 Dual Development Fund campaign. The other objective of the campaign was for endowment. Bucknell University gratefully acknowledges the following major donors to the endowment objective:

MELVILLE BEARDSLEY '15

(faculty endowment)

ELLEN CLARKE BERTRAND H'54
(deceased)

(Library maintenance and endowment)

CHARLES A. DANA FOUNDATION

(faculty endowment)

The Dana Foundation was also a major contributor to the Administration Center. The Engineering Building has been named for Dr. Charles A. Dana H'60.

RALPH B. DERR '17

(faculty endowment)

J. WELLES HENDERSON, JR.

(Joseph W. Henderson '08, Faculty Summer Fellowship Endowment)

SAMUEL H. KRESS FOUNDATION

(faculty endowment)

Renovated West College has been renamed in honor of Dr. Rush H. Kress '00.

CHRISTIAN R. H'41 and MARY F.
LINDBACK FOUNDATION

(Endowed Chair in Business Administration)

MRS. JANE S. (CHRISTY) MATHEWSON '01

(Christy '02, and Jane Stoughton Mathewson '01 Scholarship)

MRS. MARJORIE M. P. MAY, wife of Trustee
Herbert A. May

(faculty endowment)

DONALD R. McCAIN '05

(Leila Preston McCain Scholarship)

PITCAIRN CRABBE FOUNDATION

(faculty endowment)

DR. ISAAC R. SMITH

(Marjorie Bell Smith '28, Scholarship)

RALPH A. '13 and ANNE B. STILL

(faculty endowment)

The main lobby of the Administration Center, located on the ground floor, is attractively furnished and serves as a reception lounge for the Admissions Offices. Turn to page 26 for an interesting story about the handsome hand-carved eagle on the wall.

The new home for your Alumni Office staff is located on the ground floor of the Administration Center. Pictured in the new office at their desks are (l. to r.) Mrs. Alice Dyer, Mrs. Helen Keefer, Mrs. Janet Myers, Miss Doris Schreffler and Miss Marlene Miller. Standing (l. to r.) are C. Bruce Rossiter '56, Assistant Alumni Secretary, and John H. Shott '22, Alumni Secretary.

A pictorial roundup

Class Reunions

June 2, 3, and 4, 1961

EMERITUS CLUB

Seated, Left to Right: John C. Johnson '04, Ida Luchsinger '03, Dr. Mabel Grier Leshner '01, Mrs. Edna Shires Slifer '00, Mrs. Winnie Dickson Hardgrove '10, Mrs. Ruby Pierson Sholl '10, J. Gurney Sholl '10, Mrs. Myrtle Walkinshaw Shupe '09, Paul J. Abraham '10, Alar C. Cunningham '02, Mary Cotton '96, Mrs. Sara Ray Way '10. Standing: Dr. Cyrus Karraker (Faculty Host), William G. Murdock '04, George T. Street '10, Mrs. George T. Street, Mrs. Margaret Pangburn, Mathias '08, Dr. Arno Viehover, Mrs. Mabel Johnson Viehover '10, Mrs. J. Theodore Park, J. Theodore Park '06, Mildred Cathers '10, Phares Hertzog '10, Mrs. Paul J. Abraham, Mrs. Ethel Schultz, Horace Sheppard '06, Dr. John I. Woodruff '90, Charles I. Boyer '02, Dr. Leo L. Rockwell '07, John C. Bank '10.

CLASS OF 1911

Seated, Left to Right: Mrs. Ernestine Hyatt Villalon I '09, Mrs. W. C. Grimes, Mrs. Andrew Huston, Mrs. LeRoy Johnson, Mrs. Grace Cobb Hann, Mrs. Dora Raymond Schuler, Mrs. Vera Cober Rockwell, Mrs. John Hilbish, Mrs. Fred MacAllister, Mrs. Roy DeLong, Mrs. Earl Hinman, Mrs. Herbert Lloyd, Mrs. Harry Coulson. Standing: Jose Villalon, Lyman Shreve, William C. Grimes, Dr. Warren (Faculty Host), Andrew Huston, LeRoy Johnson, John Roser, Leo L. Rockwell '07, John Hilbish, Nelson Crossman, Fred MacAllister, Roy DeLong, Earl Hinman, Herbert Lloyd, Arthur Fairchild, Mrs. Fairchild, Harry Coulson.

CLASS OF 1916

Seated, Left to Right: Mrs. Martha Park Whitman, Samuel Bryant, John J. Conway, Ruby B. Young, Dr. Samuel M. Davenport, Dr. Eric A. Oesterle, Mrs. Helen Ott Oesterle '14, Mrs. Dorothy Bunnell Schnure, Mrs. Olive Park Stout, J. Russell Snyder, Mrs. Carrie Foreman Jones. Standing: Verna G. Noll, Rev. Charles E. Tilton, Hilbreth H. Hann, Norman J. Rehman, Mrs. Charles Tilton, Jesse Riley '14, Mrs. Ethel Hiter Riley, Mrs. Margaret Wallace Ryan, Charles Gubin, Mrs. Russell W. Everett, Russell W. Everett, John F. Jeffrey, Louis Park, Mrs. John Jeffrey, Ray P. Bigler, Arthur W. Fulton, Mrs. Ray Bigler, Mrs. Kenneth C. Ritchie, Kenneth C. Ritchie, Mrs. Betty Redelin Davis '18, Harold Giffin, Roscoe Davis, Mrs. Clarence Glass, Clarence Glass, Mrs. Lester Bartlett, Lester J. Bartlett, Fred O. Schnure '14, Mrs. Samuel Davenport, Shailer W. Ventres, Phillip D. Jones.

CLASS OF 1921

Seated, Left to Right: G. Hobart Brown, Mrs. Dorothy Markham Brown '23, Francis Reamer, Mrs. LaRue Unger Reamer, Marjorie Sprout, Mrs. Eugene Kallay, Eugene Kallay, Clarence B. Moore, Joseph B. Kelly, Mrs. Emily Devine Kelly, Donald Laher, Mrs. C. F. Brandt, Mrs. Chelton Smith, Edna Baker, Mrs. Sarah Bernhart Derr. Standing: John Carter, Mrs. Hannah Madison Townsend, T. J. Mangan, Walter Edwards, Prof. Dalzell M. Griffith '23 (Faculty Host), Mrs. Walter Edwards, Thomas F. Morgan, C. DeEtte Edgett, Charlotte Dietz, Mrs. Helen Beck Shimer '19, Clifford E. Wentz '23, Harold L. Shimer, Mrs. Elizabeth Laedlein Wentz '22, Mrs. Nellie Follmer Everett, Victor G. Clare, Harry S. Everett '12, Voris A. Linker, William Nichols, Stuart Epler, Charles Brandt, Chelton W. Smith, Stanford Kunkle, Mrs. Sarah Kerstetter Augsburg, Mrs. Stanford Kunkle, Mrs. Clara Casner Carpenter.

CLASS OF 1926

Seated, Left to Right: Mrs. J. B. Miller, Mrs. B. R. Sheddian, Mrs. Thelma Stamm Seidel, Katheryne E. Miller, George Koch, Edward A. Knorr, Mrs. Florence Utt Focht, Anna L. Brown, Fred W. Evans, Mrs. Carrie Smith Rood, Lucille G. Scullen, Mrs. Charlotte Mansell Loudon, Mrs. Hazel Marks McIlveen. Standing: John B. Miller, C. G. Coleman, F. Earl Bach, Mrs. C. G. Coleman, Mrs. Elizabeth Evans Bach '29, Don Rigg, Boyd R. Sheddian, Dick Merwin, Royce M. McLane, Penrose C. Wallace, Stewart F. Brwen, Paul R. Austin, Paul Potter, Mrs. Paul Potter, W. F. Wagner, Mrs. Ruth Propert Postpichal, Orval J. Hand, Mrs. Mary Sanders Price, William I. Miller, Florence Laubscher '25, John W. Fisher, Mrs. Vera Eister Baker, Mrs. Louise Curtis McCue, Howard Baker, James V. Martz, Mrs. James Martz, Ernest C. Shaffer, Norman Thora, Mrs. Henrietta W. Gardner, Carlton L. Gardner.

CLASS OF 1931

Seated, Left to Right: Mrs. Katherine Ruf Walls, Gladys Murray, Mrs. Virginia Cowell Wahl, Mrs. Cora Newsham Truxel, Mrs. Elva Crist McCall, Mrs. Esther Minich Lawson, Mrs. Helen Mowry Brandriff, Mrs. Alice Drennen Smalstig, Mrs. Helen Devitt Butler, Mrs. Ruth Weidemann Snyder, Mrs. Robert J. Keenan. Standing: Prof. J. Ben Austin (Faculty Host), Paul Showalter, Robert Schiro, A. Crossley Smith, Warren McClain, Horace Mason, Robert Bogar, Charles F. Fox, Jr., Carl E. Truxel, Kirby Walls '29, Mrs. Marian Stinson Fox, Charles Snyder, Mrs. Harriet Wilson McCaslin, H. Lynn Goughnour '32, Mrs. Martha Warner O'Brien, Percy Hort, Helen Reece, John Shields, Mrs. Ruth Thomas Sleighter, Charles Crow, Lewis Spangler, James Simpson, Robert Keenan, Mrs. J. G. Shuttlesworth, Arthur Stone, J. G. Shuttlesworth, Edward Smalstig.

CLASS OF 1936

Seated, Left to Right: Kenneth Moody, Robert T. Jones, Mrs. Virginia Nylund Shaub, Eric Stewart, Mrs. Lois Montgomery Burgee, Mrs. Elizabeth Mahaffey Allen, Mrs. Gladys Geary Davis, Mrs. Eleanor Chapin Roberts, Mrs. Marie Rockwell Bate, Mrs. Josephine Williams Miller, Mrs. Charlotte Shupe Brown, Charles S. Gwynne, Mrs. Dorothy Levers Wilkinson, Robert V. Housel, William F. Wilkinson. Standing: Mrs. Helen Morgan Griffith, Nancy Jane Diefenbach, W. Gordon Diefenbach, Mrs. W. G. Diefenbach, Prof. Clyde E. Burgee (Faculty Host), Master Paul Shaub, Mrs. Robert T. Jones, Harry T. Shaub, George C. Johnson, Mrs. George C. Johnson and daughter, Mrs. Harry G. Coleman, Harry G. Coleman, Leroy H. Rohde, Richard B. Engdahl, John Prosser Davis, Jr., Mrs. Kenneth Moody, Daniel F. Griffith, Mrs. Henry M. McGee, John C. Decker, Henry M. McGee, Mrs. Walter Morris, Chalsmer K. Brown, Walter Morris, Mrs. Betty McMahon Herrold, Master John Herrold, Carolann Herrold, Kenneth F. Herrold, Mrs. Robert Housel, Suzanne Wilkinson.

CLASS OF 1941

Seated, Left to Right: Dr. C. A. Hollister (Faculty Host), Fred Michel, Lillian T. Hind, Helen R. Hind, Mrs. Mirian Leshner Hunter, Mary Gebhardt, Mrs. Betty Fleckenstine Minnich, Mrs. Alberta McCready Porch, Mrs. Betty Cooper Hannum, Mrs. Margaret Symington Brown, Mrs. Peggy Farrell Smith, Mrs. Harriet Myers Mason, Mrs. Lois Knerr Nagel, Mrs. Peggy Raine Preston, Mrs. Jane Gundy Stephenson, Mrs. Jane Crossgrove Hartzell, Howard G. Hartzell. Standing: Mrs. Fred Michel, Willis Porch, Nancy Porch, Margie Porch, Robert Rink, Mrs. Robert Rink, Thomas O. Meyer, James R. Hind, Mrs. Marion Phillips Meyer '43, David Hunter, Mrs. Geraldine Bennage Teufel, Kenneth Dannenhaner, Mrs. Marion Voris Croft, Mark Dannenhaner, Norman Simpson, Mrs. William Stephens, Ray Campbell, William Stephens, Mrs. Ray Campbell, Myron Eisenberg, Earnest Rogers, Mrs. Anne Lowther Eisenberg, Mrs. Virginia Engle Rogers, Mrs. June Jaggard Clover '43, Donald Glover, Mary Alice Laird, Charles Reed, Mrs. Grace Stone Dietz, Mrs. Martha Rice Reed, Lee Ranek, Mrs. Pat Thompson Schofield, Mrs. Gene Hayes, Mrs. Elizabeth Dyer Winters, Gene Hayes, Richard W. Nutt, Banks Brown, Richard Mathieson, Mrs. Dorothy Smailes Nutt, Mrs. Pat Salmon Mathieson '43, William Johnson, Louis Vender, William Hannum '42.

CLASS OF 1946

Seated, Left to Right: Mrs. Peggy Ryan VanDine, Mrs. Robert Lehet, Mrs. Emily Kelly Carrough, Chip Baird, Steve Baird, Sue Baird, Pamela Roselle, Mrs. Edwina Halligan Roselle, Mrs. Jane Bull Breneman, Mrs. Donna Ray Bowen, Jeanne Bowen. Standing: Spencer Carrough '50, Fitz Walling, Sax Palmeter, Robert Lehet, Dudley Waldner, Mrs. Jane Rockwell Palmeter, Robert Score, Lynn Waldner (partially hidden), Randy Score, Debbie Waldner, Jay Waldner, Peter Waldner (in front of Mrs. Waldner), Mrs. Jean Newsom Waldner, Gene Hill, Mrs. Patricia Whitman Hill, Mike Reifsnnyder, Mrs. Betty Wynn Reifsnnyder, Mrs. Betty Wells Ewing, Molly Baush, Mrs. June Bunnell Richards '45, Frank Strickland, Susan Strickland (in front of Mrs. Richards), Lee Strickland, Debby Strickland, Henry Conrad, Mrs. Eleanor DeLong Conrad, Mrs. Peg Thompson Jeramaz, William Bowen '42, Charles Baird, Mrs. Norma White Baird, Mrs. Gloria Whitman Cowan, James Cowan.

CLASS OF 1951

Seated, Left to Right: Paul E. Lacke, Jr., Mrs. Mary Jane Riley Lacke, Mrs. Marion Bucher Snyder, Mrs. Mary Edwards Rogers, Mrs. Barbara Snyder Action, Mrs. Claire Harth Bucher, Mrs. Ann Busch Tremain, Mrs. Dorothy James Lampe, Mrs. Rachel Reinsoehl LeCates, Mrs. Dorothy Carrington Smith, Mrs. Catherine Klotz Ireland, Mrs. Jeanne Gardner Machamer, Mrs. Janet Miller Stevenson, Mrs. Nancy Haney Lady, Mrs. Barbara Lewis Shaw. Standing: Harvey Bush, Herbert Hillman, Paul E. Lacke, Craig Hall, William Dayenport, John McMahon, Graydon Rogers, Wayne Harrison, Richard Reigle, Herbert Zearfoss, John Swanson, Joseph Blackburn, Edwin Blick, Mrs. Frances Hankinson Hillman '53, Ronald Rinehart, Howard Heinaman, Mrs. Barbara Kaiser Henderson, Finn Petersen, Mrs. Dorothy Varni Child, Leslie Pollen, Mrs. Jean Heim Davis, Donald Betty, Donald Parsons, Jerold Kreisher, Raymond Tallau, Alan Manning, Walter Bauman, Raymond Shaw, Richard Johnson, Alan Davis, Robert LeCates, William Schaffner, James Miller, James Hunt, David Kahn, Donald Smith, Prof. John W. Tilton (Faculty Host).

CLASS OF 1956

Seated, Left to Right: Bugliari children, Mrs. Winifred Kreider Hermanson, Mrs. Anne Prosser Post, Nancy L. Kunz, Barbara A. Josephans, Audrey Anne Thurnall, Mrs. Arlene Sherwood Skiff, Mrs. Emily Highfield Bibbins, Joanna T. Sullivan, Mrs. Claire Hammond Eberhart, Mrs. PollyAnn Keller Owen, Mrs. Barbara Noxon Bowen. Standing: Mrs. Doris Dawe Bugliari '57, Mrs. Caroleigh Kemp Gioia, Gaspare L. Gioia, Mrs. Diane Trumbower Mankin, Mrs. Janet Lehr Rosner, John F. McConnell, Amerigo Chiriaco, Robert Berringer, John F. Skiff, Jr., Leslie Bishop, Joseph M. Bergin, Jr., Joseph C. Eberhart, Henry E. S. Owen, Dale T. Bowen.

CLASS REPORTS

EMERITUS CLUB

MISS MARY COTTON
Eldred, Pa.

The following is the result of the Emeritus Club election held on the Bucknell campus, June 2, 3, and 4, 1961. The officers elected to serve for a five-year term are: J. Gurney Sholl '10, president; Herbert S. Lloyd '11, first vice president; John C. Johnson '04, second vice president; Mrs. Margaret Pangburn Mathias '08, secretary-treasurer; Col. A. F. Dershimer '03, fund manager; Miss Mary Cotton '96, reporter; W. Guy Payne '09, reunion chairman; Weaver W. Pangburn '10, reunion book editor; Dr. and Mrs. William Leiser '09 (Martha Leiser '21), Mr. and Mrs. William Donehower '06, reunion social meeting hosts and hostesses; Dr. Mabel Grier Leshner '01, and Mrs. Sarah Judd Shields '02, directors.

At the sixth annual "Mother of a Good Neighbor" Day in Philadelphia, MABEL BATTEN DUTTON '97, '00, was honored as the "Mother of a Good Neighbor" from the Camden-Gloucester-Burlington County area. She was selected for her outstanding devotion to community service and for instilling in her children a tradition of civic consciousness. Mrs. Dutton is the mother of Rev. ROLLAND N. DUTTON '26, pastor of the Crisfield, Md., Baptist Church, and CARYL DUTTON SLIFER '27, wife of University trustee, KENNETH W. SLIFER '26.

HARVEY F. SMITH, M.D. '94, was the recipient of the fourth annual Howard Gordon Memorial Trophy presented in Harrisburg in February, 1961, in recognition of his contribution to health and sports. The plaque, presented to his nephew, Paul G. Smith, Jr., reads as follows: "For dedicated services to amateur sports in the tradition of sportsmanship, fair play and improved recreation." Dr. Smith, who will be 90 years old and was not permitted to attend the award ceremony on his physician's orders, sent a long personal note telling of the beginning of a sports and recreational program in Harrisburg. Bucknellians well know that Harvey Smith played professional baseball for the Washington Senators in 1896 and was influential in guiding the immortal CHRISTY MATHEWSON '02 and Chief Bender into the big leagues.

Dr. LEWIS E. THEISS '02, continues his publishing of interesting articles in the July, 1961 issue of Organic Gardening and Farming with an article entitled "The Persimmon is a 'Natural' for Organic Gardeners," page 36.

This past March one of Bucknell's most famous and beloved alumnae Dr. MARY M. WOLFE '96, was honored by her many friends in Lewisburg and by the University at a party on the occasion of her 87th birthday. Dr. Wolfe is an honorary trustee of the University, an ardent supporter of Bucknell, and has the unique distinction of having had five ancestors on Bucknell's first Board of Trustees. Prior to Dr. Wolfe's retirement in 1946, she won national recognition as a physician in the fields of psychology and psychiatry. For 26 years, she held the position of Superintendent of the Laurelton State Village, an institution for mentally defective girls and women. I am sure I speak for all members of the Emeritus Club and Bucknellians everywhere in wishing Dr. Wolfe a belated "Happy Birthday" and with the hope that she has many, many more happy birthdays.

Dr. ROMEYN H. RIVENBURG '97, a faithful alumnus and dean of Bucknell University for 22 years, died on May 31, 1961, at his home in Clifford. Please refer to page 17 for Dr. Rivenburg's obituary.

ROMAIN C. HASSRICK '06, president of the Sigma Chi Foundation, in his March, 1961, message to members quoted both Dr. MALCOLM C. MUSSER '18 and Dr. Karl D. Hartzell, members of the Bucknell staff. Romain himself should be quoted for he closed his message with this fine statement, "Any wide awake undergraduate appreciating the valued privilege of a college education, will appreciate that in today's world academic superiority, intelligence and purpose with drive behind it are at a premium and will pay high dividends." So say we all, Romain.

I'm sure the very brief reference to the death of Miss MARGARET BEAVER GROFF '04 who died August 4, 1960, did not adequately note the great contribution Margaret and the other members of the Groff family have made to Bucknell. Born in Lewisburg in 1885, she was the daughter of the late Dr. George C. Groff, a former distinguished member of the Bucknell faculty. Dr. George Groff was professor of natural sciences at Bucknell from 1879 to 1910 and was acting president of the University in 1888 and 1889. It was through Dr. Groff's efforts that the University opened its doors to women in 1883. An item of interest concerning Dr. Groff's life is the fact that he was chief sanitation officer for the Pennsylvania State Board of Health during the Johnstown flood of 1889. He also served in the Spanish-American War as a brigade surgeon with the rank of major. His early work in the establishment of the pre-medical course at Bucknell has borne great fruit so that today there are over 700 living Bucknell medical men who owe their professional training to the strong pre-medical program he established. Margaret graduated from Bucknell in 1904 and attended the Arts Student League in New York City for several years before starting a teaching career of 42 years at Avalon Public School near Pittsburgh. Miss Groff lived with her sister, Miss FRANCES LLOYD GROFF '07, '12 in Chester Heights, Delaware County. She was a member of the High Street Friends Meeting, West Chester. Her favorite hobby was painting and some of her work has been exhibited at the Chester County Art Association. She was a member of Phi Beta Kappa and the Mathematics Teachers' Association of Philadelphia. Miss Groff is survived by her sister, Miss FRANCES LLOYD GROFF '12 of Chester Heights. Three brothers, William Marshall, Maj. JOHN CHARLES '05, and Capt. JAMES A. '09 are deceased.

02 MR. ALAN C. CUNNINGHAM
Charles C. Knox Home
Wynnewood, Pa.

Our class will celebrate its 60th anniversary next June and I hope all surviving members (which number 28, I think) will plan to visit Bucknell.

I was able to attend the Commencement exercises on the fourth of June this year and, while LEWIS THEISS was not able to attend because of ill health, CHARLES BOYER and I had a fine time in all the varied affairs.

It would surprise you to see the new Bucknell of 1961, and do not be surprised if during the coming months you hear more about the coming sixtieth reunion.

07 DR. LEO L. ROCKWELL
602 Charles St.
Lakeland, Fla.

Volunteers needed! GEORGE RIGGS, having done a valiant piece of work with the class fund, feels that at eighty-six he should retire. We agree, George. Who among the youngsters in their seventies will tackle this job? The Alumni Office gives hearty cooperation.

VERA's 1911 class generously included me as an honorary member at its fiftieth, and we had a glorious time as guests of the University. I'm the guy behind Vera in the class picture.

It was good to see Bucknell listed among the top 10% of colleges in increases of salary for all staff ranks in 1960-61 (See AAUP Bulletin, June 1961).

In reply to the recent questionnaires requesting information for the forthcoming Emeritus Club Remembrance Book, THOMAS W. SCHULTZ responded from far-off Alaska. Although much of his career will be reported in the book, it is noteworthy to review in part the life of service Tom has given to the teaching profession. As early as 1901 Tom began teaching in the Williamsport School District. Following graduation from Bucknell in 1907 Tom moved to Alaska and for over 50 years, except for a few years in California, taught in numerous Alaskan villages and towns. Because of his exceptional service the Department of Interior presented to him a certificate and medal for commendable service in the native service schools. Tom, aside from teaching, has served as a commissioner, postmaster, health officer, minister, and jury member. A recent letter from Tom tells us that he plans to leave Alaska within the next year and hopes to be back in Pennsylvania in 1962. We certainly hope he will be back for our reunion next year when we all can learn firsthand of his many experiences.

'Snuff for now.

09 MRS. HOWARD L. HEADLAND
(Sarah E. Walters)
3911 First Ave., North
St. Petersburg 13, Fla.

A letter from JOHN SHIRLEY arrived just a bit too late for the May issue. Here are excerpts from it. "During March I spent two weeks as the house guest of Mr. and Mrs. William J. Kappel at Miami Beach, Fla., and the first two weeks of April I attended the meeting of New England Life held at the Arizona Biltmore Hotel in Phoenix, Ariz. While there I called on JUDSON W. BUNNELL, general manager of Scottsdale Country Club, who was graduated from Bucknell in February, 1952. He has been in that position since November, 1960, and is doing very well in making his club an outstanding spot in Arizona. He wrote me as follows: 'I am sure by this time that you have heard of our Arizona birthday celebration, the first to be held in Arizona, at our club and resort. We had approximately 40 Bucknellians at the celebration.' If any members of '09 or other Bucknellians wish to spend a little time in the area of Phoenix, I heartily recommend the Scottsdale Country Club where they will receive a warm welcome from Manager Bunnell."

By the time you may read this in September, your scribe expects to be back in St. Pete again for the winter. Right now Howard and I are still in good old Pa.—Slippery Rock to be exact. As we spent a quarter of a century of our best years in this burg, it has a way of pulling at our heart strings so that we always land here.

THE AMERICAN EAGLE

Carved and given to his Alma Mater by Kenneth Vandembree '31, of Noank, Connecticut, the American Eagle symbolizes our national heritage both in design and structure.

The main structural wood used is ribbon-striped Philippine Mahogany, dowelled with Northern Maple. The flagpole is Maple and its tip is of Eastern Pine from New Hampshire.

Most unique is the types of wood for the talons furnished by the heads of conservation departments in several states. There is Holly wood from Delaware, the first state to join the Union, Koa wood from Hawaii, the last state to join the Union, White Oak from Rhode Island, the smallest state in the Union and Sitka Spruce from Alaska, the largest state in the Union.

The "eagle" has been placed on the wall in the main lobby of the Administration Center.

It was our great good fortune to be on the Bucknell campus for my 52nd and the Alumni Luncheon. We stayed for Baccalaureate and Commencement, both of which were so much worthwhile. Between the sessions we thoroughly enjoyed the coffee and doughnut break on the lawn adjoining the gymnasium. President "WALKIE" and I looked in vain for classmates but saw only GUY PAYNE and "DOC" LEISER. Tut Tut! What am I doing? Writing about myself? But what else can I do except to resort to such trivial news when you and you and you don't send me anything? Many of you could send me news, eventful and exciting, if you only would. PLEASE, the rest of us are so interested.

"God grant me the serenity to accept the things I cannot change, the courage to change the things I can and the wisdom to know the difference."

10 MISS MILDRED B. CATHERS
100 W. 33rd St., Apt. 6
Bayonne, N. J.

Our 51st, and ten loyal class members came back for a repeat of our famous 50th. There were GURNEY and RUBY SHOLL, MABEL and Dr. ARNO VIEHOEVER, PAUL and Caroline ABRAHAM, GEORGE and Margaret and Reginald STREET, WINNIE HARDGROVE, SARA WAY, "HEINE" BANK, PHARES HERTZOG, and your class correspondent.

How good it was to meet again, to see returning members of the 50-year class as well as the many old friends from other classes!

We are proud that one of our members, GURNEY SHOLL, is the new president of the Emeritus Club; he put zip into the meetings and made them most interesting. We had our own special class gathering Friday evening in Switzer Hall, in another cup of coffee.

Before June was past came a card from MABEL JOHNSON Viehoever who had flown to Ann Arbor, Mich., because of a daughter-in-law's emergency surgery. Later Mabel's daughter, Ellyn, and her family drove through from the Black Hills and picked Mabel up en route to Washington, D. C. After a month at home Ellyn and her family were off to Hawaii, the scene of Ellyn's military husband's next tour of duty. Mabel and Arno plan to visit them there later.

For the third year "HEINE" BANK chairmanned the annual picnic of the B. U. Alumni Club of Northern New Jersey at the Laguna Beach Club on July 22. The Beach Club, not far from Heine's home in Wayne, N. J., seems an ideal spot for a picnic with entertainment for all ages and tastes, rain or shine.

Dr. J. ELMER CROOP was honored by Jefferson Medical College June 3 on his 50th anniversary of graduation when the college presented him with a gold lapel pin appropriately engraved. Almost simultaneously he was honored in his home town of Waterford for his 50 years of medical practice. Dr. Croop plans to continue practicing as long as he enjoys good health.

To celebrate retirement HOMER and ELIZABETH STEVENSON KRESGE left the middle of July for a six-week tour of Europe. We hope this will be one of many joys of retirement.

Rev. GEORGE C. FETTER spent a three-week vacation in Bethesda, Md., last spring with his daughter Frances, now Mrs. Gordon Martin. She has four children and her husband is a physicist with the Bureau of Standards. In 1960 Mr. Fetter served as interim pastor of the First Baptist Church of Cedar Rapids, Iowa. During February and March he supplied the pulpit of the First Baptist Church of Des Moines, commuting from his home in Ames, Iowa.

11 LYMAN C. SHREVE, ESQ.
512 Masonic Bldg.
Erie, Pa.

The following is the result of our class election held on the Bucknell campus, June 2, 3 and 4, 1961. The officers elected to serve for a five-year term are: Herbert S. Lloyd, president and reunion book editor; Mrs. Grace Cobb Hann, vice president; Lyman Shreve, secretary and reporter; Arthur C. Fairchild, treasurer; William C. Grimes, fund manager; Jose A. Villalon, reunion chairman.

Our class president, HERBERT S. LLOYD, submits the following:

"Since the reunion only a few of the folks have sent in anything like news. The prize for optimism goes to DORA RAYMOND Schuler. She attended the reunion, and wrote after her return that she is already preparing for the 55th reunion. CY SHREVE writes that he and his family, plus the eleven grandchildren will spend their summer on the beach at Lake Erie. EVELYN McCASKIE is still on her trip around Africa. We hope she did not get the full treatment. ELIZABETH KATES is taking a summer off from her tutoring. If anyone deserves a rest, Elizabeth gets my vote. EARL and Grace HINMAN have kept up the contact work with the class members, visiting those in nearby South Jersey and Pennsylvania. We will have a full report from that loyal classmate in our next news letter. Will you folks who have run out of writing material please fill up your letter-writing boxes before the next deadline, September 21."

12 MRS. H. W. HOUSEKNECHT
(Maze Callahan)
108 W. Penn St.
Muncy, Pa.

This will be the last year for Pop and me to attend the reporter's buffet supper in Swartz Hall. Next year will be our 50th, then we are graduated into the Emeritus group. Anyways, it was "tops" this year. The supper was the most delicious I have had in years. Had the pleasure of making the acquaintance and eating supper with Rev. GEORGE F. HAINES '13, reporter for the Class of 1913.

At the luncheon on Saturday the same "perennials" (as Bruce calls them) were very much in evidence: EDNA WHITTAM '14, GLOVER and MARWOOD '13, LESLIE STOUT '13, GENE LONG '29, MILDRED CATHERS '10, SARA RAY WAY '10, MARGARET GRETZINGER English '15, ALBERTA and PATTY. Pop and I. Was so delighted to see GRACE COBB Hann '11, DORA RAYMOND Schuler '11 and FLORENCE DYER '11 after 50 years. Was so sorry to have missed MARY JAMESON Colwell '11. Looked all around for VERA COBER '11 ROCKWELL and LEO '07 but could not locate them.

Then I had a grand "chat" with HELEN OTT '14 and husband Rev. ERIC OESTERLE '16. She is still no bigger than a minute. Said that I had taken her under my wing when she came to school and she had never forgotten it. Someone else once said that I taught her to dance up in the old gymnasium; another, that I mended her stockings and cleaned up her room. A regular charwoman on the campus! Do you know my reward? They wrote those crazy themes for me that we had to have every morning.

HELEN LEVEGOOD's husband, Roy Clarke, passed away at their home in Lakewood, May 19, after a long illness. Our sincerest sympathy to Helen and John from the Class of 1912.

FREDERICK B. IGLER, D.D., was honored at a dinner on the University of Pennsylvania campus, May 23, upon his retirement after 44 years of service as minister to Baptist students at that University. The address of the evening was presented by Edwin H. Dahlberg, D.D., of St. Louis, Mo., a classmate of Fred's at Rochester Divinity School and a past resident of the National Council of Churches. More than 200 friends and associates of Fred gathered to acknowledge his great service. Bucknellians in attendance included: Dr. and Mrs. KENNETH COBER '24 (CLARA PRICE '25); Dr. and Mrs. ROLAND O. HUDSON '24; Dr. and Mrs. ANTHONY E. VASQUEZ '37; ARTHUR D. WALTZ, M.D.; SAMUEL C. RANCK, Esq. '50; Forest Brown, secretary of the Bucknell University Christian Association; and Mr. and Mrs. BUCK SHOTT '22.

Received a wonderful letter from Fred. Sorry to have missed the grand party. Wish that I could print the entire letter but you know the red pencil.

I deliberately lifted this from the Williamsport Grit several weeks ago. No name assigned nor quotation marks, but whoever wrote it, certainly hit the nail on the head.

My Get Up and Go Has Got Up and Went
How do I know that my youth's all spent?

My get up and go has got up and went.
But in spite of it all, I am able to grin
When I recall where my get up has been.
Old age is golden so I've heard it said,
But sometimes I wonder when I get into bed.

My ears in a drawer and my teeth in a cup

My eyes on the table until I wake up.
The sleep dims my eyes, I say to myself—
"Is there anything else I should lay on the shelf?"

And I am happy to say when I close my door

My friends are the same, perhaps even more.

When I was young my slippers were red,
I could kick up my heels right over my head.

When I grew older my slippers were blue,
But still I could dance the whole night through.

Now I am old, my slippers are black,
I walk to the store and puff my way back;
The reason I know my youth is all spent,
My get up and go has got up and went.
But I really don't mind, when I think with a grin

Of all the grand places my get up has been.

Since I have retired from life's competition,

I busy myself with complete repetition.
I get up each morning dust off my wits,
Pick up the paper and read the "Obits."
If my name is missing, I know I'm not dead.

So I eat a good breakfast and go back to bed.

I qualify for the above except the "retirement," "ears in a drawer" (which I should have) and "going back to bed." Which reminds me my oldest grandson who is 9, described me to his friend. "Well," he said. "My Grammy is old, has gray hair, and is practically fat!"

P. S. President Kennedy has nothing on me—I have had my rocking chair for several years.

13 REV. GEORGE F. HAINES
324 Market St.
Lewisburg, Pa.

Thirteen thirteens attended Commencement last June—BECK, GLOVER, HAINES, HASTINGS, HAWKINS, McCLURE, ROOKE, STETLER, STILL, CHARLES and CLAY SANDERS, SHAFFER and STOUT.

The McClures, as is their yearly custom, opened their home Friday evening to all class members and their wives for an enjoyable social time. After a long confab on the porch all were invited into the home for a glass of Jim's special mixture and his wife's homemade cookies.

After the Saturday Alumni Luncheon President Glover called a brief business meeting. Our treasurer, HAROLD SHAFFER, reported a balance of $535.04 in the class fund. It was voted that Harold give BOB ROOKE a check for $500.00 for investment purposes. Bob said he would invest the money in Woolworth stock. You are urged to spend your money in Woolworth stores. When we observe our 50th anniversary in 1963 our class fund will be used for a 50th anniversary gift to the University.

14 MRS. H. B. WEAVER
(Dora Hamler)
348 Ridge Ave.
New Kensington, Pa.

S. H. MARKOWITZ writes under date of May 16, "The May issue of THE BUCKNELL ALUNNUS contains an item in the 1909 class report which impels me to write you. CHARLES CARPENTER FRIES '09 taught me Greek and LEO LAWRENCE ROCKWELL '07 German when I came to Bucknell as a freshman. To both am I indebted in considerable measure for an excellent start in how to learn. As for myself, you might be interested in knowing that my revised edition of Adjusting the Jewish Child to His World appeared recently and seems to be filling a need. And I don't remember whether I did or did not tell you that the Hebrew Union College (where I was ordained) gave me an honorary D.D. degree not too long ago. Plans for retirement float around in my consciousness but as yet nothing tangible. There will be plenty to do because it seems to me that the longer I am in the rabbinate the more interesting do the duties become."

A letter from EDNA WHITTAM GLOVER tells of her serious mishap in December. However, she is fully recovered from her fall of December 16, when she tripped, hitting the left side of her face against the refrigerator. The cuts around her eye caused by the shattered lens of her glasses required 27 stitches. There was no damage to her sight and, miraculously, no scars. She enclosed a clipping from the Philadelphia Inquirer of July 3 which gives the sad news of the death of Dr. T. R. Morgan, husband of our MILDRED KIRK. She also mentions the death of EARL ARMSTRONG's wife, JEANNETTE COOKE '17. The writer remembers Jeannette, fondly, as a former pupil when she assisted Miss Schillinger in the elocution department. To these our classmates we extend our sincere sympathy in the loss of their dear ones.

15 MISS MARION R. BANCROFT
1308 9th St.
Altoona, Pa.

We regret to report the death of Russell M. McQuay, husband of our classmate, HELEN H. EEDE McQuay. Mr. McQuay had spent most of his life in his home town of Emporium and had retired in 1959 after 16 years as purchasing agent with Sylvania Electric. Our condolences are extended to Helen and her two Bucknell children, Mrs. Myron K. Sibley (EMMA McQUAY '40) and Dr. RUSSELL M. McQUAY, JR. '43.

16 REV. ERIC A. OESTERLE, D.D.
216 18th Ave., N. E.
St. Petersburg 4, Fla.

The following is the result of our class election held on the Bucknell campus, June 2, 3, and 4, 1961. The officers elected to serve for a five-year term are: Dr. Samuel M. Davenport, president; Bruce E. Butt, fund manager; Dr. Eric A. Oesterle, reporter; Bruce E. Butt, reunion chairman; Mrs. Dorothy Bunnell Schunre, reunion book editor; Bruce E. Butt and Charles Gubin, reunion area con-

Margaret Mattern Otto '18

Mrs. Margaret Mattern Otto '18 retired in June as librarian of the New York School of Social Work Library, Columbia University.

After teaching school for several years, following her graduation from Bucknell, she attended the University of Virginia where she received an M.A. degree in 1926 and a Certificate in Library Science in 1929.

Mrs. Otto has been a librarian since 1929 when she accepted an appointment as medical librarian at the University of Virginia. Later she was librarian at the New York Public Library, New York Academy of Medicine Library, Yale University Medical Library, and the Russell Sage Foundation Library.

Many Bucknellians will remember Mrs. Otto from her student days (1914-1918) when she worked in the Bucknell Library under the late Dr. William E. Martin '71.

Mrs. Otto has made many contributions to the social work profession by way of active full-time services, publications, committee chairmanships and organization memberships. In 1926 she was made a member of the University of Virginia Chapter of Phi Beta Kappa, the first woman to have been designated for this honor by the Department of Graduate Studies. Mrs. Otto is listed in WHO'S WHO OF AMERICAN WOMEN and WHO'S WHO IN LIBRARY SERVICE.

A native of Reading, Mrs. Otto's present home is at 3316 81st St., Jackson Heights 72, N. Y.

tact chairmen, reunion regalia chairmen, and reunion social meeting hosts.

The three PARKS were on hand. MARTHA had a string of presidential campaign buttons dating back to McKinley. She lacked only Hughes, Wilson and Bryan. OLIVE told us that seven of the eight children have graduated from Bucknell. LOUIE, resettled in Montandon, is fat as butter.

CONWAY, SNYDER and BIGLER are the "ubiquitous three." They turn up at every Homecoming and Commencement. Maybe we

CLASS REUNION CARRIED 5000 MILES

Neal S. Blaisdell '26 (left), mayor of Honolulu, Hawaii, couldn't attend the 35th reunion of his class in June. So University Trustee Kenneth W. Slifer '26 took the reunion to Honolulu City Hall—in the form of a class anniversary yearbook, two Bucknell plates and a special greeting from President Merle M. Odgers.

Neal is now serving his fourth term as mayor of Hawaii's principal city. Elected as a Republican, he has to work with a solidly Democratic Council—and does it quite successfully. He looks trim, relaxed—and fit enough to pitch nine innings for his Alma Mater anytime!

Neal's daughter Velma, Mrs. James Clark, attended Bucknell in the Class of 1951. His brother, Bill Blaisdell '27, who made Bison history by running back a punt in a snowstorm to beat Navy, is Honolulu fire chief.

should make that four. BRUCE BUTT is on hand regularly, too. Bruce was all steamed up about an earth-shaking book, the name of which I cannot recall.

BARTLETT claims connection with seventy graduating classes in his teaching career. That would include summer and night school groups.

SARAH HILBISH POST looked just the same as when she used to pucker for those delightful whistling sessions she could put on as she sat at the piano in other days.

Aside to MARY JONES Carlson: Mary, we weren't the least bit flamboyant. Oh! we were flush up against a bar at the banquet. I grant you, but there was only one beer bottle in sight and CONWAY let me and that other ministerial, TILTON, pose for a picture with it in hand. REHMAN would have that one. Come now, we are a very mild set of folks who seek no notoriety.

At the risk of offending the girls this reporter would say that GLASS had the finest contribution in the class book. Man, the guy can write!

Many allusions were paid to Poppy Perine at the reunion. JACK RICE '14 showed us the old fellows. We were so moved at one point as to say "as we go home past GUBIN'S array of bottles, let us all recite 'Crossing the Bar'."

17

MRS. ERLE M. TOPHAM
(G. Ray Spence)
425 W. Sedgwick St.
Philadelphia 19, Pa.

Mrs. Charles E. Miller (EDNA A. OVERFIELD) of Phoenixville is presently in Korea with her son, CARL '43, who has lived there for the past 15 years and who has been consultant to the Research Department of the Bank of Korea for the past 6 years.

Had a lovely letter from Mary Clark just too late for the last issue of THE ALUMNUS. Dick was scheduled to retire in November, 1960. He was still going strong until October 6 when he was stopped very suddenly by a cerebral thrombosis. They were in Michigan at the time to address a group of Bell Telephone employees. He was taken to a Detroit hospital for nine days, then released and they flew home to Wynnewood. No serious damage was done physically—no paralysis—and mind and memory are clear. We are happy to report improvement even though it is a slow process. Following doctor's orders they flew to Florida in November and by February decided to break up their home up here and move down there indefinitely. Dick has lost weight but looks good. He is rested and I feel by now is getting around well. Our best wishes, Dick, for a speedy recovery. Their new address is 2061 Temple Drive, Winter Park, Fla.

HENRY LOFFT sent me a note and a clipping from the Knoxville News Sentinel on his retirement. He has been T. V. A.'s chief engineer of construction, in charge of all its dams and steam plants. He was sixty-five on April 12—T. V. A.'s retirement age. He came with T. V. A. in 1936, left for a hitch with the War Production Board during World War II and private engineering work until 1950. He then returned to T. V. A. as project manager of Kingston Steam Plant and for a short time Johnsonville Steam Plant. In his earlier service with T. V. A. he helped engineer Pickwick, Kentucky, Watts Bar, Fontana, South Holston and Watunga Dams. Henry says they have no definite plans as yet but he hopes to do gardening and working in his woodwork shop. Our very best to you, Henry. Have a wonderful retirement.

One of the sweetest members of our class left us on May 16. I was shocked to read in our Philadelphia death notices the name of ARMSTRONG, Mrs. EARL B. She died in Jefferson Hospital. JANIE COOKE was just a dear in school and remained so all her life. She was active in St. Paul's Methodist Church in Paulsboro, N. J. (her home), and in the Paulsboro Woman's Club. Janie led a busy life and loved and helped everybody. She enjoyed her family so much. Besides hubby, ARMY '14, she is survived by three daughters: Mrs. Oscar Pszwaro of Gibbstown, N. J.; Mrs. Edward Reilly (ELIZABETH ARMSTRONG '48) of Paulsboro, N. J.; and Mrs. Eldred Randolph (JEANETTE ARMSTRONG '40) of Pompton Lakes, N. J. Our deepest sympathy goes out to all of them.

Had a nice talk with CARL WALDNER at Alumni Luncheon. He has not been so well lately. Had a heart attack, but is now recovering nicely. He and Mrs. Waldner had a nice trip this winter. Spent most of it in St. Petersburg, Fla. While there he saw HEAVY STOUT '13 and ERIC OESTERLE '16 and had nice visits with them. (So that's where you are, Eric. Missed your column. What's the idea of giving it up after I accepted your challenge?). While talking to Carl, he told me he had five brothers and a sister, two sons and a daughter who are Bucknellians. His brother LOUIS '12 had a son; brother HAROLD '30 two sons; brother FRANK '26 a daughter; and there were two daughters-in-law who were all Bucknellians. Isn't that a wonderful Bucknell family. We are indeed proud of them and glad we have one in our class. Good luck, Carl, and get well real soon.

Now do you realize this year is our 45th reunion? It is now later than you think! We are at least seven less now than we were at our 40th reunion. Mark the date right now on your calendar and give it preference over anything which may come up!

18

MRS. LAYTON E. KING
(Elizabeth Champion)
10 N. Loyalsock Ave.
Montoursville, Pa.

During the month of May, Dr. MALCOLM E. MUSSER and his wife, Dorothy, toured Europe visiting eight countries and covering 4,500 miles of their tour by plane, 2,200 miles by automobile and 3,500 miles by sea. I am sure I need not inform Bucknellians of our era that Mal is currently associate director of admissions at our Alma Mater.

We all seem to have lost touch—haven't heard a word from any of you for a long time.

LOUISE HAHN '18 SPROUT and CLINTON, who recently retired from Peddie, were recent guests of MARJORIE SPROUT '21 at Picture Rocks and from there went to their summer home at Lake Clear, N. Y. Marjorie accompanied them.

I trust that you who have vacationed this summer will write me of your travels, and remember that June, 1963, and our 45th reunion will soon be with us. The way time speeds along, better start writing that letter about yourself, your family, your retirement and what you have been doing since retirement.

My daughter, Mary Elizabeth, has returned to the east and is back in Washington, D. C., as curator of the Textile Museum, after spending the past two years at the University of Arizona, where she completed her work for a doctor's degree. During her last semester at the University she taught first year anthropology.

Hope that we all meet in 1963.

19

DR. FRANKLIN D. JONES
2617 St. David's Lane
Ardmore, Pa.

Congratulations to BENJAMIN J. WILSON who has retired after 33 years with Leeds and Northrup Company, a Philadelphia manufacturer of measuring instruments and automatic controls. Ben has had many honors bestowed upon him, too many to mention in the short space allotted, but we believe it important to report that he holds the Franklin Institute's Longstreth Medal for invention of a precision flowmeter and also holds an Army-Navy Citation for contributions to the Office of Scientific Research and Development during World War II. On behalf of your classmates, I want to congratulate you and wish that you and your good wife, Luella, have many healthful and satisfying years during your retirement.

We are saddened to learn of the death of Mrs. HARRY R. WARFEL (RUTH FARQUHAR) in Gainesville, Fla., on June 24, 1961, after a long illness. A cerebral hemorrhage brought peace. Ruth was born in Centerville Borough, Washington County, on June 16, 1898. After graduation, Ruth, a Kappa Delta member, returned to Centerville Borough where she taught school until marrying Harry in 1922. From 1922 to 1935 they resided in Lewisburg where Dr. Warfel was a professor of English. In 1935 he took a similar post with the University of Maryland, and they lived in Maryland until 1946 when he returned to Bucknell and became registrar during the school year 1946-47. In 1947 Dr. and Mrs. Warfel went to Gainesville, Fla., where he became associated with the University of Florida. Ruth was associated with Harry in the publication of scholarly works and papers and served as production manager for various projects in which he was engaged. Survivors besides Harry include two sisters: MARY FARQUHAR '38, Williamsport, and HAZEL FARQUHAR '23, Newark, N. J. After memorial services in Gainesville, Fla., services were held in the First Baptist Church in Lewisburg with the Rev. Dr. Wesley Sharader, pastor of the church officiating. Burial was in the Lewisburg cemetery. Heartfelt sympathy of our class is extended to Harry and to the sisters, Mary and Hazel.

21

MISS EDNA M. BAKER
40 Newton Ave.
Woodbury, N. J.

The following is the result of our class election held on the Bucknell campus, June 2, 3 and 4, 1961. The officers elected to serve for a five-year term are: John H. Carter, president; Francis F. Reamer, vice president; Mrs. Clara Casner Carpenter, secretary; Harold L. Shimer, fund manager; and Edna M. Baker, reporter.

The following is a report from Mrs. SARA BERNHART Derr about our 40th reunion: "Backward, turn backward, O Time, in your flight; place me in Memory's Garden just for tonight." This is a quote from "Through Memory's Garden" which was edited by EMILY DEVINE Kelly and was one of the highlights of our 40th reunion. Did you get your copy? They're available at the Alumni Office and you'll cherish owning one. It was such fun to meet those who hadn't been back in many years. There were "BOOTS" BRANDT, CHELTON SMITH, DOT SPANGLER Swain, JACK YARNALL, MARJORIE SPROUT, LYDIA COENE Bateman, HANNAH MADISON TOWNSEND, VORIS LINKER and HOBART BROWN. The "regulars" were in attendance, too. I'm referring to those who live in Lewisburg and surrounding towns. There were about 40 of our class that reunited plus the wives and husbands. One of the highlights of the Friday dinner meeting, which STAN KUNKLE conducted, was the relating of humorous happenings while in B. U. Everyone was in the mood for a good time and the humor brought about many laughs. "Nostalgia" is used so frequently now and rightfully so, because when once the 40th is celebrated, no other word can replace the enjoyment of reminiscing.

When Nanticoke High School won the state championship in Class A basketball this year, sports writers in the area reminded fans that when the Nanticoke team first won a state championship in 1923 the team was coached by FRANCIS P. McDERMOTT and that when Nanticoke won its second state championship in 1926, one of the players on the squad was EDWARD C. BECKLEY '31.

JOHN L. YARNALL, JR., and his wife, Daisy Belle, will be located in Pensacola, Fla., this winter where he will be instructing classes in basic electronics at the Pensacola Junior College and assisting in setting up a new program of work in the field of electricity and electronics for that school. Jack retired from the Bell Telephone Company last year and has been living in State College and Coburn. Mrs. Joy Yarnall (Jack's daughter-in-law and widow of the late Lt. JAMES L. YARNALL '57) and her son, David, also reside in Pensacola, Fla.

HANNAH MADISON TOWNSEND returned August 15 from a North Cape Cruise on the S. S. Gripsholm. In October she will return to Palm Springs, Calif., where she will again be hostess at Smoke Tree Ranch.

22

MRS. GEORGE C. WOLFE
(Ruth H. Brown)
60 S. 2nd St.
Lewisburg, Pa.

Death came on May 31 to our classmate, Dr. MARK K. GASS, in Sunbury, following an illness of six months. Mark had served for 32 years as a staff member at the Community Hospital, most recently as radiologist, and had performed many services of a civic nature in his home community. He was a member of the Municipal Authority of the city of Sunbury, a member and past lieutenant governor of Kiwanis, and deeply interested in crippled children's work and in the vocational guidance activities. He served four years in the Army Air Force and was in charge of the Department of Radiology at Scott Field, Ill. Upon his discharge in 1946 as a Lieutenant Colonel, he returned to Sunbury to his medical practice, but spent much time in community activity, initiating and founding the Golden Age Club and serving as Sunbury High School's athletic physician. Always an ardent worker in alumni and class activities, he was instrumental in fostering the publication of the first alumni reunion book for our Class in 1952, a forerunner of the well established pattern of class reunion books that have since been published by practically every class at Bucknell. Our class has lost one of its most forceful planners. He will be sadly missed in the preparations for our 40th reunion scheduled for next June. Heartfelt sympathy of the class is extended to his survivors; his mother; his wife, the former Myrtle K. Haines; and his two sons—Lt. Mark K. Gass, Jr., now in the U. S. Air Force, and Jacob H. Gass, at home.

Mrs. Arthur J. Riley, Jr. (LILLIAN J. DERR) of R. D. 1, Glen Gardner, N. J., has been teaching in her local kindergarten for the past five years. The Rileys have four children.

Post card to Alumni Headquarters from G. PRESTON BECHTEL tells that he and Inez have become baby-sitters to the grandchildren, he having retired on March 31, 1961. "Oh happy day!" is the way Pres described the event. Here's another recruit for FIN KEECH's super-duper reunion committee.

25

MRS. WILLIAM E. THOMPSON, JR.
(Mary E. Seidel)
Box Tree Farm
Whiteford, Md.

STEPHEN C. EMANUEL, JR., of 421 Old River Rd., Wilkes-Barre, was elected president of the Shrine Club of Greater Wilkes-Barre in February. Steve is director of visual education in the Wilkes-Barre schools.

The Rev. Dr. W. D. GOLIGHTLY is presently serving as president of the Central City Ministers Association in Scranton.

Since publication of our last issue, Dr. ANDREW HENDRICKSON has sent us a copy of the study referred to in that item. It is entitled "Educational Needs of Out-of-School Youth." The study will be helpful in any community where adult education programs are in progress or under consideration. Copies can be obtained by addressing Andy at the Center for Adult Education, Ohio State University, Columbus 10, Ohio.

During the first seven years of the operation of the Bucknell Alumni Annual-Giving Fund (1950-56) the late lamented CLAIR SPANGLER served as our class fund manager. During his term of service, our class members responded in increasing numbers and in his last year of service as fund manager, 69 members contributed over $1100 with a participation of 28% of the class members. Following Clair's service, MYRON DECKER became class fund manager and has served with distinction during the past five years. We appreciate Myron's efforts and thank all of you for your response to his reminders. Each year the class has shown a decided improvement in contributions. Now TED HEYSHAM will become our class fund manager and will face the task of showing even greater improvement from year to year. With our help he can do it. Let's all pitch in and make our class a 100% participation record in this year's fund.

26

MISS ANNA L. BROWN
15 Wildwood Ave.
Pitman, N. J.

The following is the result of our class election held on the Bucknell campus, June 2, 3, and 4, 1961. The officers elected to serve for a five-year term are: Fred W. Evans, president; Mrs. Florence Utt Foelt, vice president; Anna L. Brown, secretary-treasurer; Dr. Eugene D. Carstater, fund manager; Anna L. Brown, reporter; Mrs. Florence Utt Foelt, reunion chairman.

Mrs. W. Linwood Crowding (CATHARINE S. FREDERICK) has returned to the teaching profession after 33 years. She is teaching in the junior high school in Shippensburg and is taking classes at the State College there. Her husband is pastor of the Shippensburg Methodist Church.

Francis F. Fairchild '33

Francis F. Fairchild '33 has been promoted to Manager of the Engineering Laboratory at the Rochester, Minn., plant of International Business Machines. He formerly had been Laboratory Administration Manager at the General Products Division's Development Laboratory in Endicott, N. Y. Since joining IBM he has served in various positions in customer engineering and design and product engineering. In 1955 he was named Manager of Product Engineering and Engineering Services in the Endicott Engineering Laboratory, and in 1960 was promoted to Laboratory Administration Manager at the General Products Division Development Laboratory in Endicott, N. Y.

Mr. and Mrs. Fairchild are parents of the following children: Frances Louise, William L., Richard P., Susan Ann, and Michael E. The Fairchilds' new address is 1050 Plummers Circle, Rochester, Minn.

27

MRS. L. H. COLLISON
(Grace M. Pfeifer)
Marydel, Md.

A newspaper clipping from the May 16 issue of the Bangor Daily News sent to the Alumni Office tells of honors extended to HELEN McELRATH Buzzell and her husband by the Old Town-Orono Shrine Club of Anah Temple. On a Ladies' Night honoring her husband, Illustrious Potentate Stephen R. Buzzell, she received a beautiful floor lamp from the club and her husband was presented an oil painting of a Marine scene. Mr. Buzzell has been mayor of Old Town and a member of the governor's staff.

MARTIE THOMAS Natale '28 and her husband, Joe, of Delanco, N. J., were our houseguests on July 4.

This may be an early date to start thinking about our 35th class reunion—but it's just eight months distant—so do give it serious thought! And by the way—how long has it been since you've sent me any news about yourself, family, or classmates? Surely these summer months have brought you bumper-to-bumper with some '27ers! Tell us about it, won't you? And then, in December, you'll really have a most dignified card under our 1927 reunion card. I'll now hear from you, certainly, so send me a line or two, telling when the next time you'll be in the old town.

29

MISS THIELMA SHOWALTER
125 Market St.
Mifflinburg, Pa.

HARLAN A. DOWNER has been elected vice president of the Bucknell Alumni Club of South Jersey.

On May 1, Rev. PHILIP G. MURRAY became senior minister of the Eden Congregational Church at Hayward, Calif. His address is 21912 Baywood Ave., Castro Valley 13, Calif.

WILLIAM G. "TURK" JONES has been named Director of Conservation for the Central Pennsylvania Open Pit Mining Association. A frequent speaker on the subject of "Reclamation and Conservation," he has also written extensively on the subject of "Strip-mining Reclamation" and last year produced, in cooperation with the Pennsylvania State Agricultural Extension Service, a color-sound movie, "From Spoil Bank to Tree Farm."

31

MRS. HAROLD A. BRANDRIF
(Helen Mowry)
111 Cherry St., Central Park
Pennsville, N. J.

The following is the result of our class election held on the Bucknell campus, June 2, 3, and 4, 1961. The officers elected to serve for a five-year term are: Edward J. Smalstig, president; Paul M. Showalter, first vice president; Horace W. Mason, second vice president; James R. Simpson, secretary-treasurer; Horace W. Mason, fund manager; Mrs. Helen Mowry Brandriff, reporter; Edward J. Smalstig, reunion chairman; Mrs. Elva Crist McCall, reunion book editor.

The Rev. WILLIAM H. GENNE was a member of the committee that prepared the birth-control resolution adopted by the National Council of Churches of Christ in the U. S. A. at its meeting in Syracuse, N. Y., in February. The full text of the statement along with a picture of Rev. Genne appeared in the New York Times on Friday, February 24, 1961, and included a most complete report on this important subject. Rev. Genne and his wife were invited to speak jointly to the World Y. M. C. A. Young Advent Conference in Vienna, Austria, in July, after which they attended the World Y. M. C. A. Conference in Geneva, Switzerland.

CAROLINE KEISER Coup of Milton was in Tokyo, Japan, with her husband Edward, attending the Rotary International in June. Their tour included Manila, Hong Kong and Honolulu.

WARREN J. McCLAIN, superintendent of the Woodbury, N. J., School System, and MARION ASH McCLAIN '32, have two daughters in college this year: Gail, a senior at William and Mary; and Ann, a freshman at Bucknell. Mac, who has his doctorate from Rutgers University, is past president of the New Jersey Superintendents Association, Woodbury Kiwanis Club, Gloucester County Education Association and South Jersey Schoolmen's Club. He is also a member of the Advisory Board to the American Association of Psychiatrists, Advisory Board American Association of School Administrators and Gloucester County Y. M. C. A. Council.

The practice of pediatrics in Jenkintown keeps a member of our class very busy. Dr. JOHN JUDD SHIELDS is on the staff of Abington Memorial Hospital and St. Christopher's Hospital for Children, Philadelphia. He is assistant professor of pediatrics at Temple Medical School. John is married to Judy Scott of Germantown. Their son, Jim, is in the Class of '62 at Bucknell; Tom is at Lycoming College where he is a sophomore and Susan is a sophomore at Abington High School. Their address is 625 Highland Ave., Jenkintown.

Associate editor of the Office Executive magazine at the National Office Management Association, Willow Grove, is the title of GLADYS S. MURRAY, who lives at 131 West Tulpehocken St., Philadelphia 44. She recently was elected secretary and treasurer of the Delaware Valley Chapter of the Society of Technical Writers and Publishers.

HELEN REECE, who lives at 366 High St., Closter, N. J., teaches mathematics at Northern Valley Regional High School in Demarest, N. J.

I am sorry to report the passing of one of our classmates, Dr. D. INNES DANN of 483 Country Club Road, Camp Hill, chief of obstetrics at Polyclinic Hospital, Harrisburg, died July 8 in the hospital after he collapsed while delivering a baby. He had practiced in Harrisburg for the past 16 years. He was a member of the Canton Presbyterian Church, Lowther Manor Lodge 781, F&AM, Harrisburg Consistory, Zembo Shrine, Dauphin County Medical Society, Harrisburg Academy of Medicine and the American Board of Obstetrics and Gynecology. Dr. Dann was a fellow of the American College of Surgeons and graduated from Cornell Medical School. He served his residency at the University of Maryland Hospital and the Baltimore city hospitals. He also served as a major in the U. S. Army Medical Corps during World War II. Surviving are his wife, Mrs. LOUISE ZIEGLER DANN, Class of '32; a son, Thomas E., at home; and his parents, Dr. and Mrs. A. E. Dann (EDNA A. INNES '06), Canton 33

MRS. ERNEST H. ENGELHARDT
(Janet Worthington)
Irontdale Place, Millville Rd.
Bloomsburg, Pa.

WILLIAM S. LIMING, who was elected an alumni trustee of Bucknell for a five-year term in June, has also been elected a director of the American Association of Industrial Editors. The American Association of Industrial Editors has about 1,000 members who prepare company publications with aggregate monthly circulation in the tens of millions. Purpose of the twenty-three year old national association is to raise the standards of corporate journalism.

JOHN C. MATHEWS is a representative for The Macmillan Company and is located in their New York Educational Department in New York City. In a recent letter to CAMPBELL RUTLEDGE, John says, "As the years go on it is my realization more and more, that though I was a dandyman on campus, I learned more through that experience than ever can be measured." His expression of appreciation of our "300 acres set apart" goes for many of us.

Col. ROBERT S. ANDERSON received the Oak Leaf Cluster representing his second award of the Army Commendation Medal prior to his leaving for his new assignment with the Tenth Field Hospital in Wurtzburg, Germany. Bob received his medical degree from Temple University School of Medicine and also holds the Master of Public Health degree from Johns Hopkins University.

FRANKLIN A. BOWER, minister of the First Congregational Church of Madison, Conn., at the Woodlawn Inn met JOHNNY MATHEWS who dropped in for lunch at their Rotary Club several months ago.

35

MRS. PAUL J. DESCHANEL
(Ann W. Orr)
Chapel Wood
Gambills, Md.

Apologies are in order to HARRY L. WYNN for failure to list him as a donor to the Dual Development Campaign in the report that was distributed to us last June. If there were any other classmates omitted from the list please notify Alumni Headquarters.

GEORGE W. BERRY, formerly acting president of our Elmira (N. Y.) Alumni Club, has moved from that city to become a project engineer with the Cunningham-Limp Co., designers-engineers-builders in Atlanta, Ga.

Your reporter finally was awarded a master's degree from the University of Maryland and the entire Deschanel family has made changes in schools and careers; head man is now with Martin Company; your reporter now guidance counselor for nine-hundred sophomores; Diane is at Antioch College, having chosen to enter with their A group in July; and Joe is at Severn School, having worked during the summer on a microbiology project at the University of Maryland graduate school in Baltimore.

36 MRS. H. T. SHAUR
(Virginia Nyland)
207-A W. Elkinton Ave.
Chester, Pa.

Our 25th reunion was a thoroughly enjoyable affair with an unofficial count of about forty class members returning (most of them accompanied by husband or wife).

JOHN and PEG GEARY DAVIS took the prize for coming the longest distance, having flown in from Puerto Rico.

The class dinner on Friday night got us acquainted. The class meeting on Saturday morning with its business session, class picture and news of classmates was a high point of the week-end.

The Class of '36 sat together at the Alumni luncheon and had another opportunity for chatting at a tea on Saturday afternoon. The big day concluded with the president's reception and a dance.

If you missed this wonderful get-together, promise yourself to make the next one.

The following is the result of our class election held on the Bucknell campus, June 2, 3, and 4, 1961. The officers elected to serve for a five-year term are: Robert T. Jones, president; W. Gordon Diefenbach, vice president; John C. Decker, secretary; Eric G. Stewart, treasurer; LeRoy H. Rohde, fund manager; Mrs. Virginia Nyland Shaub, reporter; John P. Davis, Jr., reunion chairman.

JAMES D. STROUP has been promoted to the position of director of sales of the Penn-Wheraton Hotel in Pittsburgh.

MARGARET BACHMAN (Mrs. John Daniel Haste) is now living at 3446 Page St., San Diego 15, Calif.

We regret to report the death of FRANCIS P. BAKER who died suddenly in January, 1961. At the time of his death, he was executive director for the Family Consultation Service at Rockford, Ill.

37 MRS. PAULL W. ZIEGLER
(Mabel Nyland)
12 W. Garrison Rd., Parkside
Chester, Pa.

You no doubt noted in the report on Alumni Reunion Week-End the outstanding honor bestowed on our president. We cannot claim the awarding of the Bucknell Chair to HERB VATSON as exclusive news for this column, but we certainly can offer our congratulations. Just hope you find time to sit in it once in a while, Herh.

A newsy letter from REG MERRIDEW says: "We moved from Cleveland to Detroit when I became program manager of station WJR . . . Carole, who is 22, received her bachelor's degree at Miami University on June 4 and was married in the university chapel the next day . . . They will be living in Nashville, Tenn., and Carole will be teaching second grade . . . Pamela, who is 15, starts her sophomore year of high school. Boris and I like Detroit and especially Grosse Pointe. We just returned from a trip east where I accepted on behalf of WJR the National School Bell Award, presented at Atlantic City during the National Education Association Annual Convention. Kiwanis is still my principal extra-curricular activity, having served last year as program chairman for the Michigan district, and this year as director of the Detroit No. 1 Club." The Merridew's address is 1555 Fairholme Rd., Grosse Pointe 36, Mich. Thank you so much for writing, Reg.

ALBERT F. ROHLFS, who has served as vice president of the Bucknell Alumni Club of Pittsfield (Mass.) for several years, is now president. He is completing the term of office of the late STEPHEN TERPAK '24, who died April 30.

Word recently received in the Alumni Office informs us that RICHARD W. SPIRO is now assistant general manager of St. Helens Wood Products Company in St. Helens, Ore. Dick and his wife, Florence, live at Box 608, St. Helens, Ore.

38 MRS. JOSEPH T. QUICK
(Mary Bachman)
Wrights Rd., R. D. 2
Newtown, Pa.

WILLIAM R. PEEBLES has moved to the Washington area where he is director of government relations for the International Latex Corp. He, with Mrs. Peebles, David, William, and Susan, live at 4502 Ramshorn Dr., McLean, Va.

HAROLD N. AKE of 2585 Queen St., Lakewood 14, Colo., has been transferred to the Denver, Colo. and Salt Lake City, Utah, areas where he will be district representative for the Wiring Device Department of General Electric Company.

ABRAHAM J. ZAGER has been honored by The Fraternity Month a national magazine distributed to fraternities throughout the country. The magazine, in its February issue, cites Abe, in a column called "We Pause to Honor These Great Fraternity Leaders." Abe is the immediate past supreme prior of Sigma Alpha Mu fraternity, and was recently honored by appointment as a trustee of the Endowment Fund and of the SAM Foundation. At a recent celebration of Founder's Day, the fraternity presented him with a certificate of appreciation for services rendered to the Sigma Alpha Mu fraternity.

40 MRS. JAMES A. MILLER
(Mary McCrina)
1492 Calfax Ave.
Benton Harbor, Mich.

WILLIAM F. GIBSON, JR., was elected president of the Bucknell Alumni Club of Johnstown.

ALFRED P. KOCH has been promoted to professor of accounting at Lehigh University. Al and his wife, Lois, live at Pine Top Trail, Bethlehem.

Dr. and Mrs. Gladwyn V. Lago (MARY McCLELLAND) spent the summer on the Stanford University campus where Gladwyn had a National Science Foundation post-doctoral study grant.

Mrs. T. Garner James (FRANCES THEISS), who is working on her doctorate at the University of Pennsylvania, has written an article in the museum bulletin of the University of Pennsylvania dealing with the archeological explorations carried on by the University Museum Palestine expedition.

41 MRS. WILLIAM F. HASSELBERGER
(Jean P. Steele)
605 Scott Ave.
Syracuse 3, N. Y.

The following is the result of our class election held on the Bucknell campus, June 2, 3, and 4, 1961. The officers elected to serve for a five-year term are: Rev. Howard G. Hartzell, president; Lee S. Ranck, vice president; Mrs. Jean Steele Hasselberger, secretary; Mrs. Marion Reynolds Green, treasurer; Mrs. Elizabeth Dyer Winters, fund manager; Mrs. Jean Steele Hasselberger, reporter; W. Richard Kauffman, reunion chairman; Mrs. Elizabeth Cooper Hannum, reunion book editor; Donald P. Stolz, reunion regalia chairman.

L. RUSSELL THACHER, JR., of 131 West End Ave., Ridgewood, N. J., is executive assistant in charge of Public Relations, staff reviewer and reader for the Book-of-the-Month Club. He is public relations director and a director of the Pre-Publication Society and is also director of the Columbia University course in rapid reading which is created and distributed by the Book-of-the-Month Club. He is the author of three novels, The Captain, The Tender Years, and A Break in the Clouds, as well as numerous short stories. Mrs. Thacher is the former Elizabeth Webb. They have two sons, Michael and Christopher.

Rev. HOWARD G. HARTZELL has been elected president of the Bucknell Alumni Club of South Jersey.

JOHN M. HUSTLER has been appointed assistant manager of DuPont's Photo Products plant at Parlin, N. J. John and his wife, JEAN E. WEBER '43, live at 1108 Webster Dr., Webster Farms, Wilmington 3, Del.

RAY M. CAMPBELL has been promoted to manager of Marketing Services for DuPont's Polychemicals Department. Ray, who has been with the DuPont organization since graduation in 1941 formerly served as assistant manager of the "Teflon" TFE-fluorocarbon resins marketing section.

Two articles by ALAN H. SMITH have been published in the 1961 Book of Knowledge Annual, the yearly supplement to the 20-volume children's encyclopedia. The articles deal with national events in the United States during 1960 and with the recent presidential election. Alan is an associate editor of the Americana Annual, the yearbook of The Encyclopedia Americana.

W. RICHARD KAUFFMAN has joined with MARLIN L. SHERIDAN '43, and ROBERT S. NAUGLE '50, to form an engineering corporation to be known as Kauffman, Naugle and Sheridan. The corporation will carry on planning, constructing and consulting, including investigation and the preparation of designs, specifications, and reports. The new firm will be located in Lewisburg.

CLIFFORD E. ROSELLE for the past 5 years has been assistant personnel manager and purchasing agent for the Zippo Manufacturing Company. He previously spent one year with the U. S. Rubber Company as a sales representative and 9 years with the J. J. Newberry Company. He writes, "I am married to a very talented girl (Jeanne M. Corney) who was a show girl and dance instructor. She now writes a weekly column for the local newspaper about pets and has hopes of it being syndicated soon. Oh, yes, she is also a wonderful housekeeper and mother to our 15-month old son, Stephen Randall." Address 174 Summer St., Bradford.

42 MRS. THOMAS R. DIETZ
(Germaine B. Pepperman)
83 Nutt Road
Phoenixville, Pa.

Had a couple of very unexpected, but heartening letters during the past several months. For the first time in the many years since we've been graduated, I had a letter from MARY ELLEN OESTERLE Haw. alias "Meo," who lives with her husband, Nathan, and daughter, Nancy, age 8. "Nate" is employed by the Northern States Power Co. of Minneapolis and is a graduate of the University of Minnesota. What with creative art classes, ballet, family vacations for the "Haw Clan" at dude ranches, study projects of Africa, as well as the usual household routine, things never appear to be dull at 5325 Kellogg Ave., Minneapolis 24, Minn. Will get around to a personal answer to your letter one of these days, Meo, but it was wonderful to hear from you and hope this first contribution of yours to the column is not the last.

Good news from LAUREL HERRMANN Newcomb! A fourth daughter joined their household on March 24, named Tasitha Ann.

John F. Riefler, Jr. '42

John F. Riefler, Jr. '42 has been elected a Vice President of the Thom McAn Shoe Company. He joined the Melville Shoe Corporation (the parent organization) in 1949 as Director of Personnel. Later he was appointed a Regional Director of field operations for Thom McAn covering about one-third of the 1,000 stores in the retail chain. His territories include New York City, northeastern Pennsylvania, the Great Lakes area, the west coast and Hawaii.

During World War II (1942-1946) Mr. Riefler was a bombardier-navigator with the 20th Air Force and was honorably discharged with the rank of captain.

Following his military service Mr. Riefler was Employee Services Supervisor for American Overseas Airlines (parent company of American Airlines).

Mr. Riefler was a member of the first graduating class of the Advanced School of Retail Management, Rutgers University.

Mr. and Mrs. Riefler have a son, John F., III, and live at 5 Putman Hill, Apt. 2-B, Greenwich, Conn.

and according to her normally prejudiced mother, just as cute as the other three! Also mentioned a six-month-old poodle called Peter! Have the feeling that Sid was feeling slightly woman dominated—hence Peter! In case any of you have mislaid Bunny's address: 177 South Finley Ave., Basking Ridge, N. J.

Dr. ROBERT A. GOOD of 2349 Hernandez Rd., Sacramento 25, Calif., has been assigned a full professorship in psychology at Sacramento State College. He is just ending a sabbatical leave from the college during which time he wrote a book on enforcement psychology for policemen which was published in June. His interest in this field stems from his association as consultant with the California Highway Patrol and the California Alcoholic Beverage Control Agents. Bob is married to the former Jeanne D. Ermiel and has two children: Glenn Edward, 7; and Ellen Elizabeth, 5.

After quite a lengthy wait, the BILL CARSONS BETTY THOMAS have located a house that they can be seen waiting for. New address: 345 S. S. 100th, South Bend, Ind. Sounds like a pretty good thing in the sunny side of the street—couldn't resist that one!

Summer will be over by the time you've received this, so let's get out of those hammocks and back into harness and bring me up to date on the news. Saw in correspondence from Bucknell that ANNE RANDLE WALDNER was appointed to membership on the committee for selection of alumni trustee candidates. Sounds very impressive!

43 MISS CAROLYN E. DONEHOWER 3722 Chestnut St. Philadelphia 4, Pa.

CARL FERRIS O. MILLER has lived in Korea for the past 15 years and for the past 6 years has been consultant to the Research Department of the Bank of Korea. His mother, Mrs. Charles E. Miller (EDNA A. OVERFIELD '17) is presently in Korea also.

Mr. and Mrs. Max W. Cheney (ARLENE M. BRAUN) recently moved to 123 Jackson St., Garden City, L. I., N. Y. They are the parents of two children: Linda, 4; and Lance, 1½ years old.

The WILLIAM FAIRCLOUGHS of Fox Hill Rd., Woodbridge, Conn., announce the arrival of a son, James, on April 6. He joins Diane, 10; Suzanne, 8; and Craig, 6. The proud father is president of the Bucknell Alumni Club of Connecticut.

44 MRS. ROBERT F. BAKER (Honey Rhimesmith) Lindys Lake, R. D. Butler, N. J.

Rev. JOHN D. BOLENS has accepted a call to the First Congregational Church of Glendale, Calif., as minister of Christian Education. Prior to moving to California, he had been minister of Christian Education at the First Congregational Church of Albuquerque, N. Mex. Classmates interested in corresponding with John may write him at 1806-B Bara Rd., Glendale 8, Calif.

45 MRS. JOHN F. BACON (Phoebe Follmer) Meadowdale Farm Sparks, Md.

Dr. CONSTANCE P. DENT became dean of women at the University of Pennsylvania on July 1. Connie had served as dean of women and associate professor at Glassboro State College (N. J.) since 1959, following service in similar capacities at the University of Maryland and Lebanon Valley College. She earned her Ph.D. degree in clinical psychology at Pennsylvania State University in 1958. She is the daughter of the late JOSEPH D. DENT '20, who served as a trustee of the University, and Mrs. EDITH CRANE DENT '18, who resides in Maplewood, N. J.

JAMES C. MANEVAL has been elected first vice president of the Central Pennsylvania Funeral Directors' Association. Jim and his wife, June, and son, Daniel, live at 711 W. Fourth St., Williamsport, where Jim is a partner with the Maneval Funeral Home.

I am especially happy to report to you the birth of Fred and NANCY WOELLING Moore's fourth child, second son, Leigh Woelling Moore (a carrot-top yet!) arrived on May 29, 1961, and brought along great happiness for both families. Address there is 118 Gillin Rd., Ambler.

From Hammond, Ind., comes a letter from JANET SHOTWELL Hunt '44, wife of Marshall Hunt, Jr., a Lafayette College graduate. (Another family with divided loyalties!). They have Carolyn, 14; Bob, 9; and Susan, 1; to keep them busy and happy in addition to their church and community activities. Marshall is with U. S. Steel in Gary, Ind. Their address in Hammond is 3010—173rd St. Wonderful to hear from you, Janet.

FRANK G. DROUT of 19 Conestoga Woods Rd., Lancaster, writes he is now employed by Armstrong Cork Co. He is married to AUDREY CORYELL '50 and they have a daughter, Cynthia, born in 1951.

I feel sure that I express the feelings of all of you when I say how very shocked and saddened I was to read about WINNIE HALLIGAN ROSELLE's '46 recent sorrow. Just as we willingly share the joys of others at weddings and births, so do we all feel touched in some way when those we know are experiencing some aching sorrow. Perhaps it is some comfort to know that others are aware.

Another resident of Lancaster is GABRIEL FACRE and his Bucknellian wife, DOTTIE ASHMAN. They live at 527 N. Pine St. with Bonnie, 11; Gabriele, 8; Judith, 6; and Skye, 3. He is presently professor-elect at Lancaster Theological Seminary for chair of Historical Theology and Christian Ethics. There, I copied just what he wrote and it sounds mighty impressive to me. My, our classmates certainly do keep going, don't they?

And now, if I may be pardoned, I shall conclude this column with news from home. Our home. The first item is to tell you all about our dear little fourth daughter, Laurie Martin, who was born on April 7, 1961. This dollie came early due to an alert doctor's concern for the Rh factor problem. She required two complete blood exchanges and at three months weighs 14 lbs. and 8 oz. Again we are grateful for a blessed gift and thankful for a normal baby. Our other exciting news is that the Bacons are on the move again. The end of July finds us heading back to work for ICA (International Cooperation Administration), the organization we were with in Baghdad. This time our destination is Dar Es Salaam, Tanganyika. We will keep the farm as our permanent home. I shall miss being your correspondent but the Powers on the Hill have said, time, space and budget allowing, they will print occasional word from me to you. In the meantime, my old Roomie (AND English major!) one LOIS DEPUY Boston, has agreed to carry on. Her address is 751 Hyslip Ave., Westfield, N. J. (Mrs. E. Daniel), so please send her news to print. I'm up to my eyes in crossing items off lists in preparation for departure, but ask you to write if you have time. You will be answered. We are thrilled to be again working and living abroad for our country, trying in our own humble, but sincere way to do what we can for freedom, peace and human liberties. Bless you all—and us.

46 MRS. LELAND C. EWING (Elizabeth J. Wells) 41 Crest Dr. Tarrytown, N. Y.

The following is the result of our class election held on the Bucknell campus, June 2, 3, and 4, 1961. The officers elected to serve for a five-year term are: J. Dudley Waldner, president; Mrs. Eleanor Dillon Strickland, vice president; Mrs. Elizabeth Wells Ewing, secretary; Fitz R. Walling, treasurer; Robert E. Score, fund manager; Mrs. Elizabeth Wells Ewing, reporter; Mrs. Donna Ray Bowen, reunion book editor.

CALVIN K. SHOLL has been elected vice president of the Bucknell Alumni Club of Boston.

VICTOR F. VILELLA of 811 Jane Ave., Speers Hill, Charleroi, has been promoted to district engineer with the West Penn Power Company at Bridgeville. He has been with the company since leaving Bucknell except for a second hitch in the U. S. Navy during the Korean conflict. He is a member of the Regional Planning Commission in the Monongahela Valley, a member of the Elks and is a Professional Engineer in Pennsylvania. His wife was the former Susan Ganofsky. They have one daughter, Carleen Susan, 8.

Mr. and Mrs. D. V. Whitesides (ELOISE HEADLAND) announce the arrival of their fifth child, Barbara Ruth, on October 13, 1960. Eloise writes that in July they moved (Vaughn s with the U. S. Geological Survey) to Yuma, Ariz., and would enjoy hearing from Alumni in that area.

VIRGINIA TALLEY Carlson and husband, Bill, are living at 1409 Lee Court, Lake Worth, Fla., with their two adopted children: Craig, 10; and Susan, 6.

We are saddened to learn of the death of Mrs. DOROTHY CARN Smith on March 2, 1961. Dorothy received a Master of Science degree in Education in 1946, and is survived by her husband, Roy, and son John.

47 MRS. HERBERT GOLDMAN
(Tamara Gurvitch)
370 Holland Lane
Englewood, N. J.

Dr. ARTHUR J. EMERY, JR., has been promoted to associate professor of biological chemistry at the University of Maryland School of Medicine in Baltimore, Md. After earning a Bachelor of Science in biology at Bucknell, Art attended the University of Rochester and in 1954 received his doctorate in biochemistry. Art and his wife, Rosina, live at 47 Evergreen Ave., Allview Estates, Ellicott City, Md.

Now practicing obstetrics and gynecology in Sunbury, Dr. DOROTHY G. WILSON recently earned a certificate presented to her by the American Board of Obstetrics and Gynecology certifying her as a medical specialist. Such certification is granted only after a series of rigid qualifications are met, including lengthy periods of study in the chosen field of medicine. In addition, a year or more as a hospital resident is required, beyond the usual period of interne training.

THOMAS L. GARTEN and his wife, Mary Ellen, have a son, Lawrence Henry, who celebrated his first birthday in April. They live at Scarsdale Manor North, Scarsdale, N. Y.

June, 1962, is the time for our 15th reunion. Will you be there? First "maybe" comes from Mrs. Herbert E. Goelz (GLORIA I. CHILD), who called during an Easter visit to her parents in Harrington Park, N. J. J. I., who lives at 111 East Lake Rd., Skaneateles, N. Y., and has five children ranging in age from 3 to 10, was back in Lewisburg not too long ago showing the campus to a college-bound niece.

If you, too, plan to come this June let me know, your name might inspire other classmates to join us. Some of us even think it's time to introduce our children to Bucknell. Mrs. Roy M. Rathe (FAITH J. LIEF) of Westbury, L. I., N. Y., might be there as well as Mr. and Mrs. L. CLIFTON BOHS, JR., '49 (HELEN D. KLAUDER). During a visit from the Bohs this summer I learned that Helen is now an elementary school library aide working 4½ hours a day taking charge of books as well as teaching library skills. Cliff is assistant chief engineer for Press Wireless. He's in charge of equipment that transmits and receives radio communiques not only for various major press and magazine services, but also for such programs as Voice of America and Radio Free Europe. The Bohs with son, Drew Clifton, 10; and daughter, Mary Louise, 7; live at 60 Howell Dr., Smithtown, L. I., N. Y.

48 MRS. JAMES A. BROWN
(Joanna G. Goughly)
1591 Hillcrest Terrace
Union, N. J.

Another Bucknell year starting again—hope you're still showing your interest in your Alma Mater—attending an alumni meeting—a contribution to the alumni fund—or a trip back to the campus—or just a note to your class reporter on "what's new"—please.

Too late for the May issue—ED BRUMFIER, wrote that he and his wife now have three children: a boy, 6; two daughters, 2 and 1. Ed said he is with the National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA) as a research engineer. Their address is 6 Pendleton St., Newport News, Va. Must be fascinating, right now.

Major CARMAULT B. JACKSON heads the team of medical specialists whose job it is to check on the health of America's first astronaut. He is a member of the base space task group at Langley Field, Va., and headed the team that checked out Navy Commander Alan B. Shepherd, Jr., on his return from his trip into space.

GEORGE H. NEFF, III, has purchased the Hotel Canadensis, Canadensis, in the Pocono Mountain area. The hotel is located on eleven and a half acres of land with a lake nearby—and just "a stone's throw" from General Brodhead's Creek—one of the finest trout fishing streams in the East. The Neffs plan to operate the hotel the year round in order to provide service for the hunting season.

Dr. GILBERT G. NORWOOD has recently accepted a new assignment at the Cooper Clinic at Fort Smith, Ark. Prior to this assignment Dr. Norwood was an orthopedic surgeon in Sunbury. Dr. Norwood and his wife, Mary, have two daughters, Penny and Carol, and live at Cooper Clinic, Fort Smith, Ark.

QUENTIN R. WALTERS has become vice president of the firm of J. Traver Nobel Inc., Wilkes-Barre, real estate and insurance firm.

50 MISS HELEN E. CLOISTEN
161 Oak St.
West Hempstead, L. I., N. Y.

YUTWEE "ROY" ENG has become assistant director of the Children's Home in Easton, where he is in charge of the experimental Group Home project, believed to be the first of its kind. This project is an attempt to bridge the gap between the time a girl leaves the home at age 17 or 18 after graduation from high school and the time she is entirely on her own.

RALPH E. JONES, JR., who has been a faculty officer at Valley Forge Military Academy since 1952 was recently named director of admissions there. He is married to the former Norma J. Hazen of Sunbury and they, with daughter Nancy, live at 1056 Eagle Rd., Wayne.

JOSEPH P. LYDON has been appointed programmer specialist in Engineering Computational Analysis at the IBM FSD Space Guidance Center in Owego, N. Y. Joe and his wife, Cherie, live at 22 George St., Owego, N. Y.

ROBERT P. MARTIN was recently elected superintendent of the Bristol Township School District. Boh, his wife Betty, and two children (Robert, Jr., and William) reside at 15 Jadewood Rd., Levittown.

CHARLES H. POST has been named chief medical service specialist in the U. S. Department of Health, Education and Public Welfare with headquarters in Washington, D. C. He formerly was director of the medical program of the Welfare Department of the state of Florida. He is married to the former Doris Hicks and has 3 children.

HOWARD W. VANDINE, JR., has been named manager of the Sears Roebuck and Company store at 520 William St., Fredricksburg, Va.

It's been a long time since we've heard from PATRICIA WAGNER, who now is a copywriter for radio station WMUP in Milton. Following graduation Pat resided in New York City and was very active in musical circles appearing in various oratorios and operas. She appeared as concert soloist at Town Hall, Carnegie Recital Hall, Steinway Hall, the Brooklyn Museum of Art and was soloist at the All Angels Episcopal Church in New York City. She has sung on radio and recently sang for the benefit of the Cancer Fund at the Milton Country Club where she responded to repeated encores. Pat studied voice with the famous Amy Ellerman, well known contralto and voice teacher.

Captain and Mrs. IRVING WILLIAMS, II (ELEANOR LEIPER) now live at 303 E. Chicago Ave., Hinesdale, Ill. Irv, after completing his medical internship at Fort Bragg, N. C., is now with 5th Army Headquarters in Chicago, Ill.

51 MRS. WAYNE M. STEVENSON
(Janet Miller)
4611 Surrey Rd., Devon Manor
Harrisburg, Pa.

The following is the result of our class election held on the Bucknell campus, June 2, 3, and 4, 1961. The officers elected to serve for a five-year term are: Harvey H. Bush, president; Mrs. Norma Hunsinger Hay, vice president; Mrs. Barbara Lewis Shaw, secretary; Donald S. Parsons, treasurer; Herbert K. Zearfoss, fund manager; Mrs. Janet Miller Stevenson, reporter; Craig M. Hall, reunion chairman; Wayne S. Harrison, David Kahn, Mrs. Claire Harth Bucher, Alan S. Manning, reunion committee.

ROBERT E. KELCHNER has become a field sales engineer for Heli-Coil, Inc., Danbury, Conn. Bob and Barbi (BARBARA L. STEIN) along with daughter, Kate, continue to live at Hattertown Rd., R. D. 2, Newtown, Conn.

DALE E. RANCK, JR., of 125 N. Front St., Milton, has been elected president of the Central Pennsylvania Funeral Directors Association.

EARL C. LYON, JR., has been elected treasurer of the Bucknell Alumni Club of South Jersey.

DONALD W. PERREGO of R. D. 3, Dillsburg, hydraulic engineer with the Pennsylvania Department of Forests and Waters, is assistant chief, Design Branch of Flood Control. He is a member of the ASCE, the American Concrete Institute and has been a professional engineer since 1957. His wife is the former Charlotte Piike, and they have a daughter, Jocelyn Eileen, who was born November 26, 1960.

KENNETH R. WIDDALL has been appointed dean of administrative affairs at West Chester State College.

Mr. and Mrs. BRUCE M. SCOTT of 20310 Damman Ave., Harper Woods 36, Mich., have added another beautiful daughter to their family. Barbara Ann was born March 25, and was given a royal welcome by her parents and her two older sisters; Debbie, 8; and Susie, 6.

ARTHUR L. TROAST, Esq., is a member of the newly organized law firm of Troast, Mattson & Madden with offices at 744 Broad St., Newark 2, N. J. He has been a director of the Wyckoff Y. M. C. A. for the past 3 years and township attorney, Wyckoff, for the past 2 years. His wife was the former Katherine Webster, and they have 3 children: Katharine, 6½; Anne Marie, 3; and Arthur, 2 months old. Address: 12 Pace Dr., Wyckoff, N. J.

HERBERT K. ZEARFOSS has begun a new job with the Fidelity Mutual Life Insurance Company. He is now supervisor of mortgage loans in the mortgage department, having been moved from the law department where he had the title of attorney. He and his wife (THELMA MCCARTHY '54) also have moved into a new home at 615 Brookside Ave., St. Davids.

DON PARSONS and his wife, the former PAT WILEY are proud to announce the birth of a new baby, Edith Jane, who arrived on May 20 to join her brother, Daniel Guy, 2.

KITTY KLOTZ IRLAND is now residing at 88 Mallard Road, Middletown, N. J.

The following class members were unable to return their questionnaires in time to be included in the class reunion booklet. Since some of the information had not been published previously and is recent, here is a brief resume concerning each:

David Gregg, Jr. '45

David Gregg, Jr. '45 has been elected to the Board of Directors of Shulton, Inc., manufacturers of Old Spice and Desert Flower toiletries, pharmaceuticals, household products and fine chemicals.

In addition to his Bucknell degree (B.S. in mechanical engineering), Mr. Gregg received an M.B.A. degree from Harvard University in 1950.

Mr. Gregg joined Shulton in 1950 and was appointed Assistant to the President-Foreign in 1955. In 1956 he was named Manager of the International Division and since 1958 has served as Vice President-International. Before joining Shulton, he was employed by the York Corporation and Reaction Motors.

Mr. and Mrs. Gregg are parents of a son, James Brian, and a daughter, Marilyn. The Gregg address is 110 Stonehouse Rd., Glen Ridge, N. J.

DR. CHARLES O. GIULIANI, his wife, Lucille, and two children, Charles (7) and Angeline (5) are residing at 4250 Fishburg Road, Dayton 24, Ohio. Charles, an osteopathic physician, tells us that the hundred and fifty year old estate on which they are living is not only their home but also his place of business.

PHILIP HENRY DAUBERT has been elected first vice president of the Elizabethtown Lions Club for the year 1961-1962. He and his family have moved into a new home at 308 South Mt. Joy St., Elizabethtown. Philip is principal at the Elizabethtown Area High School.

ANN RAUP of 48 East Elm St., Chicago 11, Ill., is secretary for the law firm of Milliken, Vollers, and Parsons. Ann has traveled to Mexico, South America, the Bahamas, and across the U. S. A.

WILLIAM WAINRIGHT writes that he is a foreign service officer presently located in Denmark. Address: Bernstorffsvej 95B, Copenhagen, Denmark.

DOROTHY TAYLOR MIDDLETON tells me that her duties as wife of a minister and mother of two children (ages 7 and 3) keep her quite busy. The Middletons are now living at 412 Arbana Dr., Ann Arbor, Mich.

HAROLD MILLER, JR. not only has his own private dental practice at 6330 Rising Sun Ave., Philadelphia 11, but is also serving on the faculty of the Temple University School of Dentistry. He and his wife, Dorothy, have three boys: Joseph, 3; William, 2; and Andrew, 7 months. Address: 44 East Street Rd., Feasterville.

RICHARD and BARBARA PLANZ LARUE are residing at 404 Ardmore Rd., HoHoKus, N. J., and as Barbara says, "As far as I'm concerned, we're here to stay." Dick is a guidance counselor at Glen Rock High School. Barbara writes that their three children and the usual community activities occupy her time.

One request from your new class reporter—You are the news, and without news of you there is no news. So please write often and let us read of your activities in THE BUCKNELL ALUMNUS. Hope you all had a fine summer and perhaps we'll see some of you at Homecoming?

52

MRS. JOHN S. BOULDEN, JR.
(Barbara Bleecker)
1665 Twin Maple Ave.
Towson 4, Md.

With next spring will come our 10th!! reunion. Let's all decide right now to be in Lewisburg when June rolls around. Everyone will want to see and talk to YOU!

Captain GLENN ASPINWALL, a U. S. Marine, returned from Okinawa in July. His wife (BONNIE MACKIE '54) and children, Linda and Gary, resided at Maplewood, N. J., during his absence.

DAHN CAPPEL of 418 Kaelin Dr., Louisville 7, Ky., was transferred in April to the Louisville branch of National Tube Division of U. S. Steel.

BOB DAVENPORT becomes assistant professor of education at Bloomsburg State College at the beginning of the college term in September.

Since graduation, NORMA GOTWALT has been teaching school in Harrisburg and effective in September, Norma will be head teacher at the Boas Elementary School in Harrisburg. She will be in charge of administering the 14-room school.

RICHARD HARRIS successfully passed the Pennsylvania State bar examinations and is now licensed to practice law in Pennsylvania.

Mr. and Mrs. JAMES P. HASTINGS, JR., of Bellows Hill Rd., Carlisle, Mass., announce the birth of a son, John Decker, on March 5. Jim is now serving as president of the Bucknell Alumni Club of Boston.

GEORGE KLOSE and Verna Beach were married on April 16, 1961, in East Peoria, Ill. George is a research engineer with Caterpillar Tractor in East Peoria, Ill.

EARLE MEAD and Marijane Borr, a graduate of Hope College, were married on October 15, 1960. Earle is an electrical engineer with the Pennsylvania Power and Light Company. The Meads live at 2254 Boas St., Harrisburg.

SAMUEL PULFORD has been appointed manager of the Radar Development at the IBM FSD Space Guidance Center in Owego, N. Y. Sam and his wife, Jeanne, live with their children, Kimberly and Carolyn, at Deerfield Dr., R. D. 1, Owego, N. Y.

AUDREY REYNOLDS Baumgartner has been appointed elementary supervisor of the Lewisburg Joint Elementary System. This is a newly created post in the Lewisburg School System which involves teaching as well as administrative work.

RONALD ROCKWELL of 104-19 195th St., Holis 12, N. Y., is an engineer in the Radio Navigation Products Engineering Department of Sperry Gyroscope Company, in the design of Loran Navigation equipment. He also is attending Polytechnic Institute of Brooklyn on a part-time basis. His wife is the former Patricia Glaah.

HARRY SNYDER, who has spent the last nine years as a building trades contractor in the Lewisburg area, has disposed of his business to enter the Christian ministry. In September, 1961, he will enter Andover-Newton Theological Seminary for a four-year theology course leading to ordination. Mrs. Snyder (FAY F. ADAMS '44) and children (James, Ted and Beth Ellen) will live with Harry in Massachusetts.

Effective May 1, 1961, The Rev. JAMES R. WILLIAMS became pastor of the Chaffin Congregational Church in Holden, Mass. The family now resides at 4 Chapel St., in Holden.

It's a second boy for MARTY and NANCY (HOLTER) KAYE. Robert Alan was born on April 16, joining brother Jeff who is now almost 4.

53

MRS. JAMES A. CHAMBERS, JR.
(Barbara Roemer)
15 Walden Place
West Caldwell, N. J.

GREGORY L. BOWEN has been named class fund manager for men for our class replacing FRANK BOGUSZEWSKI who has entered Navy service. Greg has also recently become president of the North Aurora (Ill.) Jaycees.

RALPH A. CARGO, JR., has recently been promoted to the position of plant supervisor, Executive Operations for the Bell Telephone Company in Philadelphia.

GEORGE H. LOWER was ordained in the Presbyterian Ministry on May 25, 1961. After his marriage in July to Miss Nancy C. Fink in Miller, S. D., they moved to Alaska, where he will assume duties as assistant minister of the First Presbyterian Church in Anchorage.

BLAINE S. PURNELL has been named regional state vice president of the Pennsylvania Jaycees. Blaine is a sales representative for Johnson & Johnson and lives with his wife, Ellen, and daughter, Jennifer, at 217 Washington Ave., West Wyoming.

A baby daughter joined the family of Mr. and Mrs. Ronald J. Radak (LOUISE E. TIERNEY) early in April. Address: 5-B Garfield Apts., Metuchen, N. J.

MEL WOODWARD, our ever-smiling class president has a broader grin than usual these days since he finished his exams for the doctoral degree and has only his dissertation to write during the present school year. To help fill in the time he has taken an instructor's assignment in the Commerce College and has also become assistant to the executive director of the Executive Development Program at Ohio State University.

Dr. and Mrs. Jack S. Brett (MARY CONNELLY) of 510 West 112 St., New York 25, N. Y., announce the birth of a son, Clark Alexander, on Father's Day—June 18.

A wedding of interest to many of our classmates took place in Burma in May, 1960, when MARGARET A. OHN BWINT became the bride of Clyde Po Shein. Margaret is secretary to the Burma-American Institute in Rangoon and her husband is in government service.

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Po Shein

MRS. PAUL C. TARR, III
(Anne E. Tuckerman)
413 Alliston Rd.
Springfield, Pa.

Late last spring we heard from DOTTIE IORIO that she was planning to spend the summer teaching in a Baptist Missionary school in India.

Rabbi EDWIN H. FRIEDMAN was married to Carlyn B. Beckman on June 17, 1961, in Silver Spring, Md. Rabbi and Mrs. Friedman live at 8500 16th St., Silver Spring, Md.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul M. Paterson (JUNE B. JOFFMAN) and year-old son, Andy, recently moved into their new home at 203 Cornwell Dr., Hatfield.

Mr. and Mrs. L. ARTHUR LEES, JR. (SUZANNE DIEFFENDERFER '55) and their four children have moved from Camp Hill to Lincoln Park, where Art is an adjuster for the General Insurance Company of America.

Mr. and Mrs. PAUL W. LEINBACH (A. JEANNETTE GROVE '55) recently moved into their new house at 409 Drew Ave., Swarthmore. They have 3 children: Gretchen, 5, Curt, 4, and Caryn, 3. Paul is now a test pilot with the Vertol Division of Boeing Aircraft Company.

Mrs. Charles M. Glass (DOROTHY E. GYAN) was re-elected secretary-treasurer of the Bucknell Alumni Club of Johnstown.

Dr. LEE R. WALTERS is the recipient of a two-year Petroleum Research Fund grant to support a research project at Lafayette College where he is now serving as assistant professor. Lee is married to the former Evelyn Good of Brownsville, Tenn., and they have a son, Ronald Lee Walters, born in June, 1960.

DICK DENHOLTZ and wife, Linda, report in addition to their family—Peter Joshua born in April, 1960. Dick is advertising manager of the Noroton Publishing Co. in Connecticut. Dick wrote a book—New York On the House in collaboration with DICK KIRSCHMAN. It is being published by the Dicton Publishing Co. of New York.

GINNY HARRISON KING writes about her family. BILL is assistant plant manager of Ludlow Papers in Framingham, Mass. The three little Kings are: Richard, 5; Robert, ½; and Deborah, 5 months.

Another girl, Jacqueline Claire, born in March, 1961, joins the Molloy family, ELLIE ANOM.

Mr. and Mrs. Heinz Luebkekmann (JOHN-LYNE JOHNSON) announce the birth of Geoffrey George, born in April, 1961.

MRS. JOHN C. VANCE, JR.
(Jane Jones)
3 Ford Court
Charleston, S. C.

It's now Captain JOSEPH G. ENGLISH, Jr. who is serving as flight surgeon in Seoul, Korea, at the Kimko Air Base from which point he will be transferred to a base in the southern part of the country. Joe was graduated from Temple University Medical School in 1959, served as an intern at Nazareth Hospital in Philadelphia in 1960 and will be in military service for two years.

EMILY SUZANNE KAISER and Maxmilian P. Lammers were married May 20, and are now living at 1906 Old Welsh Rd., Abington. Since graduating, Suzanne says she has been teaching school, touring the United States and Europe, especially France, and attending graduate school at the University of Madrid in Spain.

On June 11, WALTER K. KENNEDY, received a Master of Arts degree from Trinity College in Connecticut. Walter and his wife, the former JOY PETERSON '53, live with their son, Michael Scott, at 37 Spring Glen Dr., Granby, Conn. Walter is associated with the Connecticut Mutual Life Insurance Company.

During the latter part of June the reconstruction of the Ellen Clarke Bertrand Library roof and tower took on the appearance of a rocket launching pad. The library has now been restored to its former appearance as one of the most beautiful landmarks on the campus.

JOHN D. STARK earned his doctorate degree from the graduate School of Arts and Sciences at Duke University at their June, 1961, Commencement. Dr. Stark and his wife, Marianna, reside at Chew and Duval Sts., Franklin Park Apts. 6A, Philadelphia 38.

KEITH E. TUCKER and Lindsey A. Sale were married on May 20, 1961. Keith is associated with the Irving Trust Company in New York City. He and his wife live at 100 W. 12th St. (3-R), New York 11, N. Y.

Mr. and Mrs. REEVES VAN DUZER (MARGERY CUFF) and their family of Karen and Reeves Leslie (born March 31, 1960) have moved to New Windsor, N. Y., where Dutch is service manager of Sears, Roebuck & Company in Newburgh, N. Y.

MRS. WILLIAM J. O'NEIL
(Jean M. Wirthe)
1706 Esplanade, Apt. C, Hollywood Riv.
Redondo Beach, Calif.

The following is the result of our class election held on the Bucknell campus, June 2, 3, and 4, 1961. The officers elected to serve for a five-year term are: H. Leslie Bishop, president; Dr. William F. Lenker, vice president; Miss Joanna T. Sullivan, secretary; Joseph C. Eberhart, treasurer; Dr. Edward A. Burg, Jr., fund manager; Mrs. Jean Wirths O'Neil, reporter; Samuel Posner, reunion chairman; John R. Rasmussen, alumni area chairman; Miss Barbara A. Josenhans, reunion book editor; Mrs. Elizabeth Rufe Jackson, Mrs. Polly Ann Keller Owen, Robert C. Shaffer, assistant reunion book editors; Mrs. Patricia Groff Herschok, Mrs. Lorraine Soresi Tweed, Mrs. Janet Lehr Rosner, alumni social meeting hostesses; Edwin R. Janes, Jr., alumni class regalia chairman.

Mr. and Mrs. DANIEL W. FRY (PATRICIA I. HAUSE '60) of 119 Broadway, Milton, became the parents of a baby daughter, Beth Ann, on July 4, 1961.

ANTHONY M. GRIMALDI has joined the Research and Development Division of Dupont's Polychemicals Department at the Experimental Station in Wilmington, Del. Since leaving school, Tony attended graduate school at the University of Pennsylvania and on June 5, 1961, received his doctorate degree in organic chemistry from that institution.

Mr. and Mrs. Theodore F. Hermanson (WINIFRED E. KREIDER) of 17409 Glendale Ave., Cleveland 28, Ohio, are the parents of a son named Gregory, who was born in March.

Mr. and Mrs. DONALD B. JENNINGS (ALICE K. MONCRIEF) of 2580 Ashton Dr., Saginaw, Mich., are the parents of two children: Lee Ann, 3; and Susan Maureen, born October 4, 1960. Don is with the Armstrong Cork Company in Saginaw, Mich.

Mr. and Mrs. Francis (Hop) Harrigan, Jr. (ELIZABETH J. WIGGINTON) became the parents of James Robert, born April 26. The new arrival joins his brother, John Michael, aged 2.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Irving (NONIE COWEN) announce the arrival of Ray Soverel Irving, Jr., on April 10. The Irvings also have a three-year-old daughter, Shermaine.

CARLA and GEORGE WOLF are now parents of two sons—Jeffery Scott, born March 22, and Gregory, aged 2½.

Mr. and Mrs. EDWARD (MORRIE) BUTLER (ELIZABETH ESTEY '57) are settled at 26 Green Briar Drive, Pittsburgh 20, where Morrie is a salesman for Yardley of London. The Butlers have a son, David, aged 3, and a daughter Lisa, born December 26, 1960.

Mr. and Mrs. George Letchworth (ANNE RUHL '57) announce the arrival of Ellen Lee on March 30. Ellen joins brother Bobby, aged 2.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Cotter (BARBARA RIGG) became the parents of Patricia Ellen on August 31, 1960. The Cotter address is 69-E Chester Circle, New Brunswick, N. J.

Dr. and Mrs. FLOYD NAUGLE have left sunny California and are now at the U. S. Naval School of Aviation Medicine, Pensacola, Fla. Floyd is a Lieutenant in the Navy Reserve Medical Corp and is preparing for work as a Navy Flight Surgeon.

Mr. and Mrs. James Douglas (BETSY GRUBB) are settled at 1131 Old Lancaster Road, Berwyn, with their year-old daughter, Mary Lynn. Jim is a chemical engineer with Atlantic Refining Co.

BILL POZZY and wife Dorothy are now living with their two children in Bangor, Maine, where Bill is managing an electrical contracting firm, The Dole Co.

CLASS OF 1961

Seated, Left to Right: Carolyn Bateman, Nancy Owen, Elizabeth Wright, Nathalie Warner, Frances Miller, Priscilla Teleky, Charlotte Hall, Marie Monsen, Suzanne Friedman, Eleanore Johnson. Standing: Keith Klein, Barbara Hall, Robert Buczynski, Joanne Harris, James Jung, Stephanie Hukuf, Robert Matalucci, Theodore Girvan, Kenneth Reinheimer, Robert Scott, M. Robert Etzweiler, John Carboni, Harry Reith, William Black, Daniel Brooks, Lawrence Casey.

Following his graduation from Harvard School of Law, TED GROOM, wife and daughter moved to Baltimore, Md. Ted is now working as a clerk for a judge from Federal Court of Appeals in Virginia.

Dr. Mark C. Ebersole, Dean of the College of Arts and Sciences, is the recipient of our Class of 1956 endowed lectureship for the coming academic year. Dr. Ebersole will present his lecture during the fall semester.

58 MRS. FRANK H. RICHARDS, III
(Faith Bonsall)
6 Holman St.
Allston, Mass.

We have quite a backlog of news so will get the show going. DON SLAVIN was made director of laboratories in the Sadler Research Laboratories in Philadelphia last March. He is also the Delaware Valley Editor for The Chemist. Don and Janet have a son, Clifford John, born last October 29.

JACK and NANETTE (TRANSUE '60) ALLEN live in Clinton, N. J., where Jack is in the hardware business with his father. They have two daughters: Miriam Elizabeth, 2; and Sara Jane, born in December, 1960.

JIM BERGER completed his army service in May and is now a development engineer in the electric products division of Corning Glass Works, Corning, N. Y.

BETH BISCHOF and Carl Scholfield were married February 4 and are living at 86 Church St., Guilford, Conn. Beth was a teacher in the elementary school in Baldwin, N. Y. until her marriage.

ELIZABETH BRANDES became the bride of John B. Plum, (Williams '56) on June 10. John is with Chase Manhattan Bank and Tish will become a staff nurse with the Visiting Nurse Association in Bernardsville, N. J. They will live on King St., Oldwick, N. J.

ELLEN CAMPBELL, who has been teaching school in San Francisco, Calif., for several years, spent the summer in Mexico City, Mexico. Ellen earned her master's degree at Bucknell in 1950. Her sister, ANN, graduated from Bucknell in June, 1961.

On April 8, BETTY JONES became the wife of Jerrold H. Mulder (Princeton). John is a security analyst with Kuhn, Loeb & Company of New York City. Before her marriage Betty was an economic research assistant and had the good fortune to travel throughout the United States gathering material on her job.

DON and CONNIE (GLASCOCK '59) FOSTER '59 are in Galveston, Texas, where Don has begun medical school at the University of Texas. Both were working in San Antonio at the Southwest Research Institute this past year—Connie as a mathematician doing computer programming, and Don as a chemist doing polymer research.

COLE BEBOUT '57, is working for Shell Oil Company in Albany, N. Y., in the marketing division. Cole and SUSIE (BOWMAN) are the parents of a daughter, Laurie Sue, born July 25, 1959.

JACK BROTHERS has left Lukens Steel in Coatesville to study for his master's degree at the University of North Carolina. Jack was doing marketing research for Lukens.

Lt. KARL KLOSE and Marcia Matthews were married March 29 and are at the University of Alabama where Karl is working for his M.S. degree in physics. Upon completion of his advanced degree he will be assigned to the Ordnance Missile Command at Redstone Arsenal, Ala.

DICK LOCKE and Kathleen B. Newell were married on April 22 in Raleigh, N. C. Dick is associated with Kidder, Peabody & Company, investment firm, of New York City.

GAY (OUTERSON) and Bart Roach of Little Rock, Ark., provided daughter Debbie with a brother, Robert Bartlett, III, on May 20.

BILL LLEWELLYN of Nicholson, and June M. Litoski of Hop Bottom were married January 28, in Elkton, Md.

Rev. and Mrs. James Kenyon (AUDREY WALKER) announce the arrival of a son, Paul Saunders Kenyon, in late March, 1961.

DICK WHITE has been elected vice president of his medical school class at Temple University and is also in that capacity for his medical school fraternity, AKK. Last summer (1960) Dick worked on a research project with the Department of Psychiatry at Temple centered around the rehabilitation of Philadelphia's skid row.

59

MRS. VENALD W. BOVARD, JR.
(Jeanne F. Anderson)
334 Hickory St.
Peckville, Pa.

Hello again '59ers. Thank you for your many interesting letters. I'm sure that we all hope that they continue to arrive, bearing such good tidings.

JOE KOPF wrote in June from Michigan State, where he is attending the graduate school of business. He hopes to receive his master's degree in December. Write to Joe at 165 Owen Hall, Michigan State University, East Lansing, Mich. He sends further word of FRANK MOORE and TOM CLARK. Frank is still at Yale Law School and Tom is employed by a Rochester, N. Y., bank. Both are doing well in their work. Joe served in the army with fellow '59er, DICK HUNN, who is now employed by Bell Telephone Co. of Pennsylvania. DICK and SALLY (WEISBECK) are living in the Harrisburg area.

JAY D'APRIX also wrote from his home at 457 Wood Ave., North Brunswick, N. J., where he and his wife, the former Beverly High, are now living. Jay is employed as associate youth director at the Raritan Valley Y. M. C. A. in North Brunswick, N. J.

WILMA RILLING became Mrs. Walter Stahura in August. She and Walt are residing at Apt. 14K, 5 Manor Drive, Ivy Hill Park Apts., Newark 6, N. J. Willie is a fashion director with Sears Roebuck and Co., in New York, N. Y., and Walter is associated with Brooks Brothers of that city.

CAROL J. BISCHOF received her M.A. degree from the University of Michigan in June, 1960. Last winter she taught English at New York University and this past summer taught English at the Bucknell Institute for Foreign Students.

DORIS KAY BRINKLEY became the bride of Bruce H. Nelson, Augustana College '57, on June 10, 1961. The Nelsons now live at 171 Morse Place, Englewood, N. J.

Mr. and Mrs. DAVID M. ENGLISH (JANE L. REUNING '60) along with son, Scott David (born June 22, 1961) are now in Milwaukee, Wis., where Dave is resident engineer for the Martin Company, engaged in environmental testing at the AC Spark Plug Division of General Motors.

Now Mr. and Mrs.: JOAN TRIMBLE and JAMES A. GASPRICH. They live at 20 Patton Dr., Bloomfield, N. J.

Lt. and Mrs. WILLIAM C. McCAUSLAND (SARAH J. KOHL) of 320 S. 8th St., Killeen, Texas, are the parents of a daughter, Melinda, born November 8, 1960, at Fort Hood, Texas, where Bill is a lieutenant in armor.

Lt. and Mrs. PETER T. GEOCA (NANCY L. MELKERSON '62) are temporarily located at Fort Benning, Ga. Pete taught school for 14 months and since November, 1960, has been in the Army serving a two-year assignment.

RONALD W. RANCK and Lois I. Miller were married in the early spring and live at 200 Pennsylvania Ave., in Watertown. Ronald is a draftsman with Sprout-Waldron in Muncy.

J. BRUCE STEVENS, following his tour of duty with the army, is now a salesman with Socony Mobil Oil Company. Word from Bruce informs us that he is engaged to Diane Linc, a graduate of Randolph-Macon Woman's College in Lynchburg, Va.

60

MRS. DAVID N. OTT
(Jane Dahl)
5650 D Demore Ave.
Van Voorhis Manor
Fort Knox, Ky.

The following class officers were re-elected at the class business meeting held on the Bucknell campus, June 2, 3, and 4, 1961: Larry H. Mathias, president; William A. Briggs, vice president; Mrs. Suzanne Alisch Arnold, secretary; Walter G. Bollinger, treasurer; Mrs.

ane Dahl Ott, reporter; Ronald J. Pedrick, union chairman; Mrs. Patricia Vashbinder artlett, reunion book editor; John G. Eachus, I, fund manager.

RONALD E. BOYER is employed as a quality engineer with AMP Inc., in Harrisburg and is doing graduate work in industrial engineering.

LT. DENNIS J. COX writes, "I am training recruits at beautiful Fort Knox, home of the armor." Address: D-13-4, USATCA, Fort Knox, Ky.

CAMERON MEADE GEISEL, JR., spent busy spring. He left army service in March, as married in April to the former Suellen regory and after a five-week honeymoon in Europe, settled down to a banking career with the Philadelphia National Bank. The newlyweds live at 235 Indian Creek Rd., Philadelphia.

SANDRA MAE HJORTSBERG and MARGARET ANN HOLLINSHEAD completed their field work assignments this spring under the Harvard-Radcliffe Program in Business Administration. Sandra served as personnel assistant at the Washington Medical Center in Washington, D. C., while Margaret served as personnel assistant at Marine Midland Trust company in New York City.

RONALD H. KAISER of R. D. 4, Mountaintop, is a registered representative with Hooker Brothers, Inc., Wilkes-Barre, investment brokers.

JULIAN B. MUELLER has been appointed professional service representative for Pfizer Laboratories Division of Charles Pfizer & Company, Inc. Julian lives at 70-14 Groton Ct., Forest Hills, N. Y.

SUZANNE POGUE married KENNETH W. MOTT on April 15. They're living in Cape Elizabeth near Fort Williams where Ken is stationed. Address: R. D. 1, I Crescent View Ave., Cape Elizabeth, Me.

SHARON ("Sherry") PRIES of 629 Clifford Ct., Flint, Mich., is working for the Capital Airlines in Flint and would enjoy seeing, or hearing from classmates. When you need a special reservation . . .

DENNIS J. SWEETMAN was married to Beverly A. Yarrall on April 1, 1961. Dennis is attending Harvard Graduate School of Business working for his master's degree and expects to graduate in June of 1962. The Sweetmans live at 11-A Gibson Terrace, Boston 38, Mass.

ANGUS M. THOM and PRISCILLA J. WILSON '61, were married April 8 and are living at 511 White Horse Pike, Haddon Heights, N. J. Last October Angus started an executive training program with the First Pennsylvania Banking and Trust Company in Philadelphia which will lead toward management of a suburban branch office.

KARL SCHAEFER wrote from Fort Sill, Okla., where he was with the Honest John school support unit. Karl writes "Say hello to Bucknellians for me," and also reports that HENRY LIVAS, MIKE SHANNON, and JACK SKELTON were with him at Sill. At the moment, however, the latter two are here "beautiful Fort Knox" along with DENNIE OX, TED TREADWELL, TED GRUNLUND and myself.

Shortly after my marriage on July 1 to DAVID OTT '59, I found myself here at Knox and happy to see so many familiar faces! We gather at the country club swimming pool once in a while and have a fine time discussing the latest news of Bucknell, '60, and the Army!

(EDITOR'S NOTE) Members of the Class of 1960 were not available to have their picture taken on Alumni Day, June 3.

61 MISS CAROLANN M. BUQUET
53 Brookside Ave.,
Merrick, N. Y.

At the Annual Alumni Reunion Luncheon on June 3, the Class of 1961 gift to the University was presented by BARTLETT RICHARDS, III. The gift of money will be invested in a mutual fund for 25 years and will then be presented as a gift to the University for endowment purposes.

THOMAS S. KRAMM is attending the Gettysburg Seminary and serving as resident supply pastor of St. Paul's Lutheran Church, Newville.

Competition with the big Alumni Reunion program on the campus on June 3 did not interfere with the wedding of BLANCHE A. SIMPSON to DAVID K. MURDOCK '60. Blanche is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. GEDDES W. SIMPSON '29 (BLANCHE THOMAS '30) of Orono, Me. Her grandfather, the late Dr. FRANK M. SIMPSON '95, was a long time member of the Bucknell faculty. Blanche will attend Yale University graduate school while Dave continues his studies at the Yale University School of Medicine. They will reside at 1 South St., New Haven, Conn.

SUE BROWNE and LOIS COX are both working in New York City. Sue works for Home Life and Lois is in research with Sloane Kettering. They love their new apartment which is on 172 East 82nd St.

CORA FIVE recently began her graduate study in education at Harvard University.

DOTTIE GOUGH, a member of our class for two years, is now living in Dallas, Texas. She is a stewardess for American Airlines and is enjoying it very much. Her new address is 4502 Cedar Springs Rd., Apt. 107, Dallas, Tex.

ALUMNI TRUSTEE TIMETABLE

June Commencement — Appointment of Committee on Nominations for Alumni Trustee.

July 6—Letter to Class Reporters

July 14—Letter to Class Presidents

August 14—Letter to representative Alumni, Alumni Club Presidents, Alumni Fund Representatives, Past Presidents of the Alumni Association, and former Alumni Trustees.

September 14—Deadline for receiving suggestions to be considered by Committee on Nominations.

October 13—Meeting of Committee on Nominations.

November 15 Committee on Nominations submits three candidates to the President of the Association.

December 4—Deadline for Board approval.

January Alumnus—Announcement of names of three candidates in THE BUCKNELL ALUMNUS.

February 15—Petition deadline.

March 1—Election announcement in THE BUCKNELL ALUMNUS.

April 2—Ballots in mail.

May 15—Deadline for receiving ballots in Alumni Office.

June Commencement Certification to Board of Trustees.

IN MEMORIAM

The following deaths have been reported to the Alumni Office since April, 1961. The University extends sympathy to the surviving relatives:

- 1897—Dr. Romeyn H. Rivenburg, May 31, 1961
- 1898—Rev. J. Truman Anderson, April 29, 1961
- 1899—Mr. Ned L. Kaufman, September 23, 1960
- 1901—Mr. Jesse C. Higgins, April 12, 1961
- 1902—Mrs. Martin Dunkle (Mary C. Schrack) (Inst.), July 2, 1961
- 1903—Mrs. Edward C. Kunkle (E. Blanche Campbell)
- 1904—Mrs. William S. Kuder (Blanche A. Bane), December 24, 1959
- Mrs. J. E. Crawshaw (Pauline G. Berger) (Music), July 2, 1960
- 1904—Mrs. Frank Merrill (Elizabeth A. Williams), June 26, 1961
- 1907—Mr. Charles A. Lemmon, November 4, 1960
- Mr. Boyd M. Frymire, March 20, 1961
- 1908—Mr. William W. Ridge, August 26, 1960
- Mr. John J. Williams, June 17, 1961
- 1909—Mr. John A. Landsrath, April 14, 1961
- 1910—Mr. Floyd D. Beemer, July 29, 1961
- 1917—Mr. Russell M. Shearer, December 15, 1960
- Mrs. Earle B. Armstrong (Jeannette Cooke), May 16, 1961
- 1918—Mr. Franklin Morrett, May 7, 1961
- Mrs. Leverett McCurdy (Ruth A. Kellogg), August, 1960
- 1919—Mrs. Harry R. Warfel (Ruth E. Farquhar), June 24, 1961
- Mr. Almon G. Shaw (SATC), April 5, 1961
- Dr. John D. Shoemaker, May 9, 1961
- 1920—Mr. John F. Schneider, March 21, 1960
- 1922—Mr. Daniel W. Davis, June, 1960
- Dr. Mark K. Gass, May 31, 1961
- 1924—Mr. Stephen Terpak, April 30, 1961
- 1926—Mrs. Merl G. Colvin (Margaret M. Price), June 15, 1961
- Hon. George W. Pepper (Hon.), May 24, 1961
- 1927—Mr. Willard O. Remer, May 8, 1961
- 1931—Dr. D. Innes Dann, July 8, 1961
- Mr. Merrill E. Shourds, May 5, 1961
- 1934—Dr. Ivor Griffith (Hon.), May 16, 1961
- Mrs. Dean Lees (Olive L. Williams)
- 1935—Miss Alice J. Murphy
- 1936—Mr. Francis P. Baker, January, 1961
- 1938—Mr. Charles D. Reed, April 27, 1961
- 1940—Mr. Arthur B. Pursell (M.S.), June 14, 1961
- Dr. David R. Rothrock, Jr., July 10, 1961
- Mr. John Smith, May 24, 1961
- 1946—Mrs. Roy Smith (Dorothy E. Carn) (M.S.), March 2, 1961
- 1950—Mr. Michael J. Shimko (M.A.), June 27, 1961
- 1957—Mrs. James M. Hudson (Nancy C. Miller), June 17, 1961

BISON ROUNDUPS

(Continued from Page 19)

HAMILTON, N. Y.—October 7—Bison buffet luncheon before the Colgate game at the Colgate Inn, Hamilton, N. Y., at 12 noon or earlier. This luncheon is sponsored jointly by the alumni clubs of Rochester, Syracuse and Triple Cities. Reservations in advance are not necessary.

ASTON—October 21—A Bison Roundup is being planned for the Lafayette game. Detailed information regarding this roundup will be mailed to alumni in the Lehigh Valley area.

BUFFALO, N. Y.—November 4—Bison Roundup before the Buffalo game at the Williamsville Inn (within walking distance to the stadium) at 11:00 A. M. The price of the lunch will be $2.50 per person and money should be mailed with your reservation to Mr. Henry B. Puff, 36 Huntington Court, Williamsville, N. Y., by November 1.

BETHLEHEM—November 11—A Bison Roundup is being planned for the Lehigh game. Detailed information regarding this meeting will be mailed to alumni in the Lehigh Valley area.

★ HOMECOMING ★

OCTOBER 14, 1961

BISON CLUB BREAKFAST

Bring the whole family to the Lewisburg Club, 131 Market Street, for breakfast at 8:00 A. M.

HOMECOMING FLOAT PARADE

The queen, floats, and bands parade through Lewisburg and the campus at 10:30 A. M.

LUNCHEON AND PEP RALLY

Alumni, parents, and students gather for lunch and the pep rally at 11:45 A. M., in Davis Gymnasium

FOOTBALL GAME

The year's big game with Rutgers is under way at 2:00 P. M., in Memorial Stadium

BISON ROUNDUP

Fellowship and refreshment is available for everyone at Davis Gymnasium following the game

DANCE AND FRATERNITY SING

Dancing from 9:00 P. M. to midnight plus several special attractions round out the day's festivities

Don't Miss This Big Day

CUT ON THIS LINE

Even though your plans may be tentative, please mail this reservation TODAY and guarantee yourself a share in the program and also assist us in planning your accommodations. Although we will do our best—WE CANNOT GUARANTEE RESERVATIONS RECEIVED AFTER OCTOBER 6.

HOMECOMING RESERVATION

October 14, 1961

Please reserve _____ tickets for the HOMECOMING LUNCHEON,
Saturday, October 14, 1961, at Davis Gym.

Please reserve _____ tickets for the BISON CLUB BREAKFAST,
Saturday, October 14, 1961, at Lewisburg Club.

NAME (Print) _____ CLASS _____

ADDRESS _____

(Slip this reservation coupon into an envelope and mail to The Alumni Office, Bucknell University, Lewisburg, Pa., NOW. Send your room reservation to Forrest D. Brown, Secretary, Christian Association.)

LEWIS G.

THE BUCKNELL
ALUMNUS

November 1961

Counseling For Excellence

SEE PAGE TWO

OFFICERS OF THE ASSOCIATION

President

ROBERT W. DILL '27

First Vice President

MRS. CLYDE P. BAILEY (Dorothy Lemon '29)

Second Vice President

DANIEL F. GRIFFITH '36

Treasurer

DONALD B. YOUNG '33

Secretary and Editor

JOHN H. SHOTT '22

Assistant Secretary and Assistant Editor

C. BRUCE ROSSITER '56

BOARD OF DIRECTORS

MRS. CLYDE P. BAILEY (Dorothy Lemon '29), 5025 Fifth Ave., Apt. 3-B, Pittsburgh 32, Pa. (1962)

CHARLES F. FOX, JR., M.D. '31, 180 Washington Ave., Vandergrift, Pa. (1962)

D. EUGENE LONG '29, 131 Avon Place, West Hempstead, N. Y. (1962)

EUGENE P. BERTIN '17, 201 S. Main St., Muncy, Pa. (1963)

MRS. JOHN W. LEWIS (Elinor Childs '52), 8A Sayre Court, Madison, N. J. (1963)

ROBERT H. TAYLOR '48, 214 Avon Rd., Narberth, Pa. (1963)

CHARLES T. FARROW '26, P. O. Box 29, Westfield, N. J. (1964)

IRVIN GRAYBILL, JR., Esq. '49, Middleburg, Pa. (1964)

ALLEN F. JONES '25, 2 Linn St., Progress, Harrisburg, Pa. (1964)

HENRY G. P. COATES, Esq. '32, East Ward St., Hightstown, N. J. (1965)

DANIEL F. GRIFFITH '36, 599 Massachusetts Ave., Aldan, Pa. (1965)

PETER WEIDENBACHER '50, 525 Hillside Ave., Mountain-side, N. J. (1965)

MRS. ROBERT D. CARLSON (Claire Wynkoop '49), 2801 Beverly Rd., Brooklyn 26, N. Y. (1966)

ROBERT W. DILL '27, 5136 Butler Pike, Plymouth Meeting, Pa. (1966)

WARREN R. LEWIS '42, 394 Edgewood Ave., Rochester 18, N. Y. (1966)

() Year Term Expires

Alumni Headquarters—GROUND FLOOR
ADMINISTRATION CENTER

Member—AMERICAN ALUMNI COUNCIL

ON THE COVER—With the beginning of each school year there is an eager new group of students on the Bucknell campus disdainfully called "Frosh" by the exalted upper-classmen. And each year name signs and dinks are the order of the day during the hazing period. Woe comes to those who do not conform.

The campus calendar is presented on the back cover.

THE BUCKNELL ALUMNUS

VOLUME XLVII

NOVEMBER 1961

No. 2

IN THIS ISSUE

- 1 This Is Your University
- 2 Counseling for Excellence
—by Dr. Allen E. Ivey, Director
University Counseling Service
- 5 Sons and Daughters of Bucknellians
- 8 Allurac i Eire
—by Jeanne Rockwell Noonan '42
- 10 Fall Sports Campaign Opens
—by Bradley N. Tufts, Sports Information Director
- 12 For the Record
- 13 Operation Maintenance
- 14 The Club Program
- 15 Class Reports

1961-62 Basketball Schedule, 11—Honor Roll Additions, 13—Dr. Charles E. Bunnell '00, 15—Mrs. Amorita Sesinger Copeland '22, 16—Bucknell Alumni Club of York, 17—William M. Lybarger '25, 18—George W. Hart '27, 19—Robert W. Bruce, Jr. '35, 20—George N. Jenkins '43, 21—Alumni Trustee Timetable, 21—Frederick J. Griffin, Jr. '43, 22—William M. Wilkinson '46, 23—Columbus Bucknellians, 24—In Memoriam and Luncheon Reminder, inside back cover.

THE BUCKNELL ALUMNUS is published in January, March, May, September and November by BUCKNELL UNIVERSITY. Entered as second-class matter December 30, 1930 at the post office at Lewisburg, Pa., under Act of August 24, 1912.

Freshmen retrieved the dink from atop the greased pole in the 1948 Freshman-Sophomore Scrap.

NUMBER SIX

This is your University

College high jinks, the characteristic of university life everywhere can be defined as the blowing off of steam by the student body. Gone are the days of the freshman-sophomore scraps, but the traditional stunts of swallowing goldfish, pushing peanuts with the nose, and dropping water-filled sacks from third floor windows are still a part of Bucknell life. And, every year new pranks appear such as filling telephone booths to capacity with collegians or the setting of endurance marks in whirling clothes dryers.

Sometimes the stunt or prank is annoying and sometimes it's very funny indeed. Occasionally authorities must step in and take firm disciplinary measures, but more often they let the high jinks run their course.

In behalf of Bucknell students we can proudly say they have not rioted for the overthrow of their government as students have in other countries. They have their fun and seldom do they overstep the bounds of decency and propriety.

"Four mid-semester warnings! What can I do?"

"My parents want me to be an engineer, but . . ."

"Do you have any information on graduate schools?"

"Dr. Ivey, I want to talk to you about a personal matter. It seems . . ."

COUNSELING FOR

by DR. ALLEN E. IVEY, Director, University Counseling Service

THESE are but a few examples of problems Bucknell students have brought to the University Counseling Service since its inception in the fall of 1959. Over twelve per cent of the student body visited the Counseling Service in the 1960-61 academic year for advice and counsel on academic, vocational, and personal problems.

"The central purpose of the University Counseling Service is to contribute to the academic goals of Bucknell University. It is held that personal counseling is one instrument with which Bucknell can help the student to realize his full potential more quickly." Thus were the goals of the Counseling Service stated in the first annual report. The student troubled by feelings of inadequacy and lack of self-confidence, family problems, or vocational indecision has difficulty in applying himself fully to his college work. It is the goal of the Counseling Service to free students so they can approach their work unhindered and utilize their own good ability more fully. James Bryant Conant, formerly president of Harvard University and currently engaged in a detailed survey of American education, has said that guidance is "the keystone of the arch of American education." Counseling and guidance properly functioning have an important place in helping the student to gain the full benefits of a university education.

The Counseling Service is only one of the services Bucknell provides to help students improve themselves and reach the standard of excellence that Bucknell expects of them. The faculty advisory system, the offices of the Deans of Men and Women, the Christian Association, the Chaplain's office, the Placement Service, and an excellent dormitory counseling system are some of the other services where a student may receive guidance and help in achieving success at Bucknell.

What Is Counseling?

More than one out of ten full-time undergraduate students visit the Counseling Service during the course of an academic year. As might be expected, freshmen and sophomores predominate. The freshman often comes for guidance in finding his place in the Bucknell scene; the sophomore is frequently interested in the choice of a major field. Juniors and seniors who visit the Counseling Service in many cases seek advice on long-term career planning. Problems of personal adjustment occur in all classes, especially at the onset of final examinations or prior to vacation periods.

The Counseling Service is not test oriented: its work is done primarily in the individual interview. Perhaps one or two sessions coupled with a vocational test can clear up a problem, but as many as twenty-five interviews have been held when a student required more extensive consultation. Problem solving is not the final goal of the counseling process. Effective counseling enables the student to understand himself and his capabilities more fully. If counseling has been successful, the student who encounters further problems in his academic career or in later life will be able to solve these new difficulties without relying on outside aid.

EXCELLENCE

Short-term advice to solve one particular problem or set of problems may help the individual for the moment, but such counseling does not promote growth toward maturity. A central objective of the Counseling Service is to make students aware of their own capacities for growth and individuality; we are, so to speak, in operation to do away with the need for counselors and the need for counseling.

What Happens in Counseling?

Earlier, some difficulties commonly brought to the Counseling Service were mentioned. Here are a few of the activities which engage the Counseling Service during a typical school year.

The Counseling Service office is relatively quiet during the first few weeks of the academic term; students have returned from summer vacation refreshed and enthusiastic. However, following the distribution of mid-term warnings, Counseling Service operations increase sharply. Frequent complaints heard by the Counseling Service include "I can't understand what I read," "How can I get all this work done?" or "I have three mid-semester reports. It's hopeless." In work with these students, an attempt is first made to determine why the trouble is occurring. Is it low ability, inadequate reading skills, poor study habits, or low motivation and discouragement with academic work? The first possibility can almost always be discounted for Bucknell's selective admission standards are such that virtually every student admitted is capable of doing college-level work. The problem faced by the Counseling Service is convincing these students that they can do the work at the University. While referral to the Counseling Service's study habits program or to the reading course is often helpful, it has been found that the most effective method is to listen to the student explore himself and his reasons for failure. Then, once improper attitudes toward the self are identified, it becomes possible to work toward changing these attitudes with the aim of increasing self-confidence and motivation. The Counseling Service attempts to emphasize positive assets and to aid the student to develop and build around these assets. The student who has confidence in his own ability to succeed is much more likely to achieve success than the doubting or the discouraged.

The time between the Thanksgiving and Christmas holidays puts special pressures on the student. Mid-term examinations occur frequently, final examinations approach, the weather worsens, the school routine becomes set, and roommates' tempers are likely to flare. It is during this period (and immediately prior to spring vacation) that students are most likely to come in to discuss personal difficulties. About one student in three who seeks counseling presents personal problems ranging from a difficult dating relationship or family conflict to serious personal-emotional difficulties. Catharsis, the talking out of one's problems, is one of nature's most useful means of relieving emotional tension. Upon many occasions, the counselor does little more than sit and listen sympathetically and understandingly. To see students who outwardly appear extremely distressed work through their problems in such a fashion is a reassuring experience which gives one confidence in the ability of the individual to solve his own problems.

For more complicated or serious personal problems, more extensive consultation is available. In this type of counseling, personality test data prove helpful in developing a more complete picture of the individual. Tests coupled with a careful analysis of the individual and his personal situation often provide information to enable the student to work out his difficulties. However, the staff of the Counseling Service is small and long term psychotherapy is not available. For this reason, close liaison is maintained between the Counseling Service and the medical staff of the University. Students who require more extensive or continued treatment are advised to consult their family physician or a local psychiatrist.

Shortly following the beginning of the second semester, sophomore students are required to make final declaration of major course of study for their final two years. Many sophomores are still undecided as to their career goals and come to the Counseling Service for vocational advice. In most cases, a vocational test and a frank discussion of alternatives leads to a decision which enables the student to select his major. Ideally, this type of counseling should proceed slowly, but the pressure of a heavy caseload coupled with the need of an immediate decision often necessitates rapid conclusions. Students are encouraged to return for further discussion if the first interview or two does not reveal definite vocational direction.

While the above areas cover the bulk of the Counseling Service work, there are other types of problems as well. Students have sought Counseling Service advice on choice of graduate school, financial problems, summer employment, and marriage. Fraternities and sororities have, from time to time, sought advice regarding how their group might function more effectively as a unit.

Special Programs

Over sixty students participated in small group instruction programs in study habits during the past year. In this program, a test evaluating study habits and attitudes is administered at the first meeting. This test makes it possible to compare a student's study habits and attitudes with those of successful students and pinpoints any weaknesses in study an individual might have. A written interpretation is supplied which analyzes each student's pattern of study habits and gives suggestions for specific improvement. Students then meet in small groups and a counselor speaks with them about correct study habits and distributes a mimeographed guide outlining correct approaches to study.

A reading program has been offered by the Counseling Service in connection with the office of the Dean of the University over the past two years and seventy-five students have elected this non-credit course. While student response to the Reading Course has been generally favorable, a more individual approach to reading will be attempted during the coming year. The Counseling Service feels that reading problems are frequently related to lack of interest in studies and other academic problems. During the current year, individual counseling will be integrated with practice on reading machines available in the Counseling Service office.

During the summer session, student problems appear to abate and the need for counseling is low. As a service to area residents, the Counseling Service offers a summer guidance and testing program to those interested in detailed evaluation of aptitudes, abilities, and interests. This program is co-sponsored by the Susquehanna Valley Association of Guidance Administrators, the local association of high school guidance counselors.

The Counseling Service also serves as a training ground for graduate students in guidance and psychology who wish supervised counseling experience. An important aspect of a Counseling Service program is the training of able counselors to work in public schools and colleges. Under close supervision, these students counsel both Bucknell students and high school students on educational or vocational matters. Five students have participated in this program to date. All five have specific plans to continue their work toward the doctoral degree in psychology; two are currently undertaking doctoral work, one is working as a speech therapist, one is at Selinsgrove State School as an intern psychologist, and another is director of guidance in an area school system.

Counseling "Pays Off"

Recently the Counseling Service asked itself a basic question "Is the Counseling Service helping Bucknell students academically?" Many individual cases made it clear that students were helped with personal problems and aided in their adjustment to college life. Also, it was apparent that some students improved their academic performance after counseling. However, was this merely an impression? The academic success of students who came in for counseling was compared with a group of Bucknell students who did not appear for counseling. Analysis revealed that students who visit the Counseling Service improved their marks significantly more than the group of non-counseled students. Further evaluation revealed that students who received more extensive and personal counseling tended to improve their marks more than those who received short-term counseling. These findings are encouraging and suggest that counseling does relate to marks and academic success. These findings also suggest that the Counseling Service staff can work most effectively with students who enter into a longer and deeper relationship with the counselor.

Bucknell is rapidly growing in stature and reputation. The academic demands being made of our students suggest that future counseling needs will increase rather than decrease. If Bucknell is to serve its student body, all of whom are capable of reaching these demanding standards, a continuous effort must be made to help each student realize his full potential.

Yet, no Counseling Service or system of student services can ever replace the individual student's hard work and effort. All of the services at Bucknell are designed to help the individual to grow, to perceive himself and his situation more accurately. Thus guided he can gain the insight with which to solve his problems by himself. In this way the student becomes independent of the counselor: he has the confidence and techniques necessary to face future problems alone and unsupported. He is now free to utilize properly the many opportunities for additional growth present in University life.

ABOUT THE AUTHOR—In September, 1959, Dr. Ivey was appointed director of Bucknell University's counseling service and was named lecturer in education. Prior to these appointments he had been an instructor in guidance and director of student activities at Boston University.

He graduated with honors from Stanford University in 1955, and during the 1955-56 college year he studied at the University of Copenhagen as a Fulbright scholar. In June, 1959, Harvard University conferred upon him a doctor's degree after he had completed specialized work in counseling psychology and guidance.

Dr. Ivey is married to the former Elizabeth Spencer, a graduate of both Simmons College and Radcliffe College. The Iveys have one son, William Spencer, age two.

Sons and Daughters of BUCKNELLIANs

AN annual feature of THE BUCKNELL ALUMNUS is a pictorial presentation of freshmen who have a Bucknell mother, Bucknell dad, or both. This year the Class of 1965 has sixty-two members who have Bucknell parents according to information obtained from the students' applications for admission.

The sharp increase from forty alumni sons and daughters admitted to last year's Class of 1964 to the sixty-two freshmen admitted with the Class of 1965 continues to substantiate the fact that Bucknell is truly a family college. Generation after generation pick Bucknell for their Alma Mater as their parents and grandparents did before them.

Russell N. K. Appleby, Jr.
Russell N. K. Appleby '37
Eleanor Koshland Appleby '36

George R. Berlin
William H. Berlin '35
Elizabeth Smith Berlin '35

Jeffrey J. Bolton
A. A. Bolton, Jr. '37
(deceased)

Phillip J. Boscarell, Jr.
Phillip J. Boscarell '33

Margaret L. Brouse
D. Clayton Brouse '33

Forrest S. Chilton, IV
Forrest S. Chilton, III '43
(deceased)
Marie Grabowski Meseroll '44

John F. Cox, Jr.
John F. Cox '25

Alexander S. Dainoff
Olymp Dainoff '46

Marcia L. Dearman
Albert G. Dearman '27

Walter T. Decker, III
Walter T. Decker '43
Betty Lauer Decker '43

Sandra E. Fehl
Samuel A. Fehl '36

Catherine R. Frith
James R. Frith '39

Robert L. Gatski, Jr.
Robert L. Gatski
Sp '43 - '44

Douglas O. Gause
Wilma Hawkinson Gause '43

Michael J. Griffey
Helen Noecker Griffey '38

David C. Gring
David E. Gring, Jr. '32

Jean A. Hammond
Thomas M. Hammond '25

Bonnie K. Harrison
John M. Harrison '29

Molly M. Hartman
Elbridge B. Hartman MS '51
Wilhemina Poffenbarger
Hartman '40

Fred D. Heather
Fred H. Heather, Jr. '33

Ronald E. Hornbeck
Cecil L. E. Hornbeck '52

Kurt F. Ingold
Gertrude Breinlinger Ingold '37

Constance L. Ingram
Constance Williamson
Ingram '32

Barbara E. Jones
Allen F. Jones '25

Stephen A. Kerstetter
Harold A. Kerstetter '41
Jean Memmert Kerstetter '43

Edward M. Knights
Edward B. Knights '35

James L. Ledden
Lewis J. Ledden '38
Jennie Gray Ledden '38

James J. Lees
Ann McDevitt Lees '42

Mary L. Lilius
Frances Mills Lilius '37

Ruth G. Liming
William S. Liming '33
Ruth Rohr Liming '34

Ann L. McClain
Warren J. McClain '31
Marian Ash McClain '32

Bruce R. McGraw
Bruce G. McGraw '39

Richard L. McKelvey, Jr.
Betty Davis McKelvey '39

Peter H. Mask
John Q. Mask MA '42

William L. Miller
Josephine Williams Miller '36

Michael L. Monta
Anthony J. Monta '34

William A. Newcomb
William Y. Newcomb '36
Mary VanKirk Newcomb '34

Leon F. Ort
W. Frederick Ort '33

Elissa A. Richards
Dick M. Richards '37

Herbert C. Richards
Lois Marcey Richards '41

Thomas S. Richards
Thomas B. Richards '37
Mary Savidge Richards '42

Kurt J. Roessner
Eugene E. Roessner '45
Ethel Hawksworth Roessner '42

John E. Schiro
S. Robert Schiro '31

Barbara L. Shaw
Robert C. Shaw '32
Ruth Carhart Shaw '35

Stephen F. Sheckells
Albert W. Sheckells '27

John P. Shields
Kelvin L. Shields '34

Merdyth H. Shipman
Raldo E. Shipman '29

John W. Sholly
Robert F. Sholly MS '46

Angelyn C. Sills
Marjorie Cleaves Sills '39

Peter H. Smith
R. Barlow Smith '27

Frederick E. Snell
Frederick A. Snell '43

Arthur G. Snyder
Isabel Boyer Snyder '34

Maurice W. Snyder, Jr.
M. Wilson Snyder '33

Lloyd H. Stebbins
Robert A. Stebbins '41

Rea L. Strub
Paul T. W. Strub '39
Vera Rea Strub '39

Gerald A. Terpak
Stephen Terpak '24 (deceased)

Bruce M. Thomson
Stanley B. Thomson '34

Claudia V. Tihansky
Theodore B. Tihansky '38

Carol L. Vogel
Charles I. Vogel '37
Virginia Fisher Vogel '40

Roxanne Wakefield
Nancy Kennedy Wakefield '28

Donald A. Watts, Jr.
Donald A. Watts MS '40

Sarah L. Wolslegel
Raymond W. Wolslegel '32

Despite an intensive building program, crowded conditions still prevail in many Ulster schools. This photo shows primary school youngsters in a sunny, well designed school building in a "Dockers" section of Belfast, where a majority of the men of the family work in the shipyard.

allúrac I EIRE*

by JEANNE ROCKWELL NOONAN '42

WORKING one's way to Europe usually conjures up a picture of a college girl shepherding abroad the children of a wealthy family, or, in the case of a young man, there is the old stereotype of tending cattle aboard a rusty tramp steamer.

In the past few years I've discovered several equally worthwhile alternatives and the one that I'd most recommend to any Bucknell family in the teaching field is the work-study system made possible through the teacher exchange program, Office of Education, Division of International Education.

In a way this program, supervised at the top by the Department of State, is a forerunner of the current Peace Corps project and it is, I might add, one important way of furthering international understanding through actual change-of-jobs, with all the advantages of our nation securing the services of qualified teaching personnel from abroad. At the same time the local public school teacher is gaining knowledge from a first hand acquaintance with a teaching assignment and life in a foreign land.

Hazards there are, on both sides, but in the long run there is a grass roots furtherance of the cause of peace.

Although we were predisposed to favor an assignment to Northern Ireland, we had no idea of just where we might be sent when my husband applied for an exchange. We were allowed to stipulate three possible areas of choice and ours was Great Britain, Holland and Portugal. We've decided since that it was sheer luck, and our having a County Waterford surname that resulted in our spending a unique year in Belfast. Possibly the fact that my husband taught physical education in junior high school (with considerable graduate work in American history) and the circumstance of a Belfast teacher in the same field applying at the same time had something to do with our selection.

* Freely translated, "Foreigner in Ireland."

Normally there are 500 American teachers applying for the 100 posts generally available in Great Britain alone.

The Haunted Isle of Ireland

Americans have a peculiar view of Ireland and are so misinformed as to the social and political history of the country that anyone planning a trip there will surely get little out of it without spending at least a year in advance reading and study. This statement is doubly true for a teacher hoping to be selected for one of the three Ulster posts generally available. Since the exchange is part of the Fulbright program, with administrative financing originally made possible through credits due the U. S. A. from the sale of surplus World War II material and agricultural products, the 26 counties comprising the Republic of Eire did not at the time of our exchange year (1959-60) take part in the program, southern Ireland being a neutral nation. Many Irish volunteers joined the fighting from both north and south but Eire did not join England and America in the war against Nazi Germany and did not allow us to have Atlantic sea frontier bases there. On the other hand Ulster, a province of Britain, afforded our Navy harbors in Londonderry and Belfast and thousands of American troops passed through the north on their way to Britain and the continent.

Today it is ironic and troubling to see the intensive investments of Krupp and other German firms, engaged in a vast industrialization and power program in southern Ireland, while in the north, DuPont and other U. S. firms are beginning to construct chemical and similar industrial plants. Such ventures are a direct result of the pro-German, anything-to-spice-England feelings of some of the people of the south, and the more moderate England-and-America-hands-across-the-sea sentiments of the predominantly Protestant six counties of Ulster.

Despite the constant push of the south against the border, with machine gunnings, customs post and mail van bombings, the major geographical entity that is Ireland is breathtakingly beautiful in a hauntingly unspoiled way. Roads are good, scenery unmarred by commercialization, and in the rural areas particularly, the people are friendly and the land peaceful. Ruined castles, abbeys, stone circles from pre-historic times, legends of greatness and glory—all attest to a tumultuous and richly cultural past. As for the present, we found Belfast not too different from any busy provincial city. Residents there work hard in the great shipyards, the sprawling linen mills and the new electronic factories. Unemployment is a constant problem and with it comes the constant drain of youth and talent through emigration to Canada, Australia and the United States of America. This in itself leads to certain tensions, particularly in the case of Irish-Americans who leave the “old folk” in the hands of perhaps unwilling relations, then return to tell of the high wages and relatively rich and comfortable living to be found “back in the States.”

Schools of Ulster

The schools of Ulster afforded us a real opportunity to assess the vaunted British educational system and oddly enough, it was soon apparent that valid comparisons cannot be drawn fairly; both the American system and that of the British being governed by entirely different sets of economic circumstance and philosophy. For many years Britain was dedicated to educating, through a rigid classical system, the talented and well-to-do elite of their nation. Our system has for the most part been devoted, particularly since the late 1800's to a free public education for all, by law through age 16 and by custom in recent years for a majority of children through age 18.

Nowadays both systems are changing to meet the challenges of the future. We are paying more attention to enriching the school experience of the gifted and the British are broadening the base of their system along more democratic and progressive lines, with less rigidity as to method and approach. It is obvious that both nations are making valiant efforts to provide the best education possible for all young people, regardless of station in life.

That last phrase brings us to a point not always evident when we think of America, and that is the relative ease of social mobility here. In England, despite the efforts of the Labor governments from time to time, class stratification is immediately noticeable. This point was brought home to us when we visited a well kept dairy farm in Antrim County, Northern Ireland. We were passing a beautifully walled demesne with a fine Georgian mansion set back in an unkempt parkland.

“Who lives there?” I asked.

“Thon's where the GENTRY live.” This reply was made with a duck of the head and a respectful glance, in tones that revealed only too well the nature of class relationship. America may have class lines drawn by money, birth or intellectual status but you can't compare this to Britain, where the rich and talented have traditionally bred the rich and talented. The results of such a process are admirable in a way, and we enjoyed an occasional glimpse of such people, in the streets and at various meetings where it is evident that strong flinty characters make for strong intelligent faces that stand out markedly in a crowd. We gained great respect for British know-how and determination, a talent for triumph and survival over thousands of years of adversity. One quite evident success of British schools is their ability to turn out people who know how to get to the heart of a matter, who talk wittily, convincingly and with great knowledge on an infinite variety of topics.

The Propaganda War

The United States of America appears to be fairly well regarded by the Irish and British alike. One hopes that the carping criticisms we did hear were only the envy prompted frankness any fellow family member of the English speaking union would have for a more affluent society such as ours. In this respect we found it extremely disturbing to be virtually unable to hear the American view of affairs via the weak signal of the Munich based Voice of America, while at the same time in fluent English we were bombarded with the Voice of Moscow constantly assailing our nation on every count, playing up to anti-Americanism everywhere and attempting to brainwash listeners in every part of the British Isle. Our congressmen would have no doubts about expanding the work of Voice of America programs if they realized the damage done to the cause of democracy by these diabolically clever Communist broadcasts. Via the new transistor radios, the most remote shepherd in Ireland can daily hear America flayed and maligned as rich, unscrupulous and constantly war-mongering.

Our exchange year ended via a route that took us for three days through Scotland from Edinburgh down to Cambridge and thence to London to be presented to Queen Elizabeth, the Queen Mother. It was a thoughtful and pleasurable way to end an otherwise arduous year. Despite being hit by an acute illness that plagued us in France and Italy, necessitating hospitalization and an immediate return home, we felt that our “family” exchange year was eminently worthwhile and would strongly recommend the program to any Bucknell graduate in the teaching field.

ABOUT THE AUTHOR—As a student Jeanne Rockwell Noonan '42, pursued those activities that would prepare her for a career in the writing profession. She majored in English with many courses in journalism and served as an editor of THE BUCKNELLIAN. After graduation Jeanne worked in the newspaper business gaining valuable experience that would eventually help her to publish her first book in 1955 entitled My Way of Becoming a Hunter, a biography of her father's adventuresome life as a big game hunter and naturalist.

In 1959 Jeanne, husband Ed and their son Keith travelled to Ireland. While there Jeanne wrote a series of 18 travel articles for daily newspapers communicating to others what she had learned about “the haunted isle of Ireland.” After reading an article by Charles Cargille '56, entitled “Adventure to Indonesia” published in the May, 1961, issue of THE BUCKNELL ALUMNUS, Jeanne was prompted to write the above account of her experiences “to put into words an echo of the concern this young man (Dr. Cargille) feels for the future of our country in a world slowly being swallowed by Communism.”

The Noonans have now returned to the United States and classmates wanting to correspond with Jeanne should write to her at 1500 Longshore Drive, Ann Arbor, Michigan.

FALL SPORTS

CAMPAIGN OPENS

LOSSES to Colgate and Rutgers set Bucknell's football team back to the .500 mark after the first four games, but Coach Bob Odell's team has given indications that it is still one of the top outfits in the Middle Atlantic Conference and Eastern small college circles.

A 12-6 victory was the reward the Bisons received in their season opener with Gettysburg, but the score does not indicate the extent to which Bucknell dominated the contest.

The Bisons outgained the Bullets 294 yards to 46 yards and held a 22-1 edge in first downs. With senior halfback Ash Ditka out of the game because of an injury, senior Ray Cosgrove was switched from right to left halfback and Pat Malone, another senior, was inserted in the right halfback spot.

Malone Stars

Justifying his place in the starting lineup, Malone was the offensive standout of the game as he picked up 108 yards on the ground. Other top performers for the Bisons were sophomore halfback Mike Seigfried, sophomore fullback John Barron, junior quarterback Norm Garrity and senior guard Tom Alexander.

Seigfried was the number two ground gainer with 64 yards. Barron picked up 47 yards and displayed some fine blocking and faking. Garrity, who was making his first varsity start, did a fine job of guiding the offense, and Alexander was named outstanding lineman of the game.

Mike Connell (35) scampers toward paydirt after intercepting a pass by Rutgers' Bill Speranza. Other Bisons are Tom Noteware (74), Walt Mayer (85) and John Thornton (42) alongside of Connell.

Seigfried scored the first Bucknell touchdown on a 21-yard run inside left end to tie the score at 6-6 in the first quarter, and then Malone tallied the clincher on a 19-yard run in the fourth period. Gettysburg had scored in the opening period after blocking a Bucknell quick kick attempt.

Temple Second Victim

Playing at night for the second straight week, the Bisons just managed to pull out an 8-7 victory over Temple at Philadelphia in a hard fought contest.

Trailing by 7-0 going into the final quarter, Garrity led a Bucknell drive that carried 76 yards and culminated in Malone's two-yard slant off left tackle.

The key plays leading to the touchdown were a fourth down quarterback sneak by Garrity back on his own 34-yard line, a 37-yard pass from Garrity to junior end Rene Clements and a fourth down 20-yard pass to Malone that set up the score.

Gambling for a victory rather than a tie on the conversion play, Garrity rolled out to his left looking for a receiver, but, finding no one open, he turned the corner and dove into the end zone, evading five would-be Temple tacklers to score the winning points.

The Owls bottled up the Bison running attack and dominated the first half, but after intermission Garrity began passing and the Bucknell offense was able to move.

Once again Alexander dominated the line play along with Captain Kirk Foulke. A senior from Monaca, Pa., Alexander had been named to the Eastern College Athletic Conference team of the week for his play against Gettysburg and was selected by his coaches as the outstanding defensive player against the Owls, the second week in a row that he had received the honor.

Taking a 2-0 record up to Hamilton, N. Y., the Bisons were dumped for the first time this fall when Colgate unveiled a tricky sophomore halfback. Jim Heilman, who combined with quarterback Dan Keating to lead the Red Raiders to a 13-0 victory.

Streak Broken

The loss ended a seven-game winning streak that had begun with the Lafayette game last year. The Maroon outgained the Bisons 309 to 185 yards and the Bucknell attack was halted for the most part with the exception of a drive late in the first half that stalled on the Colgate one-yard line when time ran out on the Bisons.

In this scoring threat Garrity connected with four key passes, but failed to run the ball over on a quarterback sneak just before the half ended. Foulke was selected as the outstanding Bucknell defensive player of the game.

In addition to seeing their winning streak snapped, the Bisons also lost the services of Garrity for an undetermined

Bisons Even After Four Starts; Booters Lose First Three; Frosh Gridders Lose Opener

by BRADLEY N. TUFTS Sports Information Director

period. Norm suffered a chipped bone in his leg four plays before the end of the game and it is doubtful whether he will see any more action this fall.

This was a big blow to the Bisons as Norm had been selected to take over the quarterback post vacated by the graduation of Little All-American Paul Terhes. Terhes, incidentally, played briefly with the Boston Patriots of the American Football League before joining the Marine Corps in the beginning of October.

With a tough Rutgers team as the Homecoming foe, Odell was forced to find another quarterback and his choice for the starting job against the Scarlet Knights was Ron Giordano, a junior from Collingswood, N. J.

Rutgers Spoils Homecoming

"Gio" and his replacement, Don Rodgers, a promising sophomore from Pittsburgh, did an adequate job, but the Scarlet Knights capitalized on two early Bison fumbles and an intercepted pass to run up a quick 21-0 score, and although the Bisons came back with a first half tally of their own they couldn't dent the Scarlet defense.

Mike Connell, a sophomore halfback from Pittsburgh, intercepted a pass by Rutgers' quarterback Bill Speranza and ran it back 35 yards for a touchdown midway through the second quarter, but the Bisons failed to narrow the gap any more as two potential scoring threats bogged down in the third and fourth quarters.

Bucknell moved to the Scarlet 10-yard line early in the third period, but passes by Giordano fell incomplete on third and fourth downs. Early in the final stanza Rodgers clicked with Connell for two big passes to give the Bisons a first down on the Rutgers' 18-yard line, but on the next play one of his passes was intercepted by Sam Mudie in the end zone.

Mudie was the offensive standout of the game, passing and running for 108 yards and scoring eight points.

Soccer Team Falters

The football team had its troubles in the early games, but the situation was even worse for the Bison soccer team.

Playing on the road for the first three weeks of the season, Coach Hank Peters' booters dropped contests to Temple, Elizabethtown and Cornell, and were scheduled to face Gettysburg in the battlefield city before meeting Penn State in the home opener on October 24.

In an afternoon preliminary to the Bucknell-Temple football game, the Bison booters dropped a 5-0 decision to an Owl team that appeared to be one of the strongest units that a Bucknell soccer team has faced in recent years.

In the next two games the booters were on the short end of 7-1 and 5-1 scores against Elizabethtown and Cornell. Lyman Ott scored the lone Bison tallies in both contests.

In addition to Gettysburg and Penn State, the Bucknell soccer team will also face Lafayette, Lehigh, Delaware, Muhlenberg and Navy this fall.

Freshmen Football

Falling behind by a 15-0 score at the end of the first half, Bucknell's freshman football team came back strong in the final two periods, but fell victim to the Gettysburg freshmen 22-12 in the season opener.

A pass interception by quarterback Bob Haering of Glenshaw, Pa., and a one-yard plunge by halfback Bob Laughton of Norwalk, Conn. produced the first Bison score in the third period.

After the home-standing Bullets had notched their final tally late in the third quarter, the Bisons came back with their second touchdown on a 55-yard run by halfback Charlie Thomas of North Braddock, Pa.

Outplaying the Bullets in the second half the Baby Bisons gave an indication of things to come and Coach Bob Latour feels that his squad should improve with every game.

In their other three games this fall, all of which will be played in Memorial Stadium, the Bison freshmen will face the Bloomsburg and Lock Haven State College junior varities and the Lehigh freshmen.

1961-62 BASKETBALL SCHEDULE

Date	Opponent	Place
Dec. 2	—St. Joseph	Philadelphia
Dec. 7	—Lafayette	Easton
Dec. 9	—Cornell	Ithaca, N. Y.
Dec. 12	—Delaware	Newark, Del.
Dec. 16	—Gettysburg	Home
Jan. 2	—Rutgers	Home
Jan. 4	—Gettysburg	Gettysburg
Jan. 6	—Delaware	Home
Jan. 9	—Penn State	University Park
Jan. 12	—Navy	Home
Jan. 27	—C. C. N. Y.	New York, N. Y.
Jan. 30	—Temple	Home
Feb. 2	—Rochester	Rochester, N. Y.
Feb. 3	—Colgate	Hamilton, N. Y.
Feb. 7	—LaSalle	Home
Feb. 10	—Pitt	Home
Feb. 13	—Penn State	Home
Feb. 17	—Buffalo	Buffalo, N. Y.
Feb. 21	—Albright	Home
Feb. 24	—Lehigh	Bethlehem
Feb. 28	—Muhlenberg	Home
Mar. 3	—Westminster	New Wilmington

FOR THE RECORD

A review of selected items of interest

about Alumni, Faculty and important events

and developments at Bucknell University

Kress Study Collection

On Sunday, October 15, the Kress Study Collection of Renaissance Art was formally presented to the University. Following President Merle M. Odgers' acceptance of the gift to the University, from the S. H. Kress Foundation, Dr. Fern Rusk Shapley, Assistant Chief Curator of the National Gallery of Art, presented an illustrated lecture on the twenty paintings and one piece of sculpture included in the collection.

For Alumni interested in obtaining a catalogue-brochure of the Kress Study they should send fifty cents and their order to the Bucknell University Bookstore, Lewisburg, Pa. A limited supply is available.

Twenty-Five Year Awards

At the faculty meeting held on October 4, lapel pins emblematic of 25 years of service on the Bucknell faculty were presented by President Merle M. Odgers to William D. McRae, Jr., professor of music; Dr. William I. Miller '26, professor of mathematics; and Dr. Walter H. Sauvain, professor of education and director of extension courses. On behalf of the thousands of Bucknellians who have studied under these fine teachers, may we extend best wishes to them on the attainment of this milestone in their careers.

Chapel Program

Addresses by twenty noted preachers, religious leaders, and educators, and six sermons by the Chaplain of the University, Dr. Herbert W. Richardson, highlight the chapel program for 1961-1962.

Three college presidents are listed among the guest speakers who have accepted invitations to participate in Sunday morning chapel services during the coming academic year. They are Dr. Samuel D. Proctor, president of North Carolina Agricultural and Technical College, Dr. Herbert Gezork, president of Andover-Newton Theological School, and Dr. Gene E. Bartlett, president of the Colgate-Rochester Divinity School.

Other leading educators scheduled to speak include Dr. Samuel H. Miller, dean of Harvard Divinity School; Dr. William H. Hamilton, professor of Christian theology and ethics, Colgate-Rochester Divinity School; Dr. E. William Muehl, professor of practical theology, and Dr. B. Davie Napier, Holmes professor of Old Testament criticism and interpretation, Yale University Divinity School; and Dr. Joseph Sittler of the Federated Theological Faculty, University of Chicago.

Among the well-known clergymen who will appear as guest speakers are Dr. George A. Buttrick and the Rev. Harold C. Phillips of the Union Theological Seminary; Dr. John O. Mellin, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, New York; Dr. Carl A. Michalson of Drew University Theological School; and Dr. Albert C. Outler of the Perkins School of Theology, Southern Methodist University.

New Department Chairmen

Dr. Russell A. Headley, Dean of Bucknell University's College of Business Administration, has announced the appointment of three chairmen to head the College's new departments.

Charles T. Ressler '52, has been named chairman of the Department of Accounting. Dr. Neil F. Shiffler has been appointed chairman of the Department of Business Administration, while David E. Horlacher has been named acting chairman of the Department of Economics.

Mr. Ressler received the Bachelor of Science in Commerce and Finance from the University in 1952. After receiving his master's degree from Bucknell in 1953, he joined the Philadelphia firm of Peat, Marwick, Mitchell and Company as staff accountant. Two years later he was appointed controller of the First National Bank of Sunbury, a position he held until joining the Bucknell faculty as assistant professor of economics in 1957.

Dr. Shiffler received his doctorate from the University of Pittsburgh this summer and attended the University of Pennsylvania's Wharton School of Commerce and Finance where he earned his Bachelor of Science degree in 1948. He also earned the Master of Business Administration degree in Industrial Relations from the University of Michigan in 1950. In addition to his educational background in business administration, Dr. Shiffler has been associated with numerous business and investment firms throughout his career. Since joining the Bucknell teaching staff as assistant professor of economics in 1954, he has been closely associated with the Bucknell Business Forum, and in recent years has served as director of the Forum.

The Roxy Theatre, a familiar Lewisburg landmark to many Bucknellians, has now disappeared from the Community scene. Actually, the end of an era came fully five years ago when the movie house was closed to the public.

A member of the Bucknell faculty for the past two years, Mr. Horlacher holds the Bachelor of Arts degree from Dartmouth College and the Master of Arts degree from the University of Pennsylvania. He has served as economist for both the Department of Labor and the Social Security Administration. Prior to joining the Bucknell faculty as lecturer in economics in 1959, he taught at the University of Pennsylvania for three years. He was appointed assistant professor of economics last year.

Books
—BY ALUMNI AUTHORS

MARION PHILLIPS MEYER '43, co-author with Isabelle Graham, Janice Loper Fanelli and June Van Jones Moten

Twins—A Guide to their Education

Published by the Main Line Mothers of Twins Club, 612 Wallace Drive, Wayne, Pa., 1901 ($1.25)

Even if you do not now have twins in your family your next baby may be twins, so you will need this very interesting publication of which Mrs. Thomas Oliver Meyer (Marion G. Phillips '43) is a co-author. Marion had special experience to make her qualified on this important subject, having had three "single" daughters born before her twins, Naomi Gertrude and Ruth Irene, arrived in 1955. The book is not just for parents of twins, but written to be used as a guide in handling twins by parents, relatives, teachers, and school principals, and any other person with whom twins might come in contact. The theme and emphasis is on guiding twins toward independence and individuality. Eleven interesting chapters on twinship, the book has an interesting appendix that will be interesting to those who, like this, reviewer, do not realize that a whole new branch of information on twins has appeared in our literature. The book is well illustrated with interesting sketches and will make an ideal Christmas gift for a family with twins—if you are sure you are not going to be eligible to use the book yourself.

The Kress Gallery in the Ellen Clarke Bertrand Library.

HONOR ROLL ADDITIONS

Since publication of the printed report of the Dual Development Fund Campaign, the campaign office has received additional pledges and gifts from Bucknellians whose pledge cards were received too late to be listed in the report, and we wish to acknowledge these gifts and thank the donors.

In the September issue of THE BUCKNELL ALUMNUS, we published additional names and added them to the growing list of contributors. Since publication of the September issue, we have been informed that the following persons have contributed to the campaign: Dr. and Mrs. Drew F. Seibert '52 (Eleanor R. Mendelson '54), and Mr. C. G. Tournay, a Bucknell parent.

Also, the Class of 1936 at its 25th reunion on June 3, 1961, voted to contribute money held in their Memorial Reserve Account to the Dual Development Fund.

OPERATION MAINTENANCE

During this last official pledge year of the Dual Development Fund, Bucknellians are in their Annual-Giving effort somewhat in the position of Alice in Wonderland—running to stay where they are. For, while many are "running" to complete their payments on capital pledges, the need for current budget (bread and butter) dollars through the annual-giving program continues. So, the call is for "Operation Maintenance"—to reach in the annual gifts for 1961-62 the same level achieved in the last full year of the Annual-Giving Program in 1958-59 before its merging with the capital gifts campaign.

Normally, mere maintenance of a previous year's giving would mean no progress for Bucknellians, for they have substantially raised their giving achievement each year since the inception of the Alumni Annual-Giving Fund in 1948. But to maintain the heights of the high year prior to the Dual Development Fund while its pledges are being met will be progress typical of Bucknell's Alumni. Furthermore, it will mean that the University can keep its jet-black budget (the most appealing color in university administration) in addition to the capital gains made in endowment and plant improvement achieved by the over-subscribed $2,300,000 Dual Development Fund.

In 1958-59, our Alumni reached $58,000 in annual gifts to the Alumni Annual-Giving Fund. Contrast this with the total of the first year of operation of the Alumni Annual-Giving Program, $5,000, to feel the pulse of progress among Bucknellians.

Can we recover the 1958-59 level in 1961-62? Your "Yes" vote in whichever category is appropriate for you will make it possible:

- ☐ 1. Although I have never given to the Annual Fund before, I'll start in this strategic year when my gift will count more than ever.
- ☐ 2. I've made my gift or paid my pledge to the Dual Development Fund, so I'll resume annual giving this year—and on a higher level if I can. (Yes, I know my D. D. F. gift carried credit for Annual Fund giving for my pledge years.)
- ☐ 3. Although I'm still meeting my capital-gifts pledge, I can manage something for Annual-Giving this year, too.
- ☐ 4. I am still paying on my D. D. F. pledge this year, but I'll join the Annual-Giving band-wagon next year.

If you voted "Yes" to any of these, you will help Bucknell maintain its most important habit—making progress.

Alumni Interest Increases as a Variety of Programs Help Alumni Clubs Aim for New Records in Number of Meetings Held During 1961-1962.

THE RECORD

DENVER	July 9	PITTSBURGH	September 8
Meeting: Family Picnic		Meeting: Freshman Reception (Women)
SOUTHERN FLORIDA	July 13	ROCHESTER	September 10
Meeting: Annual Dinner		Meeting: Freshman Reception
Campus Guest: JOHN H. SHOTT '22		LANCASTER	September 10
C. BRUCE ROSSITER '56		Meeting: Freshman Reception
YORK	July 15	TRENTON	September 10
Meeting: Family Picnic and Freshman Reception		Meeting: Freshman Reception
ST. PETERSBURG	July 18	Campus Guest: JOHN H. SHOTT '22
Meeting: Luncheon		WILMINGTON	September 10
Campus Guest: JOHN H. SHOTT '22		Meeting: Freshman Reception
PHILADELPHIA	July 22	WASHINGTON, D. C.	September 10
Meeting: Family Picnic		Meeting: Freshman Reception
NORTHERN NEW JERSEY	July 22	Speaker: DR. EUGENE D. CARSTATER '26
Meeting: Family Picnic		SOUTHERN NEW JERSEY	September 10
ATLANTA	July 24	Meeting: Freshman Reception
Meeting: Dinner		Speaker: KENNETH W. SLIFER '26
Campus Guest: JOHN H. SHOTT '22		NORTHERN NEW JERSEY	September 10
SOUTH CAROLINA	July 25	Meeting: Freshman Reception
Meeting: Dinner		CLEVELAND	September 11
Campus Guest: JOHN H. SHOTT '22		Meeting: Freshman Reception
DURHAM	July 26	WESTCHESTER	September 12
Meeting: Dinner		Meeting: Freshman Reception
Campus Guest: JOHN H. SHOTT '22		Campus Guest: JOHN H. SHOTT '22
RICHMOND	July 27	READING	September 12
Meeting: Dinner		Meeting: Freshman Reception
Campus Guest: JOHN H. SHOTT '22		Campus Speaker: RAYMOND K. IRWIN '44
NORTHERN CALIFORNIA	August 11	NEW YORK CITY	September 13
Meeting: Dinner		Meeting: Freshman Reception
Campus Guest: DR. J. ORIN OLIPHANT		Campus Guest: JOHN H. SHOTT '22
PITTSBURGH	August 20	LONG ISLAND	September 14
Meeting: Family Picnic		Meeting: Freshman Reception
COLUMBUS	August 25	Campus Guest: JOHN H. SHOTT '22
Meeting: Dinner		HARRISBURG	September 23
PHILADELPHIA	August 29	Meeting: Bison Roundup
Meeting: Freshman Reception		PHILADELPHIA	September 30
Campus Guest: JOHN H. SHOTT '22		Meeting: Bison Roundup
BOSTON	September 3	HARRISBURG	October 5
Meeting: Freshman Reception		Meeting: Monthly Dinner
HARRISBURG	September 7	Speaker: DR. GRACE COX
Meeting: Freshman Reception		ROCHESTER, SYRACUSE, TRIPLE CITIES	October 7
Campus Guest: JOHN S. CARHART		Meeting: Bison Roundup
PITTSBURGH	September 7	LEHIGH VALLEY	October 21
Meeting: Freshman Reception (Men)		Meeting: Bison Roundup
Campus Guest: DR. NEIL F. SHIFFLER

CLASS REPORTS

BILL HINMAN journeyed North for Old Monroe Day in the village of our boyhood. He hasn't reported to me yet, but I expect a good many stories of the good old days were swapped.

08 MRS. JOHN H. MATHIAS
(Margaret W. Pangburn)
202 St. Louis St.
Lewisburg, Pa.

Mrs. William W. Long (ELSIE OWENS) was elected assistant secretary-treasurer of the Bucknell Alumni Club of St. Petersburg.

09 MRS. HOWARD L. HEADLAND
(Sarah E. Walters)
3911 First Avenue North
St. Petersburg 13, Fla.

Greetings from St. Pete! After four months of visiting in Pennsylvania, Ohio and Indiana, Howard and I arrived home September 14 and, I must admit, are very happy to be here.

The sympathy of our class is extended to Mrs. Landsrath whose husband, JOHN A. LANDSRATH, passed away at his home, 1703 11th St., Extension N. W., Roanoke, Va., on April 14.

Gleaned from Louisville Times, Ky., while visiting daughter, ELOISE HEADLAND Whitesides '46, in Georgetown, Ind.: "No rocking chairs, please, for our senior ladies. They're on the go around the world and might even try a space trip if the travel agencies offer one . . . Another tourist in her 70's is Mrs. Harry Weeter (MABEL SLOUT). She moves by land, sea and air for six months, mostly in the Orient. Already familiar ground for her are Europe and South America."

Thank you, Helene Shirley, for this very interesting paragraph: "Any Bucknellian visiting the main dining room of the Duquesne

In the main administration building on the University of Alaska campus is a plaque honoring the late Dr. Charles E. Bunnell '00 who was founding president of the University of Alaska. Dr. Bunnell served as president from 1921 until his retirement in 1949. He had taught in Alaska public schools from 1900 to 1907; was a lawyer from 1908 to 1915; and served as a U. S. federal judge from 1915 to 1921 when he became the first president of the University of Alaska.

In the above picture Miss Karen Johnston, a University of Alaska sophomore, and A/2C Robert Betzer, Lewisburg resident now stationed at Eielson Air Force Base, view the plaque.

02 MR. ALAN C. CUNNINGHAM
Charles C. Knox Home
Wynnewood, Pa.

One of the prominent University families lost another member with the death, on September 10, 1961, of Mrs. James L. Shields (SARAH ETHEL JUDD). She was 79 and the widow of JAMES LEIGH SHIELDS '06 who died almost thirty years ago. Mrs. Shields was born in Harrisburg on May 24, 1882, the daughter of the late JOHN THOMAS JUDD, D.D. Hon. '04 and Sara Katherine Whitman. Dr. Judd was a former Baptist minister in Lewisburg and served for many years as a trustee and treasurer of Bucknell University. Surviving are Dr. JOHN JUDD SHIELDS '31, Jenkintown; KELVIN LEIGH SHIELDS '34, Pittsburgh; James William Shields, Chevy Chase, Md.; Mrs. Donald C. Ward (ANNA KATHERINE SHIELDS '38), North Weymouth, Mass.; DONALD WHITMAN SHIELDS '44, Beirut, Lebanon; 16 grandchildren and her sister, Miss ANNA C. JUDD '00 who resides in the family home at 79 University Ave., Lewisburg. Funeral services were conducted by Dr. W. Wesley Shrader, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Lewisburg and interment was in the Lewisburg cemetery. The University family extends sincere sympathy to the surviving members of the Judd and Shield families.

To Sarah

Old 1902 has lost a sister dear—
And now in heaven she has found old friends
With whom she studied in those far off days,
And knows eternal peace that never ends.

03 MRS. HARRY C. HERPEL
(Elvie Coleman)
1250 Park Ave.
McKeesport, Pa.

We regret to report the sudden death of G. HERBERT STEWART at Hamilton, N. Y., on Thursday, September 7. Mr. and Mrs. Stewart were returning from a three-week vacation in Maine. They had spent a happy Wednesday evening with no warning of illness. Thursday morning, with only fifteen minutes of warning, he passed away. Mrs. Stewart lives at 7034 Greene St., Philadelphia. The Class of 1903 extends sincere sympathy to Mrs. Stewart, two sons and their families. Herbert was a son of Prof. ALBERT STEWART '76, a former teacher of mathematics at Bucknell University. He was a civil engineer with P. R. R. before his retirement. Having retired several years ago, he and his wife traveled quite extensively, one most interesting trip was to the Holy Land.

IDA E. LUCHSINGER attended Commencement this year. You will find her in the Emeritus Club picture.

Your reporter has been doing some flying back and forth from Philadelphia to Pittsburgh. Quite a time saver between ten hours by train (including a wait at Washington, D. C.) and sixty-six minutes in the air.

Your reporter would appreciate some news from other classmates. Let us hear from you.

05 DR. JOHN C. SANDERS
R. R. 6
Chambersburg, Pa.

On April 26, 1961, our worthy classmate JOHN B. SMILEY of Washington, D. C., represented Dr. Odgers and the University at the inauguration of Dr. James Madison Na-brit, Jr., as president of Howard University, Washington, D. C. He reports that it was a great pleasure to act in that capacity for the affair was outstanding and an unusual occasion. There were more than 300 highly placed educators and degree holders in cap and gown representing practically all the better known institutions in the U. S. A. and overseas.

06 MR. WILLIAM L. DONEHOWER
22 N. Fifth St.
Lewisburg, Pa.

Membership in a civic club is always newsworthy but cannot always be mentioned in these columns for hundreds of Bucknellians are serving with distinction in service clubs across the country. However, it is noteworthy when one of our number achieves leadership stature in one of these organizations. Such a man is ROMAIN C. HASSRICK, Esq. In 1960 he served as president of the Kiwanis Club of Philadelphia and now that his term of service as president has ended he continues to attend regularly as well as serve as chairman of the laws and regulations committee and is a member of several other important club committees. Other Bucknellians in the Philadelphia Club who are serving with distinction are Ridgeway Kennedy, Jr., a trustee of Bucknell University, who was president of the organization in 1959 and led the club to a new high apple-selling record in 1960. In a club that is noted for its singing, it is perhaps natural that we would find P. HERBERT WATSON '37 a member of the music committee and one of the leading members of the Kiwanis Chorus.

07 DR. LEO L. ROCKWELL
602 Charles St.
Lakeland, Fla.

JUNE REUNION

MARY STANTON Speicher has sent me a detailed account of the disposition of RUTH JONES' $300,000 estate. The bulk of the estate was left for college scholarships, to be awarded under the trusteeship of Mary and her lawyer husband John Speicher. This year one scholarship of $1,000 was granted a colored boy because of his outstanding scholarship record in high school. Nine other $500 grants were made to high ranking high school graduates of slender means.

Ruth's estate, of an amount surprising for a teacher, was the result, Mary says, of a life of rigid economy and self-sacrifice, the accumulation of many years being invested under the guidance of the Speichers, who were chiefly concerned with sage investment.

As a Reading newspaper commentator who told the story commented: "Her worthy legacy—built on a dream and a goal—is a living monument that Miss Jones loved all her pupils, regardless of race or creed."

A good letter from GEORGE RIGGS tells of several recent operations; but George says he feels like a Southern fellow-student in theological seminary who used to say: "Ah sleep well and eat well; but Ah have no disposition to wuk." George, don't worry about that; you've done your share; you deserve a little loafing.

In mid-ninety Florida heat it's difficult to summon up the energy for a rip-roaring reminder that our 55th reunion comes next June. But mark that date: June 2, 1962. Be there!

Club of Pittsburgh Tuesday, August 29, would have observed a happy group of Bucknellians at a prominent table enjoying lunch and reminiscing concerning Bucknell affairs of long ago. They were guests of Dr. JOHN T. SHIRLEY, senior trustee. The guest list included: HARRY BLAIR, Pittsburgh manufacturer, ALLAN RITTER, lawyer, Los Angeles, Calif., all members of '09; A. R. MATTHIESON '20, trustee, U. S. Steel; ALLAN SHIRLEY '35 and Thomas Christo, Pittsburgh realtor, whose son, Thomas, Jr., will become a member of the Class of '65 in September."

GEORGE F. BAILETS was elected secretary-treasurer of the Bucknell Alumni Club of St. Petersburg and your reporter was re-elected first vice president of our club.

For Thanksgiving we hope, "... Ye shall gather with one accord, And hold in the month of November, Thanksgiving unto the Lord," as Margaret Junkin Preston expresses it.

For Christmas I wish to contribute as my best wishes for all you 1909'ers this:

"If a fragile thing like a Christmas Thought stays alive in ink after being caught,
Then here is a wish for your Yule content.—
A song for each day,
A star when it's spent,
And a loving and laughing accompaniment."

So long 'til January, 1962. Please help me to start the New Year right and send me by early November some news. Au Revoir.

10 MISS MILDRED B. CATHERS
100 W. 33rd St., Apt. 6
Bayonne, N. J.

With deep regret we record the death of FLOYD D. BEEMER at his home in Clarks Summit on July 29, 1961. While at Bucknell he played on the varsity football team. He was a member of Kappa Sigma fraternity. After graduation Floyd became a banker and investment counsellor associated with A. W. Benkert and Co. of New York City until semi-retirement in 1953. He had held elective positions in the borough of Clarks Summit and served two terms as school director. He was also one of the borough auditors. He was a Mason and had recently been presented with a fifty-year pin for Blue Lodge membership; he also held membership in the Consistory and the Shrine. He was a member of the Methodist Church. To his wife, daughter, and son members of his class extend their heartfelt sympathy.

11 LYMAN C. SHREVE, ESQ.
512 Masonic Building
Erie, Pa.

EARL HINMAN and Mrs. Hinman visited in New Hampshire and bragged about the fine mess of trout he caught. He stopped in Clarks Summit long enough for a talk with BOB SISSON who is loyally taking care of Mrs. Sisson in her continued illness. He also went down to Wilmington, Del., and talked with MATILDA GOLDING Starkweather who keeps busy in the Friends' Meeting House. She spends much of her time in their ministrations to the unfortunate. Earl had a bit of advice to the Florida folks. His brother, DUD HINMAN '07, visited Earl in Glenside and went to the great DuPont Gardens at Kennett Square. Dud says there is nothing like that in all Florida. Let the Rockwells, Rosers, and Harrises take notice.

HERBERT LLOYD's son, Roger, is doing research work in chemistry with the FMC Corp. in their laboratory at Princeton, N. J. He took his graduate work in West Virginia University.

DORA RAYMOND SCHULER visited with her old "pal" GRACE COBB Hann in Middletown, N. Y., before returning to help her doctor husband in Warren.

The SHREVE family took our vacation basking in the sands on the shore of Lake Erie.

Since the reunion in June HERBERT LLOYD has heard from DORA RAYMOND SCHULER and GRACE COBB Hann, then FLORENCE DYER, MATILDA GOLDING Starkweather, MARGARET CURTIS Bush and indirectly from ELIZABETH KATES. How about it, gentlemen, have you run out of ink? No noose is good noose on the gallows, but not in the Alumni Letter.

12 MRS. H. W. HOUSEKNECHT
(Maze Callahan)
108 W. Penn St.
Muncy, Pa.

JUNE REUNION

I imagine there were more Koffeklatsches in the United States last Wednesday morning among the young mothers than at anytime during the year. Reason—Kids went back to school.

KATHRYN OLDT PAWLING and GUNDY '13 stopped for a short visit this summer. Kathryn seems somewhat improved. Was so glad to see them.

Found a note in my door from F. H. ENTZ '24. Son was one of my star pupils who graduated under me in 1919 while teaching in the Montoursville High School. He is now Dr. HAROLD ENTZ, a famous surgeon in urology in Waterloo, Iowa.

Had a short visit with our children in Camp Hill. While there FRANK HEAN and Petrona entertained the MIKLES and us for dinner at the Hotel Harrisburger. Had a wonderful time. Just talked, talked, talked and then some more.

BUCK '22 and Mrs. Buck stopped by one evening last week to check on our reunion plans. They had been to the Little League game in Williamsport.

Had a telephone call from JIM HARRIS in Wilkes-Barre. He is all enthusiastic over our 50th reunion. We plan to get together very soon.

Pop and I had made a trip to Lewisburg to make reservations for our big dinner Friday evening, the night before the Alumni Luncheon. Remember we were there in 1947 for our 35th. We were very fortunate to get in on the ground floor because all the eating places are reserved very early.

By the way, did you who were back for our 45th save your badge with your picture on? Will you drop me a card so we shall know how many to make?

You know Pop is treasurer of our church. At the beginning of every quarter there's a tremendous amount of work involved. So he works awhile, growls, uses some choice words then finally says "Well, I'll not take this job another year." I had heard this same lingo so often so I thought I would just let him have it. So one night at dinner I said "I'm just getting tired of your growling about this church work. I have worked for the church for many years and have not regretted one minute. Do you think that watching ball games, playing pinochle, 'sticking' your nose in my refrigerator, knocking the whistle off my tea-kettle—do you think these things are going to get you into Heaven?" All the time he was enjoying his dinner, not looking up once while I was lecturing him, then he said "Are you planning to go? If you are I'll just change my route." You can't win. So I don't know where Pop and I will be meeting you folks.

We are painting. Such a mess! I haven't a screen in the whole place. During my leisure time I have a fly swatter in one hand and a can of Flit in the other.

Will keep you informed about the big day. Want everyone present at the festive board so begin to look for the "stray" ones.

Mrs. Amorita Sesinger Copeland '22 received the Gold Award of Recognition of the Greater New York Chapter of the American Public Relations Association "in recognition of distinguished leadership and accomplishments, and for extensive contributions to the progress and growth of the chapter and the profession."

After a short illness death came to our classmate LESLIE W. STOUT last September 3. Leslie attended our class meeting last June and appeared to be in good health. He had retired three years ago as vice president of the Farmers Bank of the State of Delaware after a lifetime of banking. He was a member of Phi Kappa Psi fraternity and was a past master of Eureka Lodge No. 23, A.F. & A.M. He was also a member of Delta Chapter, R. A. M.; St. John's Commandery; the Lulu Temple of the Shrine; the Kiwanis Club and the Second Baptist Church in Wilmington, Del., where he served as a deacon. In later years he was a member of All Saints Episcopal Church in Rehoboth Beach, Del. BRIGHT, BECK and EARL M. RICHARDS represented our class at the funeral service which was held in the Cathedral Church of St. John. Leslie is survived by his widow, Eleanor Brill Stout, to whom we extend our deep sympathy.

BEN HARRIS, who lives in the Elks Club, St. Petersburg, Fla., was in Lewisburg last September visiting his brother and sister. Ben is retired but remains active in many social activities. Ben never married which accounts no doubt for his excellent health and lack of scars.

The new Bucknell $100,000 Computing Center has been named the Freas-Rooke Computing Center in honor of A. GUY FREAS '57 and ROBERT L. ROOKE whose joint gift made the new installation possible. It must be wonderful to be an engineering student these days. All they have to do is feed some facts into the machine and out comes the answers. Ministerial students still have to use their heads.

14

MRS. H. B. WEAVER
(Dora Hamler)
348 Ridge Ave.
New Kensington, Pa.

Through the kindness of RAY SPEARE TOPHAM '17, we have the following information concerning MARION SHIVERS, as given in the American Leprosy Mission News;

"Two American Baptist women with advanced ideas, over half a century apart, played an important role in modernizing leprosy work in the ancient Buddhist land of Burma. One, appalled by the terrible plight of destitute leprosy victims in Moulmein just before the turn of the century, established the first home for such sufferers in Burma, and gave it her name. Today the superintendent of the 'Susan Haswell Leprosy Hospital,' an equally compassionate and determined woman, helped to change the home to a hospital and instituted a remarkable social visitation program among clinic patients—the first in all Burma.

Former science teacher, pioneer missionary and professional social worker, Miss MARION SHIVERS, carries on the weekly visitations with the help of student nurses and the leprosy pastor. This Christian team examines all contacts of clinic patients, discovers new cases, encourages children to attend school, refers cases to government health clinics when feasible, urges delinquent patients to return for treatment and instructs in basic health principles. Most important is the opportunity to explain to patients, families and neighbors, in word and deed, the Christian attitude toward a disease which has long been a symbol of shame and disgrace."

And from ERIC OESTERLE, D.D. '16, St. Petersburg, Fla., comes a letter he received from JOSEPH "Kid" MUR HILLMAN with the following quotation marked for our news letter: "We are leaving this coming Wednesday on a trip back to Cincinnati, Ohio, and from here to Bismark, N. Dak., where our Chinese protegee is now living with her husband—an American—and her two sons and one daughter (ages 3, 2, and eight months) so we've Forty Bucknellians and friends attended the annual Bucknell Alumni Club of York picnic on Saturday, July 15, 1961, at the summer cottage of Mr. and Mrs. Marlyn Etzweiler '27. Entering freshmen and their parents were guests of the York Club and enjoyed boating, swimming, water skiing, and bingo.

got at least four weeks to see our yard here grow up in weeds before we return."

The letter is dated August 12 and the Hillman address is 313 Cedar Lane, Harbor Bluffs, Largo, Fla.

ERIC '16 and HELEN OESTERLE now reside at 216 18th Avenue, N. E., St. Petersburg, Fla.

Our thanks to these Bucknellians for sending this news.

15

MISS MARION R. BANCROFT
1308 9th St.
Altoona, Pa.

We are saddened to learn of the death of the husband of our classmate, WINIFRED WERKHEISER Smith. The Reverend Mr. Ammon W. Smith, a retired Lutheran minister, died suddenly recently of a heart attack at his home in Leesburg, Fla. Born in Schuylkill County, he served at churches in Berwick, Williamsport and Worthington, retiring five years ago and going to Leesburg, Fla. We extend sympathy to Winifred and her son, Robert, of Erie.

16

DR. ERIC A. OESTERLE
216 — 18th Ave., N. E.
St. Petersburg 4, Fla.

The above picture showing interesting Inca stone construction was received from HAROLD W. GIFFIN who spent six weeks in Peru.

Aside to RAY SPEARE TOPHAM '17: They gunned me down Ray and I will be doing my best to keep up with you and that Amazin' MAZ CALLAHAN '12 who spoke so nice about my lil ole Helen in her September contribution. I am still one of "Tip's" loyal rooters. All others suffer in comparison with him.

EDITOR'S NOTE: Your class reporter is now working as a parttime chaplain at the Veteran Administration Hospital in Bay Pines, Fla.

17

MRS. ERLE M. TOPHAM
(C. Ray Speare)
425 W. Sedgwick St.
Philadelphia 19, Pa.

JUNE REUNION

For the first time in many years, CLINT SPROUT was not on hand to greet the entering students at Peddie School in Hightstown (N. J.) in any official capacity. He has really retired and reports that after completing his term on the town council, expects to be entirely "footloose." Following the usual pattern, he will do some travelling and already has attended Homecoming at Bucknell and is looking forward to the big 45th reunion of the class next June.

A letter from DON and AILEEN (LARSON '18) FUSIA in response to mine for news, says their life is the average one of a general practitioner. It's been a good one. Their five boys are now well established in their chosen professions and occupations. The last time I reported to you they were planning to retire in 1959 to their Virginia summer home. They did. However they decided to return to their city home and resume a very limited practice. This enables him to work a little and get some time for his hobbies, fishing, boating and golf. They now use the Virginia home as they did before for holidays and vacations. A few weeks ago they had a visit from Buddy Derr (RALPH's son) who looks exactly like his father. RALPH and Sara live in Fox Chapel, close by, and they all see each other occasionally. Don says he feels fine now, so good that he even carries his own golf clubs, and he still enjoys the 19th hole. They promise to make every effort to return in June for our 45th.

LOUISE BASSELL Belcher tells me she and Earl have recently returned from a trip to the West Coast. She says, "While in Los Angeles, Calif. BLANCHE WOOD Sipley '16 and SALLY PARK Titterington and I had a get-together that thrilled all of us. Blanche and I had seen each other occasionally, but we hadn't seen Sally since graduation. How easy it is to pick up threads long neglected! Thanks to Christmas cards we hadn't completely lost touch." Sounds wonderful girls. So glad you could do it. Louise is active in

William M. Lybarger '25

Mr. and Mrs. William M. Lybarger and son, John, have exciting things planned for their next two-year trip to the Sudan — a four-hour donkey ride down into the crater of an extinct volcano and a three-week drive up one side of the Nile and down the other to photograph the area to be inundated by the Aswan Dam.

The Lybarger family recently returned from the Sudan where Mr. Lybarger was "shooting" with a camera to get movies and still photographs for use in educational programs under the U. S. International Cooperation Administration.

Mr. Lybarger visited all nine provinces of Sudan, which is about a third the size of the United States, for photographs to teach geography, history and civics. He took 2,600 feet of colored movie film, 3,400 feet of black and white film, 1,200 colored slides and 450 black and white photographs, recording activities at agricultural and animal husbandry centers and of forestry operations. On field trips he slept in the villages, took part in the tribal dances and was entertained by the native chiefs.

When not globe trotting, Mr. and Mrs. Lybarger and sons, William, Jr., and John, make their home at 17 Smoke-tree Rd., Levittown, with their daughter, Mrs. Nina Zlock.

many things such as church, musical clubs, a couple literary clubs, etc., not as a leader but as a working member. "We have nine grandchildren and count ourselves rich indeed! They keep us young, agile and fairly wide awake!" The Belchers were back for our 40th reunion and I'm sure they are expecting to come for our 45th.

In our next issue I would like to have a nice list of people who are planning to come back in June. Won't you take a minute and drop me a card or a few lines so I can put you on the list? A name on the list often inspires others to come. Let's give it a try, please. Be sure to get it here before November 12 in order to make the January issue. Thanks a lot.

LLEWELLYN R. JONES of 586 Carey Ave., Wilkes-Barre, retired in February after teaching in the public schools for 39 years. He had served as teacher of physics, chemistry and science at Plymouth High School for 6 years and at Coughlin High School for 2 years. When the Meyers High School was opened he was selected to head and organize the science department. He also served as faculty manager and directed athletics for 27 years. Mr. Jones has served on the part-time faculty of Bucknell University and Penn State University. He is active in Boy Scout work as well as church and civic affairs of his community. Mrs. Jones was formerly HARRIET KINSMAN '22, and two of the three Jones sons round out the Bucknell family, namely HAROLD K. '49, and LAWRENCE W. '55.

The birth of a grandson in April is the happiest event in my life this year. He is a joy to his parents and grandmother. My travels took me to Nova Scotia and Cape Breton Island in July and since then just sittin'!

Sadness accompanies this report for a friendship which began in 1919 at Bucknell, ended with the death of SUSANNE STATLER ALTEMUS '21 in July of this year. Our friendship was a close one as our husbands attended Jefferson Medical College together and we have shared many happy days. The deaths of our husbands brought the sharing of sorrow. I will miss her very much.

In June, I received a note from PAUL STOLZ thanking me for accepting the job of class reporter. He had undergone surgery for cataracts in one eye and was returning in July for an operation on the other eye. He hoped to return to Hargrave Academy in Chatham, Va., in September. At this writing we hope recovery is complete. Let us hear from you again Paul. Traveling and roving around the world has been one of Paul's hobbies and made his life most interesting.

21

MISS EDNA M. BAKER
40 Newton Ave.
Woodbury, N. J.

I know all the members of the Class of '21 join me in thanking SARA BERNHART Derr for writing our class notes so conscientiously and graciously for the past ten years. In attempting to follow Sara, I'll need your help. Please drop me a post card telling any events of interest to you or your family.

We were disappointed that DOT LENT Hooper could not join us for our reunion. Dot lives at 7331 N. 50th Dr., Glendale, Ariz., and is teaching there. She is a widow and enjoys her four children and eleven grandchildren.

We regret to have to report the death, on August 6, 1961, of TOMMY MANGAN's wife, the former Edith Chapin. Edie had undergone surgery at Community Hospital in Sunbury during an extended illness. Always active in community Red Cross work during their residency in New York City, she had become very much interested in garden club activities since their retirement in Milton in 1955. Edie will be long remembered for her untiring activities in connection with Bucknell club programs both in New York and Milton.

Rev. D. HOBART EVANS is celebrating the anniversary of 35 years of service to the Hyattsville (Md.) Presbyterian Church. During these years his sermons have contained apt poetry quotations, historical allusions with contemporary applications. Out of his literary interests has evolved a pre-Christmas reading service that has become traditional at the Hyattsville Presbyterian Church. This tradition has resulted from Pastor Evans' memory of a Bucknell professor during his undergraduate days, who gave readings of Pilgrim's Progress. He has served as moderator of the Washington City Presbytery and of the Baltimore Synod. In 1956, the Freedom Foundation awarded him a George Washington medal and a $100 check for his sermon, "This Is America" and in 1960 the same foundation gave him an honor certificate for his sermon, "The Measure of America." In 1959 the 157-year-old congregation moved into its present attractive modern structure at 3120 Nicholson St. Mrs. Evans is the former Anna E. Daniels and has served as president of the Washington City Presbyterian Society and of the Chesapeake Synodical Society. The Evans have two children: David H., Jr., of Woodbridge, Va.; and Diana Ruth, now Mrs. Marshall C. England, Jr., of Richmond, Va. Rev. and Mrs. Evans recently moved into an apartment "so someone else can shovel the snow." Address: 5009 40th Place, Apt. 404 Hyattsville, Md.

22

MRS. GEORGE C. WOLFE
(Ruth H. Brown)
60 S. 2nd St.
Lewisburg, Pa.

JUNE REUNION

The Rev. FINLEY KEECH is now serving as interim minister at First Baptist Church in Boston, Mass. He still resides at 888 Rock St., Fall River, Mass. All of his spare time is being devoted to organizing our class for our big 40th reunion next June. Be sure to say "yes" when he asks you to serve on one of the many committees being organized for the reunion.

EMERSON "DUTCH" MILLER has retired after 37 years of service with U. S. Steel. Dutch began his college education in the Bucknell Academy in 1915 and, with time out for service with the USAAC ambulance unit No. 525, did not graduate until 1922. He began as a laborer in 1924 and when he retired was assistant to the general supervisor of the Fairless Hills plant of U. S. Steel. He plans to be busier than ever following his hobbies of boating, fishing, hunting, and gardening, but must first take time out to build a patio at his home.

23

MRS. LEROY FRONTZ
(Olive Billhime)
Evergreen Farm
Allenwood, Pa.

JOHNNY DIETRICH has retired after many years of service as a coach and teacher at Reading Senior High School. After his retirement in June he and Mrs. Dietrich, the former DOLLIE N. SCHAFFNER traveled to San Diego to visit daughter DOLLIE ANN '5 and her husband, Dr. James K. Wilson, who is associated with the Reese-Stealy Clinic there. Upon his return to Reading, Johnny threatens to turn housekeeper since Dollie will continue to teach 7th grade English at Southwest Junior High School in Reading for another year or two. Johnny, a great fisherman, hopes to continue wetting a line occasionally. Johnny, the fishing is reported good up Lewisburg way—when will we see you here?

27

MRS. L. H. COLLISON
(Grace M. Pfeifer)
Marydel, Md.

JUNE REUNION

Plans are being made for our Class of 1921 reunion on June 1, 2 and 3, 1962, on the Bucknell campus. Our class officers (Donald E. Wagner, president; Harold F. Weber, vice president; Mrs. Helen Egge Kunkel, secretary and reunion chairman; Harry Ruhl, treasurer) inform me that the week end will get under way with a bang on Friday evening when the class will hold a dinner at the Hotel Lewisburger, beginning at 6:30 o'clock. The details of this big event will be mailed you at a later date.

Members of the class who have expressed a willingness to help on the reunion committee are: Robert W. Dill, Kathryn Gaventa, Helen J. Grove, Mr. and Mrs. Bruce J. Miller (Florence Beckworth), Albert Sheckells and R. Barlow Smith. Any other class members wishing to help with the reunion should contact Mrs. George M. Kunkel (Helen Egge) at her home address: 118 Brown St., Lewisburg.

Mr. and Mrs. DOM B. MARE (MARY G. FOUST) have announced the marriage of their daughter, Mary Jane, to Navy Lt. Kenneth D. Gage (Washington State University) on August 26.

Dr. BRUCE J. MILLER of 112 Devoe Rd., Chappaqua, N. Y., was elected president of the Bucknell Alumni Club of Westchester.

STANLEY A. McCASKEY, JR., secretary of Allegheny Ludlum Steel Corp., was elected president of the American Society of Corporate Secretaries and also became a three-year director of the organization. Stan has had a remarkable career of legal experience and accomplishments in the oil, coal and steel industries. Stan and his wife, the former R. IRENE BELL '26, are enjoying annual trips to various parts of the world. Their home is at 1925 Squaw Run Rd., Fox Chapel, Pittsburgh 38.

The Rev. GILBERT L. BENNETT has been appointed superintendent of the Williamsport District, Central Pennsylvania Conference of the Methodist Church. The appointment was effective in June and will be for a term of six years. His work covers the supervision of 62 ministers and 158 churches. Prior to entering on this new assignment, he had served five years as pastor of the Stevens Memorial Church in Harrisburg. Rev. Bennett is presently serving on the Board of Directors of the Methodist Home for Children at Mechanicsburg and of the Wesley Foundation, State College. Mrs. Bennett is the former Kathryn Fritz. Address: 811 Market St., Williamsport.

28 MRS. H. MONTGOMERY MARSH, JR. (Lorinne Martin)
60 Prospect Hill Ave.
Summit, N. J.

B. DAVID GOLDENBERG writes from Antwerp that he went to Belgium for a six-month assignment and has been there for over three years with Publicker Industries, Inc. He invites Bucknellians passing through Antwerp to contact him at Quinten Matsyslei 24, Antwerp, Belgium.

We regret to report the death on August 5, 1961, of C. ELWOOD HUFFMAN. Elwood owned and operated Mountain Lake House, a resort at Marshalls Creek in the Pocono Mountain area. He was a member and one-time president of the State Game Commission of Pennsylvania.

32 MR. ELLIS F. HULL
11 Broad St.
Allentown, N. J.

JUNE REUNION

In preparation for our 30th reunion on June 2, 1962, I received the following communication from our gracious reunion chairman, Mrs. Warren McClain (MARIAN ASH), who is taking this opportunity to invite each of us to return for a gay time on the Bucknell campus next June. The following letter by Marian is directed as a personal invitation to you.

"Dear Classmates,
"Won't you help me with my woes of being an interim chairman for Reunion No. 30? All you have to do is to reserve the date (June 2, 1962) and then spread the news with an enthusiasm that will be infectious to everyone in your area. This should be our big year but it can be so only if you plan now to re-une on June 2, at Bucknell. You will have a time to remember—we promise."

WILLIAM H. WOOD, Esq., of 107 North 20th St., Camp Hill, has been appointed class fund manager.

GLENN W. ROLLINS rated a half-page feature in the September 3 edition of The Dallas Morning News of Dallas, Tex., because of his outstanding work as executive director of the Dallas Association for Mental Health. Glenn, who earned his Master of Science degree in social work at the University of Texas and had served as associate professor in the Southwestern Medical School of the University of Texas, has had outstanding experience in the field of public welfare in Indiana, Louisiana and Texas. He is married to the former MIRIAM V. STAFFORD '31. They, with their son, David (born in 1946) live at 6908 Meadow Lake, Dallas 14, Tex.

SAMUEL H. WOOLLEY, of Old Wood Road, Morris Plains, N. J., has been appointed executive vice president of The Bank of New York. He is chief investment officer and head of the investment division of the bank. Sam is a director of the Albany Insurance Company, the Provident Insurance Company, the Jersey Insurance Company, and the Bankers and Shippers Insurance Company. He is a member of the U. S. Advisory Committee of Atlas Assurance Company, Ltd., and the Royal Exchange Assurance Company, Ltd. In his spare time he has found time to serve as president of the Board of Education, on the Board of the Morris County Society for Crippled Children and Adults and on the Board of Christian World Missions of the Reformed Church of America. Mrs. Woolley is the former Elizabeth Spring. The Woolleys have two sons, Thomas and Harold.

33 MRS. ERNEST H. ENGELHARDT
(Janet Worthington)
Irondale Place, Millville Rd.
Bloomsburg, Pa.

LATE AUTUMN COLORS

The muted reds and browns and golds of fall Are blended all in grandma's paisley shawl.
JWE. 1961

MARTIN LUTZ, wife Peggy, Peter, and Linda have vacationed for the past several summers at Eagles Mere Lake. Peter is a junior at Bloomsburg College, and Linda is a junior in high school. They all enjoy swimming, sailing, and golfing—also participate in many community affairs.

JULIA HOFFMAN BEIGHLEY is in the second year as president of the Women's Club and is also a director of the Council of Community Services. Formerly a board member of Y. W. C. A., she is now a member of its personnel committee and also a member of A. A. U. W. Her husband, FAY BEIGHLEY '34 is assistant general manager of the Williamsport Plant of Bethlehem Steel, an ardent golfer, and a skillful and artistic wood-worker. Community-minded, he is presently serving as head of the Family and Children's Service Society, trustee of the Presbyterian Church, treasurer of Rotary, and director of the Chamber of Commerce. Their daughter PEACHY's '58 husband is PEYTON D. McDONALD '58 and baby is Peyton, Jr. The McDonalds live at 2400 Elwood Crescent, West Williamsport. Julia's youngest daughter, Julie, is a junior and sociology major at Lycoming College.

DELPHINE VANDINE has two children, Kent, 15; and Debbie, 10; with whom she enjoys swimming, bowling, and ice skating. Part of this past summer they spent at the shore and in touring New England. Formerly an instructor for two years at Beaver College, she is now head of the English Department at Upper Dublin High School.

ELEANOR DODD DUNKERLY's son Robert is a junior at the Merchantville High School (N. J.). This summer they toured Virginia. Eleanor teaches fifth grade and serves on the purchasing committee of the local library.

FOWLER L. TRETON served as sheriff of

George W. Hart '27

Announced recently was the appointment of George W. Hart '27 as vice president, marketing, of the Electronic Energy Conversion Corporation of Bethpage, N. Y.

Mr. Hart joined Electronic Energy after being manager, marketing administration and personnel development for the light military electronics department of General Electric Company. Before this position, he had headed up activities at General Electric's manager development operations at Crotonville, N. Y. Mr. Hart has been actively engaged in the field of marketing for the past thirty years having been associated with the following companies: Bethlehem Steel; Consolidated Edison; Ebasco Services; Booz, Allen and Hamilton; and General Electric. From 1942 to 1945 Mr. Hart served in the U. S. Navy with assignments in Latin America and Central America.

Mr. Hart holds a professional engineering license from the State of New York and is a member of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers, Institute of Radio Engineers, American Management Association and the Society for Advancement of Management. He is a director and past president of the Bucknell Engineering Alumni Association.

The address of Mr. and Mrs. Hart is P. O. Box 236, Bethpage, L. I., N. Y.

Bradford County for three terms. He is a salesman of Falcon Ford at Beatty Motors of Towanda. Son Edmund is a junior at State College. Karen is a sophomore at the same school, and Marilee is in eighth grade.

BEATRICE SMITH Tileston, Hunterdon Medical Center, Flemington, N. J., attended the International Conference of Social Work this past winter in Rome, then toured Italy, France, Spain, and Portugal.

MAX DEMLER's oldest daughter was graduated two years ago from Macalester College and is now married with a son born April 7, 1961. Deanna, his middle daughter, is now a sophomore at the same college. Donna, 15, vacationed this past summer in Pittsburgh and Northern Pennsylvania. Max's hobby is classic cars.

Fabian Bachrach

Robert W. Bruce, Jr. '35

Robert W. Bruce, Jr. '35 recently resigned as senior vice president of the Pittsburgh National Bank to become president and director of the Jewell Ridge Coal Corp. of Tazewell, Va., and Jewell Ridge Coal Sales Co., Inc., of Cincinnati, Ohio.

Upon graduation from Bucknell in 1935 Mr. Bruce began his banking career with the First National City Bank of New York. In 1941 he was employed by the Fidelity Union Trust Company of Newark, N. J., and in 1947 was appointed junior officer. From 1942 to 1946 Mr. Bruce served as an Ensign in the U. S. Navy.

In December, 1950, he was elected second vice president of the Fidelity Union Trust Company and in December, 1953, he was elected vice president. Mr. Bruce moved to Pittsburgh in 1956 when he was named vice president of Peoples First National Bank and Trust Company.

Mr. Bruce also is a director of the Pittsburgh Brewing Company and the Helms Express, Inc.

Mr. and Mrs. Bruce and children, Robert W. Bruce, III, and Ellen Virginia, live on Windsor Road, Fox Chapel, Pittsburgh 15.

34 MRS. WILLIAM S. LIMING
(Ruth E. Rohr)
55 Magnolia Ave.
Garden City, L. I., New York

WILMER D. GREULICH is continuing the operation and directing of the Bryant Teachers Bureau following the recent retirement of Mr. Thomas Bryant, former partner and co-owner of the bureau.

Dr. DOROTHY G. KESTER, following her stay in Portugal, has returned to the states and accepted an appointment as assistant professor of speech at Western Michigan University, Kalamazoo, Mich.

35 MRS. PAUL J. DESCHANEL
(Ann W. Orr)
Chapel Wood
Gambrells, Md.

No news is NOT good news in a news column! We are hard at work on the new job, with no time for letters to individuals, but hope this will serve as a collective plea.

OSGOOD CARUTHERS, formerly a correspondent of the New York Times in Moscow, Russia, was appointed by the late Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld as deputy director of the press, publications and public services division of the United Nations Office of Public Information in September. Before serving in Moscow, Osgood had been foreign correspondent for the New York Times in Rome, Italy, and Cairo, Egypt. He had been with the Times since 1955 and prior to that was with the Associated Press. He served as captain in the 13th Bomber Command during World War II. In 1945 he married Rosemarie Falcone.

GENE ZANARINI was elected second vice president of the Bucknell Alumni Club of Westchester.

36 MRS. HARRY T. SHAUB
(Virginia Nylund)
416 S. Scott Ave.
Glenolden, Pa.

THOMAS W. RAUFFENBART, Esq., was elected president of the Bucknell Alumni Club of Atlantic City in April and DANIEL F. GRIFFITH was re-elected vice president of the Bucknell Alumni Club of Philadelphia.

Please note the change of address for your reporter and send some news items through the new mail box. We were pleased to make the move to our new house in time for the opening of school which this year marked the beginning of junior high for our son Paul.

KENNETH F. HERROLD is teaching at Columbia University and is writing a book on social relations in education. Hope we'll hear more about this at publication time.

37 MRS. PAUL W. ZIEGLER
(Mabel Nylund)
12 Garrison Rd., Parkside
Chester, Pa.

JUNE REUNION

Two of the fair sex responded to the request for news. ANNE WEATHERBY Hitchner (Mrs. Warren E.) writes from 131 S. Main St., Woodstown, N. J., of a "quiet but busy life." Mr. H. is in the lumber business with real estate as an extra-curricular activity. Two teenagers, David (almost 16, water-skier, swimmer) and Jean (almost 13, award-winning baton twirler and also a water-skier) round out the family. Boating was a family activity last summer. A two family activity, really. Anne says the Hitchners and ELLEN GRONEMEYER Taxis and her family are joint owners of a 16-foot boat. Sounds like fun, doesn't it? Another Bucknellian, SALLY KEIPER Kister '36 is still among Anne's friends and they were planning a summer vacation visit when Anne wrote. By this time Anne may be teaching 5th grade. There were plans made in that direction.

The second letter comes from the Lutheran parsonage in Abbottstown where Rev. and Mrs. L. J. Karschner make their home. Mrs. Karschner was BETTY SHIMER. Betty is teaching commercial subjects in the New Oxford High School. Their 17-year-old son, Richard, graduated from high school in June. The Karschners spent last summer traveling in New England and Canada and enjoying nature closer to home with their trailer.

Thank you both for fattening up the column!

Other tid-bits . . . Remember MYRTLE WAMPLER '35, Mrs. Corrin's assistant in Larison? Met her recently in Philadelphia. She is with the Woods School in Langhorne.

Mrs. Frank F. Falcone (M. ELIZABETH MacNAMARA) was elected secretary of the Bucknell Alumni Club of York at their April meeting.

Plans are under way for our reunion in June. Our Silver? Already? Ah well, we have the hair to match. (Except for some of the girls who are cheating a little). See you then? (A direct steal from Loretta Young.)

This is our lucky month! Since starting this column, I have received another letter. This one is from FRANK DUNHAM, who is still playing tennis. And with Frank, Jr. (18), Randall (14) and Bruce (13), looks like they have a ready-made doubles match. Frank also reports on his new job at Portsmouth Naval Shipyard. What a ponderous title! Frank is "Assistant Chief Design Engineer for Naval Architecture." "I'm in the design section, and my job is connected with the design of submarine hulls," says Frank. The Dunhams are enjoying New Hampshire. Their address: 40 Harrison Ave., Portsmouth, N. H.

Mrs. A. Glynn Esch (GEORGIANA CRUM) of 318 9th Ave., Juniata, Altoona, is teaching in the Altoona School District.

38 MRS. JOSEPH T. QUICK
(Mary Bachman)
Wrights Rd., R. D. 2
Newtown, Pa.

ROBERT O. BEERS, Esq., was elected president of the Bucknell Alumni Club of York at their meeting in April.

39 MR. DAVID R. BAGENSTOSE
12 Kinterra Rd.
Wayne, Pa.

Mr. and Mrs. EDWARD RAPP (LAURA J. THOMPSON) are still living in Mexico City with children Elna, Kathrin, and Timothy, where Ed is advertising manager for Selecciones del Readers Digest.

ROBERT E. SMITH, of 447 Fairway Rd., Ridgewood, N. J., has been elected a vice president of the Chemstrand Corp., and is general manager in charge of merchandising, marketing, and advertising. He and his wife, the former PEGGY FARRELL '41 have two children, David and Susan.

40 MRS. JAMES A. MILLER
(Mary McElina)
1492 Colfax Ave.
Benton Harbor, Mich.

Twenty-five years ago we were entering Bucknell; the second generation is now taking its turn. This year Donald Albert Watts, Jr., is a member of the freshman class. He is the son of DONALD A. WATTS, 448 E. Lincoln Ave., Libertyville, Ill. Carol A. Vogel, also a freshman this year, is the daughter of VIRGINIA FISHER VOGEL and CHARLES I. VOGEL '37. The Vogels live at 1318 Pine Wood Rd., Villanova.

ROBERT D. WILT was elected president of the Bucknell Alumni Club of Triple Cities in April, and GERALD F. WAGNER was elected vice president.

Capt. JOHN F. BUCHER is a dental officer at the U. S. Naval Dental School, Bethesda, Md., following a tour of duty aboard the Aircraft Carrier, U. S. S. Lexington during which he visited most western Pacific ports, Hong Kong, Manila and Japan. His wife is the former Kathleen Eckrote and they have two children: Timothy John, 7; and Melissa Ann, 2.

42 MRS. THOMAS R. DIETZ
(Germaine R. Pepperman)
83 Nutt Rd.
Phoenixville, Pa.

JUNE REUNION

Miss JANET HOUSE has been named director of the new office of Public Relations Aids, Inc., in Washington, D. C. P. R. Aids has the world's only complete, automated media system which enables public relations men to select the right editor at all the appropriate media for each news release. The service operates around-the-clock to produce and distribute news releases and photos in this country and abroad. Janet is a member of the Women's National Press Club, Public Relations Society of America, Advertising Club of Washington, and was recently elected to the oard of Directors of American Women in radio and Television. She lives at 2400 Pennsylvania Ave., Washington 7, D. C.

C. MARTIN NEFF was re-elected treasurer of the Bucknell Alumni Club of York at their April meeting.

H. KEITH EISAMAN has been elected vice president of the Bucknell Alumni Club of Harrisburg.

Sad news arrived this past week in a very much appreciated letter from GERT JONES Davis, who wrote to tell me of the untimely death of our classmate, MARY BRISLIN. She is remembered fondly and our heartfelt sympathy is extended to her family. It is always doubly sad when anyone so full of plans and in the prime of her life is taken.

DWIGHT MILLEMAN was elected president of the Bucknell Alumni Club of Southern Florida. His picture in the September issue of THE BUCKNELL ALUMNUS was amazing, as he looks exactly the same as he did twenty years ago!

ROBERT O. SHAFFER has been made a partner in the firm of Rohrer, Hibler and Leopold, psychologists to management, in Chicago, Ill. Bob has been with the firm since 1954.

More good news from that same issue was the announcement that CHARLIE JONES, pardon me, Professor CHARLES JONES, has been promoted from associate professor to the academic rank of full professor. Congratulations, Charlie.

By the time you receive this, Homecoming will be a wonderful memory. Let's hope you've managed to get back and that everyone is saving that first week end in June for a big, Big, BIG 20th REUNION!

WALTER S. VANDERBILT, JR., is president-elect of the Bucknell Alumni Club of Westchester, and Dr. BENJAMIN S. KOPLIK was elected first vice president of the same club.

43 MISS CAROLYN F. DONEHOWER
3722 Chestnut St.
Philadelphia 4, Pa.

Kameron Hunter McQuay, born April 26, 1961, became a member by adoption of the family of Dr. and Mrs. RUSSELL M. McQUAY on August 18, 1961, in Oak Park, Ill. His daddy is head of the department of parasitology research and diagnostic laboratory at Mount Sinai Hospital in Chicago, Ill.

LCDR RICHARD A. ELDRIDGE authored his story "The Carrier Landing Story" published in the July, 1961, issue of Approach (The Naval Aviation Safety Review) for which he did all the research and writing. All his operational flying has been from carriers, ranging from World War II jeeps to the Forrestal class. He has a total of 445 carrier landings made with a various assortment of planes. He is presently assigned at the naval aviation center as operations editor of Approach.

JOHN L. ALLEN, M.D., has become associated with the new department of neurology and psychiatry at the Geisinger Medical Center in Danville. John received his psychiatric training at the Menninger School of Psychiatry in Topeka, Kans., and served as chief of the psychiatric service at the Lebanon Veterans Administration Hospital in Lebanon prior to his appointment at Geisinger Medical Center.

Mrs. Calvin L. Clemmer (CLARA J. WALTON) was re-elected secretary of the Bucknell Alumni Club of Philadelphia.

44 MRS. ROBERT F. BAKER
(Honey Rhinesmith)
Lindys Lake, R. D.
Butler, N. J.

Mrs. Reginald C. McCrow (ELIZABETH A. BAUSH) is working on her master's degree at Mexico City College. In December, she with her four children and her husband, who will be president of Mead Johnson International Ltd., will be moving to Evansville, Ind.

Just around the corner from the new American Baptist Convention Headquarters now under construction at Valley Forge, is the Baptist Church in the Great Valley. The Rev. CHESTER T. WINTERS, with the help of his good wife, the former ELIZABETH DYER '41, has been its pastor since 1953 and is directing the celebration of 250 years of continuous Christian witness through the Baptist Church in the Great Valley.

As this is being scribbled, Bob and I are anxiously awaiting Homecoming, but when it reaches you we'll all be looking forward to the holidays. Do have happy, healthy ones, and as the New Year approaches how about that resolution to send a note about yourselves? News is getting scarce again.

46 MRS. LELAND C. EWING
(Elizabeth J. Wells)
41 Crest Dr.
Tarrytown, N. Y.

E. ROBERT LIGGETT, of 2005-A North John Russell Circle, Elkins Park 17, has been elected vice president of Lionel D. Edie and Company, Inc., in charge of sales. The company was founded in 1931 and has acquired national recognition in the fields of investment counseling and as economic consultants, serving some of America's most important industrial and financial institutions. Prior to joining the company in 1955, Bob was associated with the Insurance Company of North America. Mrs. Liggett is the former Anna Kuhn. The couple has one son, Robert, who is 7 years old.

CATHY CASSELMAN Grenhart sends a new address: 1217 Chesterfield Rd., Haddonfield, N. J. She reports having taken up politics, for the very good reason that her husband is running for State Assemblyman from Camden County!

The reunion class letter prompted a response from EDITHE MILLER Levit, M.D.—and what a nice newsy surprise! Why don't more of you loyal readers follow suit as writers too? Since 1961 Edie has been a member of the full-time staff of The National Board of Medical Examiners, the national office being in Philadelphia. She is engaged in test development and administration of examinations all across the country. Small wonder she finds it "tremendously stimulating and exciting work." Her husband, Sam, a specialist in internal medicine and cardiology, is in private practice. With their sons (Harry, 8; and David, 5½) they reside at 1910 Spruce St., Philadelphia 3; and they would enjoy hearing from friends in the area.

47 MRS. HERBERT GOLDMAN
(Tamara Guritch)
370 Holland Lane
Englewood, N. J.

JUNE REUNION

Where, oh where, are the additional names of those who hope to join us at our 15th reunion this June? Please write to me and say that you'll be there.

PRESTON ROBERT TISCH is president of Loew's Hotels, Inc., which opened The Summit Hotel of New York on July 31. New York City's first new luxury hotel in 30 years.

We are happy to announce that Dr. DOROTHY G. WILSON has been included in the newly-published second edition of Who's Who of American Women. After graduation from Temple University Medical School, Dorothy opened offices for medical practice in Sunbury.

48 MRS. JAMES A. BROWN
(Joann G. Gollightly)
1591 Hillcrest Terrace
Union, N. J.

Mrs. Harold H. Peters (BEATRICE M. SMITH) was elected secretary-treasurer of

George N. Jenkins '43

George N. Jenkins '43 has been named coordinator of sales engineering in the new headquarters marketing department of the Humble Company in Houston, Texas. Since 1957 he had been assistant head of sales engineering of the Esso Standard marketing department.

A native of Coraopolis, Mr. Jenkins joined the Esso Research and Engineering Company at Linden, N. J., immediately after graduation in 1943. He was responsible for Esso Research's fleet-test work with automotive fuels and lubricants for several years prior to 1951, when he transferred to the sales engineering division of Esso Standard in New York City. After two years as a senior sales engineer in the automotive group, Mr. Jenkins was assigned to Detroit, Mich., as Esso's engineering representative.

He returned to the New York City headquarters in 1955 as head of the section of sales engineering responsible for automotive and aviation product quality and served in that post until he was named assistant division manager.

Mr. Jenkins is married to the former Elizabeth Ann Morley of Cranford, N. J., and has two children: John B. Jenkins, II, and Judith Ann. The Jenkins' address is 5127 Richmond Ave., Apt. 137, Houston 27, Texas.

the Bucknell Alumni Club of Southern Florida.

Mrs. Walter M. Flinchum (MARIAN E. BURKERT) former teacher in the Annandale High School is serving as librarian in the E. A. Poe Intermediate School in Annandale, Va. Her home is at 7716 Constantine Ave., Springfield, Va.

Hear the pre-season practice football game between our Bucknell squad and Columbia University was a most satisfactory first—just one more way to keep in touch.

Know that you will be glad to hear that FLORENCE FELLOWS Skove and her husband, Jim, and their family have returned from two years in Germany and will be located again in the vicinity of Washington, D. C. My husband and I were happy to have them all over one afternoon to hear the stories of their travels and to talk over old times.

ROBERT H. TAYLOR, of 214 Avon Rd., Narberth, was re-elected president of the Bucknell Alumni Club of Philadelphia.

Frederick J. Griffin, Jr. '43

Frederick J. Griffin, Jr. '43 has been appointed general advertising manager in the public relations department of the New Jersey Bell Telephone Company.

Mr. Griffin's telephone company career started in 1946 when he joined New Jersey Bell Telephone Co. as a student engineer in Newark, N. J. He subsequently held various supervisory positions in the company's commercial department. In 1956 he was named an information supervisor in the public relations department and the following year became a public information manager. He was transferred to the American Telephone and Telegraph Company public relations department in 1958. Since 1959, Mr. Griffin has been assistant advertising manager-sales in the public relations department of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company in New York City.

During World War II Mr. Griffin served as a captain in the U. S. Army.

Mr. and Mrs. Griffin and children, Nancy and Glenn, live at 6 N. Wickom Dr., Westfield, N. J.

ALUMNI TRUSTEE TIMETABLE

November 15—Committee on Nominations submits three candidates to the President of the Association.

December 4—Deadline for Board approval.

January Alumnus—Announcement of names of three candidates in THE BUCKNELL ALUMNUS.

February 15—Petition deadline.

March 1—Election announcement in THE BUCKNELL ALUMNUS.

April 2—Ballots in mail.

May 15—Deadline for receiving ballots in Alumni Office.

June Commencement—Certification to Board of Trustees.

49

MRS. THOMAS A. FRAZIER
(Marilyn L. Harer)
1311 Mansel Ave.
Williamsport, Pa.

Bruce, who was five in February, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. DICK ATHERLEY. He is eager to tell you of the arrival of sister Elizabeth Ayers in January, 1961. Dick is located at the Trenton plant of the Westinghouse Lamp Division, responsible for industrial relations. Besides various community activities, Dick still continues as our class fund manager and with your support has brought the percentage of participation in the fund for our Class of 1949 to a grand 36%—over 300 contributors, a record unmatched by any other Bucknell class in number of contributors.

The Kiwanis Club of Northumberland gave MAL ARTER a baby shower upon the arrival of his first son in June. At the same time his daughter, Connie Eileen, was making a TV appearance of interpretive dancing. Mal still finds time to conduct his orchestra and generally plays for our alumni dance in Davis Gym on Homecoming and Alumni Reunion Week End in addition to his regular duties at radio station WKOK, Sunbury.

JOSEPH W. CHILORO has received notification from the Department of Registration and Education that he has passed his examination and is authorized to practice as a registered professional engineer in the state of Illinois. Joe and his wife, Hilda, live at 1150 Lake Shore Dr., Apt. 5-D, Chicago 11, Ill.

Dr. and Mrs. VICTOR H. DENENBERG (RUTH A. ORNER '51) have a trio of girls. Nancy Gay joined Carol, 8; and Susan, 6; on March 27. Vic is now a full professor of psychology at Purdue University.

Bruce Atherley

50

MISS HELEN E. GLOISTEN
161 Oak St.
West Hempstead, L. I., N. Y.

ERIK J. BLOMQUIST, JR., Esq., has been elected vice president of the Bucknell Alumni Club of Southern Florida.

GEORGE R. LITTLE reports that he is now "settling down" at 733 Fairfield Rd., Glenside, with his wife, the former Sara Jane Miller, and daughter Marjorie, born in June, 1960. George has been on the move since graduation, spending two years with the Navy—seeing the world—and Korea and then with Bell Telephone Company of Pennsylvania except for a period he was assigned to the "Sage Project" with Western Electric in New York, Washington, California and North Dakota. He is an electrical engineer and serves as plant supervisor in executive operations for Bell Telephone.

CHARLES W. RAHNER, JR., has just had another promotion, his fifth since joining Schering Corporation. He is director of the Veterinary Division. The Rahners, with their six children, live at 129 Knoll Terrace, West Caldwell, N. J.

DAVID O. KARRAKER has been promoted to assistant chief naturalist of the Everglades National Park, one of the largest national parks, ranking now with Yellowstone National Park. The Everglades National Park is expanding and three new museums are being built there. For Dave, this is a two-grade promotion from being naturalist of the Virgin Islands National Park. Dave owns a home in the area—but still a bachelor—and is anticipating a visit from his father, Dr. Karraker of the Bucknell faculty, over the Christmas Holidays. Dave's address: U. S. National Park Headquarters, Homestead, Fla.

VERDINE E. CAMPBELL left June 15 with his family for DjaKarta, the Indonesian capital on the island of Java, to serve as structural engineer in the building of a four-lane highway in Indonesia, a government project under the International Cooperation Administration, U.S.O.M. He has been employed for the past five years by the Bucart engineering firm in York. In the Indonesian project he is employed by Robert W. Lowry, Harrisburg consulting engineer, who sent twenty men to Indonesia on this project which will require 18 months to complete. Mrs. Campbell, the former Charlotte C. Stout, and their three children—Terence, Timothy and Cynthia Lee are in DjaKarta with Verdine. Address: Embassy Pouch Mail, Robert Lowry, Incl., USOM, DjaKarta, Indonesia, c/o Dept. of State, Washington 25, D. C.

Peter Feris Mathieson joined brother Andrew and sister "Peggy" of the ANDREW W. MATHIESON family on Friday, September 15, 1961. Helen and "Drew" now live at 7 Rogers Dr., Pittsburgh 38, to the great delight of Mr. and Mrs. ANDREW R. MATHIESON '20.

MARY E. MEYERS of 9406 Lilienthal Blvd., Los Angeles 45, Calif., is an assistant professor of nursing at U. C. L. A. She was visited this past summer by her brother-in-law and sister, Prof. and Mrs. DONALD G. OHL '47 of the Bucknell campus.

51

MRS. WAYNE M. STEVENSON
(Janet Miller)
4611 Surrey Rd., Devon Manor
Harrisburg, Pa.

Mr. and Mrs. Lee McCloskey (LENA GARRO) have shifted base of operations from New Mexico to Florida where they now live at 925 Susan Dr., Lakeland, Fla. Lee is now chief engineer for Armour Agricultural and Chemical Co.—Phosphate Division.

Dr. BERNICE LEAGUS, who earned her Doctor of Philosophy degree in bacteriology at Pennsylvania State University in 1961, is serving as assistant professor of biology at Wilkes College, Wilkes-Barre.

Mrs. ROBERT W. LIMBACHER '49 (JO-ANN GOLDEN) was elected secretary of the Bucknell Alumni Club of Westchester.

52

MRS. JOHN S. BOULDEN, JR.
(Barbara Bleecker)
1605 Twin Maple Ave.
Towson 4, Md.

JUNE REUNION

Mr. and Mrs. John W. Lewis (ELI CHILDS) of 8-A Sayre Ct., Madison, N. J., announce the birth of a son, John Childs Lewis, on August 1.

MARSHALL GOULDING, has been elected treasurer of the Bucknell Alumni Club of Harrisburg.

Dr. ALBERT A. HAYDEN has been promoted to assistant professor of history at Wittenberg University. In 1954-55 he was a Fulbright scholar at Canberra University in Australia where he conducted the research for his doctoral dissertation. He received his Ph.D. from the University of Wisconsin in 1959.

I've just visited with EMILY HILL Sharrett '49 for a few minutes before the Sharretts move from Baltimore, Md., to Little Silver, N. J. Allan has been division commercial manager for the C. & P. Telephone Company here and has just been transferred to A. T. & T. in New York City. From Emily I learned all about Capt. John and BETTS HILL Keecey's travels. Betts, John, and their family (Tish, 7; Tommy, 6; Martha, 3½; and Emily, 1 month) left this country in September for a three-year tour of duty in Germany. They will live in German housing and plan to send the children to German schools.

Capt. GLEN and BONNIE (MACKIE '54) ASPINWALL have moved from Maplewood, N. J., to 150 Hylton Ave., Marumco Village, Woodbridge, Va.

In July I received the following letter from ALLAN JODREY: "My wife, Mildred, I, and our two children, David and Janet, have left Maryland to spend two years in Tehran. I have accepted a position with the International Cooperation Administration in the U. S. Government. I am the assistant budget and fiscal officer here in Tehran. At the end of the two years we will go home for several weeks perhaps to return here or perhaps to another country. I would very much like to know if there are any other Bucknellians over here. We would like to hear from anyone who would like to correspond. Our address is: U.S.O.M./Tehran, A.P.O. 205, New York, N. Y."

July also brought a post card from our nation's capitol from MARY ANN FRITZ. Fritz said she was spending an air conditioned summer working at the National Institute of Health in Bethesda, Md.

ALBERT WADLE, JR. was elected third vice president of the Bucknell Alumni Club of St. Petersburg.

Dr. BEVERLY N. DUNSTON, now the wife of Rev. James A. Scott, received her Doctor of Education degree in nursing education from New York University in June and is assistant professor of nursing education at N. Y. U.

53 MRS. JAMES A. CHAMBERS, JR.
(Barbara Roemer)
15 Walden Place
West Caldwell, N. J.

PETER G. DIAMANDIS, JR., has joined the Lampert Agency, Inc., as vice president or Account Development. He was formerly in charge of travel and other non-fashion advertising at Glamour magazine. He and his wife, the former JOAN LAFFERANDRE live at 10 Little Brook Rd., Rowayton, Conn., and are the parents of three sons, Pete, Chris and Cameron.

Last month the Herwigs, Bruce, SHIRLEY KISTLER), and their sons, Gordon and Bill, arrived in England where Bruce has been sent on a Fulbright exchange. Their address is "Miramar," Castlewood Close, Dial Hill, Clevedon, England.

A. RICHARD MARKSON was elected secretary-treasurer of the Bucknell Alumni Club of Pittsburgh.

HOMER T. MIDDLETON, JR., of 2730 Watson Blvd., Endwell, N. Y., is a senior associate mathematician with IBM in Endicott, N. Y. He served two years in the Signal Corps (1953-1955) and joined IBM in January, 1956, as an assistant mathematician-programmer.

KARL G. ROHRBACH of 210 Haybrook Dr., York, is principal of the junior high school of the Central Union District in York County. This new school, with an enrollment of about 950 pupils, envelopes the borough of North York and two adjoining townships. Karl also is working toward his doctorate degree at Pennsylvania State University. He is married to the former Louise Marker and has daughter, Linda Jo, 7.

Let's hear from more of you!

54 MRS. PAUL C. TARR, III
(Anne E. Tuckerman)
413 Alliston Rd.
Springfield, Pa.

Mrs. C. Paul Brubaker, Jr. (NANCY MARTIN) announces the arrival of daughter, Suzanne, in July, 1961. The Brubakers now live at 700 Anson St., Winston-Salem, N. C.

Mr. and Mrs. LESLIE MAGEE (LAURA De ROSA) announce the birth of a daughter, Karen, on February 22, 1961. The Magees live at 49 Van Houton Ave., Chatham, N. J.

Seven years is a long time, but it was good to hear from Mrs. Mark Neville (BARBARA DAVENPORT). The Nevilles have two girls: Marcia Ellen, 3½; and Barbara Edith, 6 months. They are living at 336 Main St., Coopersburg. Mark is a textbook salesman for MacMillan Publishing Co.

JUDY ESMAY AHLFELD writes that she is still at the same address. David is six now and Jane is four. She thought we might be interested to know that GINNY NAEF, now Mrs. Bruce MacLaury, is practically a neighbor. Ginny finished her A.B. at Columbia and got her master's in education at Harvard. She's currently teaching in the Madison Public School system.

HENRY E. PFISCHNER of 3804 Bella Donna Dr., Glenshaw, was elected president of the Bucknell Alumni Club of Pittsburgh.

JOSEPH F. SCINTO received his law degree (cum laude) from St. Johns University in June, having the third highest standing in the class. While attending night classes in law school, he worked as a chemical engineer (including six months in India as a project engineer). In 1959 he married the former Carol Murdock and they have one daughter, Catherine Blythe, who was born August 2, 1960. Joe is attending Harvard graduate school at the present time.

W. ERNST SPENCER, JR., spent five semesters at Bucknell, left school and entered military service, then transferred to U. C. L. A. and received an A.B. degree in history in 1957. On May 20 he married Sheila Hearon and is now customer service administrator with the Kordite Co. Address: 148 Mt. Vernon Ave., Rochester 20, N. Y.

Frank Durland Hoornbeek, Jr., is a new issue, underwritten by Mr. and Mrs. FRANK D. HOORNBECK, SR., of Richmond Parkway, Kingston, N. Y., on September 14.

Mr. and Mrs. RONALD B. GOODMAN of 74-77 220th St., Bayside 64, N. Y., announce the birth of a daughter, Doreen Ellen, on August 9.

55 MRS. JOHN C. VANCE, JR.
(Jane Jones)
12 Admiral Road
North Severna Park
Severna Park, Md.

Mrs. Foster C. Kitchen (WINIFRED E. MILLER) has been re-elected secretary of the Bucknell Alumni Club of Harrisburg.

Dr. and Mrs. David Pugh (GINNY WIGHTMAN) announce the birth of Catherine Joan on May 20. After completing a residency in internal medicine at the University of Washington in June, Dave began a two-year research project in cardiology and biochemistry.

BETTY KRABER Kopf has written of the birth of Alexander Conrad on April 6, at French Hospital, New York City.

Jeffrey Charles Stilley weighed in at 10 lbs.-4 oz. for Charles and MARTY JONES Stilley on March 27. Truly the large economy size!

From 318 Brooks Lane, Waco, Texas, BOB MCINROY writes of the birth of his daughter Cheryl Ann. He has a son Brian who is 14 months. Bob is a flight surgeon at James Connally AFB. He adds that Dr. JOE ENGLISH recently finished flight training at Pensacola, Fla., and is in Korea.

William M. Wilkinson '46

Bill Wilkinson '46, recently has left Houston, Texas, to accept a new appointment as vice president—finance of a complex of companies in New Orleans, La.

According to Bill the principal companies for which he works are Kalvar Corporation and Thomas J. Moran's Sons, Inc. Moran's is the largest printing firm in the state of Louisiana and is actively engaged in the new "Forms Management" field. Kalvar Corporation is a manufacturer of heat developable photographic film, a revolutionary dry photographic system.

Bill, his wife (Marion J. Weist '43), and family live in a new home at 4519 Perlita St., Apt. B, New Orleans 22, La.

MARV WINSTON recently completed his internship at Long Island Jewish Hospital and began a residency in dermatology in New York. His son, David Stuart, was born on January 25.

A new address for BARB WILLS and JIM FLYNN—411 King George Rd., Haddonfield, N. J. And also two sons—Kevin, born July 29, 1959, and Craig, born February 27.

After graduation ANNA COLE accepted a fellowship to Ohio State and received her M.A. in August of '56. In July of '57 she married Carl Messinger (Scranton '52), and they were soon joined by Carl Cole and Mollie Ann. Nancy has been teaching English and speech in Woodstown, N. J., where her husband is head of the math department. For the last year, however, they have been in Boston, Mass., where Carl has been studying under the National Science Foundation. They returned to 6 Lincoln Ave., Woodstown, N. J., last month.

Did any of you see GEORGENE DUNN Noffsinger walk off with a week of prizes on ABC's Number Please in August? Mink stole, red convertible, trip to California, etc., etc., even elocution lessons and TV tables.

David Gilbert and Amy Gray are the children of Jim and LESLIE TOZIER Sylvanus who live at 139 Berry St., Camden, Tenn. Jim works as a supervisor for the DuPont plant in New Johnsonville, Tenn.

Please note that your reporter's address has changed as my husband has been re-assigned to the Naval Academy in Annapolis, Md.

MRS. WILLIAM L. O'NEIL
(Jean M. Worth)
1706 Esplanade Apt. C
H. Hollywood Bldg.
Redondo Beach, Calif.

WILLIAM T. DYER of R. D. 2, Shamokin Dam, has accepted a position in the Public Relations Department of the Pennsylvania Power and Light Company at Allentown. He has been assigned to the vice president of Public Relations in the Advertising-Publicity Department and will be engaged in production of the company's institutional and promotional advertising programs through the media of radio, television, press, motion and slide films, and house organs. Previous to accepting this position, Bill was a teacher of art in the Middleburg High School (since 1956).

IRVING R. GINSBURG was elected vice president of the Bucknell Alumni Club of Atlantic City in April.

MERRILL LYNN received his Ph.D. degree from the University of Florida and is now a research chemist with the Esso Research and Engineering Company in Linden, N. J. His wife, the former LYDIA A. TIEMANN was a bio-chemistry technician at the University of Florida while Merrill was holding a teaching fellowship and earning his doctorate degree and she has had five technical papers published in the field of protein chemistry. The Lynn's address is 551 Westminster Ave., Elizabeth, N. J.

Word comes from JANE ARNOLD WRIGHT that she, husband Jim, and baby Bonnie Jane are now living at 1923 B Mather Way, Elkins Park. Jane is playing with the Delaware Valley Philharmonic Orchestra and teaching private music lessons. Jim is a graduate of Temple and University of Illinois. He presently teaches health-physical education in the Lower Merion School District, Ardmore.

Rev. and Mrs. Francis Schirer (LARUE SNYDER) now have a baby daughter, Heidi Lynn, born May 20, 1961.

Mr. and Mrs. HERB KAPP (PEG MADDOCK) are now back in New Jersey after spending almost five years in Buffalo, N. Y. The Kapp address is: 2085 Elizabeth Ave., Scotch Plains, N. J. The Kapps have two sons: Douglas, 4; and David, 1. Herb is with DuPont Industrial Bio-Chemicals Dept. in Linden, N. J.

It is now JAMES R. BASTIAN, M.D., for Jim has completed his internship after graduating from Jefferson Medical College in June, 1960. He has entered the practice of general medicine and he, along with his wife (formerly Carolyn T. Schell) and baby Lynn Michele (born August 19, 1961) now live at 509 Glenwood Ave., Williamsport.

JAMES E. JOHNSON has been awarded the Master of Education degree at the Pennsylvania State University and on September 1 began duties as high school principal in Hegins.

57

MRS. PETER CHANNELL
(Catherine L. Evans)
R. D. 1, Black Point Farm
Newport, R. I.

JUNE REUNION

We believe JOAN L. HENRY is fond of campus life as, since leaving Bucknell, she has located on a campus—first at Indiana University where she earned her M.S. degree and worked as administrator of the National Defense Student Loan Fund and, since 1959, she has been on the staff of Trenton State College at Trenton, N. J. Her address there is: Office of Student Personnel Services.

JOHN S. PULIZZI, JR., received his M.D. degree from Hahnemann Medical College in June and is interning at the Williamsport Hospital—quite convenient for him as his parents' home is at 59 Washington Blvd., Williamsport.

Lt. CHARLES S. MYERS is based in Okinawa, flying amphibians in the Air-Sea Rescue Service and assisting in disaster control work. He received his wings in October, 1956, and since that time has been flying jets, super-constellations and has served one year as Disaster Control Officer for the base of Charleston, S. C. Mrs. Myers, the former Dorothy Evers, and daughter Debbie expect to join Charles in Okinawa before Christmas. The assignment in Okinawa is for thirty months. Address: 33rd Air Rescue Squadron, APO 235, San Francisco, Calif.

Dr. and Mrs. Gerald F. Feeney (PATRICIA A. BEAVER) announce the birth of a daughter, Leslie, on June 8. They recently returned from a two-year tour of duty in Hawaii and are living at 27 E. Main St., Canisteo, N. Y.

A daughter, Diane Marie, was born June 8, 1961, and joined the family of Mr. and Mrs. MURL S. CAHN in Salt Lake City, Utah.

58

MRS. FRANK H. RICHARDS, III
(Faith Bonsall)
6 Holman St.
Allston, Mass.

Lt. (jg) ROBERT NICODEMUS was married to Judith Lane on April 22 in the chapel of the U. S. Navy Base, Barber's Point, Oahu, Hawaii. Bob is an aircraft navigator in the Airborne Early Warning Squadron over the Pacific Ocean. He and Judith live in the 50th state of the Union at 1425 Punahou St., Apt. 301, Honolulu 14, Hawaii.

Mr. and Mrs. Meldrum B. Winstead, Jr. (MERLE L. HOLDEN) of 1040 Washington Ave., Lewisburg, announce the birth of a daughter, Deborah Ann, on August 3.

Mr. and Mrs. FREDERICK W. HAUKE of 4526 N. Broad St., Philadelphia 40, are the parents of a son, Michael Eugene, born June 25.

A small Bucknell reunion was held in Heidelberg, Germany, when the WILLIAM H. HOLLENBACHS and WILHELM KARI GECKS '50, enjoyed talks and memories of Bucknell during a trip of the Hollenbachs to Germany this past summer. While GINGE WERLEIN '49, left the U. S. to marry KARI GECH in Germany. TORDIS SOPP SCHRADE left Germany to marry BILL HOLLENBACH in 1958. Ginge was Dan forth graduate in 1949 at Bucknell while Kar was a foreign student there. Tordis was German House Mother in 1956-1958 when she met Bill (C&F 1958).

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Black (KITTY SEILER) became the parents of a daughter, Leslie Ann, on September 8.

News from the REESE DAVISES (NANCY CHRISTIAN)—Reese graduated magna cum laude in June from Dickinson School of Law and is now with the firm of Rhoads, Sino, and Reader in Harrisburg. Nan and Rees had a busy summer: on June 29 a second son, Bruce Christian, was born. Jeffrey, age 2, and the new baby live with their parents at 5224 Windsor Blvd., Windsor Park, Mechanicsburg.

JUDY DANIEL Morrison and husband Richard (Yale '58) became parents on July. How's that for being patriotic! Their little girl is Jacqueline Lee. Dick is a fourth year medical student at Cornell Medical School in New York City. The Morrisons live at 427 169th Street, New York 21, N. Y.

ALICE BREWEN spent an exciting summer in Spain enjoying enthusiastically the bullfight and siestas. While abroad Alice visited briefly in London, Paris, and Lisbon. She continues teaching Spanish this year at the A. J. Davis High School in Mount Vernon, N. Y.

The RON FISHER family (GINA BETTON) are stationed in Taipei, Taiwan, where Ron is Lt. jg. in the Navy. He is working with the Base Engineers and has 12 Seabe and 400 Chinese soldiers under him. Gin says she's been doing some loafing, since everyone there has an "alma" (maid, if you please—"I have trouble even pouring myself a glass of iced tea." "I wish I could describe it place—there are so many people, houses a so little with so little furniture—a mat to sleep on, a pail to cook in, maybe chairs and maybe a table." Despite all seeming adversity, however, Gina and Ron are very happy the parents of a boy, Jeffrey Ronald, born June 29.

On August 25, 1961, Bucknellians and their husbands and wives from the Columbus, Ohio, area met at the Ohio State Inn in Columbus. Front row (l. to r.) Mrs. Edward Weckerly, Mrs. Alden R. Dalzell, Edward Weckerly '27, Mrs. Judson Prindle, Mrs. Margaret Hood Hoffman '52, George F. Woodward '51, Mrs. George F. Woodward, Mrs. Marilyn M. Woodward, Margaret B. Dougherty '33, Mrs. Mollie Brown Roth '53, Marcia R. Fremont '50, and Mrs. William Curnow. Back row (l. to r.) Alden R. Dalzell '49, Judson Prindle '47, Dale Hoffman, Dr. Andrew Hendrickson '25, Mrs. Andrew Hendrickson, Roger W. Roth '52, Mrs. John R. Miller, John R. Miller '50, and William J. Curnow '32. Not pictured are Clifford S. Moritz '51, and Melvin L. Woodward. Mr. Woodward assisted Mr. Curnow who served as master of ceremonies.

MRS. VENALD W. BOYARD, JR.
(Jeanne F. Anderson)
334 Hickory St.
Peckville, Pa.

GLENDAL DORNISFE and Carl R. Noyes were married on May 14 and are living at 332 Union Ave., Mamaroneck, N. Y. Prior to her marriage, Glenda worked in New York City as a personnel assistant at ABC-TV.

Mr. and Mrs. ROBERT H. FEDERROLL '58 (KATHARINE LANNING) have moved to 900A Crescent St., Wheaton, Ill., where Bob is a technical representative in the mid-west for Elastomers Department of DuPont, and Kathy is teaching second grade in Washington School in Wheaton, Ill.

JO ANN HARDY of 16 E. Summit Ave., Elmhurst, Wilmington 4, Del., received her M.S. degree in chemistry from the University of Delaware in June. She is a chemistry teacher in the Conrad High School in Wilmington, Del.

MARILYN R. MUMFORD and Dr. James F. Carens were married June 1, 1961, and are living at 427 Market St., Lewisburg. Marilyn is an instructor in the English Department at Bucknell and her husband is an assistant professor in the same department.

R. CARLTON VANKUREN of R. D. 1, Center Valley, is employed by Bethlehem Steel Co. as a research engineer. Carl received his Master of Science degree from Lehigh University in June. His wife is the former Nancy Parmenter. Three sons keep the VanKuren home a lively place—they are: David, 5; Kevin, 4; and Mark, 7 months.

GERALD A. WILSON is teaching English and French in the Danville Area Joint Schools. He and his wife, the former DINAH A. SHEP-PARD '57, have a two-year-old daughter, Caroline Bliss, and live at 622 St. Catharine St., Lewisburg.

Rabbi BERTRAM MOND, a laws fellow at University of Cincinnati Graduate School, has been appointed to the evening college faculty to teach advanced mathematics. Before receiving his master's degree at Bucknell in 1959, he was ordained at Yeshiva University, New York City, and served as chaplain with the U. S. Air Force from 1955 to 1956.

That's it for now. Come on, some of you silent folks, let's hear how you are. Send some black and white snapshots for our column.

MRS. DAVID N. OTT
(Jane Dahl)
5650-D Demoret Ave.
Van Voorhis Manor
Fort Knox, Ky.

JODY (BIRTLEY) FISHER writes from 2303 Delancey Place, Philadelphia. Jody was married to Arthur Fisher last March, and she is working as a social caseworker for the Pennsylvania State Department of Public Assistance and says it's a "wonderfully satisfying means of making a living."

VIRGINIA CAMPBELL, who left us after her freshman year (remember Adelaide in "Guys and Dolls"?), lives and works in New York City and apparently is most enthusiastic about both the living and the working in "The Big City."

ISABELLE J. BATES and Stuart K. Bacon were married September 9 and are living at 101 Genesee Park Blvd., Rochester 11, N. Y. Jourdy is a biological research technician at the University of Rochester Medical Center.

Sp/4 JUDSON D. EDEL of "D" Company, USASCS Regt., Ft. Monmouth, N. J., is now an instructor in the Radar Division of the Department of Specialized Training.

Army 2nd Lt. FREDERICK W. HAELIC recently participated in an emergency engineer operation on Okinawa which helped alleviate a water shortage for the residents of Naha City, Okinawa. During off-duty hours, Fred with other members of his 809th Engineer Battalion laid 2,500 feet of water main pipe. Shades of ROTC!

DANIEL B. HOOVEN has become a member of the Peace Corps and was trained during the last summer at the Philippine Peace Corps Project at Pennsylvania State University in preparation for accepting an assignment to the Philippines as a teaching aide in the elementary schools.

LINDA JANE RICE and Allen P. Land were married August 26 and are living at 174 N. Grove St., Apt. 2-F, East Orange, N. J. Linda is a 2nd grade teacher in the Kentopp School in East Orange, N. J., and Allen is a 3rd year student at the Seton Hall College of Medicine and Dentistry.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Garrigues (PATRICIA M. SHAPOE) were married July 22 and in August left for Germany where they expect to remain for a year or two. Prior to her marriage, Pat was an analytical chemist with CIBA Pharmaceutical Product, Inc., in Summit, N. J. Her present address is Kaiserstrasse 107, Wurselen Bei Aachen, Germany.

MISS CAROLANN M. BUQUET
58 Brookside Ave.
Merrick, N. Y.

JUNE REUNION

For the past two months, I have been working for Lord and Taylor's in New York and have discovered it is quite the meeting place for Bucknellians. Judy Smith and SUSAN C. SMITH are working here. They are in the training program for personnel work. Both have apartments in New York City and are looking forward to the "exciting" city life. Jody tells me that JANE LIGHTER has moved to Oak Park, Ill., and has started teaching this fall. Jane's address is 1018 Randolph St.

Word comes from Dennis Runey that he is on his way to Fort Sill, Okla., after spending his "summer vacation" at Fort G. G. Meade, Md.

After returning from a summer in Europe, LINDA MORRIS is in research with News-week magazine and has moved to New York City.

NORM GEORGE is now in sales with Connecticut General Life Insurance Co. He is working in the Evanston Office and his address is: 626 Library Place, Evanston, Ill.

BILL KOPIT is starting Columbia Law School this fall.

JANET COVER is leaving for Harvard to begin work on her master's degree in Elementary School Guidance. She will have an apartment with CORA FIVE and WENDY IRELAND. Their new address is: 205 Mt. Auburn St., Cambridge, Mass., Apt. 34.

DORT MAYES, a member of the Class of '61 for her freshman and sophomore years became Mrs. Asaph Hall on August 26. Her husband is a graduate of Dartmouth '55. Their new address is: 34 Pelham St., Newton Center, Mass.

Married: DOROTHY V. HESS to DANIEL C. GARNER '60. Dan is doing graduate work at Pennsylvania State University.

IN MEMORIAM

The following deaths have been reported to the Alumni Office since September, 1961. The University extends sympathy to the surviving relatives.

- 1896—Miss Olevia J. Silvers (Music)
- 1897—Mr. Jerome C. Fetzner, August 25, 1961
- 1898—Mrs. Roger H. Williams (Nelle Hower) (Inst.), August 15, 1961
- 1902—Mrs. J. Leigh Shields (Sarah E. Judd), September 10, 1961
- 1903—Mr. G. Herbert Stewart, September 7, 1961
- Miss Emily R. Ebling, September 18, 1961
- 1904—Dr. H. Miller Crist, August 9, 1961
- 1909—Mr. Theodore Kamensky, September 11, 1961
- Mrs. David H. Finley (Gertrude A. Myers), August 27, 1961
- 1911—Mr. Arthur T. Baumer
- 1912—Mr. Brice O. Harter (Acad.), August 18, 1961
- 1913—Mr. Leslie W. Stout, September 3, 1961
- 1920—Mrs. J. Milton Skeath (Emily R. Tregellas) (D.S.), September 13, 1961
- 1923—Mrs. Leard R. Altemus (Susanne Statler), July, 1961
- 1925—Mr. Robert J. Clingerman, August 24, 1961
- 1927—Dr. John R. Gilmour, September 6, 1961
- Mr. James E. Hulick, August 6, 1961
- Mr. Clayton B. Mahaffey, August 23, 1961
- 1928—Mrs. Edwin S. Heiser (Edith W. Bond), August 23, 1961
- Mr. C. Elwood Huffman, August 5, 1961
- 1930—Mr. Harold L. Linden, August 5, 1961
- 1931—Mr. Harold E. Dayton, June 4, 1961
- 1935—Mr. W. Kemp Menefee, August 2, 1961
- 1937—Dr. Alexander A. Bolton
- 1939—Dr. Benjamin Birshtein, August 31, 1961
- 1942—Miss Mary R. Brislin
- 1947—Elkins O. Whitman, Esq., December 20, 1960
- 1949—Mr. Raymond J. Lefler
- 1952—Mr. Charles R. Mighell
- 1953—Dr. Clarence E. Carter (Hon.), September 11, 1961

A LUNCHEON REMINDER

If you live or work in Philadelphia or Pittsburgh you can meet with your classmates, friends, and other Bucknellians for lunch every week. And, if you live in New York City, you have an opportunity once a month to join the gang. Why not take note of the following details and plan now to attend these luncheons.

NEW YORK CITY—Bucknellians meet the first Wednesday of each month at noon at the Hotel Lancaster (formerly Midston House), 33th Street at Madison Avenue. You can help to provide adequate table accommodations by phoning your reservation to Ethel Hawksworth Roessner, OX 7-6300, extension 273, by 11:30 a. m., on the day of the luncheon.

PHILADELPHIA—Every Monday from noon through one o'clock Bucknellians meet at the University Club, 226 South 16th Street (16th and Locust Streets) for luncheon. Luncheon is served on the 17th floor, and if you get there early you're invited to meet alumni and parents in the lounge located on the 15th floor. Advance reservations for this luncheon are not requested.

PITTSBURGH—Alumni, parents, and friends are reminded that they are most welcome at the Bucknell luncheon held every Friday at noon at Kaufmann's Department Store. A private dining room is reserved on the 11th floor of the store. You may order from the menu, and reservations are not requested.

the campus calendar

NOVEMBER

- 1 Soccer—Lehigh at Bethlehem
- 3-4 Cap and Dagger Play—"Servant of Two Masters"
- 4 Soccer—Delaware at Bucknell
Football—Buffalo at Buffalo, N. Y.
- 9 Lecture—Dr. Mark C. Ebersole, Dean of the College of Arts and Sciences—Class of 1956 Lecture
- 11 Football—Lehigh at Bethlehem
Soccer—Muhlenberg at Allentown
- 12-15 Religion-in-Life
- 16 International Debate with Cambridge University
- 18 Football—Delaware at Bucknell
Soccer—Navy at Bucknell
- 20 Artist Series—Berlin Philharmonic
- 21 Thanksgiving Recess Begins at 5:30 p. m.
- 27 Thanksgiving Recess Ends at 8:00 a. m.
- 30 Student Forum

DECEMBER

- 2 Basketball—St. Josephs at Philadelphia
- 7 Basketball—Lafayette at Bucknell
- 9 Basketball—Cornell at Bucknell
- 10 Mixed Chorus Christmas Program
- 12 Basketball—Delaware at Newark, Del.
- 16 Christmas Recess Begins at 12:00 Noon
Basketball—Gettysburg at Bucknell

A high-contrast, black and white photograph of a classical building, likely a university hall. The building features a prominent dome with a lantern on the left side and a portico with columns in the foreground. The image is grainy and has a high-contrast, almost graphic quality. The title 'THE BUCKNELL ALUMNUS' is overlaid on the right side of the image, with 'January 1962' above it.

THE
BUCKNELL
ALUMNUS

January 1962

OFFICERS OF THE ASSOCIATION

President

ROBERT W. DILL '27

First Vice President

MRS. CLYDE P. BAILEY (Dorothy Lemon '29)

Second Vice President

DANIEL F. GRIFFITH '36

Treasurer

DONALD B. YOUNG '33

Secretary and Editor

JOHN H. SHOTT '22

Assistant Secretary and Assistant Editor

C. BRUCE ROSSITER '56

BOARD OF DIRECTORS

MRS. CLYDE P. BAILEY (Dorothy Lemon '29), 5025 Fifth Ave., Apt. 3-B, Pittsburgh 32, Pa. (1962)

CHARLES F. FOX, JR., M.D. '31, 180 Washington Ave., Vandergrift, Pa. (1962)

D. EUGENE LONG '29, 131 Avon Place, West Hempstead, N. Y. (1962)

EUGENE P. BERTIN '17, 201 S. Main St., Muncy, Pa. (1963)

MRS. JOHN W. LEWIS (Elinor Childs '52), 8A Sayre Court, Madison, N. J. (1963)

ROBERT H. TAYLOR '48, 214 Avon Rd., Narberth, Pa. (1963)

CHARLES T. FARROW '26, P. O. Box 29, Westfield, N. J. (1964)

IRVIN GRAYBILL, JR., ESQ. '49, Middleburg, Pa. (1964)

ALLEN F. JONES '25, 2 Linn St., Progress, Harrisburg, Pa. (1964)

HENRY G. P. COATES, ESQ. '32, East Ward St., Hightstown, N. J. (1965)

DANIEL F. GRIFFITH '36, 599 Massachusetts Ave., Aldan, Pa. (1965)

PETER WEIDENBACHER '50, 525 Hillside Ave., Mountainside, N. J. (1965)

MRS. ROBERT D. CARLSON (Claire Wynkoop '49), 2801 Beverly Rd., Brooklyn 26, N. Y. (1966)

ROBERT W. DILL '27, 5136 Butler Pike, Plymouth Meeting, Pa. (1966)

WARREN R. LEWIS '42, 394 Edgewood Ave., Rochester 18, N. Y. (1966)

() Year Term Expires

Alumni Headquarters—GROUND FLOOR
ADMINISTRATION CENTER

Member—AMERICAN ALUMNI COUNCIL

THE BUCKNELL ALUMNUS

VOLUME XLVII

JANUARY 1962

No. 3

IN THIS ISSUE

- 1 This Is Your University
- 2 Why ROTC at Bucknell
- 5 Development Council Organized
- 8 Bison Winter Sports
—by Bradley N. Tufts, Sports Information Director
- 10 For the Record
- 14 The Student View
—by Bonni Vasilawsky '64
- 15 Class Reports
- 16 East College Renamed Trax Hall

Development Council Membership Roster, 6-7—1961-62 Basketball Schedule 9—Randall L. Davis '28, 18—Stanley C. Marshall '43, 20—Constance P. Dent '45, 22—Jeffrey R. Mair '65, 23—Summer In Florence, 24—In Memoriam, 24—Alumni Trustee Timetable, 24.

ON THE COVER—Light shining through the windows of the Ellen Clarke Bertrand Library suggests that the University is no "early-to-bed" place. As final exams approach odds are strong that the midnight oil will be burned liberally.

The Bucknell Alumnus is published for the months of January and February.

THE BUCKNELL ALUMNUS is published in January, March, May, September and November by BUCKNELL UNIVERSITY. Entered as second class matter December 30, 1930 at the post office at Lewisburg, Pa., under Act of August 24, 1912.

Cadet student officers salute the colors as the Bucknell ROTC unit passes in review on Moore Avenue.

NUMBER SEVEN

THIS IS YOUR UNIVERSITY

The training of men in the disciplines of mind, morals, and body and in the strategy of warfare is not new or unique at Bucknell.

Long before the establishment of the Army Reserve Officers Training Corps in 1951 Bucknellians received military training on the campus. In fact, this training dates back to 1861 when many students encamped on water tower hill and trained as Union volunteers for the war between the States. Much later, in 1917, two ambulance units were organized at Bucknell and performed notable service in France and, in 1918, there was created the Student Army Training Corps. Again, during World War II Bucknell did her share in the training of students and others for service in the armed forces. Many will recall the V-12 program under which flying cadets, naval units, and marines received instruction on the campus. Today, Bucknell University continues in the national interest to provide opportunity for the training of future military leaders.

Cadets learn to make themselves understood while learning basic, military skills. Cadet Captain Peter E. Payne '62, Scranton, presents a lesson in camouflage.

why ROTC at BUCKNELL

IN 1951, at the time of the Korean crisis, Bucknell University in furtherance of national preparedness, petitioned the Secretary of the Army to establish an Army Reserve Officers' Training Corps unit on campus. The Department of Military Science and Tactics was added to the curriculum to offer training in military science for young men. The objective was to prepare them to become officers in the Army upon graduation from Bucknell. At that time a staff of nine officers and enlisted men gave both basic and advanced training in the University's two ROTC units—the Transportation Corps and the Corps of Engineers.

Since then changes have taken place. In 1956, the branch unit idea was discontinued and was replaced by a General Military Science (GMS) curriculum. This gives the Cadets a broad familiarity with the Army and allows them to select any branch of the Army. The corps increased in size and now the MS Department staff consists of eight officers and eleven enlisted men. Until the current semester, the basic course was required of all freshman and sophomore men. Advanced ROTC courses remain optional for junior and senior men who qualify.

Since the implementation of the elective program, the dedication of the officers and enlisted men of the detachment has, if anything, improved. The military science curriculum has also been progressively revised during the past several years. The fact is that there is less grumbling, higher morale, and better performance this year among the freshman cadets who elected the course.

Why then did the Board of Trustees vote to change our basic course from a requirement to an elective? This decision was not prompted by a change of opinion about the value of ROTC, but for other reasons. Colleges compete for outstanding students as well as for teachers and faculty. Bucknell is no exception. A superior faculty and a superior student body must go hand in hand. For academic excellence to be a reality, not all students feel they can afford to combine their undergraduate education with ROTC. Some of these enter officer candidate schools after graduation. To place the University on a basis of competitive equality with other institutions in the recruitment of men, the Trustees decided not to insist further on the link between Bucknell and basic ROTC. In the future, boys will no longer face the alternatives of having to take ROTC along with their undergraduate curriculum or go to another institution.

On the other hand, the Trustees were unwilling to drop the ROTC program entirely. Had they done this, Bucknell would have been at a disadvantage in competing with institutions having either the compulsory or the voluntary program for students who wish to combine their undergraduate work with ROTC. The obvious way to gain full equality in the recruitment of men was to go to a voluntary program. It was the feeling of the Trustees that with the wholehearted support of the University the elective program can be as effective as the compulsory one.

Other considerations also point to a voluntary program rather than to no program at all. As long as America lives in the present world of tension, a strong defense is vital to our national security and that of our friends around the world. Some of the universities of the country must continue in the national interest to provide opportunity for the training of future leaders of the armed services, whose motivation in the direction of a service career is strong. The service academies do not, and could not, without drastic expansion meet the present need for officers either in the regular army or in the reserve. Bucknell's unit has always been one of the best, and there is every reason for keeping it so.

Why do men enroll in ROTC? We think that the most effective reason is that the University supports it. Other reasons are diverse. For example, in 1951, when the ROTC Detachment was assigned to Bucknell, a predominant motive of students was to defer service in the Korean conflict until the completion of their college work. With the passage of the Reserve Forces Act of 1955, establishing in law the traditional belief that in a democracy every free man owes an obligation to risk his life, if need be, to preserve free government, there is no longer a serious question as to whether a man will serve in the military forces. Fortunately, the foresight of the Government and the University have provided the college man with a choice as to how he will serve. Furthermore, since the war, the government has given greater consideration to the emoluments and privileges accorded servicemen, with the result that their status and prestige have received wide recognition.

Advance course cadets practice techniques for motivating men—in this case precision marching. Basic course cadets gain an understanding of the reactions of the men they will eventually command.

The underlying justification for the ROTC program is the principle that every man serves himself and his country best when he serves in the highest capacity of which he is capable. This is true of his military and community service as well as his professional service. The exceptional young men who enter and complete their courses at Bucknell can hardly be satisfied performing military service at the level of an Army Private when an opportunity for commissioning and service at the junior officer level is available. Additionally, more and more college men are beginning to understand the requirements of the ready reserve, and the fundamental role which it plays in national defense. They realize that most college men would not be content to progress through responsible professional or community positions in civilian life and yet at the same time not be able to exercise comparable leadership in the reserves.

Under the present elective program, over 60 per cent of the present Freshman class men are voluntarily enrolled in the basic ROTC course. The Military Science Department tributes this sizeable enrollment to the enriched leadership program, general acceptance of the program by the faculty, and the desires of the students to participate in an integral part of the curriculum offered on campus.

Aside from the benefits provided by the usual academic studies at the University, Reserve Officer Training has as its objective, the production of junior officers who have the qualities and attributes essential to their progressive and continued development as officers of the Army of the United States; assistance in laying the foundations of intelligent citizenship within the student and giving him such basic military training as will be of benefit to himself and to the military service. More specifically, the Military Department at Bucknell University places special emphasis upon "leadership," which will assist Bucknell University graduates in meeting most situations in life with success and honor.

Officer Training develops talent and builds character. First, the cadet learns more about the government which he influences, whether by vote or default. Second, he "stands on his own two feet" in front of other men and "makes his mistakes in a loud, clear voice." The more he exercises this in the educational atmosphere of college, the fewer mistakes he will make under the pressures of the modern world. He learns pride and humility without compromise, something that will be invaluable in meeting life's situations. This is a big boost along his route to becoming a forthright citizen, a potential officer and a gentleman. Third, he is required to maintain traits of character respected by our society. Infractions, such as disorderly conduct, can cause his punitive release from the program. A merit-demerit system provides maturation and serves as a counselling device. Fourth, his neatness in appearance on campus is stressed and he must be physically fit. Personal bearing helps gain the respect of his associates. Physical fitness will also enable the cadet to undergo the rigorous training in years to come. Fifth, he learns to display courtesy which is the expression of consideration for others. There are certain expressions of military courtesy identified as ceremonial or individual which each cadet will learn and will be expected to observe when appropriate. Sixth, he must maintain discipline which in a military sense is the state of order and obedience among military personnel resulting from training. The maintenance of one's composure under stress and strain is part of his disciplinary training. Seventh, but not least, the cadet must maintain an acceptable academic standing. This is particularly applicable to those students in their sophomore year. Those failing to achieve the required grade point average are not admitted to the advanced course. To summarize, leadership is taught to the cadet who is expected to conduct himself in accordance with the high standards of conduct required of an officer and gentleman at all times.

Bucknell has been commissioning student graduates in the United States Army since 1952. The identification "I'm from Bucknell," is now heard throughout the free world and as such Bucknell graduates are recognized as ambassadors of peace and good will. Bucknell and the U. S. Army are both proud of the approximately 500 young graduates who served both their country and themselves with distinction through the commissions earned on campus.

On campus today, ROTC cadets are also fulfilling leadership positions. From a survey taken last semester (April, 1961) among the 171 advanced cadets, it was found that: 21 were members of an honor society and 7 of these held offices in their honor society; 140 were members of fraternities, 89 of these held offices in their fraternities, and 18 were presidents or vice-presidents of their fraternities; 68 were active in college sports, and of these 14 were members of inter-collegiate championship teams; 131 were engaged in other extracurricular activities, of whom 30 held offices in one or more of these activities; and 56 have had some part-time employment with the university. These figures are merely an indication of the extracurricular participation of many of the students while enrolled in ROTC. From available indications, an even greater number of ROTC cadets are expected to occupy leadership positions on campus this year.

A course designed to achieve these goals is necessarily both extensive and intensive. At Bucknell the ROTC student has found that his military instruction is an enriching and rewarding part of his college education. While ROTC courses are designed to prepare the cadet for military command, they also offer a valuable supplement to any curriculum. Fortunately more young men, partly through the influence of Alumni and parents, are beginning to realize this. Besides the value gained from the technique for the conduct of "instructions," the subject matter covered provides orientation and training as follows:

- MS I (Freshman year, Basic course): Organization of the Army and ROTC, Individual Weapons and Marksmanship, and U. S. Army and National Security.
- MS II (Sophomore year, Basic course): American Military History, Map and Aerial Photograph Reading and Introduction to Basic Tactics.
- MS III (Junior year, Advanced course): Leadership Principles, Military Teaching Principles, Branches of the Army and Small Unit Tactics and Communications.
- MS IV (Senior year, Advanced course): Operations, Logistics, Army Administration, Military Law, The Role of the United States in World Affairs, and Service Orientation.

In conjunction with the above subjects the Military Science Department conducts what is known as "Leadership Laboratory." This is instruction conducted by cadet officers and non-commissioned officers under the supervision of regular instructors. During the year, students are taught the basic fundamentals of leadership, drill and command which include principles of military courtesy and discipline, and the receipt and execution of orders. In short, they learn to use the principles of leadership through practical exercises. The importance of such basic qualities as character, intelligence, integrity, alertness, personal pride, ambition, dependability, cooperation, and others of equal value is emphasized during training periods.

During the summer vacation between junior and senior years, Advanced Course students attend a six-week summer camp training session. Three years of classroom instruction are behind the cadet at this point and he is ready to put theory into action. Cadet command assignments are rotated during the entire camp period. This permits each potential officer to serve in command positions during summer camp training. As the weeks roll by, every cadet becomes familiar with the modern Army's arsenal of weapons—many of them improved with features undreamed of during World War II. Under rigorous field conditions, he must prove his fitness for command while gaining insight into a wide cross-section of Army jobs.

Post World War II developments in science and technology tend to deny the United States its historic advantage of being able to mobilize and train an army after the outbreak of hostilities as we have done in the past. These developments have made it necessary for this country to establish and maintain a large, well-trained Reserve. This Reserve must receive a continuing flow of replacements in all ranks. Our greatest trust in these young men is that they will provide the nation military leadership in times of national emergency. When an emergency arises, whether it be natural disaster, civil defense, or war, the people of every community will look toward its military trained personnel for guidance and direction.

It is still said by a few that military training has no place on the campus. However, just as the preparation of broadly educated teachers cannot be successfully carried on in separate institutions divorced from the main stream of the liberal arts, so also the initial preparation of the future officers of the Armed Services, if it is to produce intelligent representatives of America at its best, cannot be divorced from the influence of our country's institutions of higher learning. Nobody would want a repetition in America of the evolution of the officer castes which plagued the countries of Europe in the nineteenth century and earlier. There is little danger that this will occur in America, as long as the special military training of the Academies rests upon the common background of the elementary and secondary public schools, and as long as the ROTC programs rest upon the liberal education of the undergraduate colleges. Higher education at large would be derelict in its duty to the country if it were to shirk altogether this responsibility of providing some of its men an adequate opportunity to prepare for a career in the Armed Services. The inevitable conclusion is that the Armed Forces—the largest business in the United States—must have top men to manage the manpower and money it uses. College graduates generally are among the top men of the country. We do not entrust the management of industry to less; can we entrust the management of the Armed Forces and, in war, the lives of American citizens and our freedom to less? The point that must not be overlooked is that ROTC is not entirely military training per se; it is officer training. As such it deserves the fine support that Bucknell and its Alumni give it.

In conclusion, service in the nation's Armed Forces is considered to be one of the foremost obligations of citizenship. With world conditions as they are today, it becomes increasingly apparent that more and more able-bodied men will be called upon for service. For college trained men, this service should be as commissioned officers. Regardless of the students' aspirations after graduation, the training received through ROTC in the development of leadership qualities will contribute greatly to early success in any field of endeavor. The development of leadership attributes is not only invaluable to continued success and promotion in a civilian endeavor, but is essential to advancement in a military career.

DEVELOPMENT

COUNCIL ORGANIZED

TO provide a broader base of interest in the affairs of the University and its plans for the future, President Merle M. Odgers has appointed 91 Alumni, parents, and friends to serve on the new Bucknell Development Council.

On November 17 and 18, half of the Council membership attended the first annual meeting on the campus and learned of the present University operation and of its needs for the next decade as projected by the Development Committee of the Board of Trustees.

Dr. William R. White '26, chairman of the Board of Trustees, welcomed the Council members and their wives and husbands to the campus at the opening dinner in the women's dining hall and presided over the two-day program. At the first group meeting in the University Theatre in Coleman Hall, President Odgers addressed the Council members and declared, "Bucknell has achieved a status and degree of prestige in American higher education that has brought strength to the University in all areas" and "to help Bucknell toward still greater educational strength and service we have named to the Council a group of Alumni, parents, and friends of the University who have accepted our invitation to provide advice and leadership in many areas of life of the College."

An alphabetical list of the members of the Council appears on the following two pages. Alumnus Ralph B. Derr '17, H'58, and Bucknell parent Vernal R. Hardy have been appointed co-chairmen of the group.

A series of panel discussions in which the principal administrative officers of the University participated were a highly successful part of the weekend program. At one of these sessions Dr. Wesley N. Haines, Director of Development, presented the capital needs projection for the 1962-1972 decade. This projection which has been approved by the Board of Trustees is reproduced here for your information. We are happy to say that the $100,000 immediate need for a computing center in the Charles A. Dana Engineering Building was realized within a few minutes after the projection was approved by the Board of Trustees. The team of Trustees A. Guy Freas H'57, and Robert L. Rooke '13, H'51, provided the University with the needed funds.

As you review the capital needs projection, let it be clear that this is not a call for another general capital gifts campaign. Second, the items of the projection are all immediate needs and, third, these real needs carry cost figures that are not drawn from a hat although one or two are still estimates.

CAPITAL NEEDS PROJECTION 1962-72

- 1) Unrestricted endowment for instructional purposes ----- $5,000,000
This could be achieved by the endowment of 20 chairs ($250,000 each), offering opportunities for name and memorial possibilities.
- 2) Scholarship endowment ----- $2,000,000
($100,000 a year for 25 scholarships per class). Name and memorial possibilities here, too.

Council members registered at the Ellen Clarke Bertrand Library.

(3) Physical Plant Improvements

A. Major needs

1. Chapel of 1200-1500 capacity ----- $1,000,000
(endowed)
2. Women's Dormitory Facilities ----- $1,500,000
(3 units of 100 capacity each
@ $5,000 per student)
3. Campus Center (estimated) ----- $2,000,000
Nos. 1 and 2 remain from the 1956-66 projection.
No. 3 appeared as "student-union" under "improvements . . . in a long-range development plan." but is now an immediate need.

B. Other needs

1. Completion of remodeling of Harris Hall ----- $ 200,000
2. Science Research Center ----- $ 500,000
In 1956-66 projection as "long-range," but a Computing Center with augmented facilities within the existing Charles A. Dana Engineering Building, later transferable to a new Research Center, is an immediate need ----- $ 100,000
3. Class rooms (6) connecting Coleman Hall and the Administration Center - $ 200,000
(Final unit of academic quadrangle)
4. New Infirmary (co-educational) --- $ 150,000
5. Kitchen renovation (Women's Dining Hall) ----- $ 50,000
($7,000,000 endowment — $5,700,000 physical plant) for a Total of ----- $12,700,000

At the first open panel session the panelists were (Left to Right): Dr. Russell Headley, Dean of the College of Business Administration; Capt. Herbert F. Eckberg, Dean of the College of Engineering; Dr. Mark C. Ebersole, Dean of the College of Arts and Sciences; Dr. C. Willard Smith, Secretary of the Faculty; Dr. Karl D. Hartzell, Dean of the University; John C. Hayward, Dean of Student Affairs; Charles A. Meyn, Dean of Men; Mary Jane Stevenson, Dean of Women; and Fitz R. Walling, Director of Admissions.

The audience listened intently as the panelists expressed their views.

The Women's Dining Hall was the scene of the opening dinner.

There were lighter moments as evidenced by these smiling faces.

Chairman of the Board of Trustees William R. White '26, welcomed the Council members and guests to the campus.

Council

MRS. DOROTHY LEMON BAILEY '29
 J. NEVIN BAUMAN '20
 MELVILLE BEARDSLEY '15
 ROBERT J. BECHTEL '39
 JOSEPH S. BELLMEYER, III '33
 EUGENE P. BERTIN '17
 CHARLES R. BIDEISPACHER, ESQ. '33
 ARTHUR L. BRANDON, M.A. '27
 LAFAYETTE L. BUTLER, FRIEND
 MRS. CLAIRE WYNKOOP CARLSON '49
 HENRY G. P. COATES, ESQ. '32
 MERL G. COLVIN, M.D. '24
 MRS. LOUISE BENSHOFF CUPP '24
 J. NORMAN DAVIES, ESQ. '26
 JOHN C. DECKER, ESQ. '36
 MRS. ELTHERA CORSON DELONG '20
 MISS CONSTANCE P. DENT '45
 RALPH B. DERR '17
 ROBERT W. DILL '27
 EMMA E. DILLON, ESQ. '15
 JACK V. DORMAN '34
 EDWARD J. DWYER, PARENT
 H. KEITH EISANIAN '42
 BAYARD L. ENGLAND H'53
 JOHN H. EVANS '50
 CHARLES T. FARROW, JR. '26
 HON. IVOR D. FENTON ACAD. '08
 JOHN S. FETTER, M.D. '32
 HON. FREDERICK V. FOLLMER '06
 CHARLES F. FOX, JR., M.D. '31
 ARTHUR K. FREAS '48
 HON. HARRY D. GOLDMAN, PARENT
 IRVIN GRAYBILL, JR., ESQ. '49
 DANIEL F. GRIFFITH '36
 CLAIR W. HALLIGAN '23
 VERNAL R. HARDY, PARENT
 PHILIP L. HARRIMAN, FACULTY
 HARRY F. HARTZELL '08
 ROBERT C. HEIM '24
 THEODORE HEYSHAM, JR. '25
 WALTER L. HILL, JR., ESQ. '23
 MORRIS D. HOOVEN '20
 KARL K. HULLEY '18
 GEORGE A. IRLAND '15, FACULTY
 WILLIAM J. IRVIN '22

Between sessions Joseph S. Bellmeyer, III '33 (left) and Jay P. Mathias '35, chatted.

Membership

ALLEN F. JONES '25
 CHARLES W. KALP, Esq. '29
 PAUL S. KILLIAN, PARENT
 MRS. ELINOR CHILDS LEWIS '52
 WARREN R. LEWIS '42
 LESTER E. LIGHTON '20
 D. EUGENE LONG '29
 WILLIAM C. MCCONNELL, PARENT
 JAY P. MATHIAS '35
 WILLIAM MENDENHALL, III '45, FACULTY
 T. JEFFERSON MIERS '26
 BRUCE J. MILLER '27
 ROBERT G. MILLER, Esq. '37
 EDWARD C. MYERS '34
 J. ORIN OLIPHANT, FACULTY
 HARRY H. PIERSON '28
 HENRY B. PUFF '44
 ISAAC PUTTERMAN, Esq., PARENT
 THOMAS W. RAUFFENBART, Esq. '36
 JAMES S. REPLOGLE '26
 CHARLES T. RESSLER '52, FACULTY
 KENNETH D. RHONE '29
 PHILIP H. ROY '42
 CAMPBELL RUTLEDGE, JR. '33
 FRED O. SCHNURE '14
 HON. PAUL M. SHOWALTER '31
 R. BARLOW SMITH '27
 ROBERT E. SMITH '39
 HAROLD M. SOARS, FRIEND
 HARRY E. STABLER '23
 EDWIN S. STEBBINS '37
 JAMES B. STEVENSON '32
 RALPH A. STILL '13
 HAROLD J. STROEHMANN, JR., FRIEND
 ROBERT H. TAYLOR '48
 ARTHUR L. TROAST, Esq. '51
 DAVID M. TROUT, JR. '50
 MAXWELL R. WARDEN, PARENT
 PAUL G. WEHLE, PARENT
 PETER WEIDENBACHER '50
 GEN. THOMAS D. WHITE, FRIEND
 WILLIAM M. WILKINSON '46
 CAPT. D. M. WISEHAUPT '28
 SAMUEL H. WOOLLEY '32
 HON. ISADORE I. ZLOTKIN '34
 FREDERIC J. ZWIESELLE, JR. '51

JANUARY 1962

Prior to the football game with Delaware, Council members and their spouses ate a delicious buffet lunch on the stage of the University Theatre.

The panel and audience enjoyed the witty remarks of John F. Zeller '41, Vice President—Business and Finance (center) as he moderated a panel session. Other panelists were (Left to Right) Walter C. Geiger '34, Director, Physical Plant; Trennie E. Eisley '31, Director, Public Relations; Dr. Wesley N. Haines, Director of Development; Mr. Zeller; Trustee Kenneth W. Sliker '26; John H. Shott '22, Alumni Secretary; and Dr. Philip L. Harriman, Professor of Psychology.

Alumnus and faculty representative on the Development Council George A. Irland '15 (left) talked with Council members Fred O. Schnure '14 (center) and H. Keith Eisaman '42, during a break in the two-day program.

Kirk Foulke '62, 1961 football captain (left), presented the Captains Trophy to Dick Tyrrell '63, 1962 team captain, at the annual Quarterback Club Dinner.

FOR a while it appeared as if the Bison football team might duplicate last year's fabulous finish that produced five straight victories and the Lambert Cup, but on Saturday, November 11, in Bethlehem, Lehigh toppled the Bisons, 12-7, and went on to take the Eastern small college honors.

Prior to the Engineers come-from-behind victory that was made possible by the first touchdown scored in the second half against Bucknell this fall, Coach Bob Odell's team had bounced back from consecutive setbacks at the hands of Colgate and Rutgers to defeat Lafayette, Muhlenberg and Buffalo, and then in the final game of the season the Bisons parlayed a tremendous fourth quarter passing attack into a 22-14 upset victory over Delaware.

Playing in a steady rain at Easton, the Bisons had little trouble in posting a 13-0 decision over Lafayette, and the score might have been higher if the Orange and Blue forces hadn't fallen victim to second half miscues.

Tom Alexander and Kirk Foulke were standouts in the interior line. Ray Cosgrove and Ken Twiford ran for the big yardage when it was needed and Sophomore Joe Elliott punted spectacularly despite the slippery conditions. Cosgrove tallied the first touchdown in the opening period and then Quarterback Don Rodgers hit Ash Ditka on the goal line with a TD pass just before the end of the half to close out the scoring.

Muhlenberg gave the Bisons even less trouble as the Herd scored in every period for a 27-0 victory. This was accomplished despite the fact that Bucknell fumbled six times and was able to complete only six of 17 passes.

BISON WINTER

Two seniors, Joe Steiner (left) and Mike Fadden, will co-captain the 1961-62 Bucknell basketball team. Steiner, from Punxsutawney, was an All-MAC selection last year. Fadden hails from Ocean City, N. J.

The first score came when End Rene Clements recovered a Mule fumble in the end zone after a bad pass from center on a punt attempt. Soph Fullback John Barron hit into the line for two yards and a touchdown in the second period and Twiford broke loose for 14 yards and a score in the third quarter. The final tally came late in the game on a 47-yard aerial from Ron Giordano to John Thornton.

A week later it was a different story and the Bisons had to put up a tremendous fight before finally overcoming Buffalo by a 12-6 count. The Bulls cashed in on a long pass play early in the game, but Giordano then unleashed a devastating passing attack and moved the team 77 yards in only four plays for the tying touchdown late in the opening period.

Bucknell had a touchdown called back in the second period and failed to score after gaining a first down on the Buffalo two-yard line in the same quarter. A fumble recovery by Tom Alexander set up the winning tally midway through the third period. Pat Malone scored from one-yard out after a brilliant 15-yard scamper by Barron.

Lehigh's Boyd Taylor and Pat Clark displayed too much running power for the Bisons and the Engineer line opened up good holes for the backs to pave the way for the 12-7 decision.

Giordano scampered eight yards around left end and Twiford booted the extra point with 14 seconds left in the second period to give the Bisons a 7-6 margin at intermission, but Lehigh came right back with a 66-yard drive in the third period that produced the winning score.

In the finale against Delaware, Giordano's passing led to two fourth-quarter scores that overcame a 14-6 Blue Hen margin. Standouts in the contest were Giordano who completed 14 of 25 passes for 224 yards, Dick Tyrrell, who caught five passes for 116 yards and hauled in two conversion tosses, and Ditka who scored two touchdowns. Ray Cosgrove set up the winning tally with a dazzling 41-yard punt return and Clements and Ditka made several sparkling catches to aid the passing attack.

Bucknell wound up in second place in the Middle Atlantic Conference and topped the loop in passing offense and defense and total defense. Elliott was the number one punter in the MAC, Giordano finished second in both passing and total offense, Cosgrove was third in rushing, Ditka tied for fifth in scoring and Tyrrell, Mike Connell, Ditka and Clements held down the second, third, fourth and fifth pass receiving spots.

Alexander was named to the final small college ECAC all-East team and Tyrrell was named to the weekly team following the Delaware game.

FRESHMAN FOOTBALL

Bucknell's freshman football team lost its first game to the Gettysburg frosh, but then came back to win the last three contests and finished the season as the highest scoring freshman unit in Bucknell history.

After the 22-12 loss to the Bullet yearlings, Coach Bob Latour's team downed the Bloomsburg State College junior

1961-62 BASKETBALL SCHEDULE

Date	Opponent	Place
Dec. 2—	St. Joseph	Philadelphia
Dec. 7—	Lafayette	Easton
Dec. 9—	Cornell	Home
Dec. 12—	Delaware	Newark, Del.
Dec. 16—	Gettysburg	Home
Jan. 2—	Rutgers	Home
Jan. 4—	Gettysburg	Gettysburg
Jan. 6—	Delaware	Home
Jan. 9—	Penn State	University Park
Jan. 12—	Navy	Home
Jan. 27—	C. C. N. Y.	New York, N. Y.
Jan. 30—	Temple	Home
Feb. 2—	Rochester	Rochester, N. Y.
Feb. 3—	Colgate	Hamilton, N. Y.
Feb. 7—	LaSalle	Home
Feb. 10—	Pitt	Home
Feb. 13—	Penn State	Home
Feb. 17—	Buffalo	Buffalo, N. Y.
Feb. 21—	Albright	Home
Feb. 24—	Lehigh	Bethlehem
Feb. 28—	Muhlenberg	Home
Mar. 3—	Westminster	New Wilmington

SPORTS

by BRADLEY N. TUFTS Sports Information Director

varsity, 58-7, took the measure of the Lock Haven State College JV, 39-14, and rolled over the Lehigh frosh, 56-14.

Against Bloomsburg, Halfbacks Hal Riley, Charlie Thomas and Bob Laughton paced a ground attack that picked up 187 yards and Quarterbacks Bob Haering and Jeff Mair led a group of five quarterbacks who completed 13 of 17 passes for 231 yards and four touchdowns. Thomas, who was on the receiving end of five passes, scored 20 points and Laughton tallied 14 points to lead the scoring parade.

Riley, who ran for 142 yards, and Cook, who picked up 35 yards on the ground, were the big guns in the Lock Haven game. They both scored two touchdowns, but were topped in the scoring totals by End Jeff Fries who tallied one TD, kicked two extra points and a field goal and caught a pass for a two-point conversion.

Standouts in the lopsided victory over Lehigh were Thomas, Riley and Haering who led the ground attack and Mair who completed nine of ten passes for 153 yards and two touchdowns. Both TD passes were to End Dennis Markley.

In the final totals Riley was the leading runner with 304 yards, was second in pass receiving with eight for 176 yards, and second in scoring with 24 points. Thomas led the receivers with nine catches, topped the scoring list with 42 points and was second in rushing. Mair was the top passer as he completed 19 of 22 aerial attempts for 324 yards and three touchdowns and also tossed for three conversions.

SOCCER

The season record doesn't tell the whole story of the 1961 soccer season. The Bison booters wound up with a 1-6 record, but this was accomplished after losing the first five games and three of the losses were by one-goal margins.

Coach Hank Peters' team was decisively beaten by Temple, Elizabethtown and Cornell in the first three games, but then lost to Gettysburg and Penn State by one goal before taking four straight from Lafayette, Lehigh, Delaware and Muhlenberg. In the final game of the season the Bisons put up a tremendous fight before bowing 1-0 to Navy.

Once again Lyman Ott led the scorers. He registered ten goals to finish his varsity career with 34 markers, a school record. He also scored four goals against Muhlenberg for a new single game standard.

Other standouts included Bill Dahl, the number two scorer and the captain-elect of the 1962 team, Co-Captain Frank Famariss and Sophomores Doug May and Al Guter-muth.

Starters in the backfield were Chet Bushnell, Duncan Hubley, Lee Steininger, Bob Wadhams and Carlos Weil. All except Bushnell are seniors. Senior Goalie Howie Levine was a standout in the nets and allowed only three goals in the last five games.

BASKETBALL

Despite a 79-49 loss to St. Joseph's in the season opener the Bison basketball team could again come through with a winning record. Obviously fired up for the opener, the Hawks forced the Bisons to make numerous errors and used a half-court press to good advantage throughout the contest.

Senior Co-Captain Joe Steiner, the leading scorer in the Middle Atlantic Conference last year, managed only seven points in the first game, but his shooting was obviously not up to par and he should again be one of the top players in the East.

(Continued on Inside Back Cover)

FOR THE RECORD

■ DR. KARRAKER AWARDED DEGREE

Willberforce University awarded Dr. Cyrus H. Karraker, associate professor of history at Bucknell, the honorary degree of humane letters at its commencement in June, 1961.

In citing Dr. Karraker for the degree, the Dean of the University said in part, "I have the pleasure and privilege of presenting for the honorary degree, Doctor of Humanities, a gentleman who has stood steadfastly for a liberal policy and equal treatment of all peoples; a man who for years has stood in the forefront of equal opportunity for all, in every phase of life for Americans." In reviewing Dr. Karraker's accomplishments he noted the books authored by Dr. Karraker which include THE SEVENTEENTH CENTURY SHERIFF, THE HISPANIOLA TREASURE, and PIRACY WAS A BUSINESS. He also called attention to the significant articles published by Dr. Karraker in such journals as THE AMERICAN HISTORICAL REVIEW, THE JOURNAL OF MODERN HISTORY, THE QUARTERLY REVIEW OF LONDON, THE CHRISTIAN CENTURY, and THE CATHOLIC RURAL LIFE.

Dr. Karraker was cited also for his work with migrant labor, being a member of the N. A. A. C. P., The Pennsylvania Committee on Migrant Labor, and the Governor's Committee on Migrant Workers. Dr. Karraker has been a technical consultant on migrant children at the White House Committee on Children and Youth and has recently been re-elected a trustee of the National Child Labor Committee in New York. In 1960 Dr. Karraker was presented the Human Rights Award given to a Pennsylvania citizen by the State Conference of the N. A. A. C. P.

Dr. Karraker, a faculty member known to many Bucknell families, has quite a Bucknell family of his own. His daughter, Louise '48, is married to Lloyd W. Furman '49, and his son, David O. Karraker, is a member of the Class of 1950.

■ BUCKNELL-BURMA

U Thant of Burma, recently selected acting secretary general of the United Nations, is no stranger to the Bucknell campus.

The mild mannered 52-year old Buddhist from Burma was the principal speaker, along with Chief Justice William O. Douglas, at the tenth annual Bucknell-Burma Week End in February 1958.

Members of his family have also attended the Bucknell-Burma Week End, the most recent having been in 1960 when his wife and his son and daughter were here. He was named acting secretary to fill out the 17 months remaining in the term of the late Dag Hammarskjöld.

■ FRATERNITY REPRESENTATIVES MEET

On June 2 and again during the week end of October 20 and 21, fraternity corporation representatives met on the campus and at the Cowan Conference Center to consider matters of interest to fraternities at Bucknell University. At the recent fall meeting representatives from nine fraternities participated in the conference. They were: Warren Reed '20, Phi Kappa Psi; Irvin Graybill '49, Phi Lambda Theta; Anthony Chernefski '32 and Jere Bates '15, Kappa Delta Rho; John Blake '60 and William Fearen '50, Theta Chi; Robert Walgran '49, Sigma Chi; Fred Slack '49, Delta Upsilon; Harold Stiefel '49, Sigma Alpha Mu; K. Frederic Mauger '53, Sigma Alpha Epsilon; and Major Charles Dahmen, Tau Kappa Epsilon.

At the June house meetings ten fraternities approved a recommendation by the fraternity corporation representatives which stated, "Recommended: That the corporation of (name) Fraternity approves the establishment by the administration of appropriate standards of health and safety for all fraternities and the enforcement of such standards through regular inspections and reports to the officers of the active chapter and alumni corporations." Because of the high interest in establishing a program of inspection for the kitchens of fraternity houses, Mr. Jack Winters, sanitarian of the State Department of Health, was invited to speak to the group meeting on October 20 and 21. Mr. Winters expressed his desire to be of assistance in helping the University develop the program, and at this writing has already initiated the inspections.

Other speakers during the conference were Fred Bechtold '62, president of the Inter-Fraternity Council, and assistant deans of men Spiros Jannides and Jerrold A. Griffis. Some of the subjects discussed were: fraternity scholarship, social activities of fraternities, relative living expense per student among fraternities and the present status and future programs of fraternities at Bucknell University.

■ FACULTY AND STAFF NEWS

Mr. Allen W. Flock, associate professor of music and popular director of the Bison Band of Bucknell and the Women's Glee Club, will be the guest conductor at the New Jersey All-State Band Concert in Westfield, N. J., in February. He will conduct a public concert at Westfield High School in Westfield, N. J., on Sunday afternoon, February 25, 1962. Alumni and friends of Bucknell are cordially invited to the concert.

Miss Mary Jane Stevenson, Bucknell's Dean of Women, was elected president of the Pennsylvania Association of Women Deans and Counselors, a 300-member association composed of deans and counselors of Pennsylvania universities, colleges, senior and junior high schools, and private and parochial schools. Her election occurred at the annual convention held in Hershey in November on the theme, "And Gladly Counsel."

Dr. Adolf I. Frantz, chairman of the Department of German, began his term of office as president of the Central Pennsylvania Chapter of the American Association of Teachers of German when the Association held its semi-annual meeting at Bucknell in October.

Professor William D. McRae, chairman of the music department; Dr. William I. Miller, '26, chairman of the mathematics department, and Dr. Walter H. Sauvain, professor of education and director of the extension division, were made members of Bucknell's 25-year Club at the October 4 meeting of the faculty.

President Merle M. Odgers was elected treasurer of the Pennsylvania Association of Colleges and Universities at the Association's meeting at Buck Hill Falls during the latter part of October.

Patrick M. Boarman has been appointed associate professor of economics and will begin his teaching duties at the University in February. Mr. Boarman earned the bachelor of arts degree from Fordham University, the master of science degree from Columbia University, and the Ph.D. from the University of Geneva's Institute of International Studies. Mr. Boarman will teach public policy and business, international monetary relations, and a graduate course in the international monetary field.

Dr. Wendell I. Smith '46 became president-elect of the Pennsylvania Psychological Association at a recent meeting of the group. Dr. Smith will take office as president in the spring.

A distinguished service award was presented to Raymond K. Irwin '44, director of placement, by the Middle Atlantic Placement Officers Association at its annual meeting in September. The award, an engraved silver chest, was presented by the Association in recognition of services rendered and contributions made toward the advancement of placement as a charter member of the organization, as president of the Association in 1952 and 1953, and as a member of the executive board for five years.

■ MIDDLE STATES EVALUATION

Plans are moving forward in preparation for the evaluation of the Bucknell program in March and April 1962 by two teams of representatives from the Commission on Higher Education of the Middle States Association.

Bucknell University was first accredited by the Middle States Association in the charter list of 1921. Its accreditation was reaffirmed most recently in 1951. The visit of the Middle States representatives in 1962 follows the University's own self-evaluation—the Bucknell Study—which has been in progress since 1954.

The Middle States Association has been re-thinking its evaluation procedures and has decided to attempt a different approach in the case of some institutions whose accreditation is not in question. Consequently, instead of reviewing all aspects of Bucknell's operations the executive secretary of the Association has worked out an arrangement with Bucknell whereby the team of visitors will concentrate their attention on five areas with which the University is especially concerned and which have not received adequate treatment in the Bucknell Study. These areas include: teaching, extra-curricular activities, the library, graduate study, and communications.

For the coming evaluation, the steering committee under the chairmanship of Dr. Karl D. Hartzell, Dean of the University, has appointed five faculty committees to prepare reports on the topics mentioned. These reports, will serve as a basis for discussion with the committee of visiting educators who will conduct the evaluation in April.

In addition to the evaluation to be conducted in April, several specialized agencies with which Bucknell is concerned will visit the campus in March to make their periodic visit and evaluation. They are: The American Chemical Society, the Engineers' Council for Professional Development and the National Association of Schools of Music. These three groups will work under the auspices of the Middle States Association and will follow their own customary evaluation procedures. They will be supplied a general chairman and an assistant by the Middle States Association to help the specialized agencies organize and conduct their visit effectively, to serve as interpreters of the University to them, to facilitate an exchange of ideas and to aid their colleagues in obtaining what information they need outside their professional fields. The report of the Middle States evaluation conference and the specialized agency group will be presented to the Middle States Commission in November 1962 for comment, further suggestions and appropriate action on renewal of the University's Middle States membership.

■ FOUNDATION FOR INDEPENDENT COLLEGES INCREASES SUPPORT

In its tenth anniversary year the Foundation for Independent Colleges Inc. has announced total contributions of $585,790 in 565 gifts in the 1960-61 year from corporations solicited by the foundation members. The Foundation for Independent Colleges Inc., a non-profit corporation chartered in 1952 by the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, comprises 43 colleges and universities in Pennsylvania cooperatively seeking broad based corporate financial aid in support of the independent higher education in the Commonwealth. All of the members are degree-granting institutions, accredited by the Middle States Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools.

Begun in 1948 in Indiana, the cooperative approach for industry support has now become almost nationwide with 40 state and regional organizations in operation. The Foundation for Independent Colleges Inc. of Pennsylvania was the tenth of the state associations to be established and is the largest in number of member colleges.

Control of the foundation is vested in a board of trustees made up of 43 trustees representing the member colleges and 26 trustees representing business and industry, mainly on a geographical basis. The annual solicitation activity is performed by the college presidents with the help of vice presidents and directors of development in some cases. The procedure calls for the college president to sit down with his counterpart in each corporation visited for a face-to-face discussion of the interdependence of corporate enterprise and independent higher education. These calls number annually from 1200 to 1400 within the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

Distribution of the undesignated gifts is made annually and is determined by an equitable formula, which provides for 60% of the gifts to be divided equally among the member colleges, and 40% of the gifts to be divided in proportion to the full time undergraduate enrollment.

Bucknell's share in the 1959-60 academic year was $13,272.75 and the total received since the chartering of the Foundation for Independent Colleges Inc. amounts to $96,-659.06.

A complete report, including a list of the names of the donors can be secured by making a request to the Foundation for Independent Colleges Inc., 317 State Theatre Building, Harrisburg, Pa.

■ BUCKNELL PARENTS

At the meeting of the Board of Directors of the Bucknell Parents Association on Parents Day, October 28, 1961, it was announced that the Parents Association had awarded a full tuition four-year scholarship to David F. Bussard, a freshman from Wheaton, Md.

As a goal for the current Parents' Loyalty Fund, the Board announced its intention to provide three additional four-year full tuition scholarships to be available for the class entering in September, 1962. The funds for these scholarships will be solicited by the parents during this school year.

The officers of the association for this year are: Rev. Paul M. Humphreys '28, president, Waterbury, Conn.; Jay Hudson, president-elect, Meadowbrook; Harry Goldman, vice president, Rochester, N. Y.; Forry Strobeck, secretary-treasurer, Lewisburg; Mrs. Edward M. Berman, Roslyn Heights, N. Y.; Dr. John A. Topper, Hyndman; and Robert D. Smink, Sr. '26, Williamsport, parent representatives for the Class of 1962; Mrs. Edith Cupp, Milton; Elmer West, Silver Spring, Md.; Mrs. Lewis Danish, Binghamton, N. Y.; and Mrs. Dwight Skinner, Scarsdale, N. Y., parent representative for the Class of 1963; Mrs. Robert R. Strunce, Haddon Heights, N. J.; Leland J. Adams, Sr., Ardmore; Mrs. Edward T. Cline, Wilmington, Del.; and Vincent Halbert '34, Trenton, N. J., parent representatives for the Class of 1964.

■ ALUMNI TRUSTEE CANDIDATES ANNOUNCED

The committee on nomination for Alumni Trustee met at Homecoming and after studying the records of achievement of a number of prospective women candidates suggested by Alumni announced the names of the following candidates for the 1962 Alumni Trustee election:

MISS EDNA M. BAKER '21, Woodbury, N. J.

MRS. CHARLES E. COPELAND (Amorita M. Sesinger '22), Madison, N. J.

MRS. MARGARET M. OTTO (Margaret Mattern '18), Jackson Heights, N. Y.

Photographs and biographical records of the three candidates will be published in the March 1962 issue of THE BUCKNELL ALUMNUS, and in April every Alumnus will receive a mail ballot and will be urged to vote for his or her favorite candidate.

Additional women candidates may be nominated by a petition signed by no fewer than 200 Alumni provided such a petition shall be filed in the Alumni Office not later than February 15, 1962.

■ ENGINEERING ALUMNI MEET

On October 14, 1961, Homecoming Day, the Bucknell Engineering Alumni Association met at the Lewisburg Club for their annual meeting. A total of seventy-five members and special guests were present. Special guests included President and Mrs. Merle M. Odgers, Trustee William McNutt '27, Trustee and Mrs. David Burpee H'59, Trustee and Mrs. Edward W. Pangburn '15 and Mrs. Robert L. Rooke. Mr. Donald B. Young '38, treasurer of the University, and his wife were also honored guests.

Following dinner Mr. Roy Landis '22, 2nd vice president of the association, introduced the guests and read the report of President M. Eugene Cook '43 who was attending a meeting in Geneva, Switzerland. President Odgers extended greetings to the group on behalf of the University after which Capt. Herbert F. Eckberg, dean of the College of Engineering, reported on the status of the engineering college for the past year.

Eugene R. Levitt '44, Stanley C. Marshall '43, John B. Miller '26, R. Barlow Smith '27, Harry H. Angel '19 and James W. Diffenderfer '43 were elected directors to serve for three years. At a meeting of the Board of Directors following the dinner meeting, the following Alumni were elected as officers of the association to serve for the coming year: M. Eugene Cook '43, president; Frank E. Gerlitz '34, 1st vice president; Roy H. Landis '22, 2nd vice president; and George A. Irland '15, secretary-treasurer.

■ "OLE" FRIENDS

On October 19th at the Conference Center at Cowan, sixty-five retired and older faculty-administration personnel and their wives gathered for their second annual dinner. Dr. Norman Stewart, assisted by the Forrest Browns, made the arrangements which included a delicious turkey dinner and interesting program. Professor Frank Sprague was master of ceremonies.

The program consisted of two features. The first of these was a talk by Dr. Roy Anthony of State College. Dr. Anthony is a member of the Retired Personnel Club at Penn State and former president of the group, and serves now as Burgess for State College. He and Dr. Stewart have been close friends since high school days. He told about the value of their club at State, and described many of its activities and services. This brought a good response from the group although no immediate action was taken.

Professor Mildred Martin presented an illustrated talk on her overland bus trip from Calcutta, India, to Paris via Pakistan, Iran, Turkey, and Greece. Aided by beautiful color slides, her vivid account of this six-week camping tour was both humorous and instructive, proving again how adaptable a college professor must be.

There are forty-one persons listed in the retired personnel, including wives. Four deaths have occurred since the first meeting a year ago. Thirty other faculty-administration staff members are included on the invitation list because they have been co-workers over the years with those who have now retired. Dr. Stewart gave evidence of his continuing nimble wit when he produced a long list of historical incidents concerning past faculty members and left it to the audience to identify the persons concerned.

Prof. Mildred Martin spoke to the Emeritus faculty and friends at the Cowan meeting on October 19, 1961.

■ REPORT OF THE PRESIDENT

The report of the President of Bucknell University for the academic year 1960-1961, just published, carries this interesting comment on alumni affairs:

"Alumni activity flourishes. Thirty-six alumni club groups held a total of 74 meetings, a slight increase over last year. The President of the University attended 12 alumni club gatherings, the Alumni Secretary visited 20 alumni clubs, and the Assistant Alumni Secretary attended 10 club meetings. THE BUCKNELL ALUMNUS, published five times each year, continues to interpret the University to its alumni and to interpret the alumni to the University. During the year a few alumni have asked for interpretation of University policy on various matters; some articles in THE BUCKNELL ALUMNUS have resulted.

"During the past academic year the General Alumni Association, under the direction of its Board of Directors, has been concerned with evaluating its activities by a careful study of alumni programs at other universities and by a consideration of the activities being conducted on this campus. Bucknellians continue to be a very mobile group, and alumni addresses are being changed at the rate of over 400 each month. An Alumni Directory was last published in 1950 and is now out of print. Preparation of a new directory is under consideration, but probably will be delayed until alumni records can be transferred to IBM equipment. The Alumni Board of Directors has under study a plan whereby each geographical area of the country will be represented by membership. At the present time most of the members of the Board of Directors live in the Middle Atlantic States, and a plan of nomination and election is being considered that will permit alumni in all sections of the country to be more directly represented in proportion to the distribution of alumni population."

The full report, a most interesting 6x9 booklet of 43 pages, is available in limited quantity on a first come, first served basis. If you would like a copy drop a line to the Alumni Office.

■ MUSIC GROUPS TOUR

During the semester break from January 25 through January 30, 1962, both the Men's and Women's Glee Clubs will make their annual tours. The Men's Glee Club will tour in the area of Wilmington and Dover, Delaware; Baltimore, Maryland; Richmond, Virginia; and Washington, D. C.

The Women's Glee Club will tour the northern New Jersey and central Long Island areas and will also give a concert in Peekskill, N. Y.

The Symphony Orchestra will tour northeastern New York State, including Poughkeepsie, from February 17 through February 20, 1962.

The Chapel Choir will visit Pittsburgh and western Pennsylvania from March 10 through March 12, 1962.

And the Symphonic Band will present concerts in Connecticut and western Long Island between March 18 and March 22, 1962.

■ A POSITIVE COMMENT

On November 9, 1961, Dr. Wendell I. Smith '46, chairman of the Department of Psychology, presented a paper on programmed learning to sixty-five representatives of several major U. S. corporations and several agencies of the federal government.

Upon Dr. Smith's return to the campus he voiced the following comment on the value of a Bucknell education.

"I was very pleased to have some members of the group comment very favorably on the quality of our Alumni and on the enthusiasm with which our Alumni try to 'sell' their Alma Mater to the children of their colleagues. Men from American Telephone and Telegraph, Westinghouse, Western Electric and Eastman Kodak, in particular, were high in their praise of Bucknell."

■ BIRTHDAY DINNER MEETINGS PLANNED

As we go to press in early December six alumni clubs already have scheduled birthday dinners to celebrate the founding of Bucknell University 116 years ago.

UNIONTOWN—Dr. Russell Sangston '26, president of the Bucknell Alumni Club of Uniontown, has scheduled a dinner meeting on January 25, 1962, with Dr. Lester Kieft, chairman of the Department of Chemistry, as the guest speaker.

UNION COUNTY—President Andrew Shirk '51, and a committee of Union County Alumni are planning a dinner for the local club on January 31, 1962.

PHILADELPHIA—Philadelphia Alumni, under the leadership of Robert H. Taylor '48, have announced their intention to hold a dinner party on February 2, 1962, at McAllister's. The Men's Glee Club Octet will be the featured singers.

NORTHERN NEW JERSEY—On February 2, 1962, Bucknellians and parents in Northern New Jersey will meet to celebrate Bucknell's 116th birthday. President Robert List '48, announces Dr. and Mrs. Odgers will be guests of the club and that Francis Zachara '47, is making arrangements for the meeting.

ST. PETERSBURG—Word received from far off St. Petersburg and President Coleman J. Harris '12, tells of a planned gathering of Alumni and friends on February 4, 1962.

PITTSBURGH—President and Mrs. Odgers will meet with Pittsburgh Bucknellians on March 31, 1962, to help them celebrate Bucknell's birthday.

COLUMBUS—On January 11, 1962, Bucknellians in the central Ohio area will meet at the Ohio Stater Inn in Columbus for a charter meeting. The speaker for the evening will be Dr. Karl D. Hartzell, Dean of the University.

SHARON—A Bison Rally is being planned for March 3, 1962, when the basketball team plays Westminster College in New Wilmington. Frank Hamlin '48, president of the Bucknell Alumni Club of Sharon, is in charge of the arrangements.

IN REVIEW—Since publication of club meetings held from July 1, 1961, to October 21, 1961, in the November issue of THE BUCKNELL ALUMNUS, Alumni met in the following club areas: Harrisburg on November 2 for dinner; Buffalo on November 4 for a Bison Roundup; Lehigh Valley on November 11 for a Bison Roundup; Washington on November 20 for an informal party; Philadelphia on December 2 for a Bison Roundup; Harrisburg on December 7 for an annual Christmas dinner party; Northern New Jersey on December 8 with Mr. James O. duPont speaking at the annual fall dinner meeting; St. Petersburg on December 9 for an annual fall dinner; and for lunch in Harrisburg on December 27 when many Alumni attended the Pennsylvania State Education Association Convention.

■ GOOD READING AHEAD

Have you ever been faced with the dilemma as to just what books you should read to improve your knowledge of a certain subject? If you have, the March (1962) issue of THE BUCKNELL ALUMNUS may have the answer to your problem.

(Continued on Page 24)

ARE TODAY'S BUCKNELLIAN ANTI-RELIGIOUS?

ACCORDING to popular opinion (popular among non-college students, that is), American college society is degenerating in its views on important matters such as politics and religion. There is little a nineteen or twenty-year-old can do about the Berlin crisis or nuclear bans, but there is much he can do about his faith. His faith is a personal matter, a questioning of his "self" and his "values."

Here at Bucknell we try to develop mentally, physically, socially, and spiritually. Several years ago the compulsory Chapel program was halted. This in no way retarded the spiritual concern of the student body. Since that time the Christian Association (a student organization) has become one of the most active and respected organizations on our campus. It is through the endeavors of the CA that the 1961 Religion-in-Life Program (November 12-15) was so successful. However, it is not only the Religion-in-Life Central Committee that I commend, but the entire student body for its wholehearted interest and participation in this program.

The purpose of the Religion-in-Life Program is to stimulate introspection with respect to our faith and our religion. The RIL committee invited to our campus men who have intelligently and practically demonstrated in their lives a religion with which to live.

"The Meaning of Personal Faith and Its Application" was the theme followed by the four convocation speakers: Dr. Tom F. Driver, Dr. Richard Rubenstein, Dr. Daniel Maguire, and Dr. Charles C. Knapp.

Dr. Driver, assistant professor of Christian theology at Union Theological Seminary, New York City, is a drama critic for WBAL-FM, and directed D. H. Laurence's DAVID in its first American performance. He is the author of THE SENSE OF HISTORY IN GREEK AND SHAKESPEAREAN DRAMA, and wrote the libretto for the Oratorio, "The Invisible Fire." Dr. Driver spoke on "The Nature of Man (Freedom)" and delivered the Chapel sermon on "The Christian Faith and Its Encounter with Modern Society."

Dr. Rubenstein is the director of the B'nai B'rith Hillel Foundations and chaplain to Jewish students at the universities in the Pittsburgh area. He is also the associate editor of THE RECONSTRUCTIONIST. Dr. Rubenstein's topic of discussion was the "Questions of Human Destiny Raised in the Bible."

Father Daniel Maguire, S.T.D., is professor of religion at Villanova. His academic work has been done in philosophy, and he is particularly interested in the personality of Christ and the Christian concept of love and marriage.

Dr. Knapp, minister, First Baptist Church, Pittsburgh, is a former lecturer in Bucknell's Department of Religion. In 1955 he was exchange preacher to Great Britain under the auspices of the National Council of Churches. His special concerns have been in the areas of mental health, science and religion, and Christian theology.

The highlight of the convocation program was a panel discussion with Dr. Driver, Dr. Maguire, Dr. Knapp, and Rabbi Friedman, discussing "The Nature of God (Truth)."

Besides the major convocations, many resident groups invited leaders to elaborate further on the convocation topics in small dormitory sessions which were held each night after the general sessions. These discussion groups included all denominations. The diversification of the groups did not cause discord but seemed to lend an aura of understanding and harmony. The question posed by most of the groups was, "How can we determine our faith?" Through this simple question we see that today's Bucknellian is concerned with his faith (or lack of it), is interested in his spiritual development, and is a serious-minded individual.

Had the students ignored the opportunity to listen to these excellent speakers, had they failed to attend the convocations and discussions, or had they refused to even think about their faith with respect to their niche in society—then, and only then, could it be said that Bucknell College society is degenerating in its views on religion.

All too often college students are not given due recognition for their sincerity. However, we are sincere in our concern about faith. At this unstable period of our lives, when our future lies in our choice of curriculum or choice of a mate there is only one factor that remains stable—our faith. It is for this reason that the Bucknell students welcomed the 1961 Religion-in-Life Program, a well-planned and well-supported function.

Editors Note: Bonni Vasilawsky, a member of the sophomore class, is the fourth undergraduate to write for THE BUCKNELL ALUMNUS since 1950. Many will remember her predecessors who were: Mrs. Harry L. Staley '52 (M. Jayne Rothschild '52) now living at 53 Nob Court, New Rochelle, N. Y.; Mrs. Peter L. Kline '60 (Virginia M. Emmitt '59) now living at 164 West Baltimore Avenue, Apt. 2, Lansdowne; and Miss Barbara Ann Runk '61, who resides at 3525 Brisban Street, Harrisburg.

Bonni came to Bucknell from Northampton where she graduated in the first fifth of her high school class. She was active as a cheerleader, yearbook editor, school newspaper feature writer, and was a member of the National Honor Society. At Bucknell Bonni is majoring in English and psychology.

CLASS REPORTS

EMERITUS CLUB

MISS MARY COTTON
Eldred, Pa.

We extend deepest sympathy to DR. A. R. E. WYANT '92 on the death of his wife in Clarion, on June 20, 1961, in her 94th year. Andy and Minnie were married when he was 79, and she was 78, and they had a happy married life of nearly 15 years. They had been baptised together in 1885 in the old Reidsburg millstream, into the membership of the Zion Church. Memorial services were held on July 2 in the beautiful Zion Baptist Church in Clarion and interment was held in the family cemetery where five generations of her family were members of the Baptist Church. After the memorial service, Andy published a leaflet telling of the married life of the couple. Included in the leaflet is the following closing poem:

ALONE I WALK

Alone I walk where yesterday
Someone walked beside me.
No more I greet with eager heart
What'er the day betides me.
The sky's less blue.
The birds are still.
Oh where is joy and laughter?
I walk along, so drab the way—
I walk alone hereafter.
To you who see me go my way,
With hands forever doing
Accustomed tasks, common things—
The everyday pursuing:
In crowds, with friends
Gay with song and laughter,
Cannot guess I walk alone.
I walk alone hereafter.

03 MRS. HARRY C. HERPEL
(Elvie Coleman)
1250 Park Ave.
McKeesport, Pa.

We regret to report the death of EMILY R. EBLING on September 18 at her home in Philadelphia. Her interest in people, and her wide travels brought her many friends. She will be missed by all of them. We send our sympathy to her relatives, especially her niece, Miss Leah K. Daniel, with whom she lived.

CHARLOTTE SHIELDS Murphy and her husband are living in Concordia, Kan.

C. F. EISENMENGER has retired, but still serves on call. He says he enjoys working with his flowers and garden and has excellent health.

07 DR. LEO L. ROCKWELL
602 Charles St.
Lakeland, Fla.

JUNE REUNION

Nobody never sends me no news! Get busy, guys and gals. And don't forget the reunion in June.

09 MRS. HOWARD L. HEADLAND
(Sarah E. Walters)
3911 First Avenue North
St. Petersburg 13, Fla.

November's BUCKNELL ALUMNUS reports the passing of Mrs. David H. Finley (GERTRUDE A. MYERS). We regret we have no details of her death.

Along with birthday anniversary greetings last September, came a fine note from IOLA QUANDT who still lives in Santa Monica, Calif. She reports that her health is "so-so" except for her eyes which are not so good. Thank you, Iola, for including the address of Mrs. CHARLOTTE HULLEY VELTE. She now lives at 340 S. Ridgewood Ave., Olds Hall, Box 791, Daytona Beach, Fla.

HEBER W. YOUNGKEN, 17 Cox Rd., Winchester, Mass., wrote in October of some of his unusual doin's: "As for us, we should like very much to have been at the commencement activities but were prevented by my diminished eyesight due to a cleft retina in the left eye and retinitis in the right eye, a capillary hemorrhage having since taken place in the latter. This has given me great difficulty in reading and writing and has compelled me to give up driving my auto until the condition clears up. My eye specialist is optimistic that it might be in time. On September 12, Clara and I celebrated our golden wedding anniversary. Our four children had planned a big surprise for us which began the Saturday previous with Clara's three sisters from Bloomsburg, accompanied by their husbands, walking in that morning. Heber, Jr. came up from Peace Dale, R. I., with his family that afternoon. That evening he drove us to the House of 1775 on the Concord Turnpike where all the family had gathered along with near relatives to do us honor at a dinner in a beautiful dining hall appropriately decorated for the occasion. Six of our grandchildren were present. HEBER, JR. '35 then introduced Mr. Harold Moyer, our son-in-law from Bloomsburg, as toastmaster who after proposing toasts to our future wellbeing and with Heber, Jr. presenting us gifts from our family, called upon us to reminisce. From then on thru Tuesday the celebration continued in our home: the minister of our church called to extend congratulations from our church with a beautiful golden yellow chrysanthemum plant. Friends from the college also called on us that day. We also received numerous greeting cards, flowers and some telegrams."

By the time you read this another Christmas Day—1961—will have become history. Let us meditate a bit on the great truth Dorothy Burnham Eaton here has written:

"Cold hills, had a warmer hearth
—But brighter, stranger,
Cathedrals risen over the earth,
Built from a manger."

My wishes for you, "New Year, new zest."

10 MISS MILDRED B. CATHERS
100 W. 33rd St., Apt. 6
Bayonne, N. J.

With sorrow do we record the death on September 14, 1961, of Dr. CLAIRE S. SHELLHAMER in Worcester, Mass. Claire was a pre-med student in her years at Bucknell, going from there to the University of Michigan for her M.S. and M.D. degrees. After tours of duty in several mid-west hospitals she established practice in Worcester, Mass., where her specialties were obstetrics and gynecology. She retired in 1957 and turned over her practice to a niece who accompanied her to our 50th reunion. Claire thoroughly enjoyed that reunion, seeing former classmates after so many years of absence from the campus. Her niece tells us she talked about it many, many times and always with great joy. She held membership in several professional organizations, among them the Blackwell Society for Women Doctors; was a member of the Reformed Church and led a full and useful life outside her professional one. To her family her classmates extend heartfelt sympathy.

"HEINE" BANK and STANLEY HART-SHORN had a reunion all their own recently at the home of the latter in Woodbridge, N. J. "Hartsy" was unable to attend our 50th reunion so there were many things of interest about that to be discussed as well as happenings of college days to be recalled. They are anticipating another such get-together in the not too distant future.

WINNIE HARDGROVE has been adding to her world-wide travel miles again. When your correspondent had lunch with her at her son's home in New Caanan, Conn., in September she had just returned from what she called "just a little trip" to Bermuda. Since then she has attended a grandmothers' club convention in Florida and gone from there by boat to Nassau. Surprisingly she has time for many activities at home also.

11 MR. HERBERT S. LLOYD
R. D. 1, Lily Lake
Wapwallopen, Pa.

We are saddened to report the death of Mrs. Bess C. Davis, widow of our beloved Dr. FRANK C. DAVIS, in Lewisburg, October 5, 1961. Bess and Frank had lived in Lewisburg since 1924 and their contributions to Bucknell student life can never be measured. Mrs. Davis is survived by three children: Mrs. CAROL L. Hart '38, wife of Lt. Col. Earnest J. Hart, McLean, Va.; Miss MARGARET L. DAVIS '40, Washington, D. C.; and ALAN DAVIS '51, of Springfield, Del. Co.

FRED MACALLISTER writes that he is serving as interim pastor in a Rochester, N. Y., church, not far from Colgate-Rochester Divinity School where he began his ministry fifty years ago. 'Auld acquaintance' is brought to mind. VERA ROCKWELL and LEO '07 have moved Grand Central Station to Lakeland, Fla. HARRY WARFEL '20, attending a College English Association meeting at Tampa, stopped on the way. CHARLEY BROMLEY '08 visited from Frostproof, Fla. ALBERTA '12 and CLEVELAND CONNER '12 visited en route to their winter stay at St. Petersburg. Mrs. John Plant (METTA ALLEN '31) stopped in just to say, "hello." BUCK SHOTT '22 had his say at the St. Petersburg Bucknell dinner.

EVELYN McCASKIE reported about her trip to East Africa aboard a freighter. International exchange of goods of all description amazed her—heavy machinery, metals, canned goods of all sorts from U. S. A. She marveled at the sight of the great beasts of Africa—elephants, rhinos, buffaloes, warthogs and antelope. She visited the animal preserves, where the fast diminishing wild animals are protected. She noted also the unrest of the native Africans, and the ever-present dangers facing the whites, especially Europeans. Evelyn has only praise for the work being done by UNESCO in its efforts to bring some improvement in the lives of the natives. Unfortunately, space limitations prevented the printing of her entire letter for everyone to enjoy. Perhaps some of the omissions may be presented later.

12 MRS. H. W. HOUSEKNECHT
(Maze Callahan)
108 W. Penn St.
Muncy, Pa.

JUNE REUNION

Pop and I went down to Homecoming. It was a beautiful day!!! It poured. The Homecoming parade went on as usual and after the game the weather improved.

The "boss" in the Alumni Office had called a meeting at 9:30 a. m. in Coleman Hall to make plans for the reunions. Jim couldn't get there at that time but planned to meet me later. A tie-up in traffic prevented that so we'll get together later on. By the way, "Buck" has promised balmy weather for our Alumni Week End.

Although now retired, Dr. A. OSCAR WOLFE, SR., is still very much interested in the problems of gas distribution by pipeline. When word came that the French may lay gas lines under the Mediterranean from Africa to the European coast, Oscar worked out charts to show the behavior of an under-sea gas stream that would extend under the Mediterranean for 120 miles and be 1½ miles down in Davy Jones' locker. Of course, Dr. Wolfe has had plenty of previous experience in gasoline transmission having been chief engineer for the wartime Big Inch and Little Inch construction projects and having worked out delivery lines in the Belgian Congo, Venezuela, Arabia and in the Colombian jungles. Congratulations to you and Coleman. Get yourselves back for our 50th so we can give you an extra pat on the back.

I was shocked and saddened when my children called me from Camp Hill saying that FRANK HEAN had passed away September 28. Frank was secretary of the State Board of Pardons. The week before he had been in Philadelphia for three days when they reviewed 206 cases. Came home completely exhausted and went to bed over the week end. Monday he went to his office as usual but stayed home on Wednesday. He became very ill, went to the hospital Thursday morning at 2:00 o'clock and passed away at 5:00 a. m. Frank was born in Lancaster on June 7, 1890. He was a graduate of Altoona High School, Bucknell University and the University of Pennsylvania. He was a member of Sigma Nu fraternity; Dauphin County, Pennsylvania and American Bar Associations; Keystoneians; and Royal Arcanum. He served as secretary of the Pardon Board under four governors. He was with the Y. M. C. A. in World War I at Camp Hancock, Augusta, Ga., and after the war became active in the educational department of the national Y. M. C. A. board in Altoona and Norristown. He was active all his life in church work, and for a number of years he taught the Men's Bible Class of the First Presbyterian Church in Norristown. In Market Square Presbyterian Church in Harrisburg, he was ruling elder for 21 years and taught the Anna S. D. Orth Bible Class for 29 years. He also served as attorney for the Democratic State Committee. He married Petrona Garrard Humber on June 16, 1919, at the Garrard Plantation in Dennis, Ga. He is survived by his widow, a daughter—Elizabeth Hean Stone of New Cumberland, three grandchildren and one sister. Services were held Monday, October 2, in the Market Street Presbyterian Church. CARL SPROUT '08 and I represented Bucknell. The 1912 family extends sincerest sympathy to the loved ones.

13 REV. GEORGE F. HAINES
324 Market St.
Lewisburg, Pa.

By the time this issue of the ALUMNUS reaches you it will be 1962—the 49th birthday of our class. When 1962 becomes history, the year 1963 will take the center of the stage of time—the year which back in 1913 seemed so distant that the moon seemed relatively near. But now to our utter amazement the 50th year is so near that we are amazed at the fleetness of time. Whether we like it or not we must face the fact that 50 years have passed since we received our diplomas. And face it we will by returning to the scene of our college years to act like kids again.

When we left college back in 1913 we became so busy conquering the world that we neglected to keep in touch with one another.

EAST COLLEGE RENAMED TRAX HALL

East College, one of the University's largest residence halls for men, has been renamed Harland A. Trax Hall in tribute to Dr. Harland A. Trax '01, H'51.

In announcing the trustee action President Odgers said, "Bucknell wishes to honor Dr. Trax for his loyalty and his generosity to his Alma Mater over a period of more than half a century." Dr. Trax loyally served Bucknell as a trustee from 1937 to 1952 and has now become an honorary member of the Board.

Although blindness, caused by retinal detachments, forced Dr. Trax to retire as vice president and general auditor of the New Jersey Bell Telephone Company in 1939, he has continued to be active in many areas. Some of his special interests include memberships with the American Foundation for the Blind, the American Foundation for the Overseas Blind, and the Advisory Board of the Library of Congress on selection of books for the blind.

In 1951 Bucknell conferred upon Dr. Trax the honorary degree of Doctor of Laws for "devotion to his college and his fellow men." Today, that devotion is no less evident than it has always been. His recent gift of $300,000 to the general endowment fund, made under a life-income agreement, has provided the stimulus for the University's program for planned giving.

A bronze plaque honoring Dr. Trax will soon be placed in the recently rebuilt and refurnished Trax Hall and will read as follows:

This dormitory honors

HARLAND A. TRAX, '01, M.A. '04, LL.D. '51

Trustee of the University *who, though sightless, kept the vision of

The Bucknell of Tomorrow*

It will, therefore, be good when we meet for our 50th reunion to restore the personal touch and be real classmates again. Now that we have made our fortune and no longer have to keep our nose to the grindstone, we will have time to think of our classmates and get in touch with them. This brings me to the heart of my sermon. One of the best ways to keep our class friendships alive is to send news about ourselves to the class reporter. If you have no news send him a short essay on, "Why I think the Class of 1913 is the best in Bucknell's history." The ALUMNUS will then send your letter to everyone in our class as well as every class in its history. This means you only have to write one letter in order to write to every one of your classmates.

Your reporter wishes you a very happy New Year. 1961 was a sad year for your reporter for so few remembered to send him news. But he is thankful to the few who did remember. And now by all means let every member of our class highly resolve—the Lord willing—when the roll is called at our 50th class reunion, I'll be there to answer.

14 MRS. H. B. WEAVER
(Dora Hamler)
348 Ridge Ave.
New Kensington, Pa.

No class news received by me for this issue.

Your reporter has visited Lewisburg several times this summer and one hour was spent in the Bertrand Library on the Hill browsing through the books. School was in session and as the boys and girls passed by a momentary longing to be one of them flitted through this grandmother's mind.

Lewisburg is home and it is good to go back often and tread the pavements of the town and visit with relatives and friends. On our most recent visit, in late October, we spent the night at the Lewisburg. Harry attended the supper meeting of Kiwanis and RUTH and JACK RICE were hospitable to his spouse. Ruth had five pounds of beans baking in the oven. Needless to say we all three ate heartily.

Please send news of your activities. Your friends and classmates like to know about you.

15 MISS MARION R. BANCROFT
1308 9th St.
Altoona, Pa.

JOSEPH W. ALLEN was honored at a testimonial dinner on September 29 on the occasion of his retirement from Bendix Aviation Corporation after more than 25 years of service. After graduation from Bucknell in 1915 with a degree in electrical engineering he spent two years with General Electric. In 1917 he qualified as an airplane pilot and served in World War I. After the war he joined the Electrical Branch of Cooke Field in Dayton, Ohio (now the Wright Aircraft Development Center), and later joined Bendix Aviation Corporation. During World War II he served the Bureau of Aeronautics, U. S. Navy, in Washington and in Europe, for which service the U. S. Navy awarded him a recognition of service certificate. In 1946 he returned to Bendix. He has over 40 patents in his name and has received high honors by the American Institute of Electrical Engineers for his pioneer work in the application of electrical power to aircraft. His brother, ALEX A. ALLEN, D.D.S. '22, practices dentistry in Great Neck, N. Y., and serves as professor at the New York University School of Dentistry. He is a member of Lambda Chi Alpha fraternity and will continue to reside at 43 Devon Rd., Essex Fells, N. J.

16 DR. ERIC A. OESTERLE
216 18th Ave., N. E.
St. Petersburg 4, Fla.

Who should knock at our door but LESLIE McKEAGUE '13. With my great mind of total recall I recognized him immediately and bade him come in. We had not seen one another since his graduation at Bucknell to go one step higher in his scientific education at MIT. Since a freshman is always very impressionable I could tell McKeague a number of things about himself. He was one of a trio which included "LEX" KEEN and POW-ELL, both of the Class of '13. "WHITEY" ZEHNER '13 was often in the company of this trio, being a chemical engineer. They used to put the bee on "Willie" HAROLD DORRELL '14 whose fame as a freshman was achieved by singing "Poppa's pants will soon fit Willie" on many a hazing expedition. Leslie told us of the way in which he was instrumental in getting Powell, Keen and Zehner their jobs with companies with which they remained until retirement. Through a relative "Les" was offered three opportunities for work. Planning on further education at MIT he let his buddies draw lots for these with the result that Whitey went with Atlas Powder, Powell to Welshach and Keen to U. S. Rubber.

Helen and I went over to Reddington Beach, Fla., to meet his charming wife May. For the past twelve seasons they have taken their vacation at the Tides. Les is the second East College chum we have met down here. "Kid" HILLMAN '14 is the other. He lives over at Largo, Fla. One bit of saddening news came via McKEAGUE. His classmate "Heavy" LESLIE STOUT '13 died September 3 he told us. Stout was in St. Pete last winter and we saw him frequently. Les was thirty-five years with Allied Chemical. He lives in Virginia.

We get a big bang out of JOHN COLEMAN HARRIS '12, president of our local alumni group. He has the heartiest laugh of anybody we know. We are working on our December meeting. To us he is a replica of his father in his physical proportions. He is not as tall as the Prexy we once knew, but facially a "spittin" image. Like all the Harrises he could play a mighty fine game of tennis. Maybe his kid brother STANLEY '17 will be locating here. Stan married our classmate, the late RUTH EMBREY.

REHMAN, where is that picture? CONWAY, I still expect to be sued for defamation of character by you. TILT, one of the girls who was not on hand for the reunion assayed you as "still good looking." That same letter of appraisal had me as looking much younger than SAM BRYANT. And SHAILER, boy you were set down as looking like "a distinguished professor." JOHN CONWAY, this girl didn't recognize you. And you had taken her out a few times, too.

"TILT" has written and told of his 40th wedding anniversary. Says he, "a money-tree and some other gifts brightened the occasion." Well do we recall the day we served as the minister at Tilt's wedding in Milford, Conn. He was best man at ours.

DOT and FRED SCHNURE '14 had a good summer. They had the boys and their families as their "cabin" guests. Dot ought to write the story of the high waters of the Delaware which flooded that cabin. She tells a graphic story of that event. She heard from PEG BRANDON and LOIS REYNOLDS right after the reunion. And we are glad to note that these two great Bucknellians will visit us this winter.

17 MRS. ERLE M. TOPHAM
(C. Ray Speare)
425 West Sedgwick St.
Philadelphia 19, Pa.

Thank you RAY SPRENKLE for your letter bringing us up to date about you. In May of 1959 and again in 1960 Ray served as U. S. delegate to the International Standardization Committee meetings, first in Karlsruhe, Germany (1959) and then in Paris, France, in 1960. After last year's meetings he and Helen took a thirteen-day bus tour through Switzerland, Austria and the Tyrol section and Northern Italy. Then they flew to London for a visit with friends. They had a wonderful time. The most interesting part of the trip for Ray was to compare Paris today with World War I time when he was stationed near there at Orly Airport. Now, as he says, all good things come to an end, so on April 1, 1961, he retired from Bailey Meter Co. He is still a part-time consultant, but his time is his own and they are using it to travel. Last summer they went to Los Angeles, Calif., to see son, ROGER '47 and his family (two darling daughters, Laura and Linda). Did many interesting things including Disneyland, Marineland, etc., including a trailer camping trip to Yosemite National Park and Lake Tahoe. On the way home they stopped at Spearfish, N. Dak., to see the Black Hills Passion Play. It was very fine, well worth seeing. This trip was about 10,500 miles and no car trouble en route. They are now planning a Caribbean Cruise starting and ending in Florida. They hope to continue this "as long as our constitutions permit and the pocketbook can stand the strain." "We expect to be back for the 45th in June."

JACK (C. M.) KRINER has been quite ill this year but I understand he is getting along nicely. HENRIETTA let me hear from you about you folks, please!

TIP and I made it back to Homecoming in spite of the fact that he had been ill for about six weeks. (He's fine now). This was the 50th anniversary of the 1911 football team, on which he played his first game for Bucknell. The 50-year team are guests of the Bison Club at the game and at the breakfast. They also have honor seats at the luncheon. Only four of the 18 on that team are still living. This was a blow to hear. We looked forward to seeing FAT KEISER '15, BUNNY HERN '15 and EARLE BARTHOLOMEW '12. Earle made it, but the other two didn't and we were so sorry not to see them. Try to make it next year, won't you fellows? The game was "sloppy" with rain and mud but the week end was fun as usual meeting old friends.

Thanks, ERIC '16 for your kind words about Tip. I feel exactly the same about him!

BRICK, we missed you and Ysabelle too.

Sitting up front at luncheons is an honor, but you do miss being with the gang.

How about June 1, 2 and 3. Will you be there? We hope so.

18 MRS. LAYTON E. KING
(Elizabeth Champion)
10 N. Loyalsock Ave.
Montoursville, Pa.

Mrs. MARGARET MATTERN Otto, who retired in June from the New York School of Social Work of Columbia University Library, has accepted a post-retirement appointment as librarian of the Medical Society of the County of Queens located in Forest Hills, N. Y.

It would seem that the Class of 1918 has gone out of existence—and I am not much of a hand at making up tall tales about my classmates.

Understand that a number of members of the class were back at Bucknell for Homecoming this year—JESSIE POTTS Kline and her husband and LOUISE HAHN SPROUT and CLINTON '17 among them.

Jessie reported to me that she had talked to WILLIAM JOHNSON, and the two of them are going to formulate a letter to be sent to all of the class members, alerting them to the fact that our next reunion is not too far away. Think it would be a good idea to get an early start and perhaps we can have a real reunion in 1963.

Was grieved to hear of the death of EMILY EBLING '03, who was a teacher of mine in high school and whose friendship I have valued throughout these many years.

Some of the members of the class must have had some interesting trips, some new grandchildren, or retired from an interesting position—please write me, so that we can tell the other members of the class.

20 MRS. M. A. J. ROSEMAN
(Anna Sterling)
1736 Welsh Rd.
Philadelphia 15, Pa.

Greetings to the 1920'ers! Won't you please write telling about the special events of your life?

I did hear from KATHRYN KEYLOR Bair. She lives in a suburb near me and keeps very busy with various activities. She is now enjoying a duplicate bridge club which has grown from a few to several tables. She had a wonderful trip to California and the Canadian Rockies this summer and her travels take her often to visit her son, Charles, and family in New Jersey.

22 MRS. GEORGE C. WOLFE
(Ruth H. Brown)
60 S. 2nd St.
Lewisburg, Pa.

JUNE REUNION

According to an editorial in one of the Wilkes-Barre newspapers which was sent to me recently, the Reverend W. HERBERT SUGDEN, known to us as Bill, retired in June, 1961. His only pastorate was in his home town. After graduating from Bucknell he studied at Princeton Theological Seminary and at Cambridge University in England, then spent thirty-five years as pastor at the Westminster Presbyterian Church in Wilkes-Barre. We hope this means he will be on hand in June to help us celebrate our 40th reunion.

26 MISS ANNA L. BROWN
48 Wildwood Ave.
Pitman, N. J.

It is with regret that we announce the death of our classmate, MARGARET PRICE COLVIN, on June 15, 1961. She was the wife of Dr. MERL G. COLVIN '24, city and county health officer and pathologist at the Williamsport Hospital. It is ironical that she was a victim of cancer; the disease she worked so hard to eradicate. She organized the Lycoming County unit of the American Cancer Society and served as its first county captain. We extend our heartfelt sympathy to her family.

MAUD KEISTER Jensen is on furlough from Korea to continue her graduate work at Drew. She would be very happy to hear from her many friends at 24 Maple Ave., Madison, N. J.

ELIZABETH THOMPSON has a new address: Cooper River Plaza S-304, Pennsauken, N. J.

27 MRS. L. H. COLLISON
(Grace M. Pfeiffer)
Marydel, Md.

JUNE REUNION

Reunion book data sheets should be in your possession when you read this class news column.

Don't be a procrastinator. How about taking a few minutes to complete the sheet and mail it today?

Your editorial committee is anxious to prepare an interesting and useful reunion L'Agenda and our efforts can only be rewarded by your cooperation. Mail the requested information NOW to: Donald E. Wagner, Reunion Book Committee, 56 South 5th St., Lewisburg, Pa.

30 MRS. EARLE H. MEREDITH
(Janet E. Bingham)
303 South Main St.
Jersey Shore, Pa.

On Saturday, November 18, my husband (Ted) and I visited Bucknell for the last game of the football season. Boy! Was it cold!! It was a good game (for me!) Ted is a grad-

Randall L. Davis '28

Randall L. Davis '28 was elected president of the American Hotel Association at the 50th annual convention held in Washington, D. C., in September. He is general manager of the Sheraton-Dallas Hotel in Dallas, Texas, and is a past president in the Texas and Ohio hotel associations.

Mr. Davis has been associated with the hotel business since 1929 when he was with the sales department of the Statler Hotel in Cleveland, Ohio. In 1940 he went to Cincinnati, Ohio, as general manager of the Gibson Hotel, where he remained until 1947 when he became general manager of the Hotel Adolphus in Dallas, Texas.

In 1957 Mr. Davis joined the Sheraton Corporation of America as manager of the Sheraton Jefferson in St. Louis, Mo. Later that year he returned to Texas to begin preparations for the opening of the Sheraton Dallas Hotel, tallest building west of the Mississippi.

Mr. and Mrs. Davis have two twins, Jeanne and Jack, and live at the Sheraton-Dallas Hotel.

uate of the University of Delaware so the B. U.-Del. game is a must on our calendar. It is always a thrill to go back to Bucknell and with a feeling of nostalgia look over the campus and relive a few minutes of memories of dear B. U. and the Class of '30!

The Class of '30 is shocked by the sudden death on November 16 of "OLLIE" WAGNER, a lawyer of Danville. George suffered a coronary in his law office in Danville several days earlier and was admitted to Geisinger Medical Center in a critical condition. After earning his law degree at the University of Pennsylvania Law School, he served as district attorney of Montour County for two terms with service in the U. S. Naval Intelligence Unit during World War II interrupting his second term. Surviving is his widow, the former Cleo McLeod, a native of Pineview, Ga.; five sons and a brother, F. PORTER WAGNER '47. Funeral services were held in the Grove Presbyterian Church, Danville, with interment in the Odd Fellows Cemetery. "Ollie" acted as president of the Class of 1930 and did a wonderful job for our reunions in 1955 and 1960. We all join in extending to his wife and children our most sincere sympathy.

The Class of '30 extends our belated sympathy to CLARA MILES Schreyer, whose husband Jack died very suddenly last June on a ship coming home from a vacation in Bermuda. To Clara and her children we give our warmest sympathy. Clara is living in Milton.

Mrs. REBA DECKER Hartman and husband, Robert ("Gummy") are receiving congratulations on their second grandchild born to their daughter Judy. Reba and "Gummy" live at 878 Croton Rd., Wayne, and their daughters are Judy and Susan. Susan is living at home and Judy is now Mrs. John Murphy, address Tarawa Terrace, N. C. The grandchild is Judy's and John's second little girl—their first is Kristin and the new baby Kathleen.

Your class secretary, JANET BINGMAN Meredith would love to hear from all you members of the Class of 1930. So please send me a note and tell me where you live and what exciting (?) lives you are living. Let's say "Life Begins at 50 for the Class of '30." Please drop me a line.

Keep a big red circle in your memory around June, 1965—let's have a "bang up" reunion with all the gang. FRANCIS MOERSCHBACHER is president—let's all plan for '65!!!

31

MRS. HAROLD A. BRANDRIF
(Helen Mowry)
111 Cherry St., Central Park
Pennsville, N. J.

Dr. CHARLES E. CHAFFEE, superintendent of schools of Bethlehem city schools since 1954, has recently accepted the presidency of the Susquehanna University Alumni Association. Dr. Chaffee, who was graduated from West Chester State Teachers College, earned an A.B. at Susquehanna, a Master of Arts degree from Bucknell in 1931 and then went on to earn his Doctor of Education degree at New York University in 1939. In 1959 Susquehanna University awarded the honorary degree of Doctor of Pedagogy to Dr. Chaffee. He has served as principal, supervising principal, and superintendent of schools in Monroeton, Herndon, Tremont and Downingtown, in Pennsylvania and in Stratford, Conn., before accepting the appointment in Bethlehem in 1954. Since 1947 he has been instrumental in building a total of eighteen new school buildings in Stratford, Conn., and Bethlehem.

In the November election PAUL M. SHOWALTER won the judgeship for Union and Snyder Counties and took the oath as President Judge on January 1. He succeeded Judge WILLIAM L. SHOWERS '16 whose ten-year term expired on January 1. For the past several years, Paul has been solicitor for the boroughs of Lewisburg and New Berlin and for the Lewisburg and Kelly Township school districts. Elected as Union County district attorney in 1952, he served until he was succeeded by W. ROGER FETTER '47 in 1960. Paul is a director of the Lewisburg National Bank, and he and his wife, the former S. KATHARINE GRAHAM '33, are active in community and civic affairs.

32

MR. ELLIS F. HULL
11 Broad St.
Allentown, N. J.

JUNE REUNION

JAMES B. STEVENSON, publisher of The Titusville Herald, is the man responsible for resurrecting the Venango County ghost town of Pithole, a major eastern historical site. With little aid, and on his own, he has laid out the original streets, marked the locations of most of the buildings, mowed and cleaned up the site of this oil boom town. Pithole sprang to life in January, 1865, with the discovery of oil and almost immediately boasted of fifty-seven hotels and the third largest post office in Pennsylvania. However, just fifteen months following the first burst of the black liquid from the Pithole terrain, the town no longer existed. Today, thanks to Jim, a visitor to Pithole may stand on any street corner and, by looking at well displayed maps and original town photographs, see Pithole as it stood in the oil boom days of the 1860's.

Please mark the dates of June 1-3 on your calendar. This is the time when all members of our class will return to Bucknell for our 30th reunion.

Your reporter has taken on the assignment of reunion book editor so you will be hearing from me soon. When you receive my questionnaire don't procrastinate—fill it in and return it to me as soon as possible. We want to include everyone in the book but, most of all, we want to see all of you return for the reunion.

33

MRS. ERNEST H. ENGELHARDT
(Janet Worthington)
Irondale Place, Millville Rd.
Bloomsburg, Pa.

GLADYS STEELE Dunmire two years ago toured Europe. This summer she drove her new Ford to Portland, Oregon, to attend the American Baptist Convention, then flew by jet for a tour of Alaska and Hawaii.

After specializing in work with teen-agers in the Joint Youth Program of Christian Education of West Lafayette, Ind., the Rev. JAMES H. DAVIS as of June 29, 1961, is minister of education of the Community Congregational Church in Chula Vista, San Diego, Calif., a church of 1200 members. Jim's daughter, Nancy, attended for the third year the summer school of library science at Indiana University and is now a senior at Chula Vista High School. His son, Jack, is in sixth grade. Jim's new address is 134 Jamul Street, Chula Vista, Calif.

SAMUEL W. BERNSTEIN, Esq., was elected secretary-treasurer of the Bucknell Alumni Club of Triple Cities in April; MARY E. BALDWIN is the new president of the Bucknell Alumni Club of Harrisburg; and ALBERT H. FENSTERMACHER was re-elected treasurer of the Bucknell Alumni Club of Philadelphia.

ROBERT N. COOK, Esq., professor of law at the Western Reserve University School of Law, has been appointed to the Committee on Improvement of Conveyancing and Recording Practices of the American Bar Association and the Executive Committee of the League of Ohio Law Schools. Bob is currently serving as 1961-62 president of the Western Reserve University chapter of the American Association of University Professors and is working on the second of a series of articles on American Property Law Reform.

PEG DOUGHERTY has moved to a larger apartment with a lawn and flower garden. She was awarded a grant from N. I. H. M. to do a research project regarding their child guidance center. Recently she enjoyed a meeting with Bucknell alumnae. She is our petite classmate.

BOB ANDERSON (Col. R. S.) is stationed in Germany as commanding officer of a large army hospital with six dispensaries under his operational control, which serve as feeders to the hospital. He is located in Wurzburg, a beautiful University city with gorgeous surrounding countryside. He is interested in traveling into the border countries and is enjoying symphony orchestra concerts and operas.

BETTY THAYER Ward's fourteen-year daughter and her eleven-year daughter are in high school in San Bruno, Calif. She has been living near San Francisco for about two years now, an active person in P. T. A. and Scouts. She is delighted by visits from KITTY (REESE) and LOU CARLISLE '31. DOT (BEISTLE) and Dave Miller and KITTY (LEDDEN) Hoffman.

EVELYN V. ANDREWS just returned from a month in Europe, visiting some American Friends Service Committee projects and hav-ng a vacation—England, Paris, Vienna, and Switzerland.

34 MRS. WILLIAM S. LIMING
(Ruth Rohr)
55 Magnolia Ave.
Garden City, N. Y.

May I wish you all a Happy New Year 1962. My, hasn't time flown? Remember Christmas, 1933, and beginning that last semester at Bucknell—seems almost yesterday. Many of us have sons or daughters now at Bucknell and so we do see each other. I was fortunate enough to be on campus when college opened, at Homecoming and again for Parents' Week End and chatted with EDWARD C. MYERS and his very beautiful wife, EDNA CLECKNER MYERS '33, who have a sophomore daughter at Bucknell. Our class prexy is a very busy man in Pittsburgh and was doing his Bucknell duties as chairman of the Committee on Nominations for Alumni Trustee. You know we vote for a woman candidate this year. LOIS KURTZ WITTMER and EDWARD WITTMER '35 were on campus visiting their younger daughter, also a sophomore. They have an older daughter who joined the Alumni Club of New York when she graduated last June. Bumped into ANTHONY J. MONTA twice at meal times. He has a freshman son, Michael, whom we enjoyed meeting. Tony is a successful engineer out in western New York and has a charming wife and three other children: A. J., Jr., Kathryn and Robert. Missed KELVIN SHIELDS but recognized his son, John, also a freshman. Heard MARY VANKIRK NEWCOMB and her husband WILLIAM Y. NEWCOMB '36 were busy on the hill helping their son, William A., get settled as a member of the Class of '65.

Unfortunately I did not get a chance to chat with EDNA SCHNEIDER Beiter but she sat near us at the Cap and Dagger play "Servant of Two Masters" where I must admit I was busy enjoying the performance of our daughter, Ruth Gail '65, who had the female lead. Sorry, Edna, but I'll seek you out next time. Meanwhile how about a letter from Johnstown.

WILMER D. GREULICH was also at Homecoming with his wife and son, Joseph. Bill, as we remember him, is a busy member of Bucknell's Board of Trustees as well as head of Bryant Teachers Bureau in Philadelphia.

This column could be the newsiest if you would please send the news to me at the above address.

35 MRS. PAUL J. DESCHANEL
(Ann W. Orr)
Chapel Wood
Gambriels, Md.

The Hon. R. DIXON HERMAN, Judge of the Court of Common Pleas of Dauphin County, recently was chosen to receive the 33rd degree of Scottish Rite Masonry in Chicago, Ill. The honor, highest in Freemasonry, and rewarded for outstanding service to the Masonic order or in community causes, will be conferred at the 1962 meeting of that body.

MARION and HOWARD FRANK '36 recently enjoyed a stay in the Pocono Mountains at Swiftwater Inn when the autumn color was at its peak. They have also visited Hershey and the theater there.

We expect to spend Christmas with our laughter in New York where she is benefiting from her work quarter, the museums and concerts.

36 MRS. H. T. SHAUB
(Virginia Nyland)
416 S. Scott Ave.
Glenolden, Pa.

A note and newspaper clipping from CHARLOTTE SHUPE Brown tell of the wedding of their daughter Nancy Suzanne earlier this fall. The newlyweds are seniors at Indiana State College (Pa.)

Enjoyed a telephone conversation with ALICE TYSON Buek recently. She reports that their daughter, Barbara, has gone to San Francisco, Calif., and is working as a secretary there. Their son, Harvey, is a junior at Swarthmore where he is studying engineering. Alice is busy teaching kindergarten at Episcopal Academy.

37 MRS. PAULL W. ZIEGLER
(Mabel N. Nyland)
12 W. Garrison Rd., Parkside
Chester, Pa.

JUNE REUNION

New plans for a New Year . . . Have you made any? Do hope they include Reunion Week End in Lewisburg. Way last autumn hard-working president *P. HERBERT WATSON was hard at work on our reunion. BILL ZIMMERMAN is our reunion chairman. Of course it takes quite a few of us to handle the many details of our get-together. Not the least of which is the cooperation of each of you in returning the questionnaire so that our reunion book will be as complete as we can make it.

A note from MARION LONG Greaves says she is planning to attend the festivities—and hopes for good weather. Marion and husband, Noble, are the parents of Brian, a freshman at Penn State, and Wayne, a sophomore in high school. The Greaves men folk enjoy hunting—the bow and arrow type, too. Marion's address is 4817 Sherwood Dr., Pittsburgh 36. Many thanks for writing!

Seems as if PEG KEYS Carncross has managed to meet more Bucknellians than fate usually provides. Dr. IRVING SILBER '35 is her doctor, JOE DONNELLY '39 is teaching her daughter Sally English and last year JOHN SPROUT '48 was Sally's math teacher. From Williamsport Peg brings news that JACK GAULT '39 is a lawyer there. Jack married KAY WEBB '40, remember? Another item from Billtown—MARIAN MAYNARD '36 is teaching English at Lycoming College. In addition to crossing the paths of other Bucknellians, Peg puts in a full day with church work (taught Communicants class at their church with her husband), civic work (past president of The Neighborhood House, a settlement-type recreation house for children) and politics (member of the board of New Brunswick League of Women Voters and member of its State Finance Committee). There must have been some time for recreation, because Peg mentions a summer house at Manassquan, N. J., and says, "This year we added a boat called Chateau de L'Eau, very grand name for a twenty-foot tub that also doubles for water skiing." A master's degree from Rutgers is also one of Peg's accomplishments. Rutgers is part of the family, husband John being a professor of economics there. Peg's address: Mrs. John W. Carncross, 613 S. Second Ave., Highland Park, N. J.

See you all in Lewisburg!

*"P" as in Peerless.

38 MRS. JOSEPH T. QUICK
(Mary Bachman)
Wrights Rd., R. D. 2
Newtown, Pa.

BILL WORK, 2603 E. Main St., Endicott, N. Y., has become our class fund manager to replace BOB STREETER, who served in that capacity during the past 7 years. Thanks to Bob for a job well done, and congratulations to Bill who takes over the assignment. During the next few months, Bill will be recruiting from our class a staff of about 20 assistant class fund managers to help tell the story of the Bucknell Alumni Annual-Giving Fund. Bill joins a class officer staff already at work planning for our big 25th reunion in June.

1963. The staff includes: IRA G. FOX, president; WILLIAM D. FOLTZ, vice president; Mrs. CLYDE G. CLEMENS (ALICE ANDERSON), secretary; Mrs. C. ALLEN EDWARDS (CONSTANCE KRAUTER), treasurer; and Mrs. JOSEPH T. QUICK (MARY BACHMAN), class reporter. IRA FOX is reunion chairman and soon will be organizing the reunion committees.

40 MRS. JAMES A. MILLER
(Mary McCrina)
1492 Colfax Ave.
Benton Harbor, Mich.

ROBERT D. WILT, president of the Bucknell Alumni Club of Triple Cities, has just been appointed College Relations Representative for IBM to Bucknell University. The Wilts continue to reside at 3712 Country Club Rd., Endwell, N. Y.

41 MRS. WILLIAM F. HASSELBERGER
(Jean P. Steele)
605 Scott Ave.
Syracuse 3, N. Y.

Had a long letter from LOUISE BROSIUS Hurd. They are moving to London, England, November 13, and their new address will be: Gulf House, 2 Portman St., London W. 1, England. Vinnie's new job is manager of the Petro Chemical Dept. of Gulf Eastern Co. Good luck to you two and your three daughters: Barbara, 16½; Betsy, 14½; and Jeanne, 12½. The Hurds offer a cordial invitation to any traveling Bucknellian.

A bit of news from the Hasselberger family. Our oldest boy, Dwight, 18½, is now a freshman at Valley Forge Military Academy Junior College; Billy, 13, is in eighth grade; and Jeffrey, 10, is in fourth grade.

We aren't getting any younger are we, Class of '41!! Let me hear from more of you.

42 MRS. THOMAS R. DIETZ
(Germaine B. Pepperman)
83 Nutt Road
Phoenixville, Pa.

JUNE REUNION

RUSSELL C. ERNEST is assistant manager of specialty products planning in the recently organized manufacturing department of the nation-wide Humble Oil and Refining Company, principal operating affiliate of Standard Oil Company. He joined the Esso Company in 1942 and has served the company at their Bayway Refinery in Linden, N. J., the Esso Refinery at Bayonne, N. J., and on the headquarters staff of Esso Standard in New York City. Russell was a charter member and served as trustee and deacon of the Community Presbyterian Church in Mountainside, N. J., and was active in Boy Scout work in the area. The Ernests have three children: Richard, 12; Joan, 9; and Claudia, 5. Address: 12207 Cobblestone Dr., Memorial Forest, Houston 24, Texas.

Wonderful news from CHET '43 and LOUISE STEAD PODD '45—they've had their fourth child, a boy, born September 22 and named Michael Joseph. The Podds live at 920 Blvd., Westfield, N. J.

Hope the rest of you who didn't make Homecoming had as good an excuse as we did. Our oldest son was on crutches, anxiously awaiting news of an X-ray to see if the ankle he had hurt in that week's football game was badly sprained or cracked. Fortunately, it was only sprained, but by the time we found out, it was too late for Homecoming. At this point, I'm saving like mad, hoping to be able to bring all four of our children along with us to our 20th reunion.

DON'T FORGET—OUR TWENTIETH REUNION IS THIS COMING JUNE! START NOW TO PLAN TO BE WITH US—WE HAD SUCH A WONDERFUL 15TH—LET'S MAKE THE 20TH EVEN BETTER. PLANS

Stanley C. Marshall '43

Stanley C. Marshall '43 is now a senior vice president of Lando Advertising Agency, Inc., and supervises the industrial advertising and marketing divisions. He had joined the Lando agency in 1952 and was made a vice president and director in 1956.

As Bucknell students, Mr. Marshall and his wife, the former Alice Zindel '42, were active members of Cap and Dagger, appeared in numerous productions, and their interest in dramatics has continued in their adult life. Stan was also a member of Phi Eta Sigma, Tau Beta Pi, Pi Mu Epsilon and Theta Alpha Pi. Since graduation he has served as a director of the Pittsburgh Chamber of Commerce, treasurer and director of the Pittsburgh Chapter of the Association of Industrial Advertisers, a member of The Task Force to Define the Engineering Technician of the Instrument Society of America, and as a director of the Mendelssohn Choir, the Neighborhood Centers Association, the Pittsburgh Association for the United Nations, and the Allegheny Roundtable.

Mr. Marshall was a founding member of the Bucknell Engineering Alumni Association, a volunteer worker for the Dual Development Campaign, and recently volunteered to serve as an assistant fund manager for the Class of 1943.

Mr. and Mrs. Marshall are parents of three daughters: Lisa Jo, 16; Dianne, 14; and Laurie Ann, 12. The Marshall address is 183 Gilkeson Rd., Pittsburgh 23, Pa.

ARE UNDER WAY AND YOU'LL HEAR LOTS MORE ABOUT THEM BY THE NEXT ISSUE OF THE ALUMNUS, BUT START PLANNING AND SAVING NOW! THAT'S WHAT THE DIETZ FAMILY IS DOING!

43 MISS CAROLYN F. DONEHOWER
3722 Chestnut St.
Philadelphia 4, Pa.

M. EUGENE COOK, our genial class fund manager, visited London and Geneva recently as a member of the United States delegation charged with the responsibility of developing standard for international data transmission. When completed, it will be possible for one of our computers here in the United States to "talk" to computers in European centers by common carrier telephone and radio facilities.

44 MRS. ROBERT F. BAKER
(Honey Rhinesmith)
Lindys Lake, R. D.
Butler, N. J.

HOWARD C. WHITCOMB, JR., was elected treasurer of the Federal Home Loan Bank of Boston recently. He was graduated from the Bently School of Accounting and the American Savings and Loan Institute. Except for two years with the General Electric Company, Howard has been in the banking field since graduating from Bucknell in 1947. His college career was interrupted by three years in the U. S. Air Force, and his loyalties and interests remain with us in the Class of 1944 with whom he started his college life. Howard and his wife, the former Audree Sirois have two sons: Howard, III, 8; and Craig, 5. Their home is at 67 Woodcliff Rd., Quincy 69, Mass.

Will leave the details to one of their classes, but since we received a birth announcement from CHET '43 and LOUISE (STEAD '45) PODE, I'll offer congratulations from all of us in '44.

One of the longest journeys to be made at Homecoming was by LOUISE TERRETT from Montana. Terry visited us, all too briefly, and went to Lewisburg with us to meet MARCY WINGERT WESTON '43, daughter, Robin and FRANK and GINNY THOMPSON CANNON. The weather was dreadful but the week end great.

We met FRAN ZACHARA '47 and twin sons at Ridgewood, N. J., when he came to see their undefeated high school eleven play our undefeated team from Butler, N. J. (Ridgewood came in second.) Met JANET (MALLET '48) and son No. 3 back at their home later.

New Addresses: MERLE '49 and ROSE-MARY PALMER SMITH, 11327 Mitscher St., Kensington, Md.; Mr. and Mrs. MERVIN HARRIS '39 (SYBIL KEALEY), 706 Church St., North Wales. SYB writes that she's returned to teaching after six years at home and is busy with trig., algebra, analyt. and calculus at Ambler Jr. College of Temple University.

Keep in mind that we're only two years away from our 20th reunion. This may sound terribly premature but who ever thought the past 18 years could go so quickly? Have a wonderful year and please send some news.

45 MRS. EDWARD D. BOSTON
(Lois F. Dupuy)
751 Hyslip Ave.
Westfield, N. J.

JAMES C. FITTER is engaged in intermittent but extensive travel in his job as assistant to the director of research for graphic arts of Time, Inc. Jim, with his wife, the former Beth Daggett, and the three Fitter children live at 25 Southend Ct., Old Greenwich, Conn., from which base of operations they can indulge in their favorite pastime of yacht racing in and around Long Island Sound.

ROBERT J. HITCHENS, who received his M.D. degree from Temple University in 1947, has returned to Watertown and has established a general practice of medicine there following six years of practice in Chinook, Mont. Bob served as a flight surgeon in the U. S. Navy from 1952 to 1955. His wife is the former Elizabeth Crawford and they have three children: Barbara, 14; Robert, Jr., 11; and William, 9. Address: 701 Elm St., Watertown.

Congratulations to BETTIE L. EICHBERG, who has been promoted to assistant personnel officer and third woman officer of the Philadelphia National Bank, where she has been employed since 1953. Since graduation Bettie has also been a case worker and supervisor, Department of Public Assistance, Montgomery County, and office supervisor, Automatic Temperature Control Co. in Germantown. Current address: 814 Germantown Pike, Norristown.

Dr. and Mrs. Alexander S. Crosett, Jr. (ADELE WEAVER) and their two children (Lynne, 7, and Lex, 4) are now living at Manor Hill Rd., Summit, N. J. Al is a radiologist and Adele received her master's degree in nursing from Yale, an Alma Mater they share.

A chance meeting recently with Mrs. E. A. Stoudt (MARJORIE J. HALL) revealed that she and husband, Ed, have left Pitman, N. J. and are now here in Westfield, N. J., with their two children (Cynthia, 10, and Barbara 8) at 195 Tudor Oval.

We enjoyed a reunion not long ago with Mr. and Mrs. William P. Murray (PERSI MEFFORD) and their five children, ranging in age from fifteen years to two years. The Murrays traveled east from their home a 244 Hamilton Ave., Elyria, Ohio, where Preston is with Proctor and Gamble and Persi is a mighty busy mother!

Let's make 1962 a year of NEWS for '45ers

47 MRS. HERBERT GOLDMAN
(Tanara Curvitch)
370 Holland Lane
Englewood, N. J.

JUNE REUNION

And a Happy New Year to you all!

Had a delightful reunion with Dr. and Mrs. Robert L. Rosenthal (MERYL J. EISENBERG) in a New York City restaurant. Mick gave up a position as editor in biology for the Atomic Energy Commission to devote herself full-time to two lively sons: David, 7, and Roger, 3. Still she manages other activities and is currently writing an original play for a local chapter of the American Jewish Congress. Her husband is an outstanding blood specialist who combines full-time practice with half-time research. Their address: 221-1 Kingsbury Ave., Oakland Gardens 64, N. Y.

It's a boy for Mr. and Mrs. CLARENCE S. OBITZ. Sam William was born July 20 and joins sister Judy, 6, a proud second grader. Address: 2124 Floral Hill Dr., Eugene, Ore.

48 MRS. JAMES A. BROWN
(Joann G. Goughly)
1591 Hillcrest Terrace
Union, N. J.

WARREN E. ELZE, energetic manager of the Bucknell University stores, has been elected chairman of merchandising of the National Association of College Stores. In this capacity he has been traveling from border to border and coast to coast lecturing on "Store Planning." On a recent tour, he delivered lectures in Ohio, Iowa, Colorado, and Utah in a four-day trip, and he's a pretty good golfer, too!

GUY J. WAY received his Master of Art degree in history from Pennsylvania State University in August. He has been teaching in Minot, N. Dak., since 1950 and is now chairman of the Social Studies Department in Minot Special School District No. 1. He is active in professional societies of the area and is currently president of the Minot Public School Employees Federal Credit Union. Mailing address: c/o Erik Ramstad Jr. High School, Minot, N. Dak.

BETTY KREITZBURG Westplate has written me again—another new arrival—Jane Ellen on September 19, 1961. She has four playmates at home and Betty and husband John, are mighty happy. Their home is 7600 33rd Ave., Kenosha, Wis.

A first, I believe, for the Class of '48 should be awarded to classmate JESSE MAIR as son Jeffrey is now at Bucknell! Following in his father's footsteps young Jeff, a member of the Class of '65, is one of the outstanding players on the freshman football team.

Happy 1962 to you all—why not make a resolution to contribute to your University, attend an alumni club meeting, and write me—we all enjoy hearing what's new with our friends.

49 MRS. THOMAS A. FRAZIER
(Marilyn L. Harer)
1344 Mansel Ave.
Williamsport, Pa.

The 1961 graduating class of Lewisburg High School dedicated the 1961 edition of its yearbook, ONEIDA, to the memory of the late RICHARD DEVORE, a former social studies and science teacher in the school, whose death August, 1960, shocked the community and the many students who knew and studied under him. The award was accepted by Mrs. Devore (N. GRACE REBUCK '60), who is a teacher in the Harrisburg School District and resides in Pennsboro Manor, Wormleysburg.

Mrs. EDWARD M. GLOVER (S. RAE SCHULTZ) has been elected secretary of the Bucknell Alumni Club of South Jersey.

Mr. and Mrs. EUGENE L. MAYLOCK (SOPHIE A. M. GLOWACKI '47) of 12-A Stenton Court, Trenton 10, N. J., announce the birth of a daughter on March 28. She has been named Susan Louise.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul A. Perry (BETSY J. ABERT) are now in Venezuela—address—c/o Profar, Apartado 1120, Maracaibo. Paul is general manager of Schering's (pharmaceutical) Venezuelan affiliate, Profar in Maracaibo. The Perrys have two children: David, 7; and Nancy, 4.

Mr. and Mrs. DONALD E. WENNER are now the parents of three children: Diane, 11; Danielle, 9; Daniel, 6. For the past 11 years Don has been employed by DuPont Company as a technical representative.

ROBERT A. WYNNE, JR., and Mary J. McGroarty celebrated their first wedding anniversary on May 21 of this year. They are living at 710 Fifth Ave., New Hyde Park, N. Y.

Dr. JOHN R. ZERBY, of 501 Kissel Hill Rd., Lititz, has been appointed director of the Millersville State College Training School. He has been teaching summer classes and evening classes there for the past two years while he served the Warwick Union School at Lititz. John is married to the former Lois L. Smith and has four children.

Belated birthday wishes go to Robert Carlisle Whitlock (who was a year old June 1, 1961), son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Whitlock (HARRIET ARNOLD). The Whitlocks live at 102 Susan Drive, Trenton, N. J. Hatch's husband, Bob, teaches at Princeton County Day School in Princeton, N. J.

A son, named John Irvin, was born to Atorney and Mrs. IRVIN GRAYBILL, JR., of Middleburg, on July 20.

DONALD L. WARD, JR., was elected president of the Bucknell Alumni Club of York at their April meeting.

LYOYD W. FURMAN, JR., of 21 Pleasant Ct., Sunrise Terrace, Binghamton, N. Y., has been promoted to manager of Quality Control Engineering with General Electric Co. at Johnson City, N. Y. He is chairman of their local chapter of the ASME, member of the professional development committee and editor of The Sunrise Bulletin, a community newspaper serving 250 families. Mrs. Furman is the former LOUISE KARRAKER '48, daughter of Dr. Karraker of the Bucknell faculty. The Furmans have three children: Susan, 11; Lloyd, III, 7; and David, 3 (named for his uncle, DAVID O. KARRAKER '50).

50 MISS HELEN E. GLOISTEN
161 Oak St.
West Hempstead, L. I., N. Y.

This past summer JANE KREIDER MILLER invited into her home an African student who came over in the Kennedy Airlift. John Ologi from Kenya had a wonderful and most profitable summer at the Kreider farm outside of New Bethlehem, and, according to Jane, he became a community adoptee. Residents of New Bethlehem were delighted with the opportunity to help John learn more about our country and its cultures. According to Jane, "If every African student could have had a summer like John's, all would be well with the world."

BRUCE I. SHOEMAKER of 500 Catawissa Ave., Sunbury, is a busy man. He is a used car dealer (Sunbury) and a mathematics teacher in the Lewisburg Joint Schools. He is married to the former Bernice Clark and has four children: Bruce, Bradley, Broderick and Betsy Lee.

MICHAEL HARRIS has been elected vice president of the Bucknell Alumni Club of Long Island.

A full report has come in on FREDERICK H. BOWEN, compliments of his wife, Jewel MacNamara Bowen, who reports that Fred "doesn't enjoy writing letters." The Bowens family has resided in Delaware and North Carolina since graduation, and now are happy homeowners in Norristown where Fred is administering a high reliability program of technological development for the C & D Battery Division, Electric Auto-Lite Co. Rounding out the family are two daughters: Debbie, 8; and Bobbie, 2. The new homestead is at 27 Laurel Lane, Plymouth Valley, Norristown.

Debbie and Bobbie Bowen

51 MRS. WAYNE M. STEVENSON
(Janet Miller)
4611 Surrey Rd., Devon Manor
Harrisburg, Pa.

BRUCE SCOTT has recently become a part of the management team in the capacity of body engineering budget director for the Chrysler Corporation in Detroit, Mich. Bruce continues to serve as president of the Bucknell Alumni Club of Michigan.

ROBERT M. HOUSKEEPER has been awarded the Chartered Property Casualty Underwriter designation and is now an underwriter with the Aetna Casualty & Surety Company in Hartford, Conn. He previously had been in the insurance business in Sunbury. He is married to the former Mary-Elizabeth Gordon, has two sons (Marshall and James) and lives at 940 Wethersfield Ave., Hartford, Conn.

JAMES E. THOMAS has received the Chartered Life Underwriter Designation awarded by the American College of Life Underwriters. Jim is a senior agency assistant with Connecticut General Life Insurance Company at the home office in Hartford and lives with his wife, the former Patricia A. Carlson, and daughters (Amy Louise and Beth Ann) at 259 Preston St., Windsor, Conn.

A father-daughter team, consisting of DOROTHY HAWKINS and John Hawkins, became instructors in the Chester Evening School this fall. Dorothy will teach an accounting group and her father will conduct a 10-week program in small business management for advanced apprentices interested in plumbing contracting.

Mr. and Mrs. ALLEN G. BUTLER announce the arrival of a daughter, Laura Lee. The Butlers reside at 28 Hillcrest Ave. in Summit, N. J., where Allen is president of the Butler Real Estate Agency.

52 MRS. JOHN S. BOULDEN, JR.
(Barbara Bleecker)
1605 Twin Maple Ave.
Towson 4, Md.

JUNE REUNION

Have your sitter lined up for our big 10th reunion in June? Arranged for time off from your job on Friday so you can arrive in good time? If not—get busy now! We want to see you in June!

PEGGY DEARDORFF of 411 E. Market St., York, received her Master of Arts degree from Pennsylvania State University in August and is teaching English in the Cheltenham Township Senior High School. Since graduation from Bucknell, she has been studying and traveling, with extensive travels in Europe and Mexico.

FRANK STEFANO, JR., after 8½ years of seeing the world with the U. S. Navy (west coast, South Pacific, London, and Washington) has returned to New York City to become an examiner of Securities Broker dealers with the National Association of Securities Dealers, Inc. Frank lives at 345 E. 52nd St., New York 22, N. Y.

A note from BOB and Nancy DEGROOT gives their address as 9 Wheatclose Rd., Barrow-in-Furness, Lancashire, England. They and their three daughters have been there since June, as Bob is on loan from the Electric Boat Division of General Dynamics to Vickers-Armstrong (Engineers). He is the consulting test engineer on the first British atomic submarine, Dreadnaught. His sister, MARGARET DEGROOT '60, is working in Paris, France, and visited them in England this past summer. While Bob and Nancy were in Europe on a holiday they saw WILLIAM WAINWRIGHT '51 who is in Copenhagen, Denmark.

LINDY BUTLER was transferred in July to North Carolina where he is the administrative manager in Alco's Charlotte sales office. He, his wife BETTY (ELLIOTT '55), and their three children (Geoffrey, 5½; Cynthia, 3; and Bradford, 9 mos.) live at 3801 Rhodes Ave., Charlotte, N. C.

MARTY KAYE'S job has taken him and his family traveling again. This time not to France but to Japan. NANCY (HOLTER) and MARTY, with Jeff and baby Bobby, flew to Japan in October via San Francisco, Calif., and Hawaii. Marty is an instrument engineer with Standard Oil and was sent to Japan to check out instruments as they are installed and eventually tried out at "Start up" time at the new Kawasaki refinery. Next spring Nancy and Marty hope to vacation in Hawaii on their way home.

We'll see YOU in June!

53 MRS. JAMES A. CHAMBERS, JR.
(Barbara Roemer)
13 Walden Place
West Caldwell, N. J.

RICHARD H. KLEMM of 49 Roydon Dr., North Merrick, L. I., N. Y., has been elected president of the Bucknell Alumni Club of Long Island.

Constance P. Dent '45

Constance P. Dent, Dean of Women at the University of Pennsylvania, was elected to the Bucknell University Board of Trustees at the semi-annual meeting of the Board in New York City on December 2, 1961.

Connie, as she is familiarly known to many Alumni, received the Bachelor of Arts degree from Bucknell in 1945. She also was awarded a Master of Arts degree from Temple University and a doctorate in clinical psychology from Pennsylvania State University.

Prior to her appointment as dean of women at the University of Pennsylvania last July, Connie held a similar position at Glassboro State College for a period of two years. In 1958 she was named assistant director of the council center and assistant professor of psychology at the University of Maryland. While at the University of Maryland she served as consultant to the Greater Washington Educational Television Association.

From 1951 through 1957 she was dean of women, assistant professor of psychology and temporary chairman of the Department of Psychology at Lebanon Valley College.

Many Alumni will remember her late father, Joseph D. Dent '20, who was an active member of the Board of Trustees from 1950 until the time of his death in 1957. Dr. Dent's mother, Edith Crane Dent, is a member of the Class of 1918, and Berkeley V. Hastings '13, a member of the Board of Trustees, is Dr. Dent's great uncle.

In addition to serving her Alma Mater as a trustee, she was recently appointed to the newly created Bucknell University Dual Development Council.

Dr. and Mrs. ALAN SOLOMON of 10416 Montrose, Bethesda, Md., announce the birth of a son, David Alan, on October 4. Alan is associated with the National Institute of Health at Bethesda, Md.

PENN SHELLEY M.D., has completed a one-year residency in internal medicine at Geisinger Medical Center, Danville, and has now become a member of the Roxbury Medical Group, 77 Sunset Strip (What an address!!), Succasunna, N. J. Another member of the same group is WALTER McCONNELL, M.D.

A son, Paul Clinton, was born September 29, 1961, to Dr. and Mrs. DAVID C. WEIBEL (JOANN GRITTNER '56).

Mr. and Mrs. Ted Pease (CLAIRE VOGELSONG) announce the birth of Nancy on October 29 at Anchorage, Alaska. Their son, David, is now 16 months old, and letters to their home go to Star Route A, Box 478J, Spenard, Alaska.

We really see quite a few Bucknellians at Junior Women's Club get-togethers here in New Jersey—LEE (TRAUMULLER) HUNNEKE, FLO (JESSEE) MALCOLM '51 LORRAINE (YAUFMAN) McBRIDE '51 and PAM (WATTS) KININGHAM '51 to name just a few.

"No news is good news" might be a happy thought some times, but not now. Please write!

54

MRS. PAUL C. TARR, III
(Anne E. Tuckerman)
413 Alliston Rd.
Springfield, Pa.

ARTHUR D. HARRISON, JR., has been elected treasurer of the Bucknell Alumni Club of Long Island.

GEORGE R. SHEPHERD, with his wife the former Elizabeth Patraw (Stanford), now lives at 3811 Gold St., Apt. 4, Los Alamos, N. M., where he has accepted a position on the research staff as a research biochemist at the Los Alamos Scientific Laboratories. After two years at the University of Maine, where he earned his Master of Science degree in biochemistry, he went to California and obtained the Ph.D. degree in biochemistry at Stanford University. George has taken up folk singing, complete with banjo and guitar for his spare time amusement. The Shepherds would be glad to have visits from Bucknellians in the Los Alamos area.

Mr. and Mrs. ROBERT DONALL (ELLIE GILLIAMS) announce the birth of their second daughter, Evelyn, on June 19. Ellie told me that ARLENE SMALL, now Mrs. Gerry Hoffman, also had a daughter, Deborah Sue, on June 8.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Haller (CAROLE ITJEN) moved into their new home in July. Their address is 189-18 89th Ave., Hollis 23, N. Y. At the end of August Susan Carole was born, joining Robert (4) and Richard (1).

BRUCE A. LABAR, who recently received his CPA from New York, is employed by Continental Research Corporation as a security analyst. Bruce, his wife (MARION MOLL '56) and son Philip, 3, reside at 5 David Court, Metuchen, N. J.

It's another boy for the Knodels (PAT PRATT). Douglas Keith was born October 3 and joins David, 18 mos. Pat and Don are living at 1208 Mayfield Rd., Wilmington 3, Del.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Ross (FRAN HARVEY) announce the birth of Thomas, III, on October 10. Little Tom joins Laura Ann (2½) and Suzanne (1½).

55

MRS. JOHN C. VANCE, JR.
(Jane Jones)
12 Admiral Dr.,
North Severna Park
Severna Park, Md.

THOMAS R. DEANS, district manager of World Book Company, has been appointed a part-time faculty member of Susquehanna University and is a lecturer in English there. His home is at 306 St. George St., Lewisburg.

Randy, Steven and Michael Savedow

Jackie and BARRY SAVEDOW are the parents of their third son born July 19, 1961, in Daytona Beach, Fla. The baby, named Steven Alan, joins Randy, 5; and Michael, 4. Barry's address is 73 Marvin Rd., Ormond Beach, Fla.

Rev. and Mrs. JEROLD J. SAVORY (ARDIS M. HINKLE) are living at 4405 Grand Prairie Rd., Kalamazoo, Mich., where Jerry is pastor of the Judson Baptist Church. It is a new church and serves many of the students and faculty of Kalamazoo College and Western Michigan University. In 1958 he was a member of a study tour to Western Europe and from 1958 to 1961 served as associate pastor of the Emmanuel Baptist Church in Schenectady, N. Y. The Savorys have two children: Thomas Mark, born May 13, 1959; and Tanya Marie, born February 14, 1961.

LT. STUART K. BEAN received his M.D. degree from the University of Buffalo and is serving a year of internship at the Fitzsimons General Hospital in Denver, Colo. Upon completion of his internship he will be promoted to the rank of Captain.

56

MRS. WILLIAM J. O'NEIL
(Jean M. Wirths)
1706 Esplanade Apt. C, Hollywood Riv.
Redondo Beach, Calif.

WILLIAM L. PALMER, JR., formerly with Proctor and Gamble in Cincinnati, Ohio, has joined the market research staff of Foremost Dairies, Inc., in their San Francisco, Calif., headquarters. He studied marketing in Columbia University's graduate school after returning from his tour of military duty during which time he served in Alaska. The Palmers (DELLA M. CRITELLI '57) have a four-year-old daughter, Betsy, and live at 838 Rorke Way, Palo Alto, Calif.

BARBARA A. JOSEPHANS has been re-elected secretary of the Bucknell Alumni Club of Long Island.

DANIEL W. FRY is pictured with his wife, the former PAT HAUSE '60, and daughter Beth Ann. The picture was taken the day before Danny returned to active military duty in October.

The Fry Family

The home of Mr. and Mrs. H. LESLIE BISHOP, of 1605 Kent Rd., Camp Hill, is now under new management. Harry Leslie, Jr., arrived to take over calling the signals on October 14, 1961.

AMERIGO C. CHIRIACO, of 1426 21st St., N. W., Hartnett Hall, Washington, 6, D. C., has been re-elected president of the Bucknell Alumni Club of Washington, D. C.

Mr. and Mrs. HERBERT A. CHRISTENSON (SALLY BERRY) now have an adopted son, Charles Alan, born March 18, 1961.

Mr. and Mrs. EDWIN R. JANES, JR. (ANNE R. SMITH) announce the arrival on June 16, 1961, of Susan Anne. Daughter Carol was three on New Year's Day.

Mr. and Mrs. ROBERT W. WHITEHEAD (CHARLOTTE ECCLES) have been elected officers of the Bucknell Alumni Club of Washington, D. C. Bob is vice president and Charlotte is the new secretary.

Mr. and Mrs. PAUL PIGMAN (ELLIE MACKIE '55) announce the arrival of Alyce Lee on September 15, 1961. The Pigmans also have a three-year-old son, Paul, Jr.

58 MRS. FRANK H. RICHARDS, III
(Faith Bonsall)
6 Holman St.
Allston, Mass.

KENNETH W. CESTARI has been assigned to the New York sales office of the Trane Company, manufacturers of air conditioning, heating and ventilating equipment for industrial buildings and transportation vehicles such as planes, trains, busses and ships. Address: 1495 Wales Ave., Baldwn, L. I., N. Y.

JAMES A. HERB of Snyderstown has joined the faculty of Susquehanna University as an instructor in physics and mathematics. He had been employed by the Bell Telephone Laboratories at Andover, Mass., from 1960 to the time he joined the Susquehanna faculty. Jim is serving also as transmitter engineer for radio station WHLM in Bloomsburg.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert G. Homan (SANDRA J. STICKNEY) became the parents of a son this past summer.

ROBERT H. HIMMELREICH has become a guidance counselor at the Training School, a private school for mentally retarded children, in Vineland, N. J. During the last five years he has served as teacher and coach at Lewisburg High School.

J. KAY SHEATS '59, and J. GARRY BEIDLER were married during the summer of 1961 and are living at 231 S. 42nd St., Philadelphia 4. Garry is in his last year at the University of Pennsylvania School of Medicine.

PAT (HEAD) and STEVE JENNINGS are now settled in their new home at 104 Albermarle Rd., Colonia, N. J. Daughter Lynn is a year and a half old.

STUART STEELE and Gayle Kelchner (Penn State '60) were married in Reading on August 12. Both received their master's degrees from Penn State and Ted is on the teaching staff there while working for his doctor's degree in electrical engineering.

SUE (SMITH) and Chuck Snee, of 661 Rolling Green Drive, Bethel Park, welcomed the arrival of Richard Clinton Snee on October 15. "Clint" weighed in at 6 pounds, 4 ounces.

59 MRS. VENALD W. BOVARD, JR.
(Jeanne F. Anderson)
334 Hickory St.
Peckville, Pa.

News comes from EVELYN VON MUNCHHAUSEN, who spent the summer traveling through Europe from England to Turkey. Evie has been studying at Paris Alliance Francaise since October.

ROBERT HARDER writes from 16 Mt. Vernon St., Braintree, Mass., to let us know that he is employed in that city as a production cost accountant with the Armstrong Cork Co. Bob plans to work for his master's degree in business administration at Boston College.

Among the newlyweds are MARY FRANTZ '61 and TOM McLAUGHLIN who are living at 2103-B Mather Way, Elkins Park 17. Mr. and Mrs. Eugene R. Richey (JUNE POLINE), who were married in July, are living at 39 Manor Dr., Red Bank, N. J.

The August weddings included PHIL PRICE and MARY MUIR '62, August 6; and GAYLE MYERS and JOHN MORRIS, August 19. Gayle and John are living in Pittsburgh, where John is attending the Dental School of the University of Pittsburgh.

We proudly announce the birth of more prospective Bucknellians. MIRIAM (MENDELSON) and SCOTTY McROBB announce the birth of a son, William Stewart McRobb, III, in July. DICK and SALLY (WEISBECK) HUNN are parents of another girl, Tammy Jo, also born in July. On August 3, a son was born to MARGIE (SAVOYE) and BARRY MAXWELL of 31-K Bucknell Village, Lewisburg. The Maxwells also have a daughter, Kim.

THOMAS RICHARDSON and his wife, the former Sandra Sterner, of 514 Martin St., Endicott, N. Y., also have two children: Michael, 5; and Douglas, 2½. Tom has been with IBM since graduation, and he has recently been promoted to associate engineer with that company.

60 MRS. DAVID N. OTT
(Jane Dahl)
5650-D Demoret Ave.
Van Voorhis Manor
Fort Knox, Ky.

COURTNEY P. FRITTS and Page Tindle of Valley Forge Farm were married there on July 15. Bucknellians in the wedding party were TONY RINALDO, DENNIS COX, and BOB PATZWALL. Pete is currently serving Uncle Sam as a 2nd Lt. in the 82nd Airborne.

An interesting situation: here at Ft. Knox. RICHARD WHITNEY will soon be working for fraternity brother, RICHARD SKELTON. Those Sigs sure stick together!

When RACHEL (ROBBINS) MERTZ writes, "She's a blue-eyed beauty and we're so happy to have her!" she's speaking of a young Gail Ellen Mertz, born on June 16 to Rachel and CHED. Congratulations to the proud parents—and to Gail Ellen!

SUSAN B. BRAUN and WINSTON P. SMITH were married October 10 and are living at 11-05 66 Road, Apt. 2-B, Forest Hills, N. Y.

DOROTHY F. CARRINGTON and James H. Morgan were married June 17. Dorothy is doing biochemistry research for Warner Lambert Pharmaceutical Co. at Morris Plains, N. J. The Morgans' address is Box 566, Sparta, N. J.

JOHN D. TRAINER and Sandra J. Teel were married July 1 and are living at 332 Walnut Ave., Wayne. John is in his second year at Villanova School of Law.

ROBERT E. HINKELMAN has become assistant professor at Lock Haven State College and is supervisor of Grade 4 in the Campus Laboratory School. He continues to serve as minister of music in Lycoming Presbyterian Church, Williamsport.

RONALD J. PEDRICK was elected vice president of the Bucknell Alumni Club at Pittsburgh.

BOBBIE WARDEN has earned her master's degree in French from the Middlebury Graduate School of French in France and is now teaching French in two junior high schools in Yardley. Her address is: 96 N. Main St., Yardley.

And a P. S. from your reporter. I'd like to hear from you. Just a note or a postcard will do. What did you do last summer? What are you doing now? What are you planning to do in the future? Other Bucknellians are interested so let me know, and I promise I'll keep no secrets—I'll tell them all for you!

Jeffrey R. Mair '65

The editors of your alumni magazine certainly dropped the ball when we neglected to picture Jeffrey R. Mair as a freshman son of an alumnus in the November issue of THE BUCKNELL ALUMNUS.

Jeff, as he is known to his classmates, was an outstanding quarterback on the frosh football team that won three of four contests this fall. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jessie J. Mair '48, of Allentown.

RICHARD L. WERNER had a busy time in August; he earned an M.S. degree in civil engineering from Cornell University; married the former Eunice Kent of Hannibal, N. Y., a graduate of Syracuse; and moved to California where he is an intermediate hydraulic engineer for the Bechtel Corp. in San Francisco. The Werners reside at 5928 Telegraph Ave., Oakland 9, Calif.

61 MISS CAROLANN M. BUQUET
58 Brookside Ave.
Merrick, N. Y.

JANE P. RUHL is a newcomer to the San Francisco area since she became a third grade teacher in the Fairfield Elementary School at Fairfield, Calif. She lives at 307 E. Tahoe, Fairfield, Calif.

MARIE A. MONSEN is spending a year in Hawaii where she is taking graduate work for a Master of Arts degree in Social and Asian Studies at the East-West Center of the University of Hawaii. Her address is 908 University Ave., Honolulu 14, Hawaii.

WHITEY LINDNER has been at the Naval Officer's Candidate School since September. His address is: Albert Lindner, O. C. S. A., U. S. Naval Officer Candidate School, Class 57, Company K, Section 4, U. S. Naval Base, Newport, R. I.

DONA SNELLBAKER completed four months of training in the Naval Reserve at Newport, R. I., on October 20. She is now stationed at the Naval War College as Registered Publications Custodian. Her new address is: 9 Earl Ave., Newport, R. I.

SKIP CANNON has been enjoying himself at Basic School for the Marine Corps at Quantico, Va. His address is: 2 Lt. O. C. Cannon 082855, "D" Company, 1st Plt., Basic School, M. C. S., Quantico, Va.

DEATHS

The following deaths have been reported to the Alumni Office since October, 1961. The University extends sympathy to the surviving relatives.

- 1893—Mrs. Robert C. Knauff (Bessie M. Hottenstein) (Inst.), November 20, 1961
 1897—Miss Minnie C. Morris (Inst.), October 20, 1961
 1899—Mrs. Eugene E. Kerstetter (Mary F. Woods) (Inst.), October 15, 1961
 1902—Mr. Samuel Calvin
 1908—Rev. George W. Kerschner, November 15, 1961
 John R. Stratton, Esq., November 17, 1961
 1909—Mrs. A. E. Paulhamus (Clara E. Harman), November 3, 1961
 1910—Claire S. Shellhamer, M.D., September 14, 1961
 1912—Mr. Harold W. Musser, November 20, 1961
 Frank R. Hean, Esq., September 28, 1961
 1918—Mr. Frank A. Berkenstock, October 3, 1961
 Mr. Reynolds F. Elliott, January 12, 1961
 1921—Ralph E. Wilkinson, M.D., November 11, 1961
 1927—Rev. Harry C. Stenger, October 25, 1961
 1930—George O. Wagner, Esq., November 16, 1961
 1932—T. Robert Hepler, M.D., October 25, 1961
 Mr. H. Victor Remington, July 6, 1961

- 1933—Mr. William H. Culler, August 2, 1961
 1936—Mr. Harold J. Llewellyn, June 17, 1961
 1946—Dr. Alfred C. Howell (Hon.), September 10, 1961
 1956—Mrs. Edwin H. Sears (Martha Stall) (M.A.), October, 1961

ALUMNI TRUSTEE TIMETABLE

- January Alumnus—Announcement of names of three candidates in The BUCKNELL ALUMNUS.
 February 15—Petition deadline.
 March 1—Election announcement in THE BUCKNELL ALUMNUS.
 April 2—Ballots in mail.
 May 15—Deadline for receiving ballots in Alumni Office.
 June Commencement — Certification to Board of Trustees.

SUMMER IN FLORENCE

In cooperation with the United States National Student Association, Bucknell University will offer, for the first time, a summer of study in Florence, Italy.

Under the direction of Dr. F. David Martin, professor in the Department of Philosophy, two aesthetics courses will be given.

Special features of the two-week program will include: all student sailing, residence in a private school, swimming facilities, excursions to Venice, and Ravenna or Siena, and informal parties with Italian students.

The price of the tour will be $1000 including round-trip steamship passage, all meals, excursion fees, tuition, and luggage transfers.

For more information and application materials write to: USNA—Educational Travel, Inc., 20 West 38th Street, New York 18, N. Y., or to: Dr. F. David Martin, Department of Philosophy, Bucknell University, Lewisburg.

FOR THE RECORD

(Continued from Page 13)

To satisfy both your curiosity and quest for knowledge, outstanding members of the Bucknell faculty have kindly submitted more than thirty book summations with their own critical comments for publication in the March issue. No less than eight academic disciplines will be represented in these summaries thus assuring almost every reader of an informative book in an area of interest to him.

Faculty members contributing to this special section of the March issue of THE BUCKNELL ALUMNUS are Robert A. Artman, physics; Philip L. Harriman, psychology; David E. Horlacher, economics; J. Charles Jones '42, education; David J. Lu, history; Hulda Magalhaes, biology; F. David Martin, philosophy; and John S. Wheatcroft, English.

■ BOOKS BY FACULTY AUTHORS

MARK C. EBERSOLE, Dean of the College of Arts and Sciences

Christian Faith and Man's Religion

Published by Thomas Y. Crowell Co., 1961 ($5.00)

The American scene has presented within recent years what some observers have called "a resurgence of religion." The factors leading them to this conclusion are the large number of people who attend the churches, enlarged membership rolls, the all-time high in church construction, increased contributions, the phenomenal attendance at evangelistic rallies and a plethora of literature dealing with various aspects of men's religious attitudes and practices. It was to be expected that the extent and genuineness of this development would command the interest of philosophers and theologians. It is to this question that Dr. Mark Ebersole, Bucknell's Dean of the College of Arts and Sciences, addresses his attention.

The author states the nature of the inquiry in the Introduction. "This book is a study in modern thought, investigating the nature of the Christian faith and man's religion, and the relation of one to another . . . Do they stand in a complementary or dialectical relation to each other?" The concepts of five outstanding theologians, Erich Fromm, Dietrich Bonhoeffer, Frederick Schleiermacher, Karl Barth and Reinhold Niebuhr, receive careful appraisal in the endeavor to find an answer to this inquiry.

Dr. Ebersole points out the nature and relation of the Eighteenth Century Enlightenment to modern religious thought. He sees in the clash between the concepts held by the proponents of the Enlightenment and those of historic Christianity the ideas which have helped to determine the present climate of theological opinion.

The author comes to his task well-prepared both by training and ability to analyze and interpret the thought of these outstanding thinkers and to relate their views to the current religious problem. He was formerly Chaplain and Chairman of the Department of Religion of Bucknell University.

EDITOR'S NOTE: The above review was written by The Rev. Paul M. Humphreys '28, of Waterbury, Conn.

■ LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Gentlemen:

I was appalled to read the following quotation on page 1 of the November 1961 issue.

"In behalf of Bucknell students we can proudly say they have not rioted for the overthrow of their government as students have in other countries."

I certainly don't advocate student riots to overthrow the U. S. government. Thank God we live in a democracy. However:

1. Is it not an insult to the dead freedom fighting students of such places as Hungary, Korea and Turkey to compare their sacrifices with the "high jinks" of students in the U. S.?

2. Is not the statement typical of the sort of complacency which peoples of other nations, with justification, find so contemptible in Americans?

3. Did you mean to suggest that students of foreign countries would be better people (i. e., more like us) if they were indifferent to totalitarian governments, and adopted a "let George do it" pose.

Your remark was not only pointless, but stupid. A retraction is in order.

Very truly yours,

Eugene Louis Levy '54

Editors note: In our eagerness to picture the "high jinks" of young students here—and on other campuses, we reached too far and injected an international comparison that was unfortunate.

BISON WINTER SPORTS

(Continued From Page 9)

Steiner holds Bucknell season and game scoring records and has a good chance to establish a career mark before the season is over. He has also topped the team in rebounds for the past two years and pulled down 18 against St. Joseph's to lead both teams in this department.

Backing up Steiner are three other front court veterans, seniors Mike Fadden and Don Lampus and Junior Hal Moker. Fadden, who was elected to serve as co-captain along with Steiner, missed a good deal of action a year ago because of a foot injury, but should be ready to step back into the starting lineup.

Lampus, a rugged rebounder, will be a tremendous help under the boards and also does his share of the scoring. Moker was the fourth leading rebounder and scorer last season and had the top shooting percentage on the team.

In the backcourt Coach Ben Kribbs will have to go with relatively inexperienced men. Tom Johnson, a 5-9 junior from Pittsburgh who saw only limited action a year ago, may be the sparkplug of the offense. He is a good playmaker and has a deadly outside jump shot. Among the other candidates for backcourt positions are Senior Kevin Cooney and Sophomores Bill Fry, Don Hester and Angie Gentile.

Once again the Bisons do not have great height and the team only has fair speed, but there are several outstanding shooters on the team that could help to make the 1961-62 season a successful one.

WRESTLING

Bucknell's wrestling teams have won 21 of 28 matches over the past four seasons, and with nine lettermen on the squad this year the prospects are bright for another successful campaign.

Don Warfel, who was undefeated in dual competition, is the only man missing from the team that posted a 4-2-1 mark a year ago, and there are several sophomores on hand who could be a big help during the nine-match schedule.

Heading the 123-pound class is Junior Jim Koehn who won five of seven dual matches last year and lost in the quarter-finals of the Middle Atlantic Conference tournament.

Junior Don Knight who won four of six bouts at 130 pounds a year ago returns at that weight this winter, but would get a strong challenge for his position from Junior Ray Faberman.

Bart DiChiara, a junior who had a 3-4 record last season heads the list of candidates at 137 pounds, but Junior Bill Sweet, a letterman last year, and Sophomore Eliot Riskin would make it a three-way battle for the starting role.

John Coyle, a sophomore who was undefeated on the 1960-61 freshman team, moves down a notch from his frosh weight to compete at 147 pounds and could be one of the real standouts for the Bisons this winter. His main competition for the number one spot should come from Seniors Salman Csoka and Bud Dusel.

Junior Co-Captain Ken Brust heads the list at 157 pounds, the post Warfel so ably held down a year ago.

Another sophomore, Glenn Dussinger, is among the leading candidates for the 167-pound position, but Senior Lettermen Dale Erway and Jon Portnof figure to be in the thick of the fight for the starting role. Dussinger was undefeated as a freshman, while Erway had a 2-4 mark and Portnof a 3-1 record a year ago.

Two sophomores, Al Gabral and George Lake, head the list of 177-pound candidates, and two senior lettermen, Co-Captain Bill Graham and Ned Wight, are the top contenders for the heavyweight post. Wight won five of seven matches last year, all by pins, and was the runner-up for the MAC title as a sophomore.

SWIMMING

Bucknell swimming Coach Bob Latour will be working with almost the same team that finished second in the Middle Atlantic Conference Championships last year, and for the third year in a row, his standout performers are Co-Captains Bill Dearstyne and Bill Dorr, the Albany, N. Y., swimmers who have had a hand in setting six University records and winning eight MAC titles.

One of the finest backstrokers in Eastern collegiate ranks, Dearstyne has captured the MAC 100-yard and 200-yard backstroke crowns for the past two years in record times and was the 1960 Eastern Intercollegiate 100-yard backstroke champion.

He finished fourth in both backstroke races in last year's Eastern meet and is the mainstay of the Bison medley relay team. Dearstyne is also a capable performer in the 200-yard individual medley.

Dorr won the 220-yard and 440-yard freestyle titles in the MAC meet two years ago and repeated as the 440-yard winner last year. He holds three Bucknell freestyle records and is also the MAC 440-yard freestyle record holder.

Other standouts include breaststroker Charlie Maunz, butterflyers Robin Harris and Fowler Stratton, freestylers Bob Ayers, Eric Moore and Dave Ulp and divers Dick Humphreys and Bob Theiss.

Maunz took the 100-yard and 200-yard breaststroke titles when the Bisons won the conference crown in 1960, but faltered last year and never really regained his sophomore year form. He has turned in promising times in early season practice sessions this winter and should again be a threat for the conference breaststroke titles.

Harris and Stratton will probably handle all of the butterfly chores for the Bisons this season. Stratton has been particularly impressive and could be a vital cog on the medley relay team.

Ayers, who showed a great deal of improvement toward the end of last season, and Moore, who was out of school last year after a brilliant frosh campaign, should team with Dorr to give the Bisons a formidable distance freestyle aggregation.

Humphreys and Theiss both placed in the MAC diving competition a year ago and should be threats in every meet this season. Both are effective off the high and low boards and Humphreys may even see duty as a freestyle sprinter. Ulp will probably be used in the freestyle sprints and on the freestyle relay unit.

A big question mark this year is Sophomore John Weinmann who was being counted on to be one of the top men in the conference in the 200-yard individual medley. John suffered a collarbone and shoulder injury in an accident this fall and it is not known when he will be ready for duty. In addition to the individual medley, Weinmann could also see action in several other events and is potentially one of the most versatile swimmers on the team.

The Bisons face a tough eleven-meet schedule this winter and while there is not great depth on the team, there are several outstanding performers who may make a big difference in close meets. There aren't many sophomores to rely on, but the eight returning lettermen give Latour a good nucleus to work with.

campus calendar

JANUARY

- 2 Basketball—Rutgers at Bucknell
- 3 Christmas Recess Ends at 8:00 A. M.
- 4 Basketball—Gettysburg at Gettysburg
- 6 Basketball—Delaware at Bucknell
Swimming—Lafayette at Bucknell
- 9 Basketball—Penn State at State College
Swimming—F. and M. at Bucknell
- 10 Wrestling—Muhlenberg at Allentown
- 11–13 Cap and Dagger Play—"Separate Tables"
- 12 Basketball—Navy at Bucknell
- 13 Swimming—Gettysburg at Gettysburg
Wrestling—F. and M. at Bucknell
- 16 Final Examinations Begin
- 24 Final Examinations End
- 25–30 Men's and Women's Glee Club Tours
- 26 Swimming—Fordham at New York City
Wrestling—Loyola at Baltimore
- 27 Basketball—C. C. N. Y. at New York City
Wrestling—Baltimore at Baltimore
Swimming—N. Y. U. at New York City
- 30 Basketball—Temple at Bucknell
- 31 Second Semester Begins

FEBRUARY

- 2 Student Forum
Basketball—Rochester at Rochester
- 3 Basketball—Colgate at Hamilton, N. Y.
Swimming—Rutgers at Bucknell
Wrestling—Temple at Bucknell
- 5 Founder's Day—Bucknell's 116th year
- 7 Basketball—LaSalle at Bucknell
Wrestling—Gettysburg at Gettysburg
- 9 Swimming—Pittsburgh at Bucknell
- 10 Basketball—Pittsburgh at Bucknell
- 13 Basketball—Penn State at Bucknell
- 14 Swimming—Pennsylvania at Philadelphia
- 17 Basketball—Buffalo at Buffalo, N. Y.
Swimming—LaSalle at Bucknell
Wrestling—Delaware at Newark, Del.
- 20 Swimming—Delaware at Newark, Del.
Wrestling—Pennsylvania at Philadelphia
- 21 Basketball—Albright at Bucknell
- 22–24 Challenge program
- 24 Basketball—Lehigh at Bethlehem
Swimming—Lehigh at Bucknell
Wrestling—Lafayette at Bucknell
- 28 Basketball—Muhlenberg at Bucknell

See Page 13

THE BUCKNELL ALUMNUS

OFFICERS OF THE ASSOCIATION

President

ROBERT W. DILL '27

First Vice President

MRS. CLYDE P. BAILEY (Dorothy Lemon '29)

Second Vice President

DANIEL F. GRIFFITH '36

Treasurer

DONALD B. YOUNG '33

Secretary and Editor

JOHN H. SHOTT '22

Assistant Secretary and Assistant Editor

C. BRUCE ROSSITER '36

BOARD OF DIRECTORS

MRS. CLYDE P. BAILEY (Dorothy Lemon '29), 5025 Fifth Ave., Apt. 3-B, Pittsburgh 32, Pa. (1962)

CHARLES F. FOX, JR., M.D. '31, 180 Washington Ave., Vandergrift, Pa. (1962)

D. EUGENE LONG '29, 131 Avon Place, West Hempstead, N. Y. (1962)

EUGENE P. BERTIN '17, 201 S. Main St., Muncy, Pa. (1963)

MRS. JOHN W. LEWIS (Elinor Childs '52), 8A Sayre Court, Madison, N. J. (1963)

ROBERT H. TAYLOR '48, 214 Avon Rd., Narberth, Pa. (1963)

CHARLES T. FARROW '26, P. O. Box 29, Westfield, N. J. (1964)

IRVIN GRAYBILL, JR., ESQ. '49, Middleburg, Pa. (1964)

ALLEN F. JONES '25, 2 Linn St., Progress, Harrisburg, Pa. (1964)

HENRY G. P. COATES, ESQ. '32, East Ward St., Hightstown, N. J. (1965)

DANIEL F. GRIFFITH '36, 599 Massachusetts Ave., Aldan, Pa. (1965)

PETER WEIDENBACHER '50, 525 Hillside Ave., Mountaintop, N. J. (1965)

MRS. ROBERT D. CARLSON (Claire Wynkoop '49), 2801 Beverly Rd., Brooklyn 26, N. Y. (1966)

ROBERT W. DILL '27, 5136 Butler Pike, Plymouth Meeting, Pa. (1966)

WARREN R. LEWIS '42, 394 Edgewood Ave., Rochester 18, N. Y. (1966)

() Year Term Expires

Alumni Headquarters—GROUND FLOOR
ADMINISTRATION CENTER

Member—AMERICAN ALUMNI COUNCIL

VOLUME XLVII

MARCH 1962

No. 4

IN THIS ISSUE

- 1 This Is Your University
- 2 For the Record
- 4 Tempest in a Crackpot
- 5 Nominees for Alumni Trustee
- 6 The Student View
—by Bonni Vasilawsky '64
- 7 Profile of an Alumnus
—Dr. George S. Stevenson '15
- 8 Winter Sports in Review
—by Bradley N. Tufts, Sports Information Director
- 9 Squeezing the Grapefruit
- 10 Alumni Communication Improving
- 12 Class Reports
- 13 From the Bookshelf

J. Nevin Bauman '20, 12—Samuel H. Woolley '32, 21—George Vetter '33, 22—Alfred V. Boerner, Jr. '32, 24—Edward C. Myers '34, 25—Doris Ann Scharfenberg '38, 26—Clinton A. Condict '37, 28—General Thomas D. White, U. S. A. F. (Retired) '58, 29—Alumni Trustee Timetable, 31—In Memoriam, 31—Spring Sports Schedule 1962, inside back cover.

ON THE COVER: With the aid of a large collection of books in this issue, as appropriate, form the theme of the cover. Pictured during the "Books, the Rush" at the beginning of the second semester is cited Book of the Year, a collection of arts student from Vassar.

THE BUCKNELL ALUMNUS is published in January, March, May, September and November by BUCKNELL UNIVERSITY. Entered as second-class matter December 30, 1930 at the post office at Lewisburg, Pa., under Act of August 24, 1912.

John S. Hale, director of the Freas-Rooke Computing Center (left) instructs a student in the use of the I.B.M. 1620 Electronic Digital Computer.

NUMBER EIGHT

THIS IS YOUR UNIVERSITY

At Bucknell, as well as at other universities, expensive equipment for instruction and research is needed if we hope to win the race for peace. Without alumni gifts and grants from foundations and corporations your University could provide only a fractional part of the present instructional and research programs. Bucknell has been most fortunate in receiving from each of these sources money and equipment to continue our pursuit of excellence.

Established in 1961 with support from the National Science Foundation and Trustees A. Guy Freas H'57, and Robert L. Rooke '13, H'51, the Computing Center in Dana Engineering Building represents a major step in Bucknell's program for the use of electronic computers in teaching and research. Of course, this is but one example of a step forward for Bucknell. There have been many others, and there will be more. The better than twelve and one-half million dollar projection for facilities and endowment for 1962-1972 is an energetic expression of Bucknell's faith in the future.

FOR THE RECORD

■ AMERICAN STUDIES

Twenty-five teachers of social studies in the secondary schools will be awarded scholarships to attend Bucknell University's third annual Summer Institute of American Studies.

Made possible by a $10,000 grant from the Coe Foundation of New York, the resident scholarships are valued at $100 each and cover tuition, room and books. In addition, a limited number of non-resident scholarships covering tuition, books and a cash stipend are being offered.

The six-week Institute, under the direction of Dr. C. Herschel Jones, professor of political science, is designed as a positive and affirmative method of meeting the threat of communism, socialism, collectivism, totalitarianism and other ideologies opposed to the preservation of our system of free enterprise.

■ THE ALUMNI CENSUS—BY CLASSES

The alumni census, which is taken once each year, shows that in December 1961 there were 18,808 members in the Bucknell Alumni Family. Actually, there are probably about 20,000 living Alumni of the University, but the census counts only those with known addresses.

The census also showed that half of the alumni body have graduated since 1947, that one-fourth of the Alumni on the mailing list have graduated since 1954 and that three-fourths of the Alumni have graduated since 1933.

The Emeritus Club group (those who graduated in 1911 or before) now numbers 629. The largest class is 1949 with 844 members on the mailing list, of which Robert C. Camac is the president.

Filled with happy emotion following Rhode Island's 12-9 football victory over Brown University this past season, John Chironna '55, is consoled by "his" boys. John, as you may have guessed, is the Rhode Island football coach, and this was the first time since 1955 that John's team had defeated Brown.

PROVIDENCE JOURNAL-BULLETIN PHOTO

Of the total mailing list, 12,219 (65%) hold bachelor degrees, 1,468 (8%) hold master degrees and 5,106 (27%) did not earn a degree at Bucknell. However, many of them completed work for a bachelor or higher degree at other colleges or universities. The totals include Bucknellians who attended the Bucknell Academy and the Female Institute (both of which ceased operations in 1916) and are considered members of the class of the year in which they completed their academic work in the Academy and Institute respectively.

■ POLITICAL AWARENESS

Last November a member of the Bucknell faculty decided to run for councilman from the West Ward of the borough of Lewisburg. He ran and was elected. Today he is president of the Borough Council.

The man to whom we refer is no stranger to many Bucknellians nor is he a stranger to municipal affairs in Lewisburg. He is none other than Dr. Lester Kieft, chairman of the Department of Chemistry at Bucknell.

Dr. Kieft has been an active citizen in local government for several years, serving as chairman of the Lewisburg Planning Commission and chairman of the Lewisburg Board of Adjustment which acts on all exceptions to the zoning ordinances.

Congratulations on your political awareness, Dr. Kieft!

■ AN EXPRESSION OF APPRECIATION

President Odgers has asked the editors of THE BUCKNELL ALUMNUS to express his very real appreciation of the return, especially the large percentage of the return, of the questionnaire which he sent to members of the Classes from 1957 to 1961 inclusive. Dr. Odgers states "It is truly gratifying to note the interest in Bucknell which this large response by its younger Alumni clearly indicates."

■ CLASS OF 1956 LECTURESHIP

On January 4, 1962, Dr. Mark C. Ebersole, dean of the College of Arts and Sciences, delivered the Class of 1956 Lecture. His topic was "Religion During the Fifties."

Established by the Class of 1956 as its graduation gift to the University, the lectureship for the 1961-62 academic year was awarded to Dr. Ebersole "in recognition of his inspirational teaching during the past several years." Dr. Ebersole is the fifth faculty member to be so honored.

■ A RARE OPPORTUNITY

Judith Anderson, considered by many to be the greatest living actress in America, will appear at Bucknell University on April 25, 1962.

Miss Anderson has agreed to present her famous portrayal of Lady Macbeth and scenes from the modern classic "Media '62."

This will be a rare opportunity for Bucknell students and Alumni to see and hear one of the finest actresses of our time.

■ FRENCH AND SPANISH INSTITUTE

The U. S. Office of Education has awarded a $58,000 contract to Bucknell to conduct a summer institute in French and Spanish.

Open primarily to secondary school teachers of French and Spanish in Pennsylvania and Ohio, and high school teachers of Spanish in New York, the seven-week institute will place major emphasis on modern methods of teaching the selected language to students. The institute program will be under the direction of Dr. Albert M. K. Blume, professor of German.

Objectives of the institute, as established under the provisions of the National Defense Education Act's Language Development Program, are to train participants in the use of new-key methods and materials, to provide secondary school teachers of French and Spanish with a foundation for the linguistic approach to language teaching, and to enable them to improve in the various language proficiencies.

■ LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

DEAR SIRs:

On behalf of all the men of Kress Hall I extend to you and your association heartiest thanks for the trophy presented for the Homecoming Float. Your award represents the work of many hours, and the fellows are really proud of this achievement. As soon as our new trophy case arrives, you can be sure that the award of your organization will be displayed in a prominent place.

Looking back on the events of Homecoming week, it is obvious to me that it was working on our float that really brought out the group spirit for the first time. The unorganized crowd became a team, working toward a unified goal. This is but one of the many reasons why we took so much pride in this accomplishment, and why we were so pleased to be given first prize.

In spite of the weather, the parade was terrific. Congratulations on your success in planning it. And once again our thanks to your group.

CHARLES E. WALLACE, JR. '65

EDITOR'S NOTE: Although The General Alumni Association of Bucknell University would very much like to take credit for the beautiful float trophies presented at the Homecoming celebration this year, we cannot. Two trophies and four plaques presented to the creators of the winning floats were made possible by the contributions of the Lewisburg merchants. Also, trophies for high school bands participating in the Homecoming Parade were contributed by the Citizens Electric Company of Lewisburg.

■ PSEA CONVENTION LUNCHEON

Representatives of the Classes of 1909 to 1961 were in attendance at the annual luncheon held for Bucknellians in the educational field who attended the Pennsylvania State Education Association Convention in Harrisburg in late December. The Bucknellians met for lunch at the YWCA on Wednesday, December 27, with Buck Shott, Alumni Secretary, in charge of the meeting. Other campus representatives in attendance were Dr. Walter H. Sauvain and Dr. J. Paul Shaffer '26.

Dr. James E. Nancarrow '16, principal of Upper Darby High School spoke to the group on "Newer Things in Education," based on a visit to a number of high schools in the East and the Middle West. Dr. Nancarrow brought to the group a keen insight and a rich experience in his observation of the use, in secondary schools, of language laboratories, team teaching, television, and teaching machines.

■ ALUMNI CLUB MEETINGS

As we go to press, better than twenty alumni clubs have held, or are scheduled to hold, dinner meetings to celebrate the founding of Bucknell University 116 years ago.

Clubs holding charter day celebrations this year include: Columbus, Uniontown, Chambersburg, Lancaster, Washington, Union County-Milton, Harrisburg, Northern New Jersey, Philadelphia, Baltimore, St. Petersburg, Capitol District, Scranton, Long Island, Chicago, Wilmington, Trenton, Greater New York, Southern New Jersey, Wilkes-Barre, Lehigh Valley and York.

Faculty and staff members attending some of these meetings included: Dr. Merle M. Odgers, president of the University; Dr. Karl D. Hartzell, dean of the University; Dr. Wesley N. Haines, director of development; John F. Zeller, III '41, vice president—business and finance; Capt. Herbert F. Eckberg, dean, College of Engineering; John B. Miller '26, professor of electrical engineering; Dr. Mildred A. Martin, professor of English; Dr. C. Herschel Jones, professor of political science; J. Ben Austin, Jr., associate professor of mechanical engineering; Dr. David J. Lu, assistant professor of history; John H. Shott '22, alumni secretary; Homer W. Wieder, Jr. '58, assistant director of development; C. Bruce Rossiter '56, assistant alumni secretary; Hans Veening, assistant professor of chemistry; Robert H. Odell, head football coach; and Dr. C. Willard Smith, chairman, English department.

Judge Paul M. Showalter '31 and Mrs. Showalter (S. Katharine Graham '33) are pictured shortly after being notified of his election as President Judge for the Pennsylvania counties of Snyder and Union.

Student Invitation to Nazi Leader Arouses Storm

"TEMPEST IN A CRACKPOT"

GEORGE LINCOLN ROCKWELL, self-styled Commander of the American Nazi Party, was scheduled to speak at Bucknell January 31. The invitation was issued, and later withdrawn, by a group of undergraduates known as the Student Forum. The situation created what President Odgers aptly described as "a tempest in a crackpot" which swept through the campus and the community in recent weeks.

When the "storm center" of this incident learned that his Forum invitation had been cancelled, he seized the opportunity to capitalize upon the publicity given him by area newspapers and radio stations and announced his intention of speaking in the town itself. When he arrived in Lewisburg February 4, he was denied use of both the county and federal courthouse steps as a platform and spoke from a platform near "The Monument" on University Avenue, where his remarks were met by boos and jeers from a crowd of the curious.

Local and state police officers who were on duty during his visit later expressed appreciation for the fact that a majority of students remained on campus and for the orderly and mature manner in which those who were present conducted themselves.

Because of the winds of controversy which developed from the Rockwell invitation and its subsequent cancellation, a brief factual resume appears to be in order.

The Student Forum, composed of a small group of students, has existed at Bucknell since 1959. Its expressed purpose is "to stimulate thinking by presenting current intellectual trends." To enable the Forum to bring to the campus outstanding speakers in literary, economic, scientific, and political fields, the Class of 1959 provided an endowment fund of $2,000, which is currently supplemented by an allocation from student budget funds, as voted by the Student-Faculty Congress.

THE invitation to Rockwell was extended by the Forum without the knowledge or advice of any member of the Administration. When the invitation and its acceptance were announced by the Forum, the University issued a statement indicating that in keeping with Bucknell's policy of encouraging the pursuit of intellectual inquiry, the Forum would not be denied the use of college facilities for its program, but that this decision did not constitute University approval of Rockwell or his philosophies. It added that the University would take no action to promote or otherwise support his appearance.

Protests from Alumni, veterans organizations, and other groups, asking the University to ban an appearance by the Nazi leader, were not long in coming in.

In many instances these protests reflected an apparently widespread belief that the University itself had invited Rockwell. Accordingly, a second statement clarifying Bucknell's position was issued in which it was pointed out that the invitation had been issued by the Forum and that this group must accept the responsibility for its action, together with whatever praise or censure it might bring. University officials also expressed their disappointment in the judgment of those who sent the invitation and declared that the University does not approve of Mr. Rockwell or his tenets.

Indications from many sources that rioting such as had occurred elsewhere might well be expected to accompany Rockwell's scheduled appearance on the campus presented a serious cause for concern.

IN a letter to members of the Forum Committee, President Odgers expressed regret for the Forum's offer of its platform to Rockwell and then called attention to a University regulation which provides that "any Bucknell student, man or woman, who in any manner contributes to the unlawful use, entry of, or damage to any University dormitory or property will receive immediate and severe University discipline, which may culminate in suspension or expulsion." He added that "Disorderly behavior in connection with Mr. Rockwell's appearance here resulting in personal injury or damage to property will be considered 'unlawful use' of University property and a consequence of the Student Forum's invitation."

When the Forum members became aware of the serious consequences which might reasonably be expected to result from the Rockwell program, they were apparently unwilling to accept the responsibility for it and cancelled their invitation.

But the storm had not blown itself out. Understandably, the students responsible for the Forum invitation were smarting from the criticism which their action had aroused in many quarters. In particular, they did not subscribe to the opinion that they had shown poor judgment in inviting Rockwell. Neither did 35 members of the Bucknell Faculty who expressed the belief, in a letter to a nearby newspaper, that the Forum members had indeed acted "in good faith and from a sense of social concern and intelligent alertness to contemporary affairs." Debate on this point, as reflected in letters to the editor of The Bucknellian, our student newspaper, still continues and will probably go on for some weeks to come.

As we go to press, there are indications that Rockwell is planning to pay a second visit to Lewisburg if he can secure the necessary permission to speak from the steps of the federal courthouse.

Nominees for Alumni Trustee

THE Committee for the Selection of Alumni Trustee Candidates presents for your action the names of three Alumnae to be balloted upon in April 1962. We present the names, pictures and biographies of the proposed candidates. Mrs. Margaret M. Otto (Margaret Mattern '18) listed in the January issue of THE BUCKNELL ALUMNUS as a candidate for Alumni Trustee has requested her name be withdrawn. She is replaced by Dr. Elizabeth M. Kates DS'17. Please study with care the qualifications of the candidates. Assistance in preparing the biographies appearing here was supplied by the candidates themselves.

Early in April ballots will be mailed to all Alumni whose addresses are known to be correct. The return envelope will be a combination mailer, providing for the return of the ballot and a contribution to the Alumni Annual Giving Program—BUT YOU DO NOT NEED TO CONTRIBUTE TO BE ELIGIBLE TO VOTE. The voter will open the envelope at an indicated place, mark the ballot by voting for ONE candidate, enclose a contribution to the Alumni Annual Giving Fund—if you have not made a gift since July 1, 1961, and feel inclined to do so—seal and mail it—no postage required. On receipt at the Alumni Office, the secrecy of the ballot will be maintained by separating the name and address of the voter from the ballot after which the ballot will be placed in a locked ballot box. Balloting will end on Wednesday, May 15, 1962. During the following week, a committee of Alumni will open the locked ballot box, tally the votes and certify the results to the Board of Trustees.

EDNA M. BAKER
Woodbury, N. J.

ELIZABETH M. KATES
Goochland, Va.

AMORITA SESINGER
(Mrs. Charles E. Copeland)
Madison, N. J.

COLLEGE RECORD: A.B., Bucknell University 1921; Diploma in Piano and Harmony, Bucknell School of Music 1922; M.A. in French, Middlebury College 1941; Studied at L'Universite de Lausanne and New York University; Pi Beta Phi; Mu Phi Epsilon; C.E.A.; Freshman Declamation Contest; Senior Class Play.

PROFESSIONAL EXPERIENCE: Teacher, French, Sunbury High School 1921-22; Teacher, French, Latin and English, Woodbury High School, N. J. 1922-58; Chairman, Foreign Language Department, Woodbury High School, N. J. 1947-58; Sponsor of Le Cercle Francais, Woodbury High School, N. J. 1928-58; Chairman of Activities, Woodbury High School, N. J. 1938-58; Taught "English for New Americans" in Adult Evening School; Retired 1958; Agent, Chryson's Greeting Cards 1947 to present; Translator, French Legal Documents 1956 to present; Tutor and Teacher, French

(Continued on Page 31)

COLLEGE RECORD: Domestic Science, Bucknell University 1917; LL.D. (Honorary), Bucknell University 1952; Pi Beta Phi.

PROFESSIONAL EXPERIENCE: Dietitian, New Jersey State Industrial School for Girls, Trenton, N. J. 1917-27; Deputy, Federal Institution (Industrial) for Women, Alderson, W. Va., under Dr. Mary B. Harris '94, Superintendent 1927-29; Assistant Superintendent of State Industrial Home for Women, Muncy 1929-30; Business Manager, State Industrial Farm, Niantic, Conn. 1930-31; Superintendent, State Industrial Farm for Women, Goochland, Va. 1931 to present; Prepared tape recording for Voice of America to be broadcast on European program.

ORGANIZATIONS: Member, International Altrusa; Member, Women's Federation of Virginia; Guardian of Chapter of Camp Fire Girls of America; For-COLLEGE RECORD: A.B., Bucknell University 1922; Diploma in Voice, Bucknell School of Music 1924; Theta Alpha Phi; Girls' Glee Club; Staff, BUCKNELLIAN (Associate Editor); Staff, L'AGENDA (Assistant Business Manager); Helped earn way through college by working as secretary in college office and assistant to Registrar 1918-22. Studied voice privately in Philadelphia.

(Continued on Page 32)

PROFESSIONAL EXPERIENCE: Member, first faculty of High School, Pitman, N. J. 1923-25; Special Assistant to Miss Anne Morgan (sister of J. P. Morgan) 1932-42; Chairman, Greater New York Salvage Committee of American Women's Voluntary Services. Full-time volunteer directing 2500 volunteers. Worked with War Production Board, Civilian Defense Volunteer Office, American Newspaper Publishers Association, and industry in creating

(Continued on Page 32)

THE CAMPUS SCENE— FROM SCIENTIFIC THEORY TO JALOPIES

CHALLENGE PROGRAM

INDICT . . . doubt . . . dispute . . . CHALLENGE!!! All these words are verbs of questioning, but only the final word describes the action undertaken by approximately thirty Bucknell undergraduates. Each year the Challenge Committee organizes and develops a program centered in a topic of broad interest. Included in this program are speeches, seminars, and debate-discussions. This year's Challenge Program, held February 22-24, concerned the effect of science on religion and society.

Six speakers afforded Bucknellians professional and technical view points on subjects such as the influence of science on society through government projects and technology, and the application of a scientific theory to everyday design.

Dr. Ashley Montagu, born in England and naturalized in the United States in 1940, earned his Ph.D. at Columbia. His topic was the "Evolution of Humanity." Formerly, Dr. Montagu was a member of the sociology department at Harvard. He is presently with the Department of Anthropology at Rutgers. He has written more than 200 scientific articles and books. Some of his most recent books are The Natural Superiority of Women (For which he defended his theories on The Jack Paar Show), Bio-Social Nature of Man, and in 1960, Human Heredity. Also, Dr. Montagu wrote, produced and financed the film "One World or None" which was acclaimed as the most important documentary of the era.

Prof. Otto Klineberg, M.D., Ph.D., is chairman of the Department of Social Psychology at Columbia University. He also served as a Carnegie visiting professor of psychology at the University of Hawaii, and was with UNESCO on a project concerning tensions effecting international understanding. Some of his publications are Race Differences (1935), Race and Psychology (1951), and Modern Psychology.

Rev. George C. Anderson, M.D., Ph.D., is the founder and director of the Academy of Religion and Mental Health. He was ordained as an Episcopal clergyman in 1933. Rev. Anderson has degrees in psychiatry, psychology, and medicine. He is the author of Man's Right to Be Human. He also taught at Oxford and was Episcopal chaplain at Swarthmore. "The Impact of Psychiatry on Religion" was Rev. Anderson's topic of discussion.

Father Noel Mailloux, O.P., Ph.D., spoke on "Modern Trends and Changes in Religious Orientations." He is presently the president of the Center for Research in Human Relations with headquarters in Montreal and Paris. Father Mailloux is also chairman of the Social Science Research Council of Canada and professor of psychology at the University of Montreal. In 1952 he wrote Pastoral Psychology.

Dr. Richard H. Bolt, associate director of The National Science Foundation, is also a professor of acoustical engineering at MIT. He has pursued his major interests, physics and acoustics, as a research associate at MIT.

Dr. Paul A. Weiss, the head of the division of developmental biology at the Rockefeller Institute for Medical Research, discussed the need for greater correlations between the sciences and the humanities.

With men possessing so great an amount of intelligence, interest and background it is easy for one to understand why they were accepted so wholeheartedly by the entire student body.

NO JALOPIES HERE

Why do Bucknell students have to pay $20 for a car permit, and how is this money spent? This question has been asked by almost every Bucknellian who has a car on campus.

Mr. John Zeller, Vice President of Bucknell, gave the following answer to the above question. The money paid by Bucknell students for permits is used by the University to pay the overhead cost for attendants who supervise parking and for plowing snow, and makes a contribution to road construction on campus.

The decision to make the cost of the permit $20 was based on two factors. First, since the above expenditures are primarily for the benefit of those undergraduates with cars, it was felt that they should carry the bulk of the financial burden. Second, the permit was intentionally made expensive to discourage students from bringing jalopies back to school.

When parking facilities are finally adequate, Mr. Zeller anticipates a less expensive permit.

Mr. Zeller also pointed out that the University must pay in full or in part for the maintenance and improvement of certain roads on campus. In addition, the University has built and maintained the roads on the Hill. (Research by Mortar Board).

A HOUSE FOR THE BIRDS

Those Alumni who come back to Bucknell expecting to see an unchanged Alma Mater are due for quite a surprise. The surprise is a white annex at the rear of Taylor Hall. This strange artifact appears to have been relocated from an ancient Aztec ruin!

All kidding aside—under the auspices of Dr. Carl Helms Bucknell is now expanding its facilities in the field of ornithology. Dr. Helms' interest in birds lies mostly in the aspect of migration. He has obtained various species of

(Continued on Inside Back Cover)

DR. GEORGE S. STEVENSON— PIONEER IN THE SCIENCE OF MENTAL HEALTH

NEWS recently received of the election of Dr. George S. Stevenson '15 as president of the World Federation for Mental Health will be a matter of great interest and pride to his many Bucknell friends. This high honor represents the culmination of a most distinguished service in the field of mental health, and it reflects credit and honor on the university from which he graduated. The ALUMNUS from time to time has published brief appreciative accounts of his ever-growing list of achievements but, perhaps, with this event another may be written to bring up to date the career of one of Bucknell's most famous sons.

A good starting point, of course, would be at Bucknell some years ago where we note that George S. "Bucky" Stevenson majored in biology under Dr. Norman Stewart, and that his extra-curricular interests were Lambda Chi Alpha, Cap and Dagger and track. The last of these appears in small print, but we are most curious about it. Did he excel in field events or track? Today he looks wiry, with a decided spring to his step, which would indicate the latter. Seeking the source of his professional interests we wonder who inspired him to enter the medical profession in which he was to become renowned as a teacher, scholar and writer, as a pioneer in the mental health movement, and as a humanitarian? But to continue his biography.

Four years after graduation, George Stevenson received the master's degree from his Alma Mater and the degree of medicine from Johns Hopkins University. This was followed with the privilege of serving as an interne under the noted psychiatrist, Dr. Adolf Meyer, director of the Phipps Institute at Johns Hopkins Hospital. Then followed more than a decade of teaching and lecturing on nervous and mental diseases at leading universities and hospitals of the nation. Increasingly, his interest grew in child guidance and in setting up of child guidance clinics until he became known as one of the nation's leading child psychiatrists. In 1934 he published the first of his three books entitled Child Guidance Clinics. In recognition of his achievements Bucknell in 1940 honored him with the degree of Doctor of Science.

The next achievement of Dr. Stevenson, even beyond the scope of child guidance, was in the field of community mental health when in 1946 he helped formulate and secure the passage of the National Mental Health Act. This legislation was so important as to inaugurate a new era in the mental health of the American people.

However, the law had to be implemented and the public educated to the great needs of the public mental hospitals, and this was his next service. Here we meet with the reformer. One could hardly believe, in talking with this soft-spoken man, who delights in a sly bit of humor, that he has been (and still is) a hard-hitting crusader, but listen to these words from the NEW YORK TIMES magazine (July 7, 1947). Under the caption, "Needed: A Plan for the Mentally Ill," he wrote "These are our alternatives—continued atrocities or the development of an enlightened public psychiatric system. The people of the United States are past the point where they can delegate conscience or responsibility to public functionaries."

How prominent Dr. Stevenson has been in the mental health movement during the past thirty-five years is indicated by the enumeration of a few of the important positions he has held. He has been the president of the American Psychiatric Association, and of the Orthopsychiatric Association. During the period 1926-39 he was field consultant and later director of the division on community clinics of the National Committee for Mental Hygiene. When this committee merged with two others in 1950 to form the National Association for Mental Health, he became its national and international consultant until his retirement in 1959. In recognition of his services the Lord and Taylor store of New York City presented him in 1953 an award "for his pioneering efforts in making the mental health of the nation the concern of every individual." The recipient of another award on that day was Dr. Albert Einstein—both of them great scholars and lovers of humanity.

What is his philosophy of mental health? He states this in a booklet, "How to Deal With Your Tensions" (1957), which he prepared with the psychologist, Dr. Harry Milt, for public distribution by the National Association for Mental Health. After discussing "Eleven Things You Can Do," he concludes, "Underlying these concrete suggestions there is a basic philosophy fundamental to good emotional health. That is the philosophy of faith: faith in ourselves; faith in others; faith in the ability of each person to improve and grow; faith in the desire and the capacity of human beings to work out their problems cooperatively; faith in the essential decency of mankind. As the Bible puts it, 'We are members one of another.' This is our way of life. It is the philosophy of sound mental health. When it is joined to faith in the great spiritual and moral values, it will carry us through stressful situations that might otherwise shatter us."

While busy with so many responsibilities of professional activities, together with his personal counseling, Dr. Stevenson, nevertheless, has maintained close touch with Bucknell. He has been the active president of the New York Alumni Association, a member of the Bucknell Alumni Club of Monmouth-Ocean, and is a former member of the Bison Club. Each five years at Commencement he may be seen attending the reunion of his Class of 1915. The Stevenson family are all Bucknellians. Mrs. Stevenson is the former Amy Llewellyn Patterson '16, and they have three children—Anne Elizabeth '43, Amy Llewellyn '44 and William C. '51. Amy is the wife of Dr. Charles F. Bond '42, eldest son of Dr. and Mrs. Charles M. Bond, and professor of biology at the University of Vermont.

WINTER SPORTS IN REVIEW

by BRADLEY N. TUFTS
Sports Information Director

AFTER losing its first four games of the season, the Bison basketball team picked up victory number one against Gettysburg on December 16 and then lost four more in a row before coming up with the big game of the season, a 75-59 upset victory over Navy.

The courtmen then defeated C. C. N. Y. and Rochester and lost to Temple and Colgate in their next four starts and entered the final eight games with a 4-10 record.

Headlining the victory over Navy was the performance of co-captain Joe Steiner. The 6-4 senior from Punxsutawney, Pa. scored 27 points and pulled down 25 rebounds. He also scored 27 against C. C. N. Y. and 24 against Temple and was averaging 16 points per game after the first 14 contests.

Steiner is also the team's leading rebounder and has become the third player in Bucknell history to score over 1000 points in a varsity career. Steiner needed 136 points in the last eight games to eclipse Joe Gallagher's career mark of 1183.

Other standouts on Coach Ben Kribbs' team have been seniors Mike Fadden and Don Lampus, junior Hal Smoker and sophomore Angie Gentile. Fadden, the other co-captain, is second in scoring and third in rebounding. Lampus is fourth in scoring and second in rebounding and Gentile and Smoker rank third and fifth respectively in the scoring race.

Other men who have seen starting roles are sophomore backcourt men Don Hester and Bill Fry, the seventh and eighth leading scorers on the squad. The team's final eight games are with LaSalle, Pitt, Penn State, Buffalo, Albright, Lehigh, Muhlenberg and Westminster.

The frosh basketball team won six of its first eight games and has been led by John Matthews, Bethlehem, Pa., and Lorrie Hathaway, Pittsburgh, Pa. Matthews had an 18.5 scoring average after eight games and Hathaway was hitting at a 11.3 clip.

The other starters are Karl Heiner, Schenectady, N. Y., Gene Miller, Mahanoy City, Pa., and Mike Watahovich, Freeland, Pa.

SWIMMING

Although there are only twelve men on the squad, the current Bucknell swimming team may be one of the best in the school's history. The Bison swimmers won five of their first six meets, but had tough contests with Pitt and LaSalle remaining prior to the Middle Atlantic Conference championships on March 2 and 3.

Heading a list of top notch performers are Co-Captains Bill Dearstyne and Bill Dorr, senior Charlie Maunz and juniors Eric Moore and Fowler Stratton. These men have accounted for almost two-thirds of the team's points and have had a hand in setting numerous records.

Coach Bob Latour's team defeated Lafayette, Franklin and Marshall, Gettysburg, Fordham and Rutgers and lost only to N. Y. U. in its first six outings. Dearstyne is the only undefeated man on the team, winning six in a row in the 200-yard backstroke.

He was also on the 400-yard medley relay team that established a school and pool record of 3:58.6 against Rutgers. Others on the unit were Maunz, Stratton and Dorr. Dorr has also lowered his school 220-yard freestyle record to 2:12.3 and Maunz cut more than four seconds off his own record in the 200-yard breaststroke with a 2:32.6 clocking.

Other record breaking performances have been registered by the undefeated Bison freshman team. The yearlings posted victories over F. and M. and Gettysburg in the first two contests and then downed a Rutgers team that had been undefeated and held a victory over the Princeton frosh.

Heading the list of frosh record breakers are Enos Fry and Jim Smigie. Fry lowered Dorr's 100-yard freestyle mark to :51.9 and Smigie topped the 200-yard butterfly record with a 2:09.6 clocking.

The frosh 400-yard freestyle relay team of John Shields, Bob Nadal, Fry and John Fleming registered a school record of 3:36.0 against Rutgers, and in the same meet the 400-yard medley relay team of Kent Smith, Tom Boak, Smigie and Fry posted a school record that was lowered later in the evening by the varsity.

WRESTLING

One of the big surprises on the campus this winter has been the tremendous showing made by the Bison wrestling team. The matmen were undefeated in their first five matches and had a good chance of going through the season with an unblemished slate.

Coach Fred Prender's team scored victories over Muhlenberg, Franklin and Marshall, Loyola, Baltimore and Temple in its first five outings and also had matches scheduled with Gettysburg, Delaware, Penn and Lafayette.

Three grapplers, seniors Bud Dusel (137) and Co-Captain Bill Graham (Hwt.) and sophomore John Coyle (147), were all undefeated in their first five matches and Co-Captain Ken Brust (157) won four of his first five starts.

The other starters and their records after five matches are: junior Jim Koehn (123) 3-1-1; junior Don Knight (130) 2-3; sophomore Glenn Dussinger (167) 2-2-1; and senior Jon Portnof (177) 3-2.

Koehn, Knight and Portnof are the only regulars from last year's team that compiled a 4-2-1 record. Dusel broke into the starting lineup for the first time in three varsity seasons, Coyle and Dussinger were undefeated as freshmen and Brust and Graham were out of action last year because of illness and injury.

This is one of the finest mat teams the Bisons have had in recent years and should do quite well in the MAC Championships despite the presence in the meet of such standout wrestling teams as Lycoming, Wilkes, Hofstra and Moravian.

SQUEEZING THE GRAPEFRUIT

There once was a strong man who could squeeze a grapefruit dry with one hand. One time at a county fair, as a gag, he bet $10 that he could get more juice out of a grapefruit with his bare hands than anyone else. Many tried, but none could best him until one small man got an extra half a cupful. The strong man paid in admiration, and then asked what the small man's occupation might be. The small man replied, "I am the Treasurer of a small New England College."

COLLEGE business officers, college presidents, and college trustees are everywhere adept at squeezing the extra half cup of juice out of the college grapefruit. There is never enough money to do all the things which could be done to improve the educational offering—indeed, never enough to do the things which need to be done. Despite increased endowments, higher tuitions, more generous friends and bigger alumni funds there are urgent needs for money—both capital and annual—which can't quite be met. Bucknell is no exception.

Faculty salaries continue to rise on a national level after years of lag behind the economy generally. They have not yet caught up. Like other institutions, Bucknell must struggle to keep up—and to catch up. The salary increases in the years just past will have to be matched in the years just ahead if Bucknell is to retain its excellent faculty and attract quality replacements when needed.

We have come to recognize that it is poor management to waste the time of highly trained faculty members with routine or menial tasks which can be performed by an untrained assistant or a lower-paid technician. Faculty personnel can be freed to teach more students, to improve the quality of their course offerings, or to engage in productive research if they have someone else to type the letters of recommendation required by their students, the examinations, the lecture notes—a technician or student assistant to clean the laboratory glassware, unpack supplies, get down the equipment from the storage closet for use in the laboratory, repair the loose wire on an electronic device, etc. Although such persons add to the total cost of operating the college, they do not add as much as it would cost to employ the additional faculty members who would otherwise be required.

Moreover—despite the all too prevalent view that tuition and fees are necessary only to pay faculty salaries—colleges and universities have numerous other annual expenses. Classrooms and laboratories must not only be built, they must be maintained. Equipment must be purchased, maintained, and replaced when it is worn out. The language class which needed only a room, a book, and a blackboard a few years ago, now needs an electronic language laboratory. The chemistry class which yesterday needed only a few test tubes and a Bunsen burner now requires a fluorimeter, an infracord spectrometer, a gas chromatogram, and a Beckman D. B. spectrophotometer. The engineering student who would have been sufficiently equipped with a $25 slide rule now needs regular access to a $25,000 computer.

The picture is the same in all the sciences and in all of engineering. The scientific, technological and intellectual explosion which we have witnessed in the last decade has piled multi-thousand dollar technological costs on top of creeping national inflation for undergraduate colleges as well as for the research oriented graduate schools. Again, Bucknell cannot afford to be an exception. It must have excellent equipment as well as excellent staff to remain an excellent institution.

These are but a few examples of what is happening to college expenditures and a partial explanation of the need for the $100 tuition increase which will go into effect this September when Tuition will be $1250. General Fee $150. Room and Board $700, for a total of $2100 a year.

Comparison of the operating report for the fiscal year 1960-61 with that of six years earlier (1954-55) shows that the University budget has doubled in this brief period. The total for 1960-61 was $5,473,646. Despite this dramatic increase, the year ended in the black by only $6,500. This is not a very comfortable margin for error in a budget of this size, and serves to emphasize the need for careful budgeting, cost analysis—and more grapefruit squeezing! It also emphasizes the importance of the alumni annual giving fund—for without the fund the year would have ended in the red by almost $45,000.

Like the budget, Bucknell's endowment has also shown dramatic increase in recent years. It now stands at over $12,000,000 at book value, and approximately $15,000,000 at market value. This is an increase of approximately 300% in the same six year period—paced by the Bertrand bequest, the endowment objective of the Dual Development campaign, and capital gains on the investments in the portfolio.

This sounds like a lot of money for poor old Bucknell which managed to get along—and do a good job too!—with so much less for so long. Doesn't this increased endowment solve our problems? Not quite!

Despite our improved position we still have a student-endowment ratio of only about $5,000 per student—a ratio considered minimal by most experts. It is still far below the ratio at many other good colleges with which we compete. At 4% this would produce only $200 per year per student—or $500,000 per year in a budget more than 10 times that large. A big help—but hardly the solution to every need! Moreover this includes endowment for scholarships, the income from which is credited to a separate scholarship account and is not even included in the operating budget.

Mrs. Bertrand's magnificent endowment of the library makes up almost 50% of total endowment funds. This means that the library can now become an excellent facility in every respect—in the book collection as well as in physical appointments. But it also means that almost half of total endowment income goes to support the library—leaving the other half for all other purposes (including scholarships). Other than for the library, most of the operating income must come from student fees and current gifts.

For those who think that an endowment of approximately $6,000,000 for the library will encourage needless luxury, perhaps it should be noted that the current library budget is approximately $185,000 a year including $45,000 for the purchase of books and periodicals. The income from the

(Continued on Inside Back Cover)

Alumni Communication Improving

YOUR chances of hearing from another Bucknell Alumnus by telephone or letter or in person are improving all the time.

While THE BUCKNELL ALUMNUS is depended upon to carry the message of Bucknell's activities to the 19,000 Alumni on the mailing list, we sometimes are inclined to forget the many areas of alumni communication that are carried on a person-to-person basis. Today almost 3,000 Alumni all over the world aid the University in some person-to-person communication capacity.

And the variety of services performed illustrates once again that whatever the interest and ability of the individual Alumnus, there is some kind of alumni activity that will exactly suit the Bucknellian who desires to assist in University/alumni communications. More than 500 serve as officers in the 70 organized classes. Almost 300 assist in the operation of the alumni club program. There are 70 reporters who write and/or approve the material that appears in the class notes section of THE BUCKNELL ALUMNUS. Another 70 class members serve as class fund managers. In 1959, the most recent year during which personal solicitation was conducted on behalf of the Bucknell Alumni Annual-Giving Fund, almost 800 Bucknellians served as area chairmen and agents in our 40 largest cities. During the Dual Development Campaign over 600 volunteer solicitors made personal contacts on behalf of that successful campaign.

Besides these well organized groups of alumni workers, there are many who serve the University on special and sometimes temporary assignments. For instance, during the promotion of the Bucknell birthday dinner celebrations just completed, hundreds of Alumni in local areas served on telephone follow-up squads to promote attendance at the dinners and meetings at which many faculty members appeared as speakers. Almost continuously the director of admissions requests individual Alumni to serve as interviewers of prospective students and their families. Several departments of the University, notably engineering and business and finance have advisory committees made up largely of Alumni. As recently as last November, President Merle M. Odgers appointed the Bucknell Development Council "to help Bucknell towards still greater educational strength and service . . ." (see THE BUCKNELL ALUMNUS, January 1962, pages 5-7).

To be sure, there are probably a few Alumni who feel that the University "over-communicates." Especially when the Alumnus may receive two letters in the same mail from different University campus addresses. There are no doubt those who feel that some economy in postage could be achieved by combining these mailings. Actually when fairly large mailings originate in different offices, the labor costs of combining these letters in the mailing room would far exceed the extra postage costs.

The latest group of Alumni volunteer workers to join the ever growing group of person-to-person communicators is the organization known as the assistant class fund managers. This group of over 550 assistants has undertaken to write individual notes to 10 or 15 classmates each, reminding them of the importance of the Annual-Giving Fund program. Although a few classes are still to be organized next summer, the groups now at work include the following:

Emeritus Club Fund Manager Col. A. F. Dersheimer	1908 Fund Manager W. Carl Sprout	Assistants Rabbi Samuel H. Markowitz Dr. John W. Rice Fred O. Schnure	Assistants Charles J. Anchor Rev. Raymond J. Cornish Mrs. Irene Yornall Davis Weber L. Gerhart, Jr. Miss Mary E. Grove Frank A. Lawrence Ruth M. Stein	Assistants Mrs. Helyn Kerstetter Bechtel Ardo C. Bowser Charles T. Bunting, Esq. Rev. W. D. Callender Mrs. Bertha Smith Crank Horry O. Dayhoff Paul C. Mallay Horry E. Stabler Mrs. Elizabeth Speakman Sweetland Mrs. Helen Powell Thurston
1890 Fund Manager Dr. John I. Woodruff	1909 Fund Manager Dr. Newton C. Fetter	1915 Fund Manager Jere B. Bates	1920 Fund Manager Walter D. Roos	1924 Fund Manager Merl G. Colvin, M.D.
1892 Fund Manager A. R. E. Wyant, M.D.	1910 Fund Manager Homer D. Kresge	Assistants Mrs. Margaret C. Gretzinger Sidney Grabowski, Esq. Albert J. Homlin Dr. George S. Stevenson	Assistants To be organized	Assistants Mrs. Louise Benshoff Cupp Earl S. Dunlap Miss Ida R. Heller Elliott S. Hopler Foster D. Jemison Mrs. Myrtle Sharp Lewis Arthur J. McMurtrie Mrs. Geneva Gerlach Moore Dr. Marjorie J. Rivenburg Miss L. Alice Roberts Wendell H. Woodside
1895 Fund Manager B. Meade Wagenseller, Ph.D.	Assistants John C. Bank MacArthur Gorton Michael J. McDonough George T. Street, Jr. Mrs. Joseph W. Yoder	1916 Fund Manager Bruce E. Butt	1921 Fund Manager Harold L. Shimer	Assistants Mrs. Lydia Coene Bateman Mrs. Eva Thayer Clark Grant O. Herb Mrs. Emily Devine Kelly Elvin L. Kohler Donald S. Lohrer
1902 Fund Manager Dr. Lewis E. Theiss	1911 Fund Manager William C. Grimes	1917 Fund Manager Clinton I. Sprout	1922 Fund Manager Miss Leone S. Dickrager	1925 Fund Manager Theodore Heysham, Jr.
1904 Fund Manager John C. Johnson	1912 Fund Manager Dr. A. Oscar Wolfe, Sr.	1918 Fund Manager Bruce O. Ranck	Assistants William E. Balliet Florence D. Cornwell Howard T. Davenport Mrs. Susanna Plummer O'Neil Miss Catharine Y. Stahl E. L. Worthington	Assistants Howard E. Ackman Robert G. Brandt Myron F. Decker Mrs. Corrie Smithgall Ebert Donald O. Eschbach Allen F. Jones Dr. Frank L. Jones John E. Nomisniok Miss Helen G. Peifer
1906 Fund Manager Frank L. Yost	1913 Fund Manager Prof. Bright W. Beck	Assistants Rev. David N. Boswell Prof. John S. Gold Mrs. Miriam Minch Hall Howard L. Rosenberger Mrs. Elizabeth Hohn Sprout	1923 Fund Manager Frank R. McGregor
Assistants Mrs. Alvah G. Frost Hon. Frederick V. Follmer J. Theodore Park Mrs. Wilbur H. Parsons H. J. Sheppard Dr. Harold N. Cole	1914 Fund Manager Jesse E. Riley	1919 Fund Manager Dr. Franklin D. Jones

Mrs. Dorothy Simons Shaffer
William G. Thomas

1926

Fund Manager

Dr. Eugene D. Corstater

Assistants
To be organized

1927

Fund Manager

Mrs. Veta Davis Replagle

Assistants
To be organized

1928

Fund Manager

S. C. Braucher, Esq.

Assistants
Mrs. Ruth Bray Couch
Mrs. Elva Horner Evans
Miss Margaret M. Fields
Frederick Fox, Jr.
William F. Harpster
E. Lee Keiser, Jr., M.D.
Miss Jean E. Little
Miss Lenore M. Losch
Dr. Wilbur S. Sheriff
Miss Edna L. Whitaker
Mrs. Genevieve Panches
Whitehead
Wyatt E. Williams

1929

Fund Manager

Charles W. Kolp, Esq.

Assistants
Mrs. Dorothy Lemon Bailey
Mrs. Alice Spokes Cawley
Dr. Clarence W. Cranford
Miss A. Elizabeth Frederick
John W. Gittins
Dr. Mildred J. Headings
John M. Horter
D. Eugene Long
Miss Thelma J. Showalter

1930

Fund Manager

Maynard B. Henry

Assistants
To be organized

1931

Fund Manager

Horace W. Mason

Assistants
Mrs. Marian Stinson Fox
Arthur E. Minnier
Miss Helen Reece
S. Robert Schiro, M.D.
Edward J. Smalstig
A. Crossley Smith, Jr.
Mrs. Ruth Weidemann Snyder
Mrs. Virginia Cowell Wahl

1932

Fund Manager

William H. Wood, Esq.

Assistants
Henry G. Coates, Esq.
H. Lynn Goughnour
Lloyd S. Hoffman
Dr. Frances E. Knights
Mrs. Ruth Taylor Lantz
Shirley M. Leavitt
James P. Logan
Martin E. Mandel
Luis A. March
Philip B. Neisser
Miss Mildred F. Walton

1933

Fund Manager

Campbell Rutledge, Jr.

Assistants
Miss Mary E. Baldwin
Mrs. Mary Grove Bellmeyer
Rev. Franklin A. Bower
Franklin H. Cook, Esq.
Mrs. Ann Graybill Cook
Mrs. Marjorie Hahn Gronquist
Hugh L. Marshall, Jr.
Donald B. Prector
Frank A. Ross
Carl W. Sheasley
Wilson Snyder, M.D.
Thomas H. Wilkenson
Edwin F. Wood

1934

Fund Manager

Frank E. Gerlitz, Jr.

Assistants
Mrs. Mary Nell Benson
Mrs. Jean Hill Bush
Jack V. Dorman
Harry C. Fithian, Esq.

Mrs. Ruth Rohr Liming
Mrs. E. Ruth Beers Miller
Kelvin L. Shields
Mrs. Helen Hoffner Simpson
Sherburne B. Walker

1935

Fund Manager

Edward F. Wittmer

Assistants
John C. Demas, Esq.
Harry L. Wynn
Mrs. Romlyn Rivenburg
Balsbaugh
Jerome D. Morris
Mrs. Ethel Hammer Roensch
Mrs. Pauline Bennage Virgilio
Miss Myrtle E. Wampler

1936

Fund Manager

LeRay H. Rohde

Assistants
Fred A. Bufanio
Harry G. Coleman
John P. Davis, Jr.
John C. Decker, Esq.
Charles W. Duck
Richard B. Engdahl
Daniel F. Griffith
Henry M. McGee
Robert L. Meikle
Mrs. Josephine Williams
Miller
Thomas Punshan, Jr.
Miss Sophie T. Rokosz
Marc Shackatana, Esq.
Armand F. Vergo, M.D.

1937

Fund Manager

Charles O. Morris, Jr.

Assistants
Samuel A. DeMuro
Mrs. M. Elizabeth
MacNamara Falcone
Mrs. Helen Morgan Griffith
Frank G. Ingalls, Jr.
George L. Marshall
Robert G. Miller, Esq.
Herbert W. Morrell, Jr.
Clyde M. Noll, Esq.
Mrs. Marian Pursley
Pedlow, Jr.
Rev. Thomas B. Richards
Mrs. Marguerite Engelhart
Schmuck
Mrs. Rita Halbrook Sear
Edwin S. Stebbins
Rev. Anthony F. Vasquez
Miss Elizabeth A. Wray
Mrs. Alice O'Mara Zelfiff

1938

Fund Manager

William S. Work

Assistants
To be organized

1939

Fund Manager

William H. Roberts

Assistants
To be organized

1940

Fund Manager

Wayne E. Knouse

Assistants
Charles R. Eyer
Samuel S. Fisher
Robert M. Gearhart
Melvin Jaffe
Mrs. Anne Burrows McAllister
Mrs. Ruth Lepper McDowell
Mrs. Elma Griscam Mack
Miss Alice C. Moore
Mrs. Jeannette Armstrong
Randolph
Mrs. Doris Loos Selinger
Robert J. Shaner
Robert L. Stanton
Donald S. Williams
Robert D. Wiit

1941

Fund Manager

Mrs. Elizabeth Dyer
Winters

Assistants
Raymond H. Armor
Miss Eleanor H. Bendell
Mrs. Helen Meek Colwell
James D. Craig
Mrs. Grace Stone Dietz
Mrs. Marion Martin Frantz
Frederick Golden
Eugene D. Hayes
James R. Hind
William C. Hulley, III, M.D.
Thomas O. Meyer

Mrs. Betty Fleckenstine
Minnich
Frank Nonemaker, Jr.
Miss H. Blanche Savidge
Mrs. Margaret Farrell Smith

1942

Fund Manager

Arthur J. Denney

Assistants
William C. Byrnes, Jr.
Mrs. Germaine Pepperman
Deitz
Robert W. Donehower
Mrs. Margaret Linaberry
Granberry
Mrs. Eleanor Parry Held
Gilbert P. Holt
Murray B. McPherson
Mrs. Jeanne Meyer
McPherson
Mrs. Helen Cabaugh
Mutchler
C. Martin Neff
Dr. Robert O. Shaffer
Donald H. Shall
Mrs. Annabelle Shepler
Smith
John H. Yost

1943

Fund Manager

M. Eugene Cook

Assistants
Kenneth J. Baserman
George J. Callenberger, M.D.
Donald E. Fish
Volney B. Frankel
Frederick J. Griffin, Jr.
Mrs. Mary Orso Johannessen
Mrs. Laura McDowell
Lonergan
Mrs. Arlene Downs Luce
Stanley C. Marshall
Mrs. Marion Phillips Meyer
James R. Moore
Rev. Douglas W. Passage
Mrs. Isabel Clark Puff
Alexander Robins
Mrs. Ruth Guarnaccia
Shipman
Mrs. Janet Bold Sholl
Mrs. Jeanne Lever Wean
Mrs. Marion Weist Wilkinson
Stanley G. Williams
Mrs. Doris Ranck Wilson

1944

Fund Manager

Mrs. Marguerite Strouse
Jones

Assistants
Mrs. Irene Bardwell
Adamson
Mrs. Harriet Ballentine
Ascough
Seymour Bernstein
Mrs. Sybil Kealey Harris
Mrs. Jeanne Watts Hewson
Mrs. Mary Foley Jaramelon
Eugene Levitt
Richard M. Light
Ronald H. MacPherson
Mrs. Dora Seyfarth Verbeyst
Mrs. June Chapman Wood

1945

Fund Manager

William E. G. Bond

Assistants
Mrs. Betty Miller Benner
Miss Mildred V. Braun
Irvin Bregman
Mrs. Janet Southgate Caverly
Thomas Davison, III, Esq.
Mrs. Elizabeth Baldwin Fish
Dr. William J. Reckmeyer
Daniel M. Reop
Mrs. Elizabeth Doughty
Scanlan
Mrs. Elise Miller Schnure
Mrs. Anne Klass Schnure
Mrs. Nancy Ireland Shall
Mrs. Mary Jenkins Sirianni
G. Alain Vitray
Mrs. Elsie Wilson Young

1946

Fund Manager

Robert E. Scare

Assistants
To be organized

1947

Fund Manager

Mrs. E. June Stott
Matthews

Assistants
Mrs. Marjorie Geils Bancel
Mrs. Helen Klauder Bohs

Mrs. Mary Hutchison
Campbell
Mrs. Margaret Matthews
Edmunds
Morton P. Flower
Mrs. Lois A. Miller Fullerton
Mrs. Tamara Gurvitch
Goldman
Lloyd R. Graham
Mrs. Grace Deissler Gronau
Francis B. Haas, Jr., Esq.
Floyd L. Harris, M.D.
Miss Dorothy M. Hunt
David L. Hurwitz, Esq.
Mrs. Jean Steel Iba
Miss Sally A. Irving
Thomas H. Kinkade, Jr.
Harold M. Kullman
Alfred J. Lanfear
Anthony J. Martin, Esq.
Frederick W. Meyn
Mrs. Doris Alston Nielsen
Mrs. Mildred Valentine
Painter
Harry H. Powell, Jr.
Homer O. Pursley
Mrs. Jeanne Morgenthal
Roberts
Mrs. Dorothy Watkinson
Schalin
Mrs. Anne Glomb Shaw
Sidney W. Starr
D. William Stuempfle, Jr.
Michael M. Wargo
Kenneth Warren
Mrs. Alice Chambers Watts
Francis M. Zachara, Esq.

1948

Fund Manager

Robert H. Taylor

Assistants
Mrs. Arax Aroosian Balakian
Warren E. Elze
Mrs. Dorothy Clark Hansen
Mrs. Ruth Naul Hucks
Daniel D. Kramer
Mrs. Elizabeth Hoile List
Mrs. Ellen T. Zahn Mahler
Mrs. Mary Speirs Minnicks
Mrs. Beatrice Smith Peters
Mrs. Anita Coleman Schaffer
Mrs. Marjorie Walter Sinclair
Robert M. Sundy
Mrs. Patricia Cooke Thomas
Miss Marion Wohlheiter
Stanley A. Zerbe
James D. Zingge

1949

Fund Manager

Richard D. Atherley

Assistants
Harry Birchard
Bernard E. Bujak
Lynn M. Clark
Robert M. Comer
William A. Daly, Jr.
William S. Davenport, Jr.
Irvin Graybill, Esq.
W. Dale Hay
Miss Amy L. Henneberger
Mrs. Donna Spencer Johnson
John W. Jones
Kenneth C. Kessler
Donald S. Laher
Robert V. McKim
John F. Nothel, Jr.
Mrs. Emily Hill Sharrett
Mrs. Joan Groulx Thompson
Mrs. Harriet Arnold Whitlock
Miss Jane L. Worley

1950

Fund Manager

Mrs. Jean McDonald
Concklin

Assistants
To be organized

1951

Fund Manager

Herbert K. Zearfoss, Esq.

Assistants
Mrs. Martha Rowsey Anthis
Donald Betty
Harvey H. Bush
Allen G. Butler
Mrs. Helen Berlin Close
Mrs. Mary Riley Locke
Mrs. Rachel Reinoehl
Le Cates
Mrs. Emilie Riley Lyon
Donald S. Parsons
Mrs. Patricia Wiley Parsons
Joy J. Saphier
William C. Schaffner
Arthur L. Troast, Esq.
Ronald L. Unger, Esq.
Mrs. Barbara Welch Valk
Robert A. Watkins

1952

Fund Manager

Mrs. Mary Tompkins
Monning

Assistants

John S. Boulden, Jr.
Mrs. Jane Kohler Coleman
Mrs. Janet Herrald Crovatto
Mrs. Barbara Wall Davenport
Donald C. Deakne
Margaret L. Garrett, M.D.
William G. Hendrixson, II
James H. Hurtt, IV
Herald D. Keiser, Jr.
Keith D. Low
Joseph S. Mason
Mrs. Sydney Sherwin
Mellinger
Mrs. Joan Morris Meyer
Mrs. Jacqueline Wightman
Nelson
Mrs. Marianne Colville
Parkinson
John D. Robeson, Jr.
Charles S. Rogers
Jean M. Rothermel
Jack R. Rott
Gary E. Ryan
Miss Jeanne M. Smith
Mrs. Sara Baumgardner
Stanton
Miss Rosina D. Thomas
John S. Webber
Ralph L. Webster
Miss Eleanor J. Welsh
Mrs. Joan Gibbons Wilson

1953

Fund Managers

Gregory L. Bowen, and Mrs. Charlotte
MacBain Stettler, Jr.

Assistants

John L. Bailey, Esq.
Carol L. Byerly
Mrs. Alice Fetzter Carse
William L. Catlin
Mrs. Barbara Roemer
Chambers
Mrs. Janet McKain Fawcett
Frederick Fox, III
Mrs. Barbara George Frazer
Norman A. Freytag
James R. Gregg
Mrs. Lois Gleason Haberstroh
Richard M. Herman
Mrs. Sara Graybill Houser
Richard W. Landis
Mrs. Ramona Rogers
Larabee
Mrs. Vivian Abronski LePard
Stanley L. Lippincott, Jr.
Walter M. Mankin, Jr.
Mrs. Shirley Reidinger
Ostendarp
Abram V. Powelson, Jr.
Charles E. Swope, Esq.
Reginald J. Tedeschi
Mrs. Mary Webber
VanBuskirk
John B. Waldron
John R. Walker
James D. Whitney
Mrs. Anne Wieboldt Wilson

1954

Fund Manager

Mrs. Joan Hermann
Richmond

Assistants

Mrs. Ja Etta Fox Ahten
E. Marter Carhart, III
Mrs. Mabel Mackwell Craig
Mrs. Gretchen Hendricks
Davison
J. Michael Devinney
Mrs. Sandra Whipple Dietzen
Luther M. Ertel
Gerald G. Gallaway
Paul D. Ganz, Jr.
William F. Gray
Mrs. Barbara Anderson
Greene
Mrs. Marjane Watkins
Griffith
Mrs. Naomi Witney Hadaway
Ralph C. Hemecker
Frank D. Hoornbeek
Mrs. Patricia Pratt Knodel
Roy L. Lemaire
Joseph H. Lack
Mrs. Drusilla Christopher
McNair
Mrs. Eleanor Sonom Molloy
Geoffrey P. Mynott
Mrs. Janet Geller Pangburn
Mrs. Alda Keller Peinkoter
Robert F. Peyser
Mrs. Dorothy Austin Remy
Mrs. Nancie Heinemann Rose
Mrs. Barbara Hodgkins Smith

(continued on inside back cover)

CLASS REPORTS

EMERITUS CLUB

MISS MARY COTTON
Eldred, Pa.

We extend sincere condolences to Mrs. W. Hayes Topping (MABEL WOLFE THOMAS 194) on the death of her husband in Stratford, N. J., in November. Rev. Topping, a Princeton graduate of 1904, had served pastorates in Benton and in several communities in New Jersey.

DR. LOUIS W. ROBEY '04, prominent Baptist layman and counselor in fund raising, has provided a CHEC (Christian Higher Education Challenge) scholarship for use at Bucknell University. His gift is in memory of Dr. Charles C. McDowell, family physician and guardian, whose encouragement led Dr. Robey to study at Bucknell University.

LOIS WINIFRED LYMAN WYNKOOP '94, widow of ALBERT H. WYNKOOP '94, passed away after a long illness on December 27, 1961, at the home of her daughter in Havertown. She would have been 90 on February 20, 1962. Mrs. Wynkoop had lived in Morganton, N. C., for many years where she was a member of the First Baptist Church. She was buried beside her husband in Arlington Cemetery in Havertown. She had always retained her interest in Bucknell and looked forward to receiving THE ALUMNUS. She is survived by two daughters: Mrs. Dorothy W. Francis, in whose home she died, and Mrs. Lois W. Cox, of Key West, Fla.; two granddaughters; and six great-grandchildren; to all of whom we extend our sincere sympathy.

A very much appreciated letter has been received from Miss ELIZABETH C. WALKER M'96, of Albany, Calif. She has made good use of her musical ability, acquired in the old Bucknell Institute, by her many years of service as organist in different churches. She remembers Bucknell with pleasure and is always glad for any news of it.

Mrs. CHARLOTTE SHIELDS Murphy '03, who now lives at Concordia, Kans., having completed a history of her father's family, spent a month last fall, together with her husband, visiting relatives and friends in the east and delivering the volume in person to her many nieces and nephews.

Remember June, 1962, and let us have the pleasure of shaking the hands of many of you at the reunion then.

05 DR. JOHN C. SANDERS
R. R. 6
Chambersburg, Pa.

Your reporter received a letter from Dr. LEWIS C. HYLBERT and his good wife shortly before Christmas. Dr. Hylbert celebrated his 85th birthday in October. He continues to trim his roses, cut the grass and do the watering on their 1½-acre lot and often teaches his Sunday School class. His wife regularly teaches a Sunday School class of 55 women. They are both "growing old gracefully."

How about YOU, classmates? WRITE SOON!

06 MR. WILLIAM L. DONEHOWER
22 N. Fifth St.
Lewisburg, Pa.

Nearly 400 parents and friends were present at the Millward School in Milton in November when a picture of the late Dr. CARL L. MILLWARD was presented. This picture will hang in the hallway in the school in memory of the late Milton educator and former superintendent of schools. At the time of his death in March, 1960, Carl was president of the Emeritus Club of Bucknell University and previously had served his class and his University with distinction.

07 DR. LEO L. ROCKWELL
602 Charles St.
Lakeland, Fla.

JUNE REUNION

We are happy to announce that CHAUNCEY E. BROCKWAY, Esq., has accepted appointment as class fund manager for our class. Those of us who have not yet sent in our contribution for the Annual-Giving fund year which began on July 1, 1961, and extends to June 30, 1962, have no doubt heard from Chauncey. As we approach our big 55th reunion in June, it will be possible to establish a new high record of participation in the fund if everyone will respond to Chauncey's appeal in proportion to his or her ability to give. In the past 55 years each of us has received considerable benefits as a result of the education Bucknell gave us and since our tuition fees never paid the full cost of our education, here is an opportunity to pass those benefits on to the present generation by each of us giving our help in balancing Bucknell's current budget.

Let all loyal '07ites give, but save enough in the old sock to get them back for the fifty-fifth reunion in June. Some will be there from far away; let all those lucky enough still to live in the good old Keystone State not fail to be there to welcome them back.

Hullabaloo baleven;
Hullabaloo baleven;
Bucknell alumni—
nineteen seven.

Do a little practise on the old yell—we'll make the welkin ring at the Alumni Luncheon! BE THERE! The date is June 2, 1962, at noon in Davis Gymnasium.

Apologies to BUZZ BURROWS and MARY STANTON Speicher for saying nobody never tells me nuthin'. Buzz sent me a good letter telling how he and his good wife journeyed to the west coast last summer. They saw Laguna Beach, Calif., and in general had a fine

(Continued on Page 21)

According to an article entitled "White Motor: 'A' For Agility" in the December issue of FORBES BUSINESS AND FINANCE, The White Motor Company is on the way up after near collapse after World War II. The story of how The White Motor Company increased its market base and size illustrates how a well-conceived, long range goal, intelligently pursued, can save even the most unlikely looking business. And one of the men responsible for the success of The White Motor Company's tremendous growth is its president and Bucknell alumnus, J. Nevin Bauman '20. Please refer to the January, 1961, issue of THE BUCKNELL ALUMNUS, page 18, for a complete account of Mr. Bauman's service with The White Motor Company.

FROM THE BOOKSHELF

MARCH 1962

VOLUME XLVII

No. 4

THE following reviews of books have been recommended by eight members of the Bucknell faculty as an intellectual service to the Alumni of Bucknell University. With the full realization that Alumni could not have majored in all eight of the academic disciplines covered by these reviews most of the books recommended are not of a technical nature.

Faculty members who contributed to this special insert are: Dr. Philip L. Harriman, professor of psychology; Dr. Hulda Magalhaes, professor of biology; Dr. F. David Martin, professor of philosophy; Dr. Robert A. Artman, professor and chairman of the physics department; Dr. J. Charles Jones '42, professor and chairman of the education department; Dr. John S. Wheatcroft '49, assistant professor of English; Mr. David E. Horlacher, assistant professor and acting chairman of the economics department; and Dr. David J. Lu, assistant professor of history.

Please note that each review has been coded with a number for your convenience in ordering these books through the Bucknell University Bookstore. An order blank appears on the back cover of this issue. Books ordered will be mailed to Alumni prepaid from the publisher; therefore, if you order more than one book from different publishers, do not be concerned if your entire order does not arrive at one time.

 ENGLISH

- [1.] Hiroshima by John Hersey. Alfred A. Knopf, Inc., 1946, and Bantam Books, 1959. 116 pages. 35c (paperback), $3.00 (hardback).

HIROSHIMA is a classic, a book to go back to. Surely August 6, 1945, will become a time monument, a date to be got by rote by any future generations who may be around, as 1776, 1492, 1215, 1066 were chiseled into our brains. Hersey's account of the effect of the violent birth of a new epoch from the life of a social unit of some quarter of a million unsuspecting human beings rises "to the height of this great argument."

John Hersey is not trying to show those not privileged to see, what the corpse of the erstwhile city was like. Nor is he trying to present either as melodrama or raw fact what the popular novelist or the assiduous researcher might make of such rich material. Rather, recording the experience of six representative human beings who survived, Hersey compels his reader to see the noiseless flash, feel the stunning shock, suffer pain and anguish, then endure. The fearful power of this book derives from Hersey's use of flat truth to make what is for most of us a military or historical or statistical fact, a real experience—grotesque and human at the same time. Hiroshima cries to be read these days. To do so takes less than an evening.

- [2.] Doctor Zhivago by Boris Pasternak. Pantheon, 1958. 559 pages. 95c.

I think it especially necessary in 1962 not to read Dr. Zhivago as a political tract. Pasternak is addressing the liberal (in the old sense of free, detached from outside motive or end) imagination. His theme is love.

Yurii Zhivago is a lover caught in a world of conflicts. The most obvious is the Russian Revolution, though all violence, from the deeply psychological to the most brutal, both excites and impedes the flow of Zhivago's love. As a medical doctor Zhivago fights against human suffering, sometimes caused by a hostile cosmos, sometimes by the self-destructive impulse of man himself. As incomplete human being he searches for a mysterious half-brother; he also takes two wives and begets children. As imperfect husband he loves, loses, finds, dies yearning for the woman he did not marry—the beautiful Lara. As poet he declares his pregnant-with-pathos love for mankind with all of his imperfections, for the natural world with all of its inscrutability. Pasternak's novel is a testament of a love that realizes itself by means of those very forces that would destroy it. The curiously unfinished quality of the book forces the reader to recognize his own imperfect and uncompleted world.

- [3.] By Love Possessed by James Gould Cozzens. Harcourt, Brace, and Company, 1957. 570 pages. 75c.

ARTHUR WINNER, the protagonist of By Love Possessed, is also a lover. Just as Zhivago relieves more than physical pain, Winner, the lawyer, is more than a mechanic oiling the machinery of a rusty society. He too is forcibly moved by the trapped and the suffering. Like Zhivago, Winner discovers that to follow a profession with competence, honor, and compassion is to be a psychiatrist, pastor, brother.

Arthur Winner is also twice husband, fathers two families, has a critical love affair. Unlike Zhivago, however, he is pursued rather than pursuer; the woman, as opposed to the idealized Lara, is more witch than lover. That she happens to be the wife of Winner's best friend and business partner makes clear that from Cozzens' perspective the affair is the flaw Winner discovers in himself underneath a previously unquestioned respectability.

In contrast to the epic sweep of Pasternak's novel is the ironic mode of Cozzens' story. The foundations of the staid small town society within which Arthur Winner stumbles and serves, lusts and loves, answer precisely to what lies beneath his own veneer of propriety. The compressed time of this novel, a single weekend—a whole generation turns in Dr. Zhivago—drives home the ironic contrast between stability and crumbling time, an irony tinged with a discreet pathos. Held against the submerged conflict within character and within society, the finish effected by Cozzens' craftsmanship constitutes the most telling irony of all.

- [4.] Life Studies by Robert Lowell. Farrar, Straus, and Cudahy, 1959. 90 pages. 95c.

ROBERT LOWELL is also a craftsman. These twenty-three poems and the thirty-five page prose piece, "91 Revere Street," are exquisitely wrought. The focus of the poetry is personal, intimate, private. ("He smiled his oval Lowell smile," the poet writes of his father.) If the glance into the family circle offered in prose is not necessary, it certainly illuminates and renders more enjoyable Lowell's studies in poetry of his father, mother, grandfather, uncle, and self.

In the poems on the members of his family Lowell always sees death out of the corner of his eye. Those on the poet are mainly concerned with some deep trouble. (Two have to do with a stay in a mental hospital, for example, one with a stay in jail.) But the powerful, sometimes turbulent feelings out of which such poetry springs are marvelously controlled when Lowell speaks. Sharp concrete detail offered without comment and the flattest understatement provide the ballast; they mute and they modulate. ("Mother traveled first class in the hole," explains Lowell with regard to the trip from Rapallo to Boston with the body of his dead mother.) I should call Lowell's art cool, not in the San Francisco sense, but in the Augustan.

BIOLOGY

- [5.] Hummingbirds by C. H. Greenewalt. Doubleday and Company, 1960. 250 pages. $22.50.

ONCE again the literature of biology has been enhanced by the efforts of an enthusiastic amateur. The author of this modern monograph on a flashing family of avian aerialists is neither ornithologist nor photographer by profession. A research chemist and engineering executive in an organization known for the production of "better things for better living through chemistry," the author has achieved an artistic triumph which can best be described in superlative terms. The sixty-eight life size color plates prepared from original ultraspeed photographs are the central feature of the book. They provide exquisite evidence that Buffon was correct in his assertion that hummingbirds are the most elegant in form and the most brilliantly colored of all animated beings. Not content with artistry alone, the author proposes theoretical explanations of the means of production of both the structural iridescent color and the unique hovering mode of flight which are so distinctive of these miniature acrobats. Finally, details of hummingbird housekeeping and behavior are discussed and illustrated by the drawings of Dale Astle.

- [6.] Reversicon, A Medical Word Finder by J. E. Schmidt. C. C. Thomas, 1958. 440 pages. $7.50.

THIS is an ideal book for the preoccupied practitioner faced with the need for finding the proper phrase for a paper for publication. Students and teachers afflicted with lethologica may find in this book a quick cure. A physician's thesaurus, it is at once more convenient, precise, and technical than the original by Roget. This book has been called a "reversed dictionary." It can be used to locate a word that you cannot spell or even one that you do not know exists. In these days of little Latin and less Greek, The Reversicon provides an easy means for the acquisition of an impressive vocabulary. Who has not had the exasperating experience of attempting to capture a nebulous word that floats teasingly beyond recall, rootless and without proper parentage? To show how the book may be used, let us assume that you wish to describe a tissue or cell that has accumulated stores of iron. Under both iron and affinity the term siderophilic can be found. Most of us with a background in chemistry rather than in the classics would have leafed through ferri, ferro-, ferru-, but would have stopped long before the s's.

- [7.] The Cell by C. P. Swanson. Prentice-Hall, 1960. 114 pages. $1.75.

THIS book is reviewed not only for its content, which is representative of an area of biology undergoing extensive regeneration, but also for its format, the paperback, which has recently experienced metamorphosis. The hamsters' favorite newspaper, THE NEW YORK SUNDAY TIMES, celebrated this event with Helen Bevington's poem THE HAPPY READER, who is described as one "whose life is lovely, full of paperbacks." THE CELL is one of eleven titles in "The Foundations of Modern Biology" series. Throughout this series, emphasis is placed on recent research and the results obtained from the use of new methods and instrumentation in the establishment of the molecular basis of life itself. The well written text is supported by carefully selected photomicrographs, electron micrographs, and well-designed diagrams. The extent of current interest in the interrelationship of molecules and the activities of cells is reflected in the fact that an entire issue (September 1961) of THE SCIENTIFIC AMERICAN was devoted to this topic.

- [8.] Atomic Radiation. R. C. A. Service Company. 112 pages. $1.50.

A current trend in science is the rearrangement of traditional areas into new divisions. This blurring of boundaries is nowhere more evident than in the reciprocal relationship that has developed between the physical and the biological sciences. Protozoa and their observers made use of fission long before Einstein equated mass with energy and uranium became a critical commodity. Biochemistry and biophysics are now rapidly developing disciplines. This RCA booklet, with a minimum of error, provides the general reader with an excellent introduction to a very controversial and difficult area of biophysics. The chapters are equally divided between biology or medicine and physics. The nature of ionizing radiations and their biological and physical actions are first graphically explained. The types of equipment used in detecting and monitoring radioactivity are discussed. Finally, the medical aspects of radiation injury and the permissible levels of exposure to radiation are both considered in some detail.

- [9.] Design for a Brain by W. E. Ashby. John Wiley for Chapman & Hall, 2nd edition, revised 1962. 286 pages. $6.50.

THE books reviewed so far have been selected for the general reader and not the specialist. At the same time an effort has been made to direct attention to areas of biology where there is intense research activity at the present time. Biochemistry, cellular and molecular biology, biophysics, and biological art are represented. Unfortunately, genetics, evolution, behavior, and theoretical biology are not.

Ashby's book pertains to these last two areas. A philosophical tour de force in information theory, it is difficult to read. The author presupposes a knowledge of mathematics, familiarity with mammalian physiology, physics, electronics, engineering, and cybernetics. This is not a do-it-yourself direction book. The author attempts to explain the means by which the nervous system produced adaptive behavior. How well he succeeds rests primarily with the endurance of the reader. Almost a decade ago, W. G. Walter in THE LIVING BRAIN (1953) summarized in lucid and thought provoking style the developments in electroencephalography. Ashby's book is in a different category.

ECONOMICS

- [10.] Elementary Economics: Principles, Problems, and Policies by Cambell R. McConnell. McGraw-Hill, 1960. $7.50.

If you studied elementary economics, you were probably impressed by the ease with which your text ignored the world about you. While millions were desperately searching for jobs, all lines of economic analysis were predicated on the assumption of full employment. In theory prices were set where the supply curves of atomistic sellers intersected the demand curves of atomistic buyers. The auto, steel, petroleum, chemical, tobacco, cosmetic, soap, television, railroad and airline industries were simply ignored. Though American firms were spending billions annually to mold consumer tastes through advertising, it was blithely assumed that the customer was king and that firms had to adjust to his desires or face ruin.

McConnell's text surveys the field of economics in the post war era when economists dropped these unrealistic assumptions and came to grips with the world as it exists. It is not as readable as a paperback popularization. To drive yourself through its 759 pages requires a strong will to learn. But if you do have this desire, no other book would provide a greater dividend of knowledge.

- [11.] The Worldly Philosophers by Robert L. Heilbroner. Simon and Schuster, 1953. $1.50.

THROUGH the doctrines of the Worldly Philosophers, the great economists of the past, are rejected by modern economists, they dominate the thinking of the majority of editorialists, the general public and their elected representatives.

The price of economic error is high. The Great Depression alone cost us the output of one hundred million man years of unemployed labor. Yet we shall continue to err until we break the hold which the great economic ideas of past centuries have on the mind of present generations.

Their grip is strong because they pass so well the first test of economic theory, internal consistency. Their conclusions do follow logically from their assumptions. But here is a second test. The assumptions of an economic hypothesis must fit the facts.

Mr. Heilbroner's highly readable book clearly places each of the Wordly Philosophers in his proper historical perspective. The reader cannot fail to be impressed by the way each theory was so well tailored to fit the specific conditions of its time and hence how badly each fits the conditions of our times.

- [12.] How to Lie with Statistics by Darrell Huff and Irving Geis. Norton, 1954. $1.95.

"There are three kinds of lies, lies, damned lies and statistics."

—DISRAELI

ACTUALLY Disraeli was mistaken, the clever statistician can mislead, hoodwink and thoroughly bamboozle the reader without ever departing (at least technically) from the truth.

A university wishing to publish favorable figures on alumni incomes need only mail out questionnaires. As a rule only the successful graduates will reply.

A community wishing to appear free of racial bias need only conduct a survey of attitudes using Negro interviewers.

A company wishing to advertise its generosity need only include the wages of top management in its computation of the average wage.

These few simple devices for deceiving without actually lying illustrate a danger facing anyone who would inform himself. When the NAM, the AFL-CIO or the Tariff League publish figures they are always entirely truthful. Thus their readers come to trust and rely on the facts they present. These readers should take a second look at such economic data after reading this highly amusing and cleverly illustrated do-it-yourself deception kit.

- [13.] The Affluent Society by John K. Galbraith. Houghton Mifflin, 1958. $5.00.

ECONOMISTS generally assume that human desires are unlimited whereas human resources are scarce, hence production must be organized to maximize human welfare. Anything which increases output is thus deemed desirable.

Galbraith dissents. He believes that our society has met its most urgent needs and can now turn from the problem of total output to the more important question of its composition. He finds our current production pattern suffering from a lack of "Social Balance" and from an imperfect "Investment Balance."

By this he means that the production of private goods such as automobiles has outrun our production of the corresponding social goods such as roads because of the unfair competition between the two types of output. Whereas industry spends eleven billion dollars annually to create the need for private goods, bureaucrats cannot similarly advertise their wares.

Investment is also characterized as unbalanced in favor of equipment as opposed to basic research and higher education which are for a nation the most productive forms of investment.

Galbraith also demonstrates that our emphasis on output has made us dependent on installment credit, left us vulnerable to inflation and has prevented us from fully meeting our military responsibilities.

- [14.] Strategy in Poker, Business, and War by John McDonald. Norton, 1950. $3.50.

AN enduring economic hypothesis is that firms try to maximize their profits. Prior to the 1930's the businessman was assumed to have accomplished this merely by properly adjusting his production to the market determined price. Then the theory of monopolistic competition elevated the enterpriser to decision maker in the realm of price, quality, and advertising as well.

A still more realistic appraisal of his role recognized that while the businessman strives to maximize his profits, executives in other firms are trying to maximize their profits by minimizing his! Since he cannot know for certain what counter-strategy they will adopt against any move he makes, he may assume that they will do him the greatest damage possible. Clearly business, like poker or war, is a game of strategy where each participant seeks to minimize the damage which his opponent may do him. Hence the need for a theory of games.

This was provided by the mathematician von Neumann and the economist Morgenstern. Mr. McDonald in this book presents a lively glimpse into the theory and its applications.

EDUCATION

In selecting these books for review I have tried to keep two things in mind: I have chosen books which are favorites of mine, since this was what I was asked to do; and I have attempted to select books which are not only about education but which, quite apart from this, are educational in themselves. They are a varied lot; their authors include a distinguished writer and professor of history, a journalist, an educational writer, a psychologist and a social scientist. One is written in a light, humorous vein, another is complete with charts, graphs and statistics. But each is a fascinating, thought-provoking piece of work and an educational experience in the best sense.

[15.] The Adolescent Society by James S. Coleman. The Free Press. 368 pages. $6.95.

ONLY secondarily is this a book about education. Primarily it is a carefully documented study of adolescents in a particular setting, the high school. For parents of adolescents or about-to-become-adolescents this book should be intensely interesting, and thoroughly disturbing. Anyone concerned directly or indirectly with secondary education as a teacher, administrator or parent should have his equanimity roughly shaken.

Coleman's research strongly supports his thesis: that the adolescent high school society is an independent subculture with its own status system and behavior norms, where girls consider brains a major handicap in achieving their primary goal, popularity, and boys consider being a good athlete, a good mixer and popularity with both girls and boys to be preferable to being a good student. Moreover, it is a culture with its own rewards and punishments and truly alarming are data demonstrating the profound influence of group pressures upon individuals, many of whom are coerced into lowering their standards to those set by the adolescent subculture. As Coleman points out, unlike the adults, the adolescent cannot escape from his culture; he conforms or suffers. If Mr. Coleman is correct, many of our cherished educational beliefs and established procedures need a thorough re-examination.

[16.] The Teacher in America by Jacques Barzun. Doubleday Anchor Books. 280 pages. 95c.

ALTHOUGH the author of this book begins by stating "Education is indeed the dullest of subjects . . ." he shortly proceeds to demonstrate that this is not necessarily so. In fact, this is undoubtedly one of the wittiest, most amusing and, at the same time, one of the most penetrating books ever written on the subject. While the title may suggest a plodding historical treatment of teaching and teachers in this country, a glance at the table of contents destroys this unfortunate illusion. Sparing neither students, faculty, nor administration, he ranges in an urbane and sometimes lethal fashion over such varied topics as The Ph.D. Octopus ("He has then paid his initiation fee into the most expensive and least luxurious club in the world.") The Ivory Lab ("... science teachers may be said to contribute the greatest proportion of backward-looking, anti-intellectual, mechan-minded members to the faculty"), Deans within Deans ("On the continent, at least, the whole of university administration is embodied in a superior janitor"), and Adults, Workers, and Marriageable Girls ("a large section of our population who love learning for its bright glow without being willing or able to stand its heat.") This book is required reading for anyone who has been to college, hopes to go to college, or wishes to be an educated person.

[17.] Schools of Tomorrow—Today by Arthur D. Morse. Doubleday and Company. 191 pages. $1.50.

IN this report, prepared for the New York State Education Department, Mr. Morse has described the type of bold venture which must become much more common if our schools are to meet our needs in this age. Our public school system has been plagued with and criticized for a great many problems in recent years: a shortage of superior teachers, lack of facilities and adequate curricula in the smaller rural schools, a neglect of intellectually gifted youngsters, and an indifference to research and innovation. This book surveys some of the attempts to cope with these problems which are being carried on in public schools across the country. The Franklin School of Lexington, Massachusetts, through its "team teaching" experiment achieves better utilization of its master teachers. In the elementary schools of Appleton, Wisconsin, a non-graded program permits children to move along as rapidly as ability and maturity permit. Bay City, Michigan, has been using teacher aides to free teachers for teaching, and New York's Catskill Project has enabled a group of rural schools to share resources. Parents, teachers and school board members might well read this book and ask, "What is our school doing?"

[18.] The Schools by Martin Mayer. Harper and Brothers. 446 pages. $4.95.

THE author, prior to the publication of this book, was best known for his Madison Avenue, U. S. A., a study of the advertising industry, and, in writing this book he has used many of the techniques which proved successful in this earlier undertaking. He has attempted to cover three major areas: the nature, origins and history of public education; what actually goes on in our schools from kindergarten through high school; and some of the related factors such as tests and examinations and teacher education programs which exist somewhat apart from the schools but have a direct and profound influence upon them.

In collecting his data, Mr. Mayer spent nearly three years visiting over one hundred schools, most of them in the United States, but also in Britain, France, Denmark, Finland and Norway, since much of our educational system has been compared unfavorably with European educational practices. He interviewed teachers, administrators, professors of education and foundation officials in obtaining his information.

Since Mr. Mayer has undertaken a tremendous task, it is to be expected that some persons more intimately involved with education have cited errors of detail or have objected to some of his generalizations. However, it is significant that this widely discussed book has not been seriously attacked by any of the partisan groups concerned with and about education. This suggests that, while he has criticized where he felt criticism was indicated and given credit where it was due, he has written an intelligent and eminently fair book about our schools.

[19.] The Process of Education by Jerome S. Bruner. Harvard University Press. 97 pages. $2.75.

THIS slender volume with its rather forbidding title could prove to be one of the most important books written in the field of education in this decade. Dr. Bruner is, himself, a psychologist, probably best known to sophomore psychology students for his studies of the effects of children's financial status upon their perception of the size of coins. In this book, however, he has addressed himself to the more general problem of learning and our educational procedures.

Most teachers will insist that they have, as a primary objective, teaching children to think. Most critics of the educational scene insist that they are notably unsuccessful in this, and the evidence seems to favor the critics. In addition, our educational system has been criticized for not teaching enough subjects and in great enough depth, and efforts have been directed toward beginning instruction in foreign languages, science and the higher levels of mathematics in the lower grades. Dr. Bruner's thesis, based on convincing evidence, is that children are capable of grasping basic concepts and principles in the sciences and humanities at an earlier age than has previously been considered possible, provided the material to be learned is presented in a manner which permits the child to perceive its fundamental structure and later to build upon this for more detailed, comprehensive understanding.

HISTORY

[20.] Chinese Painting by James Cahill. Treasures of Asia Series, Skira, Switzerland, and World Publishing Company, 1960. 212 pages. $27.50.

How to build a style into a personal instrument of expression has been the preoccupation of Chinese painters, says the author. This contrasts sharply with the "anonymous artisan of the 'traditional' society (e. g. India) who suppressed his own personality to embody in his works concepts common to the whole culture."

Thus establishing the uniqueness of Chinese painting among the Oriental art, Dr. Cahill has novel, even heterodox, things to say about many accepted notions. To the author, who is an associate curator of Chinese art at Freer, both the importance of symbolism and the influence of Ch'an (Zen) Buddhism have been overrated. On the other hand, he delves freely into the discourse of the changing nature of the creative impulse, and in the process dispells the "inscrutable Orient" myth.

The 100 reproductions in full color—chosen both for their aesthetic quality and historic value—are delightful to look at and serve as an excellent introduction to Chinese painting whose range of style is "about as wide as from Michelangelo to Mondrian."

[21.] Major Plays of Chikamatsu. Translated by Donald Keene. Columbia University Press, 1961. 435 pages. $8.50.

IN Chikamatsu's days (1653-1725), Japan slumbered in the splendor of its isolation. The country was peaceful and prosperous, towns rose and with them the newly emergent merchant class. But the society was not without its problems. In its desire to maintain the status quo, the Tokugawa government imposed a rigid code of behavior on its subjects. The duty (giri) denied the individual's right to be happy at the expense of the society. Counterbalancing this was ninjo, the tender human feelings.

The heroes of Chikamatsu's Kabuki and puppet plays were common people entrapped in the web of conflict between giri and ninjo. Some explicated themselves, others not. To many lovers the solution was love suicide thus making amends to the society and also fulfilling their hearts' desires. These plays have the striking quality of modernity. Their conflicts are in a sense similar to the struggles between conformity and individuality of a modern man.

This volume contains eleven representative domestic and historical plays. Keene's translation is lucid and successfully recaptures the flavor of the difficult original version.

[22.] A Tagore Reader by Amiya Chakravarty. The Macmillan Company, 1961. 401 pages. $6.50.

RABINDRANATH TAGORE, the first Asian to receive the Nobel prize, personifies the eternal voice of India. While stressing the ultimateness of spiritual values he did not neglect the purely practical element in human endeavor. His voice was a revelation of the essential unity and validity of all human experiences, bridging the gulf lying between peoples of different ages and place. His was also a voice of Indian nationalism to which he gave "the outlook of internationalism and has enriched it with art and music, so that it has become the full-blooded emblem of India's awakened spirit."

In this volume, published to commemorate Tagore's centennial, his former secretary Amiya Chakravarty gives a remarkably well-balanced anthology—incorporating autobiographical notes, conversations, letters, short stories, fables, dramas, poems (e. g., Gitanjali), and essays on history, education, art, philosophy and religion. Tagore's whole personality permeates through the book. Both his lofty idealism and loneliness, his strength and weakness, are very much in evidence. It is a portrait of a man who is essentially a searcher "who goes on exploring ages of creation to find himself in perfection."

[23.] India Wins Freedom: An Autobiographical Narrative by Abul Kalam Azad. Longmans, Green, and Company, 1960. 293 pages. $6.00.

INDIA'S independence in 1947 was hardly a jovial occasion for Maulana Azad, a Moslem who remained in India to become its Minister of Education. As the President of the Indian National Congress during the critical years of 1939-46, he fought with Gandhi for India's freedom but not for partition along the communal lines which was symbolized by the creation of Pakistan.

In his view, the Moslem League's intransigence was to blame and Lord Mountbatten's hope for a Pakistan aligned to Great Britain was equally responsible. But had it not been for the unfortunate press conference held by Nehru that destroyed the basis of future cooperation between the League and Congress, partition still could have been avoided. Nehru was "impulsive" and tempted by the prize of power, observes Azad. About his recommending Nehru to succeed him as the Congress President, Maulana continues "the way things have shaped since then has made me think that I may have been wrong." Yet out of personal loyalty, this memoir is dedicated to "Nehru, friend and comrade."

[24.] Indonesia: A Profile by Jeanne Mintz. The Asia Library, and D. Van Nostrand Company, Inc., 1961. 241 pages. $4.25.

THIS perceptive book deals with the triumphs and disillusionments of Indonesia's struggle for freedom, the roots of its nationalism, its physical setting, its economic, social and other current problems including the West Irian (New Guinea) crisis, its arts, and above all its people's hopes and anxieties. The author, an American who once worked for Indonesia's U. N. delegation, describes each of these topics with skill and empathy. On the importance of Indonesia, she rightly points out its size (extending over an area greater than the distance between New York and San Francisco, and the sixth most populous country and its strategic location as the crossroad of the world.

This is the third volume in the Asia Library, a series of books sponsored by the Asia Society to acquaint the American public with the countries of Asia. It serves as an excellent introduction to Indonesia, the "astonishing land of superlatives and surprises" which strives to attain its "unity in diversity."

PHILOSOPHY

In recent years there has been an extended renewal of interest in the problems of how and why art styles evolve. The five books reviewed span some of the most interesting and divergent views and contain bibliographies that lead to the others. All five were written by art historians who, somewhat usually, became interested in the philosophy or aesthetics of style.

- [25.] The Life of Forms in Art by Henri Focillon. Translated by Charles Beecher Hogan and George Kubler. George Wittenhorn, 2nd English edition, 1948. $2.50.

THE form of a work of art, according to Focillon, is its organization or structure, the relation of part to part and part to whole, the connections of the medial elements such as line to line, line to color, color to color, etc. Focillon, like Heinrich Wölfflin and Andre Malraux, claims that the challenge and control of the preceding forms of a stylistic tradition on the artist's creative process is the basic force in style development. The artist creates his style by absorbing and then reacting to the challenge of the formal accomplishments of his predecessors. "The life of forms is not the result of chance. Nor is it a great cyclorama neatly fitted into the theatre of history and called into being by historical necessities. No, forms obey their own rules—rules that are inherent in the forms themselves, or better, in the regions of the mind where they are located and centered" (p. 10). "The artist . . . is one who works upon forms, and whom forms work upon" (p. 57). The artist must make the state of a style his own, for unrealized possibilities cannot hatch in the artist's mind unless they have their locus standi in the nest of the already accomplished. "The state of a style, or, if one prefers, a state in the life of forms, is simultaneously the guarantor and the promoter of 'diversity' . . . The power of formal order alone authorizes the ease and spontaneity of creation" (p. 14).

- [26.] Painting in Florence and Siena after the Black Death by Millard Weiss. Princeton University Press, 1951. $12.50.

MEISS studied in this very carefully documented work the abrupt change in style in Florentine and Sienese painting around the middle of the Trecento, the tormented, strained reaction against the calm harmony of Giotto and his school. Correlating this style development with such events as the recession in Tuscan economic affairs and the catastrophic plague of 1348, Meiss claims, "without denying that each art has a certain rationale and momentum of its own" (p. 58), that these events produced a state of mind that accounts at least in part for the style change. Thus Meiss proves that Focillon's theory—that forms evolve in essential isolation from contemporary non-artistic affairs—must be qualified. Meiss fails to explain, however, precisely how a change in the state of mind in a society causes a change of style.

- [27.] The Collective Dream in Art by Walter Abell. Harvard University Press, 1957. $7.50.

ABELL tries to supply the "theoretical transmission belt" between sociological change and style change that is lacking in the theory of Meiss. The state of mind of a society influences the artist directly. The historical and social circumstances generate in the minds of the members of a culture psycho-social tensions and latent imagery. The artists, being the most sensitive members of a society, release this tension and condense this imagery in their art. Although the key transformer of style development is the psyche of the artist, elucidated by Abell by means of psychoanalytic theory and social psychology, this psyche is controlled by the state of mind of a society which, in turn, is controlled by the historical and social circumstances of which it is a part. "Art is a symbolical projection of collective psychic tensions . . . Within the organism of a culture, the artist functions as a kind of preconsciousness, providing a zone of infiltration through which the obscure stirrings of collective intuition can emerge into collective consciousness. The artist is the personal transformer within whose sensitivity a collective psychic charge, latent in society, condenses into a cultural image. He is in short the dreamer . . . of the collective dream" (p. 328). As the historical and social conditions change, the collective psychic climate changes, and the artists reflect these psychic changes in style developments.

- [28.] Gothic Architecture and Scholasticism by Erwin Panofsky. The Archabbey Press, 3rd edition, 1956. $1.25.

WHEREAS Abell stresses the unconscious tensions of the social state of mind and their influence upon the artist, Panofsky, stresses the artist's mental habits, conscious as well as unconscious, as caused by the social state of mind. These mental habits are, in the Scholastic sense, "principles that regulate the act," and as the values of a society change, so changes its state of mind. In turn this affects the mental habits of the artists and this forces style changes. Whereas Abell's work covers milleniums, Panofsky restricts himself to the twelfth and thirteenth centuries, and so his evidence is much more precise and convincing.

- [29.] The Philosophy of Art History by Arnold Hauser. Alfred A. Knopf, 1959. $7.50.

IN an earlier work of immense scope, The Social History of Art, Hauser advanced a sociological explanation of style development. In The Philosophy of Art History, he tries to justify his methodology. He is less successful than Abell or Panofsky, but in the process we get perhaps the best summary of the work in the aesthetics of style development, particularly of the German tradition.

PHYSICS

- [30.] The Atom and Its Nucleus by George Gamow. Prentice-Hall, Inc., 1961. 153 pages. $1.95 (paperback), $3.75 (hardback).

THIS book is recommended because it presents an up-to-date description of the status of "particle" physics. This area of physics, which has developed almost entirely in the 20th Century, is in a continuous state of flux as physicists continue their battle to develop the principles and experiments that will lead to an understanding of the nuclear force problem, i. e., how are the many particles which are found in the nucleus held together. You may already know about electrons and protons and possibly neutrons, but how about mesons, muons, pions, hyperons, neutrinos, "strange" particles and the counterparts of all of these particles in the "mirror image" of our universe—the anti-particles? Incidentally, if you wish some background material on the radiation problems of "fall-out," this book will supply it.

The outstanding talent of this author for the popularization of science earned him the Kolinger Prize awarded by UNESCO in 1956. Among other well known books by the author are: The Birth and Death of the Sun, One, Two, Three—Infinity and Matter, Earth and Sky.

[31.] The Nature of the Physical World by Sir Arthur Eddington. University of Michigan Press, 1958. 353 pages. $1.95.

THERE are two developments in science in the 20th Century which have caused intellectual revolutions of the first order in our understanding of the universe. Historically, the first event was the discovery of the theory of relativity by Albert Einstein. The special theory was published in 1905 and the general theory of relativity followed 10 years later. The second event was the birth of quantum mechanics and the enunciation of the uncertainty principle by Heisenberg in 1927. The latter is covered briefly in the book above as well as the one under consideration.

The content of this book is essentially the Gifford Lectures delivered by Eddington at the University of Edinburgh in 1927. It is questionable practice to recommend such an "old" book. However, the principal reason for its selection is its detailed explanation of relativity in simple terms in a book which is readily available. There is more to this book however. The author explains the rise of quantum theory in a descriptive fashion as well. In addition he delves into debatable issues by giving his interpretation of the effect of these discoveries on philosophy and religion. There are many things in this book with which present day scientists and philosophers would take issue. However, it is refreshing to read an account written during the development of these evolutionary discoveries.

[32.] What's Ahead in Space. Staff report of the Select Committee on Astronautics and Space Exploration. Grosset and Dunlap, 1960. $1.95.

THE involvement of Big Business and Big Government in science has now made it Big Science. This fact has required the holding of symposia and conferences in advancing fields during their development. The result of such a conference is the subject matter for this book. This symposium on space technology was prepared for Congress by the Select Committee on Astronautics and Space Exploration submitted to its chairman on Jan. 2, 1959.

It is important for every citizen to be informed on Space technology since so many tax dollars are being poured into this effort. In the words of George S. Trimble: "The hero of this age will not be the space traveller, but rather the man of men who successfully figure out how to motivate 170 million American people actively to do battle with a part of their environment that they just began to hear about, what they really did not know was important . . . SPACE."

A few quotations from the experts quoted in the report may excite your imagination:

"We will probably reach the time when we can consider rocket transport superior to airplane for anything over a thousand miles or so—" General Gavin.

"It is safe to predict that this particular use of rocket vehicles (communications satellites) will have more direct effect on the man in the street than any other development in space technology." Dr. Louis G. Dunn, president of Space Technology Laboratories.

This book is easy reading. It consists of a 23 page summary followed by individual reports from 56 participants in the conference. In all fairness I wish to point out that Space Physics is a technological problem and not an area wherein new scientific principles are involved. It is unlikely that a theory as revolutionary as quantum physics will result from this effort.

[33.] The Two Cultures and the Scientific Revolution by C. P. Snow. Cambridge University Press, 1961. 58 pages. $1.75.

THIS book is an outgrowth of the Rede lectures delivered by Sir Charles Snow at Cambridge University in 1959. A modern booklist would not be complete that did not include a discussion of the split (real or fancied) that appears to exist between scientific and non-scientific intellectuals, and the possible lesson in education that may be learned by comparing the approach to education in the UK, USSR and USA. These two subjects are discussed by Sir Charles.

The thesis of the "Two Cultures" is that we are now a mixture of two cultures, one scientific, the other literary. The scientists usually do not make the effort to understand the other groups while those whose training is primarily literary are unable to discuss science because of the symbolic mathematical language which seems to be essential to modern science.

The 1961 Phi Beta Kappa lecturer at Bucknell, Sean O'Faolain, noted Irish critic, discussed Snow's views. He believes there is only one culture, that Snow's view of a culture is too limited, and that if any struggle existed for the emergence of one culture over another, there was no doubt in his mind which would win. (It wasn't science.)

[34.] Open Vistas, Philosophical Perspectives of Modern Science by Henry Morganau. Volume 3 of Trends in Science edited by George A. Baitsell. Yale University Press, 1961. 256 pages. $5.00.

MY purpose in recommending this book is to present a mature, consistent and thorough analysis of the philosophical implications of science, both classical and modern, by a person who is himself a highly respected scientist. Comparison of this book with Sir Arthur Eddington's will show some of the advances in understanding that have evolved in the interval between 1927 and 1961. I must hasten to point out that not all scientists and philosophers agree with Morganau's views. Of all the books in this list I found this the slowest reading, but the most rewarding. I suggest this book not be read before reading Gamow and Eddington.

Early in the book the author discusses such things as the cultural lag between the technological and ideological movements of science and the scientific roots of some of the notable philosophies of our day—logical positivism and existentialism. In later chapters the role of esthetics in science, the decay of materialistic conceptions in physics, and the problem of determinism in contemporary quantum physics is analyzed.

PSYCHOLOGY

[35.] Reinforcement by R. C. Birney and Richard C. Teevan. D. Van Nostrand Company, Inc., 1961. $1.45.

ONCE again Alumni of Bucknell University take justifiable pride in a book bearing the name of a member of this faculty. Professor Richard Teevan, one of the editors of Reinforcement, is an associate professor at Bucknell. He has participated in the selection of fifteen well-chosen articles by outstanding experts and published as one of a series known as Insight Books. In the field of learning theory no topic is of greater importance than that dealing with the effects of positive and negative reinforcement. What influences do rewards and punishments have upon the acquisition of skills and understanding? Long ago E. L. Thorndike expounded his famous "Law of Effect," and many college generations of prospective teachers had to master it. To question this "law" would have been heresy. Whether or not Thorndike's ipse dixit was the last word is doubtful. At least, he stimulated a great deal of discussion and experimental inquiry. Here are some of the important writings, theoretical and experimental, that have appeared in American psychology on the concept of reinforcement. It is already a "best-seller" in its field. Contemporary Psychology says of this book, "Highly recommended."

[36.] Exploring Behavior by Douglas K. Candland and James F. Campbell. Basic Books, 1961. $4.50.

AN original book intended to introduce the student to the exciting field of experimental psychology, Exploring Psychology is certain to attract a wide group of readers. The senior author is a member of the faculty of Bucknell University; hence, we take a parochial joy in this book. Through undertaking a series of feasible, inexpensive, and fascinating experiments the older Alumni will bring their knowledge of psychology up to date. Each experiment is carefully described, explicit instructions are given for making simple apparatus, and supplementary readings are listed to encourage further investigations. This is more than a how-to-do-it book. It is decidedly not a cookbook approach. The reader is skillfully motivated to learn how to explore psychology through experiments which can be performed at home with a minimum of equipment. It paves the way to an understanding and an appreciation of the limitless possibilities of psychology when approached in the spirit of an empiricist. Written in clear, direct expository manner, this book is remarkably free from any taint of obfuscating jargon. The field of psychology is the gainer by its publication, and Alumni will take vicarious pride in the fact that Douglas K. Candland is a member of the faculty of Bucknell University.

[37.] Handbook of Research Methods in Child Development by Paul H. Mussen. Wiley, 1960. $15.25.

QUITE obviously a budget-taxing purchase, this Handbook of Research Methods in Child Development would be an invaluable addition to the personal libraries of Alumni who are parents of young children. At least, its immediate purchase can be enthusiastically recommended to the local public library. A real knowledge of children, their growth and psychosocial development, is far from complete. Hence, parents have little scientific guidance in how to proceed in helping their own children to grow up in home, school, or neighborhood. To summarize the best achievements of the past and to describe methods for dependable inquiries in the future, a Committee on Child Development of the NAS-NRC was established five or six years ago. This monumental and encyclopedic work is an outcome of their pooled resources and erudition. Twenty of the chapters are of special interest to Alumni who wish to acquire a scientific knowledge of children. Here is no book to be perused over a weekend or to be read out of idle curiosity. Most of the chapters merit close study with Talmudic zeal not unlike that used in preparation for an examination on the Robbins-Coleman textbook during English 103-104 days at Bucknell.

[38.] Freud and the Post-Freudians by J. A. C. Brown. Penguin Books, 1961. 95c.

A paperback book which originally appeared in England, Freud and the Post-Freudians is both a summation and a critical evaluation of recent developments in psychoanalysis. Dr. James A. C. Brown is not a convinced believer in the validity of Freud's theory of personality. Though he presents a fair and objective review of psychoanalysis, at the same time he notes the absurdities of and the excesses in Freudianism. Nevertheless, he makes very clear the reasons why psychoanalysis and its modern variants have so strongly influenced the course of American psychology, sociology, political theory, dramatic and literary criticism, and educational procedures. The views of Erich Fromm, who is now creating such a stir in this country, are particularly well presented. Freud's views as modified and extended by Fromm bear upon contemporary thinking about American society. In any serious discussions about the plight of modern man and his hopes for the immediate future, the name of Erich Fromm is certain to be brought up. Brown has furnished a superior introduction to a reading of Fromm's stimulating books. The final chapter, entitled "Assessments and Applications," furnishes one of the most rewarding expositions this reviewer has encountered in a long time.

[39.] The Personal World by Harold G. McCurdy. Harcourt, Brace and Company, 1961. $7.50.

As all Alumni recall, textbooks are generally dull and soporific, to be appropriately disposed of as soon as the course has been completed. McCurdy's textbook is likely to find a permanent place in the personal library of anyone who purchases a copy. It is not an ordinary textbook about personality. Based upon a quarter-century of classroom teaching and upon a program of omnivorous reading, McCurdy brings together about all that is known about the psychology of personality. His erudition has not been achieved at the expense of his creativity. Decidedly, he is not a pedant nor is his book a pedestrian account. His flair for writing, for stimulating the reader, and for challenging thought is apparent on almost every page. Only William James among American psychologists was a better writer. What McCurdy has to say about the validity and the reliability of so-called tests of personality is a delightful supplement to the famous, and superficial, chapter in Whyte's Organization Man. His insistence upon the concept of the Self as an indispensable part of psychology is most refreshing. Is the book "mentalistic" and "metaphysical" in orientation? If it will arouse the ire of Neo-Behaviorists for these characteristics, at least they will be challenged by a careful reading of it. Like the Candland-Campbell opus, included in this series of reviews, it has high "readability" for any Alumnus. Ample references are included for further readings in the field of psychology of personality.

CLASS REPORTS

(Continued from Page 12)

trip. They hope to be back in June. They hope to get to Florida this winter . . . Mary tells about the family—she and John have nine nephews who visit them often . . . TOM SCHULTZ hopes to get back in June. GEORGE RIGGS is coming. As we say in Florida—Come back now.

08 MRS. JOHN H. MATHIAS
(Margaret W. Pangburn)
202 St. Louis St.
Lewistown, Pa.

Mr. and Mrs. WILLIAM M. SIMINGTON of R. D. 1, Danville, celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary on May 24 with an open house in the afternoon. Mr. Simington worked in the steel industry for six years, then went into farming and has gained quite a degree of success in the breeding of Hereford cattle. They are the parents of seven children and have ten grandchildren. Our belated congratulations and best wishes for many more years of happiness are extended to them.

09 MRS. HOWARD L. HEADLAND
(Sarah E. Walters)
3911 First Ave., North
St. Petersburg 13, Fla.

THEODORE KAMENSKY "Put out to sea" September 11, 1961, at his home on the Gulf in Dunedin, Fla. He was born in Clearwater, Fla., December 18, 1883. There after his academy and college years at Bucknell he began to grow citrus fruits. His fine and productive groves were his pride and joy. He was a charter member of the Clearwater Yacht Club which he served as commodore for one year. For many years he competed in yacht races between St. Petersburg and Havana. In 1940 he won the Snipe Championship. His wife died in April, 1960. Four children and ten grandchildren mourn his loss. His four children are: FRANK '50, Reseda, Calif.; Betty, who lives with her husband, Dr. Orren J. Lawrance, at 4611 Bayside Blvd., N. E., St. Petersburg, Fla.; Theodore, Jr., and Richard, both of Clearwater, Fla. We extend to them the deepfelt sympathy of our class.

11 MR. HERBERT S. LLOYD
R. D. 1, Lily Lake
Wapwallopen, Pa.

On his return to Seattle, Wash., after an 11,000 mile trip in nine weeks that included a visit to the campus Homecoming Week End, HAP HUNTER brought us up to date on his career. He retired from Public Works for the U. S. N. in 1957 after 25 years as a civil engineer in Washington State following 21 years of similar work in California and earlier engineering experience in Seattle, Wash., and Oil City. He and his wife, the former Ina Starkey, were married in 1916 and have four children. Hap and Mrs. Hunter live at 5637 Brooklyn Ave., N. E., Seattle 5, Wash.

Our Mrs. LEO (VERA COBER) ROCKWELL is one of five Lakeland, Fla., women listed in WHO'S WHO OF AMERICAN WOMEN. All have been teachers or newspaper writers. Vera's contribution concerned two major items. First, a positive note promoting better relations with our Latin American neighbors by respecting their languages and, at least, making honest efforts in trying to learn them instead of insisting on their learning our English. Her next contribution concerned the pampering of our school children by carrying them to school by bus or family car. Vera suggests that the president's anxiety over physical fitness might well be started with a walk to school. A fifteen or twenty-minute walk to school never hurt us in our school days. The Gallup report quoted asks,

"Have we become a Nation of Weaklings?" Your correspondent is adding another quotation from a bit of poetry (?) by Bishop Doane: "We are given a great mission, we are here today on earth, To bring forth a race of giants, and to guard them from their birth. To insist upon their freedom from the walking that was bad for our parents and their parents, scrambling all the brains they had. Ah! If to school they'd been brought by schedule would they have been stunted so, The Websters and the Lincolns and the Hamiltons, you know?"

The reporter regrets that efforts to obtain information from many others has fallen on dull or dry pens. He hopes to find sharper ones for the next issue of THE ALUMNUS.

12 MRS. R. W. HOUSEKNECHT
(Maze Callahan)
108 W. Penn St.
Muncy, Pa.

JUNE REUNION

"The one great God looked down and smiled
And counted each His loving child."

H. ROMAINE

Received many Christmas greetings from members of the class. Would you believe that only four members mentioned our reunion? PEARL REAM is looking forward to our reunion. She had kept her badge. RALPH DAVENPORT writes: "If nothing happens we hope to see you at Bucknell in June. We won't have too many 50ths." ART WALTZ writes: "I am in fine shape looking forward to the fiftieth. Don't know where my badge is." RIP RUTH will see us all in June.

Around Thanksgiving I heard from EVA APGAR and HELEN RUTH—both have their badges and planning to return.

I'm trying to find recruits to edit a Reunion Book. Wish me luck. You will be receiving more on the plans for our fiftieth reunion from me in the near future. Begin to pack your suitcase.

FRED IGLER and Katie left for Florida and New Orleans, La., January 15 to be gone six weeks. A long awaited and deserved vacation.

Maude MEYER, BOB's wife, had the misfortune to break a hip in October. They had planned a trip to Seattle, Wash., in June. Hope this does not curtail their plans.

HAROLD W. MUSSER, 2700 St. David's Lane, Ardmore, a retired science and mathematics teacher, died at his home on November 20. He was born in Lewistown, July 17, 1890, and graduated from Bucknell University with a B.S. degree in 1912. He received an M.A. degree in 1921 and had taken graduate work toward a doctor's degree at the University of Pennsylvania. He had taught in the Laurelton, Lewistown, and Milton schools and in Wilmington (Del.) High School, where he was head of the mathematics department and dean of boys, and also in the Haverford Township Senior High School, where he was head of the science department. Published articles, authored by him, include: "A History of Lewistown," "Arithmetic For Adults," "Diagnostic Tests in Plane Geometry," "A Course of Study in Biology," "Shot Shells For Your 38," "22 Caliber Penetration," "38 Caliber Penetration" and "Target Shooting—A Cure For What Ails You." Harold was an Eagle Scout, a former Scoutmaster, Scout Commissioner and a National Rifle Association Marksmanship instructor. He was a member of the Presbyterian Church, Lewistown; the Sigma Chi Fraternity; the Fifty-Year Club of the Presbyterian Church, Lewistown; Masons; American Legion; National Rifle Association; National Education Association and the Haverford Township Education Association. Surviving are his wife, the former THELORA SMITH '19 of Milton,

Bernard Newman for FORTUNE
Samuel H. Woolley '32

Samuel H. Woolley '32 was elected president of the Bank of New York in December, 1961. He is the 20th president of New York's oldest bank, founded in 1784 by Alexander Hamilton.

Mr. Woolley was graduated with honors from Bucknell University in 1932 and almost immediately entered the investment field as an investment counselor with the Bank of New York. He advanced steadily in the organization from investment counselor to assistant secretary, to assistant vice president, to vice president, to head of the Security Research Department, to executive vice president, and finally to his present position.

The November, 1961, issue of FORTUNE magazine featured an article entitled "How to Stay Rich" in which the author, T. A. Wise, refers to Mr. Woolley as "the sharp and aggressive head of the investment division at the Bank of New York."

This past fall Mr. Woolley accepted an appointment by President Odgers to serve on the newly organized Bucknell University Dual Development Council. A man of stature and long experience in the investment field, Mr. Woolley adds professional strength to this Bucknell team. He also serves Bucknell University as a member of the Advisory Committee for Economics and Business Administration.

Mr. and Mrs. Woolley and sons, Thomas and Harold, live on Old Wood Road, Morris Plains, N. J.

whom he married September 28, 1921; a brother, MALCOLM E. MUSSER '18, Lewistown; and a sister, Mrs. NATALIE MUSSER Heebner '23, Wynnwood. Memorial services were held in the Ardmore Presbyterian Church, November 28, with Dr. William Faulds officiating. PATTY, ALBERTA and MARY WEISER Jenkins attended this service. Sincerest sympathy is extended to the loved ones from the 1912 class.

P. S. Don't concentrate on the "Twist", concentrate on our 50TH.

Two of our classmates passed through the portal of death as 1961 came to a close. HENRY WESTON SMITH answered the call December 27 and one day later RICHARD BOWLING crossed the great divide. Both were ministerial students at Bucknell and both enjoyed great success as ministers of the Gospel.

WESTON retired in September, 1956, after completing 47 years in the Christian ministry. Bucknell conferred upon him the honorary degree of Doctor of Divinity in 1937. It was at Bucknell that WESTON took the leadership in establishing a chapter of the national social fraternity of Lambda Chi Alpha. After serving the Grand River Avenue Baptist Church in Detroit, Mich., for nine years, he returned to Norristown to live in retirement and where he had served the Calvary Baptist Church from 1925 to 1937.

RICHARD BOWLING was the only colored student during his years at Bucknell. A few students at first did not welcome him, but Richard possessed such a wonderful mind and spirit that he soon won the acclaim of everyone. He graduated summa cum laude in three years. He received an honorary D.D. degree from Howard University. Richard was pastor of one of the leading Negro churches in Norfolk, Va., for 40 years. He was loved and respected not only by the members of his church, but by all the citizens of Norfolk because of his outstanding leadership in civic affairs. He was forced to retire in 1953 because of ill health. When he tried to resign that year, his church refused to accept his resignation and voted to retire him as pastor emeritus of the church. It was estimated that 1,300 attended his funeral service held in the church he had served so faithfully. His death removed from the Baptist church one of its most dedicated leaders, and from the Community at large a benefactor and friend. Richard's brother, ANDREW C. BOWLING, was graduated from Bucknell in 1928.

To the wives of WESTON SMITH and RICHARD BOWLING and their families we extend our sincere sympathy. By their outstanding devotion to their life's work they have made us proud they were members of the Class of 1913.

Mrs. George Vetter (Nina Lambert '34) and son, Larry, share the festivities with George Vetter '33 at a testimonial dinner, honoring George for twenty-five years of outstanding service as a teacher and coach in North Tonawanda High School. Four hundred persons jammed Sikora Post for this program which included two hours of praise for George's service by eight individuals. A fellow Bucknellian, John Plewak '41 was one of several persons who presented gifts to George and his family. Gifts included a shotgun, an engraved silver platter, an engraved plaque from his 1961 football team, electric shavers, a luggage set, flowers and cash.

14

MRS. H. B. WEAVER
 (Dora Hamler)
 348 Ridge Ave.
 New Kensington, Pa.

The Rev. JOHN E. KAUFFMAN, who now lives at 1125 Basque Place, Anaheim, Calif., still realizes that books are the life-blood of an academic institution. Recently he presented twelve books to the Bucknell Bertrand Library as a tribute to the inspiring teachers under whom he studied at Bucknell.

The Christmas season brought "greetings" from the following class members: ETHEL '18 and JESSE RILEY, from Floral City, Fla., who write "In the midst of flowers, oranges and sunshine. Come on down. Plan to be here until March." FRANCES McNALL says, "We don't do much traveling around but keep mighty busy. I do some tutoring and substituting in Latin and French, that, with church work, gardening and enjoying guests, keeps us out of mischief." She and sister MARJORIE '16, still live at 912 Elm Ave., Tacoma Park 12, Md. The Rev. JOHN LUKE GEHMAN sends his annual news letter from his home in Parsons, Kans. This was centennial year for that state and he "spoke for several festive events" in connection with the celebration. MABEL BROWN Aller '15, speaks of our classmate MARIAN SHIVERS, who is now in this country on leave from her duties in Burma. She spent a couple of days with the Allers, in Johnstown, in October, on her way from assignment in the Pittsburgh area to South Jersey. From her home at 124 Mahoning St., Milton, FLORENCE REIMEN-

SNYDER sends her best wishes, as do RUTH and HARRY STAHLER, of 507½ Water St., Northumberland, RUTH and JACK RICE, Lewisburg, and EDNA and MARWOOD GLOVER '13, of Vineland, N. J. We miss greetings from a few class members who have always written in previous years. We hope they are well.

16

DR. ERIC A. OESTERLE
 216-18th Ave., N. E.
 St. Petersburg 4, Fla.

MARY JONES Carlson writes: "We are back in Palm Beach, Fla., after a wonderful summer at our home in Waterford, Maine. The only news which might be interesting to the classmates is that I did not write a letter to the class reunion or for the year book because I felt I hadn't accomplished anything out of the ordinary and knew so many of you had done such wonderful things. I've had a happy life but I am a 'Jack of all Trades' and good at none. I've always had the fondest memories of my Bucknell days and am proud of all my Bucknell friends. If you get to Palm Beach do come and visit us." That we will do Mary. And on that visit we will look up "Jenks" our partner in histrionics as taught by "Schill." Dr. DAVE DAVIS '32 is over there on the east coast and we should look him up.

COLEMAN JOHN HARRIS wants me to speak at the Founder's Day meeting of the St. Petersburg Alumni Club. Did you know that John stammered until he was 29? He tells me the difference between a stutterer and a stammerer is this: the former can't stop and the latter cannot begin.

VERA COBER ROCKWELL's ('11) brother Devon has been a patient at the Bay Pines Hospital for several weeks. I visit him frequently and on occasion have seen Vera as she has visited him.

WINFRED '15 and WADE EARLE '15 have had us down there in Sarasota three times recently. In October it was Winfred's birthday and we celebrated by doing the twist. And then at Thanksgiving and Christmas we enjoyed the holidays together. Their older boy, Wade, Jr., is doing strategic work at Cape Canaveral and they get to see him often. He lives in California. Wade's brother (Ralph) whom we knew as a kid in our college days, is living with the Earles now.

Our daughter MARY ELLEN Haw '42 and her family were with us for a long visit at the recent holiday season.

For several months now the oldest living alumnus, Dr. JOHN I. WOODRUFF '90 has been visiting with his daughter, Mrs. Basil Martin, who lives next door to us. He still is able to spin the tales of an older Bucknell than what we knew.

We look forward to seeing Dr. FREDERICK BENTLEY IGLER '12. Helen used to hold down a seat for him at the old Seminary when seats were at a premium for the "fussers." Fred and TINY CLUM '12 appreciated that. Fred taught Tilt and me Greek one term.

MRS. ERLE M. TOPHAM
(C. Ray Speare)
425 W. Sedgwick St.
Philadelphia 19, Pa.

JUNE REUNION

Dr. RALPH B. DERR was appointed by President Merle M. Odgers to serve as co-chairman of the Bucknell University Development Council at its organization meeting held on the campus November 17-18, 1961. Ralph, although retired as chief chemical engineer of Alcoa, is busy as a consulting engineer but still finds time to serve Bucknell in this important development capacity.

Reading over last year's notes (September) I discovered a big "boo-boo" and is my face red. I wrote all about DICK THOMAS and never mentioned his last name. I called his wife Mary Clark. I am so sorry—Mary is right, Clark wrong. Please forgive me folks and Dick, get well quick. We'll look for you in June. Their address is 2061 Temple Dr., Winter Park, Fla.

JEANETTE OWENS Forgarty's husband is very ill in a nursing home. She is at present living in St. Petersburg, Fla. (940 Snell Isle Blvd.), where she has many good friends who help keep up her morale. We do hope the next time we hear from you Jeanette, that things will look brighter for you and Tom.

EDNA OVERFIELD Miller, will you please write to me? I want your Phoenixville address.

From GENE BERTIN'S column "Ravelins" in PENNSYLVANIA SCHOOL JOURNAL—Another year: Appropo Resolution "A non smoker is one who has not only sworn off tobacco, but has also given it up."

Notes from Christmas cards: FAY SCHUCH Ford '18 is now living in Largo, Fla. (8659 117th Way, N.). Her husband retired last year and they moved south into their new house for which they had been planning several years. Jack hasn't been well lately but is well on the way to recovery now. We hope they will soon get the full joy out of their new life.

BEULAH HUMMEL Fero M'18 says they expect to retire this year and will return to Lewisburg to live. Their son lives in the old family farm near town. It will be wonderful for them to be near each other. I'll like it too for we'll see her more often.

MIRIAM BRIDGE Rudin '19 has moved to the Philadelphia area as she thought she night. Her Christmas card was from Doylestown (148 Homestead Dr.). She likes it very much. Says she is still exploring the countryside and enjoying it. I haven't seen her yet, but now that I know where she is, maybe we can soon get together. I hope so.

Are you planning to come back in June? Why not write and tell me so I can put it in the May issue. Your name will influence others to come. Give it a try, please!

MRS. LAYTON E. KING
(Elizabeth Champion)
19 No. Loyalsock Ave.
Montoursville, Pa.

Another year is with us and I sincerely hope that it holds all of the best for all of you. I also hope that you all have made a resolution to begin thinking of 1963 and our 15th reunion. A letter should be on its way to you shortly.

My news all seems to be of Alumni other than members of the Class of 1918. Christmas notes are the source of my news. SALLY PARK Titterton '17 writes of the passing of her mother. She is planning to move into an apartment in the spring. She lives in Ontario, Calif.

LOUISE BASSELL Belcher '17 of Westfield, N. J., who began her college career with the Class of '18 and ended with '17, wrote of her "Dream Trip"—100 days of travelling more than 10,000 miles throughout the United States, seeing the country and visiting friends. She reports the arrival of her 10th grandchild.

Brother GEORGE CHAMPION '17 and his wife are spending the winter months seeing Florida. He has joined the trailerites of the country, and finds that it is the perfect way to see the country. They expect to come back to Pennsylvania in April.

A letter received from DOROTHY McCINTIC Johnson sometime ago is worthy of quoting—"When I first came to Ft. Lauderdale, Fla., nine years ago, one of the first things I saw was 'H. FRAZIER SHEFFER, Realtor' on a big sign on Route 1, where he has his office. I went in to see him and renewed our acquaintance—we never had known each other well. As it happened I decided to join a new Presbyterian Church which worshipped in a movie theater because it didn't have its own edifice yet—they had bought a beautiful piece of property on one of the canals and were just starting the church. Much to my surprise I met H. FRAZIER SHEFFER again, and several Sundays later it was announced that he was chairman of the building committee. Today, November 12, 1961, we had our first real service in our new church. It is a beautiful cathedral type building, modern and lovely—seats 1,074—so you know it is an imposing structure and I think all Shef's former classmates would be most interested in such an accomplishment and be as proud of him as I am."

Please tell me what you are doing.

DR. FRANKLIN D. JONES
2617 St. David's Lane
Ardmore, Pa.

HOWARD L. (HOWDY) HARER has retired from his public school duties at Williamsport High School and has been appointed assistant professor of mathematics at Lycoming College for the 1961-62 academic year.

MRS. M. A. J. ROSEMAN
(Anna Sterling)
1736 Welsh Road
Philadelphia 15, Pa.

Another wonderful year has just passed and such a joyous Christmas season! Snow began falling Christmas Eve in Philadelphia which made the country so hushed and beautiful.

Christmas greetings came from DOROTHY and STEPHAN DIMLICH, Cleveland Heights, Ohio. They were leaving to spend a few weeks in Pompano, Fla. KATHERINE PUDICOMBE Chapin is living there and plans were to spend much time together. Henry, their son, is finishing medical school in June and will be interning next year.

HELEN MOYLE Bailey also lives in Cleveland Heights, Ohio, and quoting "Do"—"Helen is still most active in her beautiful shop of the loveliest things imaginable."

My family and I had Thanksgiving dinner with EDNA OVERFIELD Miller '17 who was visiting her daughter and family (June and Bill MacDade) in Phoenixville for two months. Edna is living and working in Seoul, Korea, and traveling around Korea and the Orient whenever possible. Edna's two sons, FERRIS '43 and Albert, are also living in Seoul. Ferris, a Bucknell graduate, is with the Bank of Korea and also very interested in conducting tours through the interior of Korea. Albert is an engineer and is establishing radar stations for Westinghouse in Korea. He attended Bucknell Junior College in Wilkes-Barre and also Pennsylvania State University.

More next time!

MISS EDNA M. BAKER
10 Newton Ave.
Woodbury, N. J.

We greatly regret the sad news of the sudden death of SARAH KERSTETTER Augsburger at her home at 609 N. Grier St., Williamsport, on December 3, 1961. Sarah was born in Lewisburg and was graduated from Lewisburg High School before entering Bucknell. She taught social studies in Bluffton, Ohio, and married Donald L. Augsburger on August 3, 1922. Sarah was a member of Phi Mu Alumnae Association, Eastern Star, P. T. A., and enjoyed several bridge clubs. Our deepest sympathy goes out to her husband, Donald Augsburger, her son Gene, of Sandston, Va., and her daughter, Mrs. Malcolm Murren, of Levittown, and three grandchildren, as well as to her sister HELEN '23 (Mrs. Donald Bechtel) of Lewisburg. Sarah's mother, Mrs. Eugene Kerstetter (MARY F. WOODS '99) preceded her in death on October 15, 1961. We were glad to see Sarah at our class reunion luncheon in June and to have her be a part of our class picture.

And we also extend our sympathy to CHELTEN SMITH on the death of his brother-in-law, HAROLD MUSSER '12. Harold, a native of Lewisburg and a staunch Bucknellian of the Class of 1912, seemed to belong to many classes and we are thinking of his wife, THELORA SMITH MUSSER '19, his sister, NATALIE MUSSER Heehner '23 and his brother, MALCOLM MUSSER '18, all Bucknell graduates, in their sorrow.

It was a pleasure to congratulate Raymond Bateman, son of LYDIA COENE and Palmer Bateman, at the ceremony of taking his oath for his third term as a Republican member of the New Jersey Assembly at the State House in Trenton, N. J., on January 9. Raymond was accompanied by his wife and three children.

It is with great sorrow that we tell you of the death of Joseph B. Kelly, husband of Mrs. EMILY DEVINE Kelly, on January 22, 1962, following an operation. Emily and Joe were inseparable visitors to all campus celebrations, so much so that most of us regarded Joe as a Bucknell graduate rather than an "adopted" Bucknellian. In all of her alumni activities, Emily always has been assisted by Joe. Our heartfelt condolences to Emily, their daughter Jodie, daughter Mrs. EMILY DEVINE KELLY CARLOUGH '46, and son-in-law SPENCER CARLOUGH '50. Emily will continue to live at 1569 Metropolitan Ave., New York 62, N. Y., and will carry on her work as director of guidance in the Theodore Roosevelt Evening High School in New York City.

MRS. GEORGE C. WOLFE
(Ruth H. Brown)
60 S. 2nd St.
Lewisburg, Pa.

JUNE REUNION

Plans for our reunion in June are taking shape. FINLEY KEECH has appointed "RED" CARLSON of Watsontown as general chairman. "CURLY" LAWSON will be in charge of local arrangements and CARMAULT JACKSON will be editor of the 40th reunion yearbook. In addition there are ten local chairmen who will get in touch with members of the class who live in their districts. Do say "Yes" when you hear from your chairman and make plans early to come back to the campus June 1-3. Finley says he hopes for a "La-la-paluzza" this year.

BRIGHT E. GREINER, after 22 years of service as a high school principal in New Mexico, has become dean of instruction in the Armijo High School, Fairfield, Calif.

We extend deep sympathy to Mrs. EDNA FOLLMER BUTT on the death of her mother, Mrs. Emma Bergstresser Follmer, at the age of 96 in Philadelphia on December 13, 1961. Other survivors include Miss GRACE R. FOLLMER '21, and Mrs. HELEN FOLLMER LUTZ '21.

Alfred V. Boerner, Jr. '32

In December, 1961, the Department of State announced the appointment of Alfred V. Boerner, Jr. '32 as director of the department's Bureau of Educational and Cultural Affairs.

Mr. Boerner has been Public Affairs Officer in Germany and Italy and has served in various other positions in USIA: as the agency's representative on the Planning Board of the National Security Council, assistant deputy director for Plans, and, most recently, as director of the Information Center Service responsible for USIA's world-wide cultural program. He has received the agency's Distinguished Service Award.

After graduation from Bucknell, Mr. Boerner did graduate work for five years in Germany, France and at the University of Michigan, where he received an M.A. in Political Science. He is a 1955 graduate of the National War College. Mr. Boerner taught political science at several American colleges and has worked as industrial relations director for an American business firm. During World War II, he served with the Office of War Information and with the American Military Government in Germany.

Mr. Boerner was the guest speaker at the Burma-Bucknell Week End banquet held on the campus on March 3.

Mr. and Mrs. Boerner are the parents of six children: Margaret; Michael; Alfred, Jr.; Stephen; Constance and Christopher. The Boerners have a new home address: 1801 Kimberly Rd., Hillandale, Silver Spring, Md.

24 MRS. HARRY W. JONES
(Elizabeth Moore)
326 South Oak St.
Mt. Carmel, Pa.

Mrs. LOUISE BENSHOFF Cupp sent to the alumni office the following account of her attendance at a tea held recently in Philadelphia.

"Wherever you go, whatever you do; remember, you represent Bucknell! The Class of '24 will recall how often we heard these familiar words during the year 1920! And, how very true they were, and are, today.

"I attended a tea and reception January 4 which was held at International House here in Philadelphia. The honored guests were The Begum Raana Liaquat Ali Khan, Pakistan Ambassador to Italy; Mr. Aziz Ahmad, Pakistan Ambassador to the United States; and the Honorable Zaffarullah Khan, the Pakistan Ambassador to the United Nations. The Begum was in the city to receive the International Gimbel award as one of the outstanding women leaders of the world. Many students from Pakistan who are studying in the United States were present as well as students from other foreign countries. Naturally, colleges became quite a topic of interest and in the conversations, Bucknell received her fair share of publicity! It was my great pleasure when greeting the honored guests to be able to have a common link obtained through their great admiration for President Hildreth and his family. As you recall, President and Mrs. Hildreth were in Pakistan for about four years beginning in June, 1953, during which time he served as United States Ambassador to Pakistan. Their oldest daughter married a gentleman from there. I enjoyed so very much the time spent with our honored guests."

25 MRS. WILLIAM E. THOMPSON, JR.
(Mary E. Seidel)
Box Tree Farm
Whiteford, Md.

Dear Classmates:

Sorry I've fallen down on the job, I have no excuses, the deadline arrived and I was not ready! Hence the following news is a few months old, but that old adage is still good "better late than not at all."

"MID" BIDDISON is my most faithful correspondent! Why don't some of the rest of you follow her example, you'd all hear more about each other. Mid did her graduate work this summer at Middleburg College and she went to to say "the northern most point in my vacation was the Trappe family lodge at Stowe Vt., a veritable Austria in America. The Austrian food and music are easy to take." Mid's new address—526 John Mitchell Ave., Phillipsburg, N. J. Mid said that "MARY BRAY Young spent her vacation with her family in Colorado." Now, Mary, why don't you write us and tell us of whom your family consists, what you're doing, etc.

Had a nice letter from "BECKY" HUNTER OPP last spring and here I am reporting on it almost a year late! She and PHIL '22 have a daughter, Jean, and a son, Phil, Jr. Jean has made them the grandparents of two little boys: Phil, Jr., isn't married. Becky has been doing some oil painting these last years which she says is much fun and interesting. She and Phil are another couple who enjoy fishing and do some vacationing in Canada. Becky's address is 666 S. Hawkins Ave., Akron 20, Ohio.

Then in June I had a nice letter from "BEA" METTLER. At that time she was attending the University of Pitt Graduate School, and was living on campus. As she was writing she could "look out my window a short block into Forbes Field and watch the batter, catcher, and the Pirate dugout." Besides B. U., Bea graduated from the Johns Hopkins Hospital Training School at Baltimore, Md., got her M.S. at University of Pennsylvania, and did graduate work at University of Chicago Graduate School of Social Service Administration, Chicago, Ill. No stagnation for you, Bea! Bea, where do I address you now?

Looking forward to bringing you some more news in the next issue.

26 MISS ANNA L. BROWN
15 Wildwood Ave.,
Pittman, N. J.

We regret to tell you of the death of ANTHONY K. "TONY" WILSBACH, at the age of 61, in Harrisburg on January 15, 1962.

Tony was a member of the Athletic Advisory Committee of Bucknell University, Phi Kappa Psi fraternity and the Bison Club of Bucknell University. He was also a member of Zion Lutheran Church and his pastor, the Rev. Dr. Viggo Swenson officiated at his funeral.

Honorary pallbearers were members of athletic teams on which he performed, and the pallbearers serving at the funeral were men whom he had coached while serving as a coach at William Penn High School in Harrisburg.

While Tony's interest was primarily in athletics, in recent years he became a substantial benefactor to the university's educational projects and both he and his wife, the former JOHANNETTA SNYDER '25, as well as his late brother, FRANK WILSBACH '28, are listed as "patrons" of the University.

His survivors include his brother John L. Wilsbach; two sisters, Mrs. James A. Keane and Miss Mary M. Wilsbach, as well as a niece, to whom we extend our deepest sympathy.

27 MRS. L. H. COLLISON
(Grace M. Pfeiffer)
Marydel, Md.

JUNE REUNION

Have you answered the 35th reunion book questionnaire? Have you marked your calendar? If you haven't done either of these things don't wait another day. Return your questionnaires today to Donald Wagner, 56 South 5th St., Lewisburg, Pa.

If you have not circled the dates of June 1, 2, and 3 on your calendar and if you have not planned to return to the campus for the best reunion we have ever had, do so now. Mrs. HELEN EGGE KUNKEL, our reunion chairman, along with DON WAGNER and other members of the reunion committee, are planning for a big time in Lewisburg. You will be receiving more information about these plans from time to time. The important thing is for you to make up your mind today and plan to be with us. See you in June.

28 MRS. H. MONTGOMERY MARSH, JR.
(Lorinne Martin)
60 Prospect Hill Ave.
Summit, N. J.

In December I received a newsy letter from GENEVIEVE PUNCHES Whitehead and quote the following: "First of all, last June our son, Robert, who was attending his first year at Alfred University, received an appointment to Annapolis, U. S. Naval Academy. He will be home at Christmas, his first visit home since leaving last June. My husband and I; son Thomas, a junior at Bucknell; and our daughter Linda, a sophomore at Jamestown High School; attended Parents' Week End at Annapolis in August. Mr. Whitehead, Linda, and I also attended the Army-Navy game last week at Philadelphia. The other news item is that on November 7 my husband, William D. Whitehead, was elected mayor of the city of Jamestown, N. Y. He will take office January 1. I am still teaching mathematics at Lincoln Junior High School, Jamestown, N. Y., and expect to continue teaching." The Whitehead address is 107 Linwood Ave., Jamestown, N. Y.

29 MISS THELMA SHOWALTER
425 Market St.
Mifflinburg, Pa.

We extend the sympathies of the class to Dr. CLARENCE CRANFORD on the untimely bereavement sustained in the death of his wife on October 9, 1961. In November, Dr. Cranford returned to Washington D. C., and Calvary Baptist Church, 8th and H Sts., N. W. He resides at Carlyn Towers, 4390 Lorcum Lane, Arlington, Va.

EUGENE MIRARCHI, Esq., has been appointed by Governor Lawrence to the State Workmen's Compensation Board. He had previously served in the Revenue Department as supervising auditor in the Inheritance Tax Division covering a nine-county area.

30 MRS. EARLE H. MEREDITH
(Janet E. Bingham)
303 South Main St.
Jersey Shore, Pa.

Greetings to you of the Class of '30! I'm still waiting for those letters, telling me of your life today, children, grandchildren, exciting jobs, travels—Oh! do let us peep into your life just for a minute. You would be surprised how much others want to hear about where you are and what you are doing. I'm still living in Jersey Shore and teaching English and public speaking in the Jersey Shore Senior High School. I'm married to Earl ("Ted") H. Meredith, a graduate of the University of Delaware, and he is manager of a brokerage office in Williamsport. If you have piled up lots of money and want some good advice—ahem—see Ted—Nestlerode and Company, Williamsport.

The same day that THE BUCKNELL ALUMNUS arrived I received a letter from one of our class—HANNA DENNIN, now Mrs. G. E. Nadolske, 303 Arnold Ave., Port Allegany. Hanna said in her letter that she always turns first to see what incidents there are in THE ALUMNUS from the Class of '30. Hanna has had a busy life in Port Allegany—as after her graduation she taught Latin and English in the high school for 29 years (Our heartiest congratulations for a job well done!) and her retirement came in 1958. Having taught for seven years in Montour County prior to going to Bucknell, Hanna had 36 years of teaching to her credit. Some of the achievements in those years were: Hanna organized the first Latin Club in the high school, it is still functioning successfully and is the oldest club in the school; married George E. Nadolske in 1948; now spends part of each year traveling. Hanna was unable to attend the last reunion but is looking forward to a big time when we rejoin our classmates for the best reunion ever in 1965.

I had a Christmas card from BETTY HUXLEY Mazeine. She and Graham are living at 15 Silver St., South Hadley, Mass. If you are touring New England this summer—call Betty and say hello—she'll be happy to renew old acquaintances.

31 MRS. HAROLD A. BRANDRIFT
(Helen Mowry)
111 Cherry St., Central Park
Pennsville, N. J.

RUSSELL L. KRESSLER, superintendent of Lower Penns Neck Township Schools, Pennsville, N. J., retired in June after 33 years with the system. He is currently spending the winter in Florida.

I am sorry to report the passing of one of our classmates, HAROLD E. DAYTON, of Plainfield, N. J., who died of a heart attack June 4, 1961. After graduation, he did graduate work at Union Theological Seminary, Columbia University and Rutgers. Harold served with the 37th Infantry Division in World War II, and was awarded the Purple Heart, Soldiers Medal, and the Bronze Star. At the time of his death, he was assistant to the superintendent, field operations service of the New Jersey Division of Employment Security, where he had been employed for the past 22 years. He was president of the New Jersey Chapter of the International Association of Personnel in Employment Security. Harold's widow, Josephine Whittington Dayton, followed him in death in July after a short illness.

Our genial class president, EDWARD J. SMALSTIG, was honored in June by being presented with the "Engineer of the Year" award by the Beaver County Chapter of the Pennsylvania Society of Professional Engineers. Ed engaged in various projects before joining the St. Joseph Lead Company, Josephstown, in 1945. Among them was working on the Tygart river dam at Grafton, W. Va.; employment by the U. S. Steel Products Corporation, foreign division, working through Central America on bridges on the Inter-American Highway; field engineer at Detroit, Mich., on construction of a coke plant for Great Lakes Steel, and work on the International Bridge at Port Huron. He was also associated with the U. S. Steel project at the Irwin Works, worked on the "300" housing development at Clairton in connection with the U. S. Housing Administration, engaged in construction projects in Washington, D. C., and was affiliated with the Tate Jones Company in Leetsdale in 1941. He was with Michael Baker, Jr., Inc., Rochester, N. Y., before joining St. Joseph Lead. A former Beaver councilman, the honoree has been active in the Community Chest and was a director when the United Fund was organized, is a past president of Rotary, has worked with Boy Scouts, and is a member of the session of the Presbyterian church. During his term as president of the local engineering chapter, of which he is a charter member, the chapter won the Ritchie Lawrie award as the most progressive chapter in the state. Ed, his wife ALICE DRENNEN with son Barry, a junior at Bucknell, daughter Sandra, a freshman at West Chester, and daughter Gail, a sophomore in high school, live at 1645 Second St., Beaver.

32 MR. ELLIS F. HULL
11 Broad St.
Allentown, N. J.

JUNE REUNION

Our 30th reunion is coming up on June 1, 2, and 3, 1962. I am sure there is no need to remind those of you who attended the 25th in 1957. I know many of you have been looking forward to this one for five years—the same as I have. Now how about those who could not make it in '57? I have heard from quite a few from this group who plan to return. May we count you in this time for sure? We'd all like to see you again and renew our acquaintance. How about it? Mark that calendar now! Arrange for a week of your vacation if need be! Close down the shop and be on hand to shake the hand of your classmate you haven't seen for many years.

I am editing our 30th year reunion book and you have already received a questionnaire from me requesting biographical information. Thanks to those of you who have returned them and for those who procrastinated, don't put it off another day. Fill in the questionnaire and return it to me as soon as possible. We want to include as many members of the class as possible in our reunion book.

Dr. DANIEL SOLOMON of Sunbury was the Bucknell family doctor when Robert Bruce Halleran was born on December 22, 1961. The father and mother are ROBERT E. '59 and DALE LEIBENSPERGER HALLERAN '59; the paternal grandfather is E. E. HALLERAN '27; and the maternal grandfather is BRUCE LEIBENSPERGER.

JAMES B. STEVENSON has recently been designated chairman of the Pennsylvania Historical and Museum Commission by Governor Lawrence of Pennsylvania. Long interested in historical matters, as was his father, the late EDGAR T. STEVENSON '04. Jim was responsible for resurrecting the Venango County ghost town of Pithole (THE BUCKNELL ALUMNUS, January 1962—page 18.).

JOHN E. LENKER, although he is way out west in Redlands, Calif., on the editorial staff of the Redlands Daily Facts, keeps Bucknell high in his thinking. Besides his full time newspaper activities, John holds a 25-year pin in the American Numismatics Association, a

Edward C. Myers '34

Edward C. Myers '34 was appointed vice president of United States Steel and assistant to the president on March 1, 1962. Mr. Myers has been vice president—personnel since 1958.

A native of York, he began his career with U. S. Steel following his graduation from Bucknell in 1934. Starting as an observer at the Homestead District Works, he became plant director of personnel, welfare and training after two years. In 1938, he joined the public relations staff of U. S. Steel in the Pittsburgh District office. He was named assistant district director of public relations in 1942. A year later, Mr. Myers transferred to the industrial relations department as assistant to the vice president. In 1953 he became assistant vice president—industrial relations, and was appointed vice president—personnel five years later.

Many Bucknellians will remember Eddie as a football player who was chosen on several All-American selections. In 1958, he was named a member of the Silver Anniversary All-American Football Squad by SPORTS ILLUSTRATED magazine.

Not only is Mr. Myers a leader of one of this nation's largest industrial corporations, but he is an active alumnus in the Pittsburgh Alumni Club, president of his Class of 1934, and a member of the Development Council.

Mr. and Mrs. Myers (Edna Cleckner '33) have two daughters, Wendy Ann and Sandra Sue. Wendy is a member of the sophomore class at Bucknell. The Myers family lives at 1236 Murrayhill Ave., Pittsburgh 17.

commander's position in the Coast Guard Reserve and keeps busy with his interesting hobbies of "the American Indian," natural history, coins, firearms, pigeon racing, aviary birds, deep sea fishing and the circus. And, of course, when he gets bored with all of these hobbies, he can always devote time to the hobbies of his three teenage children. John, why not bring the whole gang to our big 30th reunion on the campus, June 1, 1962?

THE LAST OF WINTER'S SNOWS

Softly, silently, now the snow
 Powders the trees and roofs below.
 Lightly fingers in downy drift,
 Shines like silver in shadowy mists.

Street lights catch the icy flakes:
 The puppy now his white coat shakes.
 Evergreens are glittering queens
 Wearing ermines as in dream.

I like to stroll alone in snow,
 Caring not where I may go,
 Feeling cold flakes on my tongue
 As I used to do when young.

I think I'll saunter to the creek
 And let the flakes caress my cheek.
 I want to see where beauty goes,
 This very last of winter's snow.

JWE

FRED ENGLERTH has moved his offices to 705 Medical Arts Building, Fort Worth 2, Texas, after seventeen years in the Lower Rio Grande Valley. He felt that there was too much "academic stagnation." His daughter, Karen, is now thirteen going on twenty! Asks he, "Is there any cure? Surely some of my classmates can send a prescription." Answer—My adopted daughter, Sally is twelve, and I use a Board of Education, infrequently but effectively.

Dr. DAVID S. SARNER, after serving for seven years as associate professor of science education at Temple University, has become dean of instruction at Keene Teachers College, Keene, N. H. Dave has been elected a fellow of the American Association for the Advancement of Science, and during the past three summers worked on the summer institutes for science teachers under a $100,000 grant from the National Science Foundation.

34

MRS. WILLIAM S. LIMING
 (Ruth E. Rohr)
 55 Magnolia Ave.
 Garden City, L. I., N. Y.

Many of you have received personal letters on behalf of the Bucknell Alumni Annual Giving Fund and I do hope you've all responded. If not, why not mail in your check right now? Surely the years we spent at Bucknell have made our lives richer morally, spiritually, intellectually and materially. We can help our Alma Mater continue this fine job for the young people there now and the generations to come.

35

MRS. PAUL J. DESCHANEL
 (Ann W. Orr)
 Chapel Wood
 Gambrills, Md.

The new year has come and with it many changes. The most radical for any member of our class is probably that of PEG WEDDELL Peters, who with her two sons, is now in Pennsburg and will be joined soon by her husband who is leaving the turbulence of Johannesburg for the states. We are so happy to have them here, but know they will miss South Africa, a land they had learned to love.

We had a visit with JANE and Mel LeMlon while we were in New York, and they entertained us at dinner in a French restaurant where we had a gay time practicing la langue française. We were sorry to have missed MARION ROOT FRANK who was there at the same time. Our daughter, Diane, was our tour guide—everything from the Guggenheim Museum to the charming craft shops in the Village, from "The Premise" to a magnificent production of "The Play of Daniel" by Pro Musica in St. George's Church.

One of the very few women producers in network television, Miss Doris Ann is manager of all the National Broadcasting Company's religious programs. Her work has given a spiritual lift to millions of Americans. Bucknellians will remember Miss Ann as Doris Ann Scharfenberg '38. She has dropped her last name on the job because "the switchboard girls couldn't manage it."

When Doris Ann began her present job in 1951, she moved her camera crew into churches to televise devotional services. Except for special holiday programs, she has discontinued that format remarking, "We are not trying to make religion a spectator sport. When you want to worship, go to church and have the satisfaction of participating. Watching a service on the home screen isn't the same thing at all. Being a bystander just isn't enough."

Miss Ann's work has taken her to such faraway places as Rio de Janeiro, Rome, Moscow, Jerusalem, London and Hong Kong in search of fresh television fare to be taped for the NBC television religious programs. In 1958 the Business and Professional Women's Clubs of Metropolitan New York named her the outstanding professional woman of the year. Her work has won many major honors in the industry, including two Sylvania Awards.

Miss Ann received an M.A. degree from New York University and, after a year in social work in New Jersey, joined Barbizon Corporation as personnel manager. In 1944 she joined NBC's Personnel Department and has been an NBC-TV producer since 1951.

Doris Ann's address is 75 Prospect St., Apt. 4-C, East Orange, N. J.

Diane's friend, Janet Hunt, was our house guest for the remainder of our vacation—her cousin, the former JANE PITTENGER '54, is also a Bucknellian now living in Boulder, Colo., where her husband teaches at the University of Colorado.

Speaking of Colorado, our better half is now at Martin-Marietta in Denver and has been adopted by the Bucknell group there, thanks to BERT RUDGERS Conover '36, who is secretary and who meets the visiting dignitaries when they come to the mile-high city. Bert wrote recently and reports that Homer Price Rainey whose presidency at Bucknell extended over our four years, is now head of adult education at the University of Colorado. Bert's letter read like Chamber of Commerce literature and Paul's reports of his travels from southern Colorado to South Dakota are fascinating.

We would most certainly welcome some news from other members of our class and hope that 1962 brings you all health, happiness and an eager pen!

36

MRS. H. T. SHAUB
 (Virginia Nyland)
 416 S. Scott Ave.
 Glenolden, Pa.

Christmas notes are a joy although they always seem too short for the news of a whole year. SALLY HIGH Scholl wrote that she and her husband, Harry, are planning for college for their daughter, Regina, who will be graduated from high school this June. Sally keeps busy teaching in the high school in addition to taking care of the family.

President Odgers has appointed three members of the Class of '36 to serve on the newly organized Bucknell Development Council. The '36ers honored by this appointment are: JOHN C. DECKER, Esq., DANIEL F. GRIFFITH, and THOMAS W. RAUFFENBART, Esq. Congratulations!

MRS. PAULI W. ZIEGLER
(Mabel N. Nyland)
12 W. Garrison Rd., Parkside
Chester, Pa.

JUNE REUNION

Plans are in full swing for our reunion. BILL ZIMMERMAN and LEIGH HERMAN are heading the committee. At this writing, JAY EVANS BALLARD and MARTHA KNIGHTS BARRACLOUGH are going to help with the reunion book. Do hope to see you all in Lewisburg!

The flurry of reunion activity has brought a number of new addresses to light, so far not reported in the column. Here they are: Mrs. Frederick Cates (MARY L. KALB), 2426 Volanda Ave., San Diego 11, Calif.; Mr. PAUL CILLO, 5715 Olive Ave., Sarasota, Fla.; VINCENT LOFTUS, 1943 Clinton Ave., Chambersburg; Mrs. William Van Duren (OLIVE DECKER), 25 Lewis Lane, Fair Haven, N. J.; MICHAEL HYNDY, Esq., 113 Fleming Ave., Newark 5, N. J.; Mrs. Thomas B. Mervine (FRANCES MILES), 1170 Wyndwood Rd., Haddonfield, N. J.; JOSEPH VALENTINO, 1312 Annandale Rd., Falls Church, Va.

JOSEPH G. WORTLEY has become president of Penn-Harris Steel Co., Harrisburg, Pa. However, he still resides, with his family, at 93 Colt Rd., Summit, N. J.

HARRIETTE SPEYER Newcomb writes from Cambridge, Mass., "Just about a year ago I left the Brookline Taxpayers' Association and became the administrative secretary of the Occupational Medical Service of the Medical Dept. here at M.I.T. My daughter, Mary Linda, was graduated Cum Laude with an associate degree in science from Dean Junior College in Franklin, Mass., and is working as a medical secretary at the Children's Medical Center in Boston. My son, Bud, entered Dean Junior College in September and received a scholarship for being the most outstanding high school graduate that had attended Pierce Grammar School. And my son, Bradley, is putting through 8th grade." The Newcombs make their home at 173 Davis Ave., Brookline, Mass. Many thanks for writing, Harriette!

MRS. JOSEPH T. QUICK
(Mary Bachman)
Wrights Rd., R. D. 2
Newtown, Pa.

Mr. and Mrs. J. FREDERICK (FRITZ) EVERETT (BETTY OSBORNE '39) and children will be in Washington, D. C., for six months, then return to California. Fritz has an assignment at the Pentagon.

A recent letter from HAROLD E. WEIDNER '39 informs us that during the Weidner three-week holiday vacation in Florida they met HERB BOWMAN several times. Herb is credit manager for a building supply firm and lives with his family at 936 Bradley Court, West Palm Beach, Fla. Harold writes: "We managed to get in one game of golf together. From the way and distance Herb hits the ball, it appears that he is spending considerable time on the golf course. (He took me!)"

The Weidners keep in touch with Bucknell through STEVE STEPHANOU; GAY RUSSELL DUEGER and husband "DUKE" DUEGER '47, who are moving into a new home; and bridge partners Eric and GRACE COLLETT Janson '39.

MR. DAVID R. BAGENSTOSE
12 Kinterra Rd.
Wayne, Pa.

We extend deep sympathy to JOHN R. UTEN on the death of his father who was a leading citizen of Lewisburg and head of the Citizen's Electric Company. John is a pilot with Pan American World Airways and lives with his wife, the former Caroline Fisher and their two children in Massapequa, N. Y.

DONALD P. McHUGH, Esq., has left the Washington, D. C., area after serving as chief counsel of the U. S. Senate Judiciary Committee's anti-trust and monopoly sub-committee to become attorney and vice president of the legal department of State Farm Mutual Insurance Co., in Bloomington, Ill.

We have received information that EDWARD and LAURA THOMPSON RAPP are in the process of building a new home in Puerto Rico. Until the home is completed mail should be sent to Edward's business address: Readers Digest Latin America, Inc., 1519 First Federal Building, Santurce, Puerto Rico. Edward is a representative of Reader's Digest, and Laura is principal of the Episcopal Cathedral School in Santurce, Puerto Rico.

MRS. JAMES A. MILLER
(Mary McGrina)
1492 Colfax Ave.
Benton Harbor, Mich.

Last October MILDRED FISHER was married to Theodore F. Ebell. Before her marriage she served as executive secretary at Young and Rubicam, Inc. and General Reinsurance Corp. in New York City. The Ebells live at Gardencrest Apartments, 97-2 Lyman St., Waltham, Mass., where Ted is an industrial engineer with the Aero Weapons Division in Andover, Mass., of the Raytheon Co.

After a long absence we are happy to welcome back to our mailing list HERMAN B. MOSLER, who is serving as secretary and treasurer of the Crown Coat, Apron & Towel Service at 3421 Market St., Philadelphia 4. Herman was married in 1940 and he and Mrs. Mosler are the proud parents of three daughters.

Dr. CARL A. BENNETT continues his important work at the Hanford Laboratories of the General Electric Company at Richland, Wash., one of the major production works for the Atomic Energy Commission. He serves as manager, operations research and synthesis. His career achievements are listed in the latest edition of American Men of Science. Carl with his wife, the former Myra Schwan, and two daughters, Carla Marie and Tamara Louise, live at 3115 West Canal Dr., Kennewick, Wash.

LOUIS E. MCKEE is now director of counseling at the State University of Potsdam, N. Y., now a four year liberal arts college. His principal responsibility is preparing teachers—early childhood, general elementary, early secondary English and history, secondary mathematics, and science and music. Their Crane School of Music is one of the finest in the country. Theda, Lou's wife, is teaching first grade at Canton, N. Y., ten miles west of Potsdam. Their daughters, Theda Blair, 12; and Susan, 10; are in grades 6 and 4 in the campus school.

MRS. WILLIAM F. HASSELBERGER
(Jean P. Steele)
605 Scott Ave.
Syracuse 3, N. Y.

JOHN L. LEWIS has recently been made manager of the computing center for the Babcock & Wilcox Co., in Barberton, Ohio. John and his wife, the former Grace Illwitzer, and their four children reside at 153 Westgate St., Wadsworth, Ohio.

MRS. THOMAS R. DIETZ
(Germaine B. Pepperman)
83 Nutt Road
Phoenixville, Pa.

JUNE REUNION

With the arrival of the school term this past September, RALPH and ANNE DEWEES BOLTON and their son, Jim, closed up the successful stand they had operated at the side of a lake near their New Hampshire home, and headed for the sunny climes of Florida. They love living at 1131 76th Ave., N., St. Petersburg, Fla., and are doing all the swimming and sunbathing that they missed while cooking for their food stand last summer. Ralph has become associated with a chain of eating places in Florida, learning more yet about the restaurant business. It's a tough racket. I could tell him, but one that gives you a sense of satisfaction. By this time, maybe they have already joined up with some more of the Bucknellians living in Florida for a good, old-time gab fest.

Christmas brought me some notes from some of the same folks that I've reported on before, and it would be wonderful to hear from some others. In the May issue of THE ALUMNUS, let's have a long list of the ones who are going to make it back for our 29th reunion. At this writing, have had several communications from BUD EISAMAN regarding plans for the reunion and they are shaping up fast and sound wonderful. WALT CLOKE has consented to be the editor of the Reunion Book, and that's a most important job. Remember to send in any questionnaires you might receive so that he can have all the cooperation he needs.

In the "Tempus Fugit" Dept., it will interest you to know that Forest Chilton, III, son of the late FOREST CHILTON, II, and MARIE GRABOWSKI CHILTON MESSEROLL is now a freshman at Bucknell. A lot of us have children just about ready to make that decision for college, and so help me, it doesn't seem that long ago that I was anxiously packing my own trunks!

Rev. RONALD E. KEHLER, who received his master's degree in 1942, has been writing lines since retiring from school work. He continues to serve as minister for the Mount Carmel First Congregational United Church of Christ. A Shamokin newspaper, Shamokin Citizen, published his sermon (written in lines) "The Greatness of God" in the December 21, 1961, edition. A booklet of Ronald's lines, entitled "Let Me Share These Thoughts," was published in 1961. Rev. Kehler was graduated from Bloomsburg State Normal School in 1920 and earned an A.B. degree from Susquehanna University in 1931. The Kehlers have four children: Wanda Kehler, Mrs. Joan Smith, Mrs. Carol Ferguson and RONALD E. KEHLER, JR. '61.

EDITOR'S NOTE: We are saddened to report Rev. Kehler's sudden death on January 26, 1962.

Let's hear from all of you who are going to get back for reunion, even a postcard so that I can include your name in the May issue, and even if you can't make the trip, let's hear from you. My New Year's resolution is to get some new names in our news before another class reporter comes along in June of 1962!

MRS. ROBERT F. BAKER
(Honey Rhinesmith)
Lindys Lake, R. D.
Butler, N. J.

ROBERT L. GATSKI, M.D., superintendent of the Danville State Hospital, has recently been admitted to the Pennsylvania Chapter, American College of Hospital Administration. Since 1955 he has been a diplomate in psychiatry and has served as editor-in-chief of the Pennsylvania Psychiatric Quarterly and as consultant in psychiatry at Geisinger Medical Center, Bloomsburg Hospital, the Federal Penitentiary at Lewisburg and the Muncy State Industrial Home. Bob has a son, Bob, Jr., a member of the Bucknell Class of 1965.

The husband of the former MARIAN REID WILSON, Mr. Ezio Martinelli, a United States artist, was the creator of a modern piece of sculpture recently added to the U. N. Headquarters Building in New York City. Attending the presentation ceremonies were Dr. and Mrs. EDWARD F. RABE, Jr. '39, and their four children of Boston, Mass. The Martinelli work was placed on the outside of the east wall of the General Assembly Building, 45 feet above the terrace surmounting the rose garden. The design and location were chosen by the late Dag Hammarskjöld, Secretary-General of the United Nations.

Clinton A. Condict '37

Rev. Clinton A. Condict '37 became the minister of the Richford Baptist Church and the Montgomery Center Baptist Church in Northern Vermont early in December. He had been associate pastor of the Lakewood Baptist Church in Lakewood, Ohio, since 1955. On December 31, 1959, Rev. Condict celebrated his 20th anniversary of ordination into the ministry.

Several generations of Bucknellians will remember the Condict family: father—E. Carroll Condict '08; sons—Edward C. Condict, Jr. '36; Clinton A. Condict '37; T. Chubb Condict '39; grandsons (sons of Clinton '37)—Edgar R. Condict '62 and Clinton A. Condict, Jr. '63.

Clinton was very active in sports during his years at Bucknell, having won three varsity letters in soccer. To mention a few of his other activities, he was a member of the Alpha Chi Mu social fraternity, Men's Debating Squad, Tau Kappa Alpha, L'AGENDA staff, Student Church Council and Student Faculty Congress.

Now that he has moved back to New England Clint will be able to brush up on his hobbies of skating and skiing.

Rev. and Mrs. Condict, the former Helen Thurston, and family live in Richford, Vt.

work was accepted for the United Nations by the president of the General Assembly, Mongi Slim of Tunisia. Adlai E. Stevenson, permanent representative of the United States to the U. N. and Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt spoke on this occasion. An interesting sidelight of the presentation exercises occurred when Mr. W. Walter Wilson, father of MARIAN WILSON Martinelli met his Princeton fellow alumnus, Ambassador Stevenson, and told him of the prayers-for-peace movement being carried on in interdenominational services in Milton. Ambassador Stevenson expressed his warm feeling toward the movement when he learned that it had been spreading throughout the community and is being advanced in other parts of the country.

New addresses: Mr. and Mrs. JACK T. HUSE, 778 Oakridge Dr., Rochester 17, N. Y.; BILL '43 and JANET LAWLOR BACK '43, 38 Westwood Dr., Westfield, Mass.

45

MRS. EDWARD D. BOSTON
(Lois F. Dupuy)
751 Hyslip Avenue
Westfield, N. J.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas J. Padden (BARBARA A. DYER) of 918 Oxford Blvd., Steubenville, Ohio, welcomed the fourth son into their home on November 14, 1961, and named him Daniel Gerald. He joins Tom, 10; Jim, 8; and Bill, 5.

Mr. and Mrs. John F. Bacon (PHOEBE G. FOLLMER) were among the people who witnessed the celebration marking the independence of Tanganyika on December 8, 1961. The family has been in Africa since the end of July where John is serving with the International Cooperation Administration, the U. S. government's foreign aid program. Other overseas assignments prior to this have been in Bagdad and Guam. Their address is: U. S. O. M., Tanganyika, State Department Mail Room, Washington 25, D. C.

A note from PHYLLIS ADAMS McVeigh '44 brings us the latest from Mt. Hermon, Mass., where her husband, Fred, is French teacher and director of admissions at the Mt. Hermon School. The McVeighs have two children: Joe, 4; and Ellen, 2.

A new address for Mr. and Mrs. Bud Steele (MAGGIE GILL '44): R. D. 2, Lyonsville Rd., Boonton, N. J.

46

MRS. LELAND C. EWING
(Betty Wells)
41 Crest Drive
Tarrytown, N. Y.

Mr. and Mrs. William E. ORAM of Hopewell Junction, N. Y., announce the marriage of their daughter, ELOISE, to David D. Hamilton on November 22, 1961.

Susan Elizabeth Sylvester was born on September 19, 1961, and the previously all-boy household of Dick and BETTY HADFIELD Sylvester, with brothers Dick (11), Dave (8), and Peter (5) welcomed her at 79 Cedar Ave., Rockville Centre, N. Y.

Waldner Children

Pictured here are the children of Mr. and Mrs. J. DUDLEY WALDNER (JEAN M. NEWSOM). They are (l. to r.) Jay, Deborah, Lynn and Peter.

47

MRS. HERBERT GOLDMAN
(Tanara Goryvitch)
370 Holland Lane
Englewood, N. J.

JUNE REUNION

Are reunion dates June 1, 2 and 3 circled on your calendar? Is your babysitter reserved? Or the kids told you're treating them to a week end on a college campus? There are lots of new things to see at Bucknell and there's no nicer way of doing it than with your old classmates. Here's hoping we'll see each other in three months!

There's a new baby at the home of Mr. and Mrs. GEORGE C. BULLOCK '48 (RUTH RICHARDSON). Brian arrived September 25 and joins Patty, 11; Rusty, 10; and Bruce, 1½. The happy family of six lives at 30 Secklepear Rd., Levittown.

Mr. and Mrs. EUGENE J. MATTHEWS (JUNE STOTT) and their three children also have a new address. They moved from one home in Pottstown to another and now live on Buchert Rd., R. D. 3.

Ed, Katharine and Don Woehling

The smiling trio pictured are the goodlooking children of Mr. and Mrs. H. Leigh Woehling (MARY WOLFINGER). They are Ed, 12; Katharine, 2½, and Don, 9. Address: Box 155, Waverly.

48

MRS. JAMES A. BROWN
(Joann G. Golightly)
1591 Hillcrest Terrace
Union, N. J.

Dr. GEORGE J. SCHUMACHER has been promoted to professor of biology and re-appointed head of the biology department at Harpur College in Binghamton, N. Y. Since his graduation he has earned the Master of Science and Doctor of Philosophy degrees in botany at Cornell University. He is a co-author of Weeds, a revision of a standard text, published by MacMillan Company in 1955, and has written extensively on the subject of algae under a grant from the Atomic Energy Commission to support a floristic study of the algae in the streams and rivers of North Carolina. He, with his wife, the former FRANCES L. MURDAUGH, and their two sons, live at 2511 Sherman Dr., Endicott, N. Y.

How about an early vacation—in June—the 1st, 2nd and 3rd—a reunion with friends on the Bucknell campus?

It is with sincere sadness that I report to you the death of Jeffrey Dawson, twelve-year-old son of JUDY SHANK DAWSON and CHET DAWSON. Jeffrey died on November 14, 1961, after an unsuccessful battle against cystic fibrosis. He was in the sixth grade and very proud of his school. His sister, Julie (10), is at home with her mother and father at 263 Linden Ave., Verona, N. J. I'm sure they would appreciate a note from you.

The girl across the hall from me during my freshman year, DOROTHY GOTTERER Horwitz and her husband, Melvin, happily announced the arrival of their son, Aaron Daniel, on October 31, 1961. He is the brother of Abbie, 7; Laurie, 5; and Wendy, 3. Congratulations.

TRUDY VOGEL Graham and husband, Tom, sent a Christmas letter of much news. Tom is assistant principal at Ritter School, Tempe, Ariz. Trudy does public health nursing and takes care of their children: Chrissy, Hank and Carol. Trudy says she hopes to come east for the World's Fair in 1964—I hope they make it a year earlier for our 15th! Hear me, Trudy?

MRS. THOMAS A. FRAZIER
(Marilyn L. Harer)
1344 Mansel Ave.
Williamsport, Pa.

The Rev. WILLIAM E. FENSTERMAKER, who earned his B.D. degree in 1952 at Drew Theological Seminary and has been serving as pastor of the Methodist Church in Gettysburg, has become associate pastor of the Mt. Lebanon Methodist Church, Pittsburgh. He lives at 571 Crystal Dr., Pittsburgh 34.

GEORGE V. GERBER and family moved to R. D. 2, Dalton, where George has become chief components engineer of Daystrom Inc. Military Electronics Division at Archbald. George earned his M.S. degree at Clarkson College of Technology in 1951. He and his wife, the former MARY E. BANTA '51, have two daughters, Carolyn and Georgie (almost 2) and a son, Clark (2).

JOHN R. LOUGHEAD, JR., M.D., was recently named chairman of the Union County Red Cross. Jack has been practicing in Lewisburg since 1959.

Mrs. LEONARD BLOCK '47 (NAOMI L. FARR) was elected treasurer of the Bucknell Alumni Club of Westchester.

A recent letter from BETTY IBACH Emery, informs us that her second son, Alan, is now nearly three years old. Alan and his brother, Scott, 8, have resided with their Mommy and Daddy in Rome, Italy, for the past three years. The family expects to return to the United States within the near future.

HOWARD H. MASTER of Beaver Springs became superintendent of Snyder County Schools on January 1, 1962.

MISS HELEN E. GLOISTEN
161 Oak Street
West Hempstead, L. I., N. Y.

Maj. WILLIAM H. BAUMER, who spent 12 months in a Red Chinese prison camp before his release in August, 1955, has become chairman of the Steering Committee for Prayers Unlimited—PUL, a movement which began in October in Milton and was recognized as an outstanding effort by Adlai E. Stevenson, Chief U. S. delegate to the United Nations. Bill is now serving as guidance counselor in the Milton Area Joint Junior-Senior High School and received his Master of Science degree in education from Bucknell in August, 1960.

ROBERT F. ERVIN, JR., has been transferred to New England as district sales manager for Champion Papers Inc. Bob, with his wife, Rosemary, and three sons reside at 124 Westgate, Wellesley, Mass.

JOHN S. PURNELL, Jr., M.D., is serving as president this year of the Quarterback Club, an organization of Alumni and townspeople in Lewisburg who meet every Wednesday noon during the football season at the Hotel Lewisburger to view pictures of the football game of the previous week end and get a preview of the next game from the coaching staff.

SAMUEL C. RANCK, Esq., announced the arrival of a son, Samuel C. Ranck, III, on November 21, 1961. He joins Cynthia, age 1½ years.

GUY L. KRAPP has resigned his position as Millburg borough manager to accept a position as borough manager and electrical engineer for the Borough of Quakertown. The change was effective January 1. Guy is married to the former Ruth Shaffer and has one daughter, Sarah Katherine, who is 8 years old. He may be contacted at the Borough Hall, Broad St., Quakertown.

MRS. WAYNE M. STEVENSON
(Janet Miller)
4611 Surrey Rd., Devon Manor
Harrisburg, Pa.

DONALD BETTY spoke to the freshman engineering class on November 1 on the campus. His topic was: "Opportunities in Engineering." Don is on the officer staff of the Bucknell Engineering Alumni Association and a past president of the Bucknell Alumni Club of Lancaster.

Dr. EMIL J. POLAK returned to Bucknell this past September from Princeton University where he earned the degree of Doctor of Philosophy in near record time of three years. Dr. Polak is professor of mathematics and astronomy at our Alma Mater.

Just a word to all of you. I haven't been receiving much news. Let's try to have more for the next issue of the ALUMNUS.

MRS. JOHN S. BOULDEN, JR.
(Barbara Bleecker)
1605 Twin Maple Ave.
Towson 4, Md.

JUNE REUNION

Our reunion committee started work in January to insure us the biggest and best 10th. But your role is THE most important part in the plans! Your job is to be in Lewisburg on June 1, 2 and 3. We won't take no for an answer!

DON (BUCKY) STRASSNER, the man who wore the weirdest basketball face mask ever devised by Hal Biggs, has been appointed field promotion manager in the Philadelphia District Sales Office of Aluminum Company of America. Don and his wife, the former Helen Miller, along with a son and two daughters now reside at 317 Spencer Rd., Devon.

In early December a note arrived from Mrs. Edwin Daniel Vierling (LEE CRAIG). She reported a son, Craig Daniel, born on November 18, 1961. "A real peanut, weighing in at 5 lbs., 14 oz." The Vierling's new address: 5050 88th St., S. E., Mercer Island, Wash.

Along with our Christmas cards came welcome news of two family additions. Roy and MARILYN NAUGLE Burkholder wrote that Scott Alan joined brother Steve last August. In January Marilyn and Burky moved to their new home—623 Brenton Rd., Shippensburg. From Garfield, N. J., Bob and WINNIE HODGSON Blencowe reported the birth of son, Bill, on August 3. Their other children are: Robert, Jr.; and twins, Sandra and Susan.

Head football coach at City College, one of Baltimore's largest high schools, GEORGE YOUNG had an outstanding year in 1961. He coached his team to the Maryland Scholastic Association's "A" Division Championship. He was also head mentor for an M. S. A. all star—Loyola benefit game held in Baltimore's Memorial Stadium in November. NICK SCHLOEDER, head football coach at Gilman, was an assistant coach for the benefit game.

Sally McMahon

Pictured above is the daughter of RICHARD and NANCY (SCHNEHL '53) McMAHON. Sally was born on October 17, 1960.

See YOU in June!

General Thomas D. White, U. S. A. F.
(Retired), IF'58

General Thomas Dresser White, U. S. A. F. (Retired), former Chief of Staff of the United States Air Force, has been elected to the Board of Directors of Eastern Air Lines.

Graduated from the U. S. Military Academy at West Point in 1920, as an infantry officer, General White received his pilot's rating in 1924 and subsequently served with the Army Air Corps and later the U. S. Air Force in many parts of the world until his retirement from active duty on June 30, 1961. During the latter part of World War II he commanded the Seventh Air Force in Saipan, Okinawa and Hawaii, and previously had been deputy commander of the 13th Air Force in New Guinea, Borneo and The Philippines.

He was a member of the National Advisory Committee on Aeronautics from 1957 to 1960, and is currently a member of the Board of Consultants of the National War College, and a contributing editor of NEWSWEEK magazine.

His home is in Washington, D. C.

MRS. JAMES A. CHAMBERS, JR.
(Barbara Roemer)
15 Walden Place
West Caldwell, N. J.

EDMUND H. JESCHKE, Esq., and his wife, Carol, announce the birth of a daughter, Edaina Elaine, on November 25, 1961. They live at 437 Woodbine Ave., Syracuse 99, N. Y.

DONALD W. HILL, of 1925 Butztown Rd., Bethlehem, has been named assistant professor of marketing in the Department of Economics and Sociology at Lehigh University. He is presently completing his dissertation for his doctorate degree from the American University where he taught marketing and served as associate research director last year. Don looks forward to writing a textbook or two some time after his dissertation is completed. Assisting him (?) will be Douglas, 12; Randall, 7; and Jane, 4.

Capt. RALPH K. WILLERS is serving NATO and SHAPE troops as Post Chaplain at Fontainebleau, France. Ralph received his B.D. degree from Princeton Theological Seminary in 1956 and entered the Army as a Chaplain the same year. He has completed tours of duty at Fort Stewart, Ga.; Panmun-som, Korea; and the U. S. Air Defense Command (missile) in Connecticut, prior to this most recent assignment. He is married to the former Kathryn C. Bradley and has a son, David, who was born in September, 1961, both of whom are remaining in the States for the present. Ralph's address: Hq., U.S. Army Garrison, Fontainbleau, France, APO 11, N. Y.

"The Bisons are not forgotten in New England," says Rev. Clinton Condict '37, and he sent the above picture to prove it. The New Hampshire license plate is owned by his son, Edgar R. Condict '62, who is president of Bioelectronics Research in New London, N. H. The Vermont license plate belongs to Rev. Condict who is now pastor of the First Baptist Church of Richford, Vt. See page 28 for more information on Rev. Condict.

Phil and PAT FORLEIFER Robbins announce the birth of a daughter, Lynn Marie, on May 14, 1961.

54

MRS. PAUL C. TARR, III
(Anne E. Tuckerman)
413 Allison Rd.
Springfield, Pa.

Dr. HARRY E. BOSTIAN, JR., has joined the staff of the general engineering division of Esso Research and Engineering Company. Harry received his master's degree in 1956 from Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute and his Ph.D. in 1959 from Iowa State University. His advanced degrees are in chemical engineering. Before joining Esso Research, he was an assistant professor of chemical engineering at the University of New Hampshire. He is married to the former Marion Manrer, and they reside at Cora Lane, Chester, N. J.

WILLIAM E. COX of 4003 S. 18th St., Arlington 4, Va., received his LL.B. degree from George Washington Law School last year and is now vice president of the Motel Insurance Underwriters with offices at 1112 13th St., N. W., Washington 5, D. C. He has four children: Cathy (5), David (4), Bruce (1 1/2), and Thomas was born in July, 1961.

Mr. and Mrs. N. JACK CLARK announce the arrival of a daughter, Bethany Dianne, into their home on October 12, 1961.

Mr. and Mrs. R. DANFORTH CROSSLEY became the parents of a daughter, Lori Ann, born October 26, 1961.

Rabbi EDWIN H. FRIEDMAN, of Temple Shalom, Chevy Chase, Md., was one of the visiting speakers and discussion leaders at the Bucknell Religion-in-Life program in November.

EUGENE L. FINE, Esq., is now serving as assistant general counsel to the U.S. Steel Corporation, Trustee of the U.S. Steel Railroad Company, and a member of the U.S. Steel Board of Directors.

earned his A.B. degree at the University of Pennsylvania in 1954 and his LL.B. from Harvard in 1957.

Rev. MALCOLM D. MacCUBBIN was married in November, 1961, and soon thereafter became assistant pastor of Christ Church (Presbyterian) in Burlington, Vt. For the past four years he has served as minister to two congregations in Rhode Island. He and his wife, the former Christina Kerr, and two stepsons reside at 1516 North Avenue, Burlington, Vt.

55

MRS. JOHN C. VANCE, JR.
(Jane Jones)
3 Ford Court
Charleston, S. C.

On September 30, 1961, JAMES L. HERTZLER was married to the former Arlene M. Stough of Dillsburg. Jim is a highway design engineer with Capitol Engineering Corporation of Dillsburg. The happy couple resides at R. D. 2, Mechanicsburg.

BOB ('52) and LINNEA (LINDBERG) JEPSEN welcomed son, Andrew James, on October 3, 1961. Andy joins twin sisters, Carol and Christine, born in 1957 and brother Jesse, born on April 1, 1956.

JOHN R. McKEE, V, and his wife, Rita, announce the birth of their second daughter, Mary Anne, on December 29, 1961. Susan, now two years old, is enjoying the role of "big sister." The McKees live at 433 Lee Blvd., Utica 4, N. Y.

Another son, Brian Maltly, was born to Al and BEV GRAY Higley on November 19, 1961.

Charles and CLAIRE MARSHALL McLean plus Cevon, Chari, and Christie Marie are beginning a new tour of duty with the Air Force at Wright Patterson after three years in Bermuda.

Mr. and Mrs. Keith Reynolds (DOROTHY C. LEWIS) have moved from California to 12410 Littleton St., Wheaton, Md. Daughter, Karen Diane, was born on May 4, 1961. Dorothy would like to hear from Bucknellians in her area.

56

MRS. WILLIAM J. O'NEIL
(Jean M. Wirths)
1706 Esplanade Apt. C
Hollywood Riv.
Redondo Beach, Calif.

ROBERT T. BERRINGER was married to the former JEAN TWEEDY of Turtle Creek on October 30, 1961. Bob is working as an engineer in the Reactor Engineering Department of Westinghouse.

1st Lieutenants JIM GARDNER and ART KINNEY were recalled to active duty at the end of 1961, and both became members of 464th Transportation Company at Ft. Eustis, Va.

LARRIE (SORESI) and BOB TWEED are happily located in their own home in Charlton, N. Y., with son Dirk (4) and daughter Jody (2 1/2). When Bob is not accounting for General Electric, he finds time to teach Sunday School, serve as deacon of their church, and treasurer of the P. T. A. Larrie keeps busy with the pre-school P. T. A. group. Wives Club, and committee work for a nursery school. The Tweed address is 5 McNamara Rd., R. D. 1, Ballston Lake, N. Y.

Word about the McCARTNEYS (Donna and DICK) comes in a note from DOT (HUND '57) KINNEY. The McCartneys had a daughter, Holly Beth, born December 3.

GINNY (McCULLY) and PETE STRAUB '55 welcomed a daughter, Holly Jane, on December 20. The Straub address is 800 Elm-tree Crescent, Westfield, N. J.

JOANNA (RANDOLPH) and JACK ROTT '52 had their annual reunion-Christmas party. JANET (REPLOGLE) and BOB ROBERTS '54, BETTY ANN (FOGG) and Bill Hayward, BETSY (GRUBB) and Jim Douglas, LOIE (BUNNELL '57) and BILL TOAL '54, MARGIE (MARSHALL) and STEVE LARKIN, and TRUDY (KNUTZEN '53) and ABE POWELSON '53 were there.

There's a new address for BETTY ANN (FOGG) and Bill Hayward. The Haywards are now owners of a two-story brick colonial on half an acre at 227 Grandview Rd., Wallingford Summit, Media.

58

MRS. FRANK H. RICHARDS, III
(Faith Bonsall)
6 Holman St.
Allston, Mass.

Since completing his two years of service in the armed forces in March, 1961, JAMES B. GRIFFITHS has become a management trainee with the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company. Jim and his wife, the former JANET HERRMANN, along with son, James Christopher (born in October, 1960), now live at 497 Washington St., Brighton 35, Mass.

DICK LOCKE has been recalled to active military service and is serving with the 301th Logistical Command at Ft. Bragg, N. C., as a medical regulating officer.

Rev. DONALD E. SPEAR, now of Bradford, was one of the speakers and discussion leaders at the Bucknell Religion-in-Life program in November.

Mr. and Mrs. Dan Daly (MARYANNE BUNKER) now live in South America with son Bruce (1 1/2 yrs.) and daughter Kim, born December 30, 1961. Dan is with the City Bank of New York. Address: Casilla de Correo 690, Montevideo, Uruguay, S. A.

HAROLD and DABBIE (BARTLESON) ERIKSON announce the birth of their second child, Jeffrey Scott, on September 20, 1961, and weighing in at 10 lbs, 7 1/2 oz! The Eriksons live at 101 Albany Ave., Johnson City, N. Y.

CAROL MERWIN became Mrs. KENNETH S. BOYER on August 19, 1961. KEN is making a career of the army and they will be 3 years in Okinawa. Address: 1/Lt. K. S. Boyer 082436, A Btry, 8 Bsl. Bn. (Hawk) 1st Arty., APO 331, San Francisco, Calif.

EDGE and GIB (RODI) DEUEL are residing in Chittenango, N. Y., at 190 Lake Street. Daughter Avery is 17 months, and as of this writing a second little Denel is well on its way. Edge is coaching football and teaching in the local high school—typically Edge, he says "So far nobody has found out just what I do!" But he goes on to point out that they won a game this year.

59

MRS. VENALD W. BOYARD, JR.
(Jeanne F. Anderson)
334 Hickory St.
Peckville, Pa.

On June 17, 1961, ANNABEL LEE SMITH became the bride of Richard A. Wullaert who is with the Bettelle Memorial Institute in Columbus, Ohio. The Wullaerts reside at 1629 Wyandotte, Columbus, Ohio.

Mr. and Mrs. ALAN W. STEISS (PATRICIA F. McCLINTOCK) announce the birth of their second child, Darren Christopher, on September 29, 1961. He joins Carol Jean, 2. Alan is senior planner with the Division of State and Regional Planning in New Jersey. The new home of the family is at 37 Vine Way, Bordentown, N. J.

LEE DAVIS and his wife, Maureen, also announce the arrival of a child, Lee, on August 28; and TOM and Lynn LINTON added a second child, Molly Jamison, to their family. Molly joins sister, Rachel. The Lintons live in Boston, Mass., where Tom is employed by United States Steel Corp.

JOAN PEREGOY Thayer writes from 832 Cowan Rd., Bon Air 35, Va., where she and husband Ted are living. Joan received her master's degree in English Literature at the University of Pennsylvania before her marriage in June.

HERB WRIGHT and MARTY TAYLOR became Mr. and Mrs. on January 13, and they are living at the Colonnade Apts., 381 road St., Newark 4, N. J.

DICK VASQUEZ, now stationed at Camp June, N. C., has just returned from a Mediterranean cruise with the Marines.

BRUCE and Dee HUTCHINSON and their children, Naney and Jay, are living at 502 alley Rd., Cos Cob, Conn. "Hutch" is employed by Morgan Security Trust Co. in New York City.

And we BOVARDS happily announce the birth of our second son, David Addison, on the 30th of December.

Thank you for your letters. Best wishes to each of you in 1962 for a year of good health and achievement.

50 MBS. DAVID N. OTT
(Jane Dahl)
5650-D Demoret Ave.
Van Voorhis Manor
Fort Knox, Ky.

RICHARD H. FELIX and Sandra Seiders were married on June 17 and are living at 55½ W. 7th Ave., South Williamsport. Dick is teaching English and history in the Monrville High School and is assistant scoutmaster of Troop No. 39 in that town.

DAVID K. SLIFER, after completing his military service, has accepted a position with the Caterpillar Tractor Company in Peoria, Ill.

JANE ANN WELLHOFER became the bride of Lt. (jg) Jerold A. Nelson (University of Minnesota) on September 9, 1961. The happy couple moved to 1565A Pensacola St., Honolulu, Hawaii, where Lt. Nelson will serve in the U. S. Coast Guard until 1963. Prior to her marriage, Jane served as a stewardess on United Air Lines out of San Francisco, Calif.

ISABELLE J. BATES and Stuart K. Bacon were married September 9, 1961. Two classmates, BARBARA IRLAND and BARBARA ARBARIN Junta were in the wedding party. Isabelle is a research technician at the Medical Center of the University of Rochester. The Basons are living at 101 Genesee Park Blvd., Rochester 11, N. Y.

PHYLLIS E. GERSBACH and CLIFFORD DYE, JR., were married August 26 and are living at 355 Kingwood St., Morgantown, W. Va. Phyllis received her Master of Music degree in voice from West Virginia University in July and is now an instructor in the music department there. Cliff is working on his M.D. in musicology.

RONALD H. KAISER married ELLEN HODAPP on September 9 and early in October went to Ft. Sill, Okla., for a six-month tour of duty in the U. S. Army, after which he plans to return to his regular occupation as manager of estate planning and corporate tax analysis department of Booker Brothers & Co. in Wilkes-Barre.

JIM CHAPMAN has completed the graduate training course at Allis-Chalmers and has been assigned as sales representative for the company in Allentown. He, with his wife, the former LOUISE A. LINTON '59, reside at 8 A-B Jordan Park Apts., Fullerton.

1 MISS CAROLANN M. BUQUET
58 Brookside Ave.
Merrick, N. Y.

JUNE REUNION

LYN MADGE BECHTEL of 9420 Drake Ave., Evanston, Ill., is a student at the University of Illinois School of Medicine.

JAN POWERS, after spending a summer in Europe, is working for her M.A. degree in linguistics at the University of Michigan. She has also been awarded a Rotary Foundation Fellowship for study at the University of Karachi, Pakistan, for the 1962-63 academic year. Jan will study Asian languages and culture in preparation for a career in teaching English as a foreign language.

ARCH 1962

DONNY GREEN has been working at Bloomingdale, New York City, as an assistant buyer. However, he plans to leave merchandising in the spring for the Naval O. C. S.

MERN JONES and DOUG REED were married December 30 in Philadelphia. Doug is a 2nd lieutenant in the Army. The Reeds are living at: 6610 Woods Pkwy., Apt. 3A, Baltimore 22, Md.

A Virgin Islands honeymoon was enjoyed by CATHY PEYSER and JOHN SOMMERS following their wedding on December 2.

NANCY R. NEWMAN and Philip M. Joseph were married November 18, and they are living at 45 E. Hartsdale Ave., Hartsdale, N. Y.

SALLY GRETSCH and Raymond Hall were married September 9 in Morristown, N. J. The Halls are living at: 103 Hollywood Ave., Caldwell, N. J. Sally says she is spending most of her time getting ready to leave at a moments notice on another of her husband's business trips for Ski-Dek.

BARBARA NEIL and NORM DAVIES '59 were married December 30 in Short Hills, N. J. They are now living in Laguna Beach, Calif., where Norm is a lieutenant in the U. S. Marine Corps Reserve.

LYNNE COFFIN Cronyn and Willard M. Cronyn are the proud parents of a son, Nelson, born on October 31. Lynn said she was only able to teach for one semester in Arlington, Va. The Cronyn's address is: 7209 Flower Ave., Apt. 1, Takoma Park 12, Md.

BOB SCHAD, while serving an assignment in the Army in Ludwigsburg, Germany, is a member of the 7th Army's soccer team, which is scheduled to play games throughout West Germany and elsewhere on the continent, with the possibility that the team may also play in Morocco, Turkey, and Syria.

MARGE McGROARTY took time out from correcting English theses to let me know that she has been teaching 10th grade English at the East Meadow High School on Long Island. Marge would also like to remind everybody to make sure they attend the Class of '61's reunion this June.

ALUMNI TRUSTEE TIMETABLE

March 1—Election announcement in THE BUCKNELL ALUMNUS.

April 2—Ballots in mail.

May 15—Deadline for receiving ballots in Alumni Office.

June Commencement — Certification to Board of Trustees.

IN MEMORIAM

The following deaths have been reported to the Alumni Office since December, 1961. The University extends sympathy to the surviving relatives:

1894—Mrs. William C. Mulford (Alice G. Probasco) (Inst.), December 4, 1961
Mrs. Albert H. Wynkoop (Lois W. Lyman), December 27, 1961

1901—Mrs. Norman Rise (Kate Cadwallader) (Music), December 10, 1961
Mr. Oscar N. Rambo, November 30, 1961

1904—Mr. Emory L. Miller (Acad.), January 10, 1962
William G. Murdock, Esq., January 28, 1962

1905—Mrs. Ralph B. Cook (Mabel G. Maurer) (Music), January 20, 1962
Rev. John C. Sanders, D.D., January 27, 1962

1906—Rev. Norris L. Brown, December 21, 1961

1913—Rev. Richard H. Bowling, D.D., December 28, 1961
Rev. H. G. W. Smith, D.D., December 27, 1961

1914—Mr. Stephen K. Wells, January 8, 1962

1916—Mr. Lester J. Bartlett, January 25, 1962

1917—Mr. William J. Geating, February 5, 1962

1921—Mrs. Donald L. Augsburger (Sarah A. Kerstetter), December 3, 1961

1922—Mr. John Hughes, November 13, 1961

1923—Mr. Almet M. Case, November 8, 1961
Mr. Luke L. Stager, January 19, 1962

1926—Willard H. Tice, M.D., February 3, 1962
Mr. William F. Wagner, November 25, 1961
Mr. Anthony K. Wiisbach, January 15, 1962

1927—Mr. Earl A. Gill, February 4, 1962

1928—Dr. Charles E. Roth (Hon.), January 8, 1962

1929—W. LeRoy Hann, M.D., November 29, 1961

1932—Mrs. Cyril H. Mull (S. Gladys Compton), November 27, 1961

1934—Mr. James L. Rowe, December 12, 1961

1938—Mr. Bruce F. Lamont, November 30, 1961
Mr. Kenneth D. Wolfe, December 8, 1961

1939—Mr. Paul L. Brunstetter, November 28, 1961

1940—Dr. G. Morris Smith (Hon.), January, 1962

1942—Rev. Ronald E. Kehler (M.A.), January 26, 1962

1955—Mr. Elbert L. Stamm (M.S.), December 22, 1961

EDNA M. BAKER

(Continued from Page 5)

Conversation, both privately and adult education classes 1958 to present.

ORGANIZATIONS: Founder, Chairman of Legislative Committee, Woodbury Education Association 1948-58; Executive Committee, Gloucester County Education Association 1948-58; Executive Committee (representing Gloucester County) 1939-54. Coordinator of Community Discussions for Gloucester County 1940-46, Chairman of Hospitality (State Convention) 1942 and 1943, Chairman of Dance (State Convention) 1945, Hostess to Miss America (State Convention) 1947, Chairman of Presidents' Tea (State Convention) 1949, Member of Scholarship Committee 1950-51, Chairman of Distinguished Service Award 1953. New Jersey Education Association; Life Member, Gloucester County Chairman of Life Membership, International Relations Committee (representing New Jersey). National Education Association 1946-48; Executive Committee, New Jersey Modern Language Teachers Association 1950; American Association of Teachers of French: New Jersey Schoolwomen's Club (elected, 1948): First and Second State Vice President 1946-49, Chairman, State Convention 1949 and 1950, Chairman, Public Relations 1950, Chairman, World Service Committee 1947-57, Member of National Committee on National Organization for Foreign Countries, Delta Kappa Gamma, Alpha Zeta New Jersey State Organization (elected 1942): Chairman, Alumni Rushing Recommendation for Southern New Jersey, Southern New Jersey Pi Beta Phi Alumnae Club 1960 to present; Member, Philadelphia Chapter, Alliance Francaise; Member, St. John's United Church of Christ, Lewisburg; Member, Gray Ladies, Fort Dix, N. J. 1940-45; Telephone Chairman, Gloucester County Campaign of Nixon-Lodge and Mitchell for governor 1960 and 1961.

HONORS: Delegate, Hostess and Interpreter for French-speaking delegates at international conferences at Endicott 1946, Ottawa 1950, Malta 1951, and Washington 1959, World Confederation

Qualification of the Teaching Profession: Listed in WHO'S WHO IN AMERICAN EDUCATION 1949-50, 1951-52, 1953-54; Listed in LEADERS IN EDUCATION 1948.

PUBLICATIONS: "World Teachers as Friends." DELTA KAPPA GAMMA BULLETIN 1952: Delivered two hundred talks on this topic.

BUCKNELL INTERESTS: Reporter, Class of 1921; Member, Bucknell Alumni Club of South Jersey; Campaigner for Dual Development Fund and all campaigns since 1921; Influenced many young people to attend Bucknell University.

PERSONAL RECORD: Born, 1900, Glen Iron; Daughter of Francis T. and Virginia L. Baker; Father (deceased) former assemblyman for fourteen years representing Union County, Pennsylvania.

ELIZABETH M. KATES

(Continued from Page 5)

mer Member, Richmond, Va., Chapter of American Association of University Women; Honorary Member, Richmond, Va., Altrusa Club; Member, International Chapter of Business and Professional Women's Club; Past Member, Colony Club of Richmond, Va.; Member, P. E. O. International; Member, Virginia State Museum of Fine Arts; Member, Goochland County Cancer Board; Published in Journal of Social Therapy 1955; Member, Medical Correctional Association; Member, National Jail Association; Member and Past Chairman of Women's Committee, Southern Prison Association; Member, Pi Beta Phi Alumnae Club of Richmond, Va.; Member of Executive Committee and Director—Past Service, American Correctional Association International.

HONORS: Listed in WHO'S WHO IN VIRGINIA; Listed in WHO'S WHO AMONG AMERICAN WOMEN; Listed in WHO'S WHO INTERNATIONAL PROFESSIONAL WOMEN; Elizabeth Kates Foundation, established by the Pi Beta Phi Club of Richmond, Va., for aiding in rehabilitation in ways and places where the law does not provide (Honorary Life Membership and Board Member); Claimed for Honor by Richmond, Va., Quota Club 1952.

BUCKNELL INTERESTS: Member, Bucknell Alumni Club of Richmond; Represented Bucknell University at inauguration of Greta Collins Simpson as Chancellor of Martha Washington

College of the University of Virginia 1956; Represented Bucknell University at inauguration of Joseph Clarke Robert as president of Hampden-Sydney College 1956.

PERSONAL RECORD: Born, August 8, 1897, Willow Grove; Cousin of Mrs. Paul L. Miller (Helen E. Bodine '20) and the late Mrs. Walter Miller (Hazel L. Bodine '08).

AMORITA SESINGER

(MRS. CHARLES E. COPELAND)

(Continued from Page 5)

and carrying out promotional ideas 1912-16; Confidential and Social Secretary to Mrs. Cornelius Vanderbilt Whitney 1947; Fund-raising Campaign Director, Planned Parenthood Federation of America and United Nations Appeal for Children (through Pierce, Hedrick and Sherwood) 1948; Assistant General Secretary, Development, Columbia University 1948-49; Fund-raising Campaign Director, New York Infirmary Building Fund (through Reuell Estill Co.) 1949-50; National Development Director, Girl Scouts of the U. S. A., National Headquarters, New York City 1950-57; Director of Public Relations, Director of Admissions, Fairleigh Dickinson University, Madison, N. J. 1957-58; Assistant to the Dean for Development, New York University College of Dentistry, New York City, (in charge of fund-raising and coordination of public relations) and consultant in public relations and fund-raising 1958 to present.

ORGANIZATIONS: Member, Public Relations Society of America (formerly American Public Relations Association—Board Member, New York Chapter; Chairman, Scholarship Committee; Member, Association of Fund-Raising Directors (Board of Directors, Program Chairman); Member, New York University Club, New York City; Member, New York University Faculty Club, New York City (Group Chairman); Member, New York University Faculty Women's Club, New York City; Member, Publicity Club of New York 1950-55; Member, Order of the Eastern Star, Pitman Chapter No. 57, N. J. 1923 to present; Member, American Association of University Women (Second Vice President and Membership Chairman 1961-63), Madison, N. J. 1958 to present; Member, Green Door Players, Madison, N. J.; Member, Florham Park Players, Florham Park, N. J.; Member, Salon Players of Jackson Heights, L. I., N. Y. 1934-55; Member, Grace Episcopal Church, Madison, N. J. (former member of St. Mark's Episcopal Church, Jackson Heights, L. I., N. Y., and former member, First Baptist Church, Pitman, N. J.); Past President, College Women's Club of Jackson Heights, L. I., N. Y. 1946-48; Member and Past President, Jackson Heights Community Federation and Chairman of Organizing Committee 1946-57; Former Member, Mayor's Committee on United Nations Hospitality, New York City; Former Member, Morris Area Chamber of Commerce, Morristown, N. J.

HONORS: Listed in WHO'S WHO IN PUBLIC RELATIONS 1960 to present; Listed in WHO'S WHO OF AMERICAN WOMEN (second edition) 1961; Awarded Bronze Medal of Good Citizenship by D. A. R. 1943; Awarded War Production Board Citation for Activities during World War II 1945; Awarded Certificate of Recognition, American Women's Voluntary Services 1946; Awarded Gold Award of Recognition by American Public Relations Association 1961—"in recognition of distinguished leadership and accomplishments, and for extensive contributions to the progress and growth of the chapter and the profession."

BUCKNELL INTERESTS: Member, Bison Club; Member, Bucknell Alumni Club of Northern New Jersey; Member, Board of Directors, The General Alumni Association 1954-60, (First Vice President, two terms); Member, Alumni Trustee Nominating Committee, The General Alumni Association 1957-63 (Chairman, one term); Member, Bucknell Alumni Club of Metropolitan (now Greater) New York 1927-55, (Vice President 1953-55, President 1955-57, Director 1961 to present); Member, Bucknell Alumni Club of Long Island (Director 1950-57); Co-chairman of Alumni Fund in Long Island 1955; Area Chairman in Morris County, N. J., for Dual Development Campaign; Co-chairman, Freshman Reception for Greater New York Bucknell Alumni Club 1961; Worker and Contributor, all fund drives for Bucknell since graduation; Member, Philadelphia Alumnae Club 1922-25; Represented Bucknell University at inauguration of Robert Fisher Oxnam as president of Drew University 1961.

PERSONAL RECORD: Born, September 13, 1899, Philadelphia; Resided in Pitman, N. J. 1912-27; Graduated from Glassboro High School, N. J., in 1917 and worked for Pennsylvania Railroad Co. until entering Bucknell in September, 1918; Married Charles E. Copeland, June 18, 1927 (Deceased 1947). Resided in Jackson Heights, L. I., N. Y. 1927-57, Madison, N. J. 1957 to present.

THE STUDENT VIEW

(Continued from Page 6)

sparrows for experimental purposes. These birds have been placed in individual cages in the aviary.

The aviary has large screened openings which provide the same weather conditions inside as outside in order to simulate the weather stimulus which effects migratory habits. During the migratory season, these birds become extremely active during the night.

In each cage there are two perches, and one bird. Each perch is connected to electronic recording devices located within Taylor Hall. When the bird hops on a perch, the circuit is completed and a mark is made on a graph. The number of marks on the graph indicate the activity of the bird.

When the observation of these birds has been completed, the data will be run through statistical analysis in order to compare migratory patterns and activities of the isolated birds with those in their native habitat. The results of these tests will provide useful information on the degree to which migration is influenced by social behavior as compared to innate behavior. (Taken from an article in The Bucknellian.)

SQUEEZING THE GRAPEFRUIT

(Continued from Page 9)

Bertrand Endowment will make possible only modest increases in the library budget in comparison with ultimate needs, for this will total about $225,000 to $250,000 a year. Library salaries can be improved, another professional librarian added to the staff, the book budget increased, but the total library cost will still be no more than $100 per student—considered by many library experts to be a minimum figure for a respectable library operation.

Alma Mater is in better shape than she has even been. So much so that the progress of the past few years can only be viewed as miraculous. But Bucknell's financial problems and capital needs are far from solved. We can only look forward to additional years of tight budgeting, to the pressing need for additional capital funds for student center, women's dorms, chapel, endowment for both faculty salaries and scholarships, and to the need for more annual gifts for operating purposes—including a growing alumni fund.

Our concern is to get the most educational value out of every dollar—more juice from the grapefruit!

SPRING SPORTS 1962

BASEBALL

April 7	Lehigh	Bethlehem
April 9	St. Joseph	Home
April 12	Muhlenberg	Home
April 14	Pittsburgh	Home
April 17	Gettysburg	Gettysburg
April 19	Scranton	Home
April 21	Lafayette	Easton
April 24	Penn State	University Park
April 27	Albright	Home
April 28	Rutgers	New Brunswick, N. J.
May 2	Juniata	Home
May 5	Delaware	Home
May 7	Colgate	Home
May 11	Syracuse	Home
May 12	Susquehanna	Selinsgrove
May 17	Penn State	Home
May 19	Temple	Philadelphia

GOLF

April 10	Navy	Annapolis, Md.
April 13	Scranton	Home
April 16	Albright	Reading
April 20	Delaware	Home
April 25	Gettysburg	Gettysburg
April 27	Lehigh	Home
April 28	Cornell	Ithaca, N. Y.
May 1	Lafayette	Easton
May 4	Juniata	Huntingdon
May 8	Franklin & Marshall	Home
May 14	Middle Atlantics
May 15	Penn State	Home
May 18	Colgate	Hamilton, N. Y.
May 19	Syracuse	Syracuse, N. Y.

TENNIS

April 7	Navy	Annapolis, Md.
April 14	Lafayette	Home
April 17	Cornell	Ithaca, N. Y.
April 20	Pittsburgh	Home
April 21	Lehigh	Bethlehem
April 25	Haverford	Home
May 1	Gettysburg	Home
May 5	Delaware	Newark, Del.
May 8	Albright	Home
May 11	Syracuse	Syracuse, N. Y.
May 12	Colgate	Hamilton, N. Y.
May 15	Muhlenberg	Home
May 16	Penn State	University Park

TRACK

April 14	Temple	Philadelphia
April 21	Lafayette	Home
April 25	Juniata and Lycoming	Williamsport
May 1	Delaware	Newark, Del.
May 5	F & M and Albright	Reading
May 8	Gettysburg	Home
May 11, 12	Middle Atlantics

ALUMNI COMMUNICATIONS IMPROVING (Continued from Page 11)

1955

Fund Manager
Richard M. Richter
Assistants
Stuart K. Bean, M.D.
Susan C. Fleming
Joy V. Gavert, Jr.
George Klauder
Thomas H. Miller
Marion J. Minker, Jr.
Dr. Edward J. Mizma
Frank A. Richardson
C. Dole Steinmetz, Jr.
Mrs. Martha Jones Stillely

G. Richmond McFarland, Jr.
Miss Dodie Marshall
Samuel Posner
Frank R. Roppel
Richard B. Ulp

1957

Fund Manager
William S. Mayer
Assistants
Samuel W. Adams
Joseph Baccelli
John I. Daves
David L. Hamilton
Joan L. Henry
George B. Hipp
Richard C. Johnson
Edwin L. Klett
Howard B. Logan
Stephen B. Neuville
Victor Parker
Donald R. Plump
Richard A. Whitman
H. John Zeigler, Jr.

Assistants
Richard H. Anders
Donald W. Beistel
Charles R. Boss
Miss Ellen V. Campbell
Robert P. Kaye
John J. Kessler, Jr.
Richard S. Locke
Morris A. Pickell
Rev. Nelson M. Smith, Jr.
Robert H. Stumpf
Alfred C. Westermann
Richard S. White

1959

Fund Manager
Richard M. Hunn
Assistants
Joel E. Berman
Venald W. Bovard, Jr.
William M. Cahn, III
Anthony J. Cera
G. Thomas Clark
Lawrence W. Crane, III
Lawrence S. Dempster, Jr.
Miss Ellen J. Killebrew
George J. Mandakos
Philip Price, Jr.
David O. Shade

Fund Manager
James W. Jefferson

1956

Fund Manager
Edward A. Burg, Jr., M.D.
Assistants
Charles B. Anderson
Donald R. Avellino
Henry A. Berleth
David D. Ekedahl
Lt. Barbara A. Glenn
John R. Hayes, M.D.
Lt. William F. Lenker, D.D.S.
Capt. Robert E. Lyon, D.D.S.

Miss Joy Stichweh
Miss Sonia Susskind
Robert A. Wright

1960

Fund Manager
Lt. John G. Eachus, III
Assistants
Miss Judith D. Angelo
Miss Sara G. Benson
Theodore L. Biddle
Robert F. Goecker
George S. Green, Jr.
Betty A. Hauck
Lt. William G. Hayes
Miss Margaret A. Hollinshead
Joseph B. Holmes
Robert A. Howell
Harold C. Kelsow, Jr.
Miss Marjory E. Kuhn
Ens. David R. Lynch
John L. McDonald
Miss Joan M. Piersol
Fred Shotman
Roger B. Straut
Lt. John C. Whisler
Winthrop P. Wilcox, Jr.
Miss Joanna R. Ziegler

1961

Fund Manager
2nd Lt. Roland J. Weisser, Jr.
Assistants
Miss Margrete J. Andersen
James B. Bonnar, Jr.
Donald F. Closterman
George T. Coogon
Maximilian F. Coscignano
Neal I. Fagin
Thomas E. Gillespie
Miss Shirley B. Harvey
Frederick J. Hills
Carl J. Hudson
Miss Brenda E. Koorman
Miss Virginia J. Lambert
Miss Marilyn Morgan
Robert D. Richmond
E. Dennis Rittenhouse
David B. Schettler
Ronald J. Schoner
Charles W. Shippe
John A. J. Sommers
Miss Hettie J. Wright

ORDER BLANK FOR "FROM THE BOOKSHELF"

(Please note that each review in the special section entitled "From the Bookshelf" is numbered. The corresponding number for each review appears on the order blank.)

Code	Price	Code	Price
ENGLISH		HISTORY
☐ 1	Hardback --- $3.00	☐ 20	--- $27.50
	Paperback --- .35	☐ 21	--- 8.50
☐ 2	--- .95	☐ 22	--- 6.50
☐ 3	--- .75	☐ 23	--- 6.00
☐ 4	--- .95	☐ 24	--- 4.25
BIOLOGY		PHILOSOPHY
☐ 5	--- $22.50	☐ 25	--- $ 2.50
☐ 6	--- 7.50	☐ 26	--- 12.50
☐ 7	--- 1.75	☐ 27	--- 7.50
☐ 8	--- 1.50	☐ 28	--- 1.25
☐ 9	--- 6.50	☐ 29	--- 7.50
ECONOMICS		PHYSICS
☐ 10	--- $ 7.50	☐ 30	Hardback --- $ 3.75
☐ 11	--- 1.50		Paperback --- 1.95
☐ 12	--- 1.95	☐ 31	--- 1.95
☐ 13	--- 5.00	☐ 32	--- 1.95
☐ 14	--- 3.50	☐ 33	--- 1.75
		☐ 34	--- 5.00
EDUCATION		PSYCHOLOGY
☐ 15	--- $ 6.95	☐ 35	--- $ 1.45
☐ 16	--- .95	☐ 36	--- 4.50
☐ 17	--- 1.50	☐ 37	--- 15.25
☐ 18	--- 4.95	☐ 38	--- .95
☐ 19	--- 2.75	☐ 39	--- 7.50

BUCKNELL UNIVERSITY BOOK STORE
LEWISBURG, PENNSYLVANIA

GENTLEMEN: Please mail me the books checked on this order blank.

Name _____ Class _____

Address _____

Please enclose check or money order. Add 4% Pa. Sales Tax. All orders shipped prepaid.

The Archives, Bertrant Library
Bucknell University
Lewisburg, Pa.

May 1965

THE

BUCKNELL

ALUMNUS

Feature Story – The College of Tomorrow – Page 17

the COLLEGE of
TOMORROW

THE BUCKNELL ALUMNUS

OFFICERS OF THE ASSOCIATION

President

ROBERT W. DILL '27

First Vice President

MRS. CLYDE P. BAILEY (Dorothy Lemon '29)

Second Vice President

DANIEL F. GRIFFITH '36

Treasurer

DONALD B. YOUNG '33

Secretary and Editor

JOHN H. SHOTT '22

Assistant Secretary and Assistant Editor

C. BRUCE ROSSITER '56

BOARD OF DIRECTORS

MRS. CLYDE P. BAILEY (Dorothy Lemon '29), 5025 Fifth Ave., Apt. 3-B, Pittsburgh 32, Pa. (1962)

CHARLES F. FOX, JR., M.D. '31, 180 Washington Ave., Vandergrift, Pa. (1962)

D. EUGENE LONG '29, 131 Avon Place, West Hempstead, N. Y. (1962)

EUGENE P. BERTIN '17, 201 S. Main St., Muncy, Pa. (1963)

MRS. JOHN W. LEWIS (Elinor Childs '52), 8A Sayre Court, Madison, N. J. (1963)

ROBERT H. TAYLOR '48, 214 Avon Rd., Narberth, Pa. (1963)

CHARLES T. FARROW '26, P. O. Box 29, Westfield, N. J. (1964)

IRVIN GRAYBILL, JR., Esq. '49, Middleburg, Pa. (1964)

ALLEN F. JONES '25, 2 Linn St., Progress, Harrisburg, Pa. (1964)

HENRY G. P. COATES, Esq. '32, East Ward St., Hightstown, N. J. (1965)

DANIEL F. GRIFFITH '36, 599 Massachusetts Ave., Aldan, Pa. (1965)

PETER WEIDENBACHER '50, 525 Hillside Ave., Mountain-side, N. J. (1965)

MRS. ROBERT D. CARLSON (Claire Wynkoop '49), 2801 Beverly Rd., Brooklyn 26, N. Y. (1966)

ROBERT W. DILL '27, 5136 Butler Pike, Plymouth Meeting, Pa. (1966)

WARREN R. LEWIS '42, 394 Edgewood Ave., Rochester 18, N. Y. (1966)

1 Year Term Expires

Alumni Headquarters—GROUND FLOOR
ADMINISTRATION CENTER

Member—AMERICAN ALUMNI COUNCIL

VOLUME XLVII

MAY 1962

No. 5

IN THIS ISSUE

- 1 This Is Your University
- 2 Alumni Board Nominees
- 4 Progress In The Portfolio
—by John F. Zeller, III '41, Vice President—Business and Finance
- 6 Alumni Week End Program
- 7 The Student View
—by Bonni Vasilawsky '64
- 8 Sports Roundup
—by Bradley N. Tufts, Sports Information Director
- 9 Andrew R. E. Wyant '92, Elected to Football Hall of Fame
—by Bradley N. Tufts, Sports Information Director
- 10 For The Record
- 12 The Club Circuit
- 15 The Bucknell Of Tomorrow
- 17 The College Of Tomorrow
- 35 Class Reports

Dorothy Lemon Bailey '29, 2—Virginia Thompson Cannon '44, 2—Walter G. Held '43, 3—Robert W. Rink '41, 3—Bruce M. Scott '51, 3—Melvyn L. Woodward '53, 3—Fred H. Heather, Jr. '33, 10—Andrew R. Mathieson '20, 10—James E. Ostendarp '52, 11—Charles C. Fries '09 and Agnes Carswell Fries '19, 33—Marie Fromuth '43, 33—Martin Blumenson '39, 34—Norman Thomas '05, 34—Martha Park Whitman '16, 38—James C. Warren '32, 41—Frank H. Noll '39, 42—R. William Danforth '50, 44—Spencer Carlough '50, 44—Barbara Jones Purnell '49, 47—Life Income Plan, 48—Alumni Trustee Timetable, 48—In Memoriam, 48—Dr. Brown Dies, 48—Alumni Club Luncheon Meetings, Fraternity Commencement Activities, They Represented Bucknell, 1962 Football Schedule and Alumni Week End Dormitory and Ticket Reservation Form, Inside Back Cover, Back Cover, Alumni Week End Highlights.

THE BUCKNELL ALUMNUS is published in January, March, May, September and November by BUCKNELL UNIVERSITY. Entered as second-class matter December 30, 1930 at the post office at Lewisburg, Pa., under Act of August 24, 1912.

Student Chairman of the Burma-Bucknell Week End, Richard T. Argust '63, (left) and student host, Nancy Louise Rodenberger '64, (right) listen to U Kyaw Min (center), a representative of Voice of America, as he explains to them some of the customs of his native land of Burma.

NUMBER NINE

THIS IS YOUR UNIVERSITY

Since Bucknell's first foreign student, Burma's Maung Shaw Loo, arrived on the campus nearly a century ago, your University has opened its doors to thousands of students from all corners of the world. Recently the fourteenth annual Burma-Bucknell Week End marked the largest annual gathering of Burmese in the Western world. And, for the past eighteen years Bucknell's Institute for Foreign Students has been acclaimed widely as the finest of its kind in the United States. Although most of the students attending the Institute go on to other American colleges and universities for graduate study, it is at Bucknell where they are introduced to American life and customs. It is at Bucknell where their first impressions become sharply-etched memories, and where their experiences may one day become important factors in clearing up misunderstandings and misconceptions of American motives, policies, and ideals. These programs are but two potentially great contributions to every free man's dream of a world at peace.

Alumni Board Nominees

EACH year three members of the fifteen-member Board of Directors of The General Alumni Association are elected. At least three members of the Board shall be women. The present membership of the Board of Directors, showing the year of expiration of their terms of service, appears on the inside front cover of this issue of THE BUCKNELL ALUMNUS.

On this and the next page will be found pictures and short biographical outlines of the six candidates who have agreed (if elected) to serve five-year terms on the Board of Directors. These candidates have been selected by the present members of the Board sitting as a nominating committee.

The election is held at the Annual Assembly of The General Alumni Association scheduled for Saturday morning, June 2, at 9:30 A. M., Daylight Saving Time. Additional nominations may be made from the floor of the Assembly prior to the election.

Voting representation in the Annual Assembly is conducted by delegates elected or appointed by the various alumni clubs of The General Alumni Association. Each club is entitled to send to the Annual Assembly one delegate and one alternate. In addition, each club may send one delegate and one alternate for each 75 Alumni residing in the club area. Since all but 1500 of our Alumni are within one of the geographic areas of our 68 alumni clubs, it can be seen that all Alumni can be fully represented at the Annual Assembly. For purposes of voting, the 1500 Alumni outside of specific club areas are considered as members of the local (Union County) alumni club. During the three months prior to the Annual Assembly, alumni club presidents receive from Alumni Headquarters reminders urging them to elect or appoint a full complement of Alumni to represent the club at the Annual Assembly.

A quorum consists of those delegates and alternates who attend and each delegate or his alternate is entitled to one vote. All business is dispatched by a majority vote of those present. The By-Laws provide that there shall be no voting by proxy.

This method of election has been adopted by The General Alumni Association after a study of methods in use at other universities and is designed to encourage maximum representation of each alumni club at the Annual Assembly. Alumni who are returning for class reunions can provide valuable club service by calling their local club president and offering to serve as a delegate at the Annual Assembly in Lewisburg.

The meetings of the Annual Assembly are open to all Alumni, and everyone on campus during Alumni Week End is cordially invited and urged to attend the Annual Assembly session scheduled for 9:30 A. M. Even if you are not a delegate, you will be interested in hearing the annual report of the Association and will be able to carry back to your local club a report of the activities of The General Alumni Association.

DOROTHY LEMON BAILEY '29

PITTSBURGH, PA.

College Activities: B.S., Bucknell University, 1929; Kappa Delta.

Present Occupation: Homemaker.

Alumni Activities: First Vice President and Director, The General Alumni Association; Past President, Corresponding Secretary, and Chairman of the Scholarship Fund, Pittsburgh Association of Bucknell Women; Member, Bison Club; Served as Social Chairman of Bucknell Alumni Club of Western Pennsylvania; Special gifts worker in Dual Development Campaign and assisted in previous fund drives.

VIRGINIA THOMPSON CANNON '44

GIBSONIA, PA.

College Activities: A.B., Bucknell University, 1944; Alpha Chi Omega; Cap and Dagger; Christian Association.

Present Occupation: Homemaker. Maintained Medical Laboratory in Pittsburgh from 1950-1960. Previously employed as Chief Medical Technician, Pittsburgh Diagnostic Clinic.

Alumni Activities: Co-chairman of Social Committee of Bucknell Alumni Club of Western Pennsylvania; Active in Heating Plant Campaign, Dual Development Campaign and Alumni Fund in Pittsburgh; Served as Secretary of Pittsburgh Association of Bucknell Women, 1947-48; Co-chairman, Bucknell Birthday Dinner-Dance, 1960; Member, committee planning tea for freshman women and annual picnic of Bucknell Alumni and undergraduates.

WALTER G. HELD '43

FALLS CHURCH, VA.

College Activities: A.B., Bucknell University, 1943; M.A., American University, 1949; Ph.D., American University, 1951; Phi Gamma Delta; Torch and Scroll; President, Junior Class; President, S. A. K.; Bucknell Defense Council; Intramural Sports; WHO'S WHO AMONG STUDENTS at Bucknell University and American University; President, Student Faculty Congress; Christian Association Executive Council.

Present Occupation: Member, Senior Staff, The Brookings Institution Center for Advanced Study, Washington, D. C.

Alumni Activities: Past President, Bucknell Alumni Club of Washington; Worker in fund-raising campaigns.

ROBERT W. RINK '41

HADDENFIELD, N. J.

College Activities: B.S., Bucknell University, 1941; Phi Kappa Psi; Men's Glee Club; "B" Club; and participated in Varsity Tennis and Intramural Sports.

Present Occupation: Certified Public Accountant and Examiner, Bureau of Federal Credit Unions, U. S. Government.

Alumni Activities: Past President, Bucknell Alumni Club of South Jersey; Chairman, Camden County Dual Development Campaign.

BRUCE M. SCOTT '51

DETROIT, MICH.

College Activities: B.S., Bucknell University, 1951; Sigma Phi Epsilon; L'AGENDA; BUCKNELLIAN; Intramural Sports.

Present Occupation: Body Engineering Budget Director, Chrysler Corporation, Detroit, Mich.

Alumni Activities: President, Bucknell Alumni Club of Michigan-Toledo; Active in alumni fund campaigns for Southeastern Michigan, 1958 and 1959; Organized Dual Development Campaign in Greater Metropolitan Detroit.

MELVYN L. WOODWARD '53

COLUMBUS, OHIO

College Activities: A.B., Bucknell University, 1953; M.B.A., Ohio State University, 1957; Phi Lambda Theta; Kappa Chi Lambda; Christian Association Cabinet; "B" Club; President, Freshman Class; Student Faculty Congress; Baseball Manager.

Present Occupation: Instructor in College of Commerce and Administration and Assistant Director of the Executive Development Program, Ohio State University, Columbus, Ohio.

Alumni Activities: President, Class of 1953; Member, Bison Club; Charter Member, Organizer, and Advisory Board Member of the Bucknell Alumni Club of Central Ohio.

PROGRESS IN THE PORTFOLIO

by JOHN F. ZELLER, III, '41
Vice President—Business and Finance

FEW Alumni are likely to think of alma mater in quite the same way they regard a broker, investment counselor, or banker: yet educational institutions today are managing investment portfolios worth billions of dollars. A recent survey reported by the Boston Fund, discussed in Barron's on February 12, 1962, indicates that the 65 institutions surveyed had portfolios exceeding $4.5 billion. Bucknell's portfolio hasn't quite hit the billion dollar category, but the record is one of important progress!

Lest anyone think that those of us on campus claim credit for this, let it be noted at the outset that the management of the portfolio has been the responsibility of the Board of Trustees and its Investment Committee. Current members of the committee are Robert L. Rooke, '13, Chairman, a member of the corporation of Merrill Lynch, Pierce, Fenner and Smith; A. Guy Freas, retired Vice President of the Federal Paper Board Company; Charles J. Kushell, Jr., '27, Vice President—Finance of Montgomery Ward; Harry G. Schad, Vice President of the Atlantic Refining Company; James R. Simpson, '31, Treasurer of Kennecott Copper Company (and formerly professional manager of the Cornell University Endowment Account); and William R. White, '26, Vice President of the Morgan Guaranty Trust Company who served as Chairman of the Bucknell Investment Committee for ten years prior to becoming Chairman of the Board.

As the accompanying Table I indicates, the dramatic increase in endowment in the fiscal year ending June 30, 1961, resulted mainly from gifts—especially the bequest from the estate of Ellen Clarke Bertrand. But this should not be permitted to obscure the handsome capital gain realized during the year on the sale of securities ($372,706.86). Moreover, the careful investments of the committee have resulted, despite such profit-taking, in an increasing spread ($2,748,424.45 as of June 30, 1961) between the book value and the market value of the endowment account. It is interesting to note that the spread between book value and market value is over twice as much as the entire endowment account of 20 years ago and almost a million dollars larger than the entire endowment account of only 10 years ago.

Growth in value indicates investment in equities, rather than in fixed-value bonds and mortgages. College endowment portfolios have seen a heavy shift from the one-hundred-percent safe, fixed-income, low return pattern of 30 years ago. Bucknell began the shift to common stocks—somewhat earlier than other institutions. The growth of Bucknell's endowment in the last twenty years, and the shift in investment pattern is shown in Table II. As Table III will indicate, colleges today are heavily committed to common stocks. Bucknell is no exception. Moreover, the commitment is largely in "industrials," as Table IV demonstrates.

The Boston Fund Survey, as reported in Barron's, lists the following as the ten most popular stocks in college and university portfolios: IBM, Standard Oil (N.J.), Standard Oil (Calif.), Gulf Oil, Texaco, A.T.&T., Eastman Kodak, General Motors, DuPont, and Christiana Securities. Bucknell has holdings in all but the last of these companies.

To summarize: The record serves to assure donors that their gifts to Bucknell's endowment will be well managed. The lesson of the parable of the talents has been applied. Bucknell's endowment portfolio has been expertly chosen, not only for safety (the minimum requirement for a prudent trustee)—and not just for annual return (a necessity too if endowments are to fulfill the purposes for which they were given)—but also for growth!

TABLE I
RECENT GROWTH IN ENDOWMENT

Fiscal Year	Book Value of Endowment Beginning of Year	Gifts	Profits on Sale of Securities	Book Value of Endowment at End of Year	Gain
1957	$3,914,316.42	$ 674,122.62	$ 25,549.80	$ 4,613,987.84	$ 699,671.50
1958	4,613,987.84	214,911.97	3,145.23	4,832,048.01	218,060.50
1959	4,832,048.01	477,145.94	80,665.60	5,390,859.58	558,811.50
1960	5,390,859.58	334,363.67	66,820.39	5,792,043.64	401,184.00
1961	5,792,043.64	5,115,096.90	372,706.86	11,279,847.40	5,487,803.76

TABLE II
BUCKNELL ENDOWMENT PORTFOLIO

	Book Value	% of Book Value
		Bonds	Preferred Stock	Common Stock	Real Estate Mortgage	Cash and Others
June 30, 1941	$ 1,288,662.78	27.7%	13.0%	32.3%	16.4%	10.6%
June 30, 1951	1,916,987.58	28.5	14.5	43.6	11.8	1.6
June 30, 1961	11,279,847.40	23.8	4.1	56.0	11.8	4.3

TABLE III*
COMPARISON OF DIVERSIFICATION

	Approx. Enrollment	Total Endowment 6/30/61 (Millions)	% of total at market values 6/30/61
			Bonds (Cash)	Pfd. Stock	Common Stocks	Real Estate Mtgs.	Others
Amherst	1030	$72.3	34.0%	1.8%	63.9%	0.3%	---
Bowdoin	835	26.3	42.4	2.9	51.5	1.9	1.3
Brown	3951	48.2	22.1	2.5	62.4	2.1	10.9
Carleton	1230	17.7	20.2	6.2	49.6	1.4	22.6
Carnegie Tech	3508	64.7	30.3	5.2	55.0	4.7	4.8
Colby	1208	10.5	22.5	1.4	58.9	7.9	---
Dartmouth	3179	81.0	32.2	0.9	48.8	7.8	11.3
De Pauw	2250	14.7	34.4	3.0	51.4	7.8	3.4
Grinnell College	1136	14.2	4.9	0.5	16.6	27.6	50.4
Lafayette	1521	26.8	19.1	7.4	65.8	0.7	7.0
Lehigh	2764	29.7	23.4	0.6	71.1	2.1	2.8
Middlebury	1274	12.2	41.9	1.9	51.8	2.2	2.2
Oberlin	2306	64.9	23.5	3.3	68.3	1.8	3.1
Swarthmore	969	29.4	17.3	1.6	76.6	2.6	1.9
Tufts	3714	22.6	37.8	0.6	48.1	8.6	4.9
Washington & Lee	1186	16.3	19.2	6.6	66.6	7.4	0.2
Wesleyan	1018	56.0	26.7	0.5	66.8	1.8	4.2
Williams	1147	40.5	34.4	6.2	53.6	2.0	3.8
Bucknell	2337	14.0	21.0	3.0	64.8	9.5	1.7

TABLE IV*
PERCENTAGE OF COMMON STOCK INVESTMENTS

	Financial (a)	Railroads	Public Utilities	Industrial and Other	Total
Amherst	3.8%	0.8%	28.6%	61.8%	100.0%
Bowdoin	12.8	2.1	12.7	72.4	100.0
Brown	10.3	1.9	21.5	66.3	100.0
Carleton	6.7	2.2	21.0	70.1	100.0
De Pauw	8.5	2.1	20.5	68.9	100.0
Lehigh	17.1	0.8	28.7	53.4	100.0
Bucknell	4.1	0.1	19.0	76.8	100.0

(a) Includes Banks, Insurance and Finance Companies.

 Increased to 16.0 as of Feb. 15, 1962.

* Reproduced in part from Barron's, February 12, 1962.

THE WELCOME MAT IS OUT

HAVE you made your plans to return to the friendly "300 acres" on June 1, 2, and 3? If you haven't, what are you waiting for?

Now all you must do to take the first step forward on your journey to Bucknell is to fill in and send the reservation form printed on the inside back cover to Alumni Headquarters. And don't fret if you're not a member of a reunion class! The list of perennial reunioners keeps growing and growing every year.

For your information, overnight sleeping accommodations will be available in the dormitories for those who make their reservations early.

Of course, letters received in the Alumni Office from class presidents and reunion chairmen report an enthusiastic response from members of regular five-year reunion classes. This year the reunion classes include 1892, 1897, 1902, 1907, 1912 (golden), 1917, 1922, 1927, 1932, 1937 (silver), 1942, 1947, 1952, 1957, and 1961. Members of the early Bucknell classes up to and including 1911 will celebrate Alumni Day with the members of Bucknell's Emeritus Club.

On Saturday things really begin to hum with Bison Club Breakfast first on the menu. Next, of importance to every Alumnus, is the business of The General Alumni Association at the Annual Assembly. All Alumni are invited to attend this session to hear reports on the present and future plans of the association. Also, at this meeting, delegates from Bucknell's alumni clubs will elect three Alumni to the Board of Directors of The General Alumni Association. Biographical information and pictures of the candidates are shown on pages 2 and 3 of this issue.

Class meetings, picture taking, a parade, the reunion luncheon, class socials, a play, fraternity and sorority symposia, and the President's Reception and dance are all planned for you on Saturday. You won't want to miss President Odgers' "State of the University" address or the presentation of alumni awards to three outstanding Bucknell graduates. Nor will you want to miss Cap and Dagger's production of Lynn Riggs' comedy "Roadside," a lively tall tale from Texas.

On Sunday, June 3, the temper of the week end changes when the University holds the annual Baccalaureate and Commencement exercises in Davis Gymnasium. Dr. Franklin D. Murphy, Chancellor of the University of California at Los Angeles, will give the Commencement address and The Reverend Dr. Fred H. Heather, Jr., '33, Staff Minister and Treasurer of the Commission on Chaplains of the Methodist Church, Washington, D. C., will deliver the Baccalaureate address. Both Dr. Murphy and Rev. Heather will receive honorary degrees.

Also, honorary degrees will be given to Mr. Lafayette L. Butler, businessman and bibliophile of Hazleton; Mr. Carl Hansen, Superintendent of Schools in Washington, D. C.; Mr. Andrew R. Mathieson '20, President, Treasurer and Director of the United States Steel and Carnegie Pension Fund and Bucknell trustee; Mrs. Marjorie Post May, philanthropist in the fields of education, religion, and medicine and wife of Bucknell trustee, Herbert A. May H'60; and Dr. Isidor S. Ravdin, former president of both the American College of Surgeons and the American Surgical Association and president-elect of the American Cancer Society. Dr. Ravdin is Professor of Surgery, Schools of Medicine, and Vice President of Medical Affairs at the University of Pennsylvania.

Program

Eastern Daylight Saving Time

FRIDAY, JUNE 1

- 2:00 P. M. } Registration and Housing ----- Bertrand Library
12:00 P. M. }
- 2:00 P. M. Meeting of Board of Directors
The General Alumni Association ----- Room 203, Bertrand Library
- 1:00 P. M. } EARLY BIRD GOLF TOURNAMENT
5:00 P. M. } University Golf Course
(Tournament will be 18-hole medal play for Alumni only to be played on any one of three days—June 1, 2, or 3. Alumni may obtain guest cards for reduced green fees at the registration desks)
- 6:30 P. M. Buffet Supper Meeting for Club and Class Presidents, Class Fund Managers, and Class Reporters
(John Houghton Harris Dining Hall) Swartz Hall
- 8:00 P. M. Meeting of Fraternity Association Presidents and Advisers ----- Room A102, Coleman Hall
- 8:00 P. M. } RELAX WITH A SWIM ----- Freas-Rooke
11:00 P. M. } Swimming Pool
- 9:00 P. M. } "LET'S HAVE ANOTHER CUP OF COFFEE"
12:00 P. M. } (Meeting place for all classes) ----- Bison Snack Bar, Walker Street

SATURDAY, JUNE 2

- 8:30 A. M. } Registration and Housing ----- Bertrand Library
5:00 P. M. }
(After 5:00 P. M., room reservations can be picked up at the Information Center, Carnegie Building)
- 8:00 A. M. BISON CLUB BREAKFAST ---- University Cafeteria
82 University Ave.
- 8:30 A. M. Phi Beta Kappa Breakfast ----- St. Andrew's Episcopal Church, Rt. 15
- 9:30 A. M. ALUMNI ASSEMBLY ----- University Theatre
Coleman Hall
- 10:30 A. M. ALUMNI REUNION CLASS MEETINGS
(As Assigned)
- 12:00 M. Parade of Alumni ----- Lit Road
- 12:15 P. M. ANNUAL ALUMNI REUNION LUNCHEON
Davis Gymnasium
- 3:00 P. M. } Individual Class Reunion Socials ----- (As Assigned)
5:00 P. M. }
- 3:00 P. M. } Swimming ----- Freas-Rooke Swimming Pool
5:00 P. M. }
- 6:00 P. M. Fraternity and Sorority Symposia. (As Arranged by Organizations)
- 8:30 P. M. Cap and Dagger Production "Roadside" ---- University Theatre, Coleman Hall
- 8:30 P. M. } PRESIDENT'S RECEPTION
10:30 P. M. } (Dr. and Mrs. Merle M. Odgers receive the Class of 1962 and Reunion Classes)
Davis Gymnasium Annex. Dancing and social will continue until 12:00 P. M.

SUNDAY, JUNE 3

- 8:30 A. M. BACCALAUREATE SERVICES --- Davis Gymnasium
- 10:30 A. M. COMMENCEMENT EXERCISES -- Davis Gymnasium

The Student View

by Bonni Vasilawsky '64

DOES THE HIGH SCHOOL OF TODAY PREPARE OUR YOUTH FOR THE COLLEGE OF TOMORROW?

IN THE past several decades we have progressed from the Model-T to the compact car and from the crystal set to the television set. Similarly in education, we hope we have progressed, and we hope we are better prepared for the future. American college students supposedly have entered college on the foundation of a strong high school preparation. That background must be strong if high school graduates are to be accepted by outstanding colleges and universities. College acceptance, to a degree, is based on a "good" high school record. But, what about that "good" record in the future?

Are college undergraduates adequately prepared in high school to meet the demands of a college curriculum aimed at intelligent mature individuals? After discussing the problem of academic failure in college with undergraduates on several campuses (Bucknell included, of course), I have come to the conclusion that it is not only the educator or administrator who is concerned about the "flunk-out" rate of his institution. The average student is concerned also. Notice I say the average student, not the exceptional student, is concerned with the problem of academic failure in college. He is concerned because he does not want to become a statistic on a "flunk-out" graph.

Psychologists have evidence, educators have ideas, administrators have theories, and parents have excuses for undergraduates who fail in college. But, what do the students say are the reasons for failure? The opinions of a peer group are usually quite critical. Let us see at whom this criticism is aimed!

As freshmen, a week of lectures on the real Bucknell—the academic Bucknell—usually dispels the misconceptions about college life. However, there are a few undergraduates who maintain the magnified misconception that studying is merely an interlude between parties. They budget this time to suit their gala social whirl. Needless to say, they are not going with us; late and soon.

Most undergraduates feel that the greatest reason for academic failure in the freshman year is a lack of adequate high school preparation. Many freshmen are incapable of coping with English composition, mathematics, science, etc. High school administrators know most colleges require freshmen to take a composition course. They also know they will have to take a science course sometime during their college career. The question now asked is "Why don't high schools prepare their students to meet important college requirements?" True, several high schools in metropolitan areas have accelerated courses to prepare their college preparatory students for a college curriculum, but these are in a minority. The result of poor preparation means that an unprepared student, in competition with a prepared student, more often than not becomes a statistic.

Another cause of failure is the inability of students to study. They do not know how to study, because they have never had to study. Let us briefly examine one of the reasons why this is true. Teachers are generally of upper middle class status. In their associations with children they may prefer and identify themselves with children of upper middle class parents. From which social stratum do the majority of college students come? The answer is the upper middle class. If a student can maintain a preference with his teachers, he may be able to glide through twelve years of schooling with as little studying as possible. When he arrives at college, he expects a similar reaction from his professors. He panics when he discovers college professors are not impressed by his neat appearance, his pleasant disposition, nor his winning smile, but instead see him as a name on a theme or test paper. Does his panic cause him to sink or swim? Does he concentrate with sincere determination (swim), or does he throw his hands up in despair (sink) and become another statistic?

One must have personal self-control, long-range persistence, and deliberateness plus a fair amount of intellectual agility to succeed in college today. It is not who one knows but what one knows that saves him from becoming a statistic on the "flunk-out" graphs of our institutions of higher learning.

The curriculum of the college of tomorrow will be aimed at more technical scientific study, integrated social and humanistic studies, and international understanding, and it will place a great stress on the quality of the work produced by the student. One salvation of the college student can be a superior high school preparation. Today's undergraduates feel that the high school curriculum must be taken out of the past and placed in the present to prepare for the future!

Sports

Roundup

by BRADLEY N. TUFTS
Sports Information Director

THE snow is off the ground and the spring sports are underway, but, before it's too late, it might be good to take a quick look back at what happened to Bison athletic teams during the past winter.

On the wrestling and swimming fronts this was definitely one of the most successful winters in the University's history. Fred Prender's grapplers established a school victory record by going through the dual meet season undefeated with nine straight successes and then finished a strong third in the Middle Atlantic Conference Championships.

Coupled with a victory over Temple in the final match of the 1961 season, the matmen posted a new consecutive victory streak record of ten in a row and chalked up another season record with three shutouts.

John Coyle, a sophomore from Harvey Cedars, N. J., led the parade of victories by winning nine in a row during the regular season and finishing as runner-up in the 147-pound class in the MAC tournament. Juniors Jim Koehn and Bill Sweet took third in the 123 and 130-pound classes respectively, and co-captain Ken Brust was the runner-up in the 157-pound division.

The other regulars on the undefeated mat squad were senior Bud Dusel, winner of eight of nine matches during the regular season, sophomore Glenn Dussinger, senior Jon Portnof and co-captain Bill Graham.

The swimmers also established a school season victory record with a 9-2 mark in dual meets. Coach Bob Latour's team then went on to finish second in the MAC Championships and twelfth in the Eastern Seaboard Intercollegiate Championships.

During the season the varsity and freshman swimmers accounted for twelve school records, six Freas-Rooke Pool records and seven Middle Atlantic Conference marks. Heading the list of record breakers were senior co-captains Bill Dearstyne and Bill Dorr and senior Charlie Maunz.

Dorr posted new University records in the 100 and 220-yard freestyle events, an MAC record in the 100-yard event, finished sixth in the 100-yard freestyle in the Eastern Championships, finished a close second in the MAC 220-yard freestyle, and anchored the Bison 400-yard medley relay team that came up with a school and MAC record in the conference championships.

Dearstyne closed out his collegiate career undefeated in dual meets in the 200-yard backstroke and accounted for new University and MAC records in the 100 and 200-yard backstroke races and was on the record-breaking medley relay team. He won both backstroke races in the MAC meet for the third straight year and finished fourth in the 200-yard backstroke in the Eastern title meet.

Making a tremendous comeback after a disappointing junior season, Maunz registered school and conference records in the 100-yard and 200-yard breaststroke events, won both races in the MAC Championships, was a member of the record shattering medley relay team and was fifth in the Eastern 100-yard breaststroke.

Junior Eric Moore established Bucknell and conference records in the 140-yard freestyle, won this event in the conference championships and finished second in the Eastern Championships.

The freshman record breakers who led the frosh team to an undefeated season for the fourth straight year were butterfly Jim Smigie, sprinter Enos Fry and the freestyle relay team of Fry, John Shields, Bob Nadal and Jack Fleming.

The Bison basketball team closed out the campaign with a disappointing 7-15 record, but co-captain Joe Steiner continued the record-breaking performances of a year ago. He set a new single game scoring mark with 41 points (20 field goals and one free throw) against LaSalle and was named the outstanding player to face the Explorers this season. He also scored 376 points in 22 games to close out his career with 1,200 points, the highest total in Bucknell history.

Steiner was named to the ECAC team of the week for his play in Bucknell's 84-48 victory over C.C.N.Y. and was chosen to the third all-state team at the end of the season. In addition to the LaSalle game, his other standout performance was against Navy when he scored 27 points and pulled down 25 rebounds as the Bisons upset the Middies 75-59. The other victories were over Gettysburg, Rochester, Penn State, Albright and Muhlenberg. Six Bucknell opponents—St. Joseph's, Navy, Temple, Rochester, Albright and Westminster—went on to play in post-season tournaments.

This spring the Bison baseball team will play an 18-game schedule, and with several outstanding sophomores and a large group of returning lettermen on hand Coach Rod Oberlin is hopeful that the team can finish up around the .500 mark.

Football standouts Ash Ditka and Ken Twiford, the leading hitters on the team a year ago, will serve as co-captains and are slated to start in left field and at short stop respectively. Other letterwinners slated for starting roles are second baseman Sam Neisner, third baseman Art Covey, right fielder Jim Albus and catcher Gary Heck.

Juniors Dick Kiehn and Steve Weems are the only veterans on the mound staff, but sophomore left handers Joe Frith and Dick Haller have been tabbed for starting roles and could be a big help this spring. Other standout first year men are catcher Angie Gentile and first baseman Bill Headley, both members of the varsity basketball team this winter, third baseman Jerry Gallagher and center fielder John Minsker.

Four returning lettermen, Captain Curt Mull, senior Jerry Singer and Pete Sang and junior Don Mothner, will be out to bring the Middle Atlantic Conference golf championship to Bucknell for the fourth straight year. The links men suffered a big blow with the graduation of Bob Schae and Bob Etzweiler, but if sophomores can come through in the bottom positions, the Bisons could again be one of the standouts in the area.

Dr. Helmut R. Wagner, associate professor of sociology at Bucknell, takes over as track coach this spring replacing "Bus" Blum who is on a leave of absence during the spring semester.

The thinclads lack a great deal of depth, especially in the field events, but sprinter Buzzy Holmes, middle distance man Bob DeCamp and distance runner Jeff Martin may have a shot at school records this season. Other standouts on the squad are sprinters Bob Mackenzie and Steve McGoon, Art Michaelis in the shot-put and discus, Ron Andreuzzi in the broad jump and high jump and Ray Keene in the pole vault. Andreuzzi and DeCamp are the co-captains of the team.

Captain Mike Nachwalter, Bob Heuman and Pete Kapla are the only lettermen on Coach Hank Peters' tennis team but some help is expected from the sophomores, especially Jeff Nemerov, who is battling Nachwalter for the number one position, and Don Warren.

Andrew R. E. Wyant '92

FOOTBALL

Hall of Fame

by BRADLEY N. TUFTS
Sports Information Director.

IN football today much of the emphasis is on platoons and specialists and it is hard for us to visualize a man playing the entire contest. Seventy years ago the situation was different, and almost all of the players were in the game for the full sixty minutes.

Perhaps the greatest of all the "iron men" of this age was "Andy" Wyant '92, a bruising guard and tackle at Bucknell and later one of the first football greats at the University of Chicago.

One of Bucknell's most noted graduates, Dr. Andrew R. E. Wyant, was one of twelve men recently named to the Football Hall of Fame by the National Football Foundation and Hall of Fame, a fitting tribute to his tremendous career on the gridiron.

Long noted as THE iron man of collegiate football, Andy, unobstructed by present day eligibility rules, played seven straight years of college football. He was one of Bucknell's early greats, playing from 1888 until 1891, and then went on to the University of Chicago where he played for three more years while studying for his divinity degree.

Even more astounding is the fact that he played in 98 straight college games, an all-time record, and didn't miss a single minute of action because of an injury. At the time Andy was playing, if a man was taken out of a game for any reason he was ineligible to return at any time during that game.

The play was rough, but he was tougher, and he gained fame for his brilliant play in the interior line. Andy did sustain several injuries during his career, and although they might have been considered serious by some people, they never forced him out of a game.

A reporter for the San Francisco Press who covered the University of Chicago's victory over Stanford in 1894 included the following in his story of the game:

"Wyant the center was a conspicuous character. Strong as an ox and with the endurance of a mule, he pushed his way through the lines, scoring frequently yards of advantage for his team. He is considered the cleverest player on the team, tricky and sharp, using his head at all times.

"He has bucked more than successfully against opposing centers outweighing him by 40 pounds, and few of them have cared about taking another turn at him. Withal Wyant has the reputation of being exceedingly even tempered and of playing exceptionally clean football."

BORN in Kittanning, Dr. Wyant taught in the public schools in Pennsylvania for four years before coming to Bucknell. He graduated with highest honors and the Bachelor of Arts degree in 1892 and went on to the University of Chicago to study for the ministry.

At Chicago he played football with the famed Amos Alonzo Stagg, then a player-coach, and was elected captain of the 1893 team. Upon graduation from Chicago he became pastor of the Morgan Park Baptist Church in Chicago, but gave this career up to enter medicine.

He had taken one year of pre-medical work in college and was so intrigued with this field that he returned to the University of Chicago and received his medical degree in 1903. For the next thirty years he was an active and prominent physician in Chicago.

Endurance was his forte in football and it was to be throughout his career. During his 30 years of active medical practice he made over 1500 public addresses, an average of almost one every week.

Dr. Wyant, who will be 95 years old on May 20, retired from active medical work in 1933. He spends some time each winter in Palo Alto, California, but still has his permanent residence in Chicago.

Andy Wyant, one of Bucknell's first football greats, is the first Bison player to be named to the Football Hall of Fame. One of the top stars of the pre-1900 era, he is highly deserving of this honor, and we at Bucknell are proud that Dr. Wyant has brought this high honor to the University.

It is hoped that Dr. Wyant, who was given the Bucknell University Alumni Achievement Award in June, 1960, will be able to come back to the campus for a football game next fall to receive his award. The twelve new members of the Hall of Fame will be officially inducted at the Annual Awards Dinner of the Foundation next December in New York City.

Dr. Wyant's twin granddaughters Elizabeth Anne Kinzie Ignatowski and Louise Hulbert Kinzie are both Bucknellians with the Class of 1951.

FOR THE RECORD

■ STUDENTS' CAMPAIGN

"Buy a brick for the Campus Center" was the theme of the student campaign for funds for the new Campus Center held from April 9 to April 20. Sponsored by the Student Faculty Congress, the drive was student initiated and organized.

The campaign's goal was 100% student participation. Envelopes were distributed to hall representatives and fraternity presidents in order that every student was given an opportunity to contribute. The four classes competed for the highest percentage of participation rather than the greatest amount donated. A Bison Day Rally was held on April 19, with free cokes and a Rock n' Roll band providing the final inspiration to tardy contributors. The winning class will have a plaque dedicated to it in the new center.

Alumni will recall that a campus center was one of the major physical plant needs in the capital needs projection for 1962-72 reported in the January, 1962, issue of THE BUCKNELL ALUMNUS.

■ ART SLIDES ARRIVE

The University has acquired a special collection of 500 colored slides from the National Gallery of Art in Washington representing a valuable addition to Bucknell's cultural and teaching resources.

The slides, each of which depicts a famous painting or piece of sculpture housed in the National Gallery, will serve as educational aids in the fields of aesthetics and the history and appreciation of art.

■ HONORARY DEGREES TO ALUMNI

On Sunday, June 3, 1962, Bucknell will honor two of her graduates by conferring upon them honorary degrees at the annual Commencement exercises.

The Rev. Dr. Fred H. Heather, Jr. '33, will receive the honorary degree of Doctor of Divinity. Rev. Heather is Staff Minister and Treasurer of the Commission on Chaplains of the Methodist Church of Washington, D. C. He has served as a chaplain in the U. S. Army and has filled important pastorates in Philadelphia, Los Angeles, and San Diego. He has been a frequent visitor to the campus, and his son, Fred, is a member of the Class of 1965.

Andrew R. Mathieson '20

Rev. Fred H. Heather, Jr. '33

The second alumnus to be honored is certainly no stranger to Bucknellians. Andrew R. Mathieson '20, President, Treasurer, and Director of the U. S. Steel and Carnegie Pension Fund, will receive the honorary degree of Doctor of Laws. Andy, as he is affectionately called by his Bucknell friends, has been active in Bucknell affairs for many years. He was instrumental in establishing the student placement office at Bucknell, and he has served as president of the Bucknell Alumni Club of Pittsburgh, vice president of The General Alumni Association, and president of the Athletic Council. He has served as chairman of the Alumni Fund Committee and recently was national alumni chairman for the Dual Development Campaign. For 16 years he has been a member of the Board of Trustees and is presently chairman of the Trustee Committee on Athletics, Student Health, and Physical Education. Also, he is a member of the Trustee Committee on Instruction, Public Relations, Alumni Relations, and the Actuarial Committee.

Mr. Mathieson's son, Andrew W., is a member of the Class of 1950, and Andy's brothers, Richard and George, are Bucknell graduates with the Classes of 1941 and 1922, respectively.

Please refer to page six to learn of other honorary degree recipients.

■ NEEDLESS COST

From time to time the editors of THE BUCKNELL ALUMNUS have appealed to Alumni of Bucknell to keep the Alumni Office informed of their address changes. True, these plugs to keep our records up to date have made for dull reading, but they are important!

Once again we are asking that our readers give us advance notice when an address is going to change. This information is important because it helps us save a considerable amount of money now paid to the Post Office Department for magazines and letters that are undeliverable. In January of this year the charge for each address change notification from the Post Office went up from 5c to 10c. Perhaps this does not sound like a lot of money for one address change, but it becomes a considerable amount in the aggregate.

Please check your address on the back cover of this magazine. If it is incorrect please clip it, write your correct mailing address below, and mail it to Alumni Headquarters, Bucknell University, Lewisburg, Pennsylvania. If you anticipate a move in the near future, will you please send us your new address? You will help us save money and time by giving us advance notice of address changes.

■ SCIENCE FAIR

The seventh annual Susquehanna Valley Science Fair was held on the Bucknell campus on March 30 and 31. Co-sponsored by Bucknell University and the West Branch Manufacturers Association, the fair attracted students from 44 area schools. A total of 362 exhibits were entered.

A Lewisburg Area Joint High School senior, Amos B. Smith, III, son of Amos B. Smith '30, was named grand champion boy of the fair for his first place exhibit in life science entitled "The Genetic Effects of X-Rays on Hamsters." For placing first Amos received the Gubernatorial Scholarship, the Pennsylvania Medical Society Award, and the U.S. Air Force Certificate of Achievement in Aerospace Medicine.

Miss Sharon L. Fulger was selected grand champion girl for 1962 for her life science project entitled "Effects of Streptomycin on Certain Green Plants." She received the Senatorial Scholarship, presented by State Senator Z. H. Confair.

The West Branch Manufacturers Association presented engraved silver bowls to the grand champions, champions and their schools and attractive trophies to the 24 junior and senior high school finalists. In addition, the Association has arranged for the grand champions to compete in the National Science Fair at Seattle, Washington, scene of this year's World's Fair, on May 2-5. The champions will be accompanied by their science teachers on the expense-paid trip.

■ TARIFFS AND TRADE

In the March 29, 1962, issue of The Wall Street Journal, the editors published a letter written by Dr. Patrick M. Boarman, associate professor of economics at Bucknell. Dr. Boarman's letter took issue with President Kennedy's proposals for tariff reform.

Briefly, Dr. Boarman indicated that he believed tariff reduction was a good thing, but it was not the only adjustment the United States needed to make if it is to survive economically in changed world surroundings. Dr. Boarman discussed at some length that the issue confronting the United States today was not tariff reform or no tariff reform but, rather, should we have tariff reform with or tariff reform without internal fiscal monetary and economic reforms.

In an editorial accompanying Dr. Boarman's letter the editors said in part, "This country has got to move toward freer trade, for the simple reason that in its own interests it cannot do otherwise. But the crux of the matter is not tariffs. What is imperative is that we get our own house in order, our labor policies, our fiscal policies, our monetary policies. If we don't do that then the battle will, as Dr. Boarman says, have been fought upon the wrong field."

■ MRS. GATHINGS DIES

The Bucknell University family lost one of its best-loved members with the death on March 14, 1962, of Mrs. Elizabeth D. Gathings, wife of Dr. James A. Gathings of the Bucknell faculty, after an illness of about a year. Both Dr. and Mrs. Gathings have endeared themselves to thousands of Bucknell students and faculty members since they reached Bucknell in 1932 when Dr. Gathings joined the faculty. Because of their friendly pattern of entertaining students in their home, they have had an ever increasing circle of friends among Bucknell Alumni. And their home on Taylor Street has been the headquarters for literally hundreds of Bucknellians when they return to the campus for homecoming and reunion celebrations.

Mrs. Gathings was born in Landrum, S. C., in 1905 and was graduated from the Woman's College of Furman University at Greenville, S. C., after which she taught in the public schools of South Carolina prior to her marriage.

She is survived by her husband, Dr. James A. Gathings; a daughter, Betsy, now a teacher in the public schools of Central Bucks County; her mother; two brothers and three sisters, all residing in North or South Carolina.

Memorial services were held in the Beaver Memorial Methodist Church and interment was in the Lewisburg Cemetery. Flowers were omitted, but many friends made contributions to the Kindergarten Fund of the Methodist Church where Mrs. Gathings had served in children's work.

■ WE APOLOGIZE

In our eagerness to rush into print with the list of class fund managers and assistant class fund managers presented in the March 1962 issue of THE BUCKNELL ALUMNUS, several names were inadvertently omitted. We are glad to announce these additions:

CHAUNCEY E. BROCKWAY, ESQ., Class Fund Manager for 1907
WALTER F. HOPPER, JR., Assistant Class Fund Manager for 1932
MRS. NORMA HUNSINGER HAY, Assistant Class Fund Manager for 1951
MRS. JANICE BAYREUTHER RICHARDSON, Assistant Class Fund Manager for 1955
MRS. WINIFRED KREIDER HERMANSON, Assistant Class Fund Manager for 1956

(Continued on Page 33)

James E. Ostendarp '52 (right), presently head football coach at Amherst College, received a bronze medallion from Gerald B. Zornow, Eastman Kodak Company vice president, as district winner in the 1961 American Football Coaches Association Coach-of-the-Year balloting. "Smoke" was one of 16 nominees selected by the A. F. C. A. ballots representing large and small colleges.

THE CLUB CIRCUIT

■ THE RECORD

Records are made to be broken, and through the efforts of Bucknellians scattered from San Francisco to New York and from Boston to Miami a new record of alumni clubs holding meetings during a single year has been set. As this is written (March 26, 1962) forty different clubs have held at least one meeting since July 1, 1961. This is four more clubs than held meetings last year, and the club year will not end until June 30, 1962.

Last year seventy-four different meetings were held. To date this record has not been broken, but it will be by Alumni Week End, June 1, 2, and 3. Sixty-seven meetings have been held with seven meetings definitely scheduled for April and May. There's a good possibility more clubs will be planning spring picnics and dances in the next few weeks which will help to break all existing records. Club activity is definitely on the upswing, and more and more Alumni are turning out for a variety of programs.

In addition to regular club meetings two meetings of Bucknellians have been arranged by Alumni Headquarters. Bucknellians met in Harrisburg during the Pennsylvania State Education Association Convention and in Reading at the Pennsylvania Baptist Convention. Also, the Bucknell Alumni Clubs of Philadelphia, Pittsburgh, and Scranton hold regular weekly luncheons and the Bucknell Alumni Club of Greater New York holds a monthly luncheon.

Because we are proud of the record of our club program and especially proud of the hundreds of Alumni providing excellent leadership in their respective club areas we would like to publish in the five issues of THE BUCKNELL ALUMINUS reports of all the club meetings. Unfortunately this is not possible because of space limitations in the magazine. In this issue, however, we have reserved space for those clubs sending us reports of charter day celebrations.

Some of the celebrants at the Charter Day celebration held by the Bucknell Alumni Club of Scranton were (back row l. to r.): Norman W. Morgan '23; Professor John B. Miller '26, and Robert L. Payne '30. Seated (l. to r.) are: Arthur E. Minnier '31, President Dr. William D. Golightly '25, and Rev. Charles E. Tilton '16.

■ COLUMBUS

Although Bucknellians in Central Ohio cannot officially petition The General Alumni Association for a Charter until June 2, 1962, they have held two meetings to get the ball rolling. The first planning meeting was held on August 25, 1961, and was reported previously.

On January 11, 1962, the second meeting was held at the Ohio Stater Inn at which time a petition for a charter was signed and Bucknell's birthday was celebrated. A special guest at the meeting was Dr. Karl D. Hartzell, Dean of the University, who told of the many improvements at the University.

At the business meeting George F. Woodward '51, was elected president and Alden R. Dalzell '49, and Marcia R. Fremont '50, were elected vice president and secretary respectively.

■ LANCASTER

Twenty-five Alumni, parents, students and friends met on January 26, 1962, at the Old Mill near Lancaster to honor the anniversary of Bucknell's 116th year.

After a delicious dinner and the election of new officers, Captain Herbert F. Eckberg, Dean of the College of Engineering, spoke on the subject "The Bucknell Curve is Up." As an extra added attraction a newsreel of recent campus developments was shown.

Jack A. Bidding '47 will serve as president; Thomas R. Lewis '51 as vice president; J. Harry Gundrum '39 as treasurer; and Jeanne Beeler Brenneman '44 as secretary.

Frank E. Gerlitz '34, retiring president, made the arrangements for the meeting.

■ UNION COUNTY

John S. Purnell '50, M.D., was elected president of the Bucknell Alumni Club of Union County at the Club's annual Charter Day celebration on January 31, 1962. Members of the Bucknell Alumni Club of Milton were invited to the dinner meeting.

Andrew J. Shirk '51, outgoing president, presided at the business session at which time William K. Groover '52 was elected vice president and Miss Joyce E. Dornsife '57, secretary. Herbert C. "Hub" Grice '18 was re-elected treasurer. Persons serving on the nominating committee included A. Thomas Wilson '47, D. Clayton Brouse '33, and John H. Shott '22.

Following an invocation by Hayes L. Person '20, John F. Zeller '41, served as toastmaster for the evening and introduced the guest speaker, Dr. Wesley N. Haines, Director of Development at Bucknell.

The program also included group singing led by Earle S. Pedigo '17, and numbers by a vocal trio of co-eds.

Arrangements for the meeting were made by Mrs. Marguerite Strouse Jones '44, Dr. William Mendenhall, III '45, "Hub" Grice '18, and "Andy" Shirk '51.

■ HARRISBURG

The annual Birthday Dinner meeting of the Bucknell Alumni Club of Harrisburg was held in the Appian Room of the Hotel Harrisburger on Thursday, February 1, 1962.

One speaker of the evening was Dr. David Lu, assistant professor of history at Bucknell and director of the Institute on Asian Studies. He also is the author of the book, From The Marco Polo Bridge to Pearl Harbor. Dr. Lu told of the importance of the Bucknell-Burma Week End on the Burmese and undergraduates at the University. He reminded us of its great influence for good will. He told us, also, of the importance of the Non-Western Studies in the curriculum of Bucknell.

Mr. John H. Shott '22, alumni secretary, was our second speaker. He brought greetings from the campus, and told us that in recent alumni drives and other activities nearly 3,000 Alumni took part as workers.

Mr. Shott also paid tribute to a missionary Alumnus, Rev. Carroll Condit '08, who recently observed his 50th anniversary. "Services such as these cannot be measured in numbers. They are of the heart," said Mr. Shott.

The regular monthly meeting of the club was held at the Y. M. C. A. on Thursday, March 1, 1962.

During a brief business meeting reports were given by Mr. Bruce Butt '16, and Mr. Marshall S. Goulding '52, and plans were formulated for the May meeting. It was decided to charter buses to Bucknell on May 5, 1962, to see the Cap and Dagger production, "Roadside."

Following the meeting Mr. Clifton Rose, state geologist from the Department of Forests and Waters, entertained us by showing color slides of the Rocky Mountain region.

WINIFRED C. KITCHEN '55, Secretary

■ NORTHERN NEW JERSEY

Bucknellians in the Bucknell Alumni Club of Northern New Jersey were treated to a delicious dinner and a visit from Dr. Merle M. Odgers on the occasion of the Northern New Jersey Alumni Club birthday dinner on February 2, 1962.

The birthday dinner was one of the most successful the club has ever held with one of the largest turn-outs in many years. A lion's share of the credit for its success goes to Dr. and Mrs. Odgers whose charm and appeal made the evening very enjoyable for everyone.

At a brief business meeting the following officers were elected to office: Louis F. Alessio '48, president; D. Scott Hicks '51, president-elect; David A. Grimm '50, and Frederick S. Shehadi, Jr. '54, vice presidents; Mrs. Isabelle Kent Warren '43, secretary; and Gerard R. Rankin '53, treasurer.

Before the close of the meeting, Robert E. List '48, outgoing president, was thanked for his splendid leadership during the past year and was presented a Bucknell blanket.

■ PHILADELPHIA

The annual Bucknell birthday dinner of the Philadelphia Bucknell Alumni Association was held at McAllister's on February 2, 1962, with club president Robert H. Taylor '48 acting as master of ceremonies. The invocation was offered by the Rev. Anthony F. Vasquez '37.

Following a delicious dinner, a brief business meeting was held, resulting in the re-election of the following officers: president, Robert H. Taylor '48; vice president, Daniel F. Griffith '36; secretary, Mrs. Jean Walton Clemmer '43; and treasurer, Albert H. Fenstermacher '33. Re-elected to the Executive Committee for three-year terms were Joseph W. Ortlieb '52, Mrs. Ray Speare Topham '17, and Lester E. Lighton '20. Added to the committee for three-year terms were Charles I. Vogel '37 and Robert G. Fitzsimmons '58.

Entertainment was provided by a singing group from the Bucknell University Men's Glee Club under the direction of Professor Jack Crim. In brief remarks, "Buck" Shott '22, alumni secretary, outlined the three divisions of the alumni activities program—homecoming and reunions, the Bucknell Alumni Annual-Giving Fund, and publication of The Bucknell Alumnus, and thanked the members of the Philadelphia club for their active interest and support of the University in all three of these alumni divisions.

Announcement was made of the final meeting of the club year, the spring dance scheduled for the Philadelphia Country Club on Friday, May 25, 1962.

■ BALTIMORE

In contrast to many of our past February meetings, the 1962 birthday party for Bucknell was heralded with blue skies and delightful spring-like temperatures. Longley's at Towson Plaza was the location again, and February 4, at 5:00 P.M., was the time. A delicious dinner began the early evening party after the usual greeting and chatting. We were particularly happy to see the parents (who so faithfully attend) of two or three present students on the campus. The 30 "guests" also enjoyed the birthday cake, which was cut by Sally Roop '57, the "youngest" alumna present.

New officers were elected during a short business meeting which followed the dinner. They are: Charles F. Millard '40, president; Royce M. McLane '26, vice president; and Sally M. Roop '57, secretary-treasurer.

Anna Weigold Mussina '32, our retiring president, introduced our guests from the campus, Doris and Bruce Rossiter '56. Mr. Rossiter, assistant alumni secretary, presented an interesting and informative talk. His information about admission to Bucknell was pertinent and timely. The film, "About Bucknell" and also the newsreel on the library fire were shown. Needless to say, it was good to be "back on the hill."

It was good to see "the regulars" and also some new Alumni. Plan now to attend Bucknell's 117th.

DORIS W. THOMAS '49

■ SCRANTON

On February 15, 1962, Alumni and friends in Northeastern Pennsylvania celebrated Bucknell University's 116th anniversary.

Rev. Dr. William D. Golightly '25, president of the club, presided at the dinner meeting held at the Town and Country Supper Club in Scranton, and Arthur E. Minnier '31, superintendent of schools served as toastmaster. Rev. Charles E. Tilton '16, gave the invocation after which Professor John B. Miller '26, chairman of the Bucknell University Department of Electrical Engineering gave some interesting facts about Bucknell, past and present. Professor Miller also showed a very fine film to illustrate his talk.

Attending the 116th anniversary of Bucknell in Harrisburg on February 1, 1962, were (l. to r.) John H. Shott '22, Alumni Secretary; Dr. David J. Lu, Assistant Professor of History at Bucknell; H. Keith Eisaman '42, president-elect; and Miss Jean E. Scott '36, program chairman.

In closing the meeting the group enjoyed singing the Alma Mater led by William E. C. "Doc" Speare '20, and accompanied by Mrs. Natalie Isaac Henkelman '52. As a remembrance of the evening, Norman W. Morgan '23, furnished Bucknell monogrammed napkins.

It was a fine party and Bucknellians in Northeastern Pennsylvania are looking forward to next year's celebration.

WILLIAM E. C. SPEARE '20

■ LONG ISLAND

On February 17th, eighty Long Island Alumni, parents and friends celebrated Bucknell's 116th birthday with a buffet dinner and dance at the Williston Park Masonic Club.

Chairman Mike Harris '50, assisted by Len Von Heill '52, and Dr. Dan Casden '42, handled arrangements for the gala evening. Those present enjoyed an elaborate buffet dinner consisting of roast beef, lobster, shrimp and other delicacies. Dancing to a three piece orchestra followed. Plans are already underway for an even larger gathering next year.

RICHARD H. KLEMM '53

■ CHICAGO

On February 19, 1962, thirty-five Alumni, parents, prospective students, and friends attended a Charter Day celebration in Hinsdale, Ill., and to hear Dr. Karl D. Hartzell, dean of the University.

Charles W. Hott '48, outgoing president of the Bucknell Alumni Club of Chicago, served as toastmaster at the meeting and presided over a business session at which J. Leslie Ehringer '42, was elected to the presidency. Mr. Ehringer's wife, the former Mary Bechtel, was elected to serve as secretary-treasurer.

■ TRENTON

The annual Bucknell birthday dinner of the Trenton Alumni Club was held at Landwehr's Restaurant on February 23, 1962.

Mr. Homer W. Wieder '58, assistant director of development, presented a dynamic speech to the forty Alumni, parents, and friends in attendance. Accompanying Mr. Wieder to the meeting was his charming wife, the former Claire A. Halline '58.

At the annual business meeting the following Alumni were elected to office: A. Spencer Bruno '54, president; Ernest J. Thompson, Jr. '49, vice president; Mrs. Jane Koch Sieger '48, secretary; and Joseph S. Drexler '49, treasurer.

Henry G. P. Coates, Esq. '32, outgoing president, and William J. Irvin '22, made the arrangements for the dinner.

■ GREATER NEW YORK

Members of the Bucknell Alumni Club of Greater New York met on March 1, 1962, to celebrate Bucknell's 116th birthday. The pre-lenten Mardi gras party was held at the Tavern-on-the-Green in Central Park. Following an informal social hour forty-eight Alumni and friends enjoyed a delicious dinner and rounded out the evening by dancing to the music of Bob Hertzfelder '40.

The officers of the Bucknell Alumni Club of Greater New York are Mrs. Ethel Hawksworth Roessner '42, president; David B. Conroy '60, and Fred Lieberman '60, vice presidents; Miss Isabelle L. Clouser '38, secretary; and Chester R. Leaber '19, treasurer. Members of the Board of Directors include: Mrs. Amorita Sesinger Copeland '22, Mrs. Claire Wynkoop Carlson '49, Joseph A. DiPace '33, and Edward F. Wittmer '35.

■ SOUTH JERSEY

One of the most successful club meetings of the year in terms of members attending was the Bucknell Alumni Club of South Jersey's Bucknell birthday meeting on Friday, March 2, 1962.

The meeting, held in Memorial Hall at Glassboro State College in Glassboro, N. J., attracted 136 Alumni and friends. The program included a game entitled Bucknell bingo, a showing of the film "About Bucknell," a light-hearted campus commentary and "English lecture" by Dr. C. Willard Smith, chairman of Bucknell's Department of English, and a late evening buffet luncheon.

Trustee Kenneth W. Slifer '26, served as the caller for the bingo game and Rev. Howard G. Hartzell '41, president of the club, presided at a short business meeting. Members of the committee helping to make this party one of the most successful of its kind included Miss Edna M. Baker '21, Kenneth W. Slifer '26, Harlan A. Downer '29, Mrs. Mary Bell Heritage '33, Mrs. Rae-Louise Shultz Porch '40, Howard G. Hartzell '41, Donald H. Sholl '42, Maurice R. Shaw, Jr. '47, George E. Appleton '53, and the "Assorted" Irvings.

Accompanying Dr. Smith to the meeting was Assistant Alumni Secretary C. Bruce Rossiter '56.

■ WILKES-BARRE

Donald S. Mills, Esq. '32, president of the Bucknell Alumni Club of Wilkes-Barre led the Bucknellians of the area in the celebration of Bucknell's birthday at a dinner held at the Hotel Sterling, Wilkes-Barre, on March 12, 1962.

In one of the beautifully decorated private dining rooms of the hotel, which is owned and operated by Bucknell trustee, Dr. Andrew J. Sordoni H'50, Robert Pethick '36, introduced the first speaker of the evening, head football coach Robert H. Odell. Bob emphasized the need for encouraging the enrollment of high school athletes at Bucknell who are also well prepared academically and outlined the achievements of the half dozen football players now attending Bucknell from the Wilkes-Barre area.

Jacob S. Russin, Esq. '28, next introduced Buck Shott, alumni secretary, who outlined the alumni program in its three phases: club and class activities, magazine editing, and fund raising.

Col. A. F. Dershimer '03, was given special recognition because he was the oldest class represented at the gathering and because of his long term of service as fund manager of the Emeritus Club of Bucknell.

(Continued on Page 34)

Mrs. Edna Shires Slifer F97, '00, the oldest alumna present at the Bucknell Alumni Club of South Jersey's party on March 26, 1962, had the honor of cutting the birthday cake. Pictured (l. to r.) are: Mrs. Rae-Louise Shultz Porch '40, buffet chairman; Rev. Howard G. Hartzell '41, club president; Mrs. Slifer, and Dr. C. Willard Smith, speaker for the evening and chairman of the Department of English at the University. (Pipe those name cards!)

Over the years the pages of THE BUCKNELL ALUMNUS have informed Bucknell's Alumni of the aspirations and plans of the Board of Trustees. Furthermore, the Board's crystalized expression of future plans was published and widely distributed to Alumni and friends in November, 1953, as "The Bucknell of Tomorrow." You will recall this was at the beginning of the now successfully completed Dual Development Campaign.

Following a recent faculty meeting President Odgers prepared for the faculty and staff a condensation of the statement originally signed by President Odgers and endorsed by the Board of Trustees. Cut to approximately half its length the statement follows:

THE BUCKNELL OF TOMORROW

*The following statement
"has been our sailing chart both before and after it was written" says
President Odgers*

IN this country there is no governmental agency issuing blueprints for our independent colleges and universities. Each must work out plans for its further development in the light of its history, location, plant, endowment, and its financial resources, actual and potential.

Our nation faces a crisis in higher education, but my feeling is that it is a crisis of opportunity rather than one of disaster. We at Bucknell have a Board of Trustees greatly concerned with both educational and financial matters. We have a faculty thoroughly alert to new opportunities.

We may not be entering a Golden Age in American education, but I am convinced that, given reasonable world stability, we shall see at Bucknell the expansion of effort and the heightening of quality which our times demand of education on all levels.

Just what plans should Bucknell make for the future? If I begin by defining them to you in negatives it is because that is the way we sharpened our focus on our main task.

First, there is no effective future for us in indiscriminate size. Our basic character is that of a residential college located in the country. That we cannot alter; and if we could, I do not think anyone who knows Bucknell would want us to do so.

In our planning we visualize ourselves with an undergraduate student body of approximately 2,500.

We do not see a promising future in the addition of special vocational programs or in expansion of graduate study to the level of the Ph.D. We are proud of our professional departments and of the standing in their respective vocations of the alumni and alumnae of the curricula in business administration, engineering, and teaching. We are steadily strengthening our graduate study program leading to the Master's Degree. I believe that all these programs are more thorough and broadly-based because they were developed and are maintained in an atmosphere of the liberal arts and sciences.

OUR job is the laying of good foundations. And I am thinking not only of intellectual foundations, but of social and spiritual as well. We have in our middle states area several universities with large programs in post-graduate education. To attempt to duplicate these programs would be to waste money and to overlook the distinctive and vitally important contribution that Bucknell can make.

We do not picture Bucknell as becoming a major center of research. When some gifted faculty member reveals a talent for scholarly investigation, or a department undertakes a project of significance, we do everything we can to encourage and support the effort. Indeed, the amount of research being done by our people is substantial in scope.

"To . . . picture the Bucknell of Tomorrow in positive terms, we can say that it will be the same, but better."

variety, and value. This kind of effort enriches teaching and we welcome it. But to visualize the Bucknell of Tomorrow as the great center of specialized investigation would be unrealistic. The cost of space, personnel, and equipment for major research is so great as to render it for all practical purposes beyond our immediate goals.

To . . . picture the Bucknell of Tomorrow in positive terms, we can say that it will be the same, but better. Even with increased enrollment, it will not lose the values of community living which endear it to the hearts of thousands of alumni. It will continue to be mainly an undergraduate teaching university of the liberal arts and sciences. It will continue to concentrate on the basic education which is the source of satisfying domestic, professional, and community life, and the foundation for specialized training. As we do our basic job well, our excellence is reflected in the later lives of our young people.

Bucknell is a strong educational institution determined to attain its fullest strength, not by academic fads but by providing the best in basic teaching and well-rounded campus life.

We must not delude ourselves into thinking that excellent work in liberal education is easily attained or inexpensive. It calls for educators who can "bring out" in young people a realization of what they are and of what they can become. All of us have memories of teachers who touched something in us which led to great satisfactions in a vocation, an avocation, in membership in a group, or in the simple, but central, business of being a person. It is true that the influence of a teacher never stops. Like donors and devoted board members and staff members, teachers transform their talents into the flesh and blood of institutions that never die.

THE first foundation of the ideal edifice which we are calling the Bucknell of Tomorrow, then, is a superior teaching faculty, adequately compensated for superior work.

We want more students capable of becoming scholars and intellectual giants because our culture needs them, but we also want young people who are simply "teachable," in the sense that they can get something significant out of what we have to offer—out of classroom, library, and laboratory, and out of our community life.

We are as eager to discover and develop general qualities of "leadership" as we are to discover and cultivate a gift for mathematics or science or languages. Our paramount concern is that every student be challenged to work to his full capacity and to become a broadly-educated person whatever his special interests or his professional objectives may be.

Bucknell's student body is, and must continue to be, selected—but only on the bases of talent and capacity to benefit from our academic life.

Recent additions to our academic building facilities have given our faculty and students strong advantages in comparison with many institutions. And where in our country is there a more beautiful setting for an academic community? In respect to needs for the institution as a whole, there are still serious gaps to be filled. When these have been provided, we shall have laid the third foundation of our University which rises so invitingly in our vision of tomorrow.

THE notions that our educational institutions will somehow "scrape along" and that dedicated teachers will provide the "hidden subsidy for education" through inadequate salaries have been too long embedded in American folkways. We can be sure that totalitarian governments, convinced of the importance of educated manpower, will provide the budgets, salaries, programs, and buildings essential to do an adequate educational job. We must do no less, but by democratic means.

We are not tax-supported, and we cannot therefore go to Washington or Harrisburg and lobby for an appropriation. But we can rely on private generosity, the same generosity which has brought our University through troubled years in the past and which, I am confident, will guarantee the Bucknell of Tomorrow.

A superior faculty, a selected student body, an adequate physical plant, and adequate funds are the foundations upon which the "Bucknell of Tomorrow" will be built. In the last few years there has been a marked advance in all these areas, but much remains to be done.

The Development Committee of the Board of Trustees has projected the capital needs of the University for the next decade, and if they are to be met it will require the full cooperation of Bucknell's Alumni and friends. Included in the projection as endowment needs are endowment for instructional purposes and scholarship endowment.

Major physical plant needs include a chapel, women's dormitory facilities and a Campus Center. Other physical plant needs are the completion of the remodeling of Harris Hall, a Science Research Center, and six additional class rooms to be located in the final unit of the academic quadrangle.

As emphasized when the capital needs projection was first published in the January, 1962, issue of THE BUCKNELL ALUMNUS, the publishing of this information is not a call for another capital gifts campaign. It is, however, an expression of faith in Bucknell and Bucknellians.

*Who will go to college—and where?
What will they find?
Who will teach them?
Will they graduate?
What will college have done for them?
Who will pay—and how?*

the COLLEGE

of

TOMORROW

WILL MY CHILDREN GET INTO COLLEGE?"
The question haunts most parents. Here is the answer:

Yes...

If they graduate from high school or preparatory school with something better than a "scrape-by" record.

If they apply to the college or university that is right for them—aiming their sights (and their application fees) neither too high nor too low, but with an individuality and precision made possible by sound guidance both in school and in their home.

If America's colleges and universities can find the resources to carry out their plans to meet the huge demand for higher education that is certain to exist in this country for years to come.

The if's surrounding your children and the college of tomorrow are matters of concern to everyone involved—parents, to children, to alumni and alumnae (whatever their parental status), and to the nation's educators. But solving them is by no means being left to chance.

The colleges know what they must do, if they are to meet the needs of your children and others of your children's generation. Their planning is well beyond the hand-wringing stage.

► The colleges know the likely cost of putting their plans into effect. They know this cost, both in money and in manpower, will be staggering. But most of them are already embarked upon finding the means of meeting it.

► Governments—local, state, and federal—are also deeply involved in educational planning and financing. Some parts of the country are far ahead of others. But no region is without its planners and its doers in this field.

► Public demand—not only for expanded facilities for higher education, but for ever-better quality in higher education—today is more insistent, more informed than ever before. With this growth of public sophistication about higher education, it is now clear to most intelligent parents that they themselves must take a leading role in guiding their children's educational careers—and in making certain that the college of tomorrow will be ready, and good, for them.

This special report is in the form of a guide to parents. But we suspect that every reader, parent or not, will find the story of higher education's future remarkably exciting.

Where will your children go to college?

LAST FALL, more than one million students enrolled in the freshman classes of U.S. colleges and universities. They came from wealthy families, middle-income families, poor families; from all races, here and abroad; from virtually every religious faith.

Over the next ten years, the number of students will grow enormously. Around 1964 the long-predicted "tidal wave" of young people, born in the postwar era and steadily moving upward through the nation's school systems ever since, will engulf the college campuses. By 1970 the population between the ages of 18 and 21—now around 10.2 million—will have grown to 14.6 million. College enrollment, now less than 4 million, will be at least 6.4 million, and perhaps far more.

The character of the student bodies will also have changed. More than half of the full-time students in the country's four-year colleges are already coming from lower-middle and low income groups. With expanding scholarship, loan, and self-help programs, this trend will continue strong. Non-white college students—who in the past decade have more than doubled in number and now compose about 7 per cent of the total enrollment—will continue to increase. (Non-whites formed 11.4 per cent of the U.S. population in the 1960 census.) The number of married students will grow. The average age of students will continue its recent rise.

The sheer force of this great wave of students is enough to take one's breath away. Against this force, what chance has American higher education to stand strong, to maintain standards, to improve quality, to keep sight of the individual student?

And, as part of the gigantic population swell, what chances have your children?

TO BOTH QUESTIONS, there are some encouraging answers. At the same time, the intelligent parent will not ignore some danger signals.

FINDING ROOM FOR EVERYBODY

NOT EVERY COLLEGE or university in the country is able to expand its student capacity. A number have concluded that, for one persuasive reason or another, they must maintain their present enrollments. They are not blind to the need of American higher education, in the aggregate, to accommodate more students in the years ahead; indeed, they are keenly aware of it. But for reasons of finance, of faculty limitations, of space, of philosophy, of function, of geographic location—or of a combination of these and other restrictions—they cannot grow.

Many other institutions, public and private, are expanding their enrollment capacities and will continue to do so.

Private institutions: Currently, colleges and universities under independent auspices enroll around 1,500,000 students—some 40 per cent of the U.S. college population. In the future, many privately supported institutions will grow, but slowly in comparison with publicly supported institutions. Thus the total number of students at private institutions will rise, but their percentage of the total college population will become smaller.

Public institutions: State and locally supported colleges and universities are expanding their capacity steadily. In the years ahead they will carry by far the heaviest share of America's growing student population.

Despite their growth, many of them are already feeling the strain of the burden. Many state institutions, once committed to accepting any resident with a high-school diploma, are now imposing entrance requirements upon applicants. Others, required by law or long tradition not to turn away any high-school graduate who applies, resort in desperation to a high flunk-out rate in the freshman year in order to whittle down their student bodies to manageable size. In other states, coordinated systems of higher education are being devised to accommodate tudents of differing aptitudes, high-school academic records, and career goals.

Two-year colleges: Growing at a faster rate than any other segment of U.S. higher education is a group comprising both public and independently supported institutions: the two-year, or "junior," colleges. Approximately 100 now exist in the United States, and experts estimate that an average of at least 20 per year will be established in the coming decade. More than 400 of the two-year institutions are community colleges, located within commuting distance of their students.

These colleges provide three main services: education for students who will later transfer to four-year colleges or universities (studies show they often do as well as those who go directly from high school to a four-year institution, and sometimes better), terminal training for vocations (more and more important as jobs require higher technical skills), and adult education and community cultural activities.

Evidence of their importance: One out of every four students beginning higher education today does so in a two-year college. By 1975, the ratio is likely to be one in two.

Branch campuses: To meet local demands for educational institutions, some state universities have opened branches in population centers distant from their main campuses. The trend is likely to continue. On occasion, however, the "branch campus" concept may conflict with the "community college" concept. In Ohio, for example, proponents of community two-year colleges are currently arguing that locally controlled community institutions are the best answer to the state's college-enrollment problems. But Ohio State University, Ohio University, and Miami University, which operate off-campus centers and whose leaders advocate the establishment of more, say that taxpayers get better value at lower cost from a university-run branch-campus system.

Coordinated systems: To meet both present and future demands for higher education, a number of states are attempting to coordinate their existing colleges and universities and to lay long-range plans for developing new ones.

California, a leader in such efforts, has a "master plan" involving not only the three main types of publicly supported institutions—the state university, state colleges, and locally sponsored two-year colleges. Private institutions voluntarily take part in the master planning, also.

With at least 661,000 students expected in their colleges and universities by 1975, Californians have worked out a plan under which every high-school graduate will be eligible to attend a junior college; the top one-third will be eligible for admission to a state college; and the top one-eighth will be eligible to go directly from high school to the University of California. The plan is flexible: students who prove themselves in a junior college, for example, may transfer to the university. If past experience is a guide, many will—with notable academic success.

ILLUSTRATIONS BY PEGGY SOUCHECK

THUS IT IS LIKELY that somewhere in America's nearly 2,000 colleges and universities there will be room for your children.

How will you—and they—find it?

On the same day in late May of last year, 33,559 letters went out to young people who had applied for admission to the 1961 freshman class in one or more of the eight schools that compose the Ivy League. Of these letters, 20,248 were rejection notices.

Not all of the 20,248 had been misguided in applying. Admissions officers testify that the quality of the 1961 applicants was higher than ever before, that the competition was therefore intense, and that many applicants who might have been welcomed in other years had to be turned away in '61.

Even so, as in years past, a number of the applicants had been the victims of bad advice—from parents, teachers, and friends. Had they applied to other institutions, equally or better suited to their aptitudes and abilities, they would have been accepted gladly, avoiding the bitter disappointment, and the occasional tragedy, of a turndown.

The Ivy League experience can be, and is, repeated in dozens of other colleges and universities every spring. Yet, while some institutions are rejecting more applications than they can accept, others (perhaps better qualified to meet the rejected students' needs) still have openings in their freshman classes on registration day.

Educators, both in the colleges and in the secondary schools, are aware of the problems in "marrying" the right students to the right colleges. An intensive effort is under way to relieve them. In the future, you may expect:

► Better guidance by high-school counselors, based on improved testing methods and on improved understanding of individual colleges and their offerings.

► Better definitions, by individual colleges and universities, of their philosophies of admission, their criteria for choosing students, their strengths in meeting the needs of certain types of student and their weakness in meeting the needs of others.

► Less parental pressure on their offspring to attend: the college or university that mother or father attended; the college or university that "everybody else's children" are attending; the college or university that enjoys the greatest sports-page prestige, the greatest financial-page prestige, or the greatest society-page prestige in town.

► More awareness that children are different from one another, that colleges are different from one another, and that a happy match of children and institutions is within the reach of any parent (and student) who takes the pains to pursue it intelligently.

► Exploration—but probably, in the near future, of widespread adoption—of a central clearing-house for college applications, with students stating their choices of colleges in preferential order and colleges similarly listing their choices of students. The "clearing-house" would thereupon match students and institutions according to their preferences.

Despite the likely growth of these practices, applying to college may well continue to be part-chaos, part-particularism, part-snobbishness for years to come. But with the aid of enlightened parents and educators, it will be less so tomorrow, than it is today.

What will they find in college?

THE COLLEGE OF TOMORROW—the one your children will find when they get in—is likely to differ from the college you knew in your days as a student.

The students themselves will be different.

Curricula will be different.

Extracurricular activities will be different, in many respects, from what they were in your day.

The college year, as well as the college day, may be different.

Modes of study will be different.

With one or two conspicuous exceptions, the changes will be for the better. But for better or for worse, changes there will be.

THE NEW BREED OF STUDENTS

IT WILL COME AS NEWS to no parents that their children are different from themselves.

Academically, they are proving to be more serious than many of their predecessor generations. Too serious, some say. They enter college with an eye already set on the vocation they hope to pursue when they get out; college, to many, is simply the means to that end.

Many students plan to marry as soon as they can afford to, and some even before they can afford to. They want families, homes, a fair amount of leisure, good jobs, security. They dream not of a far-distant future; today's students are impatient to translate their dreams into reality, soon.

Like most generalizations, these should be qualified. There will be students who are quite far from the average, and this is as it should be. But with international tensions, recurrent war threats, military-service obligation, and talk of utter destruction of the race, the tendency for the young to want to cram their lives full of living with no unnecessary delays, please.

At the moment, there is little likelihood that the urge to pace one's life quickly and seriously will soon pass. This the tempo the adult world has set for its young, and they will march doubletime to it.

Economic backgrounds of students will continue to grow more diverse. In recent years, thanks to scholarships, student loans, and the spectacular growth of public educational institutions, higher education has become less and less the exclusive province of the sons and daughters of the well-to-do. The spread of scholarship and loan programs geared to family income levels will intensify this trend, not only in low-tuition public colleges and universities but in high-tuition private institutions.

Students from foreign countries will flock to the U.S. for college education, barring a totally deteriorated international situation. Last year 53,107 foreign students, from 143 countries and political areas, were enrolled in 1,600 American colleges and universities—almost a 10 per cent increase over the year before. Growing numbers of African and Asian students accounted for the rise; the growth is virtually certain to continue. The presence uch students on U.S. campuses—50 per cent of them are undergraduates—has already contributed to a greater international awareness on the part of American students. The influence is bound to grow.

Foreign study by U.S. students is increasing. In 1959-60, the most recent year reported, 15,306 were enrolled in 63 foreign countries, a 12 per cent increase in a period of 12 months. Students traveling abroad during summer vacations add impressive numbers to this total.

WHAT THEY'LL STUDY

STUDIES ARE in the course of change, and the changes will affect your children. A new toughness in academic standards will reflect the great amount of knowledge that must be imparted in the college years.

In the sciences, changes are particularly obvious. Every decade, writes Thomas Stelson of Carnegie Tech, 25 per cent of the curriculum must be abandoned, due to obsolescence. J. Robert Oppenheimer puts it another way: nearly everything now known in science, he says, was not in any book when most of us went to school."

There will be differences in the social sciences and humanities, as well. Language instruction, now getting new emphasis, is an example. The use of language laboratories, with tape recordings and other mechanical devices, is already popular and will spread. Schools once preoccupied almost entirely with science and technology (e.g., colleges of engineering, leading medical schools) have now integrated social and humanistic studies into their curricula, and the trend will spread to other institutions.

International emphasis also will grow. The big push will be related to nations and regions outside the Western world. For the first time on a large scale, the involvement of U.S. higher education will be truly global. This non-Western orientation, says one college president (who is seconded by many others) is "the new frontier in American higher education." For undergraduates, comparative studies in both the social sciences and the humanities are likely to be stressed. The hoped-for result: better understanding of the human experience in all cultures.

Mechanics of teaching will improve. "Teaching machines" will be used more and more, as educators assess their value and versatility (see Who will teach them? on the following pages). Closed-circuit television will carry a lecturer's voice and closeup views of his demonstrations to hundreds of students simultaneously. TV and microfilm will grow in usefulness as library tools, enabling institutions to duplicate, in small space, the resources of distant libraries and specialized rare-book collections. Tape recordings will put music and drama, performed by masters, on every campus. Computers, already becoming almost commonplace, will be used for more and more study and research purposes.

This availability of resources unheard-of in their parents' day will enable undergraduates to embark on extensive programs of independent study. Under careful faculty guidance, independent study will equip students with research ability, problem-solving techniques, and bibliographic savvy which should be of immense value to them throughout their lives. Many of yesterday's college graduates still don't know how to work creatively in unfamiliar intellectual territory: to pinpoint a problem, formulate intelligent questions, use a library, map a research project. There will be far fewer gaps of this sort in the training of tomorrow's students.

Great new stress on quality will be found at all institutions. Impending explosive growth of the college population has put the spotlight, for years, on handling large numbers of students; this has worried educators who feared that quality might be lost in a national preoccupation with quantity. Big institutions, particularly those with "growth situations," are now putting emphasis on maintaining high academic standards—and even raising them—while handling high enrollments, too. Honors programs, opportunities for undergraduate research, insistence on creditable scholastic achievement are symptomatic of the concern for academic excellence.

It's important to realize that this emphasis on quality will be found not only in four-year colleges and universities, but in two-year institutions, also. "Each [type of institution] shall strive for excellence in its sphere," is how the California master plan for higher education puts it; the same idea is pervading higher education at all levels throughout the nation.

WHERE'S THE FUN?

EXTRACURRICULAR ACTIVITY has been undergoing subtle changes at colleges and universities for years and is likely to continue doing so. Student apathy toward some activities—political clubs, for example—is lessening. Toward other activities—the light, the frothy—apathy appears to be growing. There is less interest in spectator sports, more interest in participant sports that will be playable for most of a lifetime. Student newspapers, observes the dean of students at a college on the Eastern seaboard, no longer rant about band uniforms, closing hours for fraternity parties, and the need for bigger pep rallies. Sororities are disappearing from the campuses of women's colleges. "Fun festivals" are granted less time and importance by students; at one big midwestern university, for example, the events of May Week—formerly a five-day wingding involving floats, honorary-fraternity initiations, faculty-student baseball, and crowning of the May Queen—are now crammed into one half-day. In spite of the well-publicized antics of a relatively few roof-raisers (e.g., student rioters at several summer resorts last Labor Day, student revelers at Florida resorts during spring-vacation periods), a new seriousness is the keynote of most student activities.

"The faculty and administration are more resistant to these changes than the students are," jokes the president of a women's college in Pittsburgh. "The typical student congress wants to abolish the junior prom; the dean is the one who feels nostalgic about it: 'That's the one even Mrs. Jones and I looked forward to each year.'"

A QUEST FOR ETHICAL VALUES

EDUCATION, more and more educators are saying, "should be much more than the mere retention of subject matter."

Here are three indications of how the thoughts of many educators are running:

"If [the student] enters college and pursues either an intellectual smörgåsbord, intellectual Teutonism, or the cash register," says a midwestern educator, "his education will have advanced very little, if at all. The odds are quite good that he will simply have exchanged one form of barbarism for another . . . Certainly there is no incompatibility between being well-informed and being stupid; such a condition makes the student a danger to himself and society."

Says another observer: "I prophesy that a more serious intention and mood will progressively characterize the campus . . . This means, most of all, commitment to the use of one's learning in fruitful, creative, and noble ways."

"The responsibility of the educated man," says the provost of a state university in New England, "is that he make articulate to himself and to others what he is willing to bet his life on."

Who will teach them?

KNOW THE QUALITY of the teaching that your children can look forward to, and you will know much about the effectiveness of the education they will receive. Teaching, tomorrow as in the past, is the heart of higher education.

It is no secret, by now, that college teaching has been on a plateau of crisis in the U.S. for some years. Much of the problem is traceable to money. Salaries paid to college teachers lagged far behind those paid elsewhere in jobs requiring similarly high talents. While real incomes, as well as dollar incomes, climbed for most other groups of Americans, the real incomes of college professors not merely stood still but dropped noticeably.

The financial pinch became so bad, for some teachers, that despite obvious devotion to their careers and obvious preference for this profession above all others, they had to leave for other jobs. Many bright young people, the sort who ordinarily would be attracted to teaching careers, took one look at the salary scales and decided to make their mark in another field.

Has the situation improved?

Will it be better when your children go to college?

Yes. At the moment, faculty salaries and fringe benefits (on the average) are rising. Since the rise started from an extremely disadvantageous level, however, no one is getting rich in the process. Indeed, on almost every campus, real income in every rank of the faculty is still considerably less than it once was. Nor have faculty salary scales generally caught up with the national scales in competitive areas such as business and government.

But the trend is encouraging. If it continues, the financial plight of teachers—and the serious threat to education which it has posed—should be substantially diminished by 1970.

None of this will happen automatically, of course. In evidence, check the appropriations for higher education made at your state legislature's most recent session. Yours was like a number of recent legislatures, it "economized"—and professorial salaries suffered. The supply which has enabled many colleges to correct the glaring salary deficiencies must continue until the problem is fully solved. After that, it is essential to make sure that the quality of our college teaching—a truly crucial element in fashioning the minds and attitudes of your children—is not jeopardized again by a failure to pay its practitioners adequately.

THERE ARE OTHER ANGLES to the question of attracting and retaining a good faculty besides money.

► The better the student body—the more challenging, the more lively its members—the more attractive is the job of teaching it. “Nothing is more certain to make teaching a dreadful task than the feeling that you are dealing with people who have no interest in what you are talking about,” says an experienced professor at a small college in the Northwest.

“An appalling number of the students I have known were bright, tested high on their College Boards, and still lacked flair and drive and persistence,” says another professor. “I have concluded that much of the difference between them and the students who are ‘alive’ must be traceable to their homes, their fathers, their mothers. Parents who themselves take the trouble to be interesting and interested—seem to send us children who are interesting and interested.”

The better the library and laboratory facilities, the more likely is a college to be able to recruit and keep a good faculty. Even small colleges, devoted strictly to undergraduate studies, are finding ways to provide their faculty members with opportunities to do independent reading and research. They find it pays in many ways: the faculty teaches better, is more alert to changes in the subject matter, is less likely to leave for other fields.

The better the public-opinion climate toward teachers in a community, the more likely is a faculty to be strong. Professors may grumble among themselves about all the invitations they receive to speak to women’s clubs and alumni groups (“When am I supposed to find the time to check my lecture notes?”), but they take heart from the high regard for their profession which such invitations from the community represent.

► Part-time consultant jobs are an attraction to good faculty members. (Conversely, one of the principal checkpoints for many industries seeking new plant sites is, What faculty talent is nearby?) Such jobs provide teachers both with additional income and with enormously useful opportunities to base their classroom teachings on practical, current experience.

BUT COLLEGES AND UNIVERSITIES must do more than hold on to their present good teachers and replace those who retire or resign. Over the next few years many institutions must add to their teaching staffs at a prodigious rate, in order to handle the vastly larger numbers of students who are already forming lines in the admissions office.

The ability to be a college teacher is not a skill that can be acquired overnight, or in a year or two. A Ph.D. degree takes at least four years to get, after one has earned his bachelor’s degree. More often it takes six or seven years, and sometimes 10 to 15.

In every ten-year period since the turn of the century, as Bernard Berelson of Columbia University has pointed out, the production of doctorates in the U.S. has doubled. But only about 60 per cent of Ph.D.’s today go into academic life, compared with about 80 per cent at the turn of the century. And only 20 per cent wind up teaching undergraduates in liberal arts colleges.

Holders of lower degrees, therefore, will occupy many teaching positions on tomorrow’s college faculties.

This is not necessarily bad. A teacher’s ability is not always defined by the number of degrees he is entitled to write after his name. Indeed, said the graduate dean of one great university several years ago, it is high time that "universities have the courage . . . to select men very largely on the quality of work they have done and soft-pedal this matter of degrees."

IN SUMMARY, salaries for teachers will be better, larger numbers of able young people will be attracted into the field (but their preparation will take time), and fewer able people will be lured away. In expanding their faculties, some colleges and universities will accept more holders of bachelor's and master's degrees than they have been accustomed to, but this may force them to focus attention on ability rather than to rely as unquestioningly as in the past on the magic of a doctor's degree.

Meanwhile, other developments provide grounds for cautious optimism about the effectiveness of the teaching your children will receive.

THE TV SCREEN

TELEVISION, not long ago found only in the lounges of dormitories and student unions, is now an accepted teaching tool on many campuses. Its use will grow. "To report on the use of television in teaching," says Arthur S. Adams, past president of the American Council on Education, "is like trying to catch a galloping horse."

For teaching closeup work in dentistry, surgery, and laboratory sciences, closed-circuit TV is unexcelled. The number of students who can gaze into a patient's gaping mouth while a teacher demonstrates how to fill a cavity is limited; when their place is taken by a TV camera and the students cluster around TV screens, scores can watch—and see more, too.

Television, at large schools, has the additional virtue of extending the effectiveness of a single teacher. Instead of giving the same lecture (replete with the same jokes) three times to students filling the campus's largest hall, a professor can now give it once—and be seen in as many auditoriums and classrooms as are needed to accommodate all registrants in his course. Both the professor and the jokes are fresher, as a result.

How effective is TV? Some carefully controlled studies show that students taught from the fluorescent screen do as well in some types of course (e.g., lectures) as those sitting in the teacher's presence, and sometimes better. But TV standardizes instruction to a degree that is not always desirable. And, reports Henry H. Cassirer of UNESCO, who has analyzed television teaching in the U.S., Canada, Great Britain, France, Italy, Russia, and Japan, students do not want to lose contact with their teachers. They want to be able to ask questions as instruction progresses. Mr. Cassirer found effective, on the other hand, the combination of a central TV lecturer with classroom instructors who prepare students for the lecture and then discuss it with them afterward.

TEACHING MACHINES

HOLDING GREAT PROMISE for the improvement of instruction at all levels of schooling, including college, are programs of learning presented through mechanical self-teaching devices, popularly called "teaching machines."

The most widely used machine, invented by Professor Frederick Skinner of Harvard, is a box-like device with three windows in its top. When the student turns a crank, an item of information, along with a question about it, appears in the lefthand window (A). The student writes his answer to the question on a paper strip exposed through another window (B). The student turns the crank again, and the correct answer appears at window A.

Simultaneously, this action moves the student's answer under a transparent shield covering window C, so that the student can see, but not change, what he has written. If the answer is correct, the student turns another crank, causing the tape to be notched; the machine will bypass this item when the student goes through the series of questions again. Questions are arranged so that each item builds on previous information the machine has given.

Such self-teaching devices have these advantages:

- Each student can proceed at his own pace, where classroom lectures must be paced to the "average" student—too fast for some, too slow for others. "With a machine," comments a University of Rochester psychologist, "the brighter student could go ahead at a very fast pace."
- The machine makes examinations and testing a rewarding and learning experience, rather than a punishment. If his answer is correct, the student is rewarded with that knowledge instantly; this reinforces his memory of the right information. If the answer is incorrect, the machine provides the correct answer immediately. In large classes, no teacher can provide such frequent—and individual—rewards and immediate corrections.
- The machine smooths the ups and downs in the learning process by removing some external sources of anxiety, such as fear of falling behind.

If a student is having difficulty with a subject, the teacher can check back over his machine tapes and find the exact point at which the student began to go wrong. Correction of the difficulty can be made with precision, not gropingly as is usually necessary in machineless classes.

Not only do the machines give promise of accelerating the learning process; they introduce an individuality to learning which has previously been unknown. "Where television holds the danger of standardized instruction," said John W. Gardner, president of the Carnegie Corporation of New York, in a report to then-President Eisenhower, "the self-teaching device can individualize instruction in ways not now possible—and the student is always an active participant." Teaching machines are being tested, and used, on a number of college campuses and seem certain to figure prominently in the teaching of your children.

Will they graduate?

SAID AN ADMINISTRATOR at a university in the South not long ago (he was the director of admissions, no less, and he spoke not entirely in jest):

"I'm happy I went to college back when I did, instead of now. Today, the admissions office probably wouldn't let me in. If they did, I doubt that I'd last more than a semester or two."

Getting into college is a problem, nowadays. Staying there, once in, can be even more difficult.

Here are some of the principal reasons why many students fail to finish:

Academic failure: For one reason or another—not always connected with a lack of aptitude or potential scholastic ability—many students fail to make the grade. Low entrance requirements, permitting students to enter college without sufficient aptitude or previous preparation, play a big part. In schools where only a high-school diploma is required for admission, drop-outs and failures during the first two years average (nationally) between 60 and 70 per cent. Normally selective admissions procedures usually cut this rate down to between 20 and 40 per cent. Where admissions are based on keen competition, the attrition rate is 10 per cent or less.

FUTURE OUTLOOK: High schools are tightening their academic standards, insisting upon greater effort by students, and teaching the techniques of note-taking, effective studying, and library use. Such measures will inevitably better the chances of students when they reach college. Better testing and counseling programs should help, by guiding less-able students away from institutions where they'll be beyond their depth and into institutions better suited to their abilities and needs. Growing popular acceptance of the two-year college concept will also help, as will the adoption of increasingly selective admissions procedures by four-year colleges and universities.

Parents can help by encouraging activities designed to find the right academic spot for their children; by recognizing their children's strengths and limitations; by creating an atmosphere in which children will be encouraged to read, to study, to develop curiosity, to accept new ideas.

Poor motivation: Students drop out of college "not only because they lack ability but because they do not have the motivation for serious study," say persons who have studied the attrition problem. This aspect of students' failure to finish college is attracting attention from educators and administrators both in colleges and in secondary schools.

FUTURE OUTLOOK: Extensive research is under way to determine whether motivation can be measured. The "Personal Values Inventory," developed by scholars at Colgate University, is one promising yardstick, providing information about a student's long-range persistence, personal self-control, and deliberateness (as opposed to rashness). Many colleges and universities are participating in the study, in an effort to establish the efficacy of the tests. Thus far, report the Colgate researchers, "the tests have successfully differentiated between over- and under-achievers in every college included in the sample."

Parents can help by their own attitudes toward scholastic achievement and by encouraging their children to develop independence from adults. "This, coupled with the reflected image that a person acquires from his parents—an image relating to persistence and other traits and values—may have much to do with his orientation toward academic success," the Colgate investigators say.

Money: Most parents think they know the cost of sending a child to college. But, a recent survey shows, relatively few of them actually do. The average parent, the survey disclosed, underestimates college costs by roughly 40 per cent. In such a situation, parental savings for college purposes often run out quickly—and, unless the student can fill the gap with scholarship aid, a loan, or earnings from part-time employment, he drops out.

FUTURE OUTLOOK: A surprisingly high proportion of financial dropouts are children of middle-income, not low-income, families. If parents would inform themselves fully about current college costs—and reinform themselves periodically, since prices tend to go up—a substantial part of this problem could be solved in the future by realistic family savings programs.

Other probabilities: growing federal and state (as well as private) scholarship programs; growing private and governmental loan programs.

Jobs: Some students, anxious to strike out on their own, are lured from college by jobs requiring little skill but offering attractive starting salaries. Many such students may have hesitated about going to college in the first place and drop out at the first opportunity.

FUTURE OUTLOOK: The lure of jobs will always tempt some students, but awareness of the value of completing college—for lifelong financial gain, if for no other reason—is increasing.

Emotional problems: Some students find themselves unable to adjust to college life and drop out as a result. Often such problems begin when a student chooses a college that's "wrong" for him. It may accord him too much or too little freedom; its pace may be too swift for him, resulting in frustration, or too slow, resulting in boredom; it may be "too social" or "not social enough."

FUTURE OUTLOOK: With expanding and more skillful guidance counseling and psychological testing, more students can expect to be steered to the "right" college environment. This won't entirely eliminate the emotional-maladjustment problem, but it should ease it substantially.

Marriage: Many students marry while still in college but fully expect to continue their education. A number do go on (sometimes wives withdraw from college to earn money to pay their husbands' educational expenses). Others have children before graduating and must drop out of college in order to support their family.

FUTURE OUTLOOK: The trend toward early marriage shows no signs of abating. Large numbers of parents openly or tacitly encourage children to go steady and to marry at an early age. More and more colleges are providing living quarters for married undergraduate students. Some even have day-care facilities for students' young children. Attitudes and customs in their "peer group" will continue to influence young people on the question of marrying early; in some groups, it's frowned upon; others, it's the thing to do.

COLLEGES AND UNIVERSITIES are deeply interested in finding solutions to the attrition problem in all aspects. Today, at many institutions, enrollment resembles a pyramid: the freshman class, at the bottom, is big; the sophomore class is smaller, the junior class still smaller, and the senior class a mere fraction of the freshman group. Such pyramids are wasteful, expensive, inefficient. They represent hundreds, sometimes thousands, of personal tragedies: young people who didn't make it.

The goal of the colleges is to change the pyramid into a straight-sided figure, with as many people graduating as enter the freshman class. In the college of tomorrow, the sides will not yet have attained the perfect vertical, but—as a result of improved placement, admissions, and academic practices—they should slope considerably less than they do now.

What will college have done for them?

IF YOUR CHILDREN are like about 33 per cent of today's college graduates, they will not end their formal education when they get their bachelor's degrees. On they'll—to graduate school, to a professional school, or to an advanced technological institution.

There are good reasons for their continuing:

In four years, nowadays, one can only begin to scratch the surface of the body of knowledge in his specialty. To catch up, or to hold down a high-ranking job in industry or government, graduate study is becoming more and more useful and necessary.

Automation, in addition to eliminating jobs in unskilled categories, will have an increasingly strong effect on persons holding jobs in middle management and middle technology. Competition for survival will be intense. Many students will decide that one way of competing advantageously is to take as much formal education beyond the baccalaureate as they can get.

One way in which women can compete successfully with men for high-level positions is to be equipped with a graduate degree when they enter the job market.

Students heading for school-teaching careers will increasingly be urged to concentrate on substantive studies during their undergraduate years and to take methodology courses in a postgraduate schooling period. The same will be true in many other fields.

Shortages are developing in some professions, e.g., medicine. Intensive efforts will be made to woo more top undergraduates into professional schools, and opportunities in short-supplied professions will become increasingly attractive.

"Skills," predicts a Presidential committee, "may become obsolete in our fast-moving industrial society. Sound education provides a basis for adjustment to constant and abrupt change—a base on which new skills may be built." The moral will not be lost on tomorrow's students.

In addition to having such practical motives, tomorrow's students will be influenced by a growing tendency to expose them to graduate-level work while they are still undergraduates. Independent study will give them a taste of the intellectual satisfaction to be derived from learning on their own. Graduate-style seminars, with their stimulating give-and-take of fact and opinion, will exert a strong appeal. As a result, for able students the distinction between undergraduate and graduate work will become blurred and meaningless. Instead of arbitrary insistence upon learning in two-year or four-year units, there will be more attention paid to the length of time a student requires—and desires—to immerse himself in the specialty that interests him.

AND EVEN with graduate or professional study, education is not likely to end for your children.

Administrators in the field of adult education—or, more accurately, "continuing education"—expect that within a decade the number of students under their wing will exceed the number of undergraduates in American colleges and universities.

"Continuing education," says Paul A. McGhee, dean of New York University's Division of General Education (where annually some 17,000 persons enroll in around 1,200 non-credit courses) "is primarily the education of the already educated." The more education you have, the more you are likely to want. Since more and more people will go to college, it follows that more and more people will seek knowledge throughout their lives.

We are, say adult-education leaders, departing from the old notion that one works to live. In this day of automation and urbanization, a new concept is emerging: "time," not "work," is the paramount factor in people's lives. Leisure takes on a new meaning: along with golf, boating, and partying, it now includes study. And he who forsakes gardening for studying is less and less likely to be regarded as the neighborhood oddball.

Certain to vanish are the last vestiges of the stigma that has long attached to "night school." Although the concept of night school as a place for educating only the illiterate has changed, many who have studied at night—either for credit or for fun and intellectual stimulation—have felt out of step, somehow. But such views are obsolescent and soon will be obsolete.

Thus far, American colleges and universities—with notable exceptions—have not led the way in providing continuing education for their alumni. Most alumni have been forced to rely on local boards of education and other civic and social groups to provide lectures, classes, discussion groups. These have been inadequate, and institutions of higher education can be expected to assume unprecedented roles in the continuing-education field.

Alumni and alumnae are certain to demand that they take such leadership. Wrote Clarence B. Randall in The New York Times Magazine: "At institution after institution there has come into being an organized and articulate group of devoted graduates who earnestly believe . . . that the college still has much to offer them."

When colleges and universities respond on a large scale to the growing demand for continuing education, the variety of courses is likely to be enormous. Already, in institutions where continuing education is an accepted role, the range is from space technology to existentialism to funeral direction. (When the University of California offered non-credit courses in the first-named subject to engineers and physicists, the combined enrollment reached 4,643.) "From the world of astronauts, to the highest of ivory towers, to six feet under," is how one wag has described the phenomenon.

SOME OTHER LIKELY FEATURES of your children, after they are graduated from tomorrow's colleges:

► They'll have considerably more political sophistication than did the average person who marched up to get a diploma in their parents' day. Political parties now have active student groups on many campuses and publish material beamed specifically at undergraduates. Student-government organizations are developing sophisticated procedures. Nonpartisan as well as partisan groups, operating on a national scale, are fanning student interest in current political affairs.

► They'll have an international orientation that many of their parents lacked when they left the campuses. The presence of more foreign students in their classes, the emphasis on courses dealing with global affairs, the front pages of their daily newspapers will all contribute to this change. They will find their international outlook useful: a recent government report predicts that "25 years from now, one college graduate in four will find at least part of his career abroad in such places as Rio de Janeiro, Dakar, Beirut, Leopoldville, Sydney, Melbourne, or Toronto.

► They'll have an awareness of unanswered questions to an extent that their parents probably did not have. Principles that once were regarded (and taught) as incontrovertible facts are now regarded (and taught) as subject to constant alteration, thanks to the frequent toppling of long-held ideas in today's explosive sciences and technologies. Says one observer: "My student generation, if it looked at the world, didn't know it was 'loaded.' Today's student has no such ignorance."

► They'll possess a broad-based liberal education, but in their jobs many of them are likely to specialize more narrowly than did their elders. "It is a rare bird today who knows all about contemporary physics and all about modern mathematics," said one of the world's most distinguished scientists not long ago, "and if he exists, haven't found him. Because of the rapid growth of science it has become impossible for one man to master any large part of it; therefore, we have the necessity of specialization."

► Your daughters are likely to be impatient with the prospect of devoting their lives solely to unskilled labor or housewives. Not only will more of tomorrow's women graduates embark upon careers when they receive their diplomas, but more of them will keep up their contact with vocational interests even during their period of child rearing. And even before the children are grown, more of them will return to the working force, either as paid employees or as highly skilled volunteers.

DEPENDING UPON THEIR OWN OUTLOOK, parents of tomorrow's graduates will find some of the prospects good, some of them deplorable. In essence, however, the likely trends of tomorrow are only continuations of trends that are clearly established today, and moving inexorably.

Who will pay—and how?

WILL YOU BE ABLE to afford a college education for your children? The tuition? The travel expense? The room rent? The board?

In addition:

Will you be able to pay considerably more than is often on the price-tags for these items?

The stark truth is that you—or somebody—must pay, for your children are to go to college and get an education good as the education you received.

HERE is where colleges and universities get their money:

From taxes paid to governments at all levels: state, and federal. Governments now appropriate an estimated $2.9 billion in support of higher education every year. By 1970 government support will have grown roughly $4 billion.

From private gifts and grants. These now provide nearly $1 billion annually. By 1970 they must provide about $1.9 billion. Here is where this money is likely to come from:

Alumni.....	$ 505,000,000 (25%)
Non-alumni individuals	505,000,000 (25%)
Business corporations.....	505,000,000 (25%)
Foundations	262,000,000 (13%)
Religious denominations	242,000,000 (12%)
Total voluntary support, 1970..	$2,019,000,000

From endowment earnings. These now provide around $200 million a year. By 1970 endowment will produce around $333 million a year.

From tuition and fees. These now provide around $1.2 billion (about 21 per cent of college and university funds). By 1970 they must produce about $2.1 billion (about 23.5 per cent of all funds).

From other sources. Miscellaneous income now provides around $410 million annually. By 1970 the figure is expected to be around $585 million.

These estimates, made by the independent Council for Financial Aid to Education*, are based on the "best available" estimates of the expected growth in enrollment in America's colleges and universities: from slightly less than 4 million this year to about 6.4 million in the academic year 1969-70. The total income that the colleges and universities will require in 1970 to handle this enrollment will be on the order of $9 billion—compared with the $5.6 billion that they received and spent in 1959-60.

*To whose research staff the editors are indebted for most of the financial projections cited in this section of their report. CFAE statisticians, using and comparing three methods of projection, built the estimates on available hard figures and carefully reasoned assumptions about the future.

WHO PAYS?

VIRTUALLY EVERY SOURCE of funds, of course—however it is labeled—boils down to you. Some of the money, you pay directly: tuition, fees, gifts to the colleges and universities that you support. Other funds pass, in a sense, through channels—your church, the several levels of government to which you pay taxes, the business corporations with which you deal or in which you own stock. But, in the last analysis, individual persons are the source of them all.

Hence, if you wished to reduce your support of higher education, you could do so. Conversely (as is presumably the case with most enlightened parents and with most college alumni and alumnae), if you wished to increase it, you could do that, also—with your vote and your checkbook. As is clearly evident in the figures above, it is essential that you substantially increase both your direct and your indirect support of higher education between now and 1970, if tomorrow's colleges and universities are to give your children the education that you would wish for them.

THE MONEY YOU'LL NEED

SINCE IT REQUIRES long-range planning and long-range voluntary saving, for most families the most difficult part of financing their children's education is paying the direct costs: tuition, fees, room, board, travel expenses.

These costs vary widely from institution to institution. At government-subsidized colleges and universities, for example, tuition fees for state residents may be non-existent or quite low. At community colleges, located within commuting distance of their students' homes, room and board expenses may consist only of what parents are already paying for housing and food. At independent (non-governmental) colleges and universities, the costs may be considerably higher.

In 1960-61, here is what the average male student spent at the average institution of higher education, including junior colleges, in each of the two categories (public and private):

	Public Institutions	Private Institutions
Tuition.....	$179	$ 676
Board	383	404
Room	187	216
Total.....	$749	$1,296

These, of course, are "hard-core" costs only, representing only part of the expense. The average annual bill for an unmarried student is around $1,550. This conservative figure, provided by the Survey Research Center at the University of Michigan for the U.S. Office of Education, does not include such items as clothing. And, as we have attempted to stress by italicizing the word "average" wherever it appears, the bill can be considerably higher, as well as somewhat lower. At a private college for women (which is likely to get relatively little money from other sources and must therefore depend heavily upon tuition income) the hard-core costs alone may now run as high as $2,600 per year.

Every parent must remember that costs will inevitably rise, not fall, in the years ahead. In 1970, according to one estimate, the cost of four years at the average state university will be $5,800; at the average private college, $11,684.

HOW TO AFFORD IT?

SUCH SUMS represent a healthy part of most families' resources. Hard-core costs alone equal, at public institutions, about 13 per cent of the average American family's annual income; at private institutions, about 23 per cent of average annual income.

How do families afford it? How can you afford it?

Here is how the typical family pays the current average bill of $1,550 per year:

Parents contribute.....	$950
Scholarships defray	130
The student earns.....	360
Other sources yield.....	110

Nearly half of all parents begin saving money for their children's college education well before their children are ready to enroll. Fourteen per cent report that they borrow money to help meet college costs. Some 27 per cent take on extra work, to earn more money. One in five mothers does additional work in order to help out.

Financing the education of one's children is obviously, for many families, a scramble—a piecing-together of many sources of funds.

Is such scrambling necessary? The question can be answered only on a family-by-family basis. But the generalizations do seem valid:

► Many parents think they are putting aside enough money to pay most of the costs of sending their children to college. But most parents seriously underestimate what these costs will be. The only solution: Keep posted by checking college costs periodically. What was true of college costs yesterday (and even of the figures in this report, as nearly current as they are) is not necessarily true of college costs today. It will be even less true of college costs tomorrow.

► If they knew what college costs really were, and when they are likely to be in the years when their children are likely to enroll, many parents could save enough money. They would start saving earlier and more persistently. They would gear their family budgets to the need. They would revise their savings programs from time to time as they obtained new information about cost changes.

► Many parents count on scholarships to pay their children's way. For upper-middle-income families, this reliance can be disastrous. By far the greatest number of scholarships are now awarded on the basis of financial need, largely determined by level of family income. (Colleges and other scholarship sources are seriously concerned about the fact, indicated by several studies, that at least 100,000 of the country's high-school graduates each year are unable to attend college, primarily for financial reasons.) Upper-middle-income families are among those most seriously affected by the sudden realization that they have failed to save enough for the children's education.

► Loan programs make sense. Since going to college sometimes costs as much as buying a house (which most families finance through long-term borrowing), long-term payment of college costs, by students or their parents, makes many people as highly logical.

Loans can be obtained from government and from private bankers. Just last spring, the most ambitious private loan program yet developed was put into operation: United Student Aid Funds, Inc., is the backer, with headquarters at 420 Lexington Avenue, New York 17, N.Y. It is raising sufficient capital to underwrite a reserve fund to endorse $500 million worth of long-term, low-interest bank loans to students. Affiliated state committees, established by citizen groups, will act as the direct contact agencies for students.

In the 1957-58 academic year, loans for educational purposes totaled only $115 million. Last year they totaled an estimated $430 million. By comparison, scholarships from all sources last year amounted to only $160 million.

IS THE COST TOO HIGH?

AS HIGH AS THEY SEEM, tuition rates are bargains, in this sense: They do not begin to pay the cost of providing a college education.

On the national average, colleges and universities must receive between three and four additional dollars for every one dollar that they collect from students, in order to provide their services. At public institutions, the ratio of non-tuition money to tuition money is greater than the national average: the states typically spend more than $700 for every student enrolled.

Even the gross cost of higher education is low, when put in perspective. In terms of America's total production of goods and services, the proportion of the gross national product spent for higher education is only 1.3 per cent, according to government statistics.

To put salaries and physical plant on a sound footing, colleges must spend more money, in relation to the gross national product, than they have been spending in the past. Before they can spend it, they must get it. From what sources?

Using the current and the 1970 figures that were cited earlier, tuition will probably have to carry, on the average, about 2 per cent more of the share of total educational costs than it now carries. Governmental support, although increasing by about a billion dollars, will actually carry about 7 per cent less of the total cost than it now does. Endowment income's share will remain about the same as at present. Revenues in the category of "other sources" can be expected to decline by about .8 per cent, in terms of their share of the total load. Private gifts and grants—from alumni, non-alumni individuals, businesses and unions, philanthropic foundations, and religious denominations—must carry about 6 per cent more of the total cost in 1970, if higher education is not to founder.

Alumnae and alumni, to whom colleges and universities must look for an estimated 25 per cent ($505 million) of such gifts: please note.

CAN COLLEGES BE MORE EFFICIENT?

INDUSTRIAL COST ACCOUNTANTS—and, not infrequently, other business men—sometimes tear their hair over the "inefficiencies" they see in higher education. Physical facilities—classrooms, for example—are in use for only part of the 24-hour day, and sometimes they stand idle for three months in summertime. Teachers "work"—i.e., actually stand in the front of their classes—for only a fraction of industry's 40-hour week. (The hours devoted to preparation and research, without which a teacher would soon become a purveyor of dangerously outdated misinformation, don't show on formal teaching schedules and are thus sometimes overlooked by persons making a judgment in terms of business efficiency.) Some courses are given for only a handful of students. (What a waste of space and personnel, some cost analysts say.)

A few of these "inefficiencies" are capable of being curbed, at least partially. The use of physical facilities is being increased at some institutions through the provision of night lectures and lab courses. Summer schools and year-round schedules are raising the rate of plant utilization. But not all schools are so situated that they can avail themselves of even these economies.

The president of the Rochester (N.Y.) Chamber of Commerce observed not long ago:

"The heart of the matter is simply this: To a great extent, the very thing which is often referred to as the 'inefficient' or 'unbusinesslike' phase of a liberal arts college's operation is really but an accurate reflection of its true essential nature . . . [American business and industry] have to understand that much of liberal education which is urgently worth saving cannot be justified on a dollars-and-cents basis."

In short, although educators have as much of an obligation as anyone else to use money wisely, you just can't run a college like a railroad. Your children would be cheated, if anybody tried.

In sum:

WHEN YOUR CHILDREN go to college, what will college be like? Their college will, in short, be ready for them. Its teaching staff will be competent and complete. Its courses will be good and, as you would wish them to be, demanding of the best talents that your children possess. Its physical facilities will surpass those you knew in your college years. The opportunities it will offer your children will be limitless.

If.

That is the important word.

Between now and 1970 (a date that the editors arbitrarily selected for most of their projections, although the date for your children may come sooner or it may come later), much must be done to build the strength of America's colleges and universities. For, between now and 1970, they will be carrying an increasingly heavy load in behalf of the nation.

They will need more money—considerably more than is now available to them—and they will need to obtain much of it from you.

They will need, as always, the understanding and thoughtful portions of the citizenry (particularly the own alumni and alumnae) of the subtleties, the sensitivity, the fine balances of freedom and responsibility without which the mechanism of higher education cannot function.

They will need, if they are to be of highest service to your children, the best aid which you are capable of giving as a parent: the preparation of your children to value things of the mind, to know the joy of meeting and overcoming obstacles, and to develop their own personal independence.

Your children are members of the most promising American generation. (Every new generation, properly is so regarded.) To help them realize their promise is a job to which the colleges and universities are dedicated. It is their supreme function. It is the job to which you, as parent, are also dedicated. It is your supreme function.

With your efforts and the efforts of the college of tomorrow, your children's future can be brilliant. If.

"The College of Tomorrow"

The report on this and the preceding 15 pages is the product of a cooperative endeavor in which scores of schools, colleges, and universities are taking part. It was prepared under the direction of the group listed below, who form EDITORIAL PROJECTS FOR EDUCATION, a non-profit organization associated with the American Alumni Council. Copyright © 1962 by Editorial Projects for Education, Inc., 1707 N Street, N.W., Washington 6, D.C. All rights reserved; no part of this supplement may be reproduced without express permission of the editors. Printed in U.S.A.

JAMES E. ARMSTRONG
The University of Notre Dame

RANDOLPH L. FORT
Emory University

WALDO C. M. JOHNSTON
Yale University

ROBERT M. RHODES
The University of Pennsylvania

CHARLES E. WIDMAYER
Dartmouth College

DENTON BEAL
Carnegie Institute of Technology

MARALYN O. GILLESPIE
Swarthmore College

JEAN D. LINEHAN
American Alumni Council

STANLEY SAPLIN
New York University

REBA WILCOXON
The University of Arkansas

CHESLEY WORTHINGTON
Brown University

DAVID A. BURR
The University of Oklahoma

L. FRANKLIN HEALD
The University of New Hampshire

JOHN W. PATON
Wesleyan University

VERNE A. STADTMAN
The University of California

RONALD A. WOLK
The Johns Hopkins University

CORBIN GWALTNEY
Executive Editor

DANIEL S. ENDSLEY
Stanford University

CHARLES M. HELMKEN
American Alumni Council

FRANCES PROVENCE
Baylor University

FRANK J. TATE
The Ohio State University

ELIZABETH BOND WOOD
Sweet Briar College

FOR THE RECORD

(Continued from Page 11)

■ BUCKNELL AUTHORS

CHARLES C. FRIES '09 and
AGNES CARSWELL FRIES '19

Foundations For English Teaching

Published for The English Language Exploratory Committee
by Kenkyusha Ltd., Tokyo, Japan

This book of 378 pages, by Charles Fries '09, and Agnes Carswell Fries '19, will further enhance the well established international reputation of its authors. Since the space allotted to this review will not permit a full discussion of it, the reviewer will confine his comment to the background of experience which makes it important.

In 1941 Mr. Fries was asked by The Rockefeller Foundation and the University of Michigan to organize a summer course in functional English which would enable Latin Americans visiting this country to attend schools of advanced studies, clinics and hospitals, and other institutions in this country with a sufficient knowledge of everyday American English to make their experience profitable.

In 1943 the University was asked by the U. S. Department of State to operate the Institute on a year-round basis, with six eight-week sessions a year. The new arrangement enabled Mr. Fries to assemble a permanent staff which would devote its full energies to the program.

An important part of the program was "The English House," in which from the establishment of the ELI in 1941 the students and a few staff members were housed, and in which they took their meals. Placards bearing the legend "ONLY ENGLISH" scattered about the house were a constant reminder of the requirement that there should be no relapse from the practise of an unfamiliar foreign language to their native speech.

Meantime a teacher training course for those who wished to prepare themselves to teach English as a foreign language was being developed. As its name spread, more and more students from abroad came to Ann Arbor for the Institute course, and more and more North American and foreign teachers came for the training in using ELI materials and methods. Statistics published in The Linguistic Reporter, organ of the Center for Applied Linguistics of the Modern Language Association of America, for June 1961, estimated the number of students who had attended the Institute at 9500, and the number of teachers who had taken the training course at 1650.

But the influence of the Institute spread far beyond home base. Summer Institutes employing its methods and to some extent its personnel were inaugurated at other colleges and universities. Among these was the Bucknell summer school for foreign students, organized under the wise leadership of President Marts, engaging the services of Professor emeritus Frank Sprague and Professor Willard Smith, and more recently of younger members of the Bucknell staff.

Mr. and Mrs. Fries themselves have been peripatetic teachers; one never knew just where they were at any moment, but there was a strong probability that they were not at home, since they have repeatedly been called to spread the good word, most recently in Japan.

More adequate coverage of the ELI philosophy and publications may be found in Robert Lado's "Annotated Bibliography for Teachers of English as a Foreign Language," published in 1955 by the U. S. Department of Health, Education, and Welfare; in Mr. Lado's "Linguistics Across Cultures," University of Michigan Press 1957. Probably the basic work on the scientific basis for the ELI procedure is Charles Fries' "Teaching and Learning English as a Foreign Language" 2nd ed., Heath 1955.

DR. LEO L. ROCKWELL '07

MARIE FROMUTH '43

Guide to Washington (D. C.)

Published by Darrow Publishing Company, Box 12, Huntingdon Valley, Pa., 1961. $1.95.

This interesting 164-page Guide to Washington has many illustrations, 15 easy-to-follow tours and even floor plans of famous buildings that make it unique as a self-guide to help you see and understand our nation's capital.

Marie points out that a trip to Europe gave her the idea for the guide. On returning, she decided to tour our nation's capital as she had seen London, Paris, Rome—on her own, with the help of a good guide book. But this she discovered was impossible for the only guides available were souvenir booklets with inadequate touring directions and very little background information. It gave her the distinct impression that the United States was far less interesting and storied than Europe, and to this her patriotism rebelled. She looked into the matter and found that Washington had indeed as many stories to tell and as many interesting facets as London, Paris or Rome. True, the stories were entirely different, the theme, the emphasis not at all the same. But it was just as fascinating and, of course, far more relevant to an American. She decided something ought to be done. So she wrote this guide book.

Even if you never visit Washington, you will want this book. And when you load up the family and all the kids for the grand tour of the capital, Marie's guide book is a must.

ROBERT T. OLIVER (former member of the faculty of Bucknell University)

Conversation: The Development and Expression of Personality

Published by Charles C. Thomas, Springfield, Ill., $5.00.

Dr. Robert T. Oliver, formerly a member of the Bucknell English department and now chairman of the Department of Speech at The Pennsylvania State University, presents in this book a philosophy of conversation and a minimum of conversational techniques. The philosophy is based on two premises: "The ideal speaker is a good man, skilled in the arts of speech" and talk is necessary not only for personal development and happiness but also for the existence of society. A good conversationalist needs knowledge, command of words, imagination and determination.

Obviously, the book is not designed to provide a quick recipe for wallflowers. As a matter of fact, though some attention is paid to the sort of conversation most people indulge in at bridge and cocktail parties, the ideal conversation held before the reader is something like that in Plato's Symposium. Chapter X, "Examples Out of Limbo," contains three imaginary and amusing conversations between Immanuel Kant and Sir John Locke, Dr. Samuel Johnson and Benjamin Franklin, and Confucius and Gamaliel Bradford. Such conversation, however, is likely to be caviar to the general.

How to reach ideal conversation is the nub of the problem. Apparently, the answer is that an aspirant must study his own and others conversation and force himself to talk. Several check-lists are provided to help him make his evaluations. Some hortatory chapters are included which explain: the rules of conversation, cooperation and competition in conversation, the use and abuse of humor in conversation, and how to listen to conversation. All of these chapters contain good advice: the one on humor should be read by all who are addicted to its use.

FRANK W. MURPHY
Professor of English

Breakout and Pursuit

Published by Office of the Chief of Military History, Department of the Army, Washington 25, D. C. For sale at $10.25 by Superintendent of Documents, Government Printing Office, Washington 25, D. C.

In driving from the Channel coast of France through Paris and beyond to the dragon's teeth of Germany's West Wall, American soldiers and their Allied comrades in arms wrote one of the most exhilarating chapters in the story of World War II. Their exploits in the Summer of 1944 have now been brought to life in Martin Blumenson's '39, Breakout and Pursuit, the U. S. Army's newest volume in its wide-ranging account of the big war.

Breakout and Pursuit presents the frustrating agony of the hedgerows, the dramatic breakthrough parlayed into breakout, the desperate Mortain counterattack, the stirring encirclement at Argentan and Falaise, the liberation of Paris, and the pursuit to the German frontier.

Written for the general reader as well as the professional soldier, the new book is amply equipped with photographs and maps that clarify and point up the many diverse and complex operations of the campaign.

NORMAN THOMAS '05

Great Dissenters

Norton & Company 1961

If a man is known by the company he keeps, Norman Thomas may be known by the dissenters he deals with in this book. They are: "the gadfly of Athens"—Socrates; the master propagandist of the American Revolution—Tom Paine; the apostle of the antislavery movement—Wendell Phillips; and the Indian realistic idealist—Gandhi.

Truly a noble company. And typically, a group of intellectuals, protestants against bondage of body, mind, or soul. And certainly worthy companions of Norman Thomas. To those of us who have known Mr. Thomas personally (I became acquainted with him when, as a Bucknell freshman, I attended the Presbyterian Church of which his father was pastor) he represents political thought at its best.

Although he has been six times the candidate of the Socialist Party for the presidency, he has never been a "practical politician" who would sacrifice ideals for the sake of winning votes. Yet his influence on policy has been great. The so-called New Deal of President Franklin Roosevelt put into effect policies to a large extent borrowed from the Socialist platform on which Mr. Thomas ran in 1932.

For many of us oldsters the story Mr. Thomas tells of the great dissenters is familiar. Yet even we may be reminded by it of the necessity for intelligent dissent in every society. And for today's youngsters, many of them woefully ignorant of history, the book should serve as an antidote to the current pressures for conformity, and may help them to resist the present tendency of young people to become faceless "organization men."

In an age when certain educational theorists are glorifying "adjustment" to the existing society, with its too complacent acceptance of religious and racial intolerance, this book may serve to enlighten and challenge.

DR. LEO L. ROCKWELL '07

■ BOOKS ABOUT BUCKNELLIANs

MURRAY B. SEIDLER

Norman Thomas, Respectable Rebel

Syracuse University Press 1961

Murray Seidler's biographical and critical volume is a worthy companion to Great Dissenters. Whether Norman

Thomas would approve the adjective "respectable" may be questioned, but it seems justified. The years have greatly altered the earlier image of him as a wild-eyed radical to that of a wise elder statesman, steeped in the American tradition of individual freedom, but recognizing that ours is no longer a frontier culture.

This sympathetic and perceptive portrait of a third generation Presbyterian minister turned socialist should be required reading for those benighted spirits who still couple socialism with communism. Norman Thomas has always been closer to the Christian socialism of nineteenth century Britain than to the Marxian heresy.

Mr. Seidler points out that on both sides of his family Mr. Thomas inherits a noble religious and intellectual tradition. As one of four tall and intellectually distinguished brothers (he says his mother used to refer to them as her twenty-five feet of sons) and a gifted and charming sister, (I know, for she was at one time a student of mine) Norman had the great advantage of sharing from boyhood in a fine family life.

Beginning his college career at Bucknell, Norman transferred to Princeton, which at that time enjoyed the example of plain living and high thinking furnished by Woodrow Wilson. After graduation from Princeton, he entered Union Theological Seminary in New York City. Following his graduation there and ordination as a Presbyterian minister, he served in several churches in Manhattan, but in 1931, retired from the ministry to devote his energies to social and political journalism, authorship of books, and lecturing, as well as direct participation in politics.

The titles of his books, listed in the biographical sketch of him in Who's Who in America, show his devotion to the highest ideals of individual freedom and social behavior. And it is in his writings and speaking that his lasting influence will doubtless rest. It is probable that he should be regarded as chiefly significant, not as a political figure, but as a teacher.

DR. LEO L. ROCKWELL '07

THE CLUB CIRCUIT

(Continued from Page 14)

■ AMERICAN BAPTIST CONVENTION

All Bucknellians and their guests are most cordially invited to attend the Bucknell University dinner to be held in connection with the 1962 American Baptist Convention in Philadelphia.

The dinner is scheduled for Thursday, May 24, at 6:00 P.M. at Stouffer's Restaurant, 1526 Chestnut St., Philadelphia 2, Pa.

Bucknell Baptist ministers and a number of campus representatives will be in attendance and laymen and their friends and relatives will also be there. If you can join us for dinner, please send your reservation to Alumni Headquarters, Bucknell University, Lewisburg, Pa., now as commitments must be made to Stouffer's in advance.

■ A LOOK AHEAD

The following is a brief review of club meetings planned but not held as this is written: Pittsburgh on March 31 with Dr. and Mrs. Odgers as honored guests; Los Angeles on April 12 with Professor and Mrs. John S. Gold '18, as special guests; St. Petersburg on April 14; Sunbury on April 24; Monmouth-Ocean on May 2; Northern New Jersey and Harrisburg on May 5; Philadelphia on May 25; and Buffalo on June 8.

CLASS REPORTS

EMERITUS CLUB

MISS MARY COTTON
Eldred, Pa.

Reune in June, 1962

Members of the Emeritus Club who have received their copies of the Emeritus Club Book continue to express thanks and appreciation for the fine job that editor WEAVER PANGBURN '10, and his assistants performed in preparing and publishing this record of our senior Bucknellians. One word of caution concerning addresses is necessary: the addresses listed in the book were those supplied by Emeritus Club members as they submitted their questionnaires or were taken from earlier publications prepared by the various classes. Consequently, in many instances, the addresses are not entirely up to date. One such error was made in listing the address of E. CARROLL CONDUCT '08. His correct mailing address is now Ely, Vt. Of course, Alumni Headquarters is able to supply any address you may need. Just send a post card to Alumni Headquarters, Bucknell University, Lewisburg, Pa., and your needed addresses will reach you by return mail.

Dr. and Mrs. HARRY J. LITTLE '04, recently celebrated their 60th wedding anniversary at their home in Cogan Station. Harry, now retired, started his career by helping to build a railroad from Arizona to Mexico. After his marriage in 1902, he returned to the east and became a veterinarian. He practiced in Williamsport for about 30 years after which he turned the practice over to his son, Dr. Robert G. Little, also a veterinarian. Harry then went to Oklahoma and New Mexico and returned to complete his practice in Williamsport in the early '50's. Our good wishes go to Harry, his wife, the former Mabel Rogers, and his three children on a distinguished career.

Bucknell lost a member of an all-Bucknell family with the death, on January 20, 1962, of Mrs. RALPH B. COOK (MABEL GRACE MAURER) who was awarded a music diploma in 1905. Prior to her marriage to RALPH B. COOK '04, she taught music at Central Pennsylvania College in New Berlin. Our condolences are extended to the survivors which include these Bucknell children: FRANKLIN H. COOK, Esq. '33 (married to the former ANN M. GRAYBILL '33), Pennsylvania State University; ROBERT N. COOK, Esq. '33 (married to the former Katherine Murphy), a member of the faculty at Western Reserve University; Mrs. FREDERICK S. GALLUP, JR. (H. LUCILLE COOK '39) (married to FREDERICK S. GALLUP, JR. '47), of Chevy Chase, Md. Mrs. Cook had been a resident of Lewisburg for a number of years and was active in the United Church of Christ. The family was well known in this area through the operation of a store for many years in Vicksburg, just a few miles from the campus. Mr. Cook passed away in 1941.

We regret to tell you of the death, on March 22, 1962, of MISS ANNA CURZON JUDD, active member of the Class of 1900, at the age of 88 years. Miss Judd died in the Evangelical Community Hospital, Lewisburg, after having been a patient there for some time.

Her death brings to an end another generation of one of the University's most prominent families, her sister, MRS. SARA JUDD SHIELDS '02, having passed away in September 1961.

Miss Judd was born in Harrisburg in 1879, the daughter of the late Dr. John Thomas Judd H'04 and Sarah Katherine Whitman Judd, he having served the University for many years as a trustee and as treasurer. Miss Judd graduated from the Female Institute in 1897 and earned the Bachelor of Philosophy degree in Latin Philosophical course summa cum laude in 1900. Her master's degree in philosophy was awarded by the University in 1902. All her years she has lived in the family home at 79 University Avenue and has watched many generations of Bucknell students go by. During most of her years she has had Bucknell students living in her home, often providing apartment facilities for young married students.

Surviving are JOHN JUDD SHIELDS, M.D. '31, Jenkintown; KELVIN LEIGH SHIELDS '34, Pittsburgh; James William Shields, Chevy Chase, Md.; DONALD WHITMAN SHIELDS '44, Beirut, Lebanon, nephews; MRS. DONALD C. WARD (ANNA KATHERINE "NANCY" SHIELDS '38), a niece and wife of DONALD C. WARD '40. Three grand-nephews, JAMES L. SHIELDS '62, KELVIN L. SHIELDS, JR. '62, and JOHN P. SHIELDS '66, present Bucknell students, resided in the Judd home with her.

Memorial services were conducted by Dr. Wesley Shrader, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Lewisburg and interment was in the Lewisburg cemetery. The University family extends sincere sympathy to the surviving members of the Judd Shields families.

Under her will, Miss Judd has established a memorial scholarship in memory of her father, the late Dr. John T. Judd, which will be made available each year to a "Baptist student of good character" at Bucknell University. The bequest was made to carry out the desire of Miss Judd and her sister, Mrs. Sarah Judd Shields.

It is with regret that we report the death of JOSEPH S. BITTENBENDER '05 on April 5, 1962.

Joe, as he was known to his many Bucknell friends, was a loyal and energetic worker in his Bucknell Class of 1905, rarely missing a five-year reunion of the class. It was his pleasure to entertain the entire class when it met in Lewisburg for reunions.

Born in 1884 in Plymouth, he had spent most of his life in Kingston. After graduation he taught briefly in Nanticoke schools and became interested in the food brokerage business, and in 1922 he established his own company which he operated until the time of his death. Also prominent in banking and insurance, Joe always had time to devote to his church and other community enterprises. Rated as one of the community's top leaders, The Times-Leader of Wilkes-Barre editorialized, "He was identified with a number of leading enterprises in Wilkes-Barre and Harrisburg, adding new luster to the family escutcheon. He also was highly regarded as a citizen, neighbor, educator, churchman and clubman, thus rounding out a useful life and well balanced career."

Sincere sympathy is extended to his survivors: his wife, the former Barbara Jones; a son, Dr. Joseph B. Bittenbender, Boston; sister, Mrs. Rheda B. McCombs, Miami, Fla.; brothers Frederick E., Huntington Mills, and Theodore L., Forty Fort.

Finally, all Emeritus Club members are reminded of our annual reunion on the Bucknell campus June 1, 2, and 3. GURNEY SHOLL '10, president of the Emeritus Club, is presently working on the program for the week end and it promises to be one of the best we have ever had. Plan now to be present. You will have a wonderful time renewing old acquaintances.

02

MR. ALAN C. CUNNINGHAM
Charles C. Knox Home
Wynnewood, Pa.

Reune in June, 1962

In reading the Emeritus Club Book, written by WEAVER PANGBURN of the Bucknell Class of 1910 and published by the Alumni Office, it was interesting to note that of the Emeritus Club members listed twenty-five men and women are over eighty years of age. Emeritus Club members who have not purchased this book may order copies by writing to the Alumni Office, Bucknell University, Lewisburg, Pa. Please enclose a check or money order in the amount of $2.00 to cover the cost of the book and postage.

Don't forget the Emeritus Club reunion on the Bucknell campus on June 1, 2, and 3. Class members are reminded that this will be our 60th reunion, so make every effort to attend.

03

MRS. HARRY C. HERPEL
(Elvie Coleman)
1250 Park Ave.
McKeesport, Pa.

Col. A. F. DERSHIMER uses the airways to visit his children in California and Texas. He keeps busy in his community, and with his activities as Emeritus fund manager. He frequently visits both the Bucknell and Keystone campuses.

Your reporter has waited hopefully for news for several issues. There may be some misunderstanding. Any news for the 1903 column should come to your reporter first, before being published. This becomes more than ever necessary with the continued growth of the ALUMNUS.

As an Emeritus Club member, you may reunite every year; remember in 1963 we celebrate our Sixtieth.

06

MR. WILLIAM L. DONEHOWER
22 N. Fifth St.
Lewisburg, Pa.

Our class lost one of its most prominent members with the death, on February 11, of Professor J. THEODORE PARK in Florida. Professor Park was one of a large number of members of his family who attended Bucknell and our deepest sympathy is extended to his wife, Mrs. Lucie Koons Park, his daughter, Dr. Mary Catherine Park, both of Florida, the following brothers and sisters: D. JESSE PARK '10, of Hazleton; Mrs. MARTHA P. WHITMAN '16, W. LOUIS PARK '16, both of Montandon; Mrs. RUSSEL R. STOUT (OLIVE M. PARK '16), wife of RUSSEL R. STOUT '20, of Waynesboro, Va.; and Mrs. MARY MERTZ '22, of Watsonstown; and numerous nieces and nephews.

Following graduation from Lewisburg High School in 1902, Professor Park enrolled at Bucknell and after graduation taught at Sus-

...and ... George and ... was a fellow of ... London, England. ... respected in his field as a pioneer in the idea of education in industry, having been associated with the Sun Shipbuilding and Drydock Co. in this area of activity. Recognition of his achievement was evidenced by his listings in American Men of Science, International Bluebook, Who's Who in the World, Directory of American Scholars, Who's Who in Education, and Who's Who in the South and Southeast.

Funeral services and interment took place at Dry Run, where the family maintained a summer home.

Mrs. HAROLD N. COLE (HAZEL LOUISE KNAPP) passed away on February 7, 1962. The heartfelt condolences of our class and the University are extended to Dr. HAROLD N. COLE and the family. Hazel was born in 1884 in Bristol, Ind. She was awarded the Bachelor of Philosophy degree at Bucknell where she was a member of Pi Beta Phi sorority. After teaching high school for seven years, she married in 1913. Besides Harold, she is survived by three children: Dorothy Cole Lamb, Barbara Cole Kinder, and Harold N. Cole, Jr., M.D. Both she and Dr. Cole have been loyal members of the Bucknell Alumni Club of Cleveland where she was also a member of the Shaker Heights First Baptist Church and the local Neighborhood Guild.

The Rev. A. PIERCE WALTZ was surprised to learn from the Bucknell Emeritus Club Book that he was born in 1887 whereas his correct birth year is 1877. Evidently, because of his youthful appearance he has had this error reported before and has felt it suitable to write the following poem which we now share with you.

Many cannot believe
When I tell them my age,
Thus, to be relieved
I have written this page.

HOW DO WE LIVE?

You tell me that I am not old;

And that is what others have told.
I cannot deny my many years.

But my spirit keeps me from tears,
And gives me the great joy

I have had ever since I was a boy.
Truly the things that we do and say

Are the things that do us betray.
Let us watch the path that we tread,

And we'll avoid many a regret.
And the love that we do impart

Wins friends that never depart.
Thus, whatever may be our fate,

Let us watch before it's too late.

The years we spend in love and grace,

No matter where may be the place,
If we truly pray and believe with fear,

The Loving Good Lord will ever be near.

07 DR. LEO L. ROCKWELL
602 Charles St.
Tulakland, Fla.

Reune in June, 1962

What has happened? I haven't heard from any members of our class for a long time. Without news from you it is next to impossible to write a class column for THE BUCKNELL ALUMNUS, so how about it? Sit down with pen in hand and tell me what you have been doing. This is the final reminder. We will celebrate our 55th reunion on the campus on June 1, 2, and 3. We are looking forward to having a large turnout of '07ites. We will have a large turnout if YOU plan now to be with us. We'll see you on the campus.

BUZZ BURROWS and his good wife have been having a grand time in Florida. Be sure to see Buzz at the class reunion and hear his story.

CHAUNCEY BROCKWAY is still receptive to any gifts you may have neglected to send for the Alumni Fund.

FOU SCHULTZ and wife Martha are coming! They ought to be candidates for the long distance travel award. They're still in Alaska!

Buzz, Chauncey, Tom and some of us others are expecting to see old regulars JOE WEDDELE, his sister MARY, BECKY SHOVE, GEORGE RIGGS, MARY STANTON Speicher, BILL HINMAN, MABEL SILL Hubbard, and the Western Pennsylvania gang, and some of you irregulars like me (I couldn't make the Fiftieth, since I was teaching in Mexico). Buzz will probably crack his regular wheeze about waiting for the undertaker (we call that Galgenhumor.) CHARLEY POTTER for the nth time promises to come by shanks mare or wheelchair. Don't fail us this time, Charley. We'll let you tell about your accident prone career.

VERA '11 and I'll be there, DV. We're just recovering from an appearance on ETV WEND Tampa. FSC has kept me busy, busy, busy. I told the president some months ago I'd really quit at the year's end. Now I am looking forward to catching up on my reading next year, and mebbe getting into politics. I'm still conducting my course in general education by way of letters to editors.

See you soon at BU in June! Any questions?

08 MRS. JOHN N. MATHIAS
(Margaret W. Pangburn)
202 St. Louis St.
Lewisburg, Pa.

Dr. E. CARROLL CONDUCT and his wife, the former Isabel Adams, were honored at a reception, celebrating their marriage 50 years ago, in the Congregational Church in the village of Post Mills, Vt., where their marriage took place. During the winter, Dr. Conduct, although officially retired as a missionary, served as pastor at the church at Passumpsic, Vt.

09 MRS. HOWARD L. HEADLAND
(Sarah E. Walters)
3911 First Ave., North
St. Petersburg 13, Fla.

As of NEWT FETTER, our class is not up to par in its Alumni Fund giving. There was a day, he says, when the Class of 1909 made an enviable alumni record but not so today. Newt affirms that 37% of our class already has contributed to the Fund. So come along you others, hold up your part of our maroon and white class banner. Send your contributions to the Bucknell University Alumni Fund.

The following letter was received by JOHN SHIRLEY: "We have long wished to see some of South America and this year we flew to New Orleans in November, visited Panama and skirted Colombia and Ecuador to make our winter stay in Peru. It is summer here and Lima is one of the most beautiful capitals (2,000,000) of the fourteen world capitals we have seen. We shall sail north from Callas on March 6, and return to the Black Hills May 1. I still have hopes of seeing you out there some summer. Spearfish has a sporting golf course! I hope you and Allan are well and that Bucknell and the survivors of 1909 are getting ready to celebrate our 55th. Do you remember DON CARLOS ALVAREZ who was studying engineering at Bucknell? I thought it would be nice to call him up while here except that there are 125 with that name in the telephone directory and that I remembered that he died several years ago, shortly after THE BUCKNELL ALUMNUS had published such an interesting letter from him. Years ago I read Prescott's Conquest of Mexico and Peru. Visiting these countries and reading many other current books on them add much pleasure. We kept house in Mexico several winters and of course with our car there we covered the whole country pretty well and studied and wrote about a number of archeological sites. Cherrio, HALLMAN."

Thank you, JOHN SHIRLEY, for sending us MALCOLM HALLMAN's letter sent by him from Peru to you. We're so pleased to include it here as we know many of his classmates and other Bucknell friends will enjoy it as we did.

"Roses are red
Violets are blue
But they don't get around
As the dandelions do."

N. R. P. A. Journal

In this merry month of May, let us not forget to "Count your blessings, Name them one by one."

"I complained because I had no shoes, until I met a man who had no feet." Arabian Proverb.

10 MISS MILDRED B. CATHERS
100 W. 33rd St., Apt. 6
Bayonne, N. J.

SARA RAY WAY and MILDRED CATHERS were registered at the Concord Hotel in St. Petersburg, Fla., for the month of March. They were looking forward to meeting with the local Bucknell Alumni Club at a picnic on March 31 and to seeing EMILY LANE Yoder there.

It's time to plan that annual visit to the campus for another reunion with old friends. June 1, 2 and 3 are the dates. Last year there was a good representation from 1910 at Alumni Day festivities: let's have an even larger attendance this year. GURNEY SHOLL, president of the Emeritus Club and one of our own class members, has interesting plans for us.

11 MR. HERBERT S. LLOYD
R. D. 1, Lily Lake
Wapwallopen, Pa.

When your editor accepted the class reporter work at the reunion meeting last June, it was with the hope that there would surely be some ONE or more who would furnish his classmates with a bit of friendly gossip for this column. (What a sentence! Dr. Llewelyn Phillips would never pass one as long.) Anyhow, an innate reluctant modesty has been demonstrated. I have written, faithfully, five letters before each issue. Only three have given the news. This time I decided to find some of the "lost" members, and also get information of some of the deceased of whom we had little or no material for the 50th anniversary book. There is only one response to date: WOODS "BUTCH" DERR finished at Johns Hopkins in 1915; interned in medicine at Williamsport Hospital; after one year of general practice in Williamsport he moved to Renovo where he practiced until his death on May 27, 1919. This item is scant, but it is more than we had. I am trying to find others. Look at the list of the "lost" members; check on the biographies written up; if you have information of any of the missing persons, let us have it, not neglecting to tell the interesting gossip concerning yourself. "Hope springs eternal, etc.; etc." Forgotten. Forgotten. Forgotten.

12 MRS. H. W. HOUSEKNECHT
(Maze Callahan)
108 W. Penn St.
Muncy, Pa.

Reune in June, 1962

REUNION DINNER

June 1, 1962

HOTEL LEWISBURGER

Are you down to earth? Do you have both feet on the ground? I'm still thinking about the John Glenn flight. Wasn't it thrilling, breath-taking? Didn't you enjoy hob-nobbing with the gang at the Waldorf-Astoria? I did. Really, I was so glued to the TV that week that I almost forgot to feed Pop.

A card from Kate and FRED IGLER: "Arrived at Fort Lauderdale this morning. WALTER EDWARDS '13 and wife met us. We have a room in their apartment hotel. Hope to see DALE HOLLENBAUGH, GEORGE MIDDLETON '13, JOHN HEDGE '15 and PAUL WEAVER '22. Beautiful sunshiny weather the past three days in Stuart and Daytona Beach."

When I was recruiting help for the reunion book I received this letter from PAT SCHREIBER: "Received your letter of Feb. 7 relative to plans for the 50th Class Reunion at Lewisburg. In answer to your S. O. S. for help in launching the reunion, I'm happy to say I'll be glad to assist you in any way that I can. I don't see how anyone could turn you down. Maze, after all these years of class reporting for the graduates of 1912. Besides, one thing I have in ample supply is time. A cerebral embolism (blood clot on the brain) suffered in the fall of '59 has ruled out a return to active life. The stroke, to which many of us fall heir to as a result of a very active life, was similar in its effects to the one former ambassador, Joseph Kennedy, suffered last December. But determination and persistence has brought back almost 100% mobility of hand and arm on my left side. I'm far from being discouraged with my handicap. While I doubt that I shall be able to take part in the Penn Relays I am living a life of normal activity. Thanks to the care and encouragement of Mrs. Schreiber I am looking forward to complete recovery in due time. Our permanent address is Arnolds Lake, Milford, N. Y., where we have a very pleasant summer cottage on a spring fed lake 1800 ft. above sea level. Last September we settled the perennial question where to spend the winter by buying an attractive house trailer and locating it on the state road near Cooperstown, N. Y., overlooking the beautiful Susquehanna River Valley. I prefer this part of the country even though it can become very cold. We weathered the arctic temperatures of below zero of the past two weeks and have been comfortable as a bug in the rug in our trailer home. If all goes well, we expect to come to Lewisburg in June for the reunion. Take good care of your husband and yourself and believe me I won't let you down."

Can you, the rest of us top that will power, courage and determination?

The following have answered their questionnaires (March 15) and are planning to answer to roll call and be present at the festive board: PEARL REAM, EVA HIMMELREICH, HELEN RUTH, RUBY STUCK, HELEN LEVEGOOD, OLIVE LONG, ELIZABETH STEVENSON, ALBERTA BRONSON, FRANCES GROFF, JIM and COLEMAN HARRIS, PAT SCHREIBER, PATTY CONNER, EARL BARTHOLOMEW, LAWRENCE SPROUT, WALTER EISENMENGER, LEON CRANDALL, BOB MEYER, ED DUFTON, RALPH DAVENPORT, LEW ROBINSON, GEORGE REITER, HOWARD JOHNSON and JAY FLECKENSTINE.

P. S. Take your vitamins for an extra pick-up for our 50th.

13 REV. GEORGE F. HAINES
324 Market St.
Lewisburg, Pa.

L. EARL JACKSON, pastor of Prospect Hill Baptist Church since 1952, announced his resignation recently. His resignation will take effect August 31 at the end of his tenth year at the Prospect Hill Church. Earl and his wife will live in eastern Massachusetts in semi-retirement. We send our hearty congratulations to Earl for his many successful years in the Christian ministry.

Your reporter received a letter from JOHN FETTER. It contained an explanation and a confession. The explanation was in response to my lament about the scarcity of news from my classmates. He said, "most of the members of 1913 have retired and there is little to report but mowing the lawn, reading the Good Book, taking a little trip or just trying to muster up enough vitality to keep the old set of bones on the go." But John, the poor fellows in our class like ROOKE, who still have to work, could send me news. I close with John's confession—"I hope that others of our class are doing more than I am so you will have something to put in the 1913 column." Sorry to say they are not. The only news I got for this edition came from a member of the Class of 1937. Thank you, MABEL NYLUND Ziegler.

14 MRS. H. B. WEAVER
(Dora Hamler)
348 Ridge Ave.
New Kensington, Pa.

This morning, January 13, a letter came which proves that news of you is deeply appreciated. I am including the letter and hope it will spur you to action so that this reporter will have a real news column for every issue of THE BUCKNELL ALUMNUS.

"Dear Classmate 1914: It has been some time since I have contributed any news to your column but whenever I receive the Bucknell Bulletin with news of the alumni and class events I read it from cover to cover to gather news of old friends and classmates. Being the only surviving member of the four original pledges to Sigma Chi Fraternity of the Class of 1914, SCOUTON, LYNE, MAHONEY, and MOORE, I am beginning to feel like some sort of patriarch. Have seen very few Bucknell friends and classmates since I left Lewisburg with my sheepskin in June, 1914. My wife and I returned for Homecoming in 1938 and started back for Commencement in 1939 but failed to make it past the 1939 National Open Golf Championships being held in Philadelphia. Have planned returning for class reunions from time to time but Army assignments or duties seemed to interfere. After 32 years in the U. S. Army I retired in 1952, purchased a home at 1509 Palmer Park Blvd., Colorado Springs, Colo., where I now live alone, as I lost my wife in the Fall of 1959.

"After retirement, not being content to loaf, I put in two years as superintendent of Buildings and Grounds for Colorado College here in Colorado Springs and discovered why, as students at Bucknell, we were not as popular with Prof. BURPEE '01 as we might have been. Boy, did he used to chew us out on occasions. From the College I went to the Air Academy as a construction inspector for the architect, first on concrete walls and then to the large Academic Building holding all the class rooms and laboratories. After a couple of years at this the concrete stairs and floors caught up with me and my underpinnings gave out and I retired for good, settling down to taking care of my yard, fishing and an occasional round on the golf course. I have a daughter whose husband was on duty with the Army at New Britain, Conn., so a few years ago I drove East to visit them and visited friends on the way. I started home in January, 1961, and got caught in a big snow storm and spent six days in a motel at Allentown. When I could get away I headed toward Lewisburg as I had relatives in Meadville. Going through well known haunts such as Ashland, home of Pat Patterson; Mount Carmel, where I had visited Mick Walters, Sammy Samuels and Fats Keiser, when a student; and Shamokin, where we held our sophomore banquet dodging freshmen to get out of Lewisburg. Sunbury, home of the NEFFS and my roommate RUSS SHIPMAN '15. But when I got to Lewisburg where I had intended stopping the snow and wind obliterated any sight I could get of College Campus or anything so I pushed on to State College where I spent the night. Any future trips planned for visiting Bucknell will be set up for a more suitable time of year. God willing and the creek don't run dry I am looking forward to our 50th in 1964.

"I would surely enjoy seeing or hearing from any of the old gang so if any head this way to see the USA don't fail to look me up or if you have anything after settling your income tax, buy a post card, you can have your secretary address it for you, and drop me a line. I can still read and would enjoy hearing from one and all. See you in 1961 I hope. Col. Thomas E. (Bill) Moore, 1509 Palmer Park Blvd., Colorado Springs, Colo."

Miss MARION E. SHIVERS is now doing deputation work in churches after her retirement from long service in Burma. She began her service in Burma in 1923, serving as a missionary of the American Baptist Foreign Mission Societies, and until 1941 was also lecturer in chemistry and assistant to the dean of women at Judson College in Rangoon. From 1945 to 1951 she served as director of Relief and Rehabilitation in Burma for Church World Service. From 1952 until 1961 (her retirement date) she conducted rehabilitation work in the high schools in Moulmein and set up a pilot project for the rehabilitation of "disease-arrested" leprosy patients. Marion resides at Walnford Rd., R. D. 2, Allentown, N. J.

Dr. RACHEL DAVIS DuBois is writing a new book, The Reconciling Art of Group Conversation. It will be published by Association Press. Rachel still resides at 204 E. 18th St., New York, N. Y.

15 MISS MARION R. BANCROFT
1308 Ninth St.
Altoona, Pa.

Dr. GEORGE A. IRLAND will become president of the Citizens' Electric Company of Lewisburg in June, upon his retirement from the Bucknell faculty. He will serve as president on a limited basis in the interim. George has served on the company's board since 1945 and has been chairman of the board since 1956. His connections with Bucknell as student and teacher go back to 1909 when he enrolled in the Bucknell Academy. He received his bachelor's degree from Bucknell in 1915 and his E.E. degree in 1921. He received an M.E.E. degree in 1925 and his Doctor of Engineering from Johns Hopkins University in 1932. Dr. Irland joined the faculty of Bucknell in 1920 as instructor in mechanical drawing and electrical engineering and has served as professor of electrical engineering since June, 1937.

16 DR. ERIC A. OESTERLE
216 18th Ave., N. E.
St. Petersburg 4, Fla.

All of you will like this from the hand of Lois Reynolds.

DUNE'S END

Do you mind the days we spent
On the dunes near Lavallette?
Blue, September days of dreams
Ah, I know you'd forget.

Cradled in a sandy dune—
Blue and white and white and blue
Overhead and all around,—
Savory when I looked at you.

I remember how the surf
Plunged long fingers in the sand,
Tumbling up to talk to us
Knowing we would understand.

With the mists we rose at dusk,
When the homing birds flew past:
With our curious, colored shells—
And a dream or two held fast.

'Gainst the far horizon line
White sails still glide elf-ishly,
Shimmering when I close my eyes,
On that phosphorescent sea.

Some you can see in gray and blue—
When I think of you I hear
Purple peacocks in the air!

HALLEY'S COMET

JAMES JUSTICE '54, one of the boys from our congregation in New York City, sends us a cute little card stating that Sean Bradley was born into his home on November 8 way up there in Alaska. He weighed 7 pounds and 10 ounces.

"FOXY" FULTON and HAROLD GIFFIN were in St. Pete recently. Foxy came over for the local alumni club gathering clad in the reddest red shirt you ever saw. Harold arrived a few days before the meeting and I persuaded him to stay over for the alumni gatherin' and he was happy in having done so. We managed a game of golf while he was here. Both these classmates are in fine fettle. Harold talks only of travel these days. We will next be hearing from him in Europe.

LOIS, your letter was mighty sweet. Will we publish the poems? I'll say we will! Imagine her having two preachers in the family, a son and a son-in-law holding forth the Word of Life.

C. O. MAURER, C. J. HAY and LOU EATON, all of '17, were at the last meeting of our St. Pete Alumni Club. On that day we were showing slides of the Bay Pines Veterans Administration Center. The Headlands want me to show them at the next Grove City-Slippery Rock Joint Alumni lunch on March 3.

JOHN WALDRON '17 was out at Bay Pines to see us while on duty. We persuaded him to file an application at the admissions office. A fellow never knows when he may need hospitalization these days.

I have been the chaplain of the Pennsylvania Society for a year and have not had the good sense to ask whether there were any Bucknellians among them. This next year I will remedy that.

ALEX STORER '17, a baseball star of our four-year term, was in to see us with GEORGE CAMPUZANIO '13, football luminary of days preceding ours. They both looked fit.

DOT and FRED SCHNURE '14 spent a portion of March in St. Pete and we got to see a lot of them. While with us we learned that one of their grandchildren will enter Bucknell this fall. I choked on a piece of toast when they told that one.

CARL GEIGER '15 and KINK "Dryfoot" (he used to coach the Peddie swim team from the river bank) SPROUT '17 are to be here in March and we expect to make the most of that opportunity. They are attending Peddie School luncheons at Miami and Tampa.

Dr. JOHN R. NEEFE '36 was one of five local doctors to conduct a panel discussion of diseases of the digestive tract in the Fourth Free Medical Forum held at Christ Methodist Church, St. Petersburg, Fla.

17 MRS. ERLE M. TOPHAM
(C. Ray Spruce)
425 West Sedgwick St.
Philadelphia 19, Pa.

Reune in June, 1962

REUNION DINNER June 1, 1962 LEWISBURG INN

When our roll is called in June will you be there? You'd better be—we're expecting you. Don't say you haven't any place to stay for the college now rents rooms very reasonably on the Hill near all activities. But you must return your reservation coupon (taken from the reunion flyer or the May magazine) soon. It's really a lot of fun to see the "New Campus" and meet your "old friends." Our committee has reserved Lewisburg Inn for our reunion dinner on Friday night. So no alibi now. Be sure to come!

In early March, 1961, Dr. Robert S. Richardson, associate director of Griffith Observatory at Los Angeles, California, wrote an article to be published in the LOS ANGELES EXAMINER. In the article he asked that anyone who had seen Halley's Comet in May, 1910, to write and tell him where they were when they saw it and the circumstances surrounding their seeing it.

Hundreds of people answered his request. One lady said her family lived on a ranch in South Dakota. In the night her father got her out of bed and took her to see the "comet with the long tail" and then told her he didn't want her to ever forget it.

Another person told of a religious sect who believed that the world would come to an end when the comet appeared. They gave away everything they had and spent a few weeks in prayer. After the comet had passed over them, they had to begin life anew.

Other people told of hiding in great fear of what would happen when the comet came. After receiving such interesting responses to his letter, Dr. Richardson proceeded to form the "Halley's Comet Club." It consisted of people who had answered the questions he asked in his letter published in the EXAMINER.

Each member received a certificate of membership printed on parchment paper, with the "red tail" of the comet upon it. They also received a card to place in their billfolds. It, too, was decorated with the "red tail."

The director of Griffith Observatory, Dr. Clarence H. Clemenshaw, invited the members of the Club to attend a preview of "Collisions in Space" at the Planetarium Theater on May 16, 1961.

A Christmas party was held by the Club at Eagle Rock Park on December 16, 1961. Absent members were requested to send greetings, as many members lived in other states.

Mrs. Martha Park Whitman '16, is a charter member of the Club, since she was living in the Los Angeles area at the time it was formed. Martha originally matriculated with the Class of 1913 and was on campus when Dr. Bartol kindly opened the Bucknell Observatory so students could see the comet. Martha's application for membership was therefore based on her having seen the comet through the telescope in the Bucknell Observatory in May, 1910.

From the "Outline of Knowledge" by James A. Richards, we find that Halley's Comet was first seen in April, 1066, and has been seen at periods of from 75 to 76 years ever since that time. It was last seen in 1910, and its next scheduled appearance will be about 1985.

Anyone wishing to join the Halley's Comet Club should address his letter to Dr. Robert S. Richardson, c/o Griffith Observatory, Los Angeles, California.

* * *

EDITORS NOTE: At the request of Dr. Emil Polak '51, professor of mathematics and astronomy at Bucknell, the foregoing article was written by Mrs. Martha Park Whitman '16. Mrs. Whitman's account of seeing the "red-tailed" comet through the telescope at the Bucknell Observatory is of significant historical value, since the Clark Equatorial telescope (which is still in use today) was one of the ten largest telescopes in the United States at that time.

Had a card from AL STORER who was spending his winter vacation in St. Pete. They came home in April and this time we will see them and try to have them back for reunion. They report they had a nice little visit with the Oesterles and that they are fine. The Storer's oldest son is chief surgeon in a hospital in Cleveland. They visited him last fall.

A letter from CHARLIE SIPLEY '22 informs me he is well and teaching occasionally. He's three-fourths ours, you know!

Space is scarce this time, so I'll sign off with the idea that we're all going to see each other very soon. OK? Don't wait for the 50th, it's dangerous!

18 MRS. LAYTON E. KING
(Elizabeth Champion)
10 No. Loyalsock Ave.
Montoursville, Pa.

Dear Classmates: 1962 is here and before many months we will be thinking seriously of our 45th reunion. Your committee has been working for some time, and we hope that many of you will give this Reunion some thought. As usual, we will have a reunion book, and as editor of it, I am asking that you start refreshing your memories, and write down those important events that should be included.

Would that more of you would follow the example of a fellow classmate—ALVIN ADAMS, who wrote recently: "Each time when THE BUCKNELL ALUMNUS reaches me I'm embarrassed by the lack of news from the Class of 1918. Perhaps like myself they've been too busy to suppose that anyone is particularly interested in his or her own daily activities, or that maybe their activities have been too humdrum to have much appeal. And yet, I know that I look each time hoping to hear about some one with whom I've lost touch. So, at the risk of supposing that someone might like to know, I'm going to tell you what has been happening to me.

"I retired in October from H. J. Heinz Co., after 40 years of trying to make the public realize just how good the 57 varieties are (and they really are good). Among other things during those years my activities took me frequently to New York and Hollywood in connection with movies and television. I can assure you the glamor is all on the surface, and there's mighty little of it in any event. But the work in connection with it is indeed fascinating and very demanding.

"Since retiring I've maintained my active interest in music by being the organist in the Emory Methodist Church here in Pittsburgh. Emory has long been noted as one of the denomination's most influential churches in the tri-state area. I belong to the American Guild of Organists and also to the Associated Artists of Pittsburgh. Since the art world has gone abstract I've made no attempt to exhibit, being a realist. I'm hoping for an extended trip to Europe where I plan to study art further in Italy. No date is set, as yet, for that.

"The Pittsburgh Advertising Club elected me a life member when I retired, and I'm a director of the Light of Life Rescue Mission, a very worthy cause in Pittsburgh's north side. With best wishes to all my classmates."

Alvin's address is 134 Lincoln Ave., Edgewood, Pittsburgh 18, and my thanks to him is indeed sincere.

HERBERT C. (HUB) GRICE, SR., retired on December 22 as treasurer of the Lewisburg Trust and Safe Deposit Company in Lewisburg after 40 years of service. Hub and his wife, the former EMMALENE FISHER '21, will continue to live in Lewisburg. They are the parents of two Bucknellians, Mrs. JEANNE A. Reichley '48, Endicott, N. Y., and HERBERT C. GRICE, JR. '48, Hazleton. Hub is a member of Phi Gamma Delta fraternity and has been an active alumni member of the organization. Both he and his wife have been avid followers of Bucknell University athletic teams and they seldom miss a football or basketball attraction on the campus. Hub has served the Bucknell Alumni Club of Union County as treasurer and in other officerships over a long period of years. Like all retired folks, the Grices will find themselves busier than ever, but Hub hopes to spend some of his time on his special hobbies, golf and flowers.

19 DR. FRANKLIN D. JONES
2617 St. David's Lane
Ardmore, Pa.

HOWDY HARER, associate professor of mathematics at Lycoming College, was honored by the Williamsport Chapter of the National Conference of Christians and Jews in February by receiving the "Sportsman of the Year" award.

20 MRS. M. A. J. ROSEMAN
(Anna Sterling)
1736 Welsh Rd.
Philadelphia 15, Pa.

CHARLES V. IREDELL completed 40 years of service with Westinghouse at the beginning of the year. Charles has been granted 16 patents in the fields of metals, chemicals, and ceramics during his outstanding career and many others are still pending. In recognition of his significant developments in the lamp industry, he has been the recipient of the Westinghouse Order of Merit, the highest award granted to a company employee. We hope, Charlie, that you will now have sufficient time to engage in your favorite hobbies of flower gardening and collecting of 18th century American furniture. If your retirement activities include travel, just drop a line to alumni headquarters for an address roster of our Class of 1920 and stop in and see classmates along the way during your travels.

HARRY L. NANCARROW recently retired after 40 years of service with the Pennsylvania Railroad. After graduation from Bucknell, Harry became a draftsman for the system in 1920. His final assignment was assistant vice president, special services. He and his wife, the former MARJORIE B. MCCOY '21, will continue to reside in Philadelphia where their son, John, is chief resident in internal medicine at the University of Pennsylvania Hospital.

HARRY WARFEL continues his teaching at the University of Florida and manages to crowd in many other activities. During the past few months, he has filled speaking engagements in South Carolina, West Virginia, and California, as well as in Florida. In mid-June he will be leaving for England and the Continent for the summer. And his writing and editing goes on. In the writing field he has just completed a revision of his American Mind and his latest book came off the press in mid-spring. He still serves as general editor of Scholars Facsimiles and Reprints and five reprints, originally written between the 16th and the 19th century, will be published this year. Harry will be glad to send you a list of the Scholars Facsimiles and Reprints editions if you drop him a line at 118 N. W. 26th St., Gainesville, Fla.

WILLARD L. LEWIS, who has served his entire teaching tenure in the social studies field in the Connellsville City High and Joint High Schools since graduation in 1920, is scheduled to retire on July 2, 1962. Besides his teaching, he has served his school district as a coach in swimming, cross-country and track and has been athletic director since 1946. Well known throughout the state through his activities in the WPIAL, he was given the Freedom's Award by the Freedom's Foundation at Valley Forge in 1960. Congratulations, Willard, as you pursue your hobbies of bridge and golf after retirement. Don't forget to include the Bucknell campus in your travels for there you can enjoy your golf to the full and observe Bucknell's winning swim team.

When the May ALUMNUS reaches you, I hope to be on my way to Hawaii and then on to Japan and China. This is my first experience not traveling with a group but I will never be any younger and am sure old enough to try a new adventure. I hope I will have adjectives enough to describe the beautiful scenery.

Thank you "DOC" SPEARE for sending me news of our classmates. I am sure we all appreciate that time taken by you to send us the information!

LOUISA HOWELLS taught in Carbondale Public Schools until last June when she retired and toured Europe, visiting 15 countries. She is still living in Carbondale. Wonderful wasn't it, Louisa?

EDITH GARDNER also just retired from the above school system and toured the New England states. She lives in Carbondale, also.

DWIGHT RUDE, the only Norwegian to graduate in our class, is now retired and spends his time traveling, hunting and fishing.

"DOC" SPEARE has been for thirty years chief probation officer in the U. S. probation work in the middle district of Pennsylvania, with headquarters in Scranton. At the anniversary dinner in Scranton on February 1, 1962, "Doc" says fifty attended and four of our class were among the number.

A letter from Dr. T. J. S. HEIM tells us the sad news of his wife's death, his dearest friend, the tribute given her in his letter. Mrs. Heim, the former Esther Brown, passed away in West Chester on January 26, 1962, following a lingering illness. She was a graduate of the music department at Dickinson Seminary in Williamsport and had served for years as organist at Calvary Baptist Church.

21 MISS EDNA M. BAKER
40 Newton Ave.
Woodbury, N. J.

ALBERT COHO, D.D.S., has received the first A. S. Koser Award of the Harrisburg Dental Society for his contributions to the society and the science of dentistry. Al has served as the national chairman of the leadership campaign conducted by the University of Pennsylvania School of Dentistry to raise $1,000,000 for support of the program of re-equipping dental school clinics and for the erection of a dental research building. In 1960, in recognition of his work on behalf of the dental school he was awarded the University of Pennsylvania Alumni Award of Merit. Good work, Al, and thanks for your continuing support of Bucknell also.

Since many members of the Class of '21 enjoyed our reunion so much last June, let's make it a habit and return to the campus June 1-3. We strongly urge those who had to miss it, to try to make it this year. No good reason why we have to wait until 1966 to get together. That's a long time! Hope to see many of you back!

We are greatly saddened to know of ESTHER DODSON Manser's sudden death on February 4 at Daytona Beach, Fla., where she was vacationing. Memorial services were held on February 11 at the First Baptist Church in Haddonfield, N. J., of which she was an active member. Surviving are her husband, Dr. Ernest E. Manser, 241 King's Highway West, Haddonfield, N. J.; two daughters—Margaret at home and Mrs. Mary Jamison of Haddonfield, N. J.; a brother—J. M. Dodson of Anchorage, Alaska; a sister—Mrs. Edward Rapp of Westmont; and one grandchild.

It was a great shock, too, to hear of the death of both DOROTHY SPANGLER Swain and her husband, Roland. Roland, who died November 30, 1961, was a sales executive for the General Outdoor Advertising Company of Philadelphia. Dorothy's death occurred suddenly of a heart attack on Sunday, March 25, 1962. She had spent several weeks in Florida early this year trying to recover from the shock of Roland's death, and upon her return to New Jersey was hospitalized for a short time. Upon release from the hospital, she planned to spend a short period of recuperation with a friend in Merchantville but was stricken with a heart attack almost immediately.

You will recall that Dorothy was valedictorian of our class, president of Pi Beta Phi in our senior year and an active member of C. E. A.

She is survived by two children: Sue (Mrs. Robert Burdan) of Ciudad Piar, Venezuela, and Roland Swain, Jr., who is with the Westinghouse Missile Program in Scotland connected with the Polar Task Force attached to the tender Proteus. There are two grandchildren, Kurt and Karen Swain.

Dot and Roland attended our class reunion last June and we had several wonderful "get-togethers" since then. Roland, a Princeton man, was always interested in Bucknell activities. Our sincere sympathies are extended to the surviving children and grandchildren.

22 MRS. GEORGE C. WOLFE
(Ruth H. Brown)
60 S. 2nd St.
Lewisburg, Pa.

Reune in June, 1962

REUNION DINNER

June 1, 1962

MILTON COUNTRY CLUB

I hope you are all at least thinking about returning to the campus for June 1-3 for our fortieth reunion, because thinking soon turns into planning. CARMAULT JACKSON has sent out his SOS and I hope you have all sent him your biographies. Note his new address below. "REDS" CARLSON, reunion chairman, and his local committee have set up a class dinner at the Milton Country Club on Friday evening, June 1, that should be a repeat of our enjoyable affair of five years ago. FIN KEECH, our class president, suffered a slight physical disturbance in March but has

... of the Union, ELIZABETH LAEBELIN WENTZ and her husband, CLIFFORD '23, will be staying with me that week end.

Our hard working reunion book editor, The Rev. CARMAULT B. JACKSON, has become minister of the Baptist Church in Alloway, N. J. His new address is Box 357, Alloway, N. J.

THOMAS R. STEIN recently has been made vice president in charge of the pulp division of the Alaska Lumber and Pulp Company in Sitka, Alaska. You will remember that it is less than two years since Tom became manager of the plant. Congratulations, Tom. Can't you arrange to bring some pulp and paper to our big 40th reunion on June 1?

FRANCIS C. WALSH who started with our class in the fall of 1918, but did not stay with us throughout the four years, returned to the campus within the past year after too long an absence. Francis reports that he has been an engineer for Holidaysburg and surrounding boroughs and a member of the Holidaysburg Planning Commission. He is now in business for himself as a civil engineer and land surveyor. He married the former Lillian Curtis McCloskey in 1919, and they have one married daughter, Mrs. Jocelyn Walsh Johnson, and four grandchildren.

During March, NORMAN APPLETON conducted a one man show of his portrait art at the Sandia Base in Albuquerque, N. Mex.

23 MRS. LEROY FRONTZ
(Olive Billhime)
Evergreen Farm
Allenwood, Pa.

How can one make a routine report on the tragic deaths of two classmates when they happen also to have been one's very dear friends! But tell you I must that on March 9, near Sharpsburg, N. C., a head-on collision with a tractor-trailer took the lives of RUPERT and BETTY SPEAKMAN SWETLAND en route home from a Florida vacation.

Home, since 1959, had been Mechanicsburg. Slim had been employed by the Pennsylvania Department of Highways as a lighting consultant almost from the time of his retirement from General Electric in 1958. At that time a long career of outstanding achievements in the field of illumination was recognized. When reviewing those achievements, a General Electric magazine added "Swet is recognized for his high degree of integrity," and isn't that how we all remember him? In alumni affairs Slim had been most loyal, having served as president of our alumni clubs in both Pittsfield and Boston in Massachusetts.

Betty, my one-time roommate, continued thru life with the same sweet kindness and ready, helping hand that characterized her as a music student at Bucknell, and as a nurse in training at Geisinger Hospital, Danville, where she graduated just previous to her marriage. She and Slim were active in the Methodist church wherever they lived, as well as in things musical. During the past year she gave a day of volunteer service each week in the occupational therapy department at the Harrisburg State Hospital.

There are three daughters; LUCILLE '52 (married to Dr. ROBERT CARMAN '52) of Minneapolis, Minn.; Pauline, a teacher in the Harrisburg schools; and Alice (Mrs. James Keighton) of Philadelphia. We have all had many good times together here at the farm. How we will miss having their parents drop in.

24 MRS. HARRY W. JONES
(Elizabeth Moore)
326 S. Oak St.
Mt. Carmel, Pa.

Dr. G. MERRILL LENOX attended the World Council of Churches Third Assembly in New Delhi, India, in November and December, 1961 for the Detroit Free Press. Merrill continues his service as executive director of the Detroit and Michigan Council of Churches.

25 MRS. WILLIAM E. THOMPSON, JR.
(Mary E. Seidel)
Box Tree Farm
Whiteford, Md.

With AL JONES being our president, some correspondence must be exchanged. In a letter last November he wrote "Barbara is a freshman at B. U. so we saw her on Homecoming. She was a 'good-will' ambassador to Argentina this past summer. The local Rotary Club had a contest and she was successful. Had a wonderful time and experience. She studied Spanish in high school which helped and is continuing Spanish at B. U. She says the people have a high regard for U. S. and want to follow us, prefer our products too. They have a big social problem they are trying to correct."

My grade school and high school classmate, DON ESCHBACH, is with the Electrical Edison Institute and does a good bit of traveling both inside and outside the good ole U. S. A. Do hope company business won't keep you away from the next reunion in '64, Don. Don's daughter, CAROLYN '52 (another B. U. alumnus) has made him a grandfather of two girls, am I right, Don? Carolyn lives in Colorado.

Saw FLORENCE PRATT Miller a few minutes at Thanksgiving time. Her husband, Grant, retired four years ago, and I just found out! He's a C. P. A., but had a bad heart attack this summer so is recuperating. Her address is 124 Gladstone Rd., Lansdowne. "Pratt" spoke of seeing ALICE SAVAGE Spaeth at a bridge in the spring, how about some news of yourself and yours, Alice?

Dr. ROY E. NICODEMUS, director of the department of obstetrics and gynecology at Geisinger Medical Center, Danville, is directing a special health service consisting of lectures and films on maternal and child health for the benefit of interested parents and prospective parents living in the Danville commuting area.

26 MISS ANNA L. BROWN
45 Wildwood Ave.
Pitman, N. J.

It is with regret that we report the death of Dr. WILLARD H. TICE, a Quakertown physician, who passed away February 3, 1962. Dr. Tice was a founder, along with his brother RAYMOND '19, of the Tice Clinic in Quakertown. He was a fellow of the American College of Cardiology. He received his Bachelor of Science degree from Bucknell in 1926, and his medical degree from Temple University in 1930. He studied cardiology at Pennsylvania Hospital and electrocardiography at Hahnemann Hospital. Our sympathy is extended to his family.

We wish to congratulate Dr. RAYMOND H. EDWARDS, pastor of the First Baptist Church in Ossining, N. Y. He and Mrs. Edwards recently celebrated their twenty-fifth anniversary in the pastorate of the church. This is the longest pastorate in the history of the church. In addition to gifts from the congregation, the church made it possible for the Edwards to be members of a 47 member group from American Baptist churches who served on a Preaching Mission in Puerto Rico. Bucknell honored Ray with a D.D. in 1957. Their address is 27 Linden Ave., Ossining, N. Y.

The Baltimore Bucknell Club recently held their elections, and a member of the Class of 1926 was elected vice president, ROYE McLANE. Through the years he has been a most faithful member of the alumni club. Congratulations.

27 MRS. L. H. COLLISON
(Grace M. Pfeifer)
Marydel, Md.

Reune in June, 1962

REUNION DINNER June 1, 1962 HOTEL LEWISBURGER

Class officers and members of the Class of 1927 are making great plans for the 35th reunion June 1-2-3, 1962, which we hope will be the biggest and best reunion we have ever had. Part of the program includes a dinner at the Hotel Lewisburger on Friday evening, June 1, at 6:30 o'clock, and a social at a campus residence on Saturday afternoon, June 2.

Class members on the reunion committee are: Donald E. Wagner, president and book editor; Grace Pfeifer Collison, class reporter; Harold F. Webber, chairman of the dinner; Harry S. Ruhl, social meeting host; Carl Geisler, class regalia chairman; and Helen Egge Kunkel, reunion chairman.

Our officers, area hosts and hostesses will be on hand to greet you.

The Rev. J. HAROLD GAMBLE, who served the First Baptist Church in South Bend, Ind., since 1953, has become executive director of the Greater Milwaukee Council of Churches. The Milwaukee Council is a cooperative protestant organization with 110 member churches in 15 denominations in the Milwaukee metropolitan area.

28 MRS. H. MONTGOMERY MARSH, JR.
(Lorinne Martin)
60 Prospect Hill Ave.
Summit, N. J.

Mr. and Mrs. BROWN FOCHT (FLORENCE UTT '26) are receiving congratulations on the 80th anniversary of the printing business that was established back in 1882 as the Saturday News Publishing Company. The company, begun by Brown's father, the Hon. Benjamin K. Focht, has remained under the direction of the same local family throughout its history. Since 1937, Brown has served as president and Flossy as vice president of the company. They have both served the community and University for many years, and it is hoped that they may continue to do so for many, many more years.

29 MISS THELMA SHOWALTER
425 Market St.
Mifflinburg, Pa.

CHARLES W. KALP, Esq., recently was elected president of the Lewisburg Chamber of Commerce. The chamber will have a large share in the planning of Lewisburg's sesquicentennial celebration scheduled for this year.

Editor's Note: Miss THELMA SHOWALTER was recently elected first vice president of the Pennsylvania Federation of Women's Clubs at a dinner of the federation in Harrisburg. She has been a member of the Board of Directors of the federation since 1958, and served as chairman of public affairs for the federation from 1958 to 1960. She has been a past president of the Union County Federation and is also serving as vice president of the North Central District of the federation.

KENNETH A. BIDLACK, Esq., recently was re-elected president of the Susquebanna Civil War Round Table, an organization of citizens in the Northumberland, Snyder and Union County area who are interested in the Civil War. The group makes frequent trips to the various battlefields, and each month entertains a well-known figure on Civil War history.

JOHN C. PYLE, Esq., a well known metropolitan area tax attorney, is largely responsible for legislation recently enacted which will allow about 174,000 New Jerseyites who commute into New York State to save money by being allowed to take certain income tax deductions as New York commuters. John's hobby used to be rifle shooting and in 1950 he was small bore rifle champion. His present hobby consists of a "one man war" against what he believes to be injustice, un-Americanism, arrogance on the part of public officials and extravagance with our tax dollars. He is employed by the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company. His wife is the former Betty Berry, a Georgian Court College graduate. They have one daughter, Victoria Marie, and live at 14 Maple St. (Twp.), Chat-ham, N. J.

GERALDINE C. SPURR of 381 Vine St., Milton, has been appointed director of pupil personnel services and part-time guidance counselor in the Milton Junior High School. She is president of the Sigma Chapter of Delta Kappa Gamma, honorary society for women teachers.

Early in 1962, CHARLES E. MOHR became the educational director of the Kalamazoo (Mich.) Nature Study Center, a 300-acre preserve, and one of the growing number of nature centers being established around the country. Charlie's past experience at Greenwich, Conn., and Valley Forge will assure the children—and adults, too—of Kalamazoo, Mich., an excellent opportunity to study nature in outdoor classrooms.

ARTHUR STONE of Wilmette, Ill., became a grandfather twice in 1961. Art has twins Linda and John. His older son, Bill, who was a student at the University of Illinois, tragically contracted leukemia and died in August.

Are we a class of nonentities? You MUST have some news for me.

Reune in June, 1962

By the time you have received this issue of THE BUCKNELL ALUMNUS, you will have received several letters and a special invitation to return to the campus for our 30th reunion on June 1, 2, and 3. Please fill in the reservation card with your request for dormitory rooms and ticket needs and return it to the Alumni Office as soon as possible. We hope to be housed in the same dormitory and on the same floor, if possible. We want all of you back and we want each and every one of you to have a good time. Just remember, you've got to do your part. Plan now! I'll look forward to seeing all of you during the week end.

When football coach of Bucknell, Robert H. Odell, spoke at the Kiwanis Club of Woodbury (N. J.) as the club entertained the Woodbury High School football team, the head table was almost filled with Bucknellians including JOHN LONGSTRETH, Esq., president of the Board of Education; Dr. WARREN J. MCCLAIN '31, superintendent of schools; CARL L. GILES '36, high school principal; and the Rev. HOWARD G. HARTZELL '41, who offered the invocation. KENNETH SLIFER '26, introduced the speaker.

COMMENCEMENT

We commence to live;
We commence to learn;
We commence to love;
We commence to work;
We commence to die.
We commence again.

Copyright JWE "Irondale Songs" 1959

IRA P. HOFFMAN is principal of the Gov. Mifflin High School at Shillington, with an enrollment of 990 pupils. They just completed a new modern addition to the building, especially designed for "Team Teaching." Ira's hobbies are collecting antique furniture and bottles. He has one daughter, Janet, and two granddaughters.

DON FISHER'S son, Dale, was graduated from the Muncy-Muncy Creek High School in June, 1961. He has applied for admittance to Bucknell in engineering. An honor roll student, he plays on both the football and basketball teams. Don is now director of research and development at Sprout-Waldron Manufacturing Company in Muncy.

PHIL JONES' big news in 1961 was the arrival of a grandson, Philip Gandar Jones, in April. Phil's son, CHUCK, was graduated from Bucknell in 1957 and married a lovely girl. Phil, Sr. is such a typical grandfather that his wife, GLADYS E. GANDAR-K.D. '34, tells him, "Be quiet! You'd think you had something to do with it!"

EDMUND A. SMITH resigned the 28th of February from the Peerless Insurance Company of Keene, N. H., and was elected vice president of the Preferred Insurance Company of Michigan, 126 Ottawa Ave., N. W., Grand Rapids, Mich. When he locates in a new home, he will forward his address.

His daughter Lorelee will complete her junior year at Cornell where she is majoring in interior decorating and designing. His son, Edmund, Jr., likes to ski and participate in outdoor sports. He is in his freshman year at the University of New Hampshire, is studying forestry, and made the dean's list his first semester.

Larry A. Miller, son of MURIEL MARSHALL Miller, presented an organ recital several months ago at Trinity Evangelical and Reformed Church, Bloomsburg. After studying with Elwood Sober and Mildred Herring at Bloomsburg, he continued his work with Dr. Henry R. Casselbury, director of music education at Kutztown State College. Larry was graduated from Kutztown State College with a degree in library science and is now studying at Florida State University, Tallahassee, Fla. Muriel is organist at St. Paul's Episcopal Church, Bloomsburg.

MARGUERITE SCHAFER, M.D. is still in private practice, chiefly allergy. She is interested in air pollution and other environmental health problems. In 1949 while convalescing from major surgery, she won modes royale (TV) dress making contest. Also she is quite enthusiastic about her antique stein collection. No, she doesn't like beer. She was listed in Who's Who in American Women 2nd edition, 1961.

BETTY BENTLEY SCHEFFE, knowing that FRANKLIN BOWER, minister of the First Congregational Church of Madison, Conn., is quite modest, sent me a clipping which tells that Buddy has the good will of the entire community. This Christmas a large enthusiastic crowd of people went to the chapel to wish Franklin, his wife, and Ellen well on the completion of Buddy's twenty year service to the church and community. Robert Snow, chairman of the Prudential Committee, presented Franklin with a large and unusually comfortable lounge chair complete with ottoman for his study and a sizeable check. After a reception, refreshments,

James C. Warren '32

In January, 1962, James C. Warren '32, joined the consulting engineering firm of Ford, Bacon & Davis, Inc., and is supervising the $70-million rehabilitation of 750 miles of the Queensland Government Railways system in Australia.

Following his graduation in 1932, Mr. Warren was associated with the Pennsylvania Railroad, Hudson and Manhattan Railroad, and the Port of New York Authority. During his five-year association with the New York Port Authority, Mr. Warren was general superintendent for the railroad and was in charge of operation and maintenance of the entire system.

Mr. and Mrs. Warren are the parents of two children: James, Jr.; and Mary Lee. Alumni wishing to get in touch with Mr. Warren should write him at Ford, Bacon & Davis, Inc., Townsville, Queensland, Australia.

and eulogy, the guests signed a book which will serve as a memento to the occasion. This tribute was not only to a pastor but "a friend whose warm and understanding personality, friendliness, and willingness to help have made him a citizen of whom Madison is proud." And so are we classmates proud of our "Buddy!"

MARGARET VAN TYLE Jeffrey's older son, William Jr., is a freshman at Hamilton College. Her younger son Robert attends York Country Day School and is in eighth grade. Margaret's life consists of church, school, and college club activities.

Your reporter is pleased to announce that one of our more illustrious members has joined the ranks of the "benedicts." SHERBURNE B. WALKER and Mrs. Mary Collins Kelly were married on March 3, 1962, in All Saints Church in Chevy Chase, Md. Sherb and his wife will be at home after May 1 at "Vi we point," 2 Severn Ave., Annapolis, Md. A little bird tells me they left for Europe right after the knot was tied. Sherb, as we all know, has worked very hard to make our reunion memorable and also has assisted FRANK GERBILLO, our genial class fund manager. Fin 400 000 00

...and look
...lady at our reunion in 1965.

Had a wonderful letter from HENRY FALL-VENE in Caracas, Venezuela. Hank, who is associated with Hewitt-Robins Engineering
Co. of New York, is resident engineer supervising the erection of the complete raw material handling system for a steel mill being built by the Venezuelan government. Prior to this assignment Hank spent two years in Holland. He says his knowledge of Italian, Spanish, Dutch and the metric system were instrumental in his being selected for this position.
I'm sure he's being too modest! Hank's wife, the former Aida Ammon of Lewisburg (she was Dr. Hitchcock's assistant), is living in East Paterson, N. J., with their three children:
Pamela, Penny and Jeffrey. Hank is located about 6 degrees above the equator and since the weather is stable for eight months of the year—hot days, cool nights—he has been able to go fishing in the Orinoco River and go diamond hunting—hasn't found any worthwhile diamonds but keeps hoping. Wish I could send you all copies of his letter—he sends best of luck to all of us wherever we are and whatever we are doing. Guess he's as agile as ever, remember he was a star soccer player.
I've written and reminded him of June, 1964.

Met GIFFORD RAMSEY and his charming wife at the Long Island Club's birthday dance.
Recognized Giff after 28 years and he told
NELSON WENDT and JUNE LEQUATTE
WENDT '36 that he was awaiting the arrival of his first grandchild via his daughter.

Spent the week end of March 9-11 on the campus—to see "Macbeth." Our daughter,
Ruth Gail '65, did well in it—recalled CARL
"BUD" HUUS '36 and MADELINE BERG '35 in this production many years ago. Also attended the ground breaking for the TKE house on the hill (old Alpha Chi Mu to most of us).
Dr. CHARLES FOX '31 was at "Macbeth"— he was attending a medical meeting at Geisinger Hospital in Danville and came over to Lewisburg for some "culture."

I'm sure if you get near to Lewisburg you'll find someone you know there on the campus.
We always do. Hope you've all responded to those personal letters re Annual Giving?
We volunteer writers are hoping for a good response as corporations and foundations take into consideration the number of Alumni who support their Alma Mater when they distribute funds. Hope you are planning for June '64" —never too soon to start to join the trek to Bucknell for 30 years for '64.

35 MRS. PAUL J. DESCHANEL
(Ann W. Orr)
Chapel Wood
Gambrills, Md.

Jay P. Mathias Family

Lt. Col. Frank H. Noll '39, a twenty-one-year veteran of the U. S. Air Force, was promoted to the rank of lieutenant colonel in March. He is senior protestant chaplain at Francis E. Warren AFB in Cheyenne, Wyo., the home of the first operational Atlas Missile Wing. In addition to assignments in the United States, Col. Noll has been stationed in Japan and France. Frank's family is pictured above: back row (l. to r.) Frank; his wife, the former Kay Brantley; and Thomas, 14. Front row (l. to r.) Patty, 8; Peter, 4; Nancy, 3; and Mark, 10. Mail should be addressed to Qtrs. 128, Francis E. Warren AFB, Wyo.

Pictured below is the happy Mathias family.
Seated (l. to r.) Janet, John, James, Mrs. Mathias (MARGARET P. BLAIR '36). Standing (l. to r.) Jutta Seistchek (Austrian exchange student) and JAY P. MATHIAS.

Our class offers deep sympathy to Mrs. Marlin E. Balsbaugh (ROMLYN RIVENBURG) on the untimely death of her husband in early January after a long illness.

J. CLAIRE PATTERSON will retire as superintendent of schools of the Bloomsburg Area Jointure in July after completing 28 years of service to Bloomsburg schools. He will remain as a consultant to his successor for a period of three months after his retirement.
Claire is the father of NANCY PATTERSON
'45 (now married to Dr. John L. Moyer), who lives in Beaver.

ALLEN I. KLINGER, who earned his Master of Arts degree in 1935, is retiring from teaching in the East Juniata Schools after 33½ years of service in the public schools of Pennsylvania.

36 MRS. H. T. SHAUB
(Virginia Nylund)
416 S. Scott Ave.
Glendolen, Pa.

A return to the campus on the June 1-3 week end is not limited to classes holding regular five-year reunions. There is a trend toward reunions being held informally every year.
Let's see how many of us can get together this
June.

EDWARD C. CONDUCT was elected a member of the Board of Managers of the American Baptist Foreign Mission Society at the annual meeting of the American Baptist Convention in Portland, Ore. Ed continues to reside at 1906 Sylvan Terrace, Yardley.

Best wishes to VIRGINIA BRANDON
Davis who was married recently to Kenneth
H. Davis of Elkins, W. Va. Virginia is teaching English in Belington, W. Va.

Thanks to those of you who have sent in news items. We have had some items in each issue of the ALUMNUS this year. Why not write to your reporter during the summer, so that we can have a really gossip column in the fall.

37 MRS. PAUL W. ZIEGLER
(Mabel Nylund)
12 W. Garrison Rd., Parkside
Chester, Pa.

Renne in June, 1962

REUNION SOCIAL

June 2, 1962

3:00 P. M.

MILTON COUNTRY CLUB

Congratulations are in order to CHARLES
O. MORRIS, JR., our faithful class fund manager on his recent appointment as manager of pig iron sales for U. S. Steel's American Steel and Wire Division.

BILL ZIMMERMAN, busy with plans for June, took time out to bring us up-to-date on who is helping with the festivities. Area chairmen are: LEIGH HERMAN, CHARLIE
VOGEL, MARION LONG Greaves, THAYER
MOSS, GEORGE MARSHALL, BETTY
WRAY, TOMMY RICHARDS, CLINT CON-DUCT and REG MERRIDEW.

Our reunion book is now being prepared at alumni headquarters in Lewisburg. To bring you up-to-date on the committee who helped with the book you should know that LEE EGLIT Willcox and SIG STOLER served as assistant editors. I do hope you beeded the request to return your questionnaire. You know how much fun it is to read about the rest of us, and the rest of us would like to read about you, too. Many of you have asked about getting a copy of the book. It will be available at the reunion, June 2. and will be sold by mail following the reunion.
If you are not able to be on the campus at reunion time because of great distance or some catastrophe (what else would keep you away?) don't fret about not getting a book. You will receive an order blank for ordering the book.

You can help make our get-together more fun by bringing along any mementos you may have stashed away—snapshots, programs, etc.
—that we can put on display at our class social on Saturday afternoon. Anything of that vintage is probably valuable to you, so put your name on things so that they can be returned.

A few new addresses have turned up: CLINT CONDUCT, whose move was reported in the last column, is living at 33 School St., Richford, Vt.; RAYMOND J. GREEN, 21 S. Delaware Ave., Minersville; PEG CAMPBELL (Mrs. E. Byron Woodbridge), 418 Spring Drive, Millersville; KENT LEINBACH, 1523 W. 89th St., Chicago, 20, Ill.; CARL DICKENS, 7811 Rio Grande Blvd., N. W., Albuquerque, N. Mex.; ESTELLE DIPETRILLO (Mrs. Harold J. Conklin), Highland Rd., North Truro, Mass.; and ELEANOR WEBER (Mrs. Oren J. Ballard), 325 Lucille St., Irving, Texas.

It has been fun hearing from so many of you. A class reporter's Utopia! The latest news will be in the reunion book, but for now—do you know who has three grandchildren?—who can still swim 180 ft. under water?—who collects antique buttons?—who still holds the record for the 100 yd. dash?—who hasn't grown since '37, not even hair???

See you in Lewisburg, the first weekend in June.

38 MRS. JOSEPH T. QUICK
(Mary Bachman)
Wrights Rd., R. D. 2
Newtown, Pa.

CHARLES C. LAUBACHER has moved to 20318 Lorenzana Dr., Woodland Hills, Calif., where he has been serving with Lockheed Aircraft Corporation as assistant to the vice president—marketing.

The Rev. WARD E. GAGE has moved from Galesburg, Ill., to Pittsburgh where he became pastor of the Wilkesburg Baptist Church in March.

39 MR. DAVID R. BACENSTOSE
12 Kinterra Rd.
Wayne, Pa.

J. HARRY CUNDRUM has been elected treasurer of the Bucknell Alumni Club of Lancaster.

40 MRS. JAMES A. MILLER
(Mary McCrina)
1492 Collax Ave.
Benton Harbor, Mich.

CHARLES F. MILLARD of 803 Shaw Court, Baltimore 4, Md., has been elected president of the Bucknell Alumni Club of Baltimore.

Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Miller (RUTH LOWTHER) of 452 S. Fraser Dr., Mesa, Ariz., send a picture of their adopted daughter—Elizabeth Anne Miller. She is nearly two years old. "A rather late start on a family," says Ruth, "but worth it!"

Elizabeth Anne Miller

Mrs. T. G. James (FRANCES W. THEISS) left for London in January where she will be a resident during term time at the University of London until March, 1963, when her doctorate in archeology will be granted. Her London address will be c/o Institute of Archeology, 31-34, Gordon Square, London, W. C., England.

41 MRS. WILLIAM F. HASSELBERGER
(Jean P. Steele)
605 Scott Ave.
Syracuse 3, N. Y.

Mrs. Paul C. Bent (MARGARET R. MAUPIN) is the author of an article "To Trigger Creativity" which appeared in the March, 1962, issue of The Instructor magazine. Margaret, who earned her Master of Arts degree at Michigan State University, is a teacher in Wainwright School in Lansing, Mich.

JOHN W. DAVIS, JR., recently was elected to his fourth term in the New Jersey Legislature. In 1961 he was elected majority leader of the New Jersey General Assembly and this year was elected speaker. He and his wife, the former JANET L. COOK, have two children: Mary Anne and John W., III. Their address is R. D. 3, Fort Mott Rd., Salem, N. J.

42 MRS. THOMAS R. DIETZ
(Germaine B. Pepperman)
83 Nutt Rd.
Phoenixville, Pa.

Reune in June, 1962

REUNION SOCIAL

June 2, 1962

3:00 P. M.

LEWISBURG AMERICAN LEGION

How are your plans coming for returning to the campus on June 1 for the best and biggest reunion ever of the Class of '42? This time we hope to bring all four of our children—thank heavens for those "inexpensive" dormitory reservations. Our oldest, Tommy, a junior, is seriously looking over colleges. With four in five years to educate, I don't know about the financial end of my beloved Alma Mater, but so many wonderful memories are wrapped up in my life from my four years at Bucknell that it must at least be considered as a prospective college!

In case you've forgotten or mislaid your No. 5 issue of The Reporter, plans include a reception for returning class members on Friday, June 1, from 4:00 to 6:00 P. M. Saturday morning, the scheduled meeting of our class, pictures taken, yearbook distributed (you have sent in your questionnaire to WALT CLOKE—haven't you?) and we will don our class regalia. For what it is worth to those of us who have gotten a little heftier, I vetoed the suggested Bermuda shorts. I was only one voice in the wilderness, so don't know what the verdict was. However, this is one gal who will not be in Bermuda shorts, no matter what Slim-Jim says I should be! Doesn't matter to me, though, I'll be happy in a dress, just envious of those who can wear shorts! All-University luncheon on Saturday noon, followed by our class reception at the American Legion beginning at 3:00 P. M. There will be refreshments and entertainment, and this will not interfere with fraternity and sorority symposia. We had a ball at our fifteenth reunion party—be sure to come and bring all the family with you. There will be something else planned for later Saturday night, and I promise not to tell you that you look older and fatter if you will do the same for me! See you on campus, Friday, June 1—let's make it the biggest returning class ever seen on campus!

Just when we thought we had brought you up to date with the latest activities of JANET HOUSE, we find that she has been appointed executive secretary of the People-to-People Committee for the Handicapped. The objectives of the Committee for the Handicapped are to stimulate an international exchange of information to help rehabilitate crippled children and adults; to project overseas an understanding of U. S. activities in behalf of the handicapped; and to use and strengthen existing international programs in the field. Janet also has a new home address. It is 1425 N. St., N. W., Washington 5, D. C.

43 MISS CAROLYN F. DONEHOWER
3722 Chestnut St.
Philadelphia 4, Pa.

Mrs. KENNETH WARREN '47 (ISABELLE B. KENT) has been elected secretary of the Bucknell Alumni Club of Northern New Jersey.

JOHN L. ALLEN, M.D., who has built up a comprehensive background in the field of psychiatric medicine, has become the new director of admissions of Danville State Hospital, Danville, where ROBERT L. GATSKI, M.D. '44, is serving as superintendent of the state institution.

44 MRS. ROBERT F. BAKER
(Honey Rhinesmith)
Linda Lake, R. D.
Butler, N. J.

Mrs. JOHN D. REID '45 (MARGARETTA K. SNYDER), kindergarten teacher in the Twinbrook Elementary School, Rockville, Md., is the author of an article entitled, "Textures for Primaries via Colleges and Rubblings" which appeared in the January issue of The Instructor. The Reids have two daughters: Heather Ann, 12; and Laurel Gay, 10; and live at 6000 Halsey Rd., Rockville, Md.

Major JOHN DeBARR '47 left in November to serve a 13-month tour of duty in Okinawa and Mary Louise writes (most unhappily!) it's the only assignment where Marine dependents are not permitted.

JANE SORTORE and Dr. John W. Lindenthal were married January 20. Dr. Lindenthal holds a B.S. degree from New York State College of Ceramics at Alfred University, an M.S. from Pennsylvania State University and a doctorate from Ohio State University.

Mrs. J. Edward Brenneman (JEANNE M. BEELER) has been elected secretary of the Bucknell Alumni Club of Lancaster.

45 MRS. EDWARD D. BOSTON
(Lois F. Deput)
751 Hyslip Ave.
Westfield, N. J.

CHARLES E. SCHLECKSER, JR., has been named assistant director of the general engineering division of Esso Research and Engineering Corporation. Charles returned to Esso in 1952 after his second stretch in the Navy (Korea) and was in design engineering work until 1956 and in research and development since that date. He and his wife, the former Miriam Dunn, and four children live at 89 Meadow Rd., Clark, N. J.

46 MRS. LELAND C. FWING
(Betty Wells)
41 Crest Dr.
Tarrytown, N. Y.

Mr. and Mrs. P. D. B. Wallace (JEAN BROCK) announce the arrival at their house of Andrew Peter Berthan Wallace on July 18, 1961. The little fellow with the big name, commonly known as Drew, was born on July 4 (his father's birthday, too) and will be adopted officially in July of this year. Congratulations! The Wallaces moved to their own home at 172 N. Hillside Ave., Chatham, N. J., last fall. Peter works by day as an accountant in New York City, and is continuing college, originally begun in England, with night courses at Rutgers.

Thank you, Jean, for all this news. Who will write for the next issue?

And thanks to good old BOB TAYLOR, our class fund manager, for his usual newsy letter. He let me in on ARAX AROOSIAN Balakian's announcement of their fourth child, a girl, Janet, born October 10, 1961, to keep a balanced family of two boys and two girls. Also BOB WEISS and his wife have moved to Valley Forge (271 Heather Rd., Candlebrook, King of Prussia) with their SIX children. Bob is associated with Bacon, Johnson & Associates, Inc.

47 MRS. HERBERT GOLDMAN
(Tamara Gurvitch)
370 Holland Lane
Englewood, N. J.

By now you have probably heard both from the Alumni Office and our class president, TOM QUIGLEY. And if you haven't as yet made your reservations for our 15th Reunion June 1-3, how about doing it TODAY. Tom expects to be there; I'll be there; and please, you, too!

All the "Maybe's" we've heard this year should be a most emphatic "yes" by now. Latest with a "maybe we'll see you in Lewisburg," are Mr. and Mrs. Sanford E. Wellen (ALISON KAUFMAN). Alison devotes a great deal of time to fund-raising for cancer research and together with her husband, who is an electrical engineer, is enmeshed in assorted scout activities. With children James Kaufman, 11; and Maureen Elizabeth, 8; they live at 172 Lincoln St., Elizabeth, N. J.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert E. Goelz (GLORIA I. CHILD) moved from the snow country of Skaneateles, N. Y., to the sunny shores of Florida in September. With their five children and assorted pets the Goelzs are enjoying sun and sand with a home right on the ocean. Herb is a manufacturers' agent in the southeast and the children are: Bill, 11; Lori, 9; Tommy, 6½; Kathi, 5; and John, 3½. G. I. writes that Mrs. Arthur Ablin (GRACE HUDSON) is a Florida neighbor, who lives in Maitland, outside of Orlando, and they've seen each other a few times. The Goelz address: 545 Ponte Vedra Blvd., Ponte Vedra, Fla.

JACK A. BIDDING of 450 Main St., Landisville, has been elected president of the Bucknell Alumni Club of Lancaster.

Until we meet again—but definitely—June 1-3!

48 MRS. JAMES A. BROWN
(Joann G. Golightly)
1591 Hillcrest Terrace
Union, N. J.

Thank you, NITA COLEMAN Schaffer, for your letter. I wish more would follow your example. Nita says that she and her husband, Norman, had a wonderful reunion with BETTE HOILE LIST and BOB—and with the WEIDENBACHERS '50 at the Bucknell-Gettysburg football game. Nita also sees GLORIA BURKHART COWDRICK and her husband BOB '49 when she is in Allentown. Nita and her husband have three sons: Jim, 10½; Tom, 8½; and Kenny, 4; all at 1573 Elm St., Lebanon.

LOUIS F. ALESSIO of 739 Summit Ave., River Edge, N. J., has been elected president of the Bucknell Alumni Club of Northern New Jersey.

ROBERT C. GUEMPEL of 23 Edgewood Terrace, Madison, N. J., was elected recently to be president of the Mortgage Bankers Association of New Jersey and is the youngest man ever to hold that office. He is vice president of the Jersey Mortgage Company and is in charge of the Commercial Loan Department of that institution. He is active in banking and civic affairs of his area and is the father of three children: Herbert, III, 3; Scott, 5; and Linda, 1½.

49 MRS. THOMAS A. FRAZIER
(Marilyn L. Harer)
1344 Mansel Ave.
Williamsport, Pa.

RALPH J. PHELLEPS, who is director of specialized services with the Pennsylvania Board of Parole has spent much of the past decade gathering information about criminals, especially those who got into trouble because of some mental disorder. Out of his experience and others engaged in parole work has come successful rehabilitation in a number of cases. Admitting that psychiatrists cannot cure all cases, he points out that a better public understanding of what psychology and psychiatry can and cannot do will aid materially in helping solve parole problems. Before joining the Pennsylvania Board of Parole, Ralph served on the staff of Danville State Hospital and the State Correctional Institution at White Hill.

FRED BURKHART became vice president of the Northgate National Bank in El Paso, Tex., in early January. Fred has been a vice president of El Paso National Bank since 1957, and resigned to accept the vice presidency of the Northgate National Bank.

Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy V. Abbott, Jr. (VIRGINIA J. CORKRAN) recently moved from Miami, Fla., to 949 Jeffrey Dr., Southampton, when Roy was transferred to the north by the Insurance Co. of America. Roy is a son of the south and with daughter Linda (4 years old) saw snow for the first time after coming to Pennsylvania.

ALDEN R. DALZELL has been elected vice president of the newly formed Bucknell Alumni Club of Columbus.

50 MISS HELEN E. GLOISTEN
161 Oak St.
West Hempstead, L. I., N. Y.

Bob and LONNIE ADAMS Norman and daughter, Jan. have moved to 6209 22nd St., N., Arlington 5. Va.

HENRY G. WITMAN reports a change of address to 406 Franklin St., Carlisle. He is guidance counselor in the Carlisle High School, working with college preparatory students. The Witmans have two children: Susan, 8; and George, 5½.

Mr. and Mrs. ARTHUR C. JOHNS have announced the arrival of their second son, Thomas Alan, on November 7, 1961, who joins Kenneth Arthur, 4. Their home is at 413 Glen Ridge Dr., Lancaster.

ALBERT W. BOGART of 278 Pontius Ave., Sunbury, has been promoted to assistant cashier of the First National Bank of Sunbury. He has been attending extension courses of the Consumer Banking School of the University of Virginia and has taken some work toward his M.S. at Bucknell. Prior to joining the bank staff in May, 1952, Al was a salesman of men's clothing. His wife is the former Edith Fisher.

DAVID A. GRIMM has been re-elected a vice president of the Bucknell Alumni Club of Northern New Jersey.

JOHN S. PURNELL, JR., M.D., has been elected president of the Bucknell Alumni Club of Union County.

MARCIA R. FREMONT has been elected secretary of the newly formed Bucknell Alumni Club of Columbus.

R. William Danforth '50

R. WILLIAM DANFORTH has been named a partner of the investment banking firm of Moore, Leonard & Lynch. He joined the firm in 1955 and was manager of their New Kensington office for two years. Bill is active in the sports of golf and squash and is serving on the Board of Directors of the Kingsley House, a settlement home for underprivileged children. His wife is the former Leslie McCord. They have one son, Richard K. (2½ years old) and live at Rosemont Farms, Squaw Run Rd., Pittsburgh 38.

PETER WEIDENBACHER has been named president of the Henry G. Richter Company, manufacturers representatives of electronic components, serving the communications and missile industry. ROBERT E. LIST '48, has been appointed vice president of the company and HOWARD A. KATES, JR., '49, formerly with the company in Westfield, N. J., has opened a branch office in Fayetteville, N. Y.

HELEN GLOISTEN attended a two-week School of Public Relations and Business Development at West Point in March, under the auspices of the New York State Bankers Association. Helen is editor of the house organ and in charge of community relations for The Meadow Brook National Bank, which has 56 offices in New York City and Long Island.

Spencer Carlough '50

Mr. and Mrs. SPENCER CARLOUGH (EMILY DEVINE KELLY '46) will soon be moving to Trenton, Mich. (Detroit suburb) where Spence has been named manager for Vulcan Mold and Iron Company (new ingot mold facility just constructed). Spence left Bethlehem Steel in Bethlehem early in the year after having been with the company since joining the Loop Course upon his graduation.

While working at Bethlehem, he attended Lehigh University and received his M.S. in business administration in 1957.

Also on the move is A. W. "DREW" MATHIESON, who has become district manager in Cleveland of the Westinghouse Elevator Division. Drew and Helen moved in March to 30 Louise Dr., Chagrin Falls, Ohio, where the happy household includes Margaret Adele (Peggy), Andrew Fricke (Andy) and Peter Ferris, who was born September 15, 1961.

Mr. and Mrs. JOHN H. SHOTT, III (BARBARA RENNINGER '55) have moved to Wilmington, Del., where John has become a marketing assistant with Atlas Chemical Products.

51 MRS. WAYNE M. STEVENSON
(Janet Miller)
1611 Surrey Rd., Devon Manor
Harrisburg, Pa.

JOANNE HOPKINS and William E. Berkeiser, Jr., were married December 16, 1961, and are living at 617 S. Market St., Selinsgrove. Joanne did social work with the Millin County Child Welfare Services for five years after graduation and since that time has been a social case worker at the Selinsgrove State School and Hospital. Her husband is a graduate of Lycoming College and is also employed at the Selinsgrove State School.

Watkins Children

Mr. and Mrs. ROBERT A. WATKINS have a busy household at 5785 Frost Ave., Beaumont, Texas. Pictured are: Randy (being held by Lynn), Karen, and Barry.

DAVID S. HICKS was elected president-elect of the Bucknell Alumni Club of Northern New Jersey.

THOMAS R. LEWIS has been elected vice president of the Bucknell Alumni Club of Lancaster.

WILLIAM T. MUSSER, M.D., was elected coroner of Union County (Pennsylvania) in the November election. Dr. Musser was awarded his M.D. degree by Temple University in 1955 and practices in Millinburg.

GEORGE F. WOODWARD, JR., of 2136 Marcia Dr., Columbus 11, Ohio, has been elected president of the newly formed Bucknell Alumni Club of Columbus.

52 MRS. JOHN S. BOULDEN, JR.
(Barbara Bleecker)
1605 Twin Maple Ave.
Towson 1, Md.

Renue in June, 1962

Our president, HUGH CAMPBELL, and vice president, AUGIE ST. JOHN, are working on the program for the week end. Hugh has appointed an area contact committee to work in nine different areas of the United States. If you receive a call from a class member asking whether or not you will be on the campus on June 1, 2, and 3, we hope your answer will be "Yes."

We are looking forward to seeing all the changes on the Bucknell campus in June, but most of all to renewing old friendships. Hope you are all planning to be at our 10th!

MARTY and NANCY (HOLTER) KAYE write that they plan to be back from Japan in time for reunion—so surely you can make it too!

Herbert and NANCY LANGE Smith received a grand Valentine gift this year. A son, Mark William, was born on February 14. He joins big brother, Steven, 5. The Smith's address: Box 844, Cherryville.

Mr. and Mrs. RONALD ROCKWELL welcomed son, Kenneth Ronald, on January 30, 1962. Daddy is an engineer with Airborne Instruments Laboratories. The family moved last October to 4 Fairway Dr., Old Bethpage, L. I., N. Y.

WILLIAM GROOVER has been elected vice president of the Bucknell Alumni Club of Union County.

We want to see YOU in June!

53 MRS. JAMES A. CHAMBERS, JR.
(Barbara Roemer)
15 Walden Place
West Caldwell, N. J.

WILLIAM R. DURLAND, his wife Lee, and their two sons (William Patrick, 2½; and Michael Stephen, 7 mo.) live at 7243 Dormont St., Springfield, Va. Bill is now an attorney at law in Washington, D. C., and a member of the District of Columbia Bar Association. He was recently elected to the Fairfax County Democratic Committee and has been doing graduate study at the George Washington University Law School toward the Doctor of Judicial Science Degree.

From the largest state in the Union, Alaska, we hear from GEORGE H. LOWER, who is now the associate minister of the First Presbyterian Church in Anchorage, having received his B.D. from Pittsburgh Seminary in 1960 and his M.A. from Hartford Seminary in 1962. On July 1, 1961, he married Nancy Fink, who was planning to go to India as a missionary nurse, but "settled for Alaska" as George says.

GERALD R. RANKIN has been elected treasurer of the Bucknell Alumni Club of Northern New Jersey.

W. SCOTT ALLEN, III, of 513 Main St., Toms River, N. J., received his law degree from Washington and Lee University in 1960 and is now an associate of the firm of Sutton, Yoder & Ward of Toms River, N. J. He served in the U. S. Navy Reserve from 1953 to 1957 as an Ensign with duty on the U. S. S. Albany with the 6th fleet and later on the staff of the Supreme Allied Commander, Atlantic of NATO.

N. PAUL BOSTED, along with wife ELIZABETH RICHTER '52, and the four children have moved to England where Paul has accepted a post as senior management consultant and managing director of International Rectifier (C. B.) Limited in Oxted, Surrey, England. International Rectifier has rather far-flung activities and the Bosteds expect to be associated with many foreign operations of the company.

Mr. and Mrs. ABRAM V. POWELSON, JR. (GERTRUDE L. KNUDSON) have moved back to Abe's old home town, Somerville, N. J. (at Cedarbrook Rd., R. D. 5), where Abe has formed a business with a home town friend. They operate a business—Pave-Rite, Inc.—and conduct a professional engineering office. Trudy is kept busy with the new home and looking after the four Powelson youngsters: daughters Susan Lee and Linda Ann; and twin sons, David Abram and Daniel Thomas, born in March, 1961.

From MARY (SELLERS) and DAVID SHINN '52 comes the announcement of the birth of a daughter, Meredith Morgan, on January 23. The Shinn's, living at 7732 Country Club Court, Clayton 5, Mo., have two sons: Brad (6½) and Matthew (22 months); and Holly, their four-year-old daughter.

54 MRS. PAUL C. TARR, III
(Anne E. Tuckerman)
113 Allenton Rd.
Springfield, Pa.

Mr. and Mrs. James E. Schierlob (ANN APPLETON) announced the birth of Janet Appleton born September 14, 1961. Their son John is now three.

On August 6, 1961, Elizabeth Dolbear joined the two sisters and one brother in the Prescott Beach family (MARJORIE BEACH).

JULIE THOMPSON Snyder wrote to tell me about the birth of her daughter, Sheri Lee, on April 30, 1961. Husband Don is manager of the American Liberty Insurance Co., Branch Office in Harrisburg.

SUE HOPSON '55 HARRISON writes that she and ART have recently moved to another home in Garden City, N. Y.—107 Chestnut St.—mainly to accommodate their growing family. The Harrisons have four boys: Randy, 7; Robby, 5; Scott, 2; and Kent, 6 mos.

Mrs. MARTIN W. MOLLOY (ELEANOR BONOM) has moved to 4442 La Granada Way, La Canada, Calif. Her husband has taken a position with the Experimental Space Science Division of the California Institute of Technology's Jet Propulsion Laboratory in Pasadena, Calif.

Mr. and Mrs. LOUIS F. SANTANGELO welcomed son, Prosper Fortune Santangelo, to the family on February 19, 1962. Agnes and Lou have another child, daughter Susan. Lou is an insurance agent with C. Lavieri Agency, Inc., in Winsted, Conn.

Mr. and Mrs. FRANK GRAF (BARBARA SHAFFER '56) announce the birth of a daughter, Carol Lynn, in December, 1961.

The Dietzens (SANDY WHIPPLE) now have a daughter, Diane Louise was born on September 15, 1961. Their new home address is 203 Kreag Rd., Fairport, N. Y.

A new son joins the Brooks (MARY LOU MAYER) family. Gregory Scott was born January 17.

55 MRS. JOHN C. VANCE, JR.
(Jane Jones)
12 Admiral Dr.
North Severna Park
Severna Park, Md.

The Klauders

GEORGE KLAUDER snapped this photograph of wife JOANN (DIETRICH '56), daughter Connie, and son John. The Klauders' address is 1124 East Rittenhouse St., Philadelphia 28.

CAROLYN L. HALL and David G. Hall were married February 10 and are located at 11209 Meridian Ave., Seattle 4, Wash.

MARGIE CUFF VAN CIZER and DUTCH '53 will soon be leaving Newburgh, N. Y., and its well-known problems behind to relocate in Levittown. Dutch has been made assistant manager of the Sears store there.

SONNY KRANITZ, or should we say Adam Stewart, appeared recently in an episode of TV's "Ben Casey." It is always a thrill to find him in the east, isn't it?

EMILIE SHERMAN Sanborn's announcement of daughter, Bonnie Lynn, nearly coincides with her first birthday, March 15. Prior to Bonnie's birth, Emilie worked for five and one-half years as a biologist for the National Institute of Health, U. S. Public Health Service. Her husband, Jim, is a chemical technician for the W. R. Grace Co., and is working in agricultural chemical research. He has just finished Maryland University, receiving a degree in floriculture. In April, 1960, they moved into their newly built home, situated on 22 acres of rolling farmland in Dayton (Howard County), Md.

While shopping in Washington, D. C., several months ago, I met FRED OLESSI who introduced me to his wife, a former Spanish House-ite. Fred opened an art gallery in Georgetown recently and has moved into a new home in Virginia.

I was delighted to receive a telephone call from RUTHMARY RAGSDALE Wright recently. Ruthmary, her husband, and two young sons have settled here in Maryland since John's separation from the Air Force. I'm awfully sorry not to be able to supply you with more information but her boys were gobbling cereal from the floor and mine were scaling the walls while we were trying to catch up with each other.

56 MRS. WILLIAM J. O'NEIL
(Jean M. Wirths)
1706 Esplanade Apt. C, Hollywood Riv.
Redondo Beach, Calif.

FREDERICK S. SHEHADI, JR., has been elected a vice president of the Bucknell Alumni Club of Northern New Jersey.

2nd Lt. and Mrs. CHARLES G. HAGEE (SUSAN L. WIEN '57) are living at 2303 Getzen St., Atlanta 9, Ga. Charles is currently serving in the Army, having been recalled during the Berlin crisis. He has completed the class hours necessary for his Master of Arts degree in political science at Pennsylvania State University. Prior to being recalled to active duty, he was employed by the Patriot-News in Harrisburg. The Hagees have one son, Stephen, who celebrated his first birthday on April 26.

Mr. and Mrs. ANDREW HORVAT, JR. (NIKI A. DOCKEY '55) are living at 407 Amherst Ave., Coraopolis. It is hard to realize that their son, Matthew, is now 5 years old. Andy is with Merrill Lynch, Pierce, Fenner & Smith in Pittsburgh.

A daughter was born on December 14 to Mr. and Mrs. Cameron E. Baker, Jr. (MARJORIE A. HASTINGS). Mrs. Baker is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. BERKELEY V. HASTINGS '13.

SANFORD J. SACKS of 308 N. Clarendon Ave., Margate, N. J., is serving as manager of the Sears Roebuck store in Ocean City, N. J.

Mr. and Mrs. RICHARD B. ULP of 52 Presque St., Rochester 9, N. Y., announce the birth of a son, Scott Edward, on January 23. He joins Steve and Karen in keeping the Ulp home a busy and happy place.

HENRY H. WINDSOR, with his wife and two daughters, is spending a year in Norway carrying out nuclear physics experiments under the auspices of the International Atomic Energy Commission. Henry was sent to Oslo by the Brookhaven National Laboratories to assist with the experiments at the Netherlands-Norwegian Institute for Atomic Energy at Kjeller, Norway.

The McKenzies

The McKenzie family — Cameron, BABS (BESOSA), Cammie (2), and Kent (5 months) enjoyed a Christmas visit to Albuquerque, N. Mex., and Dover, Del. After the holidays, the McKenzies returned to Stockholm, Sweden.

Bill and MARY LEE PEARAH Davis welcomed the arrival of Kent William on August 18, 1961. The Davis address is 3129 Merritt Parkway, Sinking Spring.

Received a nice newsy letter from BARBARA NORTH Shaw, announcing the arrival of Rebecca Lynn. The Shaws also have a son, William Alan, who is three. Barbara reports that WALT '53 and DIANE TRUMBOWER MANKIN had a son, Kirby Bruce, on August 29. Diane's brother, Jim, is married to DOT-TIE DALE. The Trumbower address is 412 E. Springfield Rd., Springfield, Delaware Co. They live just a few blocks from Don and ANN BRIDELL Handley.

GEORGE '58 and ANNA PETERSON HOUSEHOLDER and their year-old daughter, Holly Ann, spent some time during the fall with the Shaws. The Householder address is 3468 Bethel St., Pennsauken 8, N. J. The Householders still keep in touch with DICK and NANCY BECHTEL GRIERSON and their year-old son.

57 MRS. PETER CHANNELL
(Catherine L. Evans)
R. D. 1, Black Point Farm
Newport, R. I.

Reune in June, 1962

Don't forget Alumni Week End, June 1, 2, and 3. We will celebrate our 5th reunion and the ivy whispers that many of our classmates plan to return to see the new buildings and renew old friendships. STEVE NEUVILLE, our reunion book editor, has reported that more than 200 members of the class have returned biographical information for publication in the reunion book, and many have indicated their desire to return to old fashioned bull sessions. Remember? Plans are in the wind for a big party on Saturday afternoon, June 2. You won't want to miss it!

Mr. and Mrs. ARTHUR T. ROSVOLD (CAROLE P. GERHART '58) of 10 Garabrant St., Mendham, N. J., announce the birth of a son, Kristian Erik, on January 13.

SARA M. ROOP has been elected secretary-treasurer of the Bucknell Alumni Club of Baltimore, and JOYCE E. DORNSIFE has been elected secretary of the Bucknell Alumni Club of Union County.

WILLIAM C. BLACK received his Ph.D. degree from Western Reserve University and is a research psychologist at the U. S. Army Institute of Research, Walter Reed Medical Center, Washington, D. C. He was married February 2 to Dr. Kathryn Norcross who is a child psychologist with the National Institute of Health at Bethesda, Md. They are living at 7620 Maple Ave., No. 432, Takoma Park 12, Md.

Mr. and Mrs. ROBERT W. DILL, JR. (JO-ANNE L. FOSTER '56) announce the birth of their second daughter, Nancy Lindsay, on December 28, 1961. Big sister, Lisa Anne, is now 2 years old. Home address: 424 Briarhill Rd., Springfield.

BILL and JOAN MOYER took off this spring for Manila where Bill has accepted an appointment with Esso Standard Eastern, Inc. Their address is: c/o Esso Standard Eastern, Inc., 1071 Isaac Peral St., Manila, Republic of the Philippines.

VICTOR A. RONCHI recently has been appointed as a principal, with special duties, by the Scranton School Board. Victor, who is married to the former Rose C. Minora, lives at 809 Prescott Ave., Scranton. They have two sons, Robert and William.

JAMES L. ULRICH and June L. Smith were married in December, 1961, and are living at 29 N. Main St., Allentown, N. J. Jim is a clinical psychologist at Bordentown Reformatory, Bordentown, N. J.

58 MRS. FRANK H. RICHARDS, III
(Faith Bonsall)
6 Holman St.
Allston, Mass.

Had a nice letter from BARBIE (LONG) Cottrell. Charles received his MBA from The Wharton School of Finance at the University of Pennsylvania in June, 1960, and is a financial analyst with the Southern New England Telephone Company. Their son, David Alden, was born September 23, 1961. Address: 9 Wilford Ave., Branford, Conn.

JOHN and ANN (PFEIFFER) BARBER are the parents of a daughter, Elizabeth Ann, born in February, 1961. John is with a law firm in Buffalo, N. Y., having received his law degree from the University of Michigan.

DON '57 and NANCY (BELLMEYER) NOGAN have a daughter, born in March, 1961, but we don't have her name as of this writing. Don finishes graduate school at Rutgers University in June, 1962.

ANN (DUNNING) Painter is doing public health nursing in New York City while husband Borden is in his second year at General Theological Seminary.

I recently had a telephone call from another Massachusetts resident, PETE DECK. Pete and Mrs. Deck (the former Jean Matthews of Reading) were married June 25, 1959, and now live at 15 Ellis Avenue, Norwood, Mass. Pete is a chemical salesman for the mineral products division of the F. M. C. Corporation, makers of chemical products.

BARBIE RING was married on August 4, 1961, to Ralph E. Anzevino. Barbie appeared on the TV show "It Could Be You" on her wedding day. Ralph works for the city of Anaheim, Calif., and Barbie teaches first grade in Fullerton, Calif. Address: 510 E. Whiting Place, Fullerton, Calif.

GEORGIE ANN (MACKAY) Fedako writes of the birth of a daughter, Catherine Ann, on August 26, 1961. Husband John is a Penn State graduate, and works at the Gulf Research and Development Company, where Georgie also worked when they first met. Georgie is completely enjoying being a full time housewife and mother to their little redhead.

JAMES F. ERICKSON has become district director, handling public relations, for the Muscular Dystrophy Association of America, Inc., with offices in Elizabeth, N. J. Jim lives at 1015 St. George Ave., Apt. 6-B, Colonia, N. J.

M. EUGENIA WRIGHT spent two years as a teacher and is now a volunteer service worker with the New Castle Presbytery Inner City Committee in Wilmington, Del. Her work consists of finding jobs for unskilled workers, arranging medical care, emergency food, clothing or special supplies and many other duties in helping to start a new church in the inner city of Wilmington. The program is under the Presbyterian Church and young adults in the service give one or two years of their lives for room, board and a very nominal monthly salary. Eugenia is living at home and her address is 2 Walnut Lane, Wilmington 3, Del.

Army 1st Lieutenant ALONZO R. TOAL was a member of the honor guard which participated in welcoming ceremonies for Attorney General Robert Kennedy during his recent visit to Berlin. The ceremonies took place at the divided city's Tempelhof Airport.

Mrs. HOMER W. WIEDER, JR. (CLAIRE HALLINE) has been appointed as teacher of mathematics and adviser to the yearbook staff at the Lewisburg Joint Senior High School. Claire was a stewardess for United Air Lines prior to her marriage to SKIP WIEDER in April, 1959. Since then she served for a time in the admissions office at Bucknell. Skip, of course, continues to serve with distinction as assistant director of development at Bucknell.

59 MRS. VENALD W. BOVARD, JR.
(Jeanne F. Anderson)
334 Hickory St.
Peekville, Pa.

JOYCE S. MEHRING is on educational leave from Esso Research and Engineering Company taking courses in mathematics towards a master's degree at the University of Michigan and assisting in the computing laboratory.

Mr. and Mrs. HERBERT H. WRIGHT (MARTHA M. TAYLOR) set up housekeeping at 831 Second Place, Plainfield, N. J., after their marriage on January 13. Herb is an insurance special agent with the Hartford group and Marty is teaching English in Millburn, N. J., both of them continuing their work on master's degrees.

RICHARD W. FRISBEE is a ranger-naturalist at Old Faithful, Yellowstone National Park, Wyo. (Incidentally, the title and area comprise his address for the summer.) In the fall of 1959 he worked with the Park Service in "Earthquake Study" following the quake that centered near Hebgen Lake, Mont. In 1961 he assisted in taking magnetometer readings flying over Teton Mountains in Yellowstone, Centennial Mountains in Montana and the Sawtooth Mountains in Idaho to determine the structure of sub-surface rocks. Dick expects to receive a B.S. degree in geology in June, 1963, from Idaho State College, where he will be instructing in geology laboratory.

Mr. and Mrs. JAMES W. HALL, JR. (WILMA C. BAUER) are located in Allentown, where Jim is teaching music and Wilma is teaching English at Cedar Crest College. Address: 1208 N. 19th St., Allentown.

ESTHER L. ANGUS has been in Europe since January as a teacher of French and English at the Institute Alpin Montesano in Gstaad, Switzerland. Esther did graduate work in France and in 1961 studied at McGill University, Montreal, Canada. Address: Institut Alpin Montesano, Gstaad, Switzerland.

MOLLY (WOLFORD) and LEE HAMILTON '57 announce the birth of their son, David Scott, in November. The Hamiltons are living at 85-6 Ferne Blvd., Drexel Hill.

LYNNE (CELLER) and GEORGE MAN-DAKAS, who reside at 74-45 260th St., Glen Oaks, Floral Park, N. Y., announce the birth of daughter, Carole Ann, April 8, 1961.

JUDY BRADFORD and Thomas L. McClintock, who were married in July, 1961, live at 917 Elberton Ave., Long Branch, N. J. Tom graduated from R. P. L. and is marketing engineer for Merck and Co. Since Tom also is mayor of Long Branch, the McClintocks lead a busy life.

A son, Stephen Douglas, was born to Mr. and Mrs. EDWARD MILLER on December 27, 1961. Mr. and Mrs. Harry Walker (DORIS ABBOTT) also have a new baby, Susan Elizabeth, born January 7. The Walkers have a new home at 1261 Stanmore Rd., Baltimore 12, Md.

JERRY DICKSTEIN married Gail Cohen of Bloomfield, N. J., and the couple resides in New York City at the Woodward Hotel on 55th St. and Broadway.

Mr. and Mrs. JOHN DIERST, III '61 (SUE LEAVITT) live at the University of Pittsburgh, where John attends law school, and where Sue is head resident at the dormitory, Holland House.

DEE PIEPER spent a year at the University of Madrid. Dee earned her M.A. in Spanish at Middlebury College, and she teaches at the Tenafly High School, Tenafly, N. J.

Mr. and Mrs. DANIEL VERNIERO (JOAN EVANS) and their two sons, Danny and Rip, reside at 28 Lone Oak Rd., Middletown, N. J. Danny is employed by Metropolitan Life Insurance Co., where he has won three sales contests, one of which will take the couple to Lido Beach this summer.

DOTTY BOICE and M. E. Marsden were married recently, and live in Southmont, N. C. Write to Dotty and "Bud" in care of Box 132, Southmont, N. C.

Jeffrey and Gregory Lucas

TONY and ELLENA (STEINMAN '57) LUCAS are kept busy with their two sons—Gregory (3) and Jeffrey (2). Tony is a job analyst with SKF Bearing Company in Philadelphia. Home address: 281-B Southern Ave., Ambler.

Mr. and Mrs. HOWARD RUDGE '58 (LOEY IFFERT) reside at 1624 Ripon Place, Alexandria, Va. The Rudges latest news is that of the birth of a son, Scott Raymond, on December 2, 1961.

60 MRS. DAVID N. OTT
(Jane Dahl)
5650-D Denmore Ave.
Van Vorchis Manor
Fort Knox, Ky.

PHYLLIS A. KRAUS, a physical therapist at the Meadowbrook Hospital, was married on November 19, 1961, to Jacob R. Hostetter. Address: 19-A Walnut Ave., Rockville, N. Y.

VIRGINIA M. NOTARI of 126 Clarewill Ave., Upper Montclair, N. J., received her Master of Arts degree from Columbia University in December, 1961, and is now working for the Matthew Bender Law Book Publishing Company in New York City.

Barbara Jones Purnell '49

Mrs. John S. Purnell, Jr. (Barbara E. Jones '49) has been appointed Theta Province president of Kappa Delta Sorority. As president of this province, she will supervise Kappa Delta chapters at Bucknell University, University of Pennsylvania, Bethany College, Westminster College, Pennsylvania State University, Susquehanna University, and West Virginia University.

Barbara and her husband, Dr. John S. Purnell, Jr., a 1950 graduate, are active in Bucknell alumni affairs. Dr. Purnell is now president of the Bucknell Alumni Club of Union County. Bucknellians in the Purnell family include: his father, Dr. John S. Purnell '23; his uncle, H. Garrett Purnell '30; and his brother, Blaine '53. Bucknellians in Barbara's family include: her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry W. Jones '23 (Elizabeth V. Moore '24); her uncle, Allen F. Jones '25; her cousin, Barbara Elizabeth Jones '65; and her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. John T. Sherwood '32 (Anna E. Jones '32).

Dr. and Mrs. Purnell have three daughters—Lynn, Susan, and Kathy—and live at 1719 Market St., Lewisburg.

Things have really been popping for FRANK K. REGAN since his graduation day. First he got a job as a retail specialist for the Atlantic Refining Company in Pittsburgh, then he married Donna L. Engel (Pitt '62), served six months active duty with the Air Force, became father to son, John Robert Regan, and is now back in Pittsburgh with Atlantic Refining. The Regans live at 4622 Brownsville Rd., Pittsburgh 35.

ROBERT C. SNELL of 336 E. 86th St., Apt. 5-H, New York 28, N. Y., is no longer teaching school and is a claims examiner with Teachers Insurance and Annuity Association in New York City.

JOHN A. KRUG, JR., was married on October 21, 1961, to Barbara J. Wolfe of Bloomsburg. The bride and groom live at 912A Warren St., Berwick, where John is a design engineer with the American Car and Foundry Division of ACF Industries, Inc.

JEROME M. POLLACK and Nancy E. Bleier were married December 12, 1961, at Rockville Centre, N. Y., and are living at 20 Randall Ave., Freeport, L. I., N. Y. Jerry is in business with his father who is owner and operator of Par-Kay Mills, Inc., New York City.

ANN STURGEON married Alan T. Dorn on August 19. She is a personnel secretary with the Atlantic Refining Company and lives at 160 Lisimore Ave., Glenside. Ann writes that JOAN MANN is manager of the cosmetic department at the Ardmore branch of Strawbridge and Clothier and lives in nearby Wynnewood. TOM SCHAEFER is now living in Lady Lake, Fla., Ann reports.

A postcard from another recent bride, LYNDIA WEAVER Best, tells of her marriage on August 26 to James J. Best. She spent the summer doing graduate work at Tufts University, Medford, Mass., and is presently working in the alumni office at the University of North Carolina where her husband is working for his Ph.D. They live on Route 2, Chapel Hill, N. C.

A very pleasant bit of news came in the form of a wedding invitation from PEGGY HOLLINSHEAD, who was married to Robert M. Ley on November 25. He is from Houston, Texas; they met at Harvard Business School; and were married in Bethel Park. The very best to you both, Roomie!

LOEY LENHARD wrote a lengthy and newsworthy letter which was fun to read. She writes of many meetings with former Bucknellians. At the moment, Loey has a case of mono, but she sounds mighty happy nevertheless.

Another very recent bride is LYNN BRINSFIELD Ellwood who married Sutherland Ellwood on September 2. They are living in Syracuse, N. Y., where Sud is going to school and Lynn is working. Write to her at 105 Buckingham Ave., Syracuse 10, N. Y.

LORI WASSERMANN writes from Duke University where she is a counselor. "I find my 118 gals present me with one of the most exciting, rewarding challenges I can imagine," she says. I should think so, Lori!

SHERRY RHONE Allison is the mother of a husky son, Craig Steven Allison, born September 26, 1961, at Williamsport. Sherry is the daughter of KENNETH D. RHONE '29, and the wife of John F. Allison, graduate of West Chester Teachers College. The Allisons live at 306 S. Baltimore St., Dillsburg, where John is English teacher and basketball coach of the Northern Joint High School of York County.

61 MISS CAROLANN M. BUQUET
58 Brookside Ave.
Merrick, N. Y.

Reune in June, 1962

Our president, BOB SCOTT, and our reunion book editor, GINNY GLASER, report that many members of the class hope to return to the campus for our first reunion on Alumni Week End, June 1, 2, and 3. Ginny reports that she has received biographical information from nearly 200 classmates for publication in our first-year reunion book. This book, a real credit to our class, will be available at the reunion in June, so this is one reason we hope you will make every effort to attend.

A more important reason for returning is the renewing of acquaintances. It's been only a year since we have seen each other but much has happened since we were graduated last year. A good time is guaranteed! Will you be on hand to help us celebrate?

Both JUDY MARVIN and JANET POWERS have received Rotary Scholarships for study abroad next year. Janet, a graduate student at the University of Michigan, will be going to Pakistan while Judy will pursue her studies in India. They are two of 135 students in 34 countries to receive Rotary Foundation Scholarships for study abroad.

STEVE BLOCK is working for the Beneficial Finance Co. His address is: 1263 East 26th St., Brooklyn 10, N. Y.

FROM THE DESK OF—

Merle M. Odgers

PRESIDENT, BUCKNELL UNIVERSITY
LEWISBURG, PENNSYLVANIA

Bucknell University has received through the Life Income Plan, recently inaugurated, approximately $125,000. This Plan, open to all alumni and friends of Bucknell, has enrolled with honor and gratitude the following:

Melville Beardsley '15
Ralph B. '17, and Sarah H. Derr
John C. Johnson '01
Helen L. Ruth '12
Ralph A. '13, and Anne B. Still
Harland A. Trax '01

The Life Income Plan is one of three broad areas of Benefits for Bucknell comprising the University's Program of Planned Giving. The other two areas are Bequests and Insurance Agreements. Members of the Bucknell University Development Council serving as chairmen for the three "Benefits" areas are:

William J. Irvin '22—insurance
Fred O. Schnure '14—bequests
Ralph A. Still '13—life income.

Merle M. Odgers

LOUISE McCRONE writes that she is now employed by Hochschild, Kohn, Baltimore, Md., as an assistant buyer. Louise left Bucknell after her sophomore year and entered the University of Maryland, where she graduated this past June. Her address is: Amberley, Rt. 2, Annapolis, Md.

GEORGE COHEN entered the service in January, 1962, and is scheduled for discharge in July of this year. He is serving with the U. S. Army Engineers at Fort Dix, N. J.

2nd Lt. JAMES F. JUNG and Barbara Frick were married in August, and are living at Chapel Rd., Box 75, Harve de Grace, Md. Jim is in active service and stationed at Aberdeen Proving Ground, Md.

DORIS BRYSON and WALT SMITH were married October 22, and are living in Cincinnati, Ohio. Both are working for the U. S. Health Dept. in Cincinnati. Their address is: R. R. 1, Box 915, Twelve Mile Rd., New Richmond, Ohio.

ROBERT G. MIZE and BARBARA PINTER were married December 17, and are living at 400 First St., Warrington, Fla. Bob is a 2nd Lt. in the U. S. Marines.

JEFF LLOYD '58 and DEBBIE ROACH LLOYD are happy to announce the arrival of John Jeffrey Lloyd, Jr., born on January 17. All three are living at 32-D Dunvale Rd., Towson 4, Md.

Mr. and Mrs. Sheller C. Steinwender (BARBARA J. GIBELING) of 2345 Linwood Ave., Fort Lee, N. J., welcomed a baby daughter into their home on December 16. Her name is Laura Lee.

IN MEMORIAM

The following deaths have been reported to the Alumni Office since March, 1961. The University extends sympathy to the surviving relatives.

- 1898—Mrs. George A. Colby (Dr. Mabel F. Morgan) (Inst.) March 24, 1962
- 1900—Mr. Martin B. Christy, Sr., January 13, 1962
Miss Anna C. Judd, March 22, 1962
- 1903—Mrs. Raymond S. Bullis (Jane R. Fowler), March 6, 1962
- 1906—Mrs. Harold N. Cole (Hazel L. Knapp) February 7, 1962
Prof. J. Theodore Park, February 11, 1962
- 1909—Mr. George D. Cook (Acad.), March 28, 1962
Mr. Philip A. Waltz (Acad.), February 8, 1962
- 1910—Mr. Newton R. Quintin, March 3, 1962
- 1912—Mrs. Margaret H. Rathmell (Margaret F. Harter) (Inst.)
Mr. David Y. Siesholtz, March 4, 1962
- 1921—Mrs. Roland Swain (Dorothy M. Spangler), March 25, 1962
Mr. Francis P. McDermott, March 16, 1962
Mrs. Ernest E. Manser (Esther V. Dodson), February 4, 1962
- 1922—Mr. J. Monroe Mincemoyer (SATC), January 25, 1962
- 1923—Mr. Rupert M. Swetland, March 9, 1962
Mrs. Rupert M. Swetland (Elizabeth A. Speakman) (Music), March 9, 1962
- 1927—Mr. William F. Moore, November 1, 1961
- 1931—Mr. Jackson L. Cox, November 21, 1960
- 1934—Mr. Richard R. Updegrave
- 1936—Mr. Patrick J. Burke (M. A.), February 25, 1962
- 1937—Mr. Morris L. Gillet, October 16, 1946
- 1939—Miss Florence A. Youngman, March 12, 1962
- 1943—Mr. George B. Wertman, March 29, 1962
- 1950—Mr. James A. Bowes, March 17, 1962

ALUMNI TRUSTEE TIMETABLE

May 15—Deadline for receiving ballots in Alumni Office.

June Commencement — Certification to Board of Trustees.

DR. BROWN DIES

Bucknellians who attended the University between 1912 and 1926 will be sorry to learn of the death of one of their favorite teachers, Dr. Glenn V. Brown, 87, in a nursing home in Norwalk, Conn., in January, 1962. Dr. Brown came to Bucknell in 1912 when the chemical engineering course was started. He was a graduate of Dickinson College and the University of Pennsylvania. Professor Brown was not only an able teacher, but he kept in touch with the chemical industry, and he did something that was almost new at Bucknell, except, perhaps in the field of education. He got his graduates jobs, setting up within his field what might fairly be termed a placement bureau. On leaving Bucknell he served as a chemist for the state department of health and was subsequently a consultant to the Pennsylvania Fish Commission. Many Bucknellians of his era will remember the state department of health truck which he used in travelling about the commonwealth performing his assignments. Mrs. Brown, who served as an instructor in chemistry at Bucknell, preceded him in death. A son and a grandson survive, to whom deep-sympathy is extended.

LUNCHEON MEETINGS

The Bucknell Alumni Clubs of New York, Philadelphia, and Pittsburgh will continue their regular luncheon meetings throughout the summer. Alumni in these areas and Alumni vacationing to these cities are urged to make note of the following details:

NEW YORK—First Wednesday of each month at 12:15 P. M., the Summit Hotel, Lexington Avenue at 51st Street. (Reservations required, phone Miss Isabelle Clouser, RE9-3992, no later than 1:00 P. M., on the preceding Tuesday.)

PHILADELPHIA—Every Monday from noon to 1:00 P. M., University Club, 16th and Locust Streets.

PITTSBURGH—Every Friday at noon. Kauffman's Department Store, Fifth Avenue, reserved dining room on the 11th floor.

FRATERNITY COMMENCEMENT ACTIVITIES

SIGMA CHI—The Sigma Chi fraternity meeting of the Board of Governors will meet at 3:30 P. M. on Saturday, June 2, 1962. At 6:00 P. M. the annual symposium will be held at the chapter house. On Sunday, June 3, at 8:00 A. M. the fraternity will hold its annual Senior-Parent Breakfast.

THEY REPRESENTED BUCKNELL

At the University of Houston, Houston, Texas: Mr. George N. Jenkins '43. Dr. Philip G. Hoffman, New President.

At Point Park Junior College, Pittsburgh, Pa.: Mr. Evan W. Ingram '20. Dr. Dorothy C. Finkelhor, New President.

At the Divinity School of the Protestant Episcopal Church, Philadelphia, Pa.: Mr. Raymond K. Irwin '47. Dr. Edward George Harris, New Dean.

At Hollins College, Hollins College, Va.: Mr. James W. Dean '50. Dr. John Arthur Logan, Jr., New President.

At the Louisiana State University, Baton Rouge, La.: Mr. William M. Wilkinson '46. Dr. John Anderson Hunter, New President.

At Babson Institute, Wellesley, Mass.: Dr. Cornelius E. Sedgwick '36. Dr. Henry August Kriebel, New President.

At the Oklahoma Baptist University, Shawnee, Okla.: Dr. Mark R. Everett '20, H'48. Dr. James Ralph Scales, New President.

At Wagner College, Staten Island, N. Y.: Mr. William S. Liming '33. Dr. Arthur O. Davidson, New President.

At Dickinson College, Carlisle, Pa.: Dr. Benjamin D. James '36. Dr. Howard Lane Rubendall, New President.

At the American University of Beirut, Beirut, Lebanon: Mr. Donald W. Shields '44. Dr. Norman Burns, New President.

At William and Mary College, Williamsburg, Va.: Dr. Elizabeth M. Kates '17, H'52. Dr. Davis Young Paschall, New President.

At Hood College, Frederick, Md.: Dr. Eugene D. Carstater '26. Dr. Randle Elliott, New President.

At the Eastern Baptist Theological Seminary, Philadelphia, Pa.: Romain C. Hassrick, Esq. '06. Dr. Thomas Bruce McDormand, New President.

At Hamilton College, Clinton, N. Y.: Dr. Charles A. Godcharles '31. One Hundred Fiftieth Anniversary.

At Drew University, Madison, N. J.: Mrs. Charles E. Copeland (Anorita M. Sesinger '22). Dr. Robert Fisher Oxnam, New President.

At Vassar College, Poughkeepsie, N. Y.: Mr. Anthony A. Krzywicki '48. One Hundredth Anniversary of the Founding.

At Muhlenberg College, Allentown, Pa.: Mr. Harry H. Angel '19. Dr. Erling A. Jensen, New President.

At Thiel College, Greenville, Pa.: Chauncey E. Brockway, Esq. '07. Dr. Chauncey Goodrich Bly, New President.

At the Colgate Rochester Divinity School, Rochester, N. Y.: Rev. Thomas B. Richards '37. Dr. Gene Ebert Bartlett, New President.

At Fairmont State College, Fairmont, W. Va.: Mr. Jesse E. Riley '14. Dr. Eston Kermit Feaster, New President.

1962 FOOTBALL SCHEDULE

Date	Opponent	Place
Sept. 22—	Gettysburg	Lewisburg
*Sept. 29—	Temple	Philadelphia
Oct. 6—	Massachusetts	Lewisburg
Oct. 13—	Lehigh	Bethlehem
Oct. 20—	Lafayette	Homecoming
Oct. 27—	Muhlenberg	Allentown
Nov. 3—	Buffalo	Lewisburg
Nov. 10—	Colgate	Lewisburg
Nov. 17—	Delaware	Newark, Del.
* Night Game

Send this reservation coupon today!

DORMITORY AND TICKET RESERVATION

Name _____	Class _____	Date of Arrival: _____
Mailing Address _____	_____	Hour: _____

DORMITORY RESERVATIONS: ($3.00 per person for both Friday and Saturday nights—One night only $3.00—Children 10 or under Free—Extra nights $1.50 per night)

Thursday _____	Friday _____	Saturday _____	Sunday _____	nights _____
----------------	--------------	----------------	--------------	--------------

Please check if: Married Couple _____	Mr. _____	Mrs. _____	Miss _____	Children _____
If reservation includes persons other than yourself list names below:				Male _____ Ages _____
_____				Female _____ Ages _____

Would you object to having your children share rooms with children of other classmates?

(Check) _____	Yes _____	No _____
---------------	-----------	----------

Total Room Charges $ _____

ALUMNI REUNION LUNCHEON (number _____ @ $1.50 each) $ _____

CAP AND DAGGER—"ROADSIDE" (number _____ @ $1.50 each) $ _____

WE WILL DO OUR BEST BUT WE CANNOT GUARANTEE RESERVATIONS RECEIVED BY MAY 25! A $2.00 ADVANCE (NON-REFUNDABLE) PAYMENT MUST ACCOMPANY RESERVATION. ADVANCE PAYMENT WILL BE CREDITED TO TOTAL CHARGES UPON CHECKOUT.

ALUMNI WEEK END

ON FRIDAY, SATURDAY AND SUNDAY JUNE 1, 2 and 3

18-Hole
Medal Play
For Alumni

President's Reception

DANCE AND SOCIAL

Cooling and Refreshing

University
Golf Course

Freas-Rooke
Swimming Pool

ALUMNI REUNION LUNCHEON

ANNUAL BACCALAUREATE SERVICES

Address by the Reverend Dr. Fred H. Heather, Jr. '33

ANNUAL COMMENCEMENT EXERCISES

Address by Dr. Franklin D. Murphy,
Chancellor of the University of California at Los Angeles

BUCKNELL UNIVERSITY

Bucknell University
Lewisburg, Pa.

